Rudolph Twirls Great Ball Applegate Not Supported

Leafs Win and Lose—Royals Count—Wet Grounds at Providence and Jersey City.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 4.—In the final double-header between the Leafs and the Bronchos here this afternoon honors were even. Incidentally, it was the last two games of the season, according to the schedule. However, there will be five games here next week, when part of the Montreal schedule will be transferred to Rochester. In the opening game to-day Rudolph allowed but two hits, pitching a brilliant game, and the locals were smothered with whitewash, while the visitors hit Bannister hard, and helped by errors, made seven runs.

In the first game, the Leafs tallied one in the initial inning on a pass to Wiedy, a stolen base, Schaffy's sacrifice and Crooks' fly to right. Three more were notched in the fifth. Schaffy doubled, with one down, scoring on Crooks' triple. Kelley and Carrigan walked, filling the bases. Flynn's triple sent in Crooks and Kelley. Frick and Wotel failed to get on.

Two more were annexed in the sixth. Wiedy got a life on Moran's fumble, after Rudolph had been dismissed. Schaffy singled to center, sending Wiedy to third. Crooks doubled, Wiedy scoring. Schaffy going to third. Kelley fielded Malay, Schaffy crossing the plate. Carrigan failed to get on.

The features of the game were Schaffy's and Crooks' batting and Rudolph's great pitching. Kelley struck out with two bases full in the third.

The second game was a close affair. The Bronchos finally winning out in the ninth. Crooks' error, on the heels of two singles, letting in the winning run, while Frick's error in the fifth gave the locals two runs. Applegate and Barger were the opposing twirlers. The scores:

NYLIFE WINS 2.30 TROT IN ONE-TO-THREE ORDER

Dena Larabie Easily Second—Seven Starters in the Event—Horse Gossip.

The speeding event of the afternoon yesterday at the exhibition track was the 2:30 trot, and while it was devoid of interest as far as the final outcome is concerned, it gave the spectators an opportunity of seeing one of the best trotters ever foaled in Canada perform.

The winner, Ayliffe, a bay mare by Sam Medium, 2:18 1/4—Nettie D., 2:22 3/4, owned by B. R. Hepburn of Etobicoke, and driven by Ed Herrington, won handsily enough in each of the three heats, stepping the first 2:18 3/4, the second 2:20 1/4, and the third 2:21 3/4. Although there were seven starters in the race, the 4-year-old mare Dena Larabie, in Joe Heald's stable, was the only one to make Ayliffe race, the others being outclassed.

Ayliffe and Dena Larabie always had the race to themselves and Heald after seeing that he could not beat the fast daughter of Sam Medium, wisely decided to content himself with beating the others. The summary: 2:30 trot, purse $400: Ayliffe, b.m., by Sam Medium, 2:18 1/4—Nettie D., 2:22 3/4, owned by B. R. Hepburn of Etobicoke, and driven by Ed Herrington, 1 1 1 Dena Larabie, b.m., by Lara, 2:23 1/4, owned by J. W. Heald, 2 2 2 The Great 2:13 3/4, Alex. Heald, 3 3 3 Buckingham, Que. (Head), 4 4 4 Bay Billy, b.g., by Whalebone, J. H. Hunter, Toronto, 5 5 5 King Bryson, b.g., by Bryson, 2:15, Ald. S. McBride, Toronto, 6 6 6 Ed McBride, b.g., by Ed McBride, 7 7 7 Brian Boru, br.h., by Wilbrino, 2:10 1/4, Angus Kerr, Toronto (Montgomery), 8 8 8 Billy Allen, b.h., by Willy Douglas, J. H. Black, V.S., Toronto (Black), 9 9 7 Chief B., b.g., by Bryson, 2:15, Jos. Russell, Toronto (Collins), 10 10 5 Time—2:18 3/4, 2:22 3/4, 2:20.

Notes of the Track. The 4-year-old Dena Larabie, 2:23.4, started for the first time this week at the exhibition, when she won in straight heats, and she decided to expect her to beat a seasoned competitor like Joe Heald's mare, the last bit of speed out of his filly.

J. H. Hunter of this city, owner of the gelding Bay Billy, was called into the stand during the progress of yesterday's race and asked for consideration of the purchase of the trotting mare Ayliffe, but up to the present time no deal has been completed.

