He has also in process of erection, below the site of the house, a wooden building which will be used as a saw mill and commission shop. This is going up on a spot which was formerly a swampy mud hole, and it will brighten the appearance of the river end of town.

PITCHER DROPS DEAD AT CRISIS OF GAME

Excitement Costs Him His Life
As the "Fans" are Cheering His Remarkable Work He Suddenly Topples Over and Dies.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 14—After striking out three batters in one-two-three order, reeling his team from what looked like certain defeat, John Stauffer, of Duquesne, fell dead in Lower St. Clair Borough while the crowd in the grand stand was going wild with enthusiasm over his magnificent performance.
Everything was right to make it one of the most spectacular and dramatic incidents in baseball history.
The team of the Duquesne plant of the Carnegie Steel Company and the nine of the Victor Athletic Club, of Pittsburgh, were having a vigorous contest in Lower St. Clair. Neither side had scored at the end of the third inning. At the beginning of the fourth the Victor Club managed to get three men on base, with no one out. The captain of the mill team was struck frantic and he summoned Stauffer, who was being held in reserve.
Stauffer was substituting for the other pitcher of the mill team and the game soon took a very different complexion. The old standby of the mill men had realized that a crisis was impending in the game, and he pulled himself out of the mill team and struck three batters in a jiffy. The Duquesne rooters, who naturally were in the majority in the crowd, threw their hats in the air and cheered in thunderous chorus.
The next batter took his place, and the bases were still full.
"Strike one!"
"Strike two!"
The spectators again rose, holding their breath.
"Strike three!"
It was nerve racking even to the spectators. The applause that went up was deafening, almost barbaric in the frenzy of the overwrought fans. Noting like it had ever been seen or heard of in that neighborhood. Finally, however, the crowd recovered its voice and the shouting that followed was simply indescribable.
Stauffer's name was on every lip. The wonderful performer turned to how to administer, dodging his legs, then he clasped his hand to his left breast and fell over. When they got to him he was dead.
"Heart failure," said Dr. G. R. Evans, who was among the spectators, and had hurried to the side of the stricken man.
"No wonder," said many as they shook their heads and walked sadly away.
Stauffer, who was an employee of the Duquesne mill of the Carnegie Steel Company, is survived by a widow and three children.

MARATHONS CLAIM THE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Marathon baseball team claims the New Brunswick championship for the season of 1909. J. Brabury, captain of the Greeks, so informed The Star last night. If the Frederick Tartars are desirous of getting after the champs it is up to them to talk business and talk it right away, as the season is fast nearing its end.
The Marathons have their claim to the provincial championship on their side. The team of the St. Peter's nine in the city championship series and over the Moncton team in the two games played on Saturday last. The Moncton team consisted practically of the players of the Y. M. C. A. team which won the Moncton city championship.
The Greeks have no desire of sidestepping the Tartars, but instead are anxious to meet the nine from the capital at the earliest possible date. The local team was in a position to play the Tartars last Saturday had the Frederick team been in any way clear to play.
It is now for Manager Arthur Finemore of the Tartars to get busy and arrange a series with the Greeks to decide whether the latter must relinquish their claim to the title of champions.

COON WAS TOO GOOD FOR HIM

The betting public dogged things out right for one when it figured that Jack Johnson would trim Al. Kaufman in their bout at Colma. The man in their bout was taken wild Kaufman was in training for the fight.
walked away with the American league pennant this season.
"It is not so much the Criger end of it that would have made the winning of the flag easy. Cy Young is the man who would have been responsible for the winning of the flag. One year more in Boston would have been enough of the game for Cy, and the grand veteran would have been able to celebrate his last year in the game by winning the flag—a most fitting climax to a wonderful career.
"His own part would have been played on the catching of Young. I am not the best catcher in the world, but I am the best man to catch Cy Young. I would rather work hard with Cy than anybody else, and I know the veteran rail-splitter would rather serve them over with me on the receiving end than any other backstop."
"That's one thing that will bring me back into the game next season if I'm right, and that's a chance I don't want to let pass. I'd even return to St. Louis if Young were to pitch there."

