Bridgetown Men Scored Success in D.R.A. Matches

Nova Scot Team Won Honorable Place, in Several Matches.
B. M. Williams Tied for Third in Grand Aggregate

The rifle shots from Bridgetown and vicinity, who attended the D. R. A. matches at Ottawa last week, returned home on Monday and report a very pleasant trip. The honors from this province were easily carried off by B. M. Williams, who tied for third place in the grand aggregate and stood 25th in the Bisley aggregate. Only one other competitor from the maritime provinces secured a place in this aggregate and it is almost certain that Mr. Williams will be offered a place on the Canadian team for Bisley next year. Such a triumph was not unexpected by the friends of Mr. Williams, as he is well known to be a steady shot. All the other competitors met with success but the match conditions this year were unusually trying, owing to the presence of about forty of the best shots from various parts of the Empire, who participated in the matches and won a goodly share of the prizes. Then again the attendance amounted to about 150 more than usual, there being upwards of 550 present.

The Nova Scotia team won third place in the London Merchants' match and in the Coates match, which is open to teams from each regiment. The team from the 69th easily beat their rivals of the 7th from Truro, but were in turn beaten by a number of other teams. Some excellent individual scores were made by the Bridgetown boys. Mr. Williams got a possible of seven consecutive bulls at 200 yards in the Governor General's and some at 500 yards in the Walker and Mr. Miller had a string of six to his credit in the Coates at 500 yards.

Clarence Attacks Gambler's

Mrs. Martha Phinney, of Port Lorne who has been spending the past few weeks with friends here, has returned home on Monday. Mr. Phinney, of Fredericton, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. Fitch, at Valley Farm, for the last two weeks.

Dr. Croaker and wife were at G. H. Jackson's over Sunday.

Miss Woodworth, of Kingston, has been spending a few days with Miss Aggie Jackson.

Miss Primrose Elliott, who is teaching at Weston, Kings County, visited her relatives here over Sunday.

Mr. J. H. Hickman has been spending the summer with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Banks. Mr. Hickman arrived on Friday. They will return to their home at Cliftondale, Mass., this week.

Guy Elliott is visiting his relatives here. He expects to leave soon for New York, where he will spend the winter.

Lorenzo Elliott is seriously ill from a wound in his hand caused by a rusty nail. Dr. Young is in attendance.

Mr. R. B. Fiske has his steam thrasher in operation and is doing good work.

John Adams, one of the few who escaped from the wreckage, told the following story with one of his arms completely severed from his body. He was exceedingly weak from loss of blood and in broken sentences he said:

"It was just at 5:57 o'clock, about 10 minutes before we would all quit work, when I looked back toward the south shore as I felt something move under my foot. I saw the immense steel frame close to the alignment give way between the deep water pier and the shore. Then it rose many feet in the air and its weight must have forced down the nine hundred feet of the deep water pier over the St. Lawrence, for the entire superstructure then gave way and tumbled with a frightful crash into the depths of the swift current below. It all happened in a few seconds, but the seventy odd workmen who were aloft at the time felt that the end had come. I remember distinctly descending and hearing a fearful crash, but I lost consciousness pinned between two pieces of iron, nothing further until I found myself at that moment and recollect:

"I realized that it was a death struggle and I first freed my head and cried aloud for assistance. Some minutes later a boat came alongside me and I must have again lost consciousness. For I can remember no more until I found myself in this condition on the shore."

It was the southern extension of the bridge which collapsed and this was rapidly nearing the zenith of the immense steel arch which was to span the river. For 300 feet from the shore, the massive steel structure teared an arch with no support, but the piers were 180 feet above the water.

Suddenly those on the northern shore saw the end of the half arch bend down a little and a moment later the whole enormous fabric began to break down, slowly at first, then with a terrific crash, which was plainly heard in Quebec, and which shook the whole countryside so much that the inhabitants rushed out of their houses, thinking that an earthquake had happened.

At the time of the catastrophe it is estimated that there were twenty-two men working on the bridge. Of these eight have been so far rescued alive, being picked up immediately after the disaster by boats. Of the other eighty four so far sixteen have been recovered, all dead, and it is feared that all the rest, or most of them, have been either drowned or crushed by the falling girders.

Nothing is known of the cause of the disaster. There was nothing of an untoward nature reported that could give the slightest indication during the past few days that the huge structure was in a dangerous condition. It was built on such immense lines that it did not seem possible that it could break down. Whether it was caused by a defect in the materials or by an error in the calculations of the architect, is a mere matter of conjecture. The one certain fact is that where this afternoon there was almost the half of a bridge that was to have been one of the engineering wonders of the world, with a small army of mechanics and workmen there in nothing more but a mass of fantastically twisted iron and steel wreckage and a terrible number of corpses floating down the river or crushed in between the fallen girders.

Work was going on as usual, the men being employed in placing the immense girders in position. At five o'clock a workman, who had been on the bridge, saw a lighted freight car on the tracks and saw heavy moving cranes were employed in getting the steel into

Quebec Suffers Fearful Catastrophe

A pall hangs gloomily over Quebec, for the ancient capital is face to face with the most lamentable disaster which has ever darkened its history. The Quebec Bridge once the pride and delight of the citizens, which was looked forward to connect the south shore with the north shore in the most important of the commercial history of Quebec, is now a mass of tangled, broken and twisted steel work lying in the bed of the St. Lawrence and sixty-three human beings have met death therein.

John Adams, one of the few who escaped from the wreckage, told the following story with one of his arms completely severed from his body. He was exceedingly weak from loss of blood and in broken sentences he said:

Several from here attended the sports and races at Cambridge and Annapolis.

Again two of our county horses are to the front. At Cambridge on the 2nd, F. Bishop's mare, of this place, won the green race, and Harry Marshall's mare, of Bridgetown, won the grey-foal. This is the second race this speedy young mare has won this season.

J. H. Hicks and family, of Bridgetown, were guests of F. G. Palfrey on the 2nd.

F. E. Wheelock left on the 2nd for Dale College.

C. Archfield, of Wolfville, has been the guest of Mrs. J. Daniels for a few days.

Miss Bishop, who has been the guest of her brother, our obliging station agent, for the past two weeks returned to her home in Digby on Monday.

Miss Una Hall is spending a few weeks in Sydney and Halifax.

Mrs. E. A. Phinney is spending the week in Yarmouth.

Upwards of fifty men are employed in

It is useless at times like these to attempt to combat the spectre of ad-spirit takes the joy out of our vista.

