PRAISE FOR CITY SCHOOL

hibit at Winnipeg Distanced all Others.

Interesting Message from Miss Ayles worth to the Parents and Friends.

Miss V. Aylesworth, the accomplished director of the McKeough school kindergarten, writes The Planet from Manatona enclosing an interesting sketch of the educational gathering in Winnipeg winch she attended. The letter will be much appreciated by the parents of pupils and friends of McKeough school.

Miss Aylesworth's letter to them is as follows:

Brandon, Man., Aug. 3, 1904. To the parents and friends of Mc-Keough school the undersigned sends greeting! May the longest life, the greatest prosperity, the highest joys be yours! Above all may your interest in and appreciation of the work done in McKeough school, for and done in McKeough school, for and by your children, grow stronger and stronger, until, like a mighty oak, it spread its great branches lovingly over that institution, as a shade and a defence, sheltering it from the glare of noon-day fame at home and abroad and protecting it from the storms beating down upon it from the heavens—and other quarters. It is a saving worthy of universal the heavens—and other quarters.

It is a saying worthy of universal acceptation that we must go away from, to fully appreciate home. And to carefully consider the work done by the city schools in other provinces of the Dominion is to foster deeper admiration for that accomplished by the schools of Chatham. Not that we can afford to boast of superiority over our Western neighbors. In Winthe schools of Chatham. Not that we can afford to boast of superiority over our Western neighbors. In Winnipeg the curriculum of school work is very comprehensive, embracing the regular course of studies, together with domestic scence, manual training, sewing, music and nature study. The exhibit in the latter department represented a whole year's careful work—a year of keen observations, thorough investigations, painstaking collections and faithful representations. And the sewing by the girls of the different grades was particularly praiseworthy for it seemed both both in its accuracy and intricacy quite beyond the reach of fingers so young and tender. The results of musical training were certainly everopening. Mr. Minclim, supervisor of music in the Winnipeg schools, gave, at the convention, an excellent demonstration of his system of teaching, using a class of children in the Part Second as a means of concete illustration. Could they sing at sight? Well now they made just enough mistakes to convince an all-too-suspecting public that they were were really reading at sight and their eageness and quickness were positively soul-refreshing. Oh parents and friends, music is the chariot of fire that carries a boy or girl with incredible rapidity from the deepest depths to the fighest fields, yea even to the very holiest of holies.

In these branches McKeough School entered not into the competition but on the other hand stood alone in her excellent work with raffa and reed weaving and card-board modelling. Moreover, the boys and girls of Mc-Keough School ought to be told that in lines where they entered into the race with the children of Winnipeg, they were by no means outrun by them. Dreal go further? The drawing by our school had sharply no equivalent at the exhibition. There was nothing to compare with those them. Dre I go further? The drawing by our school had simply no equivalent at the exhibition. There was nothing to compare with those scenes of the children in Miss Nicholl's room nor was there anything mearly so beautiful as the color work which had for its imspiration the suggestion and direction of that highly artistic teacher, Miss Samson. Do the people of North Chatham realize that the staff of McKeough School sustains a well-night-irreparable loss this summer.

well-m'ght-trreparable loss this summer.

The photograph of our school, which accompanied our exhibit occasioned not a little comment and interrogation. More than one wanted to know if I worked in a private school in Chatham. "We'll" said they, "that's not a public school is it? It looks so homelike." Modesty restrained the explanation that rose to my lips. Ah! Could they but trnow what a sincere friend and devoted mother the children (and staff) of that school own in their principal, Miss Abram, who so happily combines the strength and firmness of man with the sympathy and tenderness of woman! "Truly the I nes have fallen unto us in pleasant places and we have a goodly her tage." I desire to thank most sincerely the friends in Chatham, who, in giving me this trip, have rendered the dearest and most desired dream of my life a supreme reality. I am,

I am, Your humble servant, VICTORIA AYLESWORTH.

