UNCLE SAM'S NAVY. Launch of a New Cruiser-A Marin Marvel.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—The United States cruiser, Brooklyn, was launched into the waters of the Delaware at Cramp's shipyard today. Miss Ida May Schieren, daughter of the mayor of Brooklyn, christened the ship.

The Brooklyn is regarded by naval experts as a marvel in the art of marine architecture. She is classed as a steel armored cruiser, having four eight-inch barbette turrets. Her cost exclusive of armament s $2,986,000. The principal dimensions of the Brooklyn are: Length on the load water line, 400.50 feet; beam, extreme, 64.68 feet; draught, mean normal, 24 feet; displacement, normal, 9,271; indicated horse power, 16,000; speeding knots per 8,200 tons, 9.000; 21:1,290 tons, 750 tons. BRITAIN'S INCREASING REVENUE London, Oct. 2.-The revenue returns for the United Kingdom show a net increase for the six months ending with Monday of £4,063,000, of which £3,659,000 accrued within the last quarter. The bulk of the increase-£2,698,-000—arose from the sale of revenue stamps, chiefly arising from the extraordinary development of stock exchange business and the promotion of new companies. Every department of the revenue service shows an increase, proving the existence of a solid improvement in trade. The Conservative newspapers are jubliant over this showing, and are in expectation of an enormous budget surplus in conse-ACTION OF CHURCH CONGRESS. London, Oct. 2.-The Church Congress is not likely to take up the subject next week at Norwich, but the question of the reunion of the Christian world will be the target for long range discussion. The Oxford Diocesan Conference was unable this week to pass a resolution in favor of prayers for reunion on Rogation Day until several violent speeches had been made in reply to the Pope and Car-dinal Vaughan and their "insults to the historic Church of England.' Meanwhile, the Congregational Union is sounding an alarm against the proposals for an increased grant of public funds for denominational schools. The question of putting voluntary schools on a secure and equitable basis in relation to board schools is looming up as one fraught with political importance.

REVOLT OF CURATES COL-LAPSES.

London, Oct. 2.-The revolt of the curates has collapsed before it fairly began. After a stormy meeting at Zion College a motion for the formation of a curates' union and church reform society was defeated, the main hour, 24; total coal capacity, 1,753 tons; contention of the objectors being that it would virtually be a trades union, The same dimensions of the New York are: having for its motive what any bottle Respectively 380.65; 64.10 feet; 23 35 feet; washer or general laborer has in view organizer of the movement asked the minority to remain behind and form a union after the majority had retired. There was a renewal of the excitement, and one curate, standing on a chair, shouted:

"You are a lot of blackguards!" While the proposals of the reform ers were rejected with scorn and ridicule, the curates have many real grievances, although it would be folly for them to attempt to secure redress for them by the methods of trades unionism. They may reasonably claim security of tenure in the parish, and in many cases an increase of pay to something like living wages. The agitators among the curates have overdrawn the case when they assert that they are looked upon as the servants of the incumbents and are the common butt of playrights and satirists, but certainly the lot of the poor curate is not always a happy one, and it is not strange that a trades union was proposed by those least contented with

Reported Variance Between Britain and the United States

Over Venezuelan Territory-The Monroe Doctrine Again.

St. Paul. Minn., Oct. 2.-The Pioneer Press today says: Moses E. Clapp left for New York last night to attend a hastily arranged meeting of the Manoa Company (Ltd.) to consider im-Britain and that the present Government of the former country would not be loth to avail itself of the moral, encroachment of the latter. Indeed it is said that the grant of the concession was a shrewd stroke of diplomacy of the Venezuelan President for the purpose of drawing the United States directly into action to force the Government of Great Britain to abandon her usurpation of territory in Venezuela. The syndicate have given notice that they will take possession of their territory within a month. But diplomatic correspondence on this subject between Washington and London has been active for some time past. President Cleveland and Secretary of State Olney are said to be one on the question TONEY CERTAIN SUMS OF $300, $600, $600, $1,000 and $1,000 are in our hands for investment on first-class mortgage. Oakwoods Cemetery Company Guarding th Remains of Thos. Holbrook. Chicago, Oct. 2 .- A temporary halt has been called in the war over the remains of Thomas Holbrook by the serving of an injunction issued late last Saturday night by Judge Haneey restraining the Oakwoods Cemetery Company from making any further disposition of the remains until ordered to do so by the court. Holbrook is the colored man who was murdered by Carrie Stewart ar 153 Custom House Place Wednesday night, and whose remains five different women claimed on the ground of being his widow. One of these widows went so far as to secure a writ of replevin for the body of the deceased, but the officials of the cemetery refused to recognize the writ which was issued by a justice of the peace, the officials having been previously ordered by the public administrator not to turn the remains over to anybody until a brother of the murdered man arrived and straightened out the tangle in his domestic affairs.

The widow who had the writ of re plevin was so persistent in her demands that the cemetery officials had to employ an extra force of guards Saturday night to prevent the con-stable who had the writ from taking forcible possession of the remains. The injunction from the Circuit Court, however, had the effect of putting a stop to the scramble until the matter is decided in court. Holbrook had about $1,000 in cash on his person at the time of his death, and the rival claimants are said to be anxious to get hold of this money.

WOMAN WITCHES. They Are Still Believed In in Michigan-People Have All Sorts of

Potent Charms. Hudsonville, Mich., Oct. 2.-Drenthe is a little hamlet, near the south boundary of Ottawa county, and is settled by Hollanders, the greater part of whom are prosperous and worthy citizens. In the matter of superstitions Drenthe has few equals in the world. Pins, needles and horseshoes are in constant use to ward off the attacks of witches, while charms of every kind are worn to circumvent disease and impending calamities. There is an embargo placed on black cats and watch-eyed horses. The feathers of black chickens are burned at regular intervals, to secure immunity from the invasions of the witches. A son of a wealthy Holland baron is living, with his family, near the village; one night, not long since, their baby was suffering from the croup, which the parents attributed to an old woman, thought to be a witch. Pillows were searched for feather crowns, which were burned, but no relief was obtained for the little sufferer. Finally the father threw a live toad into the room of the supposed witch, after which the child got better, thus more firmly establishing their faith in the efficacy of their remedy.

One poor old woman is closely watched by her family and the neighbors. who believe her possessed of familiar spirits.

A Spanish Warship and a German Steamer Wrecked.

The Cruiser Comes to Grief in the Gulf of Guadiana.

The German Mail Steamer Uruguay Ashore-No Loss of Life in Either Case-Fatal Wreck on Nowtoundland's coast.

