The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming centract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and en ling on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and anding on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

> Metropolitan Toronto Library Canadian History Department

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition st de la notteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les examplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le secund plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres examplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière imege de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un soul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

16. In the morning we continued our march; at 10 A. M. arrived at Newbury Port, and there encamped.

17. Being Sunday, attended divine fervice at the Rev. Mr. Parsons's meeting at Newbury Port, dined at Mr. Nathaniel Tracey's. Weather fine.

18. Repairing to embark, dined at Mr. Dalton's. W. E. fine.

19. Embarked our whole detachment, confisting of to companies of musquet-men and 3 companies of riflemen amounting to 1100 men, on board so transporte-I went on board the floop Britannia. 20. In the morning we made the mouth of Kenebec, right a-head, which we foon entered. The mouth of the river is narrow. We were hailed from the shore by a number of men under arms who were there flationed; they were answered "we were Continental troops, and that we wanted a pilot," whom they immmediately fent on board. The wind and tide favoured us as we proceeded up the river. Five miles from the mouth lies an island called Poujack; upon this were a meetinghouse, and some very good dwellinghouses the river to this island is very unequal, and the shores generally rocky. Ten miles from the mouth are elegant buildings; at a place called George Town; 20 miles from the mouth, is a very large bay, called Merry Meeting Bay; 25 miles from the mouth is Swan Island; and a little above this island opposite to Pownalborough, where is a block-house, we come to an anchor. E cannot help remarking our dispatch, that this day makes 14 only fince the orders were first given for building 200 batteaux, for collecting provisions, and for levying 1100 men and conducting them to this place (Gardiner's Town).

ing in a private house, some words produced a quarrel, and Mr. Connick being turned out, immediately discharged his gun into the house, and shot a man through the body, of which he foon expired. Mr. Connick was tried by a Court Martial and received fentence of death, but denied the crime till he was brought to the place of execution, when he confessed himself guilty, but for some reasons he was reprieved until the pleasure of General Washington could be known.

24. At Fort Western preparing for our march to Quebec; this fort stands on the east side of the river Kenebec, and consists of two block-houses, and a large house 100 feet long, which were inclosed with pickets; this house is the property of — Howard Esq. where we were exceedingly well entertained.

25. Some men embarked in batteaux with orders to proceed with all expedition to the great carrying-place, and clear the road, while the other divisions came up.

26. Col. Green embarked on board the batteaux three companies of mufquet-men, with whom went Major Bigelow on their tour to Canada.

27. At three o'clock P. M. I embarked on board some batteaux with the third division of the army, consisting of four companies of musquet-men with 45 days provisions, and proceeded up the river, hoping for the protection of a kind providence. We encamped in the evening 4 miles from Fort Western.

I had forgot to mention that the navigation for vessels is good to Fort Western, which is 30 miles from the river's mouth: the water some part of the way rapid.

28. Proceeded up the river, the fream very rapid, and the bottom and shores rocky.

29. In the morning continued our route up the river; at 11 A. M. arrived at Fort Hallifax which stands on a point of land between the river Kenebecand the river Sebastecook. This Fort confids of two large block-houses, and a large barrack which is enclosed with a picket fort. I tarried half an hour at the fort, then crossed the river to a carrying-place which is 97 tods carriage, then proceeded up the river (which falls very rapidly over a rocky bottom). September, 1776.

5 miles, and encamped. The above talls are called Toconok.

30. Proceeded up the river 9 miles and encamped; the land we passed this day was generally very good. Colonel Arnold joined at night and encamped with us.

Oct. r. Fine W. E. woods abound in these parts with butterneal, beach, hemlock, white pine, red cedar, the river—at 10 o'clock arrived at Schohegin falls, where is a carrying-place of 250 paces, which lies acrofs a finall island in the river. Here I waited for my division to come up, and encamped on the west side the river opposite the island with Capt. Goodrick. Had much rain in the night, I turned out, put on my clothes and lay down again and slept well till morning. Our course in general from the mouth of the river to this place has been from North to North East.

3. Proceeded up the river to Norridgewalk; on my way I called at a house where I saw a child 14 months old, which is the first white child born here. At seven o'clock in the evening a little below Norridgewalk, my batteau filled with water going up the falls; I loft my kettle, butter, and fugar, a lois not to be replaced here. At Norridgewalk is to be feen the veftige of an Indian fort, chapet, and a prieft's grave; there appear to have been fome entrepchments on the covered way through the bank of the river, for the conveniency of getting water-This must have been a considerable soat of the natives, as there are large Indian fields cleared-I here wrote to Mrs.