Joe Heald, head trainer for Alexander McLaren, the well-known lumberman and horseman of Etobicoke, identifies the gelding, as considering Ayliffe's future and intends staking her on the big tracks next year. Her record of 2:13 1/4 gained here will leave her eligible for the M. and M. at Detroit.

For scoring ahead of the pole horse after being warned by Starter Burns, Black, the driver of Billy Allen, was assessed $5. This had the effect of making the drivers come to the wire in line thereafter.

Ayliffe's time in the first heat, 2:18 3/4, is within half a second of the best time made by the Brandon gelding Johnny on the Canadian circuit this summer. Many horsemen are of the opinion that Hepburn's mare can do 2:14 over the exhibition track.

Dufferin Matinee Saturday. The Dufferin Driving Club will hold a matinee at the Dufferin track Saturday afternoon, when three races will be on the card. Each race will be of half-mile heats, hobbles, with a $25 purse in each event. The horses eligible to the different classes are as follows: Class A—Emma L., Nettie Spar, Baby Teth, Stroud, Western Boy and William C. Class B—Fox Pugh, Bay Billy, The Lion, Highland Fling, Holland Boy, Joe Goshall, Mabel Bell, Billy C., Sir Robert, Hermie Mack, Sparkie, Electric Girl, Apple King and Madge W. Class C—Waterloo, Harry Lew, Hazel Ho, Nellie Bay, Beatrice, Easy Laura, Maud R., Little Mona, Easter, Wilkes, Nellie Brown and Altona. The officials for the day will be: Judges—Con. Woods, Geo. Bridges and Geo. Hanks, timers, Geo. May, W. A. McCullough and Fred Rogers. Starter, James Noble.

Billiard Experts in City. Lew and Nellie Shaw of New York, the two greatest exhibition billiard players in the world, are in the city and are exhibiting at the Dufferin track Saturday afternoon. They will be seen at some of the local clubs next week. The Shaws are engaged by the Dufferin track, billiard manufacturers, of this city.

For Every Woman According to Her Needs Christmas Gifts Made in Summer

Keeping Veils Fresh and New

TO WASH chiffon veils use warm water and a white soap.

Squeeze with the fingers until all soil has disappeared and rinse in warm water, wring out the water on the bed or other convenient place to dry. No ironing should be done.

The chiffon may take on a crepe appearance, but this will render it more attractive. Do not attempt to remove it by pressing.

Black veils may be successfully renewed by being given a bath of naphtha or alcohol.

This dries so quickly that it may be accomplished while the fingers are just shaping the veil.

The black net veils, or, in fact, any net veil, may be made to last almost twice as long if a thread is run top and bottom through the little loops that are seen on both edges.

This applies to nets of good quality, as they always stretch—a cheap one will tear, rather—and the stitching should be done before the veil is worn even once.

There should be no gathering or drawing, but the thread should be exactly as long as the veil.

At first the virtue of this will not be seen, but later on when the part over the face has been stretched there will be quite invisible—will be found to keep the edges firm and neat.

Every one who has been troubled at some time or other with the veil that falls off the brim from the front, simply because the thread has stretched. This is entirely obviated by the thread.

Another objection is the stain about the mouth caused by moisture. In the case of very cheap veils there is no remedy except by washing entirely.

If, however, the color be somewhat faded, a fair price has been paid, there is something wrong with the dye, and it returned to the store and needed to be replaced by a perfect veil.

Little loose threads should be clipped whenever they appear, and needles to say all veils will last longer if carefully rolled and put away after each wearing.

Herlequin Fruit

AGUST days bring us always the lady who sits on the porch of the seaside hotel embroidering centerpieces for Christmas. We careless butterflies laugh at her calm belief in forearming since she is forewarned, and a little later join the annual mad and unseemly rush.

There is, however, no necessity for us to waste the golden hours in unhealthful and not very interesting work. It is possible to combine business with pleasure in such a way as to lose not a moment of the blessed vacation which most of us need sorely, and yet to have on hand at its close gifts many and good enough to serve as remembrances to every one of our friends and acquaintances.

