The steamer Columbian arrived this morning with a large number of passengers and some 70 tons of freight, principally perishable goods. Many of the passengers have come to Dawson anticipating making connections here with boats to the lower river. A considerable amount of baggage was left over from this boat and will be brought sacks of mail. Following is her passenger list:

All first-class tickets have been sold on the steamer Tyrrell, which sails tonight for St. Michael, many having to be refused passage Arrangements are perfected now for the sale of a number of second-class tickets. noon none the worse for her daring trip through the canyon and rapids.

Warm Weather.

If there is any snow and ice to melt in the country tributary to the upper rivers and lakes, the weather of the present will do away with all cause for complaint regarding low water. From Bennett along the line this morning shortly after 9 o'clock the mercury was reported to be at about 70 degrees above zero, and there is no doubt but that the 80 mark was reached by 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Yesterday and today are the two warmest days experienced in Dawson this season, thermometers registering 84 here this after-

Should Be Sat On.

The practice of the expressmen in Dawson of, every time a steamer whistles, blocking the entrance to the dock with their horses and wagons is one, which should be summarily squelched. This morning long before the Columbian had tied up to the C. D. Co.'s dock, wagons were backed up to the warehouse door until only a gangway less than four feet wide was left, the only means of egress for the steamer's passengers, where there was no business for the wagons for fully half an hour after the steamer tied up. It is not a pleasant experience to land from a steamer and be compelled to Conviction in First Case-Skagway wander around among horse neels in order to reach the street, and the practice of the drivers in blocking the dock entrances shounld cease very suddenly.

Many Scows Arrive.

Sergeant J. J. Wilson, whose duty it is to keep tab on the number of scows arriving from up the river, is authority for the statement that up to this morning 300 scows have arrived from up the river since the opening of navigation. As the scows average six persons each. a total of 1800 people have come in by that means of transportation. A large number of scows have arrived during the day and from the officers of the Columbian it is learned that hundreds of others are strung along the river as far up as Whitehorse and that scow building at Bennett is reported more active at present than ever before.

We are of the opinion that a laborer should have a first lien for his wages upon the dump he takes out or assists in taking out, explosion, and their horses perished but if employed by a layman we are unable to see any legitimate reason for holding the claim owner beyond the value of the dumps. We agree with the opinion that the whole dump, including both claim owners' and laymen's share, should be held for the payment of wages. But in such a case the claim owner should not be held beyond his interest in the dump, where the layman has assumed entire responsibility of employing the labor.

A striking feature about the life we lead in this northern country is its isolation from the rest of the world. Political revolutions may take place with results seemingly far reaching enough to affect the uttermost parts of the earth, and yet the even tenor of the Klondiker's way is not in the least disturbed.

My Generous Boer.

The only Boer I ever was 'personally brought into contact with seemed to me a delightful person! This is how it happened. Soon after my arrival in Maritzburg, a bazaar was held in aid of some local literary undertaking. Bazaars were happily of very rare occurrence in those parts, and this one created quite an excitement, and realized an astonishingly large sum of money. The race week had been chosen for the purpose of catching customers among the numerous visitors to Pietermartzburg in that gay time, and the wiles employed seemed very successful.

I never heard how or why he got there, but I only know that a stout, comfortable, well-to-do Dutch farmer suddenly appeared at the door of the bazaur. He was, of course, at once as-Wars may be fought and great sailed by pretty flower girls and luckypromptly pressed on him. But the old gentleman had a plan and a method of

When it came to my turn in which is complete separation he held out to me the largest wax doll from the turmoils of the busy I ever beheld, and carried off a huge world. All we require is the and unwieldy doll's house, which entirely eclipsed even his burly figure. My next door (or rather stall) neighbor in proper form the joys incident had a table full of glass and china, and she consequently viewed the approach of this article of bazaar com? merce with natural misgiving, but as this ideal customer relieved her of a very large ugly breaktast set, she managed to make room for the miniature house until she could arrange a raffle

The last I saw of that Boer, who must have contributed largely to our receipts, was his leading a very small donkey, which he had just bought at halter. I believe it was the only "obuse to him, but the contrast between the weak-kneed and frivolously attired against possible loss of his reason. The newspapers of the donkey and its sturdy purclaser was irresistibly comic.

No one seemed to know in the least who he was, but we supposed he must have come down for the races and backed the winners very successfully.

The Meat Market.

Judge Irwin landed from a scow at West Dawson Saturday evening, from Yakima, 18 head of beef cattle. Mr. Rudio got in Saturday evening with 90 sheep, 49 head of hogs and has a drove of cattle following him, which should arrive within a day or two.

The tendency of the market is down ward on account of the arrival of fresh supplies, but the general opinion of dealers is that prices will hold up to pretty nearly their present rate.

Many Large Nuggets Found, Some Near the Surface-Demand for Labor But Wages Are Low.

The Nugget is trequently asked by mining men for information concerning the Big Salmon river country and is, therefore, pleased to be able to reproduce the following from the late issue of the Alaskan :

W. L. Norrington, of Seattle, returned yesterday evening from the South fork of Big Salmon and gives a good account of that expansive mining district, or of the patches of it that have come under his personal observation. He says that Lowe & Peterson and a man from South Seattle, whose name he is fine. could not for the moment recall, have spent $5000 on lower discovery on Livingstone creek, and have the creek fumed and are ready to do extensive work. He says:

"These men took out of that claim last fall, just in a sniping way, without sluice boxes, between $5000 and $6000, and in sluicing over the ground where they had taken this out the day I was there they took out over $25. The day before they took out a little over $100 out of a pocket on bedrock, and the day before that one $25 nugget.

