AFFAIRS IN THE SOUDAN.

THE BRITISH TOO WEAK FOR RESISTANCE.

Another Expeditionary Force to be Despatched—Distribution of the Present Army There. LONDON, Dec. 11.—The activity and daily increasing strength of the rebel forces have attracted the attention of the government to the serious state of affairs in Egypt, and to the fact that the present British force in Egypt is totally inadequate to cope with the formidable army of the Wahabids. Hence it is announced today that the government has decided to send a new expedition to the Sudan and it is being prepared for immediate departure for Egypt. The frontier field force in Egypt consists of about 6500 men under command of Brig-Gen. Grenfell, one half of the force being British and the remainder Egyptian. The force in Egypt proper, which with the above field force constitutes the command of Lord Cromer, is composed of about 3000 British and 3000 Egyptians. Some 2000 of the former are stationed at Alexandria, the remainder being at various points and detachments at Assiut, Suez and Port Said. Under Gen. Hudson at Suez are about 3000 British and Indian troops. Orders are expected to be issued for the reconquest of Dongola. There is a continuous desultory fighting at Khartoum. Four British soldiers have been killed. The Caliph Abdul has ordered every man over the age of 16 to join the army of the Sudan. The natives are readily obeying the order.

GERMAN-AMERICANS.

A Warning to Those Who Would Escape Fighting Their Country.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—The Vossische Zeitung published a letter from Schleiswig in reference to President Cleveland's message. In alluding to that part of the message regarding an apparent tendency on the part of the imperial government to extend the scope of residential restrictions to which returning naturalized citizens of German origin are subjected, the writer says: "The German government treats alike, regardless of where naturalized, Germans who emigrate in order to escape military service and then return to Germany. The government will not distinguish between those who serve within its territory. The Schleswig expedition which is being undertaken by military service is seized with a desire to emigrate to the United States as naturalized citizens of another country."

The Difficulty Virtually Settled.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The Times says: "The eastern difficulty may be regarded as virtually settled. The powers have agreed to recognize the independence of the Belgians. A demarcation commission has been appointed, which ensures an armistice of a month, and will hardly fail to secure peace."

A General's Sentimental Speech.

Dusseldorf, Germany, Dec. 11.—Gen. von Los, in returning his thanks at a military banquet to-day, said: "The Rhine and Westphalian corps, as heretofore, will never be broken up in arms if we shall be obliged to meet the enemy, as well may happen." The speech has caused a sensation.

A Warning to the British.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The addition, French ambassador, and the Marquis of Salisbury, had an agreement to-day which resulted in an agreement that English influence would be exercised in the French government to conclude a treaty of peace with France.

The British in Burma.

Mandalay, Dec. 11.—The British headquarters here, removed to the palace. The Buddhist monks, who had been expelled from the city, returned to the palace to submit to the English. The Daoists are still menacing the environs of Mandalay.

A Heroic Battle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—At the trial to-day of E. T. O. Hubbard, detailing cashier of the Moonmouth, Ill., bank, Hubbard acknowledged that he was short in his accounts $65,000. Afterwards the delinquency was fixed at about $114,000.

A Fatal Wrestling Match.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Dec. 11.—Harry Phillips and Richard Hughes engaged in a wrestling match in a stable to-day for $10 a side. Phillips was thrown into a stall under the heels of the Cartwrights and was kicked so badly that he will die.

Crushed by Ice.

BIRMINGHAM, Que., Dec. 11.—Yesterday at the Union phosphate mine, Portland was a piece of ice about ten tons fell a distance of 25 or 30 feet, striking and killing Samuel Perry and slightly injuring two others. Perry leaves a wife in Chicago.

TABLE NOTES.

Intense cold weather prevails in England. King Edward is to be sent into exile at Arcot, near Madras, on the 15th inst. Nureddin Effendi, brother of the Sultan, is dead. He was born April 14, 1851. A strike is expected in the shipwrights of Sunderland against a reduction in wages. Numerous arrests in connection with the conspiracy. Earl Carnarvon has arrived in London to discuss with ministers the political situation. The Earl of Carnarvon has appointed Mr. O'Keefe, a national, his chief of staff.

A Court Martial at Madrid.

