OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH STRIKE

KING AND QUEEN OF BELGIUM ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

ORGANIZATION OF A PERMANENT UNIONIST PARTY LIKELY TO BE DELAYED FOR SOME TIME YET

Sir Robert Borden Announces That Proceedings at This Morning's Caucus Were of a Harmonious Nature — Hume Cronyn, London's Representative, Presides At the Gathering.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—The Unionist caucus, which convened shortly after 10 o'clock this morning broke up at 12:15, about an hour earlier than was expected. Sir Robert Borden was able to attend. In the absence of J. Armstrong of East Lambton, who usually presides over Government gatherings of this kind, the chair was taken by Hume Cronyn, member for London.

When the caucus adjourned, Sir Robert Borden stated to the Canadian Press that the proceedings had been of an extremely harmonious nature. He announced that later in the day a formal statement as to the caucus would be given out. He could not make a statement at the time, he said, because he had to attend a meeting of the cabinet council.

Government supporters who attended the caucus agreed with the prime minister's statement that the gathering had been harmonious. It is learned that Sir Robert Borden made a more or less comprehensive announcement as to Government policy, and that his remarks were greeted with approval by the members present. The prime minister, it is understood, dealt particularly with the necessity of the Government and the country bending all its energies to the solution of after-the-war problems.

Borden Warmly Received.

The prime minister received a warm reception from his followers and was frequently cheered during the course of his remarks. Subsequent to the caucus Sir Robert stated that he was feeling better, but it was apparent that his attendance at the caucus had been a considerable strain, and that he is in need of a complete rest.

At the close of the caucus cheers were given for the prime minister, and the members sang: "For he's a jolly good fellow."

While definite statements cannot safely be made before the issuance of the official announcement, it is understood that the matter of action in the direction of effecting the organization of a permanent Unionist party and organization is likely to remain in abeyance for the present.

NORTHCLIFFE INFORMS PRINTERS HIS POLICY GOES, OR THEY QUIT

Famous British Publisher Declares He Will Be Dictated To By No One.

London, Oct. 2.—The Daily Mail, whose linotypers wrote to Lord Northcliffe protesting "against the treatment meted out to the National Union of Railwaymen in the columns of your press," published this reply from Lord Northcliffe today.

"I am entirely satisfied with the attitude of my journals toward this national calamity," says Lord Northcliffe, "and rather than to be dictated to by anyone or any body of men, I will stop the publication of these newspapers and have so informed the Newspaper Proprietors' Association."

CHURCH DIGNITARIES CRITICIZE STRIKE OF BRITISH RAILWAYMEN

London, Oct. 2.—An appeal signed by the Bishop of London and Cardinal Bourne deplores the suddenness with which the railway strike was called, and the oft-heard opinion that such a struggle has been inevitable, and must be fought out. It is stated that there is a strong public desire that the condition of the individual workers must be alleviated, but declares that this should be secured by reason and not achieved by coercion which alienates public sympathy and engenders passion.

THREE ARE HELD ON A CHARGE OF MURDERING CHICAGO PHYSICIAN

Chicago, Oct. 1.—James Kiloris, grocer, and his cousin, Christ Parris, and George Pappas, early today were charged with the murder of Dr. Adrian Reginald Karreman, following alleged confessions made by the trio last night that they beat and killed the doctor when he raised Kiloris's rent from $75 to $300 a month. Louis Kiloris, brother of James, is detained by the police, who say that while he is not implicated in the murder, "he knew of it."

FORMER PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA IS DEAD

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 2.—Dr. Victoriania De La Plaza, former president of Argentina, died at midnight last night.

"Honor and Obey" Taboo; Not "Love"

Former Boston Rabbi Writes Own Wedding Service.

Boston, Oct. 1.—By a service written by himself, Dr. Charles Fleischer, former rabbi of the Temple Israel, and now conductor of the Sunday Commons, was married today to Miss Mabel Rebecca Leslie, well known woman lawyer.

Dr. Fleischer's unique marriage ceremony had no reference to honor and obey, though love entered time and again. Individuality despite the bond was the keynote of the service, called by the author "The True Democratic Service."

The new marital covenant warned against the degeneration of the present poetic sentiment of sweethearts to the humdrum husband and wife. It labeled the lure of mystery, the keeping of poetry and elusiveness of courtship throughout married life.

SOLDIERS' SETTLEMENT BOARD APPROVES OF LOANS TO $32,648,017

10,739 Loans Made Up To September 6.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Figures given out by the soldiers' settlement board of Canada show that up to September 6 the board has approved loans amounting to $32,648,017. The number of loans was 10,739, an average of $3,040. The total is made up as follows:

On land purchase:
For land, $17,842,608.
For permanent improvements, $2,246,573.
For stock and equipment, $6,083,625.
On Dominion lands:
For equipment and improvements, $3,388,091.
On lands already owned by settlers:
For mortgages and equipment, $3,087,120.
Total, $32,648,017.

The agricultural training branch statistics up to September 13 show 34,315 applications, of which 25,549 have been approved by the qualification committee.

HARDSHIPS REPORTED FROM FIUME OWING TO CITY'S BLOCKADE

Rome, Oct. 2.—Advices from Fiume report considerable hardships among the people from the effect of the blockade of the city. The dock workers are idle as a result of the shipping tie-up, and many of the shops are closing for lack of supplies of merchandise.

Better Not Be Too Sure of Your Figures

After a Second Counting the Number of Circles May Be Different.

There are rings that make us happy.
There are rings that make us blue;
There are rings that bind some folks together.
In a bondage love makes sweet and true.
There are friends that form a merry circle,
Finding life a constant glad surprise;
They are busy counting magic circles,
For the London Advertiser prize.

Interest in The Advertiser's puzzle contest has started in real earnest. Over four weeks yet remain to enter the competition for the list of prizes offered for accuracy. That these weeks will be lively there is little doubt. The country as well as the city is waking up to the possibilities offered in this contest for "long-distance" counting.

A contestant writes as follows: "I saw in your paper the puzzle. I counted all the circles that I could find and got 2,057. There might have been more, but that is all I could find. Hoping to hear from you soon that I have won first prize, etc." This is the "altitudinous" record in the contest so far.

Another contestant from Wallacetown writes: "Having tried nearly a dozen puzzle charts which appear daily in your merited paper, I beg to say that it is a fascinating puzzle—one which holds many hours of pleasure combined with profit. We have taken your merited paper for years, and have found it the best yet. It stood staunchly by the Liberals throughout the whole campaign in 1917, and honorably showed its true Liberalism; always a great stand-by, and may it always be."

This puzzle contest, it should be borne in mind, is not a speed affair. Some people have an idea that in event of a tie, the first who sent in the answer will receive first prize. This is not the case, and if it were, it would not be fair, because those who entered the contest late would not have an equal opportunity. Under the conditions of the contest, if there are two or more correct answers, and they should be received at The Advertiser office on different days, the last will be on the same footing as the first. This makes the proposition open to anyone, at any time up to the last day.

The contest is progressive up to possibility of three charts. The one running at the present is the first, or preliminary, chart, upon which a contestant may count as many times as he elects. Unless he does submit estimates on this chart, he cannot, in the event of a second chart being necessary to reduce a tie, send in a solution for the subsequent one. He must enter the contest through counting the circles as now being presented.

"SLIM" SALLEE AND CLAUDE WILLIAMS TO PITCH TODAY'S GAME

White Sox Determined To Win Ground Lost Yesterday.

REDS ARE CONFIDENT

First Day's Gate Receipts Amounted to Nearly $100,000.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 2.—With the Cincinnati Reds leading the Chicago White Sox by one game, the world's series of 1919 will be resumed here today.

Baseball enthusiasts were greeted by bright skies early today and it appeared that weather conditions would not interfere with the playing of the second game.

The local weather forecasters prediction for the day was cloudy and warm.

Statements from Manager Moran of the Reds and Manager Gleason of the White Sox indicated that the winning of the first game had made the home team more confident, while it had the effect of making the losers even more determined to regain the ground lost. Accordingly Gleason announced that he would pitch Claude Williams, his star left hander, and Moran said "Slim" Sallee would be on the ground.

Predictions Upset.

That yesterday's game upset the predictions of the followers of the "dope" was indicated by the fluctuations of the betting odds, even money on the Reds finding few takers, and here and there odds being demanded by those who still believe the Sox will ultimately prove the victor.

The series will almost certainly break all records relative to the amount of money taken in at the gate. The first day's receipts were more than $21,000 in excess of the high record of the first day's receipts of world series games made when the Philadelphia Athletics played at New York in 1911. At that time $77,359 was taken in at the gate, while yesterday $94,773 was the gross returns, and this did not include the war tax collected.

Today's Batting Order.

The usual midnight attendance at the bleachers gate: those who are prepared to wait fourteen hours in order to get the best seats that the bleachers and pavilion afforded, was in evidence. Toward morning the crowd became even larger than that of yesterday, and this fact only displayed the greater eagerness of the fans to witness the second game than was shown at the first.

The probable batting order for today's game is:

EDDIE CICOTTE IS CONFIDENT HE CAN WIN FOR THE SOX

Cincinnati, Oct. 2.—Eddie Cicotte, the master pitcher of the American League, who was driven out of the opening game of the world's series yesterday under a broadside of hits, today expressed confidence in his ability to come back at the Reds whenever called upon by Manager "Kid" Gleason.

Cicotte, with nearly thirty victories to his credit this season, is carrying the hopes of Chicago fans on his shoulders, and they have every confidence that he will pitch the Sox to victory in two and possibly three of the remaining games. The master of the "shine" and "knuckle" ball declared today that he was completely unnerved when he hit Rath, the first man up in the game yesterday, and lost all control of the ball in the fourth inning.

Supporters of the White Sox believe that Manager Gleason will send Cicotte in to oppose the Reds in the game scheduled in Chicago on Friday or Saturday.

Tickets for the second game of the series, set for today, were in even greater demand than yesterday, when box seats with a face value of $6.60 sold as high as $40. Loyal supporters of the Reds were jubilant over yesterday's victory, and those without tickets were willing to pay almost any price to obtain one.

INJURED MAN THINKS THAT MACKAY KNOWS BOY MISCREANT

Joseph Yeo Tells Doctor That They Spoke to Mr. MacKay.

In a statement made by Joseph Yeo, was shot and badly injured by youths the Grand Trunk track foreman who at the Cove on Sunday morning, he declared to his physician, Dr. James D. Wilson, that John MacKay, 80 Wharncliffe road, could tell the police who the boys were who committed the crime.

He stated that Mr. MacKay was within fifteen feet of the scene of the assault, and that the boys spoke to him after they had fired the shots into Yeo's head. They asked him, Mr. Yeo said, if he knew where there were any wild grapes, and then walked out the railroad tracks in the direction of Hyde Park. Dr. Wilson notified the county police of this, and it is expected that MacKay will be thoroughly questioned in order to obtain anything that he may have failed to report.

Mr. Yeo, who is considerably improved today, stated that as soon as he is able to get about, he will find the boys if they are not already in custody. His temperature is normal, and his condition was good all through the night. It is not thought that he knows as much about the identity of the boys as was first thought, but in a few days, his doctor said, he will be able to talk much more than he can at present.

It is thought that the boys responsible for the act are residents of either South London or West London, as ones from other parts of the city seldom go shooting in the vicinity of the Cove.

STRIKES RAMPANT AGAIN IN GERMANY

Silesia, Lorraine Included in Area Invaded by Unrest.

London, Oct. 1.—Strikes are again spreading in Germany, aecording to Central News dispatches received here today.

The walkout of metal workers has now extended to Silesia. In the Upper Rhine Valley the transport workers are on strike, holding up shipments of coal from the Westphalian fields. Many industrial plants in the Essen district are closing down.

A general strike of coal miners and workers in iron foundries in Lorraine has been proclaimed. The men demand nationalization of the mines, a minimum wage and the exclusion of non-unionists.

