Easter.

Those who laid the foundations of Christianity upon the old Roman forms of religious faith and practice acted wisely in placing the festival of the resurrection of Christ in the spring time of the year. Doing so naturally superseded popular and ancient ceremonials of much significance in the heathen worship with the most impressive and far-reaching fact in the whole scheme of the redemption of man. Possibly at the spring time the mind is naturally prepared to accept the doctrine of, the belief in, the resurrection. Some one has correctly remarked that the early days of spring are a sensation rather than an experience, a hope rather than any visible reality. In the softness of the air, in the lengthening days, in the pleasant sounds, and sweet odors of the earth, there is consolation after the rigors of winter, and there is inexpressible hopefulness awakened in the human heart. The "showers of shadowing roses" have not yet come, but we are certain that they will, and the whole earth will blossom and glow with the beauty which is yet in her bosom, making us realize that we are of the essence of the Creator and contain a portion of Him in ourselves. Possibly there is none of the great incidents of the Saviour's earthly life which is more difficult of acceptance than that of the Resurrection, and yet it is plain and simple enough to the true believer who has received with earnest feeling and sincere faith the statement of the earlier incidents which culminated in our Lord's death upon the Cross of Calvary. In the Resurrection the redemption of fallen man, the atonement for sin, was accomplished, even though it may be claimed that the spectacle of the Ascension was necessary for the unity, the harmony and symmetrical beauty of the Christian system. Of course Biblical critics have long expressed doubts of the fulfilment of God's promise, reports of the Resurrection and much learned lore has been written upon the subject. But Nature in its revivification of the earth in the spring time of the year furnishes to the humble Christian a revelation that helps so confirm in his mind the Sacred record. With great rejoicing, or with ardent devotion, with the absolute ignoring of doubt and misgiving, the Christian, fortified by hope in the fulfilment of God's promise, hails the festival of Easter. He is conscious of the full completion of the Divine plan, of human redemption. The birth of Christ, His burial, His resurrection from the grave, have made humanity triumphant over sin and eternal death. And perhaps, too, in this day and age there is a consoling hope which comes from a cause other than that which is taught at this time by Nature. There seems to be proof of the truth of Christianity in the striving which is so generally apparent of the desire to live a Christian life. It is true that it once takes a pessimistic view of the events of the hour, of the sounds of war, of the unhappy personal occurrences which terminate too often in loss of life, in the open and ever filling prisons, in the presence of disease, he may find much that is discouraging, but a little reflection will assure him that at no previous period in the world's history was there put forth the effort which is now put forth to put into practice that which makes for the Christian life. "The best proof of Christ's resurrection is a living Church which itself is walking in new life and drawing it from him who has overcome death."

Social and Personal

General News.

A Decided Success.

Lima Ohio March 27--Two men were instantly killed, another was fatally injured and a house was burned to the ground as the result of a collision between the two inter urban electric trains near here today. Both trains were destroyed.

The collision occurred at a place where the tracks curve around an untenanted house. Both cars were going at full speed and dashed into each other with terrific force. An exploding fuse set the wreckage into a blaze which communicated with the house and completely destroyed it.

Sterling, Kas., March 27--Two persons were killed and three injured when an automobile collided with a carriage. The dead are: Wylie Lloyd and Miss Bertha Mosman.

Wilmington, Del., March 26--Never before yesterday have the crime annals of Wilmington made such a ghastly showing. Three murders, violent shooting assaults that may result in three more deaths, a half dozen persons slightly wounded and two suicides comprise the startling record.

The most sensational occurrence was the tragedy on the Baltimore & Ohio express train.

A negro who tried to escape from prison is in hospital. His death is expected at any time. The suicides were Mrs. Hattie Kommel and Charles Tindall, the latter after he had shot and killed Mrs. Clara Newcomb, because she refused to elope with him.

Montreal, March 27--Rodolphe Forget and a party of Nova Scotia Company magnates left today on a private car of the Intercolonial to attend the annual meeting of that company which will be held Wednesday at Trenton, Pictou county.

Mr. Forget, before leaving, expressed the conviction that his faction will win out at the annual meeting, as he had with him proxies for more than 32,000 shares.

Amongst the party accompanying Mr. Forget were J. N. Greenshields, K. C., J. W. McConnell, H. A. Lovett, K. C., and W. Grant McLeod, while they were to be joined at Quebec by Messrs. Belleau and Lorne Webster.

Canada thinks its iron and steel concerns, which have been fed on subsidies for fourteen years, can no longer claim to be infant industries requiring nourishment from the government nursing bottle. The bounties, which thus far have amounted in the aggregate to $14,000,000, are to be stopped.

Waverly, Mass., Mar. 29--Charles A. Beyer of Centre Harbor, N. H., and Ernest M. Barlow, were killed and Mrs. Catherine Beyer, wife of the former was seriously injured in a collision here to night. On their way to a wedding their carriage was struck by a train with the above result.

St. Petersburg, Mar. 27--The newspapers announced that the Government is about to introduce in the Duma a naval building programme providing for an expenditure of $375,000,000 during the next decade. The first instalment of the programme will call for $27,500,000.

Toronto, March 24--(Special)--Peter J. Truss, a post office employe, arrested Sunday, charged with the theft of thirty-eight letters belonging to T. Eaton Company, was found guilty by a jury this afternoon and sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

Prof Lowell, who recently reported from the observatory in Arizona that a new canal has been completed on Mars, is very confident that the planet is inhabited by intelligent beings, but thinks they do not necessarily resemble our human race.

This in so many words is the result of the efforts of the Dramatic Club in their two performances this week in Contts Hall. Not only financially were they successful, "two good shows," "I got my money's worth," and "I wish they would repeat them" were some of the remarks heard at the conclusion of the plays. This gives evidence that their efforts were appreciated and any comments the writer might make only add to the general opinion that St. George is possessed of such talents would do any town credit. On Monday night, "A Fisherman's Luck" was put on with the following cast of characters:--

Tom Manly--A Poor Fisherman--T. S. McAdam.

Wm. Farren--Alias Squire Hammond--E. F. McKay.

James Hammond--Farren's son--E. W. Tayle.

David Morris--Uncle Davie--H. C. Stewart.