Meigs, &c.

4. I proceeded up the river about

1 mile, and crofted the river at a carrying-place of 1 mile and a quarter.
Here I came up with the second division co.mmanded by Col. Green.

at evening moved one company up the river 1 mile, where they encamped, waiting for the other companies of my division.

6. Still at the carrying-place, getting boats and provisions: at 4 P. M. I proceeded up the river 5 miles and encamped.

7. Continued our march up the river, and at 12 o'clock tarried at Carratuneaus carrying-place. Here the river in confined between two rocks, not more than 40 rods wide, which lie in piles 40 rods in length on each fide the tiver. These socks are polished in some places by the swift running of the water. The carrying-place is here 433 paces in length.

. All day at the carrying-place at Carratuneaus; rainy W. E. Capt. Darbern's company paffed the carrying-place this day at 3 P. M.

19. Capt. Ward's company passed the carrying-place this day at 10 o'clock. At r.P.M. I less the carrying-place and proceeded up the river about 4 miles and encamped. The stream for 4 miles very rapid, and in some places very shallow, being divided by a number of sissands which appear to be sine land: from this encampment some high mountains rise to our view to the Northward.

10. Proceeded up the river, which continues its course N. W. between two high mountains, and encamped at the great carrying-place, which is 12 miles and a half a-cross, including 3 ponds which we were obliged to pass.

as the third pond; there I had the pleasure of discovering Lieut. Steel and party who had been sent forwards on a reconnoitring command as far as Chaudiere pond; they discovered nothing with regard to the enemy. I returned back and lodged with Col. Green.

22. In the morning repassed the second pond, and went to the river, and gave orders which I received from Col. Arnold for building a block-house, and then returned and crossed the first pond and encamped this day at the great carrying-place with the 4th divition of the army, consisting of three companies of mulquet-men.

13. Employed in carrying our boats and provisions a-cross the first pond and the second portage. I went myself a-cross the third portage and returned back by the East side of the second portage and encamped with Col. Arnold. The wind so high, the boats could not cross the third pond. About this time we killed 4 moose, which is excellent meat.

- 14. At 11 o'clock I repassed the first pond to see Capt. Darbern's and Capt.

Ward's companies over. East night a tree blown down by the wind, fell on one of our men and bruised him in such a manner that his life is despaired of. In the evening I returned back to the second portage and encamped with Capt. Ward.

that the allowance should be $16. of pork and $4 of flour per man per diem. At a o'clock I crossed the third pond and encamped in a cedar swamp. This pond is about 9 miles in circumference and surrounded with cedar timber. This last pond is much larger than the other two.

26. In the morning I fet out with Capt. Hanchet to reconnoite a very high mountain about ten miles from our encampment, but we were too late in the day and returned towards evening without being able 10 afcend the mountain.

river and took part of Capt. Goodrick's company and returned to the third pend, where I met with Capt. Ward's company. At evening returned to Dead river; marched one mile up and encamped with Capt. Hanchet.

18. In the morning ordered 3 mea to kill 2 oxen (which we had driven with great difficulty to this place) and to bring 5 quarters to the detachment, and to leave 3 quarters under a guard for Col. Bnos's division. Then I proceeded up the river with my division with the greatest expedition to Chaudiere, in order there to make up our cartridges, and wait for the rear division, and to furnish a number of pioneers, under Mr. Ayres to clear the carrying-place.

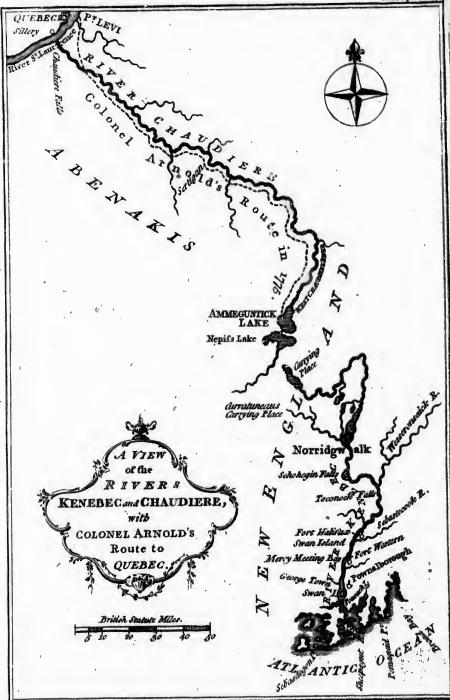

Col. Arnold joined us, and col. Green's division. The land we passed this day was very fine, thinly timbered, and mostly covered with high grass.