HAWAII VOLCANO POURING 30-MILE STREAM OF LAVA

Hilo, H. I., Oct. 1.—A stream of lava from 500 feet to one mile wide and 30 miles long is pouring from the 13,000 foot crater of the volcano Mauna Loa, on the opposite side of the island of Hawaii from this city, into the sea today.

The lava overtopped the crater late last Monday night, and reached the sea yesterday morning, nearly twelve hours ahead of the time it had been expected to do so. The eruption of Mauna Loa began four days ago, and subsided in violence after a brief duration, only to break forth with new force Monday night.

Two ranch homes and other valuable property have been destroyed by the molten rock.

BELGIUM'S KING AND QUEEN ARE WELCOMED ON ARRIVAL IN U. S.

American Officials Extend Greetings On Behalf of President.

New York, Oct. 2.—King Albert of the Belgians, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Leopold received a noisy welcome to New York when aroused at dawn by the firing of salutes and the blowing of whistles as the transport George Washington steamed past the outer harbor fortifications. It was arranged for King Albert to leave the ship at the upper level of the Hoboken pier and proceed to the reception room between lines of soldiers, and along a hall decorated with the flags of Belguim, the United States, Great Britain and the other allies in the war.

Under a canopy of flags in the main reception room the program called for the formal address of welcome by the vice-president of the United States, and King Albert's reply to the greeting of the American nation.

Others in the official welcoming party at the pier were Secretary of State Lansing, Secretary of War Baker and Gen. March, chief of staff of the army. The official greeting of the city will take place tomorrow.

GUILTY VERDICT IS "LORDS WILL"

Healer Is Convicted of Non-Support.

Findlay, Oct. 1.—Rev. Isaac Romain was convicted of failure to support three minor children by a jury in common pleas court here this afternoon.

He was indicted a year ago by the grand jury and was arrested last month in Los Angeles, Cal., and brought back to Findlay by Sheriff Edwin Huff.

"It's the Lord's will," declared Rev. Mr. Romain after the verdict of the jury had been read. He formerly was a Methodist minister, but for the last several years has devoted his time to faith healing. He is a Spanish war veteran.

Common Pleas Judge William F. Duncan deferred pronouncement of sentence.

TROOPS IN CONTROL IN ARKANSAS AREA WHERE RIOTS PREVAIL

Helena, Ark., Oct. 2.—With 500 federal troops due to arrive today from Camp Pike, and several hundred deputy sheriffs and civilians, all heavily armed, moving about the affected area, officials here believed that the situation arising from yesterday's race trouble at Elaine this county, where nine persons were killed would be brought under control today.

CONSERVATIVES TRYING HARD TO GET CANDIDATE

Have Approached Some Members of Party Without Any Success.

CONDITIONS CHANGING

Sir Adam Beck's Statement Has Not Strengthened His Chances.

Whether success will attend the efforts of the died-in-the-wool Tories to bring out a man to oppose Sir Adam Beck remains to be seen; certain it is that these efforts are being made, and by a considerable number of the city's Conservatives.

Although silence is being observed strictly in the Conservative camp, it is pretty well known that Dr. J. Cameron Wilson, Alexandra apartments, was approached and was strongly urged to allow his name to go on the ballot, wide and influential support being promised him. It was thought that the doctor, having served overseas, would command a heavy soldiers' vote, but it is understood that he refused most emphatically to become a candidate.

It was common talk around the city, prior to the publication of Sir Adam Beck's statement on his attitude, that the present member would draw many to his banner by disavowing Sir William Hearst and his Government, but today sentiment has changed. Sir Adam has failed to please opposition to the Government, and that expected opposition was the sole reason many had for tentatively deciding in his favor. There is a feeling among all except the hide-bound Conservative circles (and even there its existence is strongly suspected) that the Hearst Government must go. Since Sir Adam does not promise to help much towards this goal, the undecided voters are turning naturally to one who does—Andrew Robson, the Liberal candidate.

It is generally conceded that Sir Adam Beck's statement has strengthened considerably the support of Mr. Robson.

WIARTON FURNITURE FACTORY DESTROYED AT LOSS OF $75,000

Inflammable Materials Made Fire Difficult To Fight.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wiarton, Oct. 2.—Fire of unknown origin late last night totally destroyed the chair factory of the Canada Furniture Manufacturers' Company, Limited, with an approximate loss of $75,000. When first discovered the blaze, which was located in an elevator shaft opposite the third story, did not appear to be serious. A safety trap in the shaft made fire-fighting difficulty, and the flames soon spread beyond control. When they reached the finishing room, where large quantities of varnish and oil were stored, it was apparent that the entire structure was doomed. Blazing oil shot flames many feet into the air, illuminating the sky to such an extent that the fire was seen thirty miles away. A steadily rising wind threatened the destruction of many nearby buildings, but by strenuous efforts these were saved with practically no damage. The factory, office and storeroom, located 25 feet from the factory, was razed to the ground. A quantity of lumber in the yard was also destroyed.

PRINCE OF WALES IS NOT TO MAKE TOUR OF UNITED STATES

British Heir To Spend a Short Time in Washington and New York.

Paris, Oct. 2.—It is the unanimous opinion in Government circles here that the treaty of peace with Germany will be ratified this afternoon by the Chamber of Deputies. November 5 is the date unofficially fixed for the holding of elections.

PRINCE OF taoi aoi aoi etaetaoifwypo New York, Oct. 2.—An Associated Press dispatch from Washington today says:

"The Prince of Wales, who now is touring Canada, will come to Washington in about a month for a visit of three days, but he will not make a tour of the United States," Mayor Babcock of Pittsburg, has just been informed by Chairman Porter of the House foreign affairs committee.

"I am reliably informed," said Mr. Porter, "that it is the wish of the British Government that the Prince of Wales on leaving Canada, should spend but three days in Washington, returning to New York thereafter, from their sailing for Europe, and that a tour of the United States should not be made."

YANKS IN BERLIN WILL RECOVER GERARD'S GOODS

Coblenz, Oct. 1.—Capt. W. A. Mack and nine men have left here for Berlin to take charge of the personal effects of former Ambassador Gerard and members of his staff. These are stored in a building used as an embassy since Mr. Gerard left Berlin following the severance of diplomatic relations on February 3, 1917. The property will be crated and shipped to Antwerp, where it will be loaded on the transport Pocahontas.

BRITISH CABINET MINISTERS ARE CONFIDENT THAT RAILWAY STRIKE IS NEARING AN END

Government Is Determined Not To Recede in Its Attitude Toward Strikers—Negotiations Will Not Be Resumed Unless Men Return To Work—Transport Workers Are Still Considering Strike.

OPTIMISTIC OF SETTLEMENT.

London, Oct. 2.—A wave of optimism swept through both official and trades unionist circles today regarding the outcome of the negotiations for an adjustment of the strike, which were resumed this morning. Prime Minister Lloyd George was busily engaged at an early hour discussing the situation with his colleagues, Sir Eric Geddes and Sir Robert Horne, minister of transport and minister of labor, respectively, although he had been at work until the middle of the night.

At the headquarters of the National Union of Railwaymen there was extreme activity, and the opinion seemed to prevail that the outlook for a settlement was bright.

London, Oct. 2.—Cabinet ministers are optimistic over the prospects of a settlement of the railroad strike, according to the political correspondent of the Daily Mail, who says they declared early this morning that the government would not recede from its determination not to resume negotiations unless the men first resumed work, and remarked that the fact that J. H. Thomas, leader of the National Union of Railwaymen, went to Downing street while knowing of this condition, was a most hopeful feature.

Leaders of the Transport Workers' Union and other labor organizations are endeavoring to find a way to bring the railwaymen back, and have refrained from any threat to extend the strike as a result of yesterday's conference. This, it is said, is due to the fact that leaders of the National Union of Railwaymen are trying to obtain from the government an outline relative to subsequent wage negotiations which they can lay before the men as a reason for ordering them back to their posts.

Will Not Receive Wages.

Notices were posted at important railroad centres yesterday according to the Mail, stating the government has ordered that wages due strikers for their last week's work will not be paid because the men quit work without notice.

Writing after the adjournment of yesterday's conference, a special reporter for the Herald, a Labor organ, says he learned on "very good authority" that the discussion at the conference did not forward prospects of a settlement very much, but that there is a chance the government may today "show more of an inclination to move from its present untenable position." The writer adds that it would cause little surprise if representatives of the National Union of Railwaymen did not attend the conference to be held in Downing street today.

Reasons for Not Striking.

The only consideration preventing the transport workers from striking immediately is, according to the labor correspondent of the Daily Mail, that if they are compelled to be idle through the railway strike they would be entitled to unemployment pay from the government, whereas if they themselves strike they must depend upon their own union funds, which are not large.

LABOR LEADER HOPES UNDERSTANDING WILL BE ARRIVED AT TODAY

London, Oct. 2.—Hope that some means might be found for reaching an understanding with the government relative to the railroad strike was expressed in a statement issued morning by J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, before going to the conference with Premier Lloyd George and other members of the ministry.

"The position is such for hope," the statement said, "that negotiations will be resumed. Anything that may hamper or prejudice it will render it more difficult to find a bridge to the situation, which is becoming more dangerous every hour. We must be avoided at all costs. We are not striking for striking's sake, and we will not prolong the dispute an hour more than can be avoided. I hope to go down to Downing street to give effect to the spirit in which I am now speaking."

GERMAN GOVERNMENT SEIZES BIG SUM TO CHECK FOOD PRICES

Appropriation of Three and a Half Billion Marks Made by Assembly.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—Discussing international financial problems as well as foreign exchange, Mathias Erzberger, minister of finance, told the National Assembly this afternoon the government was exerting every possible influence in an effort to halt the downward tendency of the mark and announced the appropriation of 3,500,000,000 marks for the purpose of keeping down food prices.

He said: "Let us not deceive ourselves. Give the German workingman the necessary food and he will soon recover his willingness to work and thus improve the nation's ability to protect itself, the prime requirement of which is economic improvement."

KINGSTON ELECTORS WILL NOT PERMIT UNIONIST LEADERS TO DICTATE

Citizens in General Protest Against Sir Henry Drayton as Candidate.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kingston, Oct. 2.—Citizens in general are strongly opposed to the idea of the Unionists to have Sir Henry Drayton run as candidate in the coming by-election here for the House of Commons to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. F. Nickle. They feel that the Unionist party has no right to dictate to the voters in Kingston as to who will be their candidate, and it looks as if a local man will have to be selected.

Hon. N. W. Rowell and Hon. J. D. Reid came to the city and had a conference with leading Unionists here, but evidently there was a hitch in the plans "doped" out, as it was not decided to bring out Sir Henry in this constituency, as was expected. Instead a committee was appointed to name a candidate, and this committee is still at work. Another meeting of the Unionists is scheduled for tonight. Today Alderman William Patterson told the labor men that he would stand as their candidate, and the Conservatives are raising campaign funds to put up a stiff fight.

The present outlook in Frontenac County is for a three-cornered fight, as Dr. William Spankie may come out as an independent candidate against Anthony Rankin, the Conservative, and W. L. Fawcett, the U. F. O. candidate.

ANOTHER WRIT ISSUED AGAINST CITY, OPPOSING FARE INCREASE

Quashing of Bylaw in Favor of Street Railway Request Is Asked.

A second application for an injunction to quash the bylaw giving higher fares to the street railway may be entered today. According to information obtained, the writ issued yesterday by William Service, was a surprise to the group of citizens who have been working on the matter for some time, headed by some of the aldermen.

They held a meeting last night and decided to go ahead with their action as planned previously in spite of one writ having been issued. Ald. A. E. Manness said. This writ, he stated, would be solely against the city, asking for an injunction to prevent the carrying out of the bylaw as illegal.

They think quicker results will be obtained than by the other citizen who has issued a writ against the city and the street railway jointly. It is understood that the second writ will be issued by a Mr. Joyes, an employee of the McCormick Manufacturing Company.

