CHAPTER XXXII.
"I never said I was devoted to Miss Murray's interests," mademoiselle says, candidly. "I do not even like Miss Murray; and I told you that I only wished to know the truth of that affair about the rings because she has told falsehoods about it to my friend, Lady Pentreath."
"Who is inclined to make a favorite of her, and so you want to get rid of her," Lady Nora rejoins, sneeringly. "By the bye, why on earth do you keep up that absurd French name? Your name is Glover—Bella Glover you were when you were Mrs. Vavasor's nursery governess."
"Simply because I prefer the French form of my name," Bella Glover answers, quietly; "and Lord and Lady Pentreath have expressed no disapproval at my continuing to call myself so."
"Oh, they know," Lady Nora questions, involuntarily betraying her surprise and disappointment at this news.
"Yes, of course they know," mademoiselle replies, smugly, drawing herself up and looking down at Lady Nora's brilliant little figure. "Did you think I would condescend to sail under false colors, Lady Nora? I am not afraid or ashamed of anything my friends may discover in my life," she adds, with a sorrowful smile; and Lady Nora winces perceptibly and turns away her head.
"I did not suggest that you were," she mutters, hastily. "You said you wished to see me. What is it? I must go."
"Or even poor Mr. Carter's long-suffering patience will be worn out!" mademoiselle breaks in, showing her teeth in a smile and looking at Lady Nora with an expression that makes her cover more and more—she has not much moral courage or loftiness, poor little woman—only the petty insolences of a pretty pampered creature, when she fancies it is safe to play them off.
"Your ladyship is going to reward him very fully, I trust, for all his waiting and enduring and trusting?" mademoiselle says, mockingly. "That was one of the things I had to say to you. Your friends here—the poor Dorners—have smashed up completely, and poor Yolande has got her beloved good-for-nothing back again, and so you are best out of it, Lady Nora. Mr. Carter's money is as good as theirs, even if it wasn't made in a very high-classed business," she laughs, maliciously. "Fancy quartering the three brass calls! But there's no use in being too particular. Lord Pentreath is most anxious you should marry Mr. Carter, or Mr. Anybody, who can keep you amply supplied with money, and take you out of the Glyné family for good and all. Ever since that business of the forged check, you see—Dear me, what a look! As if you did not know yesterday evening that I knew all about that pretty Cheltenham episode in your life!"
"You know nothing—you are only trying to discover something from Pentreath's vile, slanderous talk! He always hated me, that man, as much as I hated him!" Lady Nora gasps, plucking at the lace on her dress, and shivering with excitement, but flashing defiance still at her tormentor.
Isabelle Glover laughs, and goes on deliberately:
"Lord Pentreath, ever since then—" three years ago—has been apprehensive of your falling into somebody's hands less amenable to the persuasion of your tears and charms and humbug than poor Mr. Carter—rich Mr. Carter, I should say. By the way, Lady Pentreath is going to bring your son to his wife to-morrow evening."

"Lady Pentreath is going to bring Dallas back to his wife to-morrow evening?" Lady Nora echoes, frowning and incredulous. "What are they to live on, pray?"
"Oh, they will eke out an existence somehow—bread-and-cheese and kisses!" mademoiselle answers, cheerfully. "And take my advice, Lady Nora—don't you interfere by word or deed to prevent their coming together. Now poor Mr. Carter! Do think what a fortunate woman you are, with a rich lover waiting patiently for you in the next room, who is ready to be an indulgent, devoted husband any day you wish!"
"Nonsense!" Lady Nora says, curtly; but she sweeps across the wide room impatiently, with her trailing silks and lace-edged skirts twirling behind her, pulls back the portiere and opens one of the folding doors, passes through, and shuts it behind her with an angry crash, but not before Isabelle Glover's quick ears have caught the sound of an ardent ejaculation of welcome from the patient lover, sitting wearily waiting so long—an ardent ejaculation, with an aspirate fastened on like a burr.
"Lady Nora—my angel!"

CHAPTER XXXIII.
"I feel," Miss Glover says to herself, as she goes softly upstairs, "exactly like the virtuous character in the play. I am going about adjusting wrongs and awarding rights, punishing the evil and rewarding the good. I really believe that, when everything is comfortably arranged and I have every obstacle removed out of my path, I shall grow quite pious. It is easy to be pious when everything is going smooth with you. As Bunyan says, 'People like to walk with Religion when he goes in his silver slippers.' Yes," the astute young woman murmurs softly, glancing at herself and her tall, elegantly robed figure in a full-length mirror in one of the rooms she passes, "I shall certainly study the role more and more. And I shan't call myself a hypocrite either for doing it. It is only a careful observance of certain forms, so far as I see."
She is a little dubious on this last point, and temporizes with herself.

CUTICURA HEALS SKIN TROUBLE
Eruption On Face, Itched and Burned, Lost Rest.
"A small, sore eruption broke out on the side of my face and kept spreading until it was the size of a quarter. It was rough and scaly, and at times I was most crazy with the itching and burning. I lost my rest at night, and my face was terrible to see."
"I tried different remedies without any benefit. A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Eleanor Beckman, Springdale, Mont., Jan. 19, 1922.
Rely on Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to care for your skin.
Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. 500, P.O. Box 561, Lowell, Mass. Cuticura Soap shaves without soap.

"At all events, I am quite determined that by and by I'll perform every duty scrupulously, and be very charitable, and very kind and gracious, and all that sort of thing, and be perfectly faultless in word, so that the most censorious old maid can't find a flaw in my conduct; and that will be doing good to every one and harm to no one, which is religiousness, so far as it goes."
And then she recalls certain ruthless and unholly deeds of her sin in the past, and thinks of certain ruthless and unholly deeds in the future before she can reach the peaceful "by and by" to which she looks forward as a season of grace and goodness. There are several prostrate pecks, metaphorically speaking, beneath Miss Glover's merciless heels. There is one—the fairest of all—Joyce Murray—to be trodden under foot yet.
"An aristocratic adventuress—she is nothing better—answering for a married man's coronet!" the virtuous Isabelle mutters, setting her teeth close. "A false, treacherous flirt, an avaricious, sordid creature, for all her blue eyes and yellow hair and patriotic graces! I'll thwart her schemes—winding my lord, the earl, round her little finger as she is doing lately, and worming her way into the countess' kindness and forgiveness, because she knows her cards are numbered as well as I do! Ay, I'll thwart my quite-too-charming Joyce and demolish her plots and plans if I have to ruin myself to do it!"

Protect Garden Plants From Cold.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 18. (A.P.)—Put a damp, warm air jacket on your garden plants if you want to protect them from frost this autumn. That is the advice of Alexander McArdie, director of the Blue Hill Observatory, who speaks as one with authority on the subject because of his success in aiding orange growers in California to keep their crops from freezing.
"Your grandmother probably loved flowers and took good care of them," said Director McArdie, who also is professor of meteorology at Harvard. "She had the right idea, when the crisp early fall nights came round, of protecting the flowers from frost by wrapping newspapers around them carefully pinning the paper so that there would be no gaps and wide-open places. In this way her plants would keep their blooms until October."
"But grandma did not know it all; we think we know a little more than the old lady did. We now wrap the newspaper around the plant just as before, but after pinning it tightly we twist another sheet of paper into something like a rope about an inch thick and pin it in place. We then take a third sheet and wrap it round just as was done the first sheet. We now have an air space about an inch thick between the two wrappings and this air jacket prevents loss of heat. It is an excellent heat insulator. We have practically bottled up the inside hot air around the plant, and if this is done about three o'clock in the afternoon it is almost as effective as keeping a small stove near the plant. Also we should sprinkle the plant and the ground with water, sprinkle it well, before we wrap the papers around it."
"With most flowers and small fruits the temperature has to fall four or five degrees below the freezing point and remain there for several hours before damage is done. Plants can be cooled to a point below freezing and yet if gradually warmed up, not injured."
"So water the plants freely, cover them lightly, put an air jacket on them and after uncovering the next morning sprinkle again with water that is rather cold. Don't use hot water. And shade the plants from the sun for several hours."
"Of course for garden truck, larger gardens and orchards, where the protection of the crop is a commercial problem, it is more practical to cover with light weight cloth or use orchard heaters, oil pots, etc. Besides heating, the smoke serves as a screen or cover."
Mussolini Imperialist.
Le Spiegl: Imperialism raises its head in Europe at different times. There was a day when Charlemagne practised it in the name of civilization. He was excused in advance in the eyes of posterity by the noble ends at which he aimed. He spread the new light among the barbarians of newly-born Europe. Later, much later, Charles Quint hoped to dominate the kingdoms which surrounded him. Prussia also had its turn. Then Russia inherited the pretensions of its predecessors. To-day, when so many crowns have fallen, when the thrones of Austria, Germany and Russia have crumbled, it is possible that Imperialism has returned to its original point of departure, in that Rome which was for so long the head of the universe has never completely abdicated its pretensions. Mussolini, enthusiastic, pugacious, energetic, and with an almost brutal determination, is probably the one Italian who, of all his forerunners in the centuries, is the true incarnation of the soul of the ancient Roman race.
Film Brains.
I have seen Rodolph Valentino on the films, and I admit that he was good in "The Four Horsemen," but he has ridden rather a high horse lately in severing his connection with his old company because they did not provide him with good enough films. Like others before him, he does not want to remain a popular idol simply on account of his good looks. He wishes to show that he has other stuff to deliver, as well. (That, I think, is the correct film expression.)
It is well known that Charlie Chaplin is a great admirer of Shakespeare and a keen student of his works.
In support of his contention that film companies have ways that are queer, Valentino tells this story. He was cast in Elinor Glyn's tale, "Beyond the Rocks," for the part of an English lord.
"But I am a Latin," he protested.
"A Latin—absolutely! I could never be an English lord."
"Never mind," replied the director. "For the picture we'll give you a French mother!"

Meeting of British and French Prime Ministers Leads to a Letter Understanding.

Japan to Raise a Billion Dollar Loan for Reconstruction—American Warships Collide—D. H. McDougall Resigns Vice Presidency of B. E. S. Corporation—Cosgrave Re-elected President of Dail.

REFERENCE FURNISHED

NO SOLUTION.
PARIS, Sept. 19.—The meeting of the Prime Ministers of France and Great Britain took place this afternoon, presumably upon the invitation of the French. Their conversation ended at four o'clock when they separated, after which an official communication was given to the press stating that the outcome of the Premier Conference could not be expected to furnish any solution to the difficulties confronting the two nations, and that no report of their deliberations was to be made public.

HOPE FROM BALDWIN'S VISIT.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, of Great Britain, who has been visiting France, had a private conference with Premier Poincare to-day at the French Embassy. It is announced in an official communication that while the solution of any question is expected from the brief meeting, it was happily discovered there was "no divergence of purpose or divergence of principle" between the two Governments. Mr. Baldwin is remaining in Paris until Friday at least, and perhaps longer. This is taken as an indication that the conversations will be continued, and the hope is expressed that the French circles that they will be fruitful in creating a feeling favorable to complete accord. It is a strong expectation that the two Governments will agree, and that France and Great Britain being in full accord, the principles involved, will find a way of putting settlement details on a basis which will prevent further discussion.