STORM IN YARMOUTH AND KENTVILLE.

The storm of Sunday, 25th ult was se-lightning struck the house in Yar-

It would save business men the expense of book-keepers and the loss of bad debts, all of which some one has to pay for.

BEYNTVILLE was visited by a furious thunder and lightning storm on Sunday. The storm set in about one o'clock and lasted for about four hours.

A SAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Mother's at the sea shore,
Sister's gone away;
Brother Bill is catching perch
Out there on the bay.

Heaped up in the kitchen,
All the dishes stand;
All the common china,
All the Haviland.

Mother's been away a month,
Dad has used them all;
Now he's eating off the plates
That decorate the wall.

Mother, mother, mother,
Come back from the shop;
Dad can only find enough
Plates for two meals more.

He will not wash the dishes,
He piles them in the sink;
If you could only see them now
I wonder what you'd think.

Oh, hurry, mother, hurry;
Come back to us to-day;
For father hasn't washed a dish
Since first you went away.

The skin rids the system of more urea than the kidneys?

Nearly one fifth of the waste products of the body is eliminated by the skin. Suppose there is some unsuspected, unseen skin trouble—the pores are closed—the skin is unable to rid the system of its share of the waste.

Then the blood carries this waste product to the kidneys—immediately they are overworked—they strain to throw off the extra load. What the kidneys can't possibly eliminate, the blood takes up again and deposits on the nerves.

Then come the dull aches in back, hips and head—the nerves unstrung and irritated—the urine charged with impurities and highly colored—and you fear you have "Kidney Trouble."

Nonsense. Your kidneys are overworked—not diseased.
What you need is "FRUIT-A-TIVES" to act on the skin.

Fruit-a-tives

open the clogged pores—start up healthy skin action—and let the skin perform its natural function. This instantly relieves the kidneys of overwork—the back-aches stop and the complexion is beautified. There is no excessive waste matter in the blood to bring dull headaches—the urine is cleared—the bowels are opened and regulated—and the kidneys strengthened.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" act directly on the three great eliminating organs—Skin, Kidneys and Bowels—make them well and keep them well.
That is why "FRUIT-A-TIVES" cure so many cases of apparent kidney disease that are really skin troubles.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are fruit juices—in which the natural medicinal action of fruit is many times increased by the secret process

FEDERAL REGULATION OF FOREST FIRES.

(Boston Transcript.)
Forest fires are no respecters of boundaries, but it is a very rare occurrence when such a conflagration is tracing in three States at once, as is the case now in Southern Massachusetts. The flames which three days ago burst out in the woods at East Thompson, Conn., have swept across a corner of Rhode Island and reached far up into Worcester County, Mass., and were last night giving employment to all the fire-fighters that could be mustered in Sutton, Oxford, Ex-bridge, and Douglas. The flames are said to have a five-mile front, and to be rolling on. The most stalwart as-serter of State rights may yet admit that forest protection and the defence of the community against woodland fires in circumstances such as these is a function that he would be obliged to the Federal Government if it would assume.

A TRAVELLING MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from London to Lettland, Ore., writes Sam A. Garter, a well known travelling man. "I was in the front of the compartment with some other travelling men when one of them went into the coach and came back and said: 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with brandy colic. Her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death-like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in ten minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le-Grand, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grand she was all right, and I received the thanks of many passengers for 'the cure.' For sale

SEVERE THUNDER AND LIGHTNING STORM.

For four or five hours Sunday
Halifax was in the grip of a furious thunder and lightning storm, which while it did no serious damage was very violent. All day long rain had been coming down in torrents and towards four o'clock a heavy thunder storm commenced, which continued until nearly nine o'clock in the evening. Torrents of rain fell and the gutters were filled to overflowing and big puddles were made in some of the side streets by the rushing water.

RACE TRACK FOR WESTERN COUNTIES.

According to the Middleton Outlook men are now at work building the proposed race track at that place.
This is to be a regular half mile track 10 feet wide and 50 feet long stretch. The shape is elliptical, the turns being at the south west and north-east extremities. A road has been built from Main street to the south-west corner of the track, where the main entrance will be placed. The grading is to be completed in about three weeks, and some time in September horsemen will probably have an opportunity to test the new track.
The officers of the company are:
President, C. I. Bowley; Vice-President, A. J. Morrison; Secy.—Treas.,
F. L. Shaffer. The directors are—W.
C. Feindel, (Managing Director), F.
W. Foster, L. B. Dodge, H. V. Gates, and G. N. Reagh. Lands for the proposed track were secured from Dr.
Louis Saunders. The location is just south of the D. A. R. line. The ground is as level as the floor, and experts say the soil is excellent for the purpose.

Puzzle Corner

A Wise Decision

Said Peter Paul Augustus: "When I am grown a man, I'll help my dearest mother the very best I can. I'll wait upon her kindly; she'll lean upon my arm; I'll lead her very gently, and keep her safe from harm.

"But, when I think upon it, the time will be so long."

Said Peter Paul Augustus, "before I'm tall and strong, I think it would be wiser to be here and shut off his breath. He must be almost there. Would he be on time? Had he passed the little station and not seen the lights? With a glad joy he sees the glimmer of lights; the north bound is standing there just ready to start. Is he too late? Can he reach the engine in time? With all his might he hurries to the side of the cab and calls:

"Don't let the train go; there's another train in the bridge!"

"What is it, boy?" said the engineer "What is the trouble?"

"Stop the train, the horses are stuck in the bridge over Bone Gulch."

Trembling at the fearful meaning of this message, the engineer picked the boy up in his arm and hurried to the station. John clung convulsively to the man's neck sobbing with joy. The men gathered where the engineer was holding John, but he was trying to get away.

"Please let me go. I must stop the other train; please let me go."

And it took quite a while to convince the tired, panting horse that the other train was safe. The men took him on the engine when they went to remove the horses, and carried him in their arms to his home. He is now their pet. The Northern Pacific made him a present of a life pass. To James and Rob he is in the same class with Washington and Lincoln, and they are faithful followers of the "noticing habit."—Michigan Christian Advocate.

John's Noticing Habit

(Rec. Willard Aldrich.)

"What foolishness is John up to like he was counting every hair? What's he trying to do?"

"Don't know. Rob. He seems to be watching everything. Guess he thinks he can remember all he sees. Sort o' cyclopedy of horses, stumps and all sorts of truck. I'd hate to make a junk shop of my head in that way."