The city has received the first writ Mayor Somerville said today that nothing would be done with it until a meeting of the city council Monday night.

MILLION MEMBERS, PRESBYTERIAN AIM

Institutes in Michigan Districts Announced.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 1.—Inaugurating a campaign to enlist 1,000,000 new members for its Sunday schools, Presbyterians of the United States have announced a series of two and three day Institutes in Michigan for the benefit of the New Era movement in October and November.

Women of the church are to be given conspicuous places on each day's program.

The New Era districts in Michigan, where institutes will be held include, Lake Superior, Marquette, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie; Petoskey—Cadillac and Petoskey; Saginaw—Saginaw, Alma and East Tawas; Grand Rapids—Big Rapids and Grand Rapids; Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo and Niles; Lansing—Battle Creek, Lansing and Jackson; Flint—Flint, Port Huron and Bad Axe; Detroit—Pontiac, Ann Arbor and Detroit; Monroe—Hillsdale and Monroe.

REMISSION OF $5 TAX MAY BE MADE ISSUE IN JANUARY

Voters Likely To Be Asked Their Opinion.

CHARGED FOR CLEANING

And T. Todd Objects To This On Reasonable Grounds.

"Are you in favor of refunding $5.10 to T. Todd of Carleton avenue, for street cleaning, as an excessive charge? Yes or No."

This ballot will probably be submitted to the citizens at the coming municipal election. There seems little hope of the city council or its committees assuming to settle the matter without consulting the people, although there is an element which is in favor of remitting $2.50 to Mr. Todd. Others say he should have the whole $5.10 or nothing at all. They refuse to temporize with it. The question is either right or wrong, they say, and there must be no half measures in dealing with it.

Mr. Todd is strongly in favor of the money being remitted. On three different occasions he has eloquently laid his claims before various aldermen. If the council does decide to send it to the people, and Mr. Todd has to take the platform to urge them to carry the bylaw, there is no doubt that it will carry. He is an impassioned, one might almost say fiery, speaker, and is fully convinced of the justice of his cause.

Only One Objection.

He owns a lot on Carleton avenue which is assessed for $450. The city charges him $48.23 taxes yearly. Now, as to the majority of these tax items he is fully satisfied that they are justified. He realizes that the pavement must be paid for, as well as other things, but when the city charges him $5.10 for cleaning the pavement, which he never by any chance uses or helps to get soiled, he thinks it is going a step too far. Besides, William street is not paved, and when it rains all the water backs up on Carleton avenue, because it has a nice, smooth pavement to run on, and he considers it pretty small business to tax a man for providing a resting-place for that section of the city's storm water, and then taxing him for clearing away the sediment which the water leaves when it dries up. Besides, he claims the pavement was laid for the benefit of a baker at the end of the street, and it is the baker's horses and wagons which dirty up the pavement.

Gives Figures.

Mr. Todd obtained some detailed figures on the number of times the street had been cleaned and the length of time it has taken the man with a brush to run up and down the length of it (the street, not the brush), and he brought these up to the board of works, together with a photograph showing the street in flood season, with some of the native children paddling about in their bare feet. A few of the aldermen immediately grasped the seriousness of the situation, but one of them made a funny remark about the young ladies in the photograph, and thus entirely alienated Mr. Todd's sympathy. The more serious minded city fathers succeeded in having a special committee appointed, and it investigated and suggested gutters on William street to relieve the flood problem, but made no recommendation of the street cleaning remittance. So Mr. Todd made another trip to the committee rooms and made another eloquent appeal. The aldermen were evidently impressed that they should do something, but could only recommend the matter to No. 1 committee. Mr. Todd appeared there yesterday, and although he delivered another rapid-fire address, was unable to get direct action.

The city council as a whole may assume the responsibility of remitting some money at its next meeting, but it is altogether likely it will shift the burden to the shoulders of the general public.

STORE WINDOWS ADVERTISE SUITS AT $8.50, STEAKS AT 10 CENTS A POUND, BOOTS AT HALF-DOLLAR

Alas, Prices Were Jokes of Early Risers, Made Possible By Mist On Glass—They Could Not Withstand Suns hine.

A heavy mist which covered all the store windows in the downtown section last night combined with the village jokers in providing amusement for citizens hurrying to work this morning. It was the easiest thing in the world for the funny-man to trace more or less artistic pictures on the whitened windows, and as the real store signs were obliterated they were replaced out of kindness by passers-by.

"John Smith's Junk Shop" was the sign traced on the window in place of "John Smith Fine Furniture Emporium."

"Cut-Throat Grocery Store" appeared in place of the more innocent "Cut-Rate Store," "Beatem and Robbem" instead of a perfectly dignified "Beatty and Robinson."

Too Good To Be True.

Those who did not realize that the amateur humorist were at work thought the long expected end of the high cost of living had come when they saw suits of clothing advertised on the windows for $8.50 apiece, and overcoats for $5.00.

Butchers, too, were apparently offering their wares at a price so far below normal that one could buy a year's supply for the price of one week's at present. Beefsteak was offered for ten cents a pound, and pound.

Diamonds $1.60.

Diamond rings were advertised on jewelers' windows at $1.60 each together with pearl necklaces at 75 cents to a dollar. Shoes for which the common people have been paying $10 and $12 a pair were offered at 50 cents.

But like all dreams these faded as the morning sun grew stronger and dissolved the mist. The dignified store names shone forth once more and the store-boys armed with pails of water and their familiar long poles removed the last vestiges of the early rising humorists.

CANADIAN CLUB WILL TURN ATTENTION TO MORE STUDY OF ARTS

Peace Time Subjects To Displace War Themes.

Members of the London Canadian Club will assemble for dinner in the Indian room of the Tecumseh Hotel shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. Most of the addresses delivered during the past year at the club dinners were of a naval and military character, reflecting, to a certain extent, the questions uppermost in the mind of the Canadian people; but now that peace is restored, the activities of the club will be directed to the study of history, literature, art, music and natural resources of Canada; the recognition of native worth and talent and the fostering of a patriotic Canadian sentiment.

Membership Increases.

The membership of the local club has increased rapidly, for since March 31, 1918, the number has grown from 240 to 440. The number of deaths of members during the past year was eight, which included Sir George Gibbons, a life member; D. H. Howden, Rev. G. W. Latimer, W. T. Edge, J. Loughlin, Dr. Kibbe, J. H. Marshall and W. T. Strong. There were also fifteen removals and twenty-one resignations from the club.

The financial statement reveals a decidedly healthy condition, there being no liabilities and the total assets amounting to $618.27.

May Change Year.

A notice of motion is given changing the end of the financial year to August 31 in each year, the date of the election of officers to the first Thursday in October, and that of the annual meeting to the second Thursday in October.

The executive held nine meetings during the year for the transaction of business. The club was represented in all civic and patriotic campaigns by one or more teams, captained at various times by C. B. King, A. A. Campbell, B. C. McCann, R. Greene and T. H. Greenlees.

MILK BELOW PAR, BUT BOY DID NOT KNOW IT

Because city sanitary inspectors found that the milk which he was peddling did not have the required percentage of butterfat in it, a juvenile appeared before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence on paying the costs of the court.

In answer to the charge, the lad stated that he had no control over the quality of the milk, as he was not a producer, but only purchased the milk to sell again. He managed the milk route himself. His brother-in-law, who had it formerly, had gone out West and was unable to sell it. The boy helped to support his mother. He was intending to sell the business soon, he said, and follow some other occupation.

FOUR ADDITIONAL PLAYGROUNDS ARE WANTED IN LONDON

C. of C. Expected To Ask This From Council.

At a joint meeting of the playgrounds committee and the social service council, held yesterday in the chamber of commerce rooms, it was decided that a recommendation be made for four civic playgrounds in addition to the present one known as Thames Park. A report by the supervisor of the city's only playgrounds for children revealed that work in the city had passed the experimental stage. The attendance had steadily increased to a maximum of 164 children in one day, and the supervision of games was shown to have been most satisfactory. But the lack of tennis courts, swimming pools and more space was lamented.

The recommendation will be presented at the chamber of commerce meeting on Friday and probably will reach the city council at its meeting on Monday. The proposal to be made is that the playgrounds be taken over by the city, operated by the public utilities commission, and suitable sites be found in different parts of London which will be generally accessible to the largest number of children. The recommendation also suggests that an increase of a quarter mill be made on the tax rate for the purpose of financing the scheme.

Sarnia Will Play Game and Bring Strong Outfit

Intentions Not To Default, But Get Postponement of Game Until Later in Season.

According to Coach Reid of the local rugby team, Sarnia will bring a team here Saturday to play the game scheduled. The Sarnia team wished to play off the game later in the season, when they would have more practice, which leads to the impression that they were going to default.

Considering the make-up of the Sarnia team, lack of practice does not necessarily mean that they are out of condition and cannot put up a real game, so Saturday's fixture promises one of the real old-time battles.

About the same number of old hands will be found on the line-ups of both Sarnia and London when they clash, and these have two or three years' experience of each other and the tricks of each.

BELGIUM LAUGHS DESPITE FUTURE BIG PROBLEMS

Much Extravagance and Dancing, But With Asides of Anguish.

WANT HIGHER PAY

Belgian Workmen Who Have Labored Abroad During War Now Restless.

Brussels, Oct. 1.—Coming across the frontier from France into Belgium, I find superficial gaiety and joie de vivre, the flinging about of paper money by all classes, in spite of the fantastic cost of living (as though money could be printed on government presses as fast as there were need of it), and no sign of anguish plainly revealed on the faces of the people who were long under hostile rule, who suffered exceedingly from fines, imprisonment and tyranny, and whose industries and fortunes were utterly ruined by the general campaign of destruction.

Belgium was hard hit by the war, apart from the tragedy of invasion. Most of her factories in cities like Bruges, Ghent and Antwerp were robbed of their machinery, if they were not destroyed, like Ypres, under the flail of war.

Curse of Germany.

A friend of mine, who was a great manufacturer, with works at Ypres and Bailleul and other towns in Flanders, told me yesterday he had abandoned hope of restarting those industries.

"The German army," he said, "sat down on all my factories, and where they sat down they squashed everything to dust. There is nothing to be done except plant the woods there and say, 'This is no man's land.' In our time we shall not see the factory chimneys rise in those places. Who thinks so dreams."

The present condition of Belgium is not brilliant. The manufacturers are living on credit and not on production, although some of the factories are beginning to work again and the best brains in Belgium are making great efforts in private enterprises without relying at all on government aid, which is slow and hesitating, and up to the present, I am told, hopelessly impractical.

Want Higher Pay.

Many workingmen of Belgium whose labor was very cheap before the war, and whose conditions of life were very low in the scale of comfort, have been in England since then and have been inspired with envy for the English rate of pay, and they demand that rate with a loud voice, though it is fantastic in relation to the ruin of so many employers of labor, the dearness of material and the lack of capital. There is no sign of these troubles, however, in public places, except where the processions pass, and no shadow on the faces of the people.

I was impressed by the gaiety, even joyousness, of the crowd in Grand Place of Bruges the night before last. There is a menacing murmur of the masses in a city like Brussels, where two days ago there was a monster procession led by war widows, mudland men and wounded soldiers demanding justice, work and lower prices. Truly the Belgian Government, faced by the desert of its battlefields, immense debts and lack of production, must hear with anxious ears the voice of the people impatient of delay.

Dance in Moonlight.

On the Digue of Zouteknocke everybody dances in the moonlight or the starlight by the sand dunes and sea.

On the Digue next to me sat a man who had factories at Ypres and Bailleul and Messines, where now there are only ashes and rags and bones of buildings. Some of his girls were dancing there, and he smiled as he watched them pass, greeting him with their eyes over the shoulders of their cavaliers.

"It is youth that dances on the edge of ruin," he said in French. "It is youth that dances to the tune of life. Thank God for that."

