CLEARED UP!

London, Oct. 25.-The Fashoda yellow book, issued by the French Government, having left some slight misgivings in this country as to Lord Salisbury's firmness in dealing with the French ambassador, Baron de Coursel, a speedy dissipation of these fears followed in the publication of yesterday's blue book. The London papers this morning express their satisfaction, notably at the view of the Egyptian regent, which is held to nullify entirely the French idea that Engand lacks the approval of the Egyptian Government.

H. TENNANT-VETERINARY SUR-GEON-Office, King street, opposite The Times says: Lord Salisbury's Market House. Residence, corner King and Wellington. Telephone. version of the interview with Baron de Coursel is decidedly a dispatch to relieve the British mind

The Standard says: The blue book removes apprehensions regarding Lord Saliebury's position which it would have been unsafe to leave uncorrected." The Daily News thinks the blue book confirms the impression left by the yellow book, namely, that France is seeking a loophole. THE FRENCH CLAIM.

The Salisbury dispatch, in con-lusion, said: "The extreme indeficlusion, said: "The extreme indefi-niteness of Baron De Coursel's pro-position made it impossible for me to ress or form an opinion relative to the territory claimed by France in the Bahr-El-Ghazel region. Under the circumstances the discussion has been fruitful of misapprehension. I informed him it was in no way my duty to discuss the French claims now, thatinabstaining therefrom I must not be understood as in any degree admitting their validity."

EGYPT'S ATTITUDE.

The blue book also contains interesting letters from Moustapha Fohoy, the Regent of Egypt, to Gen. Kitch-ener and Lord Cromer, the British diplomatic agent, respectively, showing Egypt's attitude. He wrote to Gen. Kitchener, warmly thanking him for taking possession of Fashoda, and thereby reconquering for Egypt the provinces which assure her existence, and from which she only retired provisionally.

FRENCH ENCROACHMENT. The regent, in writing to Lord Cromprotested against "the French violation of Egyptian territory," adding that Egypt had never lost sight of the reoccupation of the provinces of he Soudan, which are the actual ources of the vitality of Egypt, and from which she only withdrew owing to force meama jour. He also said that the reconquest of Khartoum would fail to have its effect if the valley of the Nile was not restored to Egypt.

Moustapha Fohoy concluded with referring to the Anglo-French discussion on the subject of Fasnoda, urging Lord Cromer to use his good offices with the Marquis of Salisbury, "in order that the incontestible rights of Egypt may be recognized, and that all the provinces occupied up to the rebellion of Mohamed Ahmed be re-

MUST CONTROL THE NILE. London, Oct. 25.-All interest today is centered in the Marquis of Salis-bury's addition to the Fashoda corre-spondence, contained in the publication of the British blue book on that subject. The Conservative newspapers express themselves as being highly pleased with his rejoinder to the French yellow book on the same subject. They declare that it dispels the idea spread by the dispatch of the French ambas-sador here, Baron de Courcel, that the British premier was willing to negotiate on the whole question. But the brings embodies the points indicated in Liberal and Radical organs still consider that the Marquis of Salisbury's attitude admits of negotiations promising a friendly arrangement. China. Cecil Rhodes' Scheme of an All-British Route Through Africa-Suing the

The Chicago Record has received advices that hundreds of villages have been swept away by floods in the Chinese Province of Shantung. It is reporte that 2,000 people were drowned, and that 100,000 are homeless.

IMMENSE UNDERTAKING

Mr. Cecil Rhodes, in an interview, stated that the victory of the sirdar at Omdurman settles the question of an all-British route through Africa. This, as everyone knows, has been Mr. Rhodes' most cherished scheme, and he is much gratified in seeing it in the way of accomplishment. Mr. Rhodes has all the money required for the Tanganyika Railway, which will now be built as expeditiously as possible.

The Tanganyika Railway is to run from Buluwayo to Lake Tanganyika, and will penetrate country that up to the present has been visited only by a few intrepid explorers. Leaving Buluwayo, the line will proceed almost due north, crossing the Zambesi some hundred miles below the celebrated Victoria Falls, which will be thus opened up as a show place to tourists. Thence it passes through the Barotse country, recently ceded to the British South Africa Company by its king, Luanika. The railway will then take a northeasterly direction, running along the western side of the territory officially termed British Central Africa till it reaches Tanganyika. The country through which a considerable portion of the line will pass is said to possess coal and minerals and an abundant labor supply. The length of the line will be about 1,000 miles.

Clarencon Township Has the Fever-A Detroit Capitalist Interested.

Toronto, Oct. 25 .- Thomas E. Southworth, commissioner of the Ontario bureau of forestry, who has just returned from a trip through the northern part of Addington county, says that the people in the township of Clarendon have the gold fever. Mr. Borth, of Detroit, has taken up a claim on which there are two veins and a cross vein. He is erecting a mill that will handle 40 tons a day. Fifty men are at present working on the building. The difficulty in the past with the gold in this district is that it is found with tourmaline, and is hard to separate. By the Eames process the Detroit man expects to make the mining a success.

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS.

Considerable interest has been aroused among the amusement patrons of this city in the appearance of the great J. H. Haverly's American-European Minstrels this (Tuesday) evening, and the indications are that the theater will be packed to the doors. Col. Haverly has always been the leader in the minstrel line, and organized companies that were far above all others, both numerically or artistically speaking. This time, however, he advances a step, and even outdoes his greatest efforts by presenting a company composed of the cream and pick of the entire minstrel profession.

Miss Bird, a missionary from Persia, and Miss Gollock, from England, have been in this city for a couple of days past, giving addresses in several of the city Anglican churches.

The Medical School was visited by Miss Bird (who is a medical missionary) yesterday morning. The lady gave a brief address to the students. At 3:30 in the afternoon addresses were given by both ladies at a meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary Missionary Association, in Cronyn Hall. Mrs. (Bishop) Baldwin presided.

Miss Bird also spoke of the great need of medical missionaries.

Miss Bird and Miss Gollock will visit Brantford and Woodstock.

A goodly number of delegates were present from London, Mount Brydges, Napier and other places. The county president, Mrs. Calvert, of Napier, presided over the convention in her usual able and JUDGE LYNCH pleasing manner.

The first session, which was opened at 2 p.m. on Thursday, was devoted chiefly to the reading and reception of reports from officers and county superintendents. Some of the reports of different departments of work from the unions were not as complete this year as formerly, owing to much time and energy having been spent in plebiscit the result of which has been realized in the large majority rolled up for prohibition on Sept. 29. During this session of the convention Mrs. R. Clanahan, of Glencoe, read an interesting and carefully prepared paper on "Work Among Lumbermen," and Mrs. (Dr.) McIntyre gave an address of very hearty welcome to the delegates and visitors to the convention, which was ably replied to by Mrs. Thornley.