"So would I. I'll not run round with my head on a pivot looking at everything. I'm in for a good easy time, aren't you?"

"You bet. Let's go to Lane's creek fishing. Shall we ask John?"

"Yes," he's lucky finding good places."

Soon the boys were at the stream eager for trout. For some reason Rob and George caught none. When was lucky in getting a strike, and landed several beauties. Rob watched him and then called out:

"There are some beauties in this pool but I can't catch them. Come over and have a try."

"All right—look at that. Isn't he a beauty? And here's another. My, won't they taste good for supper?"

"How do you catch them? There's another; what bait you got?"

"These brown flies, you see all around here, those little fellows. Put on two or three and you'll catch some."

"That's queer bait, but I'll try it. If that don't beat all, I caught one the first time."

On the way home, Rob said: "John how did you happen to use those flies for bait?"

"Well, I noticed that the trout were striking them, so when they would not bite the worms, I concluded that they were the bait to use, and I was right, as this nice string shows."

"How did you come to notice it? I saw them coming to the top, but did not bother my head as to what they were after."

"I'm making it a habit to notice everything. Elder Smith said the other Sunday that 'if we would form the noticing habit we would be successful, and I mean to succeed."

"Is that the reason you watch things so?"

"Yes, that's the reason. You remember what the old Indian said to his son: 'Be like the wolf. No matter how suddenly you may start him, or how swiftly he may run away, he will always turn and take a second look at you, so that he will know you when he sees you again.' I believe when he sees you again."

"No, I'll not try to remember every thing, but I will try and see everything that I have seen I can recall it easily. You can't recall a thing unless you see it carefully, you know. If you see it of great value to me some day, and I owe this string of fish to it to-day."

John's habit was soon to be tested. Returning late one evening from a neighbor's house, he heard something struggling on the trestle over Bone Gulch. Going closer, he saw that a team of horses, in attempting to cross, had fallen through and were fast. The train north was due in a short time, he could just about reach the station if he hurried. The train south was due now, and would pass the north bound at Orion if on time. What should he do? It was a fearful responsibility for a boy of twelve. If he went to warn one, the other might come, and a wreck at this place would be fearful. He did not hesitate long, for he had noticed that the south bound train was almost always late, and that the north bound was almost always on time, and he took the chance of this being the case this time. As he hurried toward Orion, he night settled down, one of those lanky nights where it seems as though you were gloomed in and shut off from all

A WONDERFUL COUNTRY.

A contractor in San Francisco sent to Ireland for his father to join him. The journey was a great event to the old man, who had lived in rural districts all his life, and he reached San Francisco much excited. After several days of sight-seeing, his son resumed his business, and suggested that his father should visit the Presidio.

"The Presidio, father, is the government reservation for the soldiers—a fine bit of park; and you'll enjoy yourself."

At the end of a stormy day, the old man stood gazing at the big buildings. Seeing a soldier near, he tapped him on the shoulder.

"Me bye, plaut's that string of houses forrest us?"

"Why, those are the officers' quarters."

"And that was with the big smoke-stack?"

"That's the cook's shanty."

"Shanty, is it? Well, this is a great country! 'Tis palaces they're calling."

The young man offered to show him the new gymnasium. On the way the sundown gun was discharged just as they passed. The old man, much startled, caught his companion's arm.

"Phat's that, now?"

"Sundown, is it? Think of that, now! Don't the sun go down with a terrible lump in this country!"—Lippincott's.

THE PRECATOR STICKS.

In the parish church of LeHitee on one occasion a young probationer was officiating in the absence of the regular minister, and as he had been tired with a long journey and wanted a rest before delivering the sermon, he gave a long sermon. The pastor, not knowing that the preacher was suffering from a bad cold—indeed, the bad cold was a chronic complaint. The first four verses were finished not so badly, but at the fifth, Tammas, sick and no amount of tanning could get him started again. At last the minister had to stand up, and that in no pleasant mood. Leaning over the pulpit side he thus addressed the congregation—

"Tammass, if ye mak' sic a Pash now, what'll ye dae through a' the ages o' eternity?"

Hundreds of Tenants Driven From Home by Flames.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, August 23.—A terrific fire broke out in the premises of the Eagle White Lead Company's plant last night, and in five hours after the flames were discovered the fire was under control, after losing out property valued at $750,000, driving hundreds of tenant dwellers from their homes and leaving waste several acres of ground.

Nearly everything on the irregularly built premises was burned. The street, Court street, and the Norfolk and Western tracks, was destroyed, numerous crowded tenements hurried to places of safety, many carrying their valuables with them.

Trolley and telephone lines had to be cut by the firemen, crippling both kinds of service and adding to the loss by the fire itself.

One man was slightly injured.

For a time the big plant of the Krebs Printing Company was threatened, but the efforts of the firemen averted the danger.

DR. J. S. AUG. SIBBES.

George Elliot in one of her books says—"It takes a great soul to be a true friend—a large catholic, steadfast, loving spirit. One must forgive much, forget much, forbear much. It costs to be a friend, or to have a friend; there is nothing else in life, except motherhood, that costs so much. Sometimes a man must even lay down his life for his friend."

