THE JOHNSTOWN HORROR! THE STRIKE COSTS

Mr. Balfour a Visitor in His Majesty's Sick Room.

PERSONNEL OF NEW CABINET

Ovation to Mr. Balfour in the House of Commons. London, July 14. - King Edward received Mr. Balfour in audience today at Buckingham Palace, and delivered to him the seals of his office and the privy seal.

Numerous Changes Foreshadowed-

The momentous change was marked by only one really dramatic incident, namely, the resignation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach from his post of chancellor of the exchequer, but it is safe to say that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is only the first of several whose names have figured largely before the public in the last half-century who now will disappear in the political arena. Nothing absolutely definite is yet settled, but the Unionist party expects shortly to hear of the resignation of Earl Halsbury, lord high chancellor; Lord James of Hereford, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, and Earl Cadogan, lord-lieutenant of Ireland.

For Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's place Right Hon. R. W. Hanbury, now pre-sident of the board of agriculture, is the favorite. CABINET-MAKING. In the pending reconstruction, which may not be completed for some time come, Mr. Balfour will remain the leader of the House of Commons and first lord of the treasury, with Chamberlain still in command of the colonies, as his first lieutenant. If Earl Halsbury, on account of his great age, fulfills predictions by : 2iring, Baron Alverstone will succeed to the woolsack. Sir Richard Henn Collins becoming lord chief justice, B. Finlay succeeding him as master of the rolls; Sir E. H. Carson, now solicitor-general, becoming attorney-general, and probably. Charles Alfred Cripps, attorney-general to the Prince of Wales, succeeding to the solicitor-generalship. one point the members of the House of Commons seemed practically inanimous, and that was that Austen Chamberlain, financial secretary to the treasury, would be promoted, a majority mentioning him as likely to succeed Mr. Hanbury should the latchequer. Friends of Mr. Balfour also said he was certain to require the advice in his cabinet councils of his great friend, George Wyndham, now chief secretary for Ireland. There is no little gossip concerning some changes in the position of Lord George Hamilton, now secretary of state for India, one well-known member of the House of Commons saying he heard that Lord George Hamilton was among those who would throw up their portfolios. Lord Hamilton's bro her-in-law, the Marquis of Lansdowne is regarded as certain to remain in the foreign office, where he is carrying out lines laid down by Lord Salisbury.

NO GENERAL ELECTION. There was apparently no serious andicipation of a general hough in some quarters it is thought the desire attributed to the King to have a new parliament after his coronation might cause an appeal to the country, though the new premier is not believed to see any necessity therefor. Mr. Balfour's first appearance in the House of Commons as premier was characteristic of the man and of the assembly. From the party meeting at the foreign office the members trooped over en bloc, and shortly af-ter 2 o'clock the house was packed. Both front benches were filled with ministers and ex-ministers, except for a vacant place opposite the mace, where Mr. Balfour was such a familfar figure. Suddenly chatter ceased and there stole from behind the speaker's chair the long, thin figure of

THE PRIME MINISTER, From all sides of the house there arose cheers and cries of "Hear, hear." members rose and kept up the applause till Mr. Balfour had sidled along the treasury bench, nearly falling over Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's feet, reached his seat and buried his head in a oluminous question paper. He was blushing like a schoolgirl.

THE LIBERAL LEADER. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, stopped further business by making such a feeling per-sonal reference to Mr. Balfour as is seldom heard in legislative bod-tes, and which was delivered with an emotion that quite unnerved the premier. When Mr. Balfour rose to reply the ovation was renewed, but his voice faltered, and he was only just able hesitatingly to declare that he was too overcome, find words of thanks. After Mr. Bal-four's tribute to Lord Salisbury, which was universally commended for its tactful reserve, the house wis emptied, the members gathering on the terrace and in the lobbies, dis-cussing the important features that the day had brought forth.

CHANGE FOR CHAMBERLAIN. London, July 14.-Late tonight the talk in the parliamentary lobbies revolved about the highly interesting and apparently well-founded state-ment that Mr. Chamberlain desires to exchange the office of colonial secretary for the chancellorship of the exchequer. If that be so, it cannot be doubted that Mr. Chamberlain will carry his point. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's decision to retire from office, but not from the House of Commons, is final, although in deference to Mr. Balfour' persuasion. Sir Michael's retirement may possibly be postponed until the end of the session.

Mr. Balfour's accession to the premiership is a triumph of personal qualities, and by acquiescing therein. Mr. Chamberlain has secured the place next in important in the cabinet. After that of the premier, the post of chancellor of the exchequer is always regarded as the weightiest one. Therefore, it would be the natural place for Mr. Chamberlain.

Location and Cause of the Explosion Is Known.

New Developments at the inquest Promised-114 Deaths Resulted.

Johnstown, Pa., July 14.-Two more deaths of rescued mine victims have ocurred, raising the total fatalities to

"We know where the explosion in the rolling mill mine occurred. We know what caused it. We know who caused it. If he were alive criminal action might reach him. He is dead, undoubtedly. There is nothing sensational about the cause. I will only say that the explosion was not caused by a blast." These statements were made at a standstill. by Joseph A. It is generally regarded as certain that the full extent of the diseaster is now known. State inspectors say tonight that the condition of all the workings are now free of gas, and the almost perfect ventilating appartus are rushing currents of pure air into the subterranean workings. The inspectors would say nothing as to their discoveries. The burial of the victims was simple, in some cases long trenches being dug in place of separate graves. In one of these 25 coffins were lowered. THE HERO, MIKE SABOT. The funeral of Mike Sabot, one of he conspicuous self-sacrificing heroes of the disaster, took place from St. Mary's German Catholic Church. The large church was packed with friends, and those who did not know the little fellow, but who had heard the story of his heroic achievement. Sabot was about 17 years of age. He was a trap boy, and knew the mine thoroughly. He was out at the mouth of one of the headings when the explosion came. He found himself unscathed and immediately rushed to the rescue falling men beyond him. He had dragged three into a working that the afterdamp had not reached, and to his help they owe their lives. Back he plunged into the mines, heading after more bodies. Faintness overcame him, and he toppled over and died. When found his hands were still clutching the clothing of one man in a manner which showed conclusively that the boy was in the act of dragging him

President Curran, of the Freight to visit the various railroads. But his proposition had reverted to the original one, further than ever from the ideas of the railroad managers, and no hope was expressed that a settlement would be made today or even this week. The line between the opposing parties was plainly drawn today, and no move of either side was made to cross .it. Wholesale houses made practically no attempt to send out freight or to receive it. These big establishments were all but closed down. The strike has cost them hundreds of thousands of dollars already, and they stand to lose millions should the conditions which obtained this morning continue.