THURSDAY EVENING. On Thursday evening a well-attended mass meeting was held. The meeting was opened by the singing of a hymn, followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Mc-Tavish, and scripture reading by Mrs.

Ross, of Glencoe.

Mrs. Blewett, the Canadian poetess, was present, and gave several of her excellent selections, which were highly appreciated.

A short, encouraging address was given by Rev. Mr. Ross, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Glencoe, who made special reference to the persistent and untiring effects of the W. C. T. U. in the work in which they are engaged. The convention had the pleasure of

The speaker stated a number of difficulties and hin-drances which the temperance workers were forced to contend with during the late campaign and believed they should now be proud of and thankful for the majority of votes cast for prohibition, in the face of all the corrupt and evil devices resorted to by the advocates of the liquor traffic. Solos were effectively sung by Miss Saxton, Mrs. Houston and Miss Mann as was also a duet by Miss Young and Miss Sutherland. Glencoe Orchestra kindly favored the audience with choice instrumental music.

On Friday morning and afternoon the convention was continued, the morning session commencing at 10 o'clock. At this stage of the programme the president's annual address, which was ternoon a very interesting paper on "Juvenile Work" was given by Mrs.

The trouble started last Friday

LILLIAN LOVES

The Fair Dame May Make a Fourth Matrimonial Venture Soon.

New York, Oct. 25.-It was announced the other day that Signor Perugini had been granted a decree of divorce from Lillian Russell, the widely-known actress, whom he married in 1894. The decree forbids her remarriage, but, of course, this inhibition applies only in New York State.

It is said Lillian may make a fourth matrimonial venture soon. She has had many names since beginning stage life. Her maiden name was Helen Louise Leonard. On the stage she took the name of Lillian Russell. Then she became the wife of Composer Henry Brahams, was divorced and married Edward Solomon, who was arrested in London for bigamy. After eight months of freedom she married John Chatterton, known on the stage as Perugini. Now she is plain Lillian Russell.

Burial of Mrs. Burrell's Three Children -An Affecting Scene. Toronto, Oct. 25.-The mournful sight of a casket, containing three children's bodies, being placed in one grave, was witnessed at the Necropolis yesterday afternoon. The funeral was that of the three victims of Friday's tragedy-Stanley, Harold and Ethel Burrell. The funeral service commenced in the First Avenue Baptist Church, where a large number of friends of the more than doubly-bereaved husband and father, Mr. Charles Burrell, showed their sympathy with him in his great affliction by their presence. The services, which were very affecting, were conducted by Rev. P. C. Parker, Rev. Dr. Thomas and Rev. J. Keay, pastors of Baptist churches at which the family had at various times worshiped. Both Mr. Burrell and his wife are mem-bers of the First Avenue Church.

FINAL AND CONCLUSIVE.

So far, the American commissioners, while preserving a firm attitude, have the Spaniards, but now the American commissioners will find it incumbent upon them to speak very plainly as to the determination of the United States Government to regard the matter of the Cuban debt and the Cuban sovereignty as passed over and be-yond recall. EVACUATION.

Washington, Oct. 25 .- After President McKinley, Attorney-General Griggs and Secretaries Long, Hay and Alger had discussed the evacuation of Cuba yesterday, it was agreed that it would be impossible for the 124,000 Spanish troops now on the island to leave before the first of the year, and Gen. Wade was telegraphed to that effect. In the meantime, however, the United States troops now in Cuband others to be dispatched will take possession of the territory as fast as the Spaniards vacate it, probably leaving Havana until the last. In regard to the reported purpose of the Spaniards to dismount and remove to Spain the heavy ordinance of the forts and arsenals about Havana, it was stated After waiting 24 hours to attempt the in positive terms that nothing of the rescue, the two lifeboats pulled through kind would be permitted, and if this movement had already begun, it would be stopped at once.

SPAIN NOT PREPARED TO RENEW HOSTILITIES.

A dispatch to the World from Madrid says: The Spanish dockyards show absolutely no signs of renewed activity nor the slightest symptom implying the remotest idea of renewing the struggle with the United States. The vessels composing Admiral Camara's fleet are now dispersed to various ports, with their crews reduced to a peace footing.

Ministers and leading politicians consider the notion of breaking off negotiations over the Cuban debt as preposterous and suicidal. Even as to the Philippines it is taken for granted here that Spain must in the long run yield whatever the United States in-

Chairman Parker, of the Western Freight Association: If the court simply re-affirms the position in the trans-Missouri Freight Association case it is a disappointment to the railroads. I treated the Spaniards with the utmost courtesy and consideration, allowing frequent postponements to the work of ation. The sceme of the eastern roads joint commission to accommodate was followed closely when we organized the west joint traffic bureau, but that was dissolved in 1896. Since then we have had only a shadow of an agreement, but it has been along the same lines as that which the court has just decided to be illegal.

Vice-President Chappel, of the Chi-cago and Alton Railroad: The trans-Missouri freight case was exactly similar to this one, in which the main question was as to an independent body in which rested the power to make and control rates. Our present freight organizations have no such feature. The board of the Western Freight Association makes no rates. It does try to enforce rules and regulations, but not such as effect rates. A polling law would help the railways, it would not do all that is necessary.

Windsor, Oct. 25 .- Detectives Campau and Mahoney went to Stoney Point yesterday and arrested a man named Aubrey on the charge of having assaulted Odilion Deschenes, and afterwards robbed him of $200. Mr. Deschenes is 84 years of age, and buried his wife on Sunday. It is alleged that when he returned home from the funeral some person knocked at his door, and in answer to a query as to what he wanted, he replied that he was a neighbor, and that he had just noticed some person etealing Deschenes' horse and riding it off. The old gentleman at once rushed outside, but had no more than reached the front yard when he was assaulted by the man that had called him out of the house. His assailant beat him over the head with a club until he was unconscious, and then he robbed him of about $200. He made his escape. Deschenes was afterwards found by some of his relatives and a physician summoned to attend to his injuries, which are very serious considering his age. The prisoner will be examined before Magistrate Bartlet today.

A petition was circulated about Woodstock by Rev. J. C. Farthing last week for the clemency of the minister of justice towards a son of John Mc-Beth. of Woodstock, who was convicted at Owen Sound for stealing patterns of chairs from his employers. He was given a sentence of 15 months. A writ for breach of promise has been issued against James Milner, aged 79, b. Mrs. S. A. Patterson. Both parties live in Chatham, and both have been married before. The widow says they have been engaged for two years, which she considers plenty long enough for people of their age.