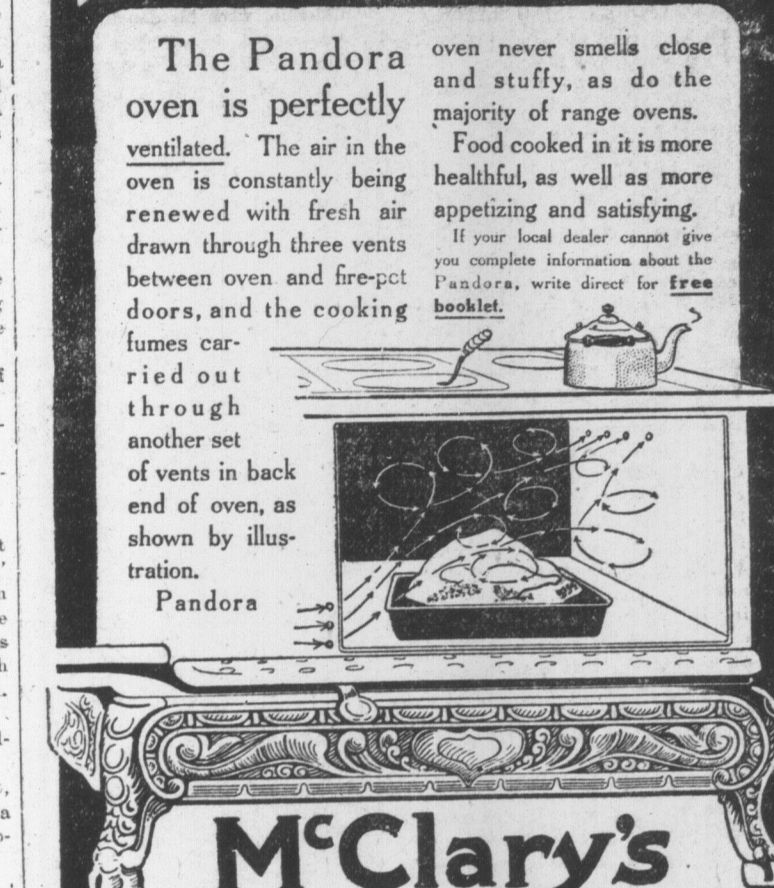

A subscriber once received a dun through the post-office, and it made him mad. He went to see the editor about it and the editor showed him a few duns of his own—some for paper, one for type, one for rent and several others.

"Now," said the editor, "I didn't get mad when they came because I knew that all I had to do, was to ask several reliable gentlemen like you to come and help me out, and then I could settle all of them."

When the subscriber saw how it was he was content, paid up and renewed for another year.—Antelope Valley Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1907

Considerable work has been done on our roads this fall under the direction of Councillor Carlier, which should relieve us of some of the unpleasant features of the fall and early winter. Following in the wake of the road machine, carloads of gravel are being spread on the main streets. Some of the sidewalks are also receiving attention. We trust that Queen street will not be overlooked in this respect. The catch basins have been opened and relieved of their congested condition, as suggested in last Monitor.

The weekly cleaning up of our business streets is done so far as it goes, and a commendable action on the part of our town fathers. Metal receptacles placed upon the principal corners and an effort on the part of business places to keep their own sidewalks clean would give even more gratifying results.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION FOR THE DEAF.

The annual report of this most excellent institution has been issued, and from its pages we fill the following facts:

The Principal reports that the total attendance for the year was 119, of whom 57 were from Nova Scotia, 4 from Newfoundland, 5 from New Brunswick, and 5 from Prince Edward Island.

On the subject of compulsory education Principal Kearon says: "This is not the first time that I have called attention in my report to the desirability of a law making it compulsory for parents of deaf children to send them to school. Since my last report I have communicated with the superintendents of schools for the deaf in every State of the Union, and have obtained information regarding this matter from the British Isles and Europe. In some of the States in the Union a compulsory education law is in force and in every place where such is not the case the superintendents of schools for deaf declare the fact, and declare how much it is needed. In England, Scotland and Wales the compulsory education of the deaf is enforced the same as with hearing children. In Ireland no provision has been made by the Imperial Parliament for the education of the deaf, and though the most interested and influential persons in the country have for the last fifteen years or more petitioned Parliament annually to make provision for the education of the deaf nothing yet has been done, and the schools are still entirely dependent for support on charitable contributions. When provision is made by government, compulsory education will then be enforced also. We have at present pupils who were not sent to school until they were sixteen or seventeen years old and for whom but little can be done compared with what might have been accomplished if they had been placed under instruction at the proper age. I would respectfully urge you to send this session to have the law amended that it will not be possible for one deaf child of sound body and mind to escape an uneducated in the Province of Nova Scotia."

A Straight Talk on EMPIRE LINIMENT

HICKS—ELDERKIN.
A very pretty and interesting event took place Wednesday morning at 10:30 at the home of Captain E. B. Elderkin, when his daughter, Sadie A. Elderkin, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward A. Hicks, a well known merchant of Bridgetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wilfred Gaetz in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride, on her father's arm, entered the beautifully decorated room to the strain of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Kate Campbell, where the ceremony was performed under an arch of green festooned with asparagus and bride's daisies. A bell of sweet peas hung from the arch. The bride looked charming in a gown of unicolor of Brussels net over ivory silk and bridal veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses.

Miss Gladys Elderkin, niece of the bride, was flower girl, while Master Edward Crowell, of Sydney, a nephew acted as page. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served. The happy couple then left for Parrsboro, where they spent a week at Broderick's, before continuing their trip. The bride's travelling dress was of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Elderkin, of Toronto; Mrs. Hunter, of Moncton; Mrs. DeWolf and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Elderkin, of Fort Greville; Mr. and Mrs. R. Robertson, Nappah, and Gilbert Pike, Georgia.

ARMSTRONG—NIXON.

The home of Messrs. Robert and Samuel Nixon, of Victoria Falls, was the scene of a very pleasant event, on Wednesday, August 28th, when the latter's daughter, Bessie L., was united in marriage to G. Gordon Armstrong of Victoria.

The ceremony, which took place on the piazza, under an arch of Virginia creeper, was performed by Rev. C. H. Haverstock in the presence of their immediate relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was daintily gowned in white and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Alberta Nixon, sister of the bride, was also gowned in white and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. W. H. Nixon, brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Colin C. Smith rendered the wedding march.

A beautiful collation was served, after which the bride appeared in a very becoming suit of recent grey vestation cloth. The happy couple were driven to the depot where they boarded the train, amid showers of rice and good wishes, to spend their honeymoon in Lunenburg and Queens Col's eyes.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents, among which was a beautiful gold watch and chain from her father.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not a real disease. We think of Dyspepsia, flatulency, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific condition of the stomach.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, it does precisely that which nature intended to do, and with the result of restoring the stomach to its normal condition, and thus restoring the health and vigor of the whole system.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Editor Day was generally observed as a holiday, the fine weather being propitious for excursions and outings.

Mr. Louis Brooks holds the position of foreman in Hicks & Sons' factory, not Mr. Parley, as erroneously stated.

The monthly meeting of the Town Council was held last evening. Nothing was done except the passing of a few bills.

Mrs. Edward A. Hicks will receive Monday and Tuesday afternoons, September 9th and 10th, at the St. James Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bart, of Brantville, celebrated their golden wedding on Monday, a report of which will be given next week.

Port Lorne and Albany correspondence is necessarily held over this week. Our correspondents are requested to send items by Monday's mail when possible.

Hay has been selling at $10.00 per ton in the field, but little moving now. Star's crop is about exhausted. Expected prices will rule high this fall and winter.

