WORLD'S ONLY LADY CIRCUS PRESS AGENT

Miss Letitia Yates of Sells-Floto Organization Claims This Distinction.

HOME IN NEW ZEALAND

Fair Advance Agent is Keen Horsewoman, But is Anti-Suffrage.

Toronto has been honored by a visit from one of the most interesting personalities attached to circus life. Miss Letitia Yates, who during the past week has been in the city, has the distinction of being the only lady circus press agent in the world. She holds this position for the Sells-Floto Circus, and in an interview proved to The World that the most interesting features were not shown under the canvas.

Miss Yates, who is a New Zealand native, first came to America only by birth, first came to America only by birth, first came to America only by birth. She has been in the city for several months ago, and has already won a name for herself throughout the whole of the continent. She has traveled from coast to coast in her capacity as an advance agent and has nothing but the highest praise to bestow on the American people, more especially the male sex.

While she admires Canada and the United States, Miss Yates says that the scenery here cannot compare for one moment with that of her native home, where everything is so open and free. Everybody there is an athlete, Miss Yates herself being a great enthusiast in horse riding, fishing, swimming and boating.

In talking on the suffrage question, Miss Yates expressed her disgust at the English women's methods, and in fact she had nothing but scorn for the suffrage question, more particularly those who are adopting the militant methods. "A woman's aim in life should be to be beautiful. A man should be the man and a woman should not need any better position in life than that of a wife," is the phrase used by Miss Yates in this connection.

BATHUB CLEANER.

A simple device for keeping the bathtub clean consists of a flat nickel handle into which is fastened a piece of heavy Turkish toweling, says The Newark News. The cleaner is so made that it can be used in any size of tub. Another point in its favor is that the cleaner is not an objectionable addition to the bathroom fittings.

PEACH TRIFLE.

This is the season for peach trifle, says The Chicago Journal. Make a custard using two egg yolks, two cups of milk, two tablespoonsful of sugar and a little vanilla. Moisten sponge cakes or lady fingers with cream, and arrange them in a dish. Put slices of fresh peaches in the middle and over the cake, pour the custard over all, whip half a pint of cream, sweeten and flavor with vanilla, and beat on top.

THE GARDEN CONDUCTED BY RACHEL R. TODD M.D.

Annual Phlox.

Those who desire profusion of flowers and variety of coloring, attained with the least amount of labor possible, may arrive at their desire by sowing phlox in mixed varieties in the early spring.

Now do not confuse this "phlox" with those tall-growing perennial phlox, the delight and standby of the herbaceous borders in so many gardens.

This phlox is quite a different plant—an annual—needing to be sown every year—and a rich addition to every garden.

And, by the way, do not confuse this annual variety with the very early phlox subulata, an early alpine, or ground phlox.

This phlox is the "phlox drummondii" or dwarf summer phlox, growing from ten inches to perhaps twelve.

Fresh green oblong leaves, perhaps two inches long, almost hidden by the bright flower heads, clothe the short stalk. As a rule at first each plant bears one flower head composed of several flat, five-petaled flowers.

Later, and especially if the first flowers are picked early, more blossoms appear from short shoots appearing from the axils of the first leaves.

Day after day, week after week, long into late autumn, your phlox bed will be brilliant with dazzling, warm tints. From dark maroons, pinks, lavender, white, pure, white with tinged centres, indeed every shade of true blue. No one can complain over a lack of shades from which to choose.

This phlox is little trouble. Everyone knows it. Everyone has a patch of the bright flowers running down the kitchen, walk or bordering the beds by the fence. Even on the rocky one can find a fitting spot, for it finds itself at home wherever fairly rich soil can be given it.

A pretty combination bed can be made by sowing phlox drummondii and "love-in-a-mist" together in the same bed. The latter grows somewhat taller, but the delightfully feathery, mossy appearance of the fine-cut foliage of the plants out of which the misty white and blue stars are peeping forms one of the loveliest contrasts one could imagine.

AN ATTRACTIVE GOWN OF BORDERED MATERIAL

BORDERED

Fabrics are more beautiful and more varied than they have ever been before and these models, which are especially designed for such fabrics, are sure to be much in demand. In the illustration, the gown is made of raitine with a border weave and bands of color. The effect is exceedingly attractive but the labor of making is very slight since these materials form their own trimming. Flouncing could be used for these models with equal success or, indeed, any bordered material. Plain material can be used too with trimming arranged in any way that may be liked. The design consists of a simple blouse in kimono style and a straight one-piece skirt. The back edges of the blouse are straight. It can be finished with long or short sleeves, square or round neck. The chemise can be used or omitted as liked. The skirt can be fitted by means of deep darts over the hips or gathered and can be finished at the high or the natural waist line.

For the medium size, the blouse will require 2 1/2 yards of bordered material 44 inches wide and the skirt 1 3/4 yards 44 inches wide. For the large size, the blouse will require 2 3/4 yards of plain material 27 or 36 inches wide, 2 1/2 yards 44 inches wide and the skirt 2 1/4 yards 36 or 44 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 1 3/4 yards.

