Lourie, was killed, and Col. Vontsigler, was seriously wounded.

"In the Pasublo sector there has been an artillery duel and skirmishes between small detachments.

"Along the front between Posino and the Astico the enemy, after vigorous artillery preparation, repeated his violent efforts in the direction of Monite Alba and Cel Posina. A desperate struggle ensued, and the enemy infantry, decimated by our fire, fell back lin disorder.

ASQUITH IN COMMONS HELD BACK BIG NEWS?

His Reference to Possibility of Invasion Now Recalled.

LONDON, June 5.—At the very time that the naval battle was raging off the Danish coast, Premier Asquith was saying in the house of commons, in reply to Col. Winston Churchill's criticisms, that it was necessary that a large body of men be kept in England as a precaution against possible invasion by the Germans. It is possible that the premier may have had some inkling of the engagement when he spoke, and realized that if Germany were able to defeat the British navy an invasion of England would follow.

"It is a risk that cannot be left out of consideration," he said, "and we must always effectively provide for it, and must be guided by the opinion of those who can decide what number of men are absolutely necessary to render der the country secure against inva-

Ohmer, the Fuse Maker, Admitted He Couldn't Guarantee Delivery.

INQUIRY NEARING END

Dowler, of Dowler-Forbes Company Will Not Be a

OTTAWA, June 5 .- Wilfred Ohmer, president of the American Recording and Computing Co., Payton, Ohio, heralded as Mr. Carvell's last star witness, appeared on the stand before the Meredith-Duff commission this afternoon, but rather failed to live up to advance notices. Mr. Ohmer's company is working on 2,500,000 Russian fuse sub-contract from the Canadian Car Co. In the course of the fuse enquiry it had been course of the fuse enquiry it had been stated that Mr. Ohmer tried hard to get a contract for time fuses from the Canadian shell committee, that he had the plant, the capital and all the necessary facilities for speedy manufacture and delivery, but that his efforts were ignored by Col. Carnegie in favor of the American Ammunition Co., which was without facilities or plant. Under the guidance of E. F. B. Johnstan's examination today, Mr. Ohmer told the story of his grievances against the shell committee with a great display of indignation. He said that on May 7 last he met Gen. Bertram and Col. Carnegie in New York, told them that he had the plant, machinery and other essentials for fuse manufacture time fuses at cost plus a reasonable percentage of profit.

Col. Carnegie and Gen. Bertram told him they would hear from them again, but he never got a word or line from them from that day to this.

Undivided Allegiance First Essential, He Says in Address to Graduates.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In the seclusion of the national cathedral school lawn, where he was presening an American flag to the honor graduates, Justice Charles E. Hughes today made his first public address since the opening of the pre-convention campaign. He told the young women them from that day to this.

This story sounded impressive test of Mr. Hellmuth's cross-examination. The government counsel elicited the fact that at the interview which Co. Carnegie and Gen. Betram had with Ohmer in New YPork on May 7, Ohmer told them that he couldn't make delivery of fuses within the shell committee's time limit. Mr. Hellmuth also showed that one reason why Mr. Ohmer did not hear from Col. Carnegie after the interview in New YPork on May 7 was a batch of letters to the shell committee from one E. P. Ryan, a Wall street speculator, who had introduced Ohmer, stating that all communications inteded for Ohmer should be addressed to Ryan, "as Ohmer has to om many other matters on his mind and is seldom at home."

Judgment Sound.

Ryan, in his letters, offered to make fuses at $4.60 and as this figure was higher than that quoted by both the American Ammunition Company and the International Arms and Fuse Commany, and as other conditions in gone.

the International Arms and Fuse Comnections with Ryan's offer were unsat-isfactory, negotiations were broken off. Hellmuth and Nesbit drew from Ohmer in respect to the contract with the Canadian Car Comctions with Ryan's offer were unsat-

Ohmer reluctantly admitted that altho his contract for 2,500,000 Russian fuses made last March, called for delivery at the rate of 40,000 fuses a week by June 15 last, reaching a rate of 90,000 fuses a week by the end of July, he hadn't made a single delivery until December, five months late, until December, five months late, and that up to April, 1916, he had had only 200,000 fuses accepted, the despite the fact that the Russian fuse si much less intricate and difficult of vanced Ohmer $4,000,000 on the co within a few minutes the Defence was blown into the air and the Warrior badly riddled. A storm of German's shells exploding on the decks of the Warrior almost suffocated the crew with their gases.

