Vice-Admiral Sturdee Acclaimed in England Today—Nine British Warships Said to Be in Fleet

London, Dec. 10.—There are believed to have been nine warships in the British fleet under Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee which defeated the German fleet under Admiral Graf Von Spee in the South Atlantic, off Falkland Island on Tuesday with loss of nearly 2,000 lives.

WHERE THE RUSSIAN AND GERMAN ARMIES ARE BATTLING FOR SUPREMACY

The dot-and-dash line is the boundary of the German Empire. The district east of the Vistula is East Prussia and the Russians are at Gumbinnen. The main Russian force is based on Warsaw having been driven from Lodz, according to recent despatches. In the south the Austro-German army is broken. Cracow is invested and if it can be taken the way to Breslau will be open.

MADE IN CANADA APPLES

The enthusiastic campaign that is being carried on in advertisements and newspaper articles to induce people to use articles manufactured in Canada has much to commend it. When Canadian products are equal in quality and price to those secured from other countries there is no excuse for not using them.

luxuriant limbs, and prunes back the gauding twigs. All this work he is obliged to do by hand—a true manufacturer. Then, he takes his spraying outfit and gives the trees a tonic bath of lime sulphur, which is also hand-made, and is at the same time an offence to the nostrils.

MINISTERS HERE FOR DOCK OPENING

(Continued from page 1). ship and management of our friend Mr. Doherty, on schedule time, providing for the coming season extensive additional facilities for the business of the country.

However, it is not to the contractors alone that credit is due. Our able representative, Hon. Mr. Haen, through the active co-operation of the minister of public works, has rendered most valuable service to St. John, and his untiring efforts have made possible the expedition and dispatch which have been such notable features of the progress of this work, which in a short year has changed the aspect of this particular portion of the harbor and has converted an otherwise useless shore into splendid facilities of the trade of the dominion.

This development is part of a comprehensive scheme which has been laid down by the government, and which contemplates:—

The conversion of the whole west harbor front from where we are standing almost to Partridge Island into modern docks and terminal facilities for the further development of the trade.

The extension of the present breakwater to Partridge Island.

And the construction of a will protect the breakwater from Partridge Island easterly towards the harbor channel.

This present shed is a temporary structure, and its replacement by a building of structural steel with grain conveyors and equipment is part of the general plan which is looking forward to a future when St. John will be the great Atlantic port of the dominion.

While conditions today are unfortunately complicated, the dominion and the world at large have much food for sober thought, it is nevertheless true that the growing and the progress of this work, which in a short year has changed the aspect of this particular portion of the harbor and has converted an otherwise useless shore into splendid facilities of the trade of the dominion.

I can therefore with confidence vote to the construction of the St. John Board of Trade that arrangements be made to complete the permanent structure and facilities for the year 1915; that arrangements be entered into for the construction of at least one new wharf and shed to be completed at the same time, and that the extension of the breakwater to Partridge Island be entered into at an early date, coupled with the construction of a breakwater from Partridge Island easterly towards the harbor channel.

So much for the west side. In the eastern harbor, more particularly, the question of harbor facilities by the people of St. John, more particularly by the Board of Trade, is bearing splendid fruit.

We have to thank our friends of the dominion government for their kindly consideration they have given to our request, and for the energetic way in which they have entered into the development of our port which has resulted in such material progress and so great a promise for the future. We trust that they will honor us with their presence and thank them for the time which they have given to honor us with their presence on this occasion.

Manning W. Doherty, managing director of the Maritime Dredging and Construction Co., Ltd., contractors for the wharves and warehouse, then spoke and handed over the completed docks to Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, under whose department the construction has been carried on. Mr. Rogers then turned over the docks to the department of marine and fisheries for operation, and Hon. J. D. Haen accepted them on behalf of his department.

G. M. Bosworth, vice-president of the C. P. R., then spoke. The party returned to the city by the steamers and Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, had expected to be present for the ceremony, but on account of his coming was prevented by pressure of public business.

At the Imperial Theatre this evening Mr. Doherty will entertain the officials, and men who have been engaged with him in the construction of the works.

It is expected that Messrs. Haen and Rogers will remain here until tomorrow.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "fat" there should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying: First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Druggists sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN IN FINE GEM PICTU E

Excellent War Pictures Also Included in Iniving Programme

Francis X. Bushman has long been a popular motion picture actor with St. John followers of the photo-play. Now leading star with the Essanay Co. he is adding to his laurels, and in the presentation of the fascinating three part production "The Plum Tree" at the Gem Theatre yesterday was seen to particularly good advantage. The story is especially interesting, and in the hands of the Essanay Players was clearly defined on the canvas. It will be repeated today for the last time.

The Gem orchestra gave an enjoyable programme, while another distinctly enjoyable feature was the showing of scenes from the seat of war, including motion pictures of the native Indian troops joining the allies in France for the firing line. Views of the war from different angles were given in the series which was included with many other matters of current interest in the Selig Hearst News Pictorial.

THE WAR NEWS.

Good news from land and sea was flashed over the cables last night, and was read with intense satisfaction by Canadians this morning. The sinking of three German cruisers by a British squadron in the South Atlantic gives ground for hope that three more, of which two are now being pursued, will also soon be sunk or captured.

The other cheering intelligence that comes to Canadian readers this morning was the news of the surrender of a Turkish commander and his army to the expeditionary force from India, which is operating at the head of the Persian Gulf. The victory gives the British control of the rich country from the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates to the sea.

The conditions in France and Belgium have not been materially altered during the last few days. The Allies are still pressing slowly forward at several points and the German defensive has evidently been weakened by the withdrawal of troops to take part in the struggle against the Russians in Poland.

SOUND BUSINESS CONDITIONS

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Montreal yesterday, optimistic statements were made by the president and general manager, Mr. H. V. Meredith, the president, in the course of his address said:

"I am glad to be able to say that from the reports which reach me from all parts of the country, legitimate business is fundamentally sound. While trade generally is quiet, and in many branches restricted, especially those dependent upon construction work, there is compensation, in a measure, by activities in others which provide the vast supplies required by the war."

"A general suspension of new undertakings is apparent. Agriculture—the backbone of the country—continues prosperous, notwithstanding a shorter crop yield, owing to the high prices being paid for grain and other farm products. The great increase in the number and value of the live stock in the northwest is especially gratifying."

"Farmers are preparing to increase the acreage of land under crop, and manufacturers are taking advantage of the situation to extend their sales where foreign competition, for the time being, has been eliminated. There is, moreover, an undiminished confidence in the future which is an asset of no little importance."

"Considerable unemployment exists, but the extent of it is probably over-estimated, and I think our position in this respect will compare favorably with that of other countries."