Havana Oct. 2.—Following close upon the loss of the Spanish schooner Barcastegnia, which sunk in collision with the Spanish merchant steamer Mortera off Moreo Castle, resulting in the drowning of Admiral Delgado Parejo, commander-in-chief of the Spanish naval forces in Cuban waters, and 46 men, comes the news of the wreck and probable total loss of the Spanish warship Cristobal Colon, a secondclass cruiser of about 200 tons displacement and 1,600 horse power. The Cristobol Colon formed part of the fleet of Spanish warships detailed to watch the coast of Cuba in order to prevent the landing of filibustering ex-peditions from the United States and elsewhere. Her crew is estimated to have numbered about 200 officers and Manoa Company (Ltd.) to consider immediate steps to take possession of the territory embraced within the concession of Colorado Point, in the Mantua in the Province of Pinar Del Rio, near which territory Havana is

There she tried to ride out the fierce gale and heavy seas, but was slowly driven towards Colorado Point, off which there is a dangerous reef known as the Colorado reef. When the commander of the cruiser saw that he could not make headway against the storm he attempted to anchor, according to the stories told here, but the anchors would not hold and the cruiser was driven ashore. Everything possible seems to have been done to save the cruiser, but in the heavy sea running all efforts in that direction were useless, and she was finally abandoned, a helpless

London, Oct. 2.—A dispatch received here by Lloyds from Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, this afternoon, announces the wreck and total loss of the German mail steamship Uruguay, of 1,460 tons. The Uruguay left Hamburg on Aug. 7 for Montevideo and arrived there on Sept. 2. She was on her homeward passage when she ran ashore off Cape Frio, not far from Rio De Janeiro, and all efforts to float her proved fruitless. He crew and all her passengers were rescued, but the ship and cargo could not be saved. COLLISION IN THE NORTH SEA. The British steamer Albrio came into collision with the coal steamer Christian three miles off Blyth, Northumberland yesterday and sank. The Albiro's bows were badly damaged, but she took on board the crew of the Christian.

THREE SEAMEN DROWNED. Lapoile, Nfid., Oct. 2.—The French schooner Marie Blanche, from St. Pierre for Bay of Islands, with a general cargo, went ashore here last night. The vessel and cargo are a total loss. The captain and one man were saved out of a crew of five.

CREW MISSING. Munising, Mich., Oct. 2.-The barge Elma, which broke loose from her tow during the recent storm on Lake Superior has been picked up and taken to Grand Island. She will prove a total loss. About 200,000 feet of her cargo of 520,000 feet of lumber remained on the broken barge. The crew of six men and a woman and child have not been found.

A Gay Murderer.

Shortis Happy on His Way to Admit His Crime.

His Counsel Pleads Guilty and Urges Insanity.

Beauharnois, Oct. 2.—The trial of Bertie Shortis for the murder of John Loy and Maxime Leboeuf at Valleyfield on March 2 last, opened here today before Judge Belanger. Donald Macmaster, Q.C., is crown prosecutor, and J. N. Greenshields, Q.C., and Geo. G. Foster are for the defense. Shortis reached here from Montreal jail at about 8 o'clock and was put in the county jail pending the trial. At 10 o'clock the court opened, and after the judge's charge the grand jury retired to consider the case. The defense will make no attempt to deny that Shortis committed the murder, but will plead insanity.

Shortis' mother and father are here from Ireland and thousands of people from surrounding districts have congregated to witness the proceedings. Shortis was in high spirits on the journey from Montreal and does not seem in the least to realize his position. When the prisoner alighted from the train the immense crowd closed in on the guard, but they were quickly sent back to the rear of the platform by the extra police. The prisoner and his special guards and the reporters were quickly rushed into a covered carriage and driven rapidly away to the jail, where a little difficulty arose to get the prisoner through the large crowd.

A true bill against Shortis was found by the grand jury. The trade returns for August appear in the last Canada Gazetta, but the financial returns for July are yet withheld. During August last the free goods were 35 1-2 per cent. of the whole, while in August, 1894, they were 45 per cent. This must mean a reduced output of the factories of Canada who use most of the free goods. The exports during August show an increase of $1,340,000 over August, 1894, and a decrease of $1,130,000 below 1893. The increase in animals and forest products alone was $2,250,000, showing a decrease in the other articles of nearly a million dollars.

Flying Machines Coming.

Prof. Bell Believes They Are Entirely Practicable.

He Also Holds the Speed of Horses May Be Greatly Increased.

New York, Oct. 1 .- Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, who has been in France and Belgium four weeks, returned to this city yesterday on the French line steamship La Bourgogne, and is staying at the Gilsey

To a reporter of the New York Times Prof. Bell last night talked of the rumor that he was engaged in the con-struction of a flying machine.

"That is not exactly correct," he said. "While I am greatly interested in flying machines, and have been making some experiments, I am not constructing any aerial machine. I am merely working up tables which will be of use to future inventors. I believe that the idea of a flying machine is practicable, but that balloons and butterfly wings must be discarded. I started on my experiment, with the idea of having a machine of greater specific gravity than the air. I believe that is the only correct principle. I have experimented with a French design made of metal and of simple construction. I have also been much interested while in France by a machine called the helikoptes, invented by M. Trouve, made of iron and metal, and which screws itself up into the sign and which screws itself up into the air.
"I have not done anything further with the radiaphone. It is just as perfect as the telephone, but it is impracticable at long distances because of the rotation of the earth. I think, however, that it might be used to great advantage, in testing the fluc-tuations of electric light. "The development of horseless carriages, electric railroads, etc., has led me to think of what is to become of the horse. Man has invented the bi-cycle to increase his powers of propulsion, and, while I do not say that a horse could ride a bicycle, I am confident that a machine could be built whereby the horse could be taken off the ground and the horse used as a motor power. With a proper system of gearing great speed could be obtained.

"I have recently invented a machine for use in fishermen's dories on the banks of Newfoundland. The fishermen are frequently cut off from their vessels by fog and lose their lives as frequently by lack of drinking water as by exposure. The invention consists of a glass cylinder, or bottle, through the neck of which is a rubber tube containing a smaller rubber tube, The glass is submerged, and a brass cylinder, acting as a bellows through the rise and fall of the waves, pumps the atmosphere into the submerged bottle. There it becomes condensed, and the supply of fresh drinking water is always to be obtained.