When the Germans were at length driven off by British reinforcements the pumps were manned on the battered and sinking ship and succeeded in keeping her afloat until a auxiliary ship came alongside and took off the wounded. The auxiliary took the Warrior in tow for 48 hours, when she foundered.

One of the officers of the Warrior told the order in which the British ships were lost. He said that the Lion, Admiral Sir David Beatty's famous flagship, led the battle cruisers into action and withstood a terrific bombardment. The Invincible was the first to go down, followed closely by the Indefatigable, and a few minutes later by the Queen Mary.

On this point the authorities differ. Some lawyers say that the Toronto store merely receiving the goods in transit for distribution would not violate the Ontario Temperance Act. FOR A DOLLAR A YEAR AND PAYMENT OF TAXES

City Will Use Old North Toronto Station for Market Purposes.

For a rental of one dollar a year and the payment of taxes and insurance premiums, the city will be allowed to use the old station at North Toronto for market purposes. This fact was made known to the property committee at its meeting yesterday morning by Property Commissioner Chisholm, who has been negotiating in this connection for the past two weeks.

Ald. McBride failed to understand why North Toronto should be allowed a market any more than other sections of the city, while Alderman Gibbons pointed out that the radials would soon come near the station.

The new North Toronto Station at the Yong street crossing went into operation yesterday, five trains arriving and five being despatched there from during the course of the day. The passengers, express goods and baggage all had to be loaded and unloaded at the old station some two hundred yards west of Yonge street, and as a consequence the merits of the new outfit were not in evidence. The management, however, hope to have the new station ready for use within a fortnight and the facilities provided in it will then be appreciated by the public. For instance the milk receipts which promise to be very large will be easily handled at the new station and will be delivered direct to the motor trucks immediately under the elevated tracks, and thereby easily reach the headquarters of the big milk companies. Between three and four hundred cans were brought in by the train from Lindsay alone and a proportionate amount from the other trains. About fifty passengers came in by the train from Lindsay and a proportionate number from Teeswater and Owen Sound. A large number of passengers went out by the three trains in the evening, and the officials of the company who were on duty for the day were more than pleased at the amount of business which came in and left from the station on the accasion of the opening, and without the use of the facilities that will be provided within the next few days.

Cash registers are imported almost exclusively from the United States, and England lately has been a big market for all types of cash registers and adding machines. Citizens who intended to leave Toronto for Niagara on the 7.20 a.m. boat yesterday had a great surprise ready for them when they reached the dock. The civilians were confronted by policemen doing sentirel duty at the gangway. The police said: "No civilians allowed on this boat; next boat at 11 o'clock," and explained that "The government had chartered the boat at midnight." This action was taken by the militadepartment to provide early transportation back to Niagara camp of a great crowd of soldiers who had been permitted a week-end holiday in Toronto.

Most of the civilians took the delay philosophically, realizing that it was due to the military authorities' desire to take no risks in the movement of troops.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 6.

A Classic Event

Last Saturday morning there was sufficient justification for taking the view suggested by the British Admiralty about the result of the battle of Juttand. The British Admiralty has always been careful to issue reliable statements and the Germans had hastened to get their version of the fight before the world, and this in itself gave gause for supposing that they had had a favorable result. There were other elements, which did not appear, which led to cautious judgment of the situation. It appeared that only the British light cruiser squadron had been engaged with the full German fleet. Had this been the case it would be natural to suppose that the smaller ships would have had the worst of it, as had already been the case with Admiral Crad-

There was also the statement of the Germans that they had an enterprise stoward the north. There could be little doubt that this was to get a number of raiders out into the Atlantic to demoralize British and neutral shipping bound for Great Britain, and it did not appear that this object had not been effected. The main German fleet might very well have returned to port satisfied with what it had done had a number of raiders been enabled to escape the British blockade. It would have given grounds for further notes from President Wilson if Germany had been able to show that the blockade was an ineffective one.

All these things were obscure Friday night and reflected their obscurity in the views taken in Saturday morning's papers. The despatches during the day began to place another color on the story, and the latest news, and indeed all additional news, tends to show that the British fleet did all that could possibly be expected of it under the circumstances, and not only this, but achieved such a victory as may stand for centuries as a record.