Mr. Meredith pointed out that because of the war, it is difficult to obtain capital for construction and development work, and therefore a period of rest and recuperation may be expected, and prudence and economy in expenditure should be exercised, but an effort made at the same time to enlarge our export trade.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, general manager, said that the people of Canada are adjusting themselves to the heavy burden thrust upon them, and although here and there weak spots will develop the general structure will surely stand the strain. He believes that with our energies turned to the development of our great natural resources "we can look forward with confidence to eventually emerging from present conditions a healthier, more normal and sounder basis than that with which we have been threatened."

A WORTHY CAUSE.

The appeal to be made to the citizens next week by the German Street Brotherhood on behalf of the Free Kindergarten will doubtless meet with a generous response. Local institutions of permanent value should be sustained as well as would be the case if there were no war in progress. The great value of the Free Kindergarten has been fully demonstrated in St. John, and it is only a question of time when it will become a part of the public school system, as it is already in most enlightened countries. Until such time as the board of education is in a position to assume the full responsibility, the institution must be supported by the citizens, and all who have familiarized themselves, even in the most limited way, with the work that is being done, realize how important it is that the work should be continued and enlarged. Moreover, it is but fair that the burden of financial responsibility should be lifted from the shoulders of the earnest women to whom the city owes the introduction of the Free Kindergarten, and whose unselfish labors have kept it in existence and broadened the scope of its activities. Not only are children who have attended the Free Kindergarten brighter and more promising pupils when they enter the public schools, but the influence upon the homes of the children is good, and much brightness is brought into them, especially where cases of extreme poverty are discovered.

The list of names of prominent men who will address the Maritime Forward Conference in Amherst next Thursday shows that it will be an event of unusual interest and importance.

We are now relieved of the necessity of trying to pronounce "Gneisenau," thanks to Vice-Admiral Sturdee and his British squadron. It is something to be thankful for, since the Russians yesterday unloaded Przasnyss upon us, and appear to have many more in reserve.

The Toronto Globe if Sir Robert Borden will endorse the nomination of Mr. Flemming as a Conservative candidate for the House of Commons. A good many people are asking the same question. Despite previous assurances the prime minister did not come to St. John today.

Hon. J. D. Hazen should renege with The Standard, which evidently regards him as the valiant man on the face of the earth, and keeps on pouring out nauseating praise of him for doing for the port of St. John what as its representative in parliament and the government it has been his duty to do, and his failure to do which would have marked him as an unfaithful steward.

Whenever the St. John Standard attacks Hon. William Pugsley, in its efforts to glorify Mr. Hazen, the people are reminded of the $100,000 which Mr. Hazen handed back to the great shipbuilding firm of Cammell, Laird & Company, whose tender for the erection of a shipbuilding plant at St. John was recommended to the new government by Dr. Pugsley and his colleagues when they retired from office.

The movement on the part of a number of the churches to provide social centres up town for the soldiers at the armory is a kind of applied Christianity which does them credit. In Halifax one of the churches close to the quarters of more than a thousand soldiers turned over to them as a social centre the splendidly equipped school room of the church, which had just been remodelled at an expense of thousands of dollars, and had not yet been re-occupied for Sunday school purposes. When those in authority were told that they must expect the soldiers to smoke, and to enjoy themselves in a general way, they offered no objection, realising that too severe restrictions would defeat the purpose of their generous offer.

AN "UNBOUGHT" OPINION

(Sackville Post, Conservative) The Post has never been able to see the wisdom of abusing Mr. Carvell because he figured conspicuously in the Dugal charges. Mr. Carvell may not be a particularly lovable sort of a man, but we fail to see where he is to blame for making the most out of these charges. His opponents gave him an opportunity which he as a prominent politician would have been foolish to "pass up." In our opinion Mr. Flemming is the man to blame.

Quite the contrary. "The boss accuses you of being blind drunk."

Few British admirals are more popular in the navy than Admiral Sir Hedworth Lambton Meux. Although he has devoted his life to the senior service, he has a tremendous admiration for the army, and he delights to tell the following story of the late Sir George White. During the South African War, an order was issued to the men of the Highland regiments that they must cover up their tartan kilts, as they made too good targets for the enemy.

The order proved very unpopular, and caused a great deal of dissatisfaction among the soldiers concerned. When Sir George heard this, he thought of a way out of the difficulty.

"Let them cover up only the front of their kilts," he said. "The enemy will never see the other side."

During a marriage ceremony in Scotland recently the bridegroom looked extremely wretched, and he got so fidgety standing first on one foot and then on the other, that the "best man" decided he would find out what the trouble was. "What's up, jock?" he whispered, "Hae ye lost the ring?"

"No," answered the unhappy one, with a woeful look; "the ring's safe enough; but, man, I've lost my enthusiasm!" Judge.

MILITARY EXPERT REVIEWS FIGHTING

The Combat in Belgium—Some of the Methods of Warfare—Tunnel to Advance Lines

In his review on the war situation in Europe the military critic of The New York Times says under date of Dec. 7: "The activity in Belgium shows that the allies there are taking advantage of every opportunity to press back the German lines. The cutting of the levees along the Yser has permitted the low-lying ground on both sides of the river to be inundated to such an extent as to preclude the movement of large bodies of troops in this region. The narrow passageways along the roads and dykes are so easily swept by artillery fire, that frontal attacks are well nigh hopeless. British Air Pushing On This throws to the front the important operations in the Belgian field to the higher ground near Ypres, where the British troops have recently gained ground. Their advance from Ypres along the railroad toward Roulers is aimed at the railway system of Northwest Belgium. If the British can press their advance along the north side of the Lys River, they can force the Germans to evacuate their positions along the Yser and the Belgian coast. The German assaults north of Arras, which carried them to the Chateau de Vimelles, were intended to bring the latter pressure to bear upon the troops on the left flank of the allies. The repulse from Vimelles checks this strategic plan. Confronted the Japanese Throughout the long centre of the battle line in France the fighting consisted of the short range work of siege warfare. To reach the working parties in their deep trenches it is necessary for every opportunity to drop nearly straight down upon them. This problem confronted the Japanese in their siege of Fort Arthur in 1904, and was solved by them by the development of the trench mortar. This gun fires a small shell or grenade at a high angle, so that after travelling from 200 to 500 yards, according to the powder charge used, it will fall into the enemy's trenches. At still closer ranges similar effects are obtained by the use of hand grenades. For short distances these may be hurled directly but the usual method is to swing them on a cord and let them fly when they get up speed. Uses of Tunnel Warfare When the opposing trenches get within range for hand grenade bombardment, it becomes almost impossible to make further progress by trenches without prohibitive losses. The advancing troops then have to take to burrowing. Tunnels are driven forward as rapidly as possible by frequent reliefs, working at high speed, for short periods. Two tactical uses are made of this tunnel warfare. One is to drive the tunnel under the enemy's position, to place a big charge of explosive there and then on signal blow up the redoubt and its defenders, as happened in the great crater at Petersburg in 1864. This was also the method by which the Japanese blew in the counterscarps of the Russian forts at Port Arthur. Coincidentally with the explosion of the mine, heavy artillery fire is brought to bear upon the enemy's positions on both sides of the point of attack, and an assaulting column, massed ready for the signal, is sent forward to capture the enemy's line. New Advance Position The second use of tunnel warfare is to gain a new advanced position without the losses consequent upon a dash across open ground. Tunnels are pushed across until they gain the new line, and galleries are then run out right and left. Charges of explosives are then placed in the galleries, which on their detonation blow out a line of craters that need only to be connected and to be shaped up to provide the new advance line of trenches. By fighting similar to that described the opposing armies have been carrying on the fighting along the Aisne, in the Argonne and in the Woëvre districts since the second week in September. The new gains are about evenly balanced. Considering the war as a whole, however, the allies may claim the advantage of having held the Germans to an even break while gaining time for the full development of their military strength.

