'JOY SAILS' ON CUSTOMS CRUISER DENIED

LAPONTE AND BUREAU GIVE SWORN EVIDENCE AT LEMUEUX INQUIRY

Government Counsel Declares Nothing in Official Documents to Support Allegations of Wild Orgies

DOUCET, SULLIVAN DENIED HEARING

Investigation Adjourned for Production of Vessel's Log; Sir Francois Says Interim Report Will be Made to Ottawa; Master of Boat Gives Testimony

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 5.—Allegations of wild orgies and ministerial joy rides on the customs cruiser Margaret, were branded as baseless in sworn testimony today, which reopened before Sir F. X. Lemieux, in the customs probe started by the Stevens committee. R. L. Calder, K. C., of Montreal, announced as government counsel that the official documents relevant to the cutter, and examination of the vessel's crew satisfied him that the statements attributed to A. J. Doucet, former Conservative M. P. for Kent, N. B., and others, were not based on fact. But, to meet the orders of the government, and to satisfy public opinion, he called the Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, Senator Jacques Bureau, former Minister of Customs, and Capt. Alfred Lacouève, master of the Margaret. All ridiculed the joy ride allegations; the Hon. Mr. Lapointe had once visited the boat; Senator Bureau had made three inspection trips. They were "in family," and nothing irregular occurred.

Refusing to allow examination of Mr. Doucet, or of John Sullivan, of Montreal, Conservative candidate in Chateaugay-Huntingdon, Sir Francois adjourned the sitting to Saturday morning, for production of the Margaret's log. He announced that an interim report on the incident opened by the Doucet speeches, will be made to Ottawa.

HEARING OPENS. Reading of the commission extending the customs probe and naming Sir Francois Lemieux to preside at hearings was the opening act. Mr. Justice D'Auteuil swore in Sir Francois on the bench. The oath to commission officials followed.

R. L. Calder, K. C., of Montreal, and W. F. O'Connor, K. C., of Ottawa, appeared as official counsel. Mr. Calder announced that the inquiry as to the general conduct of the Margaret was not yet completed. The commission, therefore, would be asked at present to confine itself absolutely to terminating the incident which commenced with the "unfortunate words" of Mr. Doucet.

"After having examined all documents," Mr. Calder continued, "and after Mr. Duncan, Mr. O'Connor and myself having taken note of all relevant evidence, and the crew of the Margaret having been examined, I wish to declare publicly and categorically that no incident occurred aboard the Margaret which could be reproached against the persons named, whether Mr. Lapointe, Mr. Bureau or any of their companions."

However, because of the instructions of Sir Henry Drayton, representing the Federal Government, and since the public was likely to be suspicious "especially when stimulated by the press," three witnesses would be called and so far as the government counsel was concerned, for the women, the incident would be closed. The general conduct of the Margaret would be probed later.

Mr. Calder announced that the log of the Margaret for 1925 was at Ottawa, as the result of misunderstanding. He would produce it later.

HON. E. LAPOINTE ON STAND. The Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, was called. The only time he had ever been on the stand was in July, 1925, at Prince Edward Island. He and others were en route home from the Hector celebration at Pictou, N. S., where they had represented the Federal Government and the Province of Quebec.

"Captain Alfred Lacouève," the witness said, "asked me whether I would care to go out to see the speed of his ship. We did so. I saw Mr. Bureau, Mrs. Bureau, their daughter and two little children."

Representing Hon. Mr. Lapointe, Hon. Lucien Cannon, former solicitor general, cross examined. His questions soon led Mr. Calder to protest that the range of interrogation should not go outside the official commission. He did not think the court should be used "for political argument."

The questioning, however, proceeded. The Hon. Mr. Lapointe reading that Mr. Doucet had said about him, some editorials, and adding he had heard rumors that he was supposed to be in trouble with his wife. "My family is here," he continued, "and if any of my adversaries care to inquire they can."

Appeal For Peace In Mexico Crisis Made By Peru President

Petition Circulated Asking Council To Have Tax System Probed

A PETITION, which already has been signed by a large number of people, is being circulated by a committee of citizens, requesting the Mayor and Common Council to appoint experts to examine into and recommend upon the tax systems and the city finances generally. The petition asks that the experts appointed be either named or approved by a committee chosen from those signing it. The petition reads as follows: To His Worship the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Saint John: The petition of the undersigned taxpayers of the City of Saint John, humbly sheweth: 1. That, as is well known, there is at the present time prevailing in this community very pronounced and widespread uneasiness and dissatisfaction with the ever-increasing civic burdens and problems which are a constant source of worry to our citizens, especially the owners of real estate. 2. This condition of affairs is made manifest by the numerous letters and editorials in the public press dealing with the civic debt and inequality of taxation affecting real estate, which is based on a system leading to confiscation. 3. The voicing of these pressing grievances having awakened public opinion, we deem it desirable at this time to ask for some definite action on the part of the Common Council, looking to a measure of relief. Your petitioners therefore respectfully request that a survey of the tax system and spending departments of the city be made by experts of undoubted experience and recognized standing, to be appointed by the Council, but named or approved by a committee of the undersigned, to make a thorough audit and investigation of the city's books and accounts covering all departments, including the assessors', and extending over the past five years, showing all expenditures, the increase from year to year of the bonded indebtedness and the floating liabilities from time to time, with amounts paid for interest on all liabilities, and making suggestions with a view to improvements in the methods to be pursued, as may be deemed desirable, and recommending the adoption of all measures deemed necessary or advisable for effecting economy in the administration of civic affairs and the lessening of the burdens of the taxpayers; with full authority to have free and uninterrupted access to all books, accounts, documents and papers, and to give all assistance which he may need or request from the heads of departments and all civic officials, and from all other persons from whom he may require information concerning civic affairs; and that the efficiency experts make reports containing such suggestions as they deem useful or advisable, copies of such reports as made from time to time to be furnished by the auditor and efficiency experts to the press and to the committee on request.

BOOTHS are to be opened in different parts of the city in order to give taxpayers the other they have paid their taxes or not, an opportunity to sign the petition. No. 7 Waterloo street, it was announced today, will be open all day today, Friday and Saturday, to anyone who wishes to sign.

