PARCEL POST NOTICE.

Reduction in Weight.
Until the opening of navigation parcel delivery on many of the present routes must be partially, and in some places, entirely suspended, the difficulty of securing dog teams and weather conditions making it extremely difficult to convey heavy mails over tracks impassable for horses.
The Maximum weight of parcels for winter routes, until the end of April, is decreased from 14 pounds to 8 pounds, and these can only be accepted in small numbers. Whilst every effort will be made to deliver parcels the Department cannot guarantee prompt delivery.
This does not apply to places on the line of Railway, but only to delivery by courier.
Postmasters in Outports are requested to put this regulation into effect.

CHAPTER XVIII.
CAPT. MORTON.

THE spring advanced; the London season had commenced; the duchess and the Portfields had gone up; the one to the ducal mansion in Grosvenor Square, the other to the corner house in Park Lane, from whence Lord Mersey could see the flowers and the grass; but Edna still remained at Rosedene. She was growing fond of the place—the chestnuts were in full bloom; the birds made the air musical; the atmosphere was fragrant with the scents of the spring flowers and she could not tear herself away; besides, she shrank from the excitement of her debut, and did not feel strong enough to exchange the quiet hills and silent woods, where she could commune with the past, for the noisy turmoil of fashionable life in the great city. The Bromleys also remained; Sir George was far too busy about the land, and Lady Bromley would not move without him. Then came Mr. and Mrs. More, and Edna's little sweetheart, Bertie. Mrs. More was quite charmed—quite charmed with Rosedene; everything about it was too delicious—really too delicious, she declared, and Edward More experienced a mischievous kind of satisfaction in being near the great inheritance between which and him only stood his reprobate of a brother, wicked Sir Cyril.

He spent most of his time, when he was not writing in the library, wandering about the outskirts of the park, grumbling at the dilapidations and planning the alterations he would make when he reigned in his brother's stead. Mrs. More paid visits, drove about in Edna's pony phaeton, dawdled about on the sofa reading

Tells How to Stop a Bad Cough

Surprising results from this famous old home-made syrup. Specially prepared and costs little.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drugist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief. You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "The Coughs of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Edna's chair, and presently a carriage dashed up to the door and the Bromleys were announced. Almost at the same moment the vicar and his wife made their appearance, and, wonderful to relate, Lord Mersey, punctual to the moment, was heard in the hall telling the footman, in a deep voice, to be careful with his coat, as there were some fern leaves in the pockets which he had gathered as he came along.

Bertie watched them all in his little, critical way, and for the moment, as Grace sailed into the room, tall, dark and imperial, in a close, habit-like dress of dark blue with a touch of crimson at the bosom and a ruby jewel in her raven hair, he stared with all a young artist's delight, but presently he turned his blue eyes toward Edna, and let them remain there until Lord Mersey came in. There was much shaking of hands and the usual small talk, in which Mrs. More's voice could be heard predominant, and the butler was just announcing dinner when a footman called him outside, and after an animated conference with the great dignitary, in a hushed whisper, entered with a card on a silver salver for Mr. Edward More.

"Eh, what's this?" said Edward More, who was talking politics with the vicar—your clergyman is always ready to talk politics or warfare, perhaps because he is debarred from taking an active part in either. "A gentleman in the library. I can't see the name by this light; strange fashion this for keeping a room half dark—quite mediaeval, and the name is printed, too, small enough to require a microscope. What is the name, Edna?"

Edna took the card, and in her sweet, musical voice, read out "Capt. Morton."

"Morton!" echoed Edward, with a nervous twitch of his eyebrows, as he glanced at his wife. "What on earth—will you excuse me a moment, Edna?" and muttering and grumbling he left the room. Talk dwindled away while he was gone, everyone felt curious to hear who Capt. Morton might be. The butler worried himself to death about the dinner in the hall, and the cook, a French chef, to whom Edna paid a salary larger than a colonial bishop's, raved and swore in the kitchen at the prospect of the dinner being spoiled.

Presently Edward More returned and came up to Edna; he looked just as he looked when he was arguing a rather terrible case at the Chancery bar, and fidgeted with his eyeglasses as he explained:

"A great friend of mine" came down on business—was very sorry to intrude—and would call again."

"Oh, but," said Edna, opening her eyes, "surely you asked him to stay."

Edward More dropped his thick lids over his keen, little eyes, and muttered something to which Edna responded warmly "By all means," and again Edward More left the room, returning in a few minutes to explain that his friend, Capt. Morton, had accepted Edna's kind invitation, and as soon as he had changed his dress would join them, and he begged that Miss Weston would not spoil the dinner, etc., etc., and as Edward More seconded the modest request, dinner was announced.

The soup, upon which the chef had expended many anxious hours, was dispatched with very little consideration, owing to the general curiosity, and the fish would doubtless have shared the same fate if a footman had not thrown open the door, just after the turbot had appeared, and announced "Capt. Morton."

As all looked up there entered a tall, distinguished-looking and singularly handsome gentleman.

Everybody looked surprised. Edna for her part had imagined a fair, florid and rather stout man of the ordinary military type. But Capt. Morton was a different matter.

Edna might have explained that it would not have suited her, but she contented herself with stooping down and kissing the child, and that satisfied him, very much more completely.

As a great favor he begged to be allowed to remain in the drawing room until dinner was announced, and although Mrs. More at first ridiculed the idea, when Edna seconded the request she granted it rather reluctantly. Bertie was getting too big a child; he reminded people of mamma's age too forcibly.

So Bertie announced himself behind

New Skin Remedy.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—partially explains the tremendous success of the wonderful new liquid eczema remedy, the D. D. D. Prescription.

D. D. D. is now recognized as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it penetrates the pores, washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

This scientific antiseptic wash has been found to be specially effective in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Ulcers, Pimples, Ringworm, Sores and Rash, Salt Rheum and all other skin diseases. One bottle will prove it to you.

Don't delay; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day; Sold Everywhere.

Morton had nothing martial about him, excepting his dark and carefully trained mustache and his upright figure, and the latter was toned down and softened by a singular grace, that pervaded face, figure and expression, and was almost feminine.

BRAINIANS OUT FOR

No Change in LONDON, Feb. 21. — Important discoveries fuel oil have been made on the Duke of Devon's estates at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, whose exploration has been on a large scale and on an official sanction. The supply of fuel oil is considered as vast. Experts are confident that several other vast oil fields are in the country. An Australian says there is more oil in England than in the whole state of Pennsylvania.

PREMIER MURDERED.

LONDON, Feb. 21. — Elmer, the premier of Bavaria, was shot and killed. The shooting took place during a visit to a Munich despatch receiver at Amsterdam by Lieut. Count Wille. The Count was wounded and is reported to be recovering.

DEPUTY ALSO KILLED.

MUNICH, Feb. 21. — A shooting took place during a visit of the Landing to-day while the aviator Kurt Elmer, the Bavarian premier, he fell wounded in the side, and Deputy Osel was killed. The shots were fired from the public gallery and caused a panic among the deputies.

RENEAU OUT OF DANGER.

PARIS, Feb. 21. — Premier Clemenceau will receive members of the supreme council at home this afternoon to discuss certain important matters with him. Announcement to this effect was made shortly before noon to-day, and therefore authorized him to the ministers this afternoon. Physicians believe he can resume his political activities on Monday.

WELLS IN ENGLAND.
LONDON, Feb. 21. Discoveries of fuel oil have been made on the Devon coast at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, whose exploration has been on a large scale and has received official sanction. The supply of oil is estimated as vast. Experts are confident that several other vast oil fields exist in the country. An estimate says there is more oil in England than in the whole state of Pennsylvania.

PREMIER MURDERED.
LONDON, Feb. 21. Kurt Eisner, the premier of Bavaria, has been shot and killed. The shooting took place during a public gathering in the city. He was killed this morning, according to a Munich despatch received here. The Count was wounded and is reported to be recovering.

DEPUTY ALSO KILLED.
MUNICH, Feb. 21. A shooting took place during a public gathering in the city. Kurt Eisner, the premier, he fell wounded in the left side, and Deputy Osel was shot and two other officers were wounded. The shots were fired from the public gallery and a panic among the deputies.

PREMIER OUT OF DANGER.
PARIS, Feb. 21. Clemenceau will receive messages of the supreme council this afternoon to discuss important matters with the announcement of this effect made shortly before noon to-day. Doctors consider him out of danger and therefore authorized him to see the ministers this afternoon. Physicians believe he can resume his political activities on Monday.

NO DECISION YET.
PARIS, Feb. 21. Erzerber, head of the German committee, has been informed by the Allied War Council that at present there can be no decision of the repatriation of German prisoners of war, except of wounded men or men who are seriously ill.