20. Proceeded up the river, passed several falls, and one portage only three roods a-cross, and encamped at evening; rainy W. E. all day.

21. In the morning proceeded up the river about three miles to a carrying-place 35 perches a-cross; then continued our route up the river about 2 miles to a portage 30 perches a-cross, where we encamped.

fed two portages, or carrying-places, each 74 perches. Our course this day is only three miles, owing to the extraordinary rife of the river. The last night in some parts of the river the water rofe 8 feet perpendicular, and in many places overflowed its banks and filled the country with water, which made it very difficult for our men on fhore to march. 23. In the morning continued our march, though very flow, owing to the rapidity of the fiream. A number of our men who marched on the shore, coursed a river that came in from the westward, mistaking it for the main river, which as foon as we discovered, we dispatched some boats after them. The river now falls faft. Encamped this evening at a carrying-place 15 perches a cross. Here a council was held, in which it was refolved that 50 men should march with all dispatch by land to Chaudiere pond; and that the fick of my division, and Capt. Morgan's, should return back to Cambridge.

24. At this place the stream was very rapid : in our way we passed three carrying-places, a of them 4 roods each, in paffing which 6 batteaux filled and overfet, by which we lost feveral barrels of provisions, a number of guns, some clothes, and cash.

35. Proceeded up the river, tho? with great fatigue, the water being very rapid. Our whole course this day was only 4 miles, when we encamped. Wrote to Mrs. Meigs by the officer that returned with the fick.

26. Continued our route up the river about fix miles, the stream very rapid. 27. Continued our route, and foon entered a found about 2 miles a eros; and passed through a narrow streight only two perches and a half wide and about 4 roods long; then entered an. other small pond about i mile, and then through a narrow fireight about a mile and a half over to a third pond miles, then passed through a narrow Areight and entered a forrth pond a quarter of a mile wide, and then ensered a crooked river about 3 miles in length to a carrying place 15 perches a crofs to a pond 100 perches a crofe, and encamped on the North West fide upon 3 high hill which is a carrying.

place. The ponds are furrounded with mountains.

28. In the morning continued our route a-cross the carrying-place 44 perches long, to a pond about amiles, to a carrying-place 4 miles and 60 perches. This carrying-place lies a-cross the height of land, and is about a miles from the last meationed pond to the height, when all the fireams run the reverse of the rivers we came up. We encamped this evening on the height of land. ag. In the morning croffed the heights to Chaudiere river; made a division of our provisions and ammunition, and marched back upon the heights and encamped. Here I distributed the following fams of money, to the following persons; viz. To Col. Green 500 dollars, to Major Bigelow 50 5 and paid Mr. Gatchel 44 paid Mr. Berry 4l. 5s. lawful money.

30. Continued our march by land towards Quebec. At 1 P. M. came to Nepife lake, which we supposed to be Ammeguntick lake : we continued our march till night, and encamped on the banks of the lake, where there had been an Indian camp.

Nov. 1. Marched thro' the woods 15 miles, and encamped near the North end of Ammeguntick lake. 2. Continued our march through the woods; the marching this day was exceedingly bad. I passed a number of foldiers who had no provisious and were somewhat fick. It was not in my power to help or relieve them. Twe dogs were killed, which the diffrested foldiers eat with good appetite, even the feet and skin. This day in our march upon the banks of the Chaudiere we saw several boats that were split upon the rocks, and one of Capta. Morgan's men was drowned. The travelling this day, as yesterday, very bad over mountains and moralles.

3. In the morning continued our march on the banks of the Chaudierel The marching this day better than we have lately had. The river grows wis der and runs very quick, and in forms places very shallow. We passed this day several small islands. The weather exceeding fine, and as warm as ever I felt it at this feafon in New-Engs

4. Continued our march on the banks banks of the Chaudiere: at 12 o'clock we met with provisions, to the inexpressible joy of the foldiers who were near starving. After refreshing ourselves, we marched a few miles and encamped.