LONDON SURPRISED

Bruce's Statement Taken as a Warning Against Raising Constitutional Issue. LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Daily News says that Premier Stanley M. Bruce's declaration in the Australian House of Representatives, that "adoption of the doctrine of international independence by the dominions would mean disintegration of the Empire," was received with some surprise in dominion circles in London. It is regarded, the paper says, as very pointed and especially designed to hint to the other dominions that Australia will not support at the Imperial Conference any movement for the raising of constitutional issues which she considers would endanger Imperial unity.

3,000 DROWNED WHEN YANGTSE RIVER OVERFLOWS

Deluge Follows Bursting of Dykes in Puhuh Province. HANKOW IS SAVED. 2,000 Square Miles Inundated; Untold Damage Is Done to Crops.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 5.—The river Yangtse, one of the finest of mother earth's great rivers, because of the tremendous international traffic it bears and its extraordinary length, has added another dismal chapter to the history of Oriental floods.

Approximately 3,000 persons are dead in a deluge which followed the bursting of dykes in Southeastern Puhuh Province. A quarter of a million farmers had fled the district and an untold amount of damage has been done to crops in the two thousand square miles of flooded territory.

The city of Hankow was saved from a disaster when the breaking of a dyke permitted the waters which had backed through sewers upon it, to drain. Forces are now at work strengthening the river bank with sand bags and otherwise fortifying themselves against the danger of a stress swollen by heavy rain.

Refugees from flooded areas are pouring into the centres of population bringing reports of crop damage which may mean a repetition this autumn of the disastrous food famine of a year ago.

Agnes M'Phail Hopes Next House Will Be Like The Last

ALLSTON, Ont., Aug. 5.—"A person who has lived 200 years would be earth today would not recognize any of our modern methods except in the House of Parliament, where they would be perfectly at home," stated Miss Agnes Macphail, former member of parliament for Southeast Grey, speaking here yesterday at the Dufferin-Simons Progressive convention, which chose Mrs. Sidney Banks, of Shelburne, as candidate in the coming general election.

Criticizing the present form of government in Canada, Miss Macphail charged that some of the funds for both principal parties in the House of Commons were supplied by breweries. Miss Macphail hoped the next parliament would be like the last, with no party having complete control. Then a new form of government would be inaugurated having co-operation as its keynote. An alliance between the Liberal and Progressive parties, Miss Macphail said, would mean the older party swallowing up the Progressives.

Calles Holds Firm Stand on Constitution

Religious Situation Is Reported to be Unchanged. BUSINESS DROPS. Boycott Said to be Proving Effective in Places Outside Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—President Calles again has reiterated the intention of his government "to enforce without fearing interdicts or supernatural punishments" the constitutional provisions regarding religion. General Calles has replied to this effect to Augusto B. Leguia, president of Peru, who sent the Mexican chief executive a telegram requesting re-establishment of harmony between the Mexican government and the Roman Catholic church.

"The Mexican constitution," said General Calles, in his reply, "is not a special law but a great fundamental code, which I am forced and determined to enforce without fearing interdicts or supernatural punishments."

NOT INTERFERENCE

General Calles said the would consider President Leguia's telegram a personal expression and as not implying intervention by a foreign power in Mexico's purely domestic affairs. "Evidently," the message to the Peruvian president added, "Your Excellency has not received truthful reports of the Mexican government's attitude regarding the Catholic church, as otherwise your opinion would be decidedly favorable to the Mexican government's viewpoint."

"If God is the Supreme manifestation of good, both in individuals and nations, I do not believe in this instance He has taken sides with those who for more than a century have been responsible in Mexico for inter-familial, international invasions and intrigue, as well as unrest in the conscience of the people."

PEACE FAR OFF

There has been no change in the controversy between the government and the Roman Catholic church. There are no indications that a peaceful solution of the situation is near at hand. The newspapers are printing almost nothing concerning the boycott. Such scant information as becomes available, however, indicates that in most places, it is having much more effect than in Mexico City. Some sections of the country, seemingly are observing the boycott strictly and business there is decreasing alarmingly. It is reported that some wealthy Roman Catholic families accustomed to spending considerable time abroad, are departing for Paris, Rome and other European cities.

STATEMENT BY CHURCH

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—In a general statement to the press, the Roman Catholic Episcopate declares that a settlement of the religious situation may be accepted by the episcopate only if it includes recognition of rights of Catholic priests as Mexican citizens. This recognition also must include recognition of the principles laid down in a formal letter of the episcopate demanding that the government withdraw its religious regulations.

80 HOUSES IN P. Q. VILLAGE ARE DESTROYED

Hundreds Homeless in $500,000 Blaze at St. Come de Kennebec

QUEBEC, Aug. 4.—The village of St. Come de Kennebec, 72 miles from here, was practically wiped out by fire this afternoon. Eighty houses of a total of 92 were destroyed. Hundreds are homeless. News of the fire reached Quebec tonight.

The church, presbytery, convent and several residences in the extreme end of the village were saved. There was no official estimate of the damage available, but it was roughly estimated at $500,000 and there is insurance of about $150,000. Many citizens are completely ruined.

The flames were first discovered in the creamery of Cote and L'Olignon in the centre of the village, on the east side of Riviere du Loup, on which the town is situated. The flames were fanned by a high wind and in less than two hours the whole village was ablaze. When the second house took fire, the wind scattered blazing cinders for a distance of half a mile.

AQUEDUCT DRY. There was no fire-fighting service in the town and the aqueduct which supplied water had been practically dry for fifteen days owing to dry weather. The flames swept through the village like a train of powder. Everything was in a parched state and fell easy prey. All the principal buildings, except those mentioned, were destroyed. Only their situation on a hill saved the church and attendant buildings. The Presbytery was saved with great difficulty, several times becoming ignited. The devotion of the parishioners, however, was triumphant in this instance.

NEAR U. S. BORDER. The village of St. Come de Kennebec is about ten miles from the United States border in the county of Beauce on the Lewis-Jackman (Maine) highway.

Large numbers of the hundreds of homeless were given refuge in the church buildings, and the few houses remaining, while emergency accommodation took care of the rest. The warm weather was an encouraging factor in this respect.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED. Following is a partial list of the buildings destroyed: Banque Canadienne Nationale, the Paris Trust Company, Bureau Hotel, office, drug store and home of Dr. L. J. A. Poliquin; two stores, factory and house of M. L. Demers, tinmith; telephone exchange, post office. Among those who suffered the loss of their homes were: A. Belanger, A.