Butter is almost a luxury now, and good butter is very scarce. Whether the fall crop of feed is causing a scarcity of supply, or whether it is all being shipped, the fact remains that the demand is far in excess of the supply.

An important item of freight to Boston by the steamers now is the blueberry export. Last night, for instance, steamer Boston took out 331 crates. The crop in this county is reported fair, while in the New England states it is almost a failure owing to the drought. The latest returns give the price at 14 cents per quart with a firm market and an upward tendency.—Yarmouth Light.

The steamer Granville was chartered to take an excursion party from Bridgetown to Digby and return on Labor Day. About 150 people availed themselves of the opportunity to make the trip, which, the fine September weather made especially enjoyable. The party picked up at Port Wade, N. B., of the St. James, being catered. They also visited Digby and Annapolis, returning at about half past eight. The Bridgetown Band enlivened the occasion with their music.

Annapolis entertained a large crowd on Labor Day. The baseball game, the Pastime Club of Kentville vs. the Annapolis Royal team, was the feature of the sports and the closely contested game resulted in a victory for the Pastime Club of four to three. The entertainment in the Academy of Music drew a crowded house, and an interesting programme was rendered by local talent. The day was a success financially to the Band, under whose auspices the celebration was held.

Mr. John Fox, of the firm of John Fox & Co., London, Eng., has been spending the past month in Kings and Annapolis counties visiting the agriculturists. He states that he finds the fruit exceptional in quality and a larger crop and 25 to 30 per cent cleaner than last year. Prospects for good prices in the English market are excellent owing to that country having but half a crop this season. Mr. Fox has had a very successful trip and is emphatically advising farmers to hold their apples and ship direct if they wish to make good profits. He believes spraying has been very efficient in producing the clean crop of the present season, and advises four consecutive sprayings for the best results.

The Daily News, of St. John's, Newfoundland, refers to the pulp, paper, lumbering and agricultural development now going on in this Colony in the following words: "What a change! Where the lowly deer used to roam a few years ago at Bushy Pond, Grand Falls, and Bishop's Falls, they're the plough and horse and the ring of the hammer and anvil! All these enterprises can be traced to the energy and business capacity of Mr. Harry J. Crowe, and we think that he is a good second to Sir Robert G. Bell in being the means of opening up the resources of our Island home." Mr. Crowe, to whom reference is here made, was formerly a merchant of Bridgetown, and has many agents throughout the Province, who are delighted to hear of the success and prosperity of a man who is truly esteemed wherever

BALDWIN'S AIR SHIP GREAT EXHIBITION ATTRACTION

Thrilling flights from the Grounds in This Wonder of Modern Times. A Splendid Exhibition is Assured. A feature of thrilling interest at the Halifax Exhibition, which will open on September 29th, will be the daily flights of Baldwin's Air Ship. The Air Ship will rise from the Exhibition Grounds and after about twenty minutes spent in circumnavigation of the City it will return to the starting place. A great cage-shaped bag, 52 feet long and 17 feet in diameter, constitutes the buoyancy-giving part of the machine. Beneath this is the wooden car, 42 feet long, in which sits Captain Baldwin, and in which is the motor that drives the twin screw propellers at a rate of 1,000 revolutions a minute. In this car also is the steering gear. The Air Ship contains 9,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas, to produce which 4,000 pounds of sulphuric acid and 4,000 pounds of iron turnings have been ordered to be in readiness for the arrival of the Air Ship from New York. The Exhibition itself gives every indication of being a tremendous success. The entries for Live Stock were larger on the Closing Day than ever in the past. The horses on exhibition will number 250.

The Horse races will attract a splendid field and the racing will continue for seven days.

FALL PASTURES.

Fall pasture is very important for the stock farmer. If the stock, have plenty of pasture they go into the winter in prime condition and go through the winter in better flesh than if the pasture had been scant and they had started into the winter in a poor condition.

Orchard grass makes good fall pasture. It may be sown in September, after the wheat is sown, at the rate of fifteen pounds to the acre; but if you have neglected to sow grass, seed with a view to fall pasturing, sow some quick-growing plant.

In August, sow a patch of rye. It will make pasture until freezing weather comes, and then be an early pasture in the spring.

For hogs, sheep and beef cattle, rape makes a good pasture. If the land is reasonably rich, it makes a large amount of feed, and will be found profitable sown on thin land if well manured. I prefer to put on manure after the land is plowed, then harrow it in well, and sow about three and one-half or four pounds of seed to the acre and harrow it in. If the season is not too dry, the rape will be ready to pasture in six or eight weeks, June or the first of July is the proper time to sow the seed. Do not turn in on it when the dew is on, and it is best to turn the cattle on the rape pasture when they are almost filled with grass, and leave them in only about half an hour the first day, gradually increasing the time until they can eat it at liberty.

If the stock are kept off when it is frozen until after it is thawed out well, it does not hurt it so much to freeze, but if hotheld when frozen, it will turn dark and is then worthless.

If rape is sowed in the spring and kept until fall for pasture, it will be bathy and not so nutritious, and the stock will not eat it so well as when put on it while it is tender.

Lambs may be fattened on it for market with no grain feed at all, while hogs should have slop and some grain to finish them for market.

VENTILATING BARNS WITH MUSLIN CURTAINS.
(Dr. E. M. Santee, Federal Dairy Expert.)

I would like to ask if Dr. Santee would advise me whether his idea of dairy barn ventilation (muslin curtain method, recently described in The New England Homestead) would be advisable here in Aroostook county, Maine, where the thermometer often drops down to 20 degrees below zero.—O. M. H. Sherman, Maine.

The correspondent would have no trouble in using the muslin curtain as a ventilator for his dairy barn, even in so cold a country as northern Maine. I have 2 square feet of cloth for every 1000-pound cow in my own stable at Cortland, N. Y., where we had a temperature this winter of 42 degrees below, and we had no difficulty whatever in keeping the temperature above the freezing point, even during the worst weather. Once, for a very short time, the temperature went down to the freezing point, but not long enough to even form a scum on the water in the stable. The curtains usually give a temperature about one to two degrees lower than that of the stables containing glass windows. But the advantage of the elimination of moisture, which the curtain accomplishes, many times compensates for this difference in temperature, as there is an absence of the chill that accompanies the moisture in a solid stable.

We have experimented with different amounts of muslin per cow from 1 square foot to 3 square feet and find that 2 square feet gives the best results. This system has been adopted by many dairymen in central New York, whose the temperature goes very low and the reports are universally favorable, so I have no hesitation in recommending it for any situation where cows are kept.