Perhaps the first thing to be said is a few words on what not to make. If your vacation is passed at the seashore, don't gather shells and paste them on boxes and sofa pillows. Don't gift the large ones with "Xmas" or "Shoreton-by-the-Sea," and present them as mantel ornaments. The only acceptable use that can be made of shells is to gather rare and curious ones to add to some devotee's collection.

Another thing: don't twist innocent twigs into uncouth shapes and fondly consider them picture frames and match safes. Of course, real arts and crafts work is quite another matter; discrimination and skill make all the difference in the world. And many beautiful things may be made of wood by an experienced workman or workwoman. Beautifully artistic candlesticks and lamp shades grow from bark and wood under their wonder-working fingers, and even chairs and tables of rough wood may take shape during a summer.

BIRCH BARK GIFTS

Birch bark, however, makes charming gifts even when fashioned by the amateur. An ordinary wooden waste basket covered with it takes on new beauty, and lovely blotting pads show gray blotters against the silver of the birch bark corners. There are few things that may not be made of or ornamented with it. Beautifully artistic candlesticks and lamp shades grow from bark and wood under their wonder-working fingers, and even chairs and tables of rough wood may take shape during a summer.

She who travels into strange places, or journeys far from home, may easily bring her vacation back with her and distribute it among her friends in the shape of camera pictures.

An ordinary kodak is the source of innumerable attractive gifts. Mount about twenty-five pictures of a kind that you know will be of interest to the recipient in an album—if a home-made one of Bristol board or the ubiquitous birch bark, with "real for sure" paddles, to place among his trophies.

SEED ENVELOPES

The proportion to be used for any sized envelope is about two inches longer than wide. In No. 2 the paper is folded over a second time as in making a narrow hem. Repeat process in No. 3 at the other end. To open, cut at the corner, and when through tuck it back in fold.

A herbarium, showing the characteristic flowers of a locality, is another welcome gift. Press the flowers in a botanical press, if possible, and at any rate between filter or blotting paper. Filter-paper pads, with cotton batting and the edges, are also good. Mount on dark photographic mounts which show off the light flowers to great advantage.

Write on each mount the flower's name and place of growth and any other interesting fact connected with it. A good idea is to make the cover of this herbarium of tar paper, which will preserve the flowers indefinitely. This and the seed envelopes may be appropriately inscribed and decorated.

There are, of course, many gifts for Christmas which it is possible to make in summer, but these are among the most useful and practical.

TOO MUCH SAMENESS

IF YOU have ever on a rainy day watched the umbrella handles of the men who passed, you must have noticed that nearly every man carried an umbrella whose handle was a simple crook of brown, knotted wood. Again, the man who does not own and constantly use a black felt derby is an unusual person, indeed. Women are much less prone to err in this respect, but even they buy furs and gloves, absolutely like everybody else's.

This sameness grows something more than wearing, moreover, it entails constant loss and confusion. Of course, a certain amount of identity in clothing is unavoidable, but it does seem as if one might strive for a little more individuality. Won't somebody please start the crusade?

TO KEEP BREATH SWEET

WHERE a breath that is impossible to keep sweet is due neither to disease nor to the eating of some odorous vegetable or clover, the drinker's refuge, are, though a little strong, excellent for the purpose, and the tiny violet or rose candy tablets are also valuable. Often a bad breath is due to decaying teeth, in which case a dentist should be seen at once. Rinsing the mouth twice daily with cold water and a few drops of some good mouth wash is another thing that will surely keep the breath absolutely clean and sweet.

SMART TRAVELING BAGS

TRAVELING bags are shown only a trifle larger than leather purses. They are fitted with small brushes, combs and toilet boxes, so that they are convenient to take on short trips out of town, where one only needs a change of linen.

The toilet articles are so neatly and compactly held together on the sides of these miniature valises that there is room in the bottom for a few small pieces of clothing.

The combs and brushes as well as the boxes and bottles are all incased in leather to match the lining of the bag, and, consequently, are decidedly practical for train or boat.

These half-purse half-valise bags are popular in two shapes, one of which is almost square, the other an oblong design.

Both styles are finished with metal clasps and strong two-piece leather handles that make them particularly easy to carry when packed for a journey.

Those made in alligator skin in brown are decidedly smart, for the rougher leather shows to disadvantage in the golden tints of this favorite color.

