The British Postal Telegraph Department Losing Money—Eight Persons Killed and Twenty Wounded at a Bull Fight.

NOT COMING TO CANADA.

LONDON, March 7.—The general emigration from Great Britain continued to increase in February, but emigration to Canada declined one-fourth as compared with last year.

TRAGIC SEQUEL TO A BULL FIGHT. MEXICO CITY, Mexico, March 7.—Eight persons were killed and twenty wounded yesterday in the destruction of a bull ring at Puebla during a riot started because a spectator was dissatisfied with the class of bulls furnished for fighting.

THE FRIESLAND AFLOAT.

LONDON, March 7.—A dispatch to Lloyd's from Port Said says the steamer Friesland, which went aground as she was leaving that port, has been floated. The cargo, which was discharged to lighten her, will be reloaded at once, and her steering gear repaired when the vessel will proceed.

THE BILL DOOMED.

BERLIN, March 7.—A mass meeting of the Deutsche Reform Verein was held in Leichterfeld today. Deputy Boeckle announced that the Government would certainly withdraw the Anti-Revolution Bill in consequence of the fact that the Government was unable to concede the demands being made by the parties holding the fate of the measure in their hands.

A CROOKED FAILURE.

LONDON, March 7.—The bankruptcy court today decided that many of the liabilities of the firm of Wynn & Son, solicitors, whose failure for from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 was announced on Tuesday, are breaches of trust. An inquiry into the transactions of the firm will be necessary, and criminal proceedings may follow.

A RUINOUS FAILURE.

BERLIN, March 7.—The greatest excitement has been created in Parchim by the failure of the Mecklenburg Credit Bank at that place. Hundreds of depositors have been ruined, and the People's Savings Bank, a small concern, and two large commercial houses have failed in consequence of the collapse of the Credit Bank.

BRITISH NAVY ESTIMATES.

LONDON, March 7.—The navy estimates for the ensuing year are $35,500,000, being $5,670,000 in excess of the estimates for 1894. The increase of the naval budget is due to the size of the ship-building programme for the financial year. This programme calls for four first class, two second class and two third class cruisers, twenty torpedo boats and twenty torpedo destroyers.

A ROCKY REMINDER.

BERLIN, March 7.—An iron tablet bearing Bismarck's name in gold letters is to be erected on April 1 on the Mittenberg, a granite rock 40 feet high in the Glat Mountains, and the rock will be rechristened the Bismarckstein. The Prince recently received a deputation of students at the Friedrichsruhe Castle, and presented to them a silhouette portrait of himself as a Goettingen student.

LONDON, March 7.—The Dutch steamer Rotterdam, Captain Roggevan, from Shields, for New York, is ashore at Blyth.

DOESN'T PAY.

LONDON, March 7.—The estimates submitted to the House of Commons for the operation of the British postal telegraph department for the year ending March 31, 1895, shows a growing deficiency. The actual deficiency for the previous year was $2,400,000. This amount included $1,500,000, the annual interest charges on stock credit for the purchase of telegraphs. The deficit of the current year, including the same charges, is estimated to be $2,700,000, or an increase of $300,000, although the gross receipts from telegraphs are expected to show an increase of $450,000.

STUBBORN STAND.

LONDON, March 7.—A telegram from Tokio confirms the report of the capture of the city of New Chwang by the first army, under Gen. Nodzu. The old town of New Chwang was taken by assault after thirteen hours of hard fighting, the Chinese offering a stubborn resistance. Within the town itself 1,850 Chinese were killed, and 500 surrendered. Large quantities of war material were captured, including sixteen cannon. The Japanese lost 206 killed and wounded.

A later dispatch from the front says that at 8 o'clock on the morning of March 4 a force of 10,000 Chinese, under Gen. Lung, advanced upon Taping Shang, but were repulsed by the fire of the Japanese artillery. The Chinese retreated before noon. The Japanese sustained no loss.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

LONDON, March 7.—Sir Ellis Ashmeade-Bartlett, M.P., has sent the Pall Mall Gazette a copy of a letter which he addressed to the Daily Telegraph concerning the recent news from Armenia. On Feb. 28 the Telegraph printed a "special dispatch," dated Moosh, Feb. 27, and supposed to have been sent to Kars by a courier and to have been telegraphed thence. The former story of the Armenian massacre was told with some additions as to the slaughter of 300 Armenians by Turks and the packing of the bodies in a pit. Sir Ellis says that something is radically wrong with this correspondence. No person could get from Moosh to Kars in three days, especially at this time of the year. He challenges the Telegraph to submit the original telegram to three independent experts in his presence.

He cites also an instance in which the Telegraph, on the 11th, printed a Turkish dispatch, purporting to have left Moosh on the 10th. Sir Ellis says he has taken these steps to expose the facts because he believes there is a mischievous conspiracy in progress to vilify and injure Turkey, regardless of the truth.

Sir Edward Grey, Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, has promised to communicate the telegraph dispatch dated Feb. 27 to the British member of the commission of inquiry, that he may report on its credibility.

CANADIAN CLAIMS ON BERING SEA MONEY.

LONDON, March 7.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Henry Gardner, President of the Board of Agriculture, promised that the Government would make an inquiry into the alleged packing of diseased meat in Chicago for export to England.

Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, replied to the questions asked by Sir Richard Webster yesterday as to what steps the Government proposed taking in regard to the settlement of claims for seizure of sealing vessels in Bering Sea, in view of the growing dissatisfaction in Canada at the delay. Sir Edward said it was a fact that the arbitration commission had decided against the United States upon the legal question of the seizures, and it was also a fact that the House of Representatives in Washington had rejected a proposal to appropriate money for compensation for sealers whose vessels had been seized. No representations, he said, had as yet been received from Canada in regard to the matter. Secretary Gresham had informed the British Minister at Washington that the United States Government was ready to resume negotiations, but that the matter must be submitted to the Senate and confirmed by a two-thirds majority of that body. The Secretary said could not be done until the Senate resumed its sessions. Secretary Gresham expressed his own deep regret and that of President Cleveland at the unexpected position of affairs and the impossibility of preventing the unfortunate delay in discharging the obligations of the United States respecting these claims.

Sir George Baden Powell asked if in the event of the United States not paying these claims for some time the Government would advance the required sum to the sealers.

Mr. Sydney Buxton answered that the Government must consider that question.

ELGIN ASSIZES.

The Welter-Hendershott Murder Trial Opened.

It Took Four Hours to Secure a Jury—An Affecting Scene in Court.

ST. THOMAS, March 7.—The case of the Queen vs. Wm. Bell occupied the attention of the court this forenoon. The prisoner is charged with criminal assault on Mrs. G. Smith. The prisoner and the victim's husband were both teamsters, and were both intoxicated on the night when the alleged crime was committed. Bell looked Smith in a barn and went into Smith's house, pretending to be the victim's husband. After 45 minutes' absence the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged. The judge in discharging him said the jury had taken a merciful view of his case, and that whether guilty or not guilty he would profit by the lesson and abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors. Had it not been that the husband of the prosecutrix and himself were drinking together the charge would never have been laid against him.

THE MURDER TRIAL. W. D. Welter and John A. Hendershott were placed upon trial for the murder of Wm. Hendershott on Dec. 14 last. The prisoners looked more at ease than when they were first arraigned, and took their place in the dock with great composure.

The work of empanelling a jury occupied over four hours, and was not finished until the time for adjournment had arrived.