THE WOODSTOCK DIVINE'S LAT-

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": I have no desire to follow Hon. D. Mills through his additional two columns of mud-throwing. It is "expedient" for him to adopt such tactics. But it is of no use before a discerning public. Myself and others, whom he traduces, are not on trial; he is on trial. He is asking to be returned to Parliament to represent the people; we are not. The country looks to him, not to Though we were as "untruthful," as "dishonorable," as "rufflan," or, worse still in Mr. Mills' estimation, as us. "Tory" as he says we are, that would not improve Hon. D. Mills' position before the country one whit. He is very angry. It was hard on him when I introduced to him Mr. Flint, one of the best Reform members in Parliament, who describes Mr. Mills' plea for voting against prohibition as "an evasion which deceives no one." Hon. D. Mills refers to his Parliamentary speeches for his views on prohibi-These speeches are now before me; and I defy anyone, friend or foe, to tell on which side of this question Mr. Mills stands. It would be easy to cull sentences from these specehes, apparently in sympathy with this reform, and then again, it would be just as easy to quote other sentences in opposition to it. In his Parliamentary speeches, as in his newspaper correspondence, he wobbles, wobbles the whole time. I am glad this discussion has arisen. From letters received from prominent public men all over the land, it is evithat temperance electors are awakening to the utter folly of expecting to get prohibition through representatives who are afraid or ashamed to avow themselves prohibitionists. For once, Mr. Mills makes a specific charge, and I will be equally specific in reply. He says: "Dr. Mackay sought the influence of Mr. Charles Wilson, formerly a Conservative candidate in opposition to Sir Oliver Mowat, and promised, thereafter, to bear in mind Mr. Wilson's services on his behalf should he get the appointment upon the commission, and should Mr. is specific enough to suit Dr. Mackay, and the public can judge which of us has acted from conviction of public duty, and which, from considerations of a less commendable kind." So speaks Hon. D. Mills. Were I to use the choice billingsgate of my opponent, I would characterize the above charge with a little word of three letters; but I shall only say that it is a slander, without a scintilla of truth in it. I never mentioned the matter of the royal commission, directly or indirectly, or in any way whatever, to Mr. Charles Wilson. I hope this is specific enough to suit Hon. D. Mills. If not, let him formulate for me a more specific denial. My friend has not yet earned that new hat. nor even the much needed volume of temperance lectures. Try again; you're in bad luck this time. Here, then, lies buried the last of David Mills' brawling brood of slanders-buried deep, face down, so that the more it scratches, the deeper it will go. Requiescat in pace. A crisis is upon us. Let temperance electors be true to their principles, and victory is nigh. We want in Parliament today men of conviction, decision and courage. God, give us men! A time like this demands

ROMANCE OF THE NORTHWEST. lieu and the legitimacy of Col. Fraser's

End of the Long Suit Over the Marriage of Col. Fraser With an Indian Girl. Quebec, Oct. 1.-Information has been received here of the final judgment in one of the most important lawsuits ever taken in Canada, the merits of which hung upon a romantic North-west story of over a century ago. Col. Alexander Fraser, a magnate of the eld Northwest Fur Company of Canada, who died in 1836, settled in 1788 in the Northwest with a beautiful Indian girl named Angelique Meadows, to whom he owed his life at the time of an Indian massacre, when he was condemned to torture and death by a party of Angelique's tribe. She saved his life by extending to him her hand. Fraser promptly accepted the proffered terms and suit, and according to the practices of Angelique's kinsfolk, became her recognized husband by taking her with him to his own home. After living with his Indian wife for some time in the Northwest, he returned in 1801 to Canada, and acquired the now very valuable seignories of Temiscouata and Madawaska. Angellque followed him to Quebec in 1803, and with her children lived with him for some time in River du Loup, first in the manor house which he himself occupied, and later in a small lodge at some distance therefrom, built in Indian fashion especially for her accommodation, and infinitely preferred by her to the more luxurious home of her white husband. The suit recently determined was begun many years ago by one Beaulieu, of River du Loup, a great-grandson of Col. Fraser by his Indian wife. He claimed a large share of the valuable properties belonging to his ancestor, and he rested his claim upon the legitimacy of the marriage of his great-grandfather with Angelique Meadows. The claimant produced a number of witnesses who had known the late Col. Fraser, and who had frequently, as heard him describe the indian geremonial which attended his marriage in the Northwest. The defendants contested the legality of the marriage, urging that even if it had been celebrated in the customary Indian manner, which they denied, it was only a forced alliance so far as Fraser was concerned, and undertaken for the sole purpose of saving his life The case has gone through all the courts of the realm open to it. The final judgment recognizes the claim of Beau-

Financial Position of the School Board to Date.

An Overdraft May Face the Trustees at applicants considered their departthe End of the Year.

Audit Committee's Objections Re Salaries Unheeded.

One Teacher Gets Two Increases This Year, and Another in Sight-Collegiate Masters Want More Money - Ano her Kindergarten Asked For in No. 5 Ward -Growth in the Institute attendance.

From present appearances it is more than likely that the Board of Education will have an over-draft on its appropriation at the close of the year. At the regular meeting of the board last night, the audit committee, in accordance with a motion recently made by Trustee Stephenson, presented a report which contained much useful information on the financial standing of the board on Sept. 30. Mr. Stephenson's motion referred especially to increase in salaries, and the committee reported that the item of $44,793 set apart for teachers was the exact amount required, and would allow of no increases. However, in March, Mr. B. F. Bryant, then principal of King street school, received a $100 increase. M. W. Althouse, principal of Rectory street school, was granted a hoist of $100. Samuel Baker, principal of St. George's school, shared likewise, while Mr. Bryant received $200. For the further enlightenment of the trustees, the committee secured from City Treasurer Pope a statement of expenditures to Sept. 30. Here are the figures for the publie schools: Receipts-

Original requisition on muni-

Actual grant$65,291 09 Estimated additional receipts 5.346 00

Total estimated receipts....$70,637 09 The disbursements were $50,535 24, leaving a balance of $20,091 85. Of this sum fully $16,000 is required for salaries alone, and the balance will scarcely pay for school supplies, reordered, fuel, repairs and outstanding accounts in connection with the work done in the summer holidays. and the mortgage on the Wharncliffe highway school. poration for the Collegiate Institute was $23,949, but reductions to the extent of $2,500 were made, making the actual grant $21,449. Estimated additional receipts of $3,600 increased this amount to $25,049. The expenses of the institute to Sept. 30 were $16,-33 24, leaving a balance of $8,415 76. About $5,900 of this is required for salaries, and the balance would be needed to cover expenses similar to those connected with the public schools.

The audit committee understood that the moneys held by Col. Leys as treasurer of one of the South London schools would be available for the use of the board, and recommended that they be applied on the mortgage eld on the Queen's avenue kinderarten, except insofar as it is needed to prevent an otherwise unavoidable over-draft at the end of the year.

A scheme for the readjustment of the teachers' salaries was also proposed by the committee. The basis was as follows: Kindergarten assistants with depart-certificates-Whole day, $1; half day, 75 cents. Transition teachers—Per day, $1. Teachers appointed to regular staff and holding third class professional certificates—Minimum, $250; maximum, $275, an increase of $12 50 to be made on Jan. 1 next, and an increase of $12 50 one year thereafter. Teachers appointed to regular staff and holding second class professional certificates, and kindergarten directors holding position of directors— Minimum, $300; maximum, $425; an increase of $12 50 on Jan. 1, and a similar increase each year until the maximum is reached. First class professionals--Minimum, $325; maximum, $450; an increase to be given similar to kindergarten direc-Principals with schools under six rooms, $600 for first year; maximum,

$750; an increase of $25 to be made as in the two preceding classes. Principals with schools of six rooms and over, $800; maximum, $900; yearly increase of $25 until the maximum is reached. VERY GENEROUS.

A report which was expected to create a ruffle was that presented by the audit committee at the last regular meeting. It expressed strong objections to all resolutions whereby the total amount of salaries paid to the staff on April 13 is increased, on the ground that the appropriation for salaries would be exceeded. The report also recommended that all increases deemed necessary be made to apply from Jan. 1 next, as the apparent surplus in any section of the estimates would be fully required for absolutely necessary expenditure not sufficiently provided for.

