PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION

Since the first edition of this book important amendments have been made to various Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada and many valuable judicial decisions relating to this legislation have been given. These statutory amendments and decisions will be found noted in this volume. A selection has also been made from recent decisions of American courts interpreting provisions of similar legislation in the United States. The writer adheres to his view, expressed in the earlier Preface, concerning the value of such American decisions.

It is difficult to group the cases on this subject according to any logical scheme of classification. The various Mechanics' Lien Acts differ in their terms, and, in some instances, amendments seem to result in inconsistent provisions in the same Act. But there is apparent in recent judicial decisions in various Provinces a growing tendency towards uniformity, in gratifying contrast to the labyrinth of former conflicting decisions. Any seeming conflict in some recent decisions is probably traceable to the varying provincial statutory provisions.

In a recent case in Alberta,* Beck, J., stated that where a statutory provision is adopted from another jurisdiction, after having been in force there for a long period of time, he would be disposed to follow the judicial decisions of that jurisdiction upon its interpretation, unless there were very strong reasons for a contrary view. The general adoption of such a commendable attitude would greatly aid in securing uniformity in the practical operation of this beneficial legislation.

In this edition Canadian decisions down to December, 1912, have been noted as far as practicable.

PREFACE TO FIRST EDITION

The decisions upon the Mechanics' Lien Acts existing in various Provinces in Canada and the amendments to the Statutes dealing with this subject have been so numerous of recent years, and the subject itself has become so extensive as to warrant the publication of a new treatise. While fully sensible of imperfections in the execution of this work, it is, nevertheless, hoped that it may prove useful to the profession.

There are some variations in the Statutes of the different Provinces on this subject, but very few of them are substantial, and the main sections of the various Statutes are so nearly alike as to make the decisions in one Province of value to the practitioners in the other Provinces. Moreover, it is thought that judicial interpretations of similar sections in the Statutes existing in various States in the adjoining Republic will be useful to the practitioners in Canada. Statutes in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other States of the Union, on this subject use, with very little variation, the phrases of the sections used in the Mechanics' Lien Acts existing in various Provinces in Canada, and it is felt that, as there are certain principles common to the jurisprudence of both countries, the decisions that have expounded the Statutes which have been enacted in various States of the Union will aid either directly, or by analogy, in the construction of similar Acts passed by our Provincial Legislatures.

Bramwell, B., in Osborn v. Gillett, (1873) L.R. 8 Exch. 92, said, in speaking of United States decisions on another branch of the law:—

"The American authorities are not binding on us indeed, but are entitled to respect as the opinion of professors of English law and entitled to respect according to the positions of those professors and the reason they give for their opinions."

The late Mr. Justice Thompson, of Nova Scotia, in one case referred to the value of United States decisions and quoted approvingly what Chief Justice Cockburn said in Scaramanga v. Stamp, L.R. 5 C.P.D. 303: "Although the decisions of the American courts are, of course, not binding on us, yet the sound and enlightened views of American lawyers in the administration and development of the law, a law, except so far as altered by statutory enactment, derived from a common source with our own, entitle their decisions to the utmost respect and confidence on our part." Such observations must apply with special force to decisions of United States courts construing Statutes which the Provincial Legislatures in Canada have utilized in framing their own Mechanics' Lien Acts.

Times have greatly changed since the Court of Queen's Bench of Upper Canada, under the presidency of Chief Justice Draper, actually declined to make a note of any United States case cited on any question of law.

As the Mechanics' Lien Act of Ontario, the parent Statute, is, in its main provisions, similar to the legislation on the same subject in Manitoba, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and the largest amount of judicial interpretation has been given to the Ontario Statute, it has been deemed best to group, under appropriate sections of that Statute, all the decisions given in Canada that have been obtainable and to publish the Mechanics' Lien Acts of the other Provinces with merely the essential notes and cross-references. Prince Edward Island has no Mechanics' Lien Act. The Articles of the Civil Code of Quebec dealing with the same subject are also published, with decisions of the courts of Quebec relating to them.

The writer must acknowledge his obligations to Mr. A. A. Mackay, B.A., LL.B., Law Clerk of the Nova Scotia Assembly, whose valuable services have greatly improved the volume.

In the selection of cases illustrating the Quebec law valuable aid has been given by Mr. H. J. Kavanagh, K.C., of the Quebec Bar.

OF

HISTORICAL.

The Development of the Lien upon Realty.

A common law lien, in its primary sense, has been judicially defined to be "a right in one man to retain that which is in his possession belonging to another, till certain demands of him, the person in possession, are satisfied." Hammonds v. Barclay, (1802) 2 East 227, 235. "It is neither a jus in re nor jus ad rem." Dempsey v. Carson, (1862) 11 U.C.C.P. 462, per Draper, C.J. This right to so retain the property, upon which he had performed labor and thereby added to its value, only applied to personal property. At common law a mechanic had no lien upon a building for labor done upon it and could not retain possession of realty upon which he had performed labor. Even at so early a period as the year 1835 this question was discussed in an Ontario case (Johnson v. Crew, 5 U.C.Q.B. (O.S.) 200), where a builder, having performed work on a house, withheld possession and insisted that his claim must first be paid. It was decided in that case that the builder had no lien, and that no action would lie for his claim until the absolute delivery of the house. Robinson, C.J., said: "On general principles and in ordinary cases a builder has no lien on the house which he has built or repaired,— it would be most inconvenient that he should have. The ground on which it stands is inseparable from the house and such a lien would exclude the owner from his own freehold." Macaulay, J., said: "Contractors for such work must rely on the personal liability of their employer under the contract, in an express security guaranteed by substantive agreement. No lien results in law in their favor by reason of the expenditure of their toil and material on the estate and for the benefit of the owner."

It is true that a contractor may have a right to hold materials as an unpaid vendor until they are paid for, when such materials brought on the land of the employer have not been affixed to the freehold, and the property in them has not passed to the employer by the terms of the contract (Bellamy v. Davey, [1891] 3 Ch. 540), but when the materials have been affixed to the freehold, a contractor, in the absence of a statute has no lien on them, or on the work constructed with them. They then form part of the freehold. Halsbury's Laws of England, vol. 3, p. 264.

It required a statute, therefore, to create this lien and it was not until the year 1873 that this right was created in Ontario, which was the first Province in Canada to enact a Mechanics' Lien Law. 36 Vict. ch. 27.

Origin of the Law.

Ontario, doubtless, adopted the system of Mechanics' Liens from the statutes prevailing in many of the States of the neighboring Republic. Such a system is unknown to the law of England. The actual cause which led to the introduction of the system in the United States is not known. Phillips, in his treatise on Mechanics' Liens (3rd ed., sec. 6) states that it has been supposed that in Pennsylvania, which was one of the first States to establish the system, it owed its existence to the analogous provisions contained in the Act of the commonwealth of 1784 relating to persons employed in building and repairing vessels, and others seem inclined to trace its origin exclusively to the necessity, in a young and growing country, of fostering mechanical and industrial pursuits, and the manifest equity of dedicating primarily buildings and the land upon which they are erected to the payment of the labor and materials incorporated, and which have given to them an increased value. But is it not probable that the origin of the system is traceable to the circumstance that many of the new settlers in that country were mechanics, who came from continental countries where laws existed based on the civil law, which has so deeply influenced the jurisprudence of the civilized world, and that these workmen, having had the beneficial experience of the civil law provisions which protected the contractor and mechanic and clearly defined and regulated their interests, would naturally press for the like privilege to be given them in their adopted country? The civil code of Louisiana is directly traceable to this source and in regard to mechanics and laborers is practically a re-enactment of the provisions of the civil law. The enactment by the British Parliament of the famous "Quebec Act" of 1774, which extended the limits of the Province southward to the Ohio and westward to the Mississippi, restored the civil law to the people living within that extensive territory, and it is probable that the provisions of that law protecting mechanics, were familiar to many workmen who afterwards became residents of adjoining States and who would quickly join in the movement for the securing of a statutory law with similar provisions for their protection. The old French law gave a lien to workmen over all other creditors, upon the equitable principle that they who had furnished materials, and had worked for the common benefit of all the creditors should therefore be first paid. Pothier Procédure Civile, partie 4, ch. 2, sec. 3, sub-sec. 5.

Moreover there were many thousands of Dutch settlers not only in New York but along the Delaware and in Maryland and Pennsylvania, (Pennsylvania Archives, vol. 1, Hazard), and these settlers and their relatives and friends who followed them to their new homes had lived under the civil law in Holland, and the mechanics among them would naturally agitate to secure an enactment giving them similar protection in their adopted country.

It is not unlikely, therefore, that the provisions of the civil law constituted the foundation for the system of Mechanics' Liens now prevailing on this continent.

In the United States, the first statute creating such a lien was enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland in 1791. This was followed by a measure passed by the Legislature of Pennsylvania in 1803. In 1819 the Legislature of Massachusetts passed a Mechanics' Lien Act which was adopted in Maine in 1821. As illustrating the meagre and incomplete provisions of these early statutes it is worthy of note that the Massachusetts Act gave a lien only to one who had made a written contract with the owner, and the first Pennsylvania Act made the lien apply only for debts contracted by the owner of the property in connection with work done or materials furnished for the building, and the contractor himself was not entitled to any lien under the Act. The primary purpose of the latter statute was not to secure the contractor but the mechanics and dealers who were liable to lose through him. The whole statute consisted only of two sections and was contained in about thirty lines.

Initial Difficulties.

The legislative germ introduced in Ontario in 1873 gave little promise of long life or future development. It was an exasperation to the owners of real estate, and in many cases was a disappointment to persons claiming a lien. It was publicly stigmatised as being of profit to no one save the lawyers, and it was suspected of being the offspring of the wanton wooing of the workingman's vote. The Act was vigorously condemned in the press by suitors who had invoked it unsuccessfully.

Looking back to that period, it is not surprising that the new Act was unpopular. It was good, so far as it went, but it did not go far enough, and there was the inevitable accompaniment of ambiguity in respect to some of its terms. It existed only in favor of the direct contractor with the owner, and there was a perilous perplexity and haziness about the scope of the word "owner," who was, as one judge expressed it, "environed with great perils." Sub-contractors disliked the statute because it did not give them the right to a lien on the land and left them unprotected from fraud. They were entitled to have their claims paid out of any money due by the owner to the contractor, but that privilege was speedily discovered in many cases to be illusory and valueless, inasmuch as by the time the owner received from them the necessary notice of their claims there was nothing due by him to the contractor and therefore nothing to pay to the sub-contractors. This defect was remedied in 1874 (37 Vict. ch. 20). After further amendments to the law and the decision in a leading case (Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 A.R. 592), there was a clearer understanding of the scope of the word "owner." In 1877 there was a consolidation of the Acts (R.S.O. (1877) ch. 120. For some years there was contention between lien-holders and other incumbrancers for priority, (see Douglas v. Chamberlain, (1878) 25 Gr. 289: Richards v. Chamberlain, (1878) 25 Gr. 402, 24 Gr. 209), and there appeared to be general dissatisfaction with the statute. An editorial appeared in 1876 in the sedate columns of a law journal, (12 C.L.J. 300), vehemently demanding the repeal of the Act, and describing it as, "as that most absurd and hurtful of all illogical legislation." In the following year another editorial appeared in the same journal, which, after referring to a particular case (13 C.L.J. 9), as a specific instance of the unsatisfactory character of the Act denounced the whole measure as unjust, absurd and unintelligible.

It should be noted that the case which provoked this violent attack upon the Act was reversed on appeal.

Important Amendments.

When, by further amendments to the Act, the legislature sought to protect the sub-contractors and material men by giving each of them a lien, the law was often misunderstood by the sub-contractors and material men, who in many instances suffered loss because they failed to realize the importance of the doctrine enunciated by Mr. Justice Proudfoot, when he said: "The American statutes, so far as I have been able to refer to them, contain no definitions of the term owner, but the courts have construed it to be the correlative of contractor, and to mean the person who employs the contractor, and for whom the work is done under the contract. Our statute seems to have framed the definition in accordance with this course of decision." Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1881) 29 Gr. 319. The contractor and material men, however, felt that it was unreasonable that anything more should be required to be shown by them to secure their claims than to prove the ownership of an interest in the land and the doing of the work benefiting the owner of that interest. Moreover, wage-earners were dissatisfied with the Act because there was no adequate protection for them against the dishonesty of contractors. In order to afford ample protection to wage-earners, amendments to the Act were made in 1882, (45 Vict. ch. 15), and further amendments in 1884 (47 Vict. ch. 18), and in 1887 (50 Vict. ch. 20). By these later amendments a better status was given to the lien for wages; all agreements made for the purpose of preventing the attaching of mechanics' liens were declared void, except as between the actual parties to such agreements, and the procedure for enforcing and discharging liens was improved. The next consolidation was in 1887, (R.S.O. (1887) ch. 126), and further amendments were made in 1889, one amendment, (52 Viet. ch. 37), directing a special procedure for the enforcement of the lien, and the later amendment, (52 Viet. ch. 38), making a change in the percentage required to be retained by an owner. In 1893 by an amending Act the procedure for the enforcement of the lien was further improved. Notwithstanding all these amendments, the Act was in such a condition until 1896 that the courts were often forced to allow gross injustice to be done by reason of technical slips, and the remedy intended by the Act was often burked by matters of form and not of substance. (See observations of Riddell, J., in Barrington v. Martin, (1908) 16 O.L.R. 635.) In that year the legislature made a clean sweep of the old Acts, and recast the whole statute. (50 Viet. ch. 35.) There was a subsequent consolidation in 1897. (R.S.O. (1897) ch. 157), and a revision again in 1910, after additional amendments in intervening years. Since then, practically no change has been made in the Act.

For some time there had been contention in regard to the construction of the word "completion" of the work, but finally in the case of Neill v. Carroll, affirmed on re-hearing (see Summers v. Beard, 24 O.R. 641), it was established that "completion" meant substantial completion and that the subsequent supplying of trifling imperfections would not have the effect of prolonging the time for the registration of the lien or for bringing the action to enforce the lien.

When the right to a lien was extended to sub-contractors it proved, in many instances, an expensive and useless right because there was no machinery accompanying it which would enable sub-contractors to ascertain speedily the amount due by the owner to the contractor. Eventually a provision was adopted for the further protection of sub-contractors, which provision is now embodied in section 12 of the present Act. Another defect in the statute, which impaired its value to sub-contractors, arose from the fact that a contractor could by his agreement deprive all sub-contractors under him of the right of lien, and it was not until 1884 (47 Vict. ch. 18), that the defect was remedied.

It was, of course, very difficult to anticipate and provide for the innumerable questions which ultimately arose concerning the scope and meaning of the terms of a statute of this novel nature. The ambiguity of some of its sections was the subject of occasional comment by the courts. Even at so late a period as 1885 Chancellor Boyd, in one case, expressed regret that he could not exempt the plaintiff from costs "incurred in endeavoring to discover the true meaning of the mechanics' lien law." Graham v. Williams, (1885) 8 O.R. 478.

The experiences of Manitoba, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Alberta and Saskatchewan were not so troublesome, as by the time enactments on this subject had been passed by their legislatures, the path had been made fairly smooth.

Contrasting the meagre, inadequate and inequitable provisions of the Ontario Act of 1873 with the comprehensive and just provisions of the present Act, based as it is on a due regard to the rights of all parties, great progress may fairly be claimed along a somewhat thorny and troublesome path, where conflicting rights compelled the legislator to proceed cautiously lest the honest endeavor to do full justice to one class might involve injustice to another class. There has been a slow but steady widening of the remedy, so that, while the remedy itself has been made more effective, it has also been extended so as to include new classes of persons equally entitled to invoke it, and the law itself in the various provinces of Canada is gradually becoming uniform and well settled. It is not claimed that even to-day the legislation on this subject has anticipated and effectively dealt with all possible contingencies and is complete and perfect. "The statute, construe it as we may, presents anomalies and incongruities with which it is very difficult to deal." Jackson v. Egan, (1911) 200 N.Y. 500, per Cullen, C.J. Further legislation, doubtless, will be necessary from time to time to meet new conditions and to cope with the ingenuity of those desirous of evading the provisions of the Act, but when the difficulties of the subject are considered, it must be conceded that the Mechanics' Lien Acts as they exist to-day in this country, are distinctly beneficial and just measures. It was feared by some persons that the Acts would be oppressive to the owners of real estate, but it is now universally recognized that these measures are not more onerous than necessity and justice demand in order to protect those who do work and furnish the materials by which the realty is benefited.

The value of a statute of this kind cannot be measured by the frequency with which its provisions are invoked. The mere fact that it is on the statute book constitutes in itself a wholesome, salutary and far-reaching influence in preventing attempts to defraud which might otherwise be successfully undertaken. An adequate idea of the value of the Mechanics' Lien Acts could only be afforded by their absolute repeal, as it would then be found that those classes now protected by the law, from the fraud, injustice, misfortune or improvidence of others in connection with building contracts, would have the strongest reasons for demanding the re-enactment of these statutes.

CHAPTER II.

Nature and Scope of the Lien.

A right which requires a statute to create it, and also statutory words to determine the precise length of its life can be truly called a creature of the statute. There are other liens created by statute, but a mechanics' lien upon realty differs in several respects from any of them. The statutory law which bears the closest resemblance to it is that which relates to an incumbrance affixed to the realty for taxes due to a municipality.

A mechanies' lien although created by operation of law is dependent upon contract, express or implied. It being considered that a person who by his labor or material enhances the value of realty belonging to others has a special right to compensation and, therefore, should have a preferred claim on such realty, the object of a Mechanics' Lien Act is to secure to him a priority of payment of the value of the work done, or materials furnished, by giving him a lien which attaches to the land and the structure.

This lien arises by virtue of the employment and the doing of the work or furnishing the materials (McNamara v. Kirkland, (1891) 18 O.A.R. 276), and is given as a security only for labor done or materials furnished to be used in connection with the construction, repair or improvement of the structure. Robock v. Peters (1900) 13 Man. L.R. 139.

The death of a lienholder or the dissolution of the co-partnership of a firm of lien holders cannot affect the continuance of a lien.

One purpose of the Act is to secure to wage-earners priority over all claimants not having a superior equity, so that wage-earners who became entitled to a lien as the work went on would not lose their lien through any subsequent default of the contractor. To wage-earners the owner may be made liable for more than what is payable to the contractor, but with this exception the charge created by the statute is a charge upon money to become payable to the contractor and when, by reason of the contractor's default, the money never becomes payable, those claiming under him to have this statutory charge upon the fund created by the Act, if and when payable, have no greater right than he himself had, and their lien fails. Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 18 O.W.R. 446, 23 O.L.R. 130; McManus v. Rothschild, 25 O.L.R. 138; Cole v. Pearson, (1908) 12 O.W.R. 111. The lien itself is an interest in land (Stewart v. Gesner, (1881) 29 Gr. 329), and attaches to equitable as well as legal estates or interests in land. Reggin v. Manes, 22 O.R. 443; Montjoy v. Howard School Dist. Corp., 10 W.L.R. 282. "A trustee having power to improve and repair the property can usually by his contract subject it to a mechanics' lien." Springer v. Kroeschell, 161 Ill. 358. It will attach to the estate of a lessee, (Garing v. Hunt, 27 O.R. 149), but subject to all the conditions of the lease, (Williams v. Vanderbilt, 145 Ill. 238), but the lessee's contract cannot, as a rule, affect any other interest, unless the lessor consented to the making of the improvements. Garing v. Hunt, supra; Graham v. Williams, 8 O.R. 478, 9 O.R. 458. It attaches only to realty, and does not create an estate in the realty itself but is, in effect, a statutory charge upon the estate or interest of the "owner," as defined by the Act (Garing v. Hunt, supra; Graham v. Williams, 8 O.R. 478, 9 O.R. 458), and its registration makes subsequent transfers or incumbrances of the land affected by the charge subordinate to the rights of the lien holder. It arises as soon as work is done or materials furnished, and is subject to be increased or decreased in amount from time to time, as further work is done or materials furnished to be used, on the one hand, or payments made to the lien holder, on the other hand. Although the lien arises as soon as the work is commenced, or the materials have been placed or furnished, yet it actually takes its rank with other interests and incumbrances not solely according to the date at which it came into existence, but, in so far as the work or materials have increased the value of the land, in priority to other interests and incumbrances, though the latter be prior in point of time. Galvin-Walston Lumber Co. v. McKinnon, (1911) 4 Sask. L.R. 68, 16 W.L.R. 310.

The lien may be registered when commencing, or during the progress of the work, but an action thereon cannot be commenced before completion of the contract. Curtis v. Richardson, (1909) 18 Man. L.R. 519.

The lien upon registration, takes effect from the commencement of the work, or from the placing of the materials, as against purchasers, etc., under instruments registered or unregistered. Robock v. Peters, (1900) 14 Man. L.R. 139. As between owner and contractor, the lien may exist from the time of the commencement of the work, yet if the latter desires to preserve his position and establish a priority over subsequent purchasers or mortgagees, he must register his lien. McVean v. Tiffin, (1885) 13 O.A.R. 4. The office of the statement registered, so far as respects the lien, is not to create it but to preserve it, and maintain it against subsequent purchasers and protect the latter from the risk of taking without notice any land affected by a lien. The purpose of registration of claims for liens is to give public notice of the existence and nature and amount of the claims and of the persons by and against whom they are claimed, and of the property subject to them, so that persons interested in the property or intending to acquire any interest in it may receive reasonable notice of the character of the claims attaching to the property. Such information as answers this purpose should be held sufficient. Bickerton v. Dakin, (1891) 20 O.R. 702; Fulp v. Power Co., (1911) 157 N.C. 156. The owner has the right to know from the account filed, the amount which has become a charge upon his property in order that by payment or tender he may discharge the property of this encumbrance. If, therefore, a claim for lien is wilfully and fraudulently made for an excessive sum, the lien will be defeated. Marsh v. Mick, (1911) 159 Ill. App. 399.

When the work is done or the materials are furnished, the lien, having attached as the work is being done, relates back to the time when the work was begun, or the materials were commenced to be furnished, and takes priority over incumbrances not recorded at that time. Ottawa Steel Castings Co. v. Dominion Supply Co., (1905) 5 O.W.R. 161, 41 C.L.J. 260.

The lien for materials arises on the materials being furnished for the "owner" or contractor or a sub-contractor, and attaches only to the erection, building or property in respect of which they were furnished, and of the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, or upon which the materials are placed or furnished to be used. The policy of this legislation is to prevent an owner from obtaining the benefit of the labor and materials of others without compensation, but it is not intended to compel an owner to pay his contractor's indebtedness for that which does not go into or benefit his property. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Co., 22 O.L.R. 176.

The lien of the wage-earners is controlled by the contract price or the proportionate value of the work done. They are placed in their employer-contractor's shoes, and cannot claim more than he could. Brienzi v. Samuel, (1908) 12 O.W.R. 1232.

A mechanics' lien is a charge upon the whole realty, although the labor done or materials furnished may have only been connected with part of it. This is aptly illustrated in a case (Beatty v. Parker, (1886) 141 Mass. 523), in which it was decided that a drain pipe extending from the cellar of a house in a city, through the cellar wall, yard and street into a sewer, and included in the contract for building the house, which was fitted for the use of the city water, is a part of the house and that a lien may be maintained for the laying of this drain, it being immaterial that the fee of the street is not in the owner of the house. In a later case it was held that a lien might exist for grading a lot, as, if the grading were reasonably necessary to the proper construction and occupation of the house, it fairly could be considered as part of the erection of the house. Reid v. Berry, (1901) 178 Mass. 260. In fact, any improvements which although outside of a building are necessary for its proper use, and are on the lot of land, may be the subject of a lien on the land and building. Thus, a lien may be claimed against the whole realty for the drilling of an artesian well (Rolewitch v. Harrington, (1906) 6 L.R.A. 550); constructing a reservoir (Brush Elec. Co. v. Warwick Electric Co., 6 Ohio Dec. 459); pipes in a cold storage plant (Steger v. Arctic Ref. Co., 11 L.R.A. 580); a gas machine (Pennsyl. Globe Co. v. Gill, 1 Pa. Dis. R. 538); electric light (Badger Lumber Co. v. Marion Water Supply & Power Co., 15 L.R.A. 652); brewery appliances (Watts Campbell v. Yuengling, (1890) 125 N.Y. 3). A person furnishing lead to connect a house with pipes in the street may have a lien on the house. Ferry v. Rothbaum, (1911) 155 Mo. App. 331. Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada give a lien upon the building ". . . and the lands occupied thereby and enjoyed therewith," and this phrase has been liberally construed. Where a lien on a mine was claimed, and it appeared that none of the work was done and none of the materials were furnished on mining locations Nos. 128 and 129, but these were "enjoyed" with No. 258 on which the work was done, it was held that the former sections were, therefore, subject to the lien. Davis v. Crown Point Mining Company, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 69. These words are not necessarily restricted to the particular lot upon which the building is situated but may include other lots intended for use with the house. Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 49. Where a statute permitted the lien to attach to such curtilage as is reasonably needed for the general purposes for which the structure is erected, a lien on a hotel and sanitarium was held to extend to a lot separated from that containing the building by other property, but containing a mineral spring which is intended as part of the sanitarium property. (See Wirsing v. Penn Hotel and Sanitarium Co., (1909) 226 Pa. 234, where previous cases are reviewed.) Where the buildings are upon farms, the lien, as a general rule, will include the extra tract that is used as one farm. Cowan v. Griffith, 103 Cal. 224. The tendency of legislation is to widen, and of the courts to construe liberally, the provisions dealing with the extent and scope of a lien. Ontario Lime Assocn. v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17. Such terms as "work" and "materials," for instance, have been most liberally construed.

The question of the extent of land included in the lien depends largely upon the facts at the time the contract was made. La Forgee v. Colby, 69 Ill. App. 443; Baker v. Waldron, 92 Me. 17; Collins v. Patch, 156 Mass. 317. As to the area of land subject to the lien, Fuller, C.J., in a leading American case, said: "The truth is that what area of land is subject to lien in a given case largely depends on the character of the improvement. The extent of ground proper and necessary to the enjoyment of a building, a wall or a fence, would not be the same as that required for or appertaining to an irrigation system, but the principle of determination is the same." Springer Land Assn. v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513.

Where there are no visible divisions the entire tract is considered as the lot of land covered by the lien (St. Louis Nat. Stock Yards v. O'Reilly, 85 Ill. 546; Orr v. Fuller, 172 Mass. 597), but in Pennsylvania it has been held that if the work is done on a structure which is on a separate and remote lot, a lien cannot be enforced against a building on another lot, although the structure on which the work was done serves the other building as well as other properties. Cowan v. Penn. Plate Glass Co., 184 Pa. 16.

All of a block of houses on one tract erected under one contract will be covered by a single lien. Brabazon v. Allen, 41 Conn. 361; Worthley v. Emerson, 116, Mass. 374; see Maryland Brick Co. v. Spelman, 76 Ind. 337 (17 L.R.A. 599). The defendant bought one of two adjoining pieces of land and took a fifty years' lease of the other. He erected an exterior fence, built a continuous dock for coal along the entire river front of both lots and used the whole tract as a coal yard, and it was held that a lien under a single contract covered both lots as a single lien. Marston v. Kenyon, 44 Conn. 349. Old material used under the contract in the new building may be subject to a lien (Whitford v. Newell, 84 Mass. 424), and the amount paid by a contractor agreeing to erect a new building for removing an old building on the site is a proper claim. Pratt v. Nakdimen, (1912) 138 S.W. 974), but no lien arises for merely tearing down a building or part thereof (Thompson-Starrett Co. v. Brooklyn Heights R.C., 111 App. Div. (N.Y.) 358) unless the work of tearing down was a necessary preliminary to the making of subsequent improvements.

Where it is intended to use the whole of the land with the buildings on which the work was done, all the land will be subject to the lien (Lindsay v. Gunning, 59 Conn. 296), where the whole farm of 350 acres was held to be "the land on which" the buildings stand.

The estate or interest, large or small, of the "owner" is bound by the lien (McCarty v. Carter, 49 Ill. 53, 95 Am. Dec. 572), and where the equitable title afterwards merges into the legal, the lien will attach to the legal title. Where a person has a valid lien on a lot and building and subsequently becomes owner of the land on which the building was then standing, whatever interest he could claim in the property under his lien merges in his title as owner. Galvin Watson Lum. Co. v. McKinnon, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 310. Once a lien attaches no subsequent conveyance can affect it prejudicially. Salem v. Lane, 189 Ill. 593.

As to the operation of the lien itself, Boyd, C., in delivering judgment in a leading Ontario case (King v. Alford, (1885) 10 O.R. 647), said: "There is nothing in the scope of the Act as to liens to indicate that it was intended to be operative to a greater extent than as giving a statutory lien issuing in process of execution, of efficacy equal to, but not greater than, that possessed by the ordinary writs of execution." In another part of his judgment in that case, the learned Chancellor points out that a mechanics' lien is not analogous to a vendor's lien, and Ferguson, J., in the same case states fully the distinction between a mechanics' lien and a vendor's lien.

The lien upon a mine is a lien on the mine itself and not on any fund arising from the sale of ore extracted from the mine. Law v. Mumford, 14 B.C.R. 233.

Such terms as "building" (6 Cyc. 115); "wharf" (Collins v. Drew, (1876) 67 N.Y. 149; Ellis v. Cory (1902) K.B. 38; see also Haddock v. Humphrey, (1900) 1 Q.B. 609; Kenny v. Harrison, (1902) 2 K.B. 168); "curtilage" (12 Cyc. 1021) occurring in a statute have been given a wide and liberal interpretation.

Work on an excavation or foundation will give a lien, even though no building is subsequently erected (Baker v. Waldron, 92 Me. 17; Sommerville v. Walker, 168 Mass. 388), but unless the statute expressly provides there is no lien for the breaking of land for the purposes of cultivation. Brown v. Wyman, 41 Am. Rep. 117. To create a lien it is not essential that the contract should contemplate that the lien claimant should be paid in money. Dowdney v. McCullom, 59 N.Y. 367.

The lien extends only to the property upon or in respect of which the work is performed or the materials furnished to be used, and the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, and this being so, it follows that though the work is done under one contract and for the same owner, no lien is created upon the property for work done or materials furnished upon another distinct property (Currier v. Friedrick, (1875) 22 Gr. 243; Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249; Barr & Anderson v. Percy & Co., (1912) 21 W.L.R. 237; Oldfield v. Barbour, (1888) 12 P.R. 544; Larkins v Blakeman, 42 Conn. 292; Rice v. Nantasket Co., (1870) 140 Mass. 256), but a joint lien may be had upon a number of structures built or repaired under a single contract, and thus connected in construction and ownership. In reality they are to be considered as one building or structure. Thus, semi-detached houses, or houses erected in a row would be treated as one building (Ontario Lime Assn. v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17; Capper v. Gillespie, 11 W.L.R. 310; Windfall Nat. Gas. Co. v. Roe, (1908) 42 Ind. App. 228). If the amount for which the lien is claimed can be apportioned between two or more properties, or if separate prices are fixed, it seems a separate lien may be claimed on each property for the amount due in respect to it. Booth v. Booth, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 294; Shaw v. Thompson, (1870) 105 Mass. 345; but see Fairclough v. Smith, (1901), 13 Man. L.R. 509; Rathburn v. Hayford, (1862) 87 Mass. 406.

Where a contractor has several contracts with different persons for the erection of distinct buildings, a person who supplies materials to the contractor can only have a lien upon each owner's house for the amount due to him for material that had gone into that particular house. The onus is upon him to make his claim upon each house severally and he cannot join all the houses and all the owners in one proceeding and make one lump claim against them jointly. But where an owner enters into an entire contract for the supply of material to be used upon several buildings the nature of the contract shifts the onus and the lien claimant can ask to have his lien follow the form of the contract, and that it be for an entire sum upon all the buildings, and, in such case, if an owner desires to invoke the statute to the extent of having a lien upon any building confined to the value of the material going into that building the onus is upon him to shew the facts. Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249.

In an action by a husband against a wife to enforce a lien (Booth v. Booth, supra), it appeared that defendant's wife and plaintiff's mother each owned a dwelling, both dwellings being in one building which was damaged by fire. Plaintiff contracted to repair both for a lump sum—the amount of insurance. Meredith, C.J., in this case said: "It was contended that as the agreement was made between the husband on the one part and his wife and mother on the other part for the performance of the whole work necessary to be done on both buildings for one entire price, the Act, R.S.O. (1897) ch. 153, gives no lien upon the land of either for the price of the work and material or any part of them. . . . It is unnecessary to express an opinion as to whether the respondent would have been entitled to a lien under the Act on both the lands of his wife and his mother for the whole of the agreed price, for the only claim which is made is a lien on the lands of the wife for the price of the work done on her part of the building and for the materials furnished in respect to it. It was, however, contended that the effect of the bargain, it having been for the whole work at one price and not separate prices in respect to each building, is that even such a lien as is claimed was not created. I am unable to agree with this view. Had it been impossible to distinguish between the work done and the materials furnished on the wife's building and those for the building of the mother there possibly might have been a difficulty in the respondent's way, but I see no reason why, if it be practicable to do this, and a fortiori where, as appears to have been done in this case, a separate account had been kept, the lien may not attach to the land of each owner for the price of the work performed and materials furnished on his part of the building. . . . Though the price for the work and materials was a lump sum, and included what was to be paid for that which he contracted to do in respect to his mother's building, I see no reason why for the purposes of the Act the price may not be apportioned between the two buildings according to the amount of the work performed and the materials in respect of it."

Though the decisions are conflicting, in the United States a lien would be upheld in the majority of the States in cases where separate buildings are erected upon the same lot or contiguous lots, for the same owner under an entire contract. If the buildings are on separate lots, though erected under an entire contract with one owner, the lien is only for the work done or materials furnished on each particular lot. No lien arises if the lots on which the buildings are erected are owned by different persons, though erected under one contract. Rathbun v. Hayford, (1862) 87 Mass. 406; Childs v. Anderson, (1880) 128 Mass. 108; see Stoltze v. Hurd, (1910) 30 L.R.A. 1219. If, however, different owners join in the contract for the erection of one building on contiguous lots, a lien may be claimed against the whole property. Miller v. Sheppard, 50 Minn. 268; Menzel v. Tubbs, 51 Minn. 364; J. A. Treat Lumber Co. v. Warner, 60 Wis. 183. No lien can be claimed where the work is done or the materials furnished partly upon land owned by the person for whom the work or materials is done or furnished and partly upon land of a stranger. Stevens v. Lincoln, (1874) 114 Mass. 476; McGuinness v. Boyle, (1878) 123 Mass. 570; see Lee v. Hill, 11 W.L.R. 611, unless the amount due in respect to the part owned by the person for whom the work was done can be shown. Batchelder v. Hutchinson, (1894) 161 Mass. 462.

There are also decisions in some States to the effect that a lien attaches on the land of both owners where a joint contract is made with them for the work to be performed on both lots which are owned separately. Deegan v. Kilpatrick, (1900) 54 N.Y. App. Div. 374, 66 N.Y. Supp. 628; Miller v. Schmitt, (1901) 67 N.Y. Supp. 1077, and Miexell v. Guest, (1895) 40 Pac. Rep. 1070.

In a leading Massachusetts case (Forbes v. Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club, (1900) 175 Mass. 432), it was held that a mechanics' lien may be enforced upon a building erected by the lessee under a lease of the land for a term of years which requires the erection of the building and which prevents the building from becoming a part of the realty, and upon the lessee's estate for years in the land, for labor performed on the buildings by employees of the contractor with the lessee. In delivering the judgment of the Court in this case, Barker, J., said that it was intended by the Legislature to give a lien upon buildings the owner of which had no estate or interest in the land upon which the building was erected, and that the lien might extend to a building erected upon land although the building was personal property. The learned judge continues as follows: "The contrary opinion expressed in Hayes v. Fessenden, 106 Mass. 223, 231, and in Stevens v. Lincoln, 114 Mass. 476, 478, was not necessary to the decision of either of those cases and therefore is not binding as an authoritative construction of the statute. In neither of those cases was the building personal property. In the former it was put upon the land by one who had merely a written agreement with the owners of the land for its purchase, and the lien was denied for the sufficient reason that a person holding such an agreement merely could not charge the building with a lien, because he was not the owner of the building, under the authority of Poor v. Oakman, 104 Mass. 309. So in Stevens v. Lincoln, where a lien was denied because by mistake a school house had been built partly upon lands of the town and partly upon lands of third persons, and it was not shown how much of the work was done on the respondent's land. There was no ground for contending that the building was personal property. So much of it as stood on lands of other persons than the respondent was the real estate of those persons, and so much of it as stood on the respondent's land was the respondent's real estate; and the ground upon which the exceptions were sustained was that it could not be shown how much of the work was done upon the building on the respondent's land. In the present case the lease of the respondent required the erection of the building and so was a consent to its erection on the part of the owner of the land, and as the lease also gave to the respondent an estate for years in the land, this made the respondent the owner of the building within the meaning of Pub. Sts. ch. 191, sec. 1, for the term of years at least."

Where a building is, by mistake, erected upon the wrong property, no lien can be claimed; thus where materials were furnished to be used in the erection of a building upon lot 3, but which was, by mistake, erected upon lot 4 and afterwards removed to lot 2, the materialman was not entitled to a lien upon lot 2. Lingren v. Nilsen, 52 N.W. 915, 50 Minn. 448.

Where a carpenter was to furnish the plant, etc., necessary for the carrying out of the contract, which was to become the property of the owner if the contract was not fulfilled, it was held that the value of the plant so furnished should not be included in the amount on which the owner was required to retain the percentage, though the contractor had failed to complete the contract and the plant had become the property of the owner. Birkett v. Brewder, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 62.

Where defendant leased premises to a company and the company agreed to erect buildings and plant to the value of $100,000, which were to become the property of the defendant, it was held that the lien only attached to the company's interest. Webb. v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327.

Where a lien on a mine was claimed, and it appeared that none of the work was done and none of the materials were furnished on mining locations Nos. 128 and 129, but these were "enjoyed" with No. 258 on which the work was done, it was held that the former sections were therefore subject to the lien. Davis v. Crown Point Mining Co., 3 O.L.R. 69; see also remarks of Fuller, C.J., in Springer Land Association v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513, upon the principle of determination of the extent of land covered by a lien.

A lien upon a building also attaches upon so much of the adjoining land as is necessary for the use and enjoyment of the building for the purpose for which it was erected. Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 8 W.L.R. 405; Nelson v. Campbell, 28 Pa. St. 156; Bank of Charleston v. Curtiss, 18 Conn. 342. The extent of land covered depends on the circumstances of each case; thus a distinction is drawn between property in the country and property in the city, a larger area being allowed in the former case.

In a number of cases the question whether the enforcing of this lien is a proceeding in rem or in personam has been discussed and conflicting views have been expressed. In a Newfoundland case (Lynch v. Trainor, (1893) 13 C.L.T. 426, Newfoundland L.R. (1884-1896) 744), an action to enforce a claim for wages under a Mechanics' Lien Act, it was held that such a proceeding was an action in rem and not in personam. The Newfoundland Act is almost a complete transcript of the Ontario Act. In a Massachusetts case (Howard v. Robinson, 5 Cush. 121), Shaw, C.J., referring to this question said:—

"The course directed by statute is conformable in part to proceedings in rem, and partly to those in personam, but the object being to charge the estate with a lien, an encumbrance wholly independent of the personal remedies which a contracting party may have, the course of proceedings must be considered as most nearly resembling a proceeding in rem."

It may now be considered as well settled that the action is one in rem. Washburn v. Burns, 34 N.J.L. 18; Simmonson v. Citizens' State Bank, 105 Iowa 264.

The view expressed by Boisot will be generally accepted as an accurate statement on this point: "If when we say proceeding in rem we mean a proceeding which is not against any person, but is directly against a thing whose state and condition are to be determined, and which results in a judgment equally binding on all persons, although not made parties to the proceedings, then a suit to foreclose a mechanics' lien cannot be said to be a proceeding in rem. But, if we use the term proceeding in rem in a larger and more general sense, as applied to actions between parties, where the direct object is to reach and dispose of property owned by them or of some interest therein, then a suit to foreclose mechanics' lien is a proceeding in rem. It is perhaps, however, more accurate to say that suits to foreclose mechanics' lien are suits in the nature of proceedings in rem in which the object is to determine the status of certain property, but which affect only those persons who are parties or privies." Boisot, Mechanics' Liens, sec. 511.

A decree enforcing a mechanics' lien is a conclusive determination of the rights of the parties, but it does not conclude persons who are neither parties nor privies. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 A.R. 599.

Where lands are out of the jurisdiction the court cannot affect them otherwise than by proceeding in personam and cannot, therefore, enforce a mechanics' lien by sale of land out of the jurisdiction. Chadwick v. Hunter, 1 Man. R. 363.

A person who claims the benefit of a mechanics' lien must show affirmatively that he is in one of the classes of persons that the statute intends to secure, and also that his claim is one of the kind that the statute secures. He must, therefore, be in one of the following classes of persons:—

(1) Those whose claims are by virtue of an agreement with the owner of the land and building or by reason of work done or materials furnished with his consent, i.e., original contractors and others having the statutory claim by consent of the owner;

(2) Those having a claim of the statutory description without any such agreement or direct consent, i.e., all sub-contractors (and persons whose claims are by virtue of a contract with any such sub-contractor, and who thereby come within the statutory definition of the term "sub-contractor;")

(3) All labourers and wage-earners.

The lien claimant must bring himself within the terms of the statute, which cannot be extended to cases not fairly within its general scope and purpose. Troy Public Works Co. v. City of Yonkers, (1911) 145 App. Div. (N.Y.) 527. Money advanced for the purpose of purchasing material or paying for labour which labour and material were intended to come within the lien law will not entitle the person advancing the money to a lien. Godeffroy v. Caldwell, 56 Am. Dec. 360. As was said by Sprague, C., in an Ontario case (Crone v. Struthers, (1875) 22 Gr. 248; see also Mushlitt v. Silverman, (1872) 50 N.Y. 360): "The lien of the plaintiff is the creature of the statute and must be limited by its provisions." Sometimes Mechanics' Lien Acts are loosely referred to as giving absolutely a lien to contractors, sub-contractors, material men and labourers. But such a statement is calculated to mislead. "The statute does not give a lien, but only a potential right of creating it." Edmonds v. Tiernan, (1892) 21 S.C.R., per Strong, J., at p. 407.

CHAPTER III.

Construction of Mechanics' Lien Acts.

Mechanics' liens upon realty being in derogation of the common law and depending for their existence wholly upon statutes, the courts throughout Canada have given a strict construction to the provisions of Mechanics' Lien Acts, so far as they create the right to a lien, but the courts adopt a liberal construction of the provisions which deal with the enforcement of the lien. These provisions being remedial should be liberally construed, but, so far as the terms creating the right to a lien are concerned, the language of such statutes is strictly construed against the person claiming the lien. Such a lien should be fully enforced when the claimant has brought himself within the provisions of the statute, but its terms should not be extended to cases falling within the reason, but not provided for by the language of the statute. The courts cannot extend the statute to meet meritorious cases unprovided for by the statute. A compliance with the provisions creating the right is essential before the lien can attach. "The statute does not give the lien, but only a potential right of creating it." Edmonds v. Tiernan, 21 S.C.R. 407, per Strong, J.

The filing of the lien is a simple and reasonable requirement and can be done in a plain and obvious way, and a lien claimant has no just ground of complaint if this portion of the statute is strictly construed. This lien is just what the statute makes it, and the courts cannot enlarge or lessen it. Being the creature of the statute it must be limited by the provisions of the statute (Crone v. Struthers, (1875) 22 Gr. 248; Edmonds v. Tiernan, (1892) 21 S.C.R. 407; Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 139; Haggerty v. Grant, (1895) 2 B.C.R. 176; Smith v. McIntosh, (1896) 3 B.C.R. 26, 28; Webb v. Gage, (1902) O.W.R. 327; Rafuse v. Hunter, 12 B.C.R. 126), and courts are powerless to change the conditions upon which the lien depends.

As Strong, J., said, in his decision in a case appealed under the British Columbia Mechanics' Lien Act (Edmonds v. Tiernan, (1892) 21 S.C.R. 407): "It is quite clear that when a statute gives a privilege in favour of a creditor, the creditor must bring himself strictly within its terms, and there is nothing in the statute in question here which provides that if a lien has once been abandoned it is to be considered as being abandoned merely for a time. If we should hold that it was to be so considered we should be adding a clause to the Act."

In another case, where the Manitoba Act was being construed (Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. R. 139), Killam, C.J., said: "But these liens are wholly of statutory creation, and in derogation of ordinary rights. They can be given only such effect as the statute clearly warrants. While the whole statute must be read together, and one clause may assist in the construction of another, I cannot find in the other clauses such an indication of an entire intention as should affect the natural interpretation of the language in section 4, sub-section (2). That clause seems to me to be the one which deals specifically with the relative priority of liens and mortgages made after commencement of work or furnishing materials, and must govern upon that point."

In a British Columbia case (Haggerty v. Grant, (1895) 2 B.C.R. 176), Begbie, C.J., said: "The same statute which gives the inchoate right of lien, either for work or materials, declares that it shall absolutely cease unless an affidavit be filed within thirty-one days, stating the enumerated particulars, one of which is the address of the owner. That affidavit constitutes the lien (section 9 of 1888, section 8 of 1891) and in order to acquire a right of this very unusual nature, the statute must be strictly followed." At page 177 of the same report the Chief Justice further says: "These statutes do not confer ordinary rights.

They must be followed and construed at least as strictly as the statutes regulating conditional bills of sale."

In applying this principle of construction, Crease, J., in a subsequent case (Smith v. McIntosh, (1896) 3 B.C.R. 26, at p. 28), referred to the case of Harding v. Knowlsen, 17 U.C.Q.B. 564 (which was a case of a conditional bill of sale), as an illustration of the extreme rigidity with which such Acts are construed. The affidavit which was made in that case followed closely the direction of the statute in all other respects but this, that the word "creditor" was inserted instead of "creditors." In commenting on this defect, Crease, J., said: "I dare say it was a mere mistake of the person who wrote the affidavit, but such mistakes cannot be allowed to have the effect of frittering away the provisions of an Act of Parliament."

In a later case in the same province (Wake v. C. P. L. Co., (1901) 8 B.C.R. at p. 360), Martin, J., said: "However unfortunate it is that the labourers have lost or will lose most of their wages, it would be still more unfortunate if, when they pursue a statutory remedy which imposes a heavy penalty upon persons who do not even employ them, the statute should be strained to add to the existing burden of responsibility already borne by such third persons." See also observations of Irving, J., in Leroy v. Smith, (1900) B.C.R., at p. 298, and of Maclennan, J.A., in Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 A.R. 364, and, as to the general rule, Archibald v. Hubley, 18 Can. S.C.R. 116.

In an Ontario case (Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327), Meredith, C.J., said: "In some of the American States a construction more favourable to the contractor has been given to the Mechanics' Lien Acts, the provisions of which were somewhat like those of our Act, which are in question here, though not identical with them, but we are, of course, bound to follow the decisions of the Court of Appeal of this province in preference to those decisions."

In the Province of Quebec, where, although there is no Mechanics' Lien Act, provisions of the civil law, similar in many respects, exist, it has been held that a strict compliance with such provisions is necessary to create a lien. La Banque d'Hochelaga v. Stevenson, 9 Que. Q.B. 282, [1900] A.C. 600.

The only Canadian judgment which is apparently not in complete harmony with the principle of applying strict construction to the sections creating the lien is a judgment by Mr. Justice Ferguson, in an Ontario case (Makins v. Robinson, (1884) 6 O.R. 1). It was contended that the registration of the lien was not good because the name of the person who was the owner at the time was not mentioned in it, the former owner having without the knowledge of the claimant sold and conveyed the property before the completion of the work. Ferguson, J., after quoting from the decision in the case of Jones v. Shawhan, (1842) 4 Watts & Serg. 262, and stating that the statute under which that decision was given was somewhat different from the Ontario statute he was then construing, said: "Yet I am of opinion that the reasoning of the case to which I have referred applies, especially when I look at the date of the conveyance to Pousette and the allegation of the plaintiff that he did not know anything about it, and I am of opinion that this alleged defect is not fatal, although it has been said that the statute relative to mechanics' lien being in derogation of the common law, should be strictly complied with." But in the Pennsylvania case quoted by Ferguson, J., it is important to note that Gibson, C.J., stated in his judgment that the Pennsylvania statute, "expressly requires no more than the name of the reputed owner, and it might be sufficient to file it (i.e., the claim) against the past or present one."

In 1903 the Supreme Court of Michigan, in a case (Waters v. Johnson, 96 N.W. 504) which involved the construction of a statute similar in its terms to that construed in Jones v. Strawhan, supra, dissented from the construction given in that case, and held that a lien claim which named a person who had conveyed the property before the filing of the claim was insufficient, and that the claimant could only be relieved from such mistake on proof of facts showing that the error was justly chargeable to the grantee of the property so as to estop him from taking advantage of the error.

Where an owner may be compelled to pay twice by the statute such legislation is highly penal and it is but just to construe it strictly against such a result. Recent decisions in other American courts generally adopt the view that Mechanics' Lien Acts must be strictly construed with reference to all requirements upon which the right to a lien depends. Turnes v. Brenckle, 249 Ill. 394.

As the mechanics' lien law is contrary to the course of the common law any ambiguity must be resolved against the party seeking to enforce a lien under it. Builders' Material Co. v. Johnson, 158 Ill. App. 413. Provisions which require an owner to pay a debt which he did not contract or which he may have already paid to the contractor should be construed strictly against the claimant. McNab & Harlin Mfg. Co. v. Paterson Bldg. Co., (1907) 72 N.J. Eq. 929.

But as to the provisions dealing with the creation of the lien, the legislation in some of the provinces of Canada now requires only a substantial complianee. Mallett v. Kovar, 14 W.L.R. 327; Flack v. Jeffrey, 10 Man. R. 514.

In the absence of such legislation it may now be considered as well settled law that the sections creating the right to a lien cannot be extended beyond the plain sense of their words, although the same rule will not be followed when other sections of the Act, dealing with the enforcement of the lien, are the subject of construction. There is, indeed, no rule of construction applicable uniformly to every provision of such an Act. So far as the provisions which create the right to a lien are concerned, a rule of construction as stated by an eminent authority might be appropriately invoked:—

"Statutes which encroach on the rights of the subject, whether as regards person or property, are similarly subject to strict construction." Maxwell on Statutes, 3rd ed., 399. But when the other provisions of a Mechanics' Lien Act, dealing with the enforcement of the lien, are the subject of construction, a tendency to give these sections a broad and benign interpretation is justifiably shown by the courts in the various Provinces of Canada, and there appears a disposition to follow the advice of Lord Mansfield, given in connection with another branch of the law, but quoted approvingly by a Pennsylvania court, in respect to the construction of Mechanics' Lien Acts, to "avoid entangling the right in a net of form."

In one Ontario case (Bickerton v. Dakin, (1891) 20 O.R. 702; see also observations of Boyd, C., in Crerar v. C.P.R. Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R 383, 2 O.L.R. 107), Meredith, J., stated a canon of construction which will probably be followed in the various courts in Canada. Referring to the mechanics' lien laws, he said: "These essentially remedial Acts are to be given such fair, large and liberal construction and interpretation as will best ensure the attainment of those objects. Effect should not be given to technical objections founded upon matters which in no way have prejudiced or could prejudice any one. . . . It was never intended that the benefits of the Acts should be frittered away by requiring the skill of a special pleader to secure them."

In the case in question, the owner had purchased, with notice of all the facts, and invoked purely technical grounds in seeking to have the property declared to be unaffected by a claim of lien.

In another Ontario case (Craig v. Cromwell, (1900) 27 A.R. 587), Osler, J.A., in referring to the question of sufficiency of the notice in writing required by section 11, sub-section 2, said:—

"It may be that if the notice were to be read as pleadings, civil and criminal, were read fifty years ago, fatal defects might be picked out in it. But it is not intended to be the subject of subtle criticisms and trifling objections."

In a Manitoba case (Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. R. 139), Killam, C.J., after quoting section 17 of the Manitoba Mechanics' Lien Act, said:—

"This latter clause appears divisible into two parts. First, only substantial compliance with sections 15 and 16 is required, and, secondly, no failure in such compliance, in however substantial a degree, is to invalidate the lien unless some party is prejudiced, provided there is registration of a claim. I think that the onus on the question of prejudice is upon the party objecting to the registered claim. The defect is not to invalidate the lien, unless in the opinion of the judge there is prejudice to some one. That is, the judge must positively form the opinion, for which purpose he must have some evidence either direct or arising out of the circumstances and the nature of the defect. In the present case there is nothing to suggest that any of the parties interested saw the registered statement of claim or knew its contents or was in any way affected by the error."

An observation made by Chancellor Boyd (see Graham v. Williams, (1885) 8 O.R. 478) points to an additional principle which might be adopted in the construction of Mechanics' Lien Acts. That eminent judge said: "If you give a very latitudinarian interpretation to the definition of 'owner,' it is possible to read such a case as this into the Act, but I am against giving such a meaning to the words when the result is to charge one man's land for another man's debt." Boisot, after referring to the difficulty of harmonizing the conflicting decisions in various States, and pointing out the distinction between the "remedial" sections of a Mechanics' Lien Act and the other portions, propounds a rule which is in line with the observation of Boyd, C.: "It follows, then, that those provisions of the Mechanics' Lien Statutes which make a man's property liable for his debts are remedial, and should be liberally construed; while those provisions that make his property liable in a case where he is not personally liable, create a new right, in derogation of the common law, and should be strictly construed."

In a later case (Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 O.A.R. 364), Maclennan, J.A., adopts a similar attitude in construing the statute, and says: "This may seem a very strict and literal construction of the Act, but, if it is, as I think it is, the plain meaning of the language of the legislature, we must so construe it, and I do not think we ought to change 'and' into 'or,' or strain the language in order to charge one man's land with another man's debt."

It is but just to require that an intention to create such a charge should be plainly and unmistakeably expressed in the statute, in language which excludes any other interpretation, but after the lien has actually attached, the better opinion seems to favor the view that the other provisions of the statute should receive a liberal construction. The object of a Mechanics' Lien Act is to secure and make available as far as possible to those best entitled to it the money which the owners have contracted to pay and for which they have received value. This legislation was not passed for the purpose of making owners pay for things not contracted for by them and of which they have not had the benefit (Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176), but where a lien is created by the statute it should be construed, if possible, so as to make the lien coextensive with the benefit, and to avoid defeating the spirit of the statute by a too literal adherence to its letter. Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

Courts will not favor a construction which would render a Mechanics' Lien Act nugatory in many instances in which the legislature apparently intended a lien to exist. Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

"It would be intolerable if persons honestly entitled to receive money should be deprived of all chance of asserting their rights, by reason of some petty—or even some grave slip—in practice; and especially so in the administration of an Act which is so clearly intended to enable the poor man to procure his wages and the supplier of materials to receive pay for his materials in a cheap, simple and expeditious manner." Barrington v. Martin, (1908) 16 O.L.R. 635, at 640, per Riddell, J.

In view of the foregoing statements, it appears plain that courts in Canada, once the lien is acquired, will give a liberal construction to provisions dealing with procedure and will not be disposed to permit mistakes of procedure to defeat the lien or to nullify the purposes of the legislation.

There are conflicting decisions throughout the United States in the construction of Mechanics' Lien Acts, but decisions of Massachusetts and New York courts accord substantially with the principles of construction adopted by courts in Canada. "Although when a lien attaches, the provisions of law upon the subject being remedial, a liberal construction will be put upon the statute for the purpose of accomplishing its objects, yet this applies only to liens which have attached. Upon the question whether a lien attaches, a different rule of construction obtains. Liens are in derogation of the common law; they may create an interest in land by parol, and that interest may be a secret interest. The court is not authorized to extend the law beyond the causes specifically provided for. It cannot say that the statute by implication includes labor not within its terms." (Trask v. Searle, (1876) 121 Mass. 229), per Lord, J.: "The rule in New York has been stated to be that the Act should not be strictly construed except as to the provisions by which the property of a third person may be incumbered. Hubbell v. Schreyer, 14 Abb. Pr. (N.S.) 284. In a leading case in New York (Mahley v. The German Bank, (1903) 174 N.Y. App. 499) the question of construction of the New York Lien Act was discussed. That Act requires the notice of lien to state when the first item of work was done, and the notice of lien in that case failed to make any such statement, although it complied with the other provisions of the statute. Section 22 of that Act expressly declares that the statute is to be construed liberally.

Cullen, J., in delivering the judgment of the court, said: "But under the most liberal rule of construction we cannot find anything in the notice that even attempts to state when the first item of work was done, or anything from which that time might be inferred. It is true that the particular advantage or object of requiring this fact to be stated is not readily apparent, but the statute has expressly required it. Errors in the notice may be disregarded, and it is not necessary that the precise verbiage of the law should be followed. But the provision of the statute that the law shall be construed liberally does not authorize the courts to entirely dispense with what the statute says the notice shall contain. We are, therefore, constrained to hold the notice of lien insufficient."

An important New York case serves to illustrate the liberal construction of the New York statute respecting mechanics' liens. The chapter under which the plaintiff undertook to acquire a lien provided that "at any time before the whole work to be performed by the contractor for the city is completed or accepted by the city, and within thirty days after the same is so completed or accepted, any claimant may file notice stating the residence of the claimant, verified by his oath or affirmation, stating the amount claimed, etc." The verification was by an agent of the claimant, stating "that he is the agent of the claimant . . . mentioned in the foregoing claim, and that the statements therein contained are true to his own knowledge or information and belief." Haight, J., said: "It appears to us that this statute should receive a liberal construction. Indeed, the general lien law of the State provides that it shall be construed liberally, etc. A very large proportion of the business of the country is carried on by agents, whose principals may have but a slight knowledge of the details of the work and who may be absent in other parts of the world. Agents are generally recognized as possessing the powers of their principals in the transaction of their business and in the preservation of their properties and rights. In construing the Act in question we think the act of the agent should be deemed to be that of the principal, and that it was so contemplated by the legislature." McDonald v. Mayor, etc., of New York, (1902) 170 N.Y. App. 409.

"Adherence to the terms of the statute is indispensable, but the rule must not be pushed into such niceties as serve but to perplex and embarrass a remedy intended to be simple and summary, without in fact adding anything to the security of the parties having an interest in the building sought to be encumbered. Certainty to a common intent has, therefore, always been held to suffice." Waters v. Goldberg, (1908) 124 App. Div. N.Y. 511.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court has declared its view on this question of construction in an instructive case. General Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Chaplin, (1903) 183 Mass. 376. The facts were that under an entire contract to construct and install in the respondent's buildings a fire extinguishing system of a specified kind for a stated price, a sworn statement was filed in the Registry of Deeds while the work was going on and about ten days before it was completed. It was held that such a statement filed before the work was done or the debt was due did not fulfil the requirements of the Act. Under section 1 of the Act in question it is only "a person to whom a debt is due" who can file a statement and establish a lien. By section 6 he is authorized to file his statement within thirty days after he ceased to labor on or furnish labor or materials for the building or structure. Section 7 relieves the claimant from any injurious effect of an inaccuracy in stating "the amount due for labor or materials" unless he has "wilfully and knowingly claimed more than is due to him."

Knowlton, C.J., said: "We are of opinion that these various provisions of the statute do not authorize the filing of a statement except where work and labor has been done under such circumstances as to create a debt which is due, and which is payable then or at some future time. This is the construction which has been put upon similar statutes by the courts. The cases which seem to hold differently are all, or nearly all, under statutes which require the filing within a stated time after an event, the happening of which has no important relation to any of the facts to be embodied in the certificate or statement."

The judgment concludes by using precisely the same words which were used in a Massachusetts case (Gale v. Blaikie, 129 Mass. 206) more than twenty years previously: "A lien of this kind can be preserved and enforced only by a strict compliance with the requirements of the statute. There are no equities to be invoked in aid of it." The Supreme Court of the United States has said: "Although mechanics' liens are the creation of statute, the legislation, being remedial, should be so construed as to effectuate its object." Springer Land Association v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513. The reason stated by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Missouri, for a liberal construction of statutes which gave liens to laborers and materialmen is that such men cannot recover back their labor or material, and the improvements on which they are placed are ordinarily enhanced by their value. Hooven v. Featherstone, (1901) 49 C.C.A. 229.

The view expressed by the Supreme Court of Illinois on this question is that the right to a mechanics' lien is a cumulative remedy existing by statute in derogation of the common law, and statutes granting such right must be strictly construed. Harvey & Mose Plumbing Co. v. Wallace, (1901) 99 Ill. App. 212, affirmed; McPugh Co. v. Wallace, 198 Ill. 422. And to enforce a lien there must be a substantial compliance with the requirements of the lien law. Dunham v. Woodworth, 158 Ill. App. 486. See Godfrey Lum. Co. v. Kline, (1911) 167 Mich. 629. Remedial provisions should be construed liberally and unless a variance is palpable and material it will not be deemed fatal. Stepina v. Conklin Lumber Co., (1907) 134 Ill. App. 173.

In Maine the courts favor a liberal construction of the statute. Shaw v. Young, 87 Me. 271; Westcott v. Bunker, 83 Me. 499; Durling v. Gould, 83 Me. 134.

"We must not be hypercritical when scanning the species of lien and estimating its sufficiency, etc. Calhoun v. Mahar, 14 Pa. 56, 58, quoted approvingly in Wilson v. Canevin, (1910) 226 Pa. 362." But a provision that the lien law shall be construed liberally to secure the beneficial interests and purposes thereof does not authorize the court to dispense entirely with what the statute says a notice shall contain. Bradley v. Huber Co., (1911) 146 App. Div. (N.Y.) 630.

In the Interpretation Acts of various provinces in Canada there is a provision which enacts that every chapter of the Revised Statutes shall be deemed remedial and shall be construed liberally, unless such construction is inconsistent with the intent and object of the particular Act. But this is a general rule of construction and is necessarily subordinate to particular cases.

RETROSPECTIVE AND REPEALING ACTS.

The question whether a Mechanics' Lien Act is to be construed retrospectively so as to apply to past contracts depends primarily upon the precise language of the Act.

The Interpretation Acts of the various provinces often have an important bearing on the construction of the Mechanics' Lien Acts. An illustration of the application of the Interpretation Act is afforded by an Ontario case. Walker v. Walton, 1 A. R. (Ont.) 579. The plaintiff registered a lien under the Mechanics' Lien Act of 1873, on the 14th of August, 1874, for the price of machinery furnished on the 12th of the same month. The price was payable in instalments, the last of which fell due on the 4th of May, 1875. A bill to enforce the lien was filed on the 7th of July, 1875, being within the 90 days from the expiry of the period of credit prescribed by section 4 of the Mechanics' Lien Act of 1873. Section 14 of the Mechanics' Lien Act of 1874, which came into force on the 21st December, 1875, enacted that "every lien shall absolutely cease to exist at the expiration of thirty days after the work shall have been completed or the machinery furnished, unless in the meantime proceedings shall have been taken to realize the claim under this Act," and section 20 repealed all Acts inconsistent therewith. Held, reversing the decree in the preceding case, that even if the Act of 1874 repealed the Act of 1873, the plaintiff's lien was saved by subsection 4 of section 7 of the Interpretation Act, which provides that the "repeal of an Act at any time shall not affect any act done or any right or right of action, existing, accruing, accrued or established . . . before the time when such repeal shall take effect."

The repeal of a mechanics' lien law during the progress of the work for which a lien is claimed does not cut off the lien claimant's right for the work already done, where the repealing statute re-enacts and continues the lien law, with some changes in matters of procedure only. Bear Lake & R.W.W. & I. Co. v. Garland, (1896) 164 U.S. 1.

A Mechanics' Lien Act by one section repealed previous Mechanics' Lien Acts and as it enacted no lien for materials, no such lien existed. Albion I. Works v. A.O.U.W., (1895) 5 B.C.R. 122, note.

Where a statute is passed changing a law it is generally construed to apply to the facts coming into existence after the passage of the statute. See Irwin v. Benyon, 4 Man. L.R. 10; Moore v. Protestant District, 5 Man. L.R. 49.

Mechanics' lien laws are not construed to have any retrospective effect unless such construction is clearly and unmistakeably required by the words of the Act. Irwin v. Benyon, 4 Man. L.R. 10; Horn Mfg. Co. v. Steelman, 215 Pa. 187; Howard v. American Boiler Co., 68 Ill. App. 566; French v. Hussey, (1893) 159 Mass. 206; Pierce v. Cabot, 159 Mass. 202; Benton v. Wickwire, (1873) 54 N.Y. 229.

Where a later Act does not expressly repeal the former one, and they are not so inconsistent that they cannot stand together, the two Acts are construed together as if parts of a single statute. Gilson v. Emery, (1858) 11 Gray (Mass.) 430; Collins v. Drew, (1876) 67 N.Y. 149.

A lien may be acquired under a statute passed before the work was done or materials furnished, and although the contract therefor was made before such enactment. Donahy v. Clapp, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 440; see Bourgette v. Williams, 73 Mich. 208, 216.

As a general rule, the law in force at the time the work was done or materials furnished, governs (Eidendrath Co. v. Gebhardt, 222 Ill. 113); but the law in force at the time the lien is perfected will control proceedings in enforcing the lien. Kendall v. Fader, 199 Ill. 294.

Where a Mechanics' Lien Act repealed all Acts inconsistent with it, but was to apply only to contracts thereafter to be made, contracts previously made may be governed by the former Act (Connor v. Lewis, 16 Me. 268; see Turney v. Saunders, 5 Ill. 527), but a provision in a Mechanics' Lien Act which is manifestly inconsistent with an anteeedent law must prevail. Shilling v. Templeton, 66 Ind. 586; Heckman v. Pinkney, 81 N.Y. 211. Where a notice of lien was filed and proceedings commenced prior to a law which declared that "liens shall in all cases cease after one year, unless by order of court, the lien is continued," the statute was not construed retrospectively and it was held that the lien continued after the expiration of the year. Fitzpatrick v. Boylan, 57 N.Y. 433.

If under a mechanics' lien law, materials had been furnished to the owner of the property, the right of lien becomes a vested one, and the repeal of the law will not destroy such a lien. Holcom v. Boynton, 151 Ill. 294; Boynton v. Holcomb, 49 Ill. App. 503.

The remedy of a repealing statute will be applied to previously vested liens if such remedy is adequate, but if the former law is repealed, and no adequate remedy provided by the repealing law, the court will enforce vested liens according to the remedy of the repealed law. Subject to this exception, the rights of the parties are fixed by the law in force when the contract was made, but such rights are to be established and enforced by the law existing at the time when the suit was brought. Phillips, sec. 29; Goodbub v. Estate of Horning, 127 Ind. 182, 192. A lien which attached before the enactment of a statute making absolute the inchoate interests of married women is not affected by that legislation, though the foreclosure and sale are subsequent thereto. Buser v. Shepard, 107 Ind. 418, 419.

CHAPTER IV.

Property which may be Subject to Lien.

In ascertaining the character and extent of property which may be subject to a lien, it is necessary first to examine the provisions of the Mechanics' Lien Acts which define the scope of the lien.

Some of the Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada expressly include municipal corporations as within the definition of "owner." Where municipal corporations are not expressly included in such definition, there are conflicting decisions upon the question whether a right to a lien arises in a case where the work has been done on a public building, such as a schoolhouse, which is not liable to sale in execution. Holmsted, at p. 30, refers to a decision of Proudfoot, J., in Robb v. Woodstock School Board, in which the right of lien was denied because such buildings are not liable to sale in execution. In Manitoba it has been held that a public school building was not exempt from the operation of the mechanics' lien law. Moore v. Protestant School District of Bradley, (1897) 5 Man. 49, distinguishing Scott v. Burgess, (1859) 19 U.C.Q.B. 28. The American cases cited in the Manitoba case all adopt the view that public schoolhouses are exempt, and subsequent American decisions uphold that view. See City of Salem v. Lane, (1900) 90 Ill. App. 560, affirmed (1901) 6 N.E. 37, which decides that the property of a municipal corporation cannot be sold to satisfy a mechanics' lien.

In another Manitoba case (McArthur v. Dewar, 3 Man. L.R. 72), the test question was stated to be whether such property is liable to sale under execution. In Saskatchewan it has been decided that a schoolhouse may be the subject of a lien. Lee v. Broley, (1909) 11 W.L.R. 38, 2 Sask. L.R. 288. The weight of authority outside these two provinces favors the view that in the absence of express statutory provision, property held by a municipal corporation for public purposes is not subject to a mechanics' lien. General Contracting Co. v. City of Ottawa, 16 O.W.R. 479; Lessard v. Revere, (1898) 171 Mass. 294; Staples v. Somerville, (1900) 176 Mass. 237, 242. The ground of decision in these Massachusetts cases is that the buildings are held for a public use, and, that it is against public policy in the absence of express provision to the contrary, that the instrumentalities for carrying on the government should be the subject of seizure and sale for debt. See also Young v. Inhabitants of Falmouth, (1903) 183 Mass. 80, and Goss v. Greenleaf, (1904) 98 Me. 436, which hold that a building erected as a public library is exempt from the operation of a mechanics' lien law, the grounds of public policy which exempt such property from seizure on execution being equally applicable in respect of mechanics' liens.

The same principles would seem to apply to any building erected exclusively for public purposes. Under an Act to simplify the procedure for enforcing mechanics' liens (53 Vict. ch. 137) an application was made by a sub-contractor to determine whether the plaintiff was entitled to a lien on a building known as "The House of Refuge," and the lands used and enjoyed therewith. This property was vested in the corporation of Hamilton, which erected the building "for public, beneficial and charitable purposes," and the Master held that the said house and lands were, therefore, of such a character as not to be liable to sale under execution, and consequently no lien attached. Guest v. Hahnan, (1895) 15 C.L.T. 61.

The general principles which should apply in considering this question whether a statute creates a mechanics' lien against property held by a municipal corporation are discussed with much ability in a New York case (Leonard v. City of Brooklyn, (1887) 71 N.Y. 498), which held that no lien was enforceable against the property.

It should be stated, however, that the Lien Act construed in that case, after providing for instituting and prosecuting the lien action contains this further provision: "That such action shall be governed and the judgment thereon enforced in the same manner as upon issues joined and judgments rendered in all other such civil actions aforesaid." It was a natural conclusion, therefore, that the lien claimant was in no better position than an ordinary creditor against the municipal corporation. The judgment is referred to here because it states in the strongest form the reasons against creating a lien upon municipal property or recognizing it as created by implication, and in those provinces of Canada such as Nova Scotia, whose Lien Acts contain no express reference to municipal corporations, the judgment would be of interest, particularly the concluding portion of it, which says: "To make such a material alteration the law should be plain, explicit and clear, and there is no ground for holding that it was the intention of the law makers to confer upon a certain class of creditors the right to a lien upon property held for public use by a municipal government unless there is an express provision to that effect." Land set apart by a city for the erection thereon of a building for educational purposes by the trustees of a private charitable trust cannot be bound by a mechanics' lien for labor or material furnished to the building erected thereon. Taylor Lumber Co. v. Carnegie Institute, (1909) 225 Pa. 486.

A church, not being public property, is not exempt from the operation of a mechanics' lien law. Dewing v. Wilbraham Society, (1859) 13 Gray 414; Peabody v. Lynn Society, (1863) 5 Allen (Mass.) 540. In Pennsylvania it has been decided that a burial ground is not subject to a lien (Beam v. Methodist Episcopal Church, 3 Clark (Pa.) 343); but lands of a municipality actually required for its use such as fire halls and police stations may be exempt on the grounds of public policy and public convenience, although some classes of municipal property may be within the provisions of the lien law. General Contracting Co. v. Ottawa, (1909) 14 O.W.R. 749, 16 O.W.R. 479, 1 O.W.N. 911.

Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, specifically give a lien against a "wharf." Such terms as "wharf" or "building" are liberally construed. A statute giving a lien on wharves "and other structures connected therewith" extends to all structures on or connected with a wharf. Collins v. Drew, (1876) 67 N.Y. 149. The word "wharf" as used in two statutes in England, was held to include a floating structure carrying cranes for loading and unloading vessels, and which was moored in the River Thames, 500 feet from the shore, by chains fastened to piles driven in the bed of the river. There was no connection with the shore except by boats. Ellis v. Cory, [1902] 1 K.B. 38. See also Haddock v. Humphrey, [1900] 1 K.B. 609; Kenny v. Harrison, [1902] 2 K.B. 168.

A minor cannot subject his property to a lien unless, after majority, he ratifies the contract. Alvery v. Reed, 115 Ind. 148; McCarty v. Carter, 49 Ill. 53.

A wife's inchoate right of dower is not subject to a mechanics' lien. Gove v. Cather, 23 Ill. 634; Bishop v. Boyle, 9 Ind. 169, 68 Am. Dec. 615.

Railways.

In dealing with the question whether a railway in any province of Canada is subject to mechanics' liens, two classes of railways must be considered:—

(a) Railways constructed and in operation under provincial legislation and not declared by the Parliament of Canada to be for the general advantage of Canada;

(b) Railways between two or more provinces or extending beyond the limits of a province, and railways declared by Act of the Parliament of Canada to be for the general advantage of Canada.

Railways in class (a) are under the legislative jurisdiction of the provincial legislature, and it is doubtful whether existing legislation in Ontario or other provinces is sufficiently plain and explicit to subject such railways to mechanics' liens.

Under a former Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act it had been held that the lands of a railway company were exempt from the operation of that Act, the ground of the decision being that it was against public policy that railways being essential to the public use and convenience should be liable to be cut in pieces and sold under legal process. King v. Alford, (1885) 9 O.R. 643; Breeze v. Midland Railway Co., (1879) 26 Gr. 225.

Section 6 of the present Act, however, includes "any . . . railway." Moreover, sec. 2, sub-sec. (c), includes "any . . . railway company" as within the definition of "owner," and sec. 17(3) provides for the sufficiency of the description of lands where a lien is registered against the lands of a railway company. Nevertheless, it having been judicially declared in construing the former Ontario Act that railways were exempt from the operation of that Act on grounds of public policy, any subsequent legislative intent to reverse that policy should be plainly and unmistakeably expressed. The grounds of the decision in King v. Alford, 9 O.R. 643, are just as strong now as before the amendments to the Mechanics' Lien Act were made, and if possible such a construction would be given to these amendments as would prevent the operation of a railway from being interrupted. It may well be argued that these changes only extend the mechanics' lien to property of the railway company not necessary to the operation of the railway and that the lien can only be enforced against such property. It is to be noted also that the former Act used the word "person" in the definition of owner, and the word "person" under the Interpretation Act included corporations. R.S.O. 1887, ch. 1, sec. 8, sub-sec. 13.

It might also be urged that the term "railways" could be construed as applicable only to street railways or other railways operated exclusively within the registration division.

It is questionable, therefore, whether the changes in the Act have affected materially the law as stated in King v. Alford, supra. In Good v. Toronto, H. & B. Railway Co., (1889) 26 O.A.R. 133, the lien was upheld, but this point was not raised.

Boyd, C., referring to the amendment, has said: "But the machinery supplied by the Act does not provide for working out a sale of the entire undertaking. The remedy seems to be restricted to that part of the railway where the work was done, and if the right of relief to the wage-earner in respect of his lien was analogous to that enjoyed by a vendor of land in right of the lien for the price, relief might be given and worked out by the court under the provisions of the Provincial Act.

"But we are precluded by the decision in King v. Alford from holding that the mechanics' lien is of the legal character with a vendor's lien. It was there held that the mechanics' lien was operative as a statutory lien arising in process of execution of efficiency equal to, but not greater than, that possessed by ordinary writs of execution. Under a writ of execution against lands the sheriff can only sell what is in his bailiwick and this limited process is not applicable to a sale of a line of railroad running through many counties of the province." Crawford v. Tilden, (1906) 13 O.L.R. 173.

And after dealing with the question of the competence of a province to put the burden upon the lands and property of a federal railway undertaking, he thus refers again to the legislative attempt to apply the lien law to a provincial railway undertaking: "I foresee, besides, great difficulty in working out the provisions of the Mechanics' Lien Act as applied even to Ontario railways under the existing law, which forbids the disposal of a railway piecemeal. To make the local law effective it would appear to be requisite to provide for a sale of the particular part of the land benefited by the work in respect of which a lien is given. The Act as it stands at present can only be worked out by attributing the lien to all the line of railway lands and selling the whole as an entire thing while yet the lien is registered only in the county where the work has been done." Crawford v. Tilden, (1906) 13 O.L.R. 175.

To apply a Mechanics' Lien Act to a railway which does not lie wholly within a registration division, would seem to be unjust and inexpedient under the existing Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, in view of property rights which should be safe-guarded, and for the preservation of which provisions were enacted and made part of these Acts. To construe any Mechanics' Lien Act in its present form as giving a workman a right of lien upon railway property outside the boundaries of the registration division where the lien claimant's work was done and his lien registered, would jeopardize and might seriously injure the legal rights of others, and it is but reasonable to declare that legislation which would involve such a result should be strictly construed against the lien claimant.

Dealing to some extent with this point, and referring to the contention that the lien extended beyond the registration division and covered the portion of the property lying in an adjoining county, Mr. Justice Meredith has said, in Crawford v. Tilden, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 577:—

"It was said that the lien might be applied to the whole of the road in order that relief might be given to the appellant; but that was not the appellant's claim in, nor the judgment at the trial of the action. Nor can I think that the enactment relied upon would warrant it. Under the 17th section, the lien is to be registered in the registry office of the registry division . . . in which the land is situated.' It is hardly likely that the legislature intended to give a workman employed upon a railway in the county of Huron a lien upon it in the county of Glengarry, for instance, with all the difficulties such a right would create, and the manifest injustice it might do to others having better rights in that distant county."

Railways in class (b) are under the legislative jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada, and it may be generally stated that the provincial legislation affecting such a railway is ultra vires. C.P.R. Co. v. Notre Dame de Bonsecours, (1899) A.C. 367; Madden v. Nelson & Fort Sheppard R. Co., (1889) A.C. 626; Grand Trunk R. Co. v. Therrien, (1900) 30 S.C.R. 485; The King v. C.P.R. Co., (1905) 9 Can. C.C. 328. The power of the provinces to legislate in respect to property and civil rights is subject to the power of the Parliament of Canada to legislate in respect to such railways; that power of the Parliament of Canada extends to property and civil rights as applied to railways within its legislative jurisdiction. Vogel v. Grand Trunk R. Co., (1884) 10 O.A.R. 102, 11 S.C.R. 612. As the mode of enforcing a mechanics' lien is by sale of the property, it seems that such a remedy against a Dominion railway could not be given by a provincial statute. See Larsen v. Nelson & Fort Sheppard R. Co., (1895) 4 B.C.R. 151.

