The British Budget.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Goschen, in a speech yesterday, said the national finances promised well. Regarding the surplus on the budget, he advised that the public expectation should be rather more moderate than it appeared to be. He hoped the surplus would be utilized in lightening the people's burdens. He could only promise that there should be a bill to amend the savings bank law.

Earl Galloway in Trouble Again.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Earl of Galloway, who was acquitted last October of having assaulted a little girl named Gibson, was arrested in Glasgow yesterday on the charge of accosting and molesting a 16-year-old girl named Margaret Brown. He was admitted to bail in the sum of £10 for a hearing to-day, when he was arraigned before a magistrate who dismissed the charge on the ground that the alleged offense was not proven.

France and Newfoundland.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The Siecle says: France will probably consent to submit the Newfoundland difficulty to arbitration, but it is to be hoped M. Spuller will stipulate that England must compel Newfoundland to accept the decision of the court. There must be no repetition of the farce of 1885. If England is unable to exercise this authority we are justified in declaring the autonomy of Newfoundland on its annexation to the United States.

Portugal and England.

LISBON, Jan. 23.—The dispute between England and Portugal is assuming a more favorable aspect, owing to Lord Salisbury's policy of reconciliation. The Official Gazette warns the public not to depend upon reports regarding the relations with England published in papers opposed to the monarchy.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Goschen, in speaking to his constituents, said the dispute with Portugal was forced upon England. The Portuguese had not a shadow of a claim to Nyassaland, and the violence of their action fully justified the resolute language of Lord Salisbury.

The Cologne Gazette says Portugal has purchased five torpedo boats of the Elfing firm.

Tippoo Tib the Real Master.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Paris Temps gives details of the African journey of Capt. Trivier. He stayed five days with Tippoo Tib, whom he found to be the real master of Central Africa, having there far more influence than the Sultan of Zanzibar. Tippoo Tib declared to Trivier that he disliked the English and preferred the French. Trivier found the districts he passed through superb as to all natural features, the savages being the only bad point. On the east coast the French, he believes, have now no opportunity to advance their interests, the Germans having established themselves firmly there in the face of numberless difficulties. The British, he says, are losing influence.

No News of the Erin.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The overdue steamer Erin was one of the swiftest and stanchest of the older vessels of the National Line. The Cunard Line steamers Gallia, Capt. Murphy, from New York, and the Catalonia, Capt Arms, from Boston, which arrived at Queenstown report that on Jan. 18, when in latitude 49 north, longitude about 29 west, they passed a quantity of wreckage and a number of dead cattle. The British tank steamer Manhattan, Capt. Leighton, which sailed from London Jan. 9 for New York, has put back to Queenstown. She met with terrific gales during which she was deluged with water and had her rudder head broken.

Mr. Gladstone's Speech at Chester.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Gladstone, speaking at Chester yesterday, declined to criticize the course of Lord Salisbury in the dispute with Portugal until he is more fully informed as to the details of the case. He considered it a duty to avoid cavilling at the foreign policy of the Government. Turkey appeared again as inviting England to intervene to protect the suffering population of Crete and Armenia, but he warned the Sultan that England's reply would involve a reference to that mockery of justice, the trial of Moussa Bey, and the reply would be that he would not obtain British sympathy in times of trial and difficulty unless he governed with humanity and justice. Referring to the United States and the plans for an enlarged navy, Mr. Gladstone said the worst of it was that while America would cite England's example for enlarging her navy England will give a similar excuse for further naval expenditure. It is a matter of deep sorrow to reflect that the very ostentatious addition to the defenses of a country made under a real or pretended necessity is made an apology for the increase of the burdens of every other country. Under profession of an additional security the policy of governments thus tended more and more to jeopardize the peace of the world. The country would be likely soon to hear much about the Parnell Commission. Without anticipating the judgment or breathing a word of suspicion of the judges, he would say the subject must be probed with the deepest attention of the country and of Parliament. His opinion was that the cumbrous proceedings constituted a case of oppression practiced upon an individual by a Legislative Chamber and an Executive Government without a parallel since the evil times of the reign of Charles II. He commended Scotland's unvarying support of Liberalism. If Scotland demanded home rule neither Tories nor dissident Liberals would blow the war trumpets against it, in the name either of the Union or the integrity of the Empire. Scotland had a good claim to home rule because the Tory majority assisted a handful of Scotch members to out-vote the Scotch majority. The conflict for home rule is a terrible struggle of powerful influence on one side against conviction on the other side. It is the principle of Liberalism to trust the people, qualified by prudence. It is the principle of Toryism to distract the people, qualified by fear. He was confident of the ultimate judgment of the country. If ready to meet dissolution, but without impatience for it, it was because he felt strongly the justice of the cause, and he knew it must triumph.

Suicide at Port Huron.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Delos Hilliker, aged 22, suicided here Tuesday night by taking morphine, domestic trouble being the cause. During the evening she purchased 50 cents worth of the drug, and while preparing for bed turned towards her husband, saying: "This ends me." Her husband had been drinking of late, and she had been very much depressed by this fact.

Flood and Disease.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 23.—The river here is rising rapidly and threatens trouble to farmers who have not moved their corn and stock, thinking they were safe at the 40-foot mark. Reports from points both above and below the city are that the water is steadily increasing the already immense loss of corn. Various diseases are raging among farmers in the bottom lands, and it is reported that few have escaped the influenza. Many cases have developed into pneumonia. In Walnut Bottoms, 30 miles below this city, typhoid malaria has assumed the form of an epidemic, from which a number of deaths have occurred.

Dalton McCarthy on the Dual Language Question—His Bill Given the First Reading.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23.—The Ottawa Citizen—which of all the Tory organs sits more at the fountain of inspiration—has a vigorous editorial this morning on "Annexationist White." It begins by quoting from Mr. White's utterances when inaugurated Mayor of Windsor, and asks: "Has Mr. White the brazen effrontery to contend that he can be a loyal Canadian and at the same time advocate a policy of wiping his country out of existence and handing it over for absorption by a foreign power?" After lecturing the erstwhile lieutenant of Mr. Meredith most severely it closes by saying that "it is the bounden duty of the Conservatives of the county of Essex to remove the name of Traitor White from its list of members. In advocating such action by the Conservatives of Essex we do not in the least degree advocate restriction of any man's right to think or speak anything he will, but between the exercise of the fullest freedom of opinion and the proclamation of disloyalty to one's country we draw a distinct and well-defined line. Let Traitor White be removed, and that too without unnecessary delay."

Lord Stanley has gone to Montreal to attend the annual dinner of the Society of Civil Engineers.

It is rumored that Sir Richard Cartwright will take up his permanent residence in Ottawa, his residence in Kingston having been sold as a see house, to the Bishop of Ontario.

Business of the House.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday Hon. Mr. Foster presented a statement of expenditure on account of miscellaneous and unforeseen expenditures. Hon. Mr. Dewdney presented the annual report of the Department of Indian Affairs. Hon. Mr. Costigan introduced a bill to amend the Adulteration Act, providing that where samples of goods analyzed are found to be adulterated the vendor shall pay the fees of the analyst. In other cases the Government will, as now, bear the expenses. Other clauses of the bill were to strengthen the department in making prosecutions. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. McCarthy introduced his bill to abolish the official use of the French language in the Northwest Territories. Departing from the usual custom, he made quite a length speech on introducing the measure, and his speech was of a nature to cause considerable feeling among the French-Canadian members. The following is the text of Mr. McCarthy's bill:

Whereas it is expedient, in the interest of the national unity of the Dominion, that there should be community of language among the people of Canada, and that the enactment in the Northwest Territories Act allowing the use of the French languages should be expurged therefrom, therefore Her Majesty, by and with the advice of the Senate and House of Commons, enacts as follows:

Section 110 of the act of the revised statutes of Canada, entitled "The Northwest Territories Act," is hereby repealed.

The clause in question reads:

Either the English or the French language may be used by any person in debates of the Council or Legislative Assembly of the Territories, and in the proceedings before the Courts, and both languages shall be used in the records and journals of the said Council or Assembly. All ordinances made under this act shall be printed in both those languages.

Mr. McCarthy proceeded to give the history of official French in Canada. There was not a word, from the time of the conquest till the union, giving authority for the use of the French as an official language in this country. Nothing could be gathered from the British North America Act that the dual language was to be permitted in any other quarter of the Dominion. It was then clear that any legislative warrant for the use of dual languages was founded simply upon the will of Parliament. He argued that the dual language system was inimical to perfect unity. If, in truth, it was in the interest of the Dominion that there should be one race, one nationality and one national life, they ought to bring about that result. The general opinion prevailed that this question had come to a point when it was likely to cause, as it had already caused, difficulties in this Dominion. He was not attempting to interfere with rights under the British North America Act. He was dealing with dual languages in the Northwest Territories, which this Parliament was competent to deal with. The Northwest itself was practically unanimous in favor of repealing this clause. Were they going to perpetuate this state of things until a cry of vested rights were raised by a Quebecer, who might say in future that he settled in the Northwest relying on the faith of an act of Parliament by which his language was recognized. In conclusion, he desired to disclaim any feeling of hostility against the French-Canadian race or its representatives in that House. (Sarcastic cries of "Hear, hear" from the Frence members, and of "Thank you.")

