

IF YOU WANT A Nobby Suit
A Stylish Overcoat
CALL AT THE OLD

Reliable Wardrobe

Where you are sure to get the Latest.

Clerical Suits & Specialties

M. J. KEHOE

VOL. XI NO. 4

The Athens

COUNTY OF LEEDS ADVERTISER.

Athens, Leeds County, Ontario, Tuesday, January 22, 1895.

A. H. SWARTS.
Brockville's well-known Furniture Dealer, will make an announcement in this space next week.

An Extra Push
IS GIVEN TO
McLAUGHLIN'S
Closing Out Sale

At this usually dull season we do not intend to know what "dull season" means here, and will not if push, energy and the slaughtering of prices will keep trade booming. Our shelves must be cleared of goods as soon as possible, and to that end

Values will be sacrificed as they never have been before in the history of Leeds Co.

Then bring your cash or produce and we will save you money as will no one else in the country. Here are a few of the values to be found at this great Sacrifice Sale:

Yard wide Unbleached Cotton	Men's Long Boots—Cotton sole leather	Outing Flannel Dark colors
Others ask 5c	Regular price, $2	Heavy weight—8c kind
Closing Out Price 3c	Closing Out Price $1.50	Closing out price 5c

Every purchase must be accompanied by the cash or its equivalent.

J. H. McLAUGHLIN

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

Dr. C. M. B. CORNELL.
DUREL STREET, BROCKVILLE
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHER.

Dr. Stanley S. Cornell.
ATHENS
SPECIALIST IN DISEASES OF WOMEN
Office Hours—the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays.

J. F. Harte, M.D., C.M.
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON & ACCOUCHER
Graduate Royal College of Physicians & Surgeons
Member of College of Physicians & Surgeons
Ontario. Office: Main st., opposite the House, Athens.

Dr. R. J. Read.
SURGEON DENTIST
MAIN STREET, ATHENS
The presence of the natural teeth and the absence of artificial ones is the great desideratum in dental practice. I have administered for extracting

Dr. F. H. Koyle.
DISEASES OF THE EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT.
At the office of Dr. C. M. B. CORNELL, BROCKVILLE.
From 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Telephone 111.
4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

M. A. Everitts.
BARRISTER SOLICITOR, NOTARY PUBLIC, ETC.
Money to loan on real estate security. Office in Parish Block, Athens.

Brown & Fraser.
ATTORNEYS SOLICITORS
BARRISTERS AND NOTARIES
FRASER'S BUILDING, BROCKVILLE
Money to loan on Real Estate Security. Office in Parish Block, Athens.

Wood, Webster, & Stewart.
BROCKVILLE AND ATHENS
One member of the firm in Athens Tuesday afternoon and Thursday every week.
Money to loan on Real Estate Security. Office in Parish Block, Athens.

G. C. Fuldorf.
Solicitor
Money to loan on Real Estate Security. Office in Parish Block, Athens.

Money to Loan
On real estate security, only at lowest rates of interest, on the most favorable terms of repayment. Correspondence solicited. Office and residence, opposite the Theatre.
JOHN CAWLEY

The Gamble House.
THIS FINE NEW BRICK HOTEL HAS been elegantly furnished throughout and is now open for the reception of guests. Good table and stable service.
FRED MERCE, Prop.

BROCKVILLE'S BIG Dry Goods House

Bargains! Bargains! in Every Department.
Come Early to the Great Annual Cheap Sale.

Throngs of thrifty provident folks are now daily anticipating Spring and Summer possible needs, with great profit.

85 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR now buys anything in Celebrated HEALTH BRAND UNDERWEAR

Also Hygienic Underwear for Ladies, Misses and Children. 85 cents on the dollar now buys anything in our assortment—Men's and Boys' Shirts and Drawers.

Piles of Remnants from every Department—all reduced to about One-Half Usual Prices.

Printed C-loices, 150 pieces, all new goods, Browns, Indigo and White and Indigo and Cardinal, also light fancy Prints—all marked at Sale Prices.

White Wear Department—Night Dresses, Drawers, Chemise, White Skirts, Corset Covers, Drawers—All Marked Down.

Sale prices for celebrated Kid Fitting D. & A. Corsets.

Dunham Block, Tel. No. 138. ROBT. WRIGHT & CO. Opposite Court House Avenue

LEWIS & PATTERSON EMBROIDERY SALE

To-morrow we will begin a special clearing sale of Embroideries. We find our stock heavy in these goods and before listing our stock we are anxious to clear them out. This is a good time to do your white sewing and buyers should see our stock of White Cottons, Embroideries, etc. Activity now in our cotton department—extraordinary value causes this activity. Quite natural, however when the quality and the wonderfully low price meet the intelligence of the public. Our 10 cent cotton is as good as most houses sell at 12 1/2 cents. You can prove this by calling at

205 KING STREET
LEWIS & PATTERSON
TEL. BELL 161.

P.S.—Buy the celebrated P. N. Corset, the best fitting and best made corset in the market.

C. M. BABCOCK WILL COMMENCE HIS January Stock-Taking Sale Monday, 7th Inst.

Object: Goods turned into money rather than entered on the stock book.
A lot of beautiful French dresses to be sold at just half price.
Mantles from 25 to 50 per cent off marked prices. Mantle Cloths at a big reduction.
This will be a great chance to buy your Cottons, Linens, Shirtings, etc.
All Woolens, Flannels, Underwear, etc., at panic prices.
The choices new and the prices tight. See for yourselves.

TELEPHONE 197 C. M. BABCOCK.