Silas Kidder--Stage Struck--E. S. Johnson.

Rev. Geo. Melhurst--E. Dow.

Rose Prescott--Hammond's wall--Miss Laura Hibbard.

Mrs. Manly--Tom's Mother--Miss Blanche McKay.

Ruth Manly--Tom's sister--Miss Edna O'Brien.

Nellie--Wife of the Ocean--Miss Bessie Cawley.

The play as a whole was very interesting and although it possessed many sad features it was pregnant with a vein of humor which kept the audience in roars of laughter. Special mention must be made of the Tableau in the "Death of little Nellie." It might be stated in passing that this feature was not "in the book" but was an idea of Mr. McAdam's. The audience was held in rapture at the unexpected scene. During the acts the orchestra--composed of Mrs. Lawrence and Miss O'Brien, pianists; and Messrs. Watt, violin; McCallum, cornet; Craig, trombone; and Dodds, drums--furnished excellent music. A duet by the Brown sisters, solos by Miss Laura Meating, and T. C. Choynet completed the specialties.

Last evening practically the same company appeared in "A Woman's Honor" in the following characters:

General Mark Lester, a hero of the Cuban ten years war, T. S. McAdam.

Pedro Mendez, his half brother, E. Tayte.

Dr. Garcia, Surgeon of the Mandeineine, E. D. Harvey.

Gilbert Hall, M. D., in love with Olive, E. Dow.

Robert Glenn, a Wall Street Banker, E. F. McKay.

Gregory Grimes, Lester's Private Secretary, H. C. Stewart.

Fbenezzer, Glenn's butler, E. S. Johnson.

Olive, Glenn's daughter, Miss Laura Hibbard.

Sally, Glenn's daughter, Miss Blanche McKay.

Maria, wife of Pedro, Miss May Orr.

If any distinction between the plays is permissible we would give this play a preference over the one given on the previous night. It was full of life, humor, and romance and the audience was held from start to finish.

The three leading parts were taken faultlessly and although it was our intention to make no discriminations as all parts were taken well, we must give these parts credit. In spite of the great tax upon the memories of those taking part there was not a pause or hesitation during the entire play.

The success of the undertaking was due in a large measure to the orchestra. The music was excellent and they justly deserved the applause given them at the conclusion of each number.

The participants in the specialties all got the glad hand from the audience and encores were invariably insisted upon which the singers cheerfully responded to.

Hats off to the Red Granite Dramatic Club.

Workmen's Compensation

Premier Murray introduced a Bill in the Assembly, last week, entitled the "Nova Scotia Workmen's Compensation Act," the object of which is to amend the law with respect to the compensation of workmen for accidental injuries in the course of their employment. The Act applies to Government employees as to others. It applies to workers in railways, factories, mines, quarries, engineering work, work on buildings, as repairs, construction or demolition; the term railway including any street railway.

The employer is not liable in respect of any injury which does not disable the workman for a period of at least two weeks from earning full wages at the work which he was employed. Notice of accident must be given as soon as possible after the accident. In case of death, a sum equal to the year's earnings in same employment or one thousand dollars, which ever is larger, but not in any case exceeding $2,000 shall be paid his widow or the dependents.

Where total or partial incapacity for work results from injury, a weekly payment during the incapacity after the second week, not exceeding fifty per cent of his average weekly earnings during the previous twelve months, if he has been so long employed, shall be given; but if not, then for any less period during which he has been in the employment or the same employer, such weekly payments not to exceed five dollars. Arbitration is provided for in disputed cases.

KING GEORGE AN ATHLETE

Under Incognito He Became Champion Amateur Wrestler--Was Mobbed.

From early boyhood devoted to gymnastic and athletic sports, King George of Greece, 20 or 25 years ago, used to take part in amateur athletic sports under the incognito of "George Papadoulis." He was particularly adept in wrestling and in jumping. In wrestling especially, he had all sorts of tricks and knacks, which gave him a facile victory over men whose superiority of weight and muscle led them to imagine that he could be easily defeated by them.

There is no country in the world where there are so many popular holidays as in Greece, and holidays are invariably signalized, especially in the rural districts and in the small towns, by amateur sports, including foot races, throwing the discus, and wrestling. Greece is all of the kingdoms of Europe the most backward in the matter of railway communication, and even ordinary roads. The intercourse of the towns and villages of the interior with the capital has always been exceedingly small, and thus the appearance of George was relatively unknown to his subjects, save those among whom he had lived at Athens and in the district immediately around his country seat in the neighborhood to participate in these amateur sports in the villages and towns of the interior without much danger of recognition.

But his adventures in this connection were finally brought to a close. It seems that at one small fair, he, as usual, defeated all comers in wrestling contests. Unfortunately for him there were among those present people who had witnessed his prowess in other towns and villages of the province, and the very fact that he should be apparently traveling about from one place to another for the sole purpose of taking part in wrestling contests led them to believe that he was a mere professional masquerade as an amateur, and thus winning all the prizes under false pretenses.

This was speedily noised about, naturally found favor with those he had bested, and instead of meeting with an ovation, he became an object of popular hostility. He was subject to so severe a mobbing--the Greeks being loathe and passionate--that he was obliged to appeal to the police for protection, and to reveal that George Papadoulis, the champion amateur wrestler, was no other than King George of Greece. The fact that he took the lesson to heart was shown when, at the time of the Olympic games a few years ago at Athens, he declined to allow any of his sons to take part therein, otherwise than as starters and as judges.--Beacon.

A stolid German who was coming over to America had the misfortune to fall overboard, but the alarm was given instantly, and after a very exciting experience, he was rescued. That evening he appeared on deck, not much the worse for his mishap, and was surrounded by a number of passengers, who evinced a great interest in him.
"O, tell me," gushed a wide-eyed young woman, "how did you feel when you had fallen, and the ship had gone on, and you were left alone in the ocean?"
The German looked at her calmly, and answered:
"Well," he answered.