Three Excellent Excursions Were Featured on Chatham's Civic Day

—Sons of England at

At precisity 7 a. m., yesterday morning there pulled out from the Grand Trunk station seven coaches and a baggage car with a merry crowd of pleasure seekers, Ancient Order of Foresters and their friends on the new route over that road, through the tunnel to Port Huron. The day was an ideal one and Port Huron was reached at 11 a. m. Those who were fortunate enough to be on the rear end of the train, saw the sight of a life time as they entered the tuna life time as they entered the tunnel, and on arriving at the centre of it your sight of the large "hole" lost and went into Sarkness.

The return trip was started at 8 p. m., and the special arrived in the city at '11.45, all pleased with the day's outing. Too much praise cannot be given to G. T. R. agent Pritch, ard, for many courteouses extended to the committee to the conductor and the different attaches for their kindness in looking after the welfare and the different attaches for their kindness in looking after the welfare of their patrons. Many expressed their intentions of taking in the same route next year should the A. O. F. although handleapped, on every side, made a success of their first trip through the tunnel.

The Foresters were favored in having a brother Forester, Bro. Nash, of Sarma, at the through in going of Sarga, at the throttle in going through the tunnel.

Much of the credit for the success of this outing must be attributed to A. E. Lamfestey, who with Chas. Baxter, Wm. H. Clements, John Head and Jas. Dyer, worked so earnestly and enthusiastically in preparation for it.

About 500 pleasure seekers accompanied the 24th Bugle Band on their second annual excursion to Port Huron yesterday and enjoyed a very pleasant day's outing. From Port Lambton the excursionists were given a beautiful ride up the St. Clair river, on the "Omer De Conder," to the great American port, Port Huron. The tr'p was an excellent one and thoroughly enjoyed, The boat's arriving the Port Huron Mayor and a reception committee with cabs, and the Port Huron city band. #### PATALITY DUE TO CARELESSNESS. Webbwood Mine Shafts Had Not Beer Cleared of Deadly Gase

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The death of the six miners at Webbwood, as shown at the inquest, was due to carelessness. The ventilation on the lower workings of the mine was poor, and it was customary after a blast to blow air into the workings. The fatal blast was fired at 6 p.m. and at 7 next morning feur miners descended, though the engineer neglected to blow air into the shalt. When the men shouted the engineer hurried to their aid, instead of rectifying his mistake in the proper way. Manager MacMillan, when informed, turned on the air pressure, waited on the surface a quarter of an hour and then descended to his death. W. E. H. Carter of the Bureau of Mines, says the evidence went to show that curiosity to see the value of the stringer uncovered impelled the miners to unusual haste, and led to their asphyxiation. The Department will not take any action. not take any action.

THE WORLD'S MISTAKE

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the head of the Church of England, will soon be in Toronto, and the World of that city proposes that he "should be given a great public reception on national and imperial lines." It will be a very great mistake if anything of the sort is attempted, is the pertinent view of the Hamilton Spectator. In England the archbishop's church is the state church and the head of the church may properly be given "national" receptions. But in Canada -excepting Quebec-there is no state church, and the church of England is but one of half a dozen of the more prominent sectarian organizations into which the people are divided. Under these circumstances it would be very foolish to make attempt to give the archbishop a "na tional" reception. His people in Canada may be depended upon to give him a grand welcome, and make his stay both pleasant and profitable; but no head of any of the sects into which the Canadian people are divided should be received with "national"

AN EXPLANATION.

A good many of our esteemed Lib. eral contemporaries have exhibited much cleverness in making demands upon Lord Dundonald to "explain" what he meant by his now historic advice to Canadians to keep both hands on the Union Jack. Major Clark, of the Kincard ne Review, un_ dertakes to satisfy the "Liberal" curiosity by the following-

Le Canada of Montreal and the Star of Toronto, insist that Lord Dundonald should explain what he meant by telling the Montreal crowd that welcomed him at the depot to "keep both hands on the Union Jack." The request is very reasonable. His friends know what he meant, but he has a right to explain it to his enemies. It is no part of our business to explain it for him, but most of a newspaper's business consists in attending to other people's business, and so we say that he meant for them not to take their hands off the Union Jack. We assume that they had their hands on it, for he asks them to keep both hands on it. The fact that the average man has two hands probably accounts for his use of the word "both." He has a right to explain to his critics, however, how this language applies to the few who have lost both hands and the many who have lost one, as well as to the many who have both hands, but at that particular time did not happen to have them on the Union Jack. Anyone can see how asurd it is to ask men to keep both hands on the Union Jack if they have not their hands on the Union Jack at the time the words are spoken.