SPORTING NOTES

LEWIS AND BURKE
Wills Lewis and Sailor Burke have decided to meet in another ten round bout at the Fairmount Club on September 24. The men will weigh 145 pounds at 6 o'clock, or rather Burke will make that limit as Lewis will not scale at more than 146. Lewis thinks he can beat Burke this time more decisively than in their previous affair when the referee's decision was a sure knockout by dropping to the floor for the final count.

BASE ATTELL WINS FROM TOMMY O'TOOLE

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13—Abe Attehl, featherweight champion of California, was given the decision over Tommy O'Toole of Philadelphia in 12 rounds by Referee Charles White of New York, at the Armory A. A. tonight. The decision was a surprise to the majority of the spectators, who crossed their disapproval in vigorous fashion.
O'Toole did the forcing throughout the fight, and in the last round had the blood flowing from Attehl's face as he drove him around the ring with six punches. Attehl being his best hang on and avoid the punishment.
WONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 14—Attendance at the second day's races here today got their fill of horse-racing and when the day closed two of the three events were still undecided. Four heats were necessary to decide Astator, winner of the second money in the recent Readville trotting derby, as the winner in the 2:30 trot, and five heats each were run off in the 2:12 trot, and in the 2:16 pace. The latter two events go over to tomorrow's card for final decision.

WEST INDIAN PROBLEMS.
The appointment of the West Indian Commission for the promotion of trade between Canada and the West Indies is taken as a text by the New York Sun in a review of the relations between our country and the British islands in the West Indies. The conclusion is drawn that the West Indies will hardly dare to make any arrangement with Canada that will endanger the advantages they at present enjoy under the American tariff. However, as Americans have shown but little consideration for the West Indians in the past when it suited their purpose to act otherwise, it is possible that the residents of the islands might be willing to take a chance under a new arrangement with Canada which would result in further concessions on both sides. The Sun's review of the situation is as follows:—

It is plain enough that if the sugar interest still retained the commanding position throughout the West Indies which it occupied half a century ago the system confronting the commission would be much simplified. As a matter of fact the policy of British Governments during the last fifty years has not only done much to reduce the importance of the sugar industry, but so far as Jamaica is concerned, has led to the establishment of another industry, that of fruit growing, whose interests are not easily reconciled with those of sugar planting. It is almost superfluous to recall the numerous obstructions to which the remunerative cultivation of sugar in the British West Indies has been subjected by the mother country. Those obstructions began in the early days of free trade, when admission to the British market of sugar grown by island labor was demanded on the same terms as that of sugar grown in lands where the parent State had emancipated the slaves. Subsequently Britain's new commercial policy left her powerless to resist the development of a bounty system in Europe, which gradually drove West Indian sugar to the very edge of their market upon the United States. When a modification of the bounty system came it proved of little value to the West Indian sugar grower because he then lost the benefit of the countervailing duties previously laid by the United States on bounty aided sugar exported from Europe. Still later the preference accorded in the American market to the Cuban sugar threatened to deprive the West Indian planter, and would have done so but for the preference of British cane grown sugar and the surtax on German beet grown sugar imposed by the Canadian Government.

Under the circumstances it is easy to see that a reciprocal arrangement with Canada would quickly be reached on the side of the West Indies where sugar growing still the only or the principal industry concerned. This is seen from being the case of Jamaica at all events. The many losses and growing uncertainty of the sugar industry have brought about a drastic change in the nature of that great island's interests. Capital there has left sugar cultivation, and more for fruit growing. Fifty years ago sugar and its products were credited with more than 80 per cent. of Jamaica's export trade; at the present time less than 30 per cent. is sugar, while more than 50 per cent. is fruit. The fruit growing of Jamaica, however, in which bananas now play the most important part, depends for its profit in that branch on free entry into the United States. Consequently the fruit growers of Jamaica can hardly be expected to favor any reciprocal arrangement with Canada which may expose their own industry to the danger of retaliation at the hands of the American republic.