J. W. Wood, M. C. R. fireman, of St. Thomas, was assaulted on Sunday. As he was leaving the roundhouse he met W. Kennedy, of Detroit, who struck him in the face, knocking him down and blackening his eyes. There is an old feud between the two, which accounts for the assault. A warrant was issued for Kennedy's arrest, but he disappeared.

Have Leased or Absorbed 1,732 Miles of Canadian Lines.

New Competitor for the C. P. R. in Grain Carrying Trade.

Trainmaster Brown, of the Michigan Central Railway, reports that freight business has picked up greatly during the past couple of weeks. There has been a gradual increase, and while there is not the rush of freight sometimes encountered, a good steady business is being done.

Supt. Morford has received a statement showing that of the 29 independent railroads or extensions in the Province of Ontario, all have been amalgamated or leased by the big lines. The total mileage of these lines is 1,732, and the bonuses received $1,903,563 from the Dominion, and $3,103,333 from the Provincial Government, and $5,500,050 from municipalities. A Port Arthur dispatch says: There is to be built a line in the extreme southeastern part of the province, which will be known as the Ontario Rainy Lake and Western Railroad. This line will diverge from the Port Arthur and Duluth road about 20 miles west of Port Arthur, and will run up the valley of the Rainy River to a connection at the Manitoba line with the road now building from Winnipeg southeast, under Provincial Government authority. When the whole line from Winnipeg to Port Arthur is completed, which will be next year, there will be a new route on Canadian soil to compete with the Canadian Pacific for the carriage of the wheat of Manitoba to the lake. This is a purpose which the Greenway Government- has been steadfastly pursuing for a long time. The new road will open to settlement the fertile Rainy River Valley on both sides of the international boundary. The quickest way of getting to the most northern part of Minnesota will then be to go around through the Dominion.

England and France.

In Canada, especially, the relations of these two countries should be discussed with care, because we have as co-partners in this great Dominion a large French-speaking population, who naturally have great sympathy with their "old motherland." We believe that there is among all parties and nationalities a spirit of loyalty to Canada, and to the great empire of which it forms an important part; but while the French-Canadian will cheercelly acknowledge that he owes his liborties to Britain, his sentiment is French, and the history and literature of old France have a special charm for him. With regard to international affairs, some of the French-Canadian journals complain that the English journals are narrow and prejudiced in their pro-English attitude, while we regret that some of those who thus complain are justly amenable to a similar charge. These are facts in the life of our country, and shutting our eyes to them will not abolish them nor lessen their importance. Perhaps, on both sides there is room for improvement in the way of taking a wider view of things, and of manifesting more mutual confidence and consideration

As to the larger metter of the relation of England and France at the present time, we must confess that it is in an unfortunate condition. We truet and expect that the Fashoda incident will pass over without actual appeal to arms. We must expect that, unless we are completely losing faith both in common sense, and diplomatic skill. In the old days of slow communication, the British commander would probably have settled it on the spot. That, of course, might have provoked retaliation of some kind. However, the matter was referred to the respective governments, and the abundance of newspaper comments on both sides, combined with the restless condition of France, have tended to produce a feverish condition, which may be considered unworthy of two great peoples. The interests that are at stake are great. War would be a great misfortune for Britain, and perhaps a greater one for France; so that it seems impossible that a terrible conflict can end, great conflicts are often brought about by apparently small things. But last year. we believe that for a variety of reasons such conflict would be a great folly on the part of France. It would mean that she has gone out of her way to provoke a conflict with a great power that desires to be friendly. The French people, as a whole, care nothing about Fashoda, while the English people are united in the feeling that the work they have undertaken in Africa must be carried through. Fashoda is a long way from the French territory in Africa, but it is on the British line of march. It may be a mistake on the part of the British people, but they are beginning to take the ery, "From Cairo to the Cape," seriously. There may be a certain amount of jingoism and valinglory about that, for no human inovement is free from such imperfections. But we believe that this means the final freedom of Africa from the curse of the slave trade, and the opening of her great trade routes to the commerce of the world.

This may be for the glory of Britain, but we believe that it is also for the good of the world. Of course, we can understand that a Frenchman does not so easily accept this view. The two peoples have fought great battles in the history of the world, such as we trust will never need to be repeated. Englishmen and Frenchmen have faced each other as foes in all parts of the world, and the jingoes of both nations persistently keep up the idea that they are natural enemies. The fact that they fought side by side against Russia in the Crimea is one that, of course, has forced this conclusion upon us. Frenchmen now desire to forget, France not being able after the war with Germany to bear her share of "splendid isolation" (for was it not splendid when, after such dire defeat, she showed such great recuperative power?)sought an alliance with Russia, and has been playing that country's game. If the French desire to serve Russia by irritating Britain, they have abundant opportunity. They have retained just sufficient rights in Newfoundland to great grievance in Egypt; though when Britain took hold there, they declined all responsibility. Their treatment of English missionaries in Madagascar has repaid in a peculiar manner Engdand's "graceful concessions." In other parts of Africa, as well as in Asia, there are points of contact between the two peoples which may cause complication. Diplomacy in such a case is always strained, and so far it has done well, and it will be a great pity if the peace which has been kept for the greater part of a century is broken now. This would cause the deepest pain and disappointment to English speakers, as well as Frenchmen, in this great Dominion. But the fact is that the British people believe that they the sake of peace, and that the French vince. are at present seeking needlessly to dog their steps, and cause them trou-

to carry out that statement. It is stated on good authority that the Frenchman, who deserves credit for his skill and courage, would have been swept away by dervishes if it had not been for the action of the Anglo-Egyptian army. However that may be, we contend that, if the positions were reversed, the French would not tolerate an English adventurer planting the flag of his country directly in their line of march. Canadians have every reason to pray and hope for peace, but they would be the last to expect Britain to be cowardly and disloyal to her great trust.

Within five years the transformation will be as if by miracle.

Canada's Steady Progress.

Less than a month ago, the spectacle was presented of the leader of the Conservatives in Quebec engaged in the denunciation of the Dominion Government, because, according to him, the exports of farm products from the Dominion had fallen off. "Why," he exclaimed, "does not the Government of Canada prevent this falling off?" The Opposition press followed his example, and there was a perfect chorus of newspaper bewailings at the impotency of the Administration.

Now, it appears that the Jeremiahs opened out too early. There is no falling off. There is a substantial increase in the shipments of the staple pro-

Professor Robertson affirms that it will be a record year. There will, he says, be between seven and eight million dollars worth of Canadian bacon exported, when the season ends, as compared with five million dollars worth last year.