Hon. Mr. LaRiviere, of Provencher, Manitoba, said it was unmanly to attack a handful of French-Canadians scattered over the Northwest Territories in the enjoyment of the right to speak their language. Why was Quebec not attacked, where there would not be wanted able men to defend themselves? The official language of the Channel Islands was French, and no attempt had been made to disturb it. Canada was not a conquered, but a ceded country, though some parties wished to treat it as conquered.

Sir John Macdonald said: This bill is, in its terms, of no very great importance with reference to its effect on the Northwest, but the line of argument the honorable gentleman has taken raises a question of such a nature, the whole line of his argument is of such a kind, as to involve the most serious and grave questions, so grave that we must take full time to consider what his arguments are, in what direction they lead, and what consequences will follow if they are persisted in. I therefore would hope that the discussion would end here, and, after the carefully prepared speech of the honorable gentleman, we shall, on the second reading, have an opportunity of discussing this grave question in all its bearings.

Mr. Laurier said it would have been preferable if, as was the custom, nothing controversial had been said on the first reading. Mr. McCarthy would allow that a man might be in favor of the bill, with the mover, and yet not agree with a great deal of what he said. For his own part he did not propose to express an opinion until the second reading. There was a great deal in Mr. McCarthy's remarks to which exception could be taken. He did not even propose to do that. He would, however, give him one piece of information as to why the Liberal candidate was defeated in Richelieu. It was by the rise of the notes of the defunct Merchants' Bank. (Hear, hear, and laughter.)

The bill was read a first time.

Capital Notes.

The Senate has adjourned until Feb. 4.

Senator Dickey has been appointed chairman of the Divorce Committee of the Senate.

A caucus of Government supporters will be held Friday morning. The flour duty question and other matters will be discussed.

Mr. Marshall gives notice of motion affirming the expediency of increasing the duty on imported fresh beef, mess and salt pork.

In reply to Mr. Campbell, Hon. Mr. Bowell stated that 108,408 barrels of flour had been entered for consumption in Canada for the six months ending Dec. 31, on which the duty paid was $54,304.

Mr. Marshall asked whether or not it was the intention of the Government at the present time to increase the duty on mess pork or other meat coming into Canada. Mr. Foster would give no reply.

Mr. Innes has a notice on the paper of a motion for a return showing all the money spent thus far on the Government Printing Bureau in buildings, plant and wages. He will also bother Farmer John Carling about a cattle disease that is now prevalent in some parts of the Western States.

In moving for a return of correspondence relative to the Quebec rock slide, Mr. Langelier declared that the fall of another large portion of rock at Quebec was imminent. The mass in danger would weigh about 150,000 tons. He and Mr. Casgrain blamed the Government for not taking prompt action to avert the calamity. Sir Adolphe Caron said the papers would show that the Government were doing everything possible.

A full quarter of an hour of the time of the House was taken up this afternoon in reading petitions from various labor organizations, which goes to show that labor is hardly so inarticulate as imagined by some. Mr. Lepine presented sets of petitions from Assemblies No. 644 and No. 7,209 L'Union des Carrossiers and Assembly No. 6,023, all of Montreal. Mr. McKay read some from the Hamilton Typographical Union, and Mr. Small from the Toronto Cigarmakers, No. 27. Mr. Curran handed in an assortment from the Horse Shoe Assembly, No. 10,511; Mr. Hudspeth from the Lindsay Union, No. 5,402; Dr. Denison from Mayflower, No. 6,564; and the Toronto Pressman's Union, No. 10, and Mr. Guay from the Levis Assembly, No. 10,123.

HER SEX DISCOVERED.

A Polish Girl Has Been Wearing Male Attire for Twelve Years.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—A woman has just been discovered on the south side that has been masquerading as a man and doing the work of a laborer with the men on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad for more than a year past. Her name is Margaret Polinski, and she has lived with the colony of Polanders, in Polish Hollow, Twenty-Fourth ward. By accident her sex was discovered yesterday afternoon, and when confronted by fellow workman she confessed that she had been wearing male attire for twelve years. When about 16 years old she was left an orphan in Hungary, and not wishing to burden her friends, she started out in life for herself. She first assumed male attire and did light work about some of the factories in her own country. From that she drifted about, and for two or three years, after going to Berlin, Germany, she secured work on a ship at a small seaport town. She sailed before the mast as a common seaman, but grew tired of that life. She wandered about, working at different kinds of work, until she came to this country last year. Her work among the laborers has been as good as the others and no complaint was made against her. She smoked the same as the others, but at her boarding house she always insisted on having a separate room and got it. She is now about 28 years old, of medium height, and of swarthy complexion. She wore her hair short and called herself Joseph Polinski. When her tex was discovered she packed up her few effects and left.

Meeting of District No. 138, Knights of Labor.

Practical Suggestions by Practical Men.

Good Results of "Grumbling"—Worth, Not Wealth, the Standard of Moral Greatness—Officers Elected—General Business.

An important session of District Assembly No. 138 was held in the United Labor Hall yesterday afternoon. Delegates were present from Port Burwell, Aylmer, Stratford, St. Thomas, London, Woodstock, Clinton, Seaforth, Petrolea, Ingersoll, Oil Springs, Sarnia, Point Edward, Wyoming and other parts of the district. Several new delegates were introduced and instructed in the work of the district assembly.

The meeting was called to order at 2:30 p.m. by Mr. A. B. Ingram, M.P.P., who, in a stirring speech urged all to give their best attention to the business of the session, and especially welcomed the new delegates.

Bro. Joseph Thomas made a pointed speech in explanation of a scheme he had to start a labor paper, under the direction of District Assembly 138.

Bro. McKay, of Woodstock, strongly supported Bro. Thomas' proposal, and the following were appointed a committee to take the necessary steps to start the enterprise: J. T. Marks, O. E. Light, Joseph Brent and W. J. McKay.

The District Master Workman was instructed to submit a series of questions of importance to labor organizations for discussion in local assemblies, so as to get a simultaneous discussion. After the vote is taken the result is to be sent to the Secretary-Treasurer.

The District Secretary was instructed to correspond with the General Secretary of the Farmers' Alliance with a view to get the farmers of the district to organize in that society, as the Farmers' Alliance is now working in co-operation with the Knights of Labor.

The eight-hour question also received special attention, a resolution being passed to do all that was possible to advance the movement. Co-operation, female suffrage and female organizations were discussed and referred to the local assemblies for an expression of their views.

The commissions of organizers having expired new selections were made, giving one to London. The following officers were then elected for the year: J. T. Marks, D. M. W.; J. W. McKay, D. W. F.; W. J. Shaw, Sec.-Treas. (re-elected).

London, St. Thomas, Woodstock and Port Burwell were named for the next place of meeting, with the chances in favor of London, it being the most central.

THE EVENING MEETING.

A fair-sized audience composed of members of the Knights of Labor and their friends assembled in the Labor Hall last evening to discuss matters pertaining to the interests of labor organizations. Mr. Joseph Brent, local master of Council No. 3,305, occupied the chair. In the course of a few remarks he said that the Knights were complained of by some people and called a set of grumblers, but they lost sight of the fact that all the improvements that have taken place in years past by which the laboring class were bettered were achieved by grumblers. The Knights have much to grumble at in this city. The condition of things as they would have them is vastly different from what they are now. Suppose a man works 26 years, he should have enough to keep him the remainder of his life, but as he did not receive sufficient funds he must go to the poorhouse or be supported by his friends in his old age.

Mr. A. J. McKay, of Woodstock, was the next speaker. He claimed to be a champion of the laboring class. He was not in sympathy with the people that were always croaking about the good old times, because in his opinion the position of the working classes was much better to-day than ever before. Every champion of the laboring people was sure to be blackguarded, and such had always been the case in the past. He thought that every man going on the downward road of life should be in a position to rest without laboring. Some men will make light of the organization, even when they themselves have been made to suffer from the tyranny of the employer. He reviewed all the benefits that attended properly organized labor, and hoped when he came back to London again he would be able to see the laboring classes in still better position.

Mr. J. T. Marks followed with a short pithy speech, in which he recommended the organization of labor in view of the organization which capital has secured. He invited attention to the class of men that made the most objection to the existence and operations of the Knights of Labor; and then in contrast to look at the ones that support and speak in favor of the Knights. If you cannot find out from comparing these two classes that organization is a proper thing we cannot be moved by anything in reason. The Knights of Labor were opposed to strikes. That the organization was in a prosperous condition was shown by the fact that they had ceased to be persecuted by the press. It has been decided to issue a paper for this district to educate all classes on the labor question, and it is thought that the paper will put in an appearance in about a year.