The loss in wages to the striking freight handlers and their sympathizers, the teamsters, to the railroads and other lines of business, is roughly estimated at considerably over $1,000,-000 a day. The situation is admittedly At 1:30 p.m. President Curran said:

"All of the conferences today have failed, although we sent committees of their own men to the managers, as they had requested. Hereafter the managers will have to confer with officials of the union. If they want to waste $100,000 a day over a question of half a cent increase in wages we will let them try it.' COAL STRIKE BREAKS. Shamokin, Pa., July 14.-Two car-

The strikers made the premier will stay in England to no demonstration. The washery is the witness the ceremony. first to be operated in this region since the anthracite strike was begun. MINERS WILL WANT HELP. Chicago, July 14.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, attended the convention of International Longshoremen's annual convention here today.

Mitchell said of the coal strike: "If the time does not soon come when we succeed we will have to ask for assistance. Failure to attain success would mean a severe stroke to unionism. We must do all in our power to achieve success in this great strike. CRACKER BAKERS STRIKE. Chicago, July 14.—Five hundred bakers of the McMahon Cracker & Biscuit Company went on strike here today. No demands as yet have been made on the company, according to President McMahon. The company is unable to explain the absence of the men from work, inasmuch as the officials say that an increase in the wage scale was granted several weeks ago. The strikers maintain that they are underpaid and have to work ten hours a day instead of nine. PEACE PROCLAIMED. TORONTO ZOO IN MOURNING Lamented Death of the Elephant Princess Rita, From Indigestion.

Toronto, July 15 .- The elephant at the Zoo is dead. Princess Rita she was named. Her demise comes as a severe blow to Ald. Lamb, who has been depending upon her as a source of income for the Zoo by carrying children about the grounds at 5 cents apiece. Indigestion appears to have been the immediate cause of death, as a quantity of undigested hay was found in the stomach. On Friday Drs. Campbell and Bond found a tack embedded in her upper gum. That was removed, and acute indigestion ensued on Sat-urday. It was thought, after a couple of hourse of suffering in the morning, that the critical point was passed, but the patient gradually sank, and succumbed at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The elephant was the gift of the Toronto Street Railway Company. Mr. Wm. Mackenzie said yesterday morning he could not state yet whether or not the animal would be replaced. She cost $1,200 and was seven years old.

The Talk of Another Contingent. Ottawa, July 15 .- In regard to the statement Col. Pellat has been reputed to have made, to the effect that another contingent would be sent from Canada to attend the coronation ceremonies in August, Col. Pinault, Deputy Minister of Militia, said that there was not the least likelihood of the Government taking this action. "The appropriation set apart for the purpose has been exhausted," he remarked, "and we have no money for another contingent. I do not think that it is necessary to send over a second body from the Canadian militia, as the Dominion has shown that it was both willing and eager to take part in the Cape Breton Coal. Sydney, July 15.—It is understood here that a syndicate is being formed in England to acquire and develop the coal areas adjoining the Dominion Coal Company. Mayor Did Not Get Hospital Bylaws as He Wanted.

ALTERED

Mayor Book Proposed to Make It Permanent But Could Not-The Question of Supreme Control.

The Hospital Trust had a long and interesting special meeting yesterday afternoon, at which important work was done. It had been called to discuss the new bylaws that had been prepared for the hospital, and three of the new features of the rules were such as to excite rather warm controversy, indulged in by Mr. Trustee Purdom and the mayor. The latter was the champion of the changes; the former was opposed to the three most important, and fought against them so persistently that notwithstanding that the mayor's following upon the board is usually secure, he was not able to get two of his schemes through in the way he wanted them. Had Mr. Simon McLeod not voted against a resolution which he himself had introduced at the previous meeting, the mayor would have failed on all three, but when it came time for him to second the motion that he had promised to second, Mr. McLeod hedged. He would not second it, with the result that in one matter-the important one of deciding how long the school doctors and those outside shall be in charge at the hospital-the mayor was

The most radical changes adopted by the trust may be summed up thus: That in future the hospital staff be appointed by the trust, and consist of both school doctors and outside doctors, to have charge all the year for periods of two years at a time, or at the pleasure of the trust. No doctors over 60 years of age shall be upon the staff, although when that age he may be eligible for the consulting staff. In the past the staff appointed by the Medical School has had full charge for seven months in the year, and the outside staff for five months, and the staff was appointed only for one year. Mr. Trustee Purdom was most strongly opposed to the bylaw affecting the staff, and consequently

"You want majority rule," Mr. Purdom replied. Mr. Waterman said that he was opposed to such a clause, but when it came to a vote, he would not vote against it. On the mayor's and Mr. McLeod's votes it carried.

Clause 6 referred to the appointment of the staff. It provided that the staff shall consist of medical men of both the school and the outside, that it should have charge of the hospital all of the attending or active staff, two pathologist should serve every three consecutive months; the anesthetists and eye,ear, nose and throat specialists to have patients assigned them, in rotation, and the homeopathic surgeon and physician to attend when requested by any patient desiring homeopathic treatment.

It was at this juncture that Mr. Trustee McLeod went back on himself. At the last meeting he had moved that the Medical School staff have the hospital for seven months, and the outside men for five. Yesterday Purdom again moved this as an amendment to the mayor's motion that the new clause be adopted. Mr. McLeod had promised to second this amendment, but when it came time for him to do so, he would not do so. He seconded the mayor's motion to adopt the new clause. Mr. Purdom therefore moved another amendment that the Medical School staff have the hospital for the six winter months, and the outside men the remaining six, the school staff to have the right to teach during May. He could get no seconder to this and the new clause carried.

WHO IS IN CHARGE?

New Bylaws Put Miss Mayou in Control of Hospital.

The trust decided that Mr. Heard shall be the business superintendent and Miss Mayou the lady superintendent. Mr. Purdom said that the head of the hospital should be a man, and this would not be the case were the bylaws to pass as prepared. They gave Miss Mayou powers which placed her in full control of the hospital, and he said that this should not be so. A woman should not be in charge. "LET ME OUT! WATER."