WILL ATTEND INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE.
LONDON, Feb. 21. The Miners' Federation has decided to accept the invitation to attend the Industrial Conference which the government has called for February 22nd. It has decided also to communicate with Premier Lloyd George and inform him that the executive committee has not passed any resolution concerning the proposed miners' strike but will leave it to the delegation to the Miners' Conference to arrive at a decision.

TO CONSIDER SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN PROBLEM.
PARIS, Feb. 21. A delegation from Denmark will be heard by the Supreme Council to-day in connection with the future of Schleswig-Holstein, which Germany under Bismarck took from Denmark in 1866. The delegation proposes a plebiscite for the northern section, but not for the southern section which includes the Kiel Canal. Polish and Albanian delegations it is expected also will be heard by the Council to-day.

FIRED ON BY UKRAINIANS.
WARSAW, Thursday, Feb. 20. (By the A.P.)—Members of the inter-Allied commission to Poland were fired upon by Ukrainian soldiers while travelling to-day from Cracow to Lemberg on a Polish armored train. The delegation returned to Cracow.

REACTIONARY INSURRECTION.
BASLE, Feb. 21. A reactionary insurrection broke out at Munich on Wednesday night, according to the Frankfurt Zeitung. Demobilized Bavarian bluejackets attacked the Diet House and occupied the telegraph office and police headquarters but were eventually dislodged by government troops. Prince Joachim, of Prussia, sixth son of the former Emperor was arrested it being reported that he apparently had some connection with the movement.

WAS NOT INVOLVED.
COPENHAGEN, Feb. 21. Prince Joachim of Prussia was not involved in incidents at Munich on Wednesday night, according to a despatch received here, which adds that the Prince and his consort are returning to Prussia under escort.

THE SAME OLD GANG.
PARIS, Feb. 21. (By the A.P.)—The German government is the same bureaucratic regime of the Kaiser's day with the same attitude towards labor and capital and does not represent the forces which caused the revolution, says Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, food specialist, who has just returned from Germany where he made extensive investigations in behalf of the Supreme Food Relief Council. In Dr. Taylor's opinion a grave political upheaval is probable by the signing of the treaty of peace.

NO REASON FOR DEMANDS.
TOKIO, Feb. 21. In replying to an interpellation in the Diet to-day Premier Hara said there was no reason why China should demand the return of Tsing Tao.

ALFONZO TALKS.
PARIS, Feb. 21. The role of the neutrals is at present far from an easy one, said King Alfonso of Spain, in an interview which he gave Albert Londres, of the Petit Journal, recently and was published to-day. With what are we in Spain reproached. We are made responsible for the propaganda that a belligerent nation carried on here, but constitutional guarantees were not suspended. There were people of all nationalities here and I fail to see how Spain could be made to answer for acts to which she was not a party. Speaking of the Franco-Spanish relations during the war King Alfonso said, if France attributed good intentions to me they were also the intentions of my people. One is the reflection of the other. I am the king certainly, but the most constitutional of kings. Of all the kings still-standing in Europe I am of the latest creation. The English family is of the seventh century, and the Belgium of 1832. I spring from a monarchical revolution and my new contract with the people is younger than the republic. I am of a date scarcely forty-two years back. The greatest liberty reigns in the kingdom. Under this absolutely free regime the king and the people are one.

FLOUR FOR WARSAW.
WARSAW, Feb. 20. Two million pounds of flour has arrived here from Danzig coming through by railroad in record time without interference from the Germans. It will be distributed in this city. American officers will superintend sales of the flour and will prevent speculators from getting it.

UNEMPLOYED RIOT.
BERLIN, Feb. 20. (By the A. P.) The Brunswick Diet was stormed by unemployed persons during one of the sessions this week and the chairman and several deputies were roughly handled. The rioters came from a part of an assemblage of some three thousand of the unemployed who had gathered in front of the building during a demonstration.

WILL MAKE FLYING SAFER.
LONDON, Feb. 21. During a discussion of the serial navigation bill in the House of Commons to-day, Major General John E. B. Seely, Parliamentary Under Secretary of the Ministry of Munitions, announced that the government intended to make flying safer by providing a large number of airframes, some of them military establishments and some civil. The government, General Seely said, would pay the entire cost and would start the movement by providing a civil airframe, but that it was hoped before long the last named would become entirely self-supporting. A British airship, according to General Seely, recently remained in the air for more than one hundred hours at an average speed of fifty miles an hour. The Under Secretary added the airship must have covered more than five thousand miles. It was possible that the airship could have continued longer in the air, the speaker declared, notwithstanding the fact that it encountered considerable winds.

WILL SELECT LEADER ON MONDAY.
OTTAWA, Feb. 21. While the air is full of rumours as to the choice of a new leader in the Commons for the Liberal party nothing will be definitely decided until the caucus to be held on Monday. The impression is steadily growing, however, that the temporary leadership of the opposition, pending the calling together of a national convention to choose a permanent leader will not be vested in one man.

TAX ON DIVIDENDS TO LAISE.
LONDON, Feb. 21. The treasury stated in answer to a question in House of Commons that an additional tax of two shillings on the pound in respect of dividends on securities not loaned to the government more particularly investments in the Dominions such as the Canadian Pacific Railway will lapse on April 6th.

CONGRATULATES PREMIER ON ESCAPE.
LONDON, Feb. 21. James W. Lowther, Speaker of the House of Commons, to-day sent the following message on behalf of the British Parliament to M. Clemenceau: As the mouthpiece of the House of Commons I offer you our most sincere congratulations upon your escape from the bullet of the assassin, and an expression of our fervent hope that you may shortly be restored, for the sake of France, the Allies, and the peace of Europe, to the full exercise of your unrivalled powers.

DON'T FAVOR SPARTACANS.
BERLIN, Feb. 21. The strike in the Ruhr industrial region is still spreading, but it appears to be increasingly evident that only a small minority of the strikers are in sympathy with the Spartacans and that the majority of them would go to work if they were permitted to do so. Marshal Foch is reported to have consented to the sending by the Government of the troops against Dusseldorf which is in the neutral zone fixed by the armistice. The Spartacans have cut the railway from Oberhausen, north of Essen, to Dorsten to prevent the transportation of troops. They are also occupying all the roads by which soldiers could come to the region.

WANTS PRICE OF 1919 GRAIN CROP FIXED.
REGINA, Sask., Feb. 21. A resolution urging the Government to fix the price of the wheat crop for 1919 was before the Grain Growers' Convention this morning, and a warm and lengthy debate resulted. Dr. Platt, of Tantalion, objected to it, declaring that no Government could take the action demanded and that the farmers would stultify themselves if they adopted it.

Items of Interest.
GATHERED FROM EVERYWHERE. "Darkest Russia" goes on becoming gloomier and more mysterious. The formalities of return visits among nations promise years of joyous anticipation. Berlin is described as "dancing mad." The tango is undoubtedly more alluring than the goose-step. A "rampire" squad, the latest thing in thief-catching, was organized at Yonkers, N. Y., to round up pickpockets who have descended on the city in force. Policemen geographically but uncomfortably disguised in women's clothing have been ordered to parade the streets with tempting, bulging purses plainly in view. At Springfield, Mass., Charles Drammies, 30, employed by the Penn. Metal Company, of Boston, was shocked by 55,000 volts of electricity while at work on the new electric light plant. The accident was caused when a metal ruler he was using came in contact with a high tension cable. He was revived by the police pulmotor and is expected to recover. In a letter received by Frank Lassonde, of Manchester, N. H., from his son, Edward, who is Overseas in the heavy artillery, the son writes that he was riding one day on a cession, loaded with ammunition, when a bird began to circle about his head, flying so closely that its wings almost brushed his cap. Again and again the bird flew about him, and Lassonde sprang from his seat and ran after the bird, which flew away. And just then a Boche shell made a target of the cession, whose contents went up in a mighty explosion. Lassonde's pursuit of the bird saved him from injury.

VALVE-IN-HEAD
Buick
MOTOR CARS

Make your Motoring season an enjoyable one by owning the Car that all other motorists look upon with envy—the Buick Six is the most envied car in St. John's.

The Buick is always ready to take you anywhere you desire to go—it never falters.

When you press the starting pedal of the Buick, you are assured immediate response—the Delco starter is always on the job to turn over your engine every time you require it.

Buick Cars are luxuriously equipped, and upholstered in genuine black leather—no imitation. Strength of construction is an inherent quality of all Buicks. With the new Sixty Horsepower Valve in Head engine sixty miles an hour is easily accomplished, besides hills are made short work of.

A new and valuable feature is the entirely enclosed valves and engine, thus keeping out all grit and dust and giving longer life to the car, consequently the Engine is noiseless.

We shall be happy to let you look over our 1919 Buick Six which recently arrived—you will be convinced why it is the most envied car once you have examined it.