A court martial at Madrid has condemned to death four of the Carthagena conspirators. The queen has donated $2500 to the Darnley fund for the relief of the wounded Bulgarian.

News from Sofia say that the severity of the winter is likely to prevent warfare for some time.

Deputies have issued the prospectus of the South of Ireland cable and goods co-operative shipping company. A prominent liberal will introduce an amendment at the beginning of the session of the new British parliament.

John Kelly, the laborer at Drumcondra who was yesterday reported to be Joseph Smith, the Mormon, is insane and has been committed to an asylum.

Here von Reuthefer, minister of the interior, announced in the Reichstag yesterday that Germany had not intended to participate in the Paris exhibition of 1889.

Servia has proposed that the powers appoint a military commission to investigate the killing of the Bulgarian and Serbian ministers, beyond the scope of the peace negotiations.

Col. Harvath, commander of the Serbian army, has announced the removal of the Serbian army from the Balkans and the return of the Serbian army to their own country. The Serbian army has been ordered to return to their own country. The Serbian army has been ordered to return to their own country.

The Mayor and the Scott Act. The Howard advocate is hard hit. It is wounded in every respect, in its morality, its temperance, its consistency, and its temper.

The World's statement of the situation. If the situation is painful, it is the fault of the facts, not of the World.

The facts are that the News boomed the Scott act in season and out of season so long as there were other hearts that ached. Its voice was still for war so long as the war was carried on in Africa.

"I do believe freedom's cause So far away as Paris. I love to see her stick her claws into the infernal phantoms."

But when the war struck Toronto and threatened to wash away some of the support of newspapers as well as of all other lines of business, a new light dawned upon the champion of morality and reform.

It was discovered that the Scott act fitted a long felt want in Stabtown, Fiddler's Green, Simpson's corner, and other neglected communities where there are neither hotels nor daily papers.

The man who opposes the Scott act in Toronto, who advocates it in the rural districts is perfectly paralyzing to anyone who has any respect for principle, or any conception of the exigencies of electoral warfare.

Mr. Howland's defection will be severely felt where it is felt. He has been the only attempt at anything like argument that it makes, supposing we were committed to the Scott act, we are released from the obligation by the discovery that it cannot be carried in Toronto.

Here we have a reformer should be drooped except where there is no need of advocating them. It was not that that Wilberforce, Father Matthew, and other genuine reformers rendered. Their idea was that the greater the difficulty of carrying a reform the more need for its advocacy.

When O'Connell undertook to break down the barriers which shut his people out of parliament he was assured upon every hand, by both friends and foes, that the achievement was impossible.

Had he been a man of Mr. Howland's calibre it would have been impossible, because it would never have been earnestly attempted. We are not opposing Mr. Howland because we feel certain that he will be defeated, but because we feel certain that he ought to be defeated.

This is the only correct grip that if we persevere in opposing the inconsistency of it and its candidate, Mr. Manning shall receive something less than fair play in its columns.

A fair for such every-body talk. It is none of our concern whether Mr. Manning's friends or not. If he does not, so much the worse for Mr. Howland. We do not anticipate that Mr. Manning will "remonstrate" with The World.

He probably knows better; but if he doesn't he can soon learn better. We are not in the habit of being dictated to, and the News has no justification for assuming our ears in its own hall.

We have said nothing of Mr. Howland or his organ that is not absolutely true, and the truth calls for no remonstrance from anybody.

Mr. Howland is once more enlisted as a heaven-born statesman, whose mission it is to enforce the law, although he says the law is bad; to protect the holders of liquor licenses in their rights, although he holds that they have no rights to protect; and to control public affairs generally with a firm hand.

Multiplicity he is a greenhorn, but he has never controlled himself in the public robes which he has assumed. He has flattered in every changing breath of public opinion from the first day of his career down to the present moment.

He has never shown a particle of firmness or continuity of purpose from the day he abandoned the Canada First movement down. It was for abandoning that movement when he thought there was nothing to gain by it in a political sense, and not for supporting it, that we have censured him.

He threw over the Scott act with equal alacrity for the sake of a nomination, although he is solemnly pledged to support that act by every means in his power, and to oppose every man who is not similarly bound. He is either break his pledged word to the Scottites or deceive the general public. It is an unfortunate position, but it is of his own making.