V The glamor that grows around an epoch-making battle like Trafalgar in the course of a century, cannot be expected at once to surround the struggle in the North Sea, but in the maginitude of the forces engaged, in the tremendous issues involved, and as it onow appears, in the seamanship and generalship displayed by the British admirals, the engagement will stand as a classic event. Americans will regret that Admiral Mahan did not survive to record the story and give it its due place in his philosophy of sea-power. Toronto has every right to be proud of an officer who has already won high honors, and is sure to realize every opportunity the path of duty affords him.

The last engagement at Ypres has een a smart bit of work, and all the Canadian forces in it have dis-tinguished themselves. Unfortunately the losses will be heavy, and Toront hare in the common sorrow. These are dark days for fathers and mothers. The elder generation would rather go to the front than stay at home to bear the suspense and wait for the fateful tidings. Arbitration Ahead

Five years from now the City of Tor the price to be paid for the street railway. The city has had such experiences with arbitration that it cannot be expected to confront with equanimity an experience of this kind on the scale which is involved. Toronto, and cities in general, usually "get it in the neck" when they come to arbitrate with private interests. We shall have to pay, not market value, nor negotiation value, but arbitration value for the street ratiway plant. We may be tain circumstances she reserved the asked to pay so much under arbitration that it may prove easy to work up an agitation for a renewal of the franchise rather than pay what will be demanded or awarded.

The Globe relies on the astuteness of Mr. R. J. Fleming, when the franchise was awarded, for having had inserted in the contract a clause by which the street railway plant will be deceived. This, however, is a slight consideration beside the arbitration situation. If the equipment of the street railway is to be kept up to a high standard, the clause quoted by The Globe insists that its value shall be so regarded, not as scrap, but having regard to the requirements of the best kind in operation. The company, in short, is perfectly protected if it chooses to put in an up-to-date equipment of the best Beresford has paid a warm and worthy kind. And the city will have to pay

NEW BERLIN VERSION OF JUTLAND CONFLICT

British Officers Say the Lut- Germans Admit Range and General Conditions Favored Them.

DETAILS SUPPRESSED

Claim is Made That British Ships Outnumbered German Craft.

BERLIN, June 5.—An authoritative count of the North Sea battle, which was issued here today, gives the first etailed picture of the progress of the reat engagement between the German high sea fleet and that of the country.

Many details of the engagement are suppressed for strategic reasons, leaving unsatisfied for the present the German public's thirst for interesting touches in regard to the individual achievements of the German warships. The recital, however, meets clearly what is characterized as the British attempt to explain defeat by the statement that the German sea forces in the action were much larger than those which the British were able to bring into play.

She drew the sword. Now that is applied the blood of the nations of poes to the neutrals and as more formation and the Germanis loss, so insensate killing is to go on, seas not concerned about insensate in the two vanguards of the two fasts of the two vanguards of the two fasts of the two vanguards of the two fasts of the two f

Fos Choss Distance.

It is shown that the Germans on this occasion, unlike the Dogger Bank engagement of cruiser squadrons, were able to choose their distance and fight considerable portions of the battle of ranges of about eight miles—now ranked as a moderate distance—at which the German 11 and 12-i nch guns were virtually as effective in penetrating power as the big muchhed 13's, 14's Brand 15's with whih the modern British giants are armed. Furthermore, they are far superior in rapidity of fire. Navai experts have intimated to the Associated Press that this was one of the most decisive factors in the titanic struggle. German battle-ships and battle cruisers were able to shower the British with a hail of shell, which, at a range of eight miles, and sometimes even closer, smashed and riddled British armor belts and wrought havoc to ships' vitals. The ponderous British projetiles naturally were no less effective, but the Armstrong and Whitworth monsters strong and Whitworth monsters could land scarcely one punch to each two from the vicious Krupp 11-inchers. The hazy weather was Germany's friend, as it necessitated action at LONDON, June 5.—A Canadian officer, on reaching London early this morning, who had been at the front since last year, says that never, not even in the second battle of Ypres, have Canadians had such experience. "Is there anybody at home or in England who thinks the Germans short of ammunition? I have seen this tale going round in the papers on both sides of the water. It's the most complete nonsense ever written. If the Canadian front had been a powder factory on fire, there could not have been a bigger hell, while the Germans made their first bombardment. We had expected it some time. There are various indications long before such a big storm really bursts.