I am in receipt this morning of a letter from Harry B. Winters, president of the New York state experimenters' league, in which he says: "There are 100 head of cattle in our barn and the ventilation is very satisfactory indeed. We have had plenty of nights during the past winter when the temperature was 20 degrees below zero, but this barn has been perfectly comfortable. We have no recording thermometer, but I believe the temperature would not be over three or four degrees warmer if the muslin curtains were taken out and glass put in. This is the part that surprises me—how we get so much good ventilation with so little effect on the temperature, even in the coldest weather. I regard muslin curtains as perfectly practicable for any farmer. It is probably fully as cheap to cover the windows with muslin as it is to keep the glass windows in a clean and neat condition."

PROSPECTS POOR FOR N. B. FARMERS.

Backward and Rainy Season Will Make Light Crops.

Reports on the state of the crops would seem to indicate that 1907 will be a poor year for New Brunswick farmers. The hay crop is light, grain it is heard will not start before the first of August, and while potatoes are reported to be a good crop the price has now fallen to $1 a barrel. There are indications that this will also be an off year for apples.

The fine weather which prevailed last week throughout the province generally was very welcome to the farmers, as it gave opportunity for progress with the harvesting of the hay crop, which has been retarded a great deal by the wet weather.

Reports, however, from up river say the hay crop is exceptionally light. Large tracts were winter-killed and the cold backward spring prevented growth. In June there was too much cold weather and not enough rain. The wet weather of July and August strengthened up, but reports say that the yield is very light and in some places a famine is anticipated.

The intervals, the product of which many farmers depended upon for their supply, have been covered with water for the last two or three weeks, and the situation in some quarters is said to be serious.

There is grave danger that the grain crops, being late, will not mature until the frost sets in and prevents further ripening. Fields of oats which in average years would be whitening at this time are still in the green or milk stage and if frost comes as early as usual the prospect of a short ended grain crop will be realized. The late spring and the absence of warm sunshine during July are given as reasons for retarded development.

Potatoes are said to be a good crop though these are great danger of rust. Last week, large quantities were brought down on the river boats and the supply was greater than the demand. The price fell to $1 a barrel and on Saturday large shipments at the May Queen warehouse could not be sold even at that price. The prices in the American markets have been falling and if the Ontario market fails the Carleton county farmers who have increased their potato output enormously will, it is thought, be in a bad way.

Farmers say that this is an off year for fruit and that the apple crop would be small even if the frost had not blighted the blossoms, which was the case in some sections of the country.—St. John Times.

GIVING AWAY YOUNG TREES.

About ten years ago I was in Virginia during the apple gathering season. Barrels were scarce in the region, every cooper shop and every cooper was working night and day to supply the demand for barrels, while men were scouring the mountains for hickory poles with which to make hoops. Nearly all these barrels were then hooped with hickory poles.

Commission men buying apples sent to other States and barrels were hurried into the apple region in vast numbers. I saw an entire train of forty cars arrive upon one occasion which was entirely hooped with hickory hoopled slack barrels—three hundred and twenty barrels to each car, and ten hoops on every barrel. Here at one time were seen 12,800 barrels, for which there had been sacrificed 64,000 living hickory trees.

In a few years time these trees would have been capable of supplying 9,000,000 carriage spokes, the price of which now, $35 a thousand, would realize $875,000.

The farmers who permitted this sacrilege of cutting out the young hickory which had made rapid strides toward salable lumber trees received for this train-load of their trees less than $400.

LABOR vs. CAPITAL.
WASHINGTON, August 22.—Following the suit of President Van Cleave, of the National Manufacturers' Association, for an injunction against the American Federation of Labor, President Gompers said today that probably the association would bring a counter suit against the Manufacturers' Association, charging that body with conspiracy.

"We have learned," said Gompers, "that Mr. Van Cleave has been instigated by the direction of the Manufacturers' Association, which met in New York recently and decided to raise a fund of $1,500,000 to crush out organized labor."

"If Van Cleave expects us to surrender the rights that cost centuries of struggles by the people, he is mistaken in his men. We know we are within our legal rights and we propose to exercise them, regardless of personal consequences."

"I am strong in my conviction that when it comes to the test of surrendering my rights as an American citizen or surrendering to an injunction of the courts, I shall not hesitate to exercise my rights."

"The men behind the injunction proceedings are pitting their millions of money against human hearts and minds and in the long run the hearts and minds will win."

President Gompers said the federation had communicated with eminent lawyers, but did not announce their names until they agree to act as counsel for the defence.

VERDICT AGAINST RAILWAY COMPANY

WINDSOR, Ont., August 23.—The coroner's jury at the Essex explosion inquest, after being out nearly three hours, brought in a verdict to-night holding the Michigan Central railroad responsible for the accident. Assistant Superintendent H. Adams of the Michigan Central, admitted in his evidence that explosives had been carelessly handled, but he did not think there had been intelligence on the part of the railway employees. The movements of the car containing the dynamite were traced from the point of shipment to Essex by the railway employees subpoenaed for the purpose and it was shown that the explosives had been allowed to remain in the railway yards for many hours waiting the arrival of a crew from Amherstburg. It was during this time that the hot weather brought about the leaky condition of the dynamite which caused the explosion. During the investigation, a box of dynamite packed in the same manner as that which caused the explosion was brought into the room where the hearing was held, and Frederick Julian, expert of the Pluto Powder company at Blackrock, opened the case and took out one of the big dynamite cartridges for the jury to examine. But nobody would touch the stuff and most of the spectators fled from the building until the dangerous stuff was carried out. The verdict against the railway company caused no surprise in view of the fact that ever since the explosion claims agents of the Michigan Central have been in town making arrangements wherever possible for a quiet settlement with those whose property was damaged.

Miss Wable, of Newton, Mass., was a guest at Pleasant View Farm, a few days the past week.

Miss Alice Spurr, of Deep Brook, spent a few days with her friend, Miss Hatlie Harris, Pleasant View Farm, this week.

Frank Jones made a business trip to Halifax this week.

O. S. Dunham, editor and manager of the Digby Weekly Courier, made us a friendly call on Tuesday.

Mrs. William Morgan left Saturday for St. John, on a short visit.

M. Armstrong purchased the fine young horse, Border, Jr., from W. G. Clarke last week.

"Sporty" Benson has made some marked improvements to his property this summer.