COAL! COAL! COAL!
HARD AND SOFT COAL
Do as others are doing—write or call on us.
A large supply of genuine Cumberland Blacksmith's Coal
Also in stock, a large supply of Drain Pipe and connections. Satisfaction guaranteed.

A. S. AULT & CO. Office: King Street Brockville

A BLOW FOR WHITEWAY

The Imperial Government Refuses to Telegraph the Imperial Government Remove the Disabilities.

CONFEDERATION A PARTY ISSUE

In the Present Crisis They Will Ask to be Admitted into the Canadian Confederation—Misses Close Down, Throwing 500 Men Out of Employment.

St. Johns, Nfld., Jan. 21.—The House of Assembly Saturday passed a resolution to telegraph the Imperial Government urging that assent be given at once to a bill removing the disabilities from the elected members of the Whiteway party as they are needed to conduct the public affairs in the present crisis. The resolution was forced through at one sitting without notice or time for discussion. The Opposition will not assent to the bill until the legislature will today adjourn a month to give time for maturing measures to meet the present crisis. It is expected that they will decide on confederation with Canada as the colony cannot sustain its independence.

The Government party, it is understood, is preparing to face the country on a question of the confederation issue. They also want ex-Premier Whiteway and his associates to lead. It is also stated that they are endeavoring to get a prominent member of the Canadian Government that Whiteway be made the first Lieutenant-Governor of Newfoundland under the confederation. Governor O'Brien is promising to forward the Government's resolution on the disability bill to the Imperial authorities declined to recommend it for Imperial assent.

Governor O'Brien has received a despatch from the Imperial Government refusing to assent to the bill for the removal of the disabilities of William Whiteway and his colleagues. This refusal will probably compel the Government to investigate the colony's affairs as in the resolutions asking the passage of this bill.

The copper mines at Little Bay have shut down, the owners of a wealthy English firm having decided to abandon mining in Newfoundland. The shut-down of the works and machinery, preparatory to shipping it from the country. The shut-down was about five hundred men out of employment.

Estimates of charitable associations show that about 3,000 persons in this city are receiving relief daily.

A number of persons implicated in the bank scandals are likely to be arrested today. Among them will probably be some of the directors.

London, Jan. 21.—The Times says editorially: "Newfoundland while the latter is a bankrupt colony with a French-Spanish difficulty. It is not a desirable colony, and it is not possible an English bank will be willing to open a branch there. In view of the fact that the bank is a failure, it is not possible an English bank will be willing to open a branch there."

TRUE BILL FOR MURDER.

Clara Ford will be tried now on the Charge of Murder.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—The grand jury in this case of Clara Ford, charged with the murder of Frank Westwood, brought in a true bill on Saturday.

Clara was arraigned in court and pleaded not guilty. Mr. Murdoch, who is defending the girl, moved for a postponement of the trial until the 27th inst. The judge refused the request. The girl's attorney moved for a postponement of the trial until the 27th inst. The judge refused the request. The girl's attorney moved for a postponement of the trial until the 27th inst. The judge refused the request.

WELLAND'S FEEL THE INDUSTRY.

WELLAND, Ont., Jan. 21.—The development of the iron and steel industry in the township of Welland, is being very greatly enhanced by the fact that the Canadian Central Railway will begin within the next six weeks the construction of a branch line from a point on the main line west of the town to the west end. The operation of the line will be hampered by the lack of shipping facilities and the proposed action will be a much greater output and the employment of many men.

A SENSATION CASE IN GUELPH.

GUELPH, Jan. 21.—A case of smallpox occurred here on Friday in the person of William Schwartz, who some days before came from the city of Guelph. He is a student of the Agricultural College. The case is a very serious one, and it is expected that the students of the college and their students housed in private houses in the township will be affected. The case is a very serious one, and it is expected that the students of the college and their students housed in private houses in the township will be affected.

THE BURGLES IN THE ROYAL CITY.

GUELPH, Jan. 21.—Burglars entered Robert Dillon's residence on York street by smashing in a side door while Mr. and Mrs. Dillon were sleeping. The burglars ransacked everything and held high carnival, taking away with them a few hundred dollars worth of property, including a gold watch, a gold ring, a gold watch and other valuables.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE DELAVAN FIRE.

DELAVAN, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Benjamin Huppert, of Brockville, who with his wife and children were on the fourth story of the Delavan Hotel on the day of the fire, died at the hospital on Saturday. Mr. Huppert was injured on the head and received the fatal injury. His body was badly injured and a disfigured for life.

A GRIEVOUS WOMAN'S SUICIDE.

DELAVAN, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth Huppert, of Brockville, who with her husband and children were on the fourth story of the Delavan Hotel on the day of the fire, died at the hospital on Saturday. Mrs. Huppert was injured on the head and received the fatal injury. Her body was badly injured and a disfigured for life.

BUTTE'S BIG DISASTER.

Lights, stronger than Two Noonday Suns, Seen by a Steamer on Lake Michigan.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 21.—The Detroit and Milwaukee steamer was more than half way across Lake Michigan on Friday night when the pilot saw a bright light off the starboard bow. He could not account for it, and called the captain. The captain, too, was puzzled, and thinking the light off the starboard bow, he ordered the lights to be turned on. The lights, which now began to flash at intervals, were seen by the steamer. The passengers, who had by this time been aroused, gathered on the deck and watched the lights, which now began to flash at intervals.