And at this stage of the proceedings, despite the audit committee's objections, the board became very gener-It was moved in amendment to the report that the salaries of Messrs. London West Councillors Nearly Ready o Strike a Rate.

at $1,200, beginning Jan. 1, 1896. Two Prospective End of the Nuch-Debated Tax Deadlock.

White-winged peace is hovering about the London West Village Council once more, and it is promised that rented by the board, made a recom- by Thursday night a rate will be struck. Reeve Macdonald was absent from the regular meeting last night, but an explanatory mote contained No. 1 committee recommended that the following clause:

"Something really must be done to staff of teachers; that Miss Smibert get us out of the squabble we are in, be placed on the transition staff; that or else the sheriff will be on us like Miss Munro be continued as substitute theacher at Park street until sonable proposed in the sonable proposed in the council tonight plication for increased salary be filed; I will call a special meeting whenever necessary."

The fame of the council meetings are extending. Last night the village youths deserted the bridge ends and the street corners and haunted the windows of the school room where the meeting was held. The chill atmos phere of the room must have had the effect of quelling the customary eruptions, as up to the time when the village constable and police magistrate arrived at the hour of adjournment, no warm language had been indulged in. The officers were greeted with a general laugh. The proceedings were most ordinary, and the room was full of villagers. They all sat very quietly, and only one of them offered the councilors any advice as the meantime Miss Evans will have to how the rate should be struck. The one who did so was a very large man, and his appearance and size saved him.

A Popular and Fashionable Color.

It is Not Stylish, However, When Ladies Are Obliged to Wear It All the Time.

Saffron, Chrome, Old Gold and other shades of yellow are the ruling fashionable colors. There is one exception and that is when the popular color is worn in the complexion. It is much noted that sallowness of complexion, yellow in the whites of the eyes, etc., is increasing. Our best types of womanhood are afflicted to a great extent in this manner. A woman prizes more than anything her freshness of eye and complexion; her youth and beauty, and in the present day these points are much neglected. If the bowels move regularly and habits to this end are contracted, it means a great deal. There will be no billousness or indigestion; no dizziness, or headache; no melancholia, or sleeplessness; all forms of ills will be provided against. There will be youthfulness, beauty and cheerfulness. There will be no necessity to use artificial beautifiers.

Nature in all her beauty will reign supreme. The researches of an eminent scientist were for years directed to producing a certain cure for constipation and bowel irregularities. After much exper-"Karl's Clover Root Tea" produced, and it is one of the greatest of modern discoveries

NO GERRYMANDER.

La Minerve, the newspaper mouthof Mr. Ouimet, the high tax leader in Quebec, continues to assert that Quebec was not submitted to a sufficient gerrymander in 1892, and that a new cutting and carving of the constituencies must take place before the ensuing general election. This advocacy of an interim gerrymander undoubtedly proves that Mr. Ouimet is cognizant of the fact that the present Administration cannot again be returned to power unless foul means are adopted. Let the men in power at Ottawa insist on the gerrymander scheme if they will. They will find that Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and those who follow his lead have enough strength in Parliament to prevent its passage during the life of the present Administration. And the people generally would indorse their attitude of hostility.

ESTABLISH A WESTERN PRISON. The grand jury at Toronto called the attention of the Government to the overcrowding of the Central Prison in that city. No doubt some action will result. As a large number of the prisoners are taken from Western Ontario, the best means to relieve the overcrowding would be to reconstruct the London jail, now never filled to its limit, and arrange to have a provincial place of confinement for Western Ontario established here. There is no reason why the Central Prison should be enlarged, and prisoners from the west be taken long distances to it for punishment, when so workable a plan for relieving that place of confinement can be devised for a less expenditure of public money. The enlargement of the London jail by the taking in of the comparatively vacant lands surrounding it would provide all the room necessary.

THEY IGNORE THEIR LEADER, Premier Bowell is apparently unable to control members of his Cabinet. The men who ought to be his subordinates keep taking up attitudes contrary to what he declares to be the policy of his Administration, and cause the old man no end of trouble. There was a vacancy in the Supreme Court, the other day, and Messrs. Ouimet, Tupper and Caron offered it to one Quebec lawyer while Premier Bowell himself wrote to another Quebec lawyer, urging him to accept it. Much speculation now exists as to what the men in power would have done if both lawyers had accepted the one position.

This incident is a repetition of what took place in Ottawa last session, when a Minister in the Commons stated the Government policy in regard to the Hudson Bay Railway scheme to be one thing, and the Conservative leader told the Senate, an hour or two afterwards, that it was something entirely different.

How can a Government stand whose members are constantly fighting among themselves?

MADILL WANTS LISTER DE-FEATED.

Rev. Mr. Madill, chief of the P. P. A., who worked so hard to secure the defeat of Sir Oliver Mowat, is still at work endeavoring to defeat Liberal M. P.s. He appeared at a gathering in Forest the other day and announced that he and his friends had no use for Lister, and that he must be defeated at all hazards.

Sarnia needs a new postoffice, and Mr. Madill asserts that it has not got It because the electors, being true to their conscientious convictions, have sent Mr. Lister to Parliament instead of a supporter of the men in power, whose views they could not honestly indorse. The P. P. A. leader, therefore, wishes Mr. Lister to be defeated. and if possible to have the Conservative party triumph. To secure this end. a so-called "independent" candidate is meanwhile put in the field, and it is expected that by this means the corrupt dispensers of postoffices may slip in their candidate!

This is a nice, convenient arrangement for the P. P. A.-Conservative combine, but the electors of West Lambton have surely had their eyes opened to the true position of affairs

Sarnia should have a new postoffice, If it needs it, regardless of who is returned to serve the constituency in Parliament, and in the new Parliament, of which Mr. Lister will be a member in spite of the unwarranted attack on him, the needs of every constituency will be fairly weighed, for a Liberal Government will be in power, and it will dea justly with every constituency.

HOW MEN BECOME TRAMPS. Josiah Flynt writes in the October "How Men Become Tramps." The principal causes or sources of vaga-may be briefly recapitulated: 1. The love of liquor. 2. Wanderlust-the love of wander-bondage, as he understands them,

3. The county jail, owing to the promiscuous herding of boys and homeless wanderers with criminals. 5. The tough and rough element in villages and towns. 5. The comparatively innocent but misguided pupils of the reform school. Though not, properly speaking, a cause of vagabondage, the non-enforcement of law is its nursing mother, and misguided and misapplied charity its base of operations. The tramp evil is not so much a disease as a symptom of public ill-health. As such, and all the more because it is such, it deserves to be more thoroughly investigated, more reasonably apprehended and more boldly treated.

FASHION AND TRADE.