Thelbert Rice is making some improvements to his dam at the Bear River Granite Works.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from here took tea and spent the evening at the Harbor View House, Smiths Cove, on Tuesday evening, a very enjoyable time being spent.

There has been considerable traffic in horse flesh here during the past week. On Monday, Reuben Alcorn purchased from M. Rice his fine young mare, Lady William.

A tennis tournament will be held on the court of W. G. Clarke, Esq., on Labor Day, September 2nd, between members of the Light Tennis Club and the Young Men's Social Club.

Messrs. Clarke Brothers purchased from Reuben Alcorn his fine young horse, Bob, which they are using on their delivery team. The best is none too good for this firm.

Sirames George L. Captain C. E. Lewis, brought about one hundred and fifty people up here from Digby on a moonlight excursion on Thursday evening of last week.

Mr. Sydney Chute, a gentleman over 60 years of age, was one of the party who took in the excursion on steamer Granville last week, and with there is nothing remarkable in this, it is remarkable that this was the first time he was ever on board a steamer.

The outlook for a grand exhibition here on October 16th looks good. The committee are busy with the preparations. The main interest seems to centre in the stock show as there never was as good a class of stock in the County as there is at the present time.

While Charlie Harris, of Marganville was driving down the river road on Monday, his colt got scared by a boat sail and shied, throwing Mr. Harris out, breaking three of his ribs and otherwise injuring him. The colt ran a short distance and was stopped. We deeply sympathize with Mr. Harris in his sad misfortune.

R. A. Harris is making some improvements on his property. He has had the stone wall removed and is terracing the front. This not only beautifies his own property but widens the street at this point and adds very much to its appearance. We congratulate Mr. Harris upon his spirit of improvement, and would recommend it to others.

A dastardly attempt to poison a pair of horses belonging to William Cassaboom, of the Harbor View House, Smith's Cove, was made on Wednesday evening or early Thursday morning of last week, by putting cut-trin mixed with paria green in their feed boxes. Mr. Cassaboom thinks there must have been fully a pound of the poison in the two boxes and probably the large dose is what saved the life of the horses, the only noticeable results being the horses mouths were burned quite badly with it. This is the meanest trick we have heard of for some time, and we sincerely hope the culprit will be brought to justice.

Dr. J. P. Amis had his colt, William Mack, on the speedway last Friday afternoon and while off the sulky standing talking to a man, the colt stepped on the rein, pulling his bridle off, and started down the hill on the run. The doctor grabbed him by the head and held on as long as he could but seeing that he could not stop him, he threw himself clear. The colt ran down the hill and, in making the turn at the corner by George Kennedy's, he pitched pole end over end, clearing himself of the bike, and ran a short distance, when he was stopped. The bike was considerably damaged but, strange as may seem, the colt came out without a scratch.

Smith's Cove

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hills, who were married here last week, have gone to Newton, Mass., where they will make their future home.

B. Fred Hastings, who has been visiting at Winchester Castle, returned to Boston this week.

Miss Conroy, who has been the guest of Mrs. N. H. Raymond for a number of weeks past, has returned to her home in Jersey City.

Mrs. S. J. M. Allen, Yarmouth, is visiting Mrs. Chris. Harris.

The Misses Gunn, who summered here, have gone back to St. John.

The tourists are departing for their homes, and by the first week in September most of them will have gone.

Robert Stoddard, who is quite prominent in literary circles in New York, has leased a piece of land from Herbert Woodman and will erect a log cabin thereon. Mr. Stoddard, who formerly lived in Montreal, will be a permanent summer inhabitant of the Cove.

Miss Whiting and Miss Collins, of Rochester, N. Y., have become so attached to Smith's Cove that they have decided to summer here in future, and will have a cabin built during the coming winter on a plot of ground they leased from Herbert Woodman.

Who was the belle of Smith's Cove this summer? Is the question that has agitated the minds of some of the young ladies. The best way to settle it is to take a vote through the Telephone.

A number of Chamberlain's young people had a picnic here last Thursday. They spent an enjoyable day.

Two of the most highly respected and oldest residents of the Cove drove to Bear River the other day with their faithful mares, Katie, reaching there without any incident of note. But on their return journey there was something doing, for the Captain pulled a fragrant cigar while his good wife enjoyed a candy sucker. They looked happy as clams, and they were had a lively conference some days ago with Morrison, in which the subject was considered in all its phases. It is also intimated that the Attorney-General is making preparations to prosecute individuals of the Standard Oil company under the provisions of the Sherman law, and that the action will be pressed without delay and with the greatest vigor.

When officials of the Department of Justice were questioned on the subject, they refused to discuss the matter.

Effort to Break Up Oil Monopoly

WASHINGTON, August 25.—An important conference held here between Attorney-General Bonaparte, Judge Frank B. Kelton, of St. Paul, and Chas. B. Morrison, of Chicago, the latter being special attorneys for the government in suits for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company, has resulted in the reporting of more gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government.

As stock exchange quotations are very largely the reporting of more gambling transactions, I believe their wide transmission and publication could be largely prohibited in the same manner or upon the same grounds as Louisiana lotteries and other such gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government.

HOLD FAST YOUR CONFIDENCE.

There are three kinds of people in the world, the "wills," the "won'ts" and the "can'ts." The first accomplish everything; the second oppose everything; the third fail in everything.

It is natural for the world to believe in men who believe in themselves, who have confidence that they can accomplish things.

The chief difference between the successful and the failures lies in the single element of staying power.

The man who does things, who brings about results, never waits to see what the crowd is going to do. A weak, discouraged, disheartened being is no more the man that God made, than is the hardest jargon, sweet music.

The thought that one is a victim of circumstances, that success or failure depend on chance, is absolutely destructive of all noble character building.

The world stands aside for the man who has a programme, a work to do and who feels that he is able to do it.

Never allow yourself to admit that you are inferior to the emergency confronting you, for this is to invite defeat. Strongly affirm that you can do the thing. The moment you harbor a doubt of your ability, that moment you capitulate to the enemy.

Fear of failure or lack of confidence in one's ability is one of the most potent causes of failure in all walks of life.

To do anything worth doing in the world, we must not stand shivering on the brink, thinking of the cold and the danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances.—Sidney Smith.