776 1/2 A Kimono Waist, 34 to 42 bust.

779 A One-Piece Straight Skirt, 22 to 30 waist.

Measure of the skirt 779 from 22 to 30 inches waist measure. They will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents for each.

Three New Dishes.

THE next time the tiresome question of what to have for lunch or supper annoys your peace of mind, recollect these three following receipts for simple meat dishes. They are not altogether new ways, but are a trifle different from the usual.

The first one is for deviled meat. Use fresh steak or cold sliced meat or fowl of any kind and make little cuts in it, with a sharp knife. Mix a tablespoon of olive or salad oil with a tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, a dash of paprika, a teaspoon of made mustard and salt to season. Spread this mixture over the meat and into the incisions. Put meat in a wire broiler and broil until it browns, then place on a hot dish and dress with melted butter. Cold chicken is extra fine deviled.

The second suggestion calls for two thin slices of dried beef cut in bits with the kitchen shears and freshened in cold water, and three links of pork sausage emptied from the casing. Fry the sausage in a little butter and add the minced beef; when it commences to brown, pour on two eggs beaten slightly. Scramble this together until the eggs set firmly and add a cup and a half of rich milk containing a tablespoon of cornstarch or two tablespoons of dissolved flour. Continue cooking until as thick as wanted. If you prefer, the egg may be beaten in the milk and not scrambled over the meat.

Fried salt mackerel is a dish that is much liked if served only at long intervals. The small fish are richer and fatter than the large fellows, two should serve four persons bountifully.

Lay the little fish skin side up in cold water over night, or all day, to draw out the salt. When ready to cook, remove the head, tail and fins. Cut the backbone at both ends and pull out; all the bones will not come free but most will. Put half a cup of water in a shallow pan with two tablespoons of butter, lay the fish in this and simmer until the water cooks away and the butter begins to brown the fish. Or, put the fish in a wire broiler and brown over hot fire, dress with melted butter and pepper. Rice or creamed barley should be served with mackerel.

BOUDOIR CAP FOR HOPE CHEST

One of the daintiest of new boudoir caps is made of ribbon woven basket fashion over white net. It is especially suitable for the "hope chest" of the engaged girl.

Cut a circular piece of white net the size desired—18 inches square and then the corners rounded off is about right, unless one wishes the cap larger—and place across it strips of ribbon about seven-eighths of an inch wide. The strips should be the same distance apart on the net as the width of the ribbon. In this instance seven-eighths of an inch. Tack the strips with needle and thread at each end. The circle now has the appearance of satin-striped net, the satin and net stripes being the same width. Now weave in and out of the tacked lengths of ribbons the same number of lengths up and down the net.

The circle now has the appearance of a satin and net checker-board. Tack the ends of these last lengths of ribbon also. This fastening of the ends, however, is not sufficient to keep the ribbon in place, so in the

THE TRIPLE TIE BY A. H. C. MITCHELL

Going out in the open, followed by his guard, he had Gordon hit several times. Then, as if inadvertently, he drove it in such a manner that it fell and a little clump of bushes.

"What do you think of that?" he exclaimed to his guard. "I'm losing my batting eye, let's get a drink of water and then we'll go and get that ball. It cost $1.25."

It took Gordon fifteen minutes to get his drink of water and fess around the cabin before he started after the ball, carefully marked the spot where it fell and when he reached it his eyes gleamed, wanting far more than he wanted the ball. Picking up the white object he walked straight ahead and suddenly sat down facing his guard.

"Sit down and make yourself comfortable," he said. "But the guard remained standing."

"By the looks of the sky I'll bet you've observed teaching behind him."

The guard cast his eyes upward and when he lowered them a six-shooter in the hand of his captor was pointing directly at his heart.

"Drop the gun! Drop it!" said Gordon, in a low, tense tone.

The guard hesitated the fraction of a second and then let the weapon fall to the ground.

"Turn around and walk two steps ahead," commanded Gordon, jumping to the fast and seizing the guard's six-shooter when his command was obeyed.

The rest was merely routine work, as it were.

"On the run, now," ordered Gordon, pointing to the east. "Back to the bridge be quick about it."

The ex-guard started off, while Gordon started fifty feet before Mildred and Elmer jumped from behind a tree.

"Won't you wait for me, Gordon?" said Mildred in an instant later they were in each other's arms.

"You will have to do all the hugging. Honeybunch," whispered Gordon. "I've got these two six-shooters in my hands, but I'll make up for it as soon as I get a chance. You are the bravest girl in the world. Now, come, dear, we are not out of the woods yet. Get up, Steve."

Gordon turned over one of his revolvers to Elmer, and the procession started, the mountaineer leading the way, followed by Gordon, holding a six-shooter in one hand and Mildred's hand in the other, and Elmer bringing up the rear.

Arriving at the bridge, where Steve was waiting with the car, Gordon said to his prisoner: "Go back to your crowd and tell them I'll give them twenty-four hours to leave this country, unless if any of you come, back I'll make you wish you hadn't."

"That 'other man's comin' up tomorrow," said the mountaineer. They were the first words Gordon had ever heard him utter.