D. H. McDUGALL RESIGNS FROM BESCO.

SYDNEY, Sept. 19.—Colonel D. H. McDougall has resigned as Vice-President of the British Empire Steel Corporation. Mr. McDougall has been associated with the company now forming the Corporation for the past twenty years. He has filled the positions of Superintendent of the Wabana ore mines, general manager of the Dominion Coal Company, general manager of the Dominion Steel Corporation, President of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and Vice-President of the British Empire Steel Corporation. For some time he has been in charge of the Corporation's operations in Cape Breton. It is understood that Mr. McDougall intends to take a short vacation before devoting his time to private interests.

COSGRAVE RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—William T. Cosgrave was re-elected by Dail to-day as President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State. Professor Michael Hayes was elected Speaker of Dail. A group of women staged a demonstration outside of parliament where Dail sat. They carried banners demanding the release of the Republicans held prisoners by the Free State and announcing that Dan Breen is dying.

BRITAIN NOT SYMPATHETIC.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The British reply to Secretary Hughes' proposal for a reciprocal agreement on the question of liquor smuggling at sea, was received at the State Department to-day and was described by officials as "in general not sympathetic." The British government, however, is to present the question to the British Imperial Conference which meets in London next month.

BIG JAP LOAN PROPOSED.
TOKIO, Sept. 19.—It is reported the Japanese Government proposes to float a billion dollar loan to finance reconstruction.

VISITS HIS NEIGHBOUR.
HIGH RIVER, Alta, Sept. 19.—Lord Fenwick made his first formal call on Wednesday morning on the neighbouring rancher, Lord Minto, who also owns ranches in the district west of High River, to find out how the crop is panning out there.

WARSHIPS COLLIDE—ONE KILLED.
POSTON, Sept. 19.—One man was killed and several injured when the United States destroyer McFarland was rammed by the battleship Arkansas in manoeuvres near the eastern entrance to Cape Cod Canal to-day.

CANADA'S NEW LOAN.
OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—The Finance Department this evening announced the sale of fifty million dollars five per cent. bonds, twenty years, to meet maturing obligations. The issue is to the Canadian, with principal and interest payable in Canada. The purchasers are a Canadian syndicate.

BEHRING SEACOAST STORM.
NOME, Alaska, Sept. 19.—Raging seas are sweeping Behring seacoast for a distance of one hundred miles eastward and westward of Nome. Grave fears are felt for the safety of the schooners Sea Wolf, Silver Wave, Teddy Bear, and Nokaiak, which are more than a week overdue at Nome from ports to the westward.

PLANS FOR AMUNDSEN'S FLIGHT COMPLETE.
SEATTLE, Sept. 19.—H. H. Hammer, American representative of Captain Ronald Amundsen, arrived here last night from Norway, and met his chief, who has returned from Wainwright, Alaska. Mr. Hammer assured Captain Amundsen that all preparations were completed for the latter to fly over the North Pole next summer, the course to be from Spitzbergen to Alaska. Mr. Hammer was in Spitzbergen this summer to arrange for the flight from Wainwright over the Pole, which Captain Amundsen was forced to abandon owing to an accident to his plane.

DOWN ON THEIR UPPERS.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Thirty-nine, gentlemen adventurers, who arrived here on August 25th, on board the yacht Frontiersman, in a trail-blazing voyage in the interests of a British airplane flight around the world next year, to-day were said to face the possibility of becoming "long-shoremen at Los Angeles harbor. The yacht has been seized by Federal officers for a violation of the liquor laws and libelled by commercial firms twice for alleged debts, and the ship's surgeon has been stricken with malaria. Many of the men, who resigned all kinds of positions for the adventure of the voyage, are war heroes and never have worked as longshoremen, but they are said to consider that work in the near future.

TERRA NOVA COUNCIL OFFICERS.
The election of officers of Terra Nova Council No. 1452, was held at the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 18th; the following being elected for the ensuing term: Grand Knight—John F. Meehan, Deputy Grand Knight—J. G. Higgins, B.A. Chancellor—James Bindon. Recorder—Thos. J. Dalton. Financial Secretary—John A. Sage. Treasurer—M. F. Caul. Advocate—T. Scanlon McGrath. Warden—Wm. J. Ashley. Inside Guard—Cornelius Glyn. Outside Guards—M. F. Hackett, J. P. Taate. Trustees—E. T. Furlong, J. J. Sinnott, Peter O'Mara.

Styles Change in the Movies as Elsewhere.

Movies styles must be changed just the same as the fashion in clothes. Sheik plots, stories of the great outdoors and films depicting a burdened old mother have about run their course for a time at least. And now comes the vampire back into her own just the same as mother will return when the cycle goes around.

The screen vampire has been under cover for the past five years. William Fox discovered her, and William Fox put her back on the shelf. No American producer or actress has been brave enough during that period to venture forth in a film that touched upon the seduction of the male by the female. But the bars are down now.

The cry for something different on the silver sheet is responsible for the good- or the bad, as you choose—old days. "A Fool There Was" was the first film that identified the vampire as an established figure on the screen. William Fox has made a revised edition of it with an all-star cast. It is to be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre to-day and is expected to bring the vampire leading woman back to her pedestal once more.

Estelle Taylor, a beautiful brunette, with wonderful eyes and a mass of black hair, is the lady who will do the luring. A comparatively newcomer to the screen, Miss Taylor has shown capabilities in "When New York Sleeps," "Blind Wives" and "Monte Cristo" to fully entitle her to the honors that are sure to come with the role.

Channel Isles to Aid Britain.
GUERNSEY AND JERSEY ADVISED TO CONTRIBUTE £375,000.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The committee appointed by the States of Guernsey and Jersey, Channel Islands, to consider and report upon the request made some time ago by the British Government for an annual contribution to the Imperial Exchequer recommends that in view of the Islands' right by grant and usage to be free of taxation imposed without the consent of the States they must refuse to make such annual contribution as asked for, but the State should offer the Imperial Government a contribution of £375,000 in fifteen annual payments, £25,000 of which should go towards the war pensions paid to the ex-service men of the Channel Islands and the dependents of the men who fell in the war.

In February last the Imperial Government adopted a recommendation made by the Geddes Economy Committee with regard to financial help from the Channel Islands and suggested that Guernsey should make a grant of £275,000 and Jersey £25,000. It was pointed out at the time that apart from £100,000 which Great Britain had received from each of the Islands, as a war contribution, Britain had borne the full burden of the Imperial services from which the people of the Channel Islands had benefited equally with the people of the United Kingdom.

GUERNSEY AND JERSEY ADVISED TO CONTRIBUTE £375,000.

Tales Worth Telling.

GOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS PEOPLE.

Jerome K. Jerome, one of the mild-mannered of men, once found fault with a railway-station-buffet pork pie, the outside of which was hard as stone and the inside green and mouldy. The barmaid, to whom the complaint was addressed in the first instance, sent for the manager.

Bustling up importantly, that worthy began by saying:

"This young lady sends me word that you are making complaints about the quality of the pork pies sold here. Let me tell you that these pies are made under my personal supervision, and let me tell you, too, sir, that I made pork pies before you were born or thought of."

"Yes," countered Jerome quietly, "and this is one of them."

Writing in "Celebrities" Mr. Coulson Kernahan tells a good tale recounted to him by Ian MacLaren, author of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush."

"My schoolboy son," said Ian MacLaren, "had vainly been trying to read some of my books, and in a confidential mood remarked: 'I say, father, why don't you write a proper book—one of those Jack Harkaway stories, or something of that sort, and not so much Scotch rot?'"

Many people find Browning's poetry obscure and difficult to understand. Others pretend—only pretend, mind—that it is just the reverse.

One of these latter remarked that only very dense folk brought against Browning the charge of obscurity; and that, speaking for himself, he had never read a line of Browning's that he found any difficulty in understanding.

His host took down a volume of Browning from the shelf, turned to a page, the meaning of which could hardly be said to leap to the eye, and read it backwards, starting at the end and reading line by line.

The rhymes, of course, remained and appeared the one to follow the other in appointed order; and the reader, an eloquent and accomplished elocutionist, did his best to make what was obviously nonsense sound, at least, as if it were sense.

When he had ended, he inquired: "Is the meaning of that quite plain to you?"

"Quite plain," was the reply. "From the beginning to the stately end, like the unchecked march to its destination of an irresistible army, I never had a moment's doubt about what the master had in his mind when he thus wrote!"

Another story on somewhat similar lines concerns a man who attended a meeting of the Browning Society. He arrived late, and when he took his seat someone was giving a reading, which the newcomer frequently interrupted by applause, and by exclaiming audibly "Exquisite!" "Incomparable!" and the like.

"May I ask you, sir," said the reader, "not to interrupt?"

"I am sorry," was the reply, "but at a meeting of the Browning Society a member should surely be permitted to express his admiration of the master's work."

"The meeting of the Browning Society," was the answer, "is being held in a house on the opposite side of the road. This happens to be a drawing-room meeting of those interested in Chinese missions, and as a friend present expressed a wish to hear what Chinese sounded like, I was just then reading a passage in that language."

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

WE LIKT TO BE FOOLED.

There is a certain fellow of He did not. (Did he offer to abate their intemperance?)
No. Utterly Motive Of Course!
Yes, I know lots of people are waiting to "hull" because they think prices are going down. But I don't see any use in waiting, for our builder told me that he knew they would not drop for several years, and being in the business he certainly ought to know it anyone does."
"Yes, I think it has a sweet tone. The salesman told me we were very lucky. We didn't pay as much as you have to for some of the high priced pianos but this particular piano has a better tone than lots of the high priced ones."
"The golf teacher says that I ought not to think of giving up golf. He says everyone gets discouraged at times but that I have a very fine stance and that he thinks I am going to make a natural golf player."
"But," objects someone, "have you no faith in human nature? Don't you believe that any of these things could be said honestly?"
Oh, yes, my friend, I know they are sometimes said honestly. Just as well as you know that there sometimes is a very warm day in December, or a very cold day in June, or that there are children who mind the first time they are spoken to, and men who admit they are wrong, and women who can pitch a good baseball.
But I also know what the chances are. And I know what the listener's reaction is.
Credit the pleasant thing if you want to, get all the joy you can out of it (provided you don't make it the basis of a city of the budges and the house) but be selfish about it and keep it to yourself. It's much the safer way.

There are some of the common examples:
"Is Unusually Good Engine?"
"The man who sold me the car said as he thought we had an unusually good engine."
"Did you ever know anyone who can't get an unusually good one?"
"I did, just one man. I am thinking of sending his name to the list of fame."
"I was thinking of not having Ruth Emily go to dancing school next year. There are so many expenses and I thought I might let them skip a year of the dancing teacher told me they were such exceptional pupils, almost naturally natural dancers in the class."
"He thought it would be a shame to have them keep right on. He would miss them terribly because they set such a good example in the class, so I guess I must let them go."