On went the steamer and as she approached the light the passengers were obliged to hold up umbrellas and other objects to shade their eyes from the intense glare. So bright was it that Steward Waitheer, over 60 years old, was enabled to read the Lord's prayer from the first print of a Bible without his glasses. Suddenly a moment of darkness seemed to fall over the scene and the light, and then the blaze was flashed over its top. In a few moments the mountain sank back and the lights were seen still too brilliant for the eye to endure. At just 2 a.m. by the captain's order the lights flashed, there was a terrible rumbling like a quavering peal of thunder, and then the lights disappeared. Almost on the instant a tidal wave struck the ship and the phenomenon was over.

No one attempts to explain the strange occurrence. The boat, which was fifteen miles off her course, was over an hour late in arriving here. A commercial traveler named Dunn, who was on the boat, said that the glare was brighter than the end of the world had come. The captain has made an affidavit stating that the phenomenon to the secretary of the company and these facts are taken from that report.

SENATOR TASSE DEAD.

He Passed Away After a Lingering Illness.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—Senator Tasse died yesterday, after a three months' illness, which had been of a most fatal nature. He was 67 years of age, and was a member of the House of Commons for many years. He was a member of the House of Commons for many years. He was a member of the House of Commons for many years.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT.

The Long-Choo-Foo Fleet Silenced—Approaching Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Central News says that the fleet of three Japanese warships, carrying troops have silenced the forts at the Great Port. More than 5,000 Japanese have been landed at Yung Ching near the great fortress of Wei-Hai-Wei, and the Japanese transports are off the coast at that point.

TRIGLATION IN THE NORTHWEST.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Mr. Lucas, M. P. P. of Calgary, N. B., who is here for a week past, has left for Toronto. He was in Ottawa on his way to Toronto. He was in Ottawa on his way to Toronto.

CHARGE AGAINST A G. T. R. DETECTIVE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The case of Margaret Connell, alias Madeline Flynn, was again before Judge Dugas yesterday. The case is a very serious one, and it is expected that the students of the college and their students housed in private houses in the township will be affected.

BURGLES IN DELHI.

DELHI, Jan. 21.—Our town has been again visited by burglars. This time Messrs. Crispe & Stratton were the victims. An entrance was made in their shop through the side window. The safe was drilled with some tools stolen from Pettit's blacksmith shop and the door blown open with dynamite. They were unable to open the interior vault, so obtained nothing out of the safe. They secured about $1,500 in copper out of the till.

DAMAGES FOR HER HUSBAND'S DEATH.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—At the winter assizes before Judge Robertson the case of Eddock v. Freeman was finished yesterday. This was an action brought by Mrs. Eddock against the estate of W. A. Freeman for $2,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a boiler explosion at the fertilizing works of Eddock's. The case was tried before Judge Armour in September, 1893, and the jury awarded $2,000.

NEUR DIGATION.

Leads to nervousness, fretfulness, great weakness, indigestion, Dyspepsia, and great misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives a relish to food. It makes pure blood and gives health to the system. It is the organ of the body. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's PILLS become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries it. 25c.

A STRANGE P-I NOMENON.

Lights, stronger than Two Noonday Suns, Seen by a Steamer on Lake Michigan.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 21.—The Detroit and Milwaukee steamer was more than half way across Lake Michigan on Friday night when the pilot saw a bright light off the starboard bow. He could not account for it, and called the captain. The captain, too, was puzzled, and thinking the light off the starboard bow, he ordered the lights to be turned on. The lights, which now began to flash at intervals, were seen by the steamer. The passengers, who had by this time been aroused, gathered on the deck and watched the lights, which now began to flash at intervals.

On went the steamer and as she approached the light the passengers were obliged to hold up umbrellas and other objects to shade their eyes from the intense glare. So bright was it that Steward Waitheer, over 60 years old, was enabled to read the Lord's prayer from the first print of a Bible without his glasses. Suddenly a moment of darkness seemed to fall over the scene and the light, and then the blaze was flashed over its top. In a few moments the mountain sank back and the lights were seen still too brilliant for the eye to endure. At just 2 a.m. by the captain's order the lights flashed, there was a terrible rumbling like a quavering peal of thunder, and then the lights disappeared. Almost on the instant a tidal wave struck the ship and the phenomenon was over.

No one attempts to explain the strange occurrence. The boat, which was fifteen miles off her course, was over an hour late in arriving here. A commercial traveler named Dunn, who was on the boat, said that the glare was brighter than the end of the world had come. The captain has made an affidavit stating that the phenomenon to the secretary of the company and these facts are taken from that report.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT.

The Long-Choo-Foo Fleet Silenced—Approaching Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Central News says that the fleet of three Japanese warships, carrying troops have silenced the forts at the Great Port. More than 5,000 Japanese have been landed at Yung Ching near the great fortress of Wei-Hai-Wei, and the Japanese transports are off the coast at that point.

TRIGLATION IN THE NORTHWEST.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Mr. Lucas, M. P. P. of Calgary, N. B., who is here for a week past, has left for Toronto. He was in Ottawa on his way to Toronto. He was in Ottawa on his way to Toronto.

CHARGE AGAINST A G. T. R. DETECTIVE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The case of Margaret Connell, alias Madeline Flynn, was again before Judge Dugas yesterday. The case is a very serious one, and it is expected that the students of the college and their students housed in private houses in the township will be affected.

BURGLES IN DELHI.

DELHI, Jan. 21.—Our town has been again visited by burglars. This time Messrs. Crispe & Stratton were the victims. An entrance was made in their shop through the side window. The safe was drilled with some tools stolen from Pettit's blacksmith shop and the door blown open with dynamite. They were unable to open the interior vault, so obtained nothing out of the safe. They secured about $1,500 in copper out of the till.