Since the foregoing paragraph appeared in the first edition of this treatise, the question has been before the Ontario courts for consideration and it has been decided that a mechanics' lien cannot be enforced against a railway company incorporated under a federal Act and declared thereby to be a company incorporated for the general advantage of Canada. Crawford v. Tilden, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 572.

Dealing with the important question of the constitutionality of the enactment, Meredith, J., at page 576 of that case, said: "But reliance was placed, and mainly, if not entirely, placed, upon provincial legislation, which, in plain terms, has given the appellant a right of sale such as he seeks, even against a railway under the exclusive power of Parliament, but with this saving clause, 'in so far as the Legislature of this province has authority or jurisdiction in regard thereto.' The creation of a right such as the appellant alleges, and the enforcement of it in the manner sought, are matters which come within the meaning of 'property and civil rights in the province,' subjects which are within the exclusive legislative power of the provincial legislature; but an enactment, under such general power which encroaches upon the exercised power of Parliament in respect of any particular subject coming under its exclusive jurisdiction, cannot prevail; and the enactment in question distinctly does that; the principle before referred to, and the cases decided upon it, show that any exercise of private rights which would extinguish, or substantially impair, the public rights and interests in the railway, as a railway, is in direct conflict with the federal legislation providing for the building and maintenance of the road. The legislation whch gave the power to sell this railway piece-meal, was, therefore, ultra vires, or, to speak more accurately, such legislation is rendered inapplicable to the railway in question by the restricting clause which I have quoted."

In view of this Ontario decision and the decision by a British Columbia court, this question of the unconstitutionality of the provisions dealing with railways subject to federal jurisdiction may be considered as settled. But it would seem that additional provincial legislation is necessary before it can be determined with certainty whether railway property of class (a) outside the registration division where the lien claimant's work was done and his lien filed is subject to such lien.

Married Women's Property.

As a married woman has now full power to hold and dispose of her real estate and to make contracts her property may be subject to mechanics' liens.

In the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, such as section 5 of the Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act, the separate property of a married woman only becomes subject to a mechanics' lien by virtue of a contract made by her or under her authority, express or implied. The marital relation alone is not sufficient to establish the authority of the husband to contract on behalf of his wife. Campbell v. Jacobson, 145 Ill. 389; Bauer v.

Long, 147 Mich. 35; Lippman v. Low, 69 App. Div. (N.Y.) 24. Ordinarily there is no presumption that the husband is acting as the agent of the wife, the question of agency being one of fact to be determined from all the circumstances of the case. Wagner v. Jefferson, (1876) 37 U.C.Q.B. 551; Jones v. Walker, 83 N.Y. 612; Kincaid v. Reid, (1884) 7 O.R. 12. As to evidence of agency of husband, see Gerry v. Howe, 130 Mass. 347; Wheaton v. Trimble, 145 Mass. 345; Richards v. John Spry Co., 69 Ill. 238; Frohlich v. Carroll, 127 Mich. 561; Interstate Bldg. Assoc. v. Ayers, 71 Ill. App. 529; Bevan v. Thackera, 143 Pa. 182; Job v. Hunter, 165 Pa. 5. Knowledge by the wife that the work was being done on her property, and silent acquiescence, would not be sufficient to make her property subject to the lien. See West v. Sinclair, (1892) 23 C.L.J. 119, 12 C.L.T. 44; Sanford v. Pollock, 105 N.Y. 450. The burden is on the contractor or materialman to show that the contract was made or the materials supplied with the wife's authority. Little Vredenburgh, 16 Ill. App. 189. Where a husband and wife were guilty of collusion to defeat lien claimants against the wife's land for materials furnished at the husband's instance, the fact that the statement of lien mentioned the husband as owner and that a copy of the statement was served on him alone will not prevent a lien from attaching. Frohlick v. Carroll, 127 Mich. 561. In the absence of knowledge of or participation in a fraudulent intent on the part of the husband to improve his wife's property at the expense of his creditors, the wife's property is not liable for such improvements. A husband, without her authority, cannot create a lien against her separate estate even for necessary repairs to the property. Dearie v. Martin, 78 Penn. 55; Steinman v. Henderson, 94 Penn. 313. But in Illinois it has been held that if one who is ignorant of the wife's interest, contracts with the husband to build on the wife's land, and the wife knowing this, fails to disclose her interest or stop the work, she is estopped from setting up her rights against the lien. Bruck v. Bowermaster, 36 Ill. App. 510; Paulsen v. Manske, 126 Ill. 72.

In the Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act (see Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act, sec. 5), in order to protect contractors and others dealing with the husband, when the property is the wife's separate estate, a section has been inserted which, in effect, provides that instead of the claimant being compelled to prove the husband's authorization by the wife, he is now conclusively presumed to be acting as the agent of his wife, unless the claimant has actual notice to the contrary. Under this provision a married woman will not be permitted to show that her husband was not authorized by her to make the contract unless she can also show that the contractor has actual notice of the absence of such authority. A person contracting with the husband without actual notice that the husband was not authorized to make the contract, may assert a mechanics' lien upon the interest of the wife in the property subject to the lien, as well as upon the interest of the husband.

The contract, however, is the contract of the wife; hence, where the husband makes one contract for repairs to two houses, one belonging to his wife and the other to himself, a lien cannot be claimed against both properties for an amount due in respect to both houses without apportioning the same. Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. L.R. 509.

A husband may assert a lien upon the property of his wife for work or for materials performed or supplied. Booth v. Booth, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 294.

Where a conveyance of land was made to a husband and wife each of the grantees is an "owner" and may by contract subject his or her estate to a lien for improvements on the land, though the other does not join in the contract (Independence Sash Door & Lumber Co. v. Bradfield, (1911) 134 S.W. 118), but under a contract of the husband alone, a mechanics' lien will not attach to the estate of the wife under such conveyance. Washburn v. Burns, 34 N.J.L. 18.

If the authority of the husband is shown, the lien will not fail because the husband has exceeded his authority as to the amount of expenditure. Jones v. Pothast, 72 Ind. 158.

Something more than mere knowledge that her husband is making the improvement, is sometimes required to create a lien against the wife's property. Healey Ice Mach. Co. v. Green, (1910) 181 Fed. 890. In Illinois it has been held that if with knowledge of the contract, and the delivery of materials thereunder, a wife makes no protest against the acts of her husband, a lien may be enforced against her property with respect to which such contract has been made and such materials delivered. McDonald v. Mark, (1909) 147 Ill. App. 434. The conduct of the wife may constitute a recognition of the husband's authority. Prendergast v. McNally, 76 Ill. App. 385; Bevan v. Thackera, 143 Pa. 182. Where a wife knew, soon after the excavation was begun, that her husband was constructing a building on a lot owned by her, and that shortly afterwards she executed a mortgage of the premises, and turned the money over to her husband to use in the building, such facts were considered to show consent on her part. Lentz v. Emmerman, 119 Wis. 492. If one who is ignorant of the wife's interest, contracts with the husband to build on the wife's land and the wife acquiesces, she may be estopped from setting up her rights against the lien. McCarthy v. Caldwell, 43 Minn. 442. See also Anderson v. Armstead, 69 Ill. 453; Greenleaf v. Beebe, 80 Ill. 522. Where a husband with his wife's permission purchased lumber to construct a greenhouse on her land and she denied any agency on the part of the husband, but there was evidence of declaration made by her that she was constructing it, a finding that her property was subject to the lien therefor will not be disturbed. Colt v. Lawrenceburg Lumber Co., (1909) 44 Ind. App. 122. A husband may have his wife's authority by estoppel. Where a wife has by words or conduct held out her husband or enabled her husband to hold himself out as having authority to act on her behalf she is bound as regards third parties by the acts of her husband to the same extent as she would have been bound if her husband had in fact had the authority which he was held out to have.

But her land will not be subject to a lien unless she authorizes her husband or authority is conferred on him by estoppel.

Mere occupation of a wife with her husband of the building erected, does not show ratification on her part. Rust & Owen Lumber Co. v. Holt, 60 Neb. 80.

A husband who, as owner, enters into a contract with a builder, cannot subsequently claim that he was acting solely for his wife. Sidney v. Morgan, 16 W.L.R. 123.

Fixtures.

As the statutory lien is primarily intended to affect realty, a question of importance which often arises is whether materials which have been furnished have become structurally and permanently a part of the realty. Under a Mechanics' Lien Act the lien created for materials furnished is not upon the specific materials furnished, but upon the building and land to which these materials become so attached as to be a part of the realty.

The question whether materials so furnished constitute "fixtures" is a question of law and fact. On this subject of "fixtures" see a large number of citations by Armour, C.J., in Argles v. McMath, (1895) 26 O.R. 224, affirmed, 23 O.A.R. 44. See also the judgment of Sedgewick, J., in Warner v. Don, (1896) 26 S.C.R. 388; Stack v. T. Eaton Co., (1902) 4 O.L.R. 335; Garing v. Hunt, (1895) 27 O.R. 149; Goldie, McCulloch Co. v. Hewson, (1901) 35 N.B.R. 349; Scottish American Investment Co. v. Sexton, (1894) 26 O.R. 77; Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Lewis, (1907) 12 B.C.R. 398; Seeley v. Caldwell, (1908) 18 O.L.R. 472; Imperial Brewers Ltd. v. Gelin, (1908) 18 Man. L.R. 284.

It is the general rule that furnaces, ranges and heaters with their necessary attachments, annexed to a dwelling as permanent parts of it in the course of its construction for purposes of sale or rent, which fixtures are regarded by builders generally as essential parts of that class of houses, entitle the materialmen to a lien therefor. A portable furnace and portable cooking stove resting on a cemented floor and attached to the realty only by pipes running to the chimney flues are fixtures where they were installed by the owner of the house with the intention of making them a part of it, and the vendor of such heating apparatus is entitled to a mechanics' lien therefor as against a mortgagee of the realty. Erdman v. Moore, (1896) 58 N.J.L. 445; Armstrong Cork Co. v. Merchants' Refrigerating Co., (1910) 184 Fed. 199.

In determining whether materials have become fixtures the test is whether it was intended that the materials furnished should form part of the realty, and whether there is, in fact, structural connection with the building. E. R. Darlington Lumber Company v. Burton, (1910) 156 Ill. App. 82. "Ordinarily there must exist some sort of annexation of the machine or machinery in order to make it part of the realty; not necessarily physical annexation, but an actual or constructive annexation that shews adaptibility, purpose and intention to permanently use the article in connection with the freehold." Bronson on Fixtures, p. 249. The rule in Illinois for determining what constitutes a fixture is, 1st, Real or constructive annexation of the thing in question, to the realty. 2nd, Appropriation or adaptation to the use or purpose of that part of the realty with which it is connected, and 3rd, the intention of the party making the annexation to make it a permanent accession to the freehold,—this intention being inferred from the nature of the article affixed, the relation and situation of the party making the annexation and the policy of the law in relation thereto, the structure and mode of the annexation and purpose or use for which the annexation has been made. Schmeling v. Rockford Am. Co., (1910) 154 Ill. App. 308.

When is a chattel so affixed to the structure as to be part of it and, therefore, to subject it to the lien upon realty? The test question as applied by the Massachusetts Courts is,—What would pass as between vendor and vendee? Scannell v. Hub Brewing Co., (1901) 118 Mass. 288. Asbestos and magnesia covering placed around steam piping and in a distillery, intended as a permanent covering for the metal, may be found to be furnished in the erection of a building, within the meaning of a Mechanics' Lien Act. "Although it was possible to remove it, the removal would greatly injure it, and it was procured to be retained as long as the pipes remained." Angier v. Bay State, (1901) 178 Mass. 163, per Knowlton, J. Mirror frames annexed to a house at the time it is built, and fitted into gaps left for that purpose in the walls, are fixtures for which a mechanics' lien may be maintained. Ward v. Kilpatrick, (1881) 85 N.Y. 417. See also Union Stove Works v. Klingman, 20 App. Div. 449, affirmed, (1900) 164 N.Y. 589.

It was held, in Scannell v. Hub Brewing Co., supra, that a mechanics' lien upon realty may be established for labor performed in making in an entire contract for a round sum the apparatus and appliances for a brewery, to be inserted in the building and connected together by pipes, although part of the labor was performed in the lien claimant's shop in another city, and the final connecting of the various appliances by pipes in the brewery may have been done by persons other than the lien claimant. Holmes, C.J., in referring to the question whether the labor furnished was performed in the erection of a building, said: "They were built up in the building and could not be got at except by taking them to pieces, which would seem from the testimony of the respondent's witnesses, to be commercially impracticable. If any object was more movable than the others, it none the less was an integral part of one original whole, which, as a whole, was a building and real estate."

Gas and electrical fixtures furnished to the owner of a house but not permanently annexed to the building are not treated as an "improvement" upon the realty which would subject the realty to a lien. As a tenant would be entitled to remove them and as they would not pass as between vendor and vendee or mortgagor and mortgagee they cannot be said to be furnished for the permanent improvement of the realty. Campbell v. John Taylor Co. 62 N.J. Eq. 30; Hanson v. News Pub. Co., 97 Me. 99; Caldwell v. Glazier, (1910) 138 App. Div. N.Y. 826. But double cases with shelves, a platform, lockers, etc., in a building designed for a public library, fastened to the rooms by nails, screws, etc., and without which equipment the building could not be used for library purposes are an "improvement" protected by a lien: Rierser v. Commeau, 129 App. Div. (N.Y.) 490, 198 N.Y. 560.

If the owner of the fee in a lease authorizes the making of improvements, the fee is subject to a lien in so far as the improvements are permanent in character and inure to the benefit of the owner, but in so far as such improvements are temporary and subject to removal by the lessee a lien should not be awarded as against the fee. Turner v. Wentworth, (1876) 119 Mass. 459. For cases dealing with the rights of sellers of fixtures as against holders of mechanics' liens, see British Ruling Cases, vol. 1, pp. 6, 673 and 98.

One who furnishes and installs second-hand machinery in a vacant building which the owner purchased for the express purpose of equipping as a factory for his own use, is entitled to a mechanics' lien even though no extensive alteration was made for its instalment and it was merely fastened to joists by screws so as to be removable without injury to the building. Griffin v. Ernst, (1908) 124 App. Div. (N.Y.) 289. Where a chattel mortgage is given on personal property, which afterwards becomes a permanent part of the real estate a mechanics' lien attaching to the real estate will have priority over the chattel mortgage. Currier v. Cummings, 40 N.J. Eq. 145.

If fixtures are subsequently severed the lien continues on the land itself. Chicago Smokeless Gas Fuel Co. v. Lyman, 62 Ill. App. 538.

CHAPTER V.

Who may Acquire a Lien.

The underlying principle of Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada is that persons who benefit realty by furnishing for it labor, service or materials should be entitled to a preferred claim upon the realty. Priority is given to the claims of such persons not because they are "mechanics," but because of the character of the work done, the service performed, or the materials supplied. The lien claimant must of course bring himself within the provisions of the statute creating the lien, but the tendency of the legislation on this subject is to include all who by furnishing work, service or materials are justly entitled to be so secured, and therefore the statute is not exclusively for the benefit of mechanics but is expressly extended to "any person" who thus furnishes work, service or materials.

It is immaterial where the work was done, so long as it is done under the contract in the erection of the building and its result goes into the building. The work of the contractor and of the sub-contractor, the supplies of the materialman, and the labor of the wage-earner, the services of the superintendent of construction and of the architect are all essential to the erection of the structure, and contribute to its increased value, and each of these classes therefore should be entitled to a lien on the structure.

The word "work" used in Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, is, at least, as broad in its meaning as the word "labor" which is used in the Massachusetts Act, under which it was held that superintendence is labor though it involves little physical effort: Mitchell v. Packard, (1897) 168 Mass. 467. Under the Alberta Act it has been held that a superintendent of construction is entitled to a lien. Scratch v. Anderson, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 145. Ontario and the other Lien Acts in Canada use also the word "service," which is even more comprehensive than "work." But legal or other services rendered in acquiring rights of way do not constitute services within the meaning of a lien law. Richmond & Irvine Construction Co. v. Richmond Ry. Co., (1895) 31 U.S. App. 704, 34 L.R.A. 625.

In Ontario it has been held (Arnoldi v. Gouin, (1876) 22 Grant 314) that an architect is entitled to a lien for drawing plans and specifications and superintending the erection of a building. In that case no distinction was raised by counsel between the right to charge for superintendence and the right to charge for drawing the plans. An architect's right to a lien for drawing plans and specifications has been denied in several American courts. In a Massachusetts case (Mitchell v. Packard, (1897) 168 Mass. 467), the court held that while a lien could be maintained by an architect for labor performed by him in the supervision of the erection of a building, he was not entitled to a lien for the preparation of plans and specifications therefor.

Similar decisions have been given by courts in Pennsylvania, Missouri, Kentucky and Maine. In New York, apparently the only cases upon the question are where the architect acted in both capacities, although in deciding that he is entitled to a lien he is sometimes referred to as a supervisory architect. See Stryker v. Cassidy, (1879) 76 N.Y. 50. In some American cases stress seems to be laid upon the circumstance that the work of drawing plans and preparing specifications is essentially professional work, and therefore not within the scope of a mechanics' lien statute. But a great deal depends upon the precise words of the statute, and the lien Acts existing in Canada seem broad enough in their terms to include "work" or "service" rendered by an architect in drawing the plans for the building. The preparation of the plans and specifications appears to be regarded under some American decisions as merely preliminary to the construction of a building and in effect to be too remote to be treated as work used in the erection of the building. The wording of the Mechanics' Lien Acts in Massachusetts and in various other States undoubtedly warrants such a view, but the lien Acts existing in Canada are much wider in their scope. Under them a lien is given not only for "work" but for "service" and such work or service may be not only "upon" but "in respect of" a building, etc., so that the Acts are broad enough to not only cover the manual labor of the workman, but the professional services of the architect. The services rendered by an architect in drawing the plans and preparing the specifications are not any more remote than the services of the blacksmith who sharpens the tools which other workmen use in a mine, and under a decision in Ontario a blacksmith was held entitled to a lien for such work. See Davis v. Crown Point M. Co., (1901) 3 O.L.R. 69; Bradshaw v. Saucerman, (1912) 4 D.L.R. 476. Where a statute gave a lien for "work or labor upon . . . a building," the services of an architect in the preparation of plans and in superintendence were within the statute. Hughes v. Torgerson, (1892) 16 L.R.A. 500; Mutual Ins. Co. v. Rowland, (1875) 26 N.J. Eq. 389. In England it has been decided that the plans and specifications are not the property of the architect but belong to the owner of the building. Gibbon v. Pease, (1905) 1 K.B. 810. But the architect has a lien on them and need not deliver them until he is paid. Hughes v. Lennoy, (1839) 5 M. & W. 183. See Chapter, Liens on Personalty, post.

Lien of Contractor.

To entitle the contractor to a lien there must be something in the nature of direct dealing between the contractor and the person whose estate is sought to be charged. Mere knowledge of the owner that the work is being done or the materials are being furnished will not suffice to create a lien against his interest. The contractor to succeed must have been employed by some one having an interest in the land. The person with whom the contract was made must be an "owner." Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 O.A.R. 364. See Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. L.R. 514; Blight v. Ray, (1893) 23 O.R. 415; Graham v. Williams, (1884) 8 O.R. 478; 9 O.R. 458; Garing v. Hunt, (1895) 27 O.R. 149; Bickerton v. Dalton, 20 O.R. 192, 695. The lien may be acquired by a corporation or a partnership. A lien claimed by a partnership stands in no different position from any other lien by reason of the "owner" being a member of the partnership. Ross v. Gorman, (1908) 1 Alta. R. 516. The death of the contractor or the dissolution of the co-partnership cannot affect the lien of the contractor.

An explicit statement in the contract that he will assert no lien (Brydon v. Lutes, 9 Man. L.R. 463), or that the building shall be delivered from liens, or that all persons shall be paid by cheque of the contractor will bind the contractor. Ritchie v. Grundy, 7 Man. L.R. 532. It is not essential to the attaching of a lien that the labor for which a lien is claimed should be performed at the site of the building upon which the lien is claimed. Daley v. Legate, 169 Mass. 257; Munroe v. Clark, (1911) 107 Me. 134. The work may be done in another city than that where the building is erected, the real question being whether the work done was intended for and went into the structure and was such as to be within the contemplation of the contracting parties. Scannell v. Hub Brewing Co., (1901) 178 Mass. 288. In this case part of the labor upon the apparatus for a brewery situate in Boston was performed in the lien claimant's shop in Lowell, and the final connecting of the various appliances by pipes in the brewery may have been done by persons other than the lien claimant, nevertheless the lien was held to exist. Holmes, C.J., bases the judgment of the court on this point on the ground that the labor at Lowell was contemplated by the contract. But where the work was merely sawing and planing lumber in the lien claimant's mill at the request of one who was erecting the buildings, there being no agreement that the lumber should be appropriated to said buildings, no lien attached to the buildings although the lumber was used upon them. Bennet v. Shackford, (1865) 11 Allen (Mass.) 444.

The contractor is not entitled to a lien merely because he has performed work or service; such work or service must be performed under a contract. If, therefore, a contractor is wrongfully dismissed or is wrongfully prevented by the owner from fully performing his contract he has no lien for damages caused thereby, although he has a right of action for such damages. In like manner, if the contract is rescinded, the contractor cannot claim a lien for work done afterwards, nor can he recover unless he shews that the person with whom he made the contract had some interest in the land. Beveridge v. Hawes, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 619; Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 O.A.R. 364; Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Stevens v. Lincoln, (1874) 114 Mass. 476. If a contract provides that no payment shall be due until the work has been satisfactorily completed, a claim for extras, made under the contract, will not be exigible prior to the completion of the main contract (Royal Electric Co. v. City of Three Rivers, (1894) 23 S.C.R. 289), but where after a portion of the work is done the contract is abandoned by consent (Powers v. Hogan, 12 Daly (N.Y.) 444); or improperly terminated by the owner (Fuller v. Beach, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 391 (B.C.)), the lien may be enforced upon a quantum meruit. Where a tender for the erection of a building is made and accepted to deceive the other tenderers, but without the intention on the part of either owner or contractor that the amount stated in the tender should be the contract price, the contractor is entitled to recover on a quantum meruit. Degagne v. Chave, (1895) 2 Terr. L.R. 210.

In the event of the failure of the owner to comply with his part of the contract the statute does not give a contractor a lien for the whole amount of his contract, nor for the entire amount of his damages against the owner because of a breach of the contract, but simply for the value of what has been done. Marsh v. Mick, (1911) 159 Ill. App. 399. The completion of a building contract is a condition precedent to the contractor's right to recover, unless the contract provides otherwise, or unless there has been a waiver of such condition by the other party, or an interference preventing the completion of the contract. Dixon v. Ross, (1912) 1 D.L.R. 17. See Elford v. Thompson, (1912) 1 D.L.R. 1. Any substantial variation from the contract must be waived or assented to by the "owner," as otherwise the contract must be adhered to. Clayton v. McConnell, (1877) 14 O.R. 608. In this case the owner said to the contractor, "If you won't go on with your work, go away," and it was held that this did not amount to a rescinding of the building agreement.

The contractor cannot recover unless he complies with any term of the contract which is made a condition precedent to payment, such as the procuring of an engineer's, architect's, or surveyor's certificate. Starr v. The Queen, (1887) 1 Ex. C.R. 301; The Queen v. Starrs, (1889) 17 S.C.R. 118; Neelon v. City of Toronto, (1895) 25 S.C.R. 579; Murray v. The Queen, (1896) 26 S.C.R. 203; Goodwin v. The Queen, (1897) 28 S.C.R. 273; Sorette v. N.S. Development Co., (1889) 31 N.S.R. 427; Leroy v. Smith, (1900) 8 B.C.R. 293. See Wallace Bell Co. v. Moose Jaw, 3 D.L.R. 273, 4 D.L.R. 438 (Sask.). As to engineers exceeding their powers in determining certain points in dispute, see Peters v. Quebec Harbor Commrs., (1891) 19 S.C.R. 685. See also Watts v. McLeay, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 916 (Alta.); Alslip v. Robinson, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 39 (Man.); Merriam v. Public Parks Board of Portage la Prairie, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 151, affirmed, (1912) 20 W.L.R. 603 (Man.); Donaldson v. Collins, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 56 (Sask.).

The contractor is bound in the absence of fraud or undue influence or mistake, by the certificate of the engineer or architect and cannot dispute the same. Canty v. Clarke, (1879) 44 U.C.R. 505; see Robins v. Goddard, (1905) 1 K.B. 294; Smith v. Gordon, (1880) 30 U.C.C.P. 553; Guelph Paving Co. v. Town of Brockville, (1905) 5 O.W.R. 626. As to effect of undue influence of architect, see Alberta Building Co. v. Calgary, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 443. A provision that an architect's certificate shall not be set aside for any suggestion of fraud is not void as contrary to public policy. Tullis v. Jackson, (1892) 67 L.T. 840. But the rule that a contractor is bound by the terms of a contract making the employer's engineer the interpreter of the contract and the arbiter of all disputes arising under it, does not extend to a case where the named engineer, while in fact the engineer of the employer, is described in the contract as and believed by the contractor to be the engineer of a third person. Good v. Toronto H. & B. Ry., (1899) 26 O.A.R. 133, affirmed, 30 S.C.R. 114, sub nom. Dominion Construction Co. v. Good. As to effect of non-disclosure of family relationship and financial connections between the superintendent of work, who was to furnish the certificate, and the defendant, see Ludlam v. Wilson, (1901) 37 C.L.J. 819.

There are several decisions by Massachusetts courts (see Butterfield v. Byron, (1891) 153 Mass. 517; Angus v. Scully, (1900) 176 Mass. 357), which hold that where performance of the contract was prevented by destruction of the subject-matter, a contractor may recover for partial performance, but Canadian and English decisions are opposed to this view of the law. The Canadian law is aptly illustrated by an Ontario case, King et al. v. Low et al., (1901) 3 O.L.R. 234, following Appleby v. Meyers, (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 651. For legal effect of accident to subject-matter, see Laine v. The Queen, (1896) 5 Ex. C.R. 103. As to default in building contract by the owner, see Wells v. Army & Navy C.S., (1902) 86 L.T. 764. As to question of right of removal of plant and dismissal of contractor, see Ashfield v. Edgell, (1891) 21 O.R. 195. The defendant, who had taken a contract for the erection of a dwelling house for a fixed sum, accepted the plaintiff's tender to do the plumbing and tinsmithing work for $500, but before the completion of the plaintiff's contract, though after they had done work up to $488, the building was destroyed by fire, not happening by the fault of the plaintiffs, defendants, or the owner. The defendants had received two sums amounting to $1,500 on account of their contract, but they denied that any portion of it was for work done by the plaintiffs. In an action by the plaintiffs to recover the $488, on a quantum meruit, it was held that where the contract is to do work for a specific sum, there can be no recovery until the work is completed, or unless the failure to complete is caused by the defendant's fault, and this applies as well to original as to sub-contractors, and as the plaintiffs admitted the non-completion by suing on a quantum meruit, and there was nothing to show any default on the defendant's part, there could be no recovery. King v. Low, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 234, following Appleby v. Myers, (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 651. A different phase of this question as to the effect of the destruction of the subject-matter is dealt with by the decision in Ontario L. & P. Co. v. Baxter & Galloway Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 419. Where a person entered into an agreement to build a cofferdam, and there was no sustaining substratum, an action would not lie for the work and labor performed in attempting to complete the contract. Where the plans furnished to the plaintiff represented the existence of a sufficient substratum, which did not in fact exist, and his labor was thus rendered useless, he could only recover for the work done before that fact was discovered. In this case the distinction between a warranty and a representation, and between a representation inducing a contract and a representation forming part of a contract is discussed. Hill v. Fraser, (1858) 2 Thom. (Nova Scotia) 294. See also Thorn v. Mayor of London, (1874) L.R. 9 Ex. 163; L.R. 10 Ex. 112; McKenna v. McNamee, (1887) 14 O.A.R. 339, 15 S.C.R. 311. But trifling omissions in the performance of the contract will not defeat a lien. Glacius v. Black, (1872) 50 N.Y. 145. Canadian courts, on the other hand, do not adopt the doctrine of "substantial performance." Simpson v. Rubeck, (1911) 21 O.W.R. 260. See Watts v. McLeay, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 916; Merriam v. Public Parks Board, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 151, affirmed, (1912) 20 W.L.R. 603; McDonald v. Symons, 15 W.L.R. 218.

When there is a contract to do specified work for a fixed sum with a proviso for payment of proportionate amounts equal to 80 per cent. of this fixed sum as the work is done and the balance of 20 per cent. in thirty days after completion and acceptance, completion is a condition precedent to the right of payment, and where the work is not completed there is no right to recover for the portion done as upon a quantum meruit. Sherlock v. Powell, (1899) 26 O.A.R. 407; see Lowther v. Heaver, (1889) 41 Ch.D. 249; Black v. Wiebe, (1905) 15 Man. L.R. 260, 1 W.L.R. 75. As to oral alteration of terms and quantum meruit, see Barry v. Ross, (1891) 19 S.C.R. 360. Where no time is fixed in the contract for performance the law implies that it is to be performed within a reasonable time. It would seem that the rule in the case of building contracts is similar to that in the case of specific performance, which is that such non-essential and trivial defects on the side of one party as can be compensated for will not excuse the other party to the contract. See Halsbury's Laws of England, vol. 3, p. 187. In every case it must be a matter of degree (thus the omission of a lock on a door in a large mansion, or the omission to put some zinc on a roof, might not amount to non-completion, Lowther v. Heaver, (1889) 41 Ch.D. 248, 262, while omission to put down the floors in a house would certainly do so). See Williams v. Fitzmaurice, (1858) 3 H. & N. 844.

PARTIAL PERFORMANCE.

In building contracts the question of completion is one of fact, and while ordinarily, in order to claim a lien, the contractor must show that he has performed his contract, yet, a contractor may recover for partial or inexact performance of the contract in some cases, as where the defect in the building was known before the completion of the work and the defendant allowed the work to go on, minimizing the defect, and after completion promised to pay and made no complaint until after the registration of the lien (Holtby v. French, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 821), where a strict compliance was waived by the owner (Heckman v. Pinkney, (1880) 81 N.Y. 211), or where the completion was dispensed with by agreement (Moore v. Erickson, (1893) 158 Mass. 71; Connoly v. Sullivan, (1899) 173 Mass. 1), where the deviation in the contract arose in respect to a matter not a condition precedent to recovery (Lucas v. Goodwin (1837) 3 Bing. N.C. 737), or where the owner refused to pay an instalment of the contract price, or to furnish the necessary materials as agreed. Thomas v. Stewart, (1892) 132 N.Y. 580; Wright v. Reusens, (1892) 133 N.Y. 298; Smith v. Norris, (1876) 120 Mass. 58. See also Carew v. Stubbs, (1892) 155 Mass. 549; and Hunter v. Walter, 12 N.Y. Supp. 60, affirmed, (1891) 128 N.Y. 668, where the owner failed to pay instalments of the price already earned. A contractor may recover without the architect's certificate where the contractor is prevented from obtaining the certificate by the wrongful act of the "owner." Smith v. Gordon, (1880) 30 U.C.C.P. 553. Failure by the owner to supply material which the contract provides he shall supply discharges a penal clause. Degague v. Chave, (1895) 2 Terr. L.R. 210. Insolvency of the owner which prevents performance is a valid excuse for non-performance. Henderson v. Sturgis, 1 Daly (N.Y.) 336.

There are several decisions by Massachusetts courts (see Butterfield v. Byron, (1891) 153 Mass. 517; Angus v. Scully, (1900) 176 Mass. 357) which hold that where performance of the contract was prevented by destruction of the subject-matter a contractor may recover for partial performance, but Canadian and English decisions are opposed to this view of the law. The Canadian law on this point is to be found in an Ontario case already referred to. King et al. v. Low et al., (1901) 3 O.L.R. 234. As to responsibility of contractor where foundation walls collapse, see Grace v. Osler, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 627, 19 W.L.R. 109, 326.

Mere possession or user by the owner of the building upon which the work was done is not a sufficient acceptance of an incomplete or imperfect performance of the contract so as to entitle the contractor to recover. Brydon v. Lutz, (1891) 9 Man. L.R. 64; Gearing v. Nordheimer, (1876) 40 U.C.Q.B. 21; Sumpter v. Hedges, (1898) 1 Q.B. 673; Oldershaw v. Garner, (1876) 38 U.C.Q.B. 21; Wood v. Stringer, (1890) 20 O.R. 148; Keen v. Keen, in re Collins ex parte, (1902) 1 K.B. 55. See also Hart v. Porthgain Harbor, (1903) 1 Ch. 690; Foster v. Hastings Corporation, (1903) 87 L.T. 736; Leroy v. Smith, (1900) 8 B.C.R. 293; Watts v. McLeay, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 916 (Alta.) See Donaldson v. Collins, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 56 (Sask.).

In a Manitoba case (McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. L.R. 72; see also judgment of Perdue, J., in Black v. Wiebe, (1905) 15 Man. L.R. 260), Killam, J., said: "The owner of the land has not an option of giving up the benefit received, the portion of the building erected has become a part of his land and is not severable therefrom, and the mere retention of the erection upon the lands and the use of it with the other portion of the lands cannot give rise to an implied contract to pay for the work done." In an Ontario case (Wood v. Stringer, (1890) 20 O.R. 148), it was contended that certain pews were accepted and used by the church, but Boyd, C., on this point said: "However, the church had to be occupied, and I do not think this should operate as an acceptance of this bad work." Upon the question of the effect of taking possession and making payment on account, see Lawrence v. Village of Lucknow, (1887) 13 O.R. 421, in which Munro v. Butt, (1858) 8 E. & B. 738, is distinguished. Acceptance of a building by the owner as completed, operates as waiver of the requirement that the contractor shall procure the architect's certificate. Smith v. Alker, (1886) 102 N.Y. 87.

Time might be of the essence of a contract even without any express stipulation if it appears that such was the intention. Oldfield v. Dickson, (1889) 18 O.R. 188. Non-performance of one contract does not affect the claimant's rights to a lien under another contract which has been performed, though both relate to the same premises. Hunter v. Walter, 12 N.Y. Supp. 60, affirmed, (1891) 128 N.Y. 668. A contractor may not show that materials used in construction are preferable to those required by the contract. Schultze v. Goodstein, (1904) 180 N.Y. 248. Although the subsequent acts of the parties to a contract are not admissible as evidence to vary its terms they may prevent one of the parties from insisting upon the strict performance of the original agreement. Bruner v. Moore, (1904) 1 Ch. 305. Under a contract to execute certain work, where there was a wrongful seizure of the works by the defendants, the plaintiff was held entitled to determine the contract. Lodder v. Slowey, (1904) A.C. 442.

If under a contract which makes the right of the contractors to receive payment dependent upon the certificate of an engineer who is also the sole arbitrator of all disputes, the engineer unjustifiably delays the issue of the certificate and acts in a shifting and vacillating, though not fraudulent manner, and probably causes heavy loss to the contractors by mistakes, the certificate cannot be set aside in the absence of collusion. Walkley et al. v. City of Victoria, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 481. An architect, in such cases, occupies the position of an arbitrator, and is therefore not liable to an action by the owner for negligence in the exercise of such functions. Chambers v. Goldthorpe, 70 L.J.K.B. 482, (1901) 1 K.B. 624. Possible bias does not disqualify an engineer whose certificate is required under the contract. Farquhar v. City of Hamilton, (1892) 20 O.A.R. 86. As to power of architect, under special agreement, to dismiss contractor or any workman, see Smith v. Gordon, (1880) 30 U.C.C.P. 553.

Under a contract which empowers an owner to take possession and complete the work when the work is not being proceeded with at a rate to ensure its completion by a stipulated date, an owner is not bound to exercise his right as soon as he has reason to suspect that the work will not be completed at the date mentioned, but without waiving his right may delay action until the fact becomes established beyond all doubt. Milliken v. City of Halifax, (1889) 21 N.S.R. 418.

Where under a building contract work was to be completed by "Nov. 31st" under penalty of damages, this date was construed to mean Nov. 30th. McBean v. Kinnear, (1892) 23 O.R. 313. As to the rights of parties where in a contract between a builder and an owner a date was fixed for the completion of the building and delay occurred by default of sub-contractors. See Mitchell v. Guildford Union, (1903) 1 L.G.R. 857, 68 J.P. 84. As to failure to complete building contract and faulty construction of the work, see Bender v. Carrier, (1877) 15 S.C.R. 19.

If the contract provides for the certificate of an architect and no architect is appointed the provision is inoperative. Degague v. Chave, (1895) 2 Terr. L.R. 210. Where a building contract stipulates that the architect's certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the builder's right to final judgment, and the certificate is produced and not impeached, there is no ground for refusing enforcement of the lien. Snaith v. Smith, 25 N.Y. Supp. 513. As to final and conclusive character of architect's certificate, see Brown v. Bannatyne School Section, (1912) 22 Man. L.R. 260; Hamilton v. Vineberg, (1912) 4 D.L.R. 827.

If the architect is by the terms of the contract made arbitrator his decision cannot be dispensed with unless it is withheld unreasonably or in bad faith. Thomas v. Fleury, 26 N.Y. 26; Davidson v. Provost, 35 Ill. App. 126. The written contract controls the specifications. Grace v. Osler, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 627, 19 W.L.R. 109, 326 (Man.). Caldwell v. Schmulbach, 175 Fed. 429. The plaintiff, a builder, contracted to erect a building in Vancouver for the defendants, the contract providing that no extras would be allowed unless their value was agreed upon and endorsed on the contract. On the instructions of S. who intended to occupy the building for the purpose of a bottling company of which he was a member the plaintiff made alterations and additions, but no endorsement was made on the contract. It was held that such endorsement was a condition precedent to plaintiff's right to recover. McKinnon v. Pabst Brewing Co., (1900) 8 B.C.R. 265. See also Wood v. Stringer, (1890) 20 O.R. 148.

If the contractor is dismissed and the owner verbally employs a sub-contractor to finish the building, this new contract need not be in writing, and the sub-contractor, after the new contract, is entitled to a mechanics' lien as contractor. The conditions of such old contract would not be applicable to the new contract, and the non-production of an architect's certificate required by the contract of the dismissed contractor as a condition precedent, would not preclude the sub-contractor from recovering under the oral agreement, provided the work was so done as to morally entitle him to such certificate. Guest v. Hunter, (1882) 3 C.L.T. 33, distinguishing Bond v. Treahey, (1876) 37 U.C.Q.B. 360; Petrie v. Hunter, (1882) 2 O.R. 233, 10 O.A.R. 127. See King et al. v. Low, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 234. Where a person by a contract takes upon himself the responsibility that certain events shall take place or pay damages if from any cause he is prevented from carrying out the contract, the fact that the contract becomes impossible of performance does not excuse such party for non-performance of the contract. Ashmore v. Cox, (1899) 1 Q.B. 436. See Thorne v. Mayor of London, (1874) L.R. 9 Ex. 163, L.R. 10 Ex. 112.

In an action to enforce a lien a contractor joined the architect as a defendant and claimed damages against him for fraudulently withholding a certificate. It was held that the architect should be struck out as defendant. The claim would be good as against the owner, but as against the architect the plaintiff must pursue his ordinary remedy. Bagshaw v. Johnson, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 58, followed by Magee, J., in Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249.

Immoral contracts being against public policy as encouraging immorality, courts will not aid in enforcing a mechanics' lien for a contractor who knew that the additions which he made to a property were for the purpose of increasing the defendant's immoral trade. Miller v. Moore, (1911) 17 W.L.R. 548 (Alta.).

A contractor agreed to erect a house with the exception of the plumbing and certain other work which the owner agreed to do. The contractor, after performing work which entitled him to payment of the first instalment of his contract price, notified the owner that he was unable to complete his contract because the plumbing had not been done, and demanded payment of the first instalment. It was held that the contractor was entitled to treat the owner as having repudiated the contract, and could take the necessary steps to recover for what he had done under it, and also on his part to put an end to it. Sidney v. Morgan, 16 B.C.R. 18, 16 W.L.R. 123. Where a contract for a heating plant provided that the contractor should do certain work upon or before a certain date and should not be required to do any more work after that date on said job until the payment of $1,000, and the payment of the balance was satisfactorily secured, it was held the terms were sufficient to authorize the allowance of a lien for the $1,000. Roulet v. Hogan, 203 Ill. 525. It has been held that in the absence of express stipulation the materials of old buildings on the site belong to the contractor. See Morgan v. Steevens, (1879)6 Abb. (N.Y.) New Cases 356.

It is no objection to the claim of a sub-contractor that the principal contractor as a corporation had no power to contract, under its charter. General Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Magee Carpet Works, 199 Pa. 647.

In Friedman v. County of Hampden, (1910) 204 Mass. 494, in connection with a claim arising from construction of public works, certain principles determining the validity of liens under a Mechanics' Lien Act were applied, and it was held that certain charges of a sub-contractor for removal of loam and putting up fence and employment of watchman, in connection with work of excavation and grading, constituted items of the cost of the material and labor which finally went into the building for which he could have a lien under a Mechanics' Lien Act. But a sub-contractor who performed the work of furnishing, putting up and removing radiators for the drying of plaster put in by another sub-contractor had no such lien.

The lien of the materialman is dealt with in a subsequent chapter.

CHAPTER VI.

Liens of Sub-contractor and Wage-earners.

Statutory provisions creating a fund, out of which persons claiming a lien under a contract not made directly with the owner may be paid, have been introduced into Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, for the protection of sub-contractors and others. By these provisions a lien is given to sub-contractors and laborers, independent of the primary contractor. Even if he be employed by the contractor the lien of a sub-contractor or laborer is not, under any provincial statute, in Canada, by way of subrogation, and does not depend upon the terms of the contract, or the state of the account between his employer and the owner of the land, but grows out of the furnishing of material or labor and their use in the building. See Mallett v. Kovar, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 327.

Before a sub-contractor is entitled to enforce his lien, unless prevented by the fault of the owner, he must show that he has performed the part of the work allotted to him by the contractor, in accordance with the principal contract, but he is not bound to a strict compliance with its terms, and trifling deviations or defects will not defeat his lien.

A sub-contractor commenced work on the 19th August, 1903, and completed it on the 11th October, 1904, and registered his lien the next day. On the 14th November, 1903, the contractor by whom he was employed assigned $2,588.32 of the amount "due" to him from the owner of his contract to D., another sub-contractor, who duly gave notice thereof to the owner. At the time of this assignment the specified amount had been earned under the contract, but it did not become payable until the giving of the architect's certificate on the 14th November, 1904. It was held that the sub-contractor's lien related back to the commencement of his work, and was entitled to priority of the assignment, for the full amount of the lien, and not merely for that portion thereof actually earned by the sub-contractor up to the date of the assignment. Ottawa Steel Castings Co. v. Dominion Supply Co., (1904) 25 C.L.T. 58, 5 O.W.R. 161.

The owner is required to retain the statutory percentage, whether he has notice of the sub-contract or not, and he pays it to the contractor at his own peril, if there be a sub-contractor in existence who is prejudiced by the payment. Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann, (1904) 37 N.S.R. 327.

A sub-contractor, completing a building, where the contractor had been dismissed, is entitled to a lien as contractor, and not as sub-contractor, and his contract being a new one, the conditions of the old contract would not be applicable. Guest v. Hunter, (1882) 3 C.L.T. 33; Petrie v. Hunter, (1882) 2 O.R. 233, 10 O.A.R. 127. See King et al. v. Low, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 234, and Leroy v. Smith, (1900) 8 B.C.R. 300.

A person completing a building abandoned by a contractor is usually held to stand in the shoes of the contractor under the principal contract. Smith v. Lange, 81 App. Div. (N.Y.) 192; Moore v. Dugan, (1901) 179 Mass. 153.

A sub-contractor cannot acquire a lien on a claim for damages (Mayer v. Mutchler, 50 N.J.L. 162), and, on the other hand, damages for delay in the contractor's performance cannot be set off against a sub-contractor. Bernhardt v. Fry, (1909) 2 Sask. L.R. 315.

If a payment in land is to be made to the contractor, the court will secure the sub-contractor's right. Anderson v. Huff, (1892) 49 N.J. Eq. 349.

While the sub-contractor's lien can exist only upon the basis of the contract between the owner and the original contractor, it is, nevertheless, a direct lien, and is not dependent upon the contractor's lien, which may, however, affect its extent. The waiver of a contractor's lien or its loss by estoppel will not affect a subcontractor's lien. Even if a contractor abandons an entire contract, such action will not defeat a sub-contractor's right to a lien. Rockwood v. Walcott, (1862) 85 Mass. 458.

Where a contract with the owner is sufficient to create a mechanic's lien it may well be implied that the owner, through the agency of the contractor assents to the sub-contractor's lien by the employment of labor and procuring materials to carry out the contract. Weidle v. Elgin, (1910) 152 Ill. App. 292.

No privity of contract is necessary between the sub-contractor, the materialman, and the workman on the one hand and the owner on the other. The statute gives a direct lien to persons who do the work or furnish materials under contract with the contractor, and the owner cannot deprive them of this lien. Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, (1885) 2 Man. L.R. 248; McArthur v. Dewar, 3 Man. L.R. 72. See Miller v. Calumet Lumber Co., (1903) 111 Ill. App. 651.

In connection with work done for defendant bank, sub-contractors supplied work and material to D. and G., other sub-contractors, who failed to pay them, and a lien was registered on the property of defendant bank. D. and G. had been already paid in full by the contractor with the bank, but the bank held money due the contractor on the contract. It was held that the funds due the contractor in the hands of the bank were liable. Wood & McBeth v. Bank of Montreal, (1901) 40 N.S.R. 317.

A workman for the materialman is not entitled to a lien. Allen v. Harrison, 9 W.L.R. 198. As to the status of workmen for a sub-contractor, see McDonald v. Dominion Iron & Steel Co., 40 N.S.R. 465. Where a materialman contracts to deliver material in a manufactured form, the contract is for materials only, and a lien cannot be had for labor performed in manufacturing the materials as a claim for labor. Tracey v. Wetherell, (1896) 165 Mass. 113. Where one contracts to furnish completed articles for a building, and is to have no part in the erection of the building, his employees have no lien for their labor in preparing and completing the articles. Their labor is in no proper sense performed "in the erection of the building." See Webster v. Real Estate Improvement Co., (1886) 140 Mass. 526.

A workman under a contractor engaged in the repair of a building for the owner is entitled to a lien on the building for his unpaid wages to the extent of the twenty per cent. of the payment made that the owner should have held back from the contractor, but did not. Phelan v. Franklin, (1905) 15 Man. L.R. 520.

In the case of a contract not finished and abandoned by the contractor the method of computation in ascertaining the amount upon which the percentage provided by the Ontario and similar Mechanics' Lien Acts is payable to wage-earners, is that the value of the work done and materials furnished is to be calculated upon the basis of the price to be paid for the whole contract. Cole v. Pearson, (1908) 17 O.L.R. 46. See Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 18 O.W.R. 446, 23 O.L.R. 130.

The plaintiffs, who were sub-contractors for the cement work of a building, under the defendant R., the contractor, claimed a lien for work done as against the defendant E., the owner. The plaintiffs had, however, by giving R. receipts for money which he had received from E. to pay the plaintiffs, and had not paid them, led her to believe that they had been paid, and on the faith of that she made other payments to R., in excess of the work which he did or procured to be done upon the building, and herself completed the building when he abandoned it. She also made payments to another sub-contractor, and lien-holder. It was held that, in the circumstances of the case, the plaintiffs were not entitled to enforce a lien against E.'s land, though they had not been paid in full for the work done and materials furnished by them. Ringland v. Edwards, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 219 (Alta.).

CHAPTER VII.

The Lien of the Materialman.

The main purpose of a Mechanics' Lien Act usually is to secure a priority or preference to those who add value to specific realty by their labor or by material furnished. If the Act itself does not create a lien for materials no such lien exists. The word "materials" includes every kind of movable property.

The claimant must bring himself wholly within the terms of the statute giving the right to a lien. For instance, in accordance with the wording of the Ontario, Manitoba, and similar Mechanics' Lien Acts, it is not enough that the materials are furnished to be used upon or in the building,—the lien attaches only in virtue of materials furnished to be used in the making, constructing, erecting, fitting, altering, improving, or repairing the erection or building, and the significance of the term "furnishes any material to be used" is that unless the material is furnished by the materialman for the purpose of being used in the building or other work, or on the land on which the structure is situated, it cannot be the subject of a lien, even though used. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Cons. Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176.

Material furnished for the construction of a house on a specified lot cannot be the basis of a lien if used in building a house on another lot (Bennet v. Shackford, 11 Allen (Mass.) 444; Bohem v. Seeabury, 141 Penn. 594; Burns v. Lane, 23 Ill. App. 504), but Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada include work done upon the appurtenances to the building, and the terms of these Acts are so broad that it would probably be held that a lien would lie on the building and the land enjoyed therewith for the construction of a sidewalk in the street adjoining the lot, where such sidewalk would be necessary for the use of the premises. See Kenny v. Afgar, (1883) 93 N.Y. 539; Moran v. Chase, (1873) 52 N.Y. 346.

To create a lien on the property of the owner in favor of the materialman, there must be a request of the owner and a supplying of the materials in pursuance thereof, either upon the owner's credit or on his behalf, or with his privity or consent, or for his direct benefit. Slattery v. Lillis, (1905) 10 O.L.R. 697.

Del credere agents supplying materials have such an interest in the goods as entitles them to a mechanics' lien as materialmen, and one claim of lien can be filed in respect of all goods supplied though from different principals. Gorman v. Archibald, 1 Alta. L.R. 524; Currier v. Friedrich, (1875) 22 Gr. 243. Where no statutory definition is given, the scope of the word "material" is fully discussed in Troy Public Works v. City of Yonkers, (1911) 145 App. Div. (N.Y.) 527. Sprague v. Besant, (1885) 3 Man. L.R. 519. Some American courts hold that there must be an understanding that the materials furnished are for a building, though the particular building need not be designated or described.

The building for which the materials are to be used should be identified with reasonable sufficiency, but in Manitoba it has been held that a materialman is not bound to show that his materials were used in the building; delivery upon the ground for the purpose of being used is sufficient; McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. L.R. 72, provided, however, that they were supplied for the purpose of being used in the particular building for which the lien is claimed. Sprague v. Besant (1885) 3 Man. L.R. 519. An order for goods followed by the statement: "We have secured contract for hotel which requires above goods," was held sufficient identification of the building to give the person who furnished the goods a lien. Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann, (1904) 37 N.S.R. 237. In Ontario it has been held sufficient that the material be furnished on the credit of the building for use therein, it being immaterial as between owner and furnisher whether the material is used or not (Larkin v. Larkin, 32 O.R. 80), although where articles are furnished to a contractor for an experimental purpose, and are not incorporated in the building, the furnisher is not entitled to a lien. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176.

Some of the Acts plainly imply that to give a lien to the person furnishing the material he must have supplied it for the purpose of being used in the particular building upon which he claims to have the lien. Sprague v. Besant, (1885) 3 Man. R. 519. Rittenhouse & Embree Co. v. Brown, (1912) 254 Ill. 549. As the lien does not in any event, commence until the supplier "places or furnishes" the materials, no lien is created for materials to be supplied under contract not to the owner, but to a contractor, by a sub-contractor, until the materials have reached the owner's property. Smith Co. v. Sissiboo Pulp & Paper Co., (1903) 36 N.S.R. 348; affirmed, (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93.

In considering more fully a materialman's right to a lien an important distinction should be noted between his rights where he furnishes materials to contractors and, on the other hand, where he furnishes materials to an owner for use in or upon a building. It is right that the owner's land should be subject to a lien for materials furnished to him to be used in the erection or improvement of the building whether these materials are actually used or not, and it is also right that his land should be subject to a lien for materials furnished to a contractor or sub-contractor to be used in the erection or improvement of a building, when these materials are actually used, and when the lien is limited in the amount to the sum justly owing by the owner to the contractor, but it would not be just to give the person furnishing materials which were not incorporated in the building, and did not go to increase the value of the land, a right to payment out of the property of others which had increased the value of the realty, or a right against an owner who had not bought these materials, and whose land was not benefited by them. Accordingly, in an Ontario case (Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176), it has been held that a person furnishing articles to a contractor for an experimental use in regard to the work on the building is not entitled to a mechanics' lien for such articles where they are not incorporated in the building. A person who sells tools to a contractor for use on a building has no lien against the property for such articles. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., supra. In a previous Ontario case (Larkin v. Larkin, (1900) 32 O.R. 80), it had been decided that under certain circumstances a lien might be claimed for materials furnished which were not incorporated in the building. Moss, C.J.O., in delivering the judgment of the court in the later case, thus distinguishes it:—

"In Larkin v. Larkin, 32 O.R. 80, the materials in question were supplied to the owner of the land and not to a contractor or builder, and the question under consideration was whether the materials having been removed from the land and not incorporated in the building it could be said that the selling value of the land was increased by the furnishing or placing of the materials so as to give the person furnishing them a lien in priority to a mortgage of the premises. As against the owner the case was as stated by Proudfoot, V.C., in Bunting and Bell, 23 Grant Ch. 584, and the only question was whether the lien took effect as against the mortgagee. And any expression of the learned judges should be understood as applicable only to the facts of the case before them."

On the other hand, it has been held in Saskatchewan that it is not necessary in order to entitle a materialman to a lien to show that the materials were actually used upon the building, the test question being whether the materials were furnished with the intent and expectation that they were going into the building. Montjoy v. Heward School District Corporation, 10 W.L.R. 282. See also McArthur v. Dewar, 3 Man. L.R. 72, where, however, the question is only touched upon, although the decision holds that the materialman need not show that the material entered into the building. But the weight of opinion would seem to favor the view expressed in the Ontario case, See 19 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas. 588. But see Witham v. Wing, (1912) 108 Me. 364.

A sub-contractor is not entitled to a lien for materials sold to a contractor where the materials are not actually placed in the building or upon the land upon which the contractor is erecting the building. A materialman must ordinarily show that his materials were furnished for and were actually used in the erection of the building against which the lien is claimed. Potter Mfg. Co. v. Meyer, 171 Ind. 513. To give a lien for all the material sold for the purpose of going into the building, irrespective of the actual use of it for that purpose, might have the effect of creating a lien to the full value of the building, and the land on which it stands, in favor of parties whose property did not in fact go into the building, and thus the persons who had in fact erected the building would be deprived of any advantage from the liens given them. See Chapin v. Persse, 30 Conn. 472.

The seeming conflict in the decisions on this question is often traceable to the varying statutory provisions. The precise phraseology of the provisions creating the lien for materials must determine the question whether the actual use of the materials is essential to the lien. Where the lien is given by the statute for the construction or improvement of a building or "for, or in the erection of a building" the actual use of the articles furnished is not essential to the lien of the materialman, but where the lien is given for furnishing materials "used" or "to be used" in a building or in an "improvement" the weight of recent opinion is that the use of the materials is a prerequisite to the enforcement of the lien. Pittsburg Plate Glass Co. v. Leary, 31 L.R.A. 746. See particularly cases cited at page 758. The realty will be liable to a lien if it is the fault of the owner that the materials were not used. Salem v. Lane & Bodley Co., 189 Ill. 593; Morris County Bank v. Rockaway Mfg. Co., 14 N.J. Eq. 189. The material must have been furnished for the purpose of being used in the building. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., 22 O.L.R. 176; Sprague v. Besant, 3 Man. L.R. 519; McArthur v. Dewar, 3 Man. L.R. 72.

A distinction should be noted between the question whether there can be a lien for materials furnished but never used and the question whether materials furnished and consumed in the process of the work but not entering into and becoming part of the structure are "materials" within Mechanics' Lien Acts. The weight of opinion would seem to favor the view that while in the former class of cases there could be no lien under Acts similar to the Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, in the latter class of cases the materialman is entitled to a lien, as such materials are used up in the performance of the work on the structure and survive in tangible results in the building itself. The distinction is clearly expressed in a New York case:—

"The argument that dynamite is not a material but a part of the contractor's plant which like picks or shovels or mechanical appliances are used in the performance of work but are not considered materials furnished, within the purview of the statute, seems to us inherently unsound. A steam shovel, an engine and boiler, picks, shovels, crow-bars and the like are tools and appliances which while used in the doing of the work survive its performance, and remain the property of their owner. Not so, however, with materials that are used up in the performance of the work and are thereafter invisible except as they survive in tangible results. We think that explosives when used as substitutes for other recognized 'materials' are covered by the same principle. They enter into and form part of the permanent structure quite as much as the earth, rails, ties, culverts and bridges that we can see and feel." Schaghticoke Powder Co. v. Greenwich, etc., Railroad, 183 N.Y. 306, quoted approvingly in Sampson Co. v. Commonwealth, 202 Mass., at p. 335.

It would seem that an accurate and comprehensive statement of the law on this question is that a person furnishing "materials" is one who supplies towards the making of a structure matter which may become a part thereof, or which is expended in the labor incident to the erection thereof. Troy Public Works Co. v. City of Yonkers, (1911) 145 App. Div. (N.Y.) 527. A very broad and justifiable interpretation is now given to the phrase "one who furnishes material in the erection of a building" or any similar statutory words in a Mechanics' Lien Act. Under one Act giving a lien to one who furnishes material in the erection of a building or for the improvement of real estate it has been held that a person furnishing lumber for the forms in which to mould the concrete for a building is entitled to a lien, although the lumber is destroyed in the use, and becomes no part of the building. Avery and Sons v. Woodruff, (1911) 144 Ky. 227, 36 L.R.A. 866. But if the lumber is only depreciated in value, and is taken away by the contractor to be used again for his own purposes, no lien exists for it. Rittenhouse & Embree Co. v. Brown, (1912) 254 Ill. 549. While the use of machines which wear out in the use does not give a right to a lien for their value as materials, yet the use of machines controlled by workmen rendering their labor on a structure more effective than if performed with their hands alone does not defeat a claim for labor in the operation of the machines. Geo. H. Sampson Co. v. Commonwealth, (1909) 202 Mass. 326.

So, fuses used to explode dynamite are "materials." The sticks of dynamite could not be exploded without the use of the fuses, and in the process of such work both are entirely destroyed. Gunpowder and all explosives neeessarily eonsumed in the use are considered as "materials," and within the meaning of the statute. Dupont De Nemours Powder Co. v. Culgin-Pace Construction Co., (1910) 206 Mass. 585; George A. Sampson Co. v. Commonwealth, 202 Mass. 326. Explosives used in the breaking up of earth are "materials" used in the improvement of real property. Schaghticke Powder Co. v. Greenwick and Johnsonville Ry. Co., (1905) 2 L.R.A. 288. The test question is whether the materials were neeessary to the work of ereetion under the contraet, and were eonsumed in the making of the improvements. Hercules Powder Co. v. Knoxville, (1904) 67 L.R.A. 487.

If the materials are prepared and aetually plaeed in the building, the fact that the materials were subsequently removed by the owner's direetion, upon change of the building plans, will not affeet the lien for these materials (Fletcher-Crowell Co. v. Chevalier, (1911) 108 Me. 435), and it has been held that old materials used in a new building may be subjeet to a lien. Whitford v. Newell, 84 Mass. 424, 36 L.R.A. 871. If after an old building is partially repaired it is torn down and a new one ereeted in its stead, the lien elaimant ean elaim a lien on the new building for materials furnished for and used in the old building which were afterwards used in the new building. Nichols v. Culver, 51 Conn. 177.

If materials have been prepared or furnished as ordered and the owner rejeets them or negleets to aeeept them or diverts them to other uses a lien will be established. The plaintiff, a sub-contraetor, who installed a furnaee in a building was held to have strietly complied with his eontraet with the principal contractor and to be entitled to enforee his lien though the furnaee which he installed was rejeeted by the owners. Mallett and Kevar, 14 W.L.R. 327; Salem v. Lane, etc., Co., 189 Ill. 593; Sears v. Wise, 52 App. (N.Y.) 118; Chicago Artesian Wells Co. v. Corey, 60 Ill. 73; Morris Co. Bank v. Rockaway, 14 N.J. Eq.

198. But a materialman has no relief under the Ontario Act, or similar Acts, in a case where the building was never completed by the contractor and the building contract provided that time was of the essence of the contract and stated a specified sum for every day beyond a stated period that the owner was denied the full possession of the premises. McManus v. Rothschild, 25 O.L.R. 138. Where a materialman contracts to deliver material in a manufactured form the contract is for materials only, and a lien cannot be had for labor performed in manufacturing the materials as a claim for labor. Tracey v. Wetherell, (1896) 165 Mass. 113; Donaher v. Boston, (1879) 126 Mass. 309.

There is no lien if the debt ceases to be for materials, or is furnished on general account, and not for a specific building. A. began to erect a building for X. but abandoned the work and B. agreed with X. to complete it, to pay all outstanding bills, X. agreeing to pay a round sum for the whole work, including that already done by A. Held, that B. could maintain no lien for materials which he had furnished to A. for that debt was merged in the round sum to be paid by A. Whitney v. Joslin, (1871) 108 Mass. 103. See Hatch v. Colman, (1857) 29 Barb. (N.Y.) 201. Furnishing wood blocks for floor of a bridge over railway tracks, after other blocks have been rejected as not conforming to contract was held a furnishing of material within the lien law of New York. In re Abbot Gamble Co., (1912) 195 Fed. 465.

Where part of a claim is for materials and part for labor and the claim is so mixed, the contract being entire, that they cannot be determined respectively, there is no lien for either. Gogin v. Walsh, (1878) 124 Mass. 516. See Weller v. Shupe, (1897) 6 B.C.R. 58; Smith v. Sissiboo Pulp and Paper Co., (1903) 36 N.S.R. 348, (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93.

A materialman is not entitled to register as one individual claim, a lien for the amount due for materials supplied by him to a contractor, against all the lands jointly of the owners of different parcels of land who have made separate contracts with the contractor for the erection of houses on their respective parcels. Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249. In this case the owners of separate parcels of land made separate contracts with a contractor for the erection of houses on their respective parcels, and materials were furnished by a materialman to the contractor which were used by him in the erection of the houses, and it was held that the Act did not empower the materialman to register a lien for the total amount against all the land jointly. See Booth v. Booth, 3 O.L.R. 294, Barr v. Percy, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 236; (B.C.), while on the other hand a lien for furnishing new material and replacing it in a bridge cannot be claimed by a sub-contractor whose employees by negligence had made the new work and material necessary. Richmond and Irvine Construction Co. v. Richmond Ry. Co., (1895) 31 U.S. App. 704.

Disbursements, such as money advanced to pay freight on material furnished for use in a structure may, although no agreement was made in advance to make the payment, be regarded as part of the purchase price of the materials furnished (Barker and Steward Lumber Co. v. Marathon Paper Mill Co., 36 L.R.A. 875), but where a materialman furnished money to a building contractor to purchase certain material which the materialman did not have, he could not claim a lien for the amount so furnished (Evans v. Lower, (1904) 58 Atl. Rep. 294; Goddefroy v. Caldwell, 56 Am. Dec. 360), nor will "supplies" include food for men and teams while at work. Carson and Co. v. Shelton, (1908) 15 L.R.A. 509. A person furnishing lead to connect a house with pipes in the street may have a lien on the house. Feeny v. Rothboum, (1911) 155 Mo. App. 331. In a claim for materials supplied the work of installation is properly included as part of the cost of the materials in situ. McNab, Harlin Mfg. Co. v. Paterson Blg. Co., (1907) 72 N.J. Eq. 929.

A claim for lien against several buildings or lots not adjoining or adjacent, on which the work was done and materials were furnished under one entire contract, cannot be enforced at all, where there is nothing in the claim from which it can be ascertained how the amount claimed for work and materials is to be apportioned among the several buildings. Schmidt v. Anderson, (1912) 253 Ill. 29. Where the claimant furnishes materials partly for sidewalk and partly for other purposes, and part of the material was used for sidewalks but the claimant failed to show what portion went for sidewalks, the claim was held wholly bad, since it could not be determined which portion of it was valid. Bradley Co. v. Gaghan, 208 Pa. 511. Although the claim must show whether it is for work or materials (Norton Construction Co. v. Unique Construction Co., 121 App. Div. (N.Y.) 585), yet where the contract is entire, a statement of the contract price and the total amount of materials furnished is sufficient. Westcott v. Bunker, 83 Me. 499; Brown v. Myers, 145 Pa. 17. If a person who furnishes material for the improvement of real property further agrees with the owner to use that particular material in the erection of any structure upon the lands, he ceases to be a materialman and becomes a contractor. Jackson v. Egan, (1910) 138 App. Div. (N.Y.) 505.

A statement in somewhat indefinite form may be held sufficient. A statement that the work performed and materials furnished were "plumbing, tinning, furnaces and ranges, as per contract to the amount of $2,560, and additional labor to the sum of $77, making in all $2,637, upon account of which there has been paid $850, and leaving a balance due therefor for $1,787 was held sufficient. Clarke v. Heylman, 80 App. Div. (N.Y.), 572.

Materials not actually used or delivered to a contractor are not "furnished" for the purpose of creating a sub-contractor's lien, although they are worthless for any other purpose and were prepared for the contractor under a contract which he broke by refusing to accept them. Richmond and Irvine Construction Co. v. Richmond Ry. Co., (1895) 31 U.S. App. 704, 34 L.R.A. 625.

Whether the transaction was really materials furnished for a building or merely a sale of a chattel is mainly a question of fact. If it be shown that such chattels are so attached as to become a permanent part of the structure, and it had been contemplated by the parties that they should be furnished, a lien may be enforced by furnishing them. See cases cited in Chapter IV., ante, at page 54, et seq.

Articles rented for use in the construction of the works are not materials within the meaning of the statute, and the person who rents such articles is not entitled to a lien for unpaid rental. Troy Public Works Co. v. City of Yonkers, (1911) 145 App. Div. (N.Y.) 527. A workman for a materialman is not entitled to a lien. Allen v. Harrison, (1908) 9 W.L.R. 198.

To create the lien the sale of the materials must be with reference to the improvement of the land or building. Chapin v. Persse, 30 Conn. 461.

The lien will cover only materials furnished by a lien claimant and not materials procured by him as the agent for the owner and on the credit of the owner, although afterwards paid for by the lien claimant. Kerby v. Daly, 45 N.Y. 84. It is a question of fact whether the materials were furnished on the credit of the building (Hommell v. Lewis, 104 Penn. 465), and the placing of the materials in the building in itself would justify a finding that they were furnished to be used in the building (Power v. McCord, 36 Ill. 214; Martin v. Eversall, 36 Ill. 222), but the fact that the materials are charged to the contractor alone is not primâ facie evidence that his credit was relied on to the exclusion of the credit of the building. Hommell v. Lewis, 104 Penn. 465. Entries of charges for materials are strong evidence to show to whom they were sold, but are not conclusive. Presbyterian Church v. Allison, 10 Penn. 413, Phillips, sec. 124.

The lien given for labor and materials furnished in respect to any structure or land includes hauling the materials there. Fowler v. Pompelly, (1903) 76 S.W. 173; McClain v. Hutton, 131 Cal. 132; Hill v. Newman, (1861) 80 Am. Dec. 473.

The time for filing a lien for materials furnished to a contractor cannot be computed from the date of the last item in the claimants account unless such item was the subject of a lien. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176. The parties must intend that the materials are to be used. Mehan v. Thompson, 71 Me. 492.

If a plaintiff claims to retain a mechanics' lien by means of material supplied and work done after the completion of a building, and after the architect has given the final certificate, it is incumbent on him to prove clearly that the material was supplied and the work done in pursuance of and as a part of his original agreement (Lawrence v. Landsberg, 14 W.L.R. 477), and the question whether the material is supplied in good faith for the purpose of completing a contract, or as a pretext to revive a right to file a lien, is a question of fact for the trial Judge, and his decision on such fact should govern. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, 11 B.C.R. 375.

Material furnished after the work is completed will not keep a lien alive so as to prejudice others. Renney v. Dempster, (1911) 19 O.W.R. 644. See Limoges v. Scratch, 44 S.C.R. 86.

A materialman who without knowledge of the owner furnishes a tenant at will with materials for a house, knowing that the tenant is not the owner, can have no lien on the property. Proctor v. Tows, 115 Ill. 138.

If the materials are furnished under a contract for the construction of a building for a person who at the time of making the contract has not the title to the land on which the building is to be built, but who afterwards acquires it, the lien extends as well to the labor and materials furnished before the deed was delivered as to those furnished afterwards. Libb v. Tilden, (1906) 192 Mass. 195. In Massachusetts it has also been held that no lien for materials can be established against the owner of real estate if the materials were furnished under a contract which was made with the person from whom he purchased the property before it was conveyed to him, and no notice was given to him of an intention to claim a lien, although a part of the materials were furnished after he acquired the title. Martin v. Stewart (1910) 204 Mass. 122.

A materialman is not entitled to register, as one individual claim, a lien for the amount due for materials supplied by him to a contractor, against all the lands jointly of the owners of different parcels of land who have made separate contracts with the contractor for the erection of houses on their respective parcels. Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249. See this case distinguished in Ontario Lime Assn. v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

When can materials be said to be "used" within the meaning of the Act? It would seem to be sufficient to raise a presumption that the materials were actually used to show that they were furnished to be used in the building and were delivered to the builder. It would be unjust to require a materialman to prove conclusively that every article furnished by him was incorporated in the building. It is not necessary that the materials should be delivered at or near the building. They may be delivered at some other accessible place agreed upon, and convenient for use by the contractor or owner. A. E. Shorthill Co. v. Aetna Indemnity Co., 124 N.W. 613. It is a question of fact whether the materials were furnished on the credit of the building. Hommell v. Lewis, 104 Penn. 465.

Proof that the materials were delivered at or near the building site, at a place designated by the contracting party, and that the building was thereafter completed with materials of the description of those furnished, is primâ facie evidence that the materials so delivered were used in its construction. Central Lumber Co. v. Braddock Land, etc., Co., (1907) 84 Ark. 560.

CHAPTER VIII.

The "Owner" and his "Interest."

The person who is sought to be held responsible for the payment of the claim must be an "owner" of the property within the meaning of that term as used in the Mechanics' Lien Act under which the proceedings are taken. The lien attaches to the estate or interest of such owner in the realty upon which or in respect of which the work or service is performed or the materials placed or furnished. A lien cannot be sustained unless the "owner" has an estate or interest in the land to which this lien would attach. Litton v. Gunther, 12 O.W.R. 1122; Atkinson Co. v. Shields Construction Co., (1909) 76 N.J.L. 751.

To be entitled to a lien, the lien claimant must have been employed to do the work or furnish the materials by some one having either an interest in the land or an interest in a contract made with the owner. The person with whom the contract was made must be an "owner" or else some relation of the parties must have existed which would give a right of lien. Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 O.A.R. 364; Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514; Blight v. Ray, (1893) 23 O.R. 415; Graham v. Williams, (1884) 8 O.R. 478, 9 O.R. 458. See also Garing v. Hunt, (1895) 27 O.R. 149; Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509.

To create a lien on the property of the owner in favor of the materialman, there must be a request of the owner and a supplying of the materials in pursuance thereof, either upon the owner's credit or on his behalf or with his privity or consent or for his direct benefit. Slattery v. Lillis, (1905) 10 O.L.R. 697; Graham v. Williams, (1884) 8 O.R. 478, (1885) 9 O.R. 458; Blight v. Ray, (1893) 25 O.R. 415; Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 25 A.R. 364.

A surrender to the vendor by a purchaser in possession under an executory agreement will not defeat the lien. Hoffstrom v. Stanley, 14 Man. R. 227.

The vendor and vendee cannot prejudice the rights of a lien claimant by secret agreement. Malmgren v. Phinney, 50 Minn. 457, 18 L.R.A. 753; Henderson v. Connolly, 123 Ill. 98; Garlan v. Van Rensselaer, 71 Hun. (N.Y.) 2. Where a vendee agrees with a vendor to erect certain buildings this makes the vendee an "owner," and the entire interest may be bound by him (Borden v. Mercer, 163 Mass. 7; McCue v. Whitwell, 156 Mass. 205; Young v. Wilson, 44 N.J.L. 157; Schmalz v. Mead, 125 N.Y. 188) even where the vendee forfeited his contract. Henderson v. Connolly, 123 Ill. 98.

The interest, large or small, of the contracting "owner" will be covered by the lien, and if, afterwards, that estate or interest becomes less, the lien can still be claimed against the estate or interest the owner had at the time the lien attached. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 O.A.R. 573; Keffer v. Miller, (1890) 10 C.L.T. 90; In re Empire Brewing and Malting Co., (1891) 8 Man. L.R. 424; Re Ibex Mining and Development Co., (1902) 9 B.C.R. 557. The word "interest" is the broadest term applicable to claims in or upon real estate, in its ordinary signification among men of all classes. It is broad enough to include any right, title or estate in or a lien upon real estate. Ormsby v. Attman, 85 Fed. 492, 29 C.C.A. 295. In the case of a lessee, while the lien may be enforced against the interest of a lessee, some Mechanics' Lien Acts require the consent of the lessor, in writing, signed by him upon the claim of lien before the fee simple can be charged. See Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act, sec. 5.

As a general rule the lien only attaches upon the estate or interest of the owner at the time the work or service is performed, or the materials furnished. If, however, an owner having an equitable estate, subjects that estate to a mechanics' lien and afterwards acquires the fee simple or other larger estate, such larger estate will be subject to the lien. The owner may be estopped from setting up the subsequent purchase in answer to the claim of the lien holder. Wolfe v. Oxbard, 152 Pa. 623; McGraw v. Godfrey, 56 N.Y. 610. Where labor and materials are furnished under a contract for the construction of a building for a person who at the time of making the contract has not the title to the land on which the building is to be built, but who afterwards acquires it, the lien extends as well to the labor and materials furnished before the deed was delivered as to those furnished afterwards. Libbey v. Tilden, (1906) 192 Mass. 175. The most frequent instance of an equitable estate becoming chargeable is that of a purchaser under a contract, which has not been fully completed, the purchaser not having acquired the legal title. Even then, if upon the completion of the contract the vendor takes a mortgage for the purchase money, it becomes a prior mortgage under the Act, and the vendor's interest in the property is only chargeable to the extent prescribed in the Act. See sec. 14, sub-sec. 2 of Ontario Act, and corresponding provision in other provincial Acts. It is probable that though the contract is never carried out, the lienholder may assert his lien upon the increase in value, against the vendor as if the relationship had been that of mortgagor and mortgagee.

As a general rule it is only the interest of the purchaser that is affected by the lien. In a case under the Manitoba Act (British Columbia Timber and Trading Co. v. Leberry, (1902) 22 C.L.T. 273), the defendant bought lands from one, T., for $1,200 and paid $50 on account, balance to be payable immediately. The defendant took possession and erected a building and made improvements. Plaintiff supplied materials and claimed a lien against defendant and Townsend, and it was held that the lien only extended to the equitable interest of defendant, and that the claim against Townsend should be dismissed. The same principle has been applied generally in other cases. In Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 227, the defendant agreed to purchase land from D. & McC. The price was to be paid August 15th, 1901, and in default D. & McC. could either cancel the agreement, in which event any payments made became forfeited, or could re-sell and recover any deficiency from defendant. No part of the purchase money was paid, but defendant made improvements on the land, work upon which went on after August 15th, with the knowledge and concurrence of D. & McC. Plaintiff was employed by defendant as carpenter and claimed a lien. Killam, J., held that, having granted an extension, D. & McC. could not cancel the agreement without notice, and, therefore, the agreement was still subsisting when plaintiff did the work. The parties must be regarded as mortgagor and mortgagee, and plaintiff was entitled to a lien, subject to the charge of D. & McC. for unpaid purchase money and interest. So, the holder of a working option on a mineral claim was held to have an estate or interest against which a lien might be enforced and the interest of the person giving the option to purchase was not chargeable unless he had brought himself within the provisions of the Act. Anderson v. Godsall, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 404.

A person in actual possession of land has a title thereto as against all the world except the true owner, and has a sufficient interest to come within the meaning of "owner" (Blight v. Ray, 23 O.R. 415; Reggin v. Manes, 52 O.R. 443), but in order to amount to an interest which would support a lien, the actual possession or interest must exist at the time the materials were ordered. Galvin Walston Lumber Company v. McKinnon, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 310. A lien can attach to any equitable title or interest or to any other interest which can be conveyed. Montandon v. Deas, 48 Am. Dec. 84; Tracy v. Rogers, 69 Ill. 662; Franklin Sav. Bank v. Taylor, 131 Ill. 376. Where a conveyance of land was made to a husband and wife, each of the grantees is an "owner" under the Mechanics' Lien Act, and may by contract subject his or her estate to a lien for improvements on the land, though the other does not join in the contract (Independence Sash Co. v. Bradfield, (1911) 134 S.W. 118), but a statute vesting in the holder of a special timber license all rights of property in all trees, timber and lumber cut within the limits of the license during the term thereof, was construed as not giving any estate in the land itself chargeable under the Mechanics' Lien Act. Rafuse v. Hunter, 12 B.C.R. 126.

A vendee in possession is an "owner" (Beck v. Catholic University of America, 62 App. Div. (N.Y.) 599; Courtemanche v. Blackstone Valley Co., (1898) 170 Mass. 50; Anderson v. Berg. 174 Mass. 404), and, indeed, a mere possessory interest, or even constructive possession, may sometimes suffice to create a lien (Christie v. Mead, 8 C.L.T. 312; Prutzman v. Bushong, 83 Pa. 526), although, sometimes, possession is not sufficient. Fletcher v. Stedman, 159 Mass. 124; Tracy v. Rogers, 69 Ill. 662. A mortgagor is an owner until after decree of foreclosure. Davis v. Connecticut Mut. Life Ins. Co., 84 Ill. 508.

It has been held that a partner may bind a partnership. Christian v. Illinois Malleable Iron Co., 92 Ill. App. 320.

A trustee may be an "owner." Springer v. Kroeschell, 161 Ill. 358; Weaver v. Sheeler, 124 Pa. 473. A contract for necessary repairs made with trustee to whom the land has been conveyed in trust "to secure and pay over the profits above and beyond all necessary expenses," will support a mechanics' lien (Chatham v. Rowland, 92 N.C. 340), but a contract with the trustee, who is only authorized to collect rents, for large and expensive improvements in excess of necessary repairs, would not entitle the contractor to a lien. Boisot, sec. 160; Herbert v. Herbert, 57 How. Prac. (N.Y.) 33. A trustee who is authorized to build may encumber the estate with a mechanics' lien. Taylor v. Goldsorf, 74 Ill. 254.