It is gratifying to find that Premier Hazen has profited by the advice given him by the Liberal press of this province at the time of the famous imposition of Kentucky racers. Either he has taken the advice to heart or he has discovered that the race track breed was not adapted for the improvement of New Brunswick farm horses. His announcement that the local government will import Clydesdales and Hackneys will be welcomed as a more intelligent contribution to the actual needs of the province.

The statement made by the President of the Canadian Manufacturers Association to the effect that the anti-dumping clause of the customs regulations does not give the expected protection to Canadian industries is worthy of careful investigation on the part of the government.

If September weddings continue to increase in popularity as they have in recent years, June will have to look to its laurels or it will be in serious danger of losing its title as the brides' month.

RAILWAYS AND ASIATICS.

The request of the G. T. P. officers that permission be given to bring in Asiatic laborers to work on the mountain section of the new railway will open up an interesting discussion. They claim that unless this is done the work will be delayed for years. This would be a serious drawback, but there are some Canadians who believe that even railway construction is not so important a matter as the protection of our own workmen from competition with a people who can never become Canadians, and who will never adopt the Canadian standard of living.

MR. HERMAN DYING OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

Gin Pills passed the Stone
Six James St. Hamilton, Ontario, writes to the editor of the Star:—
"Four years ago I was taken down with what the doctors called inflammation of the bladder—intense pains in the back and loins, great pain and difficulty in urinating. The pain was frequent, amounted to unbearable agony, and I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. Doctors could do nothing to help me. My wife read in the paper about Gin Pills and sent for a box.
From the very first I felt that Gin Pills were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six weeks the stone in the bladder came away and I felt well and strong and able to do a full day's work. I feel I should speak and tell other sufferers of my experience and of the wonderful merit of Gin Pills."

JOHN HERMAN.
You don't have to buy Gin Pills to test them. Simply write The National Drug & Chemical Co. (Dept. R. 2), Toronto, and a free sample will be sent you by return mail. When you have used the sample and feel that at last you have found the remedy that will do you good—then buy Gin Pills at your dealer—$10 a box, 6 for $50. Remember, please, that Gin Pills are sold on a positive guarantee of a cure or your money back. And this guarantee is backed by the largest wholesale drug house in Canada, who will take your unreported word if you want your money returned."

CIRCUIT COURT OPENED YESTERDAY AT NEWCASTLE

Address Presented to Judge Barry—Interment of a Note.
NEWCASTLE, N. B., Sept. 15.—At the opening of the circuit court yesterday the grand jury presented His Honor Judge Barry with an address, this being his first court in the district. Foreman Joseph McKnight made the address to which His Honor made a fitting reply.

The case before the court are McKnight v. McKnight for trespass, and The Royal Bank v. James Tucker. The case of the Royal Bank of Canada v. James Tucker is one that will create much interest, as Mr. Tucker delivered lumber to the Anderson Furniture Company, and in order to get his money for the lumber had to endorse the company's note for the amount. But when the note came due the company could not meet it and Tucker was ordered to pay it, which he refused.

WITNESSES IDENTIFY HIGHWAY ROBBER

Further evidence was taken before Magistrate Ritchie yesterday afternoon in the case of Thomas Foley, who pleaded not guilty to assaulting Mrs. M. B. Schofield and stealing her pocket book containing $1 on Saturday evening last.
In her evidence Mrs. Schofield swore that while passing Dr. Jas. Christie's residence the prisoner jostled her, knocking her pocket book from her hand. He picked the purse up and made off.
Walter R. Miles gave evidence to hearing Mrs. Schofield call and following the running man down over the hill to the freight sheds when he lost trace of him. He, too, positively identified the prisoner.
James Forsythe, an I. R. C. checker, swore to seeing two men run past him but could not positively identify the prisoner but his general appearance was similar.
Foley was remanded until further witnesses could be secured.
Twenty-two Canadian banks have gone into liquidation since Confederation.