CONTRABAND OF WAR.

It is strange that the conflicting rights of belligerents and neutrals with regard to contraband of war have not been authoritatively defined by international agreement. As it is, there does not appear to be any generally recognized international law on prevails is dangerous, for either the Russ an or the Japanese Government might at any time authorize action by its naval officers which would seriously offend some neutral power.

The Russian Government claims the right to name the articles of merchandise which are contraband, and also claims the right to order the se zure of all merchandise that is consigned t oa Japanese port. These surely are extravagant claims. No belligerent can have a right to dictate to ail other nations what goods may be safely sent to sea in ships during the progress of war. And it is manifestly unfair to make all goods consigned to the enemy's ports liable

It is fair that all good bound for to seizure. Japan, which are of such a character that they are clearly intended for military or naval use, should be declared contraband by Russia. But it would be distinctly unfair to declare all goods contraband which are consigned to Japanese ports. It is the Japanese army and havy that Russia is fighting, not the Japanese people at home, the old men and women and children; and the Russian Government has no moral right to seize and destroy the food sent to these people from oversea, and the raw ma terial for their peaceful industries.

When a port is blockaded the case is different; but even in that case the blockade must be effective in or der to justify the blockading power in seizing neutral vessels which may attempt to land stores. Of course the Russian Government would no incur universal ridicule by declaring a blockade of the whole Japanese

BRICK PROBLEM The Board of Works held a special meeting with Wm. G. Hipp, secretary of the Massillon Stone & Fix Brick Co., of Pittsburg, Pa., on Saturday

Mr. Fielder, of the firm of Blight Mr. Fielder, of the firm of Blight & r.elder, was also present. Mr. Hpp explained that on account of labor troubles he would not be able to supply Messrs. Blight & Fielder with the Massillon brick required for the rest of the St. Clair street pavement, but he was prepared to supply other brick which he would guarantee just as good as that of his own Supt. Keel stated that on the day in question P. S. Foster with two constables were timing motor carsing through Minskip on a measured quarter mile, which the defendant covered in 39 seconds, or nearly 24 miles an hour. The sergeant was timing with a self-adjusting stop watch, and was assisted by two constables.

Messrs. Blight & Fielder's contract calls for Massilon brick and they have to guarantee the pavement for a per od of seven years. Mr. Fielder would not consent to using any other brick without the consent of the

Mr. Hipp was very reasonable in-Mr. H'pp was very reasonable indeed and explained his position clearly. If he could supply his own brick he certainly would, but he was willing to ship these other bricks and engineer when they arrive here; so that he was willing to make almost any concession in order to amicably settle the difficulty.

This was quite satisfactory to the

New York Mutual Life Association Bill Debated.

Frank Oliver Insisted That It Was in a Defaulting Position, But Mr. Heyd Said Not, But That Bill Enabled It to Convert a $5,000 Insurance Policy Inte a Straight Life Policy For $1,425.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—The alien labor bill was given a third reading Sat-urday afternoon, despite a renewed protest from Walter Scott and an protest from waiter Scott and an amendment proposed by Nat Boyd.

Mr. Boyd wanted a provision giving Northwest farmers the right to bring in harvest hands. Sir William regarded this amendment as useless; conditions in this particular respect were not being changed. The Prime Minister condemned the proposal, saying that it was mischievous. It would mean that Canadian harvess. would mean that Canadian harves-ters could no longer go over to Dakota for the early harvests there and then return for the Canadian

The New York Mutual Life Association received some hard bumps in the House Saturday. When the bill was taken up in committee, C. B. Mr. Heyd replied that critics might call the association a lot of murderers if they chose. It did not affect the merits of the bill, which was designed to protect the policyholders. The insurance department was satisfied with the bill, the Senate has amons to act.