Mr. W. J. Shaw, of St. Thomas, was then called upon. He said there is a great diversity among the people of to-day. We have the abject poor and the immensely rich, and the object of the Knights of Labor is to make industrial worth, not wealth, the standard of moral greatness, which was far from being the case at present. Unfortunately some of the professed Knights will not be guided by this principle, and so they weaken the cause. "To show that we do not have individual or industrial worth as the standard," said the speaker, "we have but to look at the requirements in the municipal election, both as to what is needed to cast a vote and to represent a ward in any city." In the opinion of the speaker the people could be trusted in the matter of electing representatives without the necessity of having $1,000. A man who simply pays his rent has as much interest in any municipality as the man who owns property, because it is a simple matter for any man to dispose of his property and leave the place, and even if he cannot sell he can better afford to leave even his property and go than can the poor man, who has no property. There is no property qualification necessary for a school trustee, yet little or no fault is found with the school trustees. The speaker was in favor of the scheme for shorter hours, because in would result in the employment of more men, and then the job would seek the man instead of the man seeking the position, and because if the short hour principle were adopted it would have a tendency to increase wages. There is another thing that causes as much displacement of the labor of men as does the machine, and this is women, who have entered the field, and because of the cheapness of their labor they drive out male labor. If female labor was organized it would greatly mitigate the evil. Another thing that would help the cause of labor in this matter would be the enfranchisement of women. If a Knight goes into a saloon he is belying his principles and does not keep his obligations. As a workingman the speaker protested against the profits of labor going to support the saloon-keeper, who is a non-producer. Workingmen should never carry any such dead weight.

Mr. A. B. Ingram, M.P.P., of St. Thomas, was then called upon. He stated that in many assemblies in the city they would find men assuming to the leadership, who have not given the question sufficient study, when there are many in the background that have made a life study of the labor problem. You that have sat in the background, said he, are shirking a duty in not coming out and correcting the many mistakes that these presumptuous individuals make, and these men in turn are answerable to the working men at large for the many errors which ignorance with the labor question creates. The speaker was not opposed to labor-saving machinery. He believed God placed the dumb animals on earth to do the heavy work, and not that men should work over long hours, and have their children deprived of proper tuition which they should receive in the schools. He held that if the work is manufactured, it matters not how, the workers should demand the same pay and they should keep up the rate. The constitution of the Knights of Labor does not admit of making a party organization of the order. From his experience the speaker thought that it would be advantageous to the Knights of Labor to nominate a man who earned his living by hard knocks, because it was natural that a man should be alive in the quarter where he was most affected. The only superiority that the speaker was prepared to acknowledge was intellectuality. The knights were not in favor of strikes. Strikes were against the best interests of the employer and the employe. In advocating the labor movement, let all actions be guided by caution and right, and then everything will be done in a satisfactory manner. The action of the farmers in coming into the organization should be a source of much joy, uniting as it does two of the greatest forces of the world. In the matter of railway accidents many of them are directly traceable to the length of service which the train hands are compelled to give without sufficient rest. He called upon them all to endeavor to make this grievance one of those which had unpleasant memories of the past.

At the conclusion of the speeches a collection was taken up to aid in the effort of bringing about a state of amalgamation between the farmers and the workingmen.

Mr. J. Hinn made a few remarks in support of the idea of labor organization, and stated that though he was not a member of the order, still he was in sympathy with the cause.

A Shameful Case.

HAMILTON, Jan. 23.—A shameful case came before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning, in which Wm. Mapham, living on Caroline street north, was charged with an unnatural crime in relation to his step-daughter, Alice, about 15 years of age. The specific charge was that he committed the offense on the evening of Dec. 28, but the girl admitted that the shameful conduct had been going on for two years. The daughter said that she had been afraid to tell, owing to her step-father's threats that he would kill her if she told any one. Mapham was also charged with brutally assaulting his wife. Mrs. Mapman swore that he struck and kicked her severely on Saturday and again Tuesday night, knocking out two of her teeth. The prisoner pleaded not guilty to both charges and elected to be tried by a jury. The Magistrate committed Mapham for trial at the Assizes, and he will stay in jail until next June.

A Legal Decision.

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday, the following decision was given: Federal Bank vs. Cosgrove—Judgment in action tried at Chatham. Action brought to have defined the boundaries of certain lands in the township of Dover East, conveyed in trust by William Cosgrave, now deceased, to William Jackman, also deceased, and to have the misdescription in another deed rectified so as to confine the boundaries thereby intended to the westerly one-third of the east half of lot 23 in the front or first concession specifically, and for an injunction restraining the defendant from committing waste, and for an account for all waste committed by her. Judgment declaring that the deed should be rectified as prayed for by the plaintiffs, and that the true eastern boundary of the defendant's one-third part of the east half of the lot is a line drawn from the River Thames running parallel to the division line, which divides the eastern half from the western half of lot 23 to the rear of the lot, the division line being the true western boundary of the defendant's one-third part. No costs to either party. Atkinson, Q.C., for the plaintiffs. Pegley (Chatham) for the defendant.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: About short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude.".

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

HALDIMAND.

Once more there is a vacancy in Haldimand. There have been three such occurrences in as many years in the now notorious county. In two the Tory candidate was the victim, and now it is the turn of the Liberal candidate. By a majority of 3 to 2, the Supreme Court has dismissed the appeal of Mr. Colter, Liberal M.P., against the judgment of Judge Falconbridge, who was called upon to deliver judgment on a point of election law never raised in this country till the fight in Haldimand brough it forward. In view of the result, it is worth while to consider what this point was. At the previous election trial, Mr. Justice Street was the presiding judge, and to his attention was brought a novel set of affairs. The Tory bosses of the county went into the box and swore that they had carried on the election without any regular organization. They had no division chairmen, no secretaries, no election managers, no committees, no nothing. The inference was that they had purposely refrained from appointing committees in order to prevent the establishment of the agency of those guilty of corrupt acts. By this dodge, they were able to swear out of responsibility for the corrupt practices established at the trial, as the judge in each case ruled against the appellant on the ground that the agency had not been shown. The case was carried to the Supreme Court, and Dr. Montague, the Tory respondent, was unseated, but the agency question was not raised. In the last contest, when the same candidates were brought forward, the Liberals borrowed a page from the Tory book of instructions, and failed to appoint committees or to organize. When the case came for trial, it was proved that a man representing himself as a friend of the Liberal candidate, though he was not known personally to Mr. Colter, nor had he any authority from that gentleman or his legal agents to act for him, had paid the railway fare of a voter who desired to leave the constituency on election day. Judge Falconbridge took a contrary view to that adopted by Judge Street, and ruled that, inasmuch as the respondent's friends had no regular organization for carrying on the election, all who were shown to have been actively engaged in promoting his interests, either with or without authority, must be regarded as his agents. It is this decision which the majority of the judges of the Supreme Court of Canada have sustained, thereby again causing a vacancy in Haldimand,

Fortunately the task of the Liberals in the bye-election which must now come off will not be so hard as it was in the two elections which have already taken place since last general election. The voters' lists have at length been revised, the bogus Tory votes which were found on the lists of 1885 cannot now be polled, and the Liberals assert that they have added 100 to their strength in the last revision. If this is so it will not be possible for either Dr. Montague or any other Tory candidate, even with the assistance of sleight-of-hand manipulators of ballots at the polls, to prevent a Liberal triumph. It is a misfortune to the constituency that through the act of a mistaken, though zealous man, it is once more plunged into an election tussle. Of the result, there seems to be no doubt. Mr. Colter will keep the seat, unless the wholesale ballot spoiler of Oneida is duplicated at the other polling places, and the Liberal scrutineers should be able to prevent that.

A BAD BEGINNING.

Mr. John Morgan, who ran against Mr. John Waters, M.P.P., in North Middlesex, at last general election, and was beaten by a very substantial majority—the Liberal majority being doubled when compared with that in 1883—is again in bad luck. The other day he was selected as Tory candidate to contest the seat of Hon. G. W. Ross in West Middlesex. The choice was not made because it was believed that Mr. Morgan would defeat the Minister. On the contrary, it had been put on record by the Tory leaders in the riding that neither Mr. Morgan nor any local man could hope to win the people over from Liberal principles. But Mr. Morgan was chosen as a makeshift, with the sole object of keeping Mr. Ross in his own constituency as much as possible when the campaign opens. The nomination had been offered to School Inspector Hughes, of Toronto, but he refused it on the ground that he had lost all faith in Mr. Meredith as a leader, and that he could only run on the platform of the Equal Rights party. That platform the West Middlesex Tories refused to have anything to do with, and as a last resort Mr. Morgan was asked to sacrifice himself. He consented, and at once set on foot such tactics as he believed would obtain for him the necessary prestige to make even a decent showing in the West Riding. In bygone days he had been selected as reeve of Adelaide, and his friends resolved to get him re-elected as a preliminary to the canvass in the adjoining constituency. Mr. Morgan will not be present at the ensuing session of the County Council, however. He will not preside over the deliberations of the Township Council. He has been elected to stay at home. Notwithstanding that Liberals were prevailed upon to vote for him, on the ground of old associations and on the assurance that the election was not being run on party lines, and despite the fact that the Tory element was appealed to for support because of Mr. Morgan's position as a party candidate in sore distress, he was defeated at the polls. Poor fellow! He is deprived of even the little consolation which his selection as a township official would have afforded him, and he is beaten on the ground selected by his own friends.