5. In the morning continued our march. At 11 o'clock arrived at a French house, and were hospitably used: this is the first house I saw for 31 days, having been all that time in a rough, barren, and uninhabited wilderness, where we never saw a human being except our own men. Immediately after our arrival, we were supplied with fresh beef, fowls, butter, pheasants, and vegetables. This settlement is called Sertigan: it lies 25 leagues from Quebec.

6. Marched down to the parish of St. Mary's; the country thinly settled; the people kindly supplyed us with plenty of provisions.

7, 8, 9, 10. I was on bufiness up and down the country on each side the river; the inhabitants very hospitable. Our men that were gone forward to Point Levi, made prisoner Mr. M'Kenzie, a midshipman of the Hunter sloop of war. This night I lodged at Sr. Henry's.

11. I marched down to Point Levi,

thing extraordinary happened except a deferter came in to us from Quebec, by whom we were informed Col. M' Clean had arrived from Sorel with his regiment. The Litard frigate also arrived a few days before us. On the evening of this day at 9 e'clock, we began to embark our men on board 35 canoes. At 4 P. M. we got over and landed 300 men, entirely undiscovered, also prevent us. We landed at the same place Gen. Wolfe did, in a finall cove which is now called Wolfe's cove.

Soon after our landing, a barge from the Linard frigate came rowing up the river; we hailed her, and ordered her to come on thore; they refuling, we fixed upon them—they pushed diff thore and cryed out. After parading our men on the heights of Abraham, and fending out a reconnoiting party towards the city, and placing centinels, we marched a cross the plain and took possession of a large house which was formerly owned by Gen. Murray, and banks of the Chaudiere: at 12 o'clock other houses adjacent, which were fine we met with provisions, to the inex-accommodations for our troops.

14. This morning employed in placing proper guards on the different roads to cut off the communication between the city and country. At 18 o'clock the enemy furprised one of our advanced centries, and made him prifoner; the guard soon perceived the enemy and pursued, but were not able to overtake them; we rallied the main body and marched upon the heights near the city, gave them three huzzas and marched our men fairly in their view.

It is faid Quebec might have been taken had we then made an affault : .. they did not chuse to come out to us, but gave us a few that from the ramparts, and we then returned to our camp. This afternoon they fet fire to the fuburbs and burnt feveral houses. This evening Col. Arnold fent a flag of truce with a demand of the garrison in the name and behalf of the United Colonies—as the flag approached the walls it was fired upon, contrary to all rule and custom on such occasions. We confiantly lay on our arms to prevent surprise; for we were informed by a gentleman from Quebec, that we might expect an attack very foon from the city.

as. The commanding officer this day tent into the town a flag, concluding that the firing on our flag yesterday was through mistake, but it was treated in the tame manner as before; on which it returned. An express went off to Gen. Montgomery this morning. About 12 o'clock we were alarmed with a report, that the troops in town were coming out to attack us. We turned out to meet them, but it proved false.

16. This morning it is reported Montreal furrendered to Gen. Montgomery the last sabbath, and that the supping were taken. One of our men, a serjeant in the risled company, received a shot from a cannon, which lastered one of his legs in such a manner that amputation was necessary. This day we sent a company of our men and took possession of the general hospital; the Canadians are continually coming in, to express their satisfastion at our coming into this country.

ounded h great polure composure and refignation. This day we had a confirmation of the surrender of Montreal to Gen. Montgomery. A soldier came in to us from Quebec, but no intelligence extraordinary from him. A party of our men went over to Point Levi, with boats to bring a party of our detachment that were left there with provisions. Weather pleafant.

58. We have orders to parade at 3 o'clock to morrow morning.

The length of the Journal obliges us to referve the remainder for next month; which is taken a particular account of the junction of those troops with Gen. Montgoniery's, and a very minute account of the operations of the Provincials against Quebec, including the storm of the place, when the General was killed, and the Major was taken prisener.

Character of James I. with Instances of Flattery.

OF all the qualities which marked the character of James I. king of England, there was none more contemptible than a pedantic disposition which he had obtained from a narrow though laborious education. Some school learning he had, the fruits of that unwearied application which is often united to mean parts; of that learning he was ridiculously vain. His vanity was much heightened by the his English court. He was an opportunity of displaying whole nation. The opportuiffered him by a petition from ans, for a reformation of futury articles of the established shurch. James gave them hopes of an impartial debate, though he mortally hated all the reformers, for the restraints they had laid upon him in his Scotch government.