"What man?" he demanded.

"That man that's been a-payin' us money."

"Is that so?" mused Gordon. "In that case, you can tell your man to hold on to him until they hear from me. I'll settle with that fellow when I get around to it. Tell your men I won't bother them as long as they hold on to him. Now, you can go back. Here's your gun, but I'll just take the cartridges out of it first."

Now, then, Elmer, climb in the front seat. Come, Mildred, get up and draw her to one side. I want you to spend the evening here. I'll have something I want to show you. Elmer, can you have a horse brought to say to you. We can have an Elmer."

FRIDAY MORNING, AUG. 22.

THE REIGN OF REASON.

The Telegram filled two columns last night explaining how and why it didn't garble the figures we showed that it did garble in its four double columns last Monday. It accomplishes its explanation to its own satisfaction by once more begging the question of the value of the eight years' franchise. The Telegram, by the way, has got it down to seven and a half years, though we are still a month away from eight years.

Mr. J. C. Hutchins, president of the Detroit United Railway, was interviewed in Montreal by The Star of that city last Tuesday, and his statement, which we append, shows that Detroit is doing pretty much what Toronto is doing, the in a reverse order, to establish the value of the property. This is what Mr. Hutchins said:

"A Street Railway Commission has, as you know, been appointed and consists of several very influential and capable citizens of Detroit. This body has just held its first meeting and will probably get down to the issue itself within a short time. At present we are taking an inventory of the properties of the company within the city limits, and expect to have the figures ready within ninety days from the time we commenced."

"When this work is completed, we shall communicate with the commission, which, in turn, will have its experts go into the matter thoroughly and report. Until these preliminaries are effected, it is impossible to say what turn matters will take."

"One thing is certain, however," said the Detroit United president, "and that is that the company will place every facility in the way of the city to assist it in the acquisition of the property. When the sale price has been arrived at, it will be up to the citizens of Detroit to say whether the property shall be acquired or not. If the city wants to buy it, the company stands ready and willing to sell it and has done so for some time."

"We have had an anonymous letter asking us to neglect The Telegram in these discussions. We can only say we regret as much as anyone the necessity of having to conduct a foolish controversy with an unreasoned opponent. But loud-mouthed and unreasonable methods had established an order of tyranny in some departments of civic affairs, to the exclusion of the desire of the ordinary citizen. It has been necessary to vindicate the viewpoint of the ordinary decent-minded business man who objects to bulldozing methods, and is perplexed by bullying tactics. We have endeavored to keep the point in the air, and we believe it has been done. The city hall good to make it clear that yelling, in itself, was nothing to be afraid of, unless the force of truth and common sense made the yelling authoritative. We claim no monopoly of truth and common sense. The Telegram does, and equips us with long ears to boot. But the public is the best judge of these things."

THE U. S. RAILWAY SITUATION.

When we are told that the United States railways are capitalized at the average rate of $78,000 per mile, we must bear in mind that this includes a great many small broken-down and ill-equipped railways, whose physical valuation would not amount to over $15,000 per mile, and whose capital issues are probably in proportion. It is when we come to consider the better class of railways that we are struck with the enormous burden of their fixed charges compared with their earning capacity. The fixed charges have increased much more rapidly than the earnings of these railways, and the money raised by their various flotations has not gone into betterments, extensions or maintenance, but has been to a great extent absorbed by financial melanges and other ruse-offs. Many examples of such operations, some of them upon a gigantic scale, might be cited. One occurs to us at the moment, a small one, indeed, but whose modus operandi was so simple that we are tempted to recall it. When Judge Burke and his associates acquired control of the Hocking Valley railway, they raised eight million dollars by a bond issue.

Then they sold coal lands worth about $50,000 to the company for the $3,000,000; they put in their pockets $7,950,000; but for all time to come the railway is burdened with a fixed interest charge of $400,000 a year.

Now this sort of thing has been going on all over the country, until it is safe to say that of the seven billion dollars added to the capitalization of the American railways during the past ten years, not more than one-half has gone into actual construction, equipment and betterment.

In Germany the government has invested in the construction and equipment of the railway nearly as much per mile as the sum for which the American railways are capitalized, but Germany has a complete and up-to-date railway system, and the government is able every year to give better service and lower fares, and to gradually decrease the fixed charges by the accumulation of the sinking fund.

The railways of the United States, with few exceptions, are either of no value or are so loaded down with fixed charges that they cannot be properly maintained, or efficiently equipped, and are becoming less valuable every day. The properly constructed railway, efficiently managed, should not only become more valuable every year, but should in time pay for itself, or at any rate give better service and lower rates without increasing its fixed charges per mile. The man who would build a factory with borrowed money, and at the end of 25 years of ever increasing business, find his machinery antiquated, his building unsafe, his debt bigger, and his fixed charges higher in proportion to his earnings than when he started, would go out of business or be put out of business as an incompetent.

The men who are operating the railways of the United States are in that position. They give inadequate service at high charges, but their plant and machinery are in such bad condition that last year they killed one thousand persons a month outright and wounded about 300 persons a day in addition.

