TEEDY'S MESSAGE LACKING IN RESPECT

Perkins Committee Will Ask That Portion be Laid on Table as It Reflects on Integrity of Members of House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—As disrespectful and unresponsive to the enquiry of the house, the Perkins committee, when it reports to-morrow, will recommend that President Roosevelt's secret service message of Jan. 4 be laid on the table.

A similar request will be made for the tabling of that portion of the president's annual message relating to the secret service on the ground that it reflects upon the integrity of the members of the house.

The special committee concluded its consideration of the message to-day and drafted its report, which will be presented by Representative Perkins of New York. The unusual and extreme course advised by the committee—that of declining to consider any communication from any source which, in the judgment of the house, is not respectful—is likely to cause a sensation when it is read.

After setting forth the statement of the president that the house had failed to understand his message the report of the special committee says that the language is not respectful according to the accepted interpretation of the English language.

That the house is charged only with its responsibility to the people and to preserve its own dignity will be asserted with great force and if the report is adopted the house will be on its own capacity to understand the import of the president's language.

It will be asserted that the language in question was unjustified and without basis of fact, and that it constituted a breach of the privileges of the house.

For that reason the special committee will ask to be discharged from further consideration of that portion of the president's message which refers to the secret service and will recommend that it, together with the subsequent message of the president in reply to the house, demand for an explanation be laid on the table as being unresponsive and constituting an evasion of the privileges of the house by questioning the motives and intelligence of members.

MILL OWNER VOTED "DRY" WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF

Knitting Company Compelled to Close Down When Hotelman Stopped Source of Power.

GLENCOE, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—The town of Glencoe failed to go "dry" as far as local option is concerned by the vote on Monday it went so "dry" as far as the Lewett Knitting Company is concerned that that industry had to cease running for a day or so and thereby hangs a tale which has caused considerable amusement in Glencoe.

The Lewett Company is an industry employing about 15 or 20 hands, which came to the town recently on the understanding that it was to be provided with free water. This stipulation was easily made good, for one of the hotelmen had a splendid well running a couple of hundred thousand gallons a day, and he offered water for milling purposes without money and without price.

The knitting company was running nicely when local option campaign came on. The manager of the knitting company is a staunch temperance advocate and supported the "dry" vote, regardless of the fact that his factory was receiving its water supply from one of the men whom local option would put out of business. The hotelman took it as a joke at first, but finally told the knitting mill man that he would have to stop the water supply. The latter did look elsewhere, but looked in vain, and in the end the factory had to shut down.

By this time the town council got interested and sought to effect a settlement. Their efforts at first were futile, but the hotelman being of a genial and forgiving disposition, they succeeded in making an agreement whereby the water would again be supplied to the factory, which is once more running as usual.

Clear Case of Suicide.—Coroner M. M. Crawford last night withdrew the warrant filed yesterday ordering an inquest into the death of Hugh Wilson, G. T. R. sectionman, found dead in a switchhouse at East Toronto Wednesday night. The coroner says that death was clearly due to suicide with carbolic acid.

Disputed.—CHATHAM, Jan. 7.—Because he got only 247 votes in his candidature for council, Sam Holmes, a brother of the chief of police and a resident here for 27 years, will sell out and go west.

THE LITTLE PATRIOT

The Makers of Canada. William Lyon Mackenzie, by Charles Lindsey, edited with numerous additions by G. G. S. Lindsey. Toronto, Morang & Co., Ltd., 1908.

The story of the Upper Canada Rebellion, largely derived from original sources and documents by John Charles Dent, Toronto, C. B. Robinson, 1885.

The Other Side of the Story, being some reviews criticising "The Story of the Upper Canada Rebellion." Also the letters in the Mackenzie-Rolph controversy and a critique on "the new story" by John King, Barrister. Toronto, 1886.

We have read Mr. George Lindsey's revision of his father's life of William Lyon Mackenzie, now published as the concluding volume of Makers of Canada, with a great deal of pleasure. We have also read Mr. Dent's story of the same period with little satisfaction; and we have glanced over Mr. King's pamphlet in reply to Mr. Dent with still less satisfaction, inasmuch as we believe that Mr. Dent, critical as he was; and energetic as he was in hunting up a lot of new material, altogether missed the historical value of Mackenzie in judging of him by details rather than by mass, and if that is true, it follows also that the criticism of his story by Mr. King only added to the irrelevant.

Every Canadian has read or heard more or less of the rebellion in the Province of Upper Canada in 1837, and which had its headquarters in this City of Toronto, then, as now, the capital; but ever since that event there have been two or more stories of it: one which describes Mackenzie and his associates as rebels, traitors, and lacking in every kind of moral and political virtue; and another side which more or less justified the rebellion and certainly justified the results that came from it.

The more we read of these events, the more inclined are we to consider William Lyon Mackenzie, what he describes himself to be, a patriot, and the more we read of it, the more do we regret that that rebellion of which he was the chief actor, ended in failure. Reading the history of Canada since that event, and having regard to present conditions in this ninth year of the twentieth century, and some 70 years distant from the rebellion, we have no hesitation in saying again that we regret that the rebellion did not attain its end of overthrowing the government then existing, and more and more do we regret that an entirely new government and system was not then created.

What might have followed had a change of government been brought about, no one can now determine; but we have just as much reason for saying as anyone else can say to the contrary, that it would not have eventually severed British connection as most of the enemies of Mackenzie constantly charge, but it would have done what has never yet been done, and what must yet be done in some way, and that is to give the Canadian people that spirit of independence and resourcefulness which we believe they still lack in regard to the matter of national virility. A people in the process of organization into a state must be "blooded" as puppies are blooded before they can be a nation. There is a baptism of fire.

Only the other day, Prof. Hutton, in an article in The University Magazine on Canada, brings the present-day condition of Canada under the criticism of that great master mind of politics, Plato, and in a fine burst of satire, he makes Plato speak of Canada in these terms:

This state of yours, as I understand your description, is still a colony: fidelity, patience, loyalty;—but you cannot have everything; you cannot have the passive and gentle virtues of a colony with the masculine and aggressive virtues of an independent state; you cannot be like these Americans of whom you speak, who resent British dictation, and yet retain also the virtues of your "Loyalists" who submitted thereto; a colony which is still a colony, and an independent state have anti-thetic virtues.

To our mind, if the rebellion of seventy years ago had succeeded Canada would have then attained those "masculine and aggressive virtues" (Continued on Page Eight).

HERE'S WHERE WE FREEZE CANADA IN FROSTY GRIP

Cold Wave Most Pronounced of Season and is Felt From Coast to Coast.