In this debate James was to preside as judge; and an assembly of churchmen and ministers met at Hampton Court for this purpose. From judge he turned principal disputant, silencing all opposition by his authority and loquacity, and closed his many arguments with these powerful ones: "That Presbytery agreed as well with monarchy as God with the devil, that he would not have Tom and Dick and Will meet to censure him and his council. If this be all your party hath to fay, I will make them conform them-felves, or elfe I will Harrie them out of the land, or elfe do werfe—only hang them, that's all."

Great was the exultation and adulation of churchmen and courtiers on this occasion. Chancellor Egerton cried out, "he had often heard that royalty and priesthood was united, but never saw it verified till now." Archbishop Whitgist carried his stattery still farther, "he verily believed the king spoke by the spirit of God."

Macaulay's Hift of Eng. vol. 1. p. 5, 6.

Niele bishop of Lincoln, and Andrews bishop of Winchester, being at dinner with king James in public, James in this situation had the imprudence to propose aloud this question, "whether he might not take his subjects money without consent of parliament?" The sycophant Niele replied, "God forbid you should not, for you are the breath of our nostries?"

Andrews declined answering the question, saying, "he was not skilled in parliamentary cases." On the king's urging him, he replied pleasantly: I think your majesty has an undoubted right to my brother Niele's money.

The following is a character drawn of king James by Williams, whence it appears that the fervile tools * whom James

Among the forwardest of this worthless tribe was Cecil afterwards earl of Salisbury, such told him on his coming to the crown, " That he would find his English subjects like affer, on whom he might lay any burthen, and would need neither his nor bridle, but weir affer ears."

James had raifed to the highest preferments in the state, believed the same tribute of absurd flattery to his memory, as they had sed him with during life.

.. I dare prefume to fay, you never read in your life more fully parallel amongst themselves, and diffinguished from all other kings, than King James and King Solomon. King Solomon le faid to be unigenitus coram matre fua, the only fon of his mother, for was King. James; Solomon was of a complexion white and ruddy, fo was King James; Solomon was learned above all the princes in the universal world; Solomon was a writer in profe and verse, fo in a very pure and exquifite manner was our sweet sovereign King James ; Solomon was the greatest patron we ever read of to church and church-men, and yet no greater (let the house of Aaron' now confess) than King James-and for his words and eloquence, you know it well enough-it was rare and excellent in the highest degree-Profluenti et que principen deceret eloquensia ; as l'acitus faid to Augustus, in a flowing and princely kind of elocu-Parliament, star-chamber, council-table, and other public andiences of she state (of which, as of Tully's orations; en semper optima qua maxima; the longest still was held the best) do prove him to be the most powerful speaker who ever swaped the sceptre of this kingdom."

Rushworth, vol. i. p. 160.

As a specimen of the pure and exquisite manner of this fivest sovereign's writing and speaking, I beg leave to lay before the reader a few quotations from his speeches and letters.

In a speech to the Parliament, anno 2610, he informs his subjects, that the King's heart is in the hand of the Lord, who can create and destroy, make and unmake; so kings can give life and death, judge all and be judged by none. They can exalt low things, and abase high things, making the subjects like men at choss, a pawn to take a bishop or a knight. And, as it is blasshemy to dispute what God may do, so it is fedition in subjects to dispute what kings may do in the height of their power."

Macaulay's Hist of Eng. v. i. p. 61. When the same Parliament had voted him a less sum than was demanded, he thought proper to decline accepting it, for the following judicious reasons: "Nine score thousand pounds, he could not accept, because nine was the number of the poets, who were always beggars; eleven was the number of the apostles when Judas was away, and therefore might best be affected by his Majesty; but there was a mean number, which might accord to both, and that was ten, a facred number, for so many were God's commandments which tend to virtue and edification."

Wingword's Memorials, vol. iii. p. 193. To illustrate his princely elegance in his literary correspondence, take the following example from a letter to the Duke of Buckingham -" if thou be with me by four in the afternoon, it will be good time; and prepare thee to be a guard to me from keeping my heart unbroken with bufinefs, before my going to the progress. And thus God fend me a happy and joyful meeting with my fweet Stenny, this evening. Sweet-heart, when thou rifest keep thee from importunities of people who trouble- thy mind, that at meeting I may fee thy white teeth thine upon me.