Yet these are the men who say the government cannot operate a railway! If President Hoover was a humorist, he might threaten the United States with intervention unless the slaughter of the people was stopped. The revolutions in Mexico are attended with no such fatalities. That the United States Government will have to take over the whole railway situation before long is evident. Private ownership and operation of railways in the United States is a failure and a breakdown, utter and complete, ghastly in its tale of corruption and bloodshed.

Yet there are people in Canada who would allow the same conditions to obtain here. We are developing our Mellens and our melons, and are following in the footsteps of our neighbors, inviting similar disaster.

AN UP-TO-DATE CHARTER.

Out of the many varieties of improved city governments now being tried in the United States, some at least are bound to yield valuable lessons. Since the commission system was first instituted in Galveston, Texas, the idea has not only been copied, but has formed the basis for other experiments which, while retaining the fundamental principle, have differed greatly in the method of its application. But all have the same object—the elimination of the political element and the party boss, and the establishment of an administration that will secure the greatest common good. Dayton, Ohio, recently sanctioned what is claimed to be a decidedly new type of municipal government. The charter now adopted provides for the short non-partisan ballot, a city manager and a small commission of five members for purely legislative purposes. They will also employ the city manager, who is responsible for the five departments of administration. The heads of each of these departments will be appointed by the city manager, but all subordinate official posts will be filled under the conditions imposed by the regulations of the civil service.

This new Dayton charter is believed to be unique in its creation of a department of social welfare, which, in addition to supervising the departments of health, parks and playgrounds, is authorized to enquire into the causes of poverty and disease in the city, and to make recommendations to the legislative commission. Further innovations include the preparation of a scientific budget and the establishment of a purchasing agent, the standardization of city supplies, the keeping of time and service, and many other reforms. The Dayton charter is the result of careful consideration of other municipal systems and comes into effect next New Year's Day.

ROLLER WENT OVER FARMER'S BODY

CHATHAM, Aug. 21.—(Special.)—William Gamble, a farmer residing near Painscourt, had a narrow escape while driving a roller in one of his fields. The team of horses on which he ran away, Gamble was knocked and thrown under the top of the roller from his seat at the horses' feet, the roller passing over his body, inflicting severe injuries. He is now in a precarious condition.

Miners Remain True to Their Candidate, Ignoring Political Cross-Currents.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(C.A.P.)—Barnet Kenyon, Liberal and Labor candidate, won the Chesterfield by-election today with 7755 votes. Edward Christie, Unionist, made 5584 and John Scurr, Socialist, 583.

The result shows how indifferent are the coal miners to the generally recognized political forces. Barnet Kenyon was secretary to the Derbyshire Miners' Association and his candidature today with 7755 votes, Edward Christie, Unionist, made 5584 and John Scurr, Socialist, 583.

At the same time the voters of the election cannot but have an influence on the future of the Labor party. The Harve, another prominent miners' leader, who is also an M.P., declared at one of the last of Kenyon's meetings that he refused any longer to live in the atmosphere of the central labor caucus and he would not be dictated to by them as to what he should do in the house of commons.

In the last election J. Haslam (Lab.) had 7283 votes and G. W. Radford (U.) 5655.

The Philosopher of Folly

By Sherwood Hart

THE FOOLISH BOSS.

'Tis sad to see a Foolish Boss, who thinks it helps to rip and war and stamp around and tear across and up and down his office floor, who loves at every punk excuse to shout and rant and throw a fit, who carries on to beat the deuce to show the works that he is in. What earthly benefits accrue when thus he swells his lungs and chest and spouts forth talk of purple hue that melts the buttons off his vest? Yet when a Foolish Boss we meet, 'tis wasted time to argue thus; in haste he'd chase us to the street and heave an inkwell after us. He'd blow us up and call us down—'twould fill him with a joy immense to roast us to a rich dark brown, and in spite of this we know we're right—the man who runs his works by gas but a poor and witless wight, and shows a total lack of class. A kindly act, a word of praise, a little time in the waiting spent, would help things out in many a case. For all the wisest people know that constant friction causes the bolts of the machinery of life, you cannot teach a Foolish Boss.

MOUNTED CADETS AS GUARD OF HONOR

Young Soldiers Will Escort Premier Borden at Opening of Exhibition.

Hon. G. H. Perley and Mrs. Perley left accompanied Premier Borden at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition. Two troops of cadets, one mounted and the other infantry, will form the guard of honor at the opening of the exhibition. Order made by Mr. Perley and Mrs. Perley.

SAFE RAILWAY TRAVELING.

Railway companies have been slow to recognize that expenditure in order to prevent injury and damage to person and property is more profitable in the long run than numerous accidents and expensive litigation. But if the lesson of experience has been long in learning it may be that account remain more accurately and tenaciously in memory. To the public at least it will come as a welcome relief to find that the old maxim of prevention being better than cure has reached some at least of the transportation companies.