Many At Fernhill On Visitors' Day

"Visitors' day" yesterday saw a large number of lot holders and others at Fernhill cemetery, who not only looked after and decorated their own lots but wandered all over the grounds admiring the beauty and order of all they saw. The recent rains had freshened the turf and flowers and it is certain that Fernhill never looked better. Many of the visitors saw the new parts of the grounds for the first time and were loud in their praises of what has been done. The staff furnished information and assisted the visitors in every way. As Tuesday was so wet the directors have arranged for another day, today, when it is expected there will be a large number on the grounds again.

Former M. P. is Choice of Conservative Convention at Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, Aug. 4.—Chas. E. Fish, of Newcastle, who represented Northumberland county in the Federal House last session, was the unanimous choice of the Conservative convention held here in the Opera House this afternoon. Delegates from every point in the county were present and the meeting was very largely attended. Mr. Fish spoke feelingly of the honor given him. He explained the difficulties which impeded his efforts during his short session in Ottawa, but he felt that with the return of the Conservative party to power he could accomplish something worth while for the county. Ald. D. S. Creighton was elected president of the county executive; Col. McAuley, honorable president, and W. H. Davidson, secretary.

THE NEXT STEP.
We have just our case before the Duncan Commission and the results flowing from this enquiry by the Royal Commission now rest upon the knees of the gods.

Every now and again the humble and unobtrusive teller, who probably has no idea of his own importance, is dragged blushing from obscurity and allowed a moment in the spot-light.

It is obvious, of course, that if we get what we are asking for through the Duncan Commission and through our representatives at Ottawa, it will be then a much easier matter for us to proceed with Maritime development as far as that depends upon our own efforts.

When these and other matters are adjusted along equitable lines we shall not only feel a sense of relief and renewed energy and confidence, but in many practical ways the road to extensive development of Maritime opportunities, the expansion of old and the establishing of new industries, the settlement of outside and all that sort of thing, will become much easier.

When we come to the fact that during the sessions of the Royal Commission, Sir Andrew Ross Duncan on more than one occasion asked witnesses who were dealing with one topic or another what we in the Maritimes had tried to do for ourselves in connection with this or that enterprise or in this or that contention.

Statistics tell us that no young man doing his one-armed driving in a porch hammock has ever crashed into a fast freight at the crossing.

There may be disadvantages in believing that a bottle of medicine will cure anything, but it makes for long life to believe that everything can be cured.

There are better times ahead, and we must be ready to take full advantage of the rising tide.

Queer Quirks of Nature

HE LIGHTS HIS OWN WAY

His brilliant phosphorescent spots have given him the name of Lantern Fish. LANTERN fishes are common in all tropics and temperate seas in the Pacific and Atlantic.

By AUSTIN H. CLARK
A few francs in his pocket and unlimited ambition, at 39 he was Mayor of France. At 39 he also became the youngest member of the Senate.

As a youth he came to Lyons with a few francs in his pocket and unlimited ambition, at 39 he was Mayor of France. At 39 he also became the youngest member of the Senate.

When a man discovers that his pocket has been picked, it is vain for him to try to get the victor interested in the natural scenery. The man's mind is fixed on his loss, especially if he is familiar with financial stress.

Three times, in short, did Mr. King deliberately choose a speedy trial by Parliament in preference to a jury trial by the electorate, and then, after the evidence had been heard, after the case had been argued, and after his last line of defence had collapsed, he suddenly sought to escape the judgment of the court and to respect the whole case before a jury.

Let those who affect to believe that the Customs scandal is of no importance put their hands in their own pockets and tell us how much they are willing to turn over to the public treasury to make up for the millions fleeced from it by the smugglers.

Let those who incline to the belief that the question of the tariff is only an old saw, look into the matter of the permanency of their employment and see whether tomorrow or soon they will not be forced to leave the country owing to the factory at which they earn their living closing its doors.

Wise is the Mother Who Does Not Paralyze Her Children With Sympathy, Who Braces Them Instead of Melting Down Their Backbones in a Mush of Self-Pity—Too Much Mother-Sympathy Turns Sons Into Loafers and Daughters Into Marriage-Quitters.

WHEN we speak of the qualities of a good mother we always put sympathy at the head of the list, and, indeed, there's something divine in the tender pity of a mother who breaks her heart over every hurt her child in life and washes its wounds with her tears.

Perhaps the one thing that we remember most about our own mothers, when we have grown old and they have gone from us, is how they kissed the place to make it well when we stumbled and fell; the times we wept out our sorrows on their breasts, and how we could always turn from a world that beat and bruised us to the one who poured over our scars the healing balm of her sympathy. "As a mother comforteth one who mourns." It is the symbol of all consolation.

Blessed are those who have had a tender, sympathetic mother. Unhappy those who have missed this priceless boon.

Yet sympathy is one of the virtues that man vice's side, and probably there is no other one thing in all the world that has wrecked so many lives, that is responsible for so many weaklings, and that has made so many quitters and shirkers as mothers' indiscriminate application of sympathy to their children.

For while pity is an excellent that soothes a sore place, and takes the sting out of it, it is also a dope that paralyzes effort. We can be pitied until we are absolutely too drugged to struggle against misfortune. We can be wept over until our backbones melt down into a mush of self-pity.

AND that is what only too many mothers do when their children are placed in an unfortunate environment, or come to grips with the real trials of life. Mother pours over them the inexhaustible floods of her sympathy until she makes them so sorry for themselves that their morale is completely broken down and there isn't a bit of fight left in them.

And when we come to the hard slodding it is not pity that we need. It is a brace. We do not need one to sob over us and tell us how sorry they are for us because the road is rough before us, and it will take all of our strength to make the grade. We need somebody to give us a brace and tell us to go to it, and that they know we have the grit to carry on.

The mothers who do the most harm with their pity are the poor mothers, who, having little else to give their children, overweigh them with the sympathy that is their undoing.