The courtroom was filled long before the hour of opening the court, and the guards at the bottom of the stairs during the afternoon turned away hundreds.

An affecting scene was created just after the court adjourned by Rosa Hendershott, daughter of the prisoner Hendershott, who ran to her father, and throwing her arms around his neck, clung to him for some moments, weeping bitterly.

Mr. Osler will give his opening address at 9:30 tomorrow morning, after which the evidence will be proceeded with at once.

THE CUBAN REVOLT.

Summed Demand for the U. S. Minister's Recall Discredited.

I had tried various remedies but did not receive any benefit when I was recommended by a druggist to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have taken two bottles and feel like a new man. LIABLE TO BE MISUNDERSTOOD.

Liable to misunderstanding are such interesting adornments of shop windows as "Superior butter, one shilling per lb. Nobody can touch it"—probably not—or the tempting notice of the dealer in cheap shirts, "They won't last long at this price." Worse still was the advertisement which appeared in the window of a cheap restaurant: "Dine here, and you will never dine anywhere else." The vendors of this restaurant must have been almost as deadly and unerring in their effect as the whisky known as "forty rod" in the Western States, because that was the distance beyond which no drinker could walk after his imbibition.—Cornhill Magazine.

HUGH LOVELESS

Majority 37!

Sir Oliver Mowat's Administration Still Survives!

A Pretty Healthy Showing on the First Division.

The Conservative Amendment Comfortably Committed to the Deep.

'Special to the "Advertiser."

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, March 7.

The Conservatives tried their strength with the Government tonight, and they also made an effort to enlist the Patrons on their side; but the attempt was not encouraging, for the result of the first division of the new House recorded a majority for the Government of 37, the Patrons adhering solidly to the Government's view of the case.

It was on the fee system that the Conservatives made the effort, springing an amendment in the course of the afternoon. The Government naturally refused to declare its policy until the report of the fees commission came down, and Mr. Haycock endorsed this stand, holding that the amendment was simply an attempt by the Conservatives to get their aid.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The debate was opened by Mr. Whitney—Mr. Martine's able lieutenant—who made a speech which, while containing the usual assaults upon the surplus and a fairly new version of the Opposition's position regarding the public and high schools, was chiefly remarkable for his declaration that in his last election he had been compelled to defend the Government, and more especially the Premier, from the vicious attacks of his opponent. This was one of the rather numerous indications which have been afforded that the spirit between the parties this session is much more friendly than it was a year ago.

This change for the better was commented upon by Mr. Garrow, who Huron's able representative, who contributed to the debate a clever reply to the Opposition's attacks upon high school expenditure.

THE AMENDMENT. Then came the amendment, which was moved by Dr. Willoughby, the Conservative whip, at the end of a speech in which he declared he had faith in the fees commission at all, and consequently, without waiting for it, he would take the sense of the House upon the whole question. The amendment as he moved it was:

"That in the opinion of this House the present mode of paying registrars, unsatisfactory; that such officials should be paid by salary, such salary to be commensurate with the duties performed, and the surplus fees, if any, should be funded for the benefit of the municipalities."

THE PREMIER SPEAKS. Sir Oliver Mowat's reply to the proposal, which was delivered immediately after dinner, was clear and emphatic. After pointing out that the rules of the House prevented any amendment to the amendment being made, so that the vote must be taken yes or no upon the amendment as presented, he said:

"I have brought in a resolution which, in the strongest manner that this House can make, is intended to embarrass the Government and members of the House. Late in the session a motion might be made, to bring up a matter which otherwise would not come up in the ordinary course of the business of the House; but there was no such compulsion here, for the commissioners' report was already in print. It would have been presented, and would have to be debated later on. In any case, he said, the Government wanted the information before it could determine its policy. 'For my part,' said Sir Oliver, 'I intend to vote against it, and I refuse to be considered as expressing any opinion whatever upon the subject.'

MR. HARDY HEARD FROM. Dr. Ryerson and Mr. Little spoke for the Conservatives after Sir Oliver Mowat's declaration, and Mr. Chapple for the Liberals.

Then Hon. Mr. Hardy gave a detailed and able defense of his amendment against the attacks of the Opposition upon it, meeting their strictures in his own effective way.

Next Mr. Haycock spoke and outlined the policy of the Patrons. He had proposed, in speaking upon the address, that the Patrons would wait for the Government to bring down the amendment, and they intended to adhere to their promise. They did not believe in the fees commission, he said, but as it had been held, and as the money had been spent upon it, they might as well get what value they could from it. The Conservatives, he charged, were trying to use the Patrons as a weapon wherewith to break the Government, and he said—

"alluding to Mr. Howland's celebrated figure of speech—they were neither plows nor harrows, nor yet threshing machines to be used against the Government."

THE FIRST DIVISION.

This settled the main question of how the vote was going to go, and after a short speech from Mr. Kerns, the vote was taken at 11:30, and the result 62 against 25 for "indefinite postponement," which was thus defeated by 37.

Messrs. Brower and McNish were paired, Messrs. Gurd and McCallum, the P. A. party, voted with the Opposition, and Mr. Hagarty, the Independent, with the Government, while Messrs. Biggar and Middleton were absent.

NOTES.

The brewers and maltsters sent a deputation to the Government this afternoon, headed by Mr. James Lottridge, the president of their association. Their request was in effect that a system of five years' license be established.

Sir Oliver Mowat's reply was not very comforting, he telling them that it was unlikely that any legislation dealing with the matter would be introduced.

With Invalids.

Yes! with invalids the appetite is capricious and needs coaxing. That is just the reason they improve so rapidly under Scott's Emulsion, which is as palatable as cream.

A Michigan newspaper, in recording a marriage the other day, added that "the bride is a member of eight secret societies, several clubs and one or two missionary bands."

BELL'S PHOTOPHONE

HOW TELEPHONING MAY BE DONE WITHOUT A WIRE.

A New Wrinkle in Material Science Is Very Much in the Line of the—

How the Feet Is Performed Over of Light.

In the last few years, in connection with Mr. Proctor's experiments, and otherwise, we have heard deal about telegraphing without wires. In the latter, apparatus invented by Bell, the author of the photophone, is described in a recent number of Light.

The light emanating from a source, L, is passed through a lens, and falls upon the mirror, B, which they are reflected to a parabolic mirror, E, in whose focus is placed a piece of eum, E. The selenium forms part of the circuit of the telephone, T, opening a battery, F.

The mirror B is composed of a vda sheet of glass or mica, silvered on its, and mounted so as to vibrate like a phone diaphragm when a person is into the mouthpiece, C, behind it. When the tones of the voice cause diaphragm to bulge forward, the reflected toward D will diverge slightly instead of being parallel, and less light be concentrated upon E; but while the other stage of any vibrations, these is rendered concave, the rays converge, and more light will be thrown upon the selenium. As the electrical conductivity of this remarkable substance varies in proportion to the amount of light which it is subjected, the intensity of the telephone current will be modulated, and the telephone itself will wistfully reproduce the words uttered in mouthpiece C. It is not stated as great a distance this apparatus will transmit, but it will be seen that therein a of light takes the place of the ordinary metallic connections between the instruments.