A Boy's Composition On Mothers

(Henry A. Chute, in Father Dunne's Newsboy's Journal)

A feller's mother is the best of everybody in the world every time, you bet, fathers is pretty good and sisters you can get along with if they aint too bossy and tattles when you have did wrong, brother is pretty good to lick if you are bigger than them, if they is littler than you you can make them mind you, and not tattle like sisters which you can't lick they make two much fuss and holler and scratch, sumtimes little brothers tattle but not often because they know they will get licked. If they are too little to lick you must be more careful.

But mothers never licks unless they has to, it hirts them worse than it does you because it dont never hirt when they licks you because they dont never lay it on good and hard and you only holler because you want her to stop and you know it hirts her because she most always cries, so when it is over she goes off and sits down and don't say anything for a long time and a feller just hangs round and feels meen and wants to say, he is sorry but something won't let him say it and so he looks grumpy and goes off whistling out of tune and spits up sum kindness and fills the wood box. Then mothers always knows when a feller does that, that he wants to say he is sorry and aint mad because she gave him a licking. If a feller does that after his fater has licked him his fater only says I am glad you have come to your senses young man and you have ought to have did that before, but most always a feller is two bizzzy rubbing himself to go and fill a woodbox and he is too mad to do so and he aint sorry either.

When a feller's mother licks him he is sorry he done it before she licks him and after she is done two and when his fater licks him he is sorry he done it before he licks him, but after he has got through he aint sorry a bit and he is mad enuf to do worse things and he almost wishes his fater was dead he is so mad. "I never knew a feller which wished his mother was dead and I guess there aint never been so meen a feller in this world."

When a feller wishes his fater is dead he is sorry for it in a minit. One time when fater licked me and sent me to bed and I did my best rooster because I fit him with Ed Toles and he licked Eds two which had ought to have made a difference but it didn't I wished he was dead and I said it rite out to Ed. well the next day the rane run off the track that fater was on and when we herd of it I had sed. Well himby he herd that it only killed a horse and a wagon which was crossing the track and we felt better. It wasn't the rane that fater was on either, enyway it lernt me a lesson never to wish your fater is dead.

When a feller is sick he dont holler for his fater unless he wants to be carried upstairs but he hollers for his mother every time you bet. She holds a feller's head over the basin and if he spills on the floor she dont get mad but just keeps on holding till he feels better and if he is sick all night she sits up in a chair and gets him things and don't fall asleep onct. And when he wakes up she is always ready to give him his medicin and sum gelly to take the taste out of his mouth and she jumps up to help him every time he wants to turn over and have a wet towel on his bed. Sumtimes when a feller is dreafal sick and your life is despaired of and a feller's mother has been up 3 nites in succession your fater tries to set up and watch. So he sets in a big chair and every time you wake up he is asleep in his chair and when you ask for a drink of water he wakes up suddenly and most boos his head off he is so sleepy. And when he brings a feller a drink he most always spills it down a feller's neck which is dangerous when a feller is dying of dizeese.

When a feller is getting well he is cross as time and wants chicken broth and gelly and oranges and toast and his mother always makes it for him and lets the other feller come in and see him and raps him up and sets him under a tree in the garden and reads to him, and when he goes back to school she helps him to do his sums because he is behine in his class and don't get mad when a feller do't understand the first time. If a feller's fater

Desperate Coughs

Dangerous coughs. Extremely perilous coughs. Coughs that rasp and tear the throat and lungs. Coughs that shake the whole body. You need a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine, for such a cough. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

tries to help him in his sums he gets mad rite off and says aint you got emy brains at all I never see such a numhead in my life and then if you don't understand he gives you a bat on the head and says it aint emy use.

Sum fellers is pretty tuf but no feller will ever say anything agens another fellers mother. If he does eny other fellers wood lam him again, they is peave in the fifth reader which all the fellers like to read. They is a lot of old gntes which was drinking the health of their ladies, each one would tell the name of his lady and then they wood all drink wine, himby there was a gntie which said his lady was one which loved him more than all the other gntes ladies loved them. Then the gntes got fearful mad and drewed their swords and said they would lam the head off of him and d-ased him to tell the name of his lady. then he said it was his mother and then they put up their swords and shook hands with the gntie and drank the health of the gnties mother. That is the way all fellers had ought to feel about their mothers and I guess all of them do two.

The Key of Paradise

With thee conversing, I forget all time:
All seasons, and their change, all pleasures alike
Sweet is the breath of zorn, her rising
-sweet
With charm of earliest birds; pleasant
the sun
When first on this delightful land he spreads
His orient beams on herb, tree, fruit, and flower
Glistening with dew, fragrant the fertile earth.
After soft showers, and sweet the coming on
Of grateful evening mild; then silent night
With this her solemn bird and this fair
moon,
And these the gems of Heaven, her starry train;
But neither breath of morn when she ascends
With charm of earliest birds, nor rising sun
On this delightful land, nor herb, fruit,
flower
Glistening with dew, nor fragrance after showers,
Nor grateful evening mild, nor silent
night
With this her solemn bird, nor walk by moon
Or glittering twilight, without thee is sweet.

The Deacon's Philosophy

I remembered when a boy How I used to just enjoy Riddling with old Deacon Hill When he used to drive the mill. Skittish nag the deacon drove. For he had a kind of love For a gown's free actin' cold: And he'd keep an oyst'r hot On the reins and when she'd shy He'd just draw, so kind of dry. "There, there, boy! Now, now, no tearin' No use cuttin' up and rarin'." Just keep right down in the road. No use fretting at the load. Steady pull's not half so wearin'. "There, there, boy! Now, now, no tearin'! Years ago that boy-hood day; Cof and deacon's passed away I ain't young's I used to be. By a go-d deal, no, sirree! Coltish then I must allow. Well broke into harness now. 'Cept when things go wrong, then I Want to rip and tear and shy. Then inside me, kind of still. Seems to hear old Deacon Hill: "There, there, boy! Now, now, no tearin'! No use cuttin' up and rarin'." Just keep cool and peg away. Do the best you can each day; Just keep patient and forbearin'. "There, there, boy! Now, now, no tearin'! ---Youth's Companion.

A falling tire nerve—no longer than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or falling stomach, heart or kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt, clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by All Dealers.