A mechanics' lien attaches to the leasehold interest and to buildings erected by one tenant and sold to another, who has acquired a lease of the same interest, and this, notwithstanding the removal of the buildings, at the end of the term, is expressly required by the lease. Zabriski v. Greater America Exposition Company, (1903) 62 L.R.A. 369. The question whether a lien can be created by a trustee against a trust estate depends upon the terms of the trust. An agreement between vendor and vendee that the vendee shall erect certain buildings makes the vendee an owner. Paulsen v. Manske, 126 Ill. 72; Borden v. Mercer, 163 Mass. 7. The vendor and vendee cannot, by secret agreement, prejudice the rights of the lien claimant. Henderson v. Connolly, 123 Ill. 98; Malmgren v. Phinney, 50 Minn. 457; 18 L.R.A. 753. A purchaser under a deed held in escrow may subject his interest to a lien. Chicago Lumber Co. v. Dillon, 13 Colo. App. 196.

CHAPTER IX.

What is "Consent."

Although the fact that work is done on the erection of a building or that materials are furnished, will not necessarily give to any one the right to a lien against the realty, yet, on the other hand, to create a lien a Mechanics' Act does not require a contract between the person performing the work or furnishing the materials and the "owner" of the property.

To bind the "owner," however, and create a lien against his interest, something more than his mere knowledge or mere consent to the work being done, is necessary; there must be a request by him, either express or by implication from circumstances, and the work must be done or the materials furnished in pursuance of that request. Slattery v. Lillis, (1908) 10 O.L.R. 697; Gearing v. Robinson, 27 O.A.R. 364.

The sections of a Mechanics' lien Act defining the meaning of the term "owner" must be read in connection with the section creating the lien, and if this be done it will appear that the following essentials must exist in order to create the lien,—

(1) A request by the "owner."

(2) Work done or materials furnished in pursuance of that request.

(3) The work must be done or the materials furnished either

(a) upon the owner's credit, or

(b) on his behalf, or

(c) with his privity or consent, or

(d) for his direct benefit.

Any one of the alternative conditions mentioned in (3) will suffice if joined with the essentials specified in (1) and (2).

The expression "upon the credit of the owner" has a broad meaning and does not necessarily mean only upon his credit in the sense that a personal obligation was created on his part to the person who supplied the materials. See observations of Meredith, C.J., in Slattery v. Lillis, (1905) 10 O.L.R. 697.

The owner may subject his interest to a mechanics' lien for repairs made by a tenant, provided that the owner's consent is clearly established. Gearing v. Hunt, 27 Ont. A.R. 149. This, of course, would not apply where there is a statutory provision to the contrary. See Ont. Mechanics' Lien Act, sec. 8. Consent may be implied. Vickery v. Richardson, 189 Mass. 53; Steeves v. Sinclair, 171 N.Y. 676; Fischer v. Jordan, 169 N.Y. 615; Gilmour v. Colcord, 96 App. Div. N.Y. 358.

But mere failure to object on the part of the lessor to improvements by his lessee should not subject the interest of the lessor to a lien. Graham v. Williams, 8 Ont. R. 478, 9 Ont. R. 458.

A contract with the authorized agent of the owner is sufficient to create a lien against the property. Interstate Building Assoc. v. Ayers, 177 Ill. 9; Mammoth Min. Co. v. Salt Lake Foundry, 151 U.S. 447.

A lease with a building covenant by the lessee and knowledge of the work by the owner amounts to "consent" of the owner to the building, and creates a lien against his estate.

The consent must be shown, and whether it appears in any given case will depend wholly upon the facts of that case. Shaw v. Young, 87 Me. 271.

A mere general consent or requirement on the part of a landlord that the lessee may or shall at his own expense make alterations and repairs to premises, does not constitute consent. The cases in which such a consent has been implied are cases in which the owner has done some affirmative act respecting the particular improvement from which his knowledge and consent may properly be inferred. Ætna Elevator Co. v. Deeves, (1908) 125 App. Div. (N.Y.) 842.

While consent must be something more than mere acquiescence in the act of a tenant, who for his own convenience makes temporary erections and additions which he has a right to remove during his tenancy, yet if the owner of the building has knowledge that certain repairs are necessary and makes no provision for them, but is present when they are being made by his tenant, and gives no notice that he will not be responsible therefor, his consent may be inferred from his conduct considered in connection with all the circumstances of the case. York v. Mathis, (1907) 103 Me. 67.

In determining the question of consent much may depend on the nature of the work done. Consent may be inferred for ordinary preservative repairs when it would not be inferred for alterations, remodellings, additions, or even more expensive repairs. Shaw v. Young, 87 Me. 271. A lien will be enforced against the owner for repairs made by his lessee where the lease provides that the lessee should make such improvements and that the same should become the property of the lessor at the expiration of the lease. Henry v. Miller, (1908) 145 Ill. App. 628.

The consent of the owner or of any person having authority from or rightfully acting for such owner is consent to the performance of the work or to the furnishing of the materials, not to the creation of a debt for such labor or materials. Brown v. Haddock, (1908) 199 Mass. 480; Vickery v. Richardson, 189 Mass. 53. The owner by giving a lease in which lessee covenants to keep all the machinery in good working order at his own costs, "consents" to work done under contract with lessee for the purpose of putting and keep the machinery in working order. Tinsley v. Smith, (1909) 115 App. Div. 708, 194 N.Y. 581.

Consent may be sufficiently evidenced by a covenant by a tenant to repair.

As to provisions in a lease which constitute "consent" see New York Elevator Supply Company v. Brewer, 74 App. Div.

(N.Y.) 400; Jones v. Menke, 168 N.Y. 61; Meistrell v. Baldwin, (1911) 144 N.Y. App. Div. 660.

Express consent of the owner is not necessary. Consent may be inferred from facts which indicate at least a willingness on the part of the owner to have the improvements made, or an acquiescence in the means adopted for that purpose, with knowledge of the object for which they are employed. The omission of the owner to object to improvements made upon his premises by a tenant, when the owner has knowledge of the circumstances under which they are being made is an important fact bearing upon the question of consent. National Wall Paper Co. v. Sire, 163 N.Y. 122, 131.

Consent to the making of certain small repairs to an elevator cannot be implied under a clause in a lease whereby the lessee "agreed to keep the premises in good 'repair,'" and where nothing appears from which it may be inferred that the landlord knew of or anticipated them. Ætna Elev. Co. v. Deeves, (1908) 125 App. Div. (N.Y.) 842. As to facts showing "consent," see Courtemanche v. Blackstone Valley St. R. Co., 170 Mass. 50; Paulsen v. Manske, 126 Ill. 72.

Consent may follow from the owner's conduct when accompanied with knowledge of the circumstances under which the work is being done. Gannon v. Shepard, 156 Mass. 355; Vickery v. Richardson, (1905) 189 Mass. 53. For additional cases on "consent" see York v. Mathis, 103 Me. 67; Anderson v. Berg, 174 Mass. 404; Steeves v. Sinclair, 171 N.Y. 676; Meistrell v. Baldwin, 127 N.Y.S. 570, 144 App. Div. 660.

An owner who has power to choose whether or not his property shall be improved, and who executes a lease requiring the tenant to make substantial improvements, consents to the improvements within the law. McNulty Bros. v. Offerman, 126 N.Y.S. 755, 141 App. Div. 730. But a lease and contract to convey is not the "consent" required by the statute to subject the lessor's title to a lien for building, though the erection of buildings was contemplated by both parties, being necessary to the utilization of the lease. Currier v. Cummings, 40 N.J. Eq. 145. As to power of lessee or vendee to subject owner's interest to lien, see Belnap v. Condon, (1908) 23 L.R.A. and cases therein reviewed.

When a contractor performs work under a contract with the tenant and relies also upon the consent of the owner, he is not justified in abandoning the work because the tenant refused to pay or is otherwise guilty of a breach of the contract, unless he was actually prevented from completing. In order to hold the owner on the theory that he consented to the work, the contract must be substantially performed. Mitchell v. Dunsmore Realty Co., (1908) 126 App. Div. (N.Y.) 829.

An owner of the fee of leased land who consents that the lessee shall make improvements which shall remain upon the property for the benefit of the lessor at the expiration of the lease, there being no restriction as to the extent of such improvements, subjects his interest to mechanics' liens for labor and materials furnished for the improvements and cannot be heard to say that the cost is excessive or the improvements undesirable. Haas Electric & Mfg. Co. v. The Springfield Amusement Park Co., (1908) 236 Ill. 452.

Where a contractor employs necessary workmen the consent of the owner to the work done is implied so as to entitle such workmen to a lien. Monaghan v. Goddard, 173 Mass. 468.

If a third party does the work by consent of all parties concerned he will be entitled to the rights of the persons whose places he has taken. Moore v. Erickson, 158 Mass. 71; Security Nat. Bank v. St. Croix Power Co., 117 Wis. 211; Murphy v. Watertown, 112 App. Div. (N.Y.) 670.

Where a contract between the lessor and the lessee provides for certain improvements, the interest of the lessor cannot be subjected to a mechanics' lien for other improvements in the absence of any evidence showing that he authorized or consented to the additional work. Bermingham v. Gill, (1911) 164 Ill. App. 536.

CHAPTER X.

Waiver of Lien and Estoppel.

In the absence of special statutory provision, the doctrine of waiver would apply to mechanics' liens and a mechanic could waive his right to a lien in like manner as he might waive any other statutory privilege.

Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada not only provide that a lien upon realty may be waived as between the immediate parties by agreement in writing, but also contain a provision that a person who does any kind of manual labor cannot, even by written agreement, waive his right to a lien. This latter provision is intended to protect those who do the manual labor, and its application is limited to that class.

Even where such a provision does not exist, the waiver to be effective must be clear and unmistakable. Concord Apartment House Co. v. O'Brien, 128 Ill. App. 433, affirmed, 228 Ill. 476. In New York it has been held that the right to a lien is waived where the parties have submitted the matters to arbitration and the arbitrators have made an award. N.Y.L. Co. v. Schneider, 15 Daly 15; but it had been held otherwise where there is a revocation of the agreement to submit by the lien claimant. Paulsen v. Manske, 126 Ill. 72. The right to a mechanics' lien may be waived by a contractor for a sufficient consideration during the pendency of the work. Kelly v. Johnson, (1911) 251 Ill. Rep. 135, 36 L.R.A. 573.

The right to acquire a mechanics' lien will not be waived by the extension of credit unless the time of payment is extended beyond the time within which an action must be commenced to enforce the lien. Landsberg & Co. v. Hein Construction Co., (1909) 135 App. Div. (N.Y.) 819. The cases cited in this volume dealing with liens on personalty have practically no application where the subject-matter is realty, the nature and terms of the statutory provision respecting realty negativing such application. It is for the defendant to show that the lien-holder has waived his lien. McCabe v. McRae, 58 Me. 99. A lien may be waived for a special purpose, and if so, the courts will confine it to the purpose intended, but a general waiver of lien must be enforced as made by the parties. Turnes v. Brenekle, 249 Ill. 394.

Under the Manitoba Mechanics' Lien Act it has been held that where a building contract provides for a time of payment later than the time within which a lien can be filed, the lien is waived. Ritchie v. Grundy, 7 Man. L.R. 532; see Scheid v. Rapp, 121 Pa. 593. It would seem that an agreement in a building contract not to permit or suffer a mechanics' lien to be filed or remain on the property is not a waiver of the contractor's statutory right to file a lien on his own behalf. Kertscher & Co. v. Green, (1910) 124 N.Y.S. 461, (1911) 127 N.Y.S. 1127; Davis v. Lacrosse Hospital, 121 Wis. 579. A clause that the "lessee" shall permit no mechanics' liens to attach to the "premises," is construed as merely a covenant on the part of the lessee that he would discharge such liens and such clause would not prevent a lien from attaching as between the owner and the party otherwise entitled thereto. Carey-Lombard Lumber Co. v. Jones, 187 Ill. 203.

A claimant who files a claim for lien does not thereby waive any other right he may have against his debtor in respect to the claim. Dunn v. Stokerm, (1855) 43 N.J. Eq. 401. As to stipulation constituting express waiver, see Stoneback v. Waters, 198 Pa. 459; Pinning v. Skipper, 71 Md. 347. Nor does he waive his lien by bringing an action at law for his debt and attaching the real estate against which he is seeking to enforce his lien. Angier v. Bay State Co., (1901) 178 Mass. 163. Where a contractor agreed to build a house for a price named, one-half to be paid when the shingles and clapboards were on, and the other half when the house was finished, it was held that this contract did not stipulate for a credit, inconsistent with the enforcement of the lien and could not be considered as a waiver of it.

A waiver does not result, as a matter of law, merely from the fact that the owner, when ordering materials, agreed to give and afterwards did give the materialman a mortgage on other land "as additional security." The question whether the mortgage was intended to be in lieu of a lien is a question of fact for the trial court. Halstead and Harmount Co. v. Arick, (1904) 76 Conn. 382.

A provision in a contract postponing the final payment until 32 days after the work was entirely completed, and requiring payment only on sufficient evidence that all claims upon the building for work or materials were discharged, is not inconsistent with the existence of a right on the part of the contractor to secure the payment of his dues by claiming a lien. Poirier v. Desmond, (1900) 177 Mass. 201.

Although in Manitoba it has been held that a lien claimant who takes a promissory note for the amount of his claim and discounts it thereby forfeits his right to a lien (Arthbutnot & Co. v. Winnipeg Mfg. Co., 16 Man. L.R. 401) the weight of authority favors the view that a lien claimant does not waive his lien by taking and negotiating the owner's promissory note from the contractor. Coughlin v. National Construction Co., 14 B.C.R. 339; Gorman v. Archibald, 1 Alta. R. 524; Clarke v. Moore, 1 Alta. R. 49; Kendall v. Fader, 199 Ill. 294; Swanson v. Mollison, (1907) 6 W.L.R. 678 (Saskatchewan), in which case Stuart, J., questions the soundness of the view expressed in the Manitoba judgment, and says: "In Wallace on Mechanics' Liens, 1st ed., p. 150, there is the following note to the similar clause in the Ontario statute, 'After the note has been negotiated, the debt then becomes due to a third party, and the original creditor becomes guarantor of the payment of the debt. While the note is in the hands of the third party, no proceedings can be taken to enforce the lien. If the lien claimant pays the note, and is the holder of the note at the time he begins proceedings, the fact of his having negotiated the note will not take away his lien.' This paragraph seems to me to contain a much more reasonable principle than that contained in the Manitoba case." Rockel on Mechanics' Liens, (1909) also supports this view, in these words: "Some few courts have held that the taking of a note operates as a payment of the debt and waives the lien. But the great weight of authority now is that the taking of a note is neither a waiver of the lien nor a payment of the debt unless it is expressly agreed that it shall have that effect or there is a manifest intention that it shall so operate."

The lien is not waived by the acceptance of drafts by the debtor (Bradford Neill & Mahnke Const. Co., 76 Ill. App. 488) or by the taking of collateral security unless the parties so intended. Bryant v. Grady, 98 Me., 389; McLean v. Wiley, 176 Mass. 233; Frith v. Rehfeldt, 130 App. Div. (N.Y.) 326, affirmed 164 N.Y. 588; Sorg v. Crandall, 129 Ill. App. 255; affirmed Lowden v. Sorg, 233 Ill. 79. The general rule in the United States is that a note is not such a payment as will extinguish the lien unless it was so agreed. See Pollock Bros. v. Niall-Herin Co., (1911) 35 L.R.A. 13, and particularly cases cited at page 93 of that report. See also Moore v. Jacobs, 190 Mass. 424. The intention to waive the right to a lien by the taking of a note must be clearly established. Paddock v. Stout, 121 Ill. 571. Unless the note is paid it will not waive the right to a lien. Goble v. Gale, 41 Am. Dec. 219.

The fact that promissory notes have been accepted in payment, is not a waiver of the right of the sub-contractor to file a lien where the time of payment is not extended beyond the time within which an action must be commenced to enforce the lien. Landsberg & Co. v. Hein Construction Co., (1909) 135 App. Div. (N.Y.) 819.

Special provisions in Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada dealing with the taking of collateral security, must be followed.

The doctrine of estoppel is frequently invoked in connection with proceedings under the Mechanics' Lien Acts.

If, as is probable, the mechanics' lien should be considered as a charge or mortgage created upon his interest or estate by the "owner," the principle applied in the case of a mortgagor who acquires the legal estate after the making of the mortgage, would be applicable; the mortgagor is said to be estopped from denying his title.

The application of the principle of estoppel in such cases should, however, not be relied upon to too great an extent. The lien is purely statutory and is limited by the words of the statute. It extends only to the estate or interest of the "owner," that is, of the person who makes the contract, and it may well be argued that only the estate or interest at the time of the making of the contract is bound by the lien. This doctrine has been generally adopted in the United States. Phillips, sec. 74.

Fraud, misrepresentation or concealment will estop the owner of the fee from setting up his title in answer to the claims of the mechanic. He cannot take advantage of his own wrong to gain improvements on his property. So, where a purchaser takes a conveyance to his wife in order to defeat a lien, or purchases a property formerly owned by him and subject to a mechanics' lien, at a tax sale, the lien would be upheld. Hooker v. McGlone, 42 Conn. 95; Schwartz v. Saunders, 46 Ill. 18.

The conduct of a mortgagee may enable the principle of estoppel to be applied to him. If in a suit to establish a mechanics' lien as against a mortgagee from A. it appeared that A. had only an instantaneous seisin of the land on which the lien was claimed, yet it also appeared that A falsely represented to the lien claimant that he was the owner of the land and thereby induced the lien claimant to enter into the contract under which his lien was claimed and the mortgagee, when he took his mortgage, knew of the lien claimant's claim of lien and also of the false representation and inducement, whether the mortgagee as well as A would not be estopped from denying A's ownership of the land quære. Sprague v. Brown, (1901) 178 Mass. 597; Ready v. Pinkham, (1902) 181 Mass. 351.

If a person consents to another erecting a building on his land he will be estopped from denying a lien for materials furnished to the building (Hooker v. McGlone, 42 Conn. 95), and, on the other hand, if a party is induced to purchase property upon the representation of another that he has no lien thereon, such other is subsequently estopped from asserting a lien to the detriment of the party who has made such purchase. Heskins v. Hesley, (1909) 152 Ill. App. 141. Mechanics' Lien Acts in some of the Provinces of Canada require the written consent of the owner of the land before his interest can be made subject to liens filed for improvements made at the instance of the lessee, but under other Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada, if an owner of the land allows, without protest or notice, such improvements to be made by the lessee the interest of such owner becomes subject to the liens filed. Limoges v. Scratch, (1910) 44 S.C.R. 86. In Indiana it has been decided that an owner may not stand by without objection and see another in good faith improve and enhance the value of his property and retain these benefits without paying for them. Lengelsen v. McGregor, 162 Ind. 258.

If the true owner has so acted as to mislead a purchaser into the belief that the person dealing with the property had authority to do so, a good title is acquired by personal estoppel against the owner. Simmons v. London, (1892) A.C. 215. See Maple City Oil & Gas Co. v. Charlton & Ridgetown Fuel Supply Co., (1912) 22 O.W.R. 882.

If the true owner of property stands by and permits another to deal with it as owner, he will be estopped as against a purchaser for value. Estoppel does not require for its operation that the purchaser shall have acquired the legal estate; a change of his position on the faith of the misrepresentation is all that is essential. Ewart on Estoppel, 140. 263. Having been silent as to his alleged rights when he ought to have spoken, he should not be heard to speak when he ought to be silent. Morgan v. Railroad, (1877) 96 U.S. 720. But if he is not obliged to speak his silence may not work an estoppel. Billings Co. v. Brand, 187 Mass. 417; Bruce Lumber Co. v. Hoos, 67 Mo. App. 264.

As to the conclusiveness of a judgment, as between the plaintiff and one not a party nor privy, but who voluntarily conducted the defence, see Ludy v. Larsen, (1911) 78 N.J. Eq. 237.

A person who supplies materials and during the course of construction gives a receipt for payments which he had never received is estopped from claiming such amount against the owner under mechanics' lien proceedings. Coughlan v. National Construction Co., 14 B.C.R. 339.

If the true owner stands by while another is making a contract and encourages the builder to perform the same, his conduct will operate as an estoppel. Bastrup v. Prendergast, 179 Ill. 553.

In Alberta, a firm of sub-contractors claimed a lien for work done as against the owner, but it appeared that they had given the contractor receipts for money which he had received from the owner to pay them and had not paid them, the sub-contractors thereby leaving the owner to believe that they had been paid. In that belief, the owner made other payments to the contractor in excess of the work he did upon the building, and also made payments to another sub-contractor and lien-holder. In the circumstances, these sub-contractors were not entitled to enforce a lien against the owner's land though they had not been paid in full for the work done and materials furnished by them. Ringland v. Edwards, 19 W.L.R. 219.

A principal, who knowing that an agent with a limited authority is assuming to exercise a general authority, stands by and permits third persons to alter their position on the faith of the existence in fact of the pretended authority, cannot afterwards, against such third persons, dispute its existence. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, 11 B.C.R. 375.

If the owner holds a person out as having authority he will not be permitted subsequently to assert the contrary. Hough v. Collins, 70 Ill. App. 661. If an agent is vested with general authority, and such authority is subsequently sought to be limited by writing, notice of such subsequent limitation must be conveyed to third parties having dealings with the agent. In the absence of such notice the principal is estopped from setting up the limitation as against a third party acting bona fide. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, 11 B.C.R. 375.

A husband who as owner enters into a contract with a builder cannot subsequently claim that he was acting solely as agent for his wife. Sidney v. Morgan, 16 W.L.R. 123 (B.C.). See other cases cited under "Married Women's Property," ante, p. 51.

Whether authority has been conferred on an agent is a question of fact, and such authority may be inferred from the acts of recognition by the principal. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, 11 B.C.R. 375. There may be authority by estoppel. If A., has by words or conduct held out B., or enabled B., to hold himself out as having the authority of the former to act for him, A. is bound as regards third parties by the acts of B., to the same extent as A. would have been bound if B. had in fact had the authority which he was held out as having.

Any act or neglect of the lien claimant which induces a person to rely upon the non-existence of the lien, may defeat the lien by estoppel. Thus, where the holder of a mechanics' lien stated at a sale that there was no incumbrance on the estate and advised a party to buy it, who, relying on the statement, became the purchaser, the lien-holder cannot set up his lien. Hinchley v. Greany, (1875) 118 Mass. 595; Fowler v. Parsons, (1887) 143 Mass. 401. See also cases cited at p. 497, vol. 20, Am. & Eng. Ency. of Law, 2nd ed. A mechanics' lien can be enforced against the owner of a lot who knowingly suffers a verbal sale of it through an agent to a person and the erection of a building thereon by the purchaser pursuant to such sale. West v. Pullen, (1900) 88 Ill. App. 620. See on this question of estoppel, Sprague v. Brown, (1901) 178 Mass. 220; Saunders v. Bennett, (1893) 160 Mass. 48; and Angel v. Joy, (1911) 1 K.B. 666. It is not necessary to an equitable estoppel that the party should design to mislead.

By guaranteeing the performance of a building contract a sub-contractor estops himself from claiming a lien upon the building which was abandoned by the contractor and constructed by the owner (Frohlich v. Ashton, (1910) 164 Mich. 132), but there is no estoppel generally unless, without it, a wrong will result from the action of the party against whom the estoppel is sought. Hughes v. McCashland, 122 Ill. App. 365; Badger Lumber Co. v. Mulheback, 190 Mo. App. 646. W. & Co. having a contract to build an elevator, etc., for the defendants, purchased an engine and other machinery from plaintiffs on the terms that the ownership was not to pass until payment, which was to be cash on delivery, and that in case of default plaintiffs were to be at liberty to remove the machinery. Plaintiffs first took proceedings under the Mechanics' Lien Act to realize the amount of their claim, but abandoned them. In the present suit the plaintiffs asked that the defendants might be ordered to deliver up the machinery and to permit plaintiffs to remove it. Held, that plaintiffs were entitled to relief and were not estopped by having commenced proceedings under the Mechanics' Lien Act, as they had not gone on to judgment. Priestly v. Fernie, 3 H. & C. 977, distinguished (the parties there having gone to judgment); Vulcan Iron Co. v. Rapid City Co., (1894) 9 Man. R. 577 and 586.

In the absence of special legislation, if a person ignorant of the wife's interest contracts with the husband to build on the wife's land and the wife acquiesces she is estopped from setting up her rights against the lien. McCarthy v. Caldwell, 43 Minn. 442. See Greenleaf v. Beebe, 80 Ill. 552; Bevan v. Thackera, 143 Penn. 182. But there is no presumption that a husband is his wife's agent. Gillies v. Gibson, 7 W.L.R. 245.

A materialman who files a lien is not estopped by the fact that without bad faith he claimed more than was due him. Frohlich v. Ashton, (1909) 159 Mich. 265. The lien will not be defeated unless the excessive claim were made in bad faith. Schmalbach v. Caldwell, (1912) 196 Fed. 16; Vaughan v. Ford, (1910) 162 Mich. 37; Romanik v. Raporport, (1912) 148 App. Div. (N.Y.) 688. But where a claimant has filed a sworn statement fixing the date when he ceased work, he is estopped thereby, and cannot by a subsequent statement, fixing a later date, extend the time for claiming a lien. Canton Roll Co. v. Rolling Mills Co., (1907) 155 Fed. 321. A reduction in the amount of the claim will not render the lien void. Montjoy v. Heward School District, 10 W.L.R. 282.

Where the mistake in claiming an excessive amount is an honest one, the lien is not lost (Pioneer Mining Co. v. Delamotte, (1911) 185 Fed. 752), but a statement of lien grossly in excess of the amount actually due is not such "a just and true statement of account of the demand due" as is required by these words of the statute. Griff v. Clark, (1909) 155 Mich. 611. If the claimant knowingly files a claim for a larger amount than is due it is void. Hubbard v. Brown, 90 Mass. 590; Aeschlimann v. Presbyterian Hospital, 165 N.Y. 296; New Jersey Steel & Iron Co. v. Robinson, 85 App. Div. (N.Y.) 512 A mistaken statement that a mechanics' lien has been paid does not estop the lien claimant from subsequently enforcing it against one who bought the property in reliance on the statement, if it was made to him without any knowledge that he had any interest in the matter or any intention to buy the property. Kirchman v. Standard Coal Co., (1901) 52 L.R.A. 318.

As a general rule the lien only attaches upon the estate or interest of the owner at the time the work or service is performed or the materials furnished. If, however, an owner having an equitable estate subjects that estate to a mechanics' lien and afterwards acquires the fee simple or other larger estate, such larger estate will be subject to the lien. The owner may be estopped from setting up the subsequent purchase in answer to the claim of the lien-holder. Coleman v. Goodnow, 36 Minn. 9, 29 N.W. 338.

The certificate of an architect in a dispute between the building owner and the builder is no estoppel in an action by the building owner against the architect for negligence. Badgley v. Dickson, (1886) 13 O.A.R. 494; Rogers v. James, (1891) 8 Times L.R. 67.

In the absence of express enactment a plaintiff who resorts to one statutory remedy cannot obtain another judgment under the Mechanics' Lien Act for the same claim. Wake v. C.P.L. Co., (1901) 8 B.C.R. 358.

A common law lien against personalty may be lost by estoppel where its assertion would operate as a fraud on innocent parties. Howard v. Tucker, (1831) 1 B. & Ad. 712. Assertion of payment will operate as estoppel as against those who have acted on it. Pooley v. Budd, (1851) 7 E.L. & Eq. 229; Woodley v. Coventry, (1863) 32 L.J. Ex. 185. See also cases cited in chapter "Mechanics' Liens on Personal Property," post, at p. 152.

CHAPTER XI.

Priorities.

The statutory right to a mechanics' lien would be of little value if it did not involve the subordination to it of subsequent incumbrances or conveyances of the property. No rights subsequently accruing can affect the mechanics' lien once it attaches (American Mortgage Co. v. Merrick, 120 App. Div. (N.Y.) 150; Carew v. Stubbs, 155 Mass. 549), or any part of it (Collins v. Patch, 156 Mass. 317); and, on the other hand, no prior rights can be displaced by it. Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. L.R. 124; Kievell v. Murray, 2 Man. L.R. 129. When a conveyance is recorded prior to the commencement of the work or the placing of the materials the mechanic cannot have priority for his claim. He cannot acquire any greater interest than that which the owner possesses. An incumbrance so recorded has priority to the extent of its security and it cannot be affected injuriously by acts of the person creating the incumbrance.

Where an incumbrance is duly recorded delay in recording an assignment of it cannot affect the assignee's priority. Zehner v. Johnston, 22 Ind. App. 452. If the incumbrance or conveyance is not recorded until the mechanics' lien has attached, the lien has priority, but a mortgage recorded before the work is commenced, to secure future advances which are made to pay for work or materials, takes priority over mechanics' liens. Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. L.R. 124; Cook v. Belshaw, 23 O.R. 545.

A mortgage made in good faith will not lose its priority because of an omission of some technical matter in its execution (Payne v. Wilson, 74 N.Y. 348), although such advances are not made until after the work commences. As to questions of priority arising as against rival incumbrancers who may have been misled by error of registrar, see Gorman v. Archibald, 1 Alta. L.R. 524.

A lien for materials supplied as against a mortgage has priority over the mortgage only to the extent of the materials placed on the ground before the mortgage money was advanced. Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. L.R. 124. The first mortgagee having applied his last advance in payment of the purchase money of the lots to the unpaid vendor who then conveyed the land in fee to the defendant owner, and having thus secured the title to the property claimed to be entitled to be subrogated to the position of the original vendor in respect of such purchase money, but, having had actual notice of one of the liens and constructive notice of the other before making this payment, he could not have priority over either lien-holder for such advance. Robock v. Peters, supra.

The mechanic asserting his lien must show that he is entitled to priority before the same can be allowed. Davis v. Alford, 94 N.S. 545. A mortgage of the real estate of the defendant company was given by the directors to S, one of its directors, to secure him and his co-directors against their endorsements on the notes of the company, which had been made to raise money for the purposes of the company. This mortgage was recorded prior to the registration of a mechanics' lien. It was held that the mortgage was valid and that its prior registration must prevail over the lien of the mechanic. McDonald v. Consolidated Gold Lake Co., (1902) 40 N.S.R. 364.

A mere instantaneous seisin is insufficient to sustain the lien. See Owen v. Lynch, (1876) 2 R. & C. 406. Where a purchaser under an agreement creates a lien upon his interest, and afterwards receives a deed and immediately executes a mortgage to the vendor for the whole or part of the purchase money, such mortgage takes priority to the lien except, perhaps, as to the increased value. Ettridge v. Bassett, (1884) 136 Mass.

314; Saunders v. Bennet, (1893) 160 Mass. 48; Clark v. Butler, (1880) 32 N.J. Eq. 664. See also sub-sec. 3 of sec. 8, Ontario Mechanics' Lien Act, which act also contains a provision for the case where the conveyance has not been taken. Whether a seisin is instantaneous must depend upon all the facts and circumstances of the case. See Sprague v. Brown, (1901) 178 Mass. 220; Osborne v. Barnes, (1901) 179 Mass. 597; Ready v. Pinkham, (1902) 181 Mass. 351. See also chapter entitled "The Owner and his interest," ante.

Although the lien arises as soon as the work is commenced, or the materials have been placed or furnished, yet it actually takes its rank with other interests and incumbrances not solely according to the date at which it came into existence, but, in so far as the work or materials have increased the value of the land, in priority to other interests and incumbrances, though the latter be prior in point of time. High River Trading Co. v. Anderson, (1909) 10 W.L.R. 127. A mortgagee or vendor of land under an executory contract for sale cannot do anything to prejudice the vested statutory right of the lien-holder to a lien upon the property to the extent to which its value has been increased by the work or materials of the lien-holder. Ib., per Beck, J.

But the mere fact that materials had been furnished and placed upon the land by a lien claimant does not prove that the selling value of the property had been thereby increased. The onus of proving that the selling value of the land has been increased by the materials furnished is on the lien claimant, and unless it be shewn that the increased value of the land was due to the furnishing and placing of the material the claim of the materialman will not be given priority as against the mortgage. Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 316 (Sask.); Kennedy v. Haddow, 19 Ont. R. 240; Richards v. Chamberlain, 25 Grant 402; McVean v. Tiffin, 13 O.A.R. 4;

On a petition to establish a mechanic's lien, as in the case of dower, a mortgagee can take advantage of the doctrine of instantaneous seisin only where the mortgage was made to secure the purchase money, or some part of it. Libbey v. Tilden, (1906) 192 Mass. 175.

A mortgage, equitable or legal, has priority over a lien if registered before the lien, and a mortgagee is entitled to priority for all moneys advanced by him on the security of an equitable mortgage before the registration of a lien for materials, regardless of the fact that some of the material had been delivered and a lien accrued in respect thereof before some of the advances were made. Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 316 (Sask.). See Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. L.R. 124; West v. Sinclair, 12 C.L.T. 44, 23 C.L.J. 119. "Notice cannot affect the question of priority. Where a lien-holder has not registered his lien the mortgagee need not hesitate to advance money legitimately under his mortgage, because possibly the lien-holder might thereafter register his lien." Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 316 Cf.; Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. L.R. 129; West v. Sinclair, 23 C.L.J. 109, 12 C.L.T. 44.

If a judgment becomes a lien during the period within which a mechanic can perfect his right it will not take priority of the mechanics' lien. In re Bitner's Estate, 196 Pa. 90.

Though a mechanic's lien was subject to a prior mortgage on the land, upon the release of a part of the land from the mortgage, the lien was left in full force on such part. Davidson v. Stewart, (1909) 200 Mass. 393.

Where a chattel mortgage is given on personal property which afterwards becomes a fixture and a part of the real estate, a mechanics' lien attaching to the real estate will have priority over the chattel mortgage. Currier v. Cummings, 40 N.J. Eq. 145.

An attachment takes priority over a mechanics' lien arising subsequent to the date of the attachment, but an attachment or execution, to have priority, must be levied on the property before the right to a mechanics' lien attaches. First National Bank v. Redman, 57 Maine 405.

The right to priority is dependent on statutory provisions, but, in the absence of such provisions the fact that the holder of the incumbrance knew that improvements were being placed on the incumbered property would not oblige him to give notice disclaiming responsibility. Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, 4 Sask. L.R. 103, 16 W.L.R. 316; Interstate Building & Loan Association v. Ayers, 177 Ill. 9. The mechanic should inform himself concerning existing recorded incumbrances. In the absence of express statutory provision any improvement placed upon incumbered land would be subject to the existing incumbrance. But Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada provide that mechanics' liens for work done or materials furnished for incumbered realty shall take priority over the incumbrance to the extent of the increased value so given to the property.

When, after the lien has attached to several distinct buildings constructed under an entire contract, the owner has sold one or more, the equities which then arise between the owners of the several buildings may be worked out upon the principles applied where part of a property subject to a mortgage is sold and the mortgagee seeks to enforce his remedy against both parcels. Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, 22 O.L.R. 17.

A mortgage subsequent in point of time takes priority over an unregistered lien. Cook v. Belshaw, (1893) 23 O.R. 545. A mortgagee for future advances is also protected to the extent of all advances made before registry of the lien and before he had actual notice of the lien. Under the Saskatchewan Lien Act, in construing a provision similar to one in the Ontario Act, it has been held that notice of an unregistered lien will not affect the question of priority of the mortgagee for future advances. Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 316. It has also been held that a mortgage subsequent to a lien but given for the purpose of paying off a prior incumbrance will be protected to the extent of such prior incumbrances. Locke v. Locke, (1898) 32 C.L.J. 332. In Massachusetts, under a similar provision, it has been held that a mortgagee, under a mortgage given to pay off existing mortgages, even to himself, acquires no rights under them. Batchelder v. Hutchinson, (1894) 161 Mass. 462; Easton v. Brown, (1898) 170 Mass. 311. See Colonial Investment & Loan Co. v. McCrimmon, (1905) 5 O.W.R. 315.

A lien-holder if he wishes to preserve his lien as against subsequent purchasers and mortgagees, who registered their conveyances, must register his lien (McVean v. Tiffin, 13 O.A.R. 1; Reinhart v. Shutt, (1888) 15 O.R. 325; Wanty v. Robins, (1888) 15 O.R. 474), but a subsequent purchaser or mortgagee who registers his conveyance does not gain priority if at the time of the payment of his purchase money and registering his conveyance he had actual notice and knowledge of the prior claim of the lien-holder. Rose v. Peterkin, 13 S.C.R. 677.

If one contemplates the purchase of certain land and having agreed in writing with the owner of the land to build a house on it makes an oral contract with a mechanic to construct the cellar of the house and the mechanic proceeds to dig the cellar with the knowledge and consent of the owner of the land, and if shortly thereafter the owner sells and conveys the land to the contemplated purchaser who employed the mechanic, and takes a mortgage back, the mechanic can enforce a lien upon the property for the labor and materials furnished by him in constructing the cellar which will be good against the mortgage. McCormack v. Rutland, (1906) 191 Mass. 424.

A lien to be prior to a mortgage must be registered before the mortgage. Reinhart v. Shutt, 15 O.R. 325. Where the mortgagees take their mortgage on the security of a house which was being erected by certain contractors the mortgagees were held not entitled to priority over the contractor's lien. Alslip v. Robinson, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 39 (Man.).

A mortgage given to secure future advances to be paid as the building progresses is a prior lien for claims for materials used in the construction of the building for the full amount advanced. Cook v. Belshaw, 23 Ont. R. 545; Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. R. 124; Reed v. Rochford, 62 N.J. Eq. 186; Lipman v. Jackson, 128 N.Y. 58. But such mortgage to take priority must be recorded before the lien right has attached. Young v. Haight, 69 N.J.L. 453.

If the mortgage is given before the time that the law provides that the lien right shall attach to the property it takes priority over the right of the mechanic. Robock v. Peters, 13 Man. R. 124; Kievell v. Murray, 2 Man. R. 209.

A liquidator represents no higher claim than that of the insolvent company; therefore, liens registered within the statutory time for materials supplied and for work done, prior to the service of a petition to wind up the company, are to be paid in priority to ordinary creditors. Re Clinton Thresher Co., (1910) 15 O.W.R. 318.

Where a building was commenced before the execution of a mortgage, valid lien claims have priority over the mortgage. Federal Trust Co. v. Guigues, (1909) 76 N.J. Eq. 495.

A conveyance of the property made after the right to liens has attached is made subject to these liens. American Mortgage Co. v. Merrick Const. Co., 120 App. Div. N.Y. 150.

The fact that the building is by the terms of the lease to become the property of the lessor is ground for charging his estate with the amounts owing to lien-holders. High River Trading Co. v. Anderson, (1909) 10 W.L.R. 126.

If the earliest item of a mechanics' lien is a date subsequent to the date of an attachment, the attachment has priority over the mechanics' lien. First Nat. Bank of Salem v. Redman, 57 Maine 505.

In a proceeding to enforce a mechanics' lien for labor and materials furnished in the construction of a building, where the evidence shows that the contract between the contractor and the builder was entered into prior to the acquisition of title to the property by the builder, and that subsequently the builder acquired title to the property and at the same time executed a mortgage thereon, but that such mortgage was executed to obtain money for the construction of the building and not to pay the purchase money, the mechanics' lien of the contractor will be held to be prior to the lien of the mortgage, notwithstanding the doctrine of instantaneous seizin, as the deed to the builder and the mortgage by the builder were separate transactions consummated at one time, and not merely component parts of one transaction. Libbey v. Tidden, 192 Mass. 175. See Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas., vol. 7, p. 617.

As Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada fix the time when the lien attaches the question of priority between a recorded incumbrance and a mechanics' lien is not a difficult one. The onus is on the mechanic to show priority. Davis v. Alford, 94 U.S. 545. If the contract between the vendor and vendee required the erection of the building, the mechanics' lien will be given priority. Rockel, s. 163; Henderson v. Connelly, 123 Ill. 98.

Where a mortgage is given simultaneously with a deed for the property to secure the unpaid purchase price, such mortgage is prior to a mechanics' lien for work or materials furnished under a contract with a vendee in possession prior to the execution of the mortgage. Osborne v. Barnes, 179 Mass. 597. Where a building was commenced before the execution of a mortgage on the property, lien claims have priority over the mortgage. Federal Trust Co. v. Guigues, (1909) 76 N.J. Eq. 495. The claims of wage-earners are given priority to a limited extent over all other lien claimants. Other lien claimants who register their claims within the statutory period share equally. The statute determines the priority of liens, and the legislation in force at the time the obligation becomes fixed must control.

The right to dower or curtesy, if existing at the time the lien attaches, takes priority over a mechanics' lien for work done or materials placed upon property under contract with the person owning the fee. Gove v. Cather, 23 Ill. 585; 76 Am. Dec. 711; Mark v. Murphy, 76 Ind. 535; Buser v. Shepard, 107 Ind. 417.

By statutory provision taxes are entitled to payment prior to a mechanics' lien.

The appointment of a receiver does not divest the property of prior existing liens, but affects them only in the manner and time of their enforcement. While the property is in the possession of the receiver the right to enforce the lien is suspended, because the property is in the custody and control of the Court. Randall v. Wagner Glass Co., (1910) 47 Ind. App. 439; Beach on Receivers, 2nd ed., 194.

In a case under the Manitoba Act (In re Empire Brewing & Malting Co., (1891) 8 Man. L.R. 424), proceedings had been taken to enforce a mechanics' lien after a winding-up order had been made. On an application to stay the proceedings it was held by Taylor, C.J., that the lien was not created by the taking of proceedings, but prior to that time, and prior to the winding-up, and that the proceedings could not be stayed. In another case, under the British Columbia Act (Re Ibex Mining and Development Co., (1902) 9 B.C.R. 557), mechanics' liens had been filed against the property of a company, and judgment recovered in respect to them in the County Court. On the same day as the judgment, a winding order was made in the Supreme Court. Subsequently the liquidator obtained an order authorizing him to give a first charge on the property of the company in order to raise money to take out certain Crown grants of property to which the company was entitled. The lien-holders had no notice of the application and did not appear on the hearing. They did not appeal from the order, but applied for leave to enforce their judgment in priority to the charge created by the liquidator under the order of court. Held, that the order made on the application of the liquidator was made without jurisdiction, and the lien-holders were not bound by it.

Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada give a lien to the mechanic on mortgaged land where the selling value of the land is increased by the work or service. This lien attaches upon such increased value in priority to the mortgage or other charge. Unless the selling value of the property had been increased the lien has no priority over the mortgage. Kennedy v. Haddow, (1890) 19 O.R. 240. See Cole v. Pearson, 17 O.L.R. 46; Farrel v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130, and cases cited under sections 8 and 15 of the Ontario Act, post.

CHAPTER XII.

Computing the Statutory Time.

The performance of the work or the supplying of the materials gives merely a right to acquire a lien; the statute prescribes the steps necessary to perfect it.

The function of the statement required to be filed in the registry of deeds within a certain time after the person claiming the lien has ceased to labor or to furnish labor and materials is merely to preserve the right to lien already in existence, which otherwise would expire. Devine v. Clark, (1908) 198 Mass. 56.

The time limited for the registration of claims for liens does not commence to run until there has been such performance of the contract as would entitle the contractor to maintain an action for the whole amount due thereunder. Day v. Crown Grain Co., (1907) 39 S.C.R. 258.

Even if there is only some touching-up work to do, and whether much or little, if it be a part of the work necessary under the contract, the statutory time is to be calculated from the completion of such work. Fuller v. Beach, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 391 (B.C.).

Where any additional work essential to the completion of the contract is required to be done the statutory time is calculated from the date when the additional work is done. If the agreement between the contractor and the materialman is that the latter is to furnish all material for the building without any specific quantity being designated and such material is delivered to the contractor from time to time the time for filing a claim begins to run from the last delivery. Smalley v. Gearing, 121 Mich. 190.

The calculation of the time is affected by the question whether it is necessary to test the work or machinery in order to certify that the contract has been completed. Day v. Crown Grain Co., (1907) 39 S.C.R. 258; Jeffersonville Water Supply Co. v. Riter, 138 Ind. 170.

The time for registering the lien should be calculated from the date when the work under the contract was completed or the materials furnished and placed, and the time cannot be extended by work done or materials furnished thereafter. Summers v. Beard, (1894) 24 O.R. 641; Renney v. Dempster, 19 O.W.R. 644; Woodruff v. Hovey, 91 Maine 116; Miller v. Wilkinson, 167 Mass. 136; Stenerwald v. Gill, 85 App. Div. (N.Y.) 605.

Plaintiffs had contracted to supply the hardware for use in the construction of a building, and the last delivery upon which they relied for preservation of their lien—the registry of the claim of lien being within thirty days of that delivery, but more than thirty days after the last previous delivery of materials—was of certain bolts, of trifling value and used for a temporary or experimental purpose only, it was held that these articles were not furnished in such manner as to enable the plaintiffs to claim a lien for their price upon the land of the owners, and so the whole claim failed. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., 22 O.L.R. 176.

But where sub-contractors acting in good faith consider that their work is completed, but upon a test additional work is found necessary, which additional work is done as soon as practicable, this additional work being substantial, and not being done to remedy slight defects, the time for registering their lien can be computed from the completion of this additional work. Whimster v. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., (1910) 13 W.L.R. 621. On the other hand, where the work consists of different jobs all in one line of business, but ordered at different times, a mechanic is not required to file a lien after completing each piece of work. It is sufficient if he files his lien after he has completed all of his work. Carroll v. McVicar, (1905) 15 Man. L.R. 379. Where a contract is made for materials to be delivered from time to time as required in the repairs of buildings, and the material is furnished as orders are received, each order is not an independent contract. Premier Steel Co. v. McElwaine Richards Co., 144 Ind. 614.

Under a contract made with the railway company for the erection of a building, the work was to be done to the entire satisfaction of certain architects. The plaintiffs, who were subcontractors for a part of the building, ceased work on May 20th, under the belief that their contract was completed, and their secretary-treasurer, on June 8th, made an affidavit stating such to be the fact, with a view of having a lien registered, which was done on June 24th. The architects, however, were not satisfied and required further work to be done, and this was accordingly done in June, and again in August, and it was not until August 4th that the architects were satisfied and accepted the work. Held, that the architects being the persons to determine when the work was completed, it was not completed until they had signified their approval, and, therefore, the lien was registered in time. Vokes Hardware Co. v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 12 O.L.R. 344.

If there are separate contracts the notice for each must be within the time limit of each, but this, of course, would not apply if the job were one continuous contract. Morris v. Tharle, 24 O.R. 159; Re Moorehouse, 13 O.R. 290; Hooven, etc., Co. v. John Featherstone's Sons, 111 Fed. 81. The general principle applicable to a running account will ordinarily be applied to cases of materials supplied by a lien claimant. When one item is connected with another in the sense of a running account and the dealing is intended to be continuous, so that one item if not paid shall be united with another and form one entire demand, the time for filing a lien runs from the date of the things last supplied. Morris v. Tharle, supra.

The doing of work or supplying of materials, even of a trivial character, should be taken into consideration in determining the date from which the statutory time should be calculated if the work was done or materials supplied, in good faith, to complete the contract, and not colorably to revive the lien. Sayward v. Dunsmir, 11 B.C.R. 375; Steinman v. Zoscuk, 4 W.L.R. 575; Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405.

Where a plumber agreed in a single written document to install plumbing and heating apparatus in each of two houses situated on two adjoining lots, for the sum of $620 for each house, it was held that the contract contained two severable or divisible promises, one in respect to each house. The work in connection with the house on lot No. 30 was completed on July 29th, 1908, and that in connection with the house on lot No. 29 on June 15th, 1909; the sewer connections from both houses were joined in a line between the two lots. A lien filed against both lots on February 1st, 1909, in respect of the whole contract price for the two houses was too late to preserve the lien against lot 30. A. Lee Co. v. Hill, 2 Alta. R. 368.

As to right to take different contracts to perform labor or furnish material for the purpose of extending time, see Valley Lumber & Mfg. Co. v. Driessel, (1907) 15 L.R.A. 299. If the claimant has delayed completion, in order to give the owner time to arrange for payment, by arrangement with the owner, and work is then done to keep the lien alive, the owner having accepted the benefit of the delay and the work being necessary, the date of completion of such work will be taken as the date upon which the claimant has ceased to work. Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 49.

Parties cannot by afterthought and subterfuge extend the statutory time for filing a statement of lien so as to prejudice others. Renney v. Dempster, 19 O.W.R. 644; Badger Lumber Co. v. Parker, (1911) 35 L.R.A. 901. The question whether labor and material furnished within the statutory period, but after the contract had been substantially completed, were in good faith and for the purpose of completing the contract or colorably to revive the lien, is a question of fact. Turner v. Wentworth, 119 Mass. 459. As to futile effort of sub-contractor to create a lien by attempting to do some additional work ostensibly under his contract after the time limit had expired, see Sheritt v. McCallum, (1910) 12 W.L.R. 637.

The time cannot be extended by the doing of trifling work. Sulzer v. Vogt Mach. Co. v. Rushville Water Co., 160 Ind. 202.

The time for filing a claim for lien cannot be extended by sending new material to replace alleged defective material formerly delivered and used in the completed building, which new material was not suited for the purpose and was rejected. Snitzler v. Filer, (1907) 135 Ill. App. 61. After full delivery under a building contract, an agreement to extend the time for filing a claim for lien is ineffective. Ib.

The time for filing liens is to be reckoned from the date of performance of the latest work under the contract, regardless of acceptance or occupation by the owner. St. Louis N. Stock Yards v. O'Reilly, 85 Ill. 546.

The time for filing a lien for material furnished to a contractor cannot be computed from the date of the last item in the claimant's account unless such item was the subject of a lien. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Co., 22 O.L.R. 176; Ludlam-Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, 19 O.L.R. 419. If materials are furnished for several buildings under one contract the time will begin to run on either building from the last item furnished Premier Steel Co. v. McElwaine-Richard Co., 144 Ind. 614. A lien which does not cover all the items set forth in the claim because all are not within the time limit, will be good as to those which are within the time limit. Steeves v. Sinclair, 171 N.Y. 676.

In dealing with the claim of the materialman the statutory time limit for registration is calculated from the date when the last material furnished by the claimant had been placed upon the land or used in the construction of the building.

Notice of a mechanic's lien is filed in time if filed within the statutory time for furnishing the last of several lots of material ordered and furnished at different times, where they are all supplied under one contract. Randall v. Wagner Glass Co., (1910) 47 Ind. App. 439.

Materials furnished after the work is completed will not keep the lien alive so as to prejudice others. Renney v. Dempster, (1911) 19 O.W.R. 644. Schaller-Hoerr Co. v. Gentile, (1910) 153 Ill. App. 458. Where work or material is in good faith furnished at the request and with the knowledge of the owner to remedy defects in the original work this is sufficient to establish a new period from which the statutory time limit is to be computed, but where the work contracted for is completed according to contract, as the contractor believes, but he later discovers defects and voluntarily undertakes without authority from the owner after the time for completing the contract has expired to remedy the trouble, it is generally held that such work would not extend the time for filing. See Naucolas v. Hitaffer, (1907) 12 L.R.A. 864.

While there might be an interval of delay so great and unreasonable as to justify a Court in holding as matter of law that a lien had been lost by reason of such great delay, yet if the sworn statement of a mechanic's lien is filed within the statutory time after the claimant has ceased to labor, and if the last item of labor were performed in good faith under the claimant's contract the lien is none the less valid because before the work named in the last items was done, no work had been done by the claimant for about 34 days, and before the last work was done the houses on which the lien is claimed appeared to be completed, and were purchased by their present owner without knowledge of any lien. Billings Co. v. Brand, (1905) 187 Mass. 417.

The words "the last material" in a statute providing that "a claim for lien for materials may be registered before or during the furnishing or placing thereof, or within thirty days after the furnishing or placing of the last material so furnished and placed," mean the last material furnished by the materialman under his contract, where there is a distinct contract; and where he furnishes materials outside of his contract, the time for registering his claim for lien in respect of the material supplied under the contract begins to run from the time of the last delivery of material under the contract, without regard to the time of delivery of material outside of the contract. Rathbone v. Michael, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 428.

In computing the statutory period in relation to filing a lien fractions of a day will not be counted.

As to the law relating to the question "when the last day falls on Sunday," see Holmested's book on the subject. Also article by Gorman, K.C., 48 C.L.J. 281. "Day" means the twenty-four fours from midnight to midnight. Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405.

The time of the filing of the lien determines the law to be applied. Montjoy v. Heward School Dist., 10 W.L.R. 282 (Sask.).

CHAPTER XIII.

DAMAGES.

The contractor is not entitled to a lien merely because he has performed work or service; such work or service must be performed under a definite contract, or something in the nature of a contract. If, therefore, a contractor is wrongfully prevented by the owner from fully performing his contract he has no lien for damages caused thereby, although he has a right of action for such damages.

The lien does not extend to unliquidated damages due to the contractor by the owner on account of the violation of the terms of the contract. Damages suffered by a contractor by reason of his being improperly deprived of his contract cannot be claimed in a proceeding under the Mechanics' Lien Act nor can such damages be a lien on the lands. Seaman v. Canadian Stewart Co., 18 O.W.R. 56; Hoyt v. Miner, 7 Hill (N.Y.). As to measure of damages recoverable by owner under a counterclaim for certain material not furnished by a contractor, see Woolf v. Schaefer, (1905) 103 App. Div. (N.Y.) 567.

The lien is restricted by the statute to the labor performed and materials furnished. Loss of profits or damages for breach of contract in refusing to allow the contractor to perform cannot be the subject of a lien. O'Rielly v. Mahoney, (1908) 123 App. Div. (N.Y.) 275.

The owner is not entitled to recover damages from the contractor for loss of the rental value of the property and for deterioration thereof which he claims resulted from failure to deliver certain articles. Woolf v. Schaefer, (1905) 103 App. Div. (N.Y.) 567. If a building contract provides a sum as liquidated damages in the event of failure to complete work and give complete possession within stipulated time and the contractor fails to complete work within the time and the liquidated damages exceed the amount that would otherwise be due the contractor, there is no sum "justly owing" or "payable" by the owner to the contractor, and a materialman cannot succeed in an action.

Damages resulting from the default of the contractor can always be set up as a defence (Taylor v. Murphy, 148 Pa. 337; Heberlein v. Wendt, 99 Ill. App. 506), except to the claim of the wage-earner. Farrell v. Gallagher, 23 O.L.R. 130; McManus v. Rothschild, 25 O.L.R. 138. The fact that materials were received at the building will not prevent an owner from claiming damages if they were defective. Strawn v. Cogswell, 28 Ill. 457. Consequential damages resulting from a breach of the contract will not give a lien, and if a contractor be wrongfully discharged the damages to which he would be entitled would be the amount coming to him on the footing of the contract if he had been allowed to complete the work. Farrell v. Gallagher, 23 O.L.R. 130. See Watrous v. Davies, 35 Ill. App. 542; Landyskowski v. Martyn, 93 Mich. 575; Thomas v. Stewart, 132 N.Y. 580.

Where liquidated damages are specified in the event of the contract not being completed, the owner can retain such sum even as against sub-contractors (McBean v. Kinnear, 23 Ont. R. 313; Julin v. Ristow Pottes Mfg. Co., 54 Ill. App. 460), but not as against wage-earners. Farrell v. Gallagher, 23 O.L.R. 130; McManus v. Rothschild, 25 O.L.R. 138. In a suit by a sub-contractor to enforce a lien against the owner of the building the owner may off-set any actual damages which he has sustained caused by the contractor's failure to complete the building in time, provided that the damages are such as may be said to have been in contemplation of the parties when the contract was made. Fossett v. Rock Island Lumber Co., (1907) 14 L.R.A. 918. If the work is not completed owing to the default of the owner the contractor has a lien for the work performed. Smith v. Norris, 120 Mass. 58.

Deduction by way of damages was not allowed when there had been delay by the contractor, the lien-holder not being the contractor and the onus being on the owner to show that contractor should not have been given an extension of time. Lundy v. Henderson, 9 W.L.R. 327.

So long as only the rights of the owner and prineipal contractor are to be considered, damages resulting from the default of the contractor can always be set up as a defence. Taylor v. Murphy, 148 Pa. 337.

If the owner rescinds the contract before any work is done no right to a lien will exist, the contractor's remedy being an action for breach of contract. Horr v. Slairk, 35 Ill. App. 140.

A sub-contractor cannot acquire a lien on a elaim for unliquidated damages. Mayer v. Mutchler, 50 N.J.L. 162; Miner v. Hoyt, 4 Hill (N.Y.) 193.

Loss of probable rentals from houses in course of construction, because of the contractor's delay in completing, can be allowed to the owner in abatement of the priee only when a time has been specified for doing the work or after the owner is given notice to proceed with it. Elford v. Thompson, (1912) 1 D.L.R. 1, 19 W.L.R. 809.

Compensation for expense incurred by owner, where there was delay in completion of work, will be refused, unless suffieient excuse is shown by owner for incurring the expense. Brown Construction Co. v. Bannatyne School District Corporation, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 827 (Man.).

The lien is restricted by the terms of the statute to the labor performed and materials furnished. Loss of profits or damages for breach of contract in refusing to allow the contractor to perform cannot be the subject of a lien. O'Rielly v. Mahoney, (1908) 123 App. Div. 275.

Damages suffered by a contractor by reason of his being improperly deprived of his contract cannot be elaimed in a proceeding under the Mechanics' Lien Aet, nor ean sueh damages entitle a elaimant to a lien on the land. Seaman v. Canadian Stewart Co., 18 O.W.R. 56, 2 O.W.N. 576.

The ordering of extras does not neeessarily put the parties at large and deprive the owner of his right to liquidated damages. See Grace v. Osler, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 627, 19 W.L.R. 109, 326.

CHAPTER XIV.

Mechanics' Liens on Personal Property.

Their Nature and Scope.

There are two species of lien known to the common law, namely, particular liens and general liens. A particular lien attaches to property to secure a debt relating to that property.

Particular liens exist where persons have the right to retain goods in respect to labor or money expended upon them, and these liens are favored in law. Houghton v. Matthews, (1803) 3 B. & P. 485. "As between debtor and creditor, the doctrine of lien is so equitable that it cannot be favored too much." Best, C.J., in Jacobs v. Latour, (1828) 5 Bing. 132. All such specific liens being consistent with the principle of natural equity are favored by the law, which is construed liberally in such cases. Scarfe v. Morgan, (1838) 4 M. & W. 283, per Parke, B.

General liens attach to property to secure a general balance of account due from the owner to the possessor, whether in respect to that property or not. Anglo-Italian Bank v. Davies, L.R. 9 Ch. D. 289. General liens are founded on custom only, and are therefore to be taken strictly. Houghton v. Matthews, (1803) 3 B. & P. 494; Bock v. Gorrissen, (1860) 2 De G. F. & J. 443. The liens of bankers, factors, attorneys and wharfingers are general liens.

By the general custom of trade an artisan may have a lien for his general balance (Saville v. Barchard, (1801) 4 Esp. 53), but ordinarily a mechanic has no lien to secure a general balance due him (Cumpston v. Haigh, (1836) 2 Bing. N.C. 449; Lilley v. Barnsley, (1844) 1 C. & K. 344), particularly where, as in Canada, there would usually be no custom of trade creating a general lien for any class of artisans. See distinction between particular and general liens,—Blackburn v. MacDonald, 6 U.C.C.P. 380.

The lien exists whether a price be specified in the contract or not (Chase v. Westmore, 5 M. & S. 180; Townsend v. Newell, 14 Pick. 332), or whether the lien claimant does the work himself, or in his own shop, or employs an outside mechanic to do the work for him (Webber v. Cogswell, 2 R. & C. 47, 2 Can. S.C.R. 15), but a mere employee of the mechanic or contractor can have no lien on the chattel. Hollingsworth v. Dow, 19 Pick. 228; Meyers v. Bratispiece, 174 Pa. 119. A servant has no lien upon the personal property of his employer, because his possession is not in his own right but in the right of his employer. Fitzgerald v. Elliott, 162 Pa. 118. See King v. Indian Orchard Co., 11 Cush. 231; Shaw v. Kaler, 106 Mass. 448; State v. Goll, 32 N.J.L. 285. A packer has a lien upon the goods packed for the work done. Hayward v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 32 U.C.Q.B. 392.

It is one of the characteristics of the common law liens such as a mechanics' lien on a chattel as distinguished from liens created by contract or by statute, that the former over-ride all other rights in the property to which they attach and the latter are subordinate to all prior existing rights therein. White v. Smith, (1882) 44 N.J.L. 105.

A mechanics' lien is a particular or specific lien which confers upon a mechanic who has bestowed labor, skill or expense upon or in respect of the chattel of another, the right to retain the chattel for his reasonable charges until they are satisfied. The work done must be authorized expressly or impliedly by the owner of the chattel. Bleaden v. Hancock, (1829) 4 C. & P. 152; Hammonds v. Barclay, (1802) 2 East 235; Chase v. Westmore, (1816) 5 M. & S. 180; Bevan v. Waters, Moo. and Malk. 236; Franklin v. Hosier, (1821) 4 B. & Ald. 341; Busfield v. Wheeler, (1867) 14 Allen (Mass.) 139. As to authority implied from circumstances, see White v. Smith, (1882) 44 N.J.L. 105.

This lien extends to all labor and materials expended upon the chattel, and to all the goods included in the contract, although delivered to the mechanic in different parcels and at different times, so long as there is an entire contract. Chase v. Westmore, (1816) 5 M. & S. 180; Blake v. Nicholson, (1814) 3 M. & S. 167; Saunderson v. Bell, (1834) 2 Cr. & M. 304; Morgan v. Congdon, (1851) 4 N.Y. 552. This principle would not apply where there are distinct contracts (Marks v. Lahee, (1837) 3 Bing. N.C. 408), but where there is an entire contract for a certain sum to make or repair several articles, the lien rests on one or two articles in the possession of the lien claimant, not only for their proportionate part of repairing the whole, but for the amount due for labor on all the articles. Hensel v. Noble, 95 Penn. St. 345; Blake v. Nicholson, (1814) 3 M. & S. 167.

This lien has been extended so as to include all money expended in the preparation of the means of doing the work. Conrow v. Little, (1889) 115 N.Y. 387, 393; Busfield v. Wheeler, (1867) 14 Allen (Mass.) 139. In Conrow v. Little, (1889) 115 N.Y. 387, the lien claimants were a printing firm and had only executed a small portion of work upon a large quantity of paper supplied them, when through the owner's default the completion of the work was prevented. Danforth, J., in delivering the judgment of the court, said, in referring to the lien of the claimants: "It attached the moment the paper came into the possession of the defendants for the purpose of having work done upon it, and remains good until discharged by payment, not only for labor literally expended upon the paper itself, as by printing, but for any act done or labor performed or money expended in the preparation of instrumentalities by which that labor was to be performed, as types, cuts, illustrations, electrotypes and other things of like nature and object." But see judgment of Harrison, C.J., in Gurney v. MacKay, (1875) 37 U.C.Q.B., at p. 336.

The lien extends only to the principal chattels placed in the mechanic's hands to be worked up and not to the accessorial materials which may have been furnished by the employer and left upon the premises of the mechanic unused. Addison on Contracts, 11th ed. 888; Cumpston v. Haigh, (1836) 2 Sc. 684, 5 L.J.C.P. 99. An unliquidated claim will support a lien. McFatridge v. Holstead, 21 N.S.R. 325. A carriage builder who constructs a stationary top for a wagon and fastens the same with bolts and nuts, has a lien on the whole structure. Hardisty v. Carnell, (1899) 40 N.S.R. 214.

The lien law leaves the question of trade fixtures where it finds it. Coddington v. Dry Dock Co., (1863) 31 N.J.L. 477. "Trade fixtures" are personalty and the security of the mechanic who constructs them is in the enforcement of his lien upon the chattel. Carroll v. Shooting the Chutes Co., (1900) 85 Mo. App. 563.

The Mechanics' Lien Acts existing in various provinces in Canada contain provisions which deal with liens on personalty and are intended to give an effectual remedy for the enforcement of the lien. These provisions do not create the lien, as the lien always existed, not only under the civil law (Belleau v. Pitou, 13 Quebec L.R. 337), but also at common law. Chase v. Westmore, (1816) 5 M. & S. 180; Ex p. Willoughby, (1881) L.R. 16 Ch. D. 604. This lien attaches for the whole amount of indebtedness to any part of the goods remaining in possession of the lienor. Blake v. Nicholson, (1814) 3 M. & S. 167.

The Mechanics' Lien Acts give the additional right of sale to the lien-holder. Under the common law the mechanic already had the right to retain the chattel in his possession until his claim was satisfied, but there was no efficient method of enforcing the lien, as he did not have the right to sell the chattel, there being in that respect a distinction between a mechanics' lien and an express pawn or pledge of goods by the owner, as collateral security for a loan of money, as the creditor might sell the pledge in the latter case. Mulliner v. Florence, (1878) L.R., 3 Q.B.D. 484; Donald v. Suckling, (1866) L.R. 1 Q.B. at p. 612; Doane v. Russell, (1855) 3 Gray (Mass.) 382; Folsom v. Barrett, (1902) 180 Mass. 439.

Essentials of the Lien.

To establish the lien at common law there must be,—

(a) A debt arising by implication of law out of a contract between the mechanic and the owner of the chattel (Hiscox v. Greenwood, (1801) 4 Esp. 174), by the performance of which the mechanic bestows labor, skill or expense upon the article. Sawyer v. Longford, (1848) 2 C. & K. 697; Keys v. Harwood, (1846) 2 C.B. 905; Chase v. Westmore, (1816) 5 M. & S. 180; Belleau v. Pitou, 13 Quebec L.R. 337; Marks v. Lahee, (1837) 3 Bing. N.C. 408; Jackson v. Cummins, (1839) 5 M. & W. 342; Scarfe v. Morgan, (1838) 4 M. & W. 270. The debt itself must be actually due. Crawshay v. Hombray, (1820) 4 B. & Ald. 50; Wehner v. Dene Shipping Co., (1905) 2 K.B. 92, 101. Several of the above cases seem to hold, and some of the legal writers on this subject apparently conclude, that it is essential to the maintenance of the lien that the labor and skill bestowed on the chattel should actually add value to it. But such a proposition, perhaps, should not be accepted as absolute and inflexible. An owner might employ a mechanic to alter a chattel, although the alteration required would not add value to the article and might in fact lessen its value except in the opinion of the owner. But if the work is performed according to an agreement with the owner, the lien claimant should not be deprived of a lien because in carrying out the instructions of the owner and as a result of doing so the article was perhaps rendered less valuable than before. The rule therefore should, perhaps, be stated in some form as that the labor and skill of the mechanic must impart additional value to the chattel or be intended by the owner to have that effect. Section 51, post, which empowers the mechanic to sell the chattel recognizes his right to a lien where his work has been done on the thing "for the purpose of imparting an additional value to it."

The work on the chattel must be expressly or impliedly authorized by the owner of the chattel. Hollis v. Claridge, (1813) 4 Taunt. 807; Castellain v. Thompson, (1862) 13 C.B. N.S. 105; 32 L.J.C.P. 79; Small v. Robinson, (1879) 69 Me. 425; 31 Am. Rep. 299. While the work on the chattel must be done under contract, the authority of the owner to do the work will be implied from circumstances which would not raise an implication of a contract by the owner to pay the charges to be enforced by a suit against him, as where a wife allowed her husband to use her wagon and he had necessary repairs made, it was held that the mechanic had a lien therefor. White v. Smith, (1882) 44 N.J. Law 105.

(b) Continuous possession, either actual or constructive, in the lien claimant, is essential to the existence of the lien. Such possession must have been acquired in due course of business or in some other lawful way, and must not be inconsistent with the terms of the contract under which the lien is claimed. A lien cannot be acquired by fraud, misrepresentation, violence or any unlawful act. Leg v. Evans, (1840) 6 M. & W. 36; Taylor v. Robinson, (1818) 2 Moore 730; Ex p. Willoughby, (1881) L.R. 16 Ch. D. 604; McMillan v. Byers, (1886) 3 Man. 861. The possession need not be absolutely exclusive but must be uninterrupted, as even a temporary voluntary relinquishment and subsequent resumption of it is an abandonment of the lien. Forth v. Simpson, (1849) 13 Ad. & E. (N.S.) 680; Hartley v. Hitchcock, (1816) 1 Stark. 408; Jackson v. Cummins, (1839) 5 M. & W. 342; Dixon v. Dalby, (1852) 11 U.C.Q.B. 79; Rielly v. McIlmurray, (1898) 29 O.R. 167; McNeil v. Kelcher, (1865) 15 C.P. 470; Milburn v. Milburn, (1848) 4 U.C.Q.B. 179; Webber v. Cogswell, 2 R. & C. 47, 2 S.C.R. 15. The last two cases are sometimes cited as inconsistent with the proposition that continuous possession is essential to the maintenance of the lien, but a careful examination of the facts will show that they are not in conflict with this doctrine, but that in each case the chattels were during all the time in the constructive possession of the lien claimant. In the latter case the mechanic at Halifax sent the chattel to Boston to have it repaired and it was held that the Halifax mechanic had a lien for the charge made by the Boston mechanic. Unless there is a stipulation or implication to the contrary in the contract the lien claimant is not obliged to do the work himself, or to have it done upon his own premises, but may employ some one outside his premises, and in such a case, where the outside mechanic would be a sub-contractor, the outside mechanic would have no lien, there being no contractual relation between him and the owner and no implied consent to such a lien (Hollingsworth v. Dow, (1837) 19 Pick. 228) and his possession being really in the right of his own employer. See Whittle v. Phelps, (1902) 181 Mass. 317.

(c) The possession must be lawful. Where one wrongfully obtains possession of chattels and delivers them to a third party, who bestows money, skill or materials thereon the latter would have no lien therefor as against the rightful owner (Hartop v. Hoare, (1743) 3 Atk. 43; Bernal v. Pim, (1835) 1 Gale 17, 20), and even where a person lawfully obtains possession of a chattel, as by gratuitous loan or bailment, and delivers the chattel to a third person who repairs it, the latter has no lien for the repairs. The right being inseparably coupled with possession, loss of possession involves loss of lien, which once lost does not re-attach on re-possession of the article, unless the loss of possession be involuntary. McDonald v. Stirskey, (1879) 3 R. & C. 520; Canadian Gas Power v. Schofield, (1910) 15 O.W.R. 847.

An involuntary surrender of possession does not defeat the lien. Wilson v. Kymer, 1 M. & S. 157; Lane v. Old Colony R. R. Co., 14 Gray (Mass.) 148; Lynch v. Tibbits, (1857) 24 Barb.

N.Y. 51. An agreement which is void from the beginning cannot give rise to a lien, but an agreement to do something which is illegal can give rise to the lien if the work is done. Scarfe v. Morgan, (1838) 4 M. & W. 270, 282. On the other hand regaining possession without the consent of the owner after voluntarily parting with the possession, will not revive the lien Hartley v. Hitchcock, (1816) 1 Stark. 408; Hiscox v. Sell, (1827) 7 B. & C. 481.

Re-delivery to the owner cannot be recalled even if made by mistake (Dicas v. Stockley, (1836) 7 C. & P. 587; see Bligh v. Davies, (1860) 28 Beav. 211), but if re-delivery is induced by fraud the lien revives if possession is recovered. Bristol v. Wilsmore, (1823) 1 B. & C. 514; Hawes v. Watson, (1826) Ry. & M. 414.

Some of the earlier English cases and a few cases decided in the United States are sometimes cited by legal writers to sustain the proposition that possession in order to confer the right to a lien must be exclusive and unconditional. Such a proposition does not seem to be clearly sustained by the governing decisions on this question.

It is difficult to state what constitutes sufficient possession to secure the right to lien, but while exclusive possession is not strictly essential there must be such actual control and possession in the lien claimant as would be reasonable under the special circumstances of the case. This question of what constitutes sufficient possession to give the right of lien can best be answered by a comparison of two cases,—King v. Indian Orchard Co., (1853) 11 Cush. (Mass.) 231; and Roberts v. The Bank of Toronto, (1894) 25 O.R. 194, 21 A.R. 629. In the former case it was decided that a manufacturer of bricks burnt on the land of another, but of which the manufacturer has no lease and no other interest than the right to enter and make the bricks, has no such possession of the bricks as to give him a lien thereon for his labor. In that case the court (per Bigelow, J.) said: "Upon the undisputed facts in this case it appears to us that the plaintiff fails to show any such possession of the property in question as will support the lien which he sets up in order to maintain this action. In the first place he shows no right or interest in himself either as owner, lessee, or tenant of the possession of the yard in which the bricks were made and burned.

"Upon these facts it is manifest that the plaintiff never had any exclusive and unconditional possession of the property. It was, at most, only a mixed possession with Stearns or rather a license to the plaintiff to enter upon and use the yard of Stearns for the purpose of making and burning the brick. It is entirely clear that such a restricted and limited possession is insufficient to support a lien. It amounts to nothing more than the ordinary transaction of work done by one person in the manufacture or repair of articles for another upon the premises of the latter. The workman in such a case has to a certain extent possession of the property upon which his labor and services are expended, but it is a qualified and mixed possession which can form no valid basis for a lien."

It is apparent that in this case the claimant failed to make out his own actual possession, and moreover, that as an employee he could have no lien upon property of his employer. State v. Goll, (1867) 32 N.J.L. 285.

In the case of Roberts v. Bank of Toronto, supra, the plaintiff was employed to manufacture bricks for another in a brickyard belonging to the latter, of which, however, the plaintiff held possession for the purpose of his contract, and remained and was in possession of the bricks at the time of their seizure by the sheriff under an execution against the owner of the brickyard, who immediately after such seizure made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. It was held that the plaintiff was entitled to a lien upon the bricks in priority to the execution and assignment for the benefit of creditors, and also in priority to the claim of the chattel mortgagee, though his mortgage covered brick in course of manufacture during its continuance.

On appeal it was contended that exclusive possession must be shown. The judgment, however, was confirmed, and Haggerty, C.J.O. in the course of his judgment, said: "The possession necessary to entitle him to his common law lien must be such a reasonable, clear and actual possession as the nature of the case will admit."

An examination of two other cases will throw further light on the question of sufficiency of possession. In Shaw v. Kaler, (1871) 106 Mass. 448, it was held that a mechanic constructing articles of furniture, under a contract by which his employer furnished the materials and bench room, could maintain an action for the conversion of the articles against one who took them from his possession claiming under an alleged mortgage from the employer, of the existence of which there was no evidence. In this case the crucial fact was established that the articles were retained in the actual possession of the mechanic in the employer's workshop. In another case (McLachlan v. Kennedy, (1889) 21 N.S.R. 271), defendant wrote to plaintiff proposing an arrangement for quarrying and burning lime on plaintiff's land. Receiving no reply, he entered and burnt lime. The plaintiff afterwards ratified defendant's action and agreed to buy all the lime he burned and to supply the barrels. Plaintiff having refused to accept a lot of lime on the ground that it was not delivered within the time agreed on, the defendant shipped it to another party, and plaintiff then brought action for the conversion of his property, and it was held that the action could not be maintained, the defendant's lien on the lime being undischarged.

In a later case, in Ontario (Hackett v. Coghill, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 1077), Boyd, C., said: "Later cases show explicitly that one necessary ingredient of lien is that the person claiming it should have full possession, meaning thereby that the claimant must have exclusive and continuous possession, and if the things are moved from the place of repair it must be to a place where absolute and entire dominion over them can be retained, a thing which can rarely be done." See Mors-le-Blanch v. Wilson, L.R. 8 C.P. 227, at 238; Ex p. Willoughby, 16 Ch. D. 610, 612. In support of this proposition some English cases are cited by this eminent judge, and the case of Somes v. British Empire Shipping Co., (1860) 8 H.L.C. 338, is distinguished. The facts in Hackett v. Coghill, 2 O.W.R. 1077, as stated by the judge, were as follows: "The plaintiff's claim is in respect of repairs done upon their vessels when they were hauled out upon his ways in the harbor at Wiarton. After the work was done the vessels were respectively restored to the water and taken first to the dock belonging to Castner and afterwards to the old dock erected by the town and which was in common and public use even after the erection of a new dock by the town about two years ago. While lying at the old dock the plaintiff put lock and chain upon the dredge and notified the owners, but before this he says that he tied up the vessels at this dock and claimed to be in possession of them. The evidence shows that the plaintiff had permission to use Castner's dock from the owner, and the old dock from the town authorities by verbal license for the purpose of his business in repairing vessels. The legal possession of the water lots on which the mooring existed at the time of the dispute as to possession which is now being litigated was vested in the Crown. It is further in evidence that the owners had a person in possession of the dredge for the purpose of looking after it and keeping the machinery in proper order and he was on the boat at the time it was chained up by the plaintiff." Upon this state of facts it was impossible to support the claim of the plaintiff to a lien and the decision against the plaintiff cannot be questioned. The general statement of law, however, in the case, as reported, that a claimant must have exclusive possession, seems at variance with some English judgments and at least one Canadian decision.

In one English case (Crowfoot v. London Dock Co., (1834)

2 Cr. & M. 630), which is not cited in this Ontario case, but, like it, was in connection with the repair of a ship, Parke, B., said (at p. 655): "It is impossible to lay down any precise rule as to the sort of possession which is necessary in order to give validity to the lien. Each case must depend a good deal upon its own circumstances, and here the company had possession so far as the nature of the transaction would admit. Any more exclusive possession on their part would have defeated the whole object of the advances which it was the purpose of the lien to secure. It would be going too far to say that the law rendered such exclusive possession necessary; and the case which has been cited (Manton v. Moore, 7 T.R. 67), though not exactly on the same subject, is nevertheless fairly relied upon as showing that the law does not require it. Though Streather has been permitted to use the engines and materials for a particular purpose, they remained on the defendant's premises and under their control." Hackett v. Coghill, 2 O.W.R. 1077, also omits any reference to the case of Roberts v. Bank of Toronto, (1894) 25 O.R. 194; 21 A.R. 629, where the Ontario Court on appeal did not uphold the contention that possession must be exclusive. The decision in Hackett v. Coghill, 2 O.W.R. 1077, was appealed to a Divisional Court, which upheld the trial judge's finding of fact. See 3 O.W.R. 827. Abandonment of possession forfeits the lien. Troop v. Hart, 7 Can. S.C.R. 512.

If possession is parted with the lien is gone in respect to third persons, although it was stipulated between the parties that the lien should continue notwithstanding the removal of the property. McFarland v. Wheeler, 26 Wend. N.Y. 467; Oakes v. Moore, (1844) 24 Maine 214, 41 Am. Dec. 379. Whether possession has been parted with or not is a question of fact. Bernal v. Pim, (1835) 1 Gale 17. As to facts which would constitute insufficient possession, see McKenzie v. Mattinson, 40 N.S.R. 346.