IT IS a common thing to hear these mothers lamenting because they cannot give their children opportunities and fine clothes and telling them that a poor girl or boy has no chance in the world, with the inevitable result that unless their children are made of sterner stuff than most youngsters are, they become the embittered idlers and loafers who never try to do anything and who go through life bewailing their lack of luck.

Their mother's pity that made them soft was their ruin. She made them failures when she might just as easily have made them successes by filling them with ambition and courage, instead of self-sympathy. Nine-tenths of the men who are doing the big things in this country today, who are sitting in the seats of the mighty, making laws, writing books, running banks and railroads and building bridges and skyscrapers, were poor boys who had few advantages of education and no luxuries.

IT IS a safe bet to say that not one of them had an overly sympathetic mother who pitied him because he had to get up in the morning and do his chores before he went to work, and because he had to sweep out the store or work on the slag pile or carry a surveyor's chain, and didn't have fine clothes and couldn't go to an expensive college and joyride around in a sports model car.

On the contrary, they had mothers who told them how fortunate they were to have a job, and who saw that they got off to work in time of a morning, and who fired their imagination with tales of other poor boys who were their way up to fame and fortune. And when little Andy or Charlie or Calvin came home tired and discouraged and envious of boys who could play instead of work, you may be sure their mothers didn't weaken them with pity and tell them how cruel and unjust their lots were. They said, "My son isn't a whiner. He isn't a quitter. He is a fighter." And sent him back to his job.

THERE isn't a day that some mother doesn't ask me what she shall do with a strong, husky son who refuses to work, who won't even get up to breakfast in the morning, and who forces her, or his sisters, to support him. The mother is worried to death over him, but when I point out to her the obvious solution of the problem, which is turning him out of the house and forcing him to earn his own living, she throws up her hands in horror.

"Oh, I couldn't do it," she cries, "I couldn't sleep in my bed, if I knew John had nowhere to lay his head. My food would choke me when I thought of his being hungry."

It is in vain that I point out to her that if the boy had to work or starve, he would work. So she goes on encouraging her son in being a parasite and a grafter, because she is so sorry for him.

IT IS mother's sympathy that is first aid in divorce. It is because young women know that they can always run back home to mother and be wept over and pitied and poor Mary-ed and supported, that makes so many of them throw up their hands and quit as soon as they find out that matrimony is a life job at hard labor instead of a picnic.

Many a home could be saved from total wreckage, many a marriage could be salvaged, if, instead of deluging their disgruntled children with pity and taking their sides, mothers would cast their sympathy and send their sons and daughters back to do their duty and make the best of the bargains they had made.

MOTHERS' sympathy! It is the sweetest and most precious thing on earth and the most dangerous. Wise is the woman who knows how to use it sparingly and judiciously. DOROTHY DIX.

THIS WHITE FLANNEL GOLF SUIT IS PRACTICAL FOR WARM SUMMER DAYS

By MARIE BELMONT

Here is just the golf suit for a warm summer's day. It's cool and practical, comfortable and very smart.

The skirt and sleeveless jacket are of white flannel, and the neck, front and bottom of the jacket are banded with bright wool embroidery. The embroidery also edges the hemline of the skirt and there are two hands of it on the front of the skirt, and at the neck and sleeves of the white crepe blouse.

If desired, the suit could be made with sleeves, and of course it would look equally well in any color.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By GENE COHN

The film "Little Theater," long discussed but never achieved, will make its bow across the nation next fall.

Like that other "Little Theater" movement, which developed from the persevering efforts of a little group of artists and which now flowers in metropolitan and province alike, the "art film" theater has been modestly going its way here for some months.

From the requisit achieved in Manhattan, Symon Gould, its director and founder, is prepared to kick upstairs the popular notion that the public doesn't want tragic, artistic and intelligent pictures.

It may be, he admits, that the entire public isn't ready, but there is a sufficient percentage to make the effort more than worth while.

Gould organized the Film Arts Guild, a Broadway movie house was secured. Here were presented the "foreign films" that the regular film dispensing concerns would have none of. Here, also, were presented revivals of the screen classics of the past—diversified programs which included some of the funny old-timers and pictures of rare quality that have lapsed about Europe for years and never reached the eyes of American audiences.

First offerings were given at "subscription nights," as at the opera and concert. Later repertoire programs were tried on the general public.

At the production of "Backstairs," one of the most tragic of the German films—which contained exceptionally fine acting, by the way—standing room was in demand.

So Gould is going to take his "Little Theater" on the road. Branches in at least 25 key cities are to be opened at the start and any other cities whose residents show interest in the screen classics can get them. Still further, there is to be a magazine society for these fans who want a little art with their pictures.

THE film are 20 years old. Gould points out, "They have been hindered by intense commercialization. This year 800 stories will be released. How many will survive the season?"

"Without music to keep the audience pepped up, 90 per cent of films would go flat. The average film could not hold interest without some artificial prop. Next fall, the Guild will present Dostoevsky's 'The Idiot,' in nine reels, and the theater will be as alive as the tomb. Such is the nature of this picture that the spectators will forget time, place and all else.

"We have shown in New York 'The Three Works,' the great American film, 'Driven,' 'Backstairs,' the great French film, 'Faces of Children,' and innumerable revivals, such as 'The Last Laugh,' the Lubitsch picture, 'War Brides,' and part of Mel St. Clair's output.

"And I find that one of the most overworked myths is that of the happy ending. They say the public will not stand for tragedies and unhappy endings. Certainly it stands for them in the theater and has for centuries.

"And again, if they don't want tragedies in eight reels, what's the matter with two reels—the stories of Maupassant, for instance. We have watched our audiences and find them a mixture of many walks of life."

Flapper Fanny Says. A Thought. Without no correction from thy child; for if thou beatest him with the rod, he shall not die.—Prov. 23:13.

I WOULD not have children much beaten for their faults, because I would not have them think bodily pain the greatest punishment.—Locke.

"DID you have a successful seance?" "Very. We had the spirit of Napoleon present." "How do you know?" "The medium said: 'If you are not Napoleon, rap once. If you are Napoleon, don't rap.' There was no rap."—Esquella, Barcelona.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

A PILGRIMAGE to the Theodore Roosevelt house is on the itinerary of most tourists.

And while taking this trip to a national shrine, a few minutes walk will take the visitor about the Gramercy Park section. Now Gramercy Park, which is one block square, is Manhattan's most exclusive park. It is fenced in and keys to the gate are held only by those who live around it. The number of keys is limited to 200.