Mr. Henderson wanted to know where the bill originated. Was it forced on the company or had the company brought it before Parliament? 'I don't know,' answered Mr. Heyd. He said the clause was vague, so vague that the good lawyer could without difficulty make 50 cases in the Privy Council. It was drafted this way purposely. The company which had now $226,000 on deposit could and would reduce the amount to $40,000 within 24 hours after the session closed. "I say that under no circumstances should this deposit be reduced," declared Mr. Gervais. He moved an amendment providing that moved an amendment providing that no payment should be made out of the deposit as it stands to-day for five years, except for death claims in accordance with the insurance act.

Mr. Heyd said that the acceptance of this clause would send the bill back to the Senate, which, in view of the imminence of prorogation, would mean its defeat. Arpealed to by several members, the Minister of Firance stated emphatically that in ro case could the deposit be withdrawn from the treasury, nor could it be utilized for the payment of death claims. It would be held simply as security for ful-

Both were residents of Martoch, a few miles distant from Windsor. Dill and a numerous party, including his younger brother, had been spending the evening in the town and on starting for home about 11 o'clock the were joined by Haley, who was also on his way home. They stopped to do a little shopping and during the short time they were together Haley was the butt of a good deal of joking on the part of Dill's younger brother, which he resented.

Dill championed his brother's cause and a row ensued, during which Haley drew a knife from his pocket, deliberately opened it and stabbed Dill oyer the heart, the blow penetrating that organ. The stricken youth staggered a few parcs and fell, dying in two or three minutes.

Haley did not stop to see the result, but kept on, and when arrested was three milas from the scene. He is a married man with a sick wife and five small children. There are now two men in Windsor jail held for murler, and in each case the victim was a boy and the crime caused through teasing.

Investigation of a Vigorous Delsarte Argument Engages County Court.

Blenheimites Were Fined on Pleading Guilty to Common Assault – Tangled with a Cop.

Frank Knight and Tom Higley, of Blenheim, were arraigned this morning before H.s Honor County Court Judge Houston, on a charge of assaulting Hardy, of Thamesville, at the termination of a recent lacrosse match in Blenneum. H. D. Smith and O. L. Lewis for the crown, and Gosnell and Thompson, of Blenheim, for the defendants. Knight and Higley, on the advice of their counsel, pleaded guilty to the charge and His Honor with a little friendly advice and counsel to the boys allowed them to depart with fines of $2 each and costs.

The case of Adair, charged with assaulting Peardon, a county constable, was then heard. It seems that Adair perceiving a disturbance, had waded in for the purpose of putting a stop to the scrap and incidently help out Blenheim if necessary. He and Peardon met exchanged compliments and after a little sparring Adair had placed his right fist forcibly on Peardon's eye, putting him out of commission for a time. The whole littigation hanged on the question as to which had struck first.

Mr. Peardon stated that while on his way to restore peace, during the riot he had been struck an the back of the head and that on turning he had been pasted another in the right optic by a man who by the light of his undoused glim he identified as the defendant Adair.

Mr. Ed. Stress the next witness his undoused glm he identified as the defendant Adair.

Mr. Ed. Styes, the next witness called was quite positive that he had seen defendant land on Peardon and down him without apparent provocation. Mr. D. E. Wallace told the same story but was scarcely so positive. Nelson Graves had seen the same performance, but interspersed his evidence with expressive accounts of his own adventures. He had been forcibly ejected from the grounds and was bad medicine generally. He couldn't swear that he didn't hit anybody, but knew that he had tried hard. On being accused of having caused the whole disturbance he expressed his sincere sorrow at being the or ginator of so much trouble and promised to be good in the future.

Mr. Adair, the defendant, was then heard and claimed that he had been smitten on the brow by Peardon and that he had naturally retaliated by hitting back.

Witnesses were called by the de-that he had naturally retaliated by hitting back.