Just now the Grand Trunk Railway Company is occupied with the installation of a "Safest First" organization. It has engaged Mr. George Bradshaw as safety engineer, and has charged him with the duty of carrying this new departure into practical effect. Mr. Bradshaw will inspect the whole Grand Trunk system, confer with its officers and prepare recommendations which, it is hoped, will make it the safest in the country. At all important centres, he will deliver illustrated lectures, showing the causes of accidents and how to avoid them. The company intends to enlist the personal interest of all its officials and employees, and thus endeavor to place the Grand Trunk in the forefront of transportation services for safety in operation.

WILL COME ON "FARMERS' DAY."

Montreal city council has advised Mayor Hoeken that the members will officially visit the Canadian National Exhibition on Sept. 2, which is "Farmers' Day." As the city council will meet on Sept. 2 and will probably have a late session, there will have to be a general cold plunge taken on the morning of the third by Toronto councillors to be in good condition to entertain the visitors from Montreal.

LEGION OF SCOTS LEAVING OLD LAND

Nearly 200,000 Scottish persons emigrated from Scotland during the four years 1909-10-11-12. This number is equal to two-thirds of the population of Edinburgh, or nearly to the combined populations of Grimsby, Ipswich and Reading. Statistics are printed in a parliamentary reply by the secretary for Scotland to a question by Mr. Jesse Collins. They show how emigration has increased, the following figures being the number of Scottish emigrants only: 1909.....42,522 1911.....57,417 1910.....55,211 1912.....64,052 The figures for the first three years are those of Scottish emigrants from Scotland only, while the 1912 figures include Scottish emigrants from other parts in the United Kingdom. The figures above make a total of 210,932, but during the four years 26,723 persons of Scottish nationality landed from ports out of Europe, if the emigrants had remained in Scotland they might have peopled a large new town.

WOODBINE HOTEL COMPANY, LTD. Geo. A. Spear, President. 102 to 110 King Street West, TORONTO, July 22nd, 1913. The Simplex Sales Co., Toronto: Dear Sirs—About a month ago I had my car with a set of puncture-proof tubes. When the tubes were installed Mr. Shaw drove a nail into one of the tubes six or seven times to test the self-healing qualities of the tube for some time. The tube has remained the same, and has no trouble whatever with my tires. Now feel confident that I can go on as far as I like and get back without stopping on the road to replace a punctured tube. Wishing you every success with the new tube, I beg to remain, yours truly, GEO. A. SPEAR.

We will make this Sensational Test to fully convince you. We have a demonstrating Simplex Puncture-proof Pneumatic Inner Tube, that has more than 100 punctures in its tread, which we will place in the shoe and drive you 50 miles WITHOUT ANY DEPRECIABLE LOSS OF AIR. CAN YOU AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT THEM? The Simplex Sales Company 559 Yonge Street Phone - N. 2000. Insist that Simplex Puncture-proof Pneumatic Inner Tubes are installed in your 1914 car.

LEGION OF SCOTS LEAVING OLD LAND. Nearly Two Hundred Thousand Emigrated in Four Year Period. LONDON, Aug. 21.—(C. A. P.)—Nearly 200,000 Scottish persons emigrated from Scotland during the four years 1909-10-11-12. This number is equal to two-thirds of the population of Edinburgh, or nearly to the combined populations of Grimsby, Ipswich and Reading. Statistics are printed in a parliamentary reply by the secretary for Scotland to a question by Mr. Jesse Collins. They show how emigration has increased, the following figures being the number of Scottish emigrants only: 1909.....42,522 1911.....57,417 1910.....55,211 1912.....64,052 The figures for the first three years are those of Scottish emigrants from Scotland only, while the 1912 figures include Scottish emigrants from other parts in the United Kingdom. The figures above make a total of 210,932, but during the four years 26,723 persons of Scottish nationality landed from ports out of Europe, if the emigrants had remained in Scotland they might have peopled a large new town.

SAFER TRAVELING RAILWAY'S AIM

Important Movement Has Been Inaugurated on Grand Trunk System.

The Grand Trunk Railway, adhering to the progressive policy which characterizes that system, announces the inauguration of a "Safety First" movement. Mr. Howard G. Kelley, vice-president, has issued an official circular calling the attention of every employee to the "great importance of an organization for the prevention of injuries and damage to property."

Mr. Bradshaw has been engaged as safety engineer, charged with the duty of putting the movement into effect. He will inspect the lines, terminals and shops, and confer with the various officers on matters pertaining to the safety of the traveling public and employees.

"Safety Meetings."

The thoroughness with which the Grand Trunk is going about this important work is shown by the fact that the safety engineer, assisted by the local officers, will hold "safety meetings" at all important centres on the system, at which practical instruction bearing on safety will be given to employees in all departments. Stereotyped views of unsafe conditions and practices will be shown and explained, the purpose being to reach and make a lasting impression upon the mind of every employe for the benefit of safety. Committees composed of officers and employes will be organized on all divisions, terminals and in all important shops, whose duties will be to discover and correct unsafe conditions and practices.

The management of the Grand Trunk has kept in close touch with the best obtained on other important systems in the United States, and having concluded, after careful consideration, that the movement has great merit, will push along its application with the greatest possible thoroughness.