We hear that in some quarters there is a movement among the Tory rank-and-file to advise Mr. Morgan to retire. They do not want to go into a contest in which their candidate is sure to be beaten. In view of the facts, they cannot be blamed. Meanwhile, the Liberals should arrange to roll up even a bigger majority than that given to the Minister of Education at last general election.

PUTTING ON AIRS.

The airs of Toronto the Good are almost ludicrous, especially in what concerns the dignity of its body of aldermen. At their meeting for organization the other day as much parade was made as if the Council was a Parliament. Invitations to the number of nearly 1,000 had been sent out to all the bigwigs of the city, including their better halves, and even some great men outside the city were honored with a card. But it does not appear that the bigwigs were greatly elated by the honor, unless it be that they were one and all on the auspicious opening day paying their respects to Mons. La Grippe. Hon. Oliver did not grace the occasion; neither did Sir John or Mr. Blake; and excepting Dr. Wild and Mr. Creighton the only distinguished people present were the ward politicians and the wives and daughters of the worthy aldermen. We do not read in the reports of the opening that the Mayor was escorted to the chamber by Col. Denison's troop of cavalry, or that cannon was fired, or that a Lord Mayor's possession paraded the streets, or that the approaches to the chamber were thronged by glad and huzzaing thousands, or any tom-foolery of that kind. But as far as they could go the Mayor and aldermen made the show as imposing as they could. The Mayor even went the length of preparing an address, which for length if not for weight might vie with the speech of a United States President. Yes, and we almost forgot to mention that the services of a chaplain were engaged and the proceedings were opened with prayer. After the prayer and the address the fun began, and aldermen made a show of themselves in the presence of their wives and daughters by bickerings over the make-up of committees. The reports say that some of the wrangles were loud and spicy. Several scrimmages of the tongue occurred, statements and contradictions went flying about the chamber to the great edification of the ladies, and Baron Beef knocked the Marquis of Hide "out in the first round"—metaphorically speaking, we suppose. It does not seem to have been a very great show which the 800 odd magnates were invited to witness, and doubtless the knowing ones stayed away. But now that the Toronto aldermen have taken to ape Parliamentary display at their opening, we think it is high time for Parliament to go out of that business. Our Local Legislature has been growing quite democratic in recent years upon opening days, and no harm will be done if the service of Col. Denison and his cavalry is handed over to the City Council.

SOL. WHITE, Mr. Meredith's lieutenant, made a speech at the inaugural banquet of the new Town Council in Windsor the other night, and a report of his speech is given in the Detroit Free Press. Mr. White is apparently not prepared to stand by the certificate given to him recently by Mr. Meredith as an opponent of annexation. He says he will stand by his platform, "the chief point of which was political union." Here is an odd declaration, made by the same politician, in his speech:

> We have to recognize the rapid progress of our country, and I claim to be a loyal subject of Queen Victoria when I announce myself a strong supporter of political union.

What an odd compound Mr. Meredith's bosom companion is to be sure. He is a loyal subject of the Queen and a strong supporter of political union at the same time. It is evident that Sol. is after keeping hold of the voters in Windsor and neighborhood. His principles are capable of adjustment to meet the exigencies of the situation along the border.

THE Toronto Empire now repeats the story that Mr. Farrer, editor of the Toronto Mail, loaded up the Senate Committee on Relations with Canada with a statement that the Dominion was anxious to be annexed. The Mail editor acted as emissary of the opponents of unrestricted reciprocity, and apparently endeavored to influence the committee against arranging for full reciprocity between the two countries by telling its members that the refusal to agree to such a reciprocity would hasten annexation. The combines who wish to have the policy of high taxation continued will no doubt sincerely thank the Mail editor for working a little racket that will aid in the continuance of the present state of affairs. Sensible Canadians desire neither political annexation nor a continuance of excessive taxes on commerce between the two countries; and in this respect they are opposed to Tory tactics, whether exemplified by the Empire or by the Mail.

A BILL has been introduced in the New Jersey Legislature requiring that the printed label of every bottle in which poison is sold shall state the antidote for such poison. This measure deserves to be made law not only in New Jersey, but in every State and Province of America.

THE European country possessing the largest number of public libraries is Austria, which has no fewer than 577, containing 5,475,000 volumes, without reckoning maps and manuscripts, making an average of 26 volumes per 100 of the entire population.

IN GERMANY it is a dangerous thing to say that a woman has hair of a color not provided by nature. At a ball in a German watering place last summer the wife of the Berlin Councilor Meyer told the editor of a society weekly that Frau Hubner, also of Berlin and her vis-a-vis in a quadrille, had bleached hair and a false complexion. The editor of the society weekly repeated this information to Frau Hubner, who upon her return to Berlin sued Frau Meyer for libel. Two weeks ago the case was decided. Frau Meyer was fined $50, and was severely lectured by the court.

THE clergy of Derby, England, have set a movement on foot for doing away with the marriage fee, in the hope of checking the tendency to civil marriage. Persons who are fond of accusing English priests of a lack of devotional spirit will please take notice. When has any class of laymen in any country shown any disposition to sacrifice its means of living in order to preserve others from breaking ecclesiastical law, i. e., from committing a fault which is no sin in the eye of the State? The clergy of Derby hope that their example will be followed by their brethren throughout England, but, whether it shall be or not, they have put their own sincerity beyond question forever.

HYPNOTISM is decidedly a novel factor in legal proceedings. The London Graphic tells how "a medical student at Helsingborg recently prosecuted a Swedish doctor in the same town for hypnotizing him against his will on repeated occasions, so that his nervous system had been much affected. He called numerous witnesses for his case, but they behaved in the most extraordinary manner in court, giving foolish and contradictory answers, and acting altogether like lunatics. At last a doctor pronounced that his fellow-practitioner, the defendant, had hypnotized all the witnesses, who were thus obliged to act and speak exactly as he chose, without being able to exercise their own will or judgment. The case was adjourned for further medical testimony."

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

MARK TWAIN'S "Majestic Literary Fossil," which he will describe in Harper's Magazine for February is "A Dictionary of Medicine," by Dr. James, of London, assisted by Mr. Boswell's doctor, Samuel Johnson, published at the time of the rebellion of '45. Mark Twain says that "if it had been sent against the Pretender's troops there probably wouldn't have been a survivor."

THE February Wide Awake opens with a good Persian ballad, "Abu Said," by Mary E. Bradley, followed by a stirring episode of Western military life by Lieutenant Fremont, entitled "Snowshoe Thompson." There is an inspiring story of Greek boy-life, by Mrs. Knight, "A Boyhood in Athens." G. Hamlen tells her story of "The Frogsleigh Mikado," and Mrs. Fremont will interest all readers with her account of "Kit Carson." Grant Allen concludes his serial, "Wednesday the Tenth," in triumph; Mr. Stoddard in his serial of "A Rough Boy" is proving that young Gid Granger is "no slouch." One of the very best of John Brownjohn's stories is given in the School Series, "The Wicked Waterbury Clock." Mrs. White gives artistic girls a good business hint in her article on dressmaking in the "Business Openings" series. Alexander Black's "Confessions of an Amateur Photographer" is piquant reading. "Men and Things" abounds with good original anecdotes and curious lore. "A Sad Case," one of the best of the long poems, is very amusing in text and pictures, by Gordon Browne, the popular English artist. Wide Awake is $2 40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, publishers, Boston.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE has introduced an agreeable diversity in its department of fiction by engaging some stories from popular English novelists, who are also widely known upon this side of the Atlantic. The February number contains a complete novel, "The Sign of the Four; or, the Problem of the Sholtos," by A. Conan Doyle. The author of that remarkable novel, "Micah Clarke: His Statement," needs no introduction to American readers. The second part of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Elixir of Life" appears in this number. Francis Galton, F.R.S., the celebrated English scientist and author, contributes a timely and interesting article entitled, "Why Do We Measure Mankind?" Among the other articles is a pleasing one on "Shelley's Welsh Haunts," by C. H. Herford; "The Newspaper and the Individual: A Plea for Press Censorship;" a clever article by John Habberton entitled, "Married Geniuses." Charles Morris writes upon "The Forestry Problem," Charles McIlvaine gives some good advice to readers in his article, "The Dissipation of Reading," and an entertaining article follows entitled, "Traduttore Traditore," which shows what a number of laughable mistakes the "traitor translator" has made. J. B. Lippincott & Co., publishers, Philadelphia.

Coughing

IS Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in ejecting the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure."—Mrs. L. L. Brown, Denmark, Miss.

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbrother, Rockingham, Vt.

ACTIVE AS A CAT.

Remarkable Feats of the English Runner Rowdon.