Express Train Crew's Adventure With a Corpse and a Parrot,

New Haven, Conn., July 15 .- Railroad men here are telling a story about a new messenger aboard the Gilt Edge Express. In the express car with a lot of packages piled around it was a corpse, packed in ice. As the train was pulling out of this city the messenger was horrified to hear a voice coming from behind the pile of bagage: "Let me out. Water! water!"
He called the conductor and a couple of brakemen, and they pulled over the baggage to get to the coffin. When it was reached the messenger put his ear to the end of the box, and in words that had to go around a big lump in his throat, he asked: "Are you there?" The answer was a shrill whistle, which seemed to come from beneath the coffin. One of the trainmen made a break out of the car. The conductor espied a cone-shaped piece of express matter lying near the head of the coffin, wrapped in brown paper. He kicked it and out of the him alone, for the messenger and the second brakeman ran away. The conwith his finger and took out a threecornered piece, showing a big gray passot inside. The tag on the cage read: "Mrs. C. H. Ames, 87½ Marlborough street, Boston, Value, $75."

CUPID IN A PEST HOUSE

Young Man Joins His Sweetheart in Smallpox Quarantine.

Boston, July 15 .- When Miss Clara Van Amburg, of Attleboro, was quarantined for smallpox, three younger sisters went voluntarily to share her peril. Now her sweetheart, Marshal S. Priggs, has joined the party in the pest house on the town farm. Several days ago Miss Van Amburg was taken sick. Dr. Mosher at once recognized symptoms of smallpox. He vaccinated her and notified the local poard of health. The latter quarantined the boarding house at which she lived. As a result fifteen or twenty persons were confined to the house. All the employes of the factory in which the young girl worked were vaccinated.

Marshal S. Priggs, thinking he might have smallpox, left town. He was employed as a motorman on the electric road. He went to Greenwood, but later decided that if he have the smallpox it would be much more pleasant to have it in Attleboro, so he returned to the boarding house where his sweetheart had lived. There the doctors of the health board found him, and it was decided that he was a fit candidate for detention in the pest house, and a small building was erected for his occupancy.

Miss Van Amburg's three sisters asked to be vaccinated, and insisted on caring for her during her illness. Marshal S. Priggs drove the Van Amburg sisters to the pest house. All four young women were strenuous anti-vaccinationists, and at the time of the scare last winter refused to be vaccinated.

TOY PISTOLS CAUSE LOCKJAW

Drowning Accidents at Frome and Sarnia-Ekfrid Man Killed by Lightning.

Windsor, Ont., July 15 .- John, the 14months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ritchie, of 37 Fourth avenue, Walkerville, died on Sunday afternoon at the Joseph Campau dock, Detroit. In the morning Mrs. Ritchie gave the child some peanuts, and a husk stuck in his windpipe, causing him to cough violently. After a vain endeavor to stop the coughing. Dr. Hoare was summoned and advised that the boy be immediately taken to Harper Hospital, Detroit. The doctors examined him with an X-ray, but were unable to locate the husk. The family returned home and the child seemed quite well again. He ate a hearty dinner, and was playing with some companions when another fit seized him. Dr. Hoare was again summoned, and again sent the child to the hospital. When the Campau dock was reached his condition was so serious that an ambulance was summoned. The surgeon administered an emetic, but the child strangled in its mother's arms. Just before he died the boy emitted the husk that caused his death. The heartbroken parents took the little body to their home in Walkerville.

DEADLY TOY PISTOLS. Bay City, Mich., July 15 .- Walter Harris died yesterday from lockjaw, the third victim in 72 hours, in each of which the affliction was traced to injuries on the hands by toy pistols on the Fourth. He was 17 years old.

DR. MURRAY INJURED.

Halifax, N. S., July 15 .- Dr. Robert Murray, editor of the Presbyterian Witness, is in the Victoria Hospital, suffering from injuries. He had gone to the city prison on Sunday afternoon to preach to the inmates, and was being driven home in a carriage by his son. One of the wheels caught, and the son was thrown out and dragged along face downwards, receiving a nasty cut. The horse dashed along two block further, and then Dr. Murray was thrown out. He was badly cut about the head, but no bones were broken.

SEVERAL DROWNINGS. Sarnia Tunnel, Ont., July 15.-While playing on a raft alongside the dock yesterday, Walter Bush, the 10-year-old son of John Bush, G. T. R. conductor, was drowned in the river. A sad feature of the occurrence is that the lad's mother is at present in the hospital, where she had undergone on operation. While the work of dragging for the body was going on, two young men who day afternoon. The young man was in dived from a steamer was nearly drown- the peak of the barn fixing the hay-fork

St. Thomas, Ont., July 15.-Mrs. Sarah Ann Hansley, wife of Robert Hansley, living on the Back street at Frome, met death on Sunday morning by drowning in a well. Mrs. Hansley was missed early in the morning, and a search at once instituted, with the result that the body was found in the well. The unfortunate victim, who was about 60 years of age, had been subject to melancholy for some time, but it is not know whether death was accidental or intentional.

The system followed by the trust, according to Pinchin, is to announce that it has the sole right to sell a certain brand of cigarettes and American tobacco in Canada, and the wholesale dealers cannot have their orders for these brands filled if the wholesale dealers cannot have their orders for these brands filled if they sell the telesale they sell the tobacco manufactured by outside firms. In many cases the threat has had the desired effect, entailing a loss to the firms outside the trust, and the Canadian Government was finally asked to stop the practice.

The whereabouts of E. E. Coulter, 40 years old, of Toronto, is causing great anixety to the family of his brother. Archibald Coulter, of 23 Pitt street east. E. E. Coulter is a traveler for Eastman & Co., of Buffalo, and visited Windsor on July 2 to see his brother. On Tuesday night he left the house, saying he was going to Detroit, and would return in a little while. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since, and his brother fears that he has met with an accident. All his baggage is in Windsor. He has a family in Toronto.

