CANADIAN FARMERS' ALMANAC

1872 Notre Dame Street,

MONTREAL, January 1st, 1892.

The Publishers of this OLD, RELIABLE AND STANDARD ALMANAC, with a view to meeting the wants of their numerous patrons throughout Canada, have had the matter arranged so as to include the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. This has necessitated a departure from the old and familiar arrangement of the monthly pages. The Ecclesiastical Calendar and Weather Aspects, etc., will now be found at the foot of each month's solar and lunar calculations. The monthly foot notes of sound advice to Farmers have been transferred to pages containing useful information, General Post Office regulations, the Dominion Privy Council, and Provincial Governments, etc.

JANUARY.—There is no doubt that pigs if well fed will pay handsomely. They should get clean food and clean quarters. If this plan is followed, a pig should gain one pound for every four and a half pounds of grain, a breeding sow should be carefully fed and allowed plenty of salt; her quarters should be comfortable, not crowded, well ventilated and dry. Young pigs should be suckled for about three months. The little pigs should have plenty of cold water to drink; their food should be sweet, not sour. Hogs should be fed three times a day and with an admixture of grain. A recent writer on this subject says it will be possible to gain one pound of live weight up to 200 pounds for every four pounds of grain fed. The proper weight at which to sell pigs is from 150 to 200 pounds live weight.

FEBRUARY.—Experience with twelve of the leading varieties so far has proved that the Plymouth Rock is the most rapid flesh former, making a good market chicken between three and four months of age. All who try will find this result, provided the young bird is properly cared for and pushed from time of hatching. The Wyandotte matures rapidly, making a round plump market chicken at from four to five months of age. Brahmas do not take on flesh quickly while growing, but after seven or eight months make a fine large bird. Either of the two first named will be found to make early chickens for market.

TREATMENT OF LAYING STOCK.—Keep hens warm enough so that their combs will not freeze. Take chill off water and warm the grain in cold weather. Keep hens active by throwing grain among straw on floor. Give meat in regular supply, warm mess in morning and regular supply of grit, gravel, etc. Supply what the hens can pick up for themselves when outside. Send layers to roost with their crops full to carry them over night. Do not give layers soft feed enough to gorge them or make them lazy. For layers choose White Leghorns; for general purposes, Plymouth Rocks; for both, Wyandottes. Do not continue to inbreed, or the stock will decrease in size, stamina and value. Get rid of the three and four year old hens; keep the pullets; eat or sell the cockerels. Give the poultry as fair a trial as would be given a new kind of seed, vegetable, breed of horses or cattle. Utilize the grain, vegetable and meat waste of the farm by converting it into poultry and eggs.—A. G. GILBERT in Experimental Farm Report.

APRIL.—"Lambs will use cows milk as profitably as any other farm live-stock," says Mr. J. A. Craig. In an experiment for the purpose of testing the value of this method, the lambs were taken from the ewes at ten days old. They were fed from a dipper and not by the bottle, the latter method being too expensive. The greatest trouble after they have learned to drink is to prevent them from taking too much at a time. Only warm sweet and fresh milk should be used; when two weeks old they should never be given at one time more than half a pint. Under this treatment, young lambs thrive, and the transaction, even calculating the milk at its highest value, is a most profitable one,

MAY.—Raspberries like cool soil, well mulched. Cover the roots with sawdust or coal ashes. It has been found a good plan to trellis the bushes like grape vines. Run a wire through the rows about 4½ feet from the ground to this, tie the bushes, and cut them off about six feet from the ground. This will keep them from breaking down, and will increase the crop. Currants like strong clay soil, full of moisture. Old wood should be cut away, and the bushes should be shaded. Gooseberries like strong soil, but it should be well drained; prune diligently; the bushes require some shade as the berry burns easily. Plant your bushes where the hens cannot get at them; they will leave anything for a gooseberry bush. Grapes require well drained ground with a warm exposure. The trellises should run north and south. For the first two years, one must cut back to two or three buds.

JUNE.—There is no doubt that the cabbage grower loses more plants from the cabbage maggot than from any other pest. The female lays her eggs close to the stem of the plant after it has been set out, the eggs hatch in a few days, and the work of destruction begins; suddenly the plant collapses, and nothing will revive it. The best treatment for these maggots is to use white hellebore, 2oz. to three gallons of water. Force the liquid around the root of the plant, which should first be laid bare, then restore the earth. The hellebore kills the maggot and the forcible application tends to drive it away from the root. This should be done about the third week in June, and, if carefully attended to, very few of the plants will be lost.

JULY.—How many farmers understand the points of a good cow, that is, a good dairy animal. She should have a long udder lengthwise of her body, and elastic; her skin should be soft and covered with fine hair; her body should be large and capable of containing enough food for the work expected of her; then the milk veins under the body should be prominent; she should have broad loins with long rumps, a rather long neck with a well cut face and prominent eyes. An authority thus describes the good serviceable dairy cow, and farmers would do well to go through their yards and decide whether they are not feeding some of their cows without any sufficient return for the outlay. The same authority says cows should be fed twice a day and curried once, and always should be kept in a comfortable place.

AUGUST.—A FEW TIMELY HINTS. Do not put off the work of potting plants which have been growing in the garden during summer, till too late. We may expect frosts at the North any time after the first of September, and it is best to be in readiness for them. Therefore begin to take up your plants as soon as September comes, and get this work done as soon as possible. Set the plants away in a cool and shady place, after potting, and water them well. Leave them to get thoroughly established before placing in the sun, and do not bring them into the house as long as there is no danger of their freezing out-of-doors.