Witnesses were called by the defence almost adfinitum, who told many and various tales as to how the "scrap" originated. Mr. Geo. Fury had not been in a fury and consequently was prepared to tell the truth, but he brought out nothing new in the matter of the hit and the hitting. His honor thought that evidence given on fights was liable to be diverse and that the evidence in this case in particular was not sufficient to ensure a conviction.

CONTROL OF THE SEAS.

In Ten Years Will Have Passed to the United States.

London, Aug. 9.—(C.A.P.)—At Hatfield Hon. T. A. Brassey, reviewing the comparative strength of our navy and those of foreign countries, said that in ten years the command of the seas will have passed from the United Kingdom to the United States. He arrived at this conclusion because at the present moment the States had considerably more battleships building than were being constructed for the British navy, and because the resources of the States were greater than those of the United Kingdom. The resources of the States, however, were not equal to those of the United Kingdom combined with those of the colonies, and one reason he was a tariff reformer was because he held that through some form of commercial federation we should obtain such a result as would enable us to maintain our navy at a strength securing us the command of the seas.

Either the Government have not yet made up their minds or they are inquiring what the colonies have to say. Pueblo, Col., Aug. 9 .- The wreck of the World's Fair Flyer on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, near Eden, seven miles north of Pueblo. sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander by the Vladivostock squadron.

The Premier made a general statement of the Government's views on the Malacca and the Knight Commander incidents. He pointed out that the Government's objection to the seizure of the Malacca was based entirely on the British contention that ships issuing from the Black Sea under the commercial flag of Russia were incompetent to transport themselves into cruisers.

"We remonstrated, therefore, very strongly with the Russian Government, and they showed a desire to meet us," continued Mr. Balfour, but an important thing to remember is that it is an entirely new issue. It is the first time any such incident has occurred since the Treaty of Paris, or the Treaty of London, on which our objection is based, have come into existence. It was a charming picture.

"There is only one thing lacking," she said shyly as he held it at an angle so the fireligh would shine upon it, "and I didn't hare put that in without your consent"

"I do not notice anything left out as I recall the spot."
"But there is," she replied, "and one that should be there to make the picture correct. Can't you guess?"

He looked at Telly's face, upon which a roguish smile had come.

"No, I can't guess. Tell me what is lacking?"

"Yourself," she replied.
"But I do not want the picture to remind me of myself. I wanted it so I could see you and recall the day we were there." She made no reply, and he laid it on the table and asked for the other one. It was all done except the finishing touches, but it did not seem to be a reproduction of his original sketch at the cove. "I took the liberty of changing it a little," she said as he was looking at it, "and put in the background where yeu said you first saw me."

"It was nice of you to think of making the change," he replied quickly, "and I am very glad you did. I wanted it to portray you as I first saw

A faint flush came into her face. As she was watching the fire he studied the sweet face turned half away. And what a charming profile it was, with rounded chin, delicate patrician nose and long eyelashes just touching the cheek that bore a telltale flush! Tas that faint color due to the fire or to his words? Then they dropped into a pleasant chat about trifles, and the ocean's voice kept up its rhythm, the fire sparkled, and the small cottage clock ticked the happy moments away.
"How is Mrs. Leach?" he asked at

It is, as father says, her only consola-

"I have thought of that evening many times since," he continued, "and the impression that poor old lady made on me with her piteous supplication. I wonder how it would affect a Boston church congregation some evening to have such an appearing figure, clad as she was, rise and utter the prayer she did. It would startle them, I think."

"I do not think Mrs. Leach would enter one of your city churches," reponded Telly, "and certainly not clad as she has to be. She has a little pride even if she is poor.'

"Oh, I meant no reflection, only the scene was so impressive I wondered how it would affect a fashionable church gathering. I think it would do them good to listen to a real sincere rayer that came from some one's neart and was not manufactured for the occasion. Those who wear fine

"Young Women:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful." silks and broadcloth and sit in cushioned pews seldom hear such a prayer as she uttered that night."

Then as Telly made no response be sat in silence a few moments mentally contrasting the girl with those he had met in Boston.