Since Bell accomplished the results described, Mr. Perry says, Tainter has substituted soot for the selenium, ane-pensed with the battery altogether, g instead of the ordinary telephone receiver, the two-pronged hearing tube, by as of which one listens to a phonograph. As so constructed, Mercader calls this instrument a "radiophone." In the apparatus perfected by Richards, a pearl burned cork in a bulb at the end of a small glass tube is placed in the focus E, and the other end of the glass tube meets with the rubber hearing tube. It is well-known that when light falls upon a substance which does not reflect all rays, that which is absorbed is turned into heat. Of course lusterless black is a absorbent. In the radiophone the fluctuations of light intensity are attended rapid but minute alterations of temperature. The heat received expands both particles of carbon and the air in the tubes; and the cooling contracts it. This compression and rarefaction is been found adequate to excite sound in the adjacent air in the glass e although articulate speech is not yet faithfully reproduced.

Here, There and Everywhere.

VOLUNTARY offerings to the amount of £5,650,490 were received by the Church of England during the year ending Easter, 1894, while its income from other sources was £3,350,000. The income of the church in Wales, which it is substance, was £186,046, and the contributions, £43.

MIRZA HASSAN SHIRAZI, who died recently at Samarkand in Persia, was the age of 82, was the head of the Shi'ite division of Mohammedans, and a powerful enough to break down the tobacco monopoly, established four years ago by the Persian Government, by simply interdicting the use of tobacco; all true believers until the monopoly was abolished.

FRANCE'S single volcano has been unusually active during the cold weather. It is a low, broad hill, 400 feet high, near Decazeville, in the department of the Aveyron. The crater sends out thick clouds of smoke, and burning lava is seen at the bottom of the craters. If a stick is thrust into it, it catches fire, and sparks, and sometimes flame come from the hole. Since 1870 the hill has never been so active as now.

HINTON ST. GEORGE, the Somersetshire estate of Earl Poulett, is offered for sale. The earl is the lineal representative of Sir Amias Poulett, the jail of Mary, Queen of Scots, and is father to Viscount Hinton, who grinds the oil in the London streets. The estate comprises over 10,000 acres, the old castle, a large house, and a park of 1,200 acres. It contains a picture gallery with 620 paintings, some by Rubens, Correggio, Murillo, Rembrandt and Van Dyck. Everything is in perfect order, and for it all, pictures, furniture and heirlooms included, $3,000,000 are asked.

THE Norddeutscher Lloyd is the largest steamship company in the world, its vessels measuring 15,000 tons more than the Peninsular and Oriental, which comes next. It began in 1855 by running three small steamers between Bremen and England, and three years later opened a line to New York. It has now 22 lines, including two to South America, five to eastern Asia, and one to Australia. It has 52 steamers, with a total of 242,367 tons. Of the other great companies the Peninsular and Oriental steamers measure 27,000 tons; the Navigation Company, 191,037; the Messageries Maritimes, 174,300; the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, 173,300; the Hamburg-American, 166,586; the Australasian, 137,822; the Anchor Line, 126,512; the Elder, 126,512; the Cunard line, 110,750, and the White Star line, 96,225. These figures are for 1893.

AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS.

A Wife Tired of Supporting Her Husband and Paying His Fines.

CLEVELAND, March 7.—Julia Shriner has brought a suit against Joseph Shriner for divorce alimony, alimony pendente lite and a temporary injunction enjoining him from visiting her home.

She claims to have married him on Sept. 10, 1879; the result is two children, boys, aged 12 and 14 respectively. During the fifteen years of their married life the defendant is alleged to have totally failed to provide for the plaintiff or her children, with the exception of a period of six months. She has been engaged in the business of dressmaking for fifteen years, and during the last five years has kept a boarding house in order to furnish her additional source of income. Her husband, she avers, has been addicted to drink, and five times during the last five years has been sentenced to the workhouse for drunkenness, and has been an additional source of income. On other occasions he has been sentenced to the workhouse for drunkenness, and has been an additional source of income. During this entire time she has supported him, and a temporary restraining order has been granted.

RAILWAY LABORERS RIOTING.

Demand Money and Refuse to Accept 30 Cents on the Dollar.

YARMOUTH, N. S., March 7.—There is a big riot in camp 1, South Shore Railway Company, a short distance from here. The men are up in arms against the officials. Manager Clark, Capt. McGraw and the foreman managed to escape in safety and reach the town. The men are all coming to town, and consternation prevails.

Two hundred Italians are now surrounding the manager's store, demanding money or mules. They refuse to accept 30 cents on the dollar.

A late dispatch says the 200 Italian laborers agreed to accept 30 cents on the dollar percentage on their labor bills, and signed a release in full.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 7.—Reports received at the miners' headquarters today indicate that the strike order has been very generally obeyed throughout the Pittsburgh district. Very few of the mines are in operation.

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—The owners of the Conestoga mine near Monaca, have agreed to pay the 90 cent rate demanded by their 250 men. The strikers will return to work at once.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S LABOR.

The Queen does much work which never appears to public view. In one year she has not read less than 23,000 dispatches. Every day the sealed boxes are brought to her wherever she is, boxes filled with Government documents and the daily report of the Prime Minister. These duties constrain her Majesty to follow strictly her own routine, from which she is loath to deviate. She is in constant communication with her Cabinet Ministers, and as Melbourne, Palmerston, Disraeli and Gladstone have often proved, she displays rare ability and discriminating tact in the handling of the most delicate and important matters of public business.

Her very handsomely hand has signed more state papers, with larger results, than any other swaying the rod of empire today. It has been reverently kissed by men and women whose names will live for many generations by Wellington and Macaulay, by Peel and Tennyson, by Peabody and Lowell, and thousands of the gifted, the generous and brave and the fair who have moved through the pure halls of her court.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

TORONTO, March 7.—Today Lady Aberdeen attended a meeting of the local Women's Council. At 3 o'clock her excellency visited the Boys' Home, where he addressed the annual meeting. At 4 o'clock her excellency was in the Normal School, where Wm. A. Smith, the founder of the Boys' Brigade in Glasgow, gave an address explanatory of the methods and aims of that institute.

BOODLING IN TORONTO.

The Municipal Investigation Once More Resumed.

TORONTO, March 7.—The municipal investigation was resumed this morning before Judge MacDougall. Mr. Christopher Robinson acted as counsel. Mr. Laidlaw, Q.C., was represented by Hon. S. H. Blake and Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, former counsel for the city.

Ex-Ald. Gowanlock went into the box and swore that Mr. Wm. Laidlaw, acting on behalf of the street railway company, had written his letter of resignation, and that through Mr. Laidlaw and Mr. H. S. Osler he (Gowanlock) had been induced to believe that there was an understanding with Mr. Nesbitt that if he resigned his position in the council his (Gowanlock's) name would not be again mentioned in the inquiry.

Mr. Wm. Laidlaw, Q.C., swore that in writing the letter of resignation for ex-Ald. Gowanlock he acted simply as a friend and not as being in any way interested in having it sent in. Mr. Nesbitt stated that the letter of Gowanlock declining to run for alderman had been handed him and Judge MacDougall through Mr. H. S. Osler, and there had been absolutely no agreement or understanding of any kind. If Gowanlock's story of an understanding on his part was true he (Nesbitt) and Gowanlock had both been imposed on.

After some further evidence Mr. Gowanlock withdrew his charges under this head so far as Mr. Nesbitt was concerned.

As to the charge that Nesbitt had helped Coleman out of the country, Nesbitt showed he and Greer had tried to stop Coleman from going, and had subsequently tried even to have extradition proceedings instituted against him.