The flowering season of such tender fall blooming plants as the dahlia and salvia can be greatly prolonged by covering the plants with sheets of newspaper on cold nights. A slight protection will ward off all danger, and as it almost always happens that we have a long spell of warm weather after the first frosts, it is possible, with but little trouble, to keep the garden gay till the last of October.

Letters addressed to initials, or fictitious names, will not be delivered unless addressed in care of a resident or to some box in the Post-Office.

Letters bearing mutilated stamps, or stamps so soiled and defaced as to make it impossible for the sorting clerks to decide whether they have been used before or not, will be sent to the Postmaster General for his adjudication.

3 cents per ounce or fraction thereof.

Great Britain and all European Countries,

Partly prepaid Letters addressed to places in Canada will be forwarded to destination, subject on delivery to double the amount of postage remaining unpaid; and letters on which no postage has been prepaid will be sent to the Dead Letter Office.

RE-DIRECTED LETTERS.

Letters re-directed to places in Canada and the United States, without being taken out of the Post Office, are not liable to any additional postage.

REQUEST LETTERS.

These Papers, when posted for delivery in Canada, must be prepaid at Letter or Parcel Post Rates—but Deeds and Insurance Policies may be sent if prepaid 1 cent per 2 oz.

POST CARDS.

For Canada and the United States, one cent each. For Great Britain and all Postal Union Countries, two cents each. Reply Cards, for Canada only, two cents each. No thing must be attached to a Post Card, nor must the Card be cut or defaced in any way.

SEPTEMBER.—Apples should not be gathered for keeping until the seeds are fully colored, as the fruit makes considerable growth while the seeds are coloring; after the fruit is carefully gathered, the whole question of keeping resolves itself into a question of temperature with due attention to moisture. Pears, apples and grapes require a low and uniform temperature and proper protection from fungus attacks. Aside from the latter danger, which may be favored by dampness, a saturated atmosphere is not objectionable, but care must be taken not to allow cold fruit to be taken into a warm air. In Russia it is a custom to preserve apples fresh in cold water, and a case is on record of Fameuse, which were sunk in a canal boat, having kept until they were raised in April, although they can rarely be kept in air beyond the first of February. An even temperature near to freezing is the best, and should be taken to have the fruit go into storage in good order. Fruit designed for long keeping should be gathered early in the day or in cloudy weather. A barrel of sun-heated apples, even if put at once into a cool cellar, has lost greatly in keeping quality.—T. H. Haskins in Garden and Forest.

SECOND CLASS MATTER.

OCTOBER.—In the report of the judges at the Brewers' Exhibition, held last October in the Royal Agricultural Hall, London, England, on the twelve samples of Canadian two-rowed barley shown there, weighing from 51½ to 55 lbs. per bushel, these experts say: "These samples compare very favorably with French, Saale, Danish or other European barleys, and if sent in good condition could be consumed in this country with great satisfaction to the brewers and to the consumers of beer." And further in their closing remarks: "The judges agree in speaking in high terms of many of the samples submitted and in very high terms indeed of some two or three of the best." It is altogether probable that the brewers of the United States will continue to purchase a part of the Canadian barley crop, notwithstanding the high duty imposed; and if so, are they not likely to prefer a barley which gives a larger proportion of extract, and hence, from a given quantity, makes more beer. With regard to the home market, many of our Canadian brewers would prefer the two-rowed, if it could be had in sufficient quantity, for separate malting; and if our farmers will use a portion of their barley crop for feeding purposes, as I believe they should do in place of selling so much grain off their farms, then the two-rowed is to be preferred to the six-rowed, for the reason that it yields a large number of bushels to the acre, and the grain has a smaller proportion of husk to kernel.—Professor Saunders in Report on Experimental Farms.

NOVEMBER.—Smut is a microscopic plant that starts from a minute body called a spore. The spores when in considerable numbers make up the so-called smut of the corn, as seen in the affected ear or other parts of the infected plant. These spores may fall to the ground and remain there a long time, and when the field is planted the smut will make its entrance into the young plant. The smut spores may become lodged in the folds of the grain and remain there until planted with the corn. It is on this account that it is important to plant clean seed. The grain can be freed from the smut spores by killing them while upon it, and this may be accomplished by soaking the seed in a strong solution of blue-vitriol or blue-stone, using one pound to a gallon of water, and leaving the corn in the solution only long enough to get thoroughly wet over all the surface. A better way now recommended by many is to let the grain lie in hot water between 130 and 135 degrees Fahr. for a few minutes, then let it be spread out and dried.

DECEMBER.—PERENNIAL PHLOX.—This plant is to the herbaceous garden what the geranium is to the window-garden—hardy, free-flowering and of the easiest cultivation. It comes into bloom in July and August, and continues until the latter part of September. It grows to a height of three feet, and a foot of the upper portion of the stalk will be completely covered with flowers of about the size of a silver half-dollar. The colors range through all shades of red, crimson, pink, mauve and purple to the purest milk-white. Some varieties are striped with contrasting colors, while other varieties are marked in the centre or on the base of each petal. No flower gives a more brilliant effect. Those who have never grown it will be surprised at the results to be obtained from planting it in masses or in rows, with the colors arranged in such a manner as to bring out the beauty of each by striking contrast. A most beautiful bed is made by planting rose-colored varieties in the centre with white ones on the outside. The plants form strong roofs, which can be divided, from time to time, until one has as many plants as she cares for.