The old question of uniting Walkerville and Windsor under one name and one municipal government is being discussed once more by a few of Windsor's citizens. That such an amalgamation will ever materialize seems extremely improbable, judging from the opinion of several of Windsor's prominent men. Walkerville, is controlled by the Walkers, who incorporated the place as a separate town in order that they might manage their own affairs, and it is said that no inducement would lead them to unite with Windsor. The fact that Walkerville's tax rate for the current year is 9 mills, while that of Windsor will be nearly 25, practically settles the question. Another hitch would come in the matter of a name. Windsor is well known, and any change would cause trouble and confusion, and the city is much older and larger than Walkerville. On the other hand, Walkerville is by far the more active and enterprising of the two, and would be unwilling to take second place. The shorts distance between the two places is well built up, so that a stranger might pass from one town to the other without being aware of changing municipalities. miles southeast of Glencoe, was struck also in the barn, received a severe

The majority of the council was absolutely so far as can be judged by surface shamed out of its original intention to prevent competition of any kind, and the mayor felt impelled, for the first time, to put himself on record. It is breaking new fiscal ground, but not to the credit of the mayor or his his appointment would greatly alarm British did, and of the Austrian field aldermanic friends that it has required free trade sentiment, so that it is weeks and months of vigorous agitation to force them into a simple act of Wyndham or Mr. Hanbury. A crushing monopoly is the only thing that would drive the city into such a costly project, but fortunately there is now some guarantee of effective competition. But will the transmission of Niagara power to municipalities oblige them to buy up local plants? It depends whether the municipality, as a corporation, purchases the power for distribution within its own limits, or whether the power is transmitted and sold to individual consumers in a city or town by the Niagara Company, as a private undertaking. There is no reason to believe that even Niagara power would put local electric companies out of business. In Buffalo, only twenty miles from the Falls, the steam plants are able to hold their own against Niagara competition, the only effect being a reduction in the cost of energy, to the great advantage of the city.

is proved by the statistics of the world's shipping, as reported by Lloyd's Register. The figures show the shipping of the world as 17,156 steamers, with a tonnage of 25,859,987, and 12,472 sailing vessels, with the tonnage of 6,577,776, bringing the total number of vessels in the mercantile marines of the world up to 29,628, with a tonnage of 32,437 Great Britain stands first as regards tonnage; in fact, she has almost half of the tonnage of the world, the figures being 15,546,897. America comes secpnd, with a tonnage of 3,337,156. Germany third, with 3,138,568 tons; Norway fifth, with 1,632,757; France fifth, with 1,519,922, and Italy sixth, with 1,-

The great factor in the ocean commore than 5,000 tons. Lloyd's Register divides these into three classes-those from 5,000 to 7,000 tons, those from 7.000 to 10,000 tons, and those over 10.000 tons. In the first class England has 271, in the second 98, in the third 34. German has 52 in the first, 12 in the second, 26 in the third. The United States has 31 in the first, 3 in the second and 6 in the third. France has 21 in the first 4, in the second and 2 in the third. Belgium and Holland have 6 in the first, 1 in the second and 3 in the third. No other country can boast of a merchant vessel in excess of 10,000 tons. Russia has 10 vessels in the first class and 2 in the second. Austria has 3 and 1, while Denmark has 1 ship in excess of 7,000 tons. Japan has 16 in the first class, while Spain has 6 in the same division. The flag of no other country floats over a merchant ship of 5,000 tons. Of the ships over 403. Germany 90, America 40, France 27 and Holland and Belgium 10. So which shows Great Britain still a long way in the lead.

In speed, Germany holds the first place, for she has at least three ships vessels of any other country. But the business of the world is not done with these record breakers, not even the mail carrying, except on the Atlantic. If all the vessels in excess of 2,500 tons that can steam from 14 to 20 knots an hour are classed together as fast merchantmen, England has some 184, Uncle in Canada, of the crown-and he should Sam 60, Germany 29, France 25, Japan have salary enough to indemnify him 10, and Russia 5. subsidizing her merchant marine. In this connection it is interesting to note Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's proposition to the British Government, giving it the option for 50 years of demanding in time of war any of the British ships in the big combine. This shows that Mr. Morgan "doesn't care hame. a fig for a flag," as Mr. Carnegie put it, but that the combine is a purely commercial enterprise, entirely nonnational. In this way it will be a powerful influence in favor of a general

Premier Ross, with his usual energy and sense of public duty, is taking advantage of his European trip to look into the conditions of the Norwegian lumber industry. Norway is Canada's chief rival in the export of pulpwood to the British market.

One of the aldermen last night threatened to "let the press know something." Out with it. Favors should be reciprocal. We imagine the press has let a few aldermen know something, judging by their somersaults on the power question.

It is pointed out that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as Premier of the Dominion, merce of today is the steamship of draws a salary only half as large as that paid Sir Percy Girouard, another Canadian, as director of South African railways. The Premier's salary is positively mean, considering the expense to which he is subjected by his official position. Sir Wilfrid has discouraged any discussion of the question, but we are glad to see the Conservative press taking it up again, and demanding that he shall not suffer this continued injustice. The Ottawa Citizen says: "The Citizen, while differing politically from the premier, has never been slow to recognize on occasion his high personal qualities and his eminent services to the Dominion and empire. Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mr. G. H. McConnell, engineer in Fleury's foundry, Aurora, Ont., states: I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth its weight in gold. For about thirty years I was troubled with eczema and could not obtain any cure. I was so unfortunate as to have blood poison, and this developed in eczema, the most dreadful of skin diseases. "I was so bad that I would get up at night and scratch myself until flesh was raw and flaming. The torture I endured is almost beyond description, and now I cannot say anything too good for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has cured me and I recommend it because know there is nothing so good for itching skin.'

Few people realize the suffering caused by eczema and other itching skin diseases. This is an example of what Dr. Chase's Ointment is doing in the way of relieving suffering mankind. Engagement to Mrs. Affred Corning Clarke Announced.

New York, July 15 .- The engagement is announced of the Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, D.D., Bishop of New York, to Mrs. Alfred Corning Clark, of this city and of Cooperstown, N. Y. Mrs. Clark is well known as a generous dispenser of her wealth for good causes of all kinds. Besides building model tenements at Sixty-eighth and Sixty-ninth streets, Amsterdam and West End avenues, Mrs. Clark erected the Alfred Corning Clark Neighborhood House, at Cannon and Rivington streets, for kindergartens, boys' clubs, working classes, etc. At Cooperstown the Young Men's Christian Association building, containing a museum and village library, and maintained by her, is additional evidence of her public spirit. She also maintains an Alfred Corning Clark gymnasium at Cooperstown. The town also owes to her the free use of the J. Fenimore Cooper grounds as a public park. Mrs. Clark has long been known as a patron of the fine arts. Bishop Potter is now in Europe, and is expected back during the summer. He has quite recovered from his recent indisposition. The date of the marriage has not yet been settled.