DAMAGES FOR HER HUSBAND'S DEATH.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—At the winter assizes before Judge Robertson the case of Eddock v. Freeman was finished yesterday. This was an action brought by Mrs. Eddock against the estate of W. A. Freeman for $2,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a boiler explosion at the fertilizing works of Eddock's. The case was tried before Judge Armour in September, 1893, and the jury awarded $2,000.

NEUR DIGATION.

Leads to nervousness, fretfulness, great weakness, indigestion, Dyspepsia, and great misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives a relish to food. It makes pure blood and gives health to the system. It is the organ of the body. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's PILLS become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries it. 25c.

BROKE OUT IN A RIOT.

The Unemployed in Montreal Evidently Bent on Mischievous.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—Montreal narrowly escaped serious riot and bloodshed yesterday afternoon and had it not been for the effective work of the police the results would have been serious. The mob of idle men which had been surging around the city hall since early morning, towards one o'clock grew turbulent. While one of the leaders was addressing the crowd, a cart attempted to pass through the ranks and this was the signal for the disorder to commence. The police were appealed to, and they began to play the sledge, but they could not go beyond the outskirts; the crowd hemmed them in, those in the rear crushing the others upon the officers, and separating them from their charges. Pandemonium at this point began to reign. Superintendent Hughes appeared on the scene with reinforcements. All the reserve men of the Central station were called out and the patrol wagon came dashing down the street. Constable Gratton was seriously hurt at this point; some say that the patrol wagon passed over him. He was carried into the station. Another young man was carried to the station, blood flowing from his face. He was placed under arrest. The Chief addressed the crowd and told them that they would have to allow a passage for vehicles. He was interrupted by howls and jeers and many began to throw ice and snow. It was then found necessary to disperse the crowd, which became violent. It was no easy matter, for they refused to move.

The most excitable spirits were placed under arrest and lodged in the cells. They refused to accompany the officers quietly. One young fellow was very impertinent towards the Chief of Police, and he even wanted to attack the Chief, but he was calmed.

The police used their batons only as a final resource; but when the crowd saw that the officers were in earnest they dispersed. During the rest of the afternoon they gathered in squads around the city hall, but they were peaceful. The prisoners were subsequently allowed out on bail.

Requirements of a Prohibition Candidate.

SUSSEX, N.B., Jan. 18.—The convention of prohibitionists held at Berwick yesterday was attended by a large number of leading temperance people from various parts of the county. Resolutions were adopted affirming the desirability of having the man to be elected in King's county to be a high temperance man, and a prohibitionist. Rev. Mr. Grant submitted a statement of what the prohibitionists could do to secure the election of a prohibitionist. He stated that the prohibitionists should subscribe to, and publish, a list of names of men who are high temperance men, and who are prohibitionists. He stated that the prohibitionists should also publish a list of names of men who are high temperance men, and who are prohibitionists. He stated that the prohibitionists should also publish a list of names of men who are high temperance men, and who are prohibitionists.

Fatal Accident at Little Chace Bay.

NEWTON, N.S., Jan. 18.—A terrible accident occurred at Little Chace Bay last evening. Just after dark a ballast train left Bridgewater for a ballast dump near the station. Some time afterwards the ballast train was discovered on the track by a signalman, which is about a few hundred yards from Little Chace Bay station. One arm was torn from the track, both the wheels, the skull smashed and the body generally horribly mutilated. The man was Hugh McCarroll, of Newton, New Brunswick. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Deceased was unmarried.

Transfer of C. P. R. Branch.

OTTAWA, N.S., Jan. 18.—General Mitchell, of the transfer of the C. P. R. to the P. & N. E. R. by way of a bill introduced in the next few weeks. Only a few conditions remain to be fixed by the two companies, and it is expected that the transfer will be completed quite as rapidly as might be under other circumstances. It is understood that the employees of the P. & N. E. R. railway are to be paid in full before the change goes into effect.

Preferred Death to Discharge.

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—Lancaster's morals led William H. Hurndell to a most interesting case. The transfer of the C. P. R. to the P. & N. E. R. by way of a bill introduced in the next few weeks. Only a few conditions remain to be fixed by the two companies, and it is expected that the transfer will be completed quite as rapidly as might be under other circumstances. It is understood that the employees of the P. & N. E. R. railway are to be paid in full before the change goes into effect.

Accident on the G. T. R.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Lehigh G. T. R. express ran into a horse and cart which was being driven by Mr. Robert Haggard, 28, Paul Street, London West, at the Hyde Park crossing of the Grand Trunk yesterday morning, and many of the passengers were injured. The horse was killed and the cart overturned. The driver was injured and the cart overturned. The driver was injured and the cart overturned.

Burglars in Delhi.

DELHI, Jan. 21.—Our town has been again visited by burglars. This time Messrs. Crispe & Stratton were the victims. An entrance was made in their shop through the side window. The safe was drilled with some tools stolen from Pettit's blacksmith shop and the door blown open with dynamite. They were unable to open the interior vault, so obtained nothing out of the safe. They secured about $1,500 in copper out of the till.

Damages for Her Husband's Death.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—At the winter assizes before Judge Robertson the case of Eddock v. Freeman was finished yesterday. This was an action brought by Mrs. Eddock against the estate of W. A. Freeman for $2,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a boiler explosion at the fertilizing works of Eddock's. The case was tried before Judge Armour in September, 1893, and the jury awarded $2,000.

Neur Digation.