Less showy, but perhaps more serviceable, are those small, seal-skin grips. In light and dark brown and in black they are much liked for traveling purposes.

USES OF OLD LACE

NEVER before has the lace factory so completely swept over every one.

Lace that was years ago thought suitable to adorn the backs of chairs and mantelpieces is now promoted to the dignity of embellishing one's best frock.

Then there is the union of laces entirely dissimilar in character, which would have shocked the artistic world some seasons back, is now declared to be very smart.

The possibility of a lace gown, or even a lace curtain, after it has served its purpose in its former use, is a little good taste it may be transformed into many pretty things.

THE GIRL WHO CARES

SHOULD stand straight, hold her shoulders back and practice deep breathing, and give herself a chance to be a healthy woman.

If employed in an office or factory, she must make it a point to have plenty of fresh air and to spend at least an hour a day out of doors.

She should not be afraid of water. She should drink plenty of it and take as many baths as possible during the week.

She should learn a few physical culture exercises and practice them night and morning.

If she follows these simple rules she will be healthier, happier and better looking.

INDIAN JEWELRY

THERE is a craze this season for Indian jewelry, fascinating examples of which are to be seen in some of the leading jewelry stores, and in shops where a Indian and Oriental goods store are handled. It is really surprising, too, what one can pick up in the bazaar, if one has the craze for hunting out-of-the-way stores.

For example, one girl wears a turquoise matrix ring in silver, which every one goes into ecstasies over, but in reality cost her about $2. In the first place, she picked up a piece of the matrix, beautifully green at night, and blue by day, all from a plain silver banding made, slightly broader toward the setting, and there was engraved the swastika cross on each side. The setting itself was also of hammered silver, dotted like pearls about the ring, and which they simulate wonderfully.

In the heart of this was set an oval matrix the size of a bean. Later, when she tired of the plain silver, she had the ring oxidized and then she gave it the bit of jewelry looked so much like platinum.

The same jeweler—not an expensive one, however—had now become interested, and he was ordered to make a bracelet and a brooch, both of which were set in the same matrix, with the swastika cross on each side, and the matrix sunken. The entire cost was less than $10, and the young woman who was clever enough to originate the idea, now possesses a beautiful set which would pass for imported jewelry at an export price.

UTILIZING AIGRETTES

AIGRETTES are favorite trimmings for the late summer and the early fall hat.

Whether it be for morning, afternoon or evening wear, it is safe to say, "You can utilize your egrettes, of no matter how many seasons."

Every sort of egrette is fashionable at all hours.

The arrangement of the egrettes is the point at issue, and the one in which the French milliner seems to excel at the moment.

Of course, there are all sorts of elaborate and exaggerated ways of dealing with the question—some of them picturesque, some they are impractical.

There are many new sorts of egrettes, too.

Those that are selected are sometimes very similar to those which may have lain in one's treasured millinery box for the last decade.

The best proof of this is that heron feathers, old the first place, a hat adorned with a remarkable specimen sold recently in one of the smart Paris salons for $100.

All heron egrettes have increased in price, so the possessor of one may consider herself in great luck.

If a generous supply of heron egrettes are used only one plume is required. However, this is not absolutely necessary. A smaller egrette may be reinforced with various sorts of other feathers.

Very French is the idea of trimming a white face-shape with a white egrette held in place by a black bird. A similar combination shows the compactness of egrettes and a bunch of uncurled ostrich feathers, such as figured in the making up of egrettes of recent years.

These are put close to the hat and spread out flat, to form a base for the daring height of some of the new egrettes.

A smart touch is given to a hat by adorning it with two of those simple little peacock-tipped egrettes, fanned out at either side and caught in the center by a soft little bow of velvet ribbon.

NEW UMBRELLA HANDLES

THERE seems no limit to the grotesques in which my lady delights for the adornment of her garments and accessories. Some of the new umbrella handles, for instance, possess the ugly fascination of some little eastern idol, and attract for their very lack of charm.

There is, for instance, a little glass owl, who is entirely transparent, and whose little eastern monkey, with teeth prominently displayed.

Some Cinderella will find her glass slipper on the end of her umbrella, and a small boy would delight in the little green apples that adorn still others.

Chinese cats exchange compliments with enormous oranges, and long-necked pink and white enamelled swans with little brown monkeys, with teeth prominently displayed.