Many years ago one Samuel Rugles gave the park to the neighborhood under the strict provision that it may not be in any way disturbed.

TO BEGIN this easy little jaunt, take a Fifth Ave. bus at any part of the city. No. 28 East 20th street is the rebuilt Roosevelt house. It is kept up by a memorial association, and considerable reconstruction has been necessary. A fee of 25 cents is charged except on Saturdays and Sundays.

The interior is practically intact, and to the trophies and furnishings of the "mighty hunter" have been added some of the specimens brought back by his sons. It was an old place, occupied by several generations of Roosevelts. Kermit and Teddy, Jr., now live well up town, off the avenue.

JUST a couple of blocks in the direction of downtown and you are in the Gramercy Park belt. Originally the 20-acre farm of James Duane, one time mayor of New York. Later on of the most exclusive districts. Now occupied largely by artists of all sorts. From

THE "boas" of Gramercy Park is James J. Hannon, the gardener. For 25 years he has nursed the flowers, trees and shrubs. He knows all about everybody and everything and gives particular attention to the children who are frequently left in his care as he works about.

His rules for the youngsters are strict. If they misbehave they must sit on a bench for a stated period of time. Large boys who misbehave are sentenced to walk around the park a dozen times. The parents of the youngsters of today must among his charges of yesterday.

Irving Place parallels the park. So named for the Irving Place theater, once the German theater where the great Conrad played and on a corner of East 17th street the old home of Washington Irving. At 15th street, the home of Ida Tarbell, the writer. Some of a rice little walk before lunch—but full of color and interest. GILBERT SWAN.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST By ALINE MICHAELS

Though they are burden bearers, they are the lords of earth, they are the joyous sharers ever in things of mirth. Leaving the quest of folly, theirs is the tranquil way, nothing of melancholy coming to mar the day. Tolling through dawn's pale hours, tolling through deeps of night, there are the splendid powers, theirs is the ceaseless fight. Tolling in ships storm-ridden, tolling through dust and rain, tolling in mine depths the hidden, sweet is the toiler's gain. Lords of the land and ocean, masters of wind and tide, tasting life's best emotion, knowing life's truest pride; rulers of all creation, grimy and bent they go, drinking the pure elixir only the toilers know. They are the burden bearers, they are earth's lords and kings, they are the joyous sharers ever of life's best things.

FRENCH PUTTING PROFITS INTO ENGLISH NOTES

Custom Blamed Now for Decline in Value of Franc

INTERNATIONAL BONDS ARE BOUGHT

British and Continental Matters in Letter From London

LONDON, July 22.—A very well-known banker gives me his opinion that the decline in the franc is now largely due to the small French tradesman, who is anxious to convert as much of his assets as possible into a currency other than his own. This banker recently put an inquiry to the leading merchant bankers in the city, asking what proportion of French industry and commerce was, in their view, already on a gold basis. The replies varied, but the average view was that 80 per cent. of the assets of French industry was represented by dollar, sterling, or florin credits, or securities. The small man is now following his more powerful brother, and goes round to his bank twice or even oftener a week, to buy with his profits either Bank of England notes or international bonds.

HERIOT AND HIS GARDENER

M. Herriot, former French Premier, is not only Mayor of Lyons, but an enthusiastic horticulturist. His love of flowers and lack of English brought him an amusing recollection when he was in London two years ago negotiating with Ramsay MacDonald. He took an hour off from official duties to motor down to Hampton Court, where he wandered among the beautiful flower beds in a part of the old palace grounds where normally visitors are strictly prohibited. A gardener who saw him in the office shouted to him to "Keep off the grass," being perfectly oblivious as to the intruder's name and personality. As M. Herriot paid no attention, not understanding the warning, the irate gardener smartly walked over to the French Premier, and asked him, without ceremony, where his eyes and his ears were when he ignored notices and verbal intimations alike. Luckily someone came along who recognized the French statesman, and the gardener's apologies were kindly received.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

The latest volume from the German foreign ministry's archives contains a firm earlier documentary evidence as to the real authors of the Great War. The Count Metternich as German ambassador in London, and Bethmann Hollweg as chancellor in Berlin, both favored Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's efforts for a good understanding. These shadow ministers were arrogantly ignored by Germany's real rulers, the Kaiser and his Junker clique. The Kaiser called Metternich "an old woman," and scribbled on his pacific despatches marginal notes such as "rubbish" and "bosh," just as he glowered up the diplomatic correspondence with Vienna over the fateful Serbian ultimatum. In 1911 Count Metternich was told by Mrs. Aquilini that friendly relations depended on the German naval program. But the Kaiser ignored his ambassador in favor of his swash-buckling naval attaché in London, who was all for "giving England a lesson."

HOW ROYALTY WRITES

scandal for nearly half-a-century. Men of all sorts meet at Bisleys on equal terms—generals and privates, admirals and blue-jackets, peers and artisans—and the little sunburned republic is jealous of its fair renown. The trouble was due to the use by two competitors of the long rifle cut down, instead of the short service rifle, which gives special trajectory and less vibration. Sergeant Fulton's King's Prize rifle, though he is in his father's armourer's shop, and therefore by way of being a professional, was quite popular, both for hereditary and personal reasons. Under his mop of curly hair this year's King's prizeman has wonderful eyes like a great judge. He was "in the war." And his unerring aim disposed at long range of a sniper—German officer supply provisioned in an old chateau—who had troubled his battalion much.

TESTING THE TANKS

Army men are keenly interested in the autumn manoeuvres at Quetta, where an elaborate test will be made, as nearly as possible under active service conditions, of the latest tanks in modern warfare. The scheme is that a defending force, strongly entrenched and supported by battery fire, is attacked by another force, only two to one in numerical preponderance, but equipped with a powerful tank section. The old military theory used to be that, for any hope of success under normal conditions, the attacker must be three-to-one as a minimum. Apparently some staff officers think this can, with the proper use of modern tanks, be reduced by a third. Soldiers who fought on the Western front, and remember Neuve Chapelle, Loos, Commercy, and especially Delville Wood, will hesitate to agree. Time and again it was demonstrated, with tragic reality, that one battalion could hold up two divisions. The Quetta trial may demonstrate the tank theory correct—theoretically, and without live shell or ball cartridge—but most live service men will still be doubters.