VENTILATION OF STREET CARS

Greater Attention by Employes to the Sanitary Conditions of Cars Required (Conservation) The cold weather and the necessity for heating street cars, calls attention to the question of their proper ventilation and sanitary condition. At times the cars are so overcrowded, the street car is a prolific means for the propagation and spreading of disease. Too much attention cannot be given to the care of the cars. Spitting is prohibited in the cars in most cities, but with the introduction of the pay-as-you-enter car, the conductor is not in the same position to check this nuisance as formerly. The conductor should also give careful attention to ventilation. The upper windows are put there solely for the purpose of ventilation, and these may be opened without the risk of creating draft and causing passengers to feel uncomfortable. If conductors would give this matter attention, it would obviate the necessity which some passengers feel of opening the lower windows for admittance of fresh air. This, while accomplishing the object sought by the passenger at the window, creates a strong draft, which is decidedly objectionable to those in the rear. Conductors should be instructed as to the proper ventilation of their cars; this should be the only persons authorized to this effect should be posted in the car. The company should, however, insist that their employes give ventilating careful attention. Conductors could also with advantage give their cars closer inspection to check the spitting on the floors. This is a simple time between stops, and this inspection would add very little to the duties. Street cars should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected when taken off run at night.

Diamond Disc Phonograph

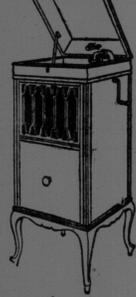

A Gift that Brings Pleasure to all

In this marvellous new creation of Mr. Thomas A. Edison there is more real pleasure, for folk of all ages, than in any gift one can bestow; and it is a new development in the realm of music, its rich, mellow voice growing out of a system of tone production on which its great inventor has spent the greater part of the past three years. With the permanent diamond as a producing point—eliminating the irksome changing of needles—the music possesses a sweetness that is unique.

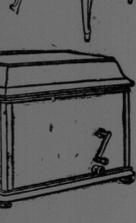

The Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph stands alone in the production of all the overtones, on which music depends for sweetness, thus first opening to all the entire range of the world's music.

GERMAN IRON CROSS PINNED ON BRITISHER'S BREAST ON THE FIELD OF BATTLE

One of the noblest and, at the same time most dramatic stories of battlefield heroism that the war is likely to produce is as follows:—

During a recent combat German troops attacked the British trenches but were repulsed. They retired to their own trenches taking with them their wounded, but one of the latter was overlooked and left behind. A comrade, observing him, left the German trenches to effect a rescue, but was almost immediately killed by the British fire, a score of bullets piercing him.

A British officer, however, realized the situation and, having given the order "Cease fire," himself went out upon the open to pick up the wounded German.

He was struck by several bullets and badly wounded, but the Germans, as soon as they saw what his object was, also ordered the "Cease fire," hereupon the British officer staggered to the fallen man and carried him to the German line.

A German officer received him with a salute and, calling for cheers, pinned upon the breast of the British hero an Iron Cross, which he took from his own breast. Then the Britisher returned to his own trenches.

He was recommended for the Victoria Cross for this notable example of chivalry, but succumbed to his wounds.

ENGLAND THROWS 250,000 BOY SCOUTS ALONG COAST

HEAD OF BRITISH BOY SCOUTS TELLS MARY BOYLE O'REILLY HOW ENGLAND LEANS UPON ITS BOYS, WHILE OLDER DEFENDERS ARE RUSHED TO BELGIAN BATTLEFIELDS

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly)

London, England, Dec. 2.—"England must expect to be attacked at home. She must not rest under the comfortable delusion that she will not be assailed," said the "Chief Scout," Lieutenant General Sir Robert Baden-Powell.

"We must be ready for the worst. A hostile raid on the Yorkshire coast, a rapid march straight across the country, the enforced flight of inhabitants, the demolition of their cities and towns by dynamite—and there are at once fourteen million people starving and on the hands of the little army of the south.

"It is the duty of every patriot to take up arms now with no feeling of aggression or bloodthirstiness, but solely for the protection of our country in the hour of danger.

"There are 250,000 Boy Scouts in England. Before war was declared 50,000 were mobilized. They have been at their duties ever since. Two thousand were drafted to assist the metropolitan police, 2,000 as orderlies in government departments, thousands to guard railway tunnels, telegraph lines, bridges, culverts against damage by agents of the enemy.

"Early in the test a fool who thought he was funny suddenly appeared before three little scouts guarding a tunnel. He wanted to see if they were alert, so he assumed a German accent. The lads had only their staves, but he woke up under first aid. They were human boys on active service watching and waiting—for war.

"From the first day of danger seventy troops of sea scouts began coast patrol which will be permanent until the declaration of peace. Those who are under school age receive instruction in special classes during alternate weeks.

"Today 1,300 sea scouts are stationed from John o' Groat's to Dover keeping watch and ward along the East Coast. They are only boys, but they have been at their duties through daylight and dark.

"Their job is to do their duty, to keep their mouths shut and their eyes open. They have won official recognition, admiralty are paying for their subsistence; they serve as volunteers.

"Each patrol of six sea scouts is living with two coast guards in any handy shelter; tents, bathhouses, shacks furnish emergency stations. On duty patrols are building themselves winter huts, the handy "men" fashioning sleeping boards, locker and mess tables. The sea scouts cook for themselves.