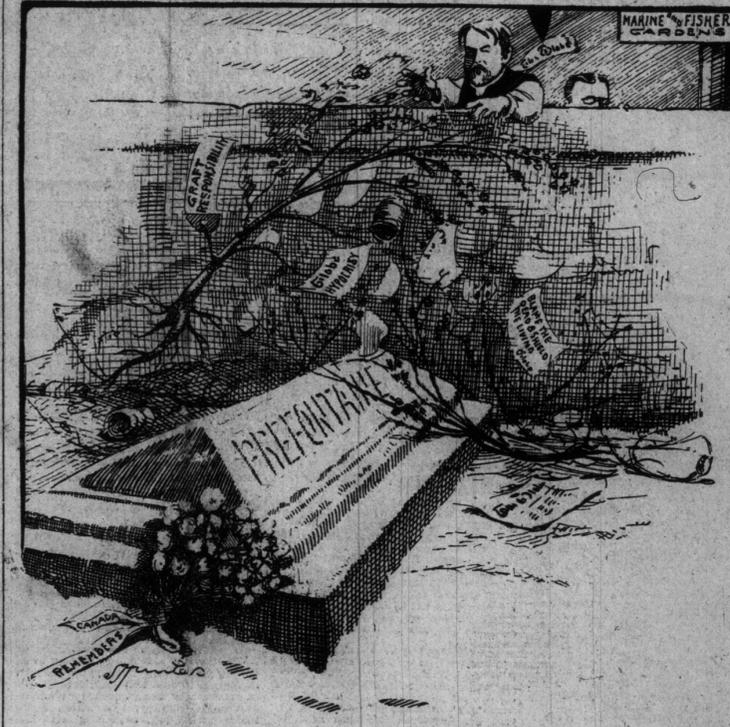

Intense cold prevailed yesterday in all parts of Canada. In Ontario it was down about zero, generally, and in many places several degrees below.

It was felt keenly because there was nowhere much wind, but that kind of still, sharp, penetrating cold that be-numbs.

The widespread nature of the frost was especially marked in southern British Columbia, in which district they only get skating once or twice a winter. They are now having from 29 to 30 degrees of frost; (2 to 12 above zero).

In the western provinces the thermometer registered considerably below zero, but this territory is a favorite stamping ground of the frost king. Manitoba experienced 24 to 30 degrees less than nothing, Saskatchewan got nipped with 24 to 40, and Alberta shivered with 28 to 30 below.

GUILD OF CIVIC ART PLAN EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

Copies of Scheme for Beautification of Toronto Will Be Distributed.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—It is understood that Robert Fleming and other important English interests are carefully looking into the affairs of the Lake Superior Corporation with a view to enlarging its scope by the acquisition of the Canadian Pacific.

It is expected that considerable new money will be put into the enterprise and it is definitely reported that the English capitalists referred to have been assured of large orders from the E. J. Schreiber, who is in charge of the season's campaign.

The meeting took a hopeful view of the work being done by Rogers, expected to increase the membership to 2000 during the year. Walter S. B. Armstrong was appointed secretary and a program was outlined for the season's campaign.

A committee was also appointed to aid the South African Memorial Association in choosing a site for the 70-foot memorial to be erected in honor of the 200 Canadian volunteers who lost their lives in the Boer war.

CAR HITS AUTO.

Frederic Nicholls, Wellesley-crescent, with his chauffeur, Joseph Rogers, 522 Spadina-avenue, narrowly escaped death or serious injury at 6 o'clock last night when Mr. Nicholls's large touring auto car, skidding at Wellesley and Yonge-streets, struck car No. 1122, number 18, on the Yonge-street run.

The auto, driven by Rogers, was crossing from St. Alban's-street into Wellesley, when it slid on the slippery pavement and struck the street car in charge of Motorman Bennett, who was driving westward.

The front wheels of the auto were crushed and the occupants severely shaken up. The damage was $250.

FIND STOLEN GOODS.

Once more a find of stolen property has been made at Barrowcourt, County Constance, McMillen and County Constable Lloyd executed a search warrant at a shack occupied by James Hunt, 24 years, who was taken into custody.

The officers found a quantity of stolen property, much of this was taken from the store of John Feit on St. Clair-avenue Monday night. This was moved in a wagon to Magistrate Henderson's house at Broad-crescent. Then the constables waited for Hunt, who arrived at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and he was lodged in the Ossington-avenue police station. Yesterday morning McMillen took to 214 Wallace-avenue and found Gordon Schultz, 18 years, in bed. He also was arrested and charged with theft of the goods. Stolen property was also found hidden there.

It is thought that still more property will be unearthed and further arrests may follow.

C. P. R. Will Expend 30 Millions in West

THIRTY million dollars was mentioned today at the local offices of the Canadian Pacific as the sum which Second Vice-President Whyte will ask from the treasury of the company to be expended on western lines during the season of 1909.

Mr. Whyte will leave for the east on Friday and will spend the following week in Montreal. He will be accompanied by the chief engineer for western lines, J. E. Schreiber, who for several weeks past has been devoting his entire time to a consideration of the work to be done next year in connection with the building of additional track and betterment and maintenance of existing lines.

The body was recovered in about twenty minutes, and, altho Dr. Good worked over him for some time life was extinct.

GLEDGYMAN MAY BE MURDERER NOT VICTIM

Michigan Authorities Scouring Western Ontario for Carmichael, Who Crossed River at Court-right To-Day.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—That Rev. J. H. Carmichael, who it was thought had been murdered and his body dismembered and incinerated in two heating stoves of one of his churches in Columbus Township, Mich., on Wednesday, is the murderer and Gideon Browning the victim of the affair, is now the belief of the Michigan officials, who are scouring Western Ontario for the missing clergyman.

W. B. Moore, deputy sheriff of St. Clair County, is here to-day following a clue picked up at Sarnia. There it was learned that a man answering the description of Rev. Mr. Carmichael crossed the river at Court-right on Wednesday, in a row boat to-day. Provincial Officer Sarvius saw the customs officer at Court-right and got from him a description of the man which tallies exactly with that of Mr. Carmichael, who is a man of 260 pounds, standing 6 feet 2 inches, broad chested, long-waisted, of dark complexion and wearing a dark brown beard.

If Carmichael turns out to be the murderer instead of the victim, Deputy Sheriff Moore says the authorities are completely at a loss to supply a motive for his act. They do not think there is a woman in the case. It has been learned from Mrs. Carmichael that when the minister left his home he carried a suit case, but Mrs. Carmichael has furnished very little information beyond this that would assist the police.

The identification of the body as that of Rev. Mr. Carmichael was largely based upon the fact that hooded clothing belonging to the victim, including his spectacles, were found in the church. The authorities say that so far as they know there had never been any serious trouble between Browning and the minister.