Fashion is again bringing prosperity to Bradford, as it has in times past brought idleness to the wheels and hunger to the inhabitants. Twothirds of the mohair of the world is manufactured into weaving material in Bradford, and a recovery of a longlost popularity by mohair and lustre goods has created a tremendous demand for the products of Bradford. and sent up the price of mohair from 24 to 64 cents a pound, and of the yarn from 48 cents to $1 03 a pound. most incredible fortunes have been made by firms that had large quantities of mohair on hand when the boom began. A few years ago Bradford was prostrated because the fashion decreed the use of soft, lustreless fabrics. Of course, to a certain extent Bradford could learn to make these, but this only slightly mitigated the blow; the channels of trade, the arts of operatives and the styles of machinery do not change so readily as the whims of fashion, and Bradford went into a deep eclipse. There is a tradition in England that the makers of shell combs were brought to the verge of starvation by a change in fashion, which sent all existing combs into retirement and stopped abruptly the sale of more. The situation being explained to the Queen, she benevolently appeared in public with shell combs, and the business recovered its prosperity. Four or five years ago an English actress appeared on a New York stage with a straw hat that was a novelty. A manufacturer took note of the style, and in a few days had the trade supplied with its reproductions. It proved popular, and though he was protected by no registration of the design or other legal discourager of imitation, he made $32,000 net profit that season on that particular style of hat. Dr. Pearson, of Holy Trinity, bore testimony to the admirable moral qualities and results of the public schools. The Sewer Fatality.

Mrs. Matthew Miller and Henry Wallace Get Damages Therefor.

The Former Receives $390 and a Weekly Allowance - Wallace Gets $300 -Middlesex Fall Assizes.

MRS. MILLER GETS DAMAGES. At the assizes yesterday afternoon the case of Miller vs. City of London was taken up. It was an action brought by Mrs. Matthew Miller, to recover $5,000 damages for the death of her husband, which occurred in the King street sewer. About midnight on April 12 last, Matthew Miller, Henry Wallace, Hugh O'Meara and other corporation laborers, were put to work to clean out some of the city sewers. Miller, Wallace and O'Meara entered the King street sewer at the Ridout street man-hole, and worked their way towards Richmond street. When the fish market was reached, gas was noticed, and Miller and Wallace hastily beat a retreat. They had gone but a short distance, however, when Miller became unconscious and fell. Cries for help from Wallace brought O'Meara, and the two men endeavored to drag their companion towards the man-hole at Ridout street. The gas was too much for them, and to escape suffocation they had to desert Miller and rush for the opening. Wallace was partly overcome, while O'Meara was affected slightly. Miller was brought up dead half an hour later.

half an hour later. Between Ridout and Richmond streets there are no open man-holes on the King street sewer. One at Talbot street and another at the fish market were underground nearly two feet, and as soon as news of Miller's suffocation was brought to the top, workmen started to open the blind man-holes. Had these been open Miller might have been saved. Besides a widow, Miller left seven children, the oldest being 18 years of age, and the youngest 2.

The case for the plaintiff was heard yesterday afternoon, and Mr. T. G. jail yard, and on being released did Meredith, city solicitor, moved for a non-suit. The now nearly distracted mother borrowed money and went to the Detroit address where she had heard her husband was living with the other woman. She found them both there, and had him arrested. He declared he had no money, but in searching him $85 was found in one of his boots. The wife had not enough money to press the case, but secured in cash and an order for all the furniture from him. He had sent the Chicago letter to Chicago and had it posted. The wife returned to London and to her children. A few days ago a sobbing woman made arrangements with a local auctioneer to sell the effects. Now she is with her parents a short distance from London suffering with a stroke of paralysis, which prevents the use of one side and almost stops the power of speech.

The amount raised in 1893 and 1894 was $39,849 08; received from insurance, $3,973 03, making a total of $43,822 11. At the annual meeting there was in the bank $34,836 95. Appropriations were made as follows: Japan, $1,816; French missions, $5,084; Indian missions, $3,717 50; Chinese in British Columbia, $1,580; China, $4,555; Newfoundland, $500, and literature, Newfoundiand, $500, and interactive, etc., $500. A total of $34,752 50. At the evening session, after short addresses by Rev. C. T. Scott, Mr. J. E. Hunter and Mr. T. R. McNair, the president, in an interesting address, reviewed the work of the society. Addresses re-ceived from auxiliaries and mission bands were read and replied to by Mrs. Cullen and Miss Yates, of London. Delegates from sister societies were then received, after which Mrs. Cumningham, of London, read the secretary's report. It showed that there were 86 auxiliaries in connection with the London branch with 1,887 annual and 77 life members. There are 22 mission bands. Received from all sources, $5,169 89. Sent to the general treasurer, $5,028 05. HIS LOVE OF SPARKLERS.

Frank Grant Steals an Amethyst and a Diamond Ring.

Pleads Guilty and Remanded for Sen tence-The Lewis Assault Case-Sharkey Withdraws the Charge of Pulling a Revolver.

Frank Grant, a Delaware township young man of 20 years, is in jail awaiting sentence for stealing two valuable rings. Last June Grant was tried at the sessions and convicted of being implicated in the theft of a bicycle from a firm of repairers in Delaware village. He served two months on the wood and stone piles in the county not return to his home, but rented a out street, almost opposite the court -an amethyst and a twin diamond, valued at $25 and $150 respectively. On returning to her room from dinner and as suspicion pointed strongly to Grant, Detectives Nickle and Rider were called in. They searched the young man's room and clothes and were about to give up in despair, when one of the rings was found concealed in the lining of Grant's vest. It had been placed there by means of an opening at the collar. The diamond ring could not be located. Grant was arrested, and on being arraigned in the Police Court today he elected summary trial, pleaded guilty and was remanded until Monday for sentence.

Two pieces of cloth, supposed to have been stolen, were also found in Grant's room. One is a black striped shop, where Grant had and another ring.

THE LEWIS-SHARKEY TROUBLE. Peter B. Lewis was also in court to answer the charges of pointing a revolver at Hugh Sharkey and assaulting Alfred Christian. The offenses were alleged to have been committed in the second act of the Lewis-Sharkey card dispute, which occurred at the Richmond Hotel on Friday evening last. About 7:30 o'clock on that day Lewis was in the bar of the hotel talking to the proprietor and bartender when Sharkey entered, accompanied by Barbers Tracey, Lough-lin and Stevenson. Drought has accompanied these manifestations, and the farmers are nearly ruined Fishermen dare not go out to sea, as earth quakes have been continuous for many days They say a volcano is forming under the Priests have ordered that the ocean. church bells be rung and prayers be offered imploring divine mercy.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

An American Will Make Arrangements With a Canadian Firm.

Ottawa (Special), Sept. 30.-An American who has been here interviewing the members of the Government on private business has left for Toronto, where it is understood he will try and make an arrangement with the Dodd's Medicine Company, of that city, for the establishment of a manufactory Dodd's Kidney Pills in New York State. He declined to specify the locality. During his stay in Ottawa he has been investigating the now celebrated case of G. H. Kent, who was saved by this remedy when in the last stages of Bright's disease, and has satisfied himself of the genuine nature of the case. He asserts that the medicine is now universally used throughout the State.

