OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Present position of the Canadas and the North

Two declarations of independence, we think, is sufficient evidence, that there has existed a party in both Upper and Lower "anada, which intended to separate these Provinces from the British Empire. There exists still, a number of persons in all the Provinces, who designedly, or unwittingly, are urging the same thing, under the disguise of "self government"—" responsible government"—representative government"—"elective, or purely democratic institutions". A number of persons in England have long been promoting, nominally, the same objects. It is obvious, that these objects are inconsistent with the integrity of the Empire. There must be one Sovereign; one supreme legislative authority; one superior executive au. thority, or there can be no unity of expire. The case of Corporations, and of the Sove-reign States of the North American Confedauthority of Parliament, prevail over all cor-porations, which are merely companies of men incorporated for local purposes with no powers of selfgovernment, &c., but all subject to the general law and authority of the monar chy ever present and ready to keep them within the bounds of the acts of incorporation. It would be a strange representative assembly of a colony, which could be brought into the Court of King's Bench, by the ham tlest individual, to have all its doings heard and determined upon, a strange responsible government, whose responsibility would be government, whose temporal whole offering a sources in peace and in war be combined curious sample of sell government and purely against England, elective institutions !. THE SILK WORM'S WILL. By Miss H. F. Gould.

On a plain rush hurdle a silk worm lay, When a groud young princess came that way That took, with a silent gratuude, From the Mulberry leaf, her simple food; And shrunk, half scorn and half disgust, Away from her sister child of dust-Declaring she never yet could see Why a reptile form like this should be, And that she was not made with nerves so firms As calmly to stan i by a "crawling worm !"

With mute forbearance the silk worm took The taunting words, and the spurning look : A like a stranger to self and pride, She'd no aisquiet from aught beside-And lived of a meeknoss and peace possessed Which these debar from the human breast, She only wished for the harsh abuse, To find some way to become of use To the baughty daughter of sordly man; And thus did she lay a noble plan, That the humble worm was not made in A plan so generous, deep aud high, That to carry it out she must even die !

"No more," said she, "will I drink or eat! I'll spin and weave me a winding sheet, To wrap me up from the sun's clear light, And hide my form from the wounded sight. In secret then till my end draws nigh, I'l! toil for her; and when I die, I li leave behind, as a farewell boon, To the proud young princess, my whole cocoon To be reeled and wove to a shining lace,

The general feeling of the inhabitants of the North American Provinces has been, and still is, we believe, in favour of British context of the British Constitutions. The was fully proved during the American revolutionary war, and during the war of 1812; but this feeling may undergo a great change.