YOUNG BLOOD.
My shanty is full of my nieces, a youthful and jubilant throng; they're here with their trunks and valises, they're here with their laughter and song. They giggle and they yell, in the twilight, they chortle and scream on the screen, they've broken the glass in the night, they've foundered the best of my chairs. They're rooting around in the attic, they're looting around on the lawn; it's hard on an uncle rheumatic—but I will be sad when they're gone. As uncles grow older and older a moth-eaten look they acquire; they're prone to get musty and molder, while brooding away by the fire. They always are groaning and sighing, and rubbing their tendons with oils, their talk is of sickness and dying, of bunions and bitters and bolus. Their talk is of unctuous greases supposed to be good for an ache; and then come tempestuous nieces, who jar the old uncles awake. The shanty is noisy with laughter, the damsel are merry in sooth, and window and girder and rafter vibrate to the antics of youth. By say-hearted nieces surrounded, I list to their program of joys, and I am surprised and astounded to find that I relish the noise.

Household Notes.
If there are any muffins left over from supper they can be split, toasted and buttered for breakfast.
Small jelly glasses should be filled with a pitcher to prevent the hot jelly from spilling over the edges.
Gingerbread is of "plumstudded" goodness when a cupful of chopped prunes is added to the batter.
The rattle of those door knob is annoying. Replace the old screws with slightly larger new ones.

Just Folks.
By EDGAR A. GUEST.

LITTLE BY LITTLE.
Little by little the lesson's learned,
Little by little the oak tree grows,
Little by little the field is turned,
Battles are won by the little blows.
So be you patient and work and wait,
Little by little all things grow great.

Dream you not of the single stroke
That shall bring you glory and wealth and fame;
All things must carry Time's heavy
aroke.
Little by little the forests came,
You must grow as the tree to the goal desired.
Little by little is skill acquired.
By by day through the ages long
Time has waited for better things,
Waited through centuries red with wrong
And the seeming triumphs of mighty kings.
But little by little, as men cut stone,
Kinder and wiser the world has grown.

Little by little all things are done,
Little by little the building's made,
So stand you fast to the task begun,
And be you dauntless and unafraid:
Work and wait for the goal in view,
Little by little all dreams come true.

Bricks by the Billion.
How the Modern Article is Made.
Among many suggestions put forward to help speed-up building operations is one that bricks should be made of a larger size.
It is pointed out that it would take very little more time to lay bricks which were, say, half an inch larger than the usual type, and consequently much more ground would be covered in any given time.
That may be so, but a great amount of trouble would arise in other directions. All the architects and builders' calculation tables would need revision—an immense task—and so would the many building acts now in force, which are based on the "standard" size brick. Further, almost the whole of the brick-making machinery is fashioned for the production of bricks of the regulation size.
The "standard" size for a brick is nine by four-and-a-half by three inches. These measurements are based on an Act passed in the reign of George III., when bricks were the subject of a tax.
To lessen the amount of tax to be paid, the brick-makers conceived the idea of making larger bricks, so that a smaller number would be used. Although the tax was removed in the time of Queen Victoria, the standard has remained in use.
Modern brick-making is carried on almost entirely by machinery and is a result the average brick-maker now produces over 40,000 per day compared with 8,000 bricks per day under the old conditions.
In the process of manufacture, the brick-clay is first ground to powder, passed through screens, and thence to the making-machine, which applies a measure of over 100 tons, all over. The pressed bricks are then passed into a kiln, where they remain for about three weeks in a temperature of about 1,100 degrees below zero.
The average kiln is little in various places, and one particular brick can produce the finished articles in a space of eight days.
The sales of bricks has fallen considerably during the last two years, and about 100,000,000 which were formerly sold in 1921, can now be obtained for 85 per cent. of the former price.
An idea as to the cost of some of our large public and business buildings, was recently obtained by the method of a report from the fact that one particular building requires as many as a million bricks.
In the bottom of a standard kiln there are a number of standard bricks, and a half an inch of space between them, with a crust of herbs and some cold.

Mistakes We Make.
What a lot of mistakes we make in our everyday conversation!
For instance, we talk of dishonest grocers "sanding" their sugar. Surely sand is the very last thing a grocer would use to make his sugar go farther. Of all adulterants, it is quite the easiest to detect, and the most impossible to dissolve or masticate. Indeed, the poor grocer has a lot laid to his door. He is even credited with watering the masticated spirit, regardless of the fact that it would not burn if appreciably diluted.
We often talk of the "boilers blowing up" when a vessel founders. Now the boilers do not explode; indeed, they are less likely to burst surrounded by water, and thus receiving pressure from outside, than when exposed to the air and subject to the full force of the usual internal pressure caused by the expansion of the steam.
What really occurs is that the furnaces are flooded when a ship sinks, thus causing a sudden rush of steam—call it an explosion of steam—and what this may mean can best be realized by comparison with the common or household grate when the kettle boils over. Imagine this on a gigantic scale, and some conception can be formed of the force exerted and the terrific explosion resulting.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feeling on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer." Mrs. EDNA S. SAMPSON, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial? This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Tots Love Toys.

Choose Your Children's Playthings
Watching the children playing with their toys, one dreams—what will they become? The little child sitting in a corner, snarling when another child touches his blocks—the little girl running with a smile to share her dolls and her sweets with everyone—miser—philanthropist?

Few mothers and nurses have any idea of the importance of toys in a child's life, and how his attitude towards them in baby days will determine his attitude to the other toys of which his life will be comprised when he grows older. The toy is literally part of a child's self; when he loses it, or when it is confiscated for some naughtiness, or given away without his permission to another child, he suffers an agony of loss only comparable to the loss of a beloved person by an adult.

Quite often psychologists have found that the fear of death is traceable to some loss of a loved object in babyhood. A boy's box of blocks, his tin soldiers, are really parts of his life. If he loses them and is not consoled he will suffer from apprehensions of similar or worse losses in the future. It is a mistake to encourage a child to be too much attached to his playthings or to punish him for breaking or losing them. He will set an undue value on possessions and probably cause himself terrible pain in after life by "laying up treasure" and being tortured by the impermanence of treasure.

Some of the modern toys are excellent; play wax and plasticine cannot be too highly commended; they encourage his creative instinct, and give him something that he can mould and make. The child who is taught to make things will soon be wiser than the average child's pleasure in breaking. Plasticine, painting, straw plaiting, the construction of cardboard and paper models are all excellent. They take a child out of himself and save him from being "spoiled."

One wonders what effect the golliwogs and other nursery monstrosities of today will have on children? Will they change their ideas of beauty? Will the little girls brought up on golliwogs be different from those of a past generation who were taught to love the flaxen-haired blue-eyed dolls from Germany.

The Last Resort.

Here's a good story told by Miss Berta Ruck, the famous woman novelist. It concerns two sailors, who, being detailed for special duty away from their ship, were making out a list of ration for the party to take with them.
"Two pounds semolina," said the first to the other, who was making out the list of a piece of paper.
"Semol—semol—two, let's ave taploca," was the reply. "Ow d'you spell that?"
"Why, t-a-b-b, no, t-a-p-o-o-k. Well, look 'ere, put down rice."
"Right you are, matey," said the scribe, "two pounds r-i-s-e."

Phrases We All Use.

THE ORIGIN OF COMMON EXPRESSIONS.
Cookery is responsible for many phrases we all use, such as "I settled his hash," "That cooked his goose," "He got into an awful stew," "I gave him a pretty roasting," and "He was done brown."
It is said that when Eric, King of Sweden, attacked a town with a mere handful of soldiers, the citizens in derision hung out a goose for them to shoot at. But finding that the affair was no joke they sent heralds to ask Eric what he really wanted. The King replied facetiously: "What I want is to cook your goose."
The question: "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" comes from an old play called "Speed the Plough." Farmer Ashfield gets so disgusted with his wife's constant references to Mrs. Grundy, a neighbour, that he breaks out: "Be quiet, wool ye! Allus dinging Dame Grundy into my ears! What'll Mrs. Grundy say? What'll Mrs. Grundy think?"
The farmer's words have passed into common speech, and the mythical Mrs. Grundy has become the censor of morals and the impersonation of prudishness.
"Dame Partington's Mop." The saying, "Like Dame Partington and her mop," is not heard very often nowadays. In November, 1824, a heavy gale drove a high tide into the seaside cottage of a Mrs. Partington, who lived at Sidmouth. When she saw the

The C. H. E. Examinations.

IS THE BACKWARD PUPIL SACRIFICED?

With the complete results of the Council of Higher Education Examinations received, it is possible to make some interesting comparisons and to arrive at certain definite conclusions.

In the Senior Associate Examination, 66 per cent. of the candidates obtained their certificates. In the London Matriculation in 1922, the percentage of passes was about 35.

In the Junior A.A. the percentage of passes was 50, and in the Intermediate 60. In the latest results of the Oxford and Cambridge Locals, which correspond to the Junior A.A. and Intermediate, the percentage of passes was 50, so that again we do not show to disadvantage by comparison.

In the C.H.E. Examinations the requirements for a pass are more severe than they are in the O and C Locals. For example our Intermediate candidates must pass in English (2 papers) and in Arithmetic.

Further evidence of the general high state of proficiency of our students, and of the excellent selection of subjects in which they have been instructed is furnished by the McGill, Dalhousie and other university authorities who refer in the highest terms to those who have continued their studies in those institutions.

Another point is worth calling attention to. In the lowest grade of all, the Primary, the percentage of passes is 72. This cannot but be considered an excellent result, when it is remembered that these pupils have not been drilled in the various ways and means of cramming for examinations, nor taught how to "put one over" on the examiners, if such a thing is possible.

One point more for those who have not already wearied in wading through the information given above. Attention has been called to the fact that but 4 received honours in the Senior A.A., and but 8 per cent. in the Intermediate. In the same criticism it was stated that under the competitive examination system the backward pupils were bound to be neglected.

We have not discussed this subject with the intention of giving our support in toto to the examination system, but in order to dissipate certain erroneous ideas that appear to exist with regard to it.

As to their effect upon the latitude of the teacher, the strain imposed upon the student, and the manner in which the Examinations interfere with the full participation in all the advantages that should be part and parcel of school life, we shall refer to that side of the question at a later date.

Dedication of the Memorial Reredos.

To-morrow at 11 a.m. a service will be held in the Anglican Cathedral to dedicate the Reredos, which was recently imported from England. This magnificent piece of work, a description of which has already appeared in the Telegram, has been erected to the memory of the late Bishop Jones, and replaces the alabaster reredos which was destroyed in the '92 fire.

Park Concerts.

A band concert, held last night in Bannerman Park in aid of the Child Welfare, was largely attended. The Mount Cashel Band provided the music and rendered some excellent selections. The regular weekly concert takes place this evening.

HIS MAJESTY TO THE RESCUE. Three motorists, Dr. and Mrs. Young, of London, and another lady, who had come to grief through a motor-car accident on the Cairnwell Road, Perthshire, had an experience of the King's well-known kindly consideration for others.

One point more for those who have not already wearied in wading through the information given above. Attention has been called to the fact that but 4 received honours in the Senior A.A., and but 8 per cent. in the Intermediate. In the same criticism it was stated that under the competitive examination system the backward pupils were bound to be neglected.