NEW SYSTEM FOR WORKERS.

LONDON, Feb. 21. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—At a Conference of Government officials and representatives of a number of trades unions, held to discuss the application of the Whitley system to government establishments, the Minister of Labour declared that the Government was ready to apply the system giving workmen a share of the management in all Government workshops and yards. The object of the scheme is to ensure grievances being handled immediately they arise, thus preventing a strike, and securing harmony of the industries committee representing the engineering, ship-building and other trades was appointed to draw up regulations for the proposed Whitley Councils.

RED TRIANGLE CAMPAIGN.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 21. At a meeting of the campaign committee of the K. M. C. A. National Council, in Toronto to-day, arrangements were made for the next Red Triangle Fund Campaign, which the Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A. is to hold throughout Canada from May fifth to May ninth. The objective of the campaign will be $1,100,000, which is the amount of new funds required by the National Councils of the two organizations for their extensive work for this year.

FATAL FIRE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21. Eleven persons are believed to have been burned to death, while another will probably die, as the result of a fire which destroyed a boarding house at St. Jomier, on Wednesday morning. A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner Labelle of St. Jerome, after an inquest held on the bodies of five persons recovered.

THE JUNKERS CAN PAY.

LONDON, Feb. 21. Herbert Gibbs, a well known banker, in an address here to-day, declared that having made a special study of the subject, he was able to say that the savings of Germany were very great. Germany could easily pay $5,000,000,000 yearly, the burden of which, he asserted, would fall not on the wage earners of Germany, but on the people who had made the war. He believed that an Allied commission should sit at Berlin to receive the money in marks at the gold rate of exchange. It was quite possible, Mr. Gibbs said, that for the first three or four years Germany would find great difficulty in paying, owing to her economic and political condition, and he suggested that these heavy amounts should at first be received in merchant ships to the value of £500,000,000 and from the earnings of the railways.

VOTED CREDITS ASKED.

WEIMAR, Feb. 21. The German National Assembly has voted the credits asked for by the Government. The minority Socialists and the German Nationalists voted against the passing of the measure.

NOON.

ADMIRAL'S WEATHER.

LONDON, Feb. 21. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The New Zealand, with Lord and Lady Jellicoe on board, sailed from Portsmouth this afternoon in a blinding rain storm and a south westerly gale.

OPERATIONS IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Feb. 21. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter hears the following concerning the situation of the different Russian fronts. In North Russia, the position at Murmansk and Archangel is unchanged. It is reported that the Bolsheviks are massing troops there and their numbers have more than doubled since the beginning of the war. There are no signs of an ambitious offensive at the present moment. On the Eastern front the Siberian army is extending its right wing northwards, from Tcheridian to Usteneskol, where there has been fighting, and a Siberian counter-offensive further South which is continuing satisfactory. On the Southern front, General Denekine's volunteer army gained a brilliant success, on a front of nearly 500 miles, where the Bolsheviks have been completely defeated and driven back over a hundred miles. The 11th Soviet army lost all its transport, 3,100 prisoners, 95 guns, 162 machine guns, 8 armoured trains and 4 hospital trains. The whole of Stavropol Province is now cleared of the Bolsheviks, who are holding their front with their left flank resting on the Caspian Sea. General Denekine has also occupied valuable oil wells at Grosny, and is in touch with the advance guard of General Thomson's force at Petrovsk.

BADE HER REGIMENT "GOOD BYE."

LONDON, Feb. 21. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Princess Patricia of Connaught's Badesse to the famous battalion of Canadian Light Infantry to-day which bears her name, when she is the Colonel-in-Chief. The battalion, which only arrived in England from Belgium a fortnight ago, was inspected by the Princess at the Canadian Camp of Bramshott, near Liphook. The men had with them the colors which the Princess worked with her own hands and presented to them when they left Ottawa for France, and which they carried through many engagements. The men were in fighting kit and looked extremely smart on parade. After inspection and addressing the men, the Princess fixed to the colors, which were presented to her by an officer on bended knee, a laurel wreath in metal inscribed "to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, from Colonel-in-Chief, in recognition of their heroic services in the Great War 1914-1918." The battalion marched past its Colonel-in-Chief to the in-spring skirt of the bargipes. It is noteworthy that the colors presented by the Princess were the only ones carried in action by British troops in this war.

REFUSED ADMIRAL'S OFFER.

CAPE TOWN, S.A., Feb. 21. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The Nationalist delegation, which was proceeding to Europe to put the case of a Republican South Africa before the peace conference, refused the offer of Admiral Fitzherbert of a passage to England by the warship Minerva. The men of the Durban Castle had previously refused to carry them in that vessel, as had also a Portuguese ship at Lourenco Marques.

LATEST.

STRANGLER AT BIRTH.

LONDON, Feb. 22. The young German Republic will in a very short time be faced by a severe upheaval, if not a breakdown, said Philip Scheideman, German Chancellor, in addressing the National Assembly at Weimar, according to a German wireless despatch received here. The state and the nation are menaced as to food supplies, and the conduct of industries, not only by our enemies, but our compatriots, who are now threatening our most important industries in the Rhineland and Westphalian regions, he continued.

A GERMAN'S THREAT.

BERLIN, Feb. 22. (By the A.P.)—German troops, defending the Posen front against the Poles at Birnbaum, have addressed a communication to National Assemblyman Orlow, protesting against an official order to vacate territory held by them, in accordance with the conditions laid down by Marshal Foch, in which a line of demarcation between the Germans and the Poles was defined. The communication declares, we propose to retain the positions held by us so long as we have a cartridge left, and so long as a spark of fire remains no Poles will succeed in invading our lines. The path to the point designated by Marshal Foch will lead over the dead bodies of German men. If Marshal Foch is determined to force matters to the utmost extreme he will find us ready. We will open the gates to Bolshevism which will overflow Europe.

A MILLION UNEMPLOYED.

BERLIN, Feb. 22. (A.P.)—The National Ministry of economic demobilization estimates the number of unemployed men in Germany at present to be a million.

NOT ALLOWED TO TALK.

PARIS, Feb. 22. Premier Clemenceau is somewhat fatigued and will receive no one to-day, said Dr. Cautre, of the medical staff attending the Premier, after the examination of M. Clemenceau shortly after nine o'clock this morning. "He is absolutely forbidden to talk," Dr. Cautre added.

BATTLE RESUMED.

PARIS, Feb. 22. The battle at Lemberg has been resumed, according to a Havas despatch from Craacov, filed on Friday. The Ukrainians attacked violently and they are credited with the object of capturing the city before the arrival of the inter-Allied Mission. So far the small Polish garrison of Lemberg has beaten off all the Ukrainian attacks.

Cheer, Boys, Cheer, the Great War is Over.

Tune: "Cheer, Boys, Cheer, Sebastopol is Taken."

Cheer boys, cheer, the Great war boys is over.

Peace lights again upon our smiling land.

Long, long, and hard has been the Victory and peace now greet us, hand in hand.

With God's good help, our armies and our navies

Have put the proud oppressor and And a world renewed and freed from slavery's fetters,

The valor and endurance of our Flag will crown.

Cheer, boys, cheer our Royal Newfoundland Regiment,

"Better than the best!" No foe could stay them nay.

Thru shot and shell and wire entanglement, they cheer,

They cool and dauntless heaved their onward way.

Cheer, boys, cheer for the comrades left behind them:

They sleep in Glory's Grave in Gallipoli and France

The flight of time will all the more endear them,

And their fair fame and sacrifice enhance.

Cheer, boys, cheer our Sailor Lads so merry,

They swept the Huns, like chaff from off the open sea.

Thru storm and cold, 'spite mine and swift torpedo,

They made the world the country of the free.

Cheer, boys, cheer, our lads will

Wounded or sick, or sound, how welcome they will be!

Cheer, boys, cheer, they wear no empty honors:

They faced grim Death right off for you and me.

GOING IN GULF.

Capt. John Gilliam, of Channel, late of His Majesty's Canadian Naval Service, will take the schooner "Protector" to the ice next month, sailing from Channel. Capt. John has made many successful sealing trips in sailing vessels and we hope that his former lucky experiences will be repeated this spring.

From My Scrap-Book.

BY THE CUB-EDITOR.

THE FAITHFUL DOG.

We were once imbued with the ardent and undeniable desire to become the sole owner of a faithful dog—a sagacious, intelligent animal that would understand us and our habits and stand by us through thick and thin when all the rest of the world had turned its back on and deserted us. Accordingly, therefore, we visited the back-yard of one of our citizens and soon after the proud possessor of an F. D. That was Tuesday night. By the end of the week we had paid the owners of fourteen wind-dogs the prices of new glasses; the perturbed owners of twenty-three cats sued us for damages or new cats; we were compelled to pay the doctors' fees of four different people; our better-half was demanding more money with which to provide the household victuals, and we ourselves had not had a wink of sleep since the Tuesday night. About four days after acquiring the faithful animal we were relieved of its cheering presence. We have not had a sagacious, intelligent dog since.—C.E.