SEES NECESSITY FOR FURTHER TARIFF REFORM

President of Canadian Manufacturers' Association Reviews the Industrial and Commercial Situation—Conditions Rapidly Improving.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 15.—There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which opened at Hamilton, Ont., yesterday afternoon. The president of the association, Robert Hobson, of Hamilton, made a feature address in which he said that trade conditions, both domestic and foreign, have noticeably improved and that considerable trouble in ascertaining the extent of depression which gathered so suddenly towards the close of 1931 and during 1932 has slowly but surely been breaking up. From every quarter comes reports of a revival in business.
"Numerous instances are on record where Canadian houses, tendering on important contracts, have won to considerable advantage by securing the lowest ruling prices in the United States, only to find after quoting as much as 10 per cent. lower than the lowest American price for the same class of material that they have lost the business and yet upon investigation, importation is found to be entered at the customs at its face market value. These instances are a serious secret rebates or by recognizing claims for shortages, or by any one of a dozen other devices, is not for me to say, it is sufficient for us to know that it is done and done at the very time when the protection of the tariff is being urged."
The speaker thought the state of affairs would continue until a satisfactory scale of specific duties is adopted, and this is something for the incoming tariff commission to carefully consider.
"Partly as a result of the unfavorable business conditions previously referred to, the tariff has become a character of late been conspicuous by its absence in so far as our manufacturing interests are concerned."
The president spoke in favor of Imperial defence.

FREDERICTON FAIR OPENED LAST NIGHT

One of the Best Exhibitions Ever Held at the Capital—Premier Announces Further Horse Importations.
FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 15.—Under most favorable conditions and marked by excellent attendance the provincial exhibition was opened last night by Premier Hazen and members of the local government. All the exhibits showed a vast improvement over previous fairs. The attendance was large and it is safe to say everyone was well pleased with the opening.
Premier Campbell occupied the chair and introduced the speakers. Both Solicitor General McLeod and Premier Hazen spoke at length and urged greater attention to agriculture. The premier announced that the government would import Clydesdale and Hackney during the next future.
Governor Tweedie spoke of the present exhibition and said that the fair was a pronounced success. Agriculture was booming on every side.

It is the best food for infants and young children. It is the best food for the sick and convalescing. It is the best food for the aged and infirm. It is the best food for all.

AMUSEMENTS

TWO ABSOLUTE FEATURES AT NICKEL.

All students of history know that during the revolutionary war in America thousands of Hessian troops were sent to fight the battles of England, and to the lasting discredit of these mercenaries the cause was lost. Today the Nickel shows a magnificent Biograph film, entitled "1776—The Hessian Campaign," which gives a faithful portrayal of the deprivations heaped up to the shame of some of these German soldiers, actions that were as deeply resented by England as by the victims. A second great picture is to be the Selig melodrama "The Engagement Ring," with its thrilling high dive on the part of the heroine from the top of a towering bridge. There will be comedy films as well. The Merchants will add "The Glow-Worm" intermezzo to their programme today, and Pauline Barry will continue in her songs and musical monologues. New music tomorrow. Next Monday the Nickel will present a complete new array of talent; new faces, new ideas, new productions.

THE BERNIN'S REPEAT THEIR HIT.

It was S. R. O. last night at the H. H. H. They came from all parts of the city and there were hundreds who have been in the country all summer who wanted to hear the Bernins. As on Monday, their reception was a splendid one and after they had finished singing the applause was deafening. Today is the last chance to hear them in their present numbers, tomorrow they sing a new programme. Prof. Wood repeated his previous night's success and he too was given tremendous applause for his clever work. The lady suspended unsupported in the air while in a hypnotic state is the talk of the town, so is the collecting of real live gold fish in the air with red and blue lanterns. The "Wood" will present a new set of startling tricks. Today is the last chance to see his present ones. Today new pictures will be shown. The feature one is "Justified," a very strong drama, and one of the best ever shown at the H. H. H. The show is an unusual one, and it will hold the attention of the audience from start to finish. There is one scene in it that is the most dramatic ever shown in a picture. Three other Vedettes. Those who can, should attend the matinee, those who can't would do well to be early at night to get good seats. The show runs one and a half hours.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