And what a contrast!

This girl clad in a gray dress severe in its simplicity and so ill fitting that it really detracted from the beautiful outlines of her form. Her luxuriant tresses were braided and coiled low on the back of her head, and at her throat a tiny bow of blue. Not an ornament of any nature, not even a ring, only the crown of her sunny hair, two little rose leaves in her cheeks and the queenlike majesty of throat and shoulders and bust, so classic that not one man in a hundred but would envy her their possession.

And what a contrast in speech, expression and ways—timid to the verge of bashfulness, utterly unaffected and yet sincere, tender and thoughtful in each and every utterance, a beautiful flower grown to perfection among the rocks of this seldom visited island, untrained by conventionality and unsullied by the world! "I wonder how she would act if suddenly dropped into the Nasons' home, or what would Alice think of her." Then, as he noted the sad little droop of her exquisite lips, and as she, wondering at his silence turned her pleading eyes toward him there came into his heart in an instant feeling that, despite her timidity and her lack of worldly wisdom, he would value her love and confidence far above any woman's he had ever met.

"Miss Terry," he said gently, "do you know I fancy that living here, as you have all your life, within sound of the sad sea waves, has woven a little of their melancholy into your nature and a little of their pathos into your eyes. I thought so the first time I saw you, and the more I see of you the more I think it is so.'

"The ocean does sound sad to me" feel blue. Then I am so much alone and have no one in whom to confide my feelings. Mother would not understand me, and if father thought I wasn't happy it would make him miserable." Then, turning her pathetic eyes full upon her questioner, she added: "Did you ever think, Mr. Page, that the sound of the waves might be the voices of drowned people trying to be heard? I believe every human being has a soul, and for all we know if they have gone down into the ocean their souls may be in the water and possibly

"Oh, no, no, Miss Terry. That is all imagination on your part and due to your being too much alone with your

"I should be glad to have her com and visit me. I am sure I should love

"I wish she could," he answered "but she is a schoolteacher, and that duty keeps her occupied most of the time. I shall bring her down here next summer." Then, feeling it unfair to conceal the fact that he knew her history any longer, he said: "I beg your pardon, Miss Terry, but I know what is at the bottom of your melancholy moods, and I knew it the secon night I was here last summer. Your father told me your history then."
"He did? You knew my unfortunate history that night?"

"I did, every word of it," he answered tenderly, "and I should have told you I did if I had not been afraid it would hurt you to know I knew

The matter has been in the hands of an unprincipled lawyer for some months, as no doubt Mr. Terry has told you, but now he is dead, and I have taken hold of it and shall not rest until you have your rights. We shall know what your heritage is and all about your an-o-stors in a few months." Then he added tenderly, "Would it pain you to hear more about it, or would you rath-

Perhaps to keep Telly from guessing what his story was he talked upon ev-ery subject that might interest her, avoiding the one nearest his heart. It came with a surprise when the little clock chimed 11, and he at once arose and begged her pardon for the possible trespass upon conventional hours. "You will go up to the cove with me?" asked as he paused a moment at the foot of the stairs.

"I shall enjoy it very much, and I have a favor I want to ask of you, which is to let me make a sketch of you just where you sat the time your boat

Neptune Hoists British Flag at Lancaster Sound-American Whaler, the Era, Admits Canadian Authority.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 8.—The Government chartered scaling steam-er, the Erik, which conveyed an aux-Government chartered sealing steamer, the Erik, which conveyed an auxiliary expedition to the steamer Neptune, the Calcial steamer sent to complete the annexation of Hudson Bay and territory, returned here vesterday, bringing Major Moddie, Governor of Hudson Bay.

The Erik met the Neptune at Port Burwell, July 25, and transferred coal and supplies. The Erik started on the return journey last Tuesday, while the Neptune cruised north to Lancaster Sound, hoisting the British flag and proclaiming British sovereignty over that territory.

An American whaler, the Era, found in Hudson Bay, paid duties on all goods intended for trading, thereby admitting Canadian authority.