Sick Exchange Promotes Gambling Transactions

A Pittsburg dispatch says—(Innocent) Tiers, vice-president of the Dollar Savings Bank, yesterday sent a letter of suggestion tending to the suppression of combinations of organized wealth to create panicky conditions, and thereby causing lack of confidence and hampering the prosperity of the country. Mr. Tiers is a publicist and economist and his suggestions have been received in this city with more than passing interest. In the letter he says—

"As a possible means to protect the legitimate business interests, the wage-earners and bread-winners of the whole country from untold injury, due to industrial stagnation, I respectfully suggest that the necessary steps be taken to prevent the illicit transmission and publication of stock exchange quotations."

"As stock exchange quotations are very largely the reporting of more gambling transactions, I believe their wide transmission and publication could be largely prohibited in the same manner or upon the same grounds as Louisiana lotteries and other such gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government."

New York Threatened With Meat Famine.

NEW YORK, August 23.—Drivers and stablemen employed at the wholesale beef packing houses went on strike last night. They demand a uniform working week of 65 hours at increased wages. Both the independent companies and the so-called "trust" are affected. The companies have notified the retailers to send their own teams to the distributing depot for supplies. For the present, at least, it is thought that the retailers will not be seriously inconvenienced. The strike follows a meeting of the Teamsters' Union and when the order to strike was received from a messenger of the union, the drivers left their teams on the streets or wherever they happened to be at the time. About 500 men are out. Representatives of the strikers and agents of the companies were in conference during the afternoon trying to come to an understanding. The companies wished to renew a working agreement, the life of which recently expired, but the men insisted upon a working week of 65 hours.

Soon after this meeting, which failed to reach a compromise, the order to strike was given. The companies were then somewhat taken by surprise, and it was late in the night before the abandoned wagons with their perishable loads were recovered and brought to the stables.

The Misses Gunn, who summered here, have gone back to St. John.

The tourists are departing for their homes, and by the first week in September most of them will have gone.

Robert Stoddard, who is quite prominent in literary circles in New York, has leased a piece of land from Herbert Woodman and will erect a log cabin thereon. Mr. Stoddard, who formerly lived in Montreal, will be a permanent summer inhabitant of the Cove.

Miss Whiting and Miss Collins, of Rochester, N. Y., have become so attached to Smith's Cove that they have decided to summer here in future, and will have a cabin built during the coming winter on a plot of ground they leased from Herbert Woodman.

Who was the belle of Smith's Cove this summer? Is the question that has agitated the minds of some of the young ladies. The best way to settle it is to take a vote through the Telephone.

A number of Chamberlain's young people had a picnic here last Thursday. They spent an enjoyable day.

Two of the most highly respected and oldest residents of the Cove drove to Bear River the other day with their faithful mares, Katie, reaching there without any incident of note. But on their return journey there was something doing, for the Captain pulled a fragrant cigar while his good wife enjoyed a candy sucker. They looked happy as clams, and they were had a lively conference some days ago with Morrison, in which the subject was considered in all its phases. It is also intimated that the Attorney-General is making preparations to prosecute individuals of the Standard Oil company under the provisions of the Sherman law, and that the action will be pressed without delay and with the greatest vigor.

When officials of the Department of Justice were questioned on the subject, they refused to discuss the matter.

Effort to Break Up Oil Monopoly

WASHINGTON, August 25.—An important conference held here between Attorney-General Bonaparte, Judge Frank B. Kelton, of St. Paul, and Chas. B. Morrison, of Chicago, the latter being special attorneys for the government in suits for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company, has resulted in the reporting of more gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government.

As stock exchange quotations are very largely the reporting of more gambling transactions, I believe their wide transmission and publication could be largely prohibited in the same manner or upon the same grounds as Louisiana lotteries and other such gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government."

HOLD FAST YOUR CONFIDENCE.

There are three kinds of people in the world, the "wills," the "won'ts" and the "can'ts." The first accomplish everything; the second oppose everything; the third fail in everything.

It is natural for the world to believe in men who believe in themselves, who have confidence that they can accomplish things.

The chief difference between the successful and the failures lies in the single element of staying power.

The man who does things, who brings about results, never waits to see what the crowd is going to do. A weak, discouraged, disheartened being is no more the man that God made, than is the hardest jargon, sweet music.

The thought that one is a victim of circumstances, that success or failure depend on chance, is absolutely destructive of all noble character building.

The world stands aside for the man who has a programme, a work to do and who feels that he is able to do it.

Never allow yourself to admit that you are inferior to the emergency confronting you, for this is to invite defeat. Strongly affirm that you can do the thing. The moment you harbor a doubt of your ability, that moment you capitulate to the enemy.

Fear of failure or lack of confidence in one's ability is one of the most potent causes of failure in all walks of life.

To do anything worth doing in the world, we must not stand shivering on the brink, thinking of the cold and the danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances.—Sidney Smith.

Sick Exchange Promotes Gambling Transactions

A Pittsburg dispatch says—(Innocent) Tiers, vice-president of the Dollar Savings Bank, yesterday sent a letter of suggestion tending to the suppression of combinations of organized wealth to create panicky conditions, and thereby causing lack of confidence and hampering the prosperity of the country. Mr. Tiers is a publicist and economist and his suggestions have been received in this city with more than passing interest. In the letter he says—

"As a possible means to protect the legitimate business interests, the wage-earners and bread-winners of the whole country from untold injury, due to industrial stagnation, I respectfully suggest that the necessary steps be taken to prevent the illicit transmission and publication of stock exchange quotations."

"As stock exchange quotations are very largely the reporting of more gambling transactions, I believe their wide transmission and publication could be largely prohibited in the same manner or upon the same grounds as Louisiana lotteries and other such gambling transactions are now prohibited by the national government."

New York Threatened With Meat Famine.

NEW YORK, August 23.—Drivers and stablemen employed at the wholesale beef packing houses went on strike last night. They demand a uniform working week of 65 hours at increased wages. Both the independent companies and the so-called "trust" are affected. The companies have notified the retailers to send their own teams to the distributing depot for supplies. For the present, at least, it is thought that the retailers will not be seriously inconvenienced. The strike follows a meeting of the Teamsters' Union and when the order to strike was received from a messenger of the union, the drivers left their teams on the streets or wherever they happened to be at the time. About 500 men are out. Representatives of the strikers and agents of the companies were in conference during the afternoon trying to come to an understanding. The companies wished to renew a working agreement, the life of which recently expired, but the men insisted upon a working week of 65 hours.

Soon after this meeting, which failed to reach a compromise, the order to strike was given. The companies were then somewhat taken by surprise, and it was late in the night before the abandoned wagons with their perishable loads were recovered and brought to the stables.