At the Orpheum this week is the greatest bill ever presented in St. John. The pictures, always the best, this week are particularly fine and of a varied quality that lends light and interest to the eye as well as the mind. The first number on the bill is a little oddity presented by Miss Jessie Brown, a black and white followed by some very clever selections on the side of the trombone, one of the most difficult instruments for a woman to handle.
But it remains for us to tell the people of St. John that the greatest treat of the season and maybe for some seasons to come, is the act presented by the Scottish Four. This is positively the best and most entertaining act that has been the good fortune of the management to secure. The act includes beautiful rendering of old Scottish ballads, delicious comedy, excellent dancing and a story that combines those elements dearest to the heart of every one, pathos and comedy. The dancing of William Cameron, for many years the champion of the U. S. is a most entertaining portion of the programme. The beautiful vocal numbers are rendered in the old Scottish spirit, and the comedy carried out by the artists is something to be remembered for many days. A rollicking rip-roaring reel finishes the act and is enjoyed by everyone who loves artistic nonsense. Don't fail to see it this week.

DR. COOK BEGINS HIS NARRATIVE OF THE CONQUEST OF THE NORTH AND HIS DISCOVERY OF THE POLE

The Voyage North; Arctic Adventures and Life With Eskimos--Graphic Description of Life and Conditions in the Zone of Eternal Snow.

FIRST CHAPTER OF DR. COOK'S OWN STORY, TOLD EXCLUSIVELY IN NEW BRUNSWICK FOR READERS OF THE STAR.

In its desire to present to its readers both sides of the greatest and most interesting controversy in recent history...

with suitable supplies for a prolonged period. One morning the bold cliffs of Cape York were daily outlined in the gray mist which screened the land.

At North Star Bay Though anxious to meet the natives at Cape York we were forced to turn and set a course for the next village at North Star Bay.

Beyond the long, straight line of red cliffs a conical rock, a navigator's sign post, rose from the sea level. Beyond the long, straight line of red cliffs a conical rock, a navigator's sign post, rose from the sea level.

The coast was about two thousand feet high, evidently the remains of an old table land which extends a considerable distance northward.

Here and there were short glaciers, which had cut down the cliffs in their efforts to push to the sea level.

The Conquest of the Pole

By Dr. Frederick A. Cook CHAPTER I The expedition was equipped at Gloucester, Mass. All was ready on the evening of July 2, 1897.

The people of the farthest north are crowded into a natural reservation by the Arctic ice wall of Melville Bay in the south and the stupendous lines of cliffs of Humboldt glacier in the north.

Widely scattered had been born without the usual public bombast. There was, indeed, no excuse for clamor.

Late at night a visit was made to the town of Omaniok. There were three triangular eskimo tents, conveniently placed on picturesque rocks.

Mr. Bradley was interested in game animals of the North. I was interested in the game of the Polar quest.

The harpoon gun was taken, as it was hoped that a whale might come our way, but the gun proved unsatisfactory and did not contribute much to our sport.

I Give It Free.

TO MEN UNTIL CURED. NOT ONE PENNY IN ADVANCE OR ON DEPOSIT. I wish you could know for yourself the wonderful effect of the galvanic current on weak and nervous men.

Some Great Bargains

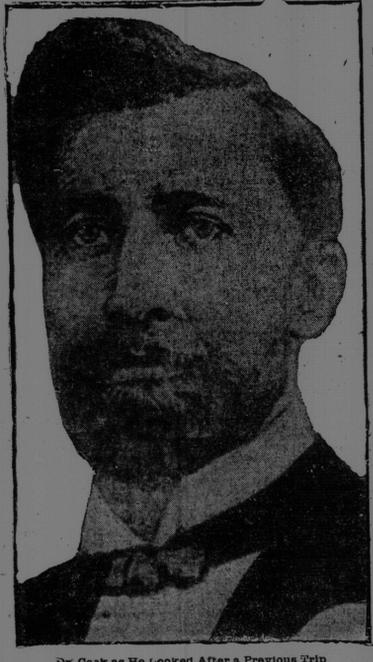

The Eskimos were equally elated with their end of the bargain. For a beautiful fox skin, of less use to a native than a dog pelt, he has secured a pocket knife that would serve him half a lifetime.