Her Overdraft

A prominent banker in the city was talking the other day of the feibles of some of his feminine depositors. "Women are queer creatures when it comes to business," he said. "For one thing, no woman can understand why we won't send her unlimited amounts of money if she asks for it over the telephone. "But the funniest incident I've known happened the other day. We sent word to one of our women depositors that her account was overdrawn. We expected her to be angry. They usually are. But she wasn't. "No indeed. She sat down and wrote us a gracious and lovely little letter on crested paper, thanking us for letting her know that her account was overdrawn. "I am so glad to oblige you by remedying the defect at once," she wrote. "And she enclosed a cheque for $750 drawn on our own bank.—Philadelphia Times.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so innocently harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babies. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days rest will tell. Sold by All Dealers.

the shape of reduced prices or smaller fares, there is little chance to kick, for the season has been an extra good one in every respect. That the prices of off shore fish will go off seems a certainty as the time is now close at hand when the big codfish trips from Georges and mammoth haddock fares from La Have banks are due to begin to pile in.

Friday morning there were 24 arrivals at T. wharf, with three off shore among them, the trio being schrs. Pontiac, Natalie J. Nelson and Conqueror, the latter having 40,000 pounds of cod, in her fare of 53,000 pounds. The other two vessels have good fares.

The shore boat fares do not average up very heavy, the bulk of them running from 4000 to 10,000 pounds. There are some fine ones in the bunch, however, for Capt. Frank Watts in schr. Gladys and Nellie is keeping up his grand work and has 21,000 pounds. Schrs. Sylvia M. Nunan, Rose Strindish and Venkee also have nice fares and the Provincetownners Rose Dorothea and Matchless have what they went after.

Has Biggest Cod Catch of Season

The easterly of Sunday brought along a few of the fishing fleet with trips and the continuance of the wind from a south-east quarter Monday morning, with general storm accompaniment, sent quite a number of the market boats and pollockers scurrying to port for harbor.

The banner trip is that of schr. Fannie E. Prescott, Capt. Thomas Downey. The craft is from the shoal water of Georges and Capt. Downey hails his catch at 80,000 pounds of fresh cod and 20,000 lbs. of haddock, not only the biggest cod catch of the season, but also one of the two largest trips brought in by the off-shore haddock fleet this winter. Capt. Downey struck a fine cod spot and hauled back 35,000 pounds on the first short set.

Schr. Mystery, Capt. Donald McO'ish, from Quero Bank has 15,000 pounds of fresh halibut and schr. Effie M. Prior from the Maine coast, pollock seining, brings 30,000 pounds of fresh pollock. Sunday the steamer Nonand brought in 2500 pounds of fresh fish and late Saturday afternoon the same craft had 3000 pounds.

Schr. Colonial arrived Sunday from Portland, where she took out her fare of halibut and schr. Pauline came in late Saturday from Georges handling, with 20,000 pounds of salt cod and 1000 lbs. of halibut.

Portify now against the Grip—for it comes every season sure! Preventives—the little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—offer in this respect a most certain and dependable safeguard. Kipling's Conversion

Rudyard Kipling has been wont to stigmatize temperance people. He was not, and is not, a total abstainer. But he recently saw two young men get two young girls drunk, and then lead them reeling down the street. That started Rudyard Kipling to thinking. "Then, recanting previous opinion, I became a prohibitionist. Better is it that a man should be without his beer in public places, and content himself with swearing and the narrow-mindedness of the majority; better it is to poison the inside with very vile temperance drinks, and to buy lager furtively at back doors, than to bring temptation to the lips of young fools such as the four I have seen. I understand now why the preachers rage against drink. I have said, 'There is no harm in it, taken moderately; and yet my own demand for beer helped directly to send these two girls reeling down the dark street to—God alone knows what end. If liquor is worth drinking, it is worth taking a little trouble to come at—such as a man will undergo to compass his own desires. It is not good that we should let it lie before the eyes of children, and I have been a fool in writing to the contrary.'"

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it is womanly pains, head aches, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by All Dealers.

Future of Newfoundland.

(Parishboro Leader)

Whatever may be the political future of Newfoundland, whether she becomes a part of the great, new nation of Canada or continues to work out her destiny as a separate colony, is a separate question yet unanswered by the most far-seeing. This, however, is not the case in respect to her commercial and industrial importance. For the last fifteen years the resources of Newfoundland have been developing in a way that has surprised those who looked upon her as merely an ice bound island. The evidence of her coming commercial importance is making the world sit up and take notice.

Within the last two years the two greatest paper pulp mills in the world have been established in Newfoundland, one of them having just started operations. Lord Northcliffe is at the head and the plant has a capacity of one hundred and thirty tons of pulp and an equal amount of paper per day. It will ship its products to all parts of the world. Each plant will employ about three thousand hands when fully in operation.

The Harmsworth of the London Times are interested in the pulp mill already in operation and their paper will be printed upon Newfoundland pulp. The first shipment recently made to London for the Times was of 12,000 tons.

Two new towns have come into existence by virtue of the establishment of these plants. Grand Falls and Pacific Falls. Capital of $6,000,000 is invested. Water power is used exclusively.

Cutting timber can go on forever with reasonable reforestation. Newfoundland is all timber in the great inland country which has scarcely been seen by a white man until these operations began.

25 MILLION TONS OF IRON.

The Newfoundland is only in its infancy, but the possibilities of the island are known to the far-seeing business man outside of Great Britain. Much New York and other American capital is preparing to go in there and not a little has been already invested. I met a number of men in New York who are at present negotiating for mining lands there, being fully convinced that they can make more dollars there than at home.

Copper and iron have all ready been worked to a certain extent, but only a beginning has been made. Now coal and oil have been found. An oil company has just been organized in England with $500,000 capital. Over 1,000,000 tons of iron and copper have already been taken out where eighteen years ago none was supposed to exist. One of the ablest of the engineers engaged in our mine told me recently that there were over $250,000,000 tons of iron alone in sight. The mining men are already making money.

As long as Newfoundland confined itself to fishing, the country was not of much beyond, say, a dozen miles from the shore. But the completion of the railroad changed all that. The government has contracted for 350 miles of additional railroad.

Until a year ago the squid which abounds in the waters, were not used except as bait. Last year the company formed to export them to China and Japan for food declared a per cent. dividend.

MANY SEALS AND TOURISTS.