(d) The work must be work of skill. The principle of a common law lien is not applied to every kind of labor done on a chattel but extends only to skilled workmen exercising a trade or art. It would not apply to an ordinary laborer for doing such work as cutting wood (McMillan v. Byers, (1886) 3 Man. L.R. 361), nor to an employé of a farmer in respect to a crop which the employé has harvested. McDearmid v. Foster, 12 Pac. Rep. 813. In ordinary cases the workman may accomplish the work through the medium of inferior agents and workmen, but if the work is a work of art and genius and the contract is founded upon the personal talent of the artist, he impliedly undertakes to perform the work himself and may not entrust it to one less skilful. Addison on Contracts, 11th ed., p. 888; Robson v. Drummond, (1831) 2 B. & Ald. 308; British Wagon Co. v. Lea, (1880) 5 Q.B.D. 149; 49 L.J.Q.B. 321.

To maintain a lien a mechanic must bring himself within all the foregoing equally essential conditions.

Waiver or Loss of Lien.

The right to a lien may be lost or waived, expressly or by implication.

A lien does not exist where the contract between the parties or the circumstances are inconsistent with the notion that one was intended. Ritchie v. Grundy, (1891) 7 Man. L.R. 532. When possession is lost, the lien is lost. Fiddes v. Henderson, C. Mss. (N.B.). Conduct inconsistent with the existence or continuance of a lien will constitute a waiver of it. "It is neither a jus in re nor jus ad rem and it may be waived by any act or agreement between the parties by which the right is given up." Dempsey v. Carson, (1862) 11 U.C.C.P. 462, per Draper, C.J. Thus the lien will be waived by an agreement relating to the mode or time of payment, inconsistent with the right of lien. Crawshay v. Homfray, 4 B. & Ald. 50; Fisher v. Smith, (1878) 4 App. Cas. 12; Rollins v. Bowman Cycle Co., (1904) 89 N.Y.S.

289, 96 App. Div. 365; but a sale of part of property does not involve loss of lien on the remainder. Steeves v. Cowie, (1903) 40 N.S.R. 401; a lien will be waived by claiming the ownership of the goods (Boardman v. Sill, (1808) 1 Camp. 410n.); claiming to hold them for a debt due from a third party (Dirks v. Richards, (1842) 4 M. & G. 574); refusing to deliver up the goods on the ground that they belong to a third person (Andrews v. Wade (Penn.), 6 Atl. Rep. 48); stipulating to receive other work in future (Stickney v. Allen, (1858) 10 Gray (Mass.) 352); making a binding agreement to restore possession (The Wiles Laundering Co. v. Hahlo, (1887) 105 N.Y. 234); agreeing to receive payment after delivery (Lee v. Gould, 47 Pa. St. 398); pawning the chattel (Gallaher v. Cohen, 1 Brown (Penn.) 43). The defence of liens can only be pleaded when there has been no conversion (Neville v. Schofield, 2 N.B.R. 435, 5 N.B.R. 124); a lien will be waived by setting up a claim which has no relation to the lien (Weeks v. Goode, (1859) 6 C.B.N.S. 367); destroying part of the goods (Gurr v. Cuthbert, (1843) 12 L.J. Exch. 309). See Chew v. Traders Bank of Canada, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 74; attempting to sell the chattel (Vincent v. Conklin, 1 E. D. Smith (N.Y.) 203; Bean v. Bolton, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 87); (see Mulliner v. Florence, (1878) 3 Q.B.D. 484); agreeing to do the work on credit (Riatt v. Mitchell, (1815) 4 Camp. 146); agreeing to do certain work to be performed during the year and to receive payment quarterly (Stoddard v. Huntley, (1831) 8 New Hampshire 441, 31 Am. Dec. 198); alleging some independent ground without claiming a lien (Folsom v. Barrett, 180 Mass. 439; Bowden v. Duggan, 91 Maine 141); taking particular security for the debt (Hewison v. Guthrie, (1836) 2 Bing. N.C. 759; Pinnock v. Harrison, (1838) 3 M. & W. 539; Davies v. Bowsher, (1794) 5 D. & E. 488; Cowell v. Simpson, (1809) 16 Ves. 275). See Stevenson v. Blakelock, (1813) 1 M. & S. 535. This last proposition, however, depends entirely upon the special circumstances of each case, as the taking of other security does not necessarily import an abandonment of the lien. It is a question of intention to be ascertained from the relation of the parties and the special circumstances. Re Taylor, (1891) 1 Ch. 590, 597; Re Bowes, (1886) 33 Ch. D. 586. The question to be determined is one of intention, viz., Was the security intended to be cumulative or substitutional? The presumption of intention will not be the same in all trades, Halsbury's Ency. Laws of England, 257. Lord Westbury in In re Leith's Estate, Chambers v. Davidson, (1886) L.R. 1 P.C. 296, 305, said: "But lien is not the result of an express contract; it is given by implication of law. If therefore a mercantile relation which might involve a lien is created by a written contract, and security given for the result of the dealings in that relation, the express stipulation and agreement of the parties for security excludes lien and limits their rights by the extent of the express contract they have made. Expressum facit cessare tacitum. If a consignee takes an express security, it includes general lien." The editor of Smith's Mercantile Law, 10th ed., p. 700, questions whether these words are not too wide. See Wylde v. Radford, (1864) 33 L.J. Ch. 51; Davis v. Humphrey, (1873) 112 Mass. 309, 315; Angier v. Bay State Co., (1901) 178 Mass. 163; Ritchie v. Grundy, (1891) 7 Man. L.R. 532; Fisher v. Smith, (1878) 4 App. Cas. 1. In an important English case (Angus v. McLachlan, (1883) L.R. 23 Ch. D., at 335), Kay, J., said: "It is not the mere taking of a security which destroys the lien, but there must be something in the facts of the case or in the nature of the security which is inconsistent with the existence of the lien and which is destructive of it." In this case and some of the other cases previously cited on this point, the lien was not a mechanics' lien but the decisions upon the question of waiver would be equally applicable to mechanics' lien cases. See Re Morris, (1908) 1 K.B. 473, 477. A lien is not lost by deposit of the chattel with a third party on behalf of the lienor. Levy v. Barnard, (1818) 8 Taunt. 149. See Reeves v. Capper, (1838) 5 Bing. N.C. 136.

The claim of lien cannot be supported where the particular transaction shows that there was no intention that there should be a lien, but some other security is looked to and relied on. United States v. Barney, (U.S.) 24 Fed. Cases 1014.

An examination of all the English cases leads to the conclusion that this question of waiver of the lien is a question of fact, the cardinal point being whether the new security was intended to be cumulative or substitutionary, and to determine that point all the circumstances of the case must be weighed.

The United States law on this question was thus formerly stated: "The effect of taking security upon a lien is a matter upon which the courts have not agreed, the better opinion being that such an act is presumptive of a waiver of the lien but may be shown to have been given with other intention. 13 Am. & Eng. Ency. of Law, p. 622, 1st ed. But a later and more accurate statement of the law is to be found in the second edition of that work where the general rule is stated to be that the mere taking of other security for a debt secured by a lien does not constitute a waiver of the lien, and that to constitute a waiver an intention to waive the lien must appear from the circumstances of the case, or from the nature of the security taken. See vol. 19, p. 29, 2nd ed.

A person may lose his lien by misconduct. In such case the owner's right to possession revives. Scott v. Newington, (1833) M. & Rob. 252. See Jones v. Cliffe, (1833) 1 C. & M. 540. A lien may also be lost where the lien claimant uses the article as his own. Bruntnall v. Smith, (1896) 166 Mass. 253. When the debt in respect to which the lien is claimed is satisfied the lien is lost. If for instance, a person releases the debt by executing a composition deed the lien is lost. Cowper v. Green, (1841) 7 M. & W. 633.

A release of part of the goods does not waive the lien upon the rest for the whole amount. Morgan v. Congdon, 4 N.Y. 552; Wiles Laundering Co. v. Hahlo, 105 N.Y. 234; Barker v. Brown, 138 Mass. 340.

Honestly claiming more than is due does not waive the lien, Folsom v. Barrett, 180 Mass. 439. See Kerford v. Mondel, 28 L.J.N.S. 303.

Attachment, Execution or Assignment.

There is some conflict in the decisions and opinions upon the question whether an attachment or levy on execution upon the property upon which the lien is claimed, in a suit brought by the lien claimant upon the lien claim is a waiver of the lien. One American authority, Lummus (sec. 24), inclines to the view that such an act is not a waiver of the lien, and he cites a case (Lambert v. Nicklass, (1898) 45 W. Va. 527) which decides that levying an attachment upon the property held under the lien does not waive the lien. There are conflicting decisions in Massachusetts on this question. Townsend v. Newell, (1833) 14 Pick. 332; cf. Leg. v. Willard, (1835) 17 Pick. (Mass.) 140. On the other hand, it has been decided in England that a person having a lien upon chattels loses it by having them levied on under an execution upon the lien debt. Jacobs v. Latour, (1828) 5 Bing. 130. Boisot, sec. 780, cites a Canadian case (Lake v. Biggar, (1862) 11 U.C.C.P. 170) as an authority deciding "that an artisan's having a lien on a chattel would not prevent his seizing it under an execution for a debt which constituted the lien nor would his asserting such a right be inconsistent with his lien or a waiver of it," but a close examination of this case shows that the judgment of the County Court Judge on that point is not directly confirmed by the Appeal Court, which merely decides that there was no evidence of tender or of waiver of tender. Inasmuch as possession is essential to maintenance of a lien it is difficult to understand how a lien claimant can be considered as retaining possession when the chattel is in custodia legis. The decision in Jacobs v. Latour, supra, was based on that principle, that the lien claimant had parted with the possession of the chattel. The weight of authority favors the view that when a lien claimant issues an execution and the sheriff levies upon the chattel the lien is lost. It might be said that the lien claimant still has posession through his agent, the sheriff, but if so, he has so altered the nature of his possession as to destroy his lien. Possession must vest in the sheriff to enable him to sell the chattel, and when the lien claimant authorizes the levy he is deemed to have abandoned the possession by virtue of his lien. See also Crowfoot v. London Dock Co., (1834) 2 Cr. & M. 637; McMillan v. Byers, (1886) 3 Man. L.R. 361; and Re Coumbe, Cockburn and Campbell, (1877) 24 Gr. 519, where a lienor was held to have waived hie lien on lumber by procuring the lumber to be taken in execution at his own suit.

The interest of a lien-holder is not attachable as personal property, as it is neither property nor a debt (Yungmann v. Briesmann, (1892) 67 L.T. 642; Kittredge v. Sumner, (1820) 11 Pick. (Mass.) 50; Thames Iron Works v. Patent Derrick Co., (1860) 1 J. & H. 93); and for the same reason it cannot be assigned or transferred (Daubigny v. Duval, (1794) 5 T.R. 604, 606), except in the case of a dissolution of a partnership where the firm was entitled to a lien. In such case one partner may assign his interest in the lien to the other who may enforce the same in the name of the firm. Busfield v. Wheeler, (1867) 14 Allen (Mass.) 139; Holly v. Huggeford, (1829) 8 Pick. (Mass.) 73. As to a sheriff's right to seize property covered by a lien, under an execution against the party claiming the lien, see Young v. Lambert, (1870) L.R. 3 P.C. 142; 39 L.J.P.C. 21.

On the same principle as that which applies to a levy under execution, a replevin destroys the lien acquired. Braddyl v. Ball, (1785) 1 Br. C.C. 427.

Tender and Discharge of Lien.

The lien is discharged by an unconditional tender of the amount due. The Eider v. Norddeutscher Lloyd. (1893) 62

L.J.P. 65; 69 L.T. 622; Willis v. Sweet, (1888) 20 N.S.R. 449; Folsom v. Barrett, 180 Mass. 439; Davison v. Mulcahy, 19 N.S.R. 209. In the latter case the owner, after tender of the amount due and its refusal by the mechanic, broke open the mechanic's shop to recover the chattel and the court held that he thereby committed trespass.

In an Ontario case where the mechanic agreed to accept part payment in cash and a cognovit for the balance, it was held that his lien was lost on payment of the cash agreed upon and tender of the cognovit. Dempsey v. Carson, (1862) 11 U.C.C.P. 462.

In McBride v. Bailey, (1857) 6 U.C.C.P. 523, previous cases on the subject of waiver of tender are fully reviewed.

The fact that a person was claiming to hold the goods for a certain tenable claim and for an untenable claim does not dispense with the necessity of tender of the amount of the tenable claim. Llado v. Morgan, 23 U.C.C.P. 517; The Queen v. Hollingsworth, (1899) 2 C.C.C. 291. See Nevils v. Schofield, (1881) 21 N.B.R. 124. A tenable claim of lien cannot be set up in an action of trover where it was not made when the goods were demanded. Llado v. Morgan, 23 U.C.C.P. 517.

Where work was done under a contract for cash payment, an offer to endorse the amount of the bill on an acceptance of the mechanic is not such a tender as will terminate the lien. Clarke v. Fell, (1833) 2 L.J.K.B. (N.S.) 84.

Estoppel.

The lien may be lost by estoppel where its assertion would operate as a fraud on innocent parties, or where some one is induced by the act or neglect of the lienor to rely upon the non-existence of the lien. Howard v. Tucker, (1831) 1 B. & Ald. 712; Moyes v. Kimball, 92 Maine 231; Fowler v. Parsons, 143 Mass. 401; Howard v. Tucker, (1831) 1 B. & Ad. 712. Assertion of payment will operate as estoppel as against those who have acted on it. Pooley v. Budd, (1851) 7 E.L. & Eq. 229; Woodley v. Coventry, (1863) 32 L.J. Ex. 185 pt. 1.

Any act or neglect of the lien claimant which induces a person to rely upon the non-existence of the lien, may defeat the lien by estoppel. Fowler v. Parsons, (1887) 143 Mass. 401; Hinchley v. Greany, (1875) 118 Mass. 595. See Vulcan Iron Works Co. v. Rapid City Farmers E. Co., (1894) 9 Man. L.R. 577. Reasonable delay in accepting tender will not forfeit the lien. Eckhard v. Donohoe, 9 Daly (N.Y.) 214.

Even where the lien claimant demands a larger sum than is due for the lien, a tender of the sum actually due is necessary to discharge the lien. Kendal v. Fitzgerald, (1862) 21 U.C.Q. B. 585. If the owner of an article is willing to satisfy all charges incurred in respect of them, the article cannot be retained until payment of a general balance due to the person having the particular lien. Jones v. Tarleton, (1842) 9 M. & W. 67. Haggarty, J., in that case said: "Mr. Eccles' argument for the plaintiff is that by insisting on holding the goods, not only for the sum properly due, but for charges not legally demandable, the lien is waived and forfeited, without the necessity of any tender. I have hitherto understood the law to be that where the holder of goods having a clear lien, sets up not only that lien, but also another claim against the plaintiff, of an untenable character, the true owner should tender the proper amount due or an amount reasonably sufficient therefor, unless the defendant either expressly or by fair implication, gives the owner to understand that he dispenses with a tender or offer of any sum less than that which he advances as his claim." See also Green v. Shewell, (1838) 4 M. & W. 277.

In Allen v. Smith, (1862) 12 C.B.N.S. 645, Willes, J., said: "If the defendant had been shown the lesser amount he might have been willing to have accepted it." See Nevins v. Schofield, (1881) 21 N.B.R. 124.

(White v. Gainer, (1824) 2 Bing. 23, 9 Moore 41), Best, C.J., said: "I agree in the law as laid down in Boardman v. Sill, but not in the application of it now proposed. In that case it was held that if a party, when goods are demanded of him, rests his refusal upon grounds other than that of lien, he cannot afterwards resort to his lien as a justification for retaining them. Therefore, if, even in this case, the defendant when applied to to deliver the goods had said, 'I bought them, they are my property,' I should have holden there was a waiver of his lien, but he said no such thing, but only, 'If I deliver them up I may as well give up every transaction of my life.'"

If the lien claimant is prevented by the owner from completing his work, the lien continues. Lilley v. Barnsley, 1 C. & K. 344. It also continues if the reason why the lienor ceased to work upon the chattel was that the owner failed to furnish materials therefor according to his agreement. Busfield v. Wheeler, (1867) 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

Bringing suit on the claim secured by the lien and attaching other property of the debtor is no waiver of the lien, Palmer v. Tucker, 45 Maine 316; Barnard v. Wheeler, 24 Maine 412. As to delivery of goods by a person who has a lien thereon to another person so as to preserve his lien, see McCombie v. Davies, 7 East 5.

An agreement to waive an existing lien, where the lienor retains possession, is invalid unless supported by consideration. Danforth v. Pratt, 42 Maine 50; Hollins v. Hubbard, 165 N.Y. 534.

A set-off cannot be considered as destroying a lien unless it be so agreed upon between the parties. Pinnock v. Harrison, (1838) 3 M. & W. 532; Clarke v. Fell, (1833) 4 B. & Ad. 404; Weguelin v. Cellier, (1857) L.R. 6 H.L. 286. See Roxburghe v. Cox, (1881) 17 Ch. D. 520.

An unliquidated claim will not destroy a lien. McFatridge v. Holstead, (1889) 21 N.S.R. 325.

Delivery by the lien claimant to a third person, as depositary or bailee for safe custody, generally does not affect the lien (McLachlan v. Kennedy, (1889) 21 N.S.R. 271), particularly if such third person re-transfers the property to the lien claimant before the lien is sought to be enforced. Milburn v. Milburn, 4 U.C.Q.B. 179.

If a chattel is fraudulently or unlawfully taken out of possession of the lien claimant by the owner and the lien claimant without force retakes the chattel the lien revives. Wallace v. Woodgate, (1824) Ry. & M. 193. In this case the lien was that of a livery stable keeper but the same principle would apply to a mechanics' lien. See also Dicas v. Stockley, (1836) 7 C. and P. 587; Wilson v. Kymer, (1813) 1 M. & S. 157; Re Carter, (1885) 55 L.J. Ch. 230; Bigelow v. Heaton, 6 Hill (N.Y.) 43. A lien is always forfeited by delivery but a delivery procured by fraud is not within the rule. Pocock v. Novitz, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 418 (Sask.); Walcott v. Keith, 22 N.H. 196.

The lienor may by legal proceedings recover the property even against the owner. Sewell v. Nicholls, 34 Maine 582; Brewster v. Warner, 136 Mass. 57.

A lien is not destroyed though the demand in respect of which it arises is barred by the Statute of Limitations. It is the remedy, not the debt itself, that is discharged by that statute. Spears v. Hartley, (1819) 3 Esp. 81; Higgins v. Scott, (1831) 2 B. & Ad. 413; Re Broomhead, (1847) 16 L.J.Q.B. 355; Curwen v. Milburn, (1889) 42 Ch. D. 424.

The taking of a negotiable instrument by way of security will not apparently discharge the lien if the instrument is dishonored before a claim is made to enforce the lien. Stevenson v. Blakelock, (1813) 1 M. & S. 535.

A lien which has accrued to a partnership for work done and money expended upon machinery is not lost by the dissolution of the firm and the assignment by one partner of his interest therein to the other, but in such case the partner to whom the claim of lien has been assigned may enforce the same in the name of the firm. Busfield v. Wheeler, (1867) 14 Allen (Mass.) 139.

A lien is not affected by the fact that the owner of the goods becomes bankrupt. Robson v. Kemp, (1803) 4 Esp. 233.

The party claiming a lien is bound to take reasonable care of the article. Scarfe v. Morgan, 4 M. & W. 270; Great Western Ry. Co. v. Crouch, 3 H. & N. 183. Generally, a person having a lien on a chattel who keeps it for the purpose of enforcing his lien cannot make any claim against the owner for so keeping. Somes v. British Empire Shipping Co., (1860) 8 H.L. Cas. 338.

A mere promise by the lien claimant, without consideration, to restore the chattel, is not a waiver of his lien. Clarke v. Costello, 29 N.Y.S. 937, (1894) 79 Hun. 588. An agreement to waive an existing lien is invalid, unless made with a valuable consideration. Hollins v. Hubbard, (1901) 165 N.Y. 534.

Rights of Owner.

The owner of chattels upon which a lien is claimed may inspect or show them as long as he does not interfere with the possession of the lien-holder. If a chattel is detained by a person under an invalid claim of lien, the owner is not obliged to bring replevin or similar action to test the validity of the lien. He may pay the amount under protest, obtain his property and then sue to recover back the money so paid. Whitlock Co. v. Holway, 92 Maine 414; Somes v. B.E.S. Co., (1860) 8 H.L. Cas. 338. Hunter v. Leake, (1829) 7 L.J.K.B. (O.S.) 221; Hughes v. Lenny, (1839) 5 M. & W. 187; Lord Brougham v. Cauvin, (1868) 37 L.J. Ch. N.S. 691.

Where a contract provides for stipulated work at a lump sum and such work is not done but its equivalent or better work is effected, no claim for such substituted work can be sustained. Forman v. The "Liddesdale," 69 L.J.P.C. 44; (1900) A.C. 190;

82 L.T. 331. The fact that the owner of the chattel thus repaired has sold it at a price enhanced by such unauthorized labor does not amount to acquiescence on his part or acceptance of liability for the work done.

A lienor or bailee must take ordinary care of goods held under a lien. Clarke v. Earnshaw, (1818) Gow 30; Angus v. McLachlan, 23 Ch. D. 330; Ultzen v. Nicholls, (1894) 1 Q.B. 92; Searle v. Laverich, (1874) L.R. 9 Q.B. 122; Halestrap v. Gregory, (1895) 1 Q.B. 561; Turner v. Stallibras, (1898) 1 Q.B. 56. As to consideration for a promise to pay the amount of a void lien, see Dunham v. Johnson, 135 Mass. 310.

A lien claimant cannot add to the amount for which the lien exists, a charge for keeping the chattel until the debt is paid. Where such a charge is made and the owner of the chattel pays it under protest he may maintain an action for money had and received. Somes v. Directors B.E.S. Co., (1860) 8 H.L. Cas. 338; Bruce v. Eveson, (1883) 1 Cababe & Ellis 18; Pease v. Johnson, (1905) 1 W.L.R. 208. See Carew v. Rutherford, (1870) 106 Mass. 1.

The goods of the Sovereign cannot be detained under a claim of lien. Queen v. Fraser, (1877) 2 R. & C. 431.

A mechanic has no right to detain cloth for a debt due for dressing or dyeing other cloth for the same party. Rose v. Hart, 8 Taunt. 499; Close v. Waterhouse, (1805) 6 East 523, note; Hensal v. Noble, 95 Pa. 345; see also Yearsley v. Gray, 140 Pa. 238.

A person cannot avail himself of a lien, the discharge of which has been fraudulently prevented by his own acts. Carey v. Brown, (1875) 92 U.S. 171. The owner cannot obtain any part of the goods covered by the lien without paying the whole claim.

Rights of Third Persons.

Where the party entitled to a lien wrongfully parts with the goods the owner may recover them from the holder without tendering what is due on the lien, for a party is only obliged to make a tender where it is necessary to give him the right to the possession of the goods. Roscoe's N.P. Evidence (17th ed.) 974; Scott v. Newington, (1833) 1 M. & Rob. 252; Jones v. Cliff, (1833) 1 Cr. & M. 540.

A person who obtains possession of goods by fraud or misrepresentation cannot claim a lien upon them. Madden v. Kempster, (1807) 1 Camp. 12; Lempriere v. Pasley, (1788) 2 T.R. 485; Simbolf v. Alford, (1838) 3 M. & W. 248; Walsh v. Provan, (1853) 8 Ex. Rep. 843.

It has been held that a vendor's lien secured by a duly recorded chattel mortgage takes precedence of a mechanics' lien for repairs subsequently done at the purchaser's request. But, as a general rule, where the mortgagee of chattels leaves the property in possession of the mortgagor and the property is of a character that suggests use, and that repairs will be needed, and the mortgagor takes it to an artisan to be repaired, the common law lien will attach in favor of the artisan as against the mortgagee. Boisot, sec. 771. See Hammond v. Danielson, (1879) 126 Mass. 294; Williams v. Allsop, (1861) 10 C.B. (N.S.) 417; Scott v. De La Hunt, 5 Lans. If the agreement for the work is entire and indivisible, that is, if the contract between the parties is one for the delivery of a completed article, and the chattel is accidentally destroyed, without negligence on the part of either party, before the completion of the contract, the destruction of the subject-matter discharges the liability and excuses further performance of the agreement. In such case the employer of the labor cannot sue the contractor for the return of any sums already paid to him on account, in an action for money had and received, and correlatively the contractor has no legal claim to compensation for that portion of the work actually executed by him at the time of the destruction of the chattel. THE ALBERTA MECHANICS' LIEN ACT.

CHAPTER 21.

AN ACT FOR THE BENEFIT OF MECHANICS AND LABORERS.

(Assented to May 9, 1906.)

HIS MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta, enacts as follows:—

SHORT TITLE.

1. Short title.—This Act may be cited as "The Mechanics' Lien Act."

2. Interpretation.—In the construction of this Act:—

1. "Court" or "judge."—"Court" or "judge" shall mean the Supreme Court of the North-West Territories, or such court as may hereafter be constituted exercising within the province the jurisdiction, powers and authority at the date of the passing of this Act exercised therein by the Supreme Court of the North-West Territories, or any judge of the said court or of such last mentioned court.

2. "Contractor."—"Contractor" shall mean a person employed directly by the owner for doing the work or placing or furnishing materials for any of the purposes mentioned in this Act.

3. "Sub-contractor."—"Sub-contractor" shall mean a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner for the purpose aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by the contractor or under him, by another sub-contractor, to do all or a certain portion of the work or to place or furnish material, but a person doing manual or mental labor for wages shall not be deemed a "sub-contractor."

4. "Owner."—"Owner" shall extend to and include a person having any estate or interest, legal or equitable, in the lands upon or in respect of which the work is done or materials are placed or furnished, at whose request and upon whose credit or on whose behalf, or with whose privity or consent, or for whose direct benefit any such work is done or materials are placed or furnished, and all persons claiming under him whose rights are acquired after the work in respect to which the lien is claimed is commenced or the materials furnished have been commenced to be furnished.

5. "Works or improvements."—"Works or improvements" shall include every act or undertaking for which a lien may be claimed under this Act.

6. "Laborer."—"Laborer" shall mean, extend to and include every mechanic, miner, artisan, builder, or other person doing labor for wages.

7. "Material."—"Material" shall include every kind of moveable property.

8. "Wages."—"Wages" shall mean money earned by a laborer, for work done whether by time or as piece work.

By ch. 20 of the Acts of 1908, sub-sec. (1) of this section was repealed and the following substituted therefor, "'court' or 'judge' shall mean the court within the province exercising jurisdiction in civil causes to the amount claimed in the action or proceeding whether brought in respect of one lien or more than one lien," and the interpretation herein given shall for all purposes be deemed to have been included in the original Act. See Freeze v. Carey, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 81, 7 W.L.R. 287.

3. "Application."—This Act shall apply to any contract made or work begun previous to the passage hereof, but only so far as regards any moneys remaining unpaid and as respects any such unpaid moneys.

Nature of Liens.

4. Mechanics and others to have liens for work done, etc.—Unless there is an agreement in writing to the contrary signed by the person claiming the lien, every contractor, sub-contractor, laborer, and furnisher of material doing or causing work to be done upon or placing or furnishing any materials to be used in or for the construction, erection, alteration or repairs, either in whole or in part of, or addition to, any building, tramway, railway, erection, wharf, bridge or other work, or doing or causing work to be done upon, or in connection with, or the placing or furnishing of materials to be used in or for the clearing, excavating, filling, grading, track-laying, draining, or irrigating of any land in respect of a tramway, railway, mine, sewer, drain, ditch, flume or other work, or improving any street, road or sidewalk adjacent thereto, at the request of the owner of such land, shall, by virtue thereof, have a lien or charge for the price of such work, and the placing or furnishing of such materials upon such building, erection, wharf, machinery, fixture, or other works, and all materials furnished or produced for use in constructing or making such works or improvements so long as the same are about to be in good faith worked into or made part of the said works or improvements, and the land, premises, and appurtenances thereto, occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, but limited in amount as hereinafter mentioned:

Provided such lien shall affect only such interest in the said land, premises and appurtenances thereto as is vested in the owner at the time the works or improvements are commenced.

or any greater interest the owner may acquire during the progress of the works or improvements, or have at any time during which the lien stands as an incumbrance against said land.

Neither the owner nor the land can be held liable to the lien-holders for a greater aggregate sum than the amount of the contract price. Ross v. Gorman, 1 Alta. L.R. 109.

If, by arrangement with the owner the claimant has delayed completion in order to give the owner time to arrange for payment, and work is then done to keep the lien alive, the owner having accepted the benefit of the delay, and the work being necessary, the date of completion of such work will be taken as the date upon which the claimant "has ceased" to work. Clarke v. Moore, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405. As to the taxation of school property, see Mallet v. Kovar, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 327. As to right to lien when work is done at the instance of lessee, see Scratch v. Anderson, (1909) 2 Alta. L.R. 109, 13 W.L.R. 113; Limoges v. Scratch, (1910) 44 Can. S.C.R. 86.

A lien arises and attaches as soon as work is done or materials are furnished, subject to be increased or decreased in amount from time to time, as further work is done or materials furnished, on the one hand, or payments made to the lien-holder on the other hand. Ross v. Gorman, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 109, 516, 9 W.L.R. 319.

Where part of the contract price was agreed to be paid by conveyance of land to contractor, who, however, did not complete his work, sub-contractors who had registered liens against the property built on were held entitled to the equity in the lots which had been agreed to be conveyed to the contractor. The claim of the sub-contractors, however, was subject to the owner's claims for payments made to the contractor and for damages against the contractor. Head Co. v. Coffin, (1910) 13 W.L.R. 663.

The installation of a furnace in a building comes within the terms of this section. The lands of a school board may be subject to a mechanic's lien. Mallett v. Kovar, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 327.

Where the lien-holder is not the contractor, the onus is on the owner to shew that the contractor should not have been given an extension of time. Lundy v. Henderson, 9 W.L.R. 327.

A claimant is not bound to give any notice of lien to the owner. Ross v. Gorman, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 516, 9 W.L.R. 319. A lien claimed by a partnership stands in no different position from any other lien by reason of "the owner" being a member of the partnership. Ross v. Gorman, 1 Alta. L.R. 516. As to scope of the word "owner," see Scratch v. Anderson, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 145.

Sub-contractors gave the contractor receipts for money which he had received from the owner to pay the sub-contractors and had not paid them, thereby led the owner to believe that they had been paid. The owner, influenced by this belief, made other payments to the contractor in excess of the work which he did or caused to be done on the building, and the owner completed the building when the contractor abandoned it. The owner also made payments to another sub-contractor and lien-holder. It was held that the sub-contractors who gave the receipts in question were not entitled to enforce a lien against the owner's land, though they had not been paid in full for the work done and materials furnished by them. Ringland v. Edwards, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 219.

Del credere agents supplying materials have such an interest in the goods as entitles them to a mechanics' lien as materialmen. Gorman v. Archibald, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 524.

As to overpayment to contractor, see Travis v. Breckenridge-

Where trial judge finds defendant had promised to pay plaintiff, and there was sufficient consideration, it is not open to the court to reverse that finding. Union v. Porter, 9 W.L.R. 325.

5. Material subject to lien.—When any material is brought upon the land to be used in connection with such land for any of the purposes enumerated in the last preceding section hereof, the same shall be subject to a lien for the unpaid price thereof in favour of any person supplying the same until it is put or worked into the building, erection or work as part of the same.

6. Agreement as to liens.—No agreement shall be held to deprive any one otherwise entitled to a lien under this Act and not a party to the agreement of the benefit of the lien and the lien shall attach notwithstanding such agreement.

7. Certain proceedings not to be deemed satisfaction or waiver of lien.—The taking of any security for, or the acceptance of any promissory note for, or cheque which on presentation is dishonored, or the taking of any other acknowledgment of the claim, or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery of the claim or the recovery of any personal judgment for the claim, shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice, or destroy any lien created by this Act, unless the lien-holder agrees in writing that it shall have that effect:

Provided, however, that a person who has extended the time for payment of any claim for which he has a lien under this Act to obtain the benefit of this section shall institute proceedings to enforce such lien within the time limited by this Act, but no further proceedings shall be taken in the action until the expiration of such extension of time:

Provided further, that notwithstanding such extension of time, such person may, where proceedings are instituted by any other person to enforce a lien against the same property, prove and obtain payment of his claim in such suit or action as if no such extension had been given.

Where the contract price is payable in instalments, if default is made in payment of an instalment, the contractor, prior to the falling due of the later instalments can commence proceedings to enforce his lien. The words, "No further proceedings shall be taken in the action until after such extension of time," are to be construed distributively. Spears v. Bannerman, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 98.

The claimant does not waive or lose his lien by taking and negotiating the owner's promissory note in part payment of the amount then due. Clarke v. Moore, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405. See Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., (1910) 19 O.L.R. 303; also Swanson v. Mollison, (1907) 6 W.L.R., at 682, citing approvingly the following paragraph from the first edition of this work: "After the note has been negotiated, the debt then becomes due to a third party, and the original creditor becomes guarantor of the payment of the debt. While the note is in the hands of the third party, no proceedings can be taken to enforce the lien. If the lien claimant pays the note, and is the holder of the note at the time he begins proceedings, the fact of his having negotiated the note will not take away his lien."

8. Amount to which lien limited.—Such lien shall be limited in amount to the sum actually owing to the person entitled to the lien.

9. Liens on mortgaged premises.—Where works or improvements are put upon mortgaged premises, the liens by virtue of this Act shall be prior to such mortgage, as against the increase in value of the mortgaged premises by reason of such works or improvements, but not further, unless the same is done at the request of the mortgagee in writing; and the amount of such increase shall be ascertained upon the basis of the selling value upon taking of the account, or by the trial of an action or issue as provided herein, and thereupon the judge may, if he shall consider the works or improvements of sufficient value to justify the proceedings, order the mortgaged premises to be sold at an upset price equal to the selling value of the premises immediately prior to the commencement of such works or improvements (to be ascertained as aforesaid) and any sum realized in excess of such upset price shall be subject to the liens provided for by this Act. The moneys equal to the upset price as aforesaid shall be applied towards the said mortgage or mortgages, according to their priority. Nothing, however, in this section shall prevent the lien from attaching upon the equity of redemption or other interest of the owner of the land subject to such mortgage or charge.

(a) Interpretation on "mortgage."—"Mortgage" in this section shall not include any part of the principal sum secured thereby not actually advanced to the borrower at the time the works or improvements are commenced, and shall include a vendor's lien and an agreement for the purchase of land, and for the purposes of this Act and within the meaning thereof the purchaser shall be deemed a mortgagor and the seller a mortgagee.

10. Claim for wages.—Without prejudice to any liens which he may have under the preceding sections every mechanic, laborer or other person who performs labor for wages upon the construction, alteration or repairs of any building or erection, or in erecting or placing machinery of any kind in, upon or in connection with any building, erection or mine shall to the extent of the interest of the owner have upon the building, erection or mine and the land occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith a lien for such wages, not exceeding the wages of six weeks or a balance equal to his wages for six weeks.

(2) The lien for wages given by this section shall attach when the labor is in respect of a building, erection or mine on property belonging to the wife of the person at whose instance the work is done, upon the estate or interest of the wife in such property as well as upon that of her husband.

11. Owner of land deemed to have authorized the erection of buildings thereon.—Every building or other improvement mentioned in the fourth section of this Act, constructed upon any lands with the knowledge of the owner or his authorized agent, or the person having or claiming any interest therein, shall be held to have been constructed at the request of such owner, or person having or claiming any interest therein, unless such owner or person having or claiming an interest therein shall, within three days after he shall have obtained knowledge of the construction, alteration or repair, give notice that he will not be responsible for the same, by posting a notice in writing to that effect in some conspicuous place upon said land or upon the building or other improvement thereon.

2. Notice by owner that he will not be responsible for work done on his land.—Whenever such owner or such person, not having contracted for or agreed to such construction, alteration, repair, works or improvements being done or made, but who has failed to give said notice within the said three days, shall post a notice in writing in some conspicuous place upon said land, or upon the buildings or improvements thereon, to the effect that he will not be responsible for the works or improvements, no works or improvements made after such posting shall give any right as against such owner or person, or his interest in said land, to a lien under this Act.

This section applies only to the cases that do not come within sec. 4, in which the owner has in fact requested "the work to be done." Scratch v. Anderson, (1909) 16 W.L.R. 145.

Where an owner leased premises for seven years, the lessee having an option to purchase the right to remove a building and erect another in lieu thereof, which new building was to become property of the lessor, a lien claimant filed liens in connection with erection of new building. The lessee being in arrears for rent, the lease was forfeited. It was held that the liens were valid against the land. High River Trading Co. v. Anderson, (1909) 10 W.L.R. 126.

The lessee of land, as permitted by his lease, had buildings thereon pulled down and proceeded to erect others in their place, but was obliged to abandon the work before it was finished. The owner was aware of the work being done, but gave no notice disclaiming responsibility therefor. Mechanics' liens having been filed under the Act, the interest of the owner was held subject to such liens. Scratch v. Anderson, (1909) 2 Alta. L.R. 109, 13 W.L.R. 113; Limoges v. Scratch, (1910) 44 Can. S.C.R. 86.

12. Insurance moneys.—Where any of the property upon which a lien is given by this Act is wholly or partly destroyed by fire, any insurance receivable thereon by the owner, prior mortgagee or chargee, shall take the place of the property so destroyed, and shall, after satisfying any prior mortgage or charge in the manner and to the extent set out in section 9 hereof be subject to the claims of all persons for liens to the same extent as if such moneys were realized by the sale of such property in an action to enforce a lien.

13. Lien expires in 31 days after completion of work unless registered.—Every lien upon such building, erection, mine works or improvements, or land, shall absolutely cease to exist after the expiration of thirty-one days, except in the case of a claim for wages owing for work in, at or about a mine, in which case the lien shall cease after the expiration of sixty days after the claimant has ceased from any cause to work thereon, or place or furnish the materials therefor; provided, however, that any laborer shall not be held to have ceased work upon any building, erection, mine, works or improvements until the completion of the same, if he has in the meantime been employed upon any other work by the same contractor, unless in the meantime the person claiming the lien shall file in the land titles office of the land registration in which the land is situate or in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court of the province in the judicial district in which the land lies, an affidavit, sworn before any person authorized to take oaths, stating in substance:

(a) The name and residence of the claimant, and of the owner of the property or interest to be charged;

(b) The particulars of the kind of works or improvements done, made or furnished;

(c) The time when the works or improvements were finished or discontinued;

(d) The sum claimed to be owing and when due;

(e) The description of the property to be charged;

which affidavit shall be received and filed as a lien against the property, interest or estate. Every registrar under The Land Titles Act, and every such clerk shall be supplied with printed forms of such affidavits in blank, which may be in the form or to the effect of Schedule A to this Act, and which shall be supplied to every person requesting the same and desiring to file a lien. Every such registrar and clerk shall keep an alphabetical index of all claimants of liens, and the persons against whom such liens are claimed, which index shall be open for inspection during office hours, and it shall be the duty of such registrar or clerk to decide whether his is or is not the proper office for the filing of such affidavits, and to direct the applicant accordingly; and no affidavit shall be adjudged insufficient on the ground that it was not filed in the proper registry office or clerk's office. The said claim of lien may be described as a mechanics' lien:

Provided, however, that no lien shall be filed unless the claim or joined claims shall amount to or aggregate $20 or more.

2. Claims to be filed as incumbrances, with registrar.—Upon the filing of such affidavit in any such land titles office the registrar shall enter and register the claim as an encumbrance against the land or the estate or interest in the land therein described as provided in The Land Titles Act.

3. With clerk.—Upon the filing of such affidavit in the office of any such clerk the clerk shall forthwith transmit to the registrar of the land registration district in which the land lies a certificate of the filing of such lien in his office, and specifying the particulars in the affidavit contained, and upon the receipt by the said registrar of such certificate he shall enter and register the claim as an incumbrance against the land or the estate or interest in the land therein described as provided in The Land Titles Act.

In determining when the lien claimant has ceased to work the doing of work or supplying materials even of a trivial character, if done or furnished in good faith should be considered. Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405. See Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1906) 11 B.C.R. 375; Steinman v. Koscuk, 4 W.L.R. 514; and Swanson v. Mollison, (1907) 6 W.L.R. 678.

One claim of lien can be filed in respect of all goods supplied, though from different principals, and the time of filing it will run from the date of the last delivery irrespective of whose goods constitute it. Gorman v. Archibald, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 524. Delivery of the certificate of lis pendens to the land titles office before 4 p.m. on the last day for filing is, as against the "owner" a sufficient filing within the Act, notwithstanding that the registration is not completed until the next day. Gorman v. Archibald, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 524.

14. Substantial compliance with section 13 only necessary.—A substantial compliance only with section 13 of this Act shall be required and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of failure to comply with any of the requisites thereof, unless in the opinion of the court or judge adjudicating upon the lien under this Act the owner, contractor, sub-contractor, mortgagee or other person is prejudiced thereby, and then only to the extent to which he is prejudiced, and the court or judge may allow the affidavit and statement of claim to be amended accordingly.

See Mallet v. Kovar, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 327.

Where the owner is not prejudiced by a defect in the form of a lien objections to the form should not prevail. Scratch v. Anderson, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 145.

15. Liens to pass on death to legal representatives or may be assigned.—In the event of the death of a lien-holder his lien shall pass to his personal representatives, and the right of a lien-holder may be assigned by any instrument in writing subject to the limitations contained in section 17 hereof.

16. During continuance of lien property must not be removed.—During the continuance of any lien no portion of the property affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of such lien and any attempt at such removal may be restrained on application to the court or judge.

17. Receipted pay rolls to be posted on works.—No contractor, or sub-contractor shall be entitled to demand or receive any payment in respect of any contract, where the contract price exceeds $500, until he or some person in charge of the works or improvements shall post upon the works or improvements a copy of the receipted pay roll, from the hour of 12 m. to the hour of 1 p.m. on the first legal day after pay day, and shall have delivered to the owner, or other person acting on his behalf, the original pay roll containing the names of all laborers who have done work for him upon such works or improvements, with a receipt in full from each of the said laborers, with the amounts which were due and had been paid to each of them set opposite their respective names, which pay roll may be in the form of Schedule C hereto, and no payment made by the owner without the delivery of such pay roll shall be valid for the purpose of defeating or diminishing any lien upon such property, estate or interest in favor of any such laborer. No assignment by the contractor or any sub-contractor of any moneys due in respect to the contract shall be valid as against any lien given by this Act. As to all liens, except that of the contractor, the whole contract price shall be payable in money, and shall not be diminished by any prior or subsequent indebtedness, offset or counterclaim in favor of the owner against the contractor.

By ch. 20 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by adding thereto the following provisos:—

"Provided, however, that the failure to comply with the provisions of this section respecting the posting of the receipted pay roll and delivery of the same shall not prejudice the right of lien of the contractor or sub-contractor so in default, or his right to maintain an action or other proceeding to enforce the same, but the court or judge on application may at any stage before trial order a stay of proceedings until proof be made to his satisfaction that all workmen employed by such contractor or sub-contractor on such works or improvements have been paid in full, and may in such order limit the time within which such proof may be furnished, and if the same be not furnished to the satisfaction of such court or judge such action may be dismissed and in any such action or proceeding the court or judge may in his discretion award costs against the plaintiff in any event and notwithstanding that he may have successfully maintained his action to judgment."

The effect of this section is that as between the owner and lien-holders an agreement to pay the contract price or any part of it, otherwise than in money is ineffective to discharge the owner. False Creek Lumber Co. v. Sloan, (1911) 17 W.L.R. 525.

This section is intended solely to protect the laborers, and to afford the owner the means of securing himself from liability to the laborers, and non-compliance by the contractor with this section does not prevent his lien coming into existence, or nullify a lien already existing, or prevent the lien-holder from keeping it alive by commencing proceedings. Spears v. Bannerman, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 98.

The latter part of this section applies only to an "indebtedness, offset or counterclaim" by the owner against the contractor arising dehors the contract. False Creek Lumber Co. v. Sloan, (1911) 17 W.L.R. 525. See Ross v. Gorman, 1 Alta. L.R. 516.

The effect of the words of this section is that, as between the owners and the holders of mechanics' liens, an agreement to pay the contract price, or any part of it, otherwise than in money, is ineffective to discharge the owner. The distinction between the agreement to pay in future and actual payment effected in accordance with the agreement is of the greatest importance. The latter part of this section applies only to an "indebtedness, offset or counterclaim" by the owner against the contractor arising dehors the contract. False Creek Lumber Co. v. Sloan, (1911) 17 W.L.R. 525.

This section does not operate so as to prevent payments made by the owner to creditors of the contractor, under an arrangement between the owner and the contractor, from being effective as payments on account of the contract price, in the ascertainment of the amount due from the owner to the contractor, upon which alone the lien of materialmen attaches under sec. 32 of the Act, as amended by sec. 12 of the Statute Law Amendment Act, 1908. Secus, if the arrangement had been one for payment in the future; but, once the arrangement was acted upon and payments were made in pursuance of it, the assignment (if the arrangement amounted to an assignment) ceased to be of importance, and the payments must be regarded as payments to the contractor,—no notice in writing having been given by the plaintiffs,—and the owner was protected to the amount of these payments. Pioneer Lumber Co. v. Rooney, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 913. See False Creek Lumber Co. v. Sloan, 17 W.L.R. 525.

Enforcement.

18. Consolidation of liens.—Any number of lien-holders may be joined in one suit and all suits or proceedings brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all lien-holders who may be made parties to such suits or proceedings within the time mentioned in section 35 hereof:

Provided that the moneys realized in such suit shall be distributed amongst the lien-holders, parties to such suit or proceedings, in the order and manner provided in section 30 of this Act. Any lien-holder not originally joined may be made a party to such suit or proceedings by order of a judge, upon ex parte application supported by an affidavit stating the particulars of the claim, and any lien-holder so joined in any such suit or proceedings shall be deemed to have complied with section 35 of this Act as fully as if he had instituted a suit in his own behalf.

See Gardner v. Gorman, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 106.

19. Owner may apply to have suits consolidated.—If more than one suit is commenced in respect of the same contract, the owner or contractor shall apply to have the causes consolidated, and failing to do so he shall pay the costs of such additional suit or suits. Save as hereinafter mentioned the owner complying with the provisions of this Act shall not be liable for any greater sum than he has agreed to pay by contract.

20. Judge may order consolidation of actions.—If two or more actions are brought in respect of the same contract or work the court or judge may, by order on the application of any person interested, consolidate all the actions, and may make such order as to costs as he shall think fit.

Once an action to enforce a mechanics' lien is commenced, it is improper for another lien-holder, in respect of the same subject-matter, to commence an action, because all suits or proceedings brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all lien-holders who became parties within the time limited for instituting proceedings. Gardner v. Gorman, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 106, 7 W.L.R. 630.

The original secs. 21, 22 and 23 of this Act were repealed by ch. 4 of the Acts of 1909, sec. 10, and the following sections were substituted therefor:—

21. Summary proceedings to enforce liens.—Proceedings to enforce a lien or liens under this Act may be taken before the court or a judge in a summary way by originating summons subject to the provisions in that behalf of The Judicature Ordinance, and of the rules of court, which are now or which shall hereafter be in force in the province. The court or judge upon the return of the summons may either proceed to take the accounts and make the necessary inquiries for the purpose of determining the matter, or he may try or direct the trial of any issue or issues in relation thereto as he shall think necessary, and he may give directions as to the conduct of any such issue, the parties thereto, pleadings, particulars, production and discovery therein (if any such proceedings be by him thought necessary) and any other directions he shall deem advisable for the proper disposal and trial thereof; and in default of payment of any amount that shall be found to be due the court or a judge may direct the sale of the estate or interest charged and such further proceedings may be taken for the purposes aforesaid as the court or judge may think proper, and any conveyance under the seal of such court or judge shall be effectual to pass the estate or interest sold and the fees and costs in all proceedings so taken shall be such as are payable according to the ordinary procedure of the said court, and except as herein otherwise provided the proceedings shall be as nearly as possible according to the practice and procedure in force in the said court.

22. Proceedings by suit.—Proceedings to enforce a lien or liens under this Act may also be taken by suit in the ordinary way, provided, however, that the court or judge before whom such action is tried may in dealing with the question of the costs of such action take into consideration the difference in costs occasioned by reason of an action having been brought instead of proceedings having been taken by originating summons as provided in section 21 hereof, and may make such order as to costs therein, both as between solicitor and client as well as between party and party as to him shall seem just.

23. Appeal to Supreme Court.—There shall be an appeal to the Supreme Court en banc from the decision of the court or a judge hereunder in all matters where the amount of the lien or the total amount of the liens joined in one action or proceedings is $200 or over, but where the amount of the lien or the total amount of the liens so joined is less than $200 the decision of the court or judge of first instance shall be final.

24. Judgment for amount of claim.—Upon the hearing of any claim for a lien the court or judge may so far as the parties before him, or any of them, are debtor and creditor, give judgment against the former in favor of the latter for any indebtedness or liability arising out of the claim in the same manner and to the same extent as if such indebtedness or liability had been sued upon in the said court in the ordinary way, without reference to this Act.

See Mallet v. Kovar, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 327.

25. Summons to show cause why lien should not be cancelled.—Any person against whose property a lien has been registered under the provisions of this Act may apply to the court or judge on an affidavit setting forth the registry of the same, and that hardship or inconvenience is experienced, or is likely to be experienced thereby, with the reasons for such statement, for a summons calling upon the opposite party to show cause why such lien should not be cancelled upon sufficient security being given. Such summons, together with a copy of the affidavit on which the same is granted, shall be served on the opposite party and made returnable in three days after the issuing thereof, or in such greater or less time as the judge may direct.

26. Judge may order cancellation of lien.—On the return of such summons the court or judge may order the cancellation of such lien, either in whole or in part, upon the giving of security by the party against whose property the said lien is registered to the opposite party, in an amount satisfactory to the said court or judge, and upon such other terms, if any, as the court or judge may see fit to impose.

27. On judge's order lien to be cancelled.—The registrar in whose office the said lien is registered shall, on the production of such order, file the same and cause the said lien to be cancelled as to the property affected by the order.

28. In certain cases owner or contractor to pay costs.—When it shall appear to the court or judge in any proceedings to enforce a lien or liens under this Act that such proceedings have arisen from the failure of any owner or contractor to fulfil the terms of his contract or engagement for the work in respect of which the liens are sought to be enforced or to comply with the provisions of this Act such court or judge may order the said owner or contractor, or either of them, to pay all the costs of such proceedings, in addition to the amount of the contract, or sub-contract, or wages due by him or them to any contractor, sub-contractor, or laborer, and may order a final judgment against such contractor or owner, or either of them, in default, for such costs, with execution as provided in section 21 of this Act.

See Pioneer Lumber Co. v. Rooney, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 913, where costs of the plaintiffs were adjusted in view of all the circumstances, including the fact that the plaintiffs might have proceeded by way of originating summons instead of by action.

29. Leasehold property.—If the property sold in any proceedings under this Act shall be a leasehold interest, the purchaser at any such sale shall be deemed to be the assignee of such lease.

30. Distribution of moneys realized under Act.—All moneys realized by proceedings under this Act shall be applied and distributed in the following order:—

FIRST. The costs of all the lien-holders of and incidental to the proceedings, and of registering and proving the liens;

SECOND. Six weeks' wages (if so much be owing) of all laborers employed by the owner, contractor or sub-contractor;

THIRD. The several amounts owing for material, placed or furnished, in respect of the works or improvements;

FOURTH. The amounts owing the sub-contractor and other persons employed by the owner and contractor;

FIFTH. The amount owing the contractor.

(2) Each class of lien-holders shall rank pari passu for their several amounts, and the portions of said moneys available for distribution shall be distributed among the lien-holders pro rata according to their several classes and rights.

(3) Any balance of said moneys remaining after all the above amounts have been distributed shall be payable to the owner or other person legally entitled thereto:

Provided, however, that when any laborer has more than six weeks' wages owing to him by any sub-contractor, contractor or owner, the court or judge shall cause the extra sum beyond six weeks' wages to be deducted out of any sum actually coming under the above distribution to such sub-contractor, contractor or owner, and shall order the same to be paid to such laborer.

31. Device to defeat priority of wage-earners void.—Every device by an owner, contractor or sub-contractor, adopted to defeat the priority given to wage-earners for their wages by this Act shall, as against such wage-earners, be null and void.

32. Owner's liability as to wages unpaid by contractor.—No lien, except for not more than six weeks' wages in favor of laborers shall attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum owing and payable by the owner to the contractor.

By chapter 20 of the Acts of 1908 this section was repealed and the following substituted:—

32. Owner's liability as to wages.—No lien, except for not more than six weeks' wages in favor of laborers, shall attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum owing by the owner to the contractor at the time of the receipt by the owner or person having superintendence of the work on behalf of the owner, of notice in writing of such lien and of the amount thereof; or which may become owing by the owner to the contractor at any time subsequent thereto while such lien is in effect.

(2) What latest notice shall contain.—Where more than one such notice is given by a lien-holder to the owner in regard to material furnished to the same contractor the lien-holder shall in the latest notice so given state the total amount or balance owing at the time of the giving of such latest notice by the contractor to the lien-holder, and in default of such total amount or balance being so stated it shall, with respect to any payments made by the owner, be taken to be the amount of the lien mentioned in the said latest notice and no lien or liens of such lien-holder shall attach so as to make the owner liable for more than the amount or the total amount or balance so ascertained.

(3) Statement of lien-holder.—Where notice of a lien has been given as in this section provided the lien-holder shall upon request furnish to the contractor or owner a statement in writing of the amount or balance due and payable in respect of the material, for the supplying or furnishing of which such lien is claimed, and no lien or liens of such lien-holder for material supplied or furnished up to the time of the giving of such statement shall attach so as to make the owner liable for any greater sum than is so stated.

(4) Court may order statement to be given.—The contractor or owner may apply to the court by originating summons as set out in The Judicature Ordinance to compel any lien-holder who refuses or neglects to do so, to furnish such a statement as in the next preceding sub-section required or with respect to the accuracy of any statement furnished in accordance with the provisions of this section, and the court may upon such application make such order in the premises and as to the costs of the application as to the court shall seem just.

33. Materials exempt from execution.—Where any mechanic, artisan, machinist, builder, miner, contractor or any other person has furnished or procured materials for use in the construction, alteration or repair of any building, erection or mine at the request of and for some other person, such materials shall not be subject to execution or other process to enforce any debt (other than for the purchase thereof) due by the person furnishing or procuring such materials, and whether the same have or have not been in whole or in part worked into or made part of such building or erection.

34. Enforcing liens for the improvement of chattels.—Every mechanic or other person who has bestowed money or skill and materials upon any chattel in the alteration and improvement of its properties, or increasing its value, so as thereby to become entitled to a lien upon such chattel or thing for the amount or value of the money, skill, or materials bestowed, shall, while such lien exists but not afterwards, in case the amount to which he is entitled remains unpaid for three months after the same ought to have been paid, have power to sell the chattel in respect of which the lien exists, on giving two weeks' notice by advertisement in a newspaper published in the city, town or judicial district in which the work was done, or in case there is no newspaper published in such city, town or judicial district, then in a newspaper published nearest thereto, stating the name of the person indebted, the amount of his indebtedness, a description of the chattel to be sold, the time and place of sale; and after such sale such mechanic or other person shall apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the amount due to him, and the costs of advertising and sale, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) to the person entitled thereto on application being made to him therefor and a notice in writing of the resul of the sale shall be left at or posted to the address of the owne at his last known place of abode or business.

Expiration, Cancellation and Discharge.

35. When a lien shall expire.—Every lien shall absolutely cease to exist after the expiration of thirty days after the filing of the affidavit mentioned in section 13 of this Act unless the claimant in the meantime shall have instituted proceedings to realize his lien under the provisions of this Act and a certificate thereof (which may be granted by the court or judge in which or before whom the proceedings are instituted) is duly filed in the land titles office of the land registration district wherein the property in respect of which the lien is claimed is situated.

By ch. 5 of the Acts of 1907, this section was amended by adding immediately after the words "instituted" in the seventh line thereof the words "or by the clerk of such court."

By ch. 20 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by striking out the word "thirty" in the second line and substituting therefor the word "ninety."

In computing the statutory period, fractions of a day will not be counted. Clarke v. Moore, (1907) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405, 411.

As to defect constituting ground for vacating registration, see Horne v. Jenkyn, 6 D.L.R. 55.

36. When a registered lien shall be cancelled.—The registrar of the land registration district shall, on receiving a certificate under the seal of the clerk of the court wherein any action in respect of any lien registered in the land titles office within the jurisdiction of such registrar is pending, stating the names of the lien-holders, parties to such action and that the amount due by the owner in respect of such liens has been ascertained and paid into court in pursuance of an order of such court or judge or that the property has been sold to realize such liens or that such lien has been improperly filed or that such lien has otherwise ceased to exist or, on receiving a statement in writing signed by the claimant or his agent that the lien has been satisfied, cancel all liens registered by such parties.

37. Receipted pay rolls of woodman's wages must be produced.—Every person making or entering into any contract, engagement or agreement with any other person for the purpose of furnishing, supplying or obtaining timber or logs, by which it is requisite or necessary to engage and employ workmen and laborers in the obtaining, supplying and furnishing such logs or timber as aforesaid, shall, before making any payment for, or on behalf of, or under such contract, engagement or agreement, of any sum of money, or by kind, require such person to whom payment is to be made to produce and furnish a pay roll or sheet of the wages and amount due and owing and of the payment thereof, which pay roll or sheet may be in the form of Schedule C annexed to this Act, or if not paid, the amount of wages or pay due and owing to all the workmen or laborers employed or engaged on or under such contract, engagement or agreement, at the time when the said logs or timber is delivered or taken in charge for or by or on behalf of the person so making such payment and receiving the timber or logs.

38. Person not requiring production of receipted pay roll shall be liable at suit of workmen.—Any person making any payment under such contract, engagement or agreement without requiring the production of the pay roll or sheet as mentioned in section 37 of this Act shall be liable at the suit of any workman or laborer so engaged under said contract, engagement, or agreement, for the amount of pay so due and owing to said workman, or laborer, under said contract, engagement or agreement.

39. Sums mentioned in pay roll as unpaid to be retained.—The person to whom such pay roll or sheet is given shall retain, for the use of the laborers or workmen whose names are set out in such pay roll or sheet, the sums set opposite their respective names which have not been paid, and the receipt or receipts of such laborers or workmen shall be a sufficient discharge therefor.

40. Judges may make rules of court.—The judges of the said court, or any two of them, may make general rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, for expediting and facilitating the business before such court under this Act, and for the advancement of the interests of suitors therein.

41. Construction of this Act.—Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to affect any mechanics' lien filed or registered or the rights or liabilities of any person by or against whose property any mechanics' lien has been filed or registered prior to the coming into force of this Act; and all such liens may be enforced in the same manner as though this Act had not been passed.

42. Repeal.—Save as herein provided the Mechanics' Lien Ordinance of the North-West Territories and all amendments thereto are hereby repealed.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA MECHANICS' LIEN ACT.

CHAPTER 154.

AN ACT RESPECTING LIENS OF MECHANICS, WAGE-EARNERS, AND OTHERS.

HIS MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia, enacts as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be cited as "The Mechanics' Lien Act," 1910, ch. 31, sec. 1.

2. Interpretation.—In the construction of this Act:—

1. "Contractor."—"Contractor" means a person contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the doing of work or service, or placing or furnishing material for any of the purposes mentioned in this Act;

2. "Sub-contractor."—"Sub-contractor" means a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the purpose aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by the contractor, or under him by another sub-contractor, to do the whole or a certain portion of the work, or to place or furnish material, but a person doing manual or mental labor for wages shall not be deemed a sub-contractor;

3. "Owner."—"Owner" means and shall extend to and include a person having any estate or interest, legal or equitable, in the lands upon or in respect of which the work or service is done, or material is placed or furnished, at whose request and upon whose credit, or on whose behalf, or with whose privity or consent, or for whose direct benefit any such work or service is done, or material is placed or furnished, and all persons claiming under him whose rights are acquired after the work or service in respect of which the lien is claimed is commenced or the material placed or furnished have been commenced to be furnished;

4. "Laborer."—"Laborer" means and shall extend to and include every mechanic, miner, artisan, builder, or other person doing labor for wages;

5. "Person."—"Person" includes a body corporate, firm, partnership, or association;

6. "The judge."—"The judge" means the judge of the County Court of the district in which the premises upon which the works or improvements are being carried on are situate;

7. "Works or improvements."—"Works or improvements" shall include every act or undertaking for which a lien may be claimed under this Act;

8. "Material."—"Material" shall include every kind of movable property;

9. "Wages."—"Wages" means money earned by a laborer for work done, whether by time or as piece-work;

10. "Mortgage."—"Mortgage" [See section 9, sub-section (a), of this Act.] 1910, ch. 31, sec. 2.

The holder of a special timber license has no estate in the land itself chargeable under the Mechanics' Lien Act. Rofuse v. Hunter, (1906) 12 B.C.R. 126, 3 W.L.R. 381, but the holder of a working option on a mining claim comes within the definition of "owner" as he has an equitable estate. Anderson v. Godsall, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 404. See reference to this case in Scratch v. Anderson, (1909) 16 W.L.R. 145. See Fortin v. Pound, 1 W.L.R. 333.

L. bought property from T. for $1,200, paid $50 down, balance to be payable immediately, and took possession and erected buildings, etc. Plaintiff supplied lumber for these and claimed lien against L. and T. It was held, following Anderson v. Godsall, 7 B.C.R. 404, that the lien only extended to the equitable interest of L., and that claim against T. should be dismissed. B. C. Timber and Trading Co. v. Lebery, (1902) 22 C.L.T. 273.

A lien for materials cannot exist unless expressly created by the statute. Albion I. Works v. A.O.U.W., (1895) 5 B.C.R. 122, note.

3. Act not to apply to public street.—Nothing in this Act shall extend to any public street or highway, or to any work or improvement done or caused to be done by a municipal corporation thereon. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 3.

4. Contracting out by laborer forbidden.—(1) Every agreement, verbal or written, express or implied, on the part of any laborer or other person employed in any kind of manual labor intended to be dealt with in this Act, that this Act shall not apply, or that the remedies provided by it shall not be available for the benefit of such person, shall be null and void.

2. Exception.—This section shall not apply to a manager, officer, or foreman, or to any other person whose wages are more than five dollars per day. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 4.

5. Husband to be deemed wife's agent.—Where work or service is done or material is furnished upon or in respect of the land of a married woman, with the privity and consent of her husband, he shall be conclusively presumed to be acting as well for himself so as to bind his own interest, and also as her agent for the purposes of this Act, unless before doing such work or service, or furnishing such material, the person doing or furnishing the same shall have had actual notice to the contrary. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 5.

As to agency of husband see Lawrence v. Landsberg, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 477. See also notes under corresponding section in Ontario Act.

As to meaning of word "owner," see British Columbia Timber & Trading Co. v. Leberry, 22 C.L.T. 273.

NATURE OF LIENS.

6. Mechanics, miners, contractors, materialmen, and others to have lien.—Unless there is an agreement in writing to the contrary, signed by such person, and in that case subject to the provisions of section 4, every person—

(1) Who does work or service or causes work or service to be done upon, or places or furnishes any material to be used in the making, constructing, erecting, altering, or repairing, either in whole or in part of, or adding to, any erection, building, railway, tramway, road, bridge, trestle-work, wharf, pier, mine, quarry, well, excavation, embankment, sidewalk, sewer, drain, ditch, flume, tunnel, aqueduct, dyke, or other work, or the appurtenances to any of them, or improving any street, road, or sidewalk adjacent thereto, for any owner, contractor, or sub-contractor, or who does such work, or causes such work to be done, and places or furnishes any such material; or

(2) Who does such work or service, or causes work or service to be done, or places or furnishes any material for or in respect of clearing, excavating, filling, grading, or ditching any land for any owner, contractor, or sub-contractor, or who does such work, or causes such work to be done, and places or furnishes any such material,—

shall, by virtue thereof, have a lien for the price of such work, service, or material, or work, service, and material, upon—

(a) Said erection, building, railway, tramway, road, bridge, trestle-work, wharf, pier, mine, quarry, well, excavation, embankment, sidewalk, sewer, drain, ditch, flume, tunnel, aqueduct, dyke, or other work, and the appurtenances to any of them:

(b) The material so placed or furnished for said works or improvements:

(c) The lands occupied or benefited thereby or enjoyed therewith, or upon or in respect of which such work or service is done, or upon which such material is placed or furnished to be used:

Provided that no lien for material supplied shall attach or be enforced unless the person placing or furnishing the same shall before delivery, or within ten days thereafter, give notice in writing of his intention to claim such lien. Such notice shall be given to the owner or his agent, or to such person and in such manner as the judge may, on summary application, order. Such notice may be given in respect of any specific delivery, or in respect of all deliveries of material made within ten days prior to such notice, and all deliveries subsequent thereto. Such notice may be in the form or to the effect of Schedule A to this Act. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 6.

A laborer who worked for a contractor who was employed to clear a quantity of land for the purpose of cultivation has no lien under this Act. Black v. Hughes, (1902) 22 C.L.T. 220.

As to notice, see Coughlan v. National, (1909) 11 W.L.R. 202, 491; Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1905) 2 W.L.R. 319. As to appropriation of payment on account, see British Columbia Mills, etc., Co. v. Horrobin, (1907) 12 B.C.R. 426, 5 W.L.R. 275; Lemon v. Dunsmuir, (1907) 5 W.L.R. 505.

Where sub-contractors completed their work, as they thought, but upon a test it was ascertained that the work could not effectively serve the purpose for which it was intended, and after an unavoidable delay of several months, further work was done to increase the efficiency of the earlier work, it was held that this later work was substantial work, and not work that could be described as being done to remedy slight defects, and the sub-contractors having acted in good faith, the lien was registered in time. Whimster v. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., (1910) 13 W.L.R. 621. See Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1908) 2 W.L.R. 319.

As to work done after acceptance of building and after final certificate of architect, see Lawrence v. Landsberg, (1910) 14 W.L.R. 477. As to attempt of sub-contractor to preserve lien after time for filing lien had expired, see Sheritt v. McCallum, (1910) 12 W.L.R. 637.

Where the land is misdescribed the court will not give leave to amend. Rafuse v. Hunter, 12 B.C.R. 126.

Under the sections of the Mechanics' Lien Act, relating to woodmen's wages, a person by requiring only the production of the pay-roll is not relieved of liability to the workmen for the amounts due them from the contractor; he must have produced to him a receipted pay-roll, shewing that the wages were actually paid by the contractor. Young v. West Kootenay Shingle Co., (1905) 11 B.C.R. 171, 1 W.L.R. 184.

Whether material is supplied in good faith for the purpose of completing a contract, or as a pretext to revive a right to file a lien, is a question of fact for the trial judge, and his decision as to such fact should govern. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1905) 11 B.C.R. 375, 2 W.L.R. 319. As to implied request of owner, see Fortin v. Pound, (1905) 1 W.L.R. 333.

Whether authority has been conferred on an agent is a question of fact, and such authority may be inferred by acts of recognition. Sayward v. Dunsmuir, 11 B.C.R. 375.

In an action by the assignee of an architect against the owner, the latter's objection that the architect had not posted upon the buildings or delivered to the owner a receipted pay-roll shewing payment of the wages of the foreman, draftsman, and other employees of the architect, in compliance with sec. 15 of the Mechanics' Lien Act, not being raised in the pleadings and no evidence being given upon it, the owner could not avail herself of this defence. Sickler v. Spencer, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 557. In this action it was held upon the evidence that there was such a substantial performance of the contract of the architect as to entitle him or his assignee to a lien, although a trifling part of the material contracted for had not been supplied by one of the contractors at the time he received his final certificate from the architect. Sickler v. Spencer, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 557.

The Act is not so broad in its scope as to charge one lot for services rendered upon another lot because the person rendering the service upon each lot did so under an indivisible contract. Barr & Anderson v. Percy & Co., (1912) 21 W.L.R. 236. See Where part of a claim is for materials and part for labor, the particulars stated in the affidavit for lien being "the putting in bath tubs, wash tubs, hot and cold water connections, all necessary pipes, boiler and hot water furnace and waste pipes, $220," were held insufficient as including two classes (Davie, C.J., dissenting). Weller v. Shupe, (1897) 6 B.C.R. 58. Where the two classes of charges for labor and for materials are so mingled, the contract being entire, that they cannot be determined respectively, there is no lien for either. Gogin v. Walsh, (1878) 124 Mass. 516; Clark v. Kingsley, (1864) 8 Allen (Mass.) 543; Driscoll v. Hill, (1865) 11 Allen (Mass.) 154.

A lien for materials cannot exist unless expressly created by the statute. Albion I. Works v. A.O.U.W., (1895) 5 B.C.R. 122, note. A lien may be enforced upon a quantum meruit. Fuller v. Beach, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 391.

The right to a declaration of a lien is wholly statutory, and is enforceable only in the manner provided by the statute and the Act is not broad enough to charge one lot for services rendered upon another lot, because the person rendering the service upon each lot did so under an indivisible contract. Barr & Anderson v. Percy & Co., (1912) 21 W.L.R. 236.

The Act does not give a lien for cooking. Anderson v. Godsal, 7 B.C.R. 404.

Mechanics' liens were filed against mining claims and judgment recovered on them in the County Court. On the same day a winding-up order was made in the Supreme Court. Subsequently the liquidator obtained an order to give first lien on property in order to get funds to take out Crown grants. The lien-holders were not notified of this application and did not appear. They did not appeal, but applied for leave to enforce their judgment in priority to charge given by liquidator. Held, that liquidator's order was made without jurisdiction and that lien-holders were not bound by it. Re Ibex Mining and Development Co., (1902) 9 B.C.R. 557.

Plaintiff was employed by Green as a logger. Green had a contract with defendant company. In an action to enforce mechanics' lien for wages it appeared that prior to this action plaintiff and sixteen others obtained a judgment against Green under the Woodman's Lien Act for gross amount of their wages and had seized the logs and sold. Held, that they could not get another judgment under the Mechanics' Lien Act for the same claim. Wake v. C.P. Lumber Co., (1901) 8 B.C.R. 358.

7. Amount to which lien is limited.—The amount of such lien shall not exceed the sum actually owing to the person entitled to the lien, and distribution of any moneys derived from the realization of the liens shall be made in accordance with section 36 of this Act. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 7.

8. Owner's liability as to wages unpaid by contractor.—With the exception of liens in favor of laborers for not more than six weeks' wages, no lien shall attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum payable by the owner to the contractor:

Provided that this clause shall not be construed to apply to liens under section 11 hereof. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 8.

9. Liens on mortgaged premises.—Where works or improvements are put upon mortgaged premises, the liens, by virtue of this Act, shall be prior to such mortgage as against the increase in value of the mortgaged premises by reason of such works or improvements, but no further, unless the same is done at the request of the mortgagee in writing; and the amount of such increase shall be ascertained upon the basis of the selling value upon taking of the account, or by the trial of an issue as provided in section 31 hereof, and thereupon the judge may, if he shall consider the works or improvements of sufficient value to justify the proceedings, order the mortgaged premises to be sold at an upset price equal to the selling value of the premises immediately prior to the commencement of such works or improvements (to be ascertained as aforesaid), and any sum realized in excess of such upset price shall be subject to the liens provided for by this Act. The moneys equal to the upset prices as aforesaid shall be applied towards the said mortgage or mortgages, according to their priority. Nothing, however, in this section shall prevent the lien from attaching upon the equity of redemption or other interest of the owner of the land subject to such mortgage or charge:

(a) Interpretation of "mortgage."—"Mortgage" in this section shall not include any part of the principal sum secured thereby not actually advanced to the borrower at the time the works or improvements are commenced, and shall include a vendor's lien and an agreement for the purchase of land; and for the purposes of this Act, and within the meaning thereof, the purchaser shall be deemed a mortgagor, and the seller a mortgagee. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 9.

Mechanics' liens had been filed against the property of a company and judgment recovered in respect to them in the County Court. On the same day as the judgment a winding-up order was made in the Supreme Court. Subsequently the liquidator obtained an order authorizing him to give a first charge on the property of the company in order to raise money to take out certain Crown grants of property to which the company was entitled. The lien-holders had no notice of the application, and did not appear on the hearing. They did not appeal, but applied for leave to enforce their judgment in priority to the charge created by the liquidator under the order of court. Held, that the order made on the application of the liquidator was made without jurisdiction, and the lien-holders were not bound by it. Re Ibex Mining and Development Co., (1902) 9 B.C.R. 557.

10. Owner deemed to have authorized works.—All works or improvements mentioned in section 6 of this Act constructed upon any lands with the knowledge, but not at the request, of the owner, or his authorized agent, or the person having or claiming any interest therein, shall be held to have been constructed at the instance and request of such owner or person having or claiming any interest therein: Provided this section shall not apply to any works or improvements done after there has been posted, on at least two conspicuous places upon said land, or upon the works or improvements thereon, by authority of such owner or person, a notice in writing that he will not be responsible for such works or improvements, or after actual notice in writing to the above effect has reached the person claiming a lien under the provisions of this Act. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 10.

This section does not apply to any case already provided for by sec. 6, but only applies where the actual owner had not authorized the works or improvements, which were authorized by the supposed owner, the actual owner standing by, and allowing the work to be done in order to take advantage of it. The governing phrase in sec. 6 is "at the request of the owner." The holder of a working option comes within the definition of "owner," as he has an equitable estate. Anderson v. Godsall, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 404. Irving, J., dissented in this case and held that this section (or rather a former section corresponding to this one) incorporated the words of sec. 6 as to "other improvements," and therefore included "excavating land in respect to a mine," and was therefore applicable in the case of work done on a mining claim which appears, from the agreement, to have been done for the direct benefit of the owner, and subject to the inspection of his engineer.

11. Owner's liability for works on premises held under option.—Notwithstanding anything in the last preceding section contained, all works or improvements mentioned in section 6 of this Act placed upon premises held under option or working bond where the grantee of the option is required or permitted by the grantor of such option to make works, or improvements thereon, shall, for the purpose of creating a lien, be held to have been constructed at the instance and request of the owner of such premises, and the grantor of such option and the liens by virtue of this Act shall attach and be enforceable against the interest both of the owner of the said premises and the grantor of such option. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 11.

12. Insurance moneys.—Where any of the property upon which a lien is given by this Act is wholly or partly destroyed by fire, any insurance receivable thereon by the owner, prior mortgagee, or chargee shall take the place of the property so destroyed, and shall, after satisfying any prior mortgage or charge in the manner and to the extent set out in section 9 of this Act, be subject to the claims of all persons for liens to the same extent as if such moneys were realized by the sale of such property in action to enforce a lien. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 12.

SECURITY.

13. Lien-holder may demand particulars of contract.—Any lien-holder or person entitled to a lien may at any time demand of the owner, or his agent, the terms of the contract or agreement with the contractor for and in respect of which the work is done or material is furnished or placed, and a statement of the amount due or unpaid thereunder; and if such owner or his agent—

(a) Does not at the time of such demand, or within a reasonable time thereafter, inform the person making such demand of the parties to and general terms of such contract or agreement, and the amount due or unpaid on such contract or agreement; or

and if the person claiming the lien sustains loss by reason of such refusal, or neglect, or false statement, such owner shall be liable to him in an action therefor to the amount of such loss. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 13.

14. Owner may demand particulars from lien-holder.—Any owner or other person who may be liable for the payment therefor may at any time demand from any contractor or sub-contractor performing work, or person who has given notice that he intends to claim a lien for materials, the terms of and parties to any contract or agreement under which he is performing work or placing or furnishing material, and a statement of account under same to the date of such demand; and if such contractor, sub-contractor, or person, or his agent—

(a) Does not at the time of such demand, or within reasonable time thereafter, inform the person making the demand of the terms of such contract or agreement, and the amount due or unpaid on such contract or agreement; and furnish the account as demanded; or

and if the owner or person making such demand sustains loss by reason of such refusal, neglect, or false statement, such contractor, sub-contractor, or person shall be liable to him in an action therefor to the amount of such loss, and, in any event, the lien of such contractor, sub-contractor, or person shall be limited by the statement given or furnished. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 14.

15. Receipted pay-rolls to be posted on works.—No owner shall be required to make any payment to any contractor or sub-contractor in respect of any contract where the contract price exceeds five hundred dollars until such contractor, or sub-contractor, or some person in charge of the works or improvements shall post upon the works or improvements a copy of the receipted pay-roll from the hour of twelve o'clock noon to the hour of one o'clock p.m., on the first legal day after pay-day, and shall have delivered to the owner, or other person acting on his behalf, the original pay-roll containing the names of all laborers and persons placing or furnishing materials who have done work, or placed or furnished material for him upon such works or improvements, with a receipt in full from each of the said laborers and persons placing or furnishing material with the amounts which were due and had been paid to each of them set opposite their respective names, which pay-roll may be in the form in Schedule B hereto, or until the time for filing liens in respect of such works or improvements shall have expired; and no payment made by the owner without the delivery of such pay-roll shall be valid for the purpose of defeating or diminishing any lien upon such property, estate, or interest in favour of any such laborer or person placing or furnishing material. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 15.

An objection alleging non-compliance with a provision somewhat similar to the one in this section in regard to posting upon the buildings and delivering to the owner a receipted pay-roll, is not available unless it has been raised in the pleadings and evi-

16. Assignment by contractor not to defeat lien.—No assignment by the contractor or any sub-contractor of any moneys due in respect of the contract shall be valid as against any lien given by this Act. As to all liens, except that of the contractor, the whole contract price shall be payable in money, and shall not be diminished by any prior or subsequent indebtedness, set-off, or counterclaim in favor of the owner against the contractor. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 16.

17. During continuance of lien property must not be removed.—During the continuance of any lien, no portion of the property affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of such lien, and any attempt at such removal may be restrained on application to the Judge. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 17.

18. Devices to defeat priority of wage-earners void.—Every device by an owner, contractor, or sub-contractor adopted to defeat the priority given to wage-earners for their wages by this Act shall, as against such wage-earners, be null and void. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 18.

Registration and Transmission.