Women Were Scarce

It was a period of monogamy. Myah had exchanged a plurality of wives for a larger team of dogs, and there was but one other man in the tribe with two wives.

Dwellings of the Eskimos

The tent had a raised platform, upon which all slept. The edge of this made a seat, and on each side were placed stone lamps in which blubber was burned, with moss as a wick.

Dr. Cook as He Looked After a Previous Trip writer, living as a native among the people, came aboard. With him we got better acquainted during the winter.

Our engines were disabled by a loose universal joint so we lowered a launch and two dories to tow the yacht to safe anchorage.

A woman had exchanged her fur pants, worn a hundred dollars, for a red pocket handkerchief, with which she would decorate her head and inlaid for years to come.

Another had given her beakskin mits for needles, and conveyed the idea that she had the long end of the trade.

The Yacht Again Afloat

The midnight tide lifted the yacht on an even keel from her makeshift dry dock on the beach, and she was pulled out into the bay and anchored for a few hours.

To study the people, to further encourage the game of barter, and to enjoy the rare sport of yachting and hunting in man's northernmost haunts, we prepared to visit as many villages as possible.

Women Were Scarce

In the morning the anchor was raised and the yacht set sail to a light wind, enough to allow us to enjoy the superb surroundings.

The harpoon gun was taken, as it was hoped that a whale might come our way, but the gun proved unsatisfactory and did not contribute much to our sport.

and, as a foreign belle, her hand was introduced her to a wedded life not strewn with blubber.

Women of the Same Everywhere

There were only one, a few children and about a score of dogs at the place. The woman talked quickly and explained at some length that her husband and others were away on a cart-bog hunt and she told us without a hesitating question the news of the tribe for the year.

A Thrifty Eskimo Camp

There were five eskimo tents pitched among the bowlders of a glacial stream. An immense quantity of narwhal meat was placed on the rocks and stones to dry. Skins were stretched on the grass and a general air of thrift was shown about the place.

A Tragedy of the Arctic

Both had been condemned by the Eskimo law (of the survival of the fittest, the first because of insufficient senses and the second because it was under three and still on its mother's back when the father passed away.

An Eskimo Trade

We had only gone a few steps before it occurred to her that she was in need of something. Would we not give her a few boxes of matches in exchange for a narwhal tusk.

Soap That is Best for the Baby's Bath

Baby's skin is very sensitive to soap; some soaps soothe and nourish, while others inflame and irritate. It is of the utmost importance that you know what soap to use, and to do this you must know what is in the soap.

So let us explain how we make Infants' Delight. We first go for pure vegetable oil to France. There we pay often double what we might pay. But the oil we get is pure enough to use on your table.

Next they pass through granite rollers and come out in miles of silky ribbons. Then they are dried eight times and stamped into oval cakes that just fit the hand. Isn't it worth while to have soap like this for your baby?

This lovely soap leaves the baby's delicate skin as soft as velvet and as smooth as silk. Even the baby knows the difference in this delightful soap--so we call it Infants' Delight.

Baby will like the perfume too. It is so dainty and fragrant--only the exquisite scent of the rose. If this soap is pure enough for the baby's skin it surely is best for your own. Try one cake--you owe it to baby and yourself.

A MIXED QUARTETTE ON THE POLICE BENCH

Sheffield Street Woman, a Drunk and a Tramp Before the Magistrate Today.

A mixed quartette composed of two Sheffield street damsels and two men, a drunk and a beggar, were the happy four to face Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning.

Looking rather untidy after a night in the cells Margaret Sullivan and Mary Degan, two middle aged and well known Sheffield street women, were called on to plead to the charge of being drunk and soliciting men on Water street last evening. Mary said that she was not guilty and that she would say the same for Maggie who was feeling too sick to speak for herself.

Why, yer honor, said the magistrate, solicited was that fellow with the yellow shoes, and she pointed to Policeman Marshall. The magistrate told her not to have so much to say or she would be returned to the cells.