GOTHAMITES SHIVERING. New York, Oct. 2.-Yesterday was the coldest Oct. 1 of which the weather bureau in this city has a record. Between 6 and 7 o'clock the thermometer was down as low as 42 degrees. It was colder, from 4 to 10 north as he has only the latest style degrees, all along the Atlantic coast.

THE MAJOR'S "AT HOME."

Brilliant Gathering at the Kennels, Glenmore.

An Enjoyable Run Over "The Cheese Factory" Cour e-The Names of Those Present.

The members of the London Hunt were fortunately favored yesterday with ideal weather for an ideal hunt. It was Major Smith's "At Home" at the kennels, and while the popularity of the gallant major is sufficient to secure a large actendance in spite of the weather, the splendid day attracted many hundred spectators to the precints of the kennels and along the course of the run. They came on foot and on wheels, on horseback and in carriages of every description, and everybody enjoyed themselves. The run arranged for was known as "The Cheese Factory" run, entering between the college, crossing west of Adelaide street, the finish was at the cheese factory on the 6th concession. It led the riders over a magnificent stretch of country, and has the advantage of having the course of the hunt almost always in sight of the spectators along the road. The country looks at its best just now in its autumn tints, and the sight of the scarlet jacketed riders, their magnificent mounts, and the hounds in full cry added increased beauty to an already beautiful scene. Among those who followed the hounds were: Mr. Beck, Master; Major Smith, Mr. Gibbons, Major Dennison, Mr. Mitchell, Glencoe (on a fine cob), W. T. Strong, Dr. Abbott, Mr. Seagream, (Waterloo), Mr. Frank Reid, Mr. W. Marshall, Mr. George Macbeth, Mr. Geo. Gibbons, jun., Mr. Gunn. Mr. Patterson, Mr. Pigott, Mr. Walter Smith, Mr. Patience Smith.

At Glenmore Mrs. Simpson Smith, Mrs. Ernest Smith and Miss Smith did the honors for the major. Among those present were noticed Col. Smith and party, Major Gartshore and friends, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Talbot Macbeth, Mr. and Mrs. Beddome, Mr. and Mrs. Ingles, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Laing (Toronto), Rev. Mr. and Mrs. English, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, Mr. anp Mrs. T. H. Smallman, the Misses Labatt, Mr., Mrs. and Misses McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, Judge Edward Elliott, Mrs. Elliott and Miss Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brown, Mrs. George Brown (Van-couver), Miss Richardson, Miss Graydon, Miss Carrie Smith, Miss Moore, Miss Morey, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carling, Mrs. Denison, Mrs. McClemont, Mrs. and Miss Kibbie, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. D. WANTS TO BE LET ALONE. The Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly Says Manitoba Will Not Submit to Coercion.

Montreal, Oct. 2.-The Rev. Dr. Robertson, superintendent of Northwest missions, moderator of the General Assembly o the Presbyterian Church, attended a neeting of the Montreal Pres-bytery esterday, and delivered a short address upon the work of the church in the west. Touching upon the Manitoba school question, he stated that the people of Manitoba wished to be severely left alone in the management of their own affairs. They did not wish to inflict injustice upon the minority, and he was confident that if they were left alone an amicable solution of the questions might soon The Manitobans would never submit to threats or remedial orders, and the sooner the Dominion Government recognized this fact the better it would be for the future of Manitoba and the country.

A Eet er Inves ment. If you deposit $597 in the saving bank and are given 3 1-2 per cent compound interest each year for fifteen years, you will have exactly $1,000 at the end of that period. That would be a safe way of investing and a good return, when you consider there is no labor or care on your part. But there is a better investment than that for you. If you will pay the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company the same sum of money, varying slightly, according to the age, they will guarantee to pay you $1,000 at the end of fifteen years, and in addition they will guarantee to give you cash dividends either at the end of the fifteen years or each five years of the policy. They further guarantee to pay the full $1,000 at once in the event of your death.

Have you any money to invest? There is no better security than one of their policies. Would you like a different period of years? You may have any period from ten to thirty years. May you need to realize on your policy? It has a cash and loanable value. You may procure any amount from $500 to $25,000. Consult the agent here. A. N. UDY, office in C.P.R. building. 13c xvz

FALL FAIRS.

MALAHIDE-The Malahide Fair, held at Aylmer on Friday and Saturday, was one of the most successful ever held in East Elgin. The attendance on Saturday was about 5,000. The exhibits were numerous and of the best quality in nearly every department, especially in the fine arts, ladies' work, vegetables, poultry and horses. The receipts will pay all prizes and expenses, and leave a nice surplus. This is an evidence that agricultural fairs can be made successful and comply with the new department regulations regarding horseracing and other similar attractions.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKETS.

John Swan & Sons, limited, Liverpool, in their weekly report of Sept. 19 say: There have been fairly large supplies of fat cattle. Trade for everything of prime quality was quite as good. Anything short of quality was more difficult to sell at rather less money. Fat Irish cattle have met a satisfactory trade. There have been 950 Canadian and 500 States cattle on offer in Glasgow, and they made decidedly less money. Fat cows were also a shade cheaper. The number of sheep and lambs on offer has been about an average. Best met a trade quite equal to last week, but secondary ewes and lambs were cheaper. Both fat calves and pigs met a better market. There has been a full average supply of store cattle, the better classes of which were easily sold at full prices. At the various stores sheep sales there has been a large attendance of buyers. Haif-bred ewes would make on an average about 6s a head more than last year, while all classes of lambs, quality considered, made the highest prices of the season. Milk cows shown in small numbers, but they met a worse trade than last week. Best beef. 8s to 8s 6d per stone; best mutton, 74d to 84d per lb.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Ont., Oct 1.—The Toronto cattle market was dull and weak today. Offerings were heavy and not quite sold, being 30 cars, including 950 sheep and lambs and 1,630 hogs. The quality of offerings was poor. In export cattle lower cables made the market slow and weaker. Only a few loads were sold. They brought from $3 to $3 30 per cwt; and one choice load sold at 3½c per lb. Butchers' cattle were quiet, best sold at 3c per lb. Stockers and feeders were steady, with sales of a few lots at 3c per lb. Sheep and lambs were steady. Lambs sold at $125 to $225 each, and export sheep at 3c to 3½c per lb. Calves were quiet. sheep at 3c to 32c per lb. Calves were quoted at $2 to $6 each. Hogs were steady at $4 25 for best bacon hogs; light fat, 4c per lb; sows. 24c to 33c; stores, 33c to 33c per lb; milch cows and springers were steady at $15 to $35.

A LONDON GIRL'S FALL.

Minnie Adams, a respectable-looking and intelligent young woman, was placed in the dock to-day on a charge of vagrancy, when it came out that she had been prowling about the streets and had the misfortune to stop a policeman in plain clothes. The woman made a vigorous fight for her liberty, and said that she was going to leave the city for London, where her mother was very ill, in a week, by which time she would be in receipt of money, and the magistrate remanded her to jall until that date. The prisoner was for 7 years an officer of the Salvation Army, but she fell from grace, and the army has tried in vain to reform her .- Toronto Star.