As the envoys stepped ashore these patriotic gentlemen welcomed them with singing "America," a patriotic hymn arranged to the ancient, world renowned tune of "God Save the Queen." The effect half was made, and where everyone top of a boulder and a $230 nugget on the Boer trio, who knew the anthem took advantage of the fine opportunity well and hated it cordially, is said to have been startling, and the reverse of cheerful and agreeable. The Masonic Excursion.

The excursion given yesterday on the steamer Tyrrell under the auspices of the Yukon Masonic Association in commemoration of Masonic day, June 24th, was not so largely patronized as the nature of the outing and beauty of the day warranted. As it was, however, the advantage was on the side of those ception tendered to the Boer delegates who did go, as they had ample room without being crowded. It was a few minutes past 11 o'clock when the steamer pulled out from her dock and headed up the Yukon. Except. one time for wood, no stop was made until Indian river was reached, which was 7 o'clock in the evening. The steamer landed in tront of the N. W. M. Those who did not have luncheon with them were well cared for by first thing they were greeted with was Restauranter Bruce, who had the dining saloon privileges, and by Mrs. West who provided the ice cream and confectioneries.

On the return trip the happy excursionists were regaled with several songs night the steamer swung into her berth at the A. C. dock, and one of the most delightful outings in the history of the Yukon was among the events of the Arrives This Morning on Pleasure a Week.-Is Delighted.

Mr. A. L. Berdue, general auditor of the White Pass & Yukon Route, was an arrival on the steamer Columbian this morning.

To those who previously knew him on the outside, Mr. Berdoe is looking very much as though his responsible position with the railroad company and his residence in windy Skagway both agree with him exceptionally well.

Mr. Berdoe is not here so much in the capacity of general auditor of the company as in that of a visitor who is on a general "sizing up" voyage. He was to have been accompanied by General Manager B. C. Hawkins, but owing to pressing business at the other end of the line the latter was unable to make the trip at present, nor will he be able to visit Dawson until later in the season. Mr. Elliott, the new manager of the C. D. Co., which is acting in connection with the railroad, is still detained at Whitehorse by business, but will arrive within a few days.

Mr. Berdoe says he finds the business of the railroad in excellent condition all along the line and that they are handling an enormous amount of freight. He is confident that from now on there will be no difficulty experienced from low water, and that freight will be forwarded rapidly and without further congestion; although he says there will be sufficient for every steamer on the river from now until the close of navigation. He reports rapid progress as being made in closing the gap in the line between Bennett and Caribon and says that cars will be loaded at Skagway and run through to Whitehorse within a very short time. Mr. Berdoe has met many old friends since his arrival and to all he has expressed surprise and pleasure at what he has seen of Dawson, her business-like air and appearance and her indications for tuture business growth and prosperity. He will probably remain in Dawson a week or ten days.

A Splendid Institution.

Dawson's standard library which is located on Second avenue between Second and Third streets and whose des tinies are presided over by Mr. W. Horkan, is one institution of which Peru. our people may well be proud. On the shelves of the library room on upwards s of good, up-to date reading matter to which the pulbic may four hours while out hunting. have free access on the payment of $1 per month. In fact, it is said that Horkan's Standard Library was the means of keeping hundreds of people from dying of ennui during the recent dark and gruesome winter.

In addition to being a man of literary tastes and attainments, Mr. Horkan has an eye for the beautiful, in that he has by his own labor cultivated by far the finest flower gardens to be seen in the city, having now in bloom pansies, daisies, sweet peas and various other varieties of flowers. When you visit the library ask the librarian to allow you to visit his garden.

Piail Arrives.

The steamer Columbian brought down 20 sacks of mail, which will be ready for derivery early tomorrow morning.

The Market.

The beef market remains him at 75 to 85 cents, only ten head of beef arrived yesterday. A slight fall in the price of potatoes is recorded since Saturday. Today the price is 12; oats are quoted at 11 cents and hay at 15 cents, although some fluctuations may be exted, as the market is very uncertain. Mutton, wholesale, is selling at 75 cents, with pork at $1. The price of eggs has depreciated $7 a case since Saturday and may be expected to go even lower than that, Today's quotation is $25.

Hundreds of People Coming.

But little idea can be formed of the number of people who are constantly reaching Dawson from the upper country on scows, small boats and rafts. It is a fact that the excursion steamer yesterday was scarcely out of sight at any time during the day from small craft floating down the river. Some of the scows carried from six to nine persons, many small boats carried two or three and one "Sinbad" traveled alone on a eer looking craft-constructed somewhat on the plan of the famous cheese-box warship, the Monitor.

One soon was landed with beef cattle, while several appeared to carry little else than potatoes. If yesterday was an average day for arrivals from up the river it is certain that more people reach Dawson by their own lines than by those of the steamship companies.

Lieut. Adair Returns.

Lieut, S. E. Adair, former agent at route, arrived on the Columbian this Bast sometime this week. this place for the White Pass & Yukon morning. He has been back as far as Boston since leaving here in March. and Business Trip-Will Remain He expects to remain in Dawson a week or more before continuing on to Nome.

There is some comment in banking circles on the presence of M. Rothstein, of St. Petersburg, in New York. His visit to the country is said to be in the interest of a large Russian government loan. M. Mr. Stillman said later that it was absurd to talk about the floating of Russian bonds when even the United States bonds are not an active demand and the presidential election is coming on.

The total amount of bounty money allowed is $166,700, of which Admiral Sampson will receive $8335 and Admiral Schley about $3000. Besides finding that Admiral Sampson was in command during the battle, the court declares that the New York was among the vessels engaged.