West End Members Not Consulted.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—As a number of the unemployed in St. John's West, understand that the contract for work on the Kenmount Road was awarded by the representatives of the district, we wish to state that the contract was awarded to the contractors without our knowledge, and that we were not consulted in any way concerning same.

Roxburgh Docked for Repairs.

Police Court.

Two sailors who were disorderly whilst drunk had to pay a fine of $2 each before being released.

A 17-year-old boy resident of Bannerman Street was given a three months term in the penitentiary for larceny. The lad who was only recently released from prison, stole a cash box containing $10 from a store on Monkstown Road on Tuesday last.

A married resident of Beaumont Street who was found $100 several weeks ago for keeping a disorderly house was with another woman and a male companion fined $5 each for being drunk and disorderly. A number of residents of Beaumont Street were called as witnesses. They described the behaviour of the two women as a disgrace to the street.

New Coal Seam Discovered.

A long sought coal seam of great promise has been discovered on the St. Georges Coal Fields property, according to a message received this forenoon by Mr. T. J. Freeman. The new seam which was located whilst removing a landslide to uncover a small coal seam occurs on the right bank of the Barachois River about 1500 feet above the old Murray seam. The new discovery has a thickness of 8 feet and this together with the old Murray of 1878 carrying 2-6 feet of clean coal adds considerable to the width of the St. Georges Coal trough.

ONE KILLED AND SIXTEEN INJURED IN COLLISION OF WARSHIP. BOSTON, Sept. 20.

Spencer William Brown, seaman, was killed and sixteen other members of McFarland's crew were injured but none dangerously, when the United States destroyer McFarland was rammed by the battleship Arkansas in manoeuvres near the Eastern entrance of Cape Cod Canal yesterday. The crash occurred at four o'clock in the morning, when McFarland was moving slowly with a riding light on. The battleship struck her in the bow smashing the forepeak of the destroyer and causing her oil tanks to explode. The oil flooded the sleeping quarters of the crew and Brown was drowned in oil as he slept. Firemen Shack and Smith were hailed heroes on the destroyer for saving at least six lives by going into the well of oil in the flooded forepeak and each time bringing out a man.

In Paris. There is no doubt that we are faced with a situation of unemployment, which in the past few months has reached a point where the families are the victims of their ill luck.

The aim should be enough of work to be entered to one crew, and for this purpose should be large corporations of their reserves. Possible schemes should be considered.

In some sections of the city, the winter is dreaded before. Hundreds yearn for a desperate plight in the near future has been their families.

In the city the labour is distracted by the approaching hungry winter, and their own government will be able to allow them to procure work which is procurable during months.

To tackle the problem conscientiously, a committee or committee of all political parties, impossible a committee could be appointed to work under the competent head. This commission would be responsible for the full of their undertakings.

TO ensure a proper conscientious supervision of same a "check progress" fund would be published.

TOURISTS Spend Lots in. Quebec, Sept. 20. The amount of money spent in this city by tourists from Quebec Automobile Club, from the 1st of September to the 15th, is estimated at the office of the average of four per cent. It is estimated that at least 100,000 tourists come to the city by the number there were during the period of 15 days.

In Passing.

There is no disguising the fact that we are faced with another winter of unemployment. Already hundreds of men who earned very little during the past few months are in very distressed circumstances while their families are the principal sufferers from their ill luck and misfortune.

During the months of what was supposed to be summer such circumstances were not so apparent as now serious but now that the adverse weather conditions cause increased expenses a great deal heavier and more acute than in the past. The most requirement of all is work, not doles, but honest labour; not charity but the chance to earn a living by the energy of body and brain; work that will when completed be an advantage to the state as well as to those employed.

The aim should be to provide enough of work to ground and not restricted to one crowd through one measure and for this purpose strong pressure should be exerted upon large corporations to release a portion of their reserves and put in hand some scheme of reconstruction.

If half the money spent on doles had been put to work in the past, the unemployed would have been provided with the means to support themselves. In writing these notes it must be remembered we are not contending ourselves solely to condition as we see them in the city but have in mind the true state of affairs in the outlying districts which will feel the pinch consequent upon no job, poor pay and unemployment far worse than that manifested itself in St. John's.

In some sections of Conception Bay and Northern districts, the coming winter is dreaded as it never was before. Hundreds yes, thousands are in a desperate plight wondering what the near future has in store for them and their families.

In the city the laborer and mechanic is distracted by the thought of an approaching hungry and restless winter, and their only hope is that the government will take proper steps to allow them to engage in profitable work which is not so easily procurable during the mid-winter months.

With this purpose in view, we refer to the railway and dock works, the paving and grading several of the principal streets in the city. All possible assistance should be given to the new building service in order that the employes be encouraged to give out a portion of the work which is necessary and which otherwise will not be available till next spring or summer.

In dealing with the unemployment problem committed under the same old fall and winter. One Road-department is sufficient and some of the other contracts are more than sufficient.

To tackle the problem seriously and conscientiously a competent committee or commission independent of all political parties, or if this is impossible a committee should be appointed to take charge of the work under the supervision of a competent head. This supervisor and committee would be directly responsible for the failure or success of their undertakings to the Government.

To ensure a proper and efficient supervision of same a report of each week's progress should be published every Monday in the daily newspapers so that the public would be informed and last but not least satisfied with the results. In 1922 and 1923, would he result of an honest endeavor to meet those who are depending upon the results of their daily labour.

We must profit by the experience of the past. We must have immediate action if we are to expect satisfactory results.

Tourists Spend Lots in Quebec.

Quebec, Sept. 10.—A conservative estimate of the amount of money spent in this city by tourists, just made by the Quebec Automobile Club, reaches $1,750. From the beginning of May to the first of September 15,000 tourists had called for information at the offices of the club. Taking an average of four people to each car, it meant that at least 40,000 people had come to the city by automobile. Of this number there were three thousand paying parties of 15,000 people.

Wedding Bells.

WHITE-BROWN.

The marriage of Mr. Bertram Brown and the Miss Nellie White, daughter of the late John White (Portmaster at Twillingate) took place at St. Thomas's Church, Tuesday, in the presence of a large circle of friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, Rev. E. G. Earp. The bride, who was attended by Miss Miss Brown, the daughter of Mr. John Brown, port pilot, looked charming in a tailored costume of navy blue, with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaid was also attired in a blue costume with hat to match. Mr. Alfred Brown, father of the groom, acted as father of the bride. Mr. Wilfred Brown was best man. Following the ceremony the wedding party took a motor drive countrywards, returning to the home of the groom, Belvedere Street, where a reception was held, and at which the health of the newly wedded couple was duly honored. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their future home at Quill West Road. To the happy couple the Telegram extends felicitations.

FITZPATRICK-CASHIN.

The wedding of Miss Eugenie, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Thomas and the late Capt. Fitzpatrick, and Major Peter J. Cashin, son of Sir M. P. and Lady Cashin was solemnized at the Oratory of the Convent of Mercy, Military Road, at noon to-day. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, V.G., assisted by Rev. Joseph Connors, cousin of the bride. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Bernard A. Norris, whilst Mr. L. V. Cashin, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. C. J. Cahill performed the duties of father of the groom. The wedding ceremony was very quiet, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. Following the ceremony the newly married couple left by auto for Holywood, where they join to-day's evening, express. The honeymoon will be spent in visiting interesting points on the West Coast.

Obituary.

MRS. SARAH COFFIN.

The angel of death visited the home of Mr. Henry Coffin at midnight Tuesday and claimed for its own a most devoted wife and mother. Mrs. Coffin had been ill about two weeks of pneumonia, but complications setting in she passed peacefully away at the above hour. To know her was to love her and a visit to her home was to be made heartily welcome. She thus became attached to all with whom she was acquainted and many will mourn her passing. Mrs. Coffin, who was 68 years of age, leaves to mourn their sad loss, besides her husband, four sons, Charles and Ernest of this city; Donald of Edmonton, Can., and Allan of Detroit, Mich., as well as two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Hilliard and Miss Jennie Toim, both of this city. To all the above a host of friends send sympathy in their hour of sad bereavement.

Anthracite.

Despite the fact that anthracite coal wage controversies so often occupy much frontpage space in newspapers there is a considerable number of persons who do not know that this fuel is found in a comparatively small part of Pennsylvania. No commercially worth while amount of anthracite is found in any other part of the United States. It is confined to nine counties in an area of about 496 square miles. In the northeastern quarter of the state, five of the nine counties yield more than ninety per cent of the annual production. The coal is found at all depths ranging from outcroppings on the surface to about 1400 feet underground. It is found under cities, rivers and other streams. There is no strictly Bituminous coal is found in central and western Pennsylvania in more than a score of counties. There are more than 800 anthracite collieries, employing approximately 155,000 men and boys. Of these about 40,000 are skilled miners who blast the coal. These men hold certificates obtained after two years' experience in the hard coal mines under the mining laws of the state.

He Didn't Need to.

George was the 'or-do-well' of the village. He was always getting into trouble, and many a time had the kind-hearted villagers helped him out with gifts of food and money.

One day he entered the local grocer's shop and said in plaintive tones: "Oh, Mr. Jinks, I must have a sack of flour. I haven't a penny in the world, and my family are starving. I don't know what will become of them if you won't help me."

"All right," said the kindly grocer. "If you need a sack of flour so badly and have no money I'll give you one. But remember, George, there's a circus coming to the village in a day's time. If I give you a sack of flour you're sure you won't sell it and take your family to the circus?"

George's face went a look of pensive honesty as he replied: "Oh, no. I've got the circus money saved up already."

The Greatest Thing in Life.
A Warning to Everyone Who Keeps a Pet Topic of Conversation.
(By Mrs. Leonora Eyles.)
A little boy of my acquaintance went to hospital five years ago, when he was five years old. That going to hospital was attended by much fuss, for he was not expected to live, and was, for the time being, the most important person in the world.
Even to-day he has not got over the importance. Let anyone tell anything that happened to them, whether in Tibet or London or the moon, little Jimmy says reflectively: "When I was at the hospital I—" Or "Oh! that was nothing to what I did when I was in the hospital nearly dead."
It is the most wonderful thing in his experience so far; it has to be trotted out to impress people on every possible occasion. Just in the same way an old lady whose son-in-law was knighted for war service has to drag in his name on every possible and impossible occasion. There are some people who are always trying to impress one with the wonderful things in their experience.
There is one lady whom we call "dear old home," perhaps rather unkindly. She has certainly come down in the world, but it is very foolish of her to remind us all of it all the time!
She is now of the same social standing as the rest of us, and her attitude towards past grandeurs gives us the impression that she is ashamed of the present. "When father was alive!" she exclaims regretfully. "things were different. We had the dear old home, or "Before the dear old home was broken up."
It is all so pathetic, so naive. Jimmy's hospital, the old lady's son-in-law, the other lady's "dear old home" are so obviously the most wonderful things that have ever happened to them; if they changed their tune a little their friends would see that they had had much wider experience. They seek to impress people by their magnificence; they end by being figures of pathos.
Then there is the woman who has been abroad. I know a girl who lived in Manchester till she was twenty-two. Then she went to Turkey as a governess for a while, came back to Manchester and never moved again from that city.
She drags Turkey into a conversation about cakes, or busions or arithmetic. It was so wonderful to her to go to Turkey that she must try to make everyone see how wonderful she is. It ought to be written on her tombstone. "She went to Turkey." She certainly thinks that very much more worth while than the years of patient work she has put in teaching children in a school and supporting an old mother.