HUMAN LIFE IS MORE VALUABLE THAN ALL THE WEALTH THAT WAS EVER CREATED.—Kerr Hardie.

"No Joque."

A newspaper editor, finding that the letters "f" and "k" were omitted in some typewriting copy, wrote a letter of remonstrance to the author who had sent it. The offender replied to this note as follows:—"Mr. Editor,—Mistakes are liable to happen in the best of regulated phillanies, and to typewriters as well. It is, indeed, a very unfortunate affair, but the 'ph' and 'ky' have not got damaged. This morning I called the telephone of the gentleman whom I bought this outfit, but I failed to phind him in; in phact, the orphice boy says he will not return phor phour or five days. I did not hique the loox or this variety of spelling myself, and consider this no joque but a serious aphair.—Phaithfully yours, J. L.—"

Learn as if you were going to live forever; live as if you were going to die to-morrow.—J. Fiske. (The first part of this is good advice; the second the very opposite. Living as if we were going to die to-morrow would be a very miserable existence, and certainly not worth the while.)

THE ELEPHANT'S FEAR.

An elephant is afraid of a mouse not because it is a mouse, but because in the elephant's native land there is a little animal called a chacanas which, when the elephant feeds, runs up his trunk, digs its little claws into the flesh, poisoning the blood and causing death to the elephant. These little chacanas cannot be dislodged; the more violently the elephant blows through his trunk the more firmly does the little animal hold on and dig its claws into the flesh. The fact that a small mouse looks something like a chacanas is the cause of an elephant's terror of the rodent.

DEAR OLD "BOBS."

Lord Roberts, though he reproved one boy for smoking on his way up to London, cheered the heart of another lad at Basingstoke by a very kindly action. The boy, who was selling buns to passengers for the refreshment contractors, rushed forward eagerly to see Lord Roberts, but was pushed back roughly by a railway official. "Bobs" noticed the boy's disappointment, and, calling out to him, bought one of his buns and gave him a penny for himself.

HE FORGOT HIMSELF.

More Care Needed.

A great deal of hostile criticism has been levelled at the lack of care shown by Newfoundland herring packers, particularly those of Green Bay, in putting up for export to the United States markets the past fall's catch of herring by the Scotch method.

His Excellency also reminded you that at the present time both private and public economy were of the utmost importance and he concluded by recommending you to confine your present effort to improving the Rescue Home.

Referring back to the criticism of our herring pack, it is pleasing to note that some of the last shipments to the United States turned out a little better than the previous ones, a fact upon which the New York Fishing Gazette comments editorially, and recommends certain innovations which are in our power to carry out.

this year's experience it would seem that the time had come when Newfoundland should look seriously into this matter for the good of the industry. The government ought to take the problem to itself and solve it for all time.

H. E. the Governor and the S. A. Project.

The attention of His Excellency the Governor has been called to an inaccurate report in certain papers of the 20th inst., with reference to your scheme for a combined Maternity and Refuge Home.

His Excellency also reminded you that at the present time both private and public economy were of the utmost importance and he concluded by recommending you to confine your present effort to improving the Rescue Home.

Supreme Court's Respect

As the funeral cortege of the late Hugh H. Carter passed the Court House yesterday afternoon, the presiding Judge of the Supreme Court then in session, the Counsel at the bar, and the clerks in the trial of Rex vs. Walsh, stood uncovered on the Duckworth Street entrance steps, thus showing the last tribute of respect to the memory of the senior practitioner at the Bar.

Weather and Ice Conditions.

Tilt Cove—Strong north winds past 10 days with heavy snow storms; bay full of heavy ice. Griguet—Moderate winds to-day fine and mild. No ice in sight.

Shipping Notes.

The Florence has sailed from Hr. Buffett with 4,020 qts. of codfish for Oporto. The Monarch, with 210,000 pounds of salt bulk codfish, and 62 bins of herring, has sailed from Hr. Breton, for Gloucester.

Washington's Birthday.

On February 22, 1732, or 11th, according to the calendar of that time, George Washington was born at Bridges Creek, Westmoreland, Virginia. In the Church of St. George, in Northamptonshire, is a memorial tablet to Lawrence Washington, inventor of the manor house there, and to his wife and children. He was the ancestor of George Washington, two members of this family, John and Lawrence Washington, having appeared in Virginia in A.D. 1658.

Reids' Boats.

From Out the Storied Past BUSINESS 100 YEARS AGO.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

...last letter I mentioned the said Maurice Kennedy, and I remember that I knew, he was Maurice that I knew, He was a celebrity in his way. He was a professional, he would fire volleys of epistles at those who were in a beautiful which left them to form their own ideas as to what was driving at. The name I remember him was when he was with Capt. John and the brigantine Jane, a vessel of 145 tons register, and he was a very strong and a good character. On one occasion Maurice was employed in making the charts of the watch in the cabin, and he was very busy engaged in mixing flour, molasses and the other ingredients to make up a cake, and, of course, he was the skipper and the officers, and he was perfect in his supply of currants or raisins. He was very old and very experienced, and the practical joke which the crew decided to take upon him, although we feel badly the want of numberless articles, because the Gannet is not far off. By the Helena just come in, I have your letter of the 22nd ult., marked No. 4, which is of course an error as I received that number by the Nelson. I am glad to find that the John and Elizabeth had sailed with the fish, and is intended her with salt. I wonder at your not mentioning whether the George had sailed for Liverpool or not. From the master of Mr. Garland's ship Two Brothers, who came here yesterday after a passage of 30 days from thence, I am informed she was not arrived when he sailed. I shall expect her of course with salt, etc. and I hope the Active will also come with salt and goods. Mr. Garland's trade has to add to the disappointment caused by the loss of the Benjamin, that occasioned by the loss of a chartered ship of 350 tons with salt and provisions from Liverpool. She was called the Swallow. She struck a piece of ice about the 14th inst., a few leagues from Trinity and immediately sunk. The master and crew were picked up by an ice-hunter and carried into St. John's. The miscarriage of these two vessels I believe makes that trade short of many articles necessary for the fishery so that we are not the only ones rather behind hand in that respect. I understand the Helena has upwards of 50 "youngsters" on board, and I shall be sadly disappointed if the Gannet do not bring more than 20. There is scarcely a planter belonging to us who does not want one, and many of them two. The George I hope will also bring some.

Greater Extensions.
What you said in your letter No. 2 respecting our not being really in want of room, even if the business was extended to 20,000 qts. fish, is not at present correct. We are so had off for fish stores that this season, should the voyages be good and a fish vessel miscarry on her way out, we should be obliged to leave a cargo in a leaky old store or in piles on the beach. We can find store-room for only about 3,000 qts. Mr. Orchard, when giving you a description of the Room, should recollect the decayed state in which he left it, and you should also allow for the little chance I have yet had of procuring lumber for repairing it. The large store at Maggoty Cove which was probably, in Mr. Jeffery-Orchard's time, useful for fish must not now be mentioned.

A Rival Claimant.
Since my last attempt has been unexpectedly made by a planter (Mistias Williams), I believe at the suggestion of Governor, who appears also to lay claim, to take possession of the part of Rowe's Room, I have applied to Mr. Clinch who refers the matter to the Governor Sir R. G. Keats, to whom immediately on his arrival at St. John's I mean to present a memorial in your behalf, which I have already drawn out and of which I will send you a copy per first direct conveyance. I have every reason to think that the Governor, after being acquainted with the circumstances, will give directions for the buildings begun by Williams to be immediately pulled down. If he does not, there will be no certainty of holding any portion of the Island unless it be actually covered all over with flakes and stages. Mr. Clinch renders me all the assistance he can, and you may rest assured I will do my best to prevent encroachments. He advises me to request you to furnish me with a copy of the Bill of Sale of your own Room, as it is required in the records that the sum for which it was sold by Mr. Jeffery should be stated therein. I am informed by Mr. Clinch that the High Sheriff, St. John's, has the management of Mr. Street's affairs in this country, and is duly authorized to receive the rent of Rowe's Room. I find from enquiry that there are not the least grounds for what Mr. Orchard has informed you concerning it, and if there had been, the circumstance of your late agent Governor having entered into a lease with Street's agents to pay £7 per year for it for seven years, has of course rendered any claim of the nature you have mentioned, invalid.