Then we learn that the shipments of butter from Canada's chief shipping arise over such a matter; but in the port now number over 206,000 packages, or 12,000 more than at this time

Perhaps the ungenerous critics of the Minister of Agriculture will now wish that they had been discreet enough to hold their peace until the Then they might have seen it to be the part of prudent men to keep silence in the face of the magnificent results, or to confess that the agricultural interests of this country are prospering under the oversight of Hon. Mr. Fisher to a degree never before experienced in the history of this

A Suggestion.

This is a new idea. Most of us have hitherto been under the impression that the inventors of these death-dealing machines were really unwitting agents of the Peace Society. It has been the generally accepted view that the more destructive the weapons of warfare, the less likely are nations to go to war until all other means of settling international disputes are exhausted. Really, the behavior of the great nations of Europe

Defending Ontario's Rights.

Premier Hardy has made public his reply to the American Secretary of State, who protested against Ontario's

Mr. Hardy comes out firmly in defense of Ontario's rights. He points out that under the statute all regulations made from time to time by the create a perpetual sore. They have a Government are binding and effective upon timber licenses. Mr. Hardy affirms that the question is one for Ontario alone. The disallowance of the Provincial Government's act would be an unconstitutional exercise of the power of the Governor-General in council and an unwarrantable interference with a matter of purely provincial concern. Mr. Hardy makes a shrewd and telling retort when he says that the State of Michigan, having adopted a policy which has nearly exhausted its own timber, now seeks supplies in Ontario to keep its sawmills running, while the tariff legislation of the United States practically prohibits the exportation from Canada of a large portion of the lumber manufactured in Canadian mills, thus inflicting heavy losses on have made all possible concession for the saw-milling industry of the pro-

Yet no one can allege that Congress was not within its strict rights in enacting these clauses of its tariff laws, however hardly they may operate upon those who are adversely affected by them.

Mr. Hardy's position is unassallable. and he is supported by the people of Ontario, irrespective of party.

There is one hopeful thing about the movement for municipal reform in London: everybody admits there is room

France has issued a yellow book on the Fashoda affair, but it is not as yellow as some Paris journalism on the same subject.

The French ministry is engaged in the delicate task of trying to let go of Fashoda without letting go of office. The feat seems impossible.

Things have come to a pretty pass when an alderman can discharge a faithful city employe because the employe happens to have a dispute with the alderman's friends.

Mr. T. D. Hodgens, M.P.P., boasts that there are Conservatives in the Legislature so clever that they can talk by the hour. That is no accomplishment. A very ordinary man can talk an hour on one topic by ram-ifying it sufficiently.

The report that Russia is jealous of the Kaiser's designs in Asia Minor is fairly cheerful news. The jealousies of the whole world in late years have been directed so entirely against Great Britain that it is comforting to know someone else is getting a share.

The appointment of Major A. M. Smith to the command of the Seventh Battalion will meet with cordial approval. He will be popular with the officers and the rank and file. Now that citizens of both parties are coming together in support of the battalion, the future of the Seventh is bright, and we may look for a speedy return of the old esprit de corps.

New Zealand, which has just adopted an old age pension scheme, is the most radical country on earth. Here is a leading American newspaper advocating 2-cent postage as a bond of union between the United States and Great Britain, while Canadian newspapers, which used to prate of their loyalty, sneer at imperial penny postage as a fad.

The Hamilton City Council is conquestion. An expert electrician and engineer, who has been engaged to make estimates, reports that under civic control the cost of lighting can be reduced to 14.93 cents per lamp per night. This, he says, allows for interest on investment and depreciation of value in the plant. Hamilton at present pays 25 cents per lamp per night. The London City Council recently awarded a ten years' contract at the rate of 23 cents per light per | No man is great till he can see night.

John Morley has been chosen as Gladstone's biographer. Mr. Morley, who excels in biographical work, will probably aim to make this his crowning achievement. It will be a heavy task, but with Mr. Morley it should be a Is mixed with troubles, more or less, labor of love. He had the profoundest admiration for Gladstone. He enjoyed the great man's confidence and even his affection. Their political sympathies were identical-in fact, Morley is credited with Gladstone's conversion to home rule. Despite what has been said of Mr. Morley's religious skepticism, we think he will be able to appreciate the spirituality of Gladstone's characterits rarest essence.

A Two-Edged Sword.

[Toronto Telegram.] When Michigan villages are depopulated and Michigan sawmills are idle, because there is no further supply of pine logs from Canada, the electorate of that state will have a chance to realize that extreme protection is a two-edged sword.

> An Apt Reply. [St. Thomas Times.]

At a county beard examination of teachers for the county of Middlesex many years ago, one of the questions asked was: "When did the reformation take place?" One lady teacher answered: "It is still going on." The late Bishop Cronyn, who was chairman of the board, smiled at the answer, but, no doubt, in view of its manifest correctnese, did not challenge it.

Longevity in Kent. [Chatham Planet.]

The Advertiser appears to imagine old people are scarce. They may be around London, but in this great and healthy section old people between 90 and 110 are to be found on almost every concession. In fact, anyone who dies on the under side of 90, is considered cut off in his prime, as the case may be, and the whole community mourns at the loss of a neighbor, who was considered to be just entering on a vigorous old age. Just to show the world how many hale and hearty people of mature years Kent can produce, we wish our friends would send in for publication sketches of any old residents in each locality, giving name, age, place of birth, length of residence in this vicinity, and any other particulars.

More Permissive Power for Municipa Reform.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

The city of London, Ont., is proposing to ask for legislation which will empower the city of London to elect aldermen by general vote, as are the mayor, water commissioners and hospital trustees, and to limit the representation to one alderman for every 4, 000 of the population. The Advertiser says it can be "obtained for the asking." Although it will be too late to be operative in the coming year, it will be year later, and rangement can be duly prepared for. It would not be amiss if a general act of a persuasive character were framed and passed at the next session. During the past four or five years there have been a number of acts passed bearing on municipal matters all more or less in the direction of reform which might profitably be consolidated, and so amended and added to as to extend their operation and afford greater permissive powers to cities in the matter of accomplishing such changes in administration as may be deemed advisable. The limitation of a number of useful reforms to cities of 100,000 people is very Watchman Discovers Burglars in Simcoe Postoffice and Blazes Away.