FLYING FIGURES

The spectacular work of the R. A. F. in the air has been so widely publicized, that the average newspaper reader about the real development of modern flight. Far more important in reality than the military phase of flying, which, unfortunately, owing to war needs gave an entirely impractical trend to aviation at a crucial period of its development, is civilian flying. In fact, the real key to the long run depend on utterly on civilian flying as the British Navy has ever done on the merchant service. It is satisfactory, therefore, to know that all goes well with the civilian wing. In two years, more than 10,000 cross-channel flights have been made, and passengers numbering 28,000 carried, in addition to regular mail services, a total distance of about 2,000,000 miles. These figures will at once begin to grow by leaps and bounds if the present tests of a new direction-finder prove successful. This is a wireless device whereby a pilot can steer a straight course to regular mail services, a total distance of about 2,000,000 miles. BISLEY GOSSIP

The baking weather helped to make Bisley a big success. Lord Jellicoe's first chairmanship was marked by a distance of about 2,000,000 miles. These figures will at once begin to grow by leaps and bounds if the present tests of a new direction-finder prove successful. THE SMOKE TROUBLE

Active preparations are already being made for the holding of a coal smoke abatement exhibition at Birmingham in September. It will be generally admitted by those acquainted with the Black Country that the locale is eminently well chosen, but unless, as everybody hopes, the miners are by that time cheerily back at work again, the season may be somewhat inopportune. For some weeks now it has not rained, and the atmosphere is the result of a long period of drought. The Government has just passed a bill to assist in checking smoke pollution in this country, but unfortunately Neville Chamberlain did not feel himself enough of a Mussolini to include provisions regarding the domestic phase of the evil. There is no question at all that considerable though the industrial contribution to our smoggy atmosphere may be, owing largely to the natural laxity of local authorities in enforcing even existing regulations, it is the domestic hearth that is the chief offender. In London, the conversion to gas fires

SHAW AND THE TOURISTS.

Bernard Shaw's residence in Adelphi Terrace, near the Savage Club, is now included in those London sights shown by guides to American tourists. This is not due to original sin on the guide's part, but to the persistent demands of the tourists. Mr. Shaw's flat is well-gated, chiefly against newspaper interviewers, but the hero-worshipping Yankees stand on the pavement outside, gazing up at the superman's front windows. Mr. Shaw will have the time of his life, if some enterprising guide follows the memorable example of one at Oxford in Dr. Jowett's time. This worthy used to show the Master of Balliol's study window, and, adroitly hurling a pebble, would exclaim: "And there, ladies and gentlemen, is the famous Dr. Jowett himself!" Probably it is because my notions are all wrong, but my patriotic enthusiasm absolutely refuses to work itself up about the latest home industry, which is that of fruit canning. It seems to me that we cannot grow more fruit than suffices, at pretty stiff prices often enough, to supply the community's needs in fresh fruit, and that we should leave the canning industry to

SEAMEN TO BE GIVEN CHANCE TO CAST BALLOT

About 10,000, Engaged on Ships, May Use Advance Polls

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—Canadian seamen employed on steamers sailing on the Great Lakes or in the coasting trade will be able to poll their votes in the forthcoming general elections in company with railway employees and commercial travelers, according to an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act recently issued by the signature of O. M. Biggar, K.C., chief electoral officer.

The following rules and regulations are issued under the heading "Advance Polls":

- To give an opportunity of voting to such voters as are employed on railways or boats or are engaged in traveling for the purposes of commerce, advance polls are established in 142 places specified in Schedule Two to the Dominion Elections Act. These polls are open from 7 to 10 p.m., on the three week day evenings immediately preceding the ordinary polling day.
- To become entitled to cast his vote at an advance poll, a voter must first obtain a certificate that his name is on the list for the polling division in which he resides and that he belongs to one of the classes of persons who are alone permitted to take advantage of the special facilities which the advance polls afford. These certificates can be obtained only from the revising officers or rural registrars who revised or prepared the lists for the places in question, and whose names and addresses are advertised during the week immediately preceding the ordinary polling day in Notices of Advance Polls posted up in each polling division in the places in which the establishment of advance polls are open.
- Certificates should, if possible, be applied for in ordinary business hours during the week preceding the ordinary polling day, but to meet the convenience of applicants who are not at home during such hours on the days of this week, the poster notices will also state where the revising officer or rural registrar will be found between 8 and 9.30 p.m. on the evening of at least the first of the three days on which the advance polls are open.
- To obtain a certificate, or to vote upon it, it is not necessary that the voter should definitely know that he will be absent from home on the ordinary polling day; all that is necessary is that there should be a prospect of his being away. A voter who has obtained a certificate may, however, vote at the ordinary poll if he has not voted at an advance poll and produces his certificate to show that he has not done so.
- An advance poll certificate does not entitle the holder to transfer his vote from one electoral district to another; he may only vote in the electoral district in which he could vote at an ordinary poll. If, however, there are two or more advance polls in that electoral district, he may vote at any of them.

10,000 SAILORS MAY VOTE

It is figured that there are 20,000 men employed on vessels sailing the Great Lakes and on coasting ships, about half of whom will be away from their homes on election day, September 14.

Letters to the Editor

COUNCILLOR SIMPSON AGAIN

To the Editor of the Times-Star: Sir—The letter of Mr. F. J. Donnegan, managing director of Pacific Dairies, Ltd., in reply to mine of July 27, calls for response.

Mr. Donnegan states that his company paid twelve cents on the dollar for common stock and 4 1/2 cents on the dollar for preferred stock. On making further inquiry I find that there was a higher price paid for preferred stock, and in this I stand corrected. But I cannot learn that it was 4 1/2 cents on the dollar. My information is that the price offered to local shareholders was twelve cents on the dollar for common stock of Purity, or 20 per cent. if taken in capital stock of Pacific Dairies, Ltd., and for preferred stock the price was 80 per cent. cash, or 4 1/2 per cent. if taken in capital stock of Pacific Dairies, Ltd. Whether or not there were different offers for different people I do not know, but I know one party who put $275 in and got out $72; another who invested $3,000 and received $720; so your readers can figure out the percentage.