Major Moodie will go to Ottawa to consult with the Canadian Government and he hopes to join the streams.

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' pie criptions and treatment, without avail. Finelly we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." ing Any Ald to the Grand Trunk Railway or to the Canadian Pacific Bailwa Until the Exclusive Bell Telephone Contract With Thom Is Abrogated

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—Eleven questions occupied the attention of the House yesterday morning, most of them of a rather technical character. Mr. Lennox's question about the rumor of a company being formed to take ever the Davis contract on the Cornwall Canal was dropped at his request.

Mr. Boyd (Macdonald, Man.) was Mr. Boyd (Macdonald, Man.) was informed that the drawbacks of customs duty paid to manufacturers of agricultural implements during the year ended June 36, 1904, was $113,474; divided as follews: #. W. Mann Mfg. Co., $704; Verity Plough Co., $10,748; Massey-Harris, $89-860; D. Maxwell & Sons, $2,454; Noxon & Ce., $4,128; Cockshipt Plough Co., $5,696; Tolton Bros., $59; B. Bell & Son, $302.

As Unasswered Questien.

Mr. Leonard had a long question on the order paper relating to the reduction of their employes by the Valleyseld Cotton Company. It embodied a statement by the company that they had been much affected by the British preference, and but for it the Valleyseld mills would be fully employed. Mr. Leonard wanted to know whether the Government had received any copies of the correspondence that had taken place between residents of the town, who had petitioned the Town Council for relief, and the Town Council and the company. Mr. Fielding replied: "The information referred to was communicated to the Government. The cause of the difficulties which have occurred in the cotton trade throughout the world is probably a matter of debate, and we are not prepared to express any opinion in regard to the hon, gentleman's question at present." hon. gentleman's question at pre-

In answer to Mr. Henderson, the Minister of Customs stated that the total amount of customs duty paid on tolacco during the last fiscal year was $604.555. Of this sum, $138,294 was attributable to the change of the tariff in 1897. The total amount of duty collected by the Inland Revenue Department during the same years.

duty collected by the Inland Revenue Department during the same year was $5.178,736, of which $1,587,-224 was derived from the increased duties in 1897.

Sir Richard Cartwright informed Mr. Henderson that for the twelve months ended June 30th the sum of $880,549 was paid in bounties on iron and steel.

Railway Subsidy Revotes.

Railway Subsidy Revotes.

The House then entered upon consideration of the railway subsidies, which are all re-votes. Mr. Maclean wanted to know why provision should not be made in the resolutions to prohibit the employment of aliens.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that that was provided for by the Alien Laber Act passed Saturday, which measure would be sufficient to meet measure would be sufficient to meet the case.

On the motion for a subsidy of $3,-200 a mile for three miles of the Bruce & Algoma Railway, from Bruce Mines Junction to Bruce Mines, Hon. Mr. Emmerson explained that this was part of a continuous system.
Mr. Henderson objected to Government aid being granted unless for a railway for colonization purposes. The vote passed.

The vote passed.

A Change of Plan

On a vote to the Nepigon Railway for a discance of eighty miles, Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that there was some modification of the project as contemplated last year. It was at first intended to build a continuous line from Lake Superior to Lake Nepigon, but now the proposition was to build lines between the wa-terstretches and to use steamers on the lakes with the idea of hurrying in supplies for the Transcontinental.

Against G.T.R. and C.P.R.

Against G.T.R. and C.P.R.

Mr. Maclean made a protest that not a cent of Government subsidy should be granted to either the Grand Trunk or the C.P.R. until they cancelled the contract which gives the Bell Telephone Company exclusive access to their stations. He moved a resolution to that effect.

Mr. Galliner of Yale and Cariboe protested against the subsidy to the Nicola-Kamloops & Simikilan Coal and Railway Company, and it was dropped.

Mr. Blain urged that clause nine be Mr. Blain urged that clause nine he so amended that subsidized railways be required to purchase rolling stock and steel rails in Canada in cases where they are procurable, and Mr. Maclean urged the Government to insert as a condition of a subsidy that only Canadian labor be employed on the work. Sir William Mulock said that was what they were trying to do by the Alien Labor Act.