"It was pretty well seen on Friday morning, when the enemy guns opened in earnest. What an opening there was Everything in the way of explosives. It played all sorts of devilish tricks with our defences. Plump came an enormous shell into a section of the trench where there was crossway. Everything here would be churned up into nothing. Scarcely a single man in that section would escape without some wound. Some poor chaps were blown clean away. No body had much time to look around him. We could only wait our turn. If it was to come, we just stuck there.

Trenches Blotted Out.

"We did not know how things were going on in the rear. That is one of the most harassing matters at such a time. It is as well one's thoughts are pretty well occupied at what is going on just around you. I expect the German guns were miles away, but the noise was deafening. This internal artillery program

The bill at Loew's this week is much better than usual. The acts are well balanced and make an extremely well selected program. The Betting Bettys, selected program. Luola Blaisdell, with the assistance of many splendid slides, presented a number of new and original poses. A sentimental playlet is that of Burke Touhey and Company. It gives a couple of old Irishmen and their children a chance to win applause with quaint sayings. They also please with pipe music, Irish songs and reels.

The Transfield Sisters are splendid musicians and their numbers were nusicians and their numbers were well played. Harashima Bros., a trio of Japanese equilibrists, have an act seldom equalled on the vaudeville stage. Another chapter of the Iron thoruly with small amount of water. The bran is simply sprinkled around the base of the plants and is eaten by the worms when they come up to feed. This is the best method for the the worms when they come up to feed. This is the best method for the control of cut worms.

The cabbage maggots, which will soon be in evidence, can only be prevented. Here is a case where an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The maggots are hatched from eggs laid at the base of the stems of the plants by the small white buttarfly which is seen flying about in early summer. If this butterfly san be prevented from laying her eggs on the plants, there will be no maggots. This is prevented by either covering the plants with a cheese cloth cover as soon as the butterflies appear, or by the use of a tar felt disc which is fitted around the stem of the plant at the time of setting out. This disc is simply a square piece of tar felt (not ordinary tar paper), with a slit in it, thru which the stem is passed. This prevents the moth from laying her eggs at or very near the base of the plant.

SPRAYING ROSES.

Rarely can good roses be produced without frequently spraying the plants. Use lime-sulphur solution, 1 part to 15 parts of water, and add an ounce of arsenate of lead to each gallon. Spraying should begin just before the leaves begin to develop and be repeated every two weeks until the plants are in bloom. From late summer to the close of the season, once a month may be sufficient.

This treatment will prevent mildew and other fungus diseases and prove effectual for aphis, thrips, leaf hopper, red spider, mealy bug, carpenter bee, flea beetle, slugs, etc.

COBOURG, June 5.—Today and yesterday members of the Dominion Game Protective and Trap Shooting Association have been arriving for the annual tournament at Horse Show Park. They are assembling from eastern and western Canada, as well as all parts of Ontario, including the best shooters from all Canada. The tournament is held at Horse Show Park. About $1000 in cash and $500 in prizes will be distributed here tomorrow and two following days.

"Resolved, that the Riverdale Lawn Bowling Club is strongly in favor of the daylight saving legislation proposed by the board of control as a local, provincial or Dominion measure, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the city clerk and the newspapers."

The discussion indicated that provincial or Dominion legislation would be preferred, but the feeling is very strongly in favor of the adoption of the measure even as a local movement. The Yankees scored three runs in the first innings, and this proved enough to win over the White Sox. Cullop struct out eight Chicago batters.

With the Brooklyn Robins and the New York Giants first and second in the National League race, even the the margin is a small one, and with the Yonkees second in the American League struggle, the fans of the big city have reason to be optimistic. Here is a Chance to Help Our Boys at the Front

The following letter, received from "somewhere in Flanders," is self-explanatory, and it behooves all good sports at home to see that the boys get what they want:

Somewhere in Flanders, May 19, 1916.

Sporting Editor World: I have been asked by the boys of the section to ask you if you could help us out of our little trouble. We are all Toronto boys and baseball enthusiasts. We have our team picked and have had a good many offers for a game, but have had to turn them down owing to the lack of paraphernalia. We have written to Eng.and for outfits, but they don't seem to know what baseball means.

I hope by the medium of your valuable paper to help us forget the trenches while in rest camps. Our address will satisfy you that we are unable to get these luxuries where we are. Hoping you will lend us your valuable aid, I am, yours sincerely,

Dear Madam,—Am returning you my most sincere thanks for the most beautiful pair of sox you forwarded. Such kindness in sending us these useful articles, I can assure you, is much appreciated. Knowing we are being so kindly remembered by those at home does much to inspire us in the great cause for which we are fighting. I might say, altho this war may drag on for some time yet, there is not the least doubt of our ultimate victory. knocks out the aging Englishman. Leonard figures this as his last chance to win the crown from Welsh, for he regards it as certain that the champion can't last twenty rounds with White in Buenos Airos.