SIR ROBERT FALCONER MAKING STRONG APPEAL FOR TORONTO 'VARSITY

Sir Robert Falconer, president of Toronto University, is addressing a mass meeting of Middlesex graduates in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The president is making a personal drive in an effort to raise funds for a war memorial to the men and women of Toronto University, who did service in the past war. This war memorial is to take the form of a memorial tower and chapel, and the establishment of scholarships and a lectureship. The drive commences today at Stratford, where the president spoke at luncheon. He motored direct from Stratford to London.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

YOU know the real human doctors right around in your neighborhood: the doctors made of flesh and blood just like you: the doctors with souls and hearts: those men who are responding to your call in the dead of night as readily as in the broad daylight; they are ready to tell you the good that Fletcher's Castoria has done, is doing and will do, from their experience and their love for children.

Your physician knows that Castoria is purely a child's remedy. It was sought for and discovered as a substitute for Castor Oil in the ailments of Infants and Children.

Your physician will tell you this for he knows that preparations put on the market for adults are not adaptable for the very young and he is particulary interested in your baby.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

HOW WOULD DAY'S WORK AS MAYOR BE FOR LAZINESS CURE?

Only Five Meetings For Him Today.

95 MINUTES TO SPARE

Can Do As He Likes With These After 3:30 o'Clock.

While not claiming to be the busiest man in town, Mayor C. R. Somerville easily qualifies as a runner-up in this contest. For instance there are no less than five separate meetings which he should honor with his presence today. The public utilities commission meets at 3:30. The mayor is supoesd to attend this to be sort of a connecting link between the city council and the commission. He is supposed to be fairly well informed on all its business and to keep up his end in the discussions. A comparatively small budget of business awaits the commission today so that his worship may be throug by 4:25.

Lots of Choice.

There will be then five minutes in which he can make his choice of attending the meeting of Victoria Hospital trustees, or a meeting of the executive which is arranging the Prince of Wales' reception. If he is fortunate, whichever one of these meetings he attends will end by six o'clock or half-past six, and then he has a whole hour and a half to himself. Following this lengthy rest he will doubtless toss a coin to decide whether he will attend the meeting of the public library board or the housing commission.

Easy for Aldermen.

An alderman has a comparatively easy time. He is appointed to either No. 1 committee or No. 2 committee, and is only required to attend one meeting of his committee every two weeks, and the city council every fortnight, an average of one meeting a week. Occasionally a special committee is appointed and the aldermen comprising it have anextra meeting. Generally the mayor is a member of all special committees. He is supposed to attend the meetings of both the central committees and to preside at the city council as well.

Then Those Reporters.

If the city's chief magistrate has any spare time the reporters use it up. They are always asking him if he has a minute to spare and then want him to outline the city's fiscal policy for the coming year, or else they want his opinion on how the failure of the peanut crop in the southern states is going to affect the city's tax rate.

The same reporters are a hard working crew and are responsible for half-column reports on all the meetings the mayor attends, but even they, when there is such a line-up as today, call in the police court reporter to look after some of it, and get information about others by telephone. But the mayor's is a one man's job and he must handle it without the aid of assistant mayors or telephones.

LOCAL NEWS

FINES ADDED TO TAX.—For failing to pay their vehicle tax, C. O. Smith, H. E. Gates, S. F. Woods, John Cottam, J. G. Bowker, Edward Aleins and W. J. Wilson paid small fines in police court this morning.

CLEARINGS INCREASE. — Bank clearings for the week just ended show an increase of $1,663,399 over the corresponding week of last year. The figures for this week are $3,040,000, while last year they were $2,386,661.

TO INSPECT MAUSOLEUM.—Dean Tucker, James Gray, John Bridge and James H. Stewart went to Windsor today to inspect the mausoleum now nearing completion in Windsor Grove Cemetery.

WHEEL CAME OFF.—When Major Eric Reed was returning from Woodstock, last night, after witnessing the victory of the local football team over Woodstock, the front wheel came off his touring car, shaking up all its occupants. No one was injured.

LIEUT.-COL. SEABORN ONLY SPEAKER.—In regard to the Canadian Club banquet, which is to be held this evening at the Tecumseh House, The Advertiser has been requested to correct the impression given that Rev. Wm. Ivens of Winnipeg, would be the speaker of the occasion. The only speaker on this occasion of the annual meeting will be Lieut.-Col. E. Seaborn, formerly O. C. of No. 10 Stationary Hospital. It is understood, however, that the Rev. Mr. Ivens will be present at the dinner.

BRADSHAW—GILLETT. — A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gillett, 526 Grey street, on Saturday, when their daughter, Jeanette Rosina, became the bride of James Stanley Bradshaw. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of blue silk with pearl trimmings. She carried Ophelia roses and sweet peas. The home was beautifully decorated throughout in pink and white. A dainty buffet luncheon was served, after which the young couple left for Detroit and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw will be at home to their friends after November 1 at 251 Grand avenue.

WHO HAS BIGGEST POTATO?—T. R. Smibert of Ilderton, holds the record of bringing to the market the largest potato of the season. C. W. Maker, market clerk, states that now he wishes to start a competition between the farmers to bring in the largest potato that they can grow, to him. No prizes are being offered, it is just to see which farmer can grow the largest potato of the season. To beat Mr. Smibert's record a person will have to bring in a potato that weighs more than one pound and fourteen ounces. The large potato is on exhibition in the weigh scales office. Jealous ones are asking who gets the potatos?

EXPERIMENT FAILED. — Science teaches that the wheels of a street car must co-operate in order that the said car may wend its way down the street. This has been accepted as a fact by the world generally, excepting, perhaps by the London street car railway. In endeavoring to disprove this fact, car 106, a double-trucker on the Ridout Line, tried to pass York street with its front truck proceeding south on Richmond street and its rear one turning west on York. The experiment failed absolutely, for the car became stuck and remained there some time, blocking both lines on Richmond street for twenty minutes. As this occurred at noon hour, a great deal of inconvenience was was caused to the public.

TOOKE—GIBBS.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Keeler, 1028 Frances street, when Harold Leslie Tooke and Gladys Gibbs were married. The groom was supported by Roy White, and the bride was attended by Miss Pearl White. The ceremony took place in the presence of about forty friends by Rev. A. C. Bingham. After a short trip they will reside on Mabel street.

HAS ONE WEEK TO DO WHAT PLUMBER TELLS HIM CANNOT BE DONE

For violating the public health act, Joseph Morkin was brought into police court this morning and was ordered to make the necessary alterations about his property in order that he might conform to the requirements of the law. This was the fourth time that he had been brought to the court for this. Each time he promised to make the alterations, but today said that a plumber told him that they could not be made. Morkin has been ordered to consult Assistant Sanitary Inspecter John Scott regarding the matter. If the necessary work is not done within a week Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon declared, a penalty would be imposed.

VALUABLE CARGOES ARE SECURED FROM SIBERIA

Hudson Bay Company's Expedition Proves Profitable.

Christiania, Norway, Oct. 2.—A message from Etromsoe states that the Hudson's Bay Company's trading expedition to Siberia, which started in the middle of August has now returned, and the results of the expedition were good, despite many difficulties the vessels of the expedition brought back valuable cargoes, including 300 tons of wool, hides, hemp and high-class skins. All members of the expedition received extra remuneration for their excellent work. One ship sprang a leak while en route and arrived with its forepeak full of water. The expedition went through Kara Sea to Obi, where the vessels were unloaded by seven hundred prisoners, 29 of whom were drowned during the work.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF VETERAN.

Thomas Haldane, aged 33 years, and a returned soldier, died this morning at the Wolseley Barracks Hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Haldane came to this city from Glasgow, where he was born, and resided here ten years. He enlisted in 1916 with the Western University 10th Stationary Hospital unit, and returned from overseas just this year. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, King Solomon, and the Sons of Scotland.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, four sons, his parents, one brother and one sister, all living in this city.

The funeral will be held on Saturday from his residence, 653 Elias street, as 3 o'clock. Rev. W. R. McIntosh will conduct the services. Interment will be made in the military plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MISS McGRORY.

The funeral was held this morning of Miss Mary McGrory, who died at Mount Hope on Tuesday. Requiem high mass was sung in St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Father Norton. Rev. Father A. Finn conducted the services at the grave. Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

GRAND JURY THINKS HOSPITAL KITCHENS MIGHT BE IMPROVED

Additions At Victoria Make Increase Advisable.

The presentment of the grand jury at the fall assizes has been received by Mr. Justice Kelly. The members report inspections of the jail, Victoria Hospital, the Ontario Hospital (Asylum), Byron Sanatorium and St. Joseph's Hospital, all of which places they found in excellent condition. They recommend increased kitchen facilities at Victoria Hospital, because of additions to that institution. They found only 18 prisoners in the county jail for the following offences: desertion, 2; breach of the temperance act, 3; theft, 5; assault on police officer, 2; drunk, 5; indecent assault, 1.

They found 1,203 patients at the asylum, 562 male and 641 female; 269 were admitted during the past twelve months and 136 discharged. There were 113 deaths at the institution.

INLAND REVENUE RECEIPTS SHOW GREAT INCREASE

Total for September Is Given as $73,865.

The inland revenue receipts, collected in the city during the month of September show an increase of $15,190 over the amount collected during the corresponding month of 1918. The grand total for the past month is $73,865.91, while the total of September last year was $58,675.91. The report of the revenue department reveals the following:

Spirits	$ 1,128 83

POISON SOLD TO THOSE ANXIOUS TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Chemists' shops at Archangel are openly selling poison to many young women, who are buying it with the expressed intention of committing suicide rather than fall into the hands of the Bolsheviki, according to an American officer who has just arrived from Northern Russia.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Kolle, M. D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply—it costs only 50 cents a week.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.—Advt.

DEPUTIES ANNOUNCE THEIR INTENTION TO VOTE AGAINST PACT

Paris, Oct. 2.—Jules Delahaye, speaking in behalf of the Royalist group in the Chamber, and Deputy Maginot, on behalf of 25 deputies representing the devastated regions, announced today that they would vote against ratification of the peace treaty. Deputies Delahaye and Maginot were among the first six members who arose to explain the action they proposed to take with reference to the peace treaty.

CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES DISCUSSING SOCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL UNREST

New York, Oct. 2.—Representatives of 75 evangelical denominations met here today for a two-day conference on industrial relations department of the inter-church world movement of North America, in opening the first session, characterized the conference as marking an epoch in religious history and the first step in an active and united participation of Protestants in the industrial crisis.

The conference was called by the inter-church world movement and its finding probably willl be laid before the industrial conference in Washington on October 6, and before the international labor congress on October 29.

H. B. Butler of the British labor ministry, and provisional secretary of the international labor congress, which meets in Washington on October 29; Col. David Carnegie, who has been in Canada representing the British Government at the Dominion's industrial conference, and Dr. J. G. Shearer of the Canadian social service council, are among the international delegates attending the conference.

A SICKLY WIFE NO FIT MATE FOR ANY MAN

Girls and Women Should Look Well to Their Health and Strength.

Never before was physical health and vigor to highly esteemed and so eagerly sought for as today.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife, and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

Is your daughter growing up strong and ruddy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she after the ball arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indifferent, and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plainly a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone quickly follows a stream of rich, nourishing blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill-health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalizing tonic.

It is specially suited for young women and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used.

Ferrozone is free from alcohol and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet and sold in 50c boxes, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

TEACHERS MEET BOARD TONIGHT TO DISCUSS SALARY SCHEDULE

Amounts Paid at Present Range From $6.00 to $22.00 — Other City Officials Rise Much Higher.

Preliminary steps to secure increases in salaries will be taken by a committee of public school principals and teachers tonight at a joint meeting with members of the board of education in the Alexandra School. The meeting will be purely of an informal character, and nothing more can be done than discuss the question.