As to the charge of bribery on the part of the Beatty-Blackstock firm (of which Mr. Nesbitt is a member) to secure the city solicitorship for the firm, Mr. Gowanlock stated that the bribery had not been attempted by any member in the employ of the firm, and he did not wish to press the charge.

The investigation was thereupon concluded, the judge remarking that he would send in his report soon.

MAX O'RELL WANTS TO FIGHT

Says Mark Twain Has Insulted the Women of His Country.

NEW YORK, March 7.—A duel between Paul Blouet (Max O'Rell), of Paris, France, European humorist, and Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) is not an impossibility. O'Rell is very angry over Twain's article on "Outre Mer," by Paul Bourget. "Mark Twain has offered a gratuitous insult," O'Rell said, "to the women of the French nation. It is no excuse for him that 'Outre Mer' is pretentious, ridiculous, and foolish. That M. Bourget attempted an analytic criticism of American men and women in all seriousness after only a six months' visit here was simply a bit of humor. Now, this is what I take particular exception to. Bourget had written jokingly: 'I suppose life can never get entirely dull to an American, because whenever he can't strike up any other way to put in his time, he can always get away with a few years trying to find out who his grandfather was.'"

"See how Twain answers this: 'I reckon a Frenchman's got his little stand-by for a dull time—too, because when all other interests fail, he can turn in and see if he can't find out who his father was.' Now I call that answer an unwarranted, gratuitous, vile insult." Mr. O'Rell added that Mr. Twain could have satisfaction of any kind.

A MEDICAL PRINCIPLE.

A Question Affecting the Accepted Theories on Bright's Disease.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The reports with regard to the recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of 114 Cambridge street, in this city, an old and valued employer of the British North American Note Printing Company, from Bright's disease through a timely use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, is still the subject of much discussion. Several medical men have been seen on the question. One of two have expressed their disbelief, while the others maintain a discreet reserve. It seems to be beyond question that the diagnosis was a thorough and reliable one, and there is certainly no doubt that the patient has recovered and by his own statement has used no other remedy. The matter is principally interesting as involving a great medical principle, and is likely to be thoroughly investigated and the truth placed beyond any shadow of a doubt.

STARVING IN NEW YORK.

Sick Mother and Four Children Found in a Mott Street Tenement.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Great destitution was brought to light by the police at Mulberry station when a woman, with two children and two newly-born infants, was found sick and almost starving on the top floor of the rear of 198 Mott street. The mother and the two babies were taken to Bellevue Hospital, and the boy, 3 years old, and a girl, 2 years old, were given in charge of the Gery Society.

A month ago Mrs. Carmelia Capella, 27 years old, and her two little children, Angelo and Angelica, moved into a single room in the Mott street tenement. On Friday evening Mrs. Capella gave birth to triplets, a boy and two girls. The boy died immediately after birth. Yesterday the mother seemed to be wasting away, and the police were notified. The mother is suffering from pneumonia and heart disease, and can scarcely recover. The babies may live.

Port Stanley Board Wants $31,527 From the Company

As Damages for Buildings Destroyed and Other Depreciation of Property.

Track Scales for Port Stanley—Those Illegal Payments Again—A Missing Book.

At a meeting of the Port Stanley Board yesterday afternoon it was decided to take steps towards compelling the Grand Trunk to pay over to the city some $31,527 which is alleged to be due to the corporation by reason of the non-compliance with some of the terms of the lease of the Port Stanley road. By it the Grand Trunk Company guaranteed to hand over the road in the same condition as they found it, and an inventory of the road and its furnishings was taken in 1872 for purposes of reference. The Grand Trunk now claim that they cannot find the inventory, and the company did not design to reply to three letters from Secretary Bowman, dated Oct. 28, 1892, Nov. 12, 1892, and Jan. 5, 1893, in which he asked them to take some steps in the matter in view of the expiration of the lease. During the rental of the road by the G. T. R., a number of buildings were burned and never replaced. The board of 1893 hired Engineer Jennings to make an estimate of the damages, and the report of the sub-committee presented yesterday was largely compiled from his estimate. The report read as follows:

THE CASE REVIEWED.

1. We have examined the books and documents now in possession of this board, and after having ascertained that they cannot find the inventory, and the company did not design to reply to three letters from Secretary Bowman, dated Oct. 28, 1892, Nov. 12, 1892, and Jan. 5, 1893, in which he asked them to take some steps in the matter in view of the expiration of the lease. During the rental of the road by the G. T. R., a number of buildings were burned and never replaced. The board of 1893 hired Engineer Jennings to make an estimate of the damages, and the report of the sub-committee presented yesterday was largely compiled from his estimate. The report read as follows:

WILL COLLECT THE AMOUNT.

"I understand," said Ald. Jones, "that the collection of this matter was held off pending the re-erection of the Grand Trunk shops, but seeing in the face of the bonus, that the shops have not been built I don't think that that issue should be allowed to interfere any longer. They got the money for the buildings destroyed, and it is nothing more than right that they should pay us back. I would move that the account be turned over to the solicitor of this company for collection."

NEW TRACK SCALES.

Mayor Little mentioned the fact that the present lease of the board called for the building of track scales at London, and that the late board in accordance with a request from the company had moved that they be erected at Port Stanley, the L. E. and D. R. people to pay any difference in the cost. He said that the company were now moving in the matter, and wished the scales in position with the opening of the new road.

Mr. Bowman stated that the G. T. R. put in new scales at Port Stanley a few years ago, but took them away when they withdrew.

"There is one difficulty," said the mayor, "there is no money to pay for them. How much money have we got, Ald. Parnell?"

Ald. Parnell—Two hundred and sixty-six dollars and thirty-nine cents.

Mayor Little—And the scales cost $800. It was finally agreed that the company would be asked to put in the scales themselves and deduct the amount from the rent, the city allowing interest.

Mr. Leonard asked if any provision had been made to erect a freight house and round-house for the L. E. and D. R. Company.

Ald. Jones—No provision has been made yet. I hope they won't be required.

Ald. Wm. Heaman mentioned a building which might be used as a freight house, and Mr. Weillatt will inspect it when he comes to town.

THOSE ILLEGAL PAYMENTS.

"I consulted the city solicitor today in respect to the matter mentioned at Monday night's council meeting," said Mayor Little. "The matter has been referred to me directly by the council, but it requires the authority of this board before taking any action, and if it is the wish of this board that the resolution of the City Council should be complied with it will be necessary to pass a resolution authorizing the solicitor to proceed and carry out the terms of the council's instructions."

Ald. Jones moved that the city solicitor be authorized to take such steps as he may think fit in order to comply with a resolution passed by the City Council at their last meeting, and which reads as follows: "That all payments illegally made to any officer or director of the London and Port Stanley Railway Company since the making of the lease in 1872 be collected by order of this council, and that the books and documents of the company be placed at the disposal of the city solicitor for that purpose. And that the auditors and secretary be instructed to render the solicitor such assistance as he may desire, the secretary to place at his disposal the books and documents of the company."

A MISSING BOOK.

Ald. Parnell mentioned the fact of the disappearance of the minute book of the board for the term from 1889 to 1873. It was taken from the city clerk's office since last Tuesday and could not be found. He stated that he had heard that the secretary and the clerk, and after the meeting they were going to turn the matter over to the chief of police when they found the book has been used by a person with a proper authority since Tuesday last, and copy made of a portion of its contents and the board may yet take action.

There were present Mayor Little (president), Ald. Parnell (secretary), Ald. Wm. Heaman, O'Meara, J. W. Jones and Mr. F. Leonard.