MSS. in the British Museum, n. 6987, But the file of the queen was somewhat more extraordinary, and in an age and place where flattery was the most current coin, undoubtedly infected the whole court.

forse does please you, and that my dog Stennie + does well; for I did command him that he should make your ears hang like a fows lug, and when he comes home I will treat him better than any other dog."

Queen Ann to Viscount VILLARS.

Sear, and I thank you for it, and would have you do for till, upon condition you continue a watchful dog to him, and be always true to him.

A fine courtly file truly !

The following passages from the Bishop of Downe's sermon, and a letter from General Digby to the Marquis of Ormond, shew the impious nonsense as well as flattery that was preached.

NOV. 19. Early in the morning we decamped and marched up to Point aux Trembles, about 7 leagues from Quebec. The country through which we passed was well settled. Every few miles a handsome little chapel. We have with us 7 prisoners and 2 de-

An express came in this morning from Gen. Montgomery at Montreal-tis contents were, that the king's moops had abandoned the town and fled to the shipping, and that he was about to attack them with rowgallies and boats with artillery mounted in them, and that he should immediately join our detachment with men and artillery. We have now an express ready to return to Montreal, by which conveyance I write to my family.

21. The curate of the parish at Point aux Trembles dined this day at head quarters.

22. An express arrived from Montreal, which informs us that all the shipping were taken last sabbath evening, and that Gen. Montgomery was about to march for Quebec.

23. An express arrived from Montreal, by whom we have intelligence that Gen. Montgomery was on his march, and that yesterday he had sent clothing for our troops. One of our men came in from the woods, who had been left behind; and says that himfelf with one more killed a horse and lived on the flesh several days.

24. This morning the Hunter floop of war, and three other armed veffels, appeared in fight. An express is now going to meet the troops that are coming down from Montreal.

25. The Hunter floop, a large fnow, and an armed schooner, came to an anchor opposite to our quarters. This morning a number of men were fent up the river in a canoe to meet the troops that were coming down.

26. A number of gentlemen came in this morning from Quebec. - I wrote to my father and Mrs. Meigs.

27. We are informed that the Oct. 1776.

Dec. 1. Gen. Montgomery arrived this day at 1 F. M. with 3 armed schooners, with men, artillery, ammunition, and provisions; to the great joy of our detachment. Towards evening our detachment turned out and marched down to the General's quarters, and was there received. The General complimented us on our appearance.

2. In the morning I affifted in fending down our field-pieces by land. The large cannon are ordered down in batteaux, which when landed, the batteaux are to go to Point Levi for the ladders.

Major Brown arrived from Sorell. The foldiers drew for their clo-

We marched at 12 o'clock with our camp before Quebec. At evening I quartered at the house of the curate of the parish of St. Augustin; we were entertained with hospitality and elegance. 'The curate's name is Michael

5. In the morning proceeded on our march for St. Fry, our camp before Quebec, where we arrived about noon. This day wrote to Mrs. Meigs.

6. I wrote to Titus Hofner, Efq. at Middle Town. Weather cold, with itorms of inow.

7. I am informed that our men yesterday took a sloop with provisions and some cash.

8. We received some shot from the city, but no person was hurt.

9. A party of 100 men are ordered to cover the train this evening while they bombard the town: I went with thrown into the town. This day we began to erect a battery before St.

John's gate.

The enemy cannonaded our camp early in the morning and continued it till night: a party of our men are ordered into St. Rue to cover the train which are ordered there also with 5 mortars and 2 field-pieces. This evening 45 shells were thrown into the town, the enemy returned a few, and fome 24 pounders and grape shot. No person on our side was hurt, besides a Canadian who was shot thro' the body.

11. The town kept a warm cannonading upon our men, one of whom was wounded in the thigh. In the evening we fent 45 shells into the town. I had the command of the working party at the battery this night. The enemy gave us a few shot and shells, but not one of them firuck the battery. W.

E. exceeding cold.

12. The platforms nearly ready for the gun battery. W. E. cold.

13. We opened our battery, had two men wounded in it by a cannon from the city. Five men of Col. Livingston's regiment of Canadians we e also wounded by a cannon shot which went through a house in St. John's Suburbs where they were quartered.

14. One of our men was killed in the battery and several wounded. In the evening we threw into the town 24 fhells; at the fame time we were briskly cannonaded from the town.