It will be, however, a basis for the formal discussion of the matter at the next meeting of the board of education Tuesday. All sorts of rumors are current, but no definite information has been given as to the percentage of increase which the teachers are asking. In some quarters the meeting tonight is regarded as a "feeler" to determine just what the attitude of the board is to the question. One rumor says that the women teachers will ask for an increase only in the maximum wage.

Teachers' Schedule.

The teachers' salary schedule at present is: Principals, holding first-class certificates in schools with twelve or more rooms, $1,700 per annum, with a yearly increase of $100 until a maximum of $2,200 is reached.

Principals, holding first-class certificates in schools with eight to eleven rooms inclusive, $1,500 per annum, yearly increase of $100 until a maximum of $2,000 is reached. Principals holding second-class certificates who are now in charge of schools included in either of the foregoing sections receive the same annual increase and the same maximum as that assigned to first-class teachers in these sections.

Principals of Ealing and Pottersburg schools receive a minimum salary of $1,400 per annum, with a yearly increase of $100 until a maximum of $1,800 is reached.

Assistant men teachers with permanent first-class certificates, in schools of twelve rooms and over, are paid for their first year's service a salary of $1,000 to $1,200, according to experience, and thereafter receive an annual increase of $100 until a maximum of $1,600 is reached.

Minimum $900.

Assistant men teachers with second-class certificates receive a minimum salary of $900 to $1,100, with an annual increase of $100 until $1,500 is reached.

Assistant men teachers with permanent first-class certificates in schools with less than twelve rooms are paid $800 to $1,000, according to experience, for their first year's service, and thereafter receive annual increases of $100 until a maximum of $1,400 is reached.

Assistant men teachers with second-class certificates in schools less than twelve rooms are paid $700 to $900 for their first year's services and thereafter receive annual increases of $100 until a maximum of $1,300 is reached.

Women teachers holding permanent first-class certificates receive a minimum salary of $700 until a maximum of $1,200 is reached. Annual increase, $50.

Women teachers holding (1) permanent second-class certificates, who teach regular classes, (2) Kindergarten teachers, acting as directors and giving full day services, (3) Household science teachers, (4) School nurses, are paid for their first year's services $600, and thereafter receive an annual increase of $50 until a maximum of $1,200 is reached.

Kindergarten assistant teachers, with director's or kindergarten primary certificates, and giving full day service, are paid for their first year's services a salary of $600, and thereafter receive an annual increase of $50 until a maximum of $1,100 is reached.

Get $150 Increase.

All the women teachers and nurses, included in the foregoing three paragraphs, who have been appointed to permanent positions on the staff of the public schools, and who on the 1st of January, 1919, completed one year's service, receive for the year 1919 an increase of $150, but this does not apply to any teacher whose salary has reached the maximum as set forth in the three sections immediately preceding.

Supervisors of kindergartens, household science and supervisor of school nurses receive, in addition to their regular salary, the sum of $200 per annum.

Supervisor of manual training receives a minimum salary of $1,500, with a yearly increase of $100, until a maximum of $2,000 is reached.

Assistant manual training teachers, with permanent certificates, receive a minimum salary of $1,200 to $1,400, according to experience, with an annual increase of $100 till $1,600 is reached.

In case of teachers who have served less than one year, teachers holding interim certificates, and those appointed temporarily, No. 1 committee recommends to the board the salary that each teacher shall receive.

In order to secure experienced teachers, either men or women, No. 1 committee may, when a new appointment is being made, recommend that the initial salary be increased by an amount not exceeding the first two annual increases.

The inspector may recommend to No. 1 committee at the November meeting in each year that any teachers who have not reached the maximum salary for their class be moved forward on the salary schedule two or more years instead of one year. Such recommendation can be made only in the case of teachers whose classroom work or special qualifications as recognized by the department of education is so much above the average as to entitle them to some special consideration.

Information regarding the salaries of other city officials have been requested by one of the teachers in a letter to The Advertiser. They are as follows:

City clerk—$3,500.
City treasurer—$3,500.
Assessment commissioner—$2,600.
Electrical engineer—$5,000.
Secretary, water and light—$2,600.
Garbage superintendent—$1,200.
Superintendent Victoria Hospital—$2,500.
City tax collector—$1,800.

REV. WILLIAM IVENS INTENDS TO SPEAK TO MASS MEETINGS

Winnipeg Labor Man Now in City.

Rev. William Ivens, M.A., pastor of the Winnipeg Labor Church, and formerly editor of the Western Labor News, and minister of Methodist Church, who was imprisoned in Winnipeg in connection with the recent strike, arrived in London this afternoon. His visit to the east is on behalf of the defence committee of Winnipeg, and he intends to stay about two weeks in London and vicinity, and two weeks in Toronto. He came to this city from Brantford.

This evening Rev. Mr. Ivens proposes to address a mass meeting of workers on the market square at 8 o'clock, and if the affair is a success, another meeting will be held in the same place tomorrow evening.

"I cannot ask everyone who attends the meeting this evening to believe all that I say," said the visitor to The Advertiser, "but, at least(I can ask every worker, businesmen and professional man of the city to come and listen while I tell the story of the Winnipeg strike, the activities of the Labor Church, of which there are ten branches, and also Canada's greatest crime—the emandments to the immigration act."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT SESSIONS EXPECTED TO END IN FEW DAYS

Sir George Foster Makes Motion Indicating Such Intention.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—An indication of the intention of the Government to bring the Parliament session to an early close is given in a motion by Sir George Foster taking private members' day for Government business, commencing with Monday next. It is thought that the only thing that stands in the way of prorogation by the end of next week is the inquiry being conducted by the special committee into the matter of soldiers' civil re-establishment. The committee is rushing its work by holding any afternoon and evening sittings, and the taking of evidence can probably be concluded by the middle of next week after which the members will have to deliberate on its findings.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S CONDITION IS WORSE

His Personal Physician Calls Specialist in Consultation.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Despite a fairly good night's rest, President Wilson was not so well this morning, and Rear Admiral Grayson, his personal physician, has called in consultation, Dr. F. X. Dercum, a neurologist of Philadelphia.

Admiral Grayson issued the following bulletin at 11 o'clock: "The president had a fairly good night, but his condition is not at all good this morning."

PERMITS START OUT TO KEEP UP RECORD BREAKING

Already Ten Issued With Total Value of $41,480.

It is a poor building month this year which does not more than double the work done in the corresponding month of the previous year. October is setting out to keep up with the rest of the city's most remarkable building year. With only ten building permits issued, the figures are already $41,480.

This is due chiefly to a three-story boiler and coal house which Greene-Swift and Company are adding to their present plant on Queen's avenue at a cost of $35,000. It will be of reinforced concreet and steel construction. The architect is W. G. Murray, and the builder John Futherbough.

The London housing commission has taken out a permit to erect a house for A. E. Tanos on Glenwood Avenue. It will be of one-story frame construction, will cost $1,800, and will be built by Joseph Creghton from the design of Building Inspector A. M. Piper.

Miss T. Ross is erecting a 1½-story brick veneer dwelling on Andover Place at a cost of $3,000.

ANOTHER BURGLARY. — Thieves entered the Universal Motor Sales Company, 390 Pall Mall street last night, but were not very successful as their raid netted them but a few dollars in change. The police are working on the case.

BLISS Native Herb Tablets

Restore a Healthy Condition

Why permit your liver and kidneys to remind you constantly of their unhealthy condition, when Bliss Native Herb Tablets taken at regular intervals will free you from pain, and keep your system in sound physical health. Don't neglect them, for to do so will lead to perhaps very serious consequences. Take Bliss Native Herb Tablets at the first sign of trouble, and you will be agreeably surprised at the results. They are recognized everywhere as the standard herb remedy for all ills due to a disordered stomach. Constipation disappears, the liver and kidneys function properly, the blood becomes pure and healthy, the appetite improves, and the general system becomes invigorated.

Mrs. Francis Mervier, Brunswick, Ga., writes: "My liver and kidneys were very bad, but thanks to Bliss Native Herb Tablets, I have not a trace of my old trouble now. I shall continue to keep them on hand, just as long as I can get them."

Bliss Native Herb Tablets are put up in $1.00 size. Accept no substitutes. Look for the trade mark and money back guarantee on every box. Sold by local druggists and local agents everywhere. Made by Alonzo O. Bliss Co., Montreal, Q.

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour, burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind, and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucus membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the foods and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the Bisurated Magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover, the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.

AIR ROUTES CONSIDERED BY BRITISH MINISTRY

London, Oct. 2.—The air ministry has issued a resume of the proceedings of the first conference with representative meteorologists of the dominions held in London. Captain Redford represented Ceylon; Lieut.-Col. D. C. Bates, New Zealand; A. H. Hunt, Australia; Knox Shaw, Egypt; C. Stewart, South Africa; Sir F. Stupart, Canada; Dr. G. T. Walker, India, and H. D. Grant, the admiralty.

Several subjects were discussed from a meteorological standpoint, including air routes from Cairo to Karachi and Cairo to the Cape. The conference decided to continue as an association for periodical exchange of views upon scientific matters. Sir Napier Shaw was elected the first president.

THE LIBERAL CONVENTION

Delegates Will Be Elected by Ontario Liberal Association.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—The Liberal convention will be held in Ottawa on Nov. 20 and 21, and the delegates will be elected by the Ontario Liberal Association, according to a statement made by Hon. Mr. Carvell, minister of public works, who is in charge of the arrangements for the convention.

CANDIDATES NAMED IN HAMILTON AND TORONTO RIDINGS

G. W. V. A. Ask Mayor to Stop Him—Liberals to Meet Friday.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Controller William J. Robbins, a prominent labor man of this city, received the Conservative nomination for Riverdale tonight. Joseph Russell, M. P. P., retiring owing to ill-health. Controller Robbins' name has been freely mentioned lately as the probable Government appointee to the proposed ministry of labor.

Lieut.-Col. W. H. Price, M. P. P., who has been acting as counsel for the board of commerce in its investigations in Toronto, was tonight again nominated as the Conservative candidate in Parkdale. North Victoria Conservatives today nominated Dr. R. M. Mason, M. P. P., to be their candidate again.

South Waterloo Liberals nominated Dr. S. E. Charlton of Galt today.

West Hamilton Conservatives nominated J. A. MacFarlane, a draughtsman in the Hamilton Bridge Works, as their candidate, John Allan, M.P.P., refusing to run again.

East Hamilton Conservatives decided tonight not to place a candidate in the field. Lieut. Sam Landers and Capt. Fitzgerald have been nominated by returned soldiers.

RECEPTION GIVEN PRINCETON VETERANS

PRINCETON, Oct. 1.—A reception was held last evening in the I. O. D. E. Hall in honor of Sergt. Harold Bayliss and Pte. George Horne. Sergt. Robert Duncan presided, and cordially welcomed the young men. The Pascoe orchestra and members of the Innerkip Vocal Club furnished a good program.

Dr. Hotson and W. Mann of Innerkip made interesting speeches, as did also the chairman. The address to the soldiers was read by Walter Kipp, and Ernest Wells presented each of them with an engraved gold watch, for which they expressed their thanks. About sixty couples enjoyed dancing to music by the Pascoe orchestra until early morning.

The first of several fine bridges to be built in Oxford County is just completed, and will be open for traffic this week. It is a two-truss concrete structure, reinforced throughout with steel, and capable of sustaining without sway loads of any weight. It spans Hornor's Creek on the third concession of Blenheim Township. It is 55 feet long and has a 14-foot roadway, designed by Roger M. Lee of Brantford, and built by Bain Company of that city.

STORM OF PROTEST OVER IVENS' COMING TO SPEAK AT SARNIA

G. W. V. A. Ask Mayor to Stop Him—Liberals to Meet Friday.

SARNIA, Oct. 1.—The announcement that Rev. William Ivens of Winnipeg is to speak before the Sarnia labor men has aroused a storm of protest, in Lambton County, so much so that the members of the Great War Veterans' Association have asked Mayor Nesbit, and other city officials, to prohibit the westerner from addressing an audience in this city.