On the contrary, they were apparently quite friendly, frequently driving about together. Tuesday afternoon Browning, it is alleged, left a Grand Trunk train at St. Marysville, Mich., and enquired the way to the Methodist Church in Columbus Township. He is alleged to have met two different men that he had an appointment with, a man, C. O. Conat, a rural mail carrier, and Thom Galvin, who walked part of the way to Mrs. Carmichael's house. They left him a mile from the building. He has not been seen since.

No reason is known why Rev. Mr. Carmichael should have gone to the church unless he had an appointment there.

It has been learned that Rev. Mr. Carmichael had but four false teeth, while Browning recently bought a full set for the upper jaw. It is now intended to sift thoroughly the ashes in the stove where the mutilated body was burned in an attempt to discover teeth, which might clear up the situation.

Among the gruesome evidences of the crime taken from the stove in which the murderer tried to incinerate his victim's body is a stickpin, which the sheriff says has been identified as belonging to Browning. The sheriff denied stories that pieces of Browning's clothing and buttons therefrom had also been discovered in the stove.

"The stickpin is the only thing of Browning's we found in the ashes," he said.

FRENCH TO BLAME

For Structure Which Caused Death of Miss LeBlanche.

That Marie LeBlanche came to her death by the collapse of an improperly erected structure on the exhibition grounds at Toronto; that had her directions been obeyed the result would have been responsible for the accident, but that when Mr. French, an employe of the exhibition company undertook the direction of the work it was his responsibility to see that the structure was erected in accordance with the directions of the department's view that the Pelletier party went to the mounted police post at Fullerton's and the mounting over the ice to Fort Churchill.

HER PILOT.
Death seemed afraid to wake her,
For, traversing the deep,
When home he came to take her,
He kept her fast asleep.
And haply in her dreaming
Of many a risk to run,
She woke, with rapture beaming,
To find the voyage done.

KING MANUEL IN DANGER.

Portuguese Officer Publicly Warns His Majesty During Banquet.
LISBON, Jan. 7.—During a banquet given by officers of the army in this city last night, at which King Manuel was present, a lieutenant publicly warned his majesty that a plot to dethrone him was in the course of preparation. Says Stock Transaction on Which Charge of Fraud, is Based Was Legitimate.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—A warrant charging embezzlement was issued in this city to-day for the arrest of "Count" L. Hamon, formerly known in America and Europe as "Cheiro, the painter," who went to London yesterday, following the allegation of two American women that he had defrauded them of valuable stocks. It is pointed out, however, that Hamon is a British subject, and cannot be brought back here from London, as Great Britain does not permit the extradition of her citizens.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—"Count" Louis Hamon, who left Paris yesterday, after being charged by Mrs. Julia P. Newell and Miss Josephine Pomeroy of New York with the defrauding of stocks said to be worth $500,000, was located in London to-day.

It is said that the transaction on which the charge of fraud is based was legitimate. Mrs. Newell and Miss Pomeroy appeared to him a year ago, according to the charge, to extricate them from a stock market in New York which they were heavy losers in. He succeeded in saving a part of their fortune, and rendered them regular accounts. Last November he called upon the two women to redeem their stocks, giving them plenty of notice. As they did not comply with the demand, he left them a check for $200,000, according to the count, $7000 due them. He says he is ready to pay the women whatever an expert appointed by a French court should be due them on the books left in Paris.

COUNT HAMON IN ONE GRAVE ARCHBISHOP AT FUNERAL

Public Buildings Under Which Quake Victims Are Buried Blessed by Dignitary.

MESSINA, Jan. 7.—A most impressive funeral ceremony was witnessed here to-day, when Archbishop Darrigo made his way thru the ruins of the city to the cemetery at Mare-grosso and blessed a grave 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep containing 1300 bodies.

The dead were piled one on top of the other, and the remains have been covered with quicklime.

The prelate was followed to the cemetery by a large gathering of survivors, whose lamentations mingled with the Latin words of the benediction.

Subsequently the archbishop walked thru the ruins and blessed the military hospital, the military college, the barracks and the archbishop's house, considering these wrecked edifices as so many cemeteries. Under them were the remains of soldiers, students, policemen, priests and monks.

All the valuables found among the ruins are being taken on board the steamer "Carnegie," which is to carry 500,000, including the contents of the bank of the Italian-American Bank, which was transferred to this vessel. A bankrupt named Meuroni, who was one of the richest residents, lost everything.

Yesterday he went to the auctioneer barefooted and half clothed and asked for a pair of shoes and an overcoat.

With the exception of Sant Andrea Avellino all the churches in Messina have been destroyed.

DEGREE REVOKED

Venezuela Withdraws Irritating Notification.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 7.—Official notification has been received here from Caracas of the formal revocation by the Venezuelan Government of the notification despatched to this city last week, which had led to the recent Dutch naval demonstration in Venezuelan waters.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Jan. 7.—The Dutch steamer Prinz Wilhelm II. arrived here to-day from New York with 100 cases of dynamite, which are cases of fire arms on board. SHAH BACKS UP Reveals Persian Constitution—Boarders at Shiraz.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 7.—Despatches from Teheran say the Shah of Persia has again issued a manifesto revoking the notification to this city that the news of the success of the revolution in Shiraz should be considered as a declaration of war.

There has been an outbreak of disorder at Shiraz similar to the recent disturbances at Isfahan. It is feared that the news of the success of the revolution in Shiraz will result in uprisings on the part of the lower classes in other towns, but particularly among the starving.

NO MORE HELMETS.

Naval Pattern Cap to Take the Place in Militia.

OTTAWA, Jan. 7.—Militia orders seem to deem the helmet as far as the Canadian Militia is concerned.

They will not in future be issued to rural corps or to those who wear them only in quantity to complete establishment.

A naval pattern cap will be issued to replace them.

Salvation Army and Farm Hands.

Editor World: I am surprised at and cannot allow the statement of the Salvation Army, before the militia, that "in the worst part of the country there is a depression last winter, as the Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto, they have always been in want of farm hands on farms that there were men to fill them."

At every time referred to there were hundreds, if not thousands, of deserving, able-bodied men and women in this city alone ready and willing to go to farms or to British Columbia or anywhere else to get work, and the same conditions apply to-day.

WINNIPEG POWER SCHEME

Contracts Amounting to $1,000,000 Recommended by Controllers.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—The board of control to-day decided to con- sider the recommendation of the power engineers that the contract for a general power scheme works at Point du Bois be awarded to John Gunn & Sons of Toronto, at an estimated cost of $1,000,000, and for steel towers to Manitoba, at an estimated cost of $200,000, estimated cost being $1,200,000.