19. Lien expires in thirty-one days after completion of work, unless registered.—Every lien upon any such erection, building, railway, tramway, road, bridge, trestle-work, wharf, pier, mine, quarry, well, excavation, embankment sidewalk, sewer, drain, ditch, flume, tunnel, aqueduct, dyke, works, or improvements, the appurtenances to any of them, material or lands, shall absolutely cease to exist,—

(1) In the case of a claim for lien by a contractor or sub-contractor, after the expiration of thirty-one days after the completion of the contract:

(2) In the case of a claim for lien for materials, after the expiration of thirty-one days after the furnishing or placing of the last materials so furnished or placed:

(3) In the case of a claim for lien for services, after the expiration of thirty-one days after the completion of services:

(4) In the case of a claim for lien for wages, after thirty-one days after the last work is done for which the lien is claimed (except in the case of a claim for wages owing for work in, at, or about a mine, in which case the lien shall cease after the expiration of sixty days after the last work is done for which the lien is claimed): Provided, however, that any laborer shall not be held to have ceased work upon any erection, building, railway, tramway, road, bridge, trestle-work, wharf, pier, mine, quarry, well, excavation, embankment, sidewalk, sewer, drain, ditch, flume, tunnel, aqueduct, dyke, works, or improvements, or land, until the completion of the same, if he has in the meantime been employed upon any other work by the same contractor,— unless in the meantime the person claiming the lien shall file in the nearest County Court registry, in the county wherein the land is situate, an affidavit, sworn before any person authorized to take oaths, stating in substance—

(a) The name and residence of the claimant, and the name of the owner of the property or interest to be charged:

(b) The particulars of the kind of works, services, improvements, or materials done, made, or furnished:

(c) The time when the works, services, or improvements were finished or discontinued, or the materials furnished or placed:

(d) The sum claimed to be owing, and when due:

(e) The description of the property to be charged:

and shall within the respective times hereinbefore in this section mentioned file in the land registry office of the land registry district within the limits of which the lands, mines, or premises in respect of which the lien is claimed are situate a duplicate or a copy certified by the said County Court registrar to be a true copy of such affidavit, which duplicate or certified copy of such affidavit shall be received and filed in the said land registry office as a lien against the property, interest, or estate against which the lien is claimed. Every County Court registrar shall be supplied with printed forms of such affidavits, in blank, which may be in the form or to the effect of Schedule C to this Act, and which shall be supplied to every person requesting the same and desiring to file a lien. Every County Court registrar shall keep an alphabetical index of all claimants of liens, and the persons against whom such liens are claimed, which index shall be open for inspection during office hours, and it shall be the duty of such County Court registrar to decide whether his is or is not the proper office for the filing of such affidavit, and to direct the applicant accordingly; and no affidavit shall be adjudged insufficient on the ground that it was not filed in the proper County Court registry. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 19. (Redrawn.)

Where sub-contractors completed their work, as they thought, but upon a test it was ascertained that the work could not effectively serve the purpose for which it was intended, and, after an unavoidable delay of several months, further work was done to increase the efficiency of the earlier work, it was held that this later work was substantial work, and not work that could be described as being done to remedy slight defects, and the sub-contractors having acted in good faith, the lien was registered in time. Whimster v. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., (1910) 13 W.L.R. 621. See Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1905) 2 W.L.R. 319, 11 B.C.R. 375.

A statement of claim did not disclose the kind of materials furnished. Held, defective, but as the lien is operative when registered and action brought and certificate of lis pendens registered, it was held that plaintiff's lien was not prejudiced.

Completion may be considered as dating from the doing of a little "touching up," if such work be a part of the work necessary under the contract. Fuller v. Beach, (1912) 21 W.L.R. 391.

20. Mode of construing last preceding section.—A substantial compliance only with the last preceding section shall be required, and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of failure to comply with any of the requisites thereof, unless, in the opinion of the judge adjudicating upon the lien under the said Act, the owner, contractor, sub-contractor, mortgagee, or some other person is prejudiced thereby, and then only to the extent to which he is prejudiced, and the judge may allow the affidavit, statement of claim, plaint, and summons to be amended accordingly; and may allow the addition or substitution of all proper parties to the claim of lien, and the action to enforce the same, although the time for filing the affidavit mentioned in the said last preceding section, and instituting proceedings under section 23 hereof, shall have, or either of them has, expired. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 20.

But where the land sought to be charged by a lien is misdescribed in the lien affidavit the court will not give leave to amend by correcting the description, as that would in effect be creating a lien, and the statute provides a specific mode for creating a lien. Rafuse v. Hunter, (1906) 12 B.C.R. 126.

An affidavit stating that work finished or discontinued "on or about" a stated date was held sufficient. Holden v. Bright Prospects G. M. Co., (1899) 6 B.C.R. 439.

Particulars of claim in affidavit for lien were:—"The putting in bath-tubs, wash-tubs, hot and cold water connections, all necessary pipes, boiler and hot water furnace and waste pipes, $220. Part was for material and part for labor. It was held (Davie, C.J., dissenting), that the statement was fatally defective, as including two classes, in regard to one of which there was no statutory lien. Davie, C.J., was of the opinion that the particulars were sufficient and that the separation of the price of the labor from that of the material was a function of the court exercisenble at the trial. Weller v. Shupe, (1897) 6 B.C.R. 58. In another case the particulars for lien were: "Brick and stone work and setting tiles in the house situate upon the land hereinafter described, for which I claim the balance of $123." Held, insuffieient. Knott v. Cline, (1896) 5 B.C.R. 120.

Under the Mechanics' Lien Act of 1888 it was held that the affidavit must be strictly followed in order to validate the lien. Smith v. McIntosh, (1893) 3 B.C.R. 26.

21. No lien to be filed for less than $20.—No lien shall be filed unless the elnim or joined claims shall amount to or aggregate twenty dollars or more. 1910, eh. 31, sec. 21.

22. Liens pass on death to legal representatives or may be assigned.—In the event of the death of the lien-holder, his lien shall pass to his personal representatives, and the right of a lien-holder may be assigned by any instrument in writing, subject to the limitation contained in section 16 hereof. 1910, eh. 31, see. 22.

The lien of an architect is assignable, and when assigned, every remedy for its enforeement goes with it, and the action is maintainable in the name of the assignee. Seckler v. Spencer, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 557.

Expiration, Cancellation and Discharge.

23. When a lien shall expire.—Every lien shall absolutely cease to exist after the expiration of thirty-one days after the filing of the affidavit mentioned in section 19 of this Act, unless the claimant in the meantime shall have instituted proceedings to realize his lien under the provisions of this Act in the County Court registry in which the lien was filed, or unless in the meantime the consent in writing, signed by the owner or party whose interest is charged, extending the existence of said lien for a period named in said consent, is filed in the County Court registry in which the lien was filed. Said consent may be in the form or to the effect of Schedule D to this Act. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 23.

See Dunn v. Holbrook, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 503, and compare Neill v. Carroll, (1880) 28 Gr. 34, 399; Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 O.A.R. 592; and McNamara v. Kirkland, (1891) 18 O.A.R. 270.

24. Cancellation of lien.—(1) The County Court registrar shall cancel any lien when the amount due in respect thereof has been ascertained and paid into court in pursuance of an order of the court or judge, or the property has been sold to realize such lien, or such lien has been improperly filed or has otherwise ceased to exist, or on receiving a statement in writing, signed by the claimant or his agent, that the lien has been satisfied.

(2) Upon such cancellation the County Court registrar shall issue a certificate thereof to the owner, and the registrar-general or district registrar of titles (as the case may be) shall, upon the production of such certificate of cancellation, cancel the registration of such lien in the books of the land registry office. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 24. (Part new.)

The certificate of action required by this section must be filed within the time therein limited, otherwise the lien ceases to exist. Dunn v. Holbrook, (1899) 7 B.C.R. 503.

25. Summons to show cause why lien should not be cancelled.—Any person against whose property a lien has been registered under this Act may apply to the judge, on an affidavit setting forth registry of the same, and that hardship or inconvenience is experienced, or is likely to be experienced thereby, with the reasons for such statement, for a summons calling upon the opposite party to show cause why such lien should not be cancelled upon sufficient security being given. Such summons, together with a copy of the affidavit on which the same is granted, shall be served on the opposite party and made returnable in three days after the issuing thereof, or in such greater or less time, as the judge may direct. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 25.

26. Judge may order cancellation of lien.—On the return of such summons, the judge may order the cancellation of such lien, either in whole or in part, upon the giving of security by the party against whose property the said lien is registered to the opposite party, in an amount satisfactory to the judge, and upon such other terms (if any) as the judge may see fit to impose. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 26.

27. On judge's order lien to be cancelled.—The County Court registrar and the registrar-general or district registrar of titles (as the case may be) in whose office the said lien is registered shall, on the production of such order, or an office copy thereof, file the same and cause the said lien to be cancelled as to the property affected by the order. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 27.

ENFORCEMENT.

28. Consolidated liens.—Any number of lien-holders may be joined in one suit, and all suits or proceedings brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all lien-holders who may be made parties to such suits or proceedings within the time mentioned in section 23 hereof: Provided that the moneys realized in such suit shall be distributed amongst the lien-holders, parties to such suit or proceedings, in the order and manner provided in section 36 of this Act. Any lien-holder not originally joined may, within the time mentioned in section 23 hereof, be made a party to such suit or proceedings by order of the judge, upon ex parte application, supported by an affidavit stating the particulars of the claim, and any lien-holder so joined in any such suit or proceedings shall be deemed to have complied with section 23 of this Act as fully as if he instituted a suit in his own behalf. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 28.

29. Owner or contractor may apply to have suits consolidated.—If more than one suit is commenced in respect of the same contract, the owner or contractor shall apply to have the causes consolidated, and failing to do so he shall pay the costs of such additional suit or suits. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 29.

See Coughlan v. National Construction Co., (1909) 14 B.C.R. 339.

31. Suits to be brought in County Court.—Whatever the amount of lien or liens, proceedings to realize same may be taken before the judge, who is hereby authorized and empowered to proceed in a summary manner by summons and order, and he may take accounts and make requisite inquiries, try issues, and in default of payment may direct the sale of the estate or interest charged, and such further proceedings may be taken for the purpose aforesaid as the judge may think proper in his discretion, and any conveyance under his seal shall be effectual to pass the estate or interest sold. And, when not otherwise provided, the proceedings shall be, as nearly as possible, according to the practice and procedure in force in the County Court; and when these are no guide, the practice and procedure used in the Supreme Court shall be followed. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 31.

32. Leasehold property.—If the property sold in any proceedings under this Act shall be a leasehold interest, the purchaser of any such sale shall be deemed to be the assignee of such lease. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 32.

33. In certain cases owner or contractor to pay costs.—When it shall appear to the judge in any proceedings to enforce a lien or liens under this Act that such proceedings have arisen from the failure of any owner or contractor, or both of them, to fulfil the terms of the contract or engagement for the work in respect of which the liens are sought to be enforced, or to comply with the provisions of this Act, the judge may order the said owner or contractor, or both of them, to pay all costs of such proceedings, in addition to the amount of the contract or sub-contract, or wages due by him or them to any contractor, sub-contractor, or laborer, and may order a final judgment against such contractor or owner, or both of them, for such costs. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 33.

34. Judgment for amount of claim.—Upon the hearing of any claim for a lien, the court or judge may, so far as the parties before him, or any of them, are debtor and creditor, give judgment against the former in favor of the latter for any indebtedness or liability arising out of the claim, in the same manner as if such indebtedness or liability had been sued upon in the County Court in the ordinary way, without reference to this Act.

And judgment may be given for the sum actually due, notwithstanding such sum may exceed the ordinary jurisdiction of the County Court. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 34.

See Sayward v. Dunsmuir, (1905) 11 B.C.R. 375.

35. No appeal where action for less than $250.—In any action for a lien where the amount claimed to be owing is less than two hundred and fifty dollars, the judgment shall be final, binding, and without appeal; but in any other action for a lien an appeal shall lie from any judgment or order of the judge in like manner as in ordinary cases. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 35.

This provision applies only where a sum of money has been awarded and the existence of a valid lien is pre-supposed. Couglan v. National Construction Co., (1909) 14 B.C.R. 339.

Where the amount adjudged to be owing was only $172.05, an appeal from the judgment was dismissed. Gillies Supply Co. v. Allan, (1910) 15 B.C.R. 375 (C.A.); 14 W.L.R. 458.

Though several lien-holders may bring suit on their respective and distinct claims in one action and judgment may be entered for the whole amount of said claims, yet for the purposes of appeal each claim is deemed to be severable, and the adjudication thereon is a distinct one, and not appealable unless it amounts to $250. Gabriele v. Jackson Mines, 15 B.C.R. 373; 2 M.M.C. 399.

36. Distribution of moneys realized under Act.—All moneys realized by proceedings under this Act shall be applied and distributed in the following order:—

(1) The costs of all the lien-holders of and incidental to the proceedings and of registering and proving the liens:

(2) Six weeks' wages (if so much be owing) of all laborers employed by the owner, contractor, and sub-contractor:

(3) The several amounts owing for services rendered, work done (in excess of six weeks' wages), and material placed or furnished in respect of the works or improvements:

(4) The amounts owing the sub-contractor and other persons employed by the owner and contractor:

(5) The amount owing the contractor.

Each class of lien-holders shall rank pari passu for their several amounts, and the portions of said moneys available for distribution shall be distributed among the lien-holders pro rata according to their several classes and rights.

Any balance of said moneys remaining after all the above amounts have been distributed shall be payable to the owner or other person legally entitled thereto. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 36.

37. Mechanic's lien on chattels.—Every mechanic or other person who has bestowed money or skill and materials upon any chattel in the alteration and improvement of its properties, or increasing its value, so as thereby to become entitled to a lien upon such chattel or thing for the amount or value of the money, skill, or materials bestowed, shall, while such lien exists, but not afterwards, in case the amount to which he is entitled remains unpaid for three months after the same ought to have been paid, have power to sell the chattel in respect of which the lien exists, on giving two weeks' notice by advertisement in a newspaper published in the city, town, or county in which the work was done, or in case there is no newspaper published in such city, town, or county, then in a newspaper published nearest thereto, stating the name of the person indebted, the amount of his indebtedness, a description of the chattel to be sold, the time and place of sale; and after such sale such mechanic or other person shall apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the amount due to him, and the costs of advertising and sale, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) to the person entitled thereto, on application being made to him therefor, and a notice in writing of the result of the sale shall be left at or posted to the address of the owner at his last-known place of abode or business. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 37.

See the chapter entitled "Mechanics' Liens on Personalty," ante.

38. Certain proceedings not to be deemed satisfaction or waiver of lien.—The taking of any security, or the acceptance or discounting of any promissory note, or cheque (which, on presentation, is dishonored) for the claim, or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery of the claim, or the recovery of any personal judgment for the claim, shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice, or destroy any lien created by this Act, unless the lien-holder agrees in writing that it shall have that effect: Provided, however, that a person who has extended the time for payment of any claim for which he has a lien under this Act, to obtain the benefit of this section shall institute proceedings to enforce such lien within the time limited by this Act, but no further proceedings shall be taken in the action until the expiration of such extension of time: Provided further that notwithstanding such extension of time, such person may, where proceedings are instituted by any other person to enforce a lien against the same property, prove and obtain payment of his claim in such suit or action as if no such extension had been given. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 38.

A lien lost by taking a promissory note is not revived upon dishonor thereof. Edmonds v. Tiernan, (1891) 2 B.C.R. 82; 21 Can. S.C.R. 406. See cases where this decision and the decisions in two Manitoba cases are distinguished or questioned. Swanson v. Mollison, 6 W.L.R. 678; Clarke v. Moore, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 49, 8 W.L.R. 405, 411; Gorman v. Archibald, (1908) 1 Alta. L.R. 524.

Where promissory notes had been received and discounted by the lien-holder for the materials supplied, the lien was not thereby waived. Coughlan v. National Construction Co., (1909) 14 B.C.R. 339. See particularly the judgment of Irving, J., at 350.

39. Judges of County Court to make rules of court.—The judges of the County Courts, or any two of them, may make general rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, for expediting and facilitating the business before such courts under this Act, and for the advancement of the interests of suitors therein. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 40.

Costs.

40. Limit of fees in money or stamps.—No fees in stamps or money shall be payable to any judge or other officer in any action brought to realize a lien under this Act, nor on any filing, order, record, or judgment, or other proceedings in such action, excepting that every person, other than a wage-earner, shall, on filing his statement of claim where he is a plaintiff, or on filing his claim where he is not a plaintiff, pay in stamps one dollar on every one hundred dollars, or fraction of one hundred dollars, of the amount of his claim up to one thousand dollars. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 41.

41. Limit of costs to plaintiff.—The costs of the action under this Act awarded by the judge or officer trying the action to the plaintiffs and successful lien-holders, exclusive of the costs of any appeal, shall not exceed in the aggregate an amount equal to twenty-five per cent. of the amount of the judgment, besides actual disbursements, and shall be in addition to the amount of the judgment, and shall be apportioned and borne in such proportion as the judge or other officer who tries the action may direct. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 42.

42. Limit of costs to be awarded against plaintiff.—Where the costs are awarded against the plaintiff or other persons claiming the lien, such costs shall not exceed an amount in the aggregate equal to twenty-five per cent. of the claim of the plaintiff and other claimants, besides actual disbursements, and shall be apportioned and borne as the judge or said other officer may direct. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 43.

43. Costs where least expensive course not taken.—In case the least expensive course is not taken by a plaintiff under this Act, the costs allowed to the solicitor shall in no case exceed what would have been incurred of the least expensive course had been taken. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 44.

44. Costs of vacating lien.—Where the lien is discharged or vacated under section 27 of this Act, or where in an action judgment is given in favor of or against a claim for a lien, in addition to the costs of an action, the judge or other officer may allow a reasonable sum for costs of drawing and registering the lien, or for vacating the registration of the lien. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 45.

45. Costs not otherwise provided for.—The costs of and incidental to all applications and orders made under this Act and not otherwise provided for shall be in the discretion of the judge or officer to whom the application or by whom the order is made. 1910, ch. 31, sec. 46.

THE MECHANICS' AND WAGE-EARNERS' LIEN ACT OF MANITOBA.

CHAPTER 110, REVISED STATUTES OF MANITOBA, 1902.

HIS MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba, enacts as follows:—

SHORT TITLE.

1. Short title.—This Act may be cited as "The Mechanics' and Wage-Earners' Lien Act." 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 1, part.

INTERPRETATION.

2. Interpretation.—In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

(a) "Contractor." — The expression "contractor" means a person contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the doing of work or placing or furnishing of materials for any of the purposes mentioned in this Act;

(b) "Sub-contractor." — The expression "sub-contractor" means a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the purpose aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by a contractor, or under him by another sub-contractor;

(c) "Owner."—The expression "owner" extends to and includes any person, firm, association, body corporate or politic, including a municipal corporation, having any estate or interest in the lands upon or in respect of which the work or service is done, or materials are placed or furnished, at whose request and upon whose credit or on whose behalf or with whose privity or consent or for whose direct benefit any such work or service is performed or materials are placed or furnished, and all persons claiming under him or them whose rights are acquired after the work or service in respect of which the lien is claimed is commenced or the materials furnished have been commenced to be furnished;

(d) "Person."—The expression "person" extends to and includes a body corporate or politic, a firm, partnership or association;

(e) "Material."—The expression "material" includes every kind of movable property;

(f) "Registry office."—The expression "registry office" includes a land titles office;

(g) "Registrar."—The expression "registrar" includes a district registrar;

(h) "Wages."—The expression "wages" means money earned by a mechanic or laborer for work done, whether by the day or as piece work. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 2, sec. 12, sub.-sec. 6.

See Ont. Act, sec. 2. This section differs from the corresponding Ontario section in omitting "railway company" from the definition of owner.

A foreign unlicensed corporation is entitled to acquire a lien under this Act: see Bank of Montreal v. Condon, (1896) 11 Man. 366.

ORIGIN AND NATURE OF LIENS.

3. Contracts not to deprive third party of lien.—No agreement shall be held to deprive anyone otherwise entitled to a lien under this Act, and not a party to the agreement, of the benefit of the lien; but the lien shall attach, notwithstanding such agreement. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 3.

See Ont. Act, sec. 5.

A contractor cannot bind any sub-contractor by any such agreement. Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, (1885) 2 Man. 248.

A lien for materials only arises where the goods are supplied for the purpose of being used in the particular building on which the lien is claimed. Sprague v. Besant, (1885) 3 Man. 519. See Ont. Act, sec. 6 (e), "to be used." See also Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann, 37 N.S.R. 237.

4. Nature of lien.—Unless he signs an express agreement to the contrary, any person who performs any work or service upon or in respect of, or places or furnishes any materials to be used in the making, constructing, erecting, fitting, altering, improving or repairing of, any erection, building, land, wharf, pier, bulkhead, bridge, trestle-work, vault, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, paving, fountain, fishpond, drain, sewer, aqueduct, roadbed or way, or the appurtenances to any of them, for any owner, contractor or sub-contractor, shall by virtue thereof have a lien for the price of such work, service or materials upon the erection, building, land, wharf, pier, bulkhead, bridge, trestle-work, vault, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, paving, fountain, fishpond, drain, sewer, aqueduct, roadbed, way, and appurtenances thereto, and the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, or upon or in respect of which the said work or service is performed, or upon which such materials are placed, or furnished to be used, limited, however, in amount to the sum justly due to the person entitled to the lien and to the sum justly owing (excepting as herein provided) by the owner:

No lien for sum under $20.—Provided that no such lien shall exist under this Act for any claim under the sum of twenty dollars.

(a) Such lien, upon registration as hereinafter provided, shall arise and take effect from the date of the commencement of such work or service, or from the placing of such materials, as against purchasers, chargees or mortgagees under instruments, registered or unregistered. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 4.

This section omits the words "railway," "fence" and "fruit and ornamental trees," which are included in the Ontario section.

See Ont. Act, sec. 6. Sub-section (a) is not in the Ontario Act, which omits also the limitation of liens to claims for twenty dollars and upwards.

A workman for a materialman is not entitled to a lien. Allen v. Harrison, 9 W.L.R. 198.

A contractor cannot enforce a lien for more than the amount actually due according to the contract. Brydon v. Lutes, (1891) 9 Man. 463; McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. 72.

Municipal buildings have in Manitoba been held to be subject to mechanics' liens. McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. 72; McLennan and Winnipeg, (1882) 3 Man. 74.

Proceedings were taken to enforce a mechanics' lien by levy, after winding-up order had been made. Held, that neither sec. 16 (now sec. 22) nor 17 (now 23) of the Winding-up Act could be invoked against proceedings. Sections 62 (now secs. 76, 77, 78 and 79) and 66 (now 84) of that Act should be read together. The lien was not created by the proceedings but prior to that time; hence, sec. 66 (now 84) did not take it away. Re Empire Brewing & Malting Co., (1891) 8 Man. 424. See Re Good and Nepisiquit Lumber Co., (1911) 2 E.L.R. 252.

In Moore v. Bradley, (1887) 5 Man. 49, Dubuc, J., held that a public school building was not exempt from the operation of the mechanics' lien law, but decisions elsewhere are opposed to this view. See Ontario Act, sec. 6(h). An assignee of a mechanic is entitled to a lien and may make the affidavit necessary for registration. Kelly v. McKenzie, 1 Man. L.R. 169. See McAllister v. Des Rochers, 132 Mich. 381.

The plaintiff's claim consisted of charges for different jobs, all in his line of business, but ordered at different times, and as to the first job, if considered separately, his lien was not filed within the time required by the statute. It was held that, in such circumstances, a mechanic should not be required, in order to secure payment, to file a lien after completing each piece of work, and that filing his lien after he has completed all of his work is sufficient. Carroll v. McVicar, 15 Man. L.R. 379.

A sub-contractor is entitled to a lien even though the contractor under whom he claims has agreed with the owner that no workman shall be entitled to a lien. Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, (1885) 2 Man. 248. An assignee of the contract price for the erection of the building is not entitled to the money as against the lien of a sub-contractor, unless the owner has in good faith bound himself to pay the assignee. Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, 2 Man. L.R. 248.

As to lien of sub-contractor, see also Wasdell v. White, 4 W.L.R. 562; McCauley v. Powell, 7 W.L.R. 443.

In Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, Killam, J., points out a difference in the phraseology of sec. 4 (a) and sec. 5 (b), and says: "The difference is probably inadvertent, but liens are purely statutory and must be strictly followed as in derogation of ordinary rights." See Dunn v. Sedziak, 17 Man. L.R. 484.

The claim of a lien-holder is a preferential claim under The Dominion Winding-up Act (R.S.C. ch. 144). Re Empire Brewing & Malting Co., (1891) 8 Man. 424.

Under a former Act it was held that a lien had no existence until it was registered. Kievell v. Murray, (1884) 2 Man. 209.

A lien for materials only arises where the goods are supplied for the purpose of being used in the particular building on which the lien is claimed. Sprague v. Besant, (1885) 3 Man. 519; but a materialman is not bound to show that his materials were used in the building; delivery upon the ground for the purpose of being used is sufficient. McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. L.R. 72. See also Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann, (1904) 37 N.S.R. 237. But see Ontario cases and references to this question in chapter entitled, "The Lien of the Materialman," ante.

The court has no jurisdiction to enforce a lien out of its territorial jurisdiction. Chadwick v. Hunter, (1884) 1 Man. 363.

A mechanics' lien registered against two lots owned by different persons, in respect to work done upon two houses, one on each of the lots, on the order of one of the owners, and for an amount claimed to be due for work on both houses, without apportioning the same, cannot be enforced, nor can effect be given to the lien as against one of the lots only, for the proper amount. Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. L.R. 509.

An agreement was made with plaintiffs to instal plumbing in two houses, one to be built on each lot. The work on A. was finished in July, and on B. in January following. While the plaintiffs were working on A. it was bought by H. who, 30 days after completion of plaintiffs' work on A. paid the defendant the full purchase price, having no notice of any lien. Plaintiffs subsequently registered a lien against both lots. Held, the contract was divisible, and that there was no lien against A. Lee v. Hill, 11 W.L.R. 611.

If the contractor agrees to assert no lien he will be bound by such agreement. Brydon v. Lutes, 9 Man. L.R. 463.

Where it is agreed that all bills shall be paid by cheque of the contractor (Ritchie v. Grundy, 7 Man. L.R. 532) or that the contractor shall satisfy all claims (Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, 2 Man. L.R. 248) or that the building shall be delivered free from liens, the contractor's right to a lien will not be defeated. See Schmid v. Palm Garden Imp. Co., 162 Pa. 211.

Where payment under a building contract is conditioned on the completion of the work to the satisfaction of the engineer, and upon the strict compliance with all the provisions of the contract, the contractor cannot recover the contract price without asserting and proving strict compliance with all conditions precedent. Merriam v. Public Parks Board, (1912) 2 D.L.R. 702, following Brydon v. Lutes, 9 Man. L.R. 463. See also Davidson v. Francis, 14 Man. L.R. 141. There is no presumption that a husband is acting as his wife's agent. Gillies v. Gibson, (1907) 7 W.L.R. 243.

As to non-liability of company for contract made by promoter, see Desrochers v. Crump, (1911) 17 W.L.R. 47.

The lien comes into existence as soon as the work begins, or any materials are delivered. McCauley v. Powell, (1908) 7 W.L.R. 443.

As to construction of word "claim," see Phelan v. Franklin, (1905) 2 W.L.R. 29.

Although the lien may be registered before commencing or during the progress of the work, an action thereon cannot be begun before completion of the contract. Curtis v. Richardson, (1909) 18 Man. L.R. 519.

The defendant H. agreed to build a house for the defendant W. for $4,860.75. The plaintiffs supplied lumber to H. for the building, and after they had delivered $1,075.68 worth of material on the premises and had not been paid anything for it, they saw W. and made an arrangement with him, the terms of which were in dispute between them. It was held, upon the evidence, that W. did not undertake to pay the plaintiffs for the deliveries then already made, but entered into a new agreement with the plaintiffs, whereby he agreed to take, on his own account, and pay for, the lumber he yet required.

The plaintiffs having contended, as part of their case, that H. was released by themselves and W. from all liability to them, did not ask for judgment against H. It was held that the action should be dismissed as against H., but without costs. The plaintiffs did not press for judgment against the defendant company, mortgagees from W., and as against the company the action was also dismissed without costs. As against W., the plaintiffs were held entitled to judgment for the full price of the goods supplied by them after the new arrangement, and (by way of enforcing their mechanics' lien) for a proportion of the price of the goods supplied before that arrangement, equal to 20 per cent. of the proportion which the value of the work executed and materials delivered at the time bore to the contract price. Rat Portage Lumber Co. v. Hewitt, (1912) 22 W.L.R. 249, 6 D.L.R. 871.

5. Property upon which lien shall attach.—The lien shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner as defined by this Act in the erection, building, land, wharf, pier, bulkhead, bridge, trestle-work, vault, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, paving, fountain, fishpond, drain, sewer, aqueduct, roadbed or way, and the appurtenances thereto, upon or in respect of which the work or service is performed or the materials are placed or furnished to be used, and the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith.

(a) Where estate charged is leasehold.—In cases where the estate or interest charged by the lien is leasehold, the fee simple may also, with the consent of the owner thereof, be subject to said lien, provided such consent is testified by the signature of such owner upon the claim of the lien at the time of the registering thereof, and duly verified.

(b) Mortgaged land.—In case the land upon in respect of which the work is done, or materials or machinery are placed, be incumbered by a mortgage or other charge existing or created before the commencement of the work or of the placing of the materials or machinery upon the land, such mortgage or other charge shall have priority over a lien under this Act to the extent of the actual value of such land at the time the improvements were commenced. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 5.

Compare Ontario Act, sec. 8 (1), and see cases thereunder.

See Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514; and In re Empire Brewing & Malting Co., (1891) 8 Man. 424.

The lien attaches from the placing of the materials. Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124. See statement of this case under section 20, post.

It is probable that though the contract is never carried out the lien-holder may assert his lien upon the increase in value against the vendor as if the relationship had been that of mortgagor and mortgagee. Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 227.

6. Application of insurance when lien attaches.—Where any of the property upon which a lien is given by this Act is wholly or partly destroyed by fire, any money received by reason of any insurance thereon by an owner or prior mortgagee or chargee shall take the place of the property so destroyed, and shall, after satisfying any prior mortgage or charge in the manner and to the extent set out in sub-section (b) of the last preceding section, be subject to the claims of all persons for liens to the same extent as if such moneys were realized by a sale of such property in an action to enforce a lien. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 6.

See Ont. Act, sec. 9, to the same effect.

7. Limit of amount of lien.—Save as herein provided, the lien shall not attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum payable by the owner to the contractor. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 7.

See Ont. Act, sec. 10, to the same effect.

The contractor cannot by release or assignment of his rights under his contract with the owner, defeat the registered lien of a sub-contractor claiming under him. Anly v. Holy Trinity Church, (1885) 3 Man. 193, decided under a former Act is no longer applicable, in view of present section 4 (2).

8. Limit of lien when claimed by some other contractor.—Save as herein provided, where the lien is claimed by any other person than the contractor, the amount which may be claimed in respect thereof shall be limited to the amount owing to the contractor or sub-contractor or other person for whom the work or service has been done or the materials have been placed or furnished. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 8.

See Black v. Wiebe, (1905) 1 W.L.R. 75, reported fully under section 12, post.

9. Percentage to be deducted and retained by owner.—In all cases the person primarily liable upon any contract under or by virtue of which a lien may arise under the provisions of this Act shall, as the work is done or the materials are furnished under any contract, deduct from any payments to be made by him in respect of such contract, and retain for a period of thirty days after the completion or abandonment of the contract, twenty per cent. of the value of the work, service and materials actually done, placed or furnished, as defined by the fourth section of this Act, and such value shall be calculated on the basis of the price to be paid for the whole contract.

(a) Provided that, when any contract exceeds fifteen thousand dollars, the amount to be retained shall be fifteen per cent., instead of twenty per cent.

(b) The liens created by this Act shall be a charge upon the amounts directed to be retained by this section, in favor of sub-contractors whose liens are derived under persons to whom such moneys so required to be retained are respectively payable.

(c) All payments, up to eighty per cent. (or eighty-five per cent. where the contract price exceeds fifteen thousand dollars) of such value made in good faith by an owner to a contractor, or by a contractor to a sub-contractor, or by one sub-contractor to another sub-contractor, before notice in writing of such lien given by the person claiming the lien to the owner, contractor or the sub-contractor, as the case may be, shall operate as a discharge pro tanto of the lien created by this Act.

(d) Payment of the percentage required to be retained under this section may be validly made so as to discharge all liens or charges under this Act in respect thereof after the expiration of the said period of thirty days mentioned herein, unless in the meantime proceedings have commenced under this Act to enforce any lien or charge against such percentage as provided by sections twenty-one and twenty-two of this Act. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 9.

See Ont. Act, sec. 12, to the same effect.

The owner of a building in course of erection, when the contract price exceeds $15,000, being required by this section to keep back fifteen per cent. of the amounts from time to time earned by the contractor and retain such percentages until thirty days after the completion or abandonment of the contract for the benefit of sub-contractors who may become entitled to file liens, must reserve such percentages at his peril, and cannot afterwards, in an action by a person who has supplied materials, deduct therefrom any payments he may have made under sec. 10 for wages or materials in order to prevent the filing of liens therefor, as sec. 10 at the end says in effect that payments made under it are not to "affect the percentage to be retained by the owner as provided by" sec. 9. McArthur v. Martinson, 16 Man. L.R. 387.

As to liability to sub-contractor of owner who fails to retain percentage, see Carroll v. McVicar, 15 Man. L.R. 379.

After bill filed and lis pendens registered another lienholder filed a bill and obtained decree first. The latter claimed to have his costs added to his lien. The application was refused. Section 24, post, qualifies this section. Henry v. Bowes, (1883) 3 C.L.T. 606.

See Smith Co. v. Sissiboo Co., 36 N.S.R. 348. On appeal in this case, (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93, Nesbitt, J., said, in referring to section 8 of the Nova Scotia Act, which is similar to section 9 of the Manitoba Act: "The only ground upon which the plaintiffs can hope to maintain a lien as against the defendant company would be that section 8 of the Act applies, but we think that that section does not by its terms apply to a case where there was no price specified or capable of being ascertained, for the erection of the building, but the contract price of the building was blended with considerations for other matters from which it could not be separated."

As to retention of percentages, see Carroll v. McVicar, (1905) 2 W.L.R. 25; 41 C.L.J. 668; Phelan v. Franklin, (1905) 2 W.L.R. 29.

10. Payment made in good faith without notice of lien.—In case an owner or contractor chooses to make payments to any persons referred to in the fourth section of this Act for or on account of any debts justly due to them for work or service done or for materials placed or furnished to be used as therein mentioned, and shall within three days afterwards give, by letter or otherwise, to the contractor or his agent, or to the sub-contractor or his agent, as the case may be, written notice of such payments, such payments shall as between the owner and contractor, or as between the contractor and the sub-contractor, as the case may be, be deemed to be payments to the contractor or sub-contractor, as the case may be, on his contract generally, but not so as to affect the percentage to be retained by the owner, as provided by the last preceding section. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 10.

See McArthur v. Martinson, 16 Man. R. 387, noted under section 9, supra.

11. Priority of lien.—The lien created by this Act shall have priority over all judgments, executions, assignments, attachments, garnishments and receiving orders recovered, issued or made after such lien arises, and over all payments or advances made on account of any conveyance or mortgage after notice in writing of such lien to the person making such payments or after registration of such lien as hereinafter provided.

(a) Agreement for purchase, part of purchase money unpaid.—In case of an agreement for the purchase of land, and the purchase money or part thereof being unpaid and no conveyance made to the purchaser, the purchaser shall, for the purposes of this Act and within the meaning thereof, be deemed a mortgagor and the seller a mortgagee.

(b) Priority among lien-holders.—Excepting where it is otherwise declared by this Act, no person entitled to a lien on any property or to a charge on any moneys under this Act shall be entitled to any priority or preference over another person of the same class entitled to a lien or charge on such property or moneys under this Act, and each class of lien-holders, except where it is otherwise declared by this Act, shall rank pari passu for their several amounts, and the proceeds of any sale shall, subject, as aforesaid, be distributed among the lien-holders pro rata, according to their several classes and rights.' 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 11.

See Ont. Act, sec. 14, to the same effect. See also Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 227, 22 C.L.T. 357; Rat Portage Lumber Co. v. Hewitt, (1912) 22 W.L.R. 249, 6 D.L.R. 871.

12. Priority of lien for wages.—Every mechanic or laborer whose lien is for work done for wages shall, to the extent of thirty days' wages, have priority over all other liens derived through the same contractor or sub-contractor to the extent of and on the twenty per cent. or fifteen per cent., as the case may be, of the contract price directed by the ninth section of this Act to be retained, to which the contractor or sub-contractor through whom such lien is derived is entitled, and all such mechanics and laborers shall rank pari passu on said twenty per cent. or fifteen per cent., as the case may be.

(a) Enforcing lien in such cases.—Every wage-earner shall be entitled to enforce a lien in respect of the contract not completely fulfilled.

(b) Calculating percentage when contract not fulfilled.—In case of the contract not having been completely fulfilled when the lien is claimed by wage-earners, the percentage aforesaid shall be calculated on the work done or materials furnished by the contractor or sub-contractor by whom such wage-earners are employed.

(c) Percentage not to be otherwise applied.—Where the contractor or sub-contractor makes default in completing his contract, the percentage aforesaid shall not, as against a wage-earner claiming a lien under this Act, be applied to the completion of the contract or for any other purpose by the owner or contractor, nor to the payment of damages for the non-completion of the contract by the contractor or sub-contractor, nor in payment or satisfaction of any claim of any kind against the contractor or sub-contractor.

(d) Devices to defeat priority of wage-earners.—Every device by an owner, contractor or sub-contractor adopted to defeat the priority given to wage-earners for their wages by this Act shall, as respects such wage-earners, be null and void. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 12, sub-secs. 1-5.

See Ont. Act, sec. 15, and sec. 2 (7).

Defendant agreed to purchase land from D. & McC., price to be paid 15th August, 1901. In default D. & McC. could either cancel agreement forfeiting any payments made, or re-sell and recover any deficiency from defendant. Defendant made improvements on land and employed plaintiff as a carpenter. Plaintiff claims lien for wages. No part of purchase money was paid. Work went on after 15th August with concurrence of D. & McC. Held, that parties must be regarded as mortgagor and mortgagee. D. & McC. having granted extension could not cancel without giving more time, hence agreement was still subsisting when plaintiff did the work. Plaintiff was entitled to the lien, subject to charge of D. & McC. for unpaid purchase money and interest. Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 227; 22 C.L.T. 337.

In Black v. Wiebe, (1905) 1 W.L.R. 75, the facts were as follows: The defendants, Wiebe and Jardine, entered into an agreement with the defendant, Kate Hubert, to erect for her a house on land belonging to her on S. Avenue, Winnipeg. The agreement under which the work was to be done was contained in a written contract, to which the plans and specifications of the building were attached, forming a part of the agreement.

The contract price was $2,600, payable $30 on the execution of the contract, $470 when the roof was covered in, $1,500 "on or before the completion of the building," and the balance as should be arranged between the parties. The $1,500 was to be raised by a loan on the premises, the contractor to receive an order for the proceeds of the loan. The plaintiff supplied the lumber for the erection of the house and also for the erection of a barn upon the same lot. The lumber was supplied upon the order of the contractors and pursuant to an arrangement made between them and the plaintiffs. The house was never fully completed, but when partially finished was occupied by Mrs. Hubert. The specifications were departed from in certain particulars with the assent, as was alleged, of the proprietress. The quality of the work and material was not in accordance with the contract. Although it was alleged that a stone foundation had been put in as an extra, the evidence showed that the building as it stood was, owing to defects, not worth more than $2,000. A mortgage for $1,000 was placed on the property and the proceeds applied on the contract. The plaintiffs received a portion of these proceeds, and the balance remaining unpaid was $321.66. Part of the lumber supplied went into the construction of the barn. The plaintiffs' lien did not include the barn, but only referred to material used in the erection of the house. The value of the lumber used for the barn was $100, leaving $221.66 as the amount proved by the plaintiffs under the lien. Several other liens were filed by other parties.

Perdue, J., having stated the above facts in his judgment, said:—

"It is urged on behalf of the owner that as the house has never been completed there is nothing due to the contractors, and that sub-contractors are, under section 8 of the Mechanics' and Wage-Earners' Lien Act, limited to the amount owing to the contractors. Section 12 of the Act introduces special provisions for the protection of wage-earners and provides for the enforcement of the lien in their favor in respect to a contract not completely fulfilled. It also provides that in such cases the wage-earners may enforce their liens against the percentage required to be retained by the proprietor, and this percentage was, in the case of a contract not completely fulfilled, to be calculated on the work done or materials furnished by the contractor. The insertion in the Act of the provisions contained in section 12 shows that the protection extended to the lien-holder of giving him a right to enforce his lien derived through a contractor, where the contractor has not fulfilled the contract, is limited to claims for wages. Where, however, the money is payable under a contract by instalments as the work progresses, the general lien-holders may enforce their liens to the extent of the instalments earned in so far as the same remain unpaid in the hands of the proprietor. Brydon v. Lutes, (1891) 9 Man. 463.

It was urged on behalf of the plaintiffs that the owner had accepted the work by occupying the house and by mortgaging the same. It is clear that the mortgage was in pursuance of a term in the contract in order to raise money to pay the contractors, and that this was done during the progress of the construction. The giving of the mortgage could not, therefore, be taken as an acceptance of the whole work. There is a wide difference between the receiving and retaining of a chattel and the occupation of a building erected upon the land of the occupant, in respect of the inference of acceptance from the act of the party. This has been clearly pointed out in Pattison v. Luckley, L.R. 10 Ex. 330; Sumpter v. Hedges, (1898) 1 Q.B. 673, and other cases. The building, although incomplete and unsatisfactory, is upon the owner's land and is perhaps partly paid for. The owner may, although protesting against its incomplete or unsatisfactory state, be compelled to use and occupy it, unless he abandons his land until the dispute is settled. Occupation under these conditions should not be construed as an acceptance. The contract in the case provided that $30 should be paid on execution of the instrument, and this payment has been made. A second payment of $470 was to be made when the roof was covered in. This payment became due and the contractors received on account of it the equivalent of $200, leaving the sum of $270 still due and available for lien-holders. The proceeds of the mortgage were not applicable on this, but on the $1,500, under the terms of the contract. The further sum of $1,500 was payable 'on or before the completion of the building.' As the owner had the option of paying this sum either before the completion of the building or upon its completion, it is manifest that she is not legally compellable to pay the amount until the longer period had elapsed, and that payment cannot be enforced until the building has been completed."

For other cases showing that mere occupation of the house does not constitute acceptance, see citations under section 6 of the Ontario Act.

13. Attempting to remove material affected by lien.—During the continuance of a lien no portion of the materials affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of the lien, and any attempts at such removal may be restrained on application to the Court of King's Bench, or to a judge or local judge thereof, having power to try an action to realize a lien under this Act.

(a) Costs.—The court, judge or local judge to whom any such application is made, may make such order as to the costs of and incidental to the application and order as he deems just.

(b) Goods furnished for certain purposes not to be subject to execution.—When any material is actually brought upon any land to be used in connection with such land for any of the purposes enumerated in the fourth section of this Act, the same shall be subject to a lien in favor of the person supplying the same until put in the building, erection or work. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 13.

See Ont. Act, sec. 16, to the same effect as this section, with the exception of (b), which contains a substantial variation.

Registration of Lien.

14. Office of registration.—A claim for lien may be registered in the land titles office in which instruments or dealings affecting the lands affected or proposed to be affected thereby are to be registered. If such lands have been brought, or if application has been made to bring them, under the operation of the Real Property Act, and if the lands have not been so brought nor application made therefor, then such statement shall be registered in the registry office or land titles office for the registration district or land titles district in which such lands are situate. If the lands be partly under the operation of the said Act and partly not, each portion shall be affected only by registration in the proper office. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 14.

15. Registration of claim for lien.—A claim for lien shall state:—

(a) The name and residence of the person claiming the lien and of the owner of the property to be charged (or of the person whom the person claiming the lien, or his agent, believes to be the owner of the property to be charged) and of the person for whom and upon whose credit the work (or service) is done, or materials are furnished or placed, and the time or period within which the same was, or was to be, done or furnished or placed.

(b) A short description of the work (or service) done, or the materials furnished or placed, or to be furnished or placed.

(c) The sum claimed as due or to become due.

(d) A description of the land to be charged, sufficient for the purpose of registration.

(e) The date of expiry of the period of credit (if any) agreed by the lien-holder for payment for his work (or service) or materials, where credit has been given.

(f) Form of claim.—The claim may be in one of the forms given in Schedule A to this Act, and shall be verified by the affidavit of the person claiming the lien or of his agent or assignee having a personal knowledge of the matters required to be verified, and the affidavit of the agent or assignee shall state that he has such knowledge. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 15.

See Ont. Act, sec. 17 (a), to the same effect, except that clause (3) of that Act, providing for the registration of liens against railway companies is omitted here.

The claim need not give details of the work and materials. See Form No. 1 in the Schedule, and Irwin v. Beynon, (1886) 4 Man. 10.

"Objection is taken to the description of the residence of the claimant, which should state in what part of the town of Minnedosa he resides, but I hold that when he describes himself as of the town of Minnedosa, it is quite sufficient." Irwin v. Beynon, supra, per Dubuc, J.

"It is also argued that the statement of claim does not sufficiently state who is the reputed owner, and also the person for whom the work was done. The statement of claim registered states that the plaintiff claims a lien upon the estate of G. W. Beynon, barrister-at-law. I think this is sufficient and it is also in accordance with the form given in the Ontario Statute." Irwin v. Beynon, supra, per Dubuc, J.

In Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514, the lien as filed stated that the work was commenced on a specified day and that it was finished "on or before" a certain other day. Held, following Truax v. Dixon, 17 O.R. 356, and in view of the Manitoba Interpretation Act, that the statement was sufficient. See Kelly v. McKenzie, (1884) 1 Man. 169.

16. What may be included in claim.—A claim for lien may include claims against any number of properties, and any number of persons claiming liens upon the same property may unite therein, but where more than one lien is included in one claim each lien shall be verified by affidavits as provided in the last preceding section. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 16.

See Ont. Act, sec. 18, to the same effect. See also Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509, cited with the cases under section 6 of the Ontario Act.

17. Claims not to be invalidated for informality.—A substantial compliance only with the two last preceding sections shall be required, and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of failure to comply with any of the requisites of the two last preceding sections, unless in the opinion of the court, judge or local judge, who has power to try an action under this Act, the owner, contractor or sub-contractor, mortgagee or other person, as the case may be, is prejudiced thereby, and then only to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced;

(a) Liens must be registered.—Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as dispensing with registration of the lien required by this Act. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 17.

See Ont. Act, sec. 19, to the same effect.

In Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, the facts in which are stated under sec. 20, post, it was held that although "S.'s" claim was from 1st August to 27th October, he might claim for work done prior to 1st August unless some one were prejudiced and that the onus was on the person to show his being prejudiced.

A substantial compliance with the terms of the statute as to the prescribed form of lien is sufficient to enable the lien to attach. Flack v. Jeffrey, 10 Man. L.R. 514. See Scratch v. Anderson, (1909) 2 Alta. L.R. 109; Limoges v. Scratch, (1910) 44 Can. S.C.R. 86.

18. Lien to be registered as an incumbrance.—The registrar, upon payment of his fee, shall register the claim, so that the same may appear as an incumbrance against the land therein described;

(a) Fee for registration.—The fee for registration of a claim of lien for wages shall be twenty-five cents. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 18.

See Ont. Act, sec. 20, to the same effect.

19. Person registering a purchaser pro tanto.—Where a claim for lien is so registered, the person entitled to said lien shall be deemed a purchaser pro tanto, and within the provisions of "The Registry Act"; but, except as herein otherwise provided, "The Registry Act" shall not apply to any lien arising under this Act. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 19.

See Ont. Act, sec. 21, to the same effect.

20. Claims for liens, when to be registered.—A claim for lien by a contractor or sub-contractor may, in cases not otherwise provided for, be registered before or during the performance of the contract or within thirty days after the completion thereof;

(a) A claim for lien for materials may be registered before or during the furnishing or placing thereof, or within thirty days after the furnishing or placing of the last material so furnished or placed;

(b) A claim for lien for services may be registered at any time during the performance of the service or within thirty days after the completion of the service;

(c) A claim for lien for wages may be registered at any time during the performance of the work for which such wages are claimed, or within thirty days after the last day's work for which the lien is claimed. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 20.

See Ont. Act, sec. 22, to the same effect.

"Completion" means "substantial completion." See Kelly v. McKenzie, (1884) 1 Man. 169; McLennan v. Winnipeg, (1882) 3 Man. 474; Irwin v. Boynon, (1866) 4 Man. 10. See also notes under sec. 22, Ont. Act.

The plaintiff quit work on an elevator, it being understood that he should return and finish his contract when the elevator was far enough advanced to allow him to test the machinery which he had placed in it. When the plaintiff's men returned to finish the contract they were stopped by the company. Then the plaintiff registered a mechanics' lien within thirty days from the attempt to finish his contract, but more than thirty days after his last work had been done on the elevator. It was held, upon the evidence, that the lien was registered in time and could be enforced. It was held, upon appeal, that the time limited for the registration of claims for liens by sec. 20 does not commence to run until there has been such performance of the contract as would entitle the contractor to maintain an action for the whole amount due thereunder. Day v. Crown Grain Co., (1907) 39 Can. S.C.R. 258. See Whimster v. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., (1910) 13 W.L.R. 621.

In Chadwick v. Hunter, (1884) 1 Man. 39, it was decided that where materials are supplied as required from time to time during the progress of the work, not under a contract covering the whole supply, each sale is a separate transaction and requires separate registration. But see Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, in which this case is distinguished, and Morris v. Tharle, (1893) 24 O.R. 159, followed, and Kelly v. McKenzie, supra, held not applicable. In Robock v. Peters, supra, the facts were as follows: In 1899 defendant bought land and paid part of purchase money. There was no conveyance. He made a contract with plaintiff to build a hotel and stable. Work began in July and finished on 5th of September. The lien was registered on the 22nd of September, and a certificate of lis pendens on the 2nd of November. There was no defence. An appointment and trial duly fixed. "S." consented to supply materials on credit and did so from time to time as they were ordered, between 16th of June and 27th of October. Defendant occupied the hotel from July and the work went on until after the 27th of October. "S." registered lien on the 25th of November and certificate of lis pendens on the 20th of January, 1900. Defendant obtained loan of $300 on the 5th of August, 1899, and took mortgage for $435. A deed to defendant was executed on the 18th of October when remaining $135 was advanced by "B." "B.'s" mortgage was registered on the 7th of November, 1899. Defendant mortgaged to loan company on the 3rd of October for $900. Registration of mortgage 20th of October, 1899. There was due on that mortgage only $22.75, for solicitor's fees. Defendant mortgaged to S. & D. to secure claims, dated 17th November, incumbrance registered 18th November, 1899. Defendant conveyed to "W." on 30th January, 1900, registered 1st February, 1900. All these parties were brought in by notice of trial and appeared by counsel.

Held, under secs. 20 (2), 21, 28, 31, 32, 27 (1) and (2), that "S.'s" claim could be realized in this action, although he was not a party to it, and there was no binding contract to deliver the materials, the several orders being so linked together as to constitute one cause of action. The time ran from the supply of the last materials.

Also, that incumbrancers other than lien-holders might be dealt with in this action. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 A.R. 592, and McVean v. Tiffin, (1885) 13 A.R. 1, modified by section 23 of Ontario Act. If the work is done in good faith, and in order to complete the building, and not colorably to revive the lien, the time begins to run from the completion of such work and from delivery of the last materials supplied in performing it. Steinman v. Koscuk, (1906) 4 W.L.R. 514.

DETERMINATION OF LIEN.

21. Liens to cease if action not commenced within time fixed by Act.—Every lien which is not duly registered under the provisions of this Act shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of the time hereinbefore limited for the registration thereof, unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim, or in which the claim may be realized under provisions of this Act, and a certificate of lis pendens in respect thereof be registered in the proper registry office, or land titles office. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 21.

See Davidson v. Campbell, (1888) 5 Man. 250, referred to under section 23 of Ontario Act.

Under a former Act the lien had no existence until registered (Kievell v. Murray, (1884) 2 Man. 209), but this section makes registration before action unnecessary if the certificate is duly registered within the time limited.

22. When lien to cease if registered and not proceeded upon.—Every lien which has been duly registered under the provisions of this Act shall absolutely cease to exist after the expiration of ninety days after the work or service has been completed or materials have been furnished or placed, or the expiry of the period of credit, where such period is mentioned in the claim of lien registered, unless in the meantime an action be commenced to realize the claim under the provisions of this Act or an action is commenced in which the claim may be realized under the provisions of this Act, and a certificate of lis pendens in respect thereof according to Form No. 6 in the schedule hereto be registered in the proper registry office, or land titles office. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 22.

A certificate that some title or interest in the land is called in question, without any reference to a mechanics' lien, is not a sufficient compliance with the Act. Curtis v. Richardson, (1909) 18 Man. L.R. 519.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, the following section has been added:—

22a. Such certificate of lis pendens, provided for in secs. 21 and 22, hereof, may be issued from the court in which the action is brought.

TRANSMISSION OF LIEN.

23. Death of lien-holder.—In the event of the death of a lien-holder his right of lien shall pass to his personal representatives; and the right of a lien-holder may be assigned by any instrument in writing. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 23.

See Ont. Act, sec. 26, to the same effect.

DISCHARGE OF LIEN.

24. Discharge of lien.—A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant or his agent duly authorized in writing, acknowledging payment, and verified by affidavit and registered; the fees shall be the same as for registering a claim of lien;

(a) Security or payment into court and vacating lien thereon.—Upon application the court, judge or local judge, having power to try an action to realize a lien, may receive security or payment into court in lieu of the amount of the claim, and may thereupon vacate the registration of the lien;

(b) Vacating registration on other grounds.—The court or such judge or local judge may vacate the said registration upon any other ground;

(c) Certain acts not to prejudice right to enforce lien.—The taking of any security for, or the acceptance of any promissory note for, or the taking of any other acknowledgement of, the claim, or the giving of time for the payment of the claim, or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery of the claim or the recovery of any personal judgment for the claim, shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice, or destroy any lien created by this Act, unless the lien-holder agrees in writing that it shall have that effect;

Provided, however, that a person who has extended the time for payment of any claim for which he has a lien under this Act to obtain the benefit of this sub-section shall commence an action to enforce such lien within the time limited by this Act, and register a certificate as required by this Act, but no further proceedings shall be taken in the action until the expiration of such extension of time;

Provided, further, that, notwithstanding such extension of time, such person may, where an action is commenced by any other person to enforce a lien against the same property, prove and obtain payment of his claim in such action, as if no such extension had been given. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 24.

This section was amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 by adding the words "or Judge of the County Court," after the words "local judge."

Notwithstanding this sub-section, if a person, claiming a lien, takes a promissory note for the amount and discounts it he thereby forfeits his right to a lien. Arbuthnot Co. v. Winnipeg Manuf. Co., 16 Man. L.R. 401. The provision in this sub-section does not protect the lien-holder if he discounts or transfers such note. In that event, his lien is lost. National Supply Co. v. Horrobin, 16 Man. L.R. 472.

The above section was also amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, sec. 1, which is as follows:—

1. Sub-sec. (c) of sec. 24 of the Mechanics' and Wage-Earners' Lien Act, being ch. 110 of the Revised Statutes of Manitoba, 1902, is hereby amended by adding the following: "Provided further that the discounting or negotiation of any promissory note, or other security, taken or accepted as aforesaid, shall not waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice or destroy any lien created by this Act, but the lien-holder taking or accepting such promissory note, or other security, shall retain his lien for the benefit of the holder of said promissory note or other security."

DISCOVERY.

25. Lien-holders to be entitled to information from owners as to terms of contract.—Any lien-holder or person entitled to a lien may at any time demand of the owner or his agent the terms of the contract or agreement with the contractor for and in respect of which the work, service or materials is or are performed or furnished or placed, and if such owner or his said agent shall not, at the time of such demand or within a reasonable time thereafter, inform the person making such demand of the terms of such contract or agreement and the amount due and unpaid upon such contract or agreement, or shall intentionally or knowingly falsely state the terms of said contract or agreement or the amount due or unpaid thereon, and if the person claiming the lien shall sustain loss by reason of such refusal or neglect or false statement, said owner shall be liable to him in an action therefor to the amount of such loss. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 25.

See Ont. Act, sec. 30, to the same effect.

26. Order for inspection of contract by lien-holder.—The court, judge or local judge, having power to try an action to realize a lien, may, on a summary application at any time before or after any action is commenced for the enforcement of such lien, make an order for the owner or his agent to produce and allow any lien-holder to inspect any such contract, and may make such an order as to the costs of such application and order as may be just. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 26.

See Ont. Act, sec. 30, to the same effect.

This section was amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 by adding after the words "local judge" the words "or judge of the County Court."

ENFORCEMENT OF LIEN.

27. Mode of realizing liens.—The liens created by this Act may be realized by actions in the Court of King's Bench, according to the ordinary procedure of that court, excepting where the same is varied by this Act;

(a) It shall not be necessary to make any lien-holders parties defendant to the action; but all lien-holders served with the notice of trial shall for all purposes be treated as if they were parties to the action. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 27.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 this section was amended by adding after the words "King's Bench," the words "when the amount claimed by the lien exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars, and in all other cases, in the County Court of the County Court judicial division in which the property affected by the lien is situated, and by striking out the words "that court" in the third line of the section, and substituting therefor the words "said courts respectively."

See Ont. Act, sec. 31 (1), (4), to the same effect.

See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, where parties were brought in by notice of trial. Under a former Act, where any material amendment to a bill was made, the amended bill had to be registered as a lis pendens within the time prescribed for registration, or the lien would cease. Thus in Davidson v. Campbell, (1888) 5 Man. 250, the bill alleged a contract with defendant "C." for the performance of certain work in the erection of a building upon land of "C." By amendment made after the time for filing the bill had elapsed the plaintiffs alleged that their contract was with the defendants "K. and McD.," who had contracted with "C." for the erection of the whole building, thus changing their position from contractors to sub-contractors. No new certificate of lis pendens was filed. Held, that the plaintiff could not rely upon the original bill and certificate of lis pendens. But an immaterial amendment did not necessitate re-registration. Irwin v. Beynon, (1886) 4 Man. 10.

An owner of property who employed a contractor to build a house and before the filing of a lien by a sub-contractor against the contractor conveyed all his interest in the land to a purchaser, is neither a necessary nor a proper party to the action afterwards commenced to realize the lien, as the plaintiff could not have any relief against him. Although the plaintiff's claim would be limited to the amount due by the original owner to the contractor, and he would have to prove what the indebtedness was, yet that would not justify making the original owner a party, as the plaintiff could prove that indebtedness at the trial or on a reference to the Master without having the original owner before the court. Christie v. McKay, 15 Man. L.R. 612, 2 W.L.R. 303.

28. Lien-holders joining in action.—Any number of lien-holders, claiming liens on the same property, may join in the action; and any action brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all other lien-holders on the property in question. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 28.

See Ont. Act, sec. 32, to the same effect.

29. Who may try action for lien.—An action to enforce a lien may be tried by a judge of the Court of King's Bench at any regular sittings thereof for the trial of actions, or when the aggregate amount of the liens involved does not exceed the sum of one thousand dollars by a local judge of the said court within whose judicial district the cause of action has arisen. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 29.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by adding after the word "actions" in the third line thereof the words "or by a judge of the County Court of the judicial district in which the action is brought, when within the jurisdiction of the County Court," and by adding after the word "court" in the fifth line of the said action the words "of King's Bench."

See Ont. Act, secs. 33, 34.

30. Powers of local judge trying action for lien.—A local judge of said court trying such action shall have the powers of a local master under "The King's Bench Act," and all the powers and authority conferred by this Act and otherwise upon a judge of the Court of King's Bench to try, determine and finally dispose of such action;

(a) Should it appear to such local judge, at any time during the process of such action, that the aggregate amount involved exceeds one thousand dollars, he shall not be thereby divested of his jurisdiction, but may with the consent of the parties proceed to try, determine and dispose of the same as aforesaid, or, in his discretion, and in any event may refer the action to a judge of the Court of King's Bench at Winnipeg to be there tried and determined, and make all orders for the transmission of papers to the proper officers of the court at Winnipeg and otherwise necessary for the proper trial and determination of the action. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 30.

There is no corresponding section in the Ontario Act.

This section was amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 by adding after the words "local judge" the words "or judge of the County Court."

31. Appointing day for trial.—After the delivery of the statement of defence where the plaintiff's claim is disputed, or after the time for delivery of defence in all other cases where it is desired to try the action otherwise than at the ordinary sittings of the Court of King's Bench, either party may apply to a judge or local judge who has the power to try the action to fix a day for the trial thereof, and the said judge or local judge shall give an appointment fixing the day and place of trial, and on the day fixed, or on such other day to which the trial may be adjourned, shall proceed to try the action, and all questions which arise therein or which are necessary to be tried, to completely dispose of the action and to adjust the rights and liabilities of the persons appearing before him or upon whom the notice of trial has been served, and at the trial shall take all accounts, make all inquiries and give all directions, and do all things neeessary to try and otherwise finally dispose of the action and of all matters, questions and accounts arising in the action or at the trial, and to adjust the rights and liabilities of and give all necessary relief to all parties to the action or who have been served with the notice of trial, and shall embody all the results in the judgment;

(a) Direction as to time for sale.—The judge or local judge who tries the action may order that the estate or interest charged with the lien may be sold, and when, by the judgment, a sale is directed of the estate or interest charged with the lien, the judge or local judge who tries the action may direct the sale to take place at any time after judgment, allowing, however, a reasonable time for advertising such sale;

(b) Directing sale of materials.—The judge or local judge who tries the action may also direct the sale of any materials and authorize the removal thereof;

(c) Letting in lien-holders who have not proved their claims at trial.—Any lien-holder, who has not proved his claim at the trial of any action to enforce a lien, on application to the judge or local judge who tried the action and on such terms as to costs and otherwise as may be just, may be let in to prove his claim at any time before the amount realized in the action for the satisfaction of liens has been distributed; and where such claim is proved and allowed, the judge or local judge shall amend the judgment so as to include such claim therein;

(d) Report where sale is had.—When a sale is had the judge or local judge with whose approbation the lands are sold shall make a report on sale and therein direct to whom the moneys in court shall be paid, and may add to the claim of the person conducting the sale his actual disbursements incurred in connection therewith; and where sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized from the sale, he shall certify the amount of the deficiency and the names of the persons, with their amounts, who are entitled to recover the same, and the persons by the judgment adjudged to pay the same, and such former persons shall be entitled to enforce the same by execution or otherwise as on a judgment of the court.

(e) Attendance in person at trial by certain lien-holders.—Any lien-holder for an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars, or any lien-holder not a party to the action, may attend in person at the trial of an action to enforce a lien, and on any proceedings in such action, or may be represented thereat or thereon by a solicitor or by an agent who is not a solicitor. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 31.

This section was amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 by adding after the words "local judge" the words "or judge of the County Court." Also by adding after the word "Bench" the words "or the ordinary sittings of the County Court."

See Ont. Act, sec. 37.

See Humphreys v. Cleave, 15 Man. L.R. 23, fully noted under sec. 37; also Dixon v. Ross, (1912) 1 D.L.R. 17.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by adding the following words: "In an action brought under this Act in the Court of King's Bench at Winnipeg, or in the County Court of Winnipeg, the judge before whom the trial takes place may refer the action and all matters and questions therein involved to the referee in chambers, who, thereupon, shall have the same powers and jurisdiction to hear and dispose of the action, and all matters and questions therein involved, as the judge himself would have under sec. 31 hereof, as amended, subject to the same right of appeal as would exist if the judge had tried the action himself. No fees shall be chargeable by the referee upon such proceedings."

32. Notice of trial, service of.—The party obtaining an appointment fixing the day and place of trial shall, at least eight clear days before the day fixed for the trial, serve a notice of trial, which may be according to Form No. 10 in Schedule A to this Act, upon the solicitors for the defendants who appear by solicitors, and on all lien-holders known to him, who have registered their liens as required by this Act, and on all other persons having any registered charges, incumbrance or claims on the said lands, who are not parties or who, being parties, appear personally in the said action; and such service shall be personal, unless otherwise directed by the judge or local judge who is to try the case, who may, in lieu of personal service, direct in what manner the notice of trial may be served. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 32.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31 was also made to this section. See McCauley v. Powell, (1908) 7 W.L.R. 443.

33. Consolidation of actions.—Where no more than one action is brought to realize liens in respect of the same property, a judge or local judge, having power to try such actions, may, on the application of any party to any one of such actions, or on the application of any other person interested, consolidate all such actions into one action, and may give the conduct of the consolidated action to any plaintiff in his discretion. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 33.

See Ont. Act, sec. 35, to the same effect.

The amendment first noted as made to section 31 was also made to this section, and by the same Act this section was also amended by striking out the word "no" from the first line.

34. Transferring carriage of proceedings.—Any lien-holder entitled to the benefit of the action may apply for the carriage of the proceedings, and the judge or local judge, having power to try the action, may thereupon make an order giving such lien-holder the carriage of the proceedings, and such lien-holder shall for all purposes thereafter be the plaintiff in the action. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 34.

See Ont. Act, sec. 36, to the same effect.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31 was also made to this section.

35. When judgment of court in first instance to be final.—In all actions where the total amount of the claims of the plaintiff and other persons claiming liens is one hundred dollars or less, the said judgments shall be final, binding and without appeal, except that upon application, within fourteen days after judgment is pronounced, to the judge or local judge who tried the same, he may grant a new trial. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 35.

See Ont. Act, sec. 40, to the same effect.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31, was also made to this section.

36. When appeal lies.—In all actions where the total amount of the claims of the plaintiff and other persons claiming liens is more than one hundred dollars, any party affected thereby may appeal therefrom to the Court of King's Bench in banc, whose judgment shall be final and binding, and no appeal shall lie therefrom. The procedure upon appeal from the judgment of a local judge shall be the same as upon appeal from a judgment of a judge. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 36.

The limitation of the right of appeal has been declared ultra vires. The Provincial Act could not circumscribe the appellate jurisdiction granted by the Dominion statute, R.S.C. ch. 139, secs. 35 and 36. Crown Grain Co. v. Day, (1908) A.C. 504.

See Ontario Act, sec. 40.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by adding at the end thereof the words "and on appeal from a judgment of a County Court judge shall be the same as in ordinary cases in the County Court," also by striking out the words "King's Bench en banc" from the fourth line thereof and substituting therefor the word "Appeal."

37. Limit of costs to plaintiff. — The costs of the action awarded in any action under this Act, by the judge or local judge trying the action, to the plaintiffs and successful lienholders, shall not exceed in the aggregate an amount equal to twenty-five per cent. of the amount of the judgment besides actual disbursements, and shall be in addition to the amount of the judgment, and shall be apportioned and borne in such proportion as the judge or local judge who tries the action may direct. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 37.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31 was also made to this section.

See Ont. Act, sec. 42, to the same effect.

The expression "costs" in this section refers to the costs up to and including the trial, and means the costs which are allowed by the judge at the hearing and entered in the judgment. This provision does not apply to the subsequent costs of sale and proceedings before the Master, which may be dealt with by the judge as in other cases. Humphreys v. Cleave, 15 Man. L.R. 23.

Where there are several successful lien-holders besides the plaintiff, the maximum of costs, exclusive of disbursements, that can be allowed to the plaintiff is twenty-five per cent. of the total amount awarded to him and the other lien-holders, reduced by the total sum of costs awarded to the other lien-holders, so that in no event shall the defendant have to pay in costs, exclusive of disbursements, a sum greater than twenty-five per cent. of all sums awarded against him to lien-holders in the action. McDonald Dure Lumber Co. v. Workman, 18 Man. L.R. 419.

This section was amended by ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 by adding the following words at the end of the section, "Counsel fees shall not be deemed disbursements under this Act. See Leibrock v. Adams, 17 Man. L.R. 575.

38. Limit of costs to be awarded against plaintiffs. — Where the costs are awarded against the plaintiff or other persons claiming the lien, such costs shall not exceed an amount in the aggregate equal to twenty-five per cent. of the claim of the plaintiff and other claimants, besides actual disbursements, and shall be apportioned and borne as the judge or local judge may direct. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 38.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31 was also made to this section.

See Ont. Act, sec. 43, to the same effect.

Counsel fees not shown to have been actually disbursed by the solicitor are not taxable as disbursements in a mechanics' lien action. Cobban v. Lake Simcoe, (1903) 5 O.L.R. 447, followed; Leibrock v. Adams, 17 Man. L.R. 575.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908, this section was amended by adding the following words to it: "Counsel fees shall not be deemed disbursements under this Act."

39. Costs where least expensive course not taken.—In case the least expensive course is not taken by a plaintiff under this Act, the costs allowed to the solicitor shall in no case exceed what would have been incurred if the least expensive course had been taken. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 39.

See Humphrey v. Cleave, 15 Man. L.R. 23, fully noted under sec. 37.

40. Costs.—The costs of and incidental to all applications and orders made under this Act, and not otherwise provided for, shall be in the discretion of the judge or local judge to or by whom the application or orders is made;

(a) Where a lien is discharged or vacated under the twenty-fourth section of this Act, or when in an action judgment is given in favor of or against a claim for a lien, in addition to the costs of an action the judge or local judge may allow a reasonable amount for costs of drawing and registering the lien or for vacating the registration thereof. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 40.

See Ont. Act, secs. 44, 45 and 46.

The amendment first noted as made to sec. 31 was also made to this section.

41. Payments out of court.—In actions tried by a local judge, the local judge who tries the action shall, where money has been paid into court and the time for payment out arrives, forward a requisition for cheques with a certified copy of his judgment, and (when one is made) of the report on sale, to the accountant of the Court of King's Bench, who shall, upon receiving the said requisition and copy of the judgment and report (if any) make out and return to the said local judge cheques for the amounts payable to the persons specified in the requisition, and the said local judge on receipt of said cheques shall distribute them to the persons entitled. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 41.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 this section was amended by adding the words "or to the Clerk of the County Court" after the words "King's Bench" in the sixth line of the said section.

See Ont. Act, sec. 47, to the same effect.

42. Fees not to be payable on payments out of court.—No fees shall be payable or any cheques or proceedings to pay money into court or obtain money out of court in respect of a claim of lien, but sufficient postage stamps to prepay a return registered letter shall be enclosed with every requisition for cheques. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 42, part.

See Ont. Act, sec. 47 (2), to the same effect.

43. Form of judgment in favour of lien-holders.—All judgments in favor of lien-holders shall adjudge that the person or persons personally liable for the amount of the judgment shall pay any deficiency which may remain after the sale of the property adjudged to be sold; and whenever on a sale of any property to realize a lien under this Act, sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized therefrom, the deficiency may be recovered against the property of such person or persons by the usual process of the court. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 43.

See Ont. Act, sec. 48, to the same effect.

44. Personal judgment when claim for lien fails by the usual process.—Whenever in an action brought under the provisions of this Act any claimant shall fail for any reason to establish a valid lien, he may, nevertheless, recover therein a personal judgment against the party or parties to the action for such sum or sums as may appear to be due to him from him or them and which he might recover in an action in contract against such party or parties. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 44.

See Ont. Act, sec. 49, to the same effect.

FORMS.

45. Forms.—The forms in the schedule hereto, or forms similar thereto or to the like effect, may be adopted in all proceedings under this Act. 61 V. ch. 29, sec. 45.

By ch. 28 of the Acts of 1908 this section was amended by adding thereto the following words, "in any case brought in a County Court the said forms may be varied accordingly and such words substituted for the description of the court as the circumstances of the case may require."

See Craig v. Cromwell, 32 O.R. 27, 27 O.A.R. 587; Crerar v. C.P.R. 5 O.L.R. 383.

It is permissible for a defendant to plead that the lien asserted by the plaintiff was not filed, and that the proceedings had not been instituted, within the time required by law, but not that the plaintiff was not entitled to said lien, which is only an allegation of a conclusion of law. Imperial Elevator Co. v. Welch, 16 Man. L.R. 136.

1. Short title.—This chapter may be cited as "The Mechanics' Lien Act." 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 1.

2. Interpretation.—Wherever the following words occur in this chapter or in the schedule thereto, they shall be construed in the manner hereinafter mentioned unless a contrary intention appears:

(1) "Contractor."—"Contractor" shall mean a person contracting with or employed directly by the owner for the doing of work, or placing or furnishing of machinery or materials for any of the purposes mentioned in this chapter.

(2) "Sub-contractor."—"Sub-contractor" shall mean a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner for the purposes aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by the "contractor" or under him by a "sub-contractor."

(3) "Owner."—"Owner" shall extend to and include a person having any estate or interest in the lands upon or in respect of which the work is done or materials or machinery are placed or furnished, at whose request and upon whose credit, or on whose behalf, or with whose privity or consent, or for whose direct benefit any such work is done, or materials or machinery placed or furnished, and all persons claiming under him whose rights are acquired after the work in respect of which the lien is claimed is commenced, or the materials or machinery furnished have been commenced to be furnished.

(4) "Wage-earner."—"Wage-earner" shall mean any person performing labor for wages, by the day, week or month as the case may be, and not by the job.

(6) "Judge."—"Judge" shall mean the judge of the County Court of the county in which the lands sought to be affected by the lien are situate, or the judge of a County Court before whom proceedings may be taken in case of the said judge being interested or related to any of the parties.

See Ontario Act, sec. 2. The Ontario Act includes a municipal corporation and a railway company under the definition of "owner."

3. Agreement not to affect lien of person not a party thereto.—No agreement shall be held to deprive anyone otherwise entitled to a lien under this chapter, and not a party to the agreement, of the benefit of the lien, but the lien shall attach notwithstanding such agreement. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 3.

See Ont. Act, sec. 5.

4. Lien of mechanic, builder, laborer, contractor, etc., for work, materials, etc.—Unless he signs an express agreement to the contrary, every mechanic, machinist, builder, laborer, contractor or other person doing work upon or furnishing materials to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of any building or erection, or erecting, furnishing or placing machinery of any kind in, upon or in connection with any building, erection or mine, shall, by virtue of being so employed or furnishing, have a lien for the price of the work, machinery or materials upon the building, erection or mine and the lands occupied thereby or connected therewith. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 4.

See Ont. Act, sec. 6, and cases cited thereunder. A number of things mentioned in the Ontario Act as subject to the lien are not specified in this section, but at least some of these would probably be held to be covered by the words, "building, erection or mine, and the lands occupied thereby or connected therewith." As to what constitutes a building or erection, see a large number of cases cited in Adamson v. Rogers, (1895) 22 A.R. 415.

5. Lien to attach to building, etc.—The lien shall attach upon the estate and interest of the owner, as defined by this chapter, in the building, erection or mine upon or in respect of which the work is done or the materials or machinery placed or furnished, and the land occupied thereby or connected therewith. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 5.

See Ont. Act, sec. 8.

6. (1) Lien for thirty days' wages.—Every wage-earner who performs labor for wages upon the construction, alteration or repairs of any building or erection, or in erecting or placing machinery of any kind in, upon, or in connection with any building, erection or mine, shall, to the extent of the interest of the owner, have, upon the building, erection or mine, and the land occupied thereby or connected therewith, a lien for such wages, not exceeding the wages for thirty days, or a balance equal to his wages for thirty days.

(2) Lien for wages on property of wife.—The lien for wages mentioned in this section shall attach, when the labor is in respect of a building, erection or mine on property belonging to the wife of the person at whose instance the work is done, upon the estate or interest of the wife in such property as well as upon that of her husband.

(3) Device to defeat lien for wages to be void.—Every device by an owner or contractor which shall be adopted in order to defeat the lien of wage-earners under this chapter, shall, as respects such wage-earners, be null and void. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 6.

See Ont. Act, sees. 7 and 15.

7. Reservation of percentage of price on completion of contract.—The owner shall, in the absence of a stipulation to the contrary, be entitled to retain, for a period of thirty days after the completion of the contract—

(a) Fifteen per centum of the price to be paid to the contractor when such price does not exceed $1,000.

(b) Twelve and a half per centum of the price to be paid to the contractor when such price is more than $1,000, but does not exceed $5,000; and

(c) In all other cases, ten per centum of the price to be paid to the contractor. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 7.

See Ont. Act, sec. 12.

8. Limit to lien of sub-contractor.—In case the lien is claimed by a sub-contractor, the amount which may be claimed in respect thereof shall be limited to the amount payable to the contractor or sub-contractor (as the case may be) for whom the work has been done, or the materials or machinery have been furnished or placed. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 8.

See Ont. Act, sec. 10.

9. (1) Pro tanto discharge of lien by payments up to 90 per cent. of price made in good faith before notice of lien.—All payments up to ninety per centum of the price to be paid for the work, machinery or materials, as defined by sec. 4 of this chapter, made in good faith by the owner to the contractor, or by the contractor to the sub-contractor, or by one sub-contractor to another sub-contractor, before notice in writing by the person claiming the lien has been given to such owner, contractor or sub-contractor (as the case may be) of the claim of such person, shall operate as a discharge pro tanto of the lien created by this chapter, but this section shall not apply to any payment made for the purpose of defeating or impairing a claim to a lien existing or arising under this chapter.

(2) Lien on 10 per cent. of price for ten days after completion of work, etc., where no notice of lien given.—A lien shall, in addition to all other rights or remedies given by this chapter, also operate as a charge to the extent of ten per centum of the price to be paid by the owner for the work, machinery or materials as defined by sec. 4 of this chapter, up to ten days after the completion of the work or of the delivery of the materials in respect of which such lien exists, and no longer, unless such notice in writing be given as herein provided.

(3) Priority of lien for wages on 10 per cent. of price to contractor.—A lien for wages for thirty days or for a balance equal to the wages for thirty days, shall, to the extent of the said ten per centum of the price to be paid to the contractor, have priority over all other liens under this chapter, and over any claim by the owner against the contractor for or in consequence of the failure of the latter to complete his contract.

(4) Increase of percentage where price does not exceed $1,000 or where price between $1,000 and $5,000.—When the total price to be paid or contracted or agreed to be paid for the whole of the work, machinery or materials, as defined by section 4 of this chapter does not exceed $1,000, the three preceding sub-sections of this section shall be read as if the word "ninety" was omitted therefrom, and the word "eighty-five" inserted in lieu thereof, and if the word "ten" was omitted therefrom and the word "fifteen" inserted in lieu thereof; and where the said total price exceeds $1,000, but does not exceed $5,000, the said first three sub-sections shall be read as if the word "ninety" was omitted therefrom and the word "eighty-seven and a half" inserted in lieu thereof, and as if the word "ten" was omitted therefrom and the words "twelve and a half" inserted in lieu thereof. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 9.

See Ont. Act, sec. 12.

10. Owner not liable to sum greater than sum payable to contractor.—Save as herein provided the lien shall not attach so as to make the owner liable to a greater sum than the sum payable by the owner to the contractor. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 10.

See Ont. Act, sec. 10.