Toronto Unrepresented at the International League Meeting—Turf, Curling and Sporting News in General.

ATHLETICS.

G. W. Rowdon, the English amateur champion at running high jump, seems to be as active as a cat. At a recent entertainment he gave the following exhibition: Jumping through a hoop eighteen inches in diameter held six feet from the ground; jumping to a man's shoulders and from thence over a bar raised 9 feet from the ground; jumping in and out of barrels; jumping on the handle of a sword, the point being placed on a man's breast; jumping over a man's head, and in the act removing an apple from the head with the spike of his shoe; jumping ever eight chairs, two at a time, sideways and forward, each spring and pitch being from a brick; jumping over five men seated in chairs in one rising jump; jumping on and off jars and handles of flatirons; jumping on to the backs of two chairs and there remaining, and also on to the shoulders of a man; jumping on and from a man's face without injuring him; clearing ten chairs at one spring. Mr. Rowdon uses no spring-board or artificial means, and in many instances his "take-off" was from an ordinary brick. Rowdon is the possessor of 220 prizes, won at athletic meetings.

BASEBALL.

KNOCKING AT THE DOOR.

At the baseball meeting held in Bay City Wednesday night representatives from Saginaw presented the plan of consolidating Saginaw and Bay City for the International League. The proposition met with hearty approval. At the close of the meeting Saginaw's representative at the Buffalo meeting was instructed by wire to make written application for a Saginaw-Bay City franchise. President Mills, who strongly favors the plan, was also notified. This gives a drawing resource of 125,000 people. It is proposed to schedule half the games in each city, and divide the expenses. A strong team is in view.

"SOMETHING LIKE THIS!"

Next season's team may be made up something like this: First base, McQuery; second base, Childs; third base, Battin; short stop, Shiebeck; left field, Hoover; center field, Wright; right field, Dorgan; pitchers, Keefe, Blair and Jones; catchers, McGuire and Kinslow. Friel of the Londons is also favorably mentioned for the outfield. He is a splendid batter, fielder and base runner. McGuire and Hoover of the Torontos can be secured. Marr refuses to go anywhere except Cincinnati.—[Syracuse Courier.

FLYS.

The Lowell and Worcester clubs have decided to withdraw from the Atlantic Association.

Manager Powers has now secured for Rochester nine men—Barr and Fitzgerald, pitchers; Burke and McKeough, catchers; Tom O'Brien, Phillips, Sheffler Griffin and Harry Lyons. He is sure of Greenwood, and has lost Lefty Marr. His team is not superior to the International standard.

C. E. Swartwood, outfielder of the Hamilton club, has appealed to the Arbitration Committee of the American Association. He claims that the club last summer agreed to release him unconditionally at the close of the season. For this he gave up part of his salary last season. Now they refuse him the release.

The Toronto team's receipts last year were $29,441 82; gate receipts, at home, $15,059 48; grand stand receipts, at home, $4,413 77; gate receipts, abroad, $7,813 51; privileges, $657 66; release of players, $1,496 20; balance due, $3,090 36. The expenditures were $32,531 18, $14,077 30 of which was paid in salaries.

Toronto did not send a delegate to the International meeting at Buffalo to-day. President McConnell telegraphed that he was unable to go, but Toronto would accept the action of the meeting. In the present constitution of the International Buffalo is not a convenient location for a meeting. Hamilton or London should have been chosen.—[Globe.

SPRINITNG.

William Mills, the professional sprinter of Boston, who had such a narrow escape from drowning at Johnstown during the flood, has challenged James Quirk, of Brantford, Ont., to run 75 yards for $500 a side. Quirk has accepted, and in a letter says he will run any man in Canada any distance up to 100 yards for any reasonable amount.

TURF.

John Watts, the famous English jockey, is going into the breeding business, and has purchased a stock farm at Exning, England.

The fastest combined record of sire and son is that of Robert McGregor, 2:17¼, and Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½, and the fastest combined record for sire and daughter is that held by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and Lillian Wilkes, 2:17¾.

The stakes of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association have filled well. The Lexington stake secured 101; the Kentucky stake, 99; the Stallion Representative stake, 61; and the Blue Grass stake, 83 entries.

While in California Robert Bonner made an offer for a chestnut filly dropped in 1887 by Woolsey, brother of Sunol, 2:10½, out of Belle, by Kentucky Prince, and this week he received a letter from Senator Stanford accepting the offer.

There has just died, at the residence of her owner, Mr. Richard Gould, near Birmingham, England, the famous trotting mare Steel Grey, the best trotter England ever produced, her record of 27 minutes 56¼ seconds for ten miles still standing to her credit.

The most money ever paid for a trotting broodmare at auction was given for Sontag, 2:17¼, she being knocked down at the Kittson sale in 1858 for $8,500. Being Victoria brought $7,250 at auction and was afterward sold privately for $9,000. Alma Mater was sold privately for $15,000.

William Weeks, the driver who went to Paris a short time ago on an alleged guarantee of a salary of $5,000 a year, will return to New York at an early date. He was not appreciated. Instead of paying foreign talent princely salaries French owners of trotting horses prefer native drivers and trainers, who are paid about what rubbers receive in America.

THE RING.

Jake Kilrain has been elected instructor in boxing by the Southern Athletic Club for a term of four months.

Mike Lucie, of Philadelphia, and Jimmie Carroll, of Brooklyn, middle-weights, fought at the Golden Gate Club, San Francisco, Wednesday night, for a purse of $1,200. Lucie was knocked out in the seventh round.

CURLING.

The annual curling match between the Caledonians and Heathers, of Toronto, took place Tuesday night, the former winning with a majority of five shots.

CRICKET.

Mr. John E. Hall, secretary of the Ontario Cricket Association, will leave on Friday for California for a three-months' trip for his health. Mr. Hall has been suffering from bronchitis for some time.

PUGNACIOUS POLES.

Fierce Fight Between Church Factions—Coffins Broken Open and Corpses Mutilated.

PLYMOUTH, Pa., Jan. 23.—The Polish Church war here was renewed last evening. The Polish faction, led by Martin Weikes, went to the cemetery and dug up the bodies of the Lithuanians who were buried under police protection Tuesday. Two coffins were broken open and the bodies dragged over the ground and thrown over the fence. The bodies were horribly lacerated by pick-axes used in breaking open the coffins. Three other coffins were taken ont of the graves, but the bodies were not disturbed. When armed Lithuanians arrived on the scene the Poles fled. There is talk of lynch law. Thousands of people were in the cemetery. The Lithuanians afterwards reinterred the bodies.

DISTRESS IN DAKOTA.

A Terrible Tale of Destitution and Suffering.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—A reporter just returned from the Northwest brings a tale of terrible suffering and destitution in nineteen counties of South Dakota, gathered from eye witnesses. The failure of four years' crops has reduced those formerly well off to the direst distress, and many thousand families lack means to purchase the necessaries of life. The condition of the people in many counties is heartrending. The stricken area includes McPherson, Campbell, Walworth, Edmunds, Potter, a part of Brown, Spink, Hyde, Hand, Beadle, Clark, Kingsbury, Miner, Davidson, Sanborn, Gerald, Falk, Hughes and Sully.

In Kingsbury county they have no flour, but they live on a scant supply of badly-ground cornmeal. Every farm is mortgaged heavily. Most of the stock has been sold by the sheriff. The women and children have pinched and meagre faces, and in many instances are unprovided with proper clothing.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

Miss Daisy Brown, of Hamilton, and Mr. E. B. Smith, of This City, Are the Contracting Parties.

The fashionable circles of Hamilton were thrown into quite a flutter of excitement yesterday afternoon when Miss Daisy Brown, daughter of Mr. Adam Brown, M.P., was married to Mr. Ernest Brown Smith, of this city. Three o'clock was the hour named for the ceremony, but long before that time the Church of Ascension was crowded with guests and others. The center aisle was roped off with white rope and reserved for the guests, who comprised the beauty and fashion of the city. The wedding was a very beautiful one. A few minutes after 3 o'clock the doors opened to admit the bride leaning on the arm of her father. Up the aisle they walked slowly while the organ pealed forth the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride was dressed in a gown of white moire antique, with a long train, the front of the skirt was draped with rich embroidery of lisse, trails, orange blossoms and myrtle. She carried in her hand a large bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, the gift of the groom, also some white heather from Edinburgh.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lillie Brown, Miss Douglass Bruce, Miss Crerar, Miss Constance Lucas, Miss Gussie McInnes, Miss Jessie Parker. They wore gowns of an artistic green shade, accordion-pleated skirts and bodices, with cuffs and collars, and Swiss belts of dark green velvet, beefeater hats and muffs of the same material, with daisies and white heather pinned on the muffs with gold shamrock pins, the gifts of the groom. Their bouquets were composed of white daisies and white heather, the latter of which was sent out expressly for the event by Mr. Andrew Birney, of Edinburg, Scotland.