Tenders for the construction of a transmission line were not considered, and will be taken up later.

The construction department was recommended by the engineers for the erection of 100 towers to British Columbia, and to lay the matter over came largely as the result of a general feeling of the city council that all work should be done under contracts.

WILL ANSWER BEFORE JUDGE

Norriah Will Not Say Now If He Was "Approached."

GUELPH, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Did Charles Spalding, caretaker of St. Andrew's Church, make his interesting affidavit about the dollar bill stolen from the church? He has not yet given a request or advice of any of the church officials.

Mr. Spalding, asked this question, the Rev. Mr. Wilson, pastor of the church, said that the congregation had as yet not taken any official action in the matter, but he would not say whether or they intended later.

Mr. Wilson stated in his letter to Mayor Newstead that he had not approved of the appropriation of any alderman. When asked if he had been by any one who was not an alderman he would not say.

"I will answer that question if put on oath before a judge," he said, "but not for any newspaper. It would be taking the case from the jury when it is known that it is carried any further."

The mayor still holds to his statement that Norriah made the definite charges of graft to him.

Provoction Shows.

Constable Robert Walter, of Mimico, charged with assaulting W. F. Wilson, the G.T.R. tracks, near Hunter Bay, on Dec. 29, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Winchester's court.

The jury brought in a strong recommendation that Norriah be fined $100 and the constable had provisionally fined the judge allowed the accused out on suspended sentence.

Walter has been in the employ of the G.T.R. and his work has been directed mainly against people who walk on the tracks and make connections.

The complaint in the case claimed the constable punched and kicked him.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN

Adoption of Better Methods Accounts for Superior Cheese.

PRESCOTT, Jan. 7.—At the afternoon session of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention interesting lectures were delivered by J. A. Ruddle, dairy commissioner, Ottawa; Mr. Ayer, president of the Montreal Produce Association; G. A. Putnam, director of dairying, Toronto; and J. Stonehouse, instructor in butter making of the dairy school at the University of Toronto, dairy commissioner for Saskatchewan, was also present, and gave a brief account of the dairies of the dairy industry in that province.

The subject of Mr. Ruddle's address was the dairy situation in Eastern Ontario. He pointed out the necessity of men upon the adoption of the process of cooling cheese. It was due largely to this superiority in the texture and flavor of the cheese that it was becoming such a favorite upon the British market.

Mr. Ayer, representing the cheese and butter buyers, showed the importance of the producers acting in cooperation with the buyers. He suggested that the factory should store the date of manufacture as the only certain method of obviating the sale of stale cheese for fresh, and also pointed out the necessity of cool storage for holding the cheese until a favorable price might be received.

Mr. Putnam drew a brief outline of the dairy work in Western Ontario. Western Ontario has larger and more improved dairies than any other section of the manufactured product is somewhat better than found in eastern districts. However Eastern Ontario excels in the average richness of the milk.

Mr. Stonehouse in his report on the creameries of Eastern Ontario stated that there had been a general improvement within the last year in respect. He emphasized richness of cream in order to produce a high quality of butter and also suggested the payment of cream hauler according to the amount of fat alone instead of total cream. This system would be productive of greater care in hauling.

AIM OF GROCERS' GUILD TO CRUSH PRICE OF TRADE

S. F. Washington, K.C., Likens Tactics to Holding Pistol to Man's Head.

In an effort to show that the whole aim of the Grocers' Guild was bent in the direction of placing it in a position to dominate the trade of Canada and crush all firms who declined to accept its terms, S. F. Washington, K.C., read some correspondence to Chief Justice Falconbridge that had passed between Mr. Beckett and Mr. Bristol of Hamilton, Mr. Cook and the Provincial Grocer's Association, and the Grocers' Guild.

Mr. Washington contended that 'it should be and was every man's right to trade in any business he should choose and his own term made no difference geographical lines; whereas after the formation of the guild, there had been legitimate channels of trade that were partially closed.

The council also said he could show that the guild had had been made in a similar direction in preventing men from buying sugar. He declared that the Grocers' Guild were employing coercive methods for 'purely philanthropic purposes.'

Charges Coerced. The defendant claimed, he said, that its operations had not been coercive; that it never compelled, but merely suggested. Well, he had no quarrel with the term, but if a man came and pointed a pistol at his head and suggested that he give up his money, would it not be better to give it up? The use of the term made no difference; the effect was just the same.

Letters and evidence given at the trial were quoted to show that the guild had been set out to 95 per cent of the trade, asking them to do business with Cross & Blackwell, and that thru the efforts of the guild restrictions were placed on sugar, soap, tobacco, starch, canned goods, sausages and other commodities which resulted in driving men out of business throughout the country.

F. W. Hudson's Evidence. The purpose of the testimony of F. W. Hudson, president of the Canada Brokerage Co. of Toronto, was to offset the evidence of Chas. Corby of Montreal, head of the Pacific Selling Co., dealing in Clover leaf salmon and other grocers' supplies.

Mr. Hudson said that instead of trade in 1908, the sales of the Canada Brokerage Co. had increased 50 per cent. The former year and 75 per cent in the latter.

Mr. Corby submitted letters stating that the guild had been set out to 95 per cent of the trade, asking them to do business with Cross & Blackwell, and that thru the efforts of the guild restrictions were placed on sugar, soap, tobacco, starch, canned goods, sausages and other commodities which resulted in driving men out of business throughout the country.

Hudson who, as agent for the Pacific Selling Co., handled the Clover Leaf and Arrowhead brands of salmon, said the reason his firm had lost the only business of the Pacific Selling Co. was that he had broken his selling agreement, but said this was a common practice.

DETECTIVE BELLEAU SAYS HE WAS OFFERED BRIBE

Sensation in County Police Court at Hearing of Stouffville Liquor Case.

Liquor Detective Walter Belleau sprung a mild sensation at the county police court yesterday afternoon, when he charged Donald McNair, a commercial traveler in the case of Frank Miller, the Stouffville hotelkeeper, being tried before Police Magistrate Ellis for selling liquor without a license.

Belleau said McNair came up to him and started to talk about the Miller case. McNair said it was too bad to see Frank Miller go down as he was a good fellow and he could get Belleau from $25 to $50 if he would leave town.

McNair denied this, saying that he had met Belleau at the Walker House and that he had seen Miller's car there. Belleau said that he never should have touched the Miller case, as there was no case, because they had not got anything.

Belleau asked him (McNair) if it was possible to get more money to go to Detroit. He said he would save the hotelkeepers of Orillia, whose trial came on the next day, if he got enough money to get to Detroit.