Simcoe, Oct. 25 .- Yesterday about 1 o'clock burglars entered the postoffice at this place. An entrance was gain-ed by prying open the window at the rear of the building, and after getting inside the burglars encountered a par-tition about seven or eight feet high. One of them climbed upon a shelf and lighted a match and looked around, at the same time saying "all right." But things were not all right, for at this moment the watchmen commenced shooting at a very lively rate, and the midnight callers were forced to leave very hurriedly without any spoil.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION Recommends Dr. A. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in the American Journal of Health of February 19, says:

Among the proprietary medicines deserving recognition is 'Dr. Chase's Ointment, compounded by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, as a remedy for sores, eruptions and skin diseases of all kinds, for which it has been used with marked success, and has effected remarkable cures in many obstinate cases, which seemed to baffle the skillful medical attendant. The results were most favorable, proving the value of 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' as a curative agent in the diseases named. The manufacturers of the remedy are well known as experienced pharmacists, careful and reliable, in addition to which we have made full examination, and find the article to be all that is claimed for it. "We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requirements of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we indorse it to every reader." "C. M. HARLAN, M.D."

New and Important Evidence Introduced.

Joseph Graham Cross-Examined by Prisoner's Counsel.

Sticks to the Story of the Man in His Shirt Sleeves Scuffling With the Policeman.

A Port Huron Engineer Identifles the Prisoner.

Saw Him About 7:30 on the Morning of the Murder at the Sarnia Tunnel.

Tuesday Morning.

After a rest of two days, Marion Brown, the peg-legged tramp charged with the murder of P. C. Michael Toohey, appeared again in the police court this morning and the preliminary examination was resumed. The crowd in the court room was very little smaller than that which thronged the place on Saturday. The same interest was manifested, the same curiosity to see the prisoner was apparent, the buzz in the court just as annoying, the air just as unpleasant, as on the previous days of the proceedings. The prisoner wore a clean white shirt and appeared very comfortable. He smiles occasionally, but not so much as he did during the first two days.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY INFORMED OF BROWN'S PREDICAMENT.

Mr. McPhillips told the reporters this morning that he had received a letter from the American authorities yesterday stating that President McKinley had been apprised of the contents of the letter concerning Marion Brown, and prisoner's counsel expects a communication from the president in a day or two. Nothing concerning the case has been received from the Canadian authorities.

JOSEPH GRAHAM.

Joseph Graham, the last witness examined on Saturday, was re-called this morning and was cross-examined by prisoner's counsel. He was taken over his evidence as elicited by County Crown Attorney Magee on Saturday and confirmed the greater part of it. Witness said he was fifteen years of age and going to school, but his idea of distances proved very erroneous. Some of the distances he was asked about, he described as decidedly small, but admitted it would not surprise him if they proved to be four times as Young Graham repeated his great. statement of Saturday regarding the tramp, and the policemen, on Ontario street, and, hearing the shot fired after the scuffle. He thought he heard the policeman say after the shot, "Here! here! there!" This was followed by the second shot. Witness could not be diverted from his statement regarding the attitude of the form in the white shirt. It stood facing south, with the left arm extended full length before like the prisoner. Witness was quite Witness could not say who fired the shots. He saw the flash, and saw nothing of the form in the white sleeves after that. Mr. Magee took the witness in hand and straightened out some points upon which he had become somewhat confused.

JOHN COLEMAN.

John Coleman, of Port Huron, Mich. engineer in the employ of the St. Clair Tunnel Company, was called to the stand a little out of the order, as originally arranged, to enable him to return to his work today. Witness said he had heard of Policeman Toohey's death the morning after it occurred. The morning of that day he (witness) was going to work in Port Huron at 8 o'clock.

Q.-Did you see a one-legged man?

Q.-Where was he? A.-He was standing against the door of the boiler room about 7:30 a.m. Q .- Could you say whether the prisoner is the man? A .- He is the identical man.

Q .- Did you see him again that day? Witness said he had seen the prisoner in company with a companion, shorter than Marion Brown was. They both washed in the boiler room. Witness again saw the prisoner from the eastern summit of the tunnel at Sarnia. Prisoner was sitting on the bank of a ditch parallel with the Sarnia branch track. He was dressed in dark clothes and wore a black slouch hat.

The witness then pointed to the hat lying on the court table (the one found on the night of the murder), and said, "It was one like that."

Mr. McPhillips put the witness through a long cross-examination. Witness could not say what day of the week it was when he heard of the murder, and did not remember the month. He described the prisoner as he appeared on the morning he had seen him. Witness had seen a picture of the peg-leg in the papers and remarked at the time that it was a pretty good picture of the one-legged man he had seen at Sarnia the day Toohey was shot. He had not read the description of the man in the paper. He had seen many tramps on the railroad, as he had been fifteen years an engineer.

Q.-And you see many colored ones? A.—No—very few black ones.
Witness had not seen the prisoner from the time he was at the tunnel four months ago until today in the court room. Q .- You will positively swear that this is the man you saw at Sarnia, be-yond a shadow of a doubt? A.—I will positively ewear that this is the man saw in the boiler-room at Port Huron, and to whom I said "Good morning," on the morning of the day the policeman was shot in London, beyond all doubt. I could pick him out of ten

Q.—Did you ever hear that song, that "All niggers look alike?" A.—No; niggers don't look alike.

Q .- So you don't believe the words of that song? A.-No, because I lived three years among them.

Witness was positive about seeing the prisoner at Sarnia some time near noon, because he came ever on the dairy train, and that went over about noon. He was positive about the left leg being off, and thought the first time he saw prisoner that the latter was a man of very great misfortune.

WILLIAM YOUNG. William Young, G. T. R. roadmaster at Sarnia, said the morning of he day on which Toohey was shot, he (wit-

While thus en-gaged, witness saw a one-legged man drop from between two freight care; the man was a short distance away, and jumped into an empty box car on the train that was made up, ready to be pulled through the tunnel. Witnees shouted at the tramp, and told him he would be arrested if he went to the other (the Canadian) side. The prithe other (the Canadian) side. The prisoner wore dark clothes, a soft black hat, and a tlight-colored shirt.

Cross-examined by Mr. McPhillips, witness said he had seen many trampe like the prisoner. Witness was quite positive that Brown was the one-legged tramp he saw. His general appearance impressed witness. By this, witness said he meant the peg-leg, and the FAGGED OUT .- None but those who have become fagged out know what a dépressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

Over Ten Years Ago-Now Judge Finkle May Get Back His Own.

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 25.-Judge Finkle left yesterday for Missouri, where he hopes to establish proof that one George C. Miller, at one time of Tilsonburg, is dead.

His honor holds insurance policies to the extent of $15,000 on Miller's life, and will benefit to this amount if Miller's death can be established. Miller was at one time in partnership with Judge Finkle in the lumber business. In 1887 he left the country suddenly, and the judge lost considerable money through the alleged dishonest transactions of his partner. As security the judge has held ever since the insurance policies, but despite the expenditure of much time and money, Miller could never be located.