No title will be at stake when Dillon and Moran clash at Washington Park on the night of Thursday, June 29, but there is probably more interest generally in that struggle than in any one of the prospective lightweight scraps. Some time ago "white hope" was a popular phrase, but it has dropped out of use since the eradication of Jack Johnson from the championship landscape. A new phrase might be invented for Jack Dillon—last hope. Jess Willard proved when he overwhelmed Moran here that he outclasses all the present glants of the ring. There is a chance, just a chance, that Dillon, a comparatively small man may outclass them too.

In which case Dillon might be called the last hope, the only man with the slightest possible chance to beat Willard. It is that one thing, that bare possibility, which makes the Dillon-Moran match a card, one for which the Brooklyn promoters have promised the fighters a total of $40,000.

Small Heavyweight.

Moran is to receive $25,000 to $15,000 for Dillon, a queer state of affairs. The Pittsburger is practically only a trial horse in this bout. Everybody knows Willard can beat him, but everybody does not know Willard can lick the Indianapolis glant killer. Nearly everybody thinks the champion could erase little 165 pound Jack, but it remains to be proved.

Charley Weinert, Tom Cowler and other men as large as Moran have been easy for Dillon to hit. He has that knack of getting inside a tailer man's guard and battering him at close range, something Moran knows nothing about. The Pittsburger faced a new experience when he opposed Willard, the first opponent of his career that outreached him. As a result he made a sorry spectacle trying to get thru the champion's guard. Dillon's entire career in the ring has been a succession of efforts to tear past a bigger man's left and get close in. H

A CANADIAN STEEL MERGER

To Take in the Leading Compan ies of Eastern Canada, Prob-ably at a Quarter Billion Dollar Trust.

Attention is being called to the much improved industrial condition of Canada of late by a large number of annual financial statements which have recently been issued by the larger industries. In fact the stock market has rather been diverted from the war to the earnings of the various industrials and banking institutions during the past fortnigns. It is not necessary to go into detail as to whether the general trend of earnings has shown an increase or decrease. It mas been and is sunitient and convincing enough to sit and waten the ticker map reel out countiess yards of stock sales and to note their concinued advances to know that there is scattery a case or industry which is not showing improvement over that of last year. The only exception to the rule has been the report of the Langalan Car & Foundry, which showed a usflict for its year elugable the second of the Langalan Car & Foundry, which showed a usflict for its year elugable the second of the last the second of the market, as it is practically an established fact that the list earnings for the past eight months have far exceeded the estate and a fair increase will be shown for the current fiscal year.

The biggest market factor before the financial public at present in the industrial lime is the reported intended amairgamation of four of the largest steel companies in Canada—the Dominion Steel Corporation, Limited, with a capitalization of $50,000,000; the Nova Steel & Coal Co., Ltd., capitalization of $40,0000; and the Steel Company of Canada, with a capitalization of $25,000,000; the Lake Superior Loropration, with a paledup capital of $40,000 and the Steel Company of Canada could conveniently use, owner cutting down many overhead expenses, as some of the companies to advantage. The Atikokan line of the Company of Canada could conveniently use, while other companies to advantage. The Atikokan line of the company as for the first four which has been closed for a number of years owing to difficulty experienced in treatment of ores, announces that the and this caused by the war for the most part. These figures deal with mining industrialism, and their broad significance may be extended so as to apply to the mineral industries of the Dominion. In but one part.cular—that of iron ore—was there a decrease. In all other respects the increases were such as to indicate a total value of the products from metalliferous mines and works in the year. from Ontario alone, of between $60,000,000 and $65,000,000. Of this there will probably be $9,500,000 in gold and about $15,000,000 in silver. Considering that the total of the same metallic products of Canadian mineral industries in 1914 was valued at $55,870,028, the Ontario aggregate promises to be all the more noteworthy.