Opium Sales in Hawaii.
INCREASE AS PRICES FALL.
HONOLULU.—Federal officials here are continuing intensive efforts to curb the traffic in illicit drugs, which is reported to be increasing appreciably, with large supplies of opium secreted here, as evidenced by the fact that the juice of the poppy is quoted lower than it has been for years.
In addition to attempting to induce steamship operators to mount machine guns on the after part of their vessels in order to frighten away the small boats, which pick up packages of the drugs thrown from the trans-Pacific ships as they are entering or leaving port, the federal officials also are enforcing that portion of the narcotic act providing that alien violators may be deported to their native land.
One oriental, convicted of violating the narcotic laws, has been deported already and several other orientals, also convicted, are being investigated by the immigration department with a view to obtaining their deportation.
Illicit drugs valued at $9,000, the largest shipment ever sent from Honolulu office, have been dispatched to the Bureau of Technology, as the result of seizure during the first six months of 1923. The shipment consists of 10 pounds of opium, valued at $4,000, and cocaine, valued at $5,000. Opium pipes, lamps, and other paraphernalia, valued at $5,000, were destroyed by the narcotic squad here during the semi-fiscal year.

"Eyes Front!"
Colonel Growser had been a gay young dog in his youth. Quite a hit with the ladies, doncherknow! Old age had brought on its disabilities and he gradually found he was getting left behind, until at last all he could do was to envy the young fellows who were still in their heyday.
So strongly did he resent having to take a back seat that he never lost a chance of getting a dig in at one of the younger officers.
He was sitting in the mess one day when one of the young subs sauntered in.
"Hallo, you reckless young blood!" growled the colonel.
But this time the tormented one was equal to the old man.
"Cherrio, you bloodless old wreck!" he responded with a smile.
The colonel's quite cured now.
PET MILK
In His Own Coin.
Dobson was the humorist of the club. He managed to make all the members but one roar with laughter at his sallies, but there was just one man, MacPherson by name, who never gave the ghost of a smile when Dobson brought out his best jokes.
One day Dobson rushed into the smoking-room where MacPherson was sitting reading a paper.
"Have you heard the story about the three eggs?" he asked the Scotsman.
"No; what is it?" asked Mac.
"Too bad," answered the funny man quietly, without raising a ghost of a smile from the other. "Two bad, don't you see it?"
Still no smile.
"It's no use, Mac," said Dobson resignedly. "You Scotsmen have no sense of humour."
"That's funny," answered the Scot with a smile at last. "I've always understood it was a gift."

MARKET REPORTS
indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite Miners last year has not been made up, and American hard coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product.
We advise our customers to book their requirements as soon as possible.

A Mother's Wit
 When a mother is annoyed by a noisy child, she should remember the story of the mother who was annoyed by a noisy child. She was sitting in a room and the child was making a noise. She said to herself, "I wish I could be like that mother who was annoyed by a noisy child." She went to the window and looked out. She saw a dog barking. She said, "That dog is making a noise just like my child." She went back to the child and said, "You are making a noise just like that dog." The child stopped making a noise.

Too Many Critics.

IS THERE ONE LAW FOR THE LAYMAN AND ANOTHER FOR THE PARSON?

Recently I heard my son and heir, aged nine, inform a companion that when he grew up he was going to be a clergyman, like daddy. A youthful enthusiasm, which I trust will pass. Why? Because I don't want my boy to go through life fettered—a slave to the hundred and one conventional restrictions that are attached to the "cloth."

One Sunday morning I came out of church at twenty minutes past twelve. I had taken four services and helped more than gold, silver, or fine rubies was a smoke! My churchwardens were smoking, so were most of the choirmen. But I mustn't. It wouldn't do, you know. The ladies would be shocked, and the men surprised. "Just fancy! The vicar was smoking a pipe! Really—"

Once, and once only, I smoked a pipe as I walked along the Strand. Everyone stared at me! I bore up for three or four minutes, then knocked my pipe out. They say this is a free country, it may be—but not for parsons!

Some of the Forbidden Pleasures. If you cycle out into the country, and the day is hot and the roads dusty, you may enter a hostelry and assuage your thirst. Have I that liberty? No! I must lick my lips and walk. Yes, I could go into a public-house, and, in fact, I once did so. The landlord nearly had a fit, and the "company" sat like frozen images. Never again!

You can do what most other men do when two dogs have a fight. Stop and watch it! Can I? No! There would be whispered remarks, nudges, and the like.

You want a new suit. So do I. I'd like a well-cut Navy blue serge, double-breasted, for choice. But I must get the usual thing in some black! I should lose in dignity, status, everything, if I wore Navy blue, and say, a grey velour.

Whist and bridge are, I believe, eminently respectable games. Four of you, just because you are men and not clergymen, may beguile the tedium of a railway journey by having a few rubbers. But—honestly, now—would you not be surprised and shocked if you saw four parsons playing cards in a railway carriage?

You know the comforts of deshabille. If you feel so inclined you can potter about the house or garden in an old suit, and minus a collar. Can a parson do this? No! He is at the beck and call of everybody and anybody all day long, and has to dress accordingly. And, in hot weather especially, it is no joke wearing clerical black, with the appropriate collar, either in or out of doors. Black garments do not throw off the rays of the sun, as every parson knows.

Then—well, how shall I put it? You can say what you like when things go wrong. That freedom is denied me. I cannot even say "hang it," or "confound it," or "bless me!"

So this—freedom of mine shall not be handed on to my son.

Safety First.

We are constantly being reminded in this country of the dangers of the road and the necessity for "safety first"; but the Americans are even more particular on this point, and have adopted many strange and arresting devices to press home the possible means of carelessness.

For instance, at one dangerous spot, a wrecked car was placed on a special platform, with a sign that read: "Look out! Three men died here!" Who could fail to be impressed by the sight of such a notice, and the twisted remains of what was formerly a motor car?

Another frequent sign is, "It's better to be safe than sorry! Drive slowly!" while in one of the Eastern states there is a monument at the side of the main road bearing a skull and crossbones, with the inscription, "Fourteen miles to the nearest hospital."

At Cincinnati, a large white cross has been erected by the roadside as a caution against reckless driving. It bears the name of a man killed in a local accident, and offers a reward for the discovery of the person responsible. At night, this unique sign is illuminated.

Sailing Over Mountains.

PEAKS THAT ARE A PERIL TO SHIPPING.

Although no complete maps of the ocean bed have up to now been made, the main features of some parts of the bottom of the sea are in many instances as familiar to our scientists as are those of the land on which we live.

Of the oceans, the Atlantic has been more thoroughly surveyed than any other.

Probably not one in a thousand persons who traverse the Atlantic knows that at various stages of the trip liners actually sail over mountains. Fewer still realize that in some instances the peaks of these mountains are almost uncomfortably close to the surface.

The highest of these submarine mountains is known to science as Mt. Laura Ethel. It lies roughly midway between Liverpool and New York, and is at least 12,000 feet in height, its summit being less than one hundred feet from the surface.

Another mountain, Piacentia, in the South Atlantic, is almost an island, for its peak is less than twenty feet from the surface!

The Faraday Hills, in the North Atlantic, have been the subject of much exploration by means of soundings. Recent investigations show that the currents have deposited at the base of the biggest of the group the wreckage of over five thousand vessels of all kinds.

It seems, therefore, that the distinction of being the real "Davy Jones's Locker" can with good reason be ascribed, as it has been, to this eerie under-sea locality.

Household Notes.

Split common crackers, sprinkle them with paprika, crisp in the oven, and serve with tomato bisque.

Crabflakes and diced celery are excellent cooked together in a well-seasoned sauce of mushrooms.

The family will not soon forget the morning on which hot butterscotch sauce is served with the waffles.

The long, slim cucumbers are generally best for eating. Use the large, fat ones for baking and frying.

If a slice of lemon is added to the water in which old potatoes are boiled it will prevent their discoloration.

An omelet makes a delightful dessert if it is sweetened slightly and spread with jam and chopped nuts.

For a wholesome cereal omelet use three tablespoonfuls of a mush of rolled oats, wheat or hominy to every egg.

Wallace Silverware.

Is your Table Silver as good to-day as when you bought it?

Have you noticed that at the parts most exposed to wear, the plate has become worn?

Do you think this condition of your Silver is in keeping with your idea of a well appointed table?

Then why not, when you decide on replacing your old ware, give place to it with the "Wallace" Brand, the Silver that refuses to wear and is guaranteed without time limit.

Start with the Tea Spoons and gradually complete your set with the one pattern—there are several for you to choose from and the price is very moderate.

Tea Spoons cost $8.00 for a Dozen.

Our Montreal Letter.

THE BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT AND DELINQUENT BOYS.

The Delinquent Boy movement has been inaugurated by the Montreal Association of the Big Brothers. The Secretary states that the field for the activities is a large one. During the summer the camps in Montreal and vicinity were visited to study conditions.

Realizing the moral dangers of the so-called "corner-gangs" and also that the after-supper period is the danger time for boys, much time has been devoted to the study of parks, playgrounds and the Boys' Club of the City. For it is through these channels that boy-energy must be directed in order to prevent and lessen juvenile delinquency.

At the Juvenile Court, the secretary has been assisting as Probation Officer and will continue until provision is made for permanent officers.

During the month of August twenty one little brothers have been turned over to this agency. Of these, seven cases are from the Juvenile Court, two from private individuals, and the remainder from other social agencies. Among the twenty-one cases mentioned, 15 are Protestant, 4 Roman Catholic, and 2 are Jewish.

The task of lining-up Big Brothers has been started and the Secretary is now working on a list of 75 names of men, who during the Subscription Campaign, signified their willingness to act as Big Brothers.

The offices of the Association, located in the Southam Building, are now equipped, and the co-operation in Boy Problems, of all agencies and individuals, with this Organization is earnestly requested.