Leads to nervousness, fretfulness, great weakness, indigestion, Dyspepsia, and great misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives a relish to food. It makes pure blood and gives health to the system. It is the organ of the body. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's PILLS become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries it. 25c.

THE Athens Reporter

TUESDAY AFTERNOON

BELOVERIN

EDITION AND PROPRIETOR

SUBSCRIPTION

12.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE, OR 1.00 PER MONTH IN THREE MONTHS...

ADVERTISING

Business notices in local or news columns, one cent per line for first insertion...

REMARKABLE SECRET.

There was a pause—an uncomfortable one for Tris.

"How long since you came to New York?" she asked at length.

"Edith told her—told her how she had been wandering over the world since her husband's death—how she had come to America to see her father—how she had tried to find them here in New York—how she had failed—and how she had, by pure accident, had come upon Charley in the Broadway street."

"How astonished he must have been," said Edith, "when he saw me, sitting in my dress in the middle of his street."

"Did he take you for a ghost?" "No, no, no," she said, "he was not in the least surprised. He knew I was here, from the first."

"Edith?" "He told me so. He saw my arrival in the paper when I first landed."

"And he never said a word, and he never went to see you? The wretch!" cried Tris.

"Tris, don't know that he is to blame," Edith responded quietly. "I deserve no better; and ah! Tris, not many in this world are as generous as you. So you are perfectly happy, darling? I wonder if Captain Hammond, now, has anything to say to it?"

"Well, yes," Tris admitted blushing again; "I may as well tell you. We are to be married."

"Tris married?" "Yes, married at last. We were engaged before I left England, three years ago. He wanted to marry me then, foolish fellow!"

"I left Tris with shining eyes, but of course, we none of us would listen to so proper a thing. He had only his pay and his debts, and his expectations from a fair godmother or grandmother, who did not amount to much. I mean that I had brought a black-bordered letter, saying she was gone to glory, and had left August everything. He is going to sell out of the army, and will be here by Christmas, and the wedding is to be in place the week he arrives. And, oh! Edith, he's just the dearest fellow, the best fellow, and I'm so happy to see him, and I'm so glad to see you."

"Edith was laughing. She takes Tris, who is crying, suddenly in her arms and kisses her. August Hammond, now, has anything to say to it?"

"We go to Scotland of course," said Tris, wiping her eyes; "and now, also, of course, stays with me until we get home. He will fill my place don't you think will make a charming sister?"

"She laughs as she says this question—it is the one little revenge she takes. Before Edith can reply she runs on:

"Nellie's rich—rich as compared with us, she has made it all herself. She's awfully clever, and writes for magazines and papers, and things, and has a good deal of money. Oscar says Tris, opening her eyes to the size of saucers; and I don't know really what she means, but she likes Nellie, too. That's my one comfort in going. Here comes Charley now—let's have lunch, and then we'll go about it, but nobody has the faintest idea of the pangs of hunger I am enduring."

"Charley saunters in, looking fresh and handsome from the night air. It was quite dark now. Tris lit the lamp and bustled about the table with her hands. "You told Nellie?" she asked her brother in a low tone, but Edith caught the word.

"Yes," Charley answered gravely, "I told her."

"What did she say?" "Everything that was like Nellie—everything that was bright, and brave, and good. She will be here this morning and will be good-by. Now, Mrs. Stuart, if you have any compassion on a famished young man, hurry up, and let's have supper."

"They sat down around the little table where the lamp shone brightly—Edith feeling cold and strange, and a little nervous. Tris and Aunt Chatty might, and did, forgive the past, but she herself could not, and between her and the other two, she was spanned over on earth no more. And yet—how beautiful and stately she looked under her little white cap and her black dress, and the fall of her white wrap at her throat."

"Edith?" Tris said involuntarily, "how handsome you have grown! I was all ways pretty, but now—I don't mean to flatter—but you are splendid. It is like a black beauty you are, and yet—Charley, don't you see in his face—Edith's good-by?"

"Tris?" Edith said, "I don't know what she means, but she looks like a black beauty, and yet—Charley, don't you see in his face—Edith's good-by?"

"Charley looked at her across the table—the cool, clear, gray, perfectly undimmed."

"I used to be, but it has ceased to be," he answers coolly. "Tris goes out like a good girl, and get me the evening paper. Among my other state, middle-aged habits, Lady Catherine, is that of reading the Post every evening religiously, after tea."

"Never Edith any more—always Lady Catherine—never the girl he loved three years ago—when he had said he would love all his life, but the richly dowered widow of Sir Victor Catherston. He will not quarrelly forget, even for an instant, that he is an impetuous dry goods clerk, and a lady of rank and riches."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I am glad to hear that," he says after a little pause. "It has happened me again and again. You see, Hammond wrote me all he ever knew of you, and though it was rather incongruous, it was true. It was, I think, enough your life was not entirely a bad one. All that, I hope, is over and done with—there can be no reason why the rest of your life should not be entirely happy. This is partly why I wished to walk home with you to-night; that I might know your own lips whether you held me blameless or not. And partly, and secondly, because I did you good-by."

"Good-by?" In the starlight she turns directly white. "I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

"I have never wanted it," she answers truly; "never once. I have never blamed you, never blamed anyone but myself—how could I? The evil of my life I wrought with my own hand—and if it were all to come over again, I would still do it. I have suffered, but at least—I have lived."

A WOMAN'S RESCUE.

A REMARKABLE CAREER. AN ENGLISH-WOMAN'S SUCCESSFUL RACING STABLE.

THE LOVED HORSES AND PERSONALLY CONDUCTED HER SPORTING PROPERTY—IT WAS NOT A FAD WITH "THE RED DUCHESS" BUT A PERMANENT FOLLOWED THROUGH LOVE.