McNair said he told him to go to the party who was charged in the Miller case and tell him to come up to the Miller Hotel and see Miller's car there. They went to the hotel and in the hall Belleau told Fred Miller that they had nothing against Frank Miller.

McNair could not tell how many drinks he had had, but could walk perfectly straight.

Fred Miller, brother of the defendant, said that Belleau came to the hotel with McNair and that Belleau said that if he could get some money he would clear out the Miller case and go to his brother. Belleau told him they had no case against his brother and that he wanted to get money to get out of town.

Belleau and Arthur Roberts, another whiskey detective, swore they went to Stouffville and saw McNair sell 25 half purchase two glasses of whiskey from Miller in his hotel, the Mansfield House, in the evening of Dec. 25.

The defence said that they sold the two men local option beer.

All the evidence on both sides was taken and the case was adjourned until next Friday, when a decision will be given.

Fairbanks Acquitted. Earland Vincent Fairbanks was acquitted by a jury in the general sessions yesterday afternoon on the charge of stealing 11 bottles of whiskey from a freight car in the C.P.R. yards on Dec. 5.

RAWLINSONS CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

Defeats Trustee Levee Seven to Six—Standing Committees Named.

On the first ballot Marmaduke Rawlinson was elected chairman of the board of education at the inaugural meeting last night.

The vote stood seven to six as follows: Rawlinson—Boald, Brown, Bryans, Houston, Oden, Levee, Rawlinson—Levee—Conroy, Dan, Levee, Martin, Simpson, Smith—6.

The new chairman was warmly applauded and he ascended the rostrum. He thanked the trustees for the honor and expressed the hope that he would do nothing during his term of office that would reflect discredit upon himself and the board.

There was a harmonious meeting. Less than three-quarters of an hour was required to elect the chairman, appoint standing committees and select their convenors.

Mr. Levee protested that he was not a member of the board. The only difficulty encountered was in the appointment of the chairman of the committee on the whole. There have been in past years been some pertinacious aims at this office, purporting to have a good place to stick a man who was well known in the office.

Trustee Davis was finally prevailed upon by Dr. Bryans to accept the position. He was the first nominee and he refused flatly, with some show of resentment, he having failed to get the chairmanship of the management committee to which he had been appointed. Trustee Levee, who a moment before had failed to score for the chairmanship of the board, was the second suggestion, but he refused absolutely, saying he felt he could do better work "sitting right where I am."

Mr. Kent protested that he wasn't fighting him. James Simpson declined because he remembered how kindly the board had once been in placing him in that office in order to "spike his guns" and he wanted to be in a position this year to have something to say.

Others turning down the honor were: Bryans, Smith, Martin and Oden.

Standing Committees. The striking committees composed of those members who were not candidates in the recent election, named the committees as follows: Finance—Management—Davis, Martin, Kent, Bryans, Levee, Boald.

Property—Houston, Oden, Smith, Conroy, Simpson, Levee, Martin, Kent, Finance—Brown and Simpson, with the chairman of the property and management committees.

Mr. Rawlinson is an ex-officio member of all standing committees. In selecting their chairman the management committee took into consideration the property and management committees as follows: Mr. Rawlinson gave the casting vote in favor of Dr. Bryans.

The property committee chose Mr. Houston as chairman and Mr. Brown was picked to preside over the finance.

Woman's Auxiliary. The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Toronto Diocese was held at Holy Trinity's church yesterday. An address on foreign missions was delivered by Rev. E. L. Millman, who is in charge of two weeks for Japan.

Miss Townsend gave an encouraging account of the Anglican mission stations which she had visited in different parts of the world. She also reported that the receipts for the month had been exceedingly gratifying, amounting to $868.76.

BRUCE OLD BOYS.

Dr. J. M. Johnston Elected President at Annual Meeting.

The "Bruce Old Boys" held their annual meeting in St. George's Hall last night, when an interesting program was given and an enjoyable evening spent.

The treasurer's report was very satisfactory, showing a balance on hand of over $300. The following officers were elected: Hon. president, J. Stuart Bruce; president, Dr. M. Johnston; vice-presidents, Thomas Holmes and Dr. Zinkus; secretary, F. A. O. Johnston; treasurer, G. A. Pringle; chaplain, Rev. J. L. Murray, who has just resigned from Toronto, after a pastorate of 40 years in Kinross.

A large executive committee was appointed and arrangements completed for the annual at home and ball, to be held in the Temple Building, on Feb. 18.

WAS IN BED FOR THREE MONTHS.

PEOPLE SAID SHE HAD CONSUMPTION.

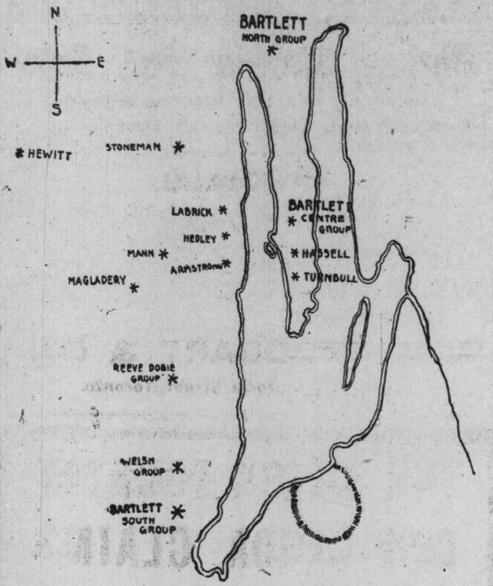

Read how Mrs. T. G. Buck, Brookridge, Ont., was cured (and also her little boy) by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

She writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have received through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A few years ago I was so badly troubled with my lungs, I said I had Consumption and that I would never live through the Fall. I had two doctors attending me and they were very much alarmed about me. I was in bed three months and when I got up I could not get so had to go on my hands and knees for three weeks, and my limbs seemed of no use to me. I gave up all hopes of ever getting better when I happened to see in B.B. Almanac that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good for weak lungs. I thought I would try a bottle and by the time I had used it I was a lot better, so I bought more and it made a complete cure. My little boy was also troubled with weak lungs and he cured him. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it for anything."

Price 25 cents at all dealers. Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting the original. Put up in a yellow wrapper, and three pine trees the trade mark.

LAKE GOW-GANDA

THE GREAT SLEEPING GIANT Strange Outline of Lake Gow-Ganda Subject of Indian Tradition.

Yesterday morning The World told the interesting story of the Sleeping Giant of the Northland, a name which had been given to Lake Gow-Ganda, in east Ontario by the Indians of that country.

Since the appearance of the story, a number of mining men who visited Lake Gow-Ganda have commented on the peculiar configuration of the lake, and have recalled the fact that it does look remarkably like a great giant reclining on his back slumbering amid the silent forest.