About a month ago Father Brady, of London, found what are supposed to be proofs that Miller died recently in Geneva, Mo.

CITY ASSESSOR WESTCOTT DEAD

Mr. William A. Westcott Passes Away After an Illnoss of Six Weeks--A Prominent Citizen Gone.

Mr. William A. Westcott, city assessor, died at an early hour this morning, after an illness of six weeks. This ready. sad news, though not altogether unexpected, will come as a great shock to Mr. Westcott's many friends and to citizens generally, who knew deceased to be a man of sterling worth. Six weeks ago Mr. Westcott contracted a cold, which developed into typhoid fever. This, with an abscess on the liver, caused death. Deceased was 45 years of age, and came to this country some 24 years ago from Devonshire, England, where he was born. He settled in this city, where he had ever since resided. Deceased had been city assessor at periods for some seven or eight years, and was assessor for South London before that place was amalgamated with the city. Previous to that time he followed the calling of a bricklayer and contractor. Mr. Westcott was a member of Court Pride of the Dominion, A. O. F., and also a member of the Masonic Order. He was an earnest worker in the Askin Street Methodist Church, having been a trustee and steward for a number of years. Mrs. Westcott survives, also a brother, Mr. Thomas Westcott, of Pottersburg, and a brother and two sisters in the old country. A sister of deceased died about a month ago in Devonshire, England. The funeral will take place on Friday from deceased's late residence, 43 Bruce street, to the Askin Street Methodist Church, and thence to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

A DINNER PILL.-Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

HAVERLY'S AMERICAN - EURO-PEAN MINSTRELS.

The Napoleonic touch of Col. J. H. Haverly left its indelible impress on minstrelsy years ago. The outcome was a strong impression on the public, and even up to the present time it is as strong as ever, and has not dwindled in the slightest; in fact, it can be said that the popularity of the American-European Minstrels has increased. There must be reason for such lasting popularity, and that is, that the public can, and have always put faith in the "Haverlys," which is, in their eyes, a tried and true organization of superior merit. As each year goes by, they look for the coming of the Haverly Minstrels as they look forward to a holiday, and each visit is more pleasantly remembered. Once again the announcement is made for their appearance, and everything points to packed houses. This (Tuesday) evening the amusement lovers of London will have the pleasure of witnessing the great Haverly Minstrels and all the old fa-

Strained Relations But No Open Breach -Mayor Wilson Has a Chat With Mr. Carr and Ugly Possibilities Are Discussed.

Troops Summoned to Disperse the Mob -Brisson Called Upon to Resign-Bitter Feeling Over the Dreyius

Paris, Oct. 25 .- Gen. Chanounine, minister of war, resigned today in the tribune of the Chamber of Deputies. There was considerable disorder about the approaches of the Palais Bourbon when MM. Dorouledo, Millevoyo and other deputies arrived, accompanied by a crowd of supporters. Members of the League of Patriots, who were crossing the Place de la Concorde, shouted,"Vive l'Armee," and the republican guards were obliged to clear a passage.

A RIOT. A conflict with the police soon occurred. A band of anti-Semites attacked and injured a commissioner of police with loaded sticks. The ringleader, M. Gourin, president of the anti-Semitic League, was arrested.

M. Drumont, the anti-Semitic leader, then arrived, and there were further disturbances, cries of "Down with the Jews," and cheering for France. TROOPS CALLED ON.

A detachment of cuirassiers charged and dispersed the mob. Several arrests were made. The session of the Chamber of Deputies had no sooner opened than M. Deroulde made a violent attack upon the minister of war, Gen. Chanounine, whereupon the latter grose and explained the conditions under which he accepted the portfolio. In so doing, he declared that he was of the same opinion as his predecessors, evidently referring to the question of reopening the Dreyfus case, a remark which was greeted with cheers and protests, the uproar lasting five minutes. the Marquis of Salisbury had made it clear that Major Marchand must quit Fashoda without conditions, adding: "Until that is done, there can be no discussion of the French claims in Africa." Continuing, the Globe points out the significant announcement in Gen. Kitchener's report that he sent gunboats south from Sobat, towards Meshra-or-rek, the principal trading center of the Bahr-El-Ghazel, with instructions to establish necessary outposts, and that before he left Sobat he completed arrangements for the maintenance of these stations. The Globe then adds: "This move brings our position to the eighth parallel of north latitude, and the valley of the Bahr-El-Ghazel at this moment is under the rule of the khedive. It will be intertion upon the French Government."

The Westminster Gazette suggests a solution that the French be granted "way leave" and "enclave," for commercial purposes in the Bahr-El-Ghazel district. THE BRIDE OF THE DARRAN

She never could recollect afterwards how the rest of that afternoon passed away. The organ continued to send forth heavenly strains, of that she was sure, and there came into the church three young ladies, whom she knew, and they seemed smiling and cheerful. About the font they twined ivy, and white hot-house roses—these last from The Darran—a scarlet camelia gleamed here and there among them; holly and laurel, and other evergreens decorated the altar railings.

The Misses Longmore chatted gaily; but Catherine knew they did not men-tion Oliver till she was preparing to leave the church. Then Elenor, the eldest girl, whispered to her:

You have quarreled with Mr. Leslie. I think you will be sorry for it, Catherine. Glanpaith will turn out a fortune. They are going into the pit tonightseveral gentlemen and engineers—and Oliver Leslie is to be with them. He came into the house, and told me you were waiting in the church; but he in the flesh, dressed carelessly and refused to return himself." 'Mr. Leslie is a contemptible person," said Catherine. Elenor stared.

"I do not understand you," she said, a little bitterly. "I hope I shall never understand the art of playing with a me. Good-bye now, Miss Hilliard; I Catherine." must go in to tea. We dine early, you know. I hope Mr. Leslie will stay."
An idea loomed dimly before Catherine's distressed mind-a vague, inarticulate doubt of the truth of the story about the widow; but before she could ask another question, Elenor and the other sisters had said their adieux and hastened out, and Catherine was obliged to go shivering over the bridge, through the village, across the steep, hilly park of The Darran, and so on house,

She was tired now and she called Martha to assist her in dressing or the dinner hour. She hardly spoke a word the whole time. She wore a cream-colored silk that evening, and a single scarlet camelia in her raven hair. The guests were only some old friends of the Crosbys, who had been engaged in mining concerns for years.

As they sat at the dessert these elderly men began to talk of the Glanpaith mine, and of the rich vein of coal "And if so," said one, "poor young eslie will have a fortune, after all."