"They are trained on the sands in swimming, rope climbing, the handling of boats, and taking bearings. The older ones grow proficient in flag hoist signaling and wireless telegraphy. Sea scouts are not playing now; some, expert with wireless apparatus, are on board steam trawlers today acting as guard boats against floating mines.

"A determined small boy in jolly looking knicker and khaki shirt gets about with amazing ease. A defence corps patrol holding "conversations" with flash lights can guard a score of back waters. Boy Scouts, land or sea, have a startling habit of turning up in the nick of time. Let a bare-kneed lad hold up his hand, wig-wag a flag, and, presto, other scouts spring from the ground to assist.

"Each sea scout on active service has his beat, four hours on, two off, systematically observed and vigorously kept, reports being made to the local coast guard.

"Armed with shaves they patrol in pairs along broken cliff tops, across leagues of dunes and desolate salt marshes. Through foggy days and cold nights they are always on watch.

"However dreary or monotonous the task, there are no longer any mulls between England and Germany. The North Sea may seem a gray vista of sinister loneliness, but the lookout cannot grow careless. He may be the black thread ankle high across a path to catch an alien enemy, he is prepared to scamper across country carrying messages for airmen of the royal flying corps. He is prepared to note everything and to report everything regardless of risk. Should suspicion stiffen to certainty he will carry out his task though the performance expose him to great danger.

"And what do the sea scouts find? Enemy pigeons flying across channel. (Note: There are no longer any mails between England and Germany.) Foreign seamen acting as messengers, suspicious flashlights or whistles, suspicious lurkers off shore, dead dealing mines washed up which must be guarded until a torpedo expert arrives to render them innocuous.

Microbes in Your Scalp

Authorities say that a microbe causes baldness. If you are losing hair try our remedy at our risk.

Professor Unna, of Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, of France, the great French Dermatologist, claim that a microbe causes baldness, and their theory has been verified by eminent scientists. This microbe destroys the hair follicles, in time causing the scalp pores to close and the scalp to become shiny. Then, it is believed, nothing will revive the growth. If treated before this occurs, baldness may be overcome.

We know of nothing that has given such universal satisfaction in treating the scalp and hair as Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic. It has been designed after long study to overcome the cause of falling hair as discovered by Prof. Unna, Dr. Sabouraud and other scalp and hair specialists, and we believe it will do more than anything else can to remove dandruff and stop falling hair; and if any human agency can promote a new growth of hair it will do that, too.

We want you to make us prove it. We will pay for a month's treatment of Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic used during a trial, if you will use it according to directions, and are not thoroughly satisfied. When we will do this, you surely should not hesitate at least try it.

Start the treatment today. Your money request will get you money back if you want it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00.

SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR THE SUBMARINE

German Officer Writes of Its Use in Warfare—Constantly Enlarging Under-sea Craft

The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung publishes an analysis of Germany's submarine policy from a prominent German naval officer who foresees the coming of vastly large submarine boats, or, rather, submarine ships.

"It is of vital importance," he writes, "for the future development of submarines (U boats) that torpedoes should be brought to the greatest possible perfection. Improvement should depend on the torpedo tubes and torpedoes with which the boats are furnished, on their speed and efficiency, as well as on their handling and management.

"The number of tubes and consequently of torpedoes has been constantly increasing. Thus English submarines have as many tubes as six and even more, so that we may soon be able to speak of submarine ships. One of the causes which led to the enlargement of submarines was the desire to provide them with more torpedoes so that they might take full advantage of a fortunate encounter with an enemy. At present U boats generally are the size of their sisters, the faster torpedo boats.

"At first U boats were merely intended to defend the home coasts, but soon their unexpected efficiency destined them to become independent rulers of the waves. They were able to remain under the water for some time and were fairly safe and secure. Undersea navigation, being comparatively smooth even in an agitated sea, pointed out the desirability of building boats which could be on the sea at least as long as torpedo boats. It is known from war reports that at present we are sufficiently advanced to send U boats independently to the North Sea and the Baltic.

"Our U boats are constantly enlarged so that they may surpass the enemy's boats in size and fighting value, but chiefly in order to make an even wider use of them.

"Previous submarine successes show that with some good fortune it is not so very difficult to attain good results. But the handling of U boats more than of others requires a great deal of perseverance, caution and courage. Of course it must be admitted that the prospect of a great success is a powerful impetus and stimulus for everyone who is engaged in submarine action. To hunt up the enemy is often left to chance, but it requires considerable time and experience to get within shot of a vessel and to succeed in eluding the pursuer. It is a recognized maxim for U boats not to withdraw from the theatre of battle until every prospect of shooting at an object is gone. During the attack the periscope, which serves to indicate what is in sight on the surface of the water, is exposed to sight no longer and often to absolute necessity. The periscope is the most valuable part of the diving boat and betrays its location. At the same time the wake left by the passage shows the boat's course; hence these submarines are at a great advantage which make ready for attack without exposing the periscope except rarely and for brief intervals. Any moment the enemy by successful shooting may spoil a submarine's good chance; hence it requires much skill on the submarine's part to fix the proper time for discharging the torpedo which cannot escape from danger in time it will take the offensive.

and try to ram the hostile boat, which must be prepared for the onslaught and attempt to evade the danger sideways or to dive deeply.

"Submarines are, relatively speaking, a greater source of strength to a feebler naval power than to a more powerful one. So we can quite understand that even the mightiest navies feel somewhat paralyzed if they are opposed by an enemy provided with a fair number of submarines. An efficient means of combating the U boats has not yet been invented, but might be looked for, in the first place, in the shape of some aircraft."

British Fleet Sinks Three German Cruisers; Pursuing Two Others

London, Dec. 9, 10.10 p. m.—A British squadron, under command of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee, chief of the war staff, engaged a German squadron, under Admiral Count Von Spee, off the Falkland Islands, in the South Atlantic, yesterday, and won a victory which is being acclaimed throughout England.

The armored cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, and the protected cruiser Leipzig, three of the German warships which had been menacing British shipping, and part of the squadron which sank the British cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth in the Pacific on November 1, were destroyed, while the cruisers Dresden and Nurnberg, the two other vessels which composed the German squadron, made off during the fight and, according to latest accounts, are being pursued. Two colliers were captured.

The announcement of this engagement and victory, which was the most important naval engagement of the war, with the exception of that off Heligoland last August, was made this evening in a statement by the Admiralty of less than one hundred words.

The statement makes reference to some survivors rescued from the Gneisenau and the Leipzig, but no mention is made of any of the crew of the Scharnhorst, which was the flagship of the German admiral, being saved, and it is presumed that Count Von Spee, his officers and men went down with the boat.