Tariff Commission Hung Up.

As the House went into committee of supply last night, in answer to a question by Mr. Maclean, Mr. Fielding said that he could not add anything to the very clear and emphatic statement that he made on the budget debate. "It is the intention of the Government," he said, "to appoint a commission of Ministers who will make an enquiry into the tariff as on a previous occasion."

The customs estimates were finally passed, as were several resolutions relating to inland revenue. Then bills founded upon these were introduced and read a third time and passed.

The "anti-dumping" clause." Tariff Commission Hung Up.

The "anti-dumping clause."

The "anti-dumping" clause, designed to meet the growing evils of American commercial encroachment in this country, was discussed at length. None of the Opposition memaers displayed the slightest faith in this means of checking the evil. It was shown that the regulations could be evaded in various ways. Nothing, however, was done.

To Build Degash Factories.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—The proposed ayment of bounties for the destruction of dogfish has been abandoned by the Minister of Marine and Fishories. In its place he will construct three factories in the Maritime Pro-vinces for the reduction of dogfish offal into oil, glue, etc. Each of these factories will cost about $9,000.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—In the Senate, yesterday morning sympathetic references were made to the death of the late Senator Aikins. The speakers were Hon. R. W. Scott, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Senator J. K. Kerr and Senator Young. The last named spoke in behalf of Manitoba, of which province the deceased Senator Senator. which province the deceased Senator was formerly Governor.

WAS TOO EASY.

The score of the Tecumseh-St.

18—10, at the end of the game and it could easily have been 18 to 4 or bome to walk through them and Robinson allowed the ball to pass into the mets.

Although there was fast work all through it, the game was a poor exhabition of lacrosse and a few more games like it here will spoil the game as far as drawing a crowd is concerned. It was easily seen that St. Thomas was no match for the Tecumsels. The latter could get the ball whenever they chose, seemingly, and keep it as long as they liked and score whemever they wished to.

The Tecumsels are fast, faster than any team which has before represented that ham and the teams they play with should be equally as fast, to make a good swift game.

The game was played ten men to a side and St. Thomas was here with their full strength. Blythe and Ramer, the speedy St. Thomas home players, were in good trim as also was McIntyre, but the Chatham defense were too much for them.

It was MacFarlaime's day for starring. He shot most of the Chatham goals and it seemed that every time he shot the ball found the nets. Skelding, the St. Thomas goalkeeper, had a day off. He is a star in the business, generally, but his eye was at fault yesterday. He made a number of star plays, however, and can give a better account of himself.

It is not likely that the Tecumsels will play with St. Thomas again but the next game here will be with a team composed of players who will be worthy oppoments and who will be worthy oppoments and who will be worthy oppoments and who will be worthy oppoments for all that is in them.

At half time MacFarlaine, who was doing most of the scoring, was presented with a huge boquet of sun flowers from one of his lady friends. He bowed his acknowledgements to the Grand Stand, who went wild with applause.

"Trow de hank."

"De hank ain't got no rope."

"Trow de hank, anyhow,"

"Trow de hank, anyhow,"

"That is the way E. B. Jones worked it out yesterday. Parties on shore were surprised to see the Bonne Belle drifting gracefully out to sea before the stiff wind that was blowing, while E. B. Jones sat in the boat working bissfully away. The Bonnie Belle is the prettiest and speediest boat on the Eau and naturally her comings and goings attract the most attention. Her last strange voyage attracted considerable attention and E. B. Jones was quite unconscious that he was cynosure of all eyes, while the people on shore didn't bother much thinking that he was trying some new experiment. Suddenly Mr. Jones looked up from his work and saw the shore and home half a mile to windward. Then he realized that he had thrown his anchor all right, but that he had first forgotten to attach a rope. He had no canvas and after signalling to shore for canvas, he had to wait until help and the sails came from shore. M. Houston, W. H. Harper, and T. J. Ratley have not let Mr. Jones forget the neident since.