MORE SCHOOL ROOM

Wanted in Many Parts of the City.

Important Meeting of No. 1 Committee of the Board of Education—A Legal Technicality Spoils a Session of the Full Board.

Henry George, the apostle of the single tax movement, delivered his famous lecture in this city on Tuesday night. The regular meeting of the school board should have been held that evening, but as many of the trustees were desirous of hearing the New York lecturer the meeting was postponed. The board met last night, but when Chairman Blackwell called the roll, the secretary, Mr. Anderson, questioned the legality of the meeting. "Any business taken tonight," he said, "will be out of order. The bylaws state that the meeting shall be held on the first Tuesday of the month, or on the day following, the Tuesday should fall on a holiday."

Naturally the trustees were taken by surprise, but Mr. Anderson's view was correct, although the chairman and several others thought it would be perfectly safe to transact business.

A motion by Mr. Anderson that a meeting be held was defeated, the Chairman Blackwell ruled "no session" and the members withdrew. Those present were Trustees Blackwell (chairman), Buchner, Craig, Griffin, Johnson, Hunt, Turner, Sanders, Wilkin, Greenlee, Logan, Anderson, Keenle, and Dr. Campbell and Murphy, Inspector Carson, Principal Merchant and Secretary McElhennan.

IMPORTANT RECOMMENDATION.

No. 1 committee of the board met this afternoon, and at the next general meeting will present a series of recommendations which if adopted will result in a large expenditure of money. Among other things it will recommend that the office of supervisor of kindergartens be discontinued, and that Miss McKenzie, the present supervisor, receive the same salary as the other members of the board, and that a garden to do the work for her or school which Miss McKenzie is now doing, and that Mr. Carson have supervision of the kindergartens, the salary of the public schools, and have a list of useful and practical work (in addition to those now in the press) prepared for use in each of the public school grades, and to have lists bound along with the proper reading in the respective grades; so that the Minister of Education be requested to have the same prepared and inserted in the new edition of the inspector in the meantime prepare lists for use in the respective grades.

In regard to additional school accommodation, the committee stated that they found the distance to be traveled by the junior pupils residing near Richmond street north school site too great to allow them to attend St. George's school during the winter months. The committee recommended that the school be moved to the corner of the "Talbot street, Simcoe street, Askin street, Aberdeen and St. George's school districts was in excess of the number allowed by the regulation of the board, and that, and would doubtless become much larger by May. The committee thought a scheme outlined in the report of Mr. 1892, should be completed, and would repeat the recommendations in their report. Additional accommodation should be provided in all the school districts in which the transition classes are now in operation, and the committee recommended that it be at once provided as follows:

Four-roomed school on Richmond street north. Two rooms would fill the present need, but the remainder would be needed should the school be enlarged.

Four-roomed school near the corner of Colborne and South streets. Two rooms might meet the present requirements, but four rooms could soon be used to great advantage.

Two rooms additional at Worsley road school, and further accommodation in Askin street district to be related by the removal of the present frame buildings and the erection of a new modern six-room school in lieu thereof, or by a four-room addition to the north of the present brick building known as Askin street school.

Two rooms additional at St. George's school. It would be more desirable to add four rooms, but the building is not adapted for the same.

The committee will also recommend that a portion of the new future made by the purchase of lots at Oxford and William streets, on which the committee considers a two or four-room school should be erected as soon as funds can be produced.

Lot to the south of Talbot street school, or one near the corner of Talbot and Oxford streets, or both, if possible, on one of which the committee also considers a two or four-room school should be erected at once, if possible.

The committee also recommended that any new building to replace the present Colborne street school should be built further to the north, and should contain ten rooms for public school purposes, besides suitable rooms for model school and office of inspector, secretary and other officials, the model school room to be suitable for meetings of the board and also for the teachers' meetings.

MICROSCOPICAL SOCIETY NOTES.

An Interesting Paper on Fleas by Mr. John Deane.

The most obvious feature of fungi is the lack of green color, owing to the absence of chlorophyll. Although never green, some are red, or yellow, or brown. Because of this lack of chlorophyll, they cannot assimilate food from the assimilated matter of other plants.

There are two classes of fungi—the parasite and the saprophyte, and to the latter belong the fleshy fungi. They appear at times to grow upon clay, etc., but are really nourished by water containing the results of decaying plants.

The fungus may be said to consist of a mycelium and a fruiting part. The latter only is ordinarily noticed, as the mycelium is usually inconspicuous, or so concealed as to be scarcely visible when carefully looked for. The mycelium may live and vegetate a long time before it is ready to produce its fruit.

The fungi are all classified by their fruit, and most of the edible fungi of this country produce their fruit on basidia, and are, therefore, called basidiomycetes.

The basidia are elongated cells in the hymen, and by abstractions give off spores at the apices. This goes on day and night, but especially at night, and in moist weather. From some fungi—as mushrooms—spores are sent out with sufficient force to carry them to some distance. In some kinds the hymen is external and in others internal, the latter being called gasteromycetes—for example, the puffball.

The agaricini are divided into several classes, but would probably all be called toadstools by the ordinary observer. The characteristics by which they are classified are in some cases obvious, in others microscopic. In cornutus, the lamellae, when decaying, dissolve into ink; in cortinari the trama, or central mass, is woolly, or flocculent, while in merulius it is reticulated; in porothelium the hymen rises in warts or is depressed in pits, and solenaria has but one pore or tube.

Turning to agaricini again, we find that some kinds are sticky with a jelly-like substance; some have the gills running to the stem, and some have not. According to the arrangement of the pileus, veil, lamellae, etc., they are classified.

For a gross classification, Fries divided them according to the color of the spores. The color of the lamellae may or may not tell this. Some of them will throw down spores at once, while others have to be coaxed with special conditions of moisture. Fries described the spores as either white, salmon, rose, brown or black. Siccards considered them either white, red, brown or black. It is often difficult to decide the color of the spores, as the decaying and the student may not agree as to the name for a certain shade.

The white-spored, or leucospori, are subdivided by distinguishing characters, the amount of the lamellae have a universal veil, which is burst as the plant grows, and a part is carried up on the pileus, while the remainder is left at the root as the valva. The veil is sometimes bright scarlet, and the part adhering to the pileus may appear as red scales. In some there is above the valva an annulus or ring around the stem, the remains of a veil that was at first brown, and the margin of the pileus and covered the hymen.

Those that have this upper veil or ring and a valva and white spores, had better not be eaten, as they include the most poisonous species. The armillaria has a partial veil; tricholoma has sinuate lamellae, and by such characters they may be identified. There are edible fungi in many different sub-genera, and many of them might be eaten if it were not for the larvae of moths and beetles, which get into them as soon as they are open. Any nice-tasting fungus, the spores of which are not white, is probably edible. The following species may be found in their season around London in sufficient quantities to be worth gathering and cooking: All the varieties of morehella esculenta, marasmius oreadis, lycoperdon giganteum (the big white puffball), clavaria, boletus edulis, agaricus campestris (the common mushroom), cantharellus arvensis, lepiota naucina, lepiota procera, armillaria mellea, clitocybus nebularius, collybia radicata, hypholoma perlexa, cornutus comatus and coprinus atramentarius.

SORRY SIGHT.