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK'S RETIREMENT.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec and one of the old guard, will soon step out of the limelight and retire to private life. Sir Charles was a man of brilliant attainments, an engaging personality, and a great citizen. A writer in the Toronto Saturday Night says in part: "After filling the post of Minister of Justice for four years during which time he had been one of Sir Wilfrid's most expert and proficient swordsmen Sir Charles left the arena of politics for which he seemed to be admirably equipped and was appointed Chief Justice of Canada in June 1907. It was a marked change from the bustle and turmoil of the political journey to the calm and restful retreat on the bench of the Supreme Court, and those who knew 'Fitz' well and were aware of his love for the glamor and limelight, of public affairs wondered how his high spirit would accommodate itself to the rather confined and musty atmosphere of the court. He settled down, however, and while many eminent Canadians have occupied that high place none brought to it a greater need of judicial qualities and seasoned experience than the man who for years had been in the foremost flight of Liberal marksmen. Honors began to shower upon him. He was a member of the Imperial Privy Council and the K.C.M.G. which was accorded him by the sovereign in 1907 was displaced by the G.C.M.G. of 1911. In 1908 he was made a member of the Hague Peace Tribunal and his work there was of an exceptionally high order. He became well known across the border and when the proposal was mooted of appointing a Canadian penitentiary (a favorite word of Sir Robert Borden) at Washington the name of Sir Charles was frequently mentioned. When the war broke out Sir Charles was no passive onlooker, and the fact that he was appointed Lieut.-Governor of Quebec by Sir Robert Borden in 1918 may be taken as evidence that he was not wholly in accord with the official Liberal policy of those troublous times. Be that as it may Quebec secured an excellent Governor and his regime at historic Spencerwood has been marked by much gracious hospitality and dignity. Now he is soon to leave official life and he does so with the knowledge that in the roles, somewhat diversified, of political leader, dignified jurist and courtly representative of his Majesty, his reputation is secure and sound."

JUSTICE COULD NOT BE BOUGHT.

When a prisoner, whose name was Emile Jutras, aged 28, was found after a long search, he had spread a report around that he was not afraid of arrest as he could buy off the judges. He erred, however, for Judge Decarie sentenced him to two years at St. Vincent de Paul on one charge, and one year at Bordeaux Jail on another.

Jutras has been arrested nine times for automobile thefts since 1921. Five cases against him are pending and there is another case in which he was found guilty and remanded for sentence. He should have come before Justice Decarie in June for sentence. He skipped his bail of $1,000, a bench warrant was issued and Detective Martin who arrested him for the ninth time in August was told to go and get him. He did get him at Berthier three weeks ago and had to dig his way through a dung heap under a barn before Jutras was caught. The prisoner got to Berthier in an automobile and this car was found to have been stolen in Montreal from a Mr. Davis.

FINED FOR STRIKING A CONDUCTOR.

Abraham Boleur, merchant of Montreal, who was arrested by C.P.R. police, following an assault on a conductor travelling between Pointe Claire and Montreal, was found guilty of assault and condemned to pay a fine of $25 or go to jail for one month. The accused presented a commutation ticket which the conductor had reason to believe had been used by another person some time before. When the railway man took the 55 trip book to examine it, Boleur struck him in the face and pulled the book from him. Judge Monet imposed the fine.

TRADE DEPRESSION THE WORST ON RECORD.

Commercial travellers in every business have been hit very hard by the great depression in business that exists at present all over Canada. Speaking to a traveller, who has been engaged at such work for twenty-two years, he said: "The great depression in business to-day is alarming. The market is overstocked, and there is no outlet, owing to the great unrest in the large countries of Europe, notably Germany, France and Russia. Unless something for the better turns up within the next ninety days, you'll see a winter of misery and destitution all over Canada." Travellers who could make $5,000 a year on a percentage basis, can't make $1,500 at present. In Montreal the elevators are still loaded with last year's grain, and up to the present there are only six bona fide orders for shipment. The outlook is far from promising.

McGILL DEFEATED BY THE ENGLISH TEAM.

The McGill cricket team met defeat at the hands of the Forresters. The bowling and batting of the English cricketers proved too strong for the McGill men. The first innings ruined McGill, as they only made 76 runs. The Forresters ran up a score of 276, which left McGill 299 short. In the second innings, McGill made 312, though the four best batsmen, Goodman, Saunders, Hedges and Godsell contributed among them only 27 runs.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

"Hair-Groom" Keeps Hair Combed—Well-Groomed

Millions Use It—Fine for Hair!—Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly. Get a jar of "Hair-Groom" from any druggist for a few cents and make even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stay combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Greaseless, stainless, "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore your hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.

The other players surprised the spectators by making big scores. The Englishmen made 14 runs without the loss of a wicket and won by 2 runs and 10 wickets. The championship match between McGill and Lachine had to be postponed on account of rain.

JEALOUSY THE CAUSE OF A DOUBLE CRIME.

At Ste. Adele, in Terrebonne County, a verdict of murder and suicide was rendered by a Coroner's jury in the case of Xiste Parizeau, aged 63 and his wife, aged 80, found dead at their home on Friday, Sept. 7th. The facts of the case as laid before the jury together with the medical evidence showed that Parizeau killed his wife by hammering her to death and then killed himself.

The old couple lived quietly in their little house, and while it had been whispered at times that Parizeau was of a jealous nature and had domestic troubles, the people of the parish of Ste. Adele never had any cause to suspect such a tragic finale to their married life.

AT THE INQUEST. D. Boucher, J. Tougas, Xiste St. Germain and Philorum Gagne, four neighbors of the dead couple, told how they had found the bodies of the victims yesterday morning. Neither Parizeau and his wife had been seen since Wednesday evening, and it is supposed that the tragedy happened during Wednesday night.

SPEED MANIACS STILL CONTINUE THEIR WORK.

The auto speed maniacs are still going strong. Every day the list of the maimed and the dead is growing with awful rapidity. When is it going to stop? Not until thoughtfulness, carefulness, sobriety, and common sense will be practised by chauffeurs, and the owners of cars. If human lives are so cheap as to be maimed or killed by the crazy acts of madmen who are driving automobiles, then it is high time for the law to send such persons to jail for years, or have them committed to an asylum. The law deals too leniently with too many of the speed maniacs. A small fine, a short jail sentence, and the cancellation of their licenses, all these have failed to stop the onward march of destruction and death caused by heartless creatures, whose brains are on fire, caused too often by over indulgence in liquor, whose eyes are dim and waning, and whose hands are unsteady in their mad pursuit of so-called pleasure. The long list of accidents in the American and Canadian journals daily furnishes sufficient proof that the speed maniacs are holding sway in their devilish work of taking the lives of men, women and children. The Canadian Freeman of Kingston, Ontario, in an editorial under the caption of Preventable Accidents, says:—

An appalling number of people are killed or injured every year in automobile accidents, most of which are caused by careless driving. The saddest thing about the accidents is that the innocent suffer along with the guilty. When a fine stretch of road looms ahead, many a driver yields to the temptation to "give her gas," but a wise driver will not yield to the impulse up to the danger point. Though the road looks safe, the dangers in front of a speeding car may be many.

The width of the road, the curves, and the traffic must be considered. What is a safe speed at one place may be unsafe a short distance ahead.

A driver ought to have regard for the safety of those riding with him, and the safety of others using the same road. Otherwise he will sooner or later learn a lesson, perhaps at the expense of life or limb. When someone is killed or maimed, reckless driving becomes a tragedy even though the guilty person escapes the penalty of the law. This province is well in the lead in speed maniacs; at least it has its full share. The laws as to speed are systematically defied and the law is not at all well enforced. The temptation to open up when a long piece of good road is seen ahead is a natural one. Unfortunately wrong things are usually quite natural; so that is not an excuse. Even careful drivers sometimes fall into the weakness of seeing how fast they can make the car go. But an occasional lapse is not so serious as the persistence with which many drivers defy all propriety and law. The rights of others are utterly ignored by them as well as the long chances they are taking of doing irreparable harm.

In towns and cities the death rate is already alarming; and it is a matter in which there is not, as in the case of dangerous machinery in a factory or plant, the mitigating fact of business necessity. Most of the speed sends are out for pleasure; and their disregard of the safety of others is a purely selfish one. They insist on having the pleasure of driving at high speed, no matter what the results are likely to be to others who have just as much right to the streets and the roads as they have. The man who drives at high speed around a sharp curve ought not to be merely fined; he ought to be locked up; for he is a danger to the rest of the community which has the misfortune to have him as a citizen.

A FORMER U.S. SENATOR GIVES HER OPINION OF MEN.

The man of to-day doesn't live up to his opportunities.

Our politics have decayed. "It is very recently that things are affecting our manhood and seem to have become worse. It is an outgrowth of the war. I suppose, which has left us in a worse plight than we were left after 1865. In those days our loss was mainly physical—now it seems our loss is mental and moral."

"I don't know that I have ever seen so many idle men—men who are idle out of a recklessness of heart and soul, or out of a kind of resentment toward the institutions of existence."

"And if that circumstance is bad, it seems to me that the impulse of greed, gain and proffering that has come upon us, is worse. The business man does not live up to his opportunities, because in the main his standards and ideals are not right."

"The man of to-day is not the churchgoer he should be. I believe in religion and its standards. They are the standards of civilization and high attempt and high achievement. It is not the forms of religion that are important; it is the impulse within, that religion can endow and inspire, that is important."

"The man of to-day—and of course I am speaking generally and of the majority—has not the aspect for law enforcement that he should have. This again may be an outgrowth of the war and the recklessness of spirit that it left with us."

"The man of to-day feels that he must get things somehow, anyway. Success is his God, and not the principles of real success. He sacrifices too much of himself, too much of the time; man, in holding his job. To hold his job becomes all important, and the means of holding it becomes not important at all. Thereby our man becomes a synchroton and a panderer to wrong standards and motives. This is true not only of politics, but of business—in the office, shop and field."

"These things are serious. I don't like to be placed in the light of a dismal, croaking raven, or of a querulous old woman. I hope I'm neither—neither dismal nor querulous—nor quarrelsome, nor meddlesome."

"I like to think that the conditions I mention will disappear with the years and with a conscious evolution, toward the better. I like to think that if these things are diagnosed and pointed out, the improvement will be that much quicker."

"The man of to-day needs to think more of public institutions and public service. He must develop an intellectual force and a broadening of self. He must read more, talk more, of things besides the job. He must study the forces that have gone into the production of our present state, and consider the opportunities for improvement and development."

"It is when I think of the pigmy stature of our politicians to-day, compared to the forthful, constructive and somewhat terrible figures of two generations back, that I feel most strongly the lack of power in the present-day man in general."

"Statesmanship is not altogether an accident of birth, or intellectual gifts. It is, generally speaking, the development, the product of a civilization, of a condition of life that breeds men of high thought and uncompromising character."

A.A.A. TEAM BACK HOME.

St. John's extends a hearty welcome to the N.A.A.A. team which returned home from the Canadian Championships. The team, which was managed by Mr. Stan P. Cullen, consisted of Ron O'Toole, Grant Burnell, and Jack Bell. They were accompanied by Mr. Stan P. Cullen, their manager. The team had a successful trip and returned with several medals and a good record. The team's performance was highly praised by the local sports community. The team's manager, Mr. Cullen, was also highly praised for his leadership and organization. The team's success was a source of pride for the local sports community.

strong wind in their favor. They had full control of the situation and the Cadets' defence were put hard to it. Perchard drew first blood for the Westleys on a splendid placed corner kick by Marshall. Ten minutes later McKinley broke clear from a scrum on the Cadets' real line and banged in No. 2 for Wesley amidst wild applause. Just before half time they got another goal but were ruled off-sides.