A Coroner's Inquest.
Joe Marsh, a few days after his arrival here, in attempting to get to his place in Bonaventure, got driven ashore, stove his punt and lost one of his boys. An inquest sat on the body and the verdict of the jury was that the deceased youth (Hector) came to his death from exposure to wet, cold and fatigue, occasioned chiefly by the inattention, negligence and drunkenness of his master. The other boy, who was also in the punt, is in a very bad state, not being able to walk. It appeared from the evidence that Marsh left Trinity in a state of intoxication, so much so, that he could scarcely stand, at the unreasonable hour of 10 o'clock at night, in a small punt, with the two little boys. His character never stood in much repute here, and I believe this unpleasant circumstance has not added anything to the credit of it.

Lamentable Sculling Voyage.
All the Trinity ice-hunters are returned, and I am sorry to say our schooners (although they have done better than they have for the last two or three years) are still far short of the success attending our neighbors, not having done quite half so well as them, for particulars I beg to refer you to the statement at foot. Of the Southern schooners, I believe the best that has been more successful than ours is exceeded by those which have done much worse. The master of our schooner Mary, spoke the John and Thomas all well, off Bonavista Bay about 13 days since. I have in your name made Mr. Clinch present of a hhd. beer, for which he returns you his sincere thanks. Shipwrecks are now impossible to be procured here, they are all become planters. In Mr. Garland's Dock where there used to be 20 to 30 (shipwrecks) and upwards, two only can now be found besides the master-builder.

The Amende Honorable.
Capt. Biel has explained respecting his last Fall's adventure, and I am happy to say I have reversed my opinion, as to everything relative to his having been in a state of fraud. By his conduct here in every other respect he has, and still continues to merit my entire approbation. I am sorry to state that on the 15th inst. we lost two of our last year's youngsters (James Henderson and Henry Miles). They deserted, and to assist them therein also stole a punt from one of our planters. We had people out in search of them different ways for a week, but owing to the ice driving up the Bay, was prevented from succeeding in catching them. I have since heard of their having reached New Harbor on the drift-ice from whence they made for Placentia the general rendezvous for runaways. There will be no chance of purchasing slaves in St. John's. I am in expectation of a good quantity from our dealers this Spring.

Evening, 31st May, 1815.
Since writing the foregoing, I have the happiness to add that the Gannet is safely arrived. The wind being strong to the northward with snow and thick weather, he dropped in, rather unexpectedly, or, at least, sooner than I had a right to expect from the account handed me by the Helena.

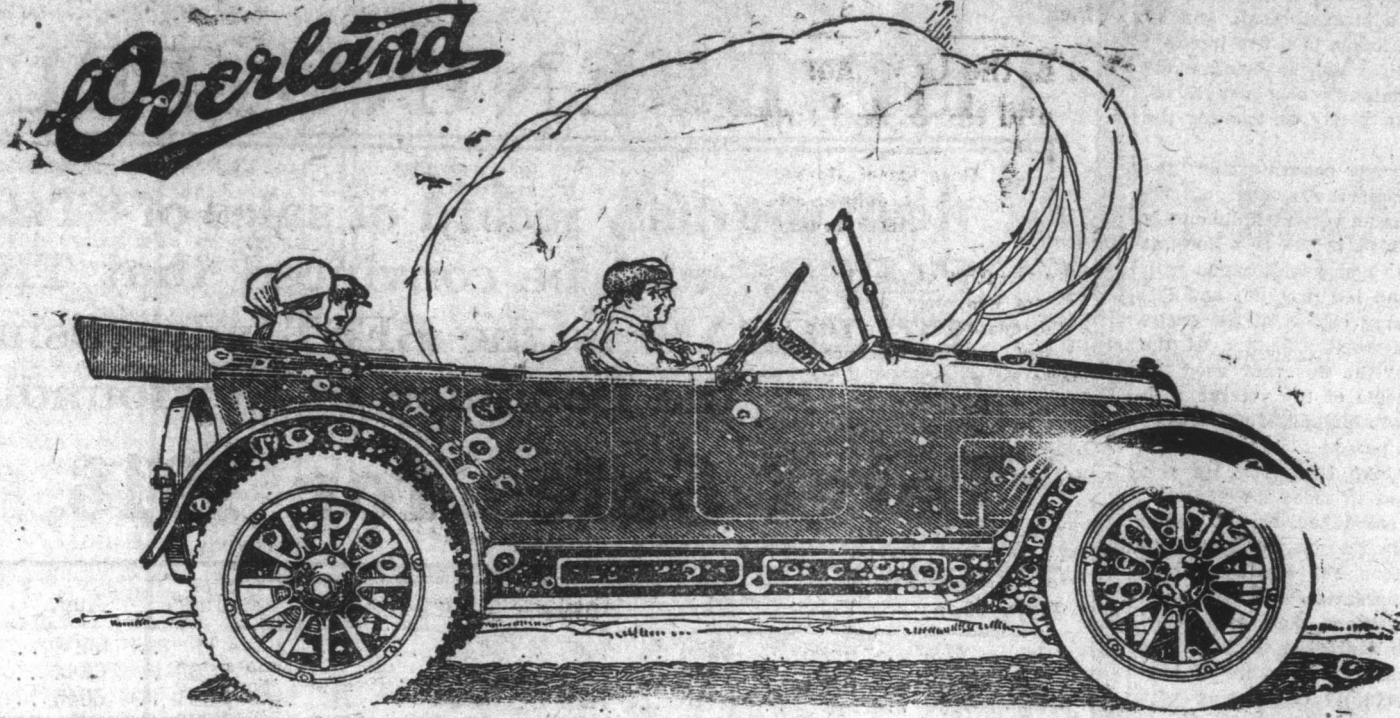

June 4th, 1815.
Not having an opportunity of forwarding the foregoing part of No. 4, I have now the pleasure to add, that we have the Gannet nearly discharged, good part of the goods unpacked, marked, ranged in the stores and delivered to the planters, etc., and that it came out in excellent order. With the assortment, quantity and quality of what we have examined, I am extremely well pleased, and do not at present notice the omission of any articles of consequence excepting the hemp, bolt rope, nails, large ledgers, hats, snuff, tobacco, ironmongery, lime, salt beef and a few others, all of which I hope will shortly arrive per Active and George.

Delivered but not Charged.
No. 6, and Private No. A, were of course duly handed me by Capt. Stanworth, and I am truly sorry to find that you should again have apparent reason to complain of our inaccuracy in delivering goods to our customers without charging. Apparent reason only, I hope and think you have for complaint on this subject, and not real. There is nothing I am so particular in as this very thing. Each of us, who deliver goods from the store, has a particular mark of his own to which he constantly adheres, for I allow not the smallest article to be delivered by any one without his said mark of delivery being annexed to the entry. I have referred to the Day Book and find that the canvas charged to Rupert, which you have mentioned, was delivered by Mr. Willer himself, and that agrees with the quantity stated in the Ship's Book. Therefore if he recollects that six yards of canvas were delivered and only three yards charged, he is the person who committed the error. But my opinion is, that both he and Rupert spoke without thought, or whatever came uppermost. I shall not relax in my endeavours to prevent the commission of errors in this important branch of the business, such as daily cautioning our young men examining frequently the goods after entry, overhauling the Day Book every night, etc., and I can't omit nothing with gratitude and thankfulness the good opinion you have been pleased to express respecting my conduct and attention to this point. In reply to your letter A. (Private), I shall act in each of the three cases at the end of each year agreeably to your request.

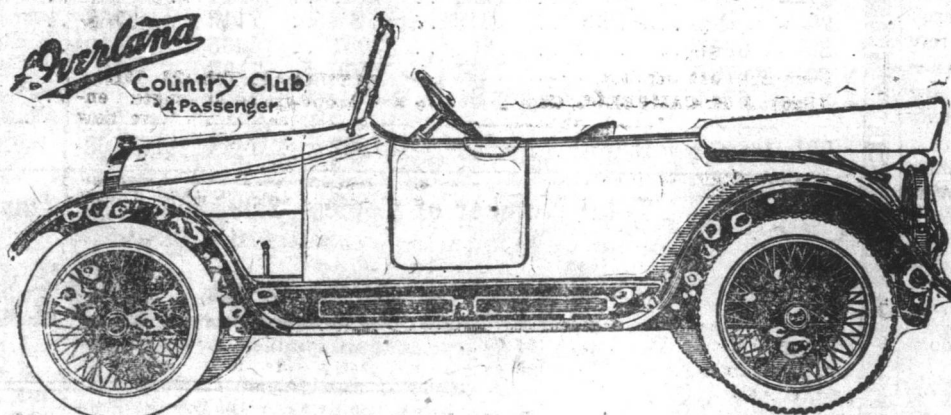

Every Saturday evening after 7 o'clock, Choice Ends of Beef, Mutton, Lamb, Pork will be sold at cost. ELLIS & CO., LTD., 203 Water Street.—nov29, 1815.