Montreal, July 14.—About 400 head of butchers' cattle, 200 calves and 300 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the east end abattoir today. Trade in cattle and calves was very dull, with not much improvement in the low prices prevailing last Thursday. Really good cattle were scarce, and sold at 5½c to 6c per 1b; medium beasts brought from 3%c to 5½c, and the common stock from 2½c to 3½c per 1b; calves sold at $2 to $6 each; shippers paid 3½c per 1b for good large sheep, and the butchers paid from 3c to 3½c per 1b for the others; lambs sold at $2 to $6 to a little over $4 each; very few fat hogs were on the market, and there seems to be very little demand for them, and no sales were reported; prices are nominally from 6½c to 6¾c per 1b, weighed off the cars. FRENCH PRAISE KITCHENER. London, July 15 .- The Paris correspondent of the Times says a few weeks ago many French papers were insulting Lord Kitchener and making him Great Britain's scapegoat and the butt of their Anglophobia. Now they have discovered unsuspected merits in him, saying that perhaps he is not yet sufficiently appreciated by his countrymen. Nearly all the papers recall Kitchener's service when he enlisted in 1870 in the second army of the Loire and risked his life France. For the concentration camps system he is no longer held responsible; it is said he simply obeyed orders which he regretted.

The annual demonstration of the League of Patroits took place before the Strasburg statue and the Joan of Arc statue, on the pedestal of which they laid wreaths. It passed off peacefully. Throughout the forenoon the streets were enlivened by martial music from regiments marching to the Bols de Boulogne, where the entire garrison of Paris was assembled by one o'clock. Free matinees were given at the Opera Francais and Opera Comique, and even at other theaters, which were all filled with audiences mostly composed of working people, many of whom waited from dawn until the opening of the doors. Serious Accident to Officer and Cadets at West Point, N. Y.

West Point, N. Y., July 15.—Captain Edwin St. John Greble and Capt. Ed-mund M. Blake, instructors in artillery tactics, had the entire first class of cadets out for a drill on Saturday. Cadet Collins, of Illinois, rode the lead horse of the four drawing the gun carriage, and Cadets Phillips, of Ohio, Grier, of Pennsylvania, Boughton, of Michigan, and R. C. In passing along a road at the foot of 'Cro' Nest" mountain, near the intersection of the one leading to Newburg, and below which there is an embankment of 15 feet, the lead horse began acting badly, and Capt. The prelate's guests sat down to the episcopal good cheer thankfully enough, at eight; but then they hadn't been walking in the park at half-past seven with a Mrs. Latimer.

And Ada went home and drank her tea, and sat in her solitude, thankful to be so near the park, watching the glowing hues of sunset, as she thought what a beautiful world this was, even in London, and wondering—Oh! how she wondered!—when she should see him again.

[To be Continued.] Gilbert and his companion turned at the Serpentine after another hearty stare Into the horse-pond, and proceded to retrace their steps at the same leisurely tate, but with fewer stoppages. The park was thinning rapidly; and the bevy of beauty had fied from its parterres as the ducks do from a disturbed decoy. Only a few of the boldest were left, such, indeed, as had nothing to fear from the strategems of the fowler. Sleepy hacks—and what steed is so mettled but that he does get sleepy in London?—were roused for their final canter, and flittering forms were fast disappearing through the many egresses of the park.

John had just pulled out his watch with a smothered yawn, and voted it time to dress for dinner, when he was startled by sudden wrench of his friend's arm from his own that well-nigh spun the watch out of his hand, accompained by an exclamation of profane vehemence and indubitable surprise. Ere he had recovered his equanimity Gilbert was a hundred vards off, striding away at the rate of six miles an hour in pursuit of a female figure carrying a roll of music in her hand, who was herself making such good way as argued no mean pedestrian powers.

John gave vent to a prolonged whistle; Tate, but with fewer stoppages. The John gave vent to a prolonged whistle; such a whistle as is the male rendering of a woman's "Well, I never!" and pocketing his watch, pursued his walk with a comical expression of pity about his mouth. Gilbert meanwhile was coming up rapidly with the chase, and his self-possession was failing him in proportion. There was no mistaking her. Tastefully but quietly dressed, as one who would avoid observation, her veil drawn over her face, and her head rather bent down as she scudded along at a pace such as only feet and ankles like Ada's can command. There was no doubt in Gilbert's mind that it could be none other than Mrs. Latimer. What to say to her? How to account for his intrusion? He was breathless when he came alongside; and yet Gilbert could breast a Highland mountain, and whistle a Jacobite air without a false note the while.

He doffed his hat with the greatest diffidence. She did not offer to shake hands with him, but bowed rather distantly in return. Then he "hoped Mrs. Latimer was quite welk Had she seen Miss Jones since they met at the Villa? What a prefty villa it was?"

Mrs. Latimer "had seen Miss Jones yesterday, and it was a pretty villa."

Rather a deadlock than otherwise. Both their hearts were beating fast, and they were walking a liberal four miles an hour.

"I am going across the park," stamthey were walking a liberal four miles an hour.

"I am going across the park," stammered the gentleman (and perhaps if "the longest way round" be indeed "the shortest way home." he had chosen a judicious route for Green street). "Pray, allow me to carry that—that—parcel for you; emphasizing the substantive as though it had, been a clothes basket.

"Thank you, it's not very heavy," she said, repressing a smile. Nor was it, indeed, being but a single sheet of music. He would have liked it to weigh a ton, though, in that case, she would have probably have returned with it in a wagon. She almost wished she had!

Ada was getting frightened; yet was she proveked with herself too. It seemed absurd that she should make difficulties about walking a couple of hundred yards with an acquaintance! After all, he had been regularly introduced to her, and she was old enough to take care of herself; so she summoned up courage to thank him again, and told him she had been giving a singing-lesson down in Belgravia to a new pupil, and mentioned the acolyte's name, insisting somewhat unrecessarily on her profession, and flourishing it, so to speak, in her companion's face, though she would have been puzzled to explain why she did so.

All this was lost upon Gilbert.

"My cousin Gertrude!" he exclaimed.

face, though she would have been puzzled to explain why she did so.

All this was lost upon Gilbert.

"My cousin Gertrude!" he exclaimed. In a rapture: "do you teach Gertrude? I am glad you know her; don't you like her very much? Then that is the reason she left the park so early today. I always thought she had a good voice. Will she sing well? I am sure she will if you try to make her. I hope she won't sing that song about the angels though."