The groom's best man was Major Albert Smith, his brother. The ushers were Mr. T. Hilhouse Brown, Mr. Ralph B. Bruce, Mr. A. Gillespie, Mr. George Gates, Mr. Wm. Hendrie, jun., Mr. R. Morris.

The marriage was performed by Rev. Dean Carmichael, of Montreal, assisted by Rev. D. P. Crawford and the Bishop of Niagara. Dean Carmichael pronounced the marriage service, Rev. Mr. Crawford the psalms; the choir sang the 241st hymn—

The voice that breathed o'er Eden,
That earliest wedding day,
The prime of marriage blessing,
It hath not passed away.

The Bishop of Niagara delivered the closing address and prayer, after which the guests repaired to the residence of the bride's father where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served.

The bride received over 250 handsome wedding presents, including china tea sets, royal Worcester vases, piano lamps, chairs, silverware, a dessert set 67 years old, a quantity of linen, and an endless amount of valuable, handsome and useful stuff.

The happy couple left on the 6:30 express for New York, Washington and Baltimore, followed by a shower of rice, good wishes and old shoes. They will return by way of Ottawa.

The ADVERTISER tenders its congratulations to the happy couple and wishes them every happiness in their new relations.

Brandy Brought a Supposed Corpse to Life.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Undertaker Joseph Bryan, of Brooklyn, had an unusual experience a few days ago the facts of which have only now been made public. He was requested by Charles Parks to call at the residence of Dr. C. W. Parks, a dentist, to prepare the body of the dentist's wife for burial. When the undertaker arrived at the house he was met by Mrs. Parks' step-daughter, who, to his utter astonishment, informed him that her mother had only been in a trance, and had returned to consciousness a few minutes after the messenger had departed. Mrs. Parks had been suffering with typhoid malaria.

On the Tuesday night the patient was very low. The following morning Mrs. Parks swooned and remained in a trance state for fifteen minutes. Her eyes closed and she apparently ceased to breathe. Her attendants, who became thoroughly alarmed, examined her and arrived at the conclusion that she was dead, as they could not detect the slightest pulse beat. During the excitement that prevailed Charles Parks, a brother of the dentist, went to the undertaker's and requested him to come at once and prepare his sister-in-law's body for burial. While the brother-in-law was out Miss Parks suggested making another test, so as to be positive as to death of her step-mother. She tenderly lifted the head of the woman from the pillow, and parting the lips, poured a half teaspoonful of brandy into her mouth. In a few minutes the supposed dead woman sighed heavily, tossed her arms, and, to the delight of all, opened her eyes. Another dose of the stimulant was given her and she revived. Her husband, the dentist, was ill with pneumonia at the time, and not cognizant of the unusual occurrence. He died last Friday, two days after the event. The relatives of the sick woman, fearful that the news of the death of her husband, if communicated to her, would result fatally, kept her in ignorance of the event. On the day of the burial, however, she noticed Undertaker Bryan in the house, and divining his mission, asked if her husband was dead, and was answered by some one in the house in the affirmative. The same person then related to the woman the facts in connection with her supposed death. The double shock came near resulting fatally, but prompt attention saved the life of Mrs. Parks, and she is now recovering.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—Before the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs Secretary Tracy advocated the building of eight line-of-battle ships at a cost of $5,000,000 each. The steel building works of this country, he said, were in a position to supply all the material needed for these ships within six years. Other kinds of gain were quiet and unchanged. Dressed hogs formed a large percentage of the the offerings. The bulk of receipts sold at $5 to $5 25, an occasional choice hog being taken for cutting up at $5 40 and $5 50. Butter and eggs were quiet and unchanged; there was a steady demand. Hence the entertainment was over in the conventional two hours. These were the selections, diverse enough to enable the Professor to show his versatility and to sustain unabated the interest of the company: "The Senator Entangled," J. Annual Festivity of Lodge Trafalgar, S. O. E. B. S.—A Branch of the Epworth League Formed—Other News Notes.

Lodge Trafalgar, No. 51, Sons of England Benevolent Society, celebrated its anniversary by giving a dinner and entertainment to its members and friends to the number of about 100 in their hall (Trebilcock's), London South, last night. Among those present were: James Carter, D. D. G. P. of this district; John Briggs, president of the lodge; Alf. Wilkins, P. P.; J. Pritchett, vice-president; T. S. Cook, secretary; F. Rossiter, W. Court, James Court, W. Bridgeman, F. Onn, W. Martin, Ald. J. Heaman and wife, W. Gidley and daughter, C. Walters and lady, J. Walters, sen., G. Webber and wife, W. Moore and wife, T. T. Ruffley and wife, C. Leitch and wife, Ed. Pritchett, E. Jarman, W. White, J. Wilson, T. Hobbs (secretary Lodge British Oak), W. Box and lady, J. Sussex, J. Caurse, F. Ashenfelder, G. Nevitt and wife, C. Simpson (P. P. British Lion Lodge), G. Trebilcock, R. Hobbs, J. Spencer, A. Hicks, R. Hobbs, J. Jupp and many others. After ample justice had been done to the good things on the table which were prepared by Mr. G. Friend, confectioner, in a style which reflected credit upon him as a caterer, the assemblage was called to order by Bro. John Briggs, president of the lodge. The first toast on the list was "The Grand Lodge and its representatives," together with "The ladies," and it brought Bro. James Carter, D.D.G.P., to his feet. After reviewing the aims and objects of the order, he expressed himself as pleased to be present at the anniversary of Lodge Trafalgar. He intimated that he expected the S. G., President Bro. Kempling, of Barrie, in the city some time this month. F. Rossiter sang "The British Lion," which brought forth loud applause; as and encore he gave "Neptune." Bro. R. Hobbs made a short and witty speech upon the worth of such societies as the Sons of England in relieving the sick and distressed, and stated that it was recognized to be one of the leading benefit societies. Bro. C. Simpson sang "An Englishman," which was encored. Songs by Bro. Chris. Walters, John Hobbs and Bro. Leach followed. A letter of regret was read from Lodge British Lion No. 53, East London; owing to their regular meeting being held on the same night quite a number could not attend. They trusted that the members of Lodge Trafalgar and their friends would spend a pleasant evening. Miss Ada Brenton acted as accompanist. "God Save the Queen" brought a very pleasant evening to a close, one long to be remembered in the annals of Lodge Trafalgar and which reflected credit on the committee in charge.

A meeting was held in the lecture room of the London South Methodist Church to organize a branch of the Epworth League. Mr. A. D. Westman presided, and after short and appropriate addresses by Messrs. Rowell, Weeks, German and the Chairman, the work of organization proceeded. Mr. N. W. Rowell, to whom the credit of working up the matter is largely due, was elected president of this branch of the league, and Mr. A. D. Westman was made president of the department of Christian work, Mr. G. N. Weeks of the literary department, Mr. C. E. German of the social department, and Mr. Wm. Greenwood of the department of entertainment. Miss Watt, who was elected secretary, will be head of the department of correspondence, as will the treasurer-elect, Miss Ada Johnstone, of the department of finance. The attendance was fairly good notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, and the outlook for the success of the league is all that could be wished. Much regret was felt at the absence of the pastor, Rev. Alex. Langford, from the meeting. The prevalent influenza still has him in its grip.

Rheumatic Pains

Require no description, since, with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug stores for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents.

An Interesting R eport.

On page eleven of Bulletin No. 10 of the Inland Revenue Department, which has recently been issued, Prof. A. McGill, of Ottawa, who has had charge of making exhaustive analysis of baking powders for the Government, remarks in referring to imperial baking powder, that "this is an excellent powder," etc. This is a very flattering testimonial, considering that the majority of baking powders in the market are condemned by him as being unfit for use. Baking Powders containing Alum and Phosphate, Prof. McGill remarks, "are entirely objectionable, and ought not to be allowed a place in any well-appointed bakery." As the cost of imperial baking powder is very little more than the numerous cheap adulterated goods referred to, consumers will find it to their advantage to use "imperial" which they can depend on as being always reliable and the best possible to be had. ywt

OUR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Inspector Seath's Reply to the Recent Action of the Board of Education—He Does Not Want It Reorganized.

The Board of Education, at its last meeting adopted the report of No. 1 Committee, which contained a somewhat strong allusion to the opinions of the inspector of collegiate institutes and high schools, Mr. J. Seath. They referred to his desire to have the institute reorganized on a classical basis, and expressed the opinion that the London Board and the parents of the pupils were better able to judge of the requirements of the institution in the matter of commercial education than was the inspector. The following letter, which enclosed an extract from the ADVERTISER'S report of the Board of Education meeting, is self-explanatory and will be found of interest:

To the Deputy M nister of Education:

Nothing in my report and nothing I have said justifies the statement that I seemed to desire to have the London Collegiate Institute reorganized as a "thorough classical and language school." I discussed his time-table with the modern languages master, and concluded from what I saw that pupils taking French and German were not in the same position as those taking classics. I therefore recommended that, as has been done in the case of classics, provision should be made in Forms I. A and B for pupils whose parents wish them to begin in those languages, and every opportunity should be given them for continuing the study. This, of course, means that I understood that pupils in French and German had not, when I inspected the school, the same opportunities as those studying classics. If my belief was incorrect Clause 2 of my report should not have been inserted. The High School Act and the regulations provide for various classes of pupils, and so long as any pupils in a school wish to take classics or moderns, it is my duty to call the attention of the local authorities to the necessity of making suitable provision for them. My doing so does not justify the statement that I desire the interests of other pupils to be subordinated to theirs. In this connection it is proper for the Board to note that the official report of the attendance handed to me by the Head Master when I inspected the school last November shows that out of a total attendance of 315 no fewer than 97 were studying Latin, 74 French and 14 German. The tone of the institute is after all not so purely commercial and industrial as clause No. 7 of your committee's report would lead one to believe.