Suicide of a Father in the Presence of His Children.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 7.—Because he could not find work John F. Corrigan, an insurance man, drank Paris green this morning. At the time his four children were playing about him. They saw him drink the poison and lie down to die. Mrs. Corrigan was out. When she came in she found her husband writhing in pain. The children, who were gathered about him, were asking him to tell what the matter was. He simply replied, "I am ill." A doctor was summoned, but too late. Corrigan died in a few minutes.

London, Friday, March 8.

—"The National Policy has won its last victory."—Principal Grant, of Kingston.

—"The Hamilton politicians should wake up."—Hamilton Herald.
 Give them time. Where everything is so quiet waking up is most difficult.

—"Too bad that Mr. Toole, of Middlesex, and Mr. Smith, of Frontenac, are out of the Legislature. How they would have enjoyed Mr. Howland's classical oration."

—"The foolish Conservatives who bet that Sir Oliver Mowat would not have 20 majority in the Legislature on the first party division now wish they had not. The majority for the Government on the first straight party motion is 37."

—"It is announced by the News that Toronto is in the hands of fire bugs. Our contemporary claims that at least five of the six big fires were incendiary. The domination of the demoralizing lot boomer was bad enough. May there not be some connection between the two?"

—"The first want of confidence motion proposed by the Conservative Opposition in the Legislature resulted in victory for the Government by a majority of 37. It is made quite apparent that Sir Oliver Mowat has no more intention of going than he had 23 years ago."

—"The harmony" prevailing in the camp of the high tax party at the present time was exemplified at the North Simcoe Conservative meeting at Stayner. There the friends of Mr. McCarthy captured the convention, and ran it to suit themselves, despite the protests of the friends of Mr. Bowell. The two sections elected separate office bearers to suit their respective views, and passed resolutions hostile to one another. Thus the demoralization in the ranks of the once great Conservative party continues. The Master Hand has gone and no mistake."

—"Great is the high tax policy as an enricher of the worker if we are to believe the advocates of the system. But a correspondent of the London Free Press points out how the workers have in the past been fooled. He asserts that "a very large portion of 1894 taxes that have been paid was paid by borrowed money, and that something like $40,000 is yet unpaid." And he points out that a very large number of London mechanics are out of work, and another large number are working on reduced time and reduced pay—"a double dose." We were promised that under the high tax policy there would be plenty of work and good pay for everyone. Has the contract been kept? Has the National Policy made you rich? The country needs a change."

A SOLEMN FAIR.

The men in power at Ottawa pretend that they are sitting, "solemnly," as a judicial body to try the Manitoba school question, but two weeks ago of their number, Hon. Mr. Oulmet, told a Quebec meeting that he had already reached a decision! If he told the truth the present "judicial trial" is a farce. Some of the proceedings confirm this view. When Mr. McCarthy, one of the counsel, took a position on one aspect of the case, Sir Mackenzie Bowell pompously exclaimed, "I will reply to you on the stump!" And on Thursday Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper broke out. The incident is thus chronicled by the reporters:

Mr. McCarthy here took exception to the statistics as being no answer to his figures.
 Mr. Ewart—They show that you are wrong.
 Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper—I think I know an answer for both of you, and it is namely, "Lies—d—lies," and statistics.

Nice judicial body these men are proving themselves to be!

BIG STORES, LITTLE STORES AND BOOMS.

The discussion of the departmental store question continues in Toronto. A section of the community has taken the ground that there should be Parliamentary discrimination against these big stores, because they operate against smaller ones. But Mr. S. H. Jones, one of the shrewdest of Toronto's business men, points out that the departmental store has come to stay in the larger cities, because it is the most economic method of conducting business, and the buying public share the benefit of the concentration. Mr. Jones asserts that there are "in Toronto 25 miles of frontage of retail shops, whereas our population does not warrant more than one-fifth of that number. This means much capital misapplied in buildings for business purposes where there should be residences, and enormous over-valuation of land so occupied, to the extent of two, three and even four times its real value." The unhealthy boom which Toronto has gone through, and not the departmental stores, is at the root of the trouble. Many millions of dollars have been misapplied, have been locked up in vacant lots or on vacant house and store property, and the broken economic law cannot be mended without inflicting great suffering. The speculators might be helped somewhat if a law discriminating against departmental stores were passed, but would that be fair treatment of the enterprising men who have invested their capital in these concerns, and who are able to command the public confidence and support or they would not receive them? Some people have an idea that the departmental store is a new thing. It is a comparatively new thing in this country, but it is not new in Europe or in the United States. Among the pioneer departmental stores in England were those established by the co-operators of Rochdale, a system which has been extended to many other places. Will anyone say that these stores have not been a benefit to the community?

The Toronto real estate owners who have empty stores to rent must not blame the big store managers or lament because people patronize them, for the effects of the unhealthy expansion which has inflicted so much injury on the community. Unnatural growth, whether caused by a "protective" tariff or by that which accompanied it in Canada, and was welcomed as an ally by the Finance Minister at Ottawa—a land speculative boom—is always detrimental to the best interests of the community. And the suffering that has resulted first from the inflation in Manitoba and latterly from that which millions of dollars were misapplied in Toronto ought to have been expected. The misfortune is that those who were wise must suffer with those who were foolish. But we hope that a better day is dawning.

PRICES THEN AND NOW.

If the prices could be obtained that were current during Mr. Mackenzie's administration his circumstances would be more hopeful. During that five years, when the Conservatives asserted that the sky of Canada was black with disaster, wheat averaged $1.11 per bushel, barley 85 cents, oats 42 cents, peas 71 cents, dressed pork $7.04, wool 34 cents. We went back on honest, prudent Mr. Mackenzie, with moderate expenditure, a low revenue tariff and satisfactory farm prices, and the debt has gone up from $25,000,000 to $37,000,000, and the interest on the debt has gone up to $10,250,000. Some things have gone down, however. Wheat has gone down to 60 cents, barley to 50 cents, oats to 32 cents, horses to a few points above nothing, farms to two-thirds of their former value, and yet we have Ministers who are in the enjoyment of fat salaries and ride sumptuously in palace cars, wine, provisioned, and served at the public expense, going from place to place seeking to persuade the electors of Canada that this is a satisfactory condition of affairs, and that they ought to be anxious to continue it. No doubt it is in the interest of the aforesaid Ministers that this should be done. They have taken care of themselves; they have taken care of their friends; but, as for the people, no change from the present condition of matters could be for the worse. —John Charlton, M.P., at Southampton.

CANADIAN LAKE AND RIVER FISHERMEN MUST HAVE FAIR PLAY.

Defenders of the harsh administration of the fishery laws by the men now in power at Ottawa are cropping up, now that a General Election approaches. Most of them fail to grasp the real meaning of the opposition to the fishery enactments of the Dominion Government and their harsh administration. They altogether avoid discussion of the rightfulness of the Dominion regulation, so harshly enforced by the men now in power at Ottawa, preventing the Canadian fishermen from fishing on their side of St. Clair and Detroit Rivers, while the fishermen of the United States are capturing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of fish on the United States side of these streams. What we would like to know, what the fishermen of Ontario would like to know, is what is the use of a fishery prohibitory law over one portion of these running streams, while in the other portion, perhaps not a yard from the middle of the stream, the United States fishermen are busy catching fish?

So long as our Government has not the ability to arrange an international close season, applicable to the fishermen of both nations, so long should the fishermen of Canada have the same rights and privileges, in the matter of catching fish, as are possessed by their competitors who fish in the adjoining portion of the waters. That is the Liberal view of the situation. It is a common sense view, and we are assured that the new Government of Canada will carry it out as soon as it is given the opportunity.