The policeman gave evidence that the two women were intoxicated on Water street and were stopping nearly every man they met, and finally they linked arms with two sailors and the four started down the South Wharf, the witness and Sergeant Campbell followed, and the sailors learning of the officers following ran away, leaving the two women to be arrested.

The two prisoners were remanded until the evidence of Sergeant Campbell can be taken.

Wm. Clark pleaded that he was not drunk when arrested, that he had only partaken of two ales and was sick.

Policeman Henry told a different story and said he found the Weary Willie lying helplessly drunk in the doorway of a Government residence. William went to jail for ten days in default of paying four dollars.

James O'Connor, aged guilty to the charge of begging from door to door. He said that when he an infant one year old he received a stroke of paralysis leaving his left arm crippled, that he had a mark on his forehead and right hand from a mine explosion, and if His Honor would be so kind as to let him go he would immediately leave town.

He said he was born in Halifax, raised in Rockland, Maine, and was now trying to get back to Halifax where his mother died a month ago.

The magistrate told O'Connor that the story sounded rather too thin and that he was liable to nine months in jail, and the only reason why a light sentence would be imposed was that the winter was coming on and the taxpayers did not want the expense of keeping such as the defendant, Sgt. Caples, who made the arrest, said he caught O'Connor begging on Leinster street and in his pockets found cards on which were the words:

"Please help a poor cripple; give what you wish."

"Signed
"T. Williams."

O'Connor said he found the cards in a room in a Telegraph street house in Moncton. The magistrate then told O'Connor that he was taking a round about way to reach Halifax by coming to St. John from Moncton. He was remanded to jail.

HARRISON INCHES

Brilliant Wedding in St. Andrew's Church This Afternoon.

SECOND ALARM BROUGHT

WHOLE DEPARTMENT OUT

Big Display of Fire Apparatus But There Was No Fire—Another False Alarm Followed Closely.

The fire department were given plenty of opportunity to limber up this morning and all on account of false alarms. These alarms were not caused by any malicious person who pull a hook just for the sake of seeing the department turn out, but by men whose duty it is to attend to the boxes and in each case it was simply a mistake.

An electrician from Moncton was at work in one of the L. C. R. freight sheds shifting one of the small boxes that is connected with box 103 on Mill street, and about 10.30 o'clock, in some unaccountable manner an alarm was sounded and a few minutes later a second alarm was sent in. There was a great commotion on the streets as fire apparatus from all quarters dashed to Mill street. Every piece of apparatus in the northern and southern divisions with the exception of No. 1 engine, No. 2 engine and No. 1 chemical engine responded to the two alarms, and had it been for the benefit of some more distinguished personage than an L. C. R. electrician he could not have been more pleased at the excellent display given by the department.

The two alarms caused to be lined up on Mill street the following apparatus: No. 1 and No. 3 ladder trucks, Nos. 2, 4 and 5 engines, No. 2 chemical engine, Nos. 1 and 2 Salvage corps, Nos. 1, 2, 4 and 5 hose wagons, and the chief, in all, fourteen pieces of apparatus. The mistake was taken with as little show of displeasure as possible from the fireman, who responded quickly to the call.

About 11.30 o'clock Supt. Piercey while at work on box 4, corner of Sewell and Garden street, was testing the box in the usual manner when an alarm was sounded, and the department responded only to find no work to do.

FALL SHOWING OF Men's Shirts

INTRODUCING THE NEW "FLEXO", THE LATEST SHIRT CREATION. HAVING A SHAPED PLAITED BOSOM

The new "Flexo" Shirt has a plaited bosom, shaped. This new idea in shirt creation just meets the demand for a slightly heavier bosom shirt for Fall and Winter wear, and will take the place of the old starch bosom shirt, giving the required protection to the chest with all the comforts of a soft bosom shirt.

We have provided a large range of qualities, with a carefully assorted variety of very latest color tints and newest designs. The first shipment has just arrived and will be displayed in our Men's Furnishings window for the next few days.

Your inspection is desired.

Always a large variety on hand of the latest designs and colorings in other popular styles of shirts—mostly exclusive patterns. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed—all are unapproachable values.