On crossing over the Westleys prepared their defence well. Immediately it was going to be a battle royal. Fast and furious the battle raged and in a mix-up inside the 18 yard line Wesley full backs and a penalty awarded. Paddy Hayes availed of the opportunity and the applause from the Cadet supporters was deafening. Encouraged by this the Cadets increased the pressure but the Westley backs were in great form while Adey their goalkeeper was handling them in a professional manner. About midway through the period, the Cadet left wing, Power, tried a cross shot which hitting the bar, fooled the Westley goalie, and in the event, thus tied the score. The remaining portion of the game furnished the finest exhibition of football for the season, with both teams of "youngsters" proving to it in an effort to gain the advantage. There was no let-up in any portion of either's line-up and the ball went up and down the field alternately. The final whistle found the game a draw. One more game is necessary to complete the schedule, Wesley vs. St. Mary's. Should Wesley win, they will be the Cadets and Holy Cross will have to play off for the championship. An effort should be made in such an event to have the games played on St. George's Field, as at other grounds the players are handicapped too greatly.

THE CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Although no Canadian records were broken or even approached, five new Maritime marks were established at the 35th annual Canadian track and field championships before 5,000 spectators at the Wanderers grounds Saturday afternoon. Ontario, with 55 points, carried off the lion's share of the honours with Nova Scotia, 2, second, and Quebec third, with 26. Competition was keen in all of the events and it was a day of surprises, many favorites losing in finishes that thrilled the gathering.

The Upper Canadian provinces sent sterling athletes to Halifax for the meet that will probably decide Canada's representatives in the 1924 Olympic Games at Paris. But while Ontario led the provinces in scoring points, a Maritime athlete, A. I. Miller, Sussex, New Brunswick, was the hero of the day with 19 points. He won the high jump from the class of Canadian jumpers and took other events after hard struggles. Close to Miller for individual honors was Philip Macdonald, Charlottetown's boy athlete, who scored 43 points in field events.

One of the biggest surprises of the day and which proved a shock to Maritime sports, was the defeat of Victor MacAulay eastern champion, in the five mile run. MacAulay was overwhelmingly favored to win easily, and the outsiders were not conceded a chance. However, Eddie Ray, Hamilton, had too much speed for the Maritimer and won by using excellent judgment and the speed of a Longboat.

The defeat of Billy Mooney, pride of the Maritimes, who lost by feet in the 880 dash, in which Tom MacKay, a rank outsider, won, was a real upset. Hector Phillips, Windsor, Ontario, who defeated Mooney for a place on the Canadian Olympic team in 1918, was, with Mooney, favored in the half mile, but Mooney lost by sticking too close to Phillips, MacKay slipping through for a win on the final 15 yards.

Montreal scored more points than any other place with 30, Toronto, 25, Hamilton, 24, Halifax, 22, Sussex, 20, Charlottetown, 16, Sydney, 6, St. John, 4, Inverness, 3, Windsor (Ontario), 1, Westville, 1. Toronto used Hamilton men in the relay race and there was a lengthy dispute over their eligibility on the Queen City team. This dispute was adjusted when the officials allowed an Ontario team to compete.

The Ontario team established a new relay record, being five seconds better than the Canadian record. Other records broken were the hammer throw by Stephen Kennedy, Halifax, who bettered his own mark by four feet; the mile run by Barney Francis, who clipped three-fifths of a second off the mark made by Hens Holmer in 1908; the Pole Vault, by Pickard, Hamilton, who made 12 feet, breaking Len Macdonald's record by five inches; discus throw by Don Cable, Montreal, who bettered the old record by several feet. Anthony Vinco, Toronto, equalled the hundred yard record at ten seconds and D. Johnson, Montreal, also equalled a Maritime record, when he negotiated the 440 yards in 50 and 3-5 seconds. The record was made by Parker Hooper, Charlottetown, in 1913.

The track was not as fast as usual and the time made in most of the runs was good. Representatives of the Canadian Olympic team committee expressed themselves as satisfied that there is plenty good material for the Dominion team in the ranks of the competitors in Saturday's games. Pickard, and Ray, Hamilton; Mooney, Halifax; Francis, Charlottetown; Ponten and MacKay, Toronto, were mentioned as Canadian team possibilities.

Cecil Coaffee, joint holder of the world record for the hundred yards and Canadian champion, did not compete, much to the disappointment of the big crowd. Coaffee injured a leg last week and decided not to compete. Harold Lepler and Ted Coster, two sure point winners for the Maritime, were also scratched.

Erin Smith, Maritime sprint champion, was eliminated from the hundred yards dash in the first heat, Vinco of Toronto, winning. Ponten, Canadian Olympic team man in 1920 won the second heat. Ponten was picked to win the final but Vince beat him to the tape in a great finish.

Ponten showed his real form when he won the 220 yards after a thrilling race the entire distance. Ponten's pretty style carried him away to a clean victory in the final yards of the dash. Smith was eliminated in the second heat. He injured his leg coming down the stretch.

All eyes were focussed on Mooney and Phillips in the 880 with the crowd pulling for a Mooney win. Mooney had previously made 1.58 in his workouts which was fast enough to win. He ran his second place for the first quarter, Phillips leading. At the 500 yard mark, Mooney started to move fast, trailing Phillips by a yard. He stayed with the Olympic team star and was waiting for his opponent's sprint when MacKay slipped through. This was at the 15 yard mark and Mooney foolishly moved across the track and allowed MacKay through. This error lost fully two yards, and despite his heroic dash after the Toronto lad, he could not overtake him. Phillips was a close third, being five feet behind the Maritime Star. Mooney was not himself on Saturday and appeared weak, his old fighting strength deserting him at the critical stage of the race, but at that he should have won, the time being slower than that in which he won the Maritime title last year. In winning the race, MacKay used his brains, as he well knew that Phillips and Mooney were watching each other only.

Barney Francis, Charlottetown Indian, had too much speed and stamina for Ontario and Montreal runners and won after a grueling drive in the last quarter. Francis was a favorite with the crowd and he was given a big hand, but the plaudits did not make him lose his head and he ran a brainy race. He allowed Antiff, a previous Canadian champion to set the pace for practically the entire distance and waited for the final drive. The Ontario delegation, as well as his teammates expected Antiff to win, but the final sprint of the young Indian fairly ran Antiff off his legs. Barnes tried to hold Francis but this was not accomplished and the Islander won by two yards amid the wildest enthusiasm from the stands.

Johnson, Montreal, won the quarter mile, but he was given a merry race by Billy Mayes, St. John. This race brought out the speed of the meet and the winner was forced to speed fast to stay in front. Mayes made one of his usual last minute sprints and although he succeeded in beating out Cameron, Montreal, he could not catch Johnson.

Victor MacAulay entered the five mile in poor condition. He was an over trained athlete and although he is not the five miler that Ray is, he would have made a better race when at his best. The little Hamilton runner won on generalship. Ladriere, Montreal, a favorite in this race, and MacAulay, set a terrific pace in the first two miles, which they covered in 10-19. Ray allowed his most dangerous opponents to literally kill each other and waited until the end of the third mile before going in front which he did with ease. He won by 220 yards. Ladriere fell far behind. MacAulay was in bad shape at the finish. O'Toole, Newfoundland Champion, was spiked on the first turn and was forced to retire. His clubmate, John Bell, was fourth.

One of the big features of this race was the running of George Wright, Westville. Wright finished third, beating Ladriere, Quebec Champion, and several other stars. He was strong at the finish and breathed the tape with a fine sprint.

Ontario and Montreal gave the crowd their moneys worth in the relay race. Every quarter was hotly contested, especially the final lap. Cameron of Montreal started off with a five yard lead on Hector Phillips, another man from Ontario. Phillips overhauled his opponent at the clubhouse, but Cameron was stubborn and went ahead again. Phillips came back with another sprint and nosed out Cameron in a thrilling race.

Tommy Fripps, Halifax, took the shot put from a field of stars. Don Cable, Montreal and Ralph McKay, Inverness were the favorites. Cable did not set a place, his puts falling under 38 feet. McKay, who put the leaden ball 48 feet in practice, was beaten by Fripps several inches.

A. L. "Zan" Miller, Sussex hockey player, was the field star and proved himself fit for a place on the Canadian Olympic team. He scored in every event he entered.

Pictou produced a new star in Ross Cameron, broad jumper. Cameron defeated Phil Macdonald, Maritime record holder, after close competition. Macdonald took 13 points Saturday, winning five medals.

Hamilton Granville, dusky Hamilton walker, was the class of the field. He won by several yards over Carl Metten, of Toronto. Owea Savlon, Dartmouth, was third, but disqualified for running.

A blanket would have covered the first three men in the 120 yard hurdles. Macdonald, of Charlottetown, led the field down the track, but he faltered on the last hurdle and both Pierce, Montreal and Francis, Toronto, beat him to the tape.

Steve Kennedy, of Halifax, won the hammer throw with a new record that beat his old mark by four feet. He was in better form than usual on Saturday and won with plenty to spare.

Halifax lost, saw the Canadian championships in 1908 and those of Saturday were just as successful. The big crowd was ably handled by the Wanderers officials and the meet was a genuine success. Some of the Maritime men did not do as well as was

Conditions in England.
 Hon. George Shea, who has been for some time in England, returned by sea. Sachem to-day, looking well after his trip. Work on the Newfoundland building at Wembley has commenced. Mr. Shea told the Telegram. It is well situated close to the Royal Pavilion. This site, he said, was specially selected on account of our being His Majesty's oldest colony. The work at Wembley is on a gigantic scale and over 1,000 workmen are now on the job. Before the year is out it is estimated that between four and five thousand workmen will be engaged. The general unrest in England of two years ago is rapidly disappearing, Mr. Shea states, and conditions are improving although they are somewhat hampered by the unsettled state of things on the continent. There is still a good deal of unemployment in England and the Government has now under consideration further schemes for dealing with it.

Tasmanian Essay. PRIZES AWARDED.
 During the past school year the Victoria League of Tasmania offered through Lady Allardrey, a prize of one guinea for the best essay on Tasmania written by a pupil in the public schools of Newfoundland. This prize was very graciously added to by His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardrey, who each offered an additional prize of five dollars ($5.00) for two extra essays. The matter of procedure was referred to the Department of Education, and the Superintendent prescribed the rules, under which the essays had to be written. A circular was then issued to the schools concerned, which were limited to certain superior schools, and to pupils under fifteen years of age. The essays on the whole were good, and very creditable to the schools. The results are as follows:—Cluney Bait, C.E. School, Salt Hr., Herring Neck. Violet McCarthy, Convent School, Renewa. Annie McCormick, St. Joseph's School, Salmonier.

Feildian-Guards Match WILL BE PLAYED TO-MORROW.
 In the absence of a quorum at the meeting of the Football League to-day, the matter of the Feildians-Guards protest was considered by the League officials, and it was decided that matters should remain as they are, and the game played again tomorrow evening.