11. Lien for material or labor supplied to person having lien.—All persons furnishing material to or doing labor for the person having a lien under this chapter, in respect of the subject of such lien, who notified the owner of the premises sought to be affected thereby, within thirty days after such materials furnished or labor performed, of any unpaid account or demand against such lien-holder for such material or labor, shall be entitled, subject to the provisions of secs. 6 and 9, to a charge therefor pro rata upon any amount payable by such owner under said lien, and if the owner thereupon pays the amount of such charge to the person furnishing material or doing labor as aforesaid, such payment shall be deemed a satisfaction pro tanto of such lien. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 11.

See Ont. Act, sec. 12.

12. Trial where dispute as to claim under preceding section.—In case of a dispute as to the validity or amount of an unpaid account or demand, of which notice is given to the owner under the preceding section, the same shall be first determined by action in the proper court in that behalf; and pending the proceedings to determine the dispute, so much of the amount of the lien as is in question therein may be withheld from the person claiming the lien, or the judge may order such amount paid into a bank to the credit of the cause. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 12.

13. Payment of judgment or claim by owner where failure by primary debtor to pay.—In case the person primarily liable to the person giving such notice as mentioned in sec. 11, fails to pay the amount for which judgment is recovered within ten days after the judgment is obtained, the owner, contractor or sub-contractor may pay the amount out of any moneys due by him to the person primarily liable as aforesaid, on account of the work done, or materials or machinery furnished or placed in respect of which the debt arose; and such payment if made after the judgment as aforesaid (or if made without any action being previously brought or dispute existing, then, if the debt in fact existed, and to the extent thereof) shall operate as a discharge pro tanto of the moneys so due as aforesaid to the person primarily liable. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 13.

14. Property not to be removed while subject to lien.—During the continuance of a lien, no portion of the property or machinery affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of the lien; and any attempt at such removal may be restrained by application to the judge. Disobedience of the judge's order restraining such removal shall be punishable by attachment for contempt by the judge as in the Supreme Court for disobedience of an order of a judge of that court. 57 V. ch. 23, sec. 14.

REVISED STATUTES OF NOVA SCOTIA, 1900.

CHAPTER 171.

Of Liens of Mechanics and Others.

Short Title.

1. Short title.—This chapter may be cited as "The Mechanics' Lien Act." 1899, ch. 29, sec. 1.

Interpretation.

2. Interpretation.—In this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions shall be construed in the manner in this section mentioned:—

(a) "Contractor."—"Contractor" means a person contracting with, or employed directly by, the owner or his agent for the doing of work, or for furnishing or placing materials or machinery for any of the purposes mentioned in this chapter.

(b) "Sub-contractor."—"Sub-contractor" means a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the purposes aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by the contractor, or by some other person who has contracted with or is employed by the contractor.

(c) "Owner."—"Owner" includes any person, firm, company, corporation, or association having any estate or interest in the lands upon, or in respect to, which the work is done, or machinery or materials are furnished or placed, at whose request and upon whose credit, or upon whose behalf or with whose privity or consent, or for whose direct benefit, any such work is done, or machinery or materials placed or furnished, and any person claiming under him whose rights are acquired after the work in respect to which the lien is claimed is commenced to be done, or the materials furnished have been commenced to be furnished.

(d) "Person."—"Person" includes a body corporate, firm, partnership or association.

(e) "Materials."—"Materials" includes every kind of movable property.

(f) "Wages."—"Wages" means money earned by the mechanic or laborer for work done, whether by the day or as piece work.

(g) "Registrar."—"Registrar" means registrar of deeds. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 2.

See Ont. Act, sec. 2, and notes thereunder.

The Ontario Act includes a municipal corporation and a railway company under the definition of "owner."

A foreign corporation would be entitled to acquire a lien under this Act. See Bank of Montreal v. Condon, (1896) 11 Man. 366.

LIEN, PERSON ENTITLED TO, CREATION AND EFFECT OF.

3. When lien arises.—(1) Unless he signs an express agreement to the contrary, every person who performs any work or service upon or in respect to, or places or furnishes any material to be used in the construction, fitting, alteration, improvement, or repair of, any erection, building, road, railway, wharf, pier, bridge, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, pavement, drain, or sewer, or the appurtenances to any of them, for any owner, contractor, or sub-contractor, shall by virtue thereof, have a lien for the price of such work, services, or materials upon the erection, building, road, railway, wharf, pier, bridge, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, pavement, drain, or sewer, and upon the appurtenances to any of them, and the lands occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, or upon or in respect to which such work or service is performed, or upon which such materials are furnished or placed to be used; limited, however, in amount to the sum justly due to the person entitled to the lien and the sum justly owing (except as in this chapter provided) by the owner.

(2) Such lien, upon registration, as in this chapter provided, shall attach and take effect from the date of the registration as against subsequent purchasers, mortgagees, or other incumbrances. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 4.

See Ont. Act, sec. 6, and cases cited. See also amending Chapters, post.

The word "road" is not in the Ontario Act. This section omits the words "land," "bulkhead," "trestlework," "vault," "fence," "fountain," "fishpond," "aqueduct," "roadbed," "way," "fruit and ornamental trees," which are used in the Ontario Act. At least some of these things specified, however, in the Ontario Act, would probably be held to be covered by the words "any erection, building, . . . or the appurtenances to any of them" in this section.

As to what constitutes a building or erection, see a large number of cases cited in Adamson v. Rogers, (1895) 22 A.R. 415.

C. & W., who were awarded a contract to place heating apparatus in a hotel building owned by the defendant D., ordered materials required from plaintiffs in a letter stating: "We have secured contract for hotel which requires above goods." Held, that these words sufficiently identified the building for which the goods were required. Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann et al., (1904) 37 N.S.R. 237.

The word "mine" used as affecting claims of others than laborers includes the areas and the deposit of ore, and the parcel of land on which such deposit is found; and the word "appurtenances" refers to articles of movable property used in working the mine. Pelton v. Black Hawk Mining Co., (1903) 40 N.S.R. 385.

4. Upon what lien attaches.—(1) The lien shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner in the erection, building, road, railway, wharf, pier, bridge, mine, well, excavation, sidewalk, pavement, drain, or sewer, and upon the appurtenances to any of them and the lands occupied or enjoyed therewith.

(2) Where the estate or interest charged by the lien is leasehold, the fee simple may also, with the consent of the owner thereof, be subject to the lien; provided that such consent is testified by the signature of the owner upon the statement of claim at the time of the registering thereof, and verified as in this chapter provided. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 5.

See Ont. Act, sec. 7 (1) and (2), and notes thereunder.

5. When property destroyed by fire.—Where any of the property upon which a lien is given by this chapter is wholly or partly destroyed by fire, any money received by reason of any insurance thereon by the owner shall take the place of the property so destroyed, and shall, after satisfying any prior mortgage or charge, be subject to the claims of all persons for liens to the same extent as if such moneys were realized by sale of such property in an action to enforce a lien. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 6.

See Ont. Act, sec. 8.

6. Amount of lien.—Except as in this chapter is otherwise provided, a lien shall not attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum payable by the owner to the contractor. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 7.

See Ont. Act, sec. 9.

7. Amount in case of person other than contractor.—Except as in this chapter is otherwise provided, where the lien is claimed by any other person than the contractor, the amount of such lien shall be limited to the amount owing to the contractor, or subcontractor, or other person for whom such work or service has been done, or the materials have been furnished or placed for such work, service, or materials. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 8. By Chapter 68 of the Acts of 1903 this section was amended by adding to it the words "at the date at which said lien is claimed."

See McDonald v. Dominion Iron and Steel Co., (1903) 40 N.S.R. 465.

See Ont. Act, sec. 10.

8. Deductions in favor of sub-contractors, etc.—(1) In all cases the person primarily liable on any contract under or by virtue of which a lien may arise under the provisions of this chapter shall, as the work is done or materials are furnished under such contract, deduct from any payments made by him in respect to such contract, and retain for the period of thirty days after the completion or abandonment of the contract, fifteen per cent. of the value of the work, services, and materials actually done, furnished, or placed, and such value shall be calculated on the basis of the price to be paid on the whole contract; and the liens created by this chapter shall be a charge upon the amounts so retained under this section in favor of sub-contractors whose liens are derived under persons to whom such moneys so retained are respectively payable.

(2) All payments up to eighty-five per cent. of such value made in good faith by the owner to the contractor, by the contractor to the sub-contractor, or by one sub-contractor to any other sub-contractor, before notice in writing of such lien has been given by the person claiming the lien to the owner, contractor, or sub-contractor, shall operate as a charge pro tanto of the lien created by this chapter.

(3) Payment of the moneys required to be retained under this section may be validly made so as to discharge all liens or charges under this chapter in respect thereto after the expiration of the period of thirty days mentioned in this section, unless proceedings have been previously taken under this chapter to enforce any lien or charge against the moneys so retained. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 9.

See Ont. Act, sec. 11, and notes thereunder.

B. contracted with the defendant company to transfer to them a quantity of land, and to erect and equip a mill and to do other work, for an agreed sum in bonds and shares of the company and other considerations. It was subsequently agreed, verbally, that a portion of the proceeds of the bonds and shares transferred to B. should be retained by a trust company as security for the performance by B. of his contract for the erection of the mill, to be paid out as the work progressed. In an action against the company by the sub-contractor by whom the machinery for the mill was supplied:—Held, that in the absence of notice, the company are not liable to plaintiff for failure to retain out of the moneys paid to B. the percentage required to be retained under the provisions of the Act. Also that the transaction which took place when the title to the property was transferred to the company, and the bonds and shares, the consideration therefor, were delivered to B., was not one within the provisions of sec. 8 of the Act and that the company was not required to retain anything on that date for the benefit of future contractors. Smith Co. v. Sissiboo, etc., Co., (1903) 36 N.S.R. 348.

On appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada this judgment was affirmed, and it was held that sec. 8 which requires the owner to retain fifteen per cent. of the contract price until the work is completed did not apply, as no price for building the mill was specified, but the price was associated with other considerations from which it could not be separated. Smith Co. v. Sissiboo, etc., Co., (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93.

9. Payments for work, etc., when allowed against contractor, etc.—If the owner or contractor makes payments to any person who has performed work or service, or placed or furnished materials, in manner as in this chapter previously specified, for, or on account of, any debts justly due to them for work or service so done, or for materials furnished or placed to be used as so specified, and within three days afterwards gives, by letter or otherwise, written notice of such payment to the contractor, or his agent, or to the sub-contractor, or his agent, as the case may be, such payments shall, as between the owner and the contractor, or as between the contractor and the sub-contractor, be deemed to be payments to the contractor or the sub-contractor on his contract generally, but not so as to affect the percentage to be retained by the owner, as provided by the next preceding section of this chapter. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 10.

See Ont. Act, sec. 12.

10. Priority of liens.—(1) Any lien created by this chapter shall have priority over all judgments, executions, assignments, attachments, garnishments, and receiving orders recovered, issued, or made after such lien arises, and over all conveyances or mortgages made after registration of such lien as in this chapter provided.

(2) In case of an agreement for the purchase of land, and the purchase money, or any part thereof, is unpaid, and no conveyance made to the purchaser, the purchaser shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be deemed the mortgagor, and the seller the mortgagee.

(3) Except as is otherwise provided by this chapter, no person entitled to a lien on any property, or to a charge on any moneys under this chapter, shall be entitled to any priority or preference over any other person of the same class, entitled to a lien or charge on such property or moneys under this chapter, and each class of lien-holders, except as is otherwise provided by this chapter, shall rank pari passu for their several amounts, and the proceeds of any sale shall, subject as aforesaid, be distributed among the lien-holders pro rata, according to their several classes and rights. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 11.

See Ont. Act, sec. 13.

11. Lien of mechanic, etc., for wages, priority of.—(1) Every mechanic or laborer whose lien if for work done for wages shall, to the extent of thirty days' wages, have priority over all liens derived through the same contractor, or sub-contractor on the fifteen per cent. directed to be retained under this chapter, to which the contractor or sub-contractor, through whom such lien is derived, is entitled, and all such mechanics and laborers shall rank pari passu on such fifteen per cent.

(2) A lien for wages may be enforced in respect to a contract not completely fulfilled.

(3) If the contract has not been completely fulfilled when a lien is claimed for wages, the percentage required to be retained shall be calculated on the work done, or materials furnished or placed by the contractor or sub-contractor by whom the person claiming such lien is employed.

(4) Where the contractor or sub-contractor makes default in completing his contract, the percentage required to be retained shall not, as against a person claiming a lien for wages under this chapter, be applied to the completion of the contract, or for any other purpose, by the owner or contractor, nor to the payment of damages for non-completion of the contract by the contractor or sub-contractor, nor in payment or satisfaction of any claim of any kind against the contractor or sub-contractor.

(5) Every device by any owner, contractor, or sub-contractor adopted to defeat the priority given to liens for wages by this chapter shall, as respect the holders of such liens, be null and void. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 12.

See McDonald v. Dominion Iron & Steel Co., (1903) 40 N.S.R. 465.

See Ont. Act, sec. 14.

12. (1) Materials, etc., not to be removed.—During the continuance of the lien no portion of any materials or machinery affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of the lien, and any attempt at such removal may be restrained on application to the Supreme Court, or a judge thereof, or to the County Court or a judge thereof, respectively, according as the claim is over or under the sum of four hundred dollars. See Chapter 15 of the Acts of 1903-4 amending this section.

(2) The court or a judge to whom any such application is made, may make such order as to costs of and incidental to the application as he deems just. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 13 (part).

See Ont. Act, sec. 16 (1) and (2).

13. Where any materials are actually brought upon any land to be used in connection with such land for any of the purposes previously specified in this chapter, the same shall be subject to a lien in favor of the person supplying the same until put in the building, erection, or work. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 13 (part).

See Ont. Act, sec. 16 (3).

14. Registration of claim.—A claim for lien may be registered in the registry of deeds for the registration district in which the land is situated. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 14.

See Ont. Act, sec. 17 (1).

15. (1) Contents and form of claim.—A claim for lien shall state,

(a) the name and residence of the person claiming the lien, and of the owner of the property to be charged (or of the person whom the person claiming the lien, or his agent, believes to be the owner of the property proposed to be charged) and of the person for whom and on whose credit the work or service was, or is to be, done, or materials or machinery furnished or placed, and the time within which the same was, or is to be, done, or furnished or placed;

(b) a short description of the work or service done, or to be done, or materials or machinery furnished or placed, or to be furnished or placed;

(c) the sum claimed as due or to become due;

(d) a description of the land to be charged:

(e) the date of expiry of the period of credit, if any, agreed upon by the lien-holder for payment for his work or service or materials, where credit has been given.

(2) The claim may be in one of the forms A or B in the schedule to this chapter, or to the like effect, and shall be verified by the affidavit (form C) of the person claiming the lien, or of his agent or assignee having a personal knowledge of the matters required to be verified, and the affidavit of the agent or assignee shall state that he has such knowledge.

(3) Where it is desired to register a claim for lien against the lands of a railway company, it shall be a sufficient description of such lands to describe them as the lands of such railway company, and every such claim for lien shall be registered in the registry of deeds for the registration district in which such lien is claimed to have arisen. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 15.

See Ont. Act, sec. 17 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) (2), (3), and notes thereunder.

16. Union of claims.—A claim for lien may include claims against any number of properties, and any number of persons claiming liens on the same property may unite therein (form D), but when more than one lien is included in one claim, each lien shall be verified by affidavit (form C), as provided in the next preceding section of this chapter. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 16.

See Ont. Act, sec. 18.

17. Irregularity not to invalidate lien.—(1) Substantial compliance only with the next two preceding sections of this chapter shall be required, and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of the failure to comply with any of the requisites of such sections, unless in the opinion of the court or judge who has power to try the action under this chapter, the owner, contractor, or sub-contractor, or mortgagee, or any other person, as the case may be, is prejudiced thereby, and then only to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced.

(2) Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as dispensing with the registration required by this chapter. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 17.

See Ont. Act, sec. 18.

18. Registrar to register, fees.—The registrar, upon payment of a fee of twenty-five cents, shall register the claim so that the same may appear as an incumbrance against the land so described. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 18.

See Ont. Act, sec. 20 (1).

19. Registry Act to apply.—Where the claim for lien is so registered the person entitled to such lien shall be deemed the purchaser pro tanto and within the provision of the Registry Act, but, except as in this chapter provided, the Registry Act shall not apply to any lien arising under this chapter. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 19.

See Ont. Act, sec. 21.

20. Registration in other cases.—(1) A claim for lien by a contractor or sub-contractor may, in cases not otherwise provided for, be registered before or during the performance of the contract, or within thirty days after the completion thereof.

(2) A claim for lien upon materials or machinery may be registered before or during the furnishing or placing thereof, or within thirty days of the furnishing or placing of the last materials or machinery so furnished or placed.

(3) A claim for lien for wages may be registered at any time during the performance of the work for which such wages are claimed, or within thirty days after the last day's work for which the lien is claimed. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 20.

See Ont. Act, sec. 22 (1) (2) (4). By Chapter 27 of the N. S. Acts of 1902 the word "for" was substituted for the word "upon" in sub-sec. 2.

One Rhuland had a contract with Wright for the construction of some houses. Dempster & Co. were the sub-contractors and supplied Rhuland on his credit with materials for the work, the whole of which was delivered before the 28th April, 1900. On the 18th May, 1900, Dempster & Co. registered a lien against the property under the Mechanics' Lien Act, 1899, but no proceedings were instituted by them to realize the claim until 13th August, 1900. On an application to set aside Dempster's lien, Ritchie, J., delivered the following judgment: "I think the word 'contract' in the 20th section of the Act means the original contract with the owner and not the contract between the contractor and a sub-contractor. If no claim had been registered, Dempster & Co. could, I think, have registered one at any time within thirty days after the completion of that contract. There seems to be no reference to the abandonment of the contract except in section 9, but in view of that section I am inclined to the opinion that an abandonment would be held as equivalent to a completion, and no claim could be registered after thirty days from the abandonment of a contract. In this case no period of credit is mentioned in the claim and Mr. Dempster has sworn in an affidavit attached to the claim that none was given nor is the lien claimed upon materials or machinery as provided by section 20, sub-section 2. The difficulty, I think, arises in construing the words 'after the work or service has been completed,' in the cases of sub-contractors. Does this mean after the original contract has been completed or after the completion of the sub-contract? Sub-sections 2 and 3 of section 22 of the Ontario Act have been omitted from the corresponding section (20) of our Act, and decisions on these sections, including Hall v. Hogg, 20 O.R. 15, are not, I think, applicable. Application dismissed." Dempster v. Wright, (1900) 21 C.L.T. 88.

When Lien Shall Cease.

21. Unregistered claim, lapse of.—Every lien which is not duly registered under the provisions of this chapter shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of the time by this chapter limited for the registration thereof, unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim, or in which the claim may be realized under the provisions of this chapter, and a certificate thereof (form E) (which may be given by the proper officer of the court in which the proceedings are instituted) is duly registered in the registry of deeds for the registration district in which the lands in respect to which the lien is claimed are situated. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 21.

See Ont. Act, sec. 23.

22. Registered lien to lapse unless action brought.—Every lien which has been duly registered under the provisions of this chapter shall absolutely cease to exist after the expiration of ninety days after the work or service has been completed, or the materials or machinery furnished or placed, or the expiry of the period of credit, where such period is mentioned in the claim of lien registered, unless in the meantime proceedings are instituted to realize the claim under the provisions of this chapter, and a certificate registered as required by the next preceding section. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 22.

See Ont. Act, sec. 24 (1).

Transmission of Lien.

23. Transmission of lien.—In case of the death of a lien-holder, his right of lien shall pass to his personal representatives, and the right of a lien-holder may be assigned by an instrument in writing. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 23.

Discharge of Lien.

24. Discharge of lien.—(1) A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant, or his agent duly authorized in writing, acknowledging payment, and verified by affidavit and registered. The fee shall be the same as the fee for registering a claim of lien.

(2) Upon application the court or judge having power to try an action to realize a lien may receive security or payment into court in lieu of the amount of the claim and costs, and may thereupon order that the registration of such lien be vacated.

(3) The court or judge may, upon any other ground, order that the registration of any lien be vacated.

(4) Where the certificate that proceedings have been taken to realize any lien has not been registered within the time limited by this chapter, and an application is made to vacate the registration of such lien after the time for registration of such certificate, the applicant shall not be required to give notice of the application to the person claiming the lien, and the order vacating the lien may be made ex parte upon production of the certificate of the registrar, certifying the facts entitling the applicant to such order. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 24.

See Ont. Act, sec. 24.

25. Security, etc., taking of, not to affect lien.—The taking of any security for the claim, or the acceptance of any promissory note therefor, or the taking of any other acknowledgment thereof, or the giving of time for the payment of the claim, or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery of the claim, or the recovery of any personal judgment for the claim, shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice, or destroy any lien created by this chapter, unless the lien-holder agrees in writing that it shall have that effect: Provided, however, that no person who has extended the time for payment of any claim for which he has a lien under this chapter, shall obtain the benefit of this section unless he commences an action to enforce such lien within the time limited by this chapter, and registers a certificate that such proceedings have been taken as required by this chapter, but no further proceedings shall be taken in the action until the expiration of such extension of time: and provided, further, that notwithstanding such extension of time, such person may, where an action is commenced by any other person to enforce a lien upon the same property, prove and obtain payment of his claim in such action as if no such extension had been given. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 25.

See Ont. Act, sec. 28.

LIEN-HOLDER ENTITLED TO INFORMATION AND INSPECTION.

26. Lien-holder may demand inspection of contract.—Any lien lien-holder or person entitled to a lien may at any time demand of the owner, or his agent, the terms of the contract or agreement with the contractor for and in respect to which the work, service, or materials is or are performed, or furnished or placed, and if such owner or his agent,—

(a) does not at the time of such demand, or within a reasonable time thereafter, inform the person making such demand of the terms of such contract or agreement, and the amount due or unpaid on such contract or agreement; or,

(b) intentionally or knowingly falsely states the terms of such contract or agreement, or the amount due and unpaid thereon, and if the person claiming the lien sustains loss by reason of such refusal, or neglect, or false statement, such owner shall be liable to him in an action therefor to the amount of such loss. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 26.

Enforcement of Liens, Procedure.

28. Jurisdiction of court and procedure.—(As amended by Chapter 25 of the Acts of 1903-4.)—(1) The lien created by this chapter may be enforced by action to be brought and tried in the County Court of the County Court District in which the lands are situated, whether the amount claimed is over eight hundred dollars or not, and according to the ordinary procedure of such court, except where the same is varied by this chapter.

(2) Without issuing a writ of summons, an action under this chapter shall be commenced by filing in the office of the clerk a statement of claim verified by affidavit. Such affidavit shall be in the form F in the schedule, or to the like effect.

(3) Any number of lien-holders claiming liens on the same property may join in the action, and any action brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of all other lien-holders on the property in question.

(4) It shall not be necessary to make any lien-holders defendants to the action, but all lien-holders served with a notice of trial shall, for all purposes, be treated as if they were parties to the action.

(5) Every such lien-holder who is not a party to the action shall file his claim, verified by affidavit (form G).

(6) The statement of claim shall be served within one month after it is filed, but the court or judge having power to try the action may extend the time for service thereof. 1899, ch. 29, secs. 28, 29.

See Ont. Act, sec. 31. See also McDonald v. Consolidated G. M. Co., (1901) 21 C.L.T. 482, and Pennington v. Morley, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 514.

This section when read with sec. 31 requires that notice of taking an order for judgment should be given prior incumbrancers so as to protect their rights. Pelton v. Black Hawk Mining Co., (1903) 40 N.S.R. 385.

29. Joinder of claims.—The statement of defence may be in one of the forms H or I, and the affidavit of verification in the form J. The time for delivering a statement of defence shall be the same as for entering an appearance in an action in the Supreme Court.

See Ont. Act, sec. 31 (3).

30. Trial and powers of court.—(1) After the delivery of the statement of defence, where the plaintiff's claim is disputed, or after the time for delivery of defence in all other cases, where it is desired to try the action otherwise than at the ordinary sittings of the court, either party may apply to a judge who has power to try the action to fix a day for the trial thereof, and the judge shall make an appointment fixing the day and place of trial, and on the day appointed, or on such other day to which the trial is adjourned, shall proceed to try the action and all questions which arise therein, or which are necessary to be tried to fully dispose of the action, and to adjust the rights and liabilities of the persons appearing before him, or upon whom the notice of trial has been served, and at the trial shall take all accounts, make all inquiries, and give all directions, and do all things necessary to try and otherwise finally dispose of the action, and of all matters, questions and accounts arising in the action, or at the trial, and to adjust the rights and liabilities of, and give all necessary relief to, all parties to the action, or who have been served with the notice of trial, and shall embody all results in the judgment. (Form K.)

(2) The judge who tries the action may order that the estate or interest charged with the lien be sold, and when by the judgment a sale of the estate or interest charged with the lien is ordered, the judge who tries the action may direct the sale to take place at any time after judgment, allowing, however, a reasonable time for advertising such sale.

(3) The judge who tries the action may also order the sale of any materials, and authorize the removal thereof.

(4) Any lien-holder who has not proved his claim at the trial of any action to enforce a lien, on application to the judge who tried the action, upon such terms as to costs and otherwise as are just, may be let in to prove his claim at any time before the amount realized in the action for the satisfaction of liens has been distributed, and where such claim is proved and allowed, the judge shall amend the judgment so as to include such claim therein.

(5) Any lien-holder for an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars, or any lien-holder not a party to the action, may attend in person at the trial of an action to enforce a lien, and on any proceedings in such action, or may be represented thereat or thereon by a solicitor.

(6) Where a sale is had the moneys arising therefrom shall be paid into court to the credit of the action, and the judge upon whose order the lands were sold shall direct to whom such moneys shall be paid, and may add to the claim of the person conducting the sale his actual disbursements incurred in connection therewith; and where sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized by the sale, he shall certify the amount of such deficiency, and the names of the persons, with the amounts, who are entitled to recover the same, and the persons by the judgment adjudged to pay the same, and such persons shall be entitled to enforce the same by execution or otherwise, as a judgment of the court. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 30.

See Ont. Act, sec. 35, and notes thereunder.

31. Notice of trial.—The party who obtains an appointment fixing the day and place of trial, shall, at least eight clear days before the day fixed for the trial, serve a notice of trial, which may be in the form L in the schedule, or to the like effect, upon the solicitors for the defendants, who appear by solicitors, and upon all lien-holders known to him, who have registered their liens as required by this chapter, and upon all other persons having any registered charge, or incumbrance or claim on the said lands who are not parties, or who, being parties, appear personally in the said action, and such service shall be personal unless otherwise directed by the court or judge who is to try the action, and the court or judge may, in lieu of personal service, direct in what manner the notice of trial shall be served. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 31.

See Ont. Act, sec. 36.

32. Consolidation of actions.—Where more than one action is brought to realize liens in respect to the same property, the court or judge having power to try such actions may, on the application of any party to any one of such actions, or on the application of any other person interested, consolidate all such actions into one action, and may give the conduct of the consolidated action to any plaintiff in his discretion. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 32.

See Ont. Act, sec. 37.

33. Carriage of proceedings.—Any lien-holder entitled to the benefit of the action may apply for the carriage of the proceedings, and the court or judge having power to try the action may thereupon make an order giving such lien-holder the carriage of the proceedings, and such lien-holder shall, for all purposes in the action, be the plaintiff in the action. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 33.

See Ont. Act, sec. 38.

34. Judgment in petty cases final.—In any action where the total amount of the claims of the plaintiff and other persons claiming liens is one hundred dollars or less, the judgment of the court or judge having power to try such action shall be final, binding, and without appeal, except that upon application, within fourteen days after judgment is pronounced, to the court or judge who tried the same, a new trial may be granted. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 34.

See Ont. Act, sec. 39 (1).

35. Appeal.—In all actions where the total amount of the claims of the plaintiff and other persons claiming liens is more than one hundred dollars, any party affected thereby may appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court, en banc, whose judgment shall be final and binding, and no appeal shall lie therefrom. The Judicature Act and the rules of the Supreme Court shall, so far as the same are applicable, apply to all appeals under this section. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 35.

See Ont. Act, sec. 39 (2), (3).

38. Deficiency after sale recoverable.—All judgments in favor of lien-holders shall adjudge that the person or persons personally liable for the amount of the judgment shall pay any deficiency which may remain after sale of the property adjudged to be sold, and whenever on a sale of any property to realize a lien under this chapter sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized therefrom, the deficiency may be recovered against the property of such person or persons by the usual process of the court. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 38.

See Ont. Act, sec. 4:

41. Mechanics' lien on chattels.—(1) Every mechanic or other person who has bestowed money, or skill and materials upon any chattel or thing in the alteration and improvement in its properties, or for the purpose of imparting an additional value to it, so as thereby to be entitled to a lien upon such chattel or thing for the amount or value of the money, or skill and materials bestowed, shall, while such lien exists, but not afterwards, in case the amount to which he is entitled remains unpaid for three months after the same ought to have been paid, have the right, in addition to all other remedies provided by law, to sell the chattel or thing in respect to which the lien exists, on giving one week's notice by advertisement in a newspaper published in the county in which the work was done, or in case there is no newspaper published in such county, then in a newspaper circulating therein, stating the name of the person indebted, the amount of the debt, a description of the chattel or thing to be sold, the time and place of sale, and the name of the auctioneer, and leaving a like notice in writing at the last known place of residence (if any) of the owner, if he is a resident of such county.

(2) Such mechanic, or other person, shall apply the proceeds of the sale in payment of the amount due to him, and the cost of advertising and sale, and shall, upon application, pay over any surplus to the person entitled thereto. 1899, ch. 29, sec. 39.

HIS MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be cited as "The Mechanics' and Wage-earners' Lien Act."

2. Interpretation.—In this Act:—

(1) "Contractor."—"Contractor" shall mean a person contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the doing of work done or service or placing or furnishing materials for any of the purposes mentioned in this Act;

(2) "Material."—"Material" or "materials" shall include every kind of movable property;

(3) "Owner."—"Owner" shall extend to any person, body corporate or politic, including a municipal corporation and a railway company, having any estate or interest in the land upon or in respect of which the work or service is done, or materials are placed or furnished, at whose request and

(i) Upon whose credit or

(ii) On whose behalf or

(iii) With whose privity and consent or

(iv) For whose direct benefit work or service is performed or materials are placed or furnished, and all persons claiming under him or them whose rights are acquired after the work or service in respect of which the lien is claimed is commenced or the materials furnished have been commenced to be furnished;

(4) "Registrar."—"Registrar" shall include Master of Titles and Local Master of Titles.

(5) "Registry office."—"Registry office" shall include Land Titles Office.

(6) "Sub-contractor."—"Sub-contractor" shall mean a person not contracting with or employed directly by the owner or his agent for the purposes aforesaid, but contracting with or employed by a contractor, or under him by another sub-contractor.

(7) "Wages."—"Wages" shall mean money earned by a mechanic or laborer for work done, whether by the day or other time or as piece work. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 2.

(a) "Contractor."—Any person contracting directly with the "owner" is a contractor. The nature and extent of the lien of contractor are dealt with in the chapter entitled "Who may acquire a lien," ante.

(b) "Sub-contractor."—The lien of the sub-contractor is considered in the chapter entitled, "Who may acquire a lien," ante.

As ordinarily there would be no obligation on the part of an owner to pay the contractor's debts, the sub-contractor in a claim against the "owner" must show that this liability was created by the statute and that his claim as sub-contractor comes within its terms. Reeve v. Elmendorf, 38 N.J.L. 125.

(c) "Owner."—Municipal corporations are now within the definition of "owner" given in this section. In General Contracting Co. v. Ottawa, (1909) 16 O.W.R. 479, the court considered that the language of some of the sections of the Act seemed to imply an intention to include some classes of municipal property. The question whether existing Mechanics' Lien Acts in Canada create a lien against property held by a municipal corporation is discussed in the chapter entitled, "Property which may be subject to lien," ante.

The contract should be sufficiently definite to enable the amount to be determined with reasonable certainty. Wilder v. French, 75 Mass. 395; Eisendrathar v. Gebhardt, 124 Ill. App. 325, affirmed, 222 Ill. 113; Merritt v. Crane Co., 225 Ill. 181. One member of a partnership can make a contract involving a lien. Wahlstrom v. Trulson, 165 Mass. 429.

A railway company is also within the definition of "owner" in this section. The constitutionality and scope of this and similar provisions as applicable to railway companies are discussed in the chapter entitled, "Property which may be subject to lien," ante.

See cases cited under chapter, "The Owner and his Interest," ante.

(d) "Or service."—These words would probably be construed as enlarging the scope of the section so as to clearly include professional services rendered by engineers and architects in respect to the building, in addition to superintendence.

(e) "With whose privity or consent."—To create a lien against the interest of an "owner" there must be something in the nature of direct dealing between the contractor and the "owner" or person whose estate is sought to be charged. Where an "owner" merely has knowledge that the work is being done or that the material is being furnished, and silently assents to and benefits by the furnishing of such work or materials a lien is not thereby created against his interest. See Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 A.R. 364, and cases cited under chapter entitled, "Consent of Owner," ante.

3. Act not to apply to streets or highways.—Nothing in this Act shall extend to any public street or highway, or to any work or improvement done or caused to be done by a municipal corporation thereon. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 7(1); 1 Edw. VII. ch. 12, sec. 30.

4. Contracts waiving application of Act to be void.—(1) Every agreement, verbal or written, express or implied, on the part of any workman, servant, laborer, mechanic, or other person employed in any kind of manual labor intended to be dealt with in this Act, that this Act shall not apply, or that the remedies provided by it shall not be available for the benefit of such person, shall be null and void.

(2) This section shall not apply to a manager, officer or foreman or to any other person whose wages are more than $5 a day.

(a) "Shall be null and void."—This section is intended to protect those who do the manual labor, and the effect of the whole section is to limit its application to that class.

NATURE AND EXTENT OF LIEN.

5. Contracts not to deprive third party of lien.—No agreement shall deprive any person otherwise entitled to a lien under this Act, who is not a party to the agreement, of the benefit of the lien, but it shall attach, notwithstanding such agreement. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 6.

(a) "No agreement."—This section is to be read in connection with secs. 10, 11, 12 and 15, post.

Unless by the agreement the contractor forfeits all claim to payment in the event of a mechanics' lien being claimed or registered, it is difficult to understand how such an agreement could affect any persons but the parties to it and their representatives and assignees. The section in terms only applies to persons "otherwise entitled to a lien under the Act." By secs. 6 and 11 the lien is limited to the sum payable by the owner to the contractor subject to the provisions of secs. 12 and 15 as to percentage to be retained. If, then, there is nothing due by the owner to the contractor there can be no lien and this section will not help the sub-contractor, unless it is held to mean that any such agreement, viz., that provides that nothing shall be due until completion, or that the right to payment shall be forfeited if any mechanics' lien is claimed or registered or otherwise takes away the contractor's right to payment, shall not deprive the sub-contractor of the benefit of the lien. Such a construction would in effect be extending the provisions of the Act creating the lien, which this section does not purport to do. It is probable that the section does not go further than to preserve to sub-contractors and others not parties to the agreement the right to enforce their liens against the owner to the extent at least of the percentage to be retained, even though the owner has attempted to protect himself against liens by his agreement with the contractor.

Special provision is made in sec. 15 for wage-earners, and sec. 4, supra, enacts that any such agreement made by a "workman, servant, laborer, mechanic or other person employed in any kind of manual labor, intended to be dealt with in this Act," and who receives not more than five dollars a day, shall be null and void and of no effect.

In a building contract for the erection of a church the contractor agreed with the building committee to settle with all other persons doing work upon or furnishing materials for the construction thereof, and stipulated that neither he nor they should have any lien upon the building for their work or materials. Held binding on the sub-contractors, though made without their knowledge or assent. It was also stipulated that twenty per cent. of the contract price should not be payable until thirty days after the architect should have accepted the work, and that the balance of the contract price so to be retained should not be payable until all sub-contractors were fully paid and settled with. Held, that no trust was thereby created in favour of the sub-contractors, as to the sum agreed to be retained; and, the contractor having assigned his interest in the contract to a third party, and the committee having waived their right to insist that the sub-contractors should be paid, that the assignee was entitled to receive the twenty per cent. retained, to the exclusion of the sub-contractors. Forhan v. Lalonde, (1880) 27 Gr. 600. See 47 Vict. ch. 18, sec. 1; 59 Vict. ch. 35, sec. 4.

6. Nature of lien.—Unless he signs an express agreement to the contrary, and in that case subject to the provisions of section 4, any person who performs any work or service upon or in respect of, or places or furnishes any materials to be used in the making, constructing, erecting, fitting, altering, improving, or repairing of any erection, building, railway, land, wharf, pier, bulkhead, bridge, trestlework, vault, mine, well, excavation, fence, sidewalk, paving, fountain, fishpond, drain, sewer, aqueduct, roadbed, way, fruit or ornamental trees, or the appurtenances to any of them for any owner, contractor or sub-contractor, shall by virtue thereof have a lien for the price of such work, service or materials upon the erection, building, railway, land, wharf, pier, bulkhead, bridge, trestlework, vault, mine, well, excavation, fence, sidewalk, paving, fountain, fishpond, drain, sewer, aqueduct, roadbed, way, fruit and ornamental trees, and appurtenances, and the land occupied thereby or enjoyed therewith, or upon or in respect of which such work or service is performed, or upon which such materials are placed or furnished to be used, limited, however, in amount to the sum justly due to the person entitled to the lien and to the sum justly owing, except as herein provided, by the owner.

(a) "Any person."—See cases cited in chapter entitled, "Who may acquire a lien," ante.

(b) "Performs any work or service."—A blacksmith employed for sharpening and repairing tools at a mine is entitled to a lien; a cook is not. Work on tools is work on a mine; cooking is not. Davis v. Crown Point M. Co., (1901) 3 O.L.R. 69. But a materialman is not entitled to a lien for tools furnished the contractor with which to work on the building. Evans v. Lower, (1904) 58 Atl. Rep. 294.

To create a lien there must be something in the nature of direct dealing between the contractor and the person whose estate is sought to be charged. Mere knowledge that the work is being done or the materials furnished is not enough, nor is silent assent.

The lien claimant to succeed must have been employed to do the work or furnish the materials by some one having either an interest in the land or an interest in a contract made with the owner. The person with whom the contract was made must be an "owner" or else some relation of the parties must have existed which would give a right of lien. Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 A.R. 364; Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514; Blight v. Ray, (1893) 23 O.R. 415; Graham v. Williams, (1884) 8 O.R. 478; 9 O.R. 458; Sampson v. Dalrymple, (1852) 11 Cush. 308; Batchelder v. Hutchinson, (1894) 161 Mass. 462, 464. See also Garing v. Hunt, (1895) 27 O.R. 149; Cornell v. Barney, (1884) 33 Sup. Ct. N.Y. 134; 94 N.Y. 394.

To create a lien in favor of the materialman, there must be a request of the owner and the furnishing of the materials in pursuance of that request, either upon the owner's credit or on his behalf or with his privity or consent or for his direct benefit. See Slattery v. Lillis, 10 O.L.R. 697.

The section is to be read distributively. Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Const. Co., (1910) 22 O.L.R. 176.

The contractor is not entitled to a lien merely because he has performed work or service; such work or service must be performed under a definite contract. If, therefore, a contractor is wrongfully prevented by the owner from fully performing his contract he has no lien for damages caused thereby, although he has a right of action for such damages. In like manner, if the contract is rescinded, the contractor cannot claim a lien for work or materials furnished afterwards; nor can the contractor recover unless he shows that the person with whom he made the contract had some interest in the land and was not a mere occupant without title. Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 A.R. 364; Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Stevens v. Lincoln, (1874) 114 Mass. 476.

A contractor cannot recover in an action for damages for wrongful dismissal and breach of contract and for declaration of lien already registered. A motion was granted to cancel registration and strike out statement of claim as the claim disclosed no reasonable cause of action. On appeal the Divisional Court varied the order by omitting the part which directed the vacating of the lien, without prejudice to the right of plaintiff to file a new statement of claim for damages for wrongful dismissal. Beveridge v. Hawes, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 619.

A sub-contractor who has performed labor or furnished materials may file a lien therefor before the completion of the building. Baldridge v. Morgan, (1910) 24 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas. 337. When the sub-contractor has performed labor or furnished materials his contract is executed. The building might be still in construction or it might never be completed, and when by force of the statute a privity of contract exists between the owner and a sub-contractor without reference to the original contract there is no good reason that the sub-contractor should be compelled to wait the happening of an event which neither fixes nor affects his rights and which he cannot control. Ib.

It is essential before the lien can arise that the material should be furnished and placed upon the land upon which the lien is claimed. Ludlam-Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 419. As to whether it is essential to the lien that the materials should be incorporated in the building, see the chapter entitled, "The Lien of the Materialman," ante.

An action was brought by a materialman who supplied materials to the contractor for the work done by him for the owner. The work was done by the contractor, the defendant Bishop, under an agreement with the owner (the appellant) and the work contracted for was the erection and completion of two brick houses. By the terms of the agreement the work was to be completed on, or before, the 14th August, 1902. The contractor proceeded with the work, but only a comparatively small part had been done on that date. The owner entered into new contracts with other tradesmen for the completion of the work, and it was completed by them at his expense. The official referee decided that the owner was not entitled to set-off against the value of the work done by the contractor the difference between the actual cost to the owner of the work and the price he had agreed to pay to the contractor. On appeal it was held that it was a proper conclusion from the evidence that there was an unqualified and absolute refusal by the defendant Bishop to go on with and complete the work on his contract, after he had been more than once requested to do so, which evidenced an intention no longer to be bound by the contract and justified the appellant in proceeding to complete; and the appellant was, therefore, entitled to recover the damages sustained by him owing to the default of defendant Bishop in the performance of his agreement. These damages exceeded the amount found due to the defendant Bishop.

The appeal was allowed with costs, and the judgment appealed from was set aside so far as it affected the appellant and the action as to him was dismissed with costs. Ontario Paving Brick Co. v. Bishop, (1904) 2 O.W.R. 1063, 4 O.W.R. 34.

The creation of the lien is contemporaneous with the commencement of the work (McNamara v. Kirkland, 18 O.A.R. 276), but the right to a lien may be waived by the contractor for a sufficient consideration during the pendency of the work. Kelly v. Johnson, (1911) 215 Ill. 135.

lien. Thompson-Starrett Co. v. Brooklyn Heights Realty Co., 111 App. Div. (N.Y.) 358.

(e) "To be used."—A materialman is not bound to show that his materials were used in the building; delivery upon the ground for the purpose of being used is sufficient (McArthur v. Dewar, (1885) 3 Man. 72), but a materialman has no lien unless the materials were supplied for the purpose of being used in the particular building upon which he claims to have a lien. Pollock v. Morrison, 177 Mass. 412; Sprague v. Besant, (1885) 3 Man. 519. In the latter case, Taylor, J., said: "It will be observed the words are not 'materials used' or 'materials which have been used,' but 'materials to be used,' plainly implying that to give a lien to the person furnishing the material he must have supplied it for the purpose of being used in the particular building upon which he claims to have the lien." See, also, Dominion Radiator Co. v. Cann, (1904) 37 N.S.R. 237. It is not necessary that the materials should actually have formed part of the structure. It is sufficient if their use was necessary and they were consumed in the making of the improvements. Repauno Chemical Co. v. Greenfield, 59 Mo. App. 6; Hercules Powder Co. v. Knoxville L. & J. R. Co., (1904) 67 L.R.A. 487. The test is whether such materials were necessary to the work of erection under the contract.

See Chapter, "The Lien of the Materialman," ante. The material must at least be placed upon the land. In Ludlam v. Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 419, it would seem that the court concluded that the lien would have attached if the material had been placed upon the land, under the control of the owner, within the statutory time, even although not incorporated in the building.

Whether the transaction was really materials furnished for a building or merely a sale of a chattel is mainly a question of fact. If it is shown that such chattels are so attached as to become part of the structure, and it was contemplated by the parties that they should be furnished, a lien may be enforced by furnishing them, or for work performed for attaching them. La Grill v. Mallard, 90 Cal. 373; General Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Chaplin, (1903) 183 Mass. 375. See Bunting v. Bell, (1876) 23 Gr. 588; The Scottish American Investment Co. v. Sexton, (1894) 26 O.R. 77.

There is no lien for unsuitable or unnecessary materials furnished, but not used. Hunter v. Blanchard, 18 Ill. 318; Boyd v. Mole, 9 Phila. 118.

Where one owner enters into an entire contract for the supply of material to be used in several buildings the materialman can ask to have his lien follow the form of the contract, and that it be for an entire sum upon all the buildings. If the owner desires to invoke the statute to the extent of having the lien upon any building confined to the value of the material going into that building, the onus is upon him to show the facts, and, if the facts cannot be ascertained, less violence will be done to the statute by construing it as indicated than by rendering it nugatory in many instances in which the legislature apparently intended a lien to exist. Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

It is not sufficient for the enforcement of a materialman's lien to show that the materials were furnished to the contractor and were in fact used in the building, and that the contractor purchased them for that purpose; it must further appear that they were furnished by the materialman for use in the particular building on which it is sought to hold a lien. Topp v. Standard Metal Co., (1910) 47 Ind. App. 483.

(f) "In the making, constructing, etc."—Making slight changes in a building, which work is merely incidental to the putting in of machinery which is personal property, will not give rise to a mechanics' lien, even under statutes allowing a lien for alterations and repairs. Curnew v. Lee, (1886) 143 Mass. 105.

Defendant employed contractor under a written contract to clear land for cultivation purposes. A laborer who worked for the contractor in clearing the land was held not entitled to a lien under sec. 4 of the British Columbia Act, as amended. Black v. Hughes, (1902) 22 C.L.T. 220.

The lien is given for labor furnished, as well as for labor performed (Wera v. Bowerman, 171 Mass. 458), but under some statutes where a person contracts to furnish completed articles his employes have no lien. Monroe v. Clarke, (1912) 107 Me. 134.

Where the owner dismisses the contractor and arranges with a sub-contractor of the original "contractor" to finish the work, the sub-contractor is entitled to a lien as a "contractor" in respect to all work done after such arrangement. Petrie v. Hunter, 2 O.R. 233; 10 A.R. 127.

The lien does not extend to unliquidated damages due to the contractor from the owner on account of the violation of the terms of the contract. Hoyt v. Miner, 7 Hill (N.Y.) 525.

A provision that a certain portion of the money shall be held by the owner is imperative, and the owner neglects it at his peril. Torrance v. Cratchley, 31 O.R. 546; Green Lumber Co. v. Nutriment Co., 113 Ill. App. 635.

There can be no doubt that filling in and grading the earth about buildings already erected would be work giving a lien under this section. Even under a statute not so comprehensive in its terms it has been held that a mechanics' lien may exist for grading a lot, the test being whether it was reasonably necessary for the proper construction and occupation of a house. Reid v. Berry, (1901) 178 Mass. 260. See also Perry v. Potashinski, (1897) 169 Mass. 351.

Whether grading a lot on which a house is afterwards built, is done as part of the work of construction, so as to constitute a commencement of the building, is a question of fact depending on the circumstances of each particular case. Boisot, sec. 57, citing Kelly v. Rosenstock, 45 Md. 389.

The lien given for labor and materials furnished in respect to any structure or land includes hauling the materials there. Fowler v. Pompelly, (1903) 76 S.W. 173; McClain v. Hutton, 131 Cal. 132; Hill v. Newman, (1861) 80 Am. Dec. 473.

Pumping water which an independent contractor caused to flood the basement is properly allowed as an extra expense in a suit to enforce a mechanic's lien (Vaughan v. Ford, (1910) 162 Mich. 37); but items for street car tickets and meals for the superintendent of the work are not proper items in a claim of lien. Haas Electric & Mfg. Co. v. Springfield Amusement Park Co., (1908) 236 Ill. 452.

A contractor who has built two separate buildings on the same lot under two distinct contracts does not acquire a lien on the entire property for his entire account. Currier v. Friedrick, (1875) 22 Gr. 243. See Oldfield v. Barbour, 12 Pr. Rep. 554; Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509.

Commenting on the decision in Currier v. Friedrick, supra, Boisot says (sec. 174): "The reason given for the decisions from Massachusetts, Minnesota and Canada is that a mechanic cannot have a lien on one building for work done on another. But, as we have seen, this rule does not apply where both buildings are erected on the same lot, for the same owner, under one contract. It seems difficult to see why the fact that the work was done under two or more contracts between the same parties should make any difference." But it would be an extension of the terms of the statute to impose an incumbrance upon one property for work done upon another. Where there are two contracts they must be separated.

In Fairclough v. Smith, supra, the lien was registered against two lots of land owned by different persons in respect to work done upon two houses, one on each of the lots, on the order of one of the owners and for an amount claimed to be due for the work on both houses, without apportioning the amount as between the two. Killam, C.J., said: "I regret that I can devise no method to give effect to the claims asserted in this suit. It is impossible to find that the registered claims were sufficient to bind both lots held severally, and it seems equally impossible to give effect to them against one of the lots only for the proper amount. To choose one or the other to be bound would be wholly arbitrary." See also Booth v. Booth, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 294, cited, post; and Orr v. Fuller, (1899) 172 Mass. 597, referred to under sec. 17, post.

The Act does not give a lien upon property owned by one person for materials furnished in respect of another property owned by another person. Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249. See Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, 22 O.L.R. 17.

(g) "Altering, improving or repairing."—See Curnew v. Lee, 143 Mass. 105, as to certain work on a building not constituting an alteration within the statute. See also construction of the word "repaired" as used in Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897. Dredge v. Conway, 70 L.J.K.B. 494, (1901) 2 K.B. 42, 84 L.T. 345.

(h) "Shall by virtue thereof have a lien."—There are conflicting decisions upon the question whether a right to a lien arises where the work has been done on public buildings, such as schoolhouses, which are not liable to sale in execution. The question is dealt with in the chapter entitled, "Property which may be subject to lien," ante.

(i) "Upon the erection, building, etc., and the lands occupied thereby, or enjoyed therewith." It has been held in Pennsylvania (Presbyterian Church v. Stetler, 26 Penn. 246) that a destruction of the building for which the work has been done or the materials furnished, by fire, or otherwise, discharges the lien. Lewis, C.J., in delivering the opinion of the court in that case, said: "The equity of a mechanics' lien upon a building is founded upon the labor and materials furnished by him in constructing it. Attaching itself to the building, and depending upon it for existence, the lien must, necessarily, share the fate of the building. So, if the building, after erection, should be destroyed by accident, before the ground on which it stood passed to a purchaser, the lien would be gone. The reason for binding the land is gone, with the building." See also Codding- ton v. Dry Dock Co., (1863) 31 N.J.L. 477. But a recent decision in Missouri (Hooven v. Featherstone, (1901) 49 C.C.A. 229) holds that the lien continues attached to the real estate, notwithstanding the destruction of the building. See also to the same effect, Armigo v. Mountain Electric Co., (1902) 67 Pac. Rep. 726; Smith v. Neubauer, (1895) 33 L.R.A. 685. Under the lien Acts existing in Canada, it would probably be held that after the lien is acquired it will continue attached to the entire freehold, and the destruction of the building will not defeat it.

Where a lien on a mine was claimed in British Columbia, it appeared that none of the work was done and none of the materials were furnished on mining locations Nos. 128 and 129, but these were "enjoyed" with No. 258, on which the work was done, and it was held that the former locations were therefore subject to the lien. Davies v. Crown Point M. Co., (1901) 3 O.L.R. 69.

As to the area of land subject to the lien, Fuller, C.J., in Springer Land Association v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513, said: "The truth is that what area of land is subject to lien in a given case largely depends on the character of the improvement. The extent of ground proper and necessary to the enjoyment of a building, a wall or a fence, would not be the same as that required for or appertaining to an irrigation system, but the principle of determination is the same."

"In one sense lands cannot be said to be 'enjoyed with' a building until it has been erected, but, as the lien may be registered before the execution of the work, and may expire before the land has become occupied, the words do not admit of so narrow a construction, and the purposes for which the building is to be erected, the situation of the adjoining land of the owner, the contract for the performance of the work, and all other relevant facts and circumstances must be taken into consideration in determining what lands are affected by the lien." Wentworth Lumber Co. v. Coleman, (1904) 3 O.W.R. 618, per Osler, J.A.

(j) "Wharf."—A statute giving a lien on wharves "and other structures connected therewith" extends to all structures on, or connected with, a wharf. Collins v. Drew, (1876) 67 N.Y. 149.

The word "wharf" as used in two statutes in England (Factory and Workshops Act, 1895, sec. 23, and Workmen's Compensation Act, sec. 7) was held to include a floating structure carrying cranes for loading and unloading vessels, and which was moored in the River Thames, 500 feet from the shore by chains fastened to piles driven in the bed of the river. There was no connection with the shore except by boats. Ellis v. Cory, (1902) 1 K.B. 38. See also Haddock v. Humphrey, (1900) 1 Q.B. 609; Kenny v. Harrison, (1902) 2 K.B. 168.

Where the land is sold under execution, or otherwise, the lien is transferred to the proceeds. Phillips, secs. 196-8.

As a liquidator represents no higher claim than that of the insolvent company, liens registered within thirty days after their commencement, for materials supplied and for work done, prior to the service of the petition to wind up the company, are to be paid in priority to ordinary creditors. Re Clintin Thresher Co., (1910) 15 O.W.R. 318.

(k) "Limited, however, in amount."—In Smith Co. v. Sissiboo Pulp & Paper Co., (1903) 36 N.S.R. 348; (affirmed, (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93) Mr. Justice Graham, in referring to sec. 3, sub-sec. 1 of the Nova Scotia Mechanics' Lien Act, which is similar to sec. 6 of the Ontario Act, said (at p. 358): "It is quite clear that, except where the owner has made payments contrary to the provisions of sec. 8"—(sec. 12 of Ontario Act)—"that is, either exceeding the 85 per cent. before the time limit, or within that amount after notice in writing of the lien, or which are not bonâ fide, a sub-contractor is not entitled to enforce his lien against the property for a greater amount than the amount due from the owner to the contractor. This is the effect of sec. 3, sub-sec. 1, last part"—(sec. 6 of the Ontario Act, last part)—"and secs. 6 and 7." See Briggs v. Lee, (1880) 27 Gr. 464; secs. 13 (3); secs. 14 (1) and sec. 47. See also remarks of Bole, Co. J., in Leroy v. Smith, 8 B.C. 293, on similar words in corresponding section of British Columbia Act.

(1) "Except as herein provided."—"Herein," i.e., by secs. 12, 15.

This section (6) differs from sec. 4 in the British Columbia Act, and the decision in Anderson v. Godsall, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 404, would not apply to this or any section of the Ontario Act.

The lien is subject to the dower of the wife of the owner. Van Vrouker v. Eastman, (1843) 7 Met. 157, 161, 162; 20 Am. and Eng. Ency. of Law, 2nd ed., 486.

7. Work done or materials furnished on lands of married women.—Where work or service is done or materials are furnished upon or in respect of the land of a married woman with the privity and consent of her husband he shall be conclusively presumed to be acting as well for himself so as to bind his own interest, and also as her agent for the purposes of this Act, unless before doing such work or service or furnishing such materials the person doing or furnishing the same shall have had actual notice to the contrary. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 5.

(a) "Lands of a married woman."—Before this section was passed the separate property of a married woman only became subject to a mechanics' lien by virtue of a contract made by her or under authority express or implied. There was no presumption that the husband acted as the agent of the wife; the question of agency was one of fact to be determined from all the circumstances of the case. Wagner v. Jefferson, (1876) 37 U.C.Q.B. 551; Kincaid v. Reid, (1884) 7 O.R. 12. Knowledge by the wife that the work was being done on her property and silent acquiescence was not sufficient to make her property subject to the lien. See West v. Sinclair, (1892) 23 C.L.J. 119, 12 C.L.T. 44. In the absence of knowledge of or participation in a fraudulent intent on the part of the husband to improve his wife's property at the expense of his creditors, the wife's property was not liable for such improvements. To protect contractors and others in dealing with the husband when the property was the wife's separate estate this section was enacted. Instead of the claimant being compelled to prove the husband's authorization by the wife, he is now conclusively presumed to be acting as the agent of his wife, unless the claimant has actual notice to the contrary.

The contract, however, is the contract of the wife; hence, where the husband makes one contract for repairs to two houses, one belonging to his wife and the other to himself, a lien cannot be claimed against both properties for an amount due in respect to both houses without apportioning the same. Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509.

A husband may assert a lien upon the property of his wife for work or materials performed or supplied. Booth v. Booth, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 294.

Under this section a married woman will not be permitted to shew that her husband was not authorized by her to make the contract unless she can also shew that the contractor had actual notice of the absence of such authority.

A person contracting with the husband without actual notice that the husband was not authorized to make the contract may assert a mechanics' lien upon the interest of the wife in the property subject to the lien, as well as upon the interest of the husband.

As to effect of verbal undertaking by wife, to secure builder, by a mortgage, see Chute v. Gratten, 32 N.B.R. 549.

Formerly a widow's dower was not affected by the lien of the mechanic unless the husband acquired the property after the lien had attached. Schæffer v. Weed, 8 Ill. 513; Gove v. Cather, 23 Ill. 634; Bishop v. Boyle, 9 Ind. 169.

The lien may, probably, under this section be enforced against the widow's dower since the husband may bind his wife's estate or interest.

8. (1) Property upon which lien shall attach.—The lien shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner in the property mentioned in section 6.

(2) Where estate charged is leasehold.—Where the estate or interest upon which the lien attaches is leasehold the fee simple may also, with the consent of the owner thereof, be subject to the lien, provided that such consent is testified by the signature of the owner upon the claim of lien at the time of the registering thereof, verified by affidavit.

(3) Prior mortgage.—Where the land upon or in respect of which any work or service is performed, or materials are placed or furnished to be used, is incumbered by a prior mortgage or other charge, and the selling value of the land is increased by the work or service, or by the furnishing or placing of the materials, the lien shall attach upon such increased value in priority to the mortgage or other charge. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 7 (2-3).

(a) "The lien, etc."—That is, every lien created by sec. 6, whether arising by virtue of the performance of work or services or the placing or furnishing of materials in the making or improving of any building, etc., upon such building, etc., for the price of such work, service or material, limited in amount to the sum justly due to the person entitled to the lien and to the sum justly owing (except as to the percentage to be retained) by the owner. This lien is now further limited to "the estate or interest of the owner as defined by this Act."

This section, read with sec. 6 and the definition of "owner" in sec. 2, gives the principal characteristics of a mechanics' lien. It arises by virtue of a contract, but may be claimed by persons not parties to that contract, as sub-contractors and laborers: the person against whom it is claimed must have some estate or interest in the property sought to be made subject to the lien: it is limited in amount both by the sum due the claimant and the amount owing by the owner; and it only binds the estate or interest of the owner, that is the person with whom a contract, express or implied, for the performance of the work or service or the placing or furnishing of the materials has been made. Subject to the limitations imposed by the Act every person who performs work or furnishes material in the carrying out of the contract has pro tanto a lien for the price thereof. There is nothing in the Act to indicate that it was intended to be operative to a greater extent than as giving a statutory lien, issuing in process of execution, of efficacy equal to, but not greater than, that possessed by the ordinary writs of execution. A mechanics' lien is not analogous to a vendors' lien. King v. Alford, (1885) 9 O.R. 643. The mechanics' lien is the creature of the statute and must be limited by its provisions. This section applies to and qualifies all liens created by the Act. Crone v. Struthers, (1875) 22 Gr. 247.

The lien of a sub-contractor being limited to the amount owing by the owner attaches not only upon the property on which the work is done or materials furnished, but also upon the amount so due by the owner. The lien arises from the commencement of the work or the furnishing of materials, continues for thirty days without registry, and by registration for sixty days longer; at any time within those periods proceedings to enforce may be taken and lis pendens registered. See Lang v. Gibson, (1885) 21 C.L.J. 74. Compare McCully v. Ross, (1886) 22 C.L.J. 63, and 22 C.L.J. 75.

The lien is an interest in land. Stewart v. Gesner, (1881) 29 Gr. 329; Ormsby v. Ottman, (U.S.) 85 Fed. 492, 29 C.C.A. 295.

(b) "Shall attach upon the estate or interest of the owner." —A further limitation of the lien is imposed by these words, and it was considered necessary to declare expressly that the definition of "owner" contained in sec. 2, is applicable. It follows, as an essential to the existence of a lien, that the person at whose request, and upon whose credit or on whose behalf or with whose privity or consent or for whose direct benefit the work or service is performed or materials are placed or furnished should have some estate or interest in the land sought to be affected by the lien. If he has any estate or interest, however small, the lien attaches to the extent of that interest. Not only must he have an estate or interest, but the work, etc., must be done at his request. Graham v. Williams, (1885) 8 O.R. 478, on appeal, 9 O.R. 458; Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 27 A.R. 364; Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509. The contractor, workman or materialman, must inquire as to the estate or interest of the employer in the land; he accepts the employment or supplies the materials at his own risk.

The lien attaches upon this estate or interest from the commencement of the work or service or from the commencement of the furnishing of materials. See. 2 (3) ante. In this respect the present differs from the preceding Act and from the present Manitoba Act, under which the lien attaches from the placing of the materials. See Manitoba Act, sec. 4(a), post, p. 185; Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124.

See cases cited in chapter "The Owner and his Interest," ante. See also chapter entitled "Priorities," ante.

(c) "Where the estate or interest charged by the lien is leasehold."—The landlord's interest only becomes subject to the lien where this sub-section is complied with. He may have been aware that the work was being done, the doing of the work may even have been one of the terms of the lease, yet his interest will not be affected by the lien unless by his own consent signified as provided. Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327; Graham v. Williams, (1885) 8 O.R. 478, 9 O.R. 458; Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514. It does not matter that the landlord becomes entitled to the benefit of the improvements. See Birkett v. Brewder, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 62.

It follows also from this sub-section that a lien upon the landlord's interest must be registered. The lien upon the tenant's interest is good for thirty days without registry; here the consent must be signified at the time of registering the lien.

(d) "Upon or in respect of any work or service is performed."—The lien extends only to the property upon or in respect of which the work is performed or the materials furnished to be used, and this being so, it follows that though the work is done under one contract and for the same owner, no lien is created upon one property for work done or materials furnished upon another distinct property. Currier v. Friedrick, (1875) 22 Gr. 243; Oldfield v. Barbour, (1888) 12 P.R. 544; Rice v. Nantasket Co., (1870) 140 Mass. 256. If the amount for which the lien is claimed can be apportioned between two or more properties, or if separate prices are fixed, it seems a separate lien may be claimed on each property for the amount due in respect to it. Booth v. Booth, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 294; Shaw v. Thompson, (1870) 105 Mass. 345; but see Fairclough v. Smith, (1901) 13 Man. 509; Rathbun v. Hayford, (1862) 87 Mass. 406. In an action by a husband against a wife to enforce a lien, it appeared that defendant's wife and plaintiff's mother each owned a dwelling, both dwellings being in one building which was damaged by fire. Plaintiff contracted to repair both for a lump sum—the amount of insurance. Held, that the amounts due in respect to each dwelling might be separated and that plaintiff came within secs. 4 and 7 of the Act. Booth v. Booth, supra.

In Webb v. Gage, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 327, defendant leased premises to the Hoeffner Co. The company agreed to erect buildings and plant to the value of $100,000, which were to become the property of defendant. Held, that the lien only attached to the company's interest.

Where a contractor was to furnish the plant, etc., necessary for the carrying out of the contract, which was to become the property of the owner if the contract was not fulfilled, it was held that the value of the plant so furnished should not be included in the amount on which the owner was required to retain the percentage, though the contractor had failed to complete the contract and the plant had become the property of the owner. Birkett v. Brewder, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 62.

(e) "Prior mortgage."—These words have been substituted for the words "encumbered by a mortgage or other charge existing or created before the commencement of the work or the placing of the materials or machinery." It may be that the change has slightly restricted the meaning. A "prior mortgage" is a mortgage existing, though not necessarily registered at the time of the lien. Cook v. Belshaw, (1893) 23 O.R. 545. As a lien may be registered immediately after the contract is made, and before the performance of any work or the placing of any materials (see sec. 22), it would seem that a mortgage may be made before the commencement of the work or the placing of materials and not be a prior mortgage. The correct statement seems to be that the lien attaches at the time when the work is being performed or when the materials are placed, and, while it attaches as the work progresses, it relates back to the time when the contract was made. The distinction is not of much consequence since it has been held that, except in the case of actual notice, the lien may be defeated by prior registration of a conveyance, mortgage or other instrument. Hynes v. Smith, (1879) 27 Gr. 150; Reinhart v. Shutt, (1888) 15 O.R. 325; Wauty v. Robins, (1888) 15 O.R. 474; West v. Sinclair, (1892) 28 C.L.J. 119, 12 C.L.T. 44; McVean v. Tiffin, (1885) 13 A.R. 1; McNamara v. Kirkland, (1891) 18 A.R. 271. Save as between rival lien-holders it is difficult to see how effect is to be given to sec. 21, which provides that "except as herein otherwise provided, The Registry Act shall not apply to any lien arising under this Act." It is probable that actual notice will in any event defeat prior registration. See Rose v. Peterkin (1885) 13 S.C.R. 710, and remarks of Killam, J., in Robock v Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, at p. 145.

A mortgage subsequent in point of time takes priority over an unregistered lien. Cook v. Belshaw, (1893) 23 O.R. 545. A mortgagee for future advances is also protected to the extent of all advances made before registry of the lien and before he had actual notice of the lien. Ibid.

It has been held that a mortgage, subsequent to a lien, but given for the purpose of paying off prior incumbrance will be protected to the extent of such prior incumbrance. Locke v Locke, (1898) 32 C.L.J. 332. In Massachusetts, under a similar provision, it has been held that a mortgagee, under a mortgage given to pay off existing mortgages, even to himself, acquires no rights under them. Batchelder v. Hutchinson, (1894) 161 Mass. 462; Easton v. Brown, (1898) 170 Mass. 311. See Colonial Investment & Loan Co. v. McCrimmon, (1905) 5 O.W.R. 315.

The lien for materials supplied as against a mortgage has priority over the mortgage only to the extent of the materials placed on the ground before the mortgage money was advanced. Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. L.R. 12.

See also chapter entitled "Priorities," ante.

(f) "Upon such increased value."—Under the Mechanics' Lien Acts in some of the United States mechanics' liens are given priority over mortgages as to the building, but are postponed to prior mortgages as to the land; in some other States the Act gives the mortgage priority to the extent of the value of the land when the contract under which the lien arose was made. See Wimberley v. Mayberry, (1891) 94 Ala. 240, 14 L.R.A. 305; Croskey v. N.W. Mfg. Co., 48 Ill. 481. The latter is in effect the same as the priority here given. While, however, the mechanics' lien only has priority over the mortgage to the extent of the increased value, yet if there is a surplus after satisfaction of the mortgage, the lien holder may resort to it for satisfaction of the balance of his claim.

Unless the selling value of the property has been increased the lien has no priority over the mortgage. Kennedy v. Haddow, (1890) 19 O.R. 240. The lien, however, may be asserted subject to the prior rights of the mortgagee. See Boake Mfg. Co. v. McCrimmon, (1905) 6 O.W.R. 979.

The mortgagee is a neeessary party to any proceedings to enforee a lien against the increased value, and unless he is a party the premises must be sold subjeet to the mortgage. Finn v. Miller, (1889) 10 C.L.T. 23. In this ease a mortgagee, not a party to the proeeedings, having sold under a power of sale in the mortgage, applied to have the registry of the lien and lis pendens vacated, and the order was made, the mortgagee to pay surplus proceeds into eourt, to be available for the lien-holders.

Several lien-holders may be entitled to share pro rata in this increased value. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1882) 3 O.R. 183; Broughton v. Smallpiece, (1878) 25 Gr. 290. See this latter case also as to limitation of contraetors' lien to increased value of land, irrespective of buildings.

The mortgagee should be made a party to the proceedings when a prior lien on aceount of increased value is claimed, and the statement of claim should set up sueh prior lien. Douglas v. Chamberlain, (1878) 25 Gr. 288; Richards v. Chamberlain, (1878) 25 Gr. 402. The onus is on the lien-holder to prove the amount by which the selling value of the property has been increased, and the decree should settle the amount and the priorities. Croskey v. Corey, 48 Ill. 442; Croskey v. N.W. Mfg. Co., 48 Ill. 481; and see Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124. The same provisions as to the time within which proceedings must be taken against an owner apply to proceedings to enforce a lien against a prior mortgagee (Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 A.R. 592; Keffer v. Miller, (1895) 10 C.L.T. 90), nor can the mortgage be added after the time has expired though the proceedings against the owner were commenced in time. McDonald v. Wright, (1868) 14 Gr. 284; Keffer v. Miller, supra; Larkin v. Larkin, (1900) 32 A.R. 80.

Where there is an actual agreement for the sale of the property, but no conveyance has been made, the purchaser is to be considered a mortgagor, and the vendor, a mortgagee. See sec. 13 (2); Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 227. It seems, however, that a tenant with an option of purchase is not to be considered a mortgagee, nor the landlord a mortgagor. Graham

v. Williams, (1888) 9 O.R. 458; Blight v. Ray, (1893) 23 O.R 415.

Where on a reference in a mechanics' lien proceeding under a former Act it was found as between a lien-holder and a prior mortgagee that the selling value of the property has been increased by the work done and materials supplied to an amount equal to the claim of the lien-holder who is declared entitled to rank on such increased value in priority to the mortgagee, and pending the proceedings the premises are destroyed by fire, the claim of the lien-holder is at end so far as the interests of the mortgagee are affected by it:—Semble, the amount of the increased value to which the lien-holder is entitled to resort as against the mortgagee cannot be ascertained until the property has been sold. Patrick v. Walbourne, (1896) 27 O.R. 221. Under sec. 9 of the present Act the insurance money stands in the place of the destroyed building.

As to claim of lien-holders to priority under special agreement, see Boake Mfg. Co. v. McCrimmon, (1905) 6 O.W.R. 979.

9. Application of insurance when lien attaches.—Where any of the property upon which a lien attaches is wholly or partly destroyed by fire, any money received by reason of any insurance thereon by an owner or prior mortgagee or charge shall take the place of the property so destroyed, and shall be subject to the claims of all persons for liens to the same extent as if such money was realized by a sale of such property in an action to enforce the lien. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 8.

(a) "Any insurance."—A lien-holder has an insurable interest in the building to which the lien attaches, though the lien is only inchoate. Insurance Co. v. Stinson, (1880) 103 U.S. 25. In Greene v. Holmstead Fire Ins. Co., (1880) 82 N.Y. 517, a policy of insurance provided that the company should not be liable if without written consent thereon the property should thereafter be encumbered in any way. Subsequently to the issuing of the policy a mechanics' lien was filed against the property but no proceedings were ever taken to enforce the same. It was not shown that the plaintiff had knowledge of the filing of the lien until after the destruction of the property by fire

Held, that the filing of the lien did not create an incumbrance within the meaning of the condition and that the policy was not avoided thereby. The term "incumbrance" as used in an application for fire insurance relating to the incumbrance on the property should be construed to include a subsisting lien of a mechanic or materialman for which a claim had been filed. Redman v. Phoenix Fire Ins. Co., (1881) 8 N.W. 226; 51 Wis. 293; 37 Am. Rep. 830.

Before this section was enacted the lien-holder had no right to enforce his lien against the proceeds of an insurance policy taken out by the owner or mortgagee. Patrick v. Walbourne, (1896) 27 O.R. 221. As to destruction of building in course of erection, see Appleby v. Myers, (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 651, in which case Blackburn, J., says: "We think that where, as in the present case, the premises are destroyed without fault on either side, it is a misfortune equally affecting both parties, excusing both from further performance of the contract, but giving a cause of action to neither." See other cases on this point cited, ante.

Under this section the lien is extended to the proceeds of fire insurance policies whether taken out by the owner, mortgagee or chargee. It should be noted, however, that in the case of a prior mortgagee the lien would extend only to the increased selling value of the property subject to lien. The person asserting the lien must establish the fact of such increased selling value before he can make any claim to insurance money payable to a prior mortgagee. The proceeds of fire insurance policies are now made to take the place of the property subject to the lien and are made available to the lien-holder. At the same time the lien-holder's right to proceed against the land is not taken away, so that he has his remedy both against the insurance money and the land. Only insurance against fire is mentioned in the section; destruction of the building from any other cause is not provided for.

10. Limit of amount of lien.—Save as herein otherwise provided the lien shall not attach so as to make the owner liable for a greater sum than the sum payable by the owner to the contractor. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 9.

(a) "Payable by the owner to the contractor."—This section is to be read with secs. 6, 11, 12, 14 and 15. Subject to the provisions of these sections as to the lien of wage-earners, the percentage to be retained, bonâ fide payments to lien-holders and payments made to defeat the lien, the owner can assert against the lien-holder the same defences as he can against the contractor. It was held in Crone v. Struthers, (1875) 22 Gr. 248, that as nothing was payable at the time the lien was claimed there was no lien, and that the lien being the creature of the statute must be limited by its provisions. Any condition or stipulation agreed upon between the owner and contractor, performance of which is a condition precedent to the contractor's right to recover from the owner may be set up by the owner in answer to a sub-contractor's claim to be entitled to a lien. The usual case is non-fulfilment of the contract. Appleby v. Myers, (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 651; Thorn v. Mayor of London, (1874) L.R. 10 Ex. 112; Crone v. Struthers, supra; Goddard v. Coulson, (1884) 10 A.R. 1; Sherlock v. Powell, (1899) 26 A.R. 407; Dermott v. Jones, (1864) 2 Wall. 1. But the owner may, by acceptance of the work or by other acts, waive a compliance with the contract. A certificate from the architect may be made a condition precedent to the contractor's right to recover, and though the contractor may set up in an action against the owner and architect that the certificate has been wrongfully and fraudulently withheld from him, it seems that the lien-holder cannot join the architect as defendant in proceedings to enforce the lien. Bagshaw v. Johnson, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 58. In Good v. Toronto H. & B. Ry. Co., (1899) 26 A.R. 133, it was held that the rule that the contractor was bound by the provision of the contract making the decision of the engineer final did not extend to a case where the named engineer, while in fact the engineer of the employer, was described in the contract as the engineer of a third person. Fulfilment of the contract is not excused because the work cannot be completed according to the plans and specifications prescribed. See cases on these points cited at p. 63.

See also Smith Co. v. The Sissiboo Pulp & Paper Co., (1903) 36 N.S.R. 348; (1904) 35 S.C.R. 93; Smith v. Bernhardt, (1909) 11 W.L.R. 623.

11. Limit of lien when claimed by some other than contractor.—Save as herein otherwise provided where the lien is claimed by any person other than the contractor, the amount which may be claimed in respect thereof shall be limited to the amount owing to the contractor or sub-contractor or other person for whom the work or service has been done or the materials placed or furnished. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 10.

(a) "Limited to the amount."—This section is also to be read with secs. 6, 11, 12, 14 and 15, and deals with cases in which the lien is claimed by sub-contractors and others who do not contract directly with the owner. The lien claimed by a person performing work or furnishing materials for a sub-contractor is limited not only to the amount due by the owner to the contractor, but also to the amount due to the sub-contractor for whom he has done work or service or furnished materials. All payments made bonâ fide up to the percentage mentioned in sec. 12, are protected unless notice in writing has been given by the person claiming the lien. Payments made to defeat or impair the lien are, by sec. 15, null and void to the extent of the sums improperly paid. Briggs v. Lee, (1880) 27 Gr. 464. Sections 9 and 10 are both subject to the provision of sec. 14 giving wage-earners a prior claim for thirty days' wages on the percentage retained under sec. 12.

As to both claim and costs being paid out of the twenty per cent., see Ontario Paving Brick Co. v. Bishop, 4 O.W.R. 34; Gold Medal Furniture Co. v. Craig, (1905) 6 O.W.R. 954.

There can be no claim as on a quantum meruit for the price of work actually done or materials actually supplied where the contract is an entire and indivisible one, and performance is a condition precedent. Sherlock v. Powell, (1899) 26 A.R. 407.

The amount due to a contractor or sub-contractor cannot be determined in proceedings to enforce the lien unless the parties liable on the contract or sub-contract are before the court. Wood v. Stringer, (1890) 20 O.R. 148.

12. (1) Percentage to be deducted and retained by owner for thirty days.—In all cases the person primarily liable upon any contract or by virtue of which a lien may arise shall, as the work is done or materials are furnished under the contract, deduct from any payments to be made by him in respect of the contract, and retain for a period of thirty days after the com pletion or abandonment of the contract twenty per cent. of the value of the work or service and materials actually done, placed or furnished as mentioned in section 6, and such value shall be calculated on the basis of the contract price, or if there is no specific contract price then on the basis of the actual value of the work, service or materials.

(2) Where contract price exceeds $15,000.—Where the contract price or actual value exceeds $15,000 the amount to be retained shall be fifteen per cent. instead of twenty per cent.

(3) Lien to be charge on amounts retained.—The lien shall be a charge upon the amount directed to be retained by this section in favor of sub-contractors whose liens are derived under persons to whom such moneys so required to be retained are respectively payable.

(4) Payments made in good faith without notice of lien.—All payments up to eighty per cent., or eighty-five per cent. where the contract price or actual value exceeds $15,000, of such price or value made in good faith by an owner to a contractor, or by a contractor to a sub-contractor, or by one sub-contractor to another sub-contractor before notice in writing of such lien given by the person claiming the lien to him, shall operate as a discharge pro tanto of the lien.

(5) Payment of the percentage required to be retained under sub-sections 1 and 2 may be validly made so as to discharge all liens or charges in respect thereof after the expiration of the period of thirty days mentioned in sub-section 1 unless in the meantime proceedings have been commenced to enforce any lien or charge against such percentage as provided by sections 23 and 24. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 11.

(a) "Primarily liable."—This section is for the protection of sub-contractors. It creates a fund out of which persons claiming a lien under a contract not made directly with the owner may have their lien satisfied. Before the year 1882 the percentage to be retained was upon "the price to be paid to the contractor." Under the former section it was held that the owner was not required to retain a percentage upon all payments made to the contractor. It was sufficient if such payments did not in the aggregate exceed the specified percentage of the whole contract price, and if the contractor failed to complete the contract, or if for any other reason the contract price never became due, there was no fund available to satisfy the liens of sub-contractors. Goddard v. Coulson, (1884) 10 A.R. 1; Harrington v. Saunders, (1887) 23 C.L.J. 48, 7 C.L.T. 88; Truax v. Dixon, (1889) 17 O.R. 366; Reggin v. Manes, (1892) 22 O.R. 443; Re Sear and Woods, (1892) 23 O.R. 474. In Re Cornish, (1884) 6 O.R. 259, it was held that where a contractor failed to complete his contract and his surety undertook to finish the work there were two contracts, and that the ten per cent. was to be paid on the amount earned under each. It was also held that a mechanics' lien was postponed to the owner's claim for damages for non-completion; the priority of a wage-earner's lien was not decided. See Harrington v. Saunders, supra; McBean v. Kinnear, (1892) 23 O.R. 313.

