NO AUTO JOY-RIDING ON SUNDAY.

Our gallant soldiers are acarse of gasoline on the battle fields to move up trucks with provisions and ammunition and to send the Tanks out to meet the enemy.

They ask us here at home to give up our Sunday Joy rides and thus save this gas.

Let us all do it. Let the country joy-riders remain in the country, or else trot out their old nags, if they must come to town to read the Truro War Bulletins.

Let the town autoists stay in town give the country roads a bit of rest; and the good people outside an oldfashioned Sunday a real Sabbath-a day of rest.

If we all do this next Sunday we will save in Canada on that one day nearly 200,000 gaoons of gasoline enough to run a bunch of Tanks, that would lick a regiment of Huns out of their boots.

These cautions and suggestions do not refer to an auto-running for neccessity purposes. The soldiers in the trenches only appeal to the joy-riders, who are only out for a jolly, good time, to put in the hours and to waste gasoline.