2. Clause 1 of my report reads as follows: "The amount of time devoted to bookkeeping and writing in the forms above II. A and B is unnecessarily great. After the course in these subjects provided in I. and II. A and B, the courses of study should differ in that it cannot be possible that all the boys and girls in the different divisions of the departmental Form I. are intended for a business life. There must be some desirous of a liberal education." The London Board of Education will note that I do not object to the provision for the commercial subjects (bookkeeping and writing) in Forms I. and II. A and B. The regulations provide that every pupil in the departmental Form I., of which there are six divisions in London, should have a course in the commercial subjects; but they do not assume that all pupils in this form should take all the course especially provided in such a locality as London for those intended for industrial or commercial pursuits. Having ascertained that the average pupil remains in Forms I. and II. A and B at least a year, and believing that in this time he can obtain a knowledge of the commercial subjects sufficient for ordinary purposes of life, I recommended that thereafter the courses should differentiate, that is that the pupil intended for industrial and commercial life should continue all the special commercial courses, and that other pupils, wherever their desires may be—for a professional course or simply for a liberal education—may be allowed to devote their attention to the subjects specially suitable for them, without being burdened by a course specially intended as a preparation for industrial and commercial life. The official report of the attendance, mentioned above, shows that out of a total of 236 in Form I. only 11 are returned as not taking the commercial course, and all in the senior division are returned as taking this course. I may add, although I have made no such statement in my report, that, even for pupils taking the commercial course, my experience leads me to believe that less time would suffice for these special subjects; but as regards the attainments and the abilities of the pupils, I recognize the fact that the Head Master and the Board are better qualified to judge than the Inspector.

Mrs. M. Stephen, of Albany, N. Y., writes us as follows: "My stomach was so weak that I could not eat anything sour or very sweet, even fruit at tea-time would cause heartburn, fullness or oppression of the chest, short breath, restlessness during sleep, and frightful dreams of disagreeable nights, so that I would often dread to go to sleep. With the use of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery this unpleasantness has all been removed, and I now can eat what suits my taste or fancy."

ANNETTE.

A Story of a Woman's Faithfulness.

What an instrument of torture to Annette that terrible father was in his son's hands! It was like the lash of a whip—that sacred name—scourging the girl until she relinquished one point after another.

"But——" she objected.

"But," he interrupted, "I cannot have you become known in this place as Miss Addison's dressmaker, nor indeed in any other place."

"I hate to deceive Miss Addison; still if you think it necessary——"

"It is indispensable that you should do it, Annette."

"But what am I to say to Madame Broderie? How account to her for my absence from New York?"

"Say nothing; account for nothing."

"Oh, but I must; if she does not hear from me she will become alarmed and institute inquiries."

"In that case, then, write and tell her that failing to find me in Iowa, you have gone farther west in search of me, having got a clew; and that when you come to a stopping-place you will send her full particulars; but for her not to be alarmed if she does not hear from you for some little time. That will keep her quiet for a while."

"But, Perry, how many stories you are making me tell. I hate falsehood, and to her, of all people. It is a very poor return for her kindness to me."

He frowned. The girl had learned to dread that scowl of his even in the hours of their early love. Now she trembled with fear as he said, in a tone of displeasure:

"You, yourself, Annette, have made all this secrecy and subterfuge necessary by coming here. Had you remained quietly where I left you all this double-dealing would have been avoided. You promised, just now, to do anything I wished."

"So I did, Perry, but before I knew that it involved so much falsehood."

"And what if it is all falsehood?" he demanded angrily, jumping up and pacing the room. "Am I not going to act a lie for your sake? Shall I not be forced to lead a double life—one with you, the other with Inez—with a mask constantly upon my face and obliged to visit you by stealth? The time has come, I tell you plainly, Annette, when you have got to choose between your friend and me. If you prefer the Broderie woman, leave me and go to her; if you prefer me, you must cut adrift from her and all the companions of your past. My wife shall have nothing in common with such people. Which shall it be—her or me?"

"You, of course!" answered Annette without hesitation, but with a secret pang at resigning her kind and faithful friend.

"That's my own little complaisant Nannie once more," Perry said, his brow clearing. "Remember that these unpleasant conditions for both of us cannot last long, and I shall hail with delight the day when I may marry you a second time, openly in church, with the proud Inez as bridesmaid instead of bride."

The girl's face beamed with joy at the prospect.

"If you think my conditions hard, and are tempted to rebel against them, remember how differently I might, and most men would, have received you when you tracked me here. I might have denied your claim and refused you any reparation; instead of which, I have received you with unabated love and open arms, providing conditions under which you may secretly live with me until I am free to openly proclaim myself your husband. And now I must leave you," he said, folding her in his arms and pressing a parting kiss upon her lips. "It is getting late, and you must make your preparations for removal early to-morrow. I will send a carriage for you, and will be waiting for you at the cottage, which you will find provisioned and ready to receive you."

When Perry tore himself from Annette's detaining arms, she did not immediately busy herself in preparations for the morrow, but sat reflecting upon the mysterious fate that had led her directly to the home of her childhood as the daughter-in-law of the man who had practically caused the death of both her parents. Against that man she had always cherished a feeling of hate, if not a desire for revenge, and now by marriage he had become her father!

And it was the unquiet spirit of her own beloved parent which was supposed to roam through the haunted house.

How strange and inexplicable was all this mysterious weaving together of her past and present life. How complex is sometimes the web of fate.

But as love is the master-passion of woman who love as Annette did, she soon cast aside these idle speculations and somber reflections, and gave her mind wholly up to the rapturous belief that she had regained—nay, never had lost—Perry's heart; and like the burden of a beautiful melody, she kept singing to herself:

"He loves me! He loves me still, and all my troubles are over."

Truly it is a wise provision of Providence that we mortals are not permitted to look into the future.

Could Annette have done so, she would have seen that heavy as her past troubles had been, they were light compared to those in store for her, which were destined to be of so extraordinary and terrible a nature that she would have perferred death rather than endure them.

But all this being mercifully withheld from her, no happier girl than Annette Norris laid her head upon a pillow that night in Port Repose. Sweet is the deep, dreamless sleep of exhausted youth whose nights have long been made hideous by the black and haunting specter of a first great sorrow.

Meanwhile, Perry Erford, walked leisurely, thoughtfully homeward, an evil smile of wicked triumph replacing the bright look of love which he had worn in the girl's presence.

CHAPTER XIV.

"How strange it seems," was Charlie Addison's reflection, as he seated himself in the Rayburn drawing-room, "to come to this house not as the betrothed husband of Blanche, but at the summons of a stranger. I wonder what the can want with me? Unless he succeeds in effecting a reconciliation for me, I shall be tempted to punish him for his interference."

Hereupon Major Smith entered. Charlie bowed coldly. The Major stood at a little distance, secretly admiring him, and thinking:

"This time there is no possibility of a doubt! I have a son! And there he is! Oh joy! But how to break it to him?"

"You sent for me?" inquired Charlie.

"I did," said the Major, smiling his sweet Delsartian smile.

"Well, sir, I am here. What do you want with me?"

"To repair the wrong I have done you."

"Ah!" exclaimed the young man, starting up in his excitement.

Smith cried out:

"Stay where you are! Don't move!"

Then he muttered:

"How handsome he is. The very picture of what I was at his age."

Charlie uttered an ejaculation of impatience, and began to pace the floor. Smith rushed after him and, seizing him by the arm, said peremptorily:

"Remain exactly as you are. Don't move for your life!"

Charlie stared at the old man, thinking that he was crazier than ever, while Smith was cogitating:

"How I long to clasp him to my heart. What fine eyes—just like mine. Even the color is the same. Ha! Ha! I cannot deny this boy."

"Well, sir," said young Addison, "when you have finished examining my features perhaps you will let go my arm."

"One moment more," he said, and thought:

"What a commanding form—just like mine. My well-formed hand—my shapely foot. My own! My son! After all, I like a son better than a daughter. It is more virile—more leonine." Whereupon he beat his breast after the manner of a gorilla; then, unable longer to restrain himself, he threw his arms around the young man, exclaiming dramatically:

"The unerring voice of nature cries out to me! I have found you, my son, my long-lost son!"