It is said that the Indians have many interesting traditions concerning the lake, on whose shores such remarkable discoveries of silver have been made during the latter half of the past year. The hill at the south end of the lake, which has been referred to as a mountain, scarcely deserves the description of such dignity. The hill, however, is considerably higher than any of the land around it, and was readily accepted by those who have commented on the outline of the lake as the one feature necessary to perfect the similarity to the form of the sleeping man.

The World has had the above rough outline prepared, in order to show the foundation for the impression as to the shape of the lake. The legs point to the north, the head to the south on the west shore of the lake. A number of the well-known properties have been indicated, although no effort has been made to include a vast number of properties which are becoming well-known and on which good discoveries have been made.

Taking them in rotation as they occur at the south end of the lake, on the west side, is the south group of the Bartlett mines, North of the Bartlett group the Welch claims are located, and farther north again the Reeve-Doble claims, on which silver has been discovered of the same phenomenally rich character as on the Bartlett. Further north the Armstrong, Mann, Lebrick, Magladery, Stoneman, Hewitt and other properties are indicated. The centre group of claims, owned by the Bartlett Mines, is located about the centre of the peninsula, which extends down into the lake, and helps to form the legs of the Sleeping Giant. The north Bartlett group is located near the left foot of the giant, and it is on this group of claims that the great calcite vein has been found, with a width varying from six inches to 20 inches, and extending over 200 feet across the company's properties.

The old traditions of a Sleeping Giant seem to be well founded, also it is doubtful if the Indian ever dreamed of the wonderful potentialities of the somnolent monster when he awoke in the early part of the twentieth century as Gow-Ganda, by divine right and lawful heritage—Silver King of the North.

which Prof. Hutton says we do not possess. We would then have found our political feet. We would have received our baptism of fire and instead of beginning to find ourselves in these days, we would have been fifty years ahead of our present selves in political progress. We would have been much nearer the United States in industrial development, and we might have been by this time, what we hope some day we may become, one of the most advanced states in the world in the way of political organization.

Having stated this view of the rebellion, let us present another idea, namely, that when we think of a great historical event, whether it be the Reformation or the Civil War in England in the time of Charles, or even this petty rebellion in the colony of Upper Canada, we have always to keep two things in mind: (1) the thing itself, or, rather, the cause that was at stake and what men near or far, whether in time or place, thought of it; and (2) the men who were actors on one side or the other of the issue; in other words, that historical issues have their historical importance not so much in the men as the view that the men of that time or of the men thereafter had of them, rather than are they to be judged by the men who participated in them.

What was the sober-minded view that the world of that time and the world since then took of the Reformation, took of the Civil War, took, say, of our little rebellion; and, judging of our rebellion by the issues concerned, we have no hesitation in saying that men now have a very clear conception of that rebellion and the causes which led up to it, and that most of them are compelled to admit that the rebellion was fully justified and that Mackenzie with whatever faults he may have had, and he had his faults, was the leading character and the most praiseworthy character, and the one best entitled to the term patriot in connection with it. But the rebellion and its cause, to our mind, was of superlatively more importance than the men associated with it, and therefore the more Mr. Dent and those who think with him belittle Mackenzie's character, call him mannikin, say he was at times on the brink of insanity, say that during the rebellion he took purses from women, and horses from other people, that afterwards, when he was a fugitive, he tried to incite renegade Americans to go over and take Upper Canada, and the more he is described as unconvictional, erratic, of bad judgment, the more are we inclined to say then that with these faults, the more commanding does his figure stand out in comparison with the other men of that time, for he had, what Prof. Hutton speaks of, above all his fellows—political courage—the one thing lacking in all his associates and from which we have not yet recovered seventy years thereafter—political courage, a courage that when misgovernment prevails, resents it, that is willing to agitate to change it, and if finding it unbearable is willing to risk life, limb, and property to overturn it.

You can say everything that was said of Mackenzie, of the leaders of the rebellion in the United States which brought about separation from England, but they succeeded and out of their success has arisen one of the greatest political experiments known to the world. And the case of the United States simply exemplifies what we tried to say above, that it is the view that is in all men's minds about a political issue rather than the character of the actors that must settle historical value and the appropriation of credit or discredit. Everything contemptuous was heaped upon Cromwell from the first appearance of historians down to almost the present day. But at last, and not so long ago, the cause of better government, which was then at stake, came out into clear light, and also has come out the noble outline of the Great Protector.

We are content to think of Mackenzie as the Little Patriot of Upper Canada, and one of the first Canadians that happen to be in our slender roll of fame. And we have still something further to say, and that is we have very little praise, we have a good deal of contempt, we are sorry to say, for the men who lacked political courage when Mackenzie showed it in no unmistakable way, and that we cannot agree with the high-sounding description which Mr. Dent and others have given us of the Baldwins and Rolphs and the others who are supposed to have had so much sympathy with the rebellion, but who were not out with Mackenzie when the time came to resent the misgovernment of Canada, a misgovernment that threw so much discredit on the British constitutional system that was supposed to be in practice seventy years ago. Had these men come out, had ten of them come out and showed active sympathy with Mackenzie, the City of Toronto would have passed into the hands of men who believed in better government and who were competent to have given good government to the province. And Sir Francis Bond Head would very properly have been chased out of the community and back to England, where he should have gone, a man utterly disgraced. But this supreme virtue in things political, that of courage, was not in evidence. No wonder disorder prevailed in the ranks of the patriots at Montgomery's Tavern, that dates had to be changed, plans abandoned, the load, the sweat, was left to the one little man with the stout heart!

We have not time much to go into the details of the rebellion. They have been told over and over again, and those who wish to read of them should read of them in Mr. Lindsey's life of Mackenzie which we are now reviewing. Even when you compare Mackenzie with Lord Durham, whose celebrated report is credited with eventually bringing about responsible government in this province, you have to put William Lyon Mackenzie on the same plane, because, in our estimation, Mackenzie's Seventh Report of the Grievance Committee of 1835 is the original document on which Lord Durham's magnificent and luminant report of six or seven years after is based. To put it in another way, we believe that Mackenzie was the dynamo that incited the Durham motor and dynamic energy. Energy that originates in itself and of itself, must always rank ahead of communicated energy, if we may use this term. We agree altogether with Mr. Goldwin Smith when he says the real cause of rebellion is misgovernment and not the men who try to cure misgovernment. Mr. Rattray, who has also written of this period, altogether blames the rebellion on the governor, and the degraded view that the British Parliament, that Lord Russell, Lord Glenelk, and Sir Francis Bond Head had of colonial government. All these men were guilty of what Lord Durham finally pointed out as their crowning sin, namely, an attempt to combine representative and irresponsible government. In other words, that a people could be given representative institutions, and have a representative legislature, and then have no voice in the administration of public affairs. In other words, that an irresponsible government, an irresponsible executive, an irresponsible upper chamber, should have control of the public revenues, the granting of lands, the right of vetoing the popular chamber's measures, of grabbing all the office emoluments and pensions in sight, in the presence of a legislature elected by the people for the express object of being "the very image" of the house of commons and its powers and prerogatives of the mother country, but whose claims in this direction were so decisively ignored by governor, executive council, colonial office and home government.