Under the present arrangement while the fishermen from the States are not allowed to purchase bait within the treaty territory, they may do so on other portions of our coast.

Newfoundland's sealing industry is by no means small. Last year's catch was 300,000 pelts, worth $750,000. It never fails and a $50,000 cargo is no exception. Two of the sealers are starting out this year equipped with wireless telegraph outfits.

and a fellow-actor purchased a pound of sausage for their Sunday's breakfast. There were eight to the pound, but when they arrived at table there were only five. Thereupon the lady was called to account for the missing links.

"Ma—said Mr. Shine, severely, "I gave you eight sausages last night; here are only five. What has become of the other three?" The lady of the house smiled an innocent smile mingled with pity, and replied, "Well, you see, sir sausages always do shrink in cooking." Which information had to suffice.

How About L'Etang?

In our last issue we referred to one item of interest discussed by the Newspaper men at their Convention in St. John. In a word "New Brunswick" was the key word of the gathering. All too long have we been talking and writing about the West. Without doubt New Brunswick has within herself a wealth of mineral, forest, fisheries and agriculture which if developed would put her in the front rank. Hence the question of transportation comes to be a live one and a matter which took up much of the time in discussion. The solution of this problem means much for Charlotte. Our future development depends largely upon it. As we take our stand for the Nationalization of our ports, L'Etang must be mentioned. It is well it may be for the present, to concentrate in St. John and make it what it ought to be. It has every right to be placed under the direct control of the Government, and its docks be kept up by the Government. It is not fair that St. John should be left to bear its own burdens, to the extent that it does, and millions of dollars be spent by the Government on Montreal. We want to see Canada's winter port get what will make it what it could be. For this all should stand together independent of politics or any other consideration. But while we stand for this, L'Etang, the greatest natural port for winter or little while it comes to the front demanding recognition. It does this upon its own merits, where hundreds of thousands of dollars are required for the development of other ports, thousands only would be needed here. Like Bangor's ghost, it will not stay down, and the sooner its value is recognized the better for all. Its development would mean the development of New Brunswick. We want a bigger and better New Brunswick. The speediest way by which to meet this want is by the Nationalization and equipment of her ports, St. John, L'Etang and St. Andrews.

Cabinet Changes.

Reports continue and increase to the effect that Hon. Sydney Fisher will resign his seat for the division of Brome in the Eastern Townships and go into the Senate. There is a statement that he will take his portfolio with him into that body, and this is quite likely. But it would mean, if it were carried out, that Sir Richard Cartwright would retire from the office of Minister of Trade and Commerce, for it is quite unlikely that two such important offices would be in the Senate at the same time. It may not be unreasonably assumed that Sir Richard would not unwillingly give up the office in the cabinet which he now holds, for while his mind was as clear and alert as it ever was—and that is saying a great deal—he labors under physical disabilities which must make his ministerial duties and his duties as leader in the Senate very trying. Hon. Mr. Fisher would make an excellent leader in a body composed as the Senate is now, and the members on both sides would no doubt be very glad personally to have him there. His office is one which would suit the atmosphere of the Senate, for a large number of men after they have passed middle life turn naturally to the earth, to the cultivation of the soil, as the best and most agreeable manner of spending the remainder of their years. Mr. Fisher has represented Brome since he entered Parliament, and he has been Minister of Agriculture since the formation of the Laurier administration in 1896. The district which he represents is not an easy one for a liberal to hold, but he has kept it securely in the liberal fold seventeen years. He will surely transfer to some one else the continuance of the task he has so well performed. Another political humor which has considerable strength, though it is not quite so likely is that Hon. Mr. Murphy will be transferred from the office of Secretary of State, which he now holds, to that of Minister of Justice, from which Mr. Aylesworth will retire. Should this happen, Hon. Mr. Dandurand, of Montreal, will very likely be taken into the Cabinet with Mr. Murphy's office. For a long time there had been a feeling in the Senate, as well as outside of it, that there should be in the Senate a French-Canadian member of the administration, and there is no one more likely than the gentleman named, who is a bright, alert and vigorous man of much natural ability. The number of liberals in the Senate may, in many minds, justify the giving to that body two members of the government.

The Tariff Truce.

Washington, March 26—General satisfaction is expressed here at the announcement made today that an agreement practically has been reached between the officials representing the Canadian Government and the President and Secretary Knox respecting the adjustment of the tariffs of Canada and the United States. No one in authority is willing to discuss the details but there is good ground for the belief that material concessions have been granted by Canada, and that the United States will receive in return for its minimum intermediate rates given by Canada to France and twelve other countries, on a considerable number of articles in which exporters from the United States are specially interested.

This understanding is said to have been reached after a prolonged conference today, participated in by President Taft, W. S. Fielding the Canadian minister of finance; George P. Graham, the Canadian minister of railways; Secretary of State Knox and Chas. M. Pepper, of the bureau of trade relations of the state department.

Under the existing treaty between Canada and France the latter country receives the convention rate on about 90 articles. In many of these, however, the United States has little or no interest and there is reason to believe that this Government has consented to receive the intermediate on much less than half that number. The tariff experts who have so successfully concluded this large work takes particular pride in the fact that for the first time the United States now enjoys the minimum tariff rates of all important nations. Heretofore American goods have generally paid the maximum rates and have had to force their way into foreign markets solely on the basis of their superior merits or because they could not be produced outside of America.

The possibility of a temporary breach in tariff relations in Canada owing to the expiration next Thursday of the period allowed by the Payne-Aldrich act for making such arrangements, was at one time regarded as very close. But it is now said that it will not be necessary to consume time in the Canadian Parliament in giving the arrangement vitality by legislative enactment, because it can be put into operation at once by an order-in-council, which is likely to be the course followed.

Although details of the arrangements are refused at this moment, it is understood that it was concluded upon the basis of future negotiations between the United States and Canada for a general trade treaty between the two countries. Canada has fair rates of tariff which offer materially from one another. The rates which the United

Instead of wasting time talking about the high prices of meat, why not start a propaganda to encourage the farmers to raise more cattle? The solution of the problem seems to lie with the farms and not the ranges.