"Why not? Don't you like it?" she asked and a moment afterward she rebukedsherself for the question. 'Both the angels will sing it to me when I am dying. Like it! I have never been able to get it out of my head. I hum it all day, and dream of it all night; and yet, do you know, I don't think I should like to hear it sung by anybody again who "Like it: ung by anybody again whocluded, rather lamely. cluded, rather lamely. She thought it best to try back upon I gave Lady Gertrude her first lesson

"I gave Lady Gertrude ner hist lessen today," she resumed. "I think she is a very promising pupil. I shall take great pains with her. I—didn't know she was your co sin," she was going to say, but she stopped herself just in time.

"How fond you must be of music!" had interposed, not caring to discuss Germudo's merits just then "What a pleas-"How fond you must be of music!" had interposed, not earling to discuss Gertrude's merits just then. "What a pleasure it must be to call up such feelings in your listeners, and to make fools of them at your will! Music and mesmerism always seem to me the powers I should covet the most to possess. It is a gratifying thing to command the bodies of one's fellow-creatures, but what a triumph it must be to know that one can sway their minds. Don't you feel like an empress, Mrs. Latimer, when hundreds are hanging on every word that comes from your lips?"

"Indeed I don't." she replied simply and frankly enough. "At first I used to be frightened out of my wits, and even now I'm always glad when a concert is over. If I was rich I should never sing in public: and yet I dearly love music, too, for its own sake."

"Of course you do!" he exclaimed, enthusiastically. "What would I give to possess the charm that you do, and which you seem to value so lightly! To elevate the minds of so many above their everyday vulgar cares and distresses, and to bring back to them, as you can, if only for five minutes, the holfest and happiest period of their lives. It is no light thing. Mrs. Latimer, to influence any one hurnan being, as that song of yours has influenced me, ever since the first fime I heard it at the concert."

Gilbert had got into his swing now, and was striding away like a winning horse over all obstacles. What more high-flown opinions he might have broached it is difficult to guess, for at this juneture he was brought to a halt by the Edgeware road—a thoroughfare which his companion had resolved from the first was te prove a barrier between them, impassable as the Styx.

which his companion had resolved from the first was to prove a barrier between them, impassable as the Styx.

Arrived at its fatal brink she stopped short and took leave of him gracefully and kindly enough, but with an air which told him plainly that he would not be suffered to attend her a yard farther on her journey. To do him justice, he obeyed the implied behest without a murmur. They shook hands, though and lingered, both of them for helf a second after the ceremony that concluded what each felt had been a very charming walk.

"Good-bye, Mrs. Latimer!"
"Good-bye, Mr. Orme!" "Good-bye, Mr. Orme!"
Glbert never thought his own name so pretty as when he heard it spoken in those soft, gentle tones.
How late he was for dinner that day at his great-uncle's, the bishop's; how absent all the evening; how glad when it was over! The opium-eater has but little appetite for natural food. The richest draught is flat and tasteless to him who grasps that cup of which the first sip is nector, poisoned though it be!

> Sporting men are of the opinion that Terry McGovern is taking big changes these days when he plays ball or rides a mile on a bicycle against time. They figure that the slightest kind of a mishap might interfere greatly with his chances in his coming bout with Young Corbett, which is to take place at New London on Aug. 29. While McGovern is enjoying himself awheel or watching the races, Young Corbett is quietly putting himself in shape for the championship mill. He intends to de-fend his title against the Brooklynite, and he realizes that he must be in good condition to succeed.

The recent reports regarding Kid Lavigne's insanity were highly colored, judging by the following letter from his brother Bill from Stockton, Cal.: 'The kid is getting on well. He was a sick boy for a few days, but the worst is over, and it will be but a short time, probably two weeks, be fore he will be away out here. Frank Erne, wearing a luxurious pearl gray summer suit and a dinky Panama hat of the silkiest texture, wafted himself into town like a summer breeze, and ran into crowds of congratulatory friends, says the Buffalo News. Frank said he had no plans at present. "I am not going to think fight or talk fight this summer," said he last night. "I will not undertake to train again in the hot weather, so what is the use of jawing around about fights when they are so far off? It isn't true that I have an offer to go back to England next year, to fight Pat Daly, either. I had a good time and whipped my man rather easily. He had a wicked right, but I could see it coming and could get cut of the way of it. I feinted him so that he got all tangled up and fell down several times without being hit, and the referee sitting on a stool outside the ring had to caution him against going down to avoid punishment."Erne will spend a good part of the summer down on his farm at Lewiston.

Within two weeks the much mooted heavyweight championship question between Jim Jeffries, present holder of the title, and Bob Fitzsimmons will be settled-barring, of course, unforeseen happenings, writes George Siler. The men had been in training nearly two months, and when the gong clangs calling them to the center of the ring on the night of July 25, to exchange fistic courtesies, they will be, it is hoped, as fit as a rigid course of training can make them. Recent reports from Jeff's camp say the big fellow is having trouble with his left arm, but that it will be fit for piledriving purposes when he strips for action. reliance, however, should not be placed in the report that it will be free from pain throughout the contest, should it run along to ten rounds or over It will be remembered he injured the arm while training for his fight with Sharkey; that the contest, on account of the injury was postponed a week, and that the arm was useless for hitting purposes after the fourth round. Reports from Bob's training quarters have Fitz as fit as the proverbal fiddle, and as spry as a young colt. Jeff cut out his road work several days ago, and is preparing to pull up stakes at Harbin Springs and hie himself to Oakland, where, as for his battle with Ruhlin last November, he will put on the finishing touches. Fitz win probably remain at Skaggs Springs until 48 hours before the contest, despite the fact that the club managers would much prefer to have him within walking distance of the scene of the con-

New York's Critics Upset and Acknowledge It.

Everybody is looking for an extraordinary show when the Adam Fore-paugh and Sells Brothers' consolidation omes to town. For the last five years the New York newspapers have been saying that they were the best shows ever seen in the metropolis, and some. of the papers say each spring when they open the season at Madison Square Garden that the shows have reached the limit of greatness in every direction-there is no possibility of possible improvement. But these ahead managers, who own and operate the shows always smile quietly and say, "Yes, they are the best up to date, but wait." The year following they return with these shows to the Garden and say, "Now look at them." The result is the same statement repeated by the newspapers. It was just so this the newspapers. It was just so this last month of April, which they put in at the Garden. It really does look as if the limit were reached now, and the managers admit that it will tax their ingenuity and their resources to the utmost to improve upon the shows as put together for this season. The management pledges its good faith to the statement that the shows will be precisely the same in every detail here as they were in New York. The date here is Thursday, July 17.

to Committee.