Caroline Agnes, Dowager Duchess of Montrose, who died recently, and who was known in the racing world as "Mr. Montrose," and also as "The Red Duchess," has been for many years a picturesque figure in the life of the British capital and on the race-tracks throughout England.

She was born in 1818, the youngest daughter of the second Lord Decies, and even as a girl showed her bent by spending more time in her father's stable than in her room. Her father, who died in 1848, was married to James, fourth Duke of Montrose, himself a man of sporting tastes and owner of a racing stable which became famous. Because of her father's tastes, she was known as a "horse" man, and she was married to James, fourth Duke of Montrose, himself a man of sporting tastes and owner of a racing stable which became famous.

She was born in 1818, the youngest daughter of the second Lord Decies, and even as a girl showed her bent by spending more time in her father's stable

SEDEBOARDS

Too Many in Stock

In order to reduce the number I will reduce the prices of a few.

- FOR INSTANCE
The $ 8.00 board for $ 6.00
The 10.00 board for 8.00
The 12.00 board for 9.00
The 15.00 board for 11.50

LORD THE CHEAP FURNITURE MAN

Next Morrison's hotel, Brockville.

They'll Not Last Long At this Price!

So you had better hustle a little and join the present in our store before you find to your sorrow that you are too late. We are selling

Ladies' Fur Lined and Fur Trimmed Capes

For $5.00
Those who have already made purchases in this line say they never saw anything before to equal them at a much greater price, and we were not surprised to hear it. Neither will you when you see the great value.

CRAIG BROCKVILLE HOTEL AND RESTAURANT

STOCKS

Of Boots and Shoes to be cleared out to make room for Fall Goods.

Brockville's Big One Cash Price Bargain Shoe House

D. W. DOWNEY

We have removed the Mowat and Johnston Bankrupt stocks and the Montreal Bankrupt Stock from the store lately occupied by Mowat and Johnston to our store, 126 King st. We have more shoes than we know what to do with and now offer you our own stock at bankruptcy prices—50c to 75c worth of first-class footwear to be sacrificed. Never before have the public been offered such a magnificent opportunity to secure all your money's worth. No better investment can you make. A little money will buy lots of shoes.

Terms Strictly Cash. O. W. DOWNEY

BROCKVILLE Business College

3 MONTHS A SPECIALTY Commercial Course Thorough

Send for Illustrated Catalogue before deciding where you will go. GAY & McCORD, Principals

Karley & Seymour

ARE FRIENDS OF THE Farmer and Builder

They have the best assortment of Hardware, Tinware, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Catamines, Glass, Silverware, Fishing Tackle, etc., in town, and prices to suit the times. The Daily Chron—best in the market—always in stock and at lowest prices. Guns and ammunition of best quality. See them.

COAL OIL

Best Quality. Low Price. KARLEY BLOCK ATHENS

JOS. LANE

Min St. opposite Maloy's Boot & Shoe Store BROCKVILLE

LARGEST STOCK OF WATCHES

of any house in town. The stock of Clocks, Jewellery Diamonds, Spectacles, etc., is complete in every department.

WILL BE SOLD RIGHT Repairing by Skilled Workmen on Speciality.

Give us a call when wanting anything in line. We can suit you.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. John Edgar, Newbliss, died on Monday last week.

Five pairs of new bachelors for sale cheap at A. D. Young's (Late Arch. James) Blacksmith shop, Athens.

During the past season 55,842 boxes of cheese, representing nearly 4,500,000 pounds, were shipped over the Brockville & Westport Railway.

Found on Elgin st.—a lady's valise case. Owner can have same by identifying property and paying for this advertisement. Apply to H. R. Kowloon.

CASH—$5000.00 worth of crockery china and glassware at Bankery prices. Cash on hand for a short time only. —T. W. Dennis, Tea Store and China Hall, Brockville, Ont., nearly opposite the River house.

The 30th anniversary of the founding of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Smith's Falls, was fittingly celebrated last week and the Record presented its readers with a richly readable illustrated report of the event.

Bishop Vincent, of New York, thinks that the church ought to be open 365 days and nights in the year, as an off-set to the saloons and theaters, which attract many young people who would turn into a church if one were open.

Thanking my many friends for their liberal patronage during the past year, and especially for a few weeks past, which has been more than I could have expected, I still extend the invitation to call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.—T. G. Stevens, Athens.

A Remarkable Cure.—J. W. Jennison, Gilford—Spent between $200 and $300 in consulting Doctors; tried Dicks' and all other treatments but got no benefit. One box of Classo-Catarrh Cure did me more good than all other remedies. In fact I consider myself cured and with a 25 cent box at that.

It appears that even the wise men of Toronto had something to learn in the matter of providing efficient fire-protection. The recent big fire taught them the need of it.

A three-story factory was found to rest on a two-story building, and the city council has now decided to erect a water-tower and procure an aerial truck and two steam engines. It is a long way from Toronto to Athens, but nevertheless the village might well profit by the city's experience.

The annual meeting of the above society was held at Unionville on Wednesday last, 16th inst. James Bissell, Esq., Brockville, was chosen chairman and H. Lovrin performed the duties of secretary.