THE BRITISH LOSSES WERE LIGHT.

The British losses were light, but beyond the fact that the British squadron was commanded by Vice Admiral Sturdee no information is vouchsafed regarding the ships engaged, and the newspapers are enjoined not to speculate as to "other combinations may be effected."

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed in London over the victory, and the general impression is that it will be completed, as the Admiralty would not be likely to send ships that could not overtake the Dresden and Nurnberg, which are 24-knot and 23-knot vessels respectively, and probably even slower after their long service. They are at a disadvantage also because of their small coal capacity.

The British squadron which engaged the Germans left England without the knowledge of the general public, and until his name was mentioned it was believed that Vice Admiral Sturdee was serving in home waters. The fact that he was taken from the post of chief of the war staff in indicative of the determination of the British government to clear the Pacific and South Atlantic of all German warships. It is believed, therefore, that the British commander is at the head of a formidable squadron.

THE KARLSRUHE.

In addition to the Dresden and Nurnberg, only one German warship—the Karlsruhe—is now unaccounted for in these waters, although there may be one or two armed merchantmen which the Allies have not rounded up.

As the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau each carried a complement of 765 men, the Leipzig 286, the Nurnberg 322 and the Dresden 261, the total German loss is estimated at not far from 2,000 men, although the actual loss to the Dresden and Nurnberg cannot yet be known.

The Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau are armored cruisers of the same tonnage, 11,220 tons, and are sister ships. Both are 449 feet long, with beams of 70 feet, and a draught of 24 1/2 feet, and an indicated horse power of their engines of 27,759 h.p. Both were completed in 1908. Each has a complement of 764 officers and men, and is armed with eight 8.2 guns, six 5.9, twenty 3.4 and fourteen smaller guns.

The Leipzig which was sunk has a tonnage of 3,200 and a complement of 303. The cost was about $1,272,500. Her armament was ten 4.1 guns and fourteen smaller. The total length was 341 feet.

The Nurnberg is also a vessel of the same class differing from the Leipzig only in details. She has a total personnel of 322.

The Dresden is somewhat larger, having a displacement of 3,544 tons and a complement of 361 officers and men. Her length is 364 feet and her armament consists of twelve 4.1 guns and four 2.1 and four machine guns. But the Dresden is one of the fastest vessels in the German navy, having a speed of 27 knots an hour. Like all the German vessels in this engagement except the Leipzig which was in the 1906 programme, the Dresden was completed in 1903.

SAYS GERMANY HAS LOST 1,175,000 MEN

Hilaire Belloc Makes Assertion Based on "Irreducible Minimums"

Hilaire Belloc, a British writer on military affairs, calculates that up to the middle of October the Germans suffered a loss of 1,175,000 men from "wastage." This includes men killed, wounded, captured and incapacitated. He states that the figure seems startlingly large, but that the estimate has been worked out upon a basis of irreducible minimums and from the best military experience. He says: "The German empire had, counting lunatics, bedridden men, cripples, men over eighty and boys between seventeen and twenty, 17,000,000 males available in four categories. A quarter were the trained men of useful fighting age, twenty-one to forty-five—four and a quarter millions; a quarter—another four and a quarter million—the men of the same age untrained or but partially trained, never having formed part of the regular army or not having served their two years—most of them because it is not the German system to take every available man, but rather to pick and choose and leave a large untrained or half trained reserve to be digested into the army in the course of a war, but very many because they were physically unfit for service.

"The remaining two quarters, or eight and a half million, stand for the boys who are not really fit to bear arms but who can at a pinch be called upon (as Napoleon called upon such classes in his last desperation) and for elderly, old and very old men. Nor should it be forgotten that to keep a nation going at all in war time you cannot reckon less than a number varying with varying circumstances, but in the case of Germany at least one million men—neither boys nor too old.

Well, this loss of nearly one and three-quarter millions (at the very least) has fallen most heavily on the first and best. It comes to more than a fifth of all the two possible categories combined; more than a fifth of those who can ever make real soldiers and of these more than a quarter of the first line.

time disappeared. It will probably be found when fuller records are available that much more than a third have already gone. Of the best troops called up for the first effort, one-fourth have certainly gone and probably more. Of all the troops, trained and untrained, so far incorporated by Germany, one-fourth have gone, for she has certainly not yet summoned in any shape more than seven million men since the beginning of the war—it is doubtful if she has summoned six million. Of all available material for anything approaching a true army a quarter has already gone.

THE RED SEA ROUTE.

London Chronicle.—When Napoleon invaded Egypt by way of Suez, he attempted to cross the Red Sea at the spot assigned by tradition to the crossing of the Children of Israel. He and his horsemen, however, seem, unintentionally to have imitated Pharaoh rather than Moses, for they came very near to being drowned. According to French accounts, Napoleon saved his army by his resource of mind, ordering his cavalry to scatter in every direction to multiply chances of coming on shallow water, and thus finding a line by which he and his people were extricated. The people of Suez, says Kingslake, declare that Napoleon lost his horse, got thoroughly submerged and was fished ashore only by the assistance of the natives.

ONE DOUBT DISPELLED.

Of India, whom the markets were late discussing as the absent of all the world's surplus gold, one London writer remarks that "the ability of India to import large amounts of gold, as in recent years, has greatly diminished. For some time past that country has bought large quantities of goods from abroad, and the excess of its exports over its imports has now fallen to figures which do not permit of the import of much gold."

Morning War News By Cable

London, Dec. 9, 9:22 p. m.—It is officially announced that Subhi Bey, late governor of Basra, Asiatic Turkey, commander of the Turkish forces at Kurma, yesterday surrendered unconditionally with his troops to the Indian expeditionary force which is operating at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Kurna, subsequently, was occupied by the British who are now in complete control of the country from the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers to the sea and of the richest part of the fertile Delta.

Paris, Dec. 9, 7:23 p. m.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Nish, Serbia, says: "The crushing offensive movement of the Serbian army has been successful along the entire front. The Austrians are retiring in the greatest disorder, losing a large number of prisoners and cannon and war material."

"At one point alone the Serbians took 20,000 prisoners, and the band and the flag of the 22nd Regiment."

Nervous Prostration and Heart Troubles.

Nervous Prostration, or Neurasthenia, is one of the worst forms of nerve trouble and brings about a general weakness of the whole nervous system. The symptoms presenting themselves are headache, feeling of depression, disturbed and restless, unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams, fright when in crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, fright at travelling, muscular weakness, sense of fatigue upon effort, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too.