Vice-Regal Visit.

Quite an honour was paid the I. C. Morris sailworks yesterday afternoon, when His Excellency the Governor called in and spent an hour with the proprietor and his staff. His Excellency has a keen eye for marine architecture and shipping, and he was greatly interested in the process of making sails, etc. He examined the different grades of hand work, and also the machine work, and did a little practical work himself by stretching a cringle in a large foresail, and by sewing two stitches in a five hundred yard mainsail, which is being made for Mr. Greenland's schooner Nevis, which sails in a day or two for the West Indies.

His Excellency congratulated the proprietor upon the system of his plant, and made a very complimentary entry of his visit in the Day Book at the office. He also shook hands with every man and lad present; and left amid the hearty cheers of the entire staff. A noteworthy feature of the visit was that the Governor used the palm and needle of the veteran sailmaker of Newfoundland, if not of America, in the person of our respected citizen, Mr. John McGuffee. He also was interested to meet the youngest Journeyman sailmaker, in the person of Mr. Hugh Francis, who is still within his teens, but who has served a faithful apprenticeship, and is an excellent workman. Before the Governor left he addressed the staff and expressed his great pleasure at having an opportunity of meeting with the representatives of such an old and useful business as that of sail-making, and he also expressed his thanks for the hearty reception accorded him, and made special reference to the strenuous conditions of trade during the war, and what an important part sailing ships had played in the commerce of that period.

It Never Happened Before.

Quite a number of things have happened during, or in consequence of, the war, which never happened before.

No English king had ever passed under Napoleon's Arc de Triomphe until King George's recent visit to Paris. No Prince of Wales had served in war since the invention of Armaments until our future monarch went to the front. No British Army had before helped to defend France against an invader. British and Prussian troops had never previously tried conclusions.

Never before the war had armies from India, America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand or South Africa landed in Europe.

Until Mr. Wilson, no "reigning" President of the United States crossed the Atlantic during his term of office, though ex-presidents have done so.

Jerusalem, Damascus, and Bagdad had never before been captured by modern European armies, nor had British soldiers ever previously marched through Mesopotamia. The British flag is the first standard of a Christian nation to float over Constantinople as that of a conqueror since the taking of the city by the Turks over four centuries ago.

No King of Prussia has ever lost his throne or been driven into exile before; and no war has ever brought misfortune on so many rulers or led to so many states being set up.

THE EVENING TELEGRAM offers its patrons the utmost value for his dollar.

Only for Millionaires.

$50,000 FOR A HANDEKERCHIEF.

There are some things which are reserved for millionaires. Nobody else can buy them.

An American presented his wife with a pair of opera-glasses recently valued at $10,000. They were the work of an Indian artist and comprised in their design and decoration eight kinds of precious stones wonderfully blended.

The ex-Empress Eugenie, that pathetic survivor of an age which seems long past, when the Huns last knocked ed at the gates of Paris, has a pair covered with rubies which are said to be worth the same sum, whilst another lady possesses a pair set in diamonds worth $12,000.

Only a millionaire could buy the two Sevres vases which were sold the other day for 3,200 guineas, or the little tankard 6in. high which went for £37 10s. per ounce and realized £667. 10s.

Diamond-Studded Thimble.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie probably was well used to porridge when he was a "putr wee laddie" in Scotland, and he has lived to be able to buy a porringer and cover of the William and Mary period which was sold lately for $463.

The millionaire can give $21,440 for his prayer book, if "the deceitfulness of riches" has not turned his thoughts in other directions. One of his items of devotion was sold lately for that sum; but then it had belonged to Madame de Pompadour, and she was a king's favorite.

The Queen of Siam possesses a thimble said to be worth $13,000, although it is probably more for ornament than use, being studded with diamonds and pearls, and the Queen of Italy has a handkerchief which is greatly coveted by American millionaires, who, it is said, have offered the Queen $20,000 for it.

World's Costliest Manuscript.

At the present moment a gentleman in London is waiting for the millionaire to come along who is willing to give 100 guineas for a "scrap of paper." It is really that, just a brown and much worn and dog-eared half-sheet.

But on it, in Robert Burns' beautiful script—the handwriting of a Scottish ploughman who regarded £20 as a fortune—is inscribed "The Lament of Mary Queen of Scots." It is the original manuscript of a masterpiece of one of the world's greatest poets. It is the mined gold of genius which a millionaire can buy but cannot produce.

But though that is a pretty stiff price it is nothing to what that millionaire collector of New York, George D. Smith, paid for the original manuscript and drawings of Thackeray's "The Rose and the Ring." This was $4,600, the largest price ever paid for a modern manuscript.

Whist Eccentricities.

At a recent whist drive, to "relieve conventional monotony," various expedients were adopted under penalty of losing tricks which added a decided novelty to the proceedings. The penalties included:

A deal by ladies while standing on one leg. Incessant chatter during one round and perfect silence during another. Dealer to laugh through a deal. An Air-raid round, with lights on. The holders of ace of trumps, in a series of rounds, to kiss the other players, to tell a story at the end of one round, and to dance at the end of another.

It was further provided that the highest scorers should describe the worst trait in the character of wife, husband, or sweetheart, the winner to claim any article (in reason) of the loser's wearing apparel.

Food a Necessity?

Food is a necessity to LONGEVITY. One lives beyond the usual span of life by associating with a theory or principle which has been practiced from time immemorial.

There are octogenarians who declare that they have attained that distinction by means of abstention from beer; by abstention from meat; by the eating of milk; by sour milk and dates and nuts and everything and by anything.

Another matter when, the doctor is being known, a man declares that he will live long. He follows by the exhibition of his own, and does in fact so doing. In his case the result is a greater degree of health than we could show had they been made after the reason that the death of that man, as he was called, was worth putting on record. He was the 'eightiest Dr. F. Stafford declared that he would live longer than other men by fasting, abstaining from drink, and were merely a matter of degree. His death occurred at the age of ninety-one.

Refinement of Fortune.

Refinement of fortune was practiced on a Serbian officer's wife by the Bulgarians. It appears that the latter had avowed vengeance on the officer for opposing their propaganda. As they could not reach the officer, the Bulgarians arrested his wife and five children. The wife was compelled to go on foot under escort from Pristina to Vele, where she was condemned to death. She was led out to the place of execution and kept waiting in sight of a gibbet, but was taken back to prison and told she would not be hanged for 24 hours. Next day she was again taken to the execution ground, and for 12 hours faced the gallows, watching the preparations for her execution. Once more she was sent back to her cell, but in the meantime was flogged until she became unconscious. Recovering, she was told that she was reprieved, and she was then imprisoned in a fortress at Nish. Here again she was led out for execution this time to be shot, not hanged. Some Serbian priests and school-masters were shot before her eyes, but when it came to her turn she was told that she would be sent to Sofia. Here she was hrown into a cellar and her legs were placed in irons. In this condition she was kept for four months without a change of clothes. Next she was sent to a prisoners' camp, and being destitute, was forced to beg. She was released after the armistice.

Girls! Have Wavy, Thick, Glossy Hair Free From Dandruff

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments—try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is stuffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff, you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a fewness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fashish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

Japan's Official Tongue.

It may be news to many to hear that English is the language spoken at the Japanese Foreign Office, in its intercourse with foreign diplomats and even in its telegraphic correspondence with its own representatives abroad.

All telegrams from Tokio to the foreign agents of Japan are written and ciphered in English, and replied to in the same manner; though, if the Foreign Minister has occasion to send a written despatch, this, as a rule, is in Japanese, which may be said to be a cipher in itself.

Important despatches from Downing Street are, of course, always taken to their destination—especially if it be in Europe—by a special King's messenger; but from Tokio they are simply sent out in the form of a registered letter.

Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of 'Kidney's Syrup' after meals makes your digestion sound, is World's Biggest Locomotive.

An American firm of locomotive builders have recently delivered to the Virginian Railway Company the biggest and most powerful locomotive engine ever built.

Its weight is 440 tons, and measures, with its tender, 135ft. in length. The tender carries twelve tons of coal and 13,000 gallons of water. The boiler is 8ft. 5in. in diameter, and is level with the top of the cab, while the smoke-stack has shrunk to a mere ring, so as to allow of the mammoth locomotive passing under bridges with safety. Its cylinders, measuring 48in. in diameter, are as large as the locomotive boilers of fifty years ago.

Nfld. Scotch Cured Herring.