N. L. Lesuer was today proclaimed the new president of the Sarnia Great War Veterans' Association, and Thos. Weston has been chosen as secretary-treasurer.

TWO CANDIDATES.

Members of the U. F. O. in West and East Lambton, and labor men of the same ridings, have announced that they will both support their respective candidates in the ensuing election, but that they will be friendly to each other with the idea that if a labor man is elected he will do his best for both farmer and labor, and if a farmer candidate is elected he will do likewise.

Both the farmers and the labor men have commenced campaign work in earnest, and plans are now under way for a series of election meetings, which are scheduled to open next week.

Interest in this part of the country at present is very keen, but the first real meeting of the campaign will be opened by the Liberals Friday night, when Organizer Charlton will speak in the city hall here.

CITY GROWS.

An increase of 471 in the population of the Imperial City was shown by Assessor Simpson. This gives Sarnia a total population of 12,178. But for lack of houses it is claimed that many more citizens would be shown on the rolls of this city.

COMING TO LONDON.

Members of the Great War Veterans' Association are planning to visit London in uniform on the day that the Prince of Wales will be in the Forest City.

SIR ADAM BECK MAKES PUBLIC HIS ATTITUDE

Issues Promised Statement As To Position in Coming Election.

WILL STAND FOR HYDRO

Must Remain in Legislature While Member of Hydro Commission.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Sir Adam Beck tonight issued his promised statement as to his attitude in the coming provincial general election. He makes no reference in it to the Government, and does not espouse any party, but stands only for hydro-electric power and hydro-electric railways. His statement follows:

"My first duty as I see it, and I need not add my devotion, is to the municipalities of the province of Ontario that have pledged their credit and have incurred enormously large liabilities in the obligations they have assumed on account of the hydro-electric power scheme and ultimately will assume on account of the hydro-electric radial railway undertaking. Their interests are to me paramount, and I have always felt, and in this I believe the municipalities concur, that in order that these interests may be conserved, it is essential that I should be a member of the Legislature during such time as I remain a member of the hydro-electric power commission.

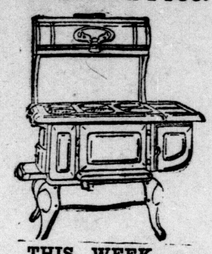

"If, therefore, the electors of the city of London see fit to return me to the Legislature as their member I shall deem it my duty to discharge the responsibilities that may be placed upon me, and use my position to safeguard the public interest to the end that the projects to which the municipalities are, or may become committed, may receive the support necessary for their full and ultimate development.

"I have placed my views fully before the executive of the Conservative Association of London. I am of course quite unable to say what action they may take. I can say sincerely, however, that I was deeply touched by the evidences of the friendship and good feeling extended to me following my statement."

ST. THOMAS STREET RLY. MONTH'S DEFICIT $1,057, MANAGER GETS $20 RAISE

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 1. — The street railway committee at its regular monthly meeting tonight voted an increase of $20 a month to the salary of Manager Fred Dougherty. He will receive $120 a month, and the increase is retroactive from July 1.

The total expenditures during the past month were $3,131.20, while the receipts totalled $2,073.33, making a total deficit for the month of $1,057.57. The chairman explained that there are five pays in September, and this with a curtailed service owing to the laying of new tracks on Talbot street accounted for the heavy deficit. Two more cars of the one-man type will be ready for service in a week or so.

PICK CHARLTON FOR CANDIDATE IN S. WATERLOO

Liberals Choose Galt Alderman at New Hamburg—Women Prominent at Meeting.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

NEW HAMBURG, Oct. 1.—South Waterloo Liberals held a convention here this afternoon and unanimously chose Dr. S. E. Charlton of Galt as their standard-bearer. The meeting was large and enthusiastic, a feature being the number of ladies present, and the address of Miss A. Rennie of New Hamburg.

The following were also nominated and withdrew in the candidate's favor: J. A. McIrvine, Galt; Dr. Ward Woolner, Ayr, and Miss A. Rennie. The meeting was also addressed by Mr. Wilkie, Toronto, and Mr W. G. Charlton, West Elgin. A public meeting will be held here tonight in the Liberal candidate's interests.

GARY DECLARES "OPEN SHOP" IS THE SOLE ISSUE

Chairman of U. S. Steel Board Says Men Did Not Want the Strike.

EMPLOYEES CONCUR

Admit Those Who Voluntarily Responded Were Mostly Foreigners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Declaring that the question of the open shop—the right of a man to work, irrespective of whether he was a member of a labor union—was the sole issue in the nation-wide steel strike, Judge Ebert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, told the senate committee investigating the strike today that his corporation would never yield. "Even now," he said, "the strike is failing."

"There was no reason for this strike," said Judge Gary. "The men did not want it. It was forced on them from the outside by the organizers of labor unions. The open shop is the question here—the right to bring about fullest production with only the interests of the employe, the employer and the public in sight."

Labor leaders, he told the committee, were seeking to unionize all industry in the country. Should their efforts be successful, he asserted, industrial decay would follow.

"It means the condition I fear England is in today, though I have hopes she will come out of it," he added.

Knew No Reason.

Judge Gary had not concluded his testimony tonight and will be examined again tomorrow. He gave way for an hour today to several employees of the corporation's mills, who told the committee they knew of no reason for the strike. All agreed that the men who voluntarily responded to the strike call were mostly foreigners, and one of them, John J. Martin, a Youngstown machinist, attacked the leaders of the national steel workers' committee.

"I think John Fitzpatrick (chairman of the workers' committee) with W. H. Foster (secretary of the committee) as an able assistant, is heading a band of buccaneers, who will overthrow this government if they are not stopped," said Martin, who explained that he himself formerly was a union man. They were engaged, he said, in "scuttling the American Federation of Labor."

Martin testified that the steel employees at Youngstown, American and foreigners alike, had been terrorized by threats to burn houses and kill children.

Judge Gary also said, in the course of his testimony, that the company had much "hearsay evidence" that such threats had been made against men who would not join in the strike.

SIR EDWARD KEMP, OVERSEAS MINISTER, IS BACK IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—Sir Edward Kemp, overseas minister of militia, arrived in the capital this noon, having come direct to the capital after his arrival in New York. Sir Edward states that the movement of Canada' fighting men homeward is practically complete. There are, he says, approximately ten thousand men still in England, apart from hospital cases, and these would have been in Canada before now but for shipping difficulties due to strikes of dock laborers.

Rumor at the capital has it that Sir Edward may shortly retire from the Government and be appointed lieutenant-governor of Ontario, but at the present time the report lacks confirmation.

LIBERAL DELEGATES FIND FAULT WITH THE TORONTO GLOBE

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Fault was found with the Toronto Globe at a sparsely-attended convention of East York Liberals here this afternoon by one of the delegate, Lindsay Crawford, a former editor of the Globe, because of what he termed the lukewarm support given to the Liberal party. "Are the Liberal newspapers of this city with the Liberal party, or are they not?" Mr. Crawford asked. "You find every day," he added, "the leading Liberal paper of this city reflecting upon the leadership of Hartley Dewart."

SOUTH WELLINGTON CONTEST PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—An interesting contest is promised in connection with the provincial election in South Wellington, where an Anglican clergyman, Rev. Mr. Buckland was formerly rector of St. James' Church, Guelph, and was a chaplain with the Canadian forces in France.

He lined up behind the Hearst Government at the convention, and said he was in favor of the Ontario temperance act. The same convention passed a resolution of confidence in the Government. The South Wellington Conservatives also named Venerable Archdeacon Mackintosh as a possible party candidate, but the archdeacon declined the honor in favor of Rev. Mr. Buckland.

Too Ill to Work

Scores of Women

in homes, stores, offices and factories are not fit to be at work. They toil on day after day and year after year suffering with distressing weaknesses and derangements, hoping against hope that they will soon feel better, but how can they hope to do good work or escape permanent invalidism?

Such women are in danger of derangement of women's functions. They owe it to themselves to try that good old fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring Women to health and strength.

Here is a Notable Example

St. John, N. B.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bladder and kidney troubles and backache and find it the best medicine I ever took. I used many other remedies with very little result. I had two miscarriages and would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your medicine. I always keep a bottle of Vegetable Compound in the house, and I feel fine to do my work for five in the family. I have recommended your Compound to many people, and you may use this testimonial if you like. It may help some other woman."

MRS. ALBERT S. GILL,
17 St. Andrew St.,
St. John, N.B.

And Another

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through the Change of Life and suffered two years with headaches, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results. I also find it a very helpful spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends and am willing you should publish this."

UNIONISTS MUST GO TO POLLS.

It is repeatedly reported through channels that lead directly from inner ministerial circles that the object of Friday's Unionist caucus is the formation of a permanent Unionist party. If this is the case it means an early general election. It is not conceivable that a Unionist government formed on a permanent basis would so ignore the electorate as to refuse to take the matter to the polls, although the Borden-Rowell combination has many amazing and audacious acts to its credit. The Unionist Government was a war measure, an unusual, extraordinary and temporary arrangement brought into existence in order to facilitate this country's war activities. At least, that is the explanation given. The sponsors of Union Government may have had other motives, but it is certain that the country understood the coalition was to end with the conclusion of the war. Now that the period of its "mandate" from the electors is over, if the Unionists intend to establish themselves on a permanent basis, it can only be done after an appeal to the people in the form of a general election. Not to do this would be a burning injustice, a gross violation of public right. Impudent and autocratic as the Union Government has been in its treatment of the people, it would scarcely dare put this infamy on them. So we should expect an early federal election.

A RECORD OF WONDER.

Is there a right understanding of the financial miracles worked by Canada in the world war? Here was a nation in 1914 that had never faced the burdens of competitive armament, that had no right understanding of the meaning of income tax as it is known in Europe. It was a nation of peace-loving and peaceable folk. Only in the cities could be found well-organized and efficient militia battalions, and the club-spirit made them a success. A few officers devoted themselves to military study, but speaking generally the soldier was an infrequent person.

In a moment, almost without warning, this Canada was plunged into war, and in a few months was facing an extraordinary expenditure approaching a million dollars a day. But the credit of the Dominion was good. The exploits of the army and the spirit of the people at home strengthened that credit in New York as in London, and so long as money was available in the world's markets Canada could secure all that was necessary.

But the financial pressure became heavier. The United States entered the war and all the resources of the republic were mobilized for its own needs. Then the Government decided to appeal to the war spirit of the Canadian people. A year ago, almost with fear and trembling, the minister of finance offered for sale Victory Bonds to the amount of $350,000,000. The country in a burst of pride and enthusiasm subscribed over $600,000,000, an average of $75 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion.

Now another loan is before the nation. Again the appeal is to the pride and enthusiasm of the folk whose sons and brothers made that corps d'elite commanded by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie. The needs are as pressing as ever. The soldiers must be paid and cared for. The facts are clear. The nation, we are convinced, will respond once more with eagerness and ardor, thus completing a cycle of miracles which have staggered the financial world.

WESTERN'S NEED OF BUILDINGS.

The question of permanent buildings for Western University is brought to a head by the record-breaking attendance in all its departments this year. Every available room is being pressed into service, and still there is congestion. It is practically certain that another year will see yet further marked increase, and still greater difficulty in carrying on the work unless provision is soon made. It is understood that the board of governors has decided upon a campaign within the next few months to provide the first of the needed buildings, and surely there is no cause which could be presented to London citizens that should meet with heartier response. London should remember that there will be no more university charters issued in this province, and that the possession of a charter here is a civic asset that other Ontario cities will yet envy. Most assuredly, as the geographical centre of Western Ontario, London has few assets that promise greater returns in days to come than its university, drawing students from a dozen or more of the counties surrounding.