"Kelley today," remarked Vice-President Kelley, "to extend this highly important work to every branch of the service. Safety is the first and most important consideration in all railroad operation and no effort will be spared to give every station and employe of this system the greatest possible protection."

UNION WILL FORM JUVENILE BRANCHES

Catholic Benevolent Union to Extend Its Work Among the Young People.

KINGSTON, Aug. 21.—(Special).—Consideration of amendments to their constitution occupied the attention of delegates at today's session of the Catholic Benevolent Union. It was decided to have junior societies wherever it was practicable. The executive will have power to act. The treasurer's report showed that the general fund amounts to $700, and the contingent fund to $503.

The last convention the sum of $140.25 has been paid out in sick benefits, and funeral benefits of deceased members amounted to $12,686, making a total of $12,826.25 since 1874 the union has paid out in sick and benefit funds $18,650.244.

INSTANT DEATH FROM EMERY WHEEL

William Sudden Met Death When Wheel Burst—Skull Smashed by Flying Pieces.

GALT, Aug. 21.—(Special).—William Sudden, aged 36, was instantly killed this afternoon at St. Clair bridge works when an emery wheel he was sharpening a chisel on broke to pieces, striking him above the right eye and smashing his skull.

The report when the wheel broke was heard a considerable distance, and when fellow-workmen rushed to his side they found him dead. The man's head was frightfully smashed. Sudden was the oldest employe of the firm, having worked there for eight years. He was former of the shop and an experienced man. The cause of the breaking of the emery wheel is not known. Besides his widow (two children, one brother and one sister, Mrs. Geo. Poore of Blair Road, Galt, survive. An inquest will be held.

WARD SEVEN

A quiet, but very pretty wedding, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cull, 32 Royal Avenue, last evening, by Rev. Edward Morley of St. Paul's, Runnymede, at Edward Morley in charge of St. John's, West Toronto, when their daughter, Edith, was married to Mr. Harry Baker of Fairview avenue, West Toronto. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in white satin with a bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white flowers, and was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie Cull, as bridesmaid. Mr. E. Y. Lovett supported the groom, who was wearing the sign of the register Mr. W. J. Lightfoot supported the groom's father, Mr. and Mrs. Baker left later for a week's bridal trip to their return they will reside in Ward Seven.

H. C. Ellis, son of Truise James Ellis of Clendenan avenue, arrived here yesterday from a six months' trip to England and the continent.

On a charge of assaulting and wounding his wife Florence, Arthur Rowe, 400 West Avenue, was arrested by Sgt. McDonald of No. 3 station. He will appear this afternoon at the court.

The Keels street firemen were twice called out on users' cars yesterday, and were called out on 11 a.m., and after a long run no sign of a blaze could be discovered. A request telephoned from Fairbank took the ladders out about 9 p.m.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

LIVELY BATTLE FOR NOMINATION

East York Conservative Convention on Saturday Promises to Be Interesting.

A very keen contest is in prospect at the Conservative nomination meeting in East York on Saturday for the forthcoming by-election in East York. So far none of the candidates has expressed an intention to retire, and the convention will have a very representative selection to choose from, hardly a district in the riding being unrepresented.

The following names at least are sure to be in the ballot: H. H. Ball, North Toronto; W. H. Pugsley, Richmond Hill; Archibald Milne, Markham; Frank Howe, North Toronto; Robert Miller, Stouffville; George S. Henry, Scarborough; Alex. Baird, Scarborough, and Dr. Walter, East Toronto.

According to the regular procedure there will be three ballots before anyone is compelled to drop out. After that the last man will stand until a selection is made.

There will be a total of 460 votes. If all the delegates to the convention are present, the interest displayed at the various association meetings so far, the convention promises to be a lively one.

TODMORDEN

Some enterprising residents in Todmorden would like to have the district incorporated as a village, like Agincourt, Port Credit, Mimico, etc.

Mr. Maynard, a building contractor, is in the lead in the matter. He claims that also the township might collect $20,000 in taxes each year, which does not necessarily follow that anything like that amount is expended in the district in improvement.

"I believe," says Mr. Maynard, "that if Todmorden was a police village we could manage our own affairs better, and save money to much better advantage."

Mr. Maynard is a resident of the township, and is on his way to the three weeks' vacation at Todmorden Hotel.

Mr. Dolan of Ottawa is spending her holidays in the Todmorden Hotel.

A football game is to be played on Saturday at the Don Valley and Old Country clubs, kick-off at 3 o'clock.

WYCHWOOD AND EARLS COURT

With the residents of Earls Court, Brantford and Wychwood there, and that of paramount importance, and that of the township, the township council has decided to appropriate for the township a site for a school, which the local council had hoped to secure as a playground for the children.

The owners, J. E. Edwards & Sons, are strongly in favor of the scheme, but the car barn deal would be much more profitable for them. It is pointed out that the school site is a small one, and Mr. T. Wakefield suggests an ideal spot near the school, a suggestion which is meeting with wide approval.