A Toronto letter of the London Advertiser brings out as pointedly as the World, Howland just as pointedly as the World. The Scott act is the great issue and its supporters so regard it notwithstanding that Mr. Howland has tried to throw it overboard.

The Women's Christian Temperance society so regard it and next year they are to blacken every one who does not make unambitious statements, use profane language, and cause hatred between neighbors.

Believing Mr. Howland to be such a man I shall vote for him, and feel convinced that hundreds of anti-Scott act men will do the same. SAMUEL E. ROBERTS, Toronto, Dec. 11.

Christianity vs. Temperance. Editor World: The Rev. D. V. Lucas is, and will be, D. V. the secretary of the Dominion Alliance, and he takes Mr. Goldwin Smith to task because the latter gentleman does not approve of the methods of this alliance for staying drunkenness.

The secretary says the Scott act has a remarkable success in Halton. Would any parent in Toronto send his son to a situation there, if he had any other option? He says Mr. Goldwin Smith is fighting against God, while he is simply fighting against drunkenness, and the modes of the movement in doing the same thing. The object is the same, but Mr. Goldwin Smith is a hopelessly lost sinner because he does not follow Mr. Lucas' lead. That mode is to blacken every one who does not make unambitious statements, use profane language, and cause hatred between neighbors.

Editor World: Referring to letter of Englishman in yesterday's World, suggesting that Boxing Day be kept as a general holiday, one might have looked for a movement of the kind from some of our city clergymen, and doubtless if coming from such a source the desired end might be attained. The ordinary profit monger, however much he may fail in practice, is in theory a Christian, and he values the opinions of that class of the community so far as those opinions conduce to his worldly aggrandisement. To some people Christmas is a season suggestive of natural and complete harmony, and were the world peopled with such god-like natures, the picture would be rendered more effective than that which mankind is called upon to view in the year A.D. 1885; but alas, the modern Sisylocks, with words of honey and hearts of gall, may be seen hovering about, eager to take the first chance to exact, not only their pound of flesh, but the condemnation of the whole carcass, and vulture-like to devour it at their leisure without any regard to Christmas or any other day. Yet some of these same men go to church, confess their sins, and join in the Gloria in Excelsis Deo, but instead of carrying from that sacred edifice the charity for which they may have prayed, and practicing that noble precept, "peace on earth and good-will towards men," they go home and without regard to the fact that they are taking the vitality out of thousands in the accomplishment thereof. The picture may be somewhat dark, but it is none the less true. If Englishman thinks to prevail on the majority of labor consumers by attacking the diligent artisan, his credulity must arise from his brief acquaintance with such clerks or other employees had he been long to such an extent that it would require twenty-four hours to recover from the ill effects, a similar occurrence would never result again, as their salaries would be reduced forthwith 25 per cent. in consequence. Wishing the suggestion of Englishman success, VERITAS, Toronto, Dec. 11, 1885.

The row in the camp of the Montreal Post, which The World foreshadowed the other day, has culminated sooner than we anticipated. Three of the five directors, chief among them is the well-known barrister, C. J. Doherty, are utterly opposed to the editor's unreasonable and unpatriotic attempt to identify the Irish Catholics with French Canadian outages upon the sentiment and feeling of the English speaking majority. The Rieling persisting in a course condemned by a majority of the directors, the latter have severed all connection with an organ which is no longer Irish but French. We venture another prediction in this connection, that is that those who have driven out Mr. Doherty and his friends will live to have substantial reason for regretting their reckless bigotry.

It has sometimes happened that courts have been held in Scott act counties without affording work for the grand jury. Under these circumstances it has been claimed that the act deserved credit for the blank dockets, but when the blank dockets occur in other counties the Courts act is not given credit for them. There was not a solitary case for the grand jury at the Halton grand sessions last week, and Judge Upper stated that that was the third consecutive court at which this had occurred. The Halton grand jury was dissolved last July.

The Vanderbilts family must be given credit for one thing, and that is for the good example that they have set in the direction of funeral reform. There is practically no limit to the amount of money that they might have expended in funeral ostentation, but they preferred simplicity, and for setting so good an example to the great many vain and foolish people they deserve the thanks of every thoughtful person. The stink of vulgar is a coarse vulgarity in the wealthy and a sinful extravagance in the poor.