RECORD OF FAILURES.

As for Ministers, give them credit freely for such ability as they possess, but don't take them at their own valuation, or that put upon them by a subsidized press, and don't make the mistake of supposing that capacity for tall talk of necessity involves capacity for clear thinking. For gerrymandering a province, for debauching a constituency, or for squeezing contributions out of protected monopolies, I will grant you these gentlemen are unrivalled. But they go no further. Failure is writ large on every enterprise they have attempted, every promise they have ever made.

They have not settled the Northwest. They have not stopped the exodus. They have not got reciprocity. They have not lowered your taxes. They have not kept up prices. They have not, in a word, redeemed a single, solitary pledge, or filled one single expectation they have raised and they come before you now, having taken all possible pains to avoid giving you any definite information on the floor of Parliament as to how they propose to provide for the huge deficit they have created, or to say what their policy will be as to divers other important questions now awaiting settlement.—Sir Richard Cartwright at Sarnia.

WHAT IS THERE TO CONCEAL?

Never before in the history of Canada has the second week in March arrived without the holding of a session of Parliament or the announcement of the date of dissolution. Last year the late Sir John Thompson pledged himself to have Parliament summoned before the end of January, but his weak-kneed, vacillating successor refused to be bound by this promise, and has broken the record in refusing to call the representatives of the people together at the usual time, though he must have known that Lord Aberdeen could not consent to a dissolution of Parliament on the old voters' lists, thus preventing an election till months after Parliament might have been in session. The extraordinary attitude of the men in power was commented on in these trenchant terms by Mr. John Charlton, M.P., in his recent address at Southampton:

"At no time in the history of Canada has careful, full, deliberate and intelligent consideration of the situation been more necessary, and yet with ample time to hold a session before the general election could possibly be held the Ministry refuse to meet and consult with the representatives of the people. (Applause.) Are they all sufficient? Does wisdom and discretion dwell with them alone? On the contrary the master minds of the Conservative party are gone, and the Bowells, the Haggarts, the Caplins and the Oumets are left and are making a spectacle for gods and men of irresolution, vacillation, incapacity and cowardice. (Cheers.) They are afraid to meet the country; they are more afraid to meet the House. Promises have been made, boasts have preceded the most bitter and humiliating failures. Prosperity has not come, the exodus has not ceased, jobs have not advanced, the National Policy has made no save a few manufacturers rich, times are hard, the revenue is shrinking, the expenditure is increasing, the debt is enormous, and has reached alarming proportions, and a huge deficit confronts us. We have recently borrowed over $11,000,000, and we must soon borrow more, and the country trembles with apprehension that as bad as our condition seems to be, there is something concealed, and that a disclosure of the facts would show our condition to be much worse than surface indications. In such circumstances be conceived that we would render a more bitter and more entering upon a general election more seemly and necessary than those now existing? What do they conceal? The Government has some secret, or ground for the suspicion that the Government has something to conceal? We know that our affairs are in a bad condition. Are they really worse than appears? The Government is about to ask the people to have confidence in them, and they should not take the people into their own confidence, convene the House and permit investigation, a verification of the condition of public affairs? (Cheers.) It is feared that the inquisitive Grit Opposition will want to become possessed of sacred Conservative secrets; that some Government skeletons will be dragged from the closet where it is now concealed? Are there more Curran bridges, and Tay Canals, and Shelks dam jobs? Is there a list of jobs of the kind which Mr. Conolly hid from the keen-scented investigators will get an inkling of and partially uncover, leaving the points of one or more royal commissions necessary to get to the tracks? (Cheers.) Have preparations for obtaining the shew of war statements necessary to the Government and orders in Council, and threaten danger to the sacred art of Government manipulation? Truly may be said of the Ministry, you are wise in your own conceits. Ask the people for their confidence, and return from them all that you possibly can, for the more they know about your less probability there will be that their confidence will be granted."

THE GREAT EGG ISSUE.

The egg policy of the Provincial Ministry has been vindicated and the Opposition leader is desolate. In the publication of New York the consumption per head is 125 while in Ontario it is only 40.—Toronto Globe.

The End Came.

Rev. J. W. Annis Passes Peacefully Away to His Rest

After Twenty-four Hours of Unconsciousness.

Doctors Gave Him Until Sundown, but He Died in an Hour or So After—A Brilliant and Eloquent Preacher—Sketch of His Career.

The blow which has been impending over the congregation of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church for some weeks this morning, when the hand of death descended and claimed their beloved pastor, Rev. J. W. Annis. It was few minutes after 10 o'clock when the end came, and peacefully, and without struggle, Mr. Annis passed away. Deceased became totally unconscious yesterday and remained so to the last, excepting a very feeble rally in the afternoon. Both Dr. Campbell and Dr. Eccles were the patient this morning and gave him until sundown to die. But the medical men had not been gone an hour before the sick man ceased to breathe. The end was so calm that the watchers beside the bedside hardly knew when life fled and the long sleep began. Mrs. Annis was at the bedside, with her brother, Mr. Edgar H. Watkins, of Hamilton, who has been present since Tuesday. The nurse and Mrs. Anderson, an intimate friend of the family, were the only other persons present. Mr. Annis' other Levi returned home to Darlington at the beginning of the week. It was decided today when the funeral will be held. Rev. Isaac Tovel, Hamilton, brother-in-law of Mrs. Annis, has been invited to officiate, and he will probably conduct the services.

There is much of a similarity between the ends of Queen's Avenue's former pastor, Rev. George Boyd, and Mr. Annis. Both died in the same house, and he lingered for weeks in the shadow of the valley of death. Both were brilliant men and both passed away in their prime. But Mr. Annis' end is particularly sad coming at a time when the church more in need of a new pastor than any time in its history. When the arch building was entirely destroyed by fire, a month or so ago, Mr. Annis, already ill with the disease that ultimately caused his death, was trying to gain relief in a New York sanitarium. He came back on the following Sunday and he staggered, yet striving to cheer his homeless congregation. That day afternoon he spoke to the congregation as a whole for the last time. "By words of good cheer from a man who was suffering mentally and physically, and who was on his knees to take short walks, but took to bed immediately after the Dundas City fire."

A BRILLIANT PREACHER. —Elegiacs to the recent Quadrangular Conference from one end of Canada to the other will well remember the eloquence of Mr. Annis' greeting to the city of Toronto and to the Queen's Avenue in Stember last. But Mr. Annis was not content on occasions only; his sermons were always literary models, showing evidence of great study and Biblical research. The immediate cause of death was brain disease, and when it became acute he was so run down and exhausted that he had no constitution to rally to his congregation of Queen's Avenue Church, which will have the sympathy of all in their singular succession of tribles.

AN INTERESTING CAREER.

Jeremiah William Annis was the son of William and Elizabeth Annis, and was born in Darlington township, county of Durham, Ontario, on July 26, 1854. His father was a native of England, but his father was born a short distance east of Toronto on a farm which is now situated the Washington Methodist Church. Both the parents were strict Methodists and paid great attention to the religious education of their children. Like the rest of his family, Jeremiah spent his early days at common country school, and in spare moments spent his time in helping his father on the farm. The father was anxious that Jeremiah should become a farmer, but the boy had a different view. The summer that he reached his 15th year he was appointed at camp meeting held one mile west of the old homestead, and from that day he expressed a firm determination to become a preacher. The ambitious boy obtained his father's consent to the proposition, and at 16 he went to the Victoria University at Coburg. "I feel the call to the work," he would tell his father, and he soon had his father's consent to "go to college."