The matter of civic car fares is a serious one, about which the dwellers of Earls Court, Brantford and Wychwood intend to fight. The township council collar about it, and kick against the prevalent fare for a two-cent ride. They will walk rather than pay it.

It will take about five days to finish the grading and asphalt on of Harty's avenue. The first car along the new St. Clair avenue ran as an experiment and test last Tuesday, the route being from the northern track to Avenue road.

There is a new addition to a part of the building boom in the St. Clair avenue district, and builders are eagerly searching for vacant lots.

Here is an example of present-day conditions in real estate. A plot of land on the corner of St. Clair and Bloor streets was secured by Messrs. McLean & Smith two years ago, and is now being sold to the proprietors of the Owl Drug Store for $25,000 a foot for the same plot.

Another site of a new school building, the Earls Court playground would be a few weeks ago, and now realized $185 a foot, and is now being sold to the proprietors of the Owl Drug Store for $25,000 a foot for the same plot.

The daily attendance is constantly increasing and averages 190, with every promise of reaching the 200 mark, and Mr. A. Burridge, the playground superintendent, is proud to have the children and enters heartily into the scheme, both as playmate and instructor. In addition to the gymnastic apparatus, the children are taught basketball, quoits and tennis.

The girls also, under the instruction of Miss R. Cameron and Miss R. Bartley, are taught the washing of clothes in the making of hats and bonnets, while some excellent models have been turned out in plasticine. A sewing class is also a part of the summer course.

Mr. C. Bauckham, 19 Algonquin avenue, is hard at work with a scheme for a betterment of the condition of the working classes by the erection of a new school at moderate cost. He has the school buildings of solid brick with stone four-story buildings, and more are planned for Harvie avenue, and one on Blackthorn avenue, and anyone can secure a home on easy terms when building operations are completed, or before completion, so that the purchaser may adopt his own ideas in the construction. Each dwelling will have a large garden.

WARD SEVEN

A quiet, but very pretty wedding, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cull, 32 Royal Avenue, last evening, by Rev. DR. C. L. HURD IS VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Well Known Veterinary Surgeon Was Taken Ill on Wedding Trip.

While on his wedding trip Dr. C. L. Hurd, veterinary surgeon, of 16 Parkway avenue, was taken seriously ill with typhoid. He returned to Toronto and immediately took to bed, but the disease had so gripped him that he was unable to get up, and he passed away at his home at 16 Parkway avenue, yesterday morning.

Dr. Hurd was held in great respect by his many friends, and occupied the position of demonstrator in anatomy on the staff of the Ontario Veterinary College, of which institution he was a graduate. He was also a member of the local militia, being veterinary surgeon for the Governor-General's Body Guards, and was a member of the College Street Methodist Church.

FRUITS REQUIRE ATTENTION

Ways to save the grapes and pears

Many fruits are ripening just now and are coming on with a rush. It is therefore well to know what to do at the right moment so as to make the most of the garden. In the northern half of the United States and in southern Canada, grapes are beginning to ripen, and unless there are plenty of them to supply the birds, some means of protecting them must be devised. Scarecrows are both unsightly and ineffective unless they will make a noise. The best style is made of bright pieces of tin hung loosely on wires so they will flash in the sun when the wind blows.

Better than scarecrows are paper bags in which to enclose the ripening clusters. It is now time to apply these. All that needs to be done is to enclose the best clusters in the bags, individually, while still hanging on the vine and to draw the mouths of the bags tightly around the stems of the clusters with a few turns of string and a "half-hitch" knot. Other advantages are gained by this bagging. Also there is usually a reduction in the midwiving of the fruits, and consequently a better keeping character to them.

Pears are beginning to ripen. One of the most important rules in harvesting this fruit is to gather the pears as the stalks will separate easily from the twigs on which they are borne. The way to do this is to lift the fruit upward and upward very gently so that when raised only a little stem will separate from its base, not between the fruit itself and the attachment to the twig. By observing this rule the breakage of the fruit spurs will be reduced to a minimum. These spurs should be protected as carefully as possible, because it is their function to produce fruit from year to year.

The pears gathered in this way will almost always be too hard and immature to be eaten at once. They will require from one to two days to ripen. A few weeks before they will be soft enough to be edible. The way to handle them for best flavor is to store them in a dark room or in drawers. Preferably they should not touch one another but this is not essential. It is advisable, however, not to pile them too deep at least for home consumption because handling is apt to bruise them. The late varieties may be stored in boxes or kegs in cold quarters until their approximate season when a few at a time may be brought into the warmth and spread out as already indicated.

Apple, pear, peach and plum trees that are heavily loaded should be carefully examined without delay to see if they are likely to be able to carry their loads of fruit without limbs breaking. If there is any probability of trouble, they should be provided with props somewhat longer than the space from the point of support to the ground; that is, the limbs should be raised slightly when the props are applied. Attention in this respect will save many regrets, limbs and much fruit.

Better than propping is thinning trees which are loaded too heavily with fruit should be reduced to a minimum. The late varieties may be stored in boxes or kegs in cold quarters until their approximate season when a few at a time may be brought into the warmth and spread out as already indicated.