"Hush!" whispered another gentlethat they believed had been discovered. man, who had heard of Catherine's love affair. But the first speaker was deaf, and did not hear the warning voice. "And, lately, a rich young widow has made love to him," continued the fussy old bachelor. "Oh! we know all about it," cried out Mrs. Crosby, in excitement.

How eager the lady was. Catherine was astonished at the flush on the cheeks of Mrs. Crosby. How eager she seemed to stop the old gentleman's tale!

"Beg your pardon, ma'am, but I know for a fact that a Mrs.Munro, the widow of a rich soap boiler of Birmingham, actually wrote to young Oliver, and offered to settle eight thousand a year on him, and he refused, though with great politeness and courtesy; and he told her she was a charming lady, but that his heart and his love were given to a young lady, without whom life would be valueless to him. Now I happen to know, because Mrs. Munro is a friend of my daughter's, and she actually showed her the letter. She is such a merry, bonny sort of woman!" Catherine looked across at her adopted mother, oh! with such wild, piteous, beautiful eyes, that the lady rose, left the room, and the gir! followed, and found her in the drawing-room. "Mamma-mamma, why did you tell me that falsehood?" "Catherine!" "Falsehood, mamma! I have no softer, more refined word to speak of a story that has broken my heart. Listen; if Oliver will forgive me, I will marry him, if I have to live in a garret." "Pray, don't ask me to visit you nere," said Mrs. Crosby, scornfully.

"I believed what I told you. Marsden told me." "Marsden?-your gossiping maid! Oh, Catherine dreamed wild dreams all night. At 8 o'clock came a rap at her door. Martha entered with a cup of coffee on a tray, and a pale face. "Oh, miss, this will be a sad Christmas at Pontivor. Part of the Glan-paith has fallen in and crushed five men to death last night."

He had not been in the mine when the five unfortunates met their death. He had gone up to London by express without saying a word to anybody and his friends, the Longmores, thought he was in the mine. Fortunately a cou-sin of his met him in Fleet street the day before, and told him that he was reported dead, and also that the beautiful Catherine Hilliard was distracted with grief because she had quarreled with him: and then somehow or other Oliver's eyes were opened, and he felt that Catherine had been deceived in some way.

Mrs. Crosby was icy, but polite. That was a solemnly happy Christmas to Catherine and to Oliver.

WHAT NEXT? Toronto, Oct. 25.-At a meeting of the Methodist Ministerial Association, Rev. E. S. Rowe read an interesting paper on "The Plebiscit; What Next?" The speaker maintained that the system of taking the recent plebiscit was incorrect. Had the vote been taken separately in the constituency, the result would have been an overwhelming defeat against the traffic. He advocated the prohibition of the retail sale of liquors, but did not think that the prohibitionists should legislate against a man's dining-room. In the speaker's opinion the temperance party need not expect proper legislation until there was a prohibition government.

is insidious, and men do not realize that they are in its clutch. While consumption they are in its clutch. While consumption is a germ disease, the bacilli will not invade sound and healthy lungs. The lungs must first be in a diseased condition.

First a man feels a little out of sorts. Probably he is overworked and has given too little time to eating, sleeping and resting. His appetite falls off. His digestion gets out of order and his blood does not receive the proper amount of life-giving receive the proper amount of life-giving nutriment. The liver becomes torpid and the blood is filled with impurities. These are pumped into every organ of the body, building up unhealthy, half-dead tissues. The most harm is done at the weakest spot, and most frequently that spot is in the lungs. A slight cold leads to inflamma-tion, the bacilli invade the lungs and we Ninety-eight per cent, of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It restores the lost appetite, makes the digestion perfect, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, builds new and healthy flesh and dives out all impurities and disease germs. drives out all impurities and disease germs.

It cures weak lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate coughs and kindred ailments. No honest druggist will recommend a substitute. Mrs. Ursula Dunham, of Sistersville, Tyler Co., W. Va., writes: "I had a pain in my side all the time, had but little appetite and grew very thin. The 'Golden Medical Discovery' promptly cured the pain, restored my appetite and increased my weight."

Important Decision of the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Law Knows No Difference Between a Big Combine and a Little One.

Washington, Oct. 25 .- The United States supreme court has decided the Joint Traffic Association railroad case in favor of the United States and against the railroads. The case is considered one of the most important Pontivor was in an uproar. Oh, what that has ever come before the supreme court, not only to the railroads, but Catherine sat in a stupor in her to the general public, because of the room. Nothing seemed to rouse her; vast railway properties represented by now and then she wept a few tears; the Traffic Association. The association dull, dumb sorrow.

It was Christmas Eve. Martha entered her room with a tray. Catherine branches. The purpose of the association, as stated in the article of agree-"Miss Catherine, this is Christmas ment, was "to establish and maintain reasonable and just rates, fares, rules and regulations on state and interstate traffic

A similar association, on a smaller scale, was established among southern roads, known as the Trans-Missouri Association. The association was scon attacked in the courts on the "Oh, yes, you did—yes, you did, only ground that they were in violation of you will not tell me the truth. Let the Sherman anti-trust law and also me know-let me see him-let me touch of the interstate commerce law. The Trans-Missouri case reached the susociation was illegal, being in effect a combination in restraint of trade and commerce.

Although the Missouri case was considered somewhat of a test, yet the Joint Traffic Association prepared to make a stubborn contenst in support of its existence. The case against it was begun on Jan. 7, 1896, in the United States circuit court, southern district of New York, the United States being complainant and the attorneygeneral directing its course. The case went against the government in the lower courts, the circuit court dismissing the bill, and the court of appeals affirming the dismissal. The government appealed to the United States supreme court, the main contention of the government being that the traffic agreement is a combination to prevent competition, thus constituting a contract in restraint of Judge Peckham announced the decision. He said the court could distinguish no difference between this case and that of the Missouri case a year ago. Under this judgment today the decision of the circuit court of the southern district of New York and of the court of appeals are reversed.

A BIG BLAZE

Vessel With a Valuable Cargo Eurned at Her Dock in New York.

New York, Oct. 25 .- One of the most destructive fires that has occurred in Brooklyn for two years occurred yesterday afternoon at pier 39, East River, and did damage to the amount of half a million dollars.

Pier 39 adjoins the naval stores of George L. Hammond, extending from Coffee to Walcott streets. At pier 39 durability. These Diamond Dyes poswas lying, discharging a cargo, composed principally of jute butts, saltpetre, shellac and raw silk. Just how the fire originated is as yet unknown. Among the heaviest losers is George L. Hammond, owner of the naval stores, which is placed at $100,000, and said to be fully covered by insurance. The Andorhena is owned by Frank W. Roberts, of Liverpool, England, and valued at $300,000. The blazing vessel was towed down to the Gowanis Flats, and will probably prove a total loss. The Brooklyn Wharf and Warehouse Company, according to the best estimates, will lose $150,000.