The President has challenged Earl Grey to a golf match at Beverley next summer. Herein lies the suggestion of a way out of all our international difficulties. Let the tariff dispute with Canada be settled by an eighteen-hole match between the President and the Governor-General; in the case where golf is not popular, other contests of skill could doubtless be devised. Instead of despatching the cruiser Birmingham to Liberia to cow the rebellious natives, send Hon. "Jack" Johnson to meet the dusky champion of Monrovia in the ring.

MADE SURE OF IT.

A wealthy patron of the turf in New York told an amusing story of a favorite groom and a turkey.

"I had once promised this groom," he said, "a Christmas turkey, but some-how, in the rush and flurry of December I forgot. It was some days after Christmas when I remembered how I had overlooked my faithful old friend.

"Meeting him in the paddock one morning and intending to make good my forgetfulness, I said to the groom by way of a joke:

"Well, Jenkins, how did you like that turkey I sent you?"

"It was a very fine bird, sir," said the groom. "I came very near losing it, though."

"How so?" said I, astonished.

"Well, sir," said Jenkins, Christmas morning came, and your turkey hadn't reached me, so I rushed off to the express company and asked the manager what he meant by not sending the bird. The manager apologized, sir, very politely, and he took me into a back room, where there were ten or fifteen turkeys hanging, and he said the labels had been lost off them and I had just better take my choice.

So I chose the largest, sir, knowing your generosity, and it was fine. It ate grand. Thank you very much indeed, sir."

States will probably receive is classed as rate No. 3, or the treaty rate, and within the limitations as to the number of articles involved, is the same allowed to France under the existing treaty.

Up to this time about one hundred and two nations and their dependencies by proclamation of the president have been granted the minimum rates and this leaves only about 22 countries on which action is still to be taken. The most important of these is Canada.

 P. P. Allds is no longer a member of the Senate of U. S. Condemned by his own act and by his former colleagues as a bribe taken he returned last night to his home in Norwich a private citizen. There seems to be no doubt that the present legislature will conduct a general graft investigation.
 On the Boston and Maine Railway 5000 organized conductors and trainmen are on the verge of striking. They are asking for a 10 per cent. increase based on a ten hour day. This later concession was recently made to the trainmen on the New Haven road. Their case is before the company, and their decision is the signal as to whether there will be a strike or not.
 The general strike in sympathy with the striking street car men in Philadelphia which has been in effect for more than three weeks was officially called on Monday. The Central Labor Union at its meeting on Sunday adopted resolutions calling upon its members of trade unions to agitate and vote for local option at every opportunity.
 The Annual Raster meeting of St. Mark's parish, was held in the Basement of the church on Monday evening, when the following officers were re-elected:—Wardens, Nicholas Meating and A. C. Top. Vestrymen—Henry Meating, Reid Grey, George McCallum, J. A. Creaker, Jas. Jack, Geo. Craig, Edward McGirr, Chas. Johnson, E. D. Harvey, A. C. Grant, George Meating and L. Young. Chas. Johnson was re-appointed Vestry-Clerk. The Delegates to Synod are the Wardens, and the Auditors are E. D. Harvey and George Craig.
 The Charlotte County Agricultural Society offers a prize for the finest specimen of the Brown Tail Moth sent to the Secretary, Mr. Walker S. Stevens, St. Stephen. The perfect moth is not required. The caterpillar will do as well, and the only condition is that it be formed in Charlotte County. Now is the time to look for these pests, for if they are really here, they should now be easily discovered. They pass the winter in a nest made of leaves, on the ends of the smaller branches of fruit or shade trees, held fast by a silken web. Two or three hundred small caterpillars may be found in one of these winter nests. In the warm days of spring they leave the nest, and feed upon the buds and flowers and later upon the foliage as it develops. They are brown, hairy caterpillars, with a line of white dots on each side, and two red spots near the under end. They are about one third of an inch long when they leave the winter nest, and five times as long when full grown.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Rockefeller Philanthropies Organized

An Organization of the Philanthropic and Charitable Funds to be Known as the Rockefeller Foundation.

Washington, March 4.—The senate was stirred today by information that John D. Rockefeller proposes to give away a great share of his millions in educational, humanitarian and philanthropic undertakings. This news came through the introduction of a bill by Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire for the incorporation of 'the Rockefeller foundation.'

There are already several kindred institutions in Washington and elsewhere, but the Rockefeller foundation is to be conducted on a more comprehensive scale and will develop a much broader field than has heretofore been attempted. The Smithsonian institution was founded by an Englishman more than half a century ago to encourage the diffusion of knowledge.

The Carnegie foundation, endowed with many millions some years ago for the relief of superannuated college professors and teachers, and for purposes of scientific research, was incorporated by congress and has recently moved into a splendid new building on Sixteenth street. In 1903 congress incorporated the general educational board, a national project to which Mr. Rockefeller has devoted about $50,000,000.

It is altogether likely that congress will incorporate the Rockefeller foundation. It will have headquarters in Washington, which fact is hailed with assurance regarding the future of the national capital as a great educational center.

The incorporators named in the bill are John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Fred T. Gates, Starr J. Murphy and Charles O. Hoyt. These incorporators are authorized to select associations, not to exceed a total of twenty-five and it is provided that there shall not be at any time fewer than five. It was stated by Senator Gallinger today that Mr. Rockefeller had given away already $32,000,000 and that was seeking a method of disposing of his fortune that would benefit mankind. The foundation is organized on lines similar of the Carnegie Foundation, for the advancement of teaching. As in the case of the latter institution, the Rockefeller Foundation will be authorized to receive and dispense gifts of money other than those obtained from the ordinary endowments, the amounts of which have not been fixed.

The scope of the foundation is very broad, although embraced in a short very section of the bill. The section reads: "That the object of the said corporation shall be to promote the well-being and to advance the civilization of the people of the United States and its territories and possessions, and of foreign lands in the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge; in the prevention and relief of suffering and in the promotion of any and all of the elements of human progress.

Regarding the bill, Senator Gallinger said: "I am not authorized to speak for Mr. Rockefeller. But there is no doubt that Mr. Rockefeller intends to give away his money on a scale greater than any other living man. I am not acquainted with all of the details of Mr. Rockefeller's plan, but it is expected that when the bill is passed the head-quarters.