The treasurer, Edward Davis, presented his annual statement of receipts and expenditures, which, briefly summarized, was as follows:—Receipts from all sources, $1,780.00; expenditures, paid in prices $957.82; net on grounds, $455.50; certificates, a police, $23.75; night watch and ticket sales, $120.00; gate keepers, $120.00; dinner for judge, $22.00; dues for officers and directors, $15; and other disbursements, $10.00; advertising, $63.80; litho. p. b. b. $18.00; secretary, postage and sundries, $20.78; land, $30; special attractions, $103.50; b. loan sessions, $125.00; extra, or he. dig., $8.00; interest, $6.22; secretary's salary, $60; treasurer's salary, $25; auditors, $4; sundries, $12.85, making a total of $1689.16, leaving a cash balance in hands of treasurer of $1023.39. This will effectively make the worst case of cat-r. Capt. D. H. Lyon, president of the C. P. R. Car Ferry, Prescott, Ont., says:—"I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications of the balm cured in less than twenty-four hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it." Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post, paid at 50 cent per bottle, by addressing G. T. Futrell & Co., Brockville, Ont.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

WELLMAN'S LAST WORD

THE ILL-FATED EXPEDITION LEAVES THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

Dangerous Journey to and from Walden Island, Where the Ragged Earl Was Wrecked—A Fishing Steep Carries the Party to Iceland.

WALDEN ISLAND, July 22.—At last we have returned to the scene of the wreck of the Ragged Earl. Once more, after two months of wandering upon the ice, we are able to sleep in a house and in something that resembles a bed, for here the crew of the Earl have built a substantial hut out of the timber of the wreck, and have furnished it with banks and bedding. Our journey hither, from Cape Whidney was full of toil and peril. The ice was rotten, or it was rough, or it was full of treacherous tidal cracks and holes. Four Mr. Adams had to carry all the gear lying in one of the boats, with his injured leg increased in plaster bandage. He suffered no pain, but it was hard for him to add his weight to our burden, and to all day with his pipe in his mouth watching his companions pull and strain.

Our last day's journey was a race for life. Between our camp and our goal the ice was filled with unnumbered water holes, was in fact cracked, but the wind was so strong that the water was only slowly breaking up the smooth ice and threatening to engulf whoever should be so unfortunate as to get on the ice. The swish, hiss and crackle of the ice as it ran together, as pieces lapped upon pieces under our feet, was a most peculiar sound, and we decided to do so at once, and as rapidly as possible. Under the canopy of the tent, the water was only a few days for the passage, but when we had started it became evident that if we wished to struggle for life in the breaking mass we must keep on. Fortunately the water pools were long and narrow, and we were therefore able to make better speed. For the first time since we have had to drag our heavy gear, we were able to move him home. In 4 months he gained 50 lbs and was fully recovered to health by the use of this medicine. Jno. S. Hastings, 23 St. Paul st., Montreal.

Farmer's Institute Meeting.

The sessions of the Farmers' Institute held here on Wednesday last were very interesting and the only regret that could be felt by those present was that more of the farmers did not avail themselves of the privilege of being present. The absence of many was due to insufficient advising, the date of the meeting not being generally known in this section.

The delegation composed of Prof. Davy, of Guelph; L. Patton, of Oxford Mills; and Mungo McNab, of Cowal, proved themselves worthy exponents of the science of agriculture. The various subjects were well presented, and intelligently discussed, the farmers and cheese-makers present manifesting the liveliest interest in every phase of the questions introduced.

On invitation of the energetic and efficient secretary, Mr. W. H. McNab, a number joined the institute, thereby qualifying for the receipt of valuable annual reports, crop bulletins, accounts of experiments, etc., the whole constituting an authentic and valuable library.

Cold in the Head and How to Cure It.

One of the most unpleasant and dangerous maladies that afflicts Canadians at this season is cold in the head. Unpleasant, because of the dull, heavy, aching pain in the nostrils and other disagreeable symptoms accompanying it; and dangerous, because if neglected, it will pass into catarrh, which is a disagreeable hacking and spitting, foul breath, frequent loss of taste and in many cases ultimately developing into consumption. Nasal Balm is the only remedy yet discovered that will instantly relieve cold in the head and cure in a few days, while its faithful use will effectively prevent the worst case of cat-r. Capt. D. H. Lyon, president of the C. P. R. Car Ferry, Prescott, Ont., says:—"I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications of the balm cured in less than twenty-four hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it." Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post, paid at 50 cent per bottle, by addressing G. T. Futrell & Co., Brockville, Ont.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

THE ILL-FATED EXPEDITION LEAVES THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

Dangerous Journey to and from Walden Island, Where the Ragged Earl Was Wrecked—A Fishing Steep Carries the Party to Iceland.

WALDEN ISLAND, July 22.—At last we have returned to the scene of the wreck of the Ragged Earl. Once more, after two months of wandering upon the ice, we are able to sleep in a house and in something that resembles a bed, for here the crew of the Earl have built a substantial hut out of the timber of the wreck, and have furnished it with banks and bedding. Our journey hither, from Cape Whidney was full of toil and peril. The ice was rotten, or it was rough, or it was full of treacherous tidal cracks and holes. Four Mr. Adams had to carry all the gear lying in one of the boats, with his injured leg increased in plaster bandage. He suffered no pain, but it was hard for him to add his weight to our burden, and to all day with his pipe in his mouth watching his companions pull and strain.

Our last day's journey was a race for life. Between our camp and our goal the ice was filled with unnumbered water holes, was in fact cracked, but the wind was so strong that the water was only slowly breaking up the smooth ice and threatening to engulf whoever should be so unfortunate as to get on the ice. The swish, hiss and crackle of the ice as it ran together, as pieces lapped upon pieces under our feet, was a most peculiar sound, and we decided to do so at once, and as rapidly as possible. Under the canopy of the tent, the water was only a few days for the passage, but when we had started it became evident that if we wished to struggle for life in the breaking mass we must keep on. Fortunately the water pools were long and narrow, and we were therefore able to make better speed. For the first time since we have had to drag our heavy gear, we were able to move him home. In 4 months he gained 50 lbs and was fully recovered to health by the use of this medicine. Jno. S. Hastings, 23 St. Paul st., Montreal.