As a curable if taken in time. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just what you require at this time. They strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system. Mrs. John Hewson, Caledonia, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know the great benefit your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I suffered for four years with heart trouble and nervous prostration. I was so bad I could not go up stairs without sitting down at the top before I could go to my room. I could not sleep nor could I lie on my left side, for it would seem as if my heart would stop. I thought my time had come. I was doctoring with the doctor, but didn't get any benefit. I took eight boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and am enjoying good health."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOMES MAKE IMPORTANT.

Consider any important article of furniture in your house; a piano, a set of dining-room furniture, the chairs and table in the parlor, the range in the kitchen, the furnace in the cellar, the carpets in half a dozen rooms, the wallpaper on all the rooms. The net cost of making a good seven-room house into a home is not less than $1,500.00. That does not count the piano which would run the cost up to nearly $2,000. Neither does it count the cost of a hundred odds and ends used in the kitchen and the dining-room and the bedrooms.

Now there is not one of these leading staple articles that is not made every day in this country. The amount of wages earned by Canadians for making the things needed to set up an average house, runs to something about $400. A hundred such average, comfortable and not luxurious homes, if furnished by factories employing Canadian labor, would total up $40,000. That $40,000, representing the economic outlay of a hundred sensible people—what becomes of it? Paid to Canadian labor it goes right back into Canadian industry and trade. It helps to keep stores open, clerks busy, delivery wagons going the rounds, freight-trains moving, factory-wheels whirling, and the whole country tuned up to the key of prosperity. Let the same amount of wage money go to some other country and the story is repeated there—helping some other country to prosper at the expense of this. The homes of Canada depend upon prosperity. Everyone knows that and takes it as an axiom. It is not less a self-evident truth that the homes and the householders of Canada directly make the prosperity which they enjoy.

BIG ARMY CONTRACT.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—Orders for 1,200,000 underdrawers have been placed in Canada by Frederick Stohart, representing the imperial government. About a dozen mills, scattered all over Canada, share in the business.

OFFICERS RETURNING HOME RESUME RANK

They Will Not Be Second to Those Promoted in Their Absence.

That all Canadian militia officers who go to the front, and are thus "seconded" as regards commands in the units to which they formerly belonged, will retain their rank, and assume it over the heads of any junior officers who may have been promoted in their absence, was made clear by a statement made by General Sam Hughes.

The matter was drawn to the attention of the minister of militia at a meeting of the Cavalry Association in Ottawa. As a result, General Hughes is making it clear that officers who go to the front will be given brevet rank, so as to retain their seniority over any officers junior to them who may be promoted at home during their absence.

The militia department has received applications from two women doctors to go to the front. One is from Winnipeg.

TORTURED BY CONSTIPATION

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Paralyzed Bowels and Digestion

St. Boniface de Shawinigan, Que., Feb. 3rd, 1914.

"It is a pleasure to me to inform you that after suffering from Chronic Constipation for two and a half years, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-tives.' While I was a student at Berthier College, I became so ill I was forced to leave the college. Severe pains across the intestines continually tortured me and it came to a point when I could not stoop down at all, and my Digestion became paralyzed. Some one advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and at once I felt a great improvement. After I had taken four or five boxes, I realized that I was completely cured and what made me glad, also, was that they were acting gently, causing no pain whatever to the bowels. All those who suffer with Chronic Constipation should follow my example and take 'Fruit-a-tives,' for they are the medicine that cures."

Don't neglect to take daily exercise in the open air it's almost as important as daily food.

One of the best forms of exercise is walking. Every day when the weather permits walk to or from your work, and certainly during noon hour.

A half hour's brisk walk in the fresh, clean, outdoor air every day will bring its own reward. If chilly or cold when walking take deep breaths. Walk with the chest high and head up and you can't feel blue and depondent.

SITUATION AT HOME IS BAD

Kaiserland No Happy Country at Present Time

TEN MILLION OUT OF WORK

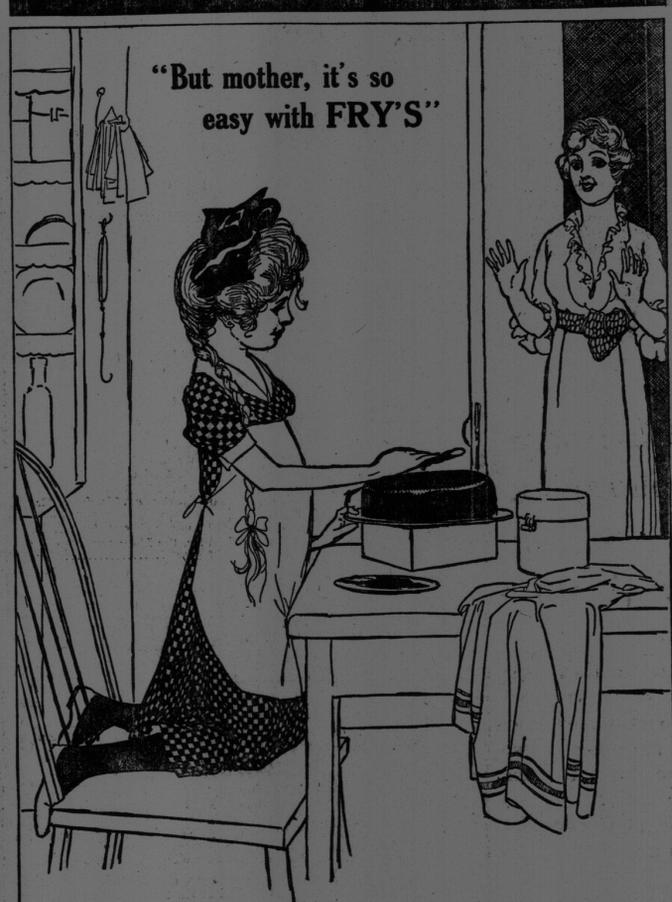

People Sullen and an Outbreak Would Not Be a Surprise—The Real News of the Fighting is Becoming Known

Authentic particulars regarding the general state of affairs in Germany have been obtained at Amsterdam from an impartial and reliable source. They show that the number of unemployed in the fatherland, without counting those who have joined the colors, are fully 10,000,000. The result is growing discontent on all sides. The people are sullen for the present, but are likely to burst any time.

The authorities are taking no chances and despite the urgent need of men in the field they keep large bodies of troops in reserve for emergencies in all large cities, but especially in Cologne, where the situation has once or twice assumed a threatening aspect. Only recently has the truth with regard to the war begun to trickle through. Notwithstanding the precautions taken, Swiss, Swedish and Danish papers have been smuggled into the country and the better classes, at any rate, now know that not only is Paris not besieged, but that neither Calais nor Havre run any danger, and that it is untrue that the Germans are at Dijon.