Another Trick of the Porcupine Blind Piggers Discovered by Provincial Police.

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Aug. 21.—By a disclosure that barrels of cement and pitch contained within them ten gallons of whiskey the provincial police of this district claim they have put a stop to a great deal of the liquor traffic.

The find came about in a peculiar way. Monday of this week, and the constable's suspicion was only argued when he showed a barrel of cement to a Magistrate. As a result of the raid three cases will be heard before Magistrate R. T. Smith and Ed. Jordan became suspicious of a barrel of tar, weighing nearly three hundred pounds, lying undisturbed at the station. They immediately opened the barrel, and by digging out the hard tar located the ten gallon keg of whiskey inside. A 500 pound barrel of cement which had been alleged to be for the investigation which led to the arrest of the three men on previous occasions. It is stated that the barrel was encased in a manner which gave the police great difficulty in locating it in the rear of the premises of one of the arrested men. MINING MARKET MOVES IN APATHY

MINING MARKET MOVES IN APATHY

Few Material Changes Brought About in Week-End Session.

The mining market failed to develop anything like enthusiasm at the week-end, the short session of Saturday being only remarkable for its acute dullness. Speculation was fairly well maintained, but considerable of the transactions represented the line and the scaling operations. Meanwhile the undertone of prices continued irregular, with a tendency to the general attribute.

As is usual at this time of the year, public interest in mines and markets is at a low ebb, there have been several developments recently which have served to dull the public mind. Even at that, nothing like a sensational movement has been witnessed, with neither selling nor buying of any account going on in the general but there has been little incentive for active participation in the market. The general market follower is more often than not passed as an onlooker rather than an active participant in the play.

Few changes of importance.

In the copper list few changes of any importance occurred. The Lake Superior district was not so active as the previous close, but was not dull in extent. In the Montana district, however, there was a further advance in the price of copper. The Montana district, however, there was a further advance in the price of copper. SHEEP AS TRAPS FOR FEVER TICKS

Novel Experiment to Be Conducted by U. S. Government in Montana.

The free grazing of 2500 head of sheep upon the Bitterroot national forest, in the state of Montana, has been authorized by the secretary of agriculture as part of a novel experiment in trapping the deadly spotted fever tick. The forest service and the public health service are working together in co-operation with local sheep growers in this new campaign.

It is the general belief of the leading medical authorities that the myxomatous and frequently fatal disease commonly known as spotted fever is spread by the tick Dermacentor Andersoni, which is parts of the Bitterroot forest occurs in such abundance that it constitutes a real menace to human and beast. Surgeon McClinton of the public health service died last year of spotted fever, contracted during his study of the disease and its control.

Martys to Cause.

The plan proposed contemplates the grazing of two bands of sheep upon the parts of the forest where the tick is most abundant, with the idea that these animals, as the ticks will attach themselves to the sheep. There, as occasion requires, the sheep will be freed of the ticks by being dipped in an insecticidal solution which will kill the ticks without in any way injuring the sheep.

The enzootic of the female tick with blood is one of the essential means of reproduction, and this service upon the larger mammals which serve as hosts to the tick. The United States Biological Survey has reached the conclusion that the great bulk of the fever ticks which become filled with blood from their supply while attached to domestic animals are freed of some other effective method of treatment the chances of the infection of human beings will be vastly reduced. Of the different domestic animals the sheep is the most readily handled and the easiest to dip or treat, hence the selection of sheep for use in the experiment.

The Store Extends a Welcome

To-morrow the Canadian National Exhibition begins its thirty-fifth Annual Programme, when its gates swing open to let in the throngs of visitors drawn from a hundred cities by its marvelous attractions. Each year has swelled the thousands, until to-day their reception has become a problem to even the great business houses of the city, such as this store.

The Simpson Store welcomes you in a manner fitting its standing as representative of Greater Toronto. Every provision is made here for your comfort and entertainment, while our tremendous stocks are in themselves an exhibition worthy of a trip to Toronto. We will make you welcome when you come, and trust we can afford you opportunity for large savings in your Fall buying.

STORE CLOSES 1 P.M. TO-MORROW

Simpson's Fall Opening Displays

During the Exposition weeks the Mantles, Dress Goods, Silks and Millinery will continue their Early Fall Opening Displays, which are on a more lavish scale than ever before.

Exquisite Gowns, Hats, Coats and Dress Materials are here from Paris, London and New York, giving every new mode and shade for Fall wear.

Flowers and decorations are everywhere in the Store, and a selected orchestra will play twice daily in the new Moorish Kiosk on the Main Floor.

Lunch Room, Palm Room, Rest Room, Package Check Desk, Telephone and Telegraph Services, all combine to give you every service of a good hotel.

NEW FALL COATS

Not only the new colorings and materials, but the new color combinations are shown; coats of warm reversible blanket cloths, Nigger Heads, tweeds, serges, velours, homespun, etc.; made by the best New York and London designers, showing the latest touches. Prices range from $15.00, $18.50, $25.00, $35.00 to $65.00.