It was afterwards held in Russell v. French, (1896) 28 O.R. 215, that if any owner, contractor or sub-contractor under whom a lien may arise pays more than the specified percentage of the value of the work and materials done or finished, he does so at his peril, and a lien may be successfully asserted against him, to the extent of the percentage which he should have retained, by any lien-holder who is prejudiced by the excessive payment.

But this decision was not followed in Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130, which declared that this section recognizes that the charge is a charge upon money to become payable to the contractor; and when by reason of the contractor's default the money never becomes payable, those claiming under him, and having the statutory charge upon this fund have no greater right than he himself had, and their lien fails.

As to the computation of the 15 per cent., see Birkett v. Brewder, 22 C.L.T. 93, 1 O.W.R. 62.

Where a statute requires service of notice of claim this is construed to mean personal service. Sykes Steel Roofing Co. v. Bernstein, 156 Ill. App. 500; South Side Lumber Co. v. Date, (1910) 156 Ill. App. 436.

(b) "Period of thirty days."—Section 22 limits the time within which a lien may be registered to within thirty days after the completion of the work or the supplying of the materials for which the lien is claimed. By retaining the percentage for the same period the owner, contractor or sub-contractor is in a position to know whether any lien will be asserted, the same limit of time being adopted in both instances.

(c) "Shall be a charge."—Under a former section where the contractor or sub-contractor never earned the contract price a sub-contractor had no lien or claim upon the percentage. See Goddard v. Coulson, (1884) 10 A.R. 1; Harrington v. Saunders, (1887) 23 C.L.J. 48, 7 C.L.T. 88; Truax v. Dixon, 17 O.R. 366; Reggin v. Manes, (1892) 22 O.R. 443; Re Sear and Woods, 23 O.R. 474.

(d) "Payments."—This word is here used not in its technical but in a popular sense. It covers a bill of exchange, promissory note, tri-partite agreement and payments directed by the contractor to be made to third parties. Jennings v. Willis, (1892) 22 O.R. 439. Also payments made by the owner or contractor to sub-contractors in order to obtain the delivery of goods or to get work done; it would be otherwise in the case of payments made to the assignee of the contractor. McBean v. Kinnear, (1892) 23 O.R. 313. Payments made to contractors or sub-contractors are only invalid when they would have been liable for the satisfaction of a lien. (Ib.) The p[illegible]entage, payment of which is protected, is to be computed upon the value of the work actually done or materials furnished.

To defeat the effect of the statute the owner is allowed to show that payment has been made "without notice" of the lien of all that he became liable to pay. Hence the onus of showing payments which will extinguish the lien is upon the owner. The owner is entitled to be credited with the amount of promissory notes made by the contractor and endorsed by the owner which became due and were taken up as payments upon the building contract before the notice of lien was filed. It is not absolutely necessary that such notes should be charged up in the account. From the time the agreement is made to pay the notes, as well as from the time of their actual payment by the owner, he is entitled to have them treated as payments upon the building contract existing between him and the contractor. Smith v. Merriam, (1873) 67 Barb. (N.Y.) 403. Payments made after the lien-holder's claim has attached, of moneys not due according to the terms of the contract, should not be protected. Travis v. Breckenridge, 43 S.C.R. 59; Ringland v. Edwards, (1911) 19 W.L.R. 686.

The acceptance by the owner of an order drawn on him by the contractor for part of the moneys due upon the contract, which order was made payable to a contractor who had filed a mechanics' lien for the amount represented thereby, and the owner's promise in writing to pay it, accepted by the sub-contractor in satisfaction of the lien which was thereupon discharged of record, constitutes a payment, and the filing of the order is not requisite in order to make it valid as against subsequent lien claimants. A provision requiring the filing of orders drawn by a contractor or sub-contractor upon the owner for moneys payable upon the contract does not affect payments made by the owner on account of labor performed or materials furnished under the contract. Harvey v. Brewer, (1904) 178 N.Y. App. 5.

(e) "Notice in writing."—Payments to the extent of the percentage mentioned will not be protected if before payment is made notice in writing has been given by a person claiming a lien. The necessity for this provision is obvious as otherwise the owner before making any payment would always be obliged to make a search to ascertain if any lien had been registered. Only bonâ fide payments are protected. See sec. 15 as to the payments made for the purpose of defeating or impairing liens.

Lien claimants for materials wrote to the owner a letter asking him, when making a payment to the contractor "on the Lisgar Street buildings" to "see that a cheque for at least $400 is made payable to us on account of brick delivered, as our account is considerably over $700, and we shall be obliged to register a lien if a payment is not made to-day." Held, Meredith, J., dissenting, a sufficient "notice in writing" of their lien. Craig v. Cromwell, (1900) 32 O.R. 27, affirmed, 27 A.R. 585. On the appeal in this case, at page 587, Osler, J.A., thus refers to the notice required by sub-sec. 2, of the former section: "The object of the notice is to warn the owner that he cannot safely make payments on account of the contract price even within the 80 per cent. margin, because of the existence of liens of which he was not otherwise bound to inform himself or to look for. The notice does not compel him to pay the lien. It does not prove the existence of the lien. Its sole purpose is to stay the hand of the paymaster until he shall be satisfied—either by the direction of the debtor or of the court in case proceedings are taken to realize the lien—that there is a lien, and that some amount is really due and owing to the lien-holder. . . . The notice under sec. 11, sub-sec. 2, is purely informal, and was manifestly intended to be so, no form or special particulars of detail being prescribed in regard that it might have to be given promptly or by illiterate persons who might, as it were, read and understand the sections as they ran."

(f) "May be validly made."—The payment of the percentage retained cannot be validly made to any person within the thirty days mentioned in sub-sec. 1. After the expiration of the thirty days payments may be validly made to lien-holders unless proceedings have been taken under secs. 23 and 24 to enforce a lien or charge against the percentage retained. Proceedings by one lien-holder would be sufficient as such proceedings would be available for other lien-holders claiming against the amount retained.

A mechanics' lien is postponed to the owner's claim for damages; as to a wage-earner's lien quaere.

In Torrance v. Cratchley, (1900) 31 O.R. 546, Street, J., in referring to the 11th and following sections says (at p. 549): "The only object of the provision requiring the owner to retain the twenty per cent. for thirty days appears to be that indicated by sub-sec. 3 of sec. 11, viz., to give persons entitled to liens an opportunity of enforcing them against the fund directed to be retained."

This section recognizes that the charge is a charge upon money to become payable to the contractor; and when, by reason of the contractor's default, the money never becomes payable, those claiming under him and having this statutory charge upon this fund, if and when payable, have no greater right than he himself had and their lien fails. Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130.

There is no sum "justly owing' or "payable" by the owner to the contractor where the building was never completed by the contractor and where the building contract provided that time was of the essence of the contract and stated a specific time for completion and fixed a specific sum for every day beyond a stated period that the owner is denied the full possession of the premises. A materialman therefore could not enforce liens against the land and has no relief under the Act. McManus v. Rothschild, (1911) 25 O.L.R. 138.

Where there is no lien for the laborers a contractor has no right to withhold payment of the amount due sub-contractors until these laborers are paid. Woolck v. Bradley, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 622.

13. Payments made direct by owner to person entitled to lien. —If an owner, contractor or sub-contractor makes a payment to any person entitled to a lien under section 6 for or on account of any debt justly due to him for work or service done or for materials placed or furnished to be used as therein mentioned, for which he is not primarily liable, and within three days afterwards gives, by letter or otherwise, written notice of such payment to the person primarily liable, or his agent, such payment shall be deemed to be a payment on his contract generally to the contractor or sub-contractor primarily liable but not so as to affect the percentage to be retained by the owner, as provided by section 12. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 12.

In Craig v. Cromwell, (1900) 27 A.R., at p. 587, Osler, J.A., said: "Section 12 would appear to authorize him (the owner) to pay the sub-contractor, but if he does so he assumes the risk of being able to prove as between himself and the contractor, that the debt was justly due and his right or power to pay the sub-contractor does not depend upon notice having been given to him under sec. 11, sub-sec. 2."

In Torrance v. Cratchley, (1900) 31 O.R. 546, Street, J., referring to this section, said: "Section 12 of the Act was much urged upon as supporting the lien-holder's contention. That section appears, however, merely to give authority to the owner without the consent of the contractor, but upon mere notice to him to make payments out of the contract price direct to persons who would be entitled to liens, limiting, however, the right to make such payments to the moneys which the owner is not directed to retain under the 11th section. It does not apply at all to the moneys which the owner is directed to retain, and, therefore, it does not affect the present case."

See Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130.

14. (1) Priority of lien.—The lien shall have priority over all judgments, executions, assignments, attachments, garnishments and receiving orders recovered, issued or made after such lien arises, and over all payments or advances made on account of any conveyances or mortgage after notice in writing of such lien to the person making such payments or after registration of a claim for such lien as hereinafter provided.

(2) Agreements for purchase where part of purchase money unpaid.—Where there is an agreement for the purchase of land, and the purchase money or part thereof is unpaid, and no conveyance has been made to the purchaser, he shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed a mortgagor and the seller a mortgagee.

(3) Priority among lien-holders.—Except where it is otherwise provided by this Act, no person entitled to a lien on any property, or money, shall be entitled to any priority or preference over another person of the same class entitled to a lien on such property or money, and each class of lien-holders shall rank pari passu for their several amounts, and the proceeds of any sale shall be distributed among them pro rata according to their several classes and rights. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 13.

(a) "Assignments, attachments, garnishments."—The conflicting views expressed in Lang v. Gibson, 21 C.L.J. 74; and McCully v. Ross, 22 C.L.J. 63, are disposed of by this section.

A sub-contractor commenced work on 19th August, 1903, and finished on 11th October, 1904, and registered his lien October 12th, 1904. Contractor gave an equitable assignment of amount due him 14th October, 1903, and notice was given to the owners. At that time $2,588 had been earned, but not payable until architect's certificate given 4th November, 1904. Held, under sec. 13 (1), that the lien was entitled to priority over the assignment, for the full amount of the lien and not merely for that portion thereof actually earned by the sub-contractor up to the date of the assignment. Under sec. 14 the sub-contractor's lien related back to the commencement of his work.

The assignment was valid and bound the debt assigned though it was not payable at the date of the assignment. The debt due and owing was a sufficient consideration for the assignment of a chose in action and the assignment was, therefore, not revocable or impeachable as being voluntary. Ottawa Steel Castings Co. v. Dominion Supply Co., 5 O.W.R. 161, 41 C.L.J. 260, 25 C.L.T. 58.

(b) "Advances made on account of any conveyance or mortgage," i.e., advances made on security of a mortgage registered prior to the lien. It is, therefore, necessary for the mortgagee to examine the registry for mechanics' liens on every occasion of making a fresh advance on the mortgage.

(c) "The purchaser shall be deemed a mortgagor and the seller a mortgagee."—See Blight v. Ray, 23 O.R. 415. See also Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. 224, 22 C.L.T. 337, cited under sections 8 and 15.

(d) "Excepting where it is otherwise declared."—The exception is that in favor of the liens for wages for thirty days or less. See sec. 12(1) as to the percentage to be retained, and sec. 11.

(e) "According to their several classes and rights."—It had formerly been decided (Goddard v. Coulson, (1884) 10 A.R. 1; Re Cornish, (1884) 6 O.R. 259; and Re Sear v. Woods, 23 O.R. 474) that where a contractor never earned the percentage retained, a sub-contractor under him had no lien against the owner in respect to such percentage, but it was held in Russell v. French, 28 O.R. 215, that that percentage is liable for the claims of sub-contractors even though the contractor had not actually earned it. Meredith, C.J., said: "That percentage it was the duty of the owner to retain out of the payments to be made to the contractor, and it appears to have been intended to form a fund for the payment of the lien-holders, and not subject to be affected by the failure of the contractor to perform his contract." The three cases cited, supra, are, therefore, not applicable to the present Act. But see Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130.

As to effect of general assignment for the benefit of creditors upon mechanics' liens registered before the date of the assignment, see In re Demaurez, (1899) 5 Terr. L.R. 84.

15. (1) Priority of lien for wages.—Every mechanic or laborer whose lien is for wages shall, to the extent of thirty days' wages, have priority over all other liens derived through the same contractor or sub-contractor to the extent of and on the twenty per cent. or fifteen per cent., as the case may be, directed to be retained by section 12, to which the contractor or sub-contractor through whom such lien is derived is entitled, and all such mechanics and laborers shall rank thereon pari passu.

(2) Enforcing lien in such cases.—Every wage-earner shall be entitled to enforce a lien in respect of a contract not completely fulfilled.

(3) Calculating percentage when contract not fulfilled.—If the contract has not been completed when the lien is claimed by a wage-earner, the percentage shall be calculated on the value of the work done or materials furnished by the contractor or sub-contractor by whom such wage-earner is employed, having regard to the contract price, if any.

(4) Percentage not to be otherwise applied.—Where the contractor or sub-contractor makes default in completing his contract the percentage shall not, as against a wage-earner claiming a lien, be applied by the owner or contractor to the completion of the contract or for any other purpose, nor to the payment of damages for the non-completion of the contract by the contractor or sub-contractor, nor in payment or satisfaction of any claim against the contractor or sub-contractor.

(5) Devices to defeat priority of wage-earners.—Payments made for purpose of defeating claim for lien.—Every device by an owner, contractor or sub-contractor to defeat the priority given to a wage-earner for his wages, and every payment made for the purpose of defeating or impairing a lien shall be null and void. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, secs. 14 and 15.

(a) "Every wage-earner."—This sub-section is only meant to apply to wage-earners who are in the position of sub-contractors, and who are not themselves in default in respect to their own contracts.

Defendant agreed to purchase land from D. & McC., price to be paid 15th August, 1901. In default D. & McC. could either cancel agreement forfeiting any payments made or re-sell and recover any deficiency from defendant. Defendant made improvements on land and employed plaintiff as a carpenter. Plaintiff claimed lien for wages. No part of purchase money was paid. Work went on after 15th of August with concurrence of D. & McC. Held, that parties must be regarded as mortgagor and mortgagee. D. & McC. having granted extension could not cancel without giving more time, hence agreement was still subsisting when plaintiff did the work. Plaintiff was entitled to the lien subject to charge of D. & McC. for unpaid purchase money and interest. Hoffstrom v. Stanley, (1902) 14 Man. L.R. 227.

(b) "The percentage."—See Black v. Wiebe, (1905) 1 W.L. R. 75; Brydon v. Lutes, (1891) 9 Man. L.R. 463; Brienzi v. Samuel, 12 O.W.R. 1233.

The defendant P. contracted to build a house for the defendant T., but abandoned the contract when the work was not half done. Liens were claimed by wage-earners, and proceedings were had under the provisions of the Act. It was contended that section 14(3) enacts a rule for wage-earners, in a case in which the contract has not been completely fulfilled, different from the rule in any other set of circumstances, and that the only thing to be looked at is the value of the work done and materials furnished by the contractor:—Held, that the interpretation of the words of this sub-section is to be found from an examination of the course of legislation, and there is nothing therein to indicate that "the percentage aforesaid" is not the same percentage as that in sub-section (1) of this section, and in section 11, and, therefore, in ascertaining the amount upon which is to be computed the 20 per cent. provided by the Act, the value of the work done and materials furnished is to be calculated upon "the basis of the price to be paid for the whole contract." Cole v. Pearson, 17 O.L.R. 46.

(c) "The value of the work done."—Where lien-holders (other than wage-earners) claiming under the contractors claimed that the owner must account to them for 20 per cent. of the value of the work done, and could not resort to this 20 per cent. to recoup herself for damages sustained by the contractors' breach of contract it was held that where the contract was a losing one for the contractors, "the value of the work done" to the contractors and those claiming under them could only be arrived at by taking the contract price, plus the extras, and deducting the omissions and the cost of completion, including rectification. Farrell v. Gallagher, (1911) 23 O.L.R. 130.

(d) "Shall be taken to be null and void."—Under a former Act it was held that payments were valid which were made to a contractor by an "owner," after registration of the lien of a sub-contractor, but without notice thereof or without any intention to impair the claim. Briggs v. Lee, (1880) 27 Gr. 464. Other cases under the former Act touching this questions of payments are: Re Sear v. Woods, (1892) 23 O.R. 474; Jennings v. Willis, (1892) 22 O.R. 439, and McBean v. Kinnear, (1892) 23 O.R. 313.

The question as to any payment being made for the "purpose" mentioned is a question which must be determined according to the special circumstances of each case and the burden of establishing the purpose or intent would be on the lien-holder.

See also Ottawa Steel Castings Co. v. Dominion Supply Co., cited under sec. 14 (a).

While the contract remains in force no payment made to the contractor, after notice of lien has been filed by a sub-contractor, can affect the lien thereof (McMillan v. Seneca Lake G. & W. Co., 12 N.Y. Supr. Ct. 12), and the owner cannot plead in defence to the lien any payments thereafter made by him. Boisot, sec. 367; Morchouse v. Moulding, 74 Ill. 322; Budd v. Trustees, (1888) 51 N.J. Law 36; Anderson v. Huff, (1892) 49 N.J. Eq. 349. After notice to the owner from a sub-contractor, the owner cannot rightfully pay the original contractor so as to defeat the demands of the sub-contractor, nor can he pay one sub-contractor in full, and another nothing, as his partiality may determine. Phillips, sec. 62(h); Morehouse v. Moulding, supra. As to payments made by collusion for the purpose of defeating other claimants, see Hofgesang v. Meyer, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N.Y.) 111.

Any legal assumption of liability by the owner on account of the contractor, such as the acceptance of an order for the payment of money, is equivalent to a payment, and has the same effect. Gi a v. Lenane, (1883) 94 N.Y. 183.

16. (1) Restraining attempt to remove material affected by lien.—During the continuance of a lien no part of the material affected thereby shall be removed to the prejudice of the lien. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 16.

(2) Material furnished for certain purposes not to be subject to execution.—Material actually brought upon any land to be used in connection with such land for any of the purposes enumerated in section 5 shall be subject to a lien in favor of the person furnishing it until placed in the building, erection or work, and shall not be subject to execution or other process to enforce any debt other than for the purchase thereof, due by the person furnishing the same.

(a) "During the continuance of a lien."—The life of a lien is controlled by sec. 23 and sec. 24.

(b) "Or to a judge or officer having power to try an action."—Section 33 mentions the officials having such power.

(c) "Material."—This would include any plant or machinery or materials brought upon the land for the purpose of being used in the work upon the building (Dixon v. La Farge, 1 E.D. Smith 722), or in blasting in order to lay the foundations of a building. Hazard Powder Co. v. Byrnes, 12 Abb. Pr. 469, s.c. 21 How. Pr. (N.Y.) 189; Giant Powder Co. v. Oregon Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Fed. 470. Under a statute giving a lien for "timber or other materials used in or about the mine," a lien lies for powder, steel and candles furnished for the use of the mine. Keystone Min. Co. v. Gallagher, 5 Col. 23; California Powder Works v. Blue Tent & Mines, 22 Pac. Rep. 391.

(d) "Shall not be subject to execution."—See Ludlaw-Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, (1909) 19 O.L.R., at p. 424.

(e) "Due by the person furnishing the same."—These words should be read in connection with the words "any debt" in sub-sec. 2. They refer only to persons furnishing or procuring materials in pursuance of the provisions of sec. 6. See secs. 6 and 13.

17. (1) Registration of claim for lien.—Rev. Stat. ch. 138.—A claim for a lien, Forms 1, 2 and 3, may be registered in the registry office of the registry division, or where the land is registered under the Land Titles Act in the land titles office, of the locality in which the land is situate, and shall set out:—

(a) Contents of claim of lien.—The name and residence of the person claiming the lien and of the owner, or of the person whom the person claiming the lien, or his agent, believes to be the owner of the land, and of the person for whom the work or service was or is to be done, or materials furnished or placed, and the time within which the same was or was to be done or furnished or placed;

(b) A short description of the work or service done or to be done, or materials furnished or placed or to be furnished or placed;

(c) The sum claimed as due or to become due;

(d) A description of the land sufficient for the purpose of registration and, where the land is registered under the Land Titles Act, also a reference to the number of the parcel of the land and to the register in which such land is registered in the land titles office;

(e) The date of expiry of the period of credit when credit has been given.

(2) Form of affidavit.—The claim shall be verified by the affidavit, Form 4, of the person claiming the lien or of his agent or assignee having a personal knowledge of the matters required to be verified, and the affidavit of the agent or assignee shall state that he has such knowledge.

(3) Description of lands where lien registered against railway. —When it is desired to register a claim for lien against a railway, it shall be a sufficient description of the land of the railway company to describe it as the land of the railway company and every such claim shall be registered in the general registry office for the registry division within which such lien is claimed to have arisen. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 17.

(a) "May be registered."—The registration does not create the lien, but is necessary to keep it alive after thirty days from the completion of the work or the furnishing of the materials. See in this connection sections 22, 23, 24 and 28 and cases cited.

As to registration being necessary to charge the interest of a lessor, see ante, notes under section 8.

A lien may be registered and enforced against a mere possessory interest. Christie v. Mead, (1888) 8 C.L.T. 312.

Where G. claimed a lien in respect to materials furnished by virtue of an assignment from the original furnisher thereof:—Held, that "G." had a right to register a claim for the same, but the affidavit of verification required by section 4, sub-section 2, must be made by himself and not by the assignor. Grant v. Dunn, (1883) 3 O.R. 376.

A claim may be registered by the assignee of the person doing the work or furnishing the materials. See sub-section 2 of this section and also section 26.

Constructive notice of lien is not sufficient to postpone a mortgage taken subsequent to the contract but registered prior to the registry of the lien. Notice must be actual. Knowledge of the existence of the contract is not sufficient notice. West v. Sinclair, (1892) 12 C.L.T. 44, 28 C.L.J. 119.

As to the application of the Registry Act to liens, see Wanty v. Robins, (1888) 15 O.R. 474; Rose v. Peterkin, (1885) 13 S.C.R. 677; McNamara v. Kirkland, (1891) 18 A.R. 271; Miller v. Duggan, (1890) 23 N.S.R. 120, (1892) 21 S.C.R. 33.

There was no evidence that plaintiff had notice of contract under which defendant, Roy, claimed title, and her conveyance was registered after registry of lis pendens in present action. Held, that she need not have been joined as defendant as she took subject to the proceedings in the action. Fraser v. Griffiths, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 141.

A lien-holder claiming priority against a prior registered mortgagee or grantee should make such a party an original defendant and the grounds of the claim should be stated. Reinhart v. Shutt, (1888) 15 O.R. 325.

A claimant who files a claim for lien does not thereby waive any other right he may have against his debtor in respect to the claim. Dunn v. Stakern, (1885) 43 N.J. Eq. 401; Cremier v. Byrnes, 4 E. D. Smith (N.Y.) 756.

(b) "The name and residence."—Plaintiffs were day laborers who did work for defendants in Rainy River District and say they resided in that district. Held, that the statutory act which gives vitality to the lien is its due registration and this may be effected by affidavit of an agent or assignee. The Act allows wage-earners (section 32) to group themselves as litigants, and as all are within the limits of the district and the address of the solicitor is given, the action should not be stayed. Crerar v. C. P. R., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 383. "Objection is taken to the description of the residence of the claimant, which should state in what part of the town of Minnedosa he resides, but I hold that when he describes himself as of the town of Minnedosa it is quite sufficient." Irwin v. Beynon, (1886) 4 Man. 10, per Dubuc, J. See also Anderson v. Godsall, (1900) 7 B.C.R. 404, where it is stated that the rule which might apply to a large city as to giving the street and number of the residence would not apply to small towns and villages. See also similar remarks by Boyd, C., in Crerar v. C.P.R. Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 383, 2 C.L.R. 107.

Under a former Act it was held that the remedy of the lien-holder is against the increased value of the premises and the lien-holder cannot question the validity of a mortgage.

The name of the town and county in which the lien-holder resides was held a sufficient address under 56 Vict. ch. 24, sec. 11. The Act only authorized "proceedings to enforce the lien," and the bona fides of a mortgage cannot be brought up and decided in such proceedings. Dufton v. Horning, (1895) 31 C.L.J. 281, 26 O.R. 252.

(c) "Of the owner of the property to be charged."—Work was commenced by contractor on 31st December, 1877. Two mortgages were recorded on the 31st May and 8th June respectively. Contractor afterwards registered lien and began action on 28th August, 1878. The Master held that the mortgagees were prior incumbrancers and refused to make them parties. Judgment affirmed. Hynes v. Smith, (1879) 15 C.L.J. 136. In Irwin v. Beynon, supra, Dubuc, J., said: "It is also argued that the statement of claim does not sufficiently state who is the reputed owner and also the person for whom the work was done. The statement of claim registered stated that the plaintiff claims a lien upon the estate of G. W. Beynon, barrister-at-law. I think this is sufficient and it is also in accordance with the form given in the Ontario statute." A notice of lien is sufficient which, under special circumstances, states the name of the owner in the alternative. Abelman v. Myer, 122 App. Div. (N.Y.) 470.

If a notice fails to state the name of the true owner, the validity of the lien is preserved so far as the person named as owner and against whom a lien is asked may in fact have some title or interest to the extent of that interest. Strauchen v. Pace, (1909) 195 App. Div. (N.Y.) 167. Substituting the name of a wrong party as contractor in a statement of the lien is fatal to the claim. Lacy v. Piatt Power Co., (1909) 157 Mich. 545. See Curtis v. Medansky, (1910) 141 App. Div. (N.Y.) 883. The inversion of the names of the lienor and the contractor, in the caption of the statement of account included in the certificate filed by a lienor, which inversion is an obvious error, does not affect the validity of the lien. De Vingo v. Hall, (1910) 205 Mass. 407.

(d) "The land is situated."—Where the land affected by the lien is partly in one registration division and partly in another, the registration should be made in both divisions. See Arkansas River L. R. & C. Co. v. Flinn, 33 Pac. 1006; 3 Colo. App. 381. As to the area of land subject to the lien, see Springer Land Association v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513; Whalen v. Colins, (1895) 164 Mass. 147. The latter case decides that the statutes does not authorize the holder of a lien at his own option to enforce it upon a part only of the land subject to the lien. The question as to whether the whole or only a part of such land shall be sold is for the court. See also on this point, Pollock v. Morrison, (1900) 176 Mass. 83.

(e) "The sum claimed as due."—As between the parties the fact that the lien is claimed for a greater sum than is actually owing does not vitiate the claim when honestly made. Springer Land Association v. Ford, (1897) 168 U.S. 513; Kendall v. Fader, (1901) 199 Ill. 294. But when a party inserts in a notice of lien statements of fact which are not only untrue, but are wilfully and intentionally false in some important respect he thereby forfeits the right to a lien and renders the notice void or ineffectual. Aeschlimann v. Presbyterian Hospital, (1901) 165 N. Y. App. 296. A very large number of cases are reviewed in this case. See also Vaughan v. Ford, (1910) 162 Mich. 37; Montjoy v. Howard, 10 W.L.R. 282.

(f) "Owner."—See notes under section 2, sub-section 3, and section 8. See also De Klyn v. Gould, (1901) 165 N.Y. App. 282.

(g) "Of the person for whom and upon whose credit the work or service was or is to be done."—In a case under the former Act (Wallis v. Skain, (1892) 21 O.R. 532) it was held that the omission from the registered claim of lien of the name and residence of the person for whom or upon whose credit the work is done or materials furnished is fatal to the lien. But see section 19.

(h) "And the time."—Under the British Columbia Mechanics' Lien Act it was held that a miner may enforce a lien against a mineral claim and that an affidavit stating that work finished or discontinued "on or about" a stated date was sufficient. Holden v. Bright Prospects G. M. Co., (1893) 6 B.C.R. 439.

In Flack v. Jeffrey, (1895) 10 Man. 514, the lien as filed stated that the work was commenced on a certain day and that it was finished on or before a certain other day. Held, following Truax v. Dixon, 17 O.R. 356, and in view of the Manitoba Interpretation Act, that the statement was sufficient.

(i) "Description of the land to be charged."—The description need not be strictly accurate. In Cleverley v. Moseley, (1889) 148 Mass. 280, a very inaccurate description was held sufficient. "A description is sufficient which will enable one who is familiar with the locality to identify the land with reasonable certainty." Dodge v. Hall, (1897) 168 Mass. 435. See also Pollock v. Morrison, (1900) 176 Mass. 83; 177 Mass. 412.

While precision in description of the land is not necessary, the description must be sufficient in itself to identify the property. Evidence dehors is not admissible to supply a deficiency (Hurley v. Tucker, (1908) 128 App. Div. (N.Y.) 580); but if there appear enough in the description to enable a party familiar with the locality to identify with reasonable certainty the premises intended to be described, to the exclusion of others it will be sufficient. Linden Steel Co. v. Ref. Co., 138 Pa. 10; Smith v.

Newbaur, 144 Ind. 95; Safe Deposit & Steel Co. v. Columbia Iron and Steel Co., 176 Pa. 536. Where no one is misled by unintentional mis-statements the lien will stand. Ringle v. Wallis Iron Works, 149 N.Y. 439. The precise terms of the contract need not be set out. Felgenhauer v. Haas, (1907) 123 App. Div. (N.Y.) 75.

As illustrating an inaccurate but sufficient description and an insufficient description, compare York v. Barstow, (1900) 175 Mass. 167 and Muto v. Smith, (1900) 175 Mass. See also for sufficient description, Christie v. Mead, (1888) 8 C.L.T. 312, cited under section 8. In Orr v. Fuller, (1889) 172 Mass. 597, it was held that the fact that the work was done and the materials were furnished in the erection of several houses under one contract with the owner of a tract of land which had no visible division warrants a finding, if not a ruling, that the whole tract is one lot and that there is a mechanics' lien upon the whole of it for the whole sum due. See Phillips v. Gilbert, 101 U.S. 721; Stoltze v. Hurd, (1910) 24 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas. 871.

(j) "Verified by the affidavit."—For form of affidavit, see the schedule to this Act. As to immaterial defect, see Currier v. Friedrick, (1875) 22 Gr. 243; Waters v. Goldberg, (1908) 124 App. Div. (N.Y.) 511. An affidavit attached to a lien was sworn before a person who afterwards became plaintiff's solicitor, whereupon objection was raised to the affidavit. The objection was over-ruled. Elliott v. McCollum, (1899) 19 C.L.T. 412. Vernon v. Cooke, 49 L.J.C.P. 767, followed; Baker v. Ambrose, (1896) 2 Q.B. 372, distinguished.

As to who is authorized to take the affidavit, see R.S.O. ch. 74, sec. 12; Truax v. Dixon, 25 C.L.J. 249; R.S.O. ch. 175, sub-secs. 3 and 4; Canada Permanent Loan & Savings Co. v. Todd, 22 O.R. 515. Cf. Baker v. Ambrose, (1896) 2 Q.B. 372.

The particulars of claim in an affidavit for a lien were: "The putting in bath-tubs, wash-tubs, hot and cold water connections, all necessary pipes, boiler and hot water furnace and waste pipes, $220." Part was for material and part for labor. It was held, Davie, C.J., dissenting, that the statement was fatally defective, as including two classes, in regard to one of which there was no statutory lien. Davie, C.J., was of opinion that the particulars were sufficient and that the separation of the price of the labor from that of the material was a function of the court exerciseable at the trial. Weller v. Shupe, (1897) 6 B.C.R. 58.

In another case the particulars for lien were: "Brick and stone work and setting tiles in the house situate upon the land hereinafter described for which I claim the balance of $123." Held, insufficient. Knott v. Cline, (1896) 5 B.C.R. 120. See also Johnson v. Braden, 1 B.C.R., Pt. 2, p. 265; Gogan v. Walsh, (1878) 124 Mass. 516; Clarke v. Kingsley, (1864) 8 Allen (Mass.) 543.

A notice of lien alleging an agreement to furnish the plumbing for a dwelling house, stable and gardener's cottage for a certain sum and that the lien claimants had furnished certain of the materials and had done a portion of the work, but failing to state how much of the agreement had been performed or the value thereof is fatally defective. White v. Livingstone, 69 App. Div. 361; (1903) 174 N.Y. 538.

A claim is not insufficient because it fails to set forth the plans and specifications which are made part of an alleged contract. Oriental Hotel Co. v. Griffiths, (1895) 30 L.R.A. 765.

One partner may verify the lien claim of the firm. Waters v. Goldberg, (1908) 124 App. Div. (N.Y.) 511.

A notice which fails to state the kind or amount of labor performed or materials furnished by the lien claimant is invalid. Toop v. Smith, (1905), 181 N.Y. 283.

(k) "Or of his agent."—In a recent New York case, even where these words were omitted, it was held that the affidavit of an agent was sufficient. McDonald v. Mayor of New York, (1902) 170 N.Y. App. 409. See Devings v. Hall, (1910) 205 Mass. 407. But without these words in a former Ontario Act the affidavit of an agent was held insufficient. Grant v. Dunn, (1883) 3 O.R. 376.

See observations on this section in Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249.

18. What may be included in claim.—A claim for lien may include claims against any number of properties, and any number of persons claiming liens upon the same property may unite therein, but where more than one lien is included in one claim each lien shall be verified by affidavit as provided in section 17. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 18.

(a) "Any number of properties."—In other words, one claim of lien for registration may include work done or materials furnished in respect to different properties of the same owner. Halstead & Harmount Co. v. Arick, (1904) 76 Conn. 382.

The policy of the mechanics' lien law is to make every building and the lot on which it is erected liable to the lien for work done upon it and for materials furnished for the erection and construction of the building. Where a number of buildings are erected under a single contract upon contiguous lands the statute does not contemplate that there should be a separate and distinct lien claim filed for each one of the buildings. It recognizes but a single lien. Johnson v. Algor, (1900) 65 N.J.L. 363.

19. (1) Claims not to be invalidated for informality.—A substantial compliance with sections 17 and 18 shall be sufficient, and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of failure to comply with any of the requisites of those sections unless, in the opinion of the court, judge or officer who tries an action under this Act, the owner, contractor or sub-contractor, mortgagee or other person, is prejudiced thereby, and then only to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced.

(2) Nothing in this section shall dispense with registration of the claim for lien. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 19.

(a) "A substantial compliance."—This is a salutary provision. The parties to be affected by a claim are entitled to such information as it is essential for them to know in order to protect them against imposition and to safeguard their rights, but it is intended by the legislature that the terms of sections 17 and 18 should be followed merely in substance, so that on the one hand valid claims would not be lost on mere technicalities by applying a rigid literality to the terms of these sections, and on the other hand the obvious purpose of the sections would be secured by such compliance with their provisions as would by affording sufficient data ensure protection to owners, contractors, sub-contractors, mortgagees or other interested persons.

The courts will doubtless be indulgent in respect to omissions and defects which do not affect the substance of the notice and are not necessary as safeguards against imposition. In Crear v. C.P.R. Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 383; 2 C.L.R. 107, Boyd, C., said: "But these forms are not of inflexible use, and if the verification is in the same way and to like effect as in the case of registration, I think there has been 'substantial compliance,' to use the phrase found in section 19 (1), with the scheme of the Act. . . . It is not desirable, nor is it needful, that all the niceties of practice in due sequence should attach to the summary procedure provided for the realization of workmen's liens." See also observations of Killam, C.J., in Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 139. Defective descriptions of the land to be charged are immaterial if the description is sufficient to prevent anyone from being misled. On the other hand a total non-compliance with such conditions cannot be waived even by the owner, at least so far as third persons are concerned. Boisot, S. 5; White v. School District, 42 Conn. 541; Burnside v. O'Hara, 35 Ill. App. 150. In a recent New York case (Mahley v. German Bank, (1903) 174 N.Y. App. 499) it was held that a notice of lien which failed to state when the first item of work was done or anything from which that time might be inferred, as required by sub-division 6 of section 9 of the N.Y. Lien Law, was insufficient, notwithstanding that the notice substantially complied with the other provisions of the statute; since the provision thereof that the law shall be construed liberally does not authorize the court to dispense with what the statute says the notice shall contain.

Where a lien was filed against the owner of a property on which a building had been erected by the lessee, the failure to state the correct name of the person for whom the materials had been furnished and the labor performed would not invalidate the lien. Steeves v. Sinclair, (1902) 171 N.Y. 676. As to sufficiency of statement of labor performed, see Clarke v. Heylman, 80 N.Y. S. 794. A recent case in Massachusetts, Angier v. Bay State, (1901) 178 Mass. 163, illustrates the nature of the errors which may defeat a claim.

Claiming a lien upon too much property will not absolutely invalidate the lien. Ontario Lime Assn. v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

The plaintiff contracted with E. to supply him with lumber to be used in a building he was erecting at Port Arthur for the defendant. The lumber was sent in different shipments, the last of which arrived at Port Arthur on Nov. 11th, 1907, and was taken possession of by E.'s foreman, but was not in fact placed upon defendant's land. E. having made default in payment, the plaintiffs on Dec. 10th registered a claim for lien for the price of the lumber. It was held that the lien was registered too late. Ludlam-Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 419. See Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249.

The validity of the lien will not be affected by the omission of an item as credit in the statement of the lien, or by an under-statement of the amount due the claimant if it does not appear affirmatively that the defendant was misled by inaccuracies. Vickery v. Richardson, (1905) 189 Mass. 53. See Thompson v. Luciano, (1912) 211 Mass. 169. As to fatally defective omission, see Riley v. Durfey, (1911) 145 App. Div. N.Y. 583.

A substantial compliance exists if enough appears on the face of the statement to point the way to successful inquiry. American Car & Foundry Co. v. Alexandria Water Co., (1906) 215 Pa. 520. The question of a validity of a notice turns upon substantial compliance with the provisions of the statute, with the limitation that this rule of construction cannot be applied so far as to dispense entirely with what the statute says the notice shall contain. Waters v. Goldberg, (1908) 124 App. Div. (N.Y.) 511. A sufficient description of the materials furnished in a statement annexed to the claim and marked as Exhibit A will constitute "a substantial compliance." Monarch Lumber Co. v. Garrison, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 686.

A claim for a lien was made out on a printed form, and was against the contractor for the erection of certain buildings, the claimant erroneously believing this contractor to be the owner. The claim was for "material supplied" on or before a named date, no description of the materials being given and no mention being made of the commencement of the lien. The claimant's residence was given as "of Toronto." It was held that the claimant's residence was sufficiently designated; that the claim against the contractor was sufficient, the Act merely requiring it to be made against the owner or person believed to be the owner; that it was not necessary to give the date of the commencement of the lien; and that while the term "materials supplied" was not a substantial compliance with the Act, yet under this section it did not invalidate the lien, no prejudice being occasioned thereby, and that the lien was therefore valid. Barrington v. Martin, 16 O.L.R. 635.

A lien will not be defeated by the fact that the claim described more land than should be within the lien. Scott v. Goldinghurst, 123 Ind. 258.

While the inclusion through mistake of non-lienable items will not destroy the claimant's right to a lien where said items can be segregated from the others, yet unless this can be done with reasonable certainty the defect is fatal to the whole lien. Gilbert Hunt Co. v. Parry, (1910) 59 Wash. 446, 23 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas. 225.

(b) "Dispensing with registration."—If the provisions of section 23 are complied with, no other registration of the lien is necessary, except where the lien is claimed against the owner of the fee.

20. (1) Lien to be registered an incumbrance.—The registrar, upon payment of the proper fee, shall register the claim, describing it as "mechanics' lien" against the land therein described in like manner as if it were a mortgage, but he shall not copy the claim or affidavit in any registry book.

(2) Fee for registration.—The fee for registration of a claim for lien shall be twenty-five cents, and if several persons join in one claim the registrar shall be entitled to a further fee of ten cents for each person after the first. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec 20.

(a) "Shall register."—As to the registrar omitting or delaying to register the claim, see Lawrie v. Rathbun, (1876) 38 U.C.Q.B. 255; Getchell v. Moran, (1878) 124 Mass. 404, 408; Orne v. Barstow, (1900) 175 Mass. 193.

21. Lien-holder to be deemed a purchaser.—10 Edw. VII., ch. 60; Rev. Stat., ch. 138.—Where a claim is so registered, the person entitled to the lien shall be deemed a purchaser pro tanto and within the provisions of the Registry Act and the Land Titles Act, but except as herein provided those Acts shall not apply to any lien arising under this Act. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 21.

(a) "Shall be deemed a purchaser pro tanto."—Mortgagees under registered mortgage had advanced money to pay off prior mortgage and for improvements, when lien filed and action begun. Mortgagees were not parties. Mortgagees notified lien-holders and sold under mortgage and applied for order vacating registry of liens and lis pendens. Order granted mortgagees to pay surplus proceeds into court where they would be available for lien-holders. Finn v. Miller, (1889) 10 C.L.T. 23; 26 C.L.J. 55. See Russell v. Russell, (1881) 28 Gr. 419; McCormick v. Bullivant, (1878) 14 C.L.J. 85. See also Hynes v. Smith 8 P.R. 73, 27 Gr. 150. In that case, however, the effect of former sections 7 and 2, sub-section 3, does not appear to have been considered except in the dissenting judgment of Proudfoot, J.

(b) "Except as herein otherwise provided."—Sections 22, 23 and 24 contain the exceptions. See McVean v. Tiffin, (1885) 13 A.R. 1; Wanty v. Robins, (1888) 15 O.R. 474.

(c) "Those Acts shall not apply."—See Latch v. Bright, (1869) 16 Gr. 653, and notes under sections 2 and 8. See the Ontario Registry Act, sub-sections 87, 97, and Rose v. Peterkin, (1885) 13 S.C.R. 677, which decided that although section 81, R.S.O. ch. 111, declared that "no equitable lien, charge or interest affecting land shall be deemed valid in any court in this province after this Act shall come into operation as against a registered instrument executed by the same party, his heirs or assigns," that section did not apply to a case in which the party registering such instrument had actual notice of the equitable lien, charge or interest, even though the same had been created by parol.

22. (1) Claims for liens, when to be registered.—A claim for lien by a contractor or sub-contractor, in cases not otherwise provided for, may be registered before or during the performance of the contract or within thirty days after the completion or abandonment thereof.

(2) A claim for lien for materials may be registered before or during the furnishing or placing thereof or within thirty days after the furnishing or placing of the last material so furnished or placed.

(3) A claim for lien for service may be registered at any time during the performance of the service or within thirty days after the completion of the service.

(4) A claim for lien for wages may be registered at any time during the performance of the work for which such wages are claimed, or within thirty days after the last work is done for which the lien is claimed. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 22.

(5) Registration of contractors' lien after last certificate.—In the case of a contract which is under the supervision of an architect, engineer or other person upon whose certificate payments are to be made, the claim for lien by a contractor may be registered within the time mentioned in sub-section 1, or within seven days after the architect, engineer or other person has given, or has, upon application to him by the contractor, refused to give a final certificate. 2 Edw. VII. ch. 21, sec. 1.

(a) "In cases not otherwise provided for."—i.e., such cases as are not provided for in sub-sections (3) and (4).

(b) "Within thirty days."—Where there is a prior arrangement, although not binding, between a contractor and a supplier of building materials, whereby the former undertakes to procure from the latter all the material required for a particular building contract, so that, although the prices and quantities are not defined until orders are given and deliveries made, the entire transaction, although it may extend over some months, is linked together by the preliminary understanding on both sides, a lien for all materials so supplied is in time if registered within thirty days of the furnishing of the last item. Morris v. Tharle, (1893) 24 O.R. 159; Roboek v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. L.R. 124.

The plaintiffs contracted with E. to supply him with lumber to be used in a building he was erecting for the defendant on lands in Port Arthur. The lumber was sent in different shipments, the last of which arrived at Port Arthur on Nov. 11th, 1907, and was taken possession of by E.'s foreman, but was not in fact used in the defendant's building or placed upon his land. E. having made default in payment, the plaintiffs on Dec. 10th registered a claim for lien on the lands for the price of the lumber. It was held that the lien was registered too late, as it was not registered until more than thirty days had elapsed since any material furnished by the plaintiffs had been placed upon the land or used in the construction of the building. Ludlam-Ainslie Lumber Co. v. Fallis, (1909) 19 O.L.R. 419.

The thirty days within which the registration is to be effected should be computed not from the time certain trifling alterations were made in the machinery as supplied, but from the time the machinery was supplied and placed. Neill v. Carroll, (1880) 28 Gr. 30. See Summers v. Beard, 24 O.R. 641.

It cannot be said as a matter of law that work done by a mechanic under a contract substantially performed at an earlier date is only colorable because it is trifling in amount and done with the ulterior purpose of saving the lien. Miller v. Wilkinson, (1896) 167 Mass. 136.

A lien was claimed for certain steel work done on a building which had been completed by the 30th September, 1893, with the exception of the cutting down of certain bolts which it was afterwards found projected out of the walls too far, which was done between the 19th and 25th October, 1893. The lien was registered on the 17th November, 1903. Held, upon the authority of Neill v. Carroll, supra, which is incorrectly reported on appeal in 28 Gr. 339, that the lien was registered too late, since the time should have been computed from 30th September, and was not extended by the alterations of the bolts. Summers v. Beard, (1894) 24 O.R. 641.

The right of one furnishing materials to a contractor for use in a building to fix his lien for the materials begins when the last material is delivered, whether it is used in the building or not. Voightman & Co. v. Southern Ry. Co., (1910) 24 Am. & Eng. Ann. Cas. 211. See Chapter entitled "The Lien of the Materialman," ante.

A claim cannot be amended after the time limit for filing has expired. May, etc., Brick Co. v. General Engineering Co., 180

Ill. 535. As to right to amend lien, see Rafuse v. Hunter, 12 B.C.R. 126. The claim must be filed within the statutory time and in conformity with the statute. Hilliard v. Allen, 4 Cush. 532; Christian v. Allee, 104 Ill. App. 177.

Under the provisions of the Act of 1874, it was held that a contractor, though entitled to a lien upon property for the construction of which he had furnished material to an original contractor or another sub-contractor, must in order to enforce such lien institute proceedings for that purpose within thirty days after the material furnished; the lien in such case arising from the furnishing of the material or the doing of the work, not from registration as under the Act of 1873. McCormick v. Bullivant, (1877) 25 Gr. 273.

Merchants supplied material to the contractor for certain buildings and claimed a lien in respect thereof. There was no contract for the placing of these materials upon the property; the last of them were bought by the contractor from the merchants on the 22nd November and were by him placed in the building on the 23rd November. Held, that the time for registering the claim of lien under section 21, R.S.O. 1877, ch. 126, began to run from the 22nd November. Hall v. Hogg, (1890) 20 O.R. 13.

See Dempster v. Wright, (1900) 21 C.L.T. 88, referred to under section 20 of the Nova Scotia Mechanics' Lien Act.

In a number of Massachusetts cases it has been held that the filing must be within thirty days after the last of the items for which a lien is given was performed or furnished, although other items for which there is no lien were performed or furnished later. Gale v. Blaikie, (1880) 129 Mass. 206; Kennebec Co. v. Pickering, (1886) 142 Mass. 80; Worthen v. Cleveland, (1880) 129 Mass. 570; O'Driscoll v. Bradford, (1898) 171 Mass. 231.

If a sworn statement of a mechanics' lien is filed within thirty days after the claimant had ceased to labor and if the last items of labor were performed in good faith under the contract, the lien is none the less valid because before the work named in the last items was done no work had been done for about 34 days, and before the last work was done the houses on which the lien was claimed appeared to be completed and were purchased by their present owner without knowledge of any lien. D. L. Billings Co. v. Brand, (1905) 187 Mass. 417. See also Cole v. Uhl, 46 Conn. 296, and Nichols v. Culver, 51 Conn. 177. But see Kilbourne v. McEwan, 6 W.L.R. 562.

Sundays are included in the thirty days and if the last day falls on Sunday, the registration must take place the day before. See Haley v. Young, (1883) 134 Mass. 364; Oakland Manufacturing Co. v. Lemieux, 98 Me. 488. See also Bowes v. N. Y. Christian Home, 54 How. Pr. 509, as to rule about computation of time.

But in Ontario the Interpretation Act, R.S.O. 1897, ch. 1, sub-secs. 16 and 17, provides that if the time limited for the doing of anything expires upon a Sunday, such thing may be done on the day next following which is not a holiday.

Under the Massachusetts Act, a person who furnishes lumber at a certain price per thousand feet at different times under an entire contract in the erection of a building, loses his lien if he neglects to file his statement of the amount due him within thirty days after the last item is furnished which is actually used in the erection of the building. In this case the last lot of lumber sent was piled up in the building and not used. Kennebec Framing Co. v. Pickering, (1886) 142 Mass. 80. But this decision would not be followed in some provinces of Canada. See chapter entitled "The Lien of the Materialman," ante.

Whether the last work done by a mechanic was part and parcel of the original job or not depends upon evidence and upon the finding of that fact the lien depends. Holden v. Winslow, 18 Penn. 160; Bartlett v. Kingan, 19 Penn. 341.

The putting up of a wire screen, without request or knowledge of the owner, after the sub-contractor's contract had been substantially finished, after final payment had been demanded and treated as due by him, does not operate to revive a lien, the right to which had previously expired. Schaller-Hoerr Co. v. Gentile, (1910) 153 Ill. App. 458.

Lien creditors are concluded as to the sufficiency of the completion of the building, in the absence of fraud or mistake, by its acceptance by the architect and the owner. Oriental Hotel Co. v. Griffiths, (1895) 30 L.R.A. 765.

(c) "May be registered."—A mistake of the registrar in connection with the registration cannot prejudice the claimant. Getchell v. Moran, (1878) 124 Mass. 404, 408; Laurie v. Rath- bun, (1876) 38 U.C.Q.B. 255, and Orne v. Barstow, (1900) 175 Mass. 193.

(d) "Materials."—Materials were supplied from day to day, nothing being said as to the particular building and there being no express contract. Held, that the lien might be registered at any time within thirty days from the last item. In the absence of appropriation payment on running account to be credited on the first items and lien might be claimed for balance. Lindop v. Martin, (1883) 3 C.L.T. 312. See British Columbia Timber Co. v. Leberry, (1902) 22 C.L.T. 273. See also Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, the facts in which are stated under section 20 of the Manitoba Lien Act, ante, in which case Chadwick v. Hunter, 1 Man. 39, is distinguished, and Morris v. Tharle, 24 O.R. 159, followed. Summers v. Beard, (1894) 24 O.R. 641, and Kelly v. McKenzie, (1884) 1 Man. 169, not applicable.

Where a materialman contracts to deliver material in a manufactured form, the contract is for materials only and a lien cannot be had for labor performed in manufacturing the materials as a claim for labor. Tracey v. Wetherell, (1896) 165 Mass. 113; Donaher v. Boston ,(1879) 126 Mass. 309.

An existing building which is sold for the purpose of constituting part of a larger building to be erected may be considered materials furnished within the statute. Selden v. Melks, 17 Cal. 128.

Where materials were supplied from time to time as required, not under any contract, it was held that the furnishing of each lot of goods was a separate transaction. Chadwick v. Hunter, (1884) 1 Man. 39. See this case distinguished in Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, and Morris v. Tharle, (1893) 24 O.R. 159, followed.

When a contractor working for several owners has but a single contract for the supply of materials with the materialmen, the time of filing a lien by the latter against an owner is not to be measured with reference to the duration of deliveries under the contract between the materialman and the contractor, but by the completion of the work by the contractor for the several owners. Re Moorehouse v. Leake, (1886) 13 O.R. 290. As to the time within which a sub-contractor for materials must register, see Hall v. Hogg, (1890) 20 O.R. 13.

Where the work has been done and accepted by the "owner" the existence of trifling defects subsequently rectified by the contractor will not extend the time until thirty days from the date when the defects were rectified, even though the work was accepted on the understanding that the defects were to be remedied. Makins v. Robinson, (1884) 6 O.R. 1; Kilbourne v. McEwan, 6 W.L.R. 562; Kelly v. McKenzie, (1884) 1 Man. 169. See also Neill v. Carroll, 28 Gr. 30, affirmed 28 Gr. 339. See report as to this case in Summers v Beard, (1894) 24 O.R. 641. See also Day v. Crown Grain Co., 39 S.C.R. 258.

But in a number of recent Massachusetts cases it has been held that where the last work, although trifling in amount and done with the ulterior purpose of saving the lien, was nevertheless called for by the contract which had been treated as fully completed at an earlier date, the thirty days are to be reckoned from such last work. Morse, Williams Co. v. Ellis, (1899) 172 Mass. 378; Sprague v. McDougall, (1899) 172 Mass. 553; Monaghan v. Goddard, (1899) 173 Mass. 468; Burrell v. Way, (1900) 176 Mass. 164; McLean v. Wiley, (1900) 176 Mass. 233. See also D. L. Billings Co. v. Brand, (1905) 187 Mass. 417, and Irwin v. Benyon, (1386) 4 Man. L.R. 10.

(e) "Services."—This word used here and in section 6 is broad enough to include the professional work of an architect in drawing plans and specifications, or the work of an engineer in furnishing expert calculations in respect to the building subsequently erected. See Chapter, "Who may acquire a lien," ante.

(f) "Wages."—See section 2 (7), ante.

(g) "Upon whose certificate."—The certificate of an architect in a dispute between the building owner and the builder is no estoppel in an action by the building owner against the architect for negligence. Badgley v. Dickson, (1886) 13 O.A.R. 494; Rogers v. James, (1891) 8 Times L.R. 67.

EXPIRY AND DISCHARGE OF LIEN.

23. Liens to cease if proceedings not had within time fixed by Act.—Every lien for which a claim is not registered shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of the time hereinbefore limited for the registration thereof unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim, or in which the claim may be realized under the provisions of this Act, and a certificate thereof is registered in the registry office in which the claim for lien might have been registered. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 23.

(a) "For which a claim is not registered."—Under the present Act the cases of Burritt v. Renihan, (1877) 25 Gr. 183, and Neill v. Carroll, (1880) 28 Gr. 30, 339, and see Ritchie v. Grundy, (1891) 7 Man. 532, are no longer applicable in this connection, as an action can now be commenced and a lis pendens registered before the period of credit has expired. See section 28. See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124.

(b) "An action is commenced."—i.e., by any lien-holder. See section 32; Bunting v. Bell, (1876) 23 Gr. 584; Hovenden v. Ellison, (1877) 24 Gr. 448; McPherson v. Gedge, (1883) 4 O.R. 246.

In an action brought against the builder and owner the plaintiff must show that his right of action was complete at the time the action was commenced. Titus v. Gunn, (1903) 69 N.J.L. 410.

The period of ninety days, limited by section 21 of the Mechanics' Lien Act, (1887) for the commencement of proceedings to enforce the lien applies to an action or proceeding against a mortgagee or other person claiming an interest in the lands, and that whether proceedings have or have not been taken against the owner within the ninety days. The plaintiffs, assignees of a mechanics' lien, brought an action against the owner and a prior mortgagee, but their action was dismissed as against the mortgagee for want of prosecution. Having succeeded in obtaining a judgment establishing their lien as against the owner, they brought this action after the lapse of more than ninety days from filing their lien, to obtain a declaration of priority over the prior mortgagee to the extent that the work increased the selling value of the land. Held, reversing the judgment in 3 O.R. 183, that the lien had ceased to exist as against the mortgagee. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 10 A.R. 592; s.c., 29 Gr. 319. See Cole v. Hall, (1888) 12 P.R. 584; 13 P.R. 100; Keffer v. Miller, (1890) 10 C.L.T. 90, and McGuirl v. Fletcher, (1889) 3 Terr. L.R. 137, in which case Cole v. Hall, supra, is criticized.

In an action under a former Act by lien-holders to enforce their lien it was held that it is not necessary to make other holders of registered liens parties in the irst instanee in order to attaek their status as lien-holders; but this ean be done when they are added as defendants in the Master's offiee. Hall v. Hogg, (1890) 14 P.R. 45.

(e) "An action is commenced to realize the claim."—In Davidson v. Campbell, (1888) 5 Man. 250, the bill alleged a contract with defendant, C., for the performanee of eertain work in the ereetion of a building upon land of C. By amendment made after the time for filing the bill had lapsed, the plaintiffs alleged that their eontraet was with the defendants K. and MeD., who had eontraeted with C. for the ereetion of the whole building, thus ehanging their position from eontraetors to sub-eontraetors. No new eertifieate of lis pendens was filed. Held, that the plaintiff eould not rely upon the original bill and eertifieate of lis pendens. The ease might be different if formal amendments were made, but the eourse taken in the present proeeedings, if sanetioned, would be introdueing by amendment an entirely new eause of aetion after the expiration of the period for eommeneing their suit. "If the lien ceased to exist in eonsequenee of the plaintiffs not filing a bill upon their real eontraet, it eould not be revived by a failure to plead properly, and the plaintiffs ought not thereby to aequire rights whieh they had not when the bill was amended," per Killam, J. See Colc v. Hall, eited supra.

The "owner," and also the person liable on the eontraet under whieh the plaintiff elaims, should both be made defendants. (See Wood v. Stringer, 20 O.R. 148), and also a prior mortgagee where relief is sought against him under seetion 8. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, 29 Gr. 319; (1884) 10 A.R. 592. See also notes under section 31, "Parties."

(d) "A certificate thereof."—For form of eertifieate for registration, see Appendix.

(e) "Duly registered."—For eases in relation to errors of registrar in indexing or omitting to index instruments, see seetion 22.

As to what eonstitutes suffeient registration of lis pendens, see Bunting v. Bell, (1876) 23 Gr. 584; McPherson v. Gedge, (1883) 4 O.R. 246. See also seetion 32.

24. (1) When to cease if registered and not proceeded upon.—Every lien for whieh a elaim has been registered shall absolutely cease to exist on the expiration of ninety days after the work or service has been completed or materials have been furnished or placed, or after the expiry of the period of credit, where such period is mentioned in the claim for lien registered, or in the cases provided for by sub-section 5 of section 22 on the expiration of thirty days from the registration of the claim, unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim or in which the claim may be realized under the provisions of this Act, and a certificate is registered as provided by the next preceding section.

(2) Lien to expire at end of six months unless renewed.—Where the period of credit mentioned in the claim for lien registered has not expired it shall nevertheless cease to have any effect on the expiration of six months from the registration or any re-registration thereof, if the claim is not again registered within that period, unless in the meantime an action is commenced and a certificate thereof has been registered as provided by sub-section 1.

(a) "Registered."—When a contractor working for several owners has but a single contract for the supply of materials with the materialmen the time of filing a lien by the latter against an owner is not to be measured with reference to the duration of deliveries under the contract between the materialman and the contractor, but by the completion of the work by the contractor for the several owners. Re Moorehouse v. Leake, (1886) 13 O.R. 290; but the time for registration of a sub-contractor's lien or the bringing of an action to enforce it is not extended by any delay on the part of the contractor or sub-contractor to whom the materials are supplied in actually placing them on the premises. Thus where merchants supplied materials to the contractor for certain buildings and it appeared that there was no contract for the placing of these materials upon the property, the last of them being bought by the contractor from the merchants on 22nd November and by him placed in the building on the 23rd November, it was held that the time for registering the claim of lien under sec. 21 of the Statute of 1877 began to run from the 22nd of November. Hall v. Hogg, (1890) 20 O.R. 13.

(b) "Shall absolutely cease to exist."—An action was begun to enforce a lien against M., the person for whom the work was done, and at that time the owner. The action was begun within the ninety days, but after advances by M. to C., plaintiff obtained ex parte order adding C. after expiry of the ninety days. Order set aside as no right of action against C. after expiry of ninety days, and action dismissed against C. and lis pendens against him vacated. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, 10 A.R. 593 followed. Keffer v. Miller, (1890) 10 C.L.T. 90.

(c) "The expiry of the period of credit."—See Burritt v. Renihan, (1877) 25 Gr. 183; Haggerty v. Grant, (1892) 2 B.C.R. 173, and secs. 25 and 28.

(d) "An action is commenced to realize the claim."—Persons who have registered liens but have taken no proceedings to realize them cannot have the benefit of proceedings taken by other persons to enforce liens against the same land where the liens of such other persons are not enforceable. Re Scar v. Woods, (1892) 23 O.R. 474. A defence filed by a lien-holder within the period mentioned in the Act, in an action by the owner of the property to set aside a lien is not a proceeding "to realize the claim" within the meaning of sec. 23 of the Act, though a counterclaim if properly framed and a certificate thereof duly registered might be. McNamara v. Kirkland, (1891) 18 A.R. 271.

(e) "If the claim is not again registered."—Re-registration is unnecessary if proceedings are taken under sec. 28.

The ninety days allowed by this section for commencing an action to realize a claim are not to be computed exclusively of long vacation. Although such an act is begun by a proceeding called a "statement of claim," the Rules of Court with respect to the filing of the statement of claim in an action begun by writ of summons are not applicable to it. Where the last of the materials in respect of which the plaintiffs claimed a lien were furnished on May 30th, 1907, and the lien was registered within a month, but the action for the enforcement was not begun by the filing of a statement of claim until September 23rd, 1907, it was held that the lien had ceased to exist. Canada Sand, Lime and Brick Co. v. Ottaway, (1907) 15 O.L.R. 128. See Wesner Drilling Co. v. Tremblay, 18 O.L.R. 439.

(f) "In the meantime."—These words have the primary signification of during or within the time which intervenes between one specified period or event and another. In strictness there is in contemplation a terminus a quo, as well as a terminus ad quem —a date or event with which the period begins as well as a date or event with which it ends. But in some instances the terminus a quo is not in mind at all, but it is the terminus ad quem which is the only date in contemplation. In such a case the words are equivalent to before such an event, date or period. The result is that any proceedings taken during the existence of the lien are taken "in the meantime" within the meaning of this section, if taken before the expiration of the period therein mentioned. Eadie-Douglas v. Hitch & Co., (1912) 48 C.L.J. 672.

25. When lien to cease if there is no period of credit.—If there is no period of credit, or if the date of the expiry of the period of credit is not stated in the claim so registered, the lien shall cease to exist upon the expiration of ninety days after the work or service has been completed or materials furnished or placed, unless in the meantime an action is commenced and a certificate thereof registered as provided by section 23. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 25.

(a) "Period of credit."—See note under sec. 28 (a) and cases cited thereunder.

(b) "Work or service has been completed or materials furnished."—Where the work has been done and accepted by the "owner" the existence of trifling defects subsequently rectified by the contractor will not extend the time until thirty days from the date when the defect was rectified, even though the work was accepted on the understanding that the defect was to be remedied. Makin v. Robinson, (1884) 6 O.R. 1; Kelly v. McKenzie, (1884) 1 Man. 169. See reference to Neill v. Carroll, ante, p. 6, which case is inaccurately reported in 28 Gr. 339. See note summarizing Irwin v. Beynon, (1886) 4 Man. 10, ante.

26. Assignment or death of lien-holder.—The right of a lien-holder may be assigned by an instrument in writing and, if not assigned, upon his death shall pass to his personal representative. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 26.

It is doubtful whether there can be an assignment of a part of a claim so as to entitle the assignee to maintain an action for the recovery of such part from the debtor under sec. 58(5) of the Judicature Act (Ont.). The Court of Appeal favoured the view presented in Foster v. Baker, (1910) 2 K.B. 636, in preference to the earlier case of Skipper v. Halloway, (1910) 2 K.B. 630. Seaman v. Canadian Stewart Co., (1911) 18 O.W.R. 56; 2 O.W.N. 576.

(a) "The right of a lien-holder may be assigned."— A counterclaim or set-off is available against the assignee. Lawrence v. Congregational Church, (1900) 164 N.Y. App. 115. A defect of parties to an action by an assignee, arising from the failure to join a prior assignee, to whose assignment plaintiff's assignment was expressly subject, is waived where the attention of the trial court is not directed to the point at the trial. Ib. See this case also as to effect of an order substituting assignee as plaintiff, as an adjudication of the right to prosecute the action. See also Moore v. Dugan, (1901) 179 Mass. 153, and Hawkins v. Mapes-Reeves Co., (1904) 178 N.Y. App. 236. Under a general assignment for the benefit of creditors made by a general contractor who has furnished and provided materials and towards the erection of a building for which moneys are due or to become due to him, the assignee takes such moneys, subject to liens filed by laborers, mechanics, materialmen or sub-contractors, subject to the assignment and within the ninety days prescribed by the statute. Kane Co. v. Kinney, (1903) 174 N.Y. App. 69. As to effect of assignment of claim before filing lien, see Williams v. Weinbaum, (1901) 178 Mass. 239. See also Wiley v. Connelly, (1901) 179 Mass. 360. As to what constitutes an equitable assignment, see Van Kannell Revolving Door Co. v. Astor, 119 App. Div. (N.Y.) 214. As to sufficiency of assignment, see Alsip v. Monkman, (1912) 22 W.L.R. 667.

A mechanic having a claim for the erection of buildings under a contract assigned his claim to the plaintiff to secure money due to the plaintiff, and the plaintiff for the purpose of enabling the mechanic to register under the Act re-assigned to him. Held, that such re-assignment enabled the mechanic to make the claim for registry notwithstanding the equitable right of plaintiff. Currier v. Frederick, (1875) 22 Gr. 243.

The lien is created when the work is performed, and an assignment of the claim after the work is done carries the lien with it. Wiley v. Connelly, (1901) 179 Mass. 360.

27. (1) Discharge of lien.—A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant, or his agent duly authorized in writing, acknowledging payment, and verified by affidavit and registered.

(2) The receipt shall be numbered and entered like other instruments, but shall not be copied in any registry book, and there shall be entered against the entry of the lien to which the discharge relates the word "discharged" and the registration number of such discharge.

(3) The fee shall be the same as for registering a claim. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 27(1).

(4) Security or payment into court and vacating lien thereon.—Upon application the court, judge or officer having jurisdiction to try an action to realize a lien, may allow security for or payment into court of the amount of the claim, and may thereupon order that the registration of the lien be vacated or may vacate the registration upon any other proper ground and a certificate of the order may be registered. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 27 (2), (3); 62 V. (1), ch. 2, sec. 1.

(5) When notice of application to vacate not requisite.—Where the certificate required by sections 23 or 24 has not been registered within the prescribed time, and an application is made to vacate the registration of a claim for lien after the time for registration of the certificate required by sections 23, 24 or 25, the order vacating the lien may be made ex parte upon production of the certificate of the proper registrar certifying the facts entitling the applicant to such order. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 27 (4).

(a) "A receipt."—Any form of receipt which acknowledges payment of a specified claim and is verified by affidavit sworn before a commissioner is sufficient, if registered.

(b) "Or his agent duly authorized in writing."—It is desirable to register also the written authority of the agent.

(c) "Court or judge or officer."—These tribunals are designated in sec. 34. See as to awarding costs, sec. 44.

(d) "Payment into court."—The mode of payment is prescribed by the Con. Rules, 405, 410.

(e) "Upon any other proper ground."—Mortgagees under registered mortgage had advanced money to pay off prior mortgage and for improvement when lien filed and action begun. Mortgagees were not made parties. Mortgagees notified lien-holders and sold under mortgage and applied for order vacating registry of liens and lis pendens. Order granted mortgagees to pay the surplus proceeds into court where it could be applied for by lien-holders. Finn v. Miller, (1889) 10 C.L.T. 23; 26 C.J.L. 55.

Defendant was sole owner of lots covered by plaintiffs' lien at the time the contract was made. Later, defendant sold part of the lands without notice to plaintiffs. Plaintiffs registered certificates of lien and lis pendens against all the property. Defendant's motion to vacate the registry was dismissed. Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

By the Land Titles Act, chapter 28 of the Statutes of Ontario, section 67, it is provided that on its appearing to the satisfaction of the proper Master of Titles that a lien under the Mechanics' and Wage-earners' Lien Act has ceased to exist, the Master may make an entry accordingly, or an entry cancelling the claim; and the land affected shall thereby be released from the claim.

Effect of Taking Security or Extending Time.

28. (1) Certain acts not to prejudice right to enforce lien.—The taking of any security for, or the acceptance of any promissory note or bill of exchange for, or the taking of any acknowledgment of the claim, or the giving of time for the payment thereof, or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery or the recovery of a personal judgment for the claim, shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice or destroy the lien unless the claimant agrees in writing that it shall have that effect. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 28(1).

(2) Where period of credit not expired.—Where any such promissory note or bill of exchange has been negotiated the lien-holder shall not thereby lose his lien if, at the time of bringing his action to enforce it, or, where an action is brought by another lien-holder he is, at the time of proving his claim in such action, the holder of such promissory note or bill of exchange. New.

(3) Nothing in sub-section 2 shall extend the time limited by this Act for bringing the action to enforce the lien. New.

(4) Time for bringing action by person who gave time for payment.—A person who has extended the time for payment of a claim for which he has a lien to obtain the benefit of this section shall commence an action to enforce such lien within the time prescribed by this Act, and shall register a certificate as required by sections 23, 24 or 25, but no further proceedings shall be taken in the action until the expiration of such extension of time. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 28 (1-2).

(a) "The taking of any security."—The taking of security, note or acknowledgment or the giving of time, destroys the lien if the lien-holder neglects to proceed to enforce his lien within the time limited by secs. 23, 24 and 25.

A lien lost by taking a promissory note is not revived upon dishonor thereof. Edmonds v. Tiernan, (1891) 2 B.C.R. 82; 21 S.C.R. 406. This case has now no application in Ontario owing to the provisions of this section. See Brooks-Sanford Hardware Co. v. Telier Construction Co., (1910) 17 O.W.R. 167, 22 O.L.R. 176.

Without this section it would be a question of fact in every case whether the note was taken in payment of the account Casey v. Weaver, (1886) 141 Mass. 280; Jones v. Shawhan, Watts & Serg. (Pa.) 257. If the note was taken in payment the lien was gone. If the note was not taken in payment it amounts to no waiver of the lien. Edwards v. Derrickson, (1859) 2

N.J.L. 39; Jones v. Moores, (1893) 74 N.Y. 109, 22 N.Y. Supp. 53; Linneman v. Bieber, (1895) 92 N.Y. 477, 33 N.Y. Supp. 129. The other provisions of the Act must be complied with even if it involves taking proceedings to enforce the lien before the maturity of the note, in which case it seems that proceedings may be taken within the time, subject, possibly, to being stayed until after the maturity of the note.

After the note has been negotiated the debt then becomes due to a third party and the original creditor becomes a guarantor of payment of the debt. While the note is in the hands of a third party no proceedings can be taken to enforce the lien. If the lien claimant pays the note and is the holder of the note at the time he begins proceedings the fact of his having negotiated the note will not take away his lien.

See also McLean v. Wiley, (1900) 176 Mass. 233; Brewer Co. v. B. & A. R. R. Co., (1901) 179 Mass. 228.

There is a conflict in the decisions as to the provision in this section in its application to promissory notes when discounted. See Swanson v. Mollison, (1907) 6 W.L.R. 678, in which the decision in Edmonds v. Tiernan, supra, is distinguished, and the decisions in National Supply Co. v. Horrobin, 16 Man. L.R. 472, and Arthbuthnot Co. v. Winnipeg Mfg. Co., 16 Man. L.R. 401, were questioned. See also Coughlan v. National Construction Co., 14 B.C.R. 339, holding that where promissory notes had been received and discounted by the lien-holder for the materials supplied, the lien was not thereby waived. See also Clarke v. Moore, 1 Alta. L.R. 49.

29. Proving claim in another action.—Where the period of credit in respect of a claim has not expired, or where there has been an extension of time for payment of the claim, the lien-holder may nevertheless, if an action is commenced by any other person to enforce a lien against the same property, prove and obtain payment of his claim in such action as if the period of credit or the extended time had expired. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 28 (3).

INFORMATION TO BE GIVEN LIEN-HOLDER.

30. (1) Lien-holders to be entitled to information from owner as to terms of contract.—Any lien-holder may at any time demand of the owner or his agent the terms of the contractor or agreement with the contractor for and in respect of which the work, service or material is or is to be performed or furnished or placed, and if such owner or his agent does not, at the time of such demand, or within a reasonable time thereafter, inform the person making such demand of the terms of such contract or agreement, and the amount due and unpaid upon such contract or agreement, or if he knowingly falsely states the terms of the contract or agreement, or the amount due or unpaid thereon, and if the person claiming the lien sustains loss by reason of such refusal or neglect or false statement, the owner shall be liable to him in an action therefor for the amount of such loss. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 29.

(2) Order for inspection of contract by lien-holders. — The court, judge, or officer having jurisdiction to try an action to realize a lien may, on a summary application at any time before or after an action is commenced for the enforcement of such lien, make an order requiring the owner or his agent to produce and allow any lien-holder to inspect any such contract or agreement upon such terms as to costs as he may deem just.

(a) "Any lien-holder may at any time demand."—A form of demand is not given in the Act and a written demand is really unnecessary. This section is for the protection of sub-contractors, laborers and materialmen. See Lumbard v. Syracuse, (1874) 55 N.Y. 494.

(b) "An action therefor," i.e., an ordinary action.

(c) "The court, judge or officer."—See secs. 31 and 34 as to these tribunals.

Under a former Act (R.S.O. 1887, ch. 126, sec. 23), which allowed proceedings to recover the amount of a mechanics' lien to be taken under certain circumstances in County Courts and Division Courts, it was held that this provision applied only to actions in which the party seeking to enforce his lien was suing in the ordinary way to obtain judgment and execution. These courts cannot entertain an action in the nature of an action of account by a lien-holder against a mortgagee who has sold the land in question under mortgage prior to the lien, though there may be wider powers by way of summary application. Hutson v. Valliers, (1892) 19 A.R. 154.

ACTION TO REALIZE CLAIM.

31. (1) Mode of realizing lien.—A lien may be realized by action in the High Court, according to the ordinary procedure of that court, excepting where the same is varied by this Act.

(2) Without issuing a writ of summons, an action shall be commenced by filing in the proper office a statement of claim, verified by affidavit, Form 5.

(3) The statement of claim shall be served within one month after it is filed, but a judge or officer having jurisdiction to try the action may extend the time for service thereof, and the time for delivering the statement of defence shall be the same as for entering an appearance in an action in the High Court.

(4) It shall not be necessary to make any lien-holders parties defendant to the action, but all lien-holders served with the notice of trial shall for all purposes be deemed parties to the action. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 31.

(a) "Excepting where the same is varied."—Sub-section 2, 3 and 4 and sec. 33 state the variations from ordinary procedure.

(b) "A statement of claim."—Where there was no averment in statement of claim that anything was due by the owner, held, on demurrer, that the statement of claim was bad. Townsley v. Baldwin, (1889) 10 C.L.T. 13. A statement of claim did not disclose the kind of materials, etc. Held, bad, but as lien is operative when registered and action brought and certificate of lis pendens registered, plaintiff's lien was not prejudiced. Johnson v. Eraden, (1887) 1 B.C.R. Pt. 2, p. 265.

All actions and proceedings to enforce mechanics' liens must be brought and taken in the High Court of Justice under the procedure enacted by 59 Vict. ch. 35, as amended by 60 Vict. ch. 24. Although by secs. 31 and 32 of the former Act, a County Court Judge has complete jurisdiction in such an action or proceeding if in the High Court, yet, if the proceedings are instituted in a County Court he has no jurisdiction. In Re Ribble v. Aldwell, (1898) 18 C.L.T. 59. Under 53 Vict. ch. 37, it is competent to join liens so as to give jurisdiction to the High Court though each apart may be within the competence of an inferior court. The plaintiffs in proceeding under that Act to enforce their lien filed with a Master as the "statement of claim" a copy of the claim of lien and affidavit registered, verified by an affidavit, and the Master thereupon issued his certificate. Held, that if the "statement of claim filed was not in proper form, yet as it contained all the facts required for compliance with the Act, an amendment nunc pro tunc should be allowed. Bickerton v. Dakin, (1890) 20 O.R. 192, 695. See Beveredge v. Hawes, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 619; Canada Land, etc., Co. v. Poole, (1907) 10 O.W.R. 1041.

Parties; Plaintiffs.—A plaintiff need not name any other lien-holders as co-plaintiffs.

Defendants.—The "owner," and any subsequent transferees should be made parties. Any prior mortgagee against whom the plaintiff claims relief under sec. 8 (3) should also be made a defendant. A decree enforcing a mechanics' lien is a conclusive determination of the rights of the parties, but it does not conclude persons who are neither parties nor privies. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, (1884) 29 Gr. 319, 10 A.R. 592, S.C. sub nom. Bank of Montreal v. Worswick, Cass. Dig. 289. In Fraser v. Griffiths, (1902) 1 O.W.R. 141, where plaintiff had no notice of contract under which defendant Ray claimed title and her conveyance was registered after registration of lis pendens in present action, held, that she need not have been joined as defendant as she took subject to the proceedings in the action.

A mortgagee filed a bill of sale, making certain lien-holders under the Act parties defendants therein, alleging that the work by virtue of which their liens arose, was commenced after the registration of his mortgage. Held, that the lien-holders should have been made parties in the Master's office; the costs of making them defendants by bill were disallowed, on revision of taxation. Jackson v. Hammond, (1879) 8 P.R. 157.

The grantees of the owner, although the transfers to them were fraudulent, are entitled to contest the validity of the lien. Toop v. Smith, (1905) 181 N.Y. 283.

Where a bill is filed by a sub-contractor against the owner of the property and a contractor with him to enforce a claim against such contractor; the owner of the property and all persons claiming to have liens are necessary parties in the Master's office, whose costs will be ordered to be paid out of the amount found due the contractor and the balance distributed ratably among the several lien-holders and a personal order made against the contractor for the deficiency, if any. A suit brought by a lien-holder operates for the benefit of all of the same class, so that a suit instituted by one within the thirty days mentioned in the Act, keeps alive all similar liens then existing. Hovenden v. Ellison, (1877) 24 Gr. 448. See Finn v. Miller, (1889) 10 C.L.T. 23, 36 C.L.J. 55.

Plaintiff in action to enforce lien joined architect as defendant and claimed damages against him for fraudulently withholding certificate. Held, that he should be struck out as defendant and claim against him dismissed. Actions under the Mechanics' Lien Act have many incidents created by the Act which other actions do not have, but no power is given to join such a claim. The claim was good as against the owner, but as against the architect plaintiff must pursue his ordinary remedy. Bagshaw v. Johnson, (1901) 3 O.L.R. 58. See also Larkin v. Larkin, (1900) 32 O.R. 80, cited, ante.