Farmer's Institute Meeting.

The sessions of the Farmers' Institute held here on Wednesday last were very interesting and the only regret that could be felt by those present was that more of the farmers did not avail themselves of the privilege of being present. The absence of many was due to insufficient advising, the date of the meeting not being generally known in this section.

The delegation composed of Prof. Davy, of Guelph; L. Patton, of Oxford Mills; and Mungo McNab, of Cowal, proved themselves worthy exponents of the science of agriculture. The various subjects were well presented, and intelligently discussed, the farmers and cheese-makers present manifesting the liveliest interest in every phase of the questions introduced.

On invitation of the energetic and efficient secretary, Mr. W. H. McNab, a number joined the institute, thereby qualifying for the receipt of valuable annual reports, crop bulletins, accounts of experiments, etc., the whole constituting an authentic and valuable library.

Cold in the Head and How to Cure It.

One of the most unpleasant and dangerous maladies that afflicts Canadians at this season is cold in the head. Unpleasant, because of the dull, heavy, aching pain in the nostrils and other disagreeable symptoms accompanying it; and dangerous, because if neglected, it will pass into catarrh, which is a disagreeable hacking and spitting, foul breath, frequent loss of taste and in many cases ultimately developing into consumption. Nasal Balm is the only remedy yet discovered that will instantly relieve cold in the head and cure in a few days, while its faithful use will effectively prevent the worst case of cat-r. Capt. D. H. Lyon, president of the C. P. R. Car Ferry, Prescott, Ont., says:—"I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications of the balm cured in less than twenty-four hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it." Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post, paid at 50 cent per bottle, by addressing G. T. Futrell & Co., Brockville, Ont.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

A FATAL GREP.

120 of the greatest wrestlers of Japan struggled together. The wrestling began at 10 o'clock in the morning and lasted till 11 in the afternoon, and there was not a minute during this time that wrestlers were not in the ring. Every man gave up his life for the sake of the other.

Readers of Mr. Hall's new novel "The Man Who Resisted Greatly" will be interested to know that the book is now on the shelves of the National House of Representatives.

Spurred on by the danger, every man put forth all his strength. Now and then three or four of us were down in the sea up to our necks in water. One of them was on rotten ice in our haste. It is not a pleasant sensation, this feeling your feet slipping from under you, and having to cling to a right glad a man is under such circumstances to be able to hold on.

It was late in the evening when we approached the shores of Walden Island. The ice was broken and a dog came running down to meet us, and as we paddled the boats through sludge and mud, the dog barked and barked and barked, and we were all shouting out our welcome and the news of their arrival. Captain Botolphsen, the leader of the expedition, was the first to land, and he was followed by the rest of the party. We were all very tired, but we were all very happy to be on land again.

One of the most unpleasant and dangerous maladies that afflicts Canadians at this season is cold in the head. Unpleasant, because of the dull, heavy, aching pain in the nostrils and other disagreeable symptoms accompanying it; and dangerous, because if neglected, it will pass into catarrh, which is a disagreeable hacking and spitting, foul breath, frequent loss of taste and in many cases ultimately developing into consumption. Nasal Balm is the only remedy yet discovered that will instantly relieve cold in the head and cure in a few days, while its faithful use will effectively prevent the worst case of cat-r. Capt. D. H. Lyon, president of the C. P. R. Car Ferry, Prescott, Ont., says:—"I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications of the balm cured in less than twenty-four hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it." Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post, paid at 50 cent per bottle, by addressing G. T. Futrell & Co., Brockville, Ont.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new elected officers were severally called upon for reports on the part of the officers and directors of the society on the fact that they were out of debt and a very snug little balance on hand to commence the new year's operations. He favored the idea of getting up special attractions, as in these times it was impossible to run a fair on the old lines of a purely agricultural show. He was in favor of extending these special features over the two last days so as to draw the crowd and win the money worth coming for. The last vice president elect to K. occasion to find a fault with the management last year in not carrying out the wishes of the directors in having the balloon ascension on the second instead of the third day. The president and secretary replied that it seemed to be the general expressed wish of the public to have the ascension on the last day and they thought the splendid results shown by the attendance and receipts fully justified them in making the change. The secretary threw out a suggestion that it would be an interesting feature for next year's exhibition to arrange for an exhibit of old and nearly obsolete relics of the early history of Ontario in the shape of old machinery or other articles that have long since been replaced by the new and improved appliances of today. The suggestion was favorably received, and no doubt the board will take action in regard thereto when reviewing the prize-list for 1895.

At the close of the annual meeting the directors met and appointed B. Lovrin the secretary and Edward Davis, treasurer, at the same salaries as last year.

On motion, the dates for the annual exhibition were fixed for Sept. 17th, 18th and 19th.

The board then adjourned to meet for revision of the prize list on Wednesday, March 6th. Any member of the society wishing to offer any suggestions regarding the list of prizes will please communicate with the secretary before that date.

St. Andrew's Church Anniversary, Toledo.

The annual anniversary services in connection with St. Andrew's church, Toledo, came off, as previously announced, on Sunday the 13th inst., and notwithstanding the inclement weather, proved a grand success, numerically, socially and financially.

The new