Mr. Donnegan states that it was seriously considered by his directors whether the company should not be liquidated, but out of charity it was decided to pay the "many small local investors something for their Purity holdings."

You, Mr. Editor, can well understand why the Purity Company was not put into liquidation, one reason being that the Pacific Dairies, Ltd., as holders of the majority of stock, would have been on the same basis as other shareholders, and to save their own investment, did not allow Purity to go into liquidation. Another reason, had liquidation taken place, the Purity plant, in the usual course, would have been put on the market for anyone to bid on, and, naturally, the Pacific Dairies did not like that prospect; it was elimination of competition they were after. And so, "out of charity," the Upper Canadian owners of Pacific Dairies came across with whatever proposition to local investors they saw fit. There is a saying that "Charity begins at home," and if that is true, why did not Pacific Dairies make an effort to obtain the Purity stock which was held by "many small local investors" (about whom they profess so much charitable feeling) before buying out the former controlling owner of Purity? The answer is that they would not have been in "control." Control was their goal, and after securing that through the payment of a large sum of money they were in a position to do about as they pleased with minority stockholders.

Or, to put it in another way, was the offer made to Stern for the amount of money he had invested in the business (not holdings) as was paid to the local investors? If the price so paid was greater, what ground has Mr. Donnegan to talk about charity?

SO THE ORCHESTRA CAN FOLLOW THE DANCERS

No ordinary orchestra can keep up the pace when a good live pair starts doing the Charleston. So this hotel orchestra in Jasper Park, high in the Canadian Rockies, has mounted horsetack so they can follow the couple dancing in the teary trails.

Mr. Donnegan further states that the huge deficit of $144,000 was found in the operating account of Purity Company when Pacific Dairies had paid Stern for "control" at a figure which it is reported will allow that person to live in financial sunshine for quite a while. And so, having acquired a license, they promptly proceed to slice and pass it around. Surely Mr. Donnegan does not expect us to believe that the Upper Canadian owners of Pacific Dairies intend carrying on a milk, butter and ice-cream business in Saint John just for the fun of it, or even for "charity." And if the first slice of lemon is being squeezed into the lap of the poor local dupe who paid his good money for Purity stock, and the "Saint John county lawbreaker" who do "grievous injury to outside commercial interests" are to get theirs, it does not require much deep thinking to arrive at the conclusion that in due season the consuming public will not be overlooked in the "pass around."

And so Mr. Farmer up the line has to be content with getting 8-8 cents per quart for his milk, the Saint John county lawbreaking milkman is to be forced out, the citizens of Saint John are compelled to use milk deficient from all their fellow-citizens in the province (without any choice in the matter), paying 14 cents per quart for same and Pacific Dairies, Ltd., is the most charitable concern in existence.

Yours truly, GEORGE H. SIMPSON, Councillor for the Parish of Simonds, Glen Falls, August 3, 1926.

Weddings

Ryder-Sloan.

The marriage of Miss Hula Gwendolin Sloan and Walter Kenneth Ryder was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. John's (Stones) church in the presence of many friends. The bride, who is the second daughter of Mrs. Edith Sloan, 80 King square, and the late Robert William Sloan, of Invercargill, New Zealand, is a native of Invercargill, and is being escorted into the city by her father, Mr. W. E. Sibley, a Canadian Methodist missionary, June 5, on a street in Yang Shien, Chung province, China. This daylight on the tragedy was related here today by passengers on the steamer President Grant, from the Far East. The slayer declared his belief in future happiness before being executed by a police firing squad.

More than half a ton of snails were shipped from France to the United States last year.

GIRL MAINTAINS CAR IS PLAYTHING

Declares License Not Necessary For Automobile, Five Feet Long

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—An 18-year-old girl has a perfect right to have playthings, and it's all wrong for big, husky police officers to insist that she pay for having them.

At least that is the viewpoint of Miss Katherine M. MacNeil, an 18-year-old Newton High School girl, who on next Friday morning is going to drive what she believes is the smallest automobile in New England into the office of Registrar Goodwin and ask Mr. Goodwin to decide when a plaything becomes a vehicle.

LESS THAN FIVE FEET LONG

Miss MacNeil is spending the summer at Nantasket Beach, where she is one of the hostesses at the Palm Gardens. In going to and from her hotel she has been using an automobile provided for her by Joseph Stone, manager of Paragon Park. The "machine," operated by electricity, is less than five feet long and just large enough for Miss MacNeil to sit in. For two weeks everything was perfect.

And then, a careless motorist in a great big car bumped Katherine's tiny roadster. "And where's your license?" asked the policeman who was at the scene of the bump.

"Don't need one—haven't got one," smiled Katherine.

"And furthermore where's your registration plates for that road insect?" persisted the arm of the law.

GOODWIN TO DECIDE

In vain Katherine protested that her plaything wasn't a motor vehicle, that she doesn't need a license nor does she need registration plates. But the obstinate John Law averted differently.

And so, next Friday morning Miss MacNeil is going to drive her car right into the office of Registrar Goodwin, where it will go through the doorway with ease, and ask the registrar to decide when a plaything becomes an automobile.

If the registrar decides it is a motor vehicle, Katherine will be prepared to register the smallest automobile ever registered in Massachusetts. If he decides it isn't a vehicle, Katherine will hustle right back to Nantasket and tell certain officers what's what.

SEATTLE, Aug. 4.—Forty members of the "Red Lantern Society," a Chinese organization professing belief that the killer of a religious intruder gained 10,000 years of happiness, were arrested in connection with the slaying of Mrs. W. E. Sibley, a Canadian Methodist missionary, June 5, on a street in Yang Shien, Chung province, China. This daylight on the tragedy was related here today by passengers on the steamer President Grant, from the Far East.

The slayer declared his belief in future happiness before being executed by a police firing squad.

SPRINKLERS TO BE INSTALLED BY DAY'S WORK

Council Decides to Reject All the Bids Sent In

INSURANCE IS AGAIN DISCUSSED

Relations With Underwriters in Matter—Stove Dealers' Request Up

The Common Council this morning decided to reject all the tenders received for the installation of a fire sprinkler system in the West Side sheds, and to proceed with the work of installing the system by days work, under the supervision of the city engineer and commissioner of harbors, the cost to be met by bond issue.