These revelations have had an up-setting influence and have convinced the most optimistic that the Germans will have a hard fight to win. Things had reached this state before the refugees came pouring in from East Prussia. Their appearance caused positive consternation. It is estimated that the German losses in Prussia by reason of the Russian invasion already have reached 215,000,000, most of which is sustained by the Poles, who are all-powerful there. This is likely to have considerable bearing on the future of the war, for the Junkers have a large voice in the conduct of affairs; their enthusiasm for war has diminished visibly since the Russians started advancing in earnest.

There is no moratorium in Germany, and the result is that the smaller shops, chiefly owing to the wholesale collapse of the smaller and purely local banks and the closing down of 80 per cent. of the provincial branches of all the large credit banks. No one has any money because of this, while credit has entirely disappeared. Those who saw what was coming or who had time to save anything out of the wreck sent all their money and securities to Switzerland—or that is, as much as they dared, for through the income tax returns the fiscal authorities know the exact standing of everybody and used the information to advance to force subscriptions exacted for the national defense loan. For this same reason every savings bank, friendly society and such institutions were denuded of every penny of their reserves, while, as already known, private banking accounts were raided to the same extent.

KEIR HARDIE NOW IN SEMI-SECLUSION

London, Dec. 10.—The voice of Keir Hardie, famous labor leader, is heard no more in the land—or at least only rarely compared to his former frequency of eloquent oration.

Keir Hardie has retired to a state of semi-seclusion, for in these unsettled times his anti-belligerent sentiment is sorely tried by contact with the world. Hardie was one of those who argued most strongly against war, and the participation of the laboring man in war.

Canada Life Service

The Canada Life management studies to extend and broaden its service to the policyholders, while constantly aiming at increased efficiency. The Company is quick to adopt any measure which will promote either.

An Example of Canada Life Usefulness

By means of an annual deposit with the Company, a man may now arrange that in the event of his death his wife, or other dependent, will at once enter on an income of, say, $50 per month. This sum is beyond the reach of poor investments and is absolutely assured to her for life—or for a minimum of 240 payments to the estate should the beneficiary die. The amount of the guaranteed monthly payment may be adjusted to suit the means of the assured.

This is the ideal provision in that it furnishes a guaranteed income for life, payable every month. As it may be provided through moderate annual payments to the Company, it is within the reach of every business man.

RING

Bouts This Week.
Sam McVea, one of the colored heavyweights who wants a try at Jack Johnson, is to meet Battling Jim Johnson in New York tonight. They met twice in France in 1910. The first bout was a fifteen-round draw and in the second McVea stopped Johnson in twenty-one rounds. Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, will get a good guarantee for boxing six rounds with Mike Sheridan at Grand Rapids on Friday night.

Johnny Lustig, a Brooklyn lightweight will meet Gilbert Gallant in Brooklyn on next Saturday night.

Professional boxing is expected to open in Cleveland on Friday night with a bout between Cal Delancy and Patry Broderick.

Frankie Callahan was indiscreet. He licked Jack White and now Charlie has taken his brother's side.

DOPELETS BY FULLERTON

An earthquake reformed an island in the Mediterranean but it would take more than that to reform the baseball magnates.

They are talking of putting up statues of Chicago's great men and not one mentions Frank Chance. How soon are we forgotten?

Find Problem for Police

The fact that young girls, many of them of tender years have been seen around the armory in the evenings and late at night was brought to the attention of the police with a request for action by a resolution passed at the meeting of the Associated Charities last evening. The prevalence of cigarette smoking among boys was also discussed. Plans for the use of church buildings as social centres for the soldiers were announced. The secretary reported on the work for the previous month showing more applications for work from women than during the corresponding month last year.

There is an entirely new sentiment this year in regard to what are needless extravaganzas.

Fewer balls and $10,000 dance parties, a smaller number of select little dinners at $50 a plate—not less enjoyment, but a trifle less expensive pleasure, that is the order of the day, or rather the night.

Seems to be a long time since we have heard of anybody's entertaining a trained monkey at dinner.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

VICE ADMIRAL SIR F. C. D. STURDEE

Sir Frederick Sturdee, K.C.B., C.V.O., C.M.G., is a man of world-wide reputation and stands in Britain's roll of honor. He has worked his way gradually from the ranks, receiving his first commission in 1880 to the rank of lieutenant, and his career since that time has been rapid. During his years of service he spent two of them on the ill-fated Bulwark which was sunk off Sheerness a few weeks ago. At that time 1904 Lord Charles Beresford in the Mediterranean command.

Admiral Sturdee was promoted only last December to the exalted position of vice-admiral. He is the son of the late Captain Frederick R. Sturdee, R. N. C. (of the old navigating branch) and was born in June, 1859. He was promoted to lieutenant in February, 1880, with three first class certificates and in 1888 won the gold medal of the Royal United Service Institution for the prize naval essay submitted that year. He returned to the Vernon as a senior staff officer in 1889 and in the following January was appointed in command of her tender, Vesuvius. He was advanced to commander in July, 1893, being at the same time selected for service as an assistant to the director of naval ordnance and torpedoes at the Admiralty. In this latter appointment he remained for more than four years and succeeded in winning the R. U. S. I. gold medal for the second time in 1894. He was in command of the Porpoise at the Australian station from November, 1897, to June, 1899, when he was advanced to captain in recognition of his service in command of the British forces at Samoa, which also won him the C. M. G.

He was assistant director of Naval Intelligence from October, 1899, to October, 1902, and was also a member of the departmental committee formed to compile a digest of the leading prize cases for the use of the colonial prize courts and to frame instructions on prize law for the guidance of naval officers. For the ensuing twelve months he was in command of the Minerva in the cruiser squadron, receiving the M. V. O. on the occasion of King Edward's visit to Malta in 1903. This was followed by a similar period of command of the Bedford, attached to the Channel fleet; and in November, 1904, he succeeded Captain Jellicoe in command of the Drake in the cruiser squadron. In January, 1905, he was again appointed to the Admiralty for special service and from May, 1905, to March, 1907, was chief of the staff to Lord Charles Beresford in the Mediterranean command, being invested with the C. V. O. by the present king (then Prince of Wales), during his voyage home from India in 1906. He was again chief of the staff to Lord Charles Beresford in the Channel fleet from March to December, 1907, when he was obliged to relinquish the post in order to qualify for promotion to flag rank by taking command of the battleship New Zealand of the same fleet. He became rear-admiral in 1908 and has been employed as junior flag officer in the first division of the home fleet, January, 1900, to January, 1911; president of the submarine committee at the Admiralty, February, 1911; in command of the third cruiser squadron, December, 1912. On January 1, 1914, he was appointed the Admiral for special service. Last year he was awarded the K.C.B. in King George's birthday honors.