While it is everywhere apparent that the trade is better satisfied with the quality and pack of the recently arrived stocks of Newfoundland Scotch cured herring, it is also still evident that the trade is making comparisons with the pack of 1917 and 1918, and in the light of these comparisons the fall pack of Newfoundland is inferior. The careless manner in packing, while not so pronounced in the lots received on the S. B. Adolph, was still to be found on careful inspection of the stocks from various packers in the cargo. Generally speaking the herring was better than the meagre lots which came into the market a few weeks ago, but the curing was far from doing credit to the packers in Green Bay and other places where less desirable herring is packed in the Ancient Colony. The fact that only a comparatively few barrels were sold on the dock, bespeaks of the inferiority of the quality and pack of the fish. Those who imported Newfoundland herring did not expect or look for any particular excitement when offerings were made, for there has been a very unsatisfactory business in cured herring during the fall and winter. If the new lots had been of exceptional quality, however, some express the opinion that it would have sold without question. There has been plenty of talk during the week of the necessity of standardizing the pack of Nfld. Scotch style herring, and importers here are convinced that by rigid inspection and a universal method of curing throughout the island only can the Newfoundland Scotch style hold its own in the trade in St. John's with the support of New York importers. It is to be proposed that every individual packer connected with every packing establishment be required to mark his initials on the barrels he packs, and that inspectors supervise the work of packing at every plant. This, it is contended, is the only method by which a uniform package can be assured. The failure of any individual to pack properly would be detected before the herring was shipped, and the inspector would be charged with the responsibility of passing for shipment only such herring as passed the most exacting inspection. In a word, the plan is similar to one proposed for Alaska. It is contended that in both places the results would assure the purchaser of high class herring that would find a ready market even among the scrutinizing buyers of New York. There have been no quotable changes in prices since last reports, but the market is none too firm. Sales are reported to have been made at 22c per large culls, while those who hold stocks of specially good fish have been able to get as high as 30c in a small way. Matsufs and matties do not appear to be selling in any quarter, for in these lots especially the selection and grading of the fish is poor. It is reported that there are numerous lots held in the outports which cannot be shipped until the spring, and importers here looked for a decline in the market before this. The stocks now in hand appear to be sufficient to meet the requirements of the trade for the next few months—or longer if the demand does not improve—and other lots, coming late in the spring, cannot hope to command good prices unless there is quality to warrant it.—N. Y. Fishing Gazette, Feb. 8.

Missing Relative Swindles.

Beware of these Tricksters. People who advertise for missing relatives need to be on their guard, else they will quickly discover that this is a wicked world. A common result of an inquiry, when a kinsman has been lost sight of for only a comparatively short time, is for somebody to call upon the anxious relative and tell a pathetic story. According to the visitor, the missing man has been suffering from loss of memory, and is now lying in hospital nearly ready for discharge, when he will return home if a remittance is sent by the messenger. Usually money is promptly forthcoming, and then—curtain!

Sometimes, however, the swindler writes to the advertiser—using an accommodation address—ostensibly at the dictation and in the name of the missing man, who is represented as having met with an accident. And again money is got from the unfortunate victim.

More daring still are swindlers in cases where relatives have been missing for many years. One anxious mother received a letter from Liverpool, the writer stating that while "passing through" that city he had chanced to see her advertisement, and that he thought he knew her son, who was living, he believed, in his native place, a certain town in California. On his return, he added, he would make inquiries.

Two or three months later another letter came to hand, this time presumably from the long-lost son, whom the mother eventually sent £10. Silence, complete silence, followed—a silence which has not yet been broken.

Helping Nature—the Key to Good Health

Watch for these Symptoms. Kidney or Bladder affections don't develop seriously until Nature has given you plenty of warning that the trouble has commenced. Constant headaches, dizziness, pains in the back or sides, swollen joints and aches, brick dust deposits, or painful urination should make you realize positively and beyond doubt that your kidneys are out of order and need assistance.

Nature is wise and never sends out unnecessary or foolish warnings. Her call is for help, and you must do your part by bringing relief to these overburdened kidneys, or suffer the consequences.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Neuritis, etc., are all caused by inflamed or congested kidneys and the consequent deranged kidney action. Don't suffer the agonies produced by these diseases. Help Nature to relieve the congestion—to heal those inflamed kidneys and to make them strong once more—by taking GIN PILLS.

GIN PILLS are the best remedy for Kidney and Bladder troubles on the market to-day. This is a fact proven by hundreds of testimonials. Try them and be sure of instant relief. For sale everywhere at 50c a box. A sample box free if you write to—The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario. U. S. residents should address Nat. What Phonograph Shall I Buy?

How many times, when the subject of purchasing a phonograph or talking machine has come up, have you asked yourself this question?

The Edison tone test answers it for you, completely, convincingly.

Over two million music lovers have been present when this test was being made; and they have realized, as you will realize, that the New Edison alone can actually RE-CREATE the human voice and the music of human-played instruments.

It is all-important that you hear!

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul!"

because it is the only instrument that RE-CREATES the singer's voice so faithfully that the human ear cannot distinguish the rendition of the artist from that of the New Edison.

The wise way to choose your phonograph is to have the several makes of phonographs and talking machines sent to your home on trial, where you can make direct comparisons among them, and then decide which one you would like to keep—which one you think you would enjoy hearing as much five years from now as you do to-day.

Be your own salesman. Sell a phonograph to yourself. We will gladly send a New Edison to your home for the purpose, without any obligation on your part.

What the Doctor Thought.

There was a hall of rice and old shoes for good luck as the bride and bridegroom got into the taxi, and on turning round, the groom was struck in the eye by a friendly boot with rather a heavy heel. As the car immediately drove away no notice was taken of the accident, and, despite the large handkerchief tied by his sobbing bride over the injured optic, the blood still flowed down the young husband's face. When they reached their destination, a quiet country village, he went to the old doctor to get the bleeding stopped. "How did you come by this, my man?" "Well, you see, doctor—I got married to-day, and —" was the reply, when the doctor broke in:—"What! has she started already?" Evangelists in Newfoundland.

A Review of Their Work.

L. C. MORRIS,
ARTICLE V.

In Mr. Crossley we had an entirely different class of man to that of Mr. Hunter. In age he was nearing fifty. Mr. Hunter was married, but Mr. Crossley, up to that time, had missed that comfort. He was a shorter man than his comrade, and wore a full beard, but was very neat in his personal appearance.

Of his various talents as an Evangelist that of singing was his best. He was indeed a singer. Not what is called an operatic singer, whose words are never understood, but a singer of soul, a singer of songs, a singer for the people; a singer, who, into his song put a message, and who in his message touched the heart. From his first song of "The Shepherd" until his last song of "The Pearly Gates and Golden" he sang the Gospel and sang it well.

We heard critics say that Mr. Crossley couldn't sing in a classic sense. We do not think that he professed to have done that, he rather claimed and aimed not to do it; for he simply sang what the people understood. Operatic singing and classic music and indistinct warblings have their right and proper place, but for the people who daily fight for bread, and who in their souls cry out for sympathy, and who are ever ready to appreciate such sympathy, classic music affords but scant consolation. The musical critics did not consider Mr. Crossley a real singer, but the ten thousand common people thought him such and thousands think so still.

In his talks Mr. Crossley was a better sermonizer than his companion; that is, he delivered a better prepared discourse than Mr. Hunter—though as a preacher he would never draw like the latter—it was just another case of how the story was told. He seemed to be a firm believer in keeping within the canon of Scripture, and all his statements were usually based upon quotations from the Sacred writings. In this respect he was "a master in Israel," and showed himself a diligent student of Holy Writ.

As a combination in evangelistic work Messrs. Crossley and Hunter were a splendid team, and they were well matched. At the time of their zenith of their career and in the height of their popularity; and they made an impression deep and lasting. To hear these good men was to listen to them; and there is, of course, a great difference between hearing and listening. In the city their mission was a great success, and the same results were in evidence at the meetings which they held at Carbon-ear and Harbor Grace. In all, they spent six weeks and a half with us, and then left the city by the S. S. Bruce en route to Boston via Sydney. While in the city both the Evangelists stayed with Dr. Kendall and were well entertained in every way.

Some people thought that the Messrs. Crossley and Hunter made a big thing of their visit from a financial standpoint, but such was not the case. Their entire tour occupied two months, which included travelling, and for that full time they had not quite fourteen hundred dollars net. That sum divided by nine weeks would not leave them each eighty dollars a week. So that their work must not be looked upon as a financial bonanza. They did not ask any payment, but trusted to the liberality of the collections. They paid their own bills independent of the committee; that is, they passed them themselves. Their principal expenses were in connection with the church, such as organist, and the sexton; to each of whom they paid the sum of twenty dollars. The two reporters also were paid twenty dollars each for their five weeks' work in reporting for the three daily papers of that date. One of the reporters was displeased with that sum. At first he was offered ten dollars, but he finally got twenty. The reporter who objected was quite within his right, because he was a special newspaperman, and made his living principally by his pen, and Mr. Hunter told him all through that he would be paid for his work. I have always written myself for the work's sake, and being independent of my pen, I did not mind, but I really thought that the gentlemen who lived by his pen had faithfully earned fifty dollars.