The estimated cost of the work is $71,000, while the tenders received ranged from $79,000 to $88,000.

Commissioner Bullock said he had taken up the matter of insurance with Peter Clinch as secretary of the Board of Fire Underwriters, and asked him if he could modify the letter relating to the valuation of the property.

Mr. Clinch said he could not modify the letter, but that there had never been any trouble with any mercantile house in the settlement of a claim on the 90 per cent. insurance basis, and he did not think the city need anticipate any if there was a fire in the sheds.

He had then asked Mr. Clinch if he would give him a letter to the council binding the underwriters to accept $825,100 as 90 per cent. of the value of the property, provided the city undertook to keep it in proper repair. This Mr. Clinch declined to do.

WOULD INSURE $500,000

Mayor White asked if the underwriters insisted on having the insurance carried 90 per cent. of the value of the insured property, and Commissioner Bullock said they did not insist on anything, but were willing to give the city $800,000 of insurance on the West Side properties if the city was willing to pay the premium.

The commissioner said he felt the insurance men should give a definite answer to his request and let the city know if they were willing to accept the value of the sheds, as it was not possible to establish values after a fire. He did not think the underwriters should give the city as low a rate as they should if the sprinklers were installed, and the only thing he saw in the circumstances was to reject all the bids for the work and go along as at present.

SUGGESTS CITY DO IT

Commissioner Frink said he was "fed up" with the mass of talk about sprinklers in the West Side sheds, and felt it was time that talk ceased and action was begun. He was in favor of the sprinklers, but he felt that to that end was prepared to move a resolution that the city do the work itself.

The civic department had demonstrated that streets could be paved and water pipe laid by the city cheaper and better than when the work was given out to contractors, and the city could carry on this work.

MAKES IT MOTION

If the city did the work, he said, there would be an opportunity to provide employment for our own artisans. He then moved that the sprinklers be installed in the city sheds at West Saint John; that all tenders be rejected and the checks returned, interest to be paid on the deposit check at the rate of 1 per cent. from the date the tenders were received to the date of the passing of the resolution; that the work be done under the supervision of the commissioner of harbors and the city engineer from plans and specifications to be prepared by the engineer and carrying the signed approval of the Board of Fire Underwriters; and that the estimated cost of $71,000 be paid from a bond issue.

OTHERS COMMENT

In seconding the motion Commissioner Wigmore said he had always been in favor of installing the sprinklers in these sheds among in all large buildings in the city. He did not like the attitude of the insurance people in the matter and felt the city might have to carry its own insurance. He said he thought the specifications should be carefully checked as he understood there was no provision for outside protection.

Commissioner Bullock said there was provision in the specification for outside protection, as a water blanket and sprinklers on the roof of the old immigration building were included. He asked what the council would do if the fire insurance companies would not give a reduction and Commissioner Frink said they would face that problem when it was reached.

WILL BE VALUATION

The Mayor suggested that a clause be added providing for a valuation of the building for the purpose of determining the 90 per cent. insurance value.

In response to this Commissioner Frink added to his original motion that a valuation be made to determine the ratio of insurance to be carried and the amount which the city might claim in the event of a loss by fire by reason of the installation of the sprinkler system.

The Mayor said this would meet his views and while it was not in the motion it was understood that if the insurance companies were not inclined to treat the city in what the council considered a fair manner in this matter the city would carry its own insurance.

The motion of Commissioner Frink passed unanimously.

STOVE DEALERS' REQUEST

A request by the stove dealers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association for an investigation into the stove department of the civic hydro commission was taken up. Commissioner Wig-

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the water of the river, and the river forces its way through the gorge of the Falls, creating a "fall" running up river.

At low tide, water in the Bay becomes so much lower than that of the river, that the water of the river flows and flows down river into the Bay.

At half tide, when the level in the Bay and river are about equal, the Falls disappear entirely, and the water at the Falls becomes smooth as the surface of a pond.

To fully appreciate this wonder of the world it should be seen at all three stages.

more said there had been an audit of the books of the commission and he thought that was all that was necessary.

Commissioner Harding said this matter had been up several times and the civic commission were quite willing to not entail any expense on the commission. It was not clear from the letter, however, just what was wanted and he moved the Common Clerk ask the stove department of the civic hydro commission was taken up. This carried.

NORTH AND WEST "HIGH" PIPIS TO "VOCATIONAL"

Reported That Is Plan in Mind of Those Favoring Change

It was said today that those favoring the utilization of the new Vocational School as a branch of the High School to relieve crowded conditions of the last few years, had in mind allocating West Saint John and North End pupils to the Douglas avenue building.

This idea was not passed the suggestion stage at the present time, but it is reported gaining favor. It has been pointed out at High School closings by Principal Dr. W. J. S. Miles and other speakers that High School conditions in Union street are very unsatisfactory. It was claimed that some of the rooms now being used were originally intended for storage quarters and were structurally wrong for class room purposes and unhealthful.

It was also said by a civic official today that the suggested division of the Union street High School classes need not be considered a permanent arrangement, but more as a makeshift that would relieve the tight condition on the one hand and justify in the minds of many the heavy expense to be borne in operating the Vocational School. These are emergency times in Saint John's finances, and taxpayers and officials alike, it was said, should be willing to make tentative arrangements to lighten the load and sidestep new expenditures.

As Hiram Sees It

THE SETTLEMENT—One of the town fellers was pickin' roshberries along the track an' set his dish down an' then stepped onto a bees' nest. He didn't grab quick enough to git the dish afore them bees was all round it—mean' such a buzzin' that he backed off half scart to death. Well, sir, it was as good as a play to see him tryin' to git that there dish.

He come round from the other side—an' every time he'd reach out his hand the bees 'ud be there in a little swarin' walkin' for a victim. He was a patient feller an' at last a gust o' wind come along an' blowed 'em away an' he grabbed the dish an' run. Well, sir, if I was a hornet an' somebody tramped on my nest I'd be just as mad as they was. I bet that feller 'll be braggin' all winter about how he walked into a bees' nest an' never got stung. I bet, too, that he won't get back for any more roshberries where that nest is. The blazes end of a hornet ain't nothin' to fool with—By Hee.