Mr. William Pavey, an old and esteemed resident of Woodstock, and father of Mrs. (Rev.) H. C. Speller, late of London, passed peacefully away on Monday, in the 78th year of his age. Mr. Pavey had been in feeble health for several years and retired from active life, but was not confined to his room till quite recently. Mr. Pavey was born in 1818. He went to Woodstock when 17 years old, and after working on several farms about 50 years ago acquired 100 acres north of where Hickson is now situated in East Zorra. He married the eldest daughter of the late George Blake of that township. Some years ago, having sold his farm property, he moved to Woodstock, and having erected a pleasant residence near the First Baptist Church, became a citizen of Woodstock, where he has been much esteemed. For nearly twenty years he was a trustee and member of the executive committee of Woodstock Collegs. For a long period he was a trustee and deacon of the Baptist Church, and took a very active part terday, with a freshman's class that promises to be larger than ever. Nearing Completion.

Heaviest Portion of the Pavement Work Already Done.

If the person who recently wrote to the "Advertiser" asking if London was a great railroad center or was the center of London a great railroad, had the intersection of Dundas and Richmond streets in view he will undoubtedly in time develop into a professional humorist, and may eventually become the author of comic songs. "Yes" could safely be answered to both the questions propounded. The network of rails just completed at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets is claimed by some to be the most elaborate in Ontario. Altogether there are nine tracks at the corner—two passing down Dundas, two passing down Richmond, two turning the corner of Dundas and Richmond towards the north end, a similar couple leading to the south side, and a single line around the northwest corner of the same streets. Between two and three carloads of metal were used,

JANE.

Jane was an irresponsible person. Her chaperon, Mrs. Mellish, said so, and her opinion was generally indorsed by the guests at Long View House. But she was none the less popular for that. She danced and laughed and sang her way into every heart in the hotel before she had been a week at the beach; that is into every heart save one. Mr. Larry Hay's heart was not susceptible to tinkling feet, girlish laughter and dulcet voice. So she told himself and doubtless believed it. Men are fond of deluding themselves thus. But at the end of three weeks, during which he saw Jane Felton daily, he was at a loss to explain the feeling of enmity which he sustained toward Jack asked. Meredith when he came down from the city and claimed Jane's society as

They were all sitting on the piazza when Jack made his appearance. They had been discussing the peculiar red-dish glow of the horizon, and Jane had which neither spoke, and the man hunted up her paint box and was making a charming water-color sketch of sea and sky, when down the long stretch of piazza came Jack looking provokingly clean and cool, and handsome in his duck suit, and as if he had just stepped out of the proverbial bandbox.

"Jack!" Jane had cried, scattering her paints in wild confusion, and jumping up to give him her hand.

"I am so glad Jack has come," Jane said to Mr. Hay later. "He is such a charming fellow in a crowd." In a crowd, Larry admitted to himself, he might be eminently pleasing, but when the alleged crowd dwindle! down to two, Larry began to feel dis-

Jack was an artist, which made matters worse. He was always talking about Gibson's illustrations, and Jane would nod her bead and look undeniably flattered by Jack's attention. Jack drove with her in the morning, he took her to sail in his yacht in the evening until his devotion became popular talk and everyone in the hotel eagerly awaiting the denouement. "But I am sure no one can tell," Mrs. Massen would say, when approached on the subject. "You know Jane is was in excellent spirits. "I am to have a long, delightful day on the water," she said to Larry Hay. "Mr. Meredith has promised to take me over to the Point in the Flfin, and we shall spend the day in sketching and return this evening in time for the hop."

They were standing in the small reception room, deserted at that early hour, and Larry deliberately raised his eye-glass and favored the girl with a quizzical scrutiny.

"Well?" she queried saucily.
"Is it well? I am glad. Pray accept my congratulations. They are sincere, though ill-expressed."
"What nonsense," Jane said lightly.
Hay could see she was desperately

"Perhaps," he continued, "Mr. Meredith is the one to be congratulated."
"Neither, I assure you," the girl returned, keeping her temper admirably.

"My good wishes are premature, hen? Pardon me. Later on I know Jane faced about slowly. Her great eyes were black with emotion, her

"This is a subject on which I think it is the worst possible taste to jest," she said distinctly, looking directly in-

She recovered herself immediately, and moved away to the window with a light word or two about the probability of fair weather. But in that moment Hay felt that he had had a glimpse into her real nature. There wes a subtle change in her attitude always kind, always perfectly courte-ous, but Larry felt that he was beyond the pale of her regard.

And so the days ran on until one day Jack Meredith left Long View House abruptly, with apparently no intention of returning; and from that time on Jane lost her fair prestige with the women. Of course she had thrown Mr. Meredith over, they said. She was not only irresponsible, but heartless, and they eyed her askance, and wondered after all what he had seen to admire. What Mr. Meredith had seen in her was not apparent, but It was obvious that the generality of ments tar and treacle, godly books men found a great deal to admire even and gimlets sold here."

Mrs. Massen shoke her head when she found Mr. Hay following the gen-eral lead, and one day she found courage to speak to Jane. "My dear." she said "I wish you would not en-courage Mr. Hay. You know you do, child. He is not the man to be played fast and loose with. It is not exactly to a young girl's credit to have the men all the while philandering about

"But the men like to philander, Mrs. Massen, dear," Jane replied, laying her little brown head in a tired way against her chair cushion.

"Jane, your greatest fault is inconsistency, a very grave fault, indeed, in a woman. Your nature is by far too light," Mrs. Massen remonstrated. Jane stared at a patch of sunlight on the matting at her feet, and said not one word in defense, and poor Mrs. Massen sighed and resumed her

Jane went to the city the next morning somewhat abruptly leaving Mrs.
Massen at Long View House disconsolate at her absence. Following shortly on her departure a veritable bombshell was dropped in the midst of the guests at the hotel. In an evening paper someone read the announcement of Jack Meredith's marriage to Miss Lucy Felton, who had but recently returned from a trip abroad, whither she had gone in the hope of regaining her health, the previous winter. The marriage would be a surprise to many, the report concluded, as owing to the delicate health of Miss Felton no anannouncement of the engagement had been made, and the marriage had been private. Miss Jane Felton, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was unattended. Everyone was repentant and anxious to atone to Jane. But Jane did not return. She wrote kindly letters to Mrs. Massen filled with messages for all to show she bore no ill-will, but her bonny laughing face was seen no more that summer at Long View House. It was late in the fall when Larry Hay met Jane again. It was on Fifth avenue, and Jane was resplendent in furs and velvet. Her carriage was drawn up to the curb, and she was the present Duchess of Manchester in the act of stepping in when Larry approached.

"Will you shake hands?" he said. "It seems an eternity since those days of ocean-breathing idleness last summer."

"Why have you not called?" Jane

"Because—because I have much to be forgiven, and I almost doubted if your mercy would reach so far. A vein in Jane's white throat was throbbing fiercely. Her eyes held his could almost count his heart beats. "I am very forgiving," Jane said, softly. "Are you sure you are penitent? I want to be certain."