After leaving St. John's the Evangelists began a mission at Boston, and from there they continued their good work at different places in the lower provinces. Mr. Crossley is still engaged in the same calling, and I think that he has with him a son of his former companion. Mr. Crossley has also taken to himself a wife, so I have been told, and he being a good man before, he should certainly be twice as good now, as he has found his "better half."

Mr. Hunter is an invalid at his home in Toronto. Some six or seven years ago his health failed, and he has not been able to leave his home very often. He suffers from a sort of palsy. How strange indeed it seems. Here is a man who swayed hundreds of thousands of people in his day, and who from the Pacific to the Atlantic exerted a mighty influence, and now at the close of his career he is helpless and weak. But, then, this is not strange after all, for all things change and the leaders of one generation are but the reference books of another. Men have their day, and then their star sets, and others occupy the positions which they held. But the work that men do lives after them, and it is in this that they are best remembered. The good words spoken and the good deeds accomplished, and the kindly acts rendered, will leave to good men, a monument greater than fame and more enduring than granite, and so with these two Evangelists; their efforts for the good of the people will live when they have laid down their warfare; and in many a home and in many a circle will be mentioned with respect, honour, and love the names of Crossley and Hunter.

She Tried Them and Found Satisfaction.

WHAT MRS. MCKAY SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Gives the Real Reason Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Continue to Grow in Popularity as a Remedy.

Salt Springs, N.S. Feb. 21st. (Special)—"I have found satisfaction in using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I recommend them to all who suffer."

This is the statement of Mrs. Howard P. McKay, a well-known and highly-respected resident of this place. That statement goes straight to the point, even as Dodd's Kidney Pills go straight to the kidneys.

For Dodd's Kidney Pills are long past the experimental stage in Nova Scotia. For more than a quarter of a century they have been in use as a household remedy for kidney diseases and those other ills that come from sick kidneys.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have done just what Mrs. McKay says. They have given "satisfaction." They have been used to treat rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, dropsy, sore back, gravel, and other similar ills. That they continue to give satisfaction is evidenced by their ever-growing popularity.

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills, ask your neighbours about them.

Enjoyable Evening.

The Earnest Workers' Mission Band, under the leadership of Mrs. D. Johnston, President, held a very enjoyable tea and sociable last evening in the Presbyterian Hall. Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., presided. Those taking part in the concert were as follows: Duets by Misses Jessie Dick and Margaret Decker; Dorothy Jardine and Mary Johnston; Emily Jardine and Jean Johnston; and Jean Eadie and M. MacFarlane; recitations by Misses Olga Hatton and Grace Watson; Masters Raymond Duder and Andrew Lumsden; trio by Misses Glemie, Ayre and Johnston; instrumental solos, Misses M. Johnston and Edie Stewart; solo, Master Ralph Jardine; and several hymns. Mrs. Harvey Jardine acted as accompanist during the evening. Refreshments were afterwards served and all present spent a cheery evening.

an hostile power to be displayed in the ports and harbors of his dominions. We therefore require and direct you to cause the flag of his Imperial Majesty to be removed from the mastsheads and flagstuffs of the said ships as soon as they shall have come to anchor."

The question which is vexing the minds of seamen—both naval and mercantile—at the present moment is whether, on the signing of peace conditions, British ships are to be compelled to render the customary respect and salutes to the discredited and foully disgraced flag of Germany, "the devil's emblem" as it has truly been called. The general feeling among seamen is that the "pirate flag" of Germany should be forbidden to be displayed in any territorial waters of the British Empire until ample amends have been made for the outrages committed under its shelter.

There's No Luck in "Seconds."

The ex-Kaiser's full name is Frederick William Victor Albert, and it had been wise when he ascended the throne he would have styled himself Frederick William V, instead of William II, for a startling number of sovereigns who have been the second of their name seem to have been foredoomed to misfortune from the start.

In England Harold II. was slain at Hastings. William II. (Rufus) fell by an arrow sped by an unknown hand in the New Forest; while Edward II. and Richard II. were both deposed and murdered in prison. Charles II. spent twelve years in exile, and James II. was dethroned and died in France.

Kenneth II. of Scotland was murdered. James II. was killed by the bursting of a cannon. David II. was captured by the English, and the payment of his ransom ruined his country. Henry II. of France, was killed in a tournament, and Napoleon II. never reigned and died in exile.

Philip II. of Spain saw his "Invincible" Armada destroyed, and Isabel II. was dethroned. Frederick II. one of the greatest of the Emperors of Old Germany, died amidst ruin and disaster. Alexander II. of Russia was blown to pieces by nihilists, and Nicholas second, deposed and shot. In Turkey Bajazet II. and Abdul Hamid II. were dethroned, and the same fate befell Abbas II. Khedive of Egypt.

"Stick Like a Limpet."

Everyone is familiar with the phrase "To stick like a limpet," but how many know the limpet's method of sticking?

The creature is able by means of the central portion of its body, which can be raised independently of the edge or frill which surrounds it, to create a vacuum, much in the same way as a piece of soft wet leather can be made to adhere to a smooth surface by pressing out all the air.

Thus, the so-called "strength" of the limpet is largely due to atmospheric pressure. It is not entirely so, however, for if they are closely examined it will be seen that the shells accommodate themselves round the edges to the surface of the rock upon which the limpet is located, and if removed to another spot the edge of the shell will probably be found to be in a very bad fit, and the creature's power of adhesion somewhat lessened.

If taken by surprise with a smart sidelong blow, even a large limpet is easily enough dislodged, but, given the slightest warning, its power of suction is instantly brought into Real Cost of War.

London, Jan. 26.—The Great War has thus far cost the world the equivalent of $1,234,000,000,000.

One and a quarter trillions of dollars! These amazing figures are arrived at by the following estimates made by a Scotch statistician:

Official death roll, killed in war, both sides, 7,909,768.

Each dead man worth to society more than $1,000 when alive. Cash value of the dead, $8,000,000,000.

Estimated disease and injury death roll, 6,000,000. Including civilian "flu" victims. Cash value, $6,000,000,000.

Estimated war expenditures, total for all nations, $300,000,000,000.

Estimated property losses, $120,000,000,000.

Estimated loss to workers in peace industries, $200,000,000,000.

Estimated losses to peace-time business, $300,000,000,000.

Add $800,000,000,000 as the value of those who must starve to death this winter. Total, $1,234,000,000,000.

This estimate does not take into account any profits made in wartime industries.

Judicial Wit.

Humours of the Bench.

One of our witty judges lately, after hearing a lot of hard swearing on both sides, addressed the jury: "Gentlemen of the jury, if you believe the evidence tendered by witnesses called on behalf of plaintiff you will find for plaintiff. If you believe defendant's witnesses you will find for defendant. If, like myself, you believe neither, however, knows what your verdict will be."

An Irishman was up for stealing ducks. The evidence against him was overwhelming, yet witnesses testified on each other's heels to testify to his white and blameless life and his stainless character. "Gentlemen of the jury," the judge summed up, "I think you will agree with me that the prisoner stole the ducks, and that he is the most popular man in the country."

A Puzzle for the Jury.

Here is another summing up which is hard to beat for succinctness: "Gentlemen of the jury, in this case the counsel on both sides are unintelligible, the witnesses incredible, and the plaintiffs and defendants are both such bad characters that to me it is a matter of indifference how you give your verdict."

A Judge was trying a boy for stealing a pudding. He had eaten the pudding, but had been caught at the last mouthful. "Gentlemen," said the judge, "there's the boy and there's the pudding."

Goose and Gooseberry.

But occasionally the dock has a go. It was Ireland and the jury had been challenged. "We must challenge the judge," said the prisoner. "O'iv been convicted under him stral tomes, and maybe he's beginnin' to have a prejudice forminst me."

A boy was up before the magistrate for stealing gooseberries. The clerk was absent, so the magistrate had to look in an alphabetical law book to see what he ought to do. Presently he turned to the boy and said: "My lad, it's lucky for you it's gooseberries and not a goose. For a goose it's a month without the option, but I can't find any reference to gooseberries. You are discharged."

Wholesome and Economical

ONE of the most nutritious and sustaining foods is found in packages labeled, "McCormick's" Jersey Cream Sodas. These biscuits are also an economical war-time food and can be used in so many useful ways that a package or two should be kept always on hand.

McCormick's Biscuits and Candies

(Known and used in Canada for over 60 years) are made in an immense new plant, snow-white inside and out, where visitors are always welcome to inspect every process of manufacture. The more you know about McCormick's Products the more you enjoy them.