Mr. Annis' career in this noted institution of learning was pre-eminently successful. From his entrance till his graduation Mr. Annis displayed intelligence, and in all examinations took a high standing. At the closing exercises in his graduating year he was honored by being requested to read the valedictory.

He received into the ministry in 1871 by the Toronto Conference, and was immediately appointed to the Stirlingville Methodist Church. After a year's faithful service there he went to Wexby, where he remained for two years. In 1874 Mr. Annis was desirous of furthering his education by taking a course at the Victoria University, and in two years he graduated as Bachelor of Arts. "Ever since Jeremiah took that two years' course," said Mr. Levi Annis recently, "his health has been poor. He was always ambitious, and his physical breaking down was mainly due to over-study."

After graduating in 1877 as an M. A., Mr. Annis was appointed to the Stirlingville Avenue Church, Toronto, and during his year's pastorate there married Miss Love, daughter of Mr. Thos. W. Watkins, drygoods merchant, Hamilton. Since his year in Toronto, Mr. Annis went to Scarborough and remained there for three years. Then he was invited to Hamilton, and in one year he went to Histon, and was stationed there for two years. From 1884 to 1887 he was in Barrie; 1887 to 1890, in the First Methodist Church, St. Thomas; 1890 to 1893, in St. Paul Street Church, Chatham, and in June, 1893, he was appointed to the Queen's Avenue Church, this city, by the London Conference.

At the time of his promotion to Queen's Avenue Mr. Annis was suffering from throat trouble, and the board of his new church very kindly granted him two months' leave of absence in which to recuperate. At the expiration of the two months Mr. and Mrs. Annis came to London, the former improved but not sound health. His throat still remained troublesome, and his once resonant voice, weak and husky. Both Mr. Annis and his amiable and accomplished wife won the earnest and hearty co-operation of their parishioners and the congregation flourished exceedingly under the ministrations.

Deceased's father is still living, with a son, Levi Annis, of Darlington township. David Annis, a farmer near Woodville, and Edwin Annis, living on the old homestead, are brothers of deceased. Mr. and Mrs. Annis had no children.

—Three rinks from the Granite Club, St. Thomas, with Messrs. W. K. Cameron, S. O. Perry and C. H. Wagg as skips, will play the Forest City Club for the Malahide medal in this city this afternoon.

—Yesterday morning Dr. Mason, St. Thomas, Drs. Waugh, Wishart and Callum, of this city, and Dr. Going, of Windsor, examined the skull of the murdered man, Hendershott, at St. Thomas. They will give evidence for the defense.

—Mr. Wm. Luttrell died at his home in Toronto of a fatal pneumonia.

—The Hamilton Spectator has this to say of Miss Wright's address on "Woman's Work": "Miss Wright talked on the aims and objects of the Young Women's Christian Association, and did it most entertainingly." Miss Wright is a clear, forcible speaker, and has the happy faculty of making all she says interesting. The public will have an opportunity of hearing Miss Wright on Friday evening in the Croydon Hall.

Vanston-Siddons.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized in this city yesterday afternoon, when Miss Florence Siddons, youngest daughter of Mr. John Siddons, corporate appraiser, and Miss Jean Hyde, of Stratford, while the groom was supported by Mr. Harry Reynolds, of the Bank of Toronto. The wedding was set for August, but owing to the serious illness of the groom, at his request the wedding was performed at once. While Mr. Vanston's friends, and they are many, will wish him much joy on the occasion, they are sorry to hear of his serious condition, and will be glad to hear of his early and complete recovery.

Pigeon Flyers Organize.

The movement that has been on foot towards organizing a homing pigeon club for London and district took tangible shape last night at a meeting of pigeon fanciers which was held in the Foresters' Hall, Albion Block. The following officers were elected: President, W. Court; vice-president, H. Howard; secretary, George Duckett; treasurer, T. Pearce, Mount Brydges. A race committee, composed of President Court, F. Morgan, George Freese, O. N. N. Sunday night there will be a total eclipse of the moon, commencing at 7:57. The moon will enter the earth's shadow proper at 8:54. The last two total eclipses were missed, owing to clouded skies. If Sunday night be clear, the Astronomical Phenomena.

The following is a resume of the predictions announced at the last meeting of the Canadian Astronomical Society: Mercury is a morning star during March, and will be seen to the best advantage before sunrise from the 20th to the 29th. Venus is the bright star to be seen in the western sky after sunset; her brilliancy is about one-third of that predicted for June. Mars is in Taurus, passing rapidly eastward, and just now not far from Aldebaran. Jupiter is also in Taurus, and may be recognized as being by far the brightest star in the sky after sunset. Saturn may be picked up in the southeast after 10 o'clock. His rings are more open to the observer than they have been for some years, being turned at an angle of about 17 degrees to the line of sight. The planet's position is about 15 degrees east of Spica. Uranus is in Libra, a little to the east of the star Nu. On Sunday night there will be a total eclipse of the moon, commencing at 7:57. The moon will enter the earth's shadow proper at 8:54. The last two total eclipses were missed, owing to clouded skies. If Sunday night be clear, the eclipse will be worth careful observation. Just now the most interesting of all the planets is Jupiter, whose satellites always add to his beauty in a telescope. During March the configurations of these moons will be uncommonly attractive, as the following predictions, selected from many, will show. Those given are for 9:30 o'clock in each evening mentioned, and are for an astronomical telescope which inverts the image: On the nights of the 7th and the 8th, three of the satellites will be grouped together, west or east of the planet, respectively; on the 10th and 11th, two of the moons will be like double stars east or west of Jupiter respectively; on the 12th Jupiter will appear to be attended by only one moon, an unusual phenomenon, satellites II. and III. being occulted by the planet, and I. being in transit, and therefore, invisible; on the 14th, I. and II., on the east, and III. and IV., on the west, will seem like two groups of double stars; on the 15th and 16th, respectively, three of the moons will be in a cluster east or west of the planet; on the 17th, III. and IV., on the west, and I. and II., on the east, will look like double stars; on the 18th all the moons will be west, while on the 19th, I. and II. will be clustered around Jupiter himself. Some of these configurations cannot be of interesting, and many of them can be observed in any telescope. There will be minima of the wonderful star Algol at 1 a.m. on the 14th, 3:50 p.m. on the 16th, and 6:39 p.m. on the 19th.

The W. C. A.

At a meeting of the Women's Christian Association yesterday afternoon there was a large attendance of members. The treasurer's report showed the expenditure of the past month to have been $569.78, leaving balance of cash on hand $639.68. Great destitution and suffering among the poor was reported by the relief committee, and although much has been done by all classes of the community to alleviate their condition much remains to be done, owing to the scarcity of employment among artisans.

The following donations are very thankfully acknowledged for the Aged People's Home: From Mrs. Fox, magazines; Mr. Beaton, caps and mitts; Mrs. Burns, round of beef; Mrs. Hannah, tea; Hellmuth College, papers; Mrs. Kent, papers; Mr. Wm. T. T. Williams, clothing; Mrs. M. A. Young, clothing; a friend, clothing. For Refuge and Infants' Home: From Mrs. Hyttenrauch, night dresses; Mrs. Kent, cotton. For relief: From Mrs. Meek, one pair of blankets; from Mesdames Ingram, Tyler, Ginge, Anderson, and Misses McBride and Beattie, large parcels of clothing.