It means much to the workingmen of this city that their sons and daughters may be able to complete their education without leaving home, thus reducing the cost to a minimum. The recognition of the honor degrees of Western University for specialist's standing places the courses here on exactly the same status as those of the University of Toronto in the eyes of the department of education, and as the scope of the university's work is extended year by year there will be many more young people to whom the idea of a university education before beginning their life work will make very special appeal. It is not to be forgotten, too, that the location of a university here is a magnet drawing other educational institutions, which either prepare students for university entrance or whose work links up closely with that of the higher institution. Already Huron College is so affiliated, and doubtless St. Peter's Seminary will be linked up in the future.

The influence upon the community of the university is decidedly beneficial. It brings in as citisons men who are specialists in their various fields, and whose knowledge and experience is of value to the municipality. It aids those who are engaged in elementary education, and through extension work brings its privileges to many who are not in its regular classes. Western University has shown its sense of obligation to the community by doing a good deal along extension lines during the last few years. Lecturers of national fame have been brought here, and courses provided for the public free of cost. Last year the Thursday evening popular lectures were enjoyed by thousands of people. A similar service will doubtless yet be performed for municipalities in Western Ontario outside of London.

Western University is now firmly on its feet. Its work receives the official approval of the department of education, its library and laboratory facilities are increasing year by year, its students are meeting the test of actual experience, and showing that their education has been sound. The future is assured if opportunity is provided for the steady, healthy growth that present conditions assure. The university has as fine a site for its permanent home as any university in Canada. On that site there can be raised a group of buildings that will do more to spread the name and fame of London than any buildings in the city today. And from those buildings there will go out young men and women who will take up the tasks of the coming years, and will bear their part well in making this the nation that it should be. The future of Western can never be in doubt if the men who have its affairs in charge have but faith, and are prepared to put their faith into works.

THE CASE OF THE TEACHER.

The month of September has seen the usual rush into the Normal Schools of Ontario. Sometimes we hear complaints that recruits for the ministerial profession are few or mediocre or both. But somehow pedagogy with all its stiff standards attracts numbers that try the capacity of roomy normal buildings. Even men still enter the ranks of public and high school teachers.

It seems strange at first thought that in spite of the most flagrant underpayment this occupation should continue to be so attractive. Other civic and governmental employees, not to speak of organized and unskilled labor, have had considerable advances in salary of late years, but there is one public servant whom all conspire to tramp on, and that is the school teacher. And yet crowds flock into this despised profession. Domestic help is rapidly becoming extinct, but teachers seem always to be had at whistle.

The emoluments are poor, the perquisites poorer or nil. The minister gets windfalls of one sort and another, wedding fees, discounts, presents. A business man gets favors from other business men, doctors show courtesy to one another, even a poor journalist has often a railway pass. But a teacher, it seems, nobody loves—in a tangible way.

Can it be holidays and "short hours" that popularize pedagogy? Holidays without the wherewithal to enjoy them are a mockery, and ask any teacher about his or her hours, the preparation of lessons, the reading of examination papers, etc. Perhaps for young women the teaching profession seems to open up a quicker path to matrimony than, say, stenography or staying on the farm or nursing? A clever Chicago poet sang to his banjo a resolve to marry a school teacher because he fancied that with her bank account he would be able to travel round the world and live in easy affluence forever. More likely the postulant for a teacher's certificate thinks as much of evading dish-washing as of marriage bells.

It is not easy to account for the annual rush to a very unprofitable Klondyke. Probably the prospect of a strong teachers' union being one day formed, at last, far off, has nothing to do with it. Perhaps the truth of the matter is that education of children is a natural, vital function of most normal people, especially women. Nearly everyone likes to re-create himself, realize his or her ideal of living in the training of a young human creature. To educate someone else is a part of one's own life. Spiritual parentage is as necessary to an integral life as physical parentage. The teacher's function is natural, and enjoyable to those particularly adapted that way, as well as immensely important to the community. The good teacher, who loses himself in his work, attains the true happiness of life, to which mere salary is subsidiary. He is not a machine tending a machine, but a personality.

As H. G. Wells puts it in his latest book: "Man is born as the beasts are born, a greedy egotism, a clutching desire, a thing of lusts and fears. He can regard nothing except in relation to himself. And it is we teachers alone who can lift him out of that self-preoccupation. We teachers can release him into a wider circle of ideas beyond himself, in which he can at length forget himself and his meagre personal ends altogether." In enfranchising the pupil's mind the teacher enfranchises his own, finding his life in his work and in ideas. The community may well honor itself by respecting the teacher and show its respect by paying him or her the salary due.

SEAGULLS.

[Kadra Maybi, in the New York Times.]

There is a sailor legend
Men tell by the waning moon
(And I heard them laugh as they told it Tonight in the deck saloon).

That whenever dies a sailor,
On the deep sea or ashore,
There comes to the birds of ocean
One grey seagull the more.

What eye has found their nesting,
By beach or cliff or bar?
What heart has ceased their questing,
'Twixt sand and sea and star?

And men who know the wonder
Of boundless blue and breeze,
Would they hold with the walls of heather
Or the shade of earthly trees?

So I know that the sailor legend
Is true, and there come again,
When the grey gulls slant to seaward,
The souls of the sailor men.

From Here and There

MARINERS.

[David Morton, in Harper's.]

Men who have loved the ships they took to sea,
Loved the tall masts, the prows that creamed with foam,
Have learned deep in their hearts how it might be
That there is yet a dearer thing than home.
The decks they walk, the rigging in the stars,
The clean boards counted in the watch they keep—
Those, and the sunlight on the slippery spars,
Will haunt them ever, waking or asleep.

Ashore, these men are not as other men:
They walk as strangers through the crowded street,
Or, brooding by their fires, they hear again
The drone astern, where gurgling waters meet,
Or see again a wide and blue lagoon,
And a lone ship that rides there with the moon.

DECREASING PRESBYTERIANS.

The usual question for Presbyterians when the annual statistics for the denomination have appeared has been, "How much have we gained?" But this year, says The Continent (Chicago), the answer is, "Nothing; instead, we have lost." Some cold comfort is sought for this state of affairs:

"The numberable Presbyterians in sight of United States affiliations are nearly 29,000 fewer than a year ago—a thousand fewer than two years past. Since the decrease corresponds, however, to the simultaneous experiences of other church bodies in our country, it cannot be regarded as a sign of unhealth peculiar to Presbyterianism. Doubtless, as in sister churches, congregations of Presbyterians have declined in effectiveness because of the absence of their pastors in war work. Persons inclined to charge the ministry with incompetence should give due weight to this negative testimony bearing in the opposite direction; pastors are at least sufficiently effective to render the withdrawal of their force and effort immediately noticeable.

"No doubt it is lack of pastoral oversight which accounts for the startling increase of 15,000 in transfers to the suspended roll—a total of practically 70,000 church members who have simply disappeared from sight during the past year."

PRODUCTION FOLLOWS PREVENTION.

Throughout by far the greater part of medical history, what the doctors did—or attempted to do—is sufficiently indicated by the fact that they were content, and even proud, to call theirs "the healing art." Their ambition, that is, was to cure the sick and to mend the mutilated. Their predecessors, the magicians, did, indeed, claim the power to ward off disease, as well as to drive it away after it had come, but when, and wherever, faith in spells and charms disappeared, the practitioners of medicine thought their duty accomplished when they utilized such curative means and measures as they knew.

They had their reward and earned it. Then came "preventive medicine," demanding in recent years recognition as more important than the merely curative, and getting it too, from the more enlightened part of both the medical profession and the public, but not yet making more than a good beginning in the achievement of its promised wonders.

Now a new phrase is coming into use—"productive medicine." Its employment shows that there are doctors who look beyond both the curing and preventing of disease, and count among the possibilities of their art, and the very highest of them, that of doing something for men and women who are neither ill nor threatened with illness.

AUTOMOBILES AS LAWN TRACTORS.

Lawn mowing with an ordinary household auto, dragging behind it a fleet of common barnyard lawn mowers, is advocated in Popular Mechanics (Chicago). Says this magazine:

"The cutting of grass in large parks and private grounds, golf links and other places where a neat appearance is desired, is a problem for which various solutions have been offered. Specially built power lawn mowers, operated usually by gasoline engines, have been used in many places with good results, but the cost of these machines, and the fact that they are often subject to heavy wear from continual high speed, and, perhaps from faulty springing, have diminished their usefulness. A method has been adopted for use on a golf links which is characterized by great simplicity, and which does the work at a very good rate of speed. Three wide lawn mowers are attached to a steel frame, and the whole is attached to the rear of an ordinary light automobile. The two mowers at the side overlap the central one by a few inches, to insure covering the swath completely. As the automobile did not have to be provided especially for this purpose, but was required for other purposes, for which it could be used when not engaged in drawing the mowers, the first cost of the apparatus was very low, consisting of only three mowers and a few pieces of angle steel. There is nothing to get out of order, beyond the mechanism of the automobile itself, and the mowers require no attention except sharpening and oiling. A swath about ten feet wide can be cut. The device is, of course, best adapted for use on large areas, where there is plenty of space for cutting rounded corners."

AT TWILIGHT.

[Samuel Minturn Peck, in Boston Transcript.]

Sweet Eyes lost long ago,
My soul with craving aches tonight—
If but one olden moment I might know
Blest by your light!
To resless youth a calm
You brought. Aye, fragrant grew the hours
'Neath your soft radiance. Yours was a balm
Outsweeting flowers.

O dear Lost Eyes, when first
We met we trusted Time—thought he
Our friendly debtor was, no foe accurst—
So young were we;
The seasons hied away;
Careless we watched the blossoms die,
As if we thought inevitable Death
Would pass us by.

Though sometimes 'neath your gaze
A joy more keen sang in my heart
Its prescient song, I never dreamed our ways
So soon must part—
Oh, yes, I should have known
The woe to come. But why recall
Fate's whisper; or, in days forever flown,
His dim footfall?

A soul all gentleness
It could not pass as others do;
Even with the grief you caused you fain would bless
Your loved one, too—
Sweet memories leave behind
As when a fragrant blossom goes;
And so, Sweetheart, you died as dies—still kind—
The summer rose.

THE PASSING OF THE ELEPHANT.

The last elephant in Zululand was recently killed. The elephants of Southern Rhodesia have been exterminated. In the Eastern Transvaal, near Portuguese territory, a few survivors of a small troop occasionally are seen, but they are being attacked from both sides, and are on the verge of extinction. It is possible that there may be a few left in the Knysna Forest, Cape Colony, but the game warden is doubtful. And now a special correspondent of the London Times writes that the Provincial Council of the Cape of Good Hope has passed a decree authorizing the destruction of the herd of elephants in the Addo Bush Forest Reserve. Says a writer in Science (New York, August 15):

"The Addo Bush, near Port Elizabeth, until recently was a waterless scrub of little value. In its centre an area of approximately 6,000 acres has long been a reserve for the elephants. The land is not fenced off, and farms, at first of small value, but now being developed by irrigation works from Sunday's River, surround it. The herd numbers between 100 and 200 individuals, the only surviving examples of a distinct variety, characterized by a strongly arched forehead, enormous ears, roughly square outline, short forelegs and a very hairy body. The proposed action is not a case of wanton destruction. The Provincial Council has given long consideration to the matter, and has passed the decree only after careful investigation by a special committee whose members were fully alive to the zoological calamity that their recommendation involved. The elephants sally out of the reserve in quest of food and water. They break down fences, stampede cattle, destroy crops and frighten human beings. They assume that the irrigation canals are intended for their benefit, and in taking their baths they destroy the banks and dams. The committee reported that the elephants could be confined only by the erection of a fence thirteen miles in length, and a structure sufficiently strong to contain elephants would have cost at least $100,000. It would have been necessary to provide a water supply, and it is more than doubtful if the area inclosed would have provided natural food in sufficient quantities."

JUST PIE.

[By Alice Pierce.]