None of these handles can claim to be beautiful, but what she will sell, you may depend on it, and when Cinderella's little glass slipper is on her pretty face, my lady seeks upon it all the more willingly. Perhaps she foresees that many a man will seek release from these hideous ornaments in watching their owner, and well he might.

TORONTO MORNING AND SUNDAY WORLD

PAYS ADVERTISERS

Because it Has a Circulation Among the

PEOPLE THAT BUY

Last Sunday The Toronto World printed and distributed by means of its army of carriers, the hotels and news stands and the greater part of this distribution was in the City of Toronto and its environs.

43,000 COPIES

Next Sunday there will be printed and distributed of The Sunday World, the increase being necessary owing to the rush of visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition, the majority of whom will buy Canada's leading Sunday paper, not only for the excellence of its news service, but because its advertising columns will contain a directory of the city's principal business houses.

50,000 COPIES

Every day in the week The Morning World prints and sells the greater portion of this output going into the homes of Toronto and near territory, which patronize the people who advertise.

40,000 COPIES

A good advertisement sells goods to-day and makes a good reputation for to-morrow.—Seth Brown.

The man who has things to sell knows that he can reach the people who want to buy by putting an advertisement in The World.

The World is read because it covers the news and serves up the everyday happenings attractively.

ADVERTISERS—Do you use the columns of The World to reach the buying public? If you do not, better call Main 252, and ask for the advertising department.

NON-ADVERTISERS—Perhaps you do not use printers' ink because you are doing a small business, and "can't afford it."

Give your business a chance to grow by letting the people know where you are located and what you have to sell.

The largest concerns in Toronto grew from small beginnings because there was always a genius at the top, who put aside a proportion of the monthly earnings for publicity.

Ask any of the big business men if advertising is worth while, and they will point to their increasing sales. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Political Intelligence

MR. MACLEAN AND HIS CAMPAIGN.

Editorial in St. John Sun (Liberal), Aug. 30—Edited by Senator Ellis. There may be many politicians in Ontario who do not take Mr. Maclean, M. P., seriously. And yet there are indications that his views and opinions are making headway with a great many of the ordinary people. Some of his schemes are of the practical class, in which the average man can see benefit.

Taking the run of bouquets as they come toward the member for South York, the above from Senator Ellis' paper is more than complimentary. And, as such, it will, we imagine, be received by the people's tribune with genuine delight, notwithstanding that the venerable senator had first to prepare his readers and his political associates for his statement that Mr. Maclean is talking to, and being listened to by, the plain people, by qualifications and admissions (more or less true, more or less fictitious), that Mr. Maclean is a wild man, "grotesque" in his method, is "without much order in his modes of assault," etc., etc.

MR. HUGH GRAHAM OF THE STAR (Montreal) AND THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

Montreal Herald (Liberal), Sept. 3: The evidence that Mr. Hugh Graham, proprietor of the Montreal Star, paid twenty-nine thousand dollars into the campaign fund of the Conservative party for the district of Quebec prior to the general elections of 1904, lifts one corner of the curtain that hangs over the operations of the St. James-street Junks during that period, when the purchase of La Presse and the resignation of Mr. Blair from the railway commission were outstanding features of an extensive, far-reaching and costly plot against the Liberal party.

The above article is worthy of the closest attention of the Conservative party in Canada. It foreshadows what is to be "the scandal-for-scandal" program of the Liberals in the coming federal election. Ever since 1905, The World has tried to get out the facts of the Blair-Russell-Graham-McNab-La Presse deal, one of the most grotesque, and yet most discreditable, conspiracies known to Canadian political history; and while this paper unearthed some of the facts, it is only now that the Liberals who have them are willing to let them out. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has kept them bottled up for years. It is evident now that he intends to spread them all out at what he considers the appropriate occasion. It will be scandal-for-scandal to the hilt before many days.