Thus has industrial Canada shown her industrial advance despite her part in the war, which has crippled her shipping and has taken many of her best

LONDON STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, June 5.—Later news of the naval battle put dealers on the stock exchange in a more cheerful frame of mind and imparted a steadier tone to the markets, tho business was not large. British funds were in demand; consols advanced a fraction, and shipping, iron, steel and Marconi shares and colontal issues were steadily supported and composed the bulk of the transactions. American securities were inclined to ease off with Canadian Pacific, but the closing was steadier.

Money was in good supply, and a large business was transacted in treasury bills and exchequer bonds.

Spanish exchange on London continued to drop and is now nearly 10 per cent, in Spain's favor, at 22.70 pesetas, against a normal of 25.25.

CEMENT STOCKS WILL PAY DIVIDEND IN AUGUST

The initial dividend of 3 per cent, on Canada Cement common was paid Feb. 16, this being presumably for the whole of 1915. It is understood that a similar payment will be made Aug. 16, when the stock will be put on a regular 6 per cent, per annum basis. Business has been running very satisfactorily of late, and the company is now reaping the benefit of the years of conservative financing which has put it in its present financial position of affuence.

om that of last Friday's close, when here and in Montreal. Cement and Steamships, two Montreal specialties, both made new high records, Cement advancing 2½ points to 72½, while Steamships sold as high as 23½. Most of the other active issues were stronger, with Dominion Steel the feature with an early price of 58 3-8, or nearly two points higher than Friday's close. The other stocks were strong but loss active. Of the inactive stocks Porto Rico was definitely strong, opening at 47 and selling for a 20-share lot at 49. Irregularity marked the trading in the unlisted stocks. Mc-Intyre was easier and McIntyre Extension and West Dome stronger. Trading in general was quiet at the close, but sentiment was quite buoyant as to the future of prices.

forces which want to nominate the justice.

The purpose of the committee is to pledge every possible delegate to Justice Hughes before the convention meets and to stir enthusiasm for him by the use of bands, banners, badges and buttons. Expenses of the committee will be met by popular subscription, and offers to contribute to the fund came quickly today when the plan was suggested. Meetings will be held daily. The next one will be tomorrow afternoon, when it was predicted today, a score of additional states will be represented.

Every mention of the justice's name brought prolonged applause at today's meeting, and when Gov. Whitman, Frank H. Hitchcock and Col. William Hayward predicted that he not only would be nominated, but elected, the delegates shouted approval.

Several New England delegations were said to be planning a conference with Mr. Hitchcock, with a view to joining the Hughes boom.

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D.

The Mint Family.

The mint family, as we know it, here, contains several desirable annuals, and at least two oddly unique perennials. All the plants belonging to the family are marked by square rather sharp-cornered stems, and more or less fragrance slightly aromatic.

Ordinary mint itself is known to everyone. So likewise is Bergamot, with its bizarre mottled green and yellow leaves.

The Mint Family.

On account of the long tubular blossoms which are honey-laden, the bees love to haunt the plant, and since the bloom practically lasts from early June until the frost comes, the bees and butterflies are in constant attendance at the feast this plant affords them.

I am quite aware that my description, of the plant is a poor one, but at the same time, I do not see how anyone could do better. For those amateurs who truly wish an oddity that is attractive as well as supremely ugly, this plant will prove a real mystery.

But the really desirable member of the tribe that I wish to speak about is a perennial and should be in some corner of every herbaceous border. Old-time gardens contain great clumps of it, known as "Oswego Tea," 'Indian Balm' and "Bee Balm," while as a rule the ordinary catalogs speak of it under the name of "Monardadidyma."

The Salvias, both the red and the blue, are annuals, and much prized for the brilliancy of their coloring. The old-fashioned coleus plants also belong to the annuals of the mint family.

Myself, I have rather considered that the name "Indian Balm" is quite characteristic, and when once you have noted the wild almost savage appearance of the strange flower heads, you will agree with me, because there is really something strange and savage looking about it.

The root winters well, even without the usual winter mulching. But the plant will die out in time, if subdivision is not managed every few years. It is a coarse-foliaged very dark-leaved plant, growing low and bushy seldom more than three feet in height.

The blossoms are difficult of description. A stout square-stemmed stalk comes up, topped by a wild-looking pin-cushiony affair of greenish brown, out of which stand many single very-dark blood-red two-lipped corollas, narrow-throated, tubular and from two to four inches long. Long

Of course it is proper to consider these things as serious defects, but the objection is to considering them as disqualifications. There seems to be a growing impression that type, size, etc., chould take precedence over fancy points of so little practical value.