Joker's Column.

Stella—Is she in her declining years?
Bella—No, her accepting ones.

Look at that old man with the egg stain on his shirt front.
"It is only the vulgar rich that are fond of such display."

"Did the ah--prisonah--offer any--ah--resistance?"
"Only a shilling, you wussup, an' I wouldn't take it."

"How's yer 'usband after the accident, Mrs. Gimnerty?"
"Faith, suntoimes he's better an' suntoimes he's worse, but from the way he vils an' takes on when he's better, Of think he's better when he's worse."

"Do you think baseball will ever get a foothold in England?"
"They play it some."
"As strenuously as we do?"
"Well, no. They serve tea between innings, I understand."

A coster girl went into a public dispensary with her right arm bruised and bleeding. As the surgeon applied the necessary remedies he asked: "Dog bite you?"

"No, sir," the patient replied: another lolly."

Two very cadaverous-looking tramps looked in at the window of a railway station where a telegraph operator sat at his key.

"Say, pardner," one of them said in a husky voice, "report a couple of empties goin' east."

"My husband was out late last night and this morning I found a couple of aces in his pocket. I dare say he's been losing at poker."

"Don't condemn him without a hearing. If he carries around aces he probably won."

Her Husband—Why is it that a woman always begins to lift her skirts before she gets within ten yards of a mud puddle?

His Wife—Why is it that a man never stops to roll up his trousers until he gets half way through a mud puddle?

"Ah, my lad, you are a fine little fellow."

"Thank you, sir."

"And are you mamma's boy, or papa's boy?"

"I spent six months in the custody of each," answered the urchin, courteously.

"What are they moving the church for?"

"Well, stranger. I'm M.-yor of these diggin's, an' I'm fer law enforcement. We've got an ordinance that says no saloon shall be nearer than 300 feet from a church. I gave 'em three days to move the church."

Road Inspector (who has put a new man on): "Well, John, what's your new man like?"

Sweeper in charge of gang: "Well, 's all right, sir, for just straight sweepin', but 'e ain't no good for any ticklish bit o' work, like when it comes to sweepin' round a lamp post and sich like."

A certain fat lady resolved to consult a physician about her corpulence. The doctor drew up a careful dietary for her. She must eat dry toast, plain boiled beef and a few other things of the same lean sort, and in a month return and report the result to the doctor. At the end of the time the lady came, and was so stout she could hardly get through the door. The doctor was agast.

"Did you eat what I told you?" he asked.

"Religiously," she answered. His brow wrinkled in perplexity. Suddenly he had a flash of inspiration.

"Did you eat anything else?" he asked.

"Why, I ate my ordinary meals," said the lady.

Dorchester Penitentiary

During the first week of March 19 convicts were placed in Dorchester Penitentiary. There are now not less than 240 confined within the walls of this institution. The prisoners range from the white haired criminal with some 12 or more females down to the boy not yet 12 years of age. This little fellow is a colored lad from Nova Scotia sentenced for life for the crime of murder. He has been placed under the care of one of the guards and is not allowed to come in contact with the other prisoners. He serves as an errand boy, is under the care of a Winslow man and is being trained to good habits.

Our penitentiary at Dorchester, N. B., is worthy of a visit. It is most efficiently conducted and the spiritual interests of the prisoners are attended to by two chaplains a Protestant and Roman Catholic clergyman. Two ministers who lately visited the institution were so impressed with what they witnessed concerning prison life that the impressions made will never be effaced from memory. Crime appears to be on the increase. At no previous time in the history of the Maritime Provinces have so many been sentenced to servitude. The influx of foreign population has to some extent caused this increase yet a few Maritime boys are there who ought to be honest, sober and law-abiding citizens.

What evil swells the ranks of the inmates of this institution? Intemperance must be chargeable with doing a great deal to increase the number of convicts. We are granting licenses to sell intoxicating drinks, liquor floods the land and the poor victims find a refuge for a time within prison walls. Is it not the duty of the government when legalizing the rum traffic to on the other hand open the way for the poor inebriate to prevent his downfall and humiliation.

Judge Russell struck the true key note in his late able address before the Y. M. C. A.; Halifax. Let that address be repeated elsewhere. The walls of Dorchester Penitentiary silently re-echo what the judge so strongly affirmed. We see the penalty in the penitentiary and is it not a time for serious inquiry. Is there no cure?

Do Your Boots Pinch?
If so, look out for a tiny corn. Care is before it grows big. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the best. Try 'Putnam's.'

Growing Nasturtiums
(Woman's Home Companion for March.)
Of nasturtiums there are dwarf and climbing varieties, to suit all situations, with flowers practically alike. Any ordinary well-drained soil will support them perfectly, even though it is decidedly thin. In fact, they blossom better in such earth than in very rich, for in the latter they run to leaf and are apt to rot off in wet weather, in their own dense shade, especially if at all crowded.

Sow as early as the ground is ready. The dwarf or Tom Thumb division will be in bloom in two months, insects will leave them alone--aphids colonize unpleasantly on the climbers sometimes, and they will still be blossoming when frost comes if picked freely. This is true of most annuals, in fact; liberal picking induces generous flowering, for they go on, industriously bent on producing seed, until allowed to do so.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasant syrup--50c. Sold by All Dealers.

An Appeal That Won.
The intrepid general in the new order was rallying her wavering troops.

"Women!" she cried, "will you give way to manly fears?"

A murmur of indecision ran through the ranks, whereupon the leader shot last arrow in her quiver.

"Will you," she fiercely demanded 'show the white feather in a season when feathers are not being worn?"

The effect was electrical. 'Never!' roared the soldiery, an 'forming quickly in battle array they once more buried themselves on the enemy.

Bacon—Did you talk your wife out of that new hat.

Egbert—No; she talked herself out of it. She talked so long about it that when she went to get it it was sold.

SHORN LAMBS.

Ways of the Men Who Lose Their All in Wall Street.

What becomes of the men who lose in Wall street. They are seldom heard of. The visitor to New York gets the notion that the gay crowd of men at the Waldorf--the "uptown street"--comprises them all. But this crowd is altogether misrepresentative and has no true sign value, says a writer on Wall street in the New Broadway Magazine.