The McClary Request Granted-Ald. Pritchard for No. 1-Other Council Business

The Rectory street railway line and the Sifton application for permission to supply electric power and light to the citizens of London were again before the city council last night, and after being made the subject of lengthy discussion-some of it to the point and some not-were again disposed of temporarily. The street railway matter was referred back to the special committee, which has had the matter in hand, and the committee will consult the city solicitor as to the best and promptest method of securing the decompany. The Sifton matter was dealt with rather more definitely, being sent to the city solicitor with instructions to prepare an agremeent and a bylaw, the conditions being those set forth in a resolution submitted by Ald. Pritchard and accepted by an almost unani-mous vote of council. The balance of the session, which lasted for over three hours, was occupied in dealing with other items of city business. The mayor occupied the chair most spectators were in attendance. THE SIFTON APPLICATION Sent to the Solicitor for Preparation of Agreement.

The Sifton application was brought before the council by clause 7 of the report of the board of works, whch had been moved by Ald. Jolly in committee, as follows: "With the object of giving competiion in electric light and power to the citizens of London, this committee re-commends that E. I. Sifton be granted commends that E. I. Sifton be granted the privilege of stringing wires across or over the streets in the city of London, under the direction and supervision of the city engineer, for the purpose of supplying current for electric class of the possibility of an amagarmation with some other company, which might deprive the citizens of the need-ed competition. The proviso that Mr. Sifton should not take advantage of the provisions of the Conmee act was posse of supplying current for electric pose of supplying current for electric light and power on the following terms and conditions: That he will within six months from the passing of a bylaw extend electric light and power wires under the direction and subject to the supervision of the city engineer and No. 2 committee, throughout an area in the city bounded as follows,

Ontario street and Rectory street on the east, Hamilton road and Horton street on the south, Wharr life road on the west, and Oxford st et on the north, and also in that portion of London South bounded by the Vharncliffe road on the west, and Elmwood avenue on the south, and shall supply current to all citizens within the said areas lesiring the same; that the rates for electric light and power in the outlying portions of the city shall not ex-ceed the rates in the center portion that is, that the current for electric light and power shall be supplied to all citizens within such areas at the same rates and upon the same granting the privilege, enter into an agreement, to be prepared and approved of by the city solicitor under the direction of No. 2 committee, agreeing to carry out the provisions, terms and conditions of the bylaw, and shall give security satisfactory to No. 2 commit-tee and the city solicitor for the proper carrying out and fulfillment of the bylaw and agreement. Also providing that if he does not carry out the agreement and bylaw, the privileges shall cease.' ALD. CAMPBELL'S AMENDMENT.

Ald. Campbell was the first member of the council to start the discussion which followed. He was not prepared, he said, to support the clause, for the reason that it would not do what it purported to do-give competition in electric ... ht and power. It would not put the two companies on the same level, for while it provided that Mr. Sifton must supply electricity to outlying portions of the city at the same rate as to the central districts, it left the London Company to harge what it wished. If Mr. Sifton were required to put his wires all over the city, then, in order to put him on a level with the London Company, he should be given a $25,000 contract by the city.

Ald. Campbell then moved an amendment as follows:
"That all the words after the words terms and conditions,' in the seventh clause of the committee's report, struck out, and the following be inserted: 'That he will provide light power to citizens under the limitations and conditions that apply to the London Electric Light Company, and that the solicitor be instructed to prepare an agreement and bylaw to that effect, with all necessary provisions to guard the interests of the city."

ENCOURAGE OLD INDUSTRIES.

Ald. Greenlees, in supporting Ald. Campbell's amendment, said that the question had been some months under consideration, and it was time some conclusion was reached. At the outset of the fight, the only thing heard from the London Company was a request for fair play, but Ald. Greenlees said he doubted if fair play had characterized later developments. However, what the citizens wanted was competition in the supplying of light and power. Competition could only be secured by taking the offer of a new company and giving it some support. Ald. Green-lees said he was in favor of giving privileges not to one company alone, but to a dozen companies if they wanted it, so long as it meant cheaper light and power. Much is said of securing new industries, but Ald. Greenlees thought the old established industries deserved some encouragement. They

A RIDICULOUS MOTION. Ald. Gerry said he thought Ald. Jolly's motion was a ridiculous one, and he had opposed it in committee. In Street Railway Bylaw Back Hamilton power was supplied at $15 per horse-power, and because of this per horse power was supplied at $15 per horse-power, and because of this per horse power was supplied at $15 per horse-power, and because of this per horse power was supplied at $15 per horse-power was supplied at $15 pe London had lost an immense manufacturing industry. In Toronto the rate was even less. Ald. Gerry thought the aldermen should look after the city's interests and not after those of any special company.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT.

Ald. Pritchard rose and introduced the following amendment to the amendment, it being seconded by Ald.

"That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw granting to Edgar I. Sifton the privilege of stringing wires across and over the streets in the city of London for the purpose of supplying current for electric light and power to the citizens, and do also prepare an agreement to be signed by said E. I. Sifton to supply current for light and power on terms and condi-tions similar to those contained in the bylaw and agreement made with the Canadian General Electric Company, but that such bylaw and agreement contains provisions as follows:

"That the said Edgar I. Sifton shall not assign, transfer or set over the sired result from the street railway said privilege to any person, firm, company or corporation without first obtaining the consent of the municipal council of London. "That the said city shall not be compelled at any time to purchase the plant of the said Edgar I. Sifton under the provisions of the Ontario statute, commonly known as the Conmee act, in case the corporation should at any time decide to supply current for its own use or for the use of the citizens. "That the said Edgar I. Sifton do give satisfactory security to indemni-fy against any loss or damage caused of the time, and every member of the council was present. A large number of to the corporation, or any person, firm, company, or corporation by reason of stringing his wires across or over the streets of the city."

MAYOR WANTS COMPETITION.