The pretended coldness toward Mr. Borden, as at present manifested by The Montreal Star outfit, is expressly put on to relieve the leader of the opposition from any responsibility for the rash act of the St. James-street junta, as The Star cabal is sometimes called. When the exposure comes, as come it will in full in a short time, Mr. Borden, it is expected, will repudiate all knowledge of Graham and Russell's plot, and will probably say that the celebrated manifesto that he handed out a few days before the election was, tho in veiled terms, expressly directed against the Graham-Russell crowd and their other financial associates in the attempt to switch La Presse and stampe a score of Liberal candidates in Quebec, after acceutin nominations. It was Mr. Russell who boarded

Mr. Borden's car down in New Brunswick the day before Mr. Borden gave out his reputation. At the critical stage of the coming election a most decided effort will be made to place the whole responsibility for and full knowledge of the Graham-Russell plot upon the shoulders of the Conservatives and of Mr. Borden. At least, that is how The World has sized up the situation for many a day, and what The Montreal Herald is now apparently leading up to. What The Herald already says, and what it quotes chapter and verse for, is that Hugh Graham of The Star and of the Graham-Russell-La Presse plot was the chief financial backer of the Conservative party in the last campaign, and that, therefore, the entire Conservative party must accept responsibility for all he did.

The St. John Evening Times (Ind. Con.) makes the following announcement: The Conservative party of St. John City and County will hold a convention within a few days to put in the field a candidate to oppose Hon. William Pugsley for the vacant city and county seat.

Ottawa Journal: Despite the fact that only one assembly of parliament remains, the Conservatives ought, we think, to contest both seats. Public feeling should be tested regarding recent Conservative operations, even the government and ministerial personal prestige go a very long way toward victory in by-elections.

THE CROP SITUATION

Continued From Page 1. The earlier losses. The root crops are reported generally to be in poor condition, but the growth is retarded.

Winter Prospects. For winter feeding the fortunate farmer will be the one who has extensive silo accommodation and a normal crop. Farmers who are in the milk business are restive under present prices, and are likely to be conservative.

The Dairy Point of View. W. G. Good, B.A., of Brantford, reports a fair outlook there, but a scarcity of grass is the leading concern. The outlook for the autumn crop is not so promising.

Discouraging Report. Reports from the northern and eastern parts of the province are hardly encouraging. The outlook is very dark, and the crops are being sold in Simcoe, Bruce, Grey, Hastings, Prince Edward and other eastern counties at ridiculously low prices.

Cockroaches! Jacksonian Roach Powder (non-poisonous) will positively rid you of them. In 50c cans for household use, and in 3 and 10-lb. cans for hotels, restaurants and factories.

THURSDAY MORNING

ACTON—ITS ADVANTAGES

A Town That Makes Haste Slowly and Lives on Leather.

"Let the dead bury their dead," is a sentiment emphatically indorsed by the bustling, hurrying humanity of our time.

Neither as individuals nor communities do we care to wander, metaphorically, among the graves where the "rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep."

Along the line of the march of progress are left myriads of human wrecks—shattered constitutions, drooping spirits, and a host of physical ailments.

Now, here is this Village of Acton, perhaps by a few the largest community in the County of Halton, that seems to warrant the foregoing commentary on the age.

The fathers of the village were the Adams brothers, who migrated from the United States in 1826. They were all, I believe, miltary men.

who shall deliver us from the body of this death, to wit, the rotten structures of 50 years ago? Yet, in some of these old structures there is still a certain charm.

There are two tanneries under the company names of Beardmore & Co., and Acton Tanning Co. Sole leather and uppers are the products of the former.

There is another tannery, run by W. J. Chapman, whose output is exclusively confined to the Dominion.

The town has a fine sheet of water covering 90 acres, with a newly completed club room and boating house upon it.

COBALT, Sept. 4.—(From the Man on the Spot.)—Cobalt's output for the past two months shows no decrease; instead, there has been a slight increase.

Who Should be Punished for Violation of Liquor Law?

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 4.—(Special.)—Police Magistrate Comfort today heard evidence in the charge laid by Ed McNulty, bartender of the Lincoln House, Port Dalhousie, against John Harrigan, proprietor of the Austin House at the same place, and on the evidence of McNulty and one J. Defendant's counsel, G. F. Peterson, claimed Harrigan was out of town when the offence occurred, and asked that the bartender be found guilty in the name of the proprietor, claiming that such should be done in accordance with the Liquor Act.

The case was enlarged till Sept. 16, when Mr. Peterson promised to cite precedents in support of his argument. On that day Harrigan will be charged with having broken the law on Aug. 25.