This morning before fun-rise our battery began to play and continued one hour, then ceased by order of the general. A flag was then fent in to the city, but was refused admittance. After some discourse with the officers from the ramparts the flag returned. (The discourse was that Gen. Carlton would fuffer no truce with rebels; if they came to implore mercy from the king he would then give them a hearing.) At 2 P. M. our battery began to play upon the town, and mortars also from the suburbs of St. Rue, which fent in 50 bombs. This day we had two men killed at our battery, and our guns damaged by a shot from the enemy. It is now in agitation to storm the town, which if resolved I hope will be undertaken with a proper fense of the nature and importance of this party. Twenty feven shots were such an attack, and vigourously executed.

> 16. The enemy this morning began to cannonade our quarters; feveral that struck the house, on which it was thought best to remove else where. One of our men was shot through the body with a grape shot; his life is despaired of. I wrote to Mrs. Meigs by way of Montreal. This evening a council was held by all the commissioned officers of Col. Arnold's detachment, when the majority were for storming Quebec, as foon as the men were provided with bayonets, spears, hatchets, and hand grenades.

17. All day at Capt. Hanchet's quarters. Nothing extraordinary hap-pened. Cold and fnow.

18. This morning I came to Mr.

Duvene's house to quarter. W. E.

No occurrences extraordinary. 19. W. E. moderate and fnowy.

20. Several of our men have the fmall pox at this time. W. E. cold.

We have orders for all our men to wear hemlock sprigs in their hats, to distinguish them in the attack upon the works.

22. Preparations are making and things ripening fast for the assault upon the works of Quebec. The bleffing of heaven attend the enterprize!-This evening celebrated the anniverfary of a happy event or circumstance in my life.

23. This day the officers of our detachment met; the general attended to compose some matters of dispute, which were happily settled.

I was on a general court martial. Our chaplain preached a fermon in the chapel of the general hospital, which is exceeding elegant infide, and richly decorated with carriages and gilt work.

25. Col. Arnold's detachment paraded this evening at Capt. Morgan's quarters. At 4 P. M. his honour Gen. Montgomery attended, and addressed us on the subject of an assault upon the town in a spirited manner.

e.6. Nothing material happened;

The following came out in the general orders, " the General had the most sensible pleasure in seeing the good difposition with which the troops last night moved towards the attack. It was with the greatest reluctance he found himself called upon by his duty to repress their ardour: but he should hold himself answerable to those brave men, whose lives might be saved by waiting for a more favourable oppor-tunity." This day is the 25th anniversary of my birth. A variety of fcenes have presented themselves in this short term: prosperity and adverfity have alternately chequered my path. Some dangers escaped, and favours innumerable received by me, demand a tribute of the warmest gratitude.

29. This day I dined with Gen. Montgomery, and spent the afternoon and evening with him in an agreeable manner. This evening as a party of our men were executing a command in the suburbs of St. Rue, they were fired upon from the walls and one man was wounded in the leg. 30. This morning between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock, our train threw into the city about 30 shells, which produced a number of shells and a brifk cannonading from the town. Continued our preparations to make an attack upon the city, the ladders being now ready, and the W. E. ftormy, which was thought best for our purpose; the troops were ordered to parade at a o'clock to morrow morn-

31. The troops affembled at two o'clock this morning; those that were to make the attack by the way of Cape Diamond collected at the general quarters upon the heights of Abraham, and were headed by Gen. Montgomery. Those that were to make the attack by the suburbs of St. Rue, were headed by Col. Arnold, and which were two battalions that were detached from the army at Cambridge.-Col. Livingstone with a regiment of Canadians, and Major Brown with part of a regiment from Boston, were to make a false attack upon the walls fouthward of St. John's gate, and in the mean time to

to their quarters, the time and season fet fire to the gate with combustibles prepared for that purpole.

These different bodies were to move to the attack from their places of affembly exactly at 5 o'clock; but the different routes they had to make, the great depth of fnow, and other obstacles prevented the execution of Col. Livingston's command. The general moved with his corps and a number of carpenters, to the pickets at Cape Diamond; the carpenters foon cut the pickets with faws, the general pulled them down with his own hands, and entered with his aid de camp Mr. M. Pherson, Mr. Antill the engineer, Capt. Cheefman, the carpenters and. others. The troops did not follow, except a few who attacked the guard house: the enemy gave them a discharge of grape shot from their can-non, and of small arms at the same time, by which the general, his aid de' camp, Capt Cheesman and some others bravely fell. The firing then entirely ceased, and the lights in the guard house were out, at which time, 'tis faid, the troops might have entered. -But Colonels thought of retreating, which they did, and carried off the wounded to the camp.