What Mackenzie sought for and what he was ever true to and what is his greatest glory is that the people, having been conceded representative government, were entitled to responsible government as its accompaniment, and if in trying to bring this about he started a rebellion and then worse things, we are not disposed to blame him for this, but we are disposed to regret, as we said above, that he did not succeed in overturning so rotten a system as prevailed in this province at that time.

We altogether agree with the elder Mr. Lindsey that a good story should not be controversial, and that is the merit of his book, and especially the merit of his book as now published with a condensation in some places and additions in others, by his son. This story of the rebellion, and especially the story of Mackenzie's life, is one of many sufferings, of celerity in attack, of courage in keeping up the fight, and is told in a most entertaining way, and none of it is more interesting or more worthy of remembrance by the people of this country than the story of Mackenzie's escape from Montgomery's farm by way of Dundas-street, the high land behind Hamilton and on to the Niagara River and across it, as told in this book.

None of the books dealing with this story, or, in fact, hardly any books, and we have now published many dealing with early Canada, give sufficiently vivid descriptions of the then condition of the country and the geography or location of the events. Mr. Dent gives more attention to incidents of this character than anyone else, but still, as one reads of these incidents of days gone by in the City of Toronto, we would like to know more exactly where in the then City of Toronto were the parliament buildings, where was the government house, where the court house was, what sort of a city Toronto then was, and news of this kind. The story of the newspaper press of that day has never been sufficiently told, tho, of course, a great deal of attention is given to Mackenzie's own papers and to the articles that appeared in them.

Of the Family Compact of which much was said, and on which much abuse has been heaped, we have little to say. In some respects it possessed a kind of courage, and having gained ascendancy it fought strenuously to maintain it. We have read in the papers that the publishers of the Makers of Canada engaged a well-known Canadian writer to tell the story of this very rebellion anew and that his work, as submitted to the publishers, was written from the standpoint more or less of justification of the conduct of the leaders of the Family Compact.

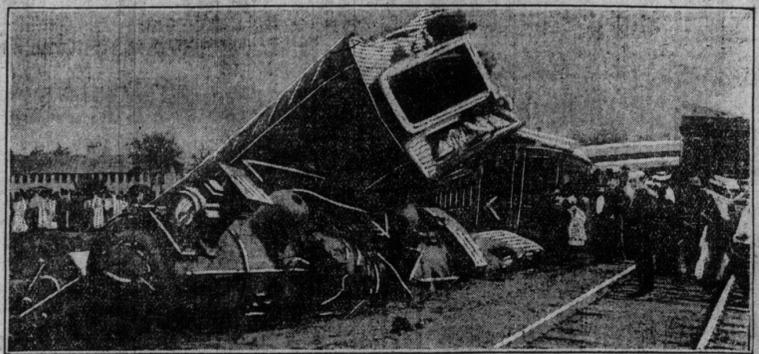

We trust that the publishers will yet bring out this book, for we like to see both sides and all sides of every political movement, and especially of a party that has been so generally denounced and whose last and finest glow was seen in the house of the late Christopher Robinson.

Nor have we any time to go into the merits of the story of Dr. Rolph or of the burning zeal of Sir Allan MacNab, or the conduct of the Baldwins or Bidwell and the rest.

All these things are told in the books that we have mentioned and will be told again in the volume above mentioned, which is yet to be published, and they have all been discussed in various other books and in journals, and in periodicals, and by our public men in speeches; but from our point of view, in no place is it better told than in Mr. Lindsey's narrative now put in a permanent form and which makes the closing volume of an admirable series that is much to the credit of Mr. Morang, who had the ability to conceive it and the enterprise to carry it to a successful issue.

One more word in closing: Mackenzie, as Mr. Lindsey says, was an actor in a rather limited forum, but, to our mind, he brought things to pass that had a momentous influence on British colonial government all the world over and which to-day is exemplified in that magnificent political structure of which we are spectators and we trust also participants in, namely, the rise of a great federation of states made up of Great Britain and her now self-governing daughter nations.

Let us conclude by saying that the Little Patriot in bronze would be no discredit to the silent men and women now perennalized on the lawn in front of our parliament buildings.

When Traffic is Bunched Up in Heaps The Story of the Open Switch

The Limited Express booming through an open switch piles cars and engines in a fantastic heap by the road side. Its enormous power suddenly checked—twists, hammers and batters the heavy rolling stock into a grotesque and shapeless mass of wood, iron and steel.

What chances have men, women and children in accidents like this of escaping safe in body and sound in limb? Think of the suffering—horror and pain to those caught in the grip of the terrible force that rends steel and wood like paper. The open switch accident happens often. It is most terrible in its results, and most easily prevented. The Price System for the Automatic Stopping and Controlling of Trains will absolutely prevent all accidents due to open switches, effectually safe guarding every mile of track, and stopping all trains when danger threatens.

We can prove this to your absolute satisfaction if you will call at our demonstration room any day between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. 12-14 Wellington Street East, top floor Norwich Union Building. EXHIBITION FREE. ALL ARE WELCOME.

BOTH WOMEN ACQUITTED.

Free of Charge of Murdering Husband of One of Them. MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 7.—Mrs. M. Florence Erb, wife of Capt. J. Clayton Erb, who was well-known in political circles all over Pennsylvania, and her sister, Mrs. Catherine Belsel, who were charged with the sensational murder of Capt. Erb, on the night of Oct. 6, 1908, to-day walked from the Delaware County Court House, free women. After the jury had been out nearly 18 hours, it brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of each woman, both of whom had been charged separately and jointly with shooting the captain. Thus ends a trial that has held the interest of the people of the state for more than a week, during which much scandalous evidence was brought out, some of which did not reach the reading public. When the verdict was announced the sisters, with a half scream, fell in each other's arms. In an instant the women were surrounded by friends and their attorneys and overwhelmed with congratulations. Then Mrs. Erb and Mrs. Belsel shook hands with the 12 jurors. Tears stood in the eyes of most of them.

Doctor Amazed by Great Zam-Buk Cure

Sores on Scalp, Face, and Hands

Children's Torture ended at last by Zam-Buk.