(c) "Shall be served within one month after it is filed."—An order allowing service of writ out of jurisdiction should also authorize service of statement of claim at the same time and fix a time for delivery of defence. If not, eight days must be allowed from time limited for appearance under Rule 246. Chapter 153, sec. 35 (1) requires appointment to be signed by judge, and sec. 36 requires eight clear days' notice of trial. McIver v. Crown Point, (1900) 19 P.R. 335.

The plaintiff registered a mechanics' lien against the defendant company, and subsequently filed his statement of claim. He obtained an order for the service of the statement of claim out of the jurisdiction, and service was effected in pursuance thereof. The defendant company applied to have the order and service thereunder set aside, on the ground that there was no statutory authority therefor. Section 28, sub-sec. 1, of the Mechanics' Lien Act, R.S.N.S. ch. 171, provides that "the liens created by this chapter may be enforced by actions to be brought and tried according to the ordinary procedure in the respective courts." Sub-section 2 of the same section provides that without issuing a writ of summons an action under this chapter shall be commenced by filing in the office of the prothonotary . . . "a statement of claim verified by affidavit." Sub-section 6 provides that "the statement of claim shall be served within one month after it is filed." Held, that the service was good by reason of sec. 28 of the Act, the ordinary procedure of the court with respect to the service of a writ having been followed in serving the statement of claim. Application dismissed with costs. McDonald v. Consolidated G. M. Co., (1901) 21 C.L.T. 482.

But a more recent decision in Ontario is in conflict with this case. In the Ontario case it was decided that service of a statement of claim out of the jurisdiction as the initial step in the action is not allowed under the Judicature Rules, and the history of legislation as to service out of the jurisdiction in Ontario is given. See In re Busfield, Whaley v. Busfield, (1886) 32 Ch.D. 123. It is not a matter of practice, but of jurisdiction. The provisions in that behalf form a complete code on the subject and cannot be extended by analogy. Pennington v. Morley, (1902) 3 O.L.R. 514. This case, which was decided by Meredith, C.J., is more in accordance with the principles governing service out of the jurisdiction than the case reported in 21 C.L.T. 482 and probably correctly states the law on the subject.

"The Rules of Practice and Procedure" must be applied. Canada Land Co. v. Poole, 10 O.W.R. 1041.

Amendment of pleadings. See Orr v. Davie, 22 O.R. 430.

Where a single debt exists for work done or materials furnished in the erection of several buildings, the liens therefor are to be enforced by a single lien claim, and a single declaration, in which the debt is to be apportioned among the buildings and curtilages according to their respective liability. Culver v. Lieberman, (1903) 69 N.J.L. 341.

(d) "Be deemed parties."—See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, where parties were brought in by notice of trial.

As to the general scheme of the Act, and the provisions dealing with procedure to enforce a lien, see Robertson v. Bullen, (1908) 13 O.W.R. 56. A decree enforcing the lien does not conclude persons who are neither parties nor privies. Bank of Montreal v. Haffner, 10 O.A.R. 599.

Plaintiffs instituted lien proceedings and also issued a writ for the same relief. Motion by defendants to have latter action stayed was dismissed on the ground that the two proceedings are quite different, for in the personal action, there may be a more speedy recovery, and a different and fuller judgment than in the other proceeding, therefore it was not right to interfere. Hamilton Bridge Works v. General Contracting Co., (1909) 14 O.W.R. 646; 1 O.W.N. 34.

Where an action to enforce a lien for materials supplied by the plaintiffs under one contract for several buildings was brought against several defendants having separate interests in the land sought to be charged, a summary application by the defendant G., who made the contract with the plaintiffs, and was also alleged to have an interest in the land, to vacate the registry of the lien, upon the ground that there could be no valid lien against several buildings, was dismissed, it being held that it was not so clearly demonstrated that the lien was bad that it should be vacated upon a summary application by G., who was not in a position to invoke the benefit of the Registry Act. Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249, distinguished; Ontario Lime Association v. Grimwood, (1910) 22 O.L.R. 17.

32. Lien-holders joining in action.—Any number of lien-holders, claiming liens on the same lands, may join in an action, and an action brought by a lien-holder shall be taken to be brought on behalf of the other lien-holders. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 32.

(a) "On behalf of the other lien-holders."—Plaintiffs wer day-laborers who did work for defendants in Rainy River Di trict and said that they resided in that district. Held, that th statutory act which gives vitality to a lien is its due registratio and this may be effected by affidavit of an agent or assigne This section allows wage-earners to group themselves as litigan and as all are within the limits of the district and the address c the solicitor is given the action should not be stayed. Crerar C.P.R., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 383.

See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124.

(h) Under sec. 15 of a former Act (1877) it was held tha suits brought by a lien-holder should be taken to be brought o behalf of all lien-holders of the same class, and in case of plaintiff's death or his refusal or neglect to proceed, the sui may by leave of the court be prosecuted by any lien-holder of th same class. A number of unregistered lien-holders brought a action under the Act to enforce their liens against one G., whic proceeded to the close of the pleadings and was then dismisse with the plaintiff's assent. P., the assignee of a registered lien holder, relying on the action, took no steps to enforce his lien o to register a certificate within the ninety days, under sec. 21 On being informed of the dismissal of the action he applied t be allowed to intervene as plaintiff and to prosecute the suit o his own behalf. Held, that the applicant should be allowed t intervene and prosecute the action, and that the applicant wa of the same class as the plaintiffs, in that they all contracte with, or were employed by, G. Lien-holders "of the same class" are those who have contracted with the same person, whethe their liens are registered or not. McPherson v. Gedge, (1883) 4 O.R. 246. A lien-holder thus intervening must indemnify th original plaintiff against all costs past and future (Patterson v Scott, 4 Gr. 145) and if he carry on the action in the name o the original plaintiff, he must also give the defendant security for his costs. McPherson v. Gedge, supra. No such intervention can be beneficial unless the original plaintiff had a right o action. Re Sear v. Woods, (1892) 23 O.R. 474.

An action to enforce a lien was dismissed by consent when the trial came on. A lien-holder for wages applied for leave to pro ceed with the action, and it was ordered that the applicant be substituted on behalf of himself and all other lien-holders o the same class and that necessary amendments be made. R.S.O. ch. 126, sec. 30. Richardson v. Mark, (1891) 11 C.L.T. 283.

A class suit, after decree, cannot be dismissed, as the decree enures to the benefit of other creditors. Neither on the same principle can any order be made vacating the lis pendens to the prejudice of other creditors. The only proper order is that all proceedings in the suit on the part of the plaintiff be stayed, but without prejudice to the rights of other creditors (if any) to apply to prosecute the same. Arnbery v. Thornton, (1874) 6 P.R. 190.

Under a former Act, which enacted that a plaintiff represented "all other lien-holders entitled to the benefit of the action," it was held that in a case where a lien had been discharged the day before proceedings had commenced and said lien had not been registered, it could not be added to the claim to give jurisdiction. Watson v. Kennedy, (1891) 11 C.L.T. 340. In Hall v. Pilz, (1886) 11 P.R. 449, where the words in question were "all other registered lien-holders," they were construed to mean all who had an apparent right by virtue of the registration of their liens.

Under a Manitoba Act, after a bill filed and lis pendens registered, another lien-holder filed a bill and obtained a decree first and applied to have his costs added to his lien, but this application was refused. Section 24 of the Manitoba Act qualifies section 9 of that Act. Henry v. Bowes, (1883) 3 C.L.T. 606.

Lien-holders not parties to the action must see that it is prosecuted to judgment or it may be dismissed or compromised. Smith v. Doyle, (1879) 4 O.A.R. 477.

33. Who may try action to enforce lien.—The action may be tried before the Master in Ordinary, a local Master of the High Court, an official referee, or a judge of the County or District Court, in any county or district in which the land is situate, or before a judge of the High Court. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 33.

(a) "In which the lands are situate."—Under a former Act it was held that the lien should be enforced in the Division Court for the division in which the cause of action arose and defendant resided. Where there was no machinery providing for the sale, the sale should be by the order of a judge acting as Master in Chancery. Dartnell, J. A form of order is given in this case. See R.S.O. (1877) ch. 120, sec. 12; 36 Vict. ch. 27, sec. 5; 38 Vict. ch. 20, sec. 10. Burt v. Wallace, (1881) 17 C.L.J. 70.

34. Powers of certain officers.—The Master in Ordinary, the local Masters, official referees, and the judges of the County and District Courts, in addition to their ordinary powers, shall have all the jurisdiction, powers and authority of the High Court to try and completely dispose of the action and all questions arising therein. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 34.

(a) "All the jurisdiction, powers and authority."—These words are amply sufficient to enable such officers to make any appointment or to grant any order necessary to dispose of all questions in the action. See Hall v. Hogg, (1890) 14 P.R. 45; Patten v. Laidlaw, (1895) 26 O.R. 189. See also sections 41, 42 and 43 as to limitation of costs.

(b) "Including the giving or refusing of the costs."—A certain sum was found due from the owner to the contractor and the latter was found indebted to other lien-holders. Payment of the former sum into court was ordered and made, the amount, however, being insufficient to pay the claims of lien-holders against the contractor. The latter then appealed unsuccessfully and was ordered to pay the costs of appeal to the owner, who claimed that these costs should be paid out of the moneys paid by her into court. Held, that by the payment into court for distribution she was discharged from her liability and the money ceased to be hers, and that she was not entitled to have the costs due to her deducted from the amount paid in. Patten v. Laidlaw, supra.

An interlocutory application to stay proceedings brought by workmen against both their employer and the property owner should not be granted to enable the owner to complete the work on the contractor's default, and so ascertain the balance, if any, owing by the owner under the contract; such a question should not be determined in Chambers, but should be determined at the trial, or if the pleadings properly raise the question of law under Ont. Consolidated Rule 259, it can be determined by a motion in court. Saltsman v. Berlin Robe & Clothing Co., (1912) 6 D.L.R. 350.

35. Consolidation of actions.—Where more actions than one are brought to realize liens in respect of the same land, a judge or officer having jurisdiction to try such actions may, on the application of any party to any one of them, or on the application of any other person interested, consolidate all such actions into one action, and may give the conduct of the consolidated action to any plaintiff as he may see fit. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 37.

(a) "May apply to a judge or other officer."—See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124. In West v. Sinclair, (1892) 12 C. L.T. 44; 28 C.L.J. 119, the jurisdiction of a Master under 53 Vict. ch. 37, to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent under Stat. Eliz. is considered. A Master in Chambers has jurisdiction to vacate registration of mechanics' liens under R.S.O. ch. 120, sec. 23. In Re Peake, (1886) 6 C.L.T. 596.

Under a former Act it was held that a Master had no jurisdiction to entertain summary proceedings to enforce a mechanics' lien action begun in the County Court, nor could he amend the heading of papers by substituting High Court for County Court. Jacobs v. Robinson, (1894) 16 P.R. 1.

In Secord v. Trumm, (1890) 20 O.R. 174, it was held that the Ontario Statute, 53 Vict. ch. 37, was intended to simplify procedure in the High Court alone, and that the Division and County Courts were unaffected by it.

In the High Court, proceedings to enforce a mechanics' lien must be taken under 39 Vict. ch. 45, as amended by 60 Vict. ch. 24.

A Master of the High Court of Justice has no jurisdiction as such to entertain a summary proceeding under 53 Vict. ch. 37, to enforce a mechanics' lien begun in a County Court. Secord v. Trumm, supra, followed. Nor can he confer jurisdiction upon himself by subsequently directing an amendment to the affidavit and papers filed by substituting the High Court for the County Court. Jacobs v. Robinson, (1894) 16 P.R. 1.

A County Court Judge has jurisdiction as Master of proceedings in High Court, but not if instituted in County Court. In re Ribble v. Aldwell, (1898) 18 C.L.T. 59.

In Hutson v. Valliers, (1892) 19 A.R. 154, it was held that

R.S.O. ch. 126, sec. 23, does not give County and Division Courts jurisdiction in an action of account by lien-holder against mortgagee who has sold through powers in summary proceedings. Resort must be had to High Court for equitable relief. (McLennan, J., dissenting.)

(b) "To fix a day for the trial."—There should be notice of application to fix the day for trial. No judicial officer can fix the day for trial before another judicial officer. Counterclaim for damages for breach of contract may be asserted in mechanics' lien action. Pilkington v. Brown, (1898) 19 P.R. 337.

(c) "Report on the sale."—See Con. Rules 743, 769. The Master's certificate is thus equivalent to a judgment of the court and may be so enforced.

(d) "A judgment of the court."—A petition was presented by a judgment creditor to vacate the judgment so far as it affected petitioner. The judgment recited that petitioners had a lien and declared that plaintiffs and others were entitled to liens, but did not otherwise settle priorities. Petitioners had no notice of trial and did not appear. The trial took place on 30th June, 1903. The sheriff had petitioners fi. fa. on 15th June, 1903. It was ordered that the names of petitioners and all reference to their claim be struck out of the judgment. Haycock v. Sapphire, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 1177; 7 O.L.R. 21. Plaintiff claimed interest from date when lien arose. Held, that interest being an incident of the principal sum found due and unreasonably withheld is properly allowed and secured by the lien, but should be paid from date of action. Metallic Roofing Co. v. Jamieson, (1903) 2 O.W.R. 316.

A judgment by a claimant against the contractor is not conclusive upon the owner. It may be offered as evidence of the amount due, but it will not prevent the owner from showing that the claim is excessive to the knowledge of the claimant. Taylor v. Wahl, (1903) 69 N.J.L. 471.

36. Transferring carriage of proceedings.—Any lien-holder entitled to the benefit of an action may apply for the carriage of the proceedings, and the judge or officer may make an order giving such lien-holder the carriage of the proceedings. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 38.

37. (1) Appointing day for trial.—After the delivery of the statement of defence where the plaintiff's claim is disputed, or after the time for delivery of defence in all other cases, where it is desired to try the action otherwise than before a judge of the High Court, either party may apply to a judge or officer who has jurisdiction to try the action, to fix a day for the trial thereof, and the judge or officer shall appoint the day and place of trial.

(2) Notice of trial and service of.—The party obtaining an appointment for the trial shall at least eight clear days before the day appointed, serve notice of trial, Form 6, upon the solicitors for the defendants who appear by solicitors, and upon defendants who appear in person and on all lien-holders who have registered their claims as required by this Act, or who are known to him, and on all other persons having any charge, incumbrance or claim on the land subsequent in priority to the lien, who are not parties, and such service shall be personal, unless otherwise directed by the judge or officer, who may direct in what manner the notice of trial may be served. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 36.

(3) Trial.—The judge or officer shall try the action and all questions which arise therein or which are necessary to be tried in order to completely dispose of the action and to adjust the rights and liabilities of the persons appearing before him or upon whom the notice of trial has been served, and shall take all accounts, make all enquiries, give all directions, and do all other things necessary to finally dispose of the action and of all matters, questions, and accounts arising therein or at the trial, and to adjust the rights and liabilities of and give all necessary relief to all parties to the action and all persons who have been served with the notice of trial, and shall embody the results in a judgment, Form 7.

(4) Estate may be sold.—The judge or officer may order that the estate or interest on which the lien attaches be sold, and where, by the judgment, a sale is directed he may direct the sale to take place at any time after the judgment, allowing a reasonable time for advertising such sale.

(5) Sale of materials.—The judge or officer may also direct the sale of any materials and authorize the removal thereof.

(6) Letting in lien-holders who have not proved their claims at trial.—A lien-holder who has not proved his claim at the trial, on application to the judge or officer before whom the action was tried, may be let in to prove his claim on such terms as to costs and otherwise as may be deemed just at any time before the amount realized in the action for the satisfaction of liens has been distributed, and where such a claim is allowed the judgment shall be amended so as to include such claim.

(7) Right of lien-holders to attend at trial.—Every lien-holder for an amount not exceeding $100 may be represented by a solicitor or by an agent who is not a solicitor.

(a) "At least eight clear days."—Both the day of service and the day of trial are to be excluded from the eight days.

(b) "Who have registered their claims."—See Robock v. Peters, (1900) 13 Man. 124, and Bunting v. Bell, (1876) 23 Gr. 584.

(c) "Persons having any charge or incumbrance."—"In proceedings under the Mechanics' and Wage-earners' Act, section 36 seems to render it unnecessary to consider how far one or the other of these modes of procedure would have been the proper one to apply, for, as I have pointed out, it is the persons who are incumbrancers at the time fixed for the service of notice of trial and those only who are required to be served, service of notice of trial on them being the mode by which incumbrancers not already parties to the proceedings are brought in." Haycock v. Sapphire Corundum Co., (1903) 7 O.L.R. 21, per Meredith, C.J., at p. 23.

As to dismissal of proceedings to enforce lien, default of plaintiff in making discovery, etc., see Ramsay v. Gordon, (1912) 2 D.L.R. 889.

Where a contractor has a claim against an owner of land larger than the value of the land, and wishes to prove his claim in an action, independently of mechanics' lien proceedings, section 37 does not give the officer charged with the trial of the lien proceedings power to stay the independent action. Dick v. Standard Underground Cable Co., (1912) 23 O.W.R. 96.

38. Report where sale is had.—Where a sale is had, the judge or officer with whose approbation the sale takes place shall make a report thereon and therein direct to whom the money realized shall be paid, and may add to the claim of the person conducting the sale his actual disbursements in connection therewith, and where enough to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized he shall certify the amount of the deficiency and the names of the persons, with their amounts, who are entitled to recover the same, and the persons by the judgment adjudged to pay the same, and the persons entitled may enforce payment by execution or otherwise as on a judgment.

39. Lien-holders whose claims are not payable to share in proceeds.—Where property subject to a lien is sold in an action to enforce a lien, every lien-holder shall be entitled to share in the proceeds of the sale in respect of the amount then owing to him, although the same or part thereof was not payable at the time of the commencement of the action or is not then presently payable.

The right, title and interest of certain parties under a lease of lands was offered for sale by the court, pursuant to a judgment in a mechanics' lien action. The lands were, at the time of the sale, subject to a tax imposed by the Supplementary Revenue Act, 1907, though this was not known either to the vendors or purchaser. Held, that the purchaser took subject to the tax, and the utmost relief to which he was entitled was to have the contract wholly rescinded. Wesner Drilling Co. v. Tremblay, (1909) 18 O.L.R. 439.

New Trial and Appeal.

40. (1) Where judgment of court of first instance to be final.—Where the aggregate amount of the plaintiff and all other persons claiming liens is not more than $100, the judgment shall be final and without appeal, but the judge or officer who tried the action may, upon application within fourteen days after judgment is pronounced, grant a new trial.

(2) Where appeal to Divisional Court final.—Where the aggregate amount of the claims of the plaintiff and all other persons claiming liens is more than $100 and not more than $500, any person affected by the judgment may appeal therefrom to a Divisional Court of the High Court, whose judgment shall be final and without appeal.

(3) Appeal in other cases.—In all other cases an appeal shall lie and may be had in like manner and to the same extent as from the decision of a judge trying an action in the High Court without a jury.

(a) "Is more than $100."—The right of appeal is governed by the aggregate amount of the claims.

Con. Rule 826 is applicable to an appeal by the respondent in the court below from an order of the Divisional Court reversing the judgment upon the trial where the amount in question is more than $100 and not more than $200, and therefore security for the costs of such an appeal must be given unless otherwise ordered. Sherlock v. Powell, (1899) 18 P.R. 312.

(b) "As from the decision of a judge trying an action in the High Court without a jury."—See Judicature Act, sec. 75 (1), and Con. Rule 787. See also the Supreme and Exchequer Court Act (R.S.C. ch. 135) and amendments thereto. See sections 24, 28; Cass. Pr. 14-17.

Under 53 Vict. ch. 37, secs. 13 and 35 it was held that section 35 of that statute applied to appeals from "Certificates," and not "Reports." An appeal from a report is to judge in court under Rule 850. Wagner v. O'Donnell, (1891) 11 C.L.T. 962; 14 P.R. 254. The practice given is grafted on the ordinary practice of the court. See Bickerton v. Dakin, 20 O.R. 192, 695; Wentworth Lumber Co. v. Coleman, (1904) 3 O.W.R. 618; See Sherlock v. Powell, 18 P.R. 312.

41. (1) Limit of fees in money or stamps.— No fees in stamps or money shall be payable to any officer, nor on any filing, order, record, judgment, or other proceeding, excepting that every person other than a wage-earner shall, on filing his statement of claim where he is a plaintiff, or on filing his claim where he is not a plaintiff, pay in stamps one dollar on every one hundred dollars or fraction of one hundred dollars of the amount of his claim up to one thousand dollars. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 40.

(2) When the proceedings are taken before a local Master who is paid by fees, such amount shall be payable to him in cash instead of in stamps. 1 Edw. VII. ch. 12, sec. 13.

42. Limit of costs to plaintiff.—The costs of the action, exclusive of disbursements, awarded to the plaintiffs and successful lien-holders, shall not exceed in the aggregate twenty-five per cent. of the total amount awarded to them by the judgment, and shall be apportioned and borne in such proportion as the judge or officer who tries the action may direct. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 41.

(a) "The costs of the action."—i.e., solicitors' costs. Court fees are dealt with by section 40. See section 45 for costs for drawing and registering or vacating the lien.

(b) "Actual disbursements" do not include counsel fees paid by the defendant's solicitor to counsel retained in the course of the proceedings, and a fortiori not counsel fees charged by the solicitor himself. Cobban Mfg. Co. v. Lake Simcoe Hotel Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 447, followed in Humphreys v. Cleave, 15 Man. L.R. 23. See note under sec. 37 of the Manitoba Act, ante.

Where the defendants unsuccessfully appealed to the Divisional Court, the Master should have added to the amount allowed the plaintiffs, the cost of the appeal successfully opposed by them. Wesner Drilling Co. v. Tremblay, (1909) 18 O.L.R. 439. The judgment in the action directed the Master to compute and tax subsequent interest and subsequent costs, the Master should have taxed to the plaintiffs their costs in connection with the sale proceedings, the same not exceeding twenty-five per cent. of the judgment recovered, and not merely the disbursements. Wesner Drilling Co. v. Tremblay, supra.

(c) "Shall be apportioned and borne."—The officer can exercise a judicial discretion in fixing the costs.

Defendant amended defence by paying into court twenty per cent. and costs to date. Held, that subsequent costs were payable by defendant. Ontario Paving Company v. Bishop, (1904) 4 O.W.R. 34.

Costs of appeal are not included in costs which by section 42 shall not exceed twenty-five per cent. of amount of judgment. See costs of appeal, dealt with by former section 45 and in discretion of court or judge. Gearing v. Robinson, (1900) 19 P.R. 192. As to scale of costs between party and party, see Freeze v. Corey, 7 W.L.R. 287.

43. Limit of costs to be awarded against plaintiffs.—Where costs are awarded against the plaintiff or other persons claiming liens, they shall not exceed twenty-five per cent. of the claim of the plaintiff and the other claimants, besides actual disbursements, and shall be apportioned and borne as the judge or officer may direct. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 42.

(a) "Costs."—See Gearing v. Robinson, 19 P.R. 192; Hall v. Pilz, 11 P.R. 449; Truax v. Dixon, 13 P.R. 279; Hall v. Hogg, 14 P.R. 45; Patten v. Laidlaw, 26 O.R. 189; Simpson v. Rubeck, (1912) 21 O.W.R. 360; Rowlin v. Rowlin, 9 O.W.R. 297.

(b) "The claim of the plaintiff and the other claimants."—Actual disbursements under this section do not include counsel fees paid by solicitor to counsel, and, a fortiori, counsel fees charged by solicitor himself or his firm. Cobban M. Co. v. Lake Simcoe Co., (1903) 5 O.L.R. 447.

This section was intended to make it the interest of both parties to proceed as inexpensively as possible. See Rowlin v. Rowlin, (1907) 9 O.W.R. 297.

44. Costs where least expensive course not taken.—Where the least expensive course is not taken by a plaintiff the costs allowed to him shall in no case exceed what would have been incurred if the least expensive course had been taken. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 43.

See Rowlin v. Rowlin, 9 O.W.R. 297.

45. Costs of drawing and registering and vacating registration of lien.—Where a lien is discharged or vacated under section

27 or where judgment is given in favour of or against a claim for a lien, in addition to the costs of the action, the judge or officer may allow a reasonable amount for the costs of drawing and registering the claim for lien or of vacating the registration thereof. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 44.

46. Costs not otherwise provided for.—The costs of and incidental to all applications and orders not otherwise provided for shall be in the discretion of the judge or officer. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 45.

On motion, ex parte, by the defendant and owner for leave to pay into court $225, the amount of the claim and $75 as security for costs and for discharge of lien, Cartwright, K.C., M. in C., held that notice should be given plaintiff or his consent obtained before any order should be granted. Wilais v. Williamson, (1911) Lear's Digest 604.

PAYMENT OUT OF COURT.

47. (1) Payments out of court.—Except in actions tried by a judge of the High Court, the judge or officer who tries the action, where money has been paid into court and the time for payment out has arrived, shall forward a requisition for cheques with a certified copy of his judgment and of the report on sale, if any, to the accountant of the Supreme Court, who shall, upon receiving the same, make out and return to the judge or officer cheques for the amounts payable to the persons mentioned in the requisition, and the judge or officer, on receipt of cheques, shall distribute them to the persons entitled.

(2) Fees not to be payable on payments out of court.—No fees or stamps shall be payable on any cheques or on proceedings to pay money into court or to obtain money out of court, in respect of a claim for lien, but sufficient postage stamps to prepay return registered letter shall be enclosed with every requisition for cheques. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 46.

JUDGMENT IN ACTIONS.

48. Form of judgment in favor of lien-holders.—All judgments in favor of lien-holders shall adjudge that the party personally liable for the amount of the judgment shall pay so much of any deficiency which may remain after sale of the property directed to be sold, as might have been recovered in an ordinary action against him, and where on the sale enough to satisfy the judgment and costs is not realized, such part of the deficiency may be recovered by execution against the property of such party. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 47.

(a) "Shall pay so much of any deficiency."—This section gives to the lien-holder a right to judgment against the person in respect to whom his claim arises for any balance remaining due after realizing upon the lien. The lien-holder must first proceed against the property. If it is not sufficient he is entitled to judgment. A lien-holder may always abandon his claim to a lien and sue on his contract, but this and the succeeding section are the only provisions for recovering personal judgments in proceedings to enforce mechanics' liens. See Dunn v. McCallum, (1907) 14 O.L.R. 249.

49. Personal judgment when claim for lien fails.—Where a claimant fails to establish a valid lien he may, nevertheless, recover a personal judgment against any party to the action for such sum as may appear to be due to him and which he might recover in an action against such party. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 48.

(a) "Recover therein a personal judgment."—The debtor, however, must be a party to the proceedings. Under a section which provided that if the lien claimant shall fail for any reason to establish a valid lien he may recover judgment for such sums as are due him or which he might recover in an action on a contract, a defendant in an action to foreclose a mechanics' lien who has filed no lien as required by the mechanics' lien law is not entitled to recover a personal judgment though he might have a claim against the owner. Deane Steam Pump Co. v. Clark, 84 N.Y.S. 851.

As to motion for summary judgment against defendants personally liable, see Robertson v. Bullen, 13 O.W.R. 56.

Plaintiffs instituted proceedings under Mechanics' Lien Act and also issued a writ for the same relief. Motion by defendants to have latter action stayed was dismissed on the ground that the two procedures are quite different, for in the personal action there may be a more speedy recovery and a different and fuller judgment than in the other proceedings. Hamilton Bridge Works v. General Contracting Co., (1909) 14 O.W.R. 646.

50. (1) Mechanics entitled to lien on a chattel may sell the chattel if (after three months) payment is not made.—Every mechanic or other person who has bestowed money or skill and materials upon any chattel or thing in the alteration and improvement of its properties or for the purpose of imparting an additional value to it so as thereby to be entitled to a lien upon such chattels or thing for the amount or value of the money or skill and materials bestowed, shall, while such lien exists, but not afterwards, in case the amount to which he is entitled remains unpaid for three months after the same ought to have been paid, have the right, in addition to any other remedy to which he may be entitled, to sell by auction the chattel or thing, on giving one week's notice by advertisement in a newspaper published in the municipality in which the work was done or in case there is no newspaper published in such municipality, then in a newspaper published nearest thereto, setting forth the name of the person indebted, the amount of the debt, a description of the chattel or thing to be sold, the time and place of sale, and the name of the auctioneer, and leaving a like notice in writing at the last known place of residence, if any, of the owner, if he is a resident of such municipality.

(2) Application of proceeds of sale.—Such mechanic or other person shall apply the proceeds of the sale in payment of the amount due to him and the costs of advertising and sale, and shall, upon application, pay over any surplus to the person entitled thereto. R.S.O. 1897, ch. 153, sec. 51.

QUEBEC LAW RELATING TO MECHANICS' LIENS.

The civil law, in its relation to the subject of mechanics' liens, has already been referred to. (See Chapter I., p. 2.)

The law of the Province of Quebec on this subject is based on the civil law as originally declared in art. 2013 of the Civil Code, which came into force on the first of August, 1866. The law was changed in 1894, when twelve articles were added, 2013A to 2013L, and these articles have subsequently undergone some change. Article 2013 at present reads as follows:—

"2013. A laborer, workman, architect, builder and the supplier of materials have a right of preference over the vendor and other creditors, on the immovable, but only upon the additional value given to the immovable by the work done."

"In case the proceeds are insufficient to pay the laborer, workman, architect, builder and the supplier of materials, or in cases of contestation, the additional value given by the work is established by a relative valuation effected in the manner prescribed in the Code of Civil Procedure."

"The aforesaid privileged claim is paid only upon the amount established as being the additional value given to the immovable by the work done."

The articles in the Code of Procedure referred to in art. 2013 of the Civil Code are the three following:—

ARTICLE 805.

Code of Procedure.—"In case the disposable moneys are insufficient, the prothonotary, if the record does not offer him sufficient data to confirm the relative valuation himself, must suspend the distribution and report the facts to the judge, in the following cases:—

"(1) When several immovables or pieces or parcels of land, separately charged with different claims, are sold for one and the same price;

"(2) When a vendor's claim comes in concurrence with a builder's privilege;

"(3) When a creditor has some preferable claim upon part of an immovable by reason of improvements or other cause."

ARTICLE 806.

"806. Upon application of one of the parties interested, after notice given to the others, the judge orders experts to be named in the ordinary manner, in order to establish the respective values of the immovables, pieces of land, or improvements, and the proportion which should be allotted to each out of the moneys to be distributed."

ARTICLE 807.

"807. The relative valuation being established upon the report of the experts, the cause is sent back to the prothonotary by the judge in order that he may proceed to determine the order of the collocation and the distribution of the moneys."

DECISIONS UNDER ARTICLE 2013.

A plaintiff who has a legal privilege on a property in connection with the work done by him thereon, cannot, in the event of a fire, claim by a conservatory attachment the proceeds of policy covering the building, because these proceeds do not represent the property but represent a debt resulting from a contract of insurance. De Anna Isaacs et vir v. Samuel Tafler & The Guardian Assurance Co., Limited, Garnishee, (1910) 11 Que. P.R. 359.

The privilege given to laborers, workmen, architects and builders by the Civil Code, arts. 2013 et seq., extends only to persons of the classes mentioned under engagement with the owner of lands or the building contractors employed by him and does not enure to the benefit of sub-contractors or persons furnishing labor or materials without direct agreement with or knowledge of the owner. Frechette v. Ouimet, Q.R. 28 S.C. 4.

There is no provision of the law which gives a clerk the right de plano to attach the moveable possessions of his employer on which he has a lien for his salary without proving acts on the part of the employer which are likely to prejudice his lien. Gladu v. Hurtubise, 10 Q.P.R. 272.

The cessionaire of a privileged debt and registered according to the dispositions of art. 2013 et seq. C.C. has not an hypothecary action against the detenteur of the immoveable in question until after the signification of the transfer upon the personal debtor. The service made on the detenteur is not sufficient. Demers v. Byrd, 17 K.B. 303. On appeal, this decision was reversed. See decision on appeal noted in decisions under article 2013 B, post.

The expenses of tilling and sowing do not constitute an incumbrance in the sense of art. 2072 of the Civil Code, the special privilege for tilling and sowing only exist when the immovable is sold before the harvest. Cooke, J., Carignan v. Gilbert, 7 Q.P.R. 364.

Motormen and conductors of an electric railway and the carters who carry materials, clear away snow, etc., for their companies, are employees of a railway doing manual labor in the sense of art. 9 of 2009 C.C.

These employees have a right of privilege on the tramway and its outbuildings for their wages during three months without respect to the date of the seizure or of the sale which may have taken place of them. Paquette et al. v. New York Trust, 15 K.B. 179.

A contractor for making timber by the job has, for what may be due him, the lien given by art. 1994c. of the Civil Code.

A creditor having a lien upon moveables may as a rule exercise the right by conservatory attachment to secure his privilege. Ross v. St. Onge, Q.R. 14 K.B. 478.

A corporation held to the upkeep of a public road which agrees by contract with a company that the latter can construct and operate a tramway on condition that they perform the work of maintenance, acquire no privilege on the tramway for the cost of the same works which it is forced to do owing to the failure of the company. Morse v. Levis County Railway et al., 30 S.C. 353.

A company operating an electric tramway, by permission of the municipal corporation, on rails laid on public streets vested in the municipality, to secure the principal and interest of an issue of its debenture-bonds hypothecated its real property, tramway, cars, etc., used in connection therewith, to trustees for the debenture-holders, and transferred the moveable property of the company and its present and future revenues to the trustees. By a provincial statute, 3 Edw. VII. ch. 91, sec. 1 (Que.), the deed was validated and ratified. On the sale, in execution, of the tramway, as a going concern:—Held, that whether at the time of such sale, the cars in question were movable or immoveable in character the effect of the deed and ratifying statute was to subordinate the rights of other creditors to those of the trustees, and, consequently, the unpaid vendors thereof were not entitled, under art. 2000 of the Civil Code of Lower Canada, to priority of payment by privilege upon the distribution of the moneys realized on the sale and execution.

Per Girouard, J., Duff, J., contra:—After the car in question had been delivered to the tramway company and used by it for the operation of their tramway, they became immovable by destination.

In the result, the judgment appealed from, Q.R. 18 K.B. 82, was affirmed. Ahearn & Soper Limited v. The New York Trust Company, 42 S.C.R. 267.

The mason has a special privilege in the nature of a mortgage upon any building erected by him and for repairs. This privilege, however, will not be allowed to the prejudice of other creditors of the proprietor, unless within a year and day there be something specific to show the nature of the work done or the amount of the debt due thereon.

Court of Appeals, 1827, Jourdain & Miville, Stuart's Rep. 263; 1 R.J.R.Q. 249, 513.

The valuation made at the instance of the architect or builder at the time of the inscription of his privilege may be attacked by the vendor, and the latter may obtain a contradictory valuation, if the two privileges are in conflict.

Monk, J., 1860, Doutre v. Greene, 5 L.C.J. 152; 9 R.J.R.Q. 137.

The builder of a railway has no right of retention on the work done by him unless he has acquired and preserved the privilege conferred by article 2013 on the additional value given by him to the immovables.

Rainville, J., 1882, Banque d'Hochelaga v. Montreal, Portland & Boston Ry. Co., M.L.R. 1 S.C. 146; 8 L.N. 99.

In virtue of art. 2013 C.C., the builder who has observed the formalities required by that article has no privilege other than for the additional value given to the real estate by the buildings put up by him, and he has no privilege or hypothec on the land itself.

The registration of the relative valuation required by art. 2013 for the preservation of the said privilege does not create a tacit hypothec in favor of the builder on the said immovable.

K. B., 1885, Corporation du Seminaire de St. Hyacinthe & Banque de St. Hyacinthe, M.L.R. 1 Q.B. 396; 4 Q.B.R. 293; 29 L.C.J. 261; 8 L.N. 354.

It was sufficient for the expert to state in his second report, made within the six months, that the works described had been executed and that such works had given to the immovable the additional value fixed by him.

If the expert includes in his valuation works for which the builder had by law no privilege, such error will not be a cause of nullity, but will only entitle the interested parties to ask for a reduction of the expert's valuation.

Dufresne v. Prefontaine, 21 S.C.R. 607; Q.B. 16 L.N. 48.

Held (reversing the judgment of Trenholme, J.):—The fact of describing in the memorial for the registration of a laborer's privilege the immovables affected by such privilege in the following manner: "two lots of land known and designated under the numbers two C. and three C. of the official sub-division of lot number 907," instead of designating them, as described in the cadastre, as: "two lots of land known and designated under the numbers, two, sub-division C., and three, sub-division C., both of the sub-division of official No. 907," is not an irregularity sufficient to involve the nullity of the registration of the privilege, especially when the designation in the memorial is identical with that contained in the title of the owner (who had acquired the immovables from the respondent) and in the report of seizure, and when the registrar, on presentation of the memorial, had registered the same against these immovables such as they were described in the books of his office.

In this case, the respondent who had caused the immovables to be sold had fyled in the record a declaration that the land was not worth more than $3,000 (the property and the buildings thereon had been sold for $5,000), and a hypothecary creditor represented by the attorney of the respondent had obtained an order from the court for the distribution of the moneys without proceeding to a ventilation (i.e., relative valuation of the land and of the buildings to establish the value of improvement).

Held, that, under these circumstances, the respondent, who was dominus litis, must be held to have acquiesced in the omission of such ventilation, and that he could not be heard to complain that the amount of the increase of value given to the land by the new constructions thereon had not been established by a ventilation.

The omission by the workman to give notice to the proprietor of the immovable within three days after the registration of the memorial (2103 C.C.) does not affect the validity of this registration or of the privilege.

Daniel v. MacDuff, in the Court of King's Bench in Appeal, 1904, R.J.Q. 13 K.B. 361.

The holder of a note secured by a builder's lien may, in suing on it, claim a declaration of the existence of the lien in his favor. A contractor may take, in his own name, a builder's lien not only for the work done by himself, but also for that done by a sub-contractor, and in these circumstances it is not necessary that his contract with the sub-contractor should be made known to the owner of the works to be constructed.

The time limited for registry of a builder's lien runs from the date on which the works were entirely completed and not from that on which the person entitled to the lien begins to profit from their construction before completion. The owner of the works to be constructed cannot take advantage of the lien being registered too late nor even of entire failure to register it. La Banque Jacques Cartier v. Picard, (1900) 18 Que. S.C. 502.

The plaintiff having contracted to furnish materials to a builder to be used in the construction of a building, gave written notice to the defendant, owner of the land, under art. 2013g, of the Civil Code of Quebec, and subsequently registered a memorial that he had furnished materials to the amount stated, and he then notified defendant of such registration. The present action was brought against the owner of the immovable more than three months subsequently, asking that he be condemned to pay the amount. No proceedings had been taken against the purchaser of the materials: Held, that the privilege created in favor of the supplier of the materials, and his recourse against the owner of the land, by the registration of the memorial, lapse unless legal proceedings are taken within three months following the notice to have the debtor condemned—by the "debtor" in art. 2013 i being meant the purchaser of the materials. Lalonde v. LaBelle, (1899) 16 Que. S.C. 573.

A contractor who stipulates directly with the proprietor of a building which is being constructed, is entitled to register a privilege under the terms of article 2013 as amended by 59 Vict. (Q.) ch. 42.

The additional value referred to in the above article is the additional value given to the immovable by the work at the time it is done. Galarneau v. Tremblay, (1903) 22 Que. S.C. 143. (Archibald, J.)

A manufacturer who enters into an agreement with a contractor to deliver a number of closets intended for a building which the contractor has undertaken to construct, is not a workman, but a furnisher of materials. The registry by the manufacturer of a workman's lien upon the immovable of the owner to secure payment of the price of the closets is void under the circumstances, the manufacturer not being entitled to other security for such payment than that given by law in art. 2013 g, 2013 h, 2013 i, 2013 l, when he conforms to the provisions of these several articles. The contract between the manufacturer and the contractor is a sale and not a letting of work (louage d'ouvrage). To enable a workman to claim a lien upon the immovable of an owner it is essential that he should be employed upon such immovable. It is not sufficient for him to work at and finish materials intended for the building which the owner constructs or causes to be constructed. Montmorency Cotton Mills Co. v. Gignac, (1901) 10 Que. Q.B. 158.

When the owner of land builds on it, the person furnishing material who desires to obtain a right of hypothec should, before delivery of the material, give notice to him who lends money to the owner, and a notice given too late to such lender will not suffice to give said right of hypothec. When two portions of the same land have been sold by separate contracts to different purchasers and buildings are put upon it, the furnisher of material for the buildings are put upon it, the furnisher of material for the building should in the particulars of claim (bordereau) which he registers under art. 2013, indicate the part of the land belonging to each purchaser, and his registration will have no effect if he describes the whole land as being the property of the two purchasers. Paquette v. Mayer, (1900) 18 S.C. 563.

The enhanced value given to an immovable by a workman is settled by valuation at the time of the decree, when the moneys are insufficient to pay the workman who has registered a privilege or in case the increased value is disputed by parties interested. The contention when it can take place should be raised by a pleading au fond, and not by inscription en droit. The defendant being owner of the immovable, the workman need not allege the increase in value. Therrien v. Hainault, (1901) 8 R. de J. 314; 5 Que. P.R. 61. (Pagnuelo, J.)

See also under this article, Brassard v. Chisholm, (1898) 4 R.Q. de J. 419, and La Banque Jacques Cartier v. Picard, (1899) R.J.Q. 15 S.C. 389.

CIVIL CODE, 2013A.—"For the purposes of the privilege the laborer, workman, architect and builder rank as follows:—(1) The laborer; (2) The workman; (3) The architect; (4) The builder.

"2013B.—The right of preference or privilege upon the immovable exists as follows:—

"Without the registration of the claim, in favor of the debt due the laborer, workman and builder, during the whole time they are occupied at the work, or while such work lasts, as the case may be; and, with registration, provided it be registered within thirty days following the date upon which the building has become ready for the purpose for which it is intended.

"But such right of preference or privilege shall exist only for one year from the date of the registration, unless a suit be taken in the interval or unless a longer delay for payment has been stipulated in the contract."

Decisions Under Article 2013 B.

The obligation of the proprietor to pay the price of the work does not come into effect until after the execution of such works and their examination and acceptance by the architect on the terms and conditions of contract. Mireault v. Gauthier, 17 R. de J. 361.

The doctor's privilege for medical attendance during the last illness though subject to registration within six months if not registered takes priority over hypothecs previously registered. Tellier, Archibald & Bruneau, JJ. 14 R. de J. 136.

A workman who causes his claim to be registered on the immovable on which his work is performed in order to secure a privilege or hypothec under art. 2013 b, but neglects to bring suit within the delay prescribed in the article, is not bound to cause the registration to be cancelled at his expense. The owner of the immovable must put him in default (en demeure) to sign the discharge, attend to the cancelling and pay the cost. Ryry v. Gariepy, 36 Que. S.C. 238.

The laborer's lien and that of the furnisher of materials (art. 2013 C.C. amended by 4 Edw. VII. ch. 43) are distinct; they are acquired and kept valid by different means; the lien for furnishing materials, notably, as different from that of the laborer, is not liable to be set aside under the provisions of art. 2013 b C.C. The action provided in 2013 b C.C. may be a personal action, nothing in the context indicating that it must be of any other kind to preserve the lien of the creditor of the laborer; there must be a judgment against the debtor with recourse reserved to maintain the lien. Tremblay v. Simard, (1909) D.R. 36 S.C. 398.

Where article 2013*b* provides that a builders' and workmen's privilege exists only for one year from the date of registration unless a suit be taken in the interval, the suit required is a hypothecary action to enforce the privilege and a personal action against the debtor does not suffice. The action to enforce a builders' privilege under this article is a personal hypothecary action if the property is still in the debtor's hands, or an action in declaration of hypothec if it has passed into the hands of third parties. Demers v. Byrd, (1912) 6 D.L.R. 807 (Quebec King's Bench).

Where a privilege both by the law as it previously existed and by the amending Act is made to depend upon and date from its registration, the effects of the registration of such privilege after the coming into force of the amended statute are governed by the provisions thereof. Therefore, the prescription applicable to a builder's privilege registered after the coming into force of the amended statute, 59 Viet. (Q.) ch. 42, is that of one year from the date of the registration.

In order to obtain the hypothecary privilege of a supplier of material under this article, the memorial or bordereau registered must state the cost of the materials furnished, apart from the cost of the work done.

The fact that subsequently to the registration of a builder's privilege, the person registering the same accepted notes for his claim from the debtor and agreed to have the same renewed for a term of three years, has not the effect of altering the conditions of the privilege or prolonging its existence beyond the period fixed by law. Doherty, J., City of Montreal v. Lafebvre, (1898) R.J.Q. 14 S.C. 473. This judgment was confirmed in the Court of Queen's Bench in Appeal, and is reported, R.J.Q. 19 Q.B. 282. And the judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench in Appeal was confirmed by the Privy Council. Lord McNagten, who delivered the judgment, remarked that "their Lordships entirely concurred in the judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench delivered by Lacoste, C.J., who adopted the reasoning of the Superior Court." La Banque d'Hochelaga v. Stevenson, (1900) A.C. 600.

The thirty days provided for registry of the lien of a laborer, workman or contractor, are computed from the time when the construction of the building on which they have worked is ended, and not from the date on which it was first used. Quintal v. Benard, (1901) 20 S.C. 199.

See also La Banque Jacques Cartier v. Picard, (1900) Langelier, J., 18 S.C. 502.

The registration of a builder's privilege, for work done at the request of a person owning an immovable subject to a resolutory condition entitling the vendor to demand the dissolution of the sale by reason of failure to pay the price, ceases to have any effect after the vendor has taken back the property under the condition. La Tour v. L'Heureux, (1900) 16 Que. S.C. 485.

"2013 C.—The preservation of the privilege is subject to the following conditions:—

"The laborer and workman must give notice in writing, or verbally before a witness, to the proprietor of the immovable, that they have not been paid for their work, at and for each term of payment, due to them."

"Such notice may be given by one of the employees in the name of all the other laborers or workmen who are not paid, but in such cases the notice must be in writing."

"The architect and builder shall likewise inform the proprietor of the immovable, or his agents, in writing, of the contracts which they have made with the chief contractor, within eight days from the signing of the same."

Decisions Under Article 2013 C.

The right of privilege is a strict right resulting from the law, and whoever claims a privilege should scrupulously observe the formalities prescribed by the law creating it.

The workman who claims a lien for his wages should inform the owner of the estate that he has not been paid for his work "to and for each term of payment which is due him," and should give such notice at once on the expiration of the term; notice given six days after the expiration of the term, and when the owner had settled with his contractor is insufficient to preserve the lien of the workman. The knowledge the owner should have of the workman having been employed by his contractor cannot take the place of the notice required by law. Wells v. Newman, (1897) De Lorimier, J., 12 S.C. 216.

In the matter of a lien the prescribed formalities are essential and should be strictly observed, a builder desiring to preserve his lien as such should give the owner of the immovable on which he wishes to have a lien a notice in writing of the contract within eight days from the date on which it was signed pursuant to the provisions of art. 2013 a C.C. Moreau v. Guimont, 8 Que. P.R. 424 (Loranger, J.).

Workmen acquire a privilege on the immovable on which their work is performed as regards the increased value thus given to it, in a two-fold manner; (a) without registration fo the period of the duration of the work, or (b) by registratio within thirty days of the completion of the work for one yea only, unless a suit be brought in the interval to recover upon i To secure such a privilege the notices required by art. 2013 must be given, otherwise it does not accrue. When, therefore, contractor pays wages to laborers hired by a sub-contractor, fo which he is not liable and for which they have not secured privilege, as aforesaid, no subrogation takes place and he canno set up a claim for the amount against the sub-contractor. Harri Manufacturing Co. v. McGovern, S.C. 340 C.R.

The lien on immovables under art. 2013 et seq. exists for th benefit of workmen in the service of sub-contractors though n notice of the sub-contract has been given to the owner. It i sufficient if there is given to the latter verbal notice, before witness that the workmen have not been paid for each term o payment due them. Therefore, they can register their claims i the manner and for the purposes provided for by art. 2013 c Rousseau v. Toupin, Q.R. 32 S.C. 228.

The notice given by a sub-contractor after the expiration o the delay of eight days prescribed by 2013 c can not give rise t the privilege foreseen by this article.

The architect charged with the overseeing of the construction of a building is not the agent of the proprietor to receive service of the prescribed notice.

Article 2013 D.

"2013 D.—In order to meet the privileged claims of the la borer and workman, the proprietor of the immovable may retain an amount equal to that which he has paid or will be called upon to pay, according to the notices he has received, so long as such claims remain unpaid."

Article 2013 E.

"2013 E.—In the event of a difference of opinion between the creditor and the debtor, with respect to the amount due, the creditor shall, without delay, inform the proprietor of the immovable, by means of a written notice, which shall also mention the name of the creditor, the name of the debtor, the amount claimed, and the nature of the claim."

"The proprietor then retains the amount in dispute until notified of an amicable settlement or a judicial decision."

Article 2013 F.

"2013 F.—The sale to a third party by the proprietor of the immovable or his agents, or the payment of the whole or a portion of the contract price, cannot in any way affect the claims of persons who have a privilege under Article 2013, and who have complied with the requirements of Articles 2013 A, 2013 B 2013 C and 2103."

Article 2013 G.

"2013 G.—The supplier of materials shall, before delivery of the materials, give notice in writing to the proprietor of the immovable, of contracts made by him for the delivery of materials, and mention the cost thereof, and the immovable for which they are intended."

Decisions Under Article 2013 G.

The person who furnishes building materials only acquires a lien on the property for which they are intended by giving a notice to the owner, before delivering them, in which he sets out the contract for the materials, their cost and their intended designation. Carriere v. Sigouin, Q.R. 33 S.C. 423.

The privilege granted to the supplier of materials by art. 2013 of the Civil Code as replaced by 59 Vict. 42, sec. 2, and amended by 4 Edw. VII. ch. 43, is not distinguishable from the hpothecary privilege given by art. 2013 b and that consequently the action of the supplier in declaration of privilege cannot be maintained, if it be not alleged and proved that notice has been given to the owner of the immovable pursuant to art. 2013 g C.C., of the contract for the materials and before delievery. Carriere v. Milot, 15 R. de J. 89.

The lien of the person who supplies materials for an immovable of which they become part only arises on observance of the necessary condition of giving notice to the owner before delivery specifying the contracts under which they are supplied, their cost and describing the immovable for which they are intended. Carriere v. Sigouin, Q.R. 18 K.B. 176, affirming 33 S.C. 423.

The materialman who registers his lien must give notice of the registration of the owner of the property subject to the lien within three days of the registration on pain of absolute nullity. Duncan v. Brunelle, 10 Q.P.R. 268.

Article 2013 g C.C. which obliges the materialman, for the preservation of his lien, to give notice of it to the owner of the property on which the materials are used, does not apply where the materialman deals directly with the owner of the property.

The materialman is not bound to give notice to one who at the time of the delivery of the materials had made to a third party a formal agreement for sale, before the completion of the work. Duncan v. Brunelle, 10 Q.P.R. 268.

The person who furnishes materials for construction of a building acquires a lien for his debt only on the essential condition of giving to the owner of the land, before delivery, notice of the contract to furnish containing a statement of the cost and specifying the immovable for which they are intended. W. Rutherford Sons Company v. Racicot, Q.R. 19 K.B. 428. Cf. Carriere v. Sigouin, Q.R. 18 K.B. 176.

The promise of sale of the land by the owner to the contractor to whom the materials have been sold and delivered which is not registered, is of no effect as against third parties in whatever relates to the creation of the lien. W. Rutherford & Sons Co. v. Racicot, Q.R. 19 K.B. 428.

The notice required by art. 2013*g*, 59 Viet. ch. 46, sec. 2, to give to the person furnishing materials for a building a lien under the first paragraph of art. 2013 and the hypothec provided for by art. 2013*l* is necessary whether he deals directly with the owner or by sub-contract from the contractor. Racicot v. Wm. Rutherford & Sons Co., Q.R. 36 S.C. 97 Ct. Rev.

Where a privilege, both by the pre-existing law and by the statute amending the same, is made to depend upon and to date from its registration, the effects of the registration of such privilege effected only after the coming into force of the amending statute are governed, as to the duration of the privilege and the time by which it is prescribed, by the provisions of the amending Act; consequently the prescription applicable to a builder's privilege which was only registered after the coming into force of the amending Act, 59 Viet. (Q.) ch. 42, is that of one year from the date of the registration, although the work for which the privilege was sought was done before the amending Act came into force.

In order to obtain the hypothecary privilege of a supplier of materials under art. 2013(1) of the Code, the formalities prescribed by law, as to notice to the proprietor, must be complied with, and the memorial or bordereau mentioned in art. 2013 C.C., must state the cost of the materials furnished. La Banque d'Hochelaga v. Stevenson, 9 Que. Q.B. 282.

Held, affirming the above decision, on appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, that under the Quebec Civil Code, as amended by 59 Viet. ch. 42, a builder's privilege is limited to one year from the date of registration thereof; and with regard to an hypothecary privilege conferred on suppliers of materials, it only arises on notice being given to the proprietor under art. 2013 G and registered under art. 2103, and lapses unless the prescribed legal proceedings are taken within three months from the date of notice. La Banque d'Hochelaga v. Stevenson, R.J.Q. 9 Q.B. 282; (1900) A.C. 600.

An action in which a materialman claims from the contractor the price of materials furnished by him, and asks against the owner of the land upon which buildings have been erected with the plaintiff's materials that the land shall be declared to be charged with the amount of the plaintiff's claim unless the owner prefers to pay the price of the materials, will be dismissed upon demurrer by the owner if it does not appear that the plaintiff has begun his action within the three months following the notice mentioned in art. 2013 (g), C.C. McLaren v. Loyer, (1901) 3 Q.P.R. 60; 20 C.L.T. 277.

See also Paquette v. Mayer, (1900) 18 S.C. 563, cited ante, under art. 2013, and Montmorency Cotton Mills Co. v. Gignac, (1901) 10 Que. Q.B. 158, cited ante, under art. 2013. See also Charpenter v. Lapointe, (1901) 7 R. de J. 92 (Pagnuelo, J.), and Harris v. Charbonneau, (1901) 7 R. de J. 119, R.J.Q. 25 S.C. 180 (Pagnuelo, J.).

ARTICLE 2013 H.

"2013 H.—In order to meet the privileged claims of the suppliers of materials, the proprietor of the immovable retains, on the contract price, an amount equal to that mentioned in the notices he has received."

ARTICLE 2013 I.

"2013 I.—The notices mentioned in article 2013 G have the effect of an attachment by garnishment on the contract price.

"Within the three months following the notice given in accordance with article 2013 G, the interested parties must take legal proceedings to have the debtor condemned and the seizure declared valid, otherwise the latter lapses; and, to such suit, the proprietor of the immovable must be made a party."

See McLaren v. Villeneuve, 11 Q.B. 131.

ARTICLE 2013 J.

"2013 J.—In the event of the proprietor of the immovable erecting the building himself without the intermediary of any contractor, the notices mentioned in article 2013 G may be given to the person or persons who lend or may lend money to the person building, and thereupon the latter shall, mutatis mutandis, be subject to the provisions of the preceding articles.

ARTICLE 2013 K.

"2013 K.—No transfer of any portion of the contract price or of the amount borrowed, as the case may be, either before or during the execution of the work, can be set up against the said suppliers of materials, nor can any payment, exceeding the cost of the work done, according to a certificate of the architect or superintendent of the works, affect their rights."

Decisions Under Article 2013 K.

A valid privilege may be obtained by registration of a claim for buliding materials furnished, although the person to whom they were furnished was in possession of the land only under an unregistered conditional promise of sale, and the registration of the privilege was made only with such formalities as would be sufficient if he had been the absolute owner; but upon violation of the conditions and the determination of the right of the conditional purchaser to obtain a title, the privilege in question, as well as all acts depending upon a right of property in the conditional purchaser becomes null and void; and therefore the property cannot be seized and brought to sale under a judgment against the latter, to which the conditional vendor was not a party. Metivier v. Wand, (1898) Q.R. 13 S.C. 445. (Archibald, J.)

Article 2013 L.

"2013 L.—On notice given to the proprietor in virtue of article 2013 G, and registered according to article 2013, the suppliers of materials shall have a hypothecary privilege which shall rank after the hypothecs previously registered and the privileges created by this Act."

Decisions Under Article 2013 L.

Although the right of suppliers of materials is called in art. 2013 L in the French version "un droit d'hypotheque," and in the English version "a hypothecary privilege," the right is nevertheless of the nature of a privilege and not of the nature of a hypothec, and all suppliers for the same building who have availed themselves of the privileges of the article and registered their claims, rank concurrently. Jamieson v. Charbonneau, 17 Que. S.C. 514. (Archibald, J.)

Where a contractor's lien has been registered by the husband of the claimant, duly authorized to this effect, it fulfils the requirements of the law that the lien shall be registered by the claimant himself. Camirand v. Durand, 10 Q.P.R. 174.

See also City of Montreal v. Lefebvre, (1898) R.J.Q. 14 S.C.

473 (Doherty, J.), and reference to decision of that case, sub nom. La Banque d'Hochelaga v. Stevenson, under art. 2013 G.

See also MacLaren & Villeneuve, (1900) R.J.Q. 11 Q.B. 131 cont'a Court of Review, 1889; Lalonde v. LaBelle, R.J.Q. 16 S.C. 573, cited ante, under art. 2013.

On the subject of payment of workmen and in connection with it, reference might be had to arts. 1697 A to 1697 D of the Civil Code, both inclusive. These four articles refer to the payment of workmen employed by builders or contractors and the manner in which they may secure their claim by giving notices to the proprietor of the land.

Registration of Privilege of Builders, Etc.

Civil Code 2103.

"2013.—The privilege of the persons mentioned in article 2013 dates, in the cases mentioned in the first clause of article 2013 B, only from the registration, within the proper delay, at the registry office of the division in which is situated the immovable affected by the inscription, of a notice or memorial drawn up according to form A, with a deposition of the creditor, sworn to before a justice of the peace or a commissioner of the Superior Court, setting forth the nature and amount of the claim, and describing the immovable so affected."

"(2) In registering such memorial, it is sufficient to mention, opposite the official number of the cadastre which describes the immovable, if the cadastre be deposited, or opposite the title of the registered deed, if the cadastre be not yet deposited, the name of the claimant and the amount due at the time the memorial is filed."

"(3) The memorial shall be made out in duplicate, one copy of which shall remain in the archives of the registry office, and the other be delivered to the creditor with the registrar's certificate thereon."

"(4) The creditor shall, within three days from the registration of the memorial, give a written notice to the proprietor of the immovable, or to his agents, if he cannot be found."

Decisions Under Articles 2103 and 2168

See Doutre v. Greene, cited under art. 2013.

In Quebec, art. 2168 of the Civil Code must be strictly complied with in respect to the description of an "immovable" in the notice for registration of a workman's "privilege." A description as part of lot 4101 of the cadastre of the Parish of Montreal, omitting the conterminous properties, does not comply with said article, which provides that in any place where the official plans are in force the true description of a part of a lot is by stating that it is part of a certain official number upon the plan and in the book of reference, and mentioning who is the owner and the properties conterminous thereto. Such notice, therefore, did not create any privilege. Therien v. Henault, (1902) 21 S.C. 452.

A builder is without privilege on the proceeds of real estate, if he has not complied with the formalities prescribed by 4 Vict. ch. 30, secs. 31 and 32 (C.S.L.C. 352-3), requiring a procès-verbal to be made before the work is begun; establishing the state of the premises in regard to the work about to be made; requiring also a second procès-verbal within six months after the completion of the work, establishing the increased value of the premises; requiring also that the second procès-verbal, establishing the acceptance of the work, be registered within thirty days from the date of such second procès-verbal, in order to secure such privilege: Berthelot, J., 1861, Clapin v. Nagle, 6 L.C.J. 196; 10 R.J. R.Q. 271; R.J.Q. 1 C.B. 332.

The person who has advanced moneys for the construction of a division wall between him and his neigbor cannot claim a privilege when the neigboring property is sold by the sheriff as against the hypothecary creditors of said land, if he have not observed the formalities required by the registry ordinance, C.S.L.C., ch. 37, sec. 26, sub-sec. 4, even though the value of the land has been augmented by the construction of the wall. 1863, Taschereau, J., Stillings v. McGillis, 14 L.C.R. 129; 12 R.J.R.Q. 342; R.J.Q. 1 Q.B. 332.

The possessor in good faith who has put up buildings on the land of another is not held, in order to be paid for his work, to establish that he has complied with the requirements of arts. 2013 and 2103 of the Civil Code. These articles apply only to the builder or other workmen who puts up buildings for the owner of the land under a contract with the proprietor. 1904 Gagne, J., Chinic Hardware Company v. Laurent, 1 R. de J. 278 1892, Supr. Court of Canada, Dufresne & Prefontaine, 21 S.C.R 607; 16 L.N. 48. See also the case of Daniel v. Macduff, cited under art. 2013 of the Civil Code.

At different time in recent years essays have appeared in law periodicals on this subject in the Province of Quebec, and among these the more notable, perhaps, are those written by Mr. Baker, Advocate, 1 Rev. Leg. N.S., page 281, by Mr. Belanger, Notary, in the same volume, page 376, by Mr. Baudion, Notary, 6 Rev. Leg. N.S., 273, and by Mr. Lafontaine, K.C., in the second volume of La Thémis, page 161.

The whole subject has been treated by Mr. Pelissier, K.C., of the Quebec Bar in a short treatise entitled "Architects et Entrepreneurs."

The law as stated in arts. 2013 to 2013 K has been in force since January, 1894. It is said to be doubtful whether the large class of workmen and builders, whom it was intended to benefit, derive any substantial advantage from it. Some legal writers in Quebec do not regard this law as beneficial, and point out that in a country like ours, still comparatively new and requiring capital from abroad, everything that diminishes the security offered to an intending lender necessarily makes it more difficult for the proprietor of land to borrow. He may have thousands of dollars of land value to offer, but, as the lender will naturally require a first mortgage, applications for loans will frequently be refused because the capitalist sometimes considers that a first mortgage cannot secure him with certainty, since builders, contractors, architects and workmen will be privileged for their claims in preference to his.

The difficulty is frequently overcome by waiting until thirty days after the completion of the buildings, but this delay is in itself an objection, hampers business and delays loans.

It is claimed that this legislation has sometimes stood in the way of loans on vacant real estate, and thus prevented building operations and, therefore, there is a difference of opinion in the Province of Quebec in respect to the beneficial effect of the present law in its relation to builders, contractors, architects and workmen. In the other Provinces of Canada, while there was formerly considerable difference of opinion as to the advantage of mechanics' lien legislation, there is to-day, as a result of important amendments to the original legislation, general satisfaction with the present legislation, which is regarded on the whole as decidedly beneficial to the classes for whom it was specially intended. See observations in Chapter I., at p. 8.

Lien of Workmen on Movable Property.

The workman by the law of Quebec has a secured right of retention in the thing which he has improved by his work, or a right to be paid by privilege out of the price. The Civil Code contains several articles dealing with these rights.

In some cases there is more than a right of retention or of privilege. For instance, a right of ownership is recognized in the workman who has been provided with materials by his employer in some cases and these cases, as stated in art. 429 of the Code, are entirely subordinate to the principles of natural equity. The Code then proceeds to enumerate a set of rules which are obligatory in the cases where they apply, and serve as examples for cases not provided for according to circumstances. The first of these rules is contained in art. 430 of the Code, which reads as follows:—

"430.—When two things belonging to different owners have been united so as to form a whole, although they are separable and one can subsist without the other, the whole belongs to the owner of the thing which forms the principal part, subject to the obligation of paying the value of the other thing, to him to whom it belonged."

And the commentators of the corresponding article of the Code Napoléon lay it down that a fortiori the principle of article 430 is to apply when the things are not separable without inconvenience or cannot be separated at all.

The pulpwood contractor who has employed sub-contractors and who has been obliged to cart the blocks from the forest to the river on account of the failure of one of his sub-contractors cannot oppose his alleged privilege for having hauled these blocks or for having kept the common pledge to the privilege of the woodcutter for having made the blocks.

Under these circumstances the contractor would not even have any privilege for he could only fulfil his contract with the company which has employed him.

In any event if one of the contractors had a privilege he could not exercise it by contesting the seizure conservators of the wood-cutters and demanding main levee from them, but only by produeing an opposition afin de conserver on the proceeds of the sale of an execution of the S.C. of the wood-cutter. Marinier v. Therrien et al., 12 R. de J. 488 (Taschereau, J.).

"431.—That part is reputed to be the principal one to which the other has been united only for the use, ornament or completion of the former."

The text of the Article 567 of the Code Napoléon is similar to article 431 of the Civil Code of Quebec, and the French commentators agree that where a person has written, printed, painted or engraved on paper, linen or other material not belonging to him, the proprietor of the material would only have a right to his material or to damages where there were any.

The next rule depends on the relative value of the things united together.

"432.—However, when the thing united is much more valuable than the principal thing, and has been employed without the knowledge of its owner, he may require that the thing so united be separated in order to be returned to him, although the thing to which it has been joined may thereby suffer some injury."

Article 433 deals with a case where it is impossible to say which is principal or which is accessory.

"433.—If of two things united so as to form a whole, one cannot be considered as the accessory of the other, the more valuable, or, if the values be nearly equal, the more considerable in bulk is deemed to be the principal."

"434.—If an artisan or any other person have made use of any material which did not belong to him to form a thing of a new description, whether the material can resume its previous form or not, he who was the owner of it has a right to demand the thing so formed, on paying the price of the workmanship."

DECISIONS UNDER ARTICLE 434.

Workmen and laborers in a quarry have no privilege on the tools serving in the work nor on a stone taken out of the quarry and cut, especially when the tools and this stone did not belong to the man who employed the workman: 1878, Court of Review, Prevost v. Wilson, 22 L.C.J. 70, 1 L.N. 232. (The other decisions under this article relate to the cutting of wood or trees on land of another, without authority, and do not come within the purposes of this compilation.)

ARTICLE 440 OF THE CODE.

"440.—In all cases where a proprietor whose material has been employed without his consent, to make a thing of a different description, may claim the proprietorship of such thing, he has the choice of demanding the restitution of his material in the same kind, quantity, weight, measure and quality, or its value."

ARTICLE 441 OF THE CODE.

"441.—Whoever is bound to give back a movable object upon which he has made improvements or additions for which he is entitled to be reimbursed, may retain such object until he has been so reimbursed, without prejudice to his personal remedy."

The workman, who has made improvements to a movable thing for which improvements he has a right to be reimbursed, may retain the object until he has been reimbursed and he has in the thing a right of pledge. The person who so retains a thing for improvements made by him, as pledgee, oppose the sale of the thing retained or pledged: Belleau v. Pitou, (1887) 13 Q.L.R. 337, 11 L.N. 86 (Cassault, J.).

The printer has a lien on manuscript given him to be printed, for the costs of the printing: Dussault v. Fortin, (1893) R.J.Q., 4 S.C. 304 (Andrews, J.).

"1993.—Privileges may be upon the whole of the movabl property, or upon certain movable property only."

"1994.—The claims which carry a privilege upon movabl property are the following, and where several of them come to gether they take precedence in the following order, and accord ing to the rules hereinafter declared, unless some special la derogates therefrom."

"1. Law costs and all expenses incurred in the interest of th mass of the creditors;

"2. Tithes;

"3. The claims of the vendor;

"4. The claims of creditors who have a right of pledge or o retention;

"5. Funeral expenses;

"6. The expenses of the last illness;

"7. Municipal taxes;

"8. The claim of the lessor in accordance with art. 2005;

"8a. The claim of the owner of a thing lent, leased, pledge or stolen, in accordance with art. 2005 A;

"9. Servants' wages and those of employees of railway com panies engaged in manual labor, and sums due for supplies o provisions;

"10. The claims of the Crown against persons accountabl for its moneys;

"The privileges specified under the numbers 5, 6, 7, 9 an 10 extend to all the movable property of the debtor, the other are special, and affect only some particular objects."

Art. 1994 C.C. does not have the effect of making the owne of the wood a personal debtor of the lumberman who has worke in the service of another person and that the condemnation o the appellant as such personal debtor jointly and severally wit the sub-contractor, plaintiff's employee, must be set aside. Lau entide Paper Co. v. Pompre, 15 R. de J. 278.

In the case of the privilege given by art. 1994 C.C. the wood-cutter who works for a contractor cannot issue a writ of saisie conservatoire until the owner of the wood has received the prescribed notice.

As this privilege has no legal existence before the proprietor of the wood has received the prescribed notice, the seizure of the wood is premature, illegal and void. Carroll, J., Houle v. Couture et al., 8 Q.P.R. 398.

The persons mentioned in art. 1994 C.C. are not confined to those whose remuneration is fixed according to the time they work, but also includes all persons who engage to cut wood for so much a cord. St. Onge v. Ross, 7 Q.P.R. 108 (Tait, A.C.J.).

ARTICLE 2001 OF THE CODE.

"2001.—Creditors having a right of pledge or of retention rank according to the nature of their pledge or of their claim.

"The following is the order among them:—

"Carriers;

"Hotel keepers;

"Mandataries or consignees;

"Borrowers in loan for use;

"Depositaries;

"Pledgees;

"Workmen upon things repaired by them, and persons having a privilege in virtue of art. 1994 C;

"Purchasers against whom the right of redemption is exercised, for the reimbursement of the price and the moneys laid out upon the property;

"This privilege cannot, however, be exercised, unless the right is still subsisting, or could have been claimed at the time of the seizure, if the things have been sold."

See The Inverness Ry. v. Canadian Lines, 29 S.C. [illegible].

The builder of a vessel to be delivered complete is not a "dernier equipeur" within the meaning of art. 931 C.C.P. with respect to the price to be paid for such vessel, but such builde is protected by the builder's privilege to receive payment of th price.

The builder's privilege of retention until payment of th price is lost by voluntary delivery. Hayden v. Meunier, 13 K de J. 149. (Archibald, J.).

A person holding the land under an agreement to purchase has an interest or estate on which a lien would attach. Montjoy v. Heward School District, 10 W.L.R. 282.

An owner who took possession of the premises and sold the same, and stated accounts with the contractor was held to have accepted the work, and to have waived the presentation of an architect's certificate. Smith v. Bernhardt & Fry, (1909) 2 Sask. L.R. 315.

Damages for delay in performance cannot be set-off against a sub-contractor. Smith v. Bernhardt & Fry, (1909) 2 Sask. L.R. 315.

A reduction in the amount of the claim will not render th lien void. Montjoy v. Heward School District, (1909) 10 W.L.R 282.

A person in actual possession of land has a title thereto a against all the world except the true owner; and a person s actually in possession has a sufficient interest in the land to com within the meaning of "owner," as defined by paragraph 3 o sec. 2, but in order to amount to an interest which would suppor a lien under the Mechanics' Lien Act, the actual possession o interest must exist at the time the materials were ordered. Gal vin-Walston Lumber Co. v. McKinnon, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 310, 4 Sask. L.R. 68.

See notes under corresponding section in Mechanics' Lien Acts of other provinces, ante.

The onus of proving that the selling value of the land was increased by the materials furnished and placed is on the lien claimant. It does not follow from the mere fact that materials were furnished and placed upon the land that the selling value of the property had been thereby increased. Independent Lumber Co. v. Bocz, (1911) 16 W.L.R. 316, 4 Sask. L.R. 103. See additional references to this case in Chapter on "Priorities," ante, pp. 116, 117, 118.

(2) Enforcing lien in such cases.—Every wage-earner shall be entitled to enforce a lien in respect of the contract not completely fulfilled.

(3) Calculating percentage when contract not fulfilled.—In case of the contract not having been completely fulfilled when the lien is claimed by wage-earners the percentage aforesaid shall be calculated on the work done or materials furnished by the contractor or sub-contractor by whom such wage-earners are employed.

A claim of lien was defectively drawn, but there was a sufficient description of the materials furnished in a statement annexed to the claim and marked as exhibit A, which statement, however, was not duly identified by affidavit. It was held that there was such a substantial compliance with this section of the Act as should be held good under sec. 19. Monarch Lumber Co.

v. Garrison, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 686. See Crapper v. Gillespie, (1909) 11 W.L.R. 310; Montjoy v. Heward School District Corporation, (1908) 10 W.L.R. 282.

18. What may be included in claim.—A claim for lien may include claims against any number of properties and any number of persons claiming liens upon the same property may unite therein; but where more than one lien is included in one claim each lien shall be verified by affidavit as provided in section 17 of this Act. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 18.

A reduction in the amount of the claim will not render the lien void. Montjoy v. Heward School Dictrict, (1908) 10 W.L.R. 282.

19. (1) Claims not to be invalidated for informality (1908).—A substantial compliance with sections 17 and 18 of this Act shall only be required and no lien shall be invalidated by reason of failure to comply with any of the requisites of the said sections unless in the opinion of the court or judge who has power to try an action under this Act the owner, contractor or sub-contractor, mortgagee or other person, as the case may be, is prejudiced thereby and then only to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced.

(2) Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as dispensing with filing of the lien required by this Act. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 19.

On a reference, in an action for sale under a mortgage, a claim was made by C. under a lien registered against three separate properties of which only one was in question in this action. As the claim of lien showed how it was made out, and the amount claimed against each property it was held that the claim was sufficient under this section. Crapper v. Gillespie, 11 W.L.R. 310.

A claim of lien did not appear to be executed properly under the seal of the plaintiffs, an incorporated company, but the court allowed proof to be made, upon an appeal, that the document was actually sealed with the corporate seal of the plaintiffs, and determined that attestation was unnecessary and that the execution was proper. Monarch Lumber Co. v. Garrison, (1911) 18 W.L.R. 686.

20. Lien to be registered an incumbrance.—The registrar upon payment of the prescribed fee shall register the claim so that the same may appear as an incumbrance against the land therein described. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 20.

22. (1) Claims for lien, when to be filed.—A claim for lien by a contractor or sub-contractor may in cases not otherwise provided for be filed before or during the performance of the contract or within thirty days after the completion thereof.

(5) In the case of a contract which is under the supervision of an architect, engineer or other person upon whose certificate payments are to be made the claim for a lien by a contractor may be filed within the time mentioned in sub-section (1) of this section or within seven days after the said architect, engineer or other person has given his final certificate or has upon application to him by the contractor refused to give a final certificate. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 22.

A contractor agreed with an owner to build a house for the latter. Plaintiff, a sub-contractor, supplied hardware at different times during the work, and installed plumbing and heating apparatus, and, not being paid, filed a lien. The last work done was on the furnace on January 3rd, the other work done by plaintiff having been completed and material supplied at an earlier date. The lien was filed on February 2nd. The sub-contractor gave no formal notice of his claim to the owner, but payment of the account had been discussed between them on several occasions and the owner had promised to protect this sub-contractor. It was held that the owner by his conversations with plaintiff and assurance of protection of the account had waived notice of claim of lien. Smith v. Bernhardt, (1909) 2 Sask. L.R. 315.

It was contended that the plumbing, heating and hardware supplied by the sub-contractor constituted three different contracts, and that, therefore, the thirty days must be reckoned from the completion of each, but the court held that they were all supplied with the same object by one party to another, the parties standing in the same relationship, and were so supplied as material and labor coming within the scope of the plaintiff's business, and were so bound into one as to form an entire contract, the last work on which having been done on January 3rd, the lien was filed in time. Smith v. Bernhardt, (1909) 2 Sask. L.R. 315.

23. Lien to cease if proceedings not had within time fixed by Act.—Every lien a claim for which is not duly filed under the provisions of this Act shall absolutely cease to exist at the expiration of the time hereinbefore limited for the filing thereof unless in the meantime an action is commenced to realize the claim or in which the claim may be realized under the provisions of this Act and a certificate thereof according to form 6 in the schedule hereto signed by the clerk of the court is duly filed in the land titles office of the land registration district wherein the property in respect of which the lien is claimed is situated. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 23.

The time of the filing of the lien determines the law to be applied. Montjoy v. Heward School District, (1908) 10 W.L.R. 282.

24. When a lien which has been duly filed shall expire.—Any person claiming any right, title or interest in and to any property in respect of which any claim of lien is filed as hereinbefore provided may at any time after thirty days have expired since the filing of such lien require the registrar to notify the lien-holder by notice in writing in form 5 in the schedule to this Act forwarded by registered mail to the address for service of the said lien-holder that unless an action to realize such claim or lien in which such claim may be realized be instituted and a certificate that such action has been so instituted which certificate shall be in form 6 of the schedule hereto and signed by the clerk of the court in which such action is so instituted be deposited in the said land titles office within thirty days from the date of such notice that such lien shall absolutely cease to exist; and if such action is not so instituted and the certificate aforesaid so filed within thirty days from the date of the mailing of such notice such lien shall thereupon absolutely cease to exist and the registrar shall vacate the registration thereof unless prior to the expiration of the said thirty days there be filed in the said land titles office an order of a judge extending the time for instituting such action. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 24.

Transmission of Lien.

25. Death of lien-holder.—In the event of the death of the lien-holder his right of lien shall pass to his personal representatives and the right of a lien-holder may be assigned by any instrument in writing. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 25.

26. (1) Discharge of lien.—A lien may be discharged by a receipt signed by the claimant or his agent duly authorized in writing acknowledging payment and verified by affidavit and filed with the registrar; such receipt shall be numbered and entered by the registrar like other instruments but need not be copied in any book; the fees shall be the same as for registering a claim of lien.

(2) Security or payment into court and vacating lien thereon.—Upon application the court or judge may receive security or payment into court in lieu of the amount of the claim and may thereupon vacate the filing of the lien.

(3) Vacating filing on other grounds.—The court or such judge may vacate the said filing upon any other ground. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 26.

Effect of Taking Security on Lien.

27. Certain acts not to prejudice right to enforce lien.—The taking of any security for or the acceptance of any promissory note for or the taking of any other acknowledgment of the claim or the giving of time for the payment of the claim or the taking of any proceedings for the recovery of the claim or the recovery of any personal judgment therefor shall not merge, waive, pay, satisfy, prejudice or destroy any lien created by this Act unless the lien-holder agrees in writing that it shall have that effect. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 27.

If the lien claimant pays the note and the holder of the note at the time begins proceedings, the fact of his negotiating the note will not take away his lien. See Swanson v. Mollison, 6 W.L.R. 678; Clarke v. Moore, 8 W.L.R. 405, 411; Brooks-Sanford Co. v. Theodore Telier Construction Co., (1910) 19 O.L.R. 303.

Power of Court to Order Inspection.

29. Order for inspection of contract by lien-holder.—The court or a judge may on a summary application at any time before or after any action is commenced for the enforcement of such lien make an order for the owner or his agent to produce and allow any lien-holder to inspect any such contract and may make such an order as to the costs of such application and order as may be just. 1907, ch. 21, sec. 29.