Charlie pushed him off, saying bursquely:

"Go away, you meddling fool! Stoppawing me, or I'll break every bone in your body."

"Break them, break them. Anything to please you, my dear boy." Then to himself again Smith said:

"What force, what power. How grand he looks in a rage. I see myself repeated in every action. Dear boy!" he said aloud.

"Don't call me 'dear boy.' You disgust me," returned Charlie.

"He little dreams I have a right to him. I must find that registry, and that will show him who I am."

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

What Is a Model Wife?

A model wife is the woman in whom the heart of her husband doth safely trust.

She is the woman who looks after his household, and makes her hospitality a delight to him, and not a burden.

Who has learned that a soft answer will turn away wrath.

Whe keeps her sweetest smiles and most loving words for her husband.

Who is his confidant in sorrow or in joy, and who does not feel the necessity of explaining her private affairs to the neighborhood.

Who respects the rights of husband and children, and in return has due regard paid to her.

Who knows that the strongest argument is her womanliness, and so she cultivates it.

Who is sympathetic in joy or in grief, and who finds work for her hands to do.

Who makes friends and keeps them.

Who is not made bitter by trouble, but who strengthens and sweetens under it.

Who tries to conceal the faults of her husband rather than blazon them forth to an uninterested public.

The woman whose life-book has love written on every page.

Who makes a home for a man—a home in a house and in a heart. A home that he is sure of, a home that is full of love presided over by one whose price is above rubies.

She is the model wife.—[Ladies' Home Journal.

THE LADIES!

A New and Distinct Form of Disease which is afflicting Canadian Women.

Now some of Them Regained Fresh Complexion, Perfect Health and Superb Physical Beauty.

A great London Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry about servants and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. "It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of woman, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Hypolite St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits revived.

Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.

Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., MONTREAL.

BARKWELL'S BRONCHIAL BALSAM.
Dear Sir,---I wish to testify of the merits of that grand preparation known as Barkwell's Vegetable Healing Bronchial Balsam. I was told by a neighbor what a grand Balsam it was. My little girl was very ill with bronchitis, and a very few doses restored her and I believe saved her life. I feel it my duty to let others know that they also can be cured of this terrible affection.

Mr. J. D. Saunby, of this city, is registered at the St. Nicholas Hotel, Hamilton.

Mr. A. E. Pavey, proprietor of a large gent's furnishing establishment in London, is at the Welland House.—[St. Catharines Star.

"Yes," said the oldest inhabitant, "this has been a pretty mild winter, but I remember a season that was much warmer than this." "How long ago was that?" queried his listeners. "Only last summer.'

Gordon Beattie, the 8 year-old son of W. H. Beattie, was drowned at Pond Mills Tuesday afternoon. He was sliding on the ice and fell through with the above result. He was a bright lad, and the relatives have much sympathy extended to them.

The Temperance Union of the Congregational Church spent a very pleasant evening yesterday. The principal feature of the entertainment was the London Harmony Club, the members of which gave some very pleasing selections. Mr. J. Moule occupied the chair.

A complimentary concert is to be given Miss Elosie J. Skinnings, the well-known Canadian composer of music and poetess (who has many friends here) at the Grand Opera House, Goderich, to-morrow evening. The lady well deserves the kindly wishes of all true Canadians. All the musical talent of the town will do her honor on this occasion.

Mr. James Brady, of Ingersoll, well-known in this city, is very ill of complication arising from an attack of la grippe. His condition Sunday was considered so serious that prayers were offered at St. Mary's R. C. Church for his recovery. A telephone message received this morning conveys the intelligence that his condition has taken a favorable turn and that there are strong hopes for his recovery.

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Strathroy, was held in the lecture hall last evening. Mr. D. L. Leitch occupied the chair. The several reports of the different organizations were presented, showing that energy and vigor were characteristic of each. The managers' report showed that some $300 had been expended on repairs of church. It was also decided to call a meeting on Monday, Feb. 10, in connection with the question of chosing a minister.

At the recent meeting of West Middlesex Agricultural Society the Secretary read a communication from the Minister of Agriculture which set forth that Messrs. Richard Gibson, Delaware; C. M. Simmons, Lobo; and Wm. Brock, Adelaide, were candidates for district No. 11, for the position of representatives on the Board of Ariculture and Arts for Ontario. Mr. Gibson, of Strathroy, addressed the meeting on behalf of Mr. Richard Gibson, of Delaware, while Mr. Cummings ably supported Mr. Brock. Mr. Simmons was unrepresented. A ballot was then taken with the following result: Mr. Gibson, 19; Mr. Simmons, 43; and Mr. Brock, 29. Mr. C. M. Simmons was accordingly declared elected.

The Young Liberals.

A first-class rehearsal of the Young Liberal Minstrels was held last evening, almost every member being in attendance. The first part, which has been remodeled, was thoroughly put in shape and gone through with characteristic vim, as were the "dandy black brigade" and the song and dance team specialties. A feature of the coming show with which the members are much pleased is the trained group of living statuary, which is to be quite an innovation in minstrelsy. The black brigade have entirely new movements and will parade again to-morrow evening. The statuary will take the place of the "barn floor" sketch of the last performance.

He Advanced the Fare.

John Bull, from London—the London in the bush, we mean, not "hold Lunnon"—was at the Police Court yesterday morning wanting the police to hunt up for him one Charles Grabber. Bull said he had worked in the London car shops seven years, and during that time lived at the same boarding house. A short time ago Grabber came there. Bull having been laid off at the car shops, Grabber suggested that they come over to Stratford, where he said he had a home and friends. On the strength of this Bull loaned him his fare over here. When they got here they spent all Bull had. Grabber then left him, presumably to hunt up his friends, which Bull has since learned do not exist. Bull is in the city stranded and cannot get work. He is anxious to find Grabber in the hope that he may pay him his fare home. Grabber claimed to have worked in the tannery here.—[Stratford Herald.

Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

That "Held by the Enemy" is sufficiently popular to ensure rousing houses on Saturday afternoon and evening is beyond a doubt. The scene of the play is a Southern city, occupied by the Union army during the war. In the first act Colonel Charles Prescott, of the 7th Massachusetts Volunteers, is in charge of a squad of men detailed to guard the residence of Euphemia McCreery, a maiden lady of the South. While in the discharge of his duty Colonel Prescott falls madly in love with Rachel, a niece in the family, who, on account of having plighted her troth to her cousin, Lieutenant Gordon Hayne, an officer of the Confederate army, repels her Yankee lover's advances. While the latter is still in the room pleading his cause, Hayne arrives on the scene and is arrested as a spy. On this charge he is tried and convicted, and in a subsequent attempt to escape from confinement, is shot by the Major-General commanding the United States forces. The attempt of the two nieces to rescue their cousin from the hospital after he was shot, and their discovery that he was dead, were executed in a pathetic manner that left scarcely a dry eye in the audience. The fifth and last act is a portrayal of events six months later. Hayne is dead; Prescott is at the McCreery mansion, wounded, and Rachel McCreery is anxious for his recovery. She insists on being with him, and gradually, by a series of incidents which are portrayed grandly, he is given to understand her love for him, and they become engaged.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Miss B. W. (St. Marys).—Sorry we can't offer anything for your contribution. Our staff of contributors in that line is at present too large.

T. H. R. (Collingwood).—As a first attempt your poem is fair; but the subject has been written on till it is threadbare. Besides, McGinty is scarcely a good rhyme for 1890.

Inquirer (Parkhill).—Burns' anniversary comes on the 25th inst., but in some places, owing to that date being a Saturday, Scotchmen are postponing the celebration till the following week.

X. X. (Parry Sound).—Yes; Prof. Anderson, the Wizard of the North, was a Scotchman. He was the pioneer of sleight-of-hand entertainments in Great Britain, though some queer shuffles had been previously recorded in political circles.

Subscriber (West Williams).—Yes, the money to enable Louis Riel to escape from Manitoba, after the first rebellion, was paid out of the public funds by Sir John Macdonald, and it was after this payment that Sir John, at Peterboro, exclaimed that he "Wished to God he could catch him!" How do we account for it? you ask. The crafty old fellow did not want to catch him; but if he had done so, and had ruled the Northwest righteously thereafter, there would have been no second rebellion.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

A young man was fined $25 the other day for hugging a St. Louis girl. That was a terrible punishment for an act of charity.

He Forgot.—Ferguson (whispering excitedly to his wife at church)—Jane, I left my money in my other clothes. I have only 10 cents. Mrs. Ferguson (coldly)—That will be enough, James. This will be a one-act sermon.

A GOOD CIGAR.

Few 5-cent cigars have enjoyed such an unprecedented run of success as the "Highland Lassie," and it is continually finding new admirers in the large army of smokers who one and all unite in its praises. The sale of this fine cigar is daily on the increase. Some persons have a prejudice against an article manufactured by a local firm, but the "Highland Lassie" has been a large factor in overcoming this prejudice, and is to-day the most popular 5-cent cigar ever put on the market. Manufactured only by H. McKay & Co., London.