You can retain your equilibrium easily in watching them by remembering that Rumor of New Britain is hiding somewhere, a fugitive from justice; that Jumper of Milwaukee is in prison; that there are many other men who went down hard with big crashes, and that for every one of the big men there are 10,000 little men whose losses are smaller, but not a whit less fatal.

You would find some of them tough in New York. If you knew in what window to look, figuring anxiously and endlessly, looking over insurance papers to see if further loans are admissible.

Their wives are sewing; their daughters are studying stenography. You will find others hanging about hotel lobbies, and the moment you catch their eye or grip their hands you know that they are nervous, distraught, broke, restless--typical Wall street victims.

The others, professionals, parasites, satellites, winners, you will find in the cafes and hotel restaurants, making up a large part of the crowds at Sheraton and Delmonico's, Martin's and Rector's, the Waldorf, Manhattan, Astor, St. Regis and Holland House. Wall street by day demands the Great White Way at night. From the moment the market opens till its close the game is a fast and furious one of sharp trickery, clever dodging, rallery, bluffing, hypocrisy, lying.

Nerves are constantly tense; the brain must be clear and quick at every move. Successful lying uses up gray matter, and the flash and festivity of the Tenderloin at night are just unnatural enough to fit in and offer the kind of recreation desired.

SAW HIS OPPORTUNITY.
The Reporter Seized It and Got His Real Start in Life.

All the city traveling public loves a strap hanger because it has a fellow feeling for him. This is why the story of Frank Vanderlip, the banker, got its start has an almost universal appeal. It happened when Vanderlip was a reporter on a Chicago newspaper and writing financial news. The traction situation then, as now, was almost impossible. Charles T. Yerkes was traction dictator, and the stockholders and the public never has a word to say in the conduct of the roads. Nor could they get any definite idea of the financial condition of the properties.

The time for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the principal road came along. At all the meetings Mr. Yerkes had rattled off the reports in the usual unpalatable corporation way, and no one knew what was doing. So Vanderlip planned a coup. He bought a share of stock, which admitted him to the meeting. He had been a stenographer before he became a newspaper man. When Mr. Yerkes called into his breezy explanation of finances the young reporter took down everything he said. Mr. Yerkes used one striking phrase, and it was this: "The passengers who have seats pay the operating expenses, but the strap hangers pay your dividends."

The next day the sentence topped Vanderlip's account of the meeting. It aroused a storm of discussion, for it had borne some of the traction methods; also got Vanderlip a raise in salary and a promotion.

Nothing Like That in America.
"This was told me the other day," said a man, "by a friend who has just made the tour of Ireland. He was at the lakes of Killarney, and a jarvey driving one of those side seated cars was telling him of a visitor who was attempting to masquerade as an American, but had all the outward signs of being an Englishman."

"You say, sorr," said the jarvey, "that you live in the United States. Were yer liver in Dubuque, Ia.?"

"I was," said the traveler. "I was there for a fortnight."

"Or wid ye?" said the carman. "Ye were niver there. Divil a fortnight do they have in America."

Getting It Right.
It was on a street car in the city of Washington. Two colored women in cheaply gorgeous splendor were talking and one chanced to mention a Mr. Jenks in her conversation.

"Ene me?" said the other woman, "but his name is not Jenks. It is Mr. Jenks."

"Oh, I seen," said the other woman complacently, "I seen that you puts de access on de pronoun."

A Bit of Sarcasm.
A young man who had prolonged his call on his sweetheart a few nights ago was surprised when a window in an upper story was raised as he left the house and the voice of the mistress called out: "Leave an extra quart this morning, please."--Argonaut.

Her Fourth.
Lawyer--As your husband died intestate, you will, of course, get a third. Widow--Oh, I hope to get my fourth.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness--womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross. Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition--1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps.

Automobile Statistics.

It is interesting to note from the annual report of Hon. John Morrissey, Chief Commissioner of Public Works, that 167 automobiles have been registered in this Province since the beginning of May, 1905. But it is not to be supposed that this number of registered machines have been operated at the same time. Many of the same names appear more than once.

The first name is Walter Holly, who registered a Rambler, 18 h. p. in 1905 and a Haynes, 30 h. p. in 1907. Percy W. Thompson appears three times, twice with gasoline and finally with a steam motor of 40 h. p. Richard O'Leary begins with a 12 h. p. gasoline and proceeds to a machine of 40 to 45 h. p. St. John leads in the number of motors, with 50 cars.

Moncton follows with 24; Fredericton with 10; Chatham; Grand Falls; Woodstock and Newcastle, each 6; Sackville 5; St. Stephen 4; Douglastown, Richibucto and Campbellton 3; Port Elgin, Andover, Sussex, Rothesay, Bathurst and Hampton, 2. Nineteen places report one each—St. John Standard.

The Royal Bank

The Royal Bank of Canada has sent out its annual report for 1904 in a handsome booklet of 76 pages, besides several pages devoted to pictures of bank premises. There is also a useful map of Canada, showing where the numerous branches of the Bank are situated, with information regarding the wheat-growing belt in the northern regions. In the report there is published an interesting collection of statistics relating to banking, trade, immigration and other matters of importance. The Bank's affairs are shown to be in a satisfactory condition.

Gogson's Invention

Friend—Gogson, how is your aeroplane getting along?

Inventor—It is complete, with the exception of one little detail I have not yet perfected. I shall take up that next.

"What is it?"

"A mere trifle that I can think of at any time. The principal feature of my invention is a safety net that will travel along under my aeroplane to prevent fatal accidents. It will make navigating the air absolutely free from danger. By the introduction of that net I have revolutionized the entire business."

"But how is the net itself to be kept free from falling to the ground when anything happens to your aeroplane?"

"That is the little detail I haven't worked out yet."—Life.

Crowded Elevator Falls

7 Stories All Saved

New York, March 26.—An elevator containing fifteen passengers, several of them women, fell seven stories last night in a Fourth Avenue office building without serious injury to any of those aboard. The car began to fall at the ninth floor, but was caught and held by the safety clutches between the second and third floors. Firemen then chopped a hole in the top of the car and, lowering a ladder, carried the frightened group to the landing above.