One of the greatest cures of Eczema and of open discharging sores ever effected, has just been effected by Zam-Buk, in the family of Mrs. J. Butler, of 5, Bannockburn Avenue, Montreal. She says: "Three of my children owe their cure of Eczema and foul discharging sores, which made their lives miserable, to the curative power of Zam-Buk. My eldest daughter, Annie, first took the disease. It broke out on her face and scalp, causing nasty sores which discharged freely and gave off a very offensive odour. The disease was quickly transmitted to Herbert and Edith, and in their cases not only their heads, but their hands and faces were covered with sores and scaly places. "I first tried various blood-purifying remedies, together with a highly recommended ointment and salve, but it did no good, so I then consulted a doctor. He treated the three children for some weeks applying all kinds of lotions and salves, but they did not seem powerful enough to get to the root of the disease. He next advised that the hair be all shaven off from the girls' heads in order to get down to the disease on the scalp, but as they each had such long hair I thought it a pity to cut it all off, and refused to comply with his request. He thereupon withdrew his services altogether. After that I bought first one kind of ointment and salve from the drugist and then another, but after using a while, the result was the same—no benefit. "I was now at a standstill to know what to do when my son Herbert got a supply of Zam-Buk. The result in his case was so clearly beneficial after using the contents of one box that I immediately sent to the drugist for more, and lost no time in applying this balm to the discharging sores on the faces and scalps. It seemed to take immediate effect, for the next day the sores looked healthier, and there was not so much complaining. "From that time on, day by day Zam-Buk clearly demonstrated its exceptional healing powers. The discharging sores kept drying up, and disappearing from both face and scalp, and the itching, pain, and soreness grew less and less, until ended altogether. "In the course of six weeks from beginning with Zam-Buk the two girls were entirely cured of this disease—not a spot or sore to be seen on either face or scalp, while Herbert's case not being so serious, Zam-Buk cured him in less than two weeks. The doctor and all who have known of the children's sufferings have been amazed at the wonderful cure which Zam-Buk effected in so short a time."

World Office, Thursday Evening, Jan. 7. The action of the local mining markets and also of the New York Curb to-day distinctly evidenced the undertone of strength which exists in most of the mining issues. A further rise in the price of silver to-day, which carried quotations nearly five cents above the low price of a month ago, was undoubtedly one of the stimulants of the market. But aside from this there was the clear evidence to the mind and eye in close touch with the market and the scarcity of stock around at quotations.

Explanation of the continued strength in Kerr Lake was the announcement to-day of an increase in regular dividends of this stock of 10 per cent. This and other incidents in connection with the mining security factors which cannot be ignored by those who are looking to the future.

KERR LAKE DIVIDEND. Shareholders Receive an Advance Over November Dividend. NEW YORK, Jan. 7.--Kerr Lake declared a dividend of 4 per cent, or 20 cents a share, payable March 15; books close March 1 and re-open March 15. In November a dividend of 3 per cent, was declared.

FOUR THOUSAND OUNCE ORE Values in Rich Strike Made Recently on Otis Mine. Full Justice was not done to the Otis Mine the other day in an interview with Sam Otis, in which he told of a rich body of ore struck at a depth of thirty feet in the main shaft. The ore assays three to four thousand ounces to the ton. The dropping of the work "around" would puzzle a few not familiar with conditions in the silver fields, but the error was doubtless evident to the majority of those interested in mining matters.

NEWS OF GOWGANDA. W. J. Jones, K.C., of Haliburton, returned from a trip to Elk Lake, Ont. He stated that the road to Elk Lake is now open to the city. The road via Charlton is only 18 miles in length and is better than the road via Charlton, which runs 32 miles from Elk Lake to Charlton.

ON THE GOWGANDA TRAIL. Movement Grows in Volume--Recording Office Noted. "One hundred and fifty men are going in on the trail to Gowganda every day," says a prospector who just came out. "It is one of the biggest mining movements I ever witnessed. Prospectors say that a recording office at Gowganda is badly needed. Men who are staking out claims farther west would find this a great convenience, and it would save the men unnecessary hardships and many miles of useless travel."

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR CAREFUL INVESTORS IN MINING.

NEUMANN AND COMPANY again wish to emphasize the fact that EVERY mining enterprise at first carries with it some element of chance. This chance can only be removed through expert development of the properties. Development only can prove the permanency of the mineral deposit by exposing to view a sufficient amount of pay ore to establish the subsequent earning capacity of the property or else will prove erroneous, which nature placed on the surface. If successful the element of chance is removed and a speculation becomes a dividend-paying investment; if not, it becomes a loss.

GOWGANDA APEX UNDERWRITERS

NEUMANN AND COMPANY now offer memberships in a special co-partnership of 700 equal shares called Gowganda Apex Underwriters. Each membership is entitled to participate pro rata as owners in three mining locations situated in the very heart of Gowganda, the new bonanza camp of Ontario, and also as part owners in an agreement for the transfer of said properties to a Company, now being organized, to be known as

GOWGANDA APEX MINES, Limited. Which will have a total authorized Capital Stock of 1,000,000 Shares of the par value of $1.00 each. The agreement mentioned specifies as consideration for the transfer of said properties the issuance of 700,000 Shares (fully paid and non-assessable) of said Company's stock to Gowganda Apex Underwriters, which when divided amongst its 700 members will entitle the holder of each membership to

One Thousand Shares in Gowganda Apex Mines, Limited. The 300,000 Shares remaining in the Treasury of this Company, after organization and transfer to it of properties is completed, will be placed on the market at not less than 25 Cents a Share. PRICE PER MEMBERSHIP IN GOWGANDA APEX UNDERWRITERS $100.00 (SUBJECT TO BEING POOLED UNTIL JULY 1ST, 1909)

Our claims are located in Gowganda, only one claim west of the celebrated "MANN" AND "DOBIE" PROPERTIES on which were made the sensational discoveries that made Gowganda within a few months THE BONANZA SILVER DISTRICT OF THE WORLD. Many SILVER veins intersect these properties from north-east to south-west.

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE. The development of our claims will be taken up at once, and prosecuted with utmost speed and vigor. Judging from our past experience, but a small amount of work will be necessary to place our property on a shipping and dividend-paying basis, the same as the Temiskaming, La Rose, Nipissing, O'Brien, Crown Reserve, and many other Cobalt properties are to-day.

NEUMANN & COMPANY

AGENTS WANTED in every city and town in Canada to represent a reliable Toronto firm dealing in Cobalt and Gowganda Stocks. A gilt-edged Gowganda proposition will shortly be put on the market which will be a money-maker.