The mayor, in supporting Ald. Pritchard's amendment, said he considered it a good solution of the question, covering as it did the objections which had been taken to the granting of an unconditional agreement to Mr. Sifton.
The object of the first clause, he said, was not to prevent Mr. Sifton from turning his concern into a joint stock company or otherwise changing the character of his company; it was to prevent the possibility of an amalgaalso a needed safeguard for the city. The mayor believed also that Mr. Sifton should use the poles of the existing company, at a rental to be fixed by arbitration, instead of having the streets further disfigured by new lines of poles. The mayor said he felt that competition was needed in the supplying electricity, and just because he himself, for example, might not be able to take advantage of it for his Albert street factory, he did not want to see nis fellow-manufacturers in the ter of the city deprived of it. He hoped that all the aldermen would favor the amendment to the amendment.

SENT TO THE SOLICITOR.

Ald. Jolly thought it would be a mistake if Mr. Sifton was not made to string his wires within a certain area. The result would be that Mr. Sifton would supply power to only a few within the vicinity of his small plant. The city would find itself in a box. Ald. Campbell withdrew his amendment, and Ald. Pritchard's amendment terms and conditions. That he shall went before the council. In putting it within 20 days after a bylaw be passed the mayor asked the mover if he had went before the council. In putting it any objection to having incorporated in the agreement the proviso that the present poles were to be used in stringing Mr. Sifton's wires. Ald. Pritchard replied that he had not. The amendment carried on the following divi-

The clause carried. NO CANS FOR STREETS.

The rest of No. 2 committee's report excited little interest. The first three clauses passed without question.

Ald. Gerry moved that W. H. Yeoman's proposition to supply 100 or more receptacles for rubbish, he to have the privilege of advertising thereon, be accepted for a term of ten years. The motion was lost by a vote of 7 to 4. The committee's recommendation, hat Engineer Graydon's cancelation of P. M. Fox's gravel contract be not sustained, was carried. Ald, Jolly opposed the recommendation and moved that the engineer's action be upheld. ALD. COOPER DIDN'T TELL

The committee also recommended that no action be taken regarding broken stone on streets, instead of gravel.
Ald. Winnett warned No. 2 committee that it need not expect to foist its supply of broken limestone on the people who want macadam roads of granite. Ald. Cooper said the broken stone on hand could be sold to contractors, and he said that it was a form of speculation that the city was justified in carrying on. Ald. Campbell moved that the clause pe struck out. Ald. Jolly seconded it.

"If you want me to tell why you oppose this clause," said Ald. Cooper, 'I'll mighty soon tell." "Let her rip," said Ald. McMechan.

"Yes, I'll tell the press, too," said Ald. Cooper, but he didn't tell.

The clause recommending that, if the city has power, a bylaw be introduced to prohibit spitting on sidewalks and in public conveyances, was passed without discussion.

TO PROTECT CROSSINGS.

Railways To Be Asked for More Gates. Watchmen and Signals.

A minority report of the finance committee was presented. It submitted a letter from Engineer Graydon in reference to railway crossings within the city. The engineer wrote: "C. P. R. crossing-There is protection in the way of gates at Richmond street on this road, a watchman is stationed at Waterloo street, and gates at Ann street. The rest of the crossings along the different streets are not protected in any way. On motion it was decided to ask the C. P. R. to place gates and a watch-man at Adelaide street, and an electric signal at Colborne street. The G. T. R. will be asked for gates and a watchman at Egerton street, and the L. E. and D. R. R. will be requested to erect a signal bell at their crossing at Hamilton road and Maitland street.

O. LISTEN TO THE BAND. The committee report stated that two band concerts had already been at a cost of $63 50. They asked A. T. Essery ... 10 8 7 7 7 6 given at a cost of $63 50. They asked if the grant was to be increased or the number of concerts reduced. A further grant of $60 was made, and the committee was instructed to pay no more than $30 per concert. No. 2 committee requested to be informed of the date of the next concert, as the committee wished to take up a collection at the gates to defray cost of new benches for the park.

WANTED TREES TRIMMED. No. 3 committee, in its report, asked the council to instruct No. 2 committee to have the engineer order the obstructed. This provoked a short discussion, in the course of which several aldermen expressed the opinion that many of the existing trees in the city should be removed. The question of repairing or tearing down the veranda on the east side of Covent Garden Market was referred back to committee to secure engineer's estimate of cost of repairs. BACK TO COMMITTEE.

Solicitor to Again Pronounce On Street Railway Question.

Dr. Campbell, chairman of the special committee appointed to confer with the London Street Railway Company, presented the following report: Your comn ferences with Vice-President Smallman purpose of supplying power for hoists. and Manager Carr. We find that the company takes the ground that the city is bound to carry out the terms third reading on the evening of June 21. But recognizing that the council is not now disposed to accept the terms and conditions of this bylaw the representatives of the company expressed a willingness to negotiate with a view to effecting a compromise. No definite proposition to this end was made, but after discussing several suggestions, they consented to accept the bylaw with clause 5 stricken out, to make the other extension required, and to continue to operate Rectory street line, provided the council will pay for a watchman on the Rectory street crossing or make such arrangements with the G. T. R. as will relieve the street railway company from the expense of a watchman at such crossing. The committee does not recommend this arrangement to council for adoption." WOULD BE AN INJUSTICE.

In the discussion which followed, Ald. Dreaney said it would be an injustice to expect the city to pay for the company's watchman at the crossing. The company should be made to operate the line. If the city had its rights, the company would be paying Ald. Cooper said he was willing to move that the company be made to operate the Rectory street line and to make the extensions required by bylaw, estimating the population of the city at 40,000.

The report was adopted. WANTED BYLAW PASSED.

The matter again came up for discussion when the bylaw governing the London Street Railway was given its second reading. Ald. Dreaney moved, seconded by Ald. Gerry, that clause 5 be struck out and that the bylaw be then read a third time. Winnett and Pritchard advoit as a fact. Ald. cated the laying of the bylaw on the table. Both dreaded a long and costly lawsuit. They thought if the bylaw was laid over, something new might turn up before next council

Ald. Dreaney objected to any action which looked like letting the London Street Railway Company have its own way in running the city.

BE A MISTAKE, SAYS THE MAYOR.

The mayor thought it would be a mistake to pass a bylaw that the street railway company would not accept. He was not as hopeful as some of the ing, Indigestion, or other forms of Stomembers of the council that an arrangement could be reached with the used them and have been cured. company. He desired to avoid litigation, but he was prepared to make every effort to retain the present lines and secure the additional trackage to which the city is entitled, according to which the city is entitled, according to the city solicitor's opinion.