Sir Frederick Sturdee took command of the Pacific squadron only recently and it is evident that his mission was for the express purpose of riding the Pacific of the German brigands. The success of the vice-admiral in so quickly dealing with the enemy and in searching out and destroying her cruisers, has been due no doubt to his long experience, his keen resourcefulness, steady nerve and the fine and fast ships under his command.

That Racking Persistent Cough

Can Be Quickly Cured By DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

All obstinate coughs and colds yield quickly to the general action of "Dr. Wood's" for the simple reason that this valuable preparation combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with which is combined Wild Cherry Bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks. This makes it, without any chance of denial, the best cough medicine on the market to-day.

When you ask for "Dr. Wood's" see that it is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, and that the name, The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., appears on the wrapper. Price, 25c and 50c.

Mrs. H. C. Kingston, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "I wish to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as being the best cough medicine on the market. A few months ago I took a severe cold which left me with a racking cough. After trying several cough remedies, with no result, I decided to get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking the first two doses it began to effect a cure, and after continuing its use for a short time, I was entirely cured. I cannot say too much in its praise."

HELP THE STARVING BELGIANS

An Appeal is Made to Americans in Dominion of Canada

Editor Times: Dear Sir:—Will you permit me to appeal to Americans resident in Canada to send a donation to the Dollar Christmas Fund for Belgians of which I am treasurer?

It is our ambition to avert starvation amongst seven million Belgians this winter, and for this purpose we are acting with the Shilling Fund of London which has already collected $40,000 for a similar purpose. The Shilling Fund was started by the London Daily Telegraph and the secretary of the Dollar Christmas Fund in New York is Percy Bullen who represents that paper in the United States.

In New York we have collected $80,000 and by extending our appeal to the Dominion of Canada we hope to increase that amount considerably. The co-operation of the two funds ensures economy and efficiency. We have no paid workers and all the money contributed goes direct to one of the greatest works of mercy ever undertaken. Our fund with headquarters in London has the guidance of King Albert and the members of the Belgian military.

If Americans in Canada will only realize that countless little children are still crying for food, frail women still suffering and aged men still without shelter, I am sure that they and probably many Canadians also will send a portion of their Christmas charity to our fund.

Unless otherwise desired the names of contributors will be printed in New York and the London Daily Telegraph.

It is not long to Christmas in Canada in time enough for Americans in Canada to stand by the side of their fellow countrymen in the United States in sending an American Christmas gift to the people without a country. Please send a dollar and more if you can. All donations should be addressed to HENRY CLEWS, Treasurer of the Dollar Christmas Fund, Henry Clews & Co., P. S.—We can cable money for the Belgians at late as Dec. 23.

THEFT OF $76 IN TRURO; BOY IS ARRESTED HERE; HE DENIES ACCUSATION

E. C. Cribb, of Truro, provincial detective, arrived in the city this morning and left on the noon train with William McDonald, eighteen years of age, who was arrested here yesterday by Detective Killen on a request by telegram from Chief of Police Walker of Truro.

Mrs. George Brenton, of Truro, was robbed of $76 about two months ago, and two boys, young McDonald and Harold Reynolds were suspected. Reynolds was arrested by Detective Cribb in Westville a few days ago. According to the story the two boys had gone to the Brenton home, being acquainted with some of the boys there. While they were in the house Mrs. Brenton left to go down town and before leaving took $4 from her purse, which contained $80. While she was away the rest of the money was taken from the purse. The boys left home that day and were traced to Amherst and other nearby towns. Reynolds was finally located in Westville, and it was learned that McDonald had come to St. John, where he was located by Detective Killen, setting up pins in a bowling alley. McDonald, it is said, denies all knowledge of the theft.

ATHLETIC MOVEMENT STARTED IN FAIRVILLE

New Gymnasium as Result of Rev. Mr. Hayward's Efforts—Some of the Plans

One of the greatest necessities in Fairville has always been a place where the boys and young men could have a good time during the long winter evenings, while games of sport or other wholesome recreation that would appeal to the average young fellow instead of loafing round the street car corner or playing a hanger out at some other rendezvous.

Realizing the urgency of such a condition of affairs, Rev. P. R. Hayward of the Baptist Church, made arrangements early in the fall to remodel the barn in the rear of the church into a snug gymnasium, and last evening the room was opened for the first time and some fifteen boys and young men averaging sixteen, seventeen and eighteen years of age, were given initial instruction in basket ball by Frank Thorne, one of the athletic leaders in the St. John Y. M. C. A.

No attempt had been made to get a large crowd last evening or to advertise the affair, as the idea behind the movement was expansion, but judging by the hearty co-operation and enjoyment of the boys last evening, they will form a valuable nucleus of an excellent organization.

Next week the girls will be given an opportunity to enter the gymnasium for their first training and in due course it is proposed to form a four-team league of suitable trophies will be offered. Electric lights have been installed in the new gymnasium, among other modern improvements, and equipment for volleyball and indoor baseball has been secured in addition to the basket ball outfit.

The only real sport attempted last year in Fairville was baseball, and while the season was considered fair, those interested believe this section could do much better if the young men were organized in a more efficient way and the public aroused to support them in their endeavors.

This enterprise by the Baptist people will no doubt increase general enthusiasm in good clean athletics and at the same time encourage the natural energy of the young folks along lines that are helpful to body and mind.

DIED AT SOUTH BAY

The death of James Logie, a well known resident of South Bay, occurred yesterday at the home of his brother, Thomas. He was thirty-six years of age and is survived by his wife and two children, two brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Cornelius of Fairville and Thomas of South Bay, and the sisters are Mrs. Charles Masson of Fairville, Mrs. John Fleming of St. Stephen and Mrs. John Hayes of South Bay. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon from his brother's home.

W. W. MANSON DEAD

After an illness of about six weeks William Waters Manson died this morning at his mother's home, 110 Mecklenburg street. He had lived for several years in the states. Besides his mother, he is survived by two brothers, John B. of this city, and Sergeant C. G. Manson with the first Canadian contingent at Salisbury Plain. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from his mother's home.

Making the Store Pay

Every foot of available floor space that does not have a customer in it is dead expense.

There are many ways a retailer can assist in keeping his store busy.

He can give good service, sell at fair prices, and he can advertise these facts in his home newspapers.

He should also take full advantage of the manufacturer's advertising.

When the national manufacturer advertises his product in the newspapers, the retailer should take advantage of this advertising by showing the goods and drawing the people to his store.
