Don't Wait for a Call.

The way to have a call for a thing is to supply the thing.

There is no call among fishes for a hook with a worm on it, but they take it when it is offered.

I often recall fondly an incident which I witnessed some years ago in Colorado. A pale young man one day alighted on the station platform with a large, thin package under his arm.

"What might your name be?" said the Mayor of the town, approaching him.

"I am a Doctor Smith and wish to locate here. Any vacant offices?"

"No," returned the Mayor in a matter-of-factly tone. "There is no vacancy here."

"I will not wait for a call," said the young man. "I will make one myself."

He went to the store, bought a large quantity of goods, and carried them home.

When he was alone, he drew his mother and Jenny close to him, and said: "This is a very important matter."

"I am glad, mother," said Tom. "I have had a word to say to you."

"What is it?"

"I have had a word to say to you."

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3RD, 1902

The Boston Globe, under the caption of "American Expansion," suggests a destiny for Canada far removed from the perfection of imperial federation plans.

While we have been congratulating ourselves upon securing a desirable class of farmer immigrants from the United States it may be well for us to consider the increase in the light of the Globe's remarks. It may be that that journal is but making a merry excuse for an exodus that is seriously affecting the American north-west, and hopes to frighten the Canadian people into an effort to check the shifting population.

At any rate the Globe article is a somewhat startling prediction and we reproduce portions of it, bearing directly on the outstanding question of Canadian lands.

With war armies and fleets, our great men of state have been forcing an American expansion into the Pacific and the Atlantic, some plain farmers, in single file, unarmament and unarmed, have achieved the north-west of Canada a greater American expansion than we shall see in the Philippines or the West Indies in the course of a thousand years.

Whether the old flag nor an appropriation has encouraged them in their mission of benevolent assimilation. No hell-roaring general has led them on their forward march. They did not go to make a wilderness, but to conquer one.

According to an estimate in the British House of Lords, 50,000 Americans settled in Canada last year, and according to a prediction made in 200,000 will settle there this year.

Ontario newspaper reckons that Americans have bought 5,000,000 acres in Manitoba and the Northwest territories since the beginning of 1902.

Probably there is exaggeration in these figures. It is extremely doubtful if the migration has yet reached such extraordinary proportions, and much of the land recently purchased has been taken by large syndicates.

Nevertheless it is known that nearly 1,000,000 acres of it is held as homesteads by Americans who have gone thither, principally from Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas.

Moreover, a Chicago newspaper gives the names of a dozen great manufacturers of agricultural implements who are preparing to set up factories in Canada, and it asserts that thirty others engaged in the same preparations.

While these concerns are undoubtedly looking for the general Canadian trade, free from tariff restrictions, their enterprise must bear some relation to the needs of American farmers.

This movement is peculiarly opportune in one sense at least. It is a plain as that of gradual columns between the old and the new methods of American expansion. The migration is thoroughly characteristic of our fast; the expedition of troops and source houses to our tropical possessions, already densely populated by another race, is a totally new fashion with us.

It is unnecessary to say that the Americans who are driving beyond our boundary are entering Canada without any hostility to Canadian institutions and are welcome to our shores.

Unlike the few political agitators, who without any fear of their own country will lead in their new home a liberal government will establish, which they can accept without detriment to their property or their self-respect.

They are not the first Americans to cross the line at the north of us, but theirs is the first voluntary migration in that direction. New Brunswick was founded by Americans, and parts of Ontario was settled by the loyalists of the revolution, who parted with us in anger, and had no reason to cherish any feelings toward the land from which they had been driven.

But however innocent the present day immigrants may be of any propaganda, they inevitably will carry with them American ideas in politics as well as in agriculture. Even as the British settlers there serve to strengthen the tie between Canada and Great Britain, their American neighbors will naturally exert a strengthening influence upon the tie between Canada and the United States.

The population of the entire Dominion is about 5,000,000. Yet Prof. Golden Smith says that more than half as many Canadians, or 3,000,000, are living in the United States. Most of those people are to be found here in the east, and we know how they and their kindred at home slowly but surely are knitting the two countries together.

T. ERNEST VIDETO IS ACHIEVING SUCCESS. (South Framingham paper.) "Old Home Week" suggests the coming home of many of those who have come out from among us to make homes for themselves all over the world, and it is Framingham's pride that many of her sons and daughters have made their mark in the world, and their impress upon its affairs.

We have in mind at the present moment one of her young sons, who, while he cannot be with us this week, we expect soon to welcome upon a brief visit. We refer to Mr. T. Ernest Videto, who, on Aug. 30, has a fifteen days' leave of absence from his post at Havana, Cuba, to pay his parents, brothers and sisters in this town, a visit, but also what is no doubt of even more interest to him just at the present time to claim a fair young lady. Mr. Videto will wed a beautiful girl in New York city, the only daughter of a widowed mother, her father having been a well known banker and broker in the Metropolis.

Mr. Videto is only 27 years of age, but has won his way to a proud position in the Cuban republic. He was born in Hyde Park, this state, in 1875, his father being a well known New Englander, who in 1886, his father being the superintendent of the Governor's Halls at that time. He graduated from Framingham grammar school and after a year's study at our high school, went to Worcester academy where he took the two years' course in one year and graduated number nine in a class of twenty-two in 1893. He then took a four years' course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston, which he entered without conditions, and from which he graduated with honors as an architect, receiving the Kitch prize of $25. He took a post graduate course of another year, receiving a degree of S. M. (Master of Science). During this last year at the Institute, he designed and built the handsome four-story building at South Framingham, also Dr. St. Clair's residence, one of the most beautiful in the town.

Shortly after graduation he was solicited to go to New York city, where he became the architect of a large building, remaining there nearly two years. By the military government of Cuba he was appointed city architect for Havana, and for the district of Santiago. He served as such from September, 1900, to the time of the military evacuation on May 30, 1902. During that time he built new school houses on the island, took up the ruins of Cuba he was appointed city architect for Havana, and for the district of Santiago. BALFOUR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE. London, Aug. 30.—The approaching expiration of the time limit for the completion of the Atlantic shipping conference is causing the British press to make all sorts of speculation regarding J. P. Morgan's ultimate plans as well as the government's scheme for dealing with the combination. The proposals stated in the Premier's speech, on the re-assembly of parliament is awaited with intense interest by the government and the American counter move against the American syndicate. Inquiries made by the Associated Press in the best informed quarters indicate that the announcement is not true. The government has had to deal with so many powerful and conflicting interests that it has not yet been able to definitely decide on a plan of action. In spite of the opposition to a general subsidy scheme well informed persons consider this to be the most likely solution on the part of a government anxious to take a step which will result in the most beneficial manner to the shipping industry. The indications point more and more to the drawing together of the course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston, which he entered without conditions, and from which he graduated with honors as an architect, receiving the Kitch prize of $25.

He took a post graduate course of another year, receiving a degree of S. M. (Master of Science). Cold Outside, but Comfortable Inside.

No matter what the weather is outside—mild, below zero, or piercing cold—your home will always be snug and cozy with a comfortable, healthful heat, if you have a "Sunshine" Furnace.

The draughts respond so promptly to our specially constructed "Sunshine" dampers that the fire can be regulated to the exact necessity of the weather—no danger of your house being too warm in mild weather and chilly on cold days.

The "Sunshine" costs less and gives more heat from a minimum amount of coal than any other good furnace.

It is sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for descriptive booklet.