"You may be," Hay said, throwing back his head "if I ever doubted you" he added as he took the proffered seat at her side, and the carriage rolled on, "it was only that—on, my dear one— I loved you too well to be an impartial judge."

A little tale I would rehearse Of one, once sick, who soon grew worse, With boils and blotches covered o'er, He took of remedies (?) a score, Alas, they all did fail to heal, While he each day still worse did feel. Up spoke a friend. "Your blood's impure. "But Dr. Pierce can heal you sure,

Like balm on wounds these words we e poured.

The sick man's health was soon restored. Impure blood is caused by want of healthy action on the part of the liver. Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt is not quite generous if she "hates" the Duchess of Manchester-not "dowager-duchess," neighbor, until her now 16-year-old son marries, and then she will be "dowager"-because it was Lady Mandeville who put the Vanderbilt family on a social footing in New York society. It was, indeed, a memorable visit that paid to the Willie Vanderbilts. Up to that moment New York had given them no social recognition whatsoever, but the Yznaga family associations and a title brought them luck. During that winter the "Willie K.'s" achieved society, and since then the rest has been easy. Discord and enmity were born of that visit. Yet the girl who is about to wed bears the friend's name, Consuelo, and will be herself a duchess, taking precedence by right of the older title. It remains for the still fair Duchess of Manchester to secure a great American heiress for her boy, and so cry quits with the $10,000,000 Marlborough bride.

When English has such a crisp, plain, definite word as "yes," why do so many people clip or annihilate it? I am not speaking of the gamin's "yep" or the dude's "yaas," which have become commonplace. But, dear reader, who, of course, never say anything but "yes," how many of your friends do? Run them over mentally; how many accept your proposals with the dictionary word? Is there not rather an infinity of corrupt substitutes? I have it from a very eminent schoolmaster that his revered predecessor and master, one of the four or five "Arnolds of America," never said anything but "cha." A former secretary of a very important religious organization says "yuss." An eminent business and society man in our city, I am told, says "hess," with a strong effusion of breath.

"Life in Hawthorne's view," says Mr. Richardson, "was no human comedy, as to Balzac, or tragedy of lost souls, as to the early New England theologians but the struggle of individual men, women and children with the powers within and without them, and chiefly the powers within. Surely a romancer could have no higher theme, and highly did Hawthorne treat it.

Unique in his mental predilections, he was naturally unlike his companion-writers in his daily lte.

His preference was for the twilight of life, both material and mental, and there is, perhaps, no better epitome of his general character than we find in Henry Bright's witty parody on "Hiawatha," which begins with: "Should you ask me who is Hawthorne, Who this Hawthorne that you mention?

Referring to the probable revolution in dress, the correspondent of "The Ladies' Column" in the Galignani Messenger says: There is a movement among the intelligent members of our sex to adopt a style of dress totally different to that which exists at present. The voluminous sleeves the hats that have taken such proportions of late, in order to keep pace with the sleeves, and lastly the godet skirts are on the point of resuming reasonable dimensions. The idea originated with one of our grandes dames when she invited her friends to assume an imitation of an old portrait, a Madame de Pompadour, a Marie Antoinette, or a Duchess of Gainsborough, and to pass a week at her chateau in the costumes of the model they had chosen, and these ladies, I think they numbered ten in all, were so delighted with the result of the study this freak required, also so pleased to note that they were even more attractive without their Nineteenth century uniform, that they ordered their dresses in total disregard of the present fashion. We shall, therefore, see before long the effect of this movement to vary the one form of skirt and sleeves and hat which has existed for the last twelve

Not alone is the dress of the day ungraceful, it is also unpractical. The materials which are employed for our skirts are either lined or of such a thick nature that the weight is equally great, and for walking purposes are perfect abominations. In fine weather they are cumbersome enough, but, on a wet day, I defy any lady to hold a skirt of seven meters in circumference and keep the unruffled, sweet expression which formed part of her education, while at least one of the meters isdipping into the mud and taking the polish off her boots. A man stoops and tucks up the hem of his trousers when he is overtaken by the rain, and, if he has an umbrella, walks along as contentedly as before, but we women nowadays must take our skirts in both hands, our umbrellas are therefore useless, and consequently our walk comes to an end; and we find that cabs have become a big item in our weekly expenses owing to the absurdity of fashion. And men talk of women distancing them in the race for life!"

A Smart Tailor Coat.

A handsome model for separate coats or to complete a tailor gown of covert cloth, the new heavy mohair, cheviots, or Scotch tweeds. The back is fitted with the usual seams, and one dart fits each front in graceful lines. The novel features are the form of the revers, which are an adaptation of the square collar so popular during the past season, and a high flaring collar which stands up in a becoming fashion around the back of the neck. A laundered chemisette, with close turn-down collar and black satin tie, is worn with the coat.

The pattern is the "Stephanie."

For Any Occasion. In this model we have a handsome tailor-gown suitable for yachting, travelling, or street wear. The fabric of the original gown is dark blue mohair, the heavy sort described in the last Fashion Review. It is so stiff and firm a fabric that it is most admirably adapted to the present modes, requiring no stiff interlining in either skirt or sleeves. The skirt is the "Nahant," for description of which see special illustration. The coat—the "Montauk"—has some novel features which have found favor, and which makes it very becoming. It has a broad, double box-plait in the back, held in place by a belt which buttons on the side seams, and is fitted snugly by side-forms. The wide revers are of the popular square shape on the shoulders, and extend down the cutaway fronts in a narrow band, which gives becoming length to the figure. The revers and cuffs are faced with white cloth, and a full blouse-front of blue-and-red changeable and brocaded peau de soie completes the coat. Gowns of gray mohair have facing of black bengaline or of brown cloth; quite smart black ones are faced with white silk or cloth; and dark brown is relieved by a golden tan. All of the handsome autumn woolens can be effectively made by this pattern; and though the model gown is quite youthful, older women of quiet tastes adapt it to their use by having facings of harmonizing instead of contrasting color.

Household Hints.

Wash silk waists which do not wash, whatever they are called, may be freshened by being sponged with naphtha or benzine.

If well-fitting shees are worn when doing housework they will be found less fatiguing than loose slippers that are supposed to be worn for comfort.

Parisian restaurant keepers mix a little honey with their butter. This gives it an agreeable taste and flavor, and makes inferior butter more palatable. The bang is now little used in children's hair. The preferred arrangement for little girls from six to ten is in loose curls about the face, with the hair hanging to the shoulders, the ends loosely curled. Mud spots can not be removed from silk by even the most vigorous brushing. They should be sponged with alcohol, which will remove them and leave the silk fresh and clean.

The chef of the Shoreham, in Washington, does not disdain to mix three soups together to obtain a new article. Whether from cans or not it is not stated, but the 'blend' which he makes of pea soup, tomato soup and Julienne is called Potage Mongol.

The secret of making sponge cake is not to beat the air all out of the eggs after it is once beaten in. Beat the yolks to a mass of bubbles, and the whites to a stiff froth.