Geisha System Denounced.
 Tokio.—The geisha system, one of Japan's picturesque and time-honored institutions, has been dealt another severe blow as a result of the announcement of a vigorous campaign against it, headed by the Federation of Christian Missions in Japan. The Federation holds that the geisha system is a survival of the barbaric past, when virtually all Japanese women were held in a form of bondage. While no complaint of a general nature has so far been made by the geisha girls, who have for years been one of the most interesting features of Japan in the eyes of foreigners, the missionaries hold that their occupation should be regarded as a vice, and therefore discouraged. The Federation has issued an order stating that as far as financial donations and co-operation are concerned, Christians will not be recognized by the missions unless they are unfavorable to the geisha system. This action is expected to bring about general opposition to the geisha by the whole of the foreign element in Japan. The Federation has also decided to make temperance a more important issue in the future deliberations and campaign activities. Resolutions were passed by the Federation recently deploring the friction between the United States and Japan as a result of immigration problems, especially in California.

Personal.
 Amongst the passengers by S. S. Sachem is Capt. J. W. Harrison, Marine Superintendent of the Furness Withy Co., for Canada and his wife. They are en route to Halifax.

A PITY FOR FRANCE.
 Detroit News: Naively the Temps declares that the fatal mistake of Great Britain was to promise to pay the United States in gold. Probably nothing British ever has done has won more considerable respect in the United States than that self-same promise to repay in gold what the had borrowed, and that without reference to collecting what, in turn, was due her, France, as the Temps might have pointed out, certainly has steered wide of Britain's "blunder." Which probably is a pity for France.

S.A. Maternity Hospital

Opened By Lady Allardyce.

LADY ALLARDYCE.

There was a large attendance at the formal opening of the New S. A. Maternity Hospital, which took place at 3 p.m. yesterday. The gathering included His Excellency and Lady Allardyce, Miss Allardyce, Major Wilberforce-Bell, Captain Goodfellow, the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, Rev. Canon Bolt, Rev. E. C. Barr, Rev. R. J. Power, Mayor Hon. Tasker Cook, Mr. I. C. Morris, Mr. H. E. Cowan, Dr. MacPherson, Lady Winter, Mrs. R. G. Reid, Mrs. H. Outerbridge, Colonel and Mrs. Cloud and many prominent Army officers.

The ceremony opened with the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," played by the Band and sung by the large concert party present. The dedicatory prayer was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Power after which Staff Capt. Tilley introduced His Excellency the Governor who then took charge of the ceremony.

Lady Allardyce formally opened the building and in doing so expressed the great pleasure it gave her to open a building that meant so much to Newfoundland in caring for our women and children and she hoped that all would show their gratitude by doing their best to keep the institution going.

The opening of this splendid building, made possible by the toil and generosity of the people. While the building had been erected, our responsibility does not end, but is only now beginning. The Colonel explained that people thought it was a Maternity Home, whereas it was a Maternity Hospital which is quite different. The Army were not giving up their present Maternity Home on Cook St. which would still be continued. This new institution had been erected for the benefit of the centre Colony and people will be admitted to it on the recommendation of their medical advisers. The Colonel pointed out that a portion of the hospital would be reserved for such cases as girls of good character who fall either through ignorance or being led astray; in the case of outcasts the Maternity Home will be still available. The Colonel instanced several cases where the Army assisted and he gave some of his experiences during his recent tour of Notre Dame Bay, where people who were ill had to travel a great distance in order to receive medical aid, and he pointed out that the new hospital would be the means of alleviating a great part of this suffering, by its proposed training course, which all Army officers would take before they go out to take up their several duties in the various outposts throughout the Island. The cost of training nurses would be in the vicinity of $300 each which could not be done without assistance.

Colonel Cloud, leader of the Salvation Army in Newfoundland, said how grateful they all were for having their Excellencies amongst them at apology. Without the assistance of the medical profession the Hospital could not carry on, as no nurse would graduate from the institution without first obtaining her certificate from the medical profession, and he regretted exceedingly the omission. All patients would be admitted on the advice of their doctors and he felt the institution would fill a long felt want in the community. At present only two floors are completed with accommodation for about 30 patients. The top floors are not finished because there is not sufficient funds available, but he believed that once the people realize the great benefits that will accrue, this matter will be speedily remedied. Only yesterday he had received a cheque for $2500 from the General and a further $2500 towards the cost of the top storey, and on behalf of the General he thanked all who through their generosity made the building possible. In conclusion he announced that competent nurses who are now being trained in Canada, would be employed at the institution and would arrive here shortly to take over their duties.

His Honor Mayor Cook, said that the building was erected in the best interests of humanity, and it was an institution that the city and the country were in need of. He regretted that owing to conditions existing sufficient money to complete the building was not forthcoming, but he felt this was not the fault of the people, and when times brighten up the necessary funds will be gladly subscribed. The building was one that would be of great benefit and he felt it had the full support of all citizens and he wished it the success it deserves.

Mr. H. E. Cowan, Secretary of the campaign committee who looked after the drive for funds, followed, and he eulogized the work of their Excellencies since they came amongst us and also the enthusiasm displayed by Sir M. G. Winter, who, as chairman of the general committee, rendered yeoman service, despite the many setbacks that had to be faced when the movement was first started. He felt that in the opening of the new hospital a better day had dawned for our manhood and womanhood, and that it was a movement that deserved the hearty support of the community and country at large. Commandant H. A. Hurd, Financial representative, gave a brief outline of the work to date. In all $95,000 had been raised and to date $102,000 had been expended, leaving a deficit of $8,000, which must be met, and he made a strong appeal for the balance needed. To furnish the rooms would cost about $10,000, while the kitchen and laundry, etc., had yet to be furnished. The Commandant read messages from Sir M. G. Winter and Commissioner Southern wishing the institution every success.

GENERAL BOOTH, S.A.

COLONEL AND MRS. CLOUD.

This completed the opening ceremony, after which the building was thrown open to the public and some hundreds availed of the opportunity of looking it over. The garden party, which was held in the hospital, was then opened by his Excellency the Governor. The C.C.C. Band was in attendance and rendered a special programme, while a musical programme by the S.A. Band was also discoursed. Col. and Mrs. Cloud and Commandant and Mrs. Urquhart also giving numbers, all of which were thoroughly enjoyed. During the late evening the C.C.C. Band were present and rendered a delightful programme. The various tables were largely patronized and a goodly sum was realized, which will be devoted to the Hospital Fund.

is as cute as it is fascinating. There are laughs by the bushel and chuckles galore. And paths too, for Wesley Barry makes a real boy and one loves him for it. It's a picture you'll never forget—if you miss this one you needn't bother about taking in any more shows, you're hopeless.

An Appreciation.

A gloom was cast over his classmates at St. Patrick's Hall yesterday, when it was learned that Arthur Wilson had just obeyed the call of death. Just in his fourteenth year Arthur, a boy of exceptionally good ability, coupled with a character manly and great, seemed destined for a bright and enduring career. When the Hand Scholarships were instituted a few years ago, he established his worth as a leader amongst the talented, which place he brilliantly maintained in each succeeding test. Last year he was also the winner of the coveted Bro. Kennedy Memorial Medal, and so it seemed that the prizes of life were surely within his grasp. Yet the dazzling illusions of earthly success ever held a secondary place in the estimation of Arthur Wilson. He had early learned the beauties of practical religion. A Knight of the Blessed Sacrament, he was faithful to the high ideals of that noblest of orders, Truth, Fidelity and Courage were emblazoned on his standard, while his life was early consecrated to the service of his Heavenly King, in whose love he dwelt and at whose banquet he yearned to feast.

Need we be surprised that the Divine Lover "Dost now invite him to His home above." "Thrice happy child thou'st early won thy rest. 'Tis ever thus with those the Lord loves best. He calls them ere this cold world's sinful blight. Has robbed them of their souls baptismal white. A mother none must miss her gentle child. He who had oft, the weary hours beguiled, above. Whose thoughtful love had brightened many a day. Who long had been her pride, her joy, her stay. Yet know she not, he's only gone before. Not lost, but waiting on the Eternal Shore." Requiescat in pace.—"The Knight Paper."

Wedding Bells.

MULLOWNEY-KENT. Wiltess Bay was en fête yesterday for the wedding of Miss Clara Mullenowney, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mullenowney, and Mr. John W. Kent, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kent, of this city. Flugs and hunting were displayed everywhere in the little village where the bride is held in great esteem, and when the hour for the ceremony approached joy guns were fired, and Wiltess Bay took on holiday attire. The church was crowded with people from the settlement and nearby places, and at 3 p.m. the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered. She was attired in a dress of white canton crepe, trimmed with ribbons of orange blossoms, and wore a veil of Brussels net with coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations, stock and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss Bride Walsh, who wore a dress of gray canton crepe, with henna and grey hat. Miss Helen Murphy, niece of the groom, was flower girl, who wore lemon color satin. The duties of best man were capably performed by Mr. Frank Hickey. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. McCarthy. As the happy couple left the church the wedding march was played, while joy guns re-echoed again and again. The wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was held, when the young couple received the best wishes of their many friends, while many telegrams were received from at home abroad. The health of the happy couple was proposed by the Rev. Fr. McCarthy, Mr. P. Hanley, and Mr. F. Hickey, to which the groom replied. After the wedding supper was over, Mr. and Mrs. Kent motored to Holyrood where they will take a day's express on a honeymoon to Montreal and Toronto.

General Botha's Way.

Discipline, as practised in European countries, does not work with the burghers of the backveld in South Africa. According to a Cape Town paper. But, when they, at times, resent "command" to "do this" or "that," they usually are "led" to go through the thing by one whom they trust and who has the gift of understanding.

The late General Botha was a natural leader and could wield a wonderful influence over his men. Here is an instance of his "way" with them. In a space of half an hour, he persuaded them to do for him what they usually declined to do for their other officers.

During the German Southwest campaign a commando brigade after a long voyage from Cape Town to Windhoek, were camped in the bush beyond that port. When ordered to march inland, the burghers refused and refused to trek further. The officers begged, implored, and threatened them, all without result.

After some time, General Botha arrived, mounted a wagon, called the men around him, and in some such words as these, proceeded to deal with the situation.

"Would they tell him their grievances as man to man and friend to friend?"

Several individuals said they would, then the General's soft, tactful and sympathetic answers gradually melted the angry crowd.

"Now, would they give him their names for not wanting to march?"

"Yes," came the reply. "The commanding officers had promised them that after the march they would be relieved by others and would be allowed to return to their farms, and to go home."

"The burghers knew of the insubordination these men had for the march, and so recently to the march of mal de mer. So he carried on:

"Now like the sea, will perhaps it could be carried on to you. You know, many men want to return by sea?"

"Yes," came the reply. "The commanding officers had promised them that after the march they would be relieved by others and would be allowed to return to their farms, and to go home."

The Unexpected!

You may NEVER have been ill but an influenza germ may strike you to-morrow. This Company is now paying benefits for life to men who never knew sickness until they reached 50. Sickness is no respecter of persons. No one knows whose turn it is next and—it might be yours.

While you're well—that is RIGHT NOW, let us quote you a very low premium for protecting you against loss through either sickness or accident.

For 26 years we have been making prompt settlement for Sickness claims.