LAUGHED IN THE WRONG PLACE

Miss Lorraine Hollis Wanted To Be Permitted to Die in Silence.

Brantford Expositor: Miss Hollis and her company who played a week's engagement at the Duncombe Opera House recently, presented Dumas' drama, "Camille," at the Brantford Opera House Friday evening.

The circumstance, says the Brantford Expositor, were not propitious, and the interest lagged somewhat. The gods did not appreciate the most effective passages. Several of the best situations were quite destroyed by illtimed and impertinent laughter from the galleries, and this led to an unusual incident. Just before the curtain rose for the last act, Miss Hollis stepped before the drop and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have to apologize for attempting to make a speech, as I am only accustomed to speaking lines which are written for me by others. But I have been greatly, and, I must say, deeply annoyed by the interruptions from the gallery, and must request silence during the next act. I am not used to this treatment, and last night's audience was so respectful and lovely that I feel impelled to speak thus. The ladies and gentlemen who are here have shown appreciation, and from all others I must demand silence, at least, in this scene, which is trying to me."

THE APPLE CROP

In the United States Is Away Behind the Average-Short in Ontario and in Europe.

Chicago, Oct. 25.-The Orange Judd Farmer tomorrow will say: The apple crop of the United States is smaller than it has been since reliable statistics have been completed. The whole crop for 1898 of the United States is ,700,000 barrels, compared with something over 40,000,000 last year and 70,-000,000 in the record breaking crop of

The failure is widespread, reaching from the Pacific coast to Maine, and in none oif the states does the output of fruit approach an average. In the great apple-growing states of the west, the crop is almost a dead failure, although in the State of Michigan the outlook is better, having about two-thirds of the crop of 1896. New York has about one-fifth of a full crop. The failure is attributed to the fact that during the blooming season The failure is attributed to the Unfortunate Trampers Over the Trail Have a Tough Time.

Ottawa, Oct. 25 .- Col. Domville, M. P. for King's, N. B., in an interview, declared that the Klondike is as attractive and flourishing as ever. Victoria, B. C., Oct. 25,-The steamer City of Seattle has arrived with nearly three hundred miners from Klondike and Copper River. Ten members of the Glenn Government exploration party reached the coast from Copper River, and report that the Copper River clpean-up amounts to $50,000. THIS IS DIFFERENT. Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25. - T. A. Baker, of Portland, Ore., who has arrived from Alaska, says at Skaguay he met Henry Mitchell and wife, of Goldendale, and George Lefevre, of Spokane, Wash., who left Spokane by the overland route. When they started they had 20,000 pounds of provisions and 21 horses. Now they have nothing. All their supplies and animals were lost, and they consider themselves fortunate in having escaped with their lives. They saw provisions scattered along the trail from the time they were well up in the interior until they left for the coast, and found several graves of those who had perished in attempting to reach the gold fields. Several times they lost their way, and it was only by good fortune that the trail was found again. After traveling several hundred miles and perceiving that it was useless to attempt to get through by keeping to the regular route, they made directly for the coast, going down one of the rivers to the south of Skaguay.

Highest Home Endorsement

Shiloh's Consumption Cure was successfully introduced by a leading physician, Dr. Brutus Shiloh, fifty years ago, and is now recognized as the leading remedy of the world for all affections of the throat and lungs. It arrests the ravages of the germs of consumption by destroying them, confining the disease to a limited area of the lung and setting up a healing process which causes the sore parts to get well and cicatrize. That it is possible to arrest the breaking down of the lung tissues, and enable a patient to live has been fully proved by post-mortem examinations of persons who have died at advanced ages from entirely different diseases. An eminent physician who had in the course of his practice made post-mortem examinations of at least a hundred women past sixty years of age, found that fifty of them had at some time in their lives suffered from consumption.

The following letter contains the highest possible home

endorsement of Shiloh's Cure: Messrs. S. C. Wells Co., Le Roy, N. Y .:

GENTLEMEN:-Three weeks ago I contracted a severe cold which settled in my throat and bronchial tubes, giving evidence of a siege liable to last for months, as my previous colds had always affected me. More as an experiment than anything else, I decided to try Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure, and with most gratifying results. The first bottle dislodged the enemy; the second entirely expelled it from my system; and it is with sincere belief in its efficacy that I add my testimony to that of many others in its favor. SUCCESSOR TO COL. LINDSAY

Major A. M. Smith in Command of the Seventh.

An Important Step Taken by the Reorganization Committee-The New Commander an Efficient Officer and Popular Citizen.

The new commanding officer of the Seventh Fusiliers will be Major A. M. Smith. The appointment was made yesterday afternoon by the reorganization committee, and will, no doubt, be officially confirmed in due course. The committee who waited on Major Smith during the past few days were much pleased when he consented to assume the command. He is an efficient officer, and one of the best-known citizens of London. His military career begun in the Seventh a quarter of a century ago, when he was com-missioned ensign. He remained with the battalion until after the rebellion of 1885, rising, in the meantime, to the rank of major. Major Smith will enter upon his duties at an early date. A deputation from the Seventh, composed of Major Hayes, Surgeon Piper and Capt. Kingsmill, attended yesterday's meeting and gave the assurance that the officers of the battalion were prepared to act heartily in conjunction with the committee. So much depends upon the purity of the blood that by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla many different diseases fit of Workingmen-Meeting in East End Town Hall.

The first meeting of the "Workingmen's Co-operative Store was held in the East End Town Hall on Saturday evening, Oct. 22. The meeting was not a very large one, owing no doubt to the want of advertising and to a mistake as to the lighting of the hall. At 9 p.m., Mr. Walter Smith, the promoter of this society, opened the meeting by introducing his scheme, which he gave in detail. He also read out the account of the 32nd half yearly meeting of the "Haverhill Industrial Co-operative Society" of England, kindly lent by Mr. B. Ashplant, was celebrated by one of the most of the originators of this society which was started some sixteen years ago. This society was started with but five members, and a capital of $25 only, the population of the town being under 5,000. The success of this society was far beyond all expectations, shown in their report of April 19, 1898. The amount received for goods is £12,-955 11s 6½d, or $64,777, being an increase over the last half year of £1,761 6s 6d, or $8,806, realizing a net profit of £1,758 17s 6d, or $8,794. Smith states that this society is composed of purely workingmen only. He advised his hearers to stick together like their brothers in England, and finally added that with push, pluck and energy, they would be able to carry this movement through.

Mr. Fred Forsyth indorsed all that the promoter had said, a motion that effect being seconded by Mr. Fred.