The Mayorist. Editor World: Mr. W. H. Howland has always been, and as far as I know still is, a staunch advocate of the Scott act. I am an opponent of his act, and if it were submitted for acceptance here my vote would go against it. If accept Mr. Howland's disclaimer of a Scott act issue as frankly as it is given. But what has Mr. Howland's opinion, or his opinion of the opinion of any other citizen on the Scott act question to do with the administration of our city finances? We want for our mayor not simply an honest man, but one with such a keen sense of duty which is honorable and right, that he would not countenance any transaction, however trivial, that would not bear the closest scrutiny. He must be a man of business, capable of ability as will secure to the city the best result at the lowest possible cost.

Editor World: Would you kindly let a stranger know whether it requires a member's license for the privilege of carrying a red, blue or black bag, such as I notice are carried by a large number of men of all ages on all the principal streets of the city? If not, I would be glad to advertise, gratis to carry parcels so that they may appear professional. A number of the owners of said bags, in a letter idea dead. COCKNEY.

The Mayorist. Editor World: Mr. W. H. Howland has always been, and as far as I know still is, a staunch advocate of the Scott act. I am an opponent of his act, and if it were submitted for acceptance here my vote would go against it. If accept Mr. Howland's disclaimer of a Scott act issue as frankly as it is given. But what has Mr. Howland's opinion, or his opinion of the opinion of any other citizen on the Scott act question to do with the administration of our city finances? We want for our mayor not simply an honest man, but one with such a keen sense of duty which is honorable and right, that he would not countenance any transaction, however trivial, that would not bear the closest scrutiny. He must be a man of business, capable of ability as will secure to the city the best result at the lowest possible cost.

Believing Mr. Howland to be such a man I shall vote for him, and feel convinced that hundreds of anti-Scott act men will do the same. SAMUEL E. ROBERTS, Toronto, Dec. 11.

Editor World: The Rev. D. V. Lucas is, and will be, D. V. the secretary of the Dominion Alliance, and he takes Mr. Goldwin Smith to task because the latter gentleman does not approve of the methods of this alliance for staying drunkenness.

The secretary says the Scott act has a remarkable success in Halton. Would any parent in Toronto send his son to a situation there, if he had any other option? He says Mr. Goldwin Smith is fighting against God, while he is simply fighting against drunkenness, and the modes of the movement in doing the same thing. The object is the same, but Mr. Goldwin Smith is a hopelessly lost sinner because he does not

TRACKS OF AN AUTOGRAPH HUNTER

Hard Work to Get Letters From Bismarck, Tennyson, and Other Famous Men. Harvest M. in New York Sun.

Autograph letters of celebrities are now harder to obtain than they were a few years ago. It has become a man's work to get them.

By return of mail came an imposing epistle, with the Berlin postmark upon it, and a faded cabinet photograph of Bismarck.

Tennyson's autograph was my next desideratum. It came to me unexpectedly, but not until I had sought such luck in vain.

My brother came across an impetuous man who had, in his holiday, spent some months of his existence in writing a history poem on the royal family, and who had ventured to submit the proof sheets to Beaconsfield.

the girl climbed into a barber's chair and paid 40 cents for a Tammany ball half cut. Then she was proud. She walked into her basement abode with a reckless hurrah and got dinner with a masculine dash.

—All surprised at these troubles will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by Hallam's Expectoration. It is soothing and comforting to the irritated and inflamed passages. Sold everywhere.

—The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the throat, and all other ailments.

—A trinity of evils. Biliousness, constipation and dyspepsia usually exist together. By disciplining the liver and cooling the stomach, the trinity is destroyed.

—The convenience of a few. In a recent speech in his cathedral city the Archbishop of Canterbury, alluding to the proposition to give the present amount of the psalter in England as to the advantages there is to reap from disestablishment, said: "There is a parish where there is a church, and a church where there is a parish."

—Why will you allow a cough to rack your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided.

—It was Ellen Terry who started the craze. Rose Cleveland, the president's sister, was the first to catch the fever, and from this lady the contagion has spread until nearly every city and town in the country has a large number of well-dressed women.