I came now to Col. Arnold's divifion, which was to proceed to the attack in the following manner—A lieutenant and 30 men were to march in front as an advanced guard, then the artillery company with a field piece mounted on a fledge; and as the main body, of which, Capt. Morgan's company was the first. The advanced party were to open when arrived near the battery, which was raised upon a wharf, and which we were obliged to attack on the way; and when our field piece had given a fhot or two, the advanced party were to rush forward with ladders and force the battery, while Captain Morgan's company were to march round the wharf if possible on the ice. But the fnow was so deep, the pieces of artillery were brought on very flow, and we were finally obliged to leave it behind; and to add to the delay the main body mistook their way, there being no road, the way dark and intricate, among store-houses, boats, and wharfs; and harraffed at the fame time with a constant fire of the enemy from the walls, which killed and wounded a number of men, without our being able to annoy them in the leaft, from our fituation. The field piece not coming up, the advanced party, with Capt. Morgan's company, attacked the battery, some firing into the port-holes, or a kind of embrasures, while others Caled the battery with ladders, and immediately took possession of it with a guard, confifting of 30 men. This was executed with fo much dispatch, that the enemy only discharged one cannon. In the attack, we lost one or two men, the enemy the same number. At this battery Col. Arnold received a wound in one of his legs with a musquet ball. So foon as the prisoners were taken care of, and a few men come up (which was near half an hour) our men attempted the next barrier, but could not force it; and as the main body were some time in coming up, occafioned by the obstacles before mentioned: adding to this, that the part of. the army, commanded by General Montgomery, after his fall, having retreated, gave the enemy the advantage to turn theirwhole force and attention upon us; fo that before our men attempted the fecond barrier, the enemy had fuch a number of men behind it and in the houses, that we were surrounded with such a fire, from double our numbers, we found .it impossible to force it, they being allo under cover, while we were exposed to their fire. To add to the embarrassment, we loft the help of one of our companies, which was quartered on the north fide of the river St. Charles, by their not having notice in feafon, who, in endeavouring to join the main body, were surprized by a party of men who made a fortie through Palace Gate, and most of them were made prisoners. Our men near the second barrier took possession of some houses, and kept upa fire from them for some time, but as the bodywhich fallied out of Palace Gate, came upon the rear, and our numbers were greatly leffened by being killed andwounded, it was thought best to retreat to the battery that we had taken, which we did, with the greatest part of our men, where at a consultation of officers present, it was the unanimous opinion that it was impracticable to retreat, as we must have passed a great part of the way, under the walls of the town, exposed to a line of fire, and our rear exposed to the fire of the enemy at the same time; besides having the party that sallied out through Palace Gate to oppose in front. We maintained our ground till about ten in the morning, but were at last obliged, with great resuctance, to surrender prisoners of war.

By the best accounts we can obtain, our lofs, by killed and wounded, amounts to about one hundred; the loss which the town sustained, we cannot learn; it must be small in comparison with ours, owing to the advantage of situation. We had one Captain and two Lieutenants killed; wounded officers, Colonel Arnold, Capt. Hubbard, Capt. Lambe, Lieut. Steel, Lieut. Tisdale and Brigade Major Ogden. The loss in that part of the army commanded by the General, besides himself, was his Aid de Camp, Mr. M'Pherson and Capt. Cheeseman; private number unknown. His Honour, Brigadier General Montgomery, was shot through both his thighs and through his head: his body was taken up the next day, an elegant cossin was prepared, and he was decently interred the Thursday after. I am informed, when his body was taken up, his features were not in the least distorted : his countenance appeared regular, serene, and placid like the foul that late had animated it. He was tall and stender, well limbed, of a genteel, easy, graceful, manly address, and had the voluntary love, efteem and confidence of the whole army. His death, though honourable, is lamented, not only as the death of an amiable, worthy friend, but as an experienced, brave General; the whole country fuffers greatly by fuch a loss at this time. The native goodness and rectitude of his heart might easily be seen in his actions; his sentiments, which appeared on every occasion, were fraught with that unaffected goodness, which plainly discovered the goodness of the heart from whence they flowed.

In the afternoon, the officers were confined in the Seminary, and wel accommodated with bedding; the privates were confined in the Recollects, or Jefuit's College. I dined this day with Capt. Law, whom in the morning I had made prisoner, but in a few hours after I was in my turn