In these days when the average edition of a city daily contains in one column such a startling item as the successful flight of an airplane across the ocean and in the next records the safe delivery of a deceased aunt's remains to Mr. Blank, of Blanktown, via parcel post, at the trifling cost of forty-three cents, we are compelled to describe Phoebe Hurlburt as an anachronism.

Long ago, when the whalers set sail from the little port, Phoebe's grandmother made most wonderful pies. Phoebe makes them just as delectable—and by the same recipe. Not the most noted man of science can suggest one improvement in the pies the old New England housewives concocted. Phoebe didn't try, and therein lay her success.

Phoebe Hurlburt occupied a place in the sun not too close to forty at the time her romance began. Cousin Jane was close behind. Jane had all along intended it to be her own romance; but, somehow, in the last act the cues got twisted and John Bellayre walked into the Hurlburt kitchen where Phoebe in an immaculate calico housedress, was in the act of removing from the oven two crispy fragrant apple pies, instead of into the orchard where Jane had staged herself in an act worthy of Belasco himself. John stayed in the kitchen to have a sample, served with clotted cream, and stayed so long that finally Jane, all unassisted, climbed down from the tree in which she was precariously seated.

It had been along about Christmas time when Jane met John Bellayre. He had been the guest of honor at a so-called Sunday morning breakfast party. As a matter of fact both "morning" and "breakfast" were misnomers, for the guests assembled at 1 o'clock, and what they had to eat was a rather elaborate luncheon. Jane had written her country cousin all about it and had kept her informed of the progress of the friendship. Jane liked to be called "clever," and it was with that adjective that the other women present at the breakfast described her manipulation of John Bellayre. But to do Jane justice she was an attractive woman, and Bellayre didn't need much managing to drift into a close friendship.

Things were at this stage when Jane wrote to Phoebe, asking if she might bring Mr. Bellayre down for a week. Jane usually exercised the privilege of inviting a friend of two to her cousin's two or three times during the year.

Mrs. Hurlburt, who was something of an invalid, enjoyed the diversion. And nothing delighted Phoebe more than cooking for people who appreciated the results. Though Jane's friends were varied as to station in life and in tastes, when it came to the primitive enjoyment of good food well cooked they were just human beings and very much alike.

Phoebe usually listened in on the conversation, now and then surprising everybody by putting in a brightly intelligent comment in exactly the right place. She presided over the house—cool, competent, immaculate. But to all invitations to visit in the city she returned a polite but final declination. She didn't like cities.

It was here in the charming old New England village that Jane had planned that the crowning event of her life should take place. John Bellayre was dramatic critic for one of the city dailies. He knew many desirable people, and he was himself an extremely likable man. Jane calculated that her often-repeated statement that she would not give up her freedom before she reached the age of thirty-five would help, rather than hinder. Men preferred to have some obstacles to overcome—it tickled their masculine vanity.

It didn't suggest itself to Jane to take into consideration the fine sense of values which a dramatic critic must possess to take him high in his profession. It never occurred to her that she looked as much out of place in Phoebe's home as an orchid would were it used in the stage setting of the "Old Homestead." She merely noted casually that John seemed to enjoy sitting on the veranda where she was always to be found in the afternoon with her crocheting. He would sit there lazily by the hour, hardly speaking at all. Jane usually spent those hours in rest, that she might be more vivacious, physically and mentally fresher later on. Of course, John was merely killing the time when she was absent.

On the last evening of her guests' stay some restless impulse foreign to her placid nature, drove Phoebe to the kitchen. She explained to her mother that it promised to be hot tomorrow, and so she guessed she would do some baking before she went to bed. She had heard Jane's words to John Bellayre as her cousin went upstairs directly after the early supper. "I have some notes to write, John; I will meet you in the orchard at half past seven." Then, at seven, she had seen her cousin steal out of the side door arrayed in a pale mauve gown, one Phoebe had never seen before and which struck her as almost indecent in its daring simplicity.

John Bellayre caught a whiff of the fragrant odor of steaming apple pie as he started down the path toward the orchard. Without in the least analyzing his own motives, he retraced his steps, opened the kitchen door and walked in.

If it is true that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, it is equally true that every woman is at heart a born flirt—even the most placid. Anyway, when Jane returned to the house, after maintaining to no purpose her precarious position in the apple tree, when it had grown too dark for the simple lines of her mauve gown to show to their best advantage against the green of the tree, she found John Bellayre and Cousin Phoebe seated side by side on the kitchen steps, planning for the future—together!

When a mutual friend asked Jane rather frankly, some time later, what there was about that country cousin of hers to interest such a brilliant critic as John Bellayre, Jane answered, rather sarcastically, we must admit: "Just pie."

EIGHTY years ago Canada was struggling with its early problems. It was a house divided within itself. Classes and castes clashed. Upper and Lower Canada were the upper and nether stones of racial division. Though the future looked dark, the very struggle gave birth to a new idea—Cooperation—United Purpose—United Effort—Confederation.

In Upper Canada a band of democratic patriots saw that Confederation was the logical solution of the difficulties besetting the people, and the stepping stone to Great Nationhood.

He drew his inspiration from the desires of the people. He threw down the gauntlet to entrenched autocracy.

In 1844 George Brown founded The Globe as an advocate of Reform and an organ for the development of Public Opinion. During the past seventy-five years, Canada has emerged from Colonial obscurity to great nationhood, and The Globe, governed by the principles of true liberalism, and actuated by sober thought, has ever stood by the constitutional rights of the people and advocated needed reforms. The Globe will continue to advocate them so long as reforms are needed.

"As Brown bent the twig, so the tree has grown." The Globe is still the servant of the people and will remain so. It will continue to promote all good causes for the welfare of the people and the up-building of the nation.

The Globe is what Brown wanted it to be; a Great Family Newspaper—a newspaper for the home, a newspaper for all thoughtful people in every walk of life—for all the family.

The Globe has now served three generations of Canadian people. It will continue to be what it is today, what it always has been, an advocate of every good cause and a family newspaper in the best sense of the word.

World-Wide News Service

The Globe maintains a permanent editorial and reportorial staff of over fifty members. It is served by a staff of correspondents in Ottawa and in all the Provincial Capitals, and has approximately 350 regular correspondents in all towns of importance in Ontario and the principal Canadian news centres.

It is a member of several important world-wide news syndicates, such as the London Chronicle-New York Times cable service and the London Times-Philadelphia Ledger cable service.

From the United States it has a regular telegraphic service from Washington, New York, and Chicago, as well as special services from the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, and Philadelphia Ledger.

Of course, the Canadian Press Limited and Canadian Associated Press also are members of the Globe's force of newsgatherers. Nine telegraph wires are operated in The Globe office nightly to handle the flood of world news these services bring.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Women At Home and Abroad

ON CHOOSING A HAT

The selection of a hat is really the most important duty which a woman has to perform in the whole season. And this is the reason: there is no article of wearing apparel which can so make or mar her appearance. A hat which becomes and at the same time has a dash of style about it, can transform an otherwise insipid costume.

And what about this woman's work? Is not her stenography, her nursing, her mothering or her husbanding more important than the trifling business of choosing a flimsy creation for her head? I say it is not, for when a woman's hat is right, it goes a long way towards making her entire costume right, and when she feels her appearance is correct, the psychological effect on her work is marvellous. It really is a fact that a new suit and a new hat will put new life into the flagging sprits of almost any woman.

There is no excuse, then, for any woman, however busy she may think herself, to rush out and buy "any old thing." "Any old thing" will cover her head and keep out the raindrops, 'tis true, but "any old thing" won't make her feel that confidence which gives poise to the well-dressed woman and instils in her an enthusiasm for life and for her work. A hat should always be the means of making the face it shades more bewitching, and unless it does this, it is not worth the name of "hat." A woman might as well attempt to wear her boot on her head as don a hat which does not improve her appearance.

FRENCH FAMILY CAN FIND NO HOME

There arrived in the city recently a Frenchman and his wife accompanied by two small children. They can speak very little English but managed to convey to Mrs. Watson, Y. W. C. A. Travellers' Aid, that they were in search of a small house or rooms. The man is a carpenter working on one of the military hospitals here and receives a fair competence, but finds it impossible to put a roof over the head of his little family.

This is only one of the many cases which are heard of daily. There is no room in London for the people who want to come here. Perhaps the French family's case sounds more pitiful and will attract greater interest because they are French, but every family seeking in vain for a home, is pitiful. The city is trying to help out the situation by building, but the city is slow and building is necessarily slow. What is to happen in the meantime?

There's only one thing that can happen to solve the situation and that is if these citizens who are living alone or almost alone, in large houses, would consider a partial letting of their homes. Otherwise there will be extreme distress in the city this winter from overcrowding.

WILL NEED PEARLS TO BE ULTRA-STYLISH.

Pearls are going to be a requisite of the fashionable woman this winter. For evening wear they will be more in vogue than ever, and some street costumes will hardly be complete without them. A novel way of wearing pearls this year is beneath the flimsy blouse, worn with suits. Real pearls are supposed to gain a greater lustre from contact with the skin.

AMERICAN TEXTILES VIE WITH FRENCH TO CLOTHE MILADY

Betty D. Thornley of London Gives Reason in "Vogue" Article.

It was the darkest and richest and blackest brown you ever saw—one of those deep velvety browns that hide on the lower side of a pale fungus in a dim wood. Only in this case the brown lived on a very select shelf in an ultra-select establishment just off Fifth avenue. It was 54 inches wide, and soft beyond belief, considering that it was all wool. And Daphne had just come to the conclusion that she couldn't live without a suit of it.

Monsieur himself had suggested the shade as well as the material, since Daphne had fallen quite in love with a model in one of those lovely Pompeian tones—only that Lisa had just got Pompeian, and there'd be Vesuvius to pay in the family if it turned out that there were two of them.

French, of Course?

The obliging assistant effaced himself behind the big bolt and unrolled wonderful dusky lengths. Despite the fact that it was plain brown, there was a subtle bloom on it, and when Daphne drew it through her fingers it was smoother than suede.

"French, of course," she said. "Why, oh why, can't we Americans ever learn how to make the very best of anything?"

Monsieur smiled. Indeed, he almost twinkled at his favorite customer.

"On the contrary," he assured her, "France is wonderful—too wonderful to claim what she does not do. And the material here is American, down to its very name of 'peachbloom.' It was made in New Jersey."

America Has Arrived.

Today America has definitely arrived, so far as the textile field is concerned. American materials have even been taken to France to be worked on by French and American creators in collaboration. But so new and so unknown to those outside the industry itself this success that many American women continue to purchase their own domestic textiles more willingly when they imagine they have been imported.

The reasons for success in the textile field are the same, probably, as those that account for it in other fields—a care and attention to detail that is old-fashioned European, joined to that spaciousness of outlook that is essentially of the new world. You cannot make good textiles with your eyes on speed—or size of output—or cheapness of operation. You've got to think of quality—and then more quality.

A Cool and Becoming Summer Dress.

2915—Here is a very pleasing combination of organdie and gingham. It is just the dress for shore or country wear, and lovely for other cotton materials. Voile, crept, linen, taffeta and washable satin could be used. Width of skirt at lower edge is about 1⅝ yards.

The pattern is cut in seven sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 2 yards of 36-inch material for the guimpe and 4¼ yards for the dress.

A patter nof this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

EMBRO W. I. TO PUT NEW SEATS IN SCHOOL.

The Embro and West Zorra Women's Institute met in the public reading rooms. The president, Miss Marion McLeod, was in the chair.

The president received a letter, asking information re the holding of a sewing and domestic science class this year.

It was decided that the money this society made at "The Community Fair" and during the year would go to help buy new seats and put a new floor in the junior room of the public school, which needs it very badly. The president requested a delegate to be appointed to attend the annual Women's Intitute convention which is being held at Toronto on November 10, 11 and 12. It was unanimously carried that the president, Miss McLeod, should go. After the business was all transacted, Mrs. R. H. Clark gave a paper on "What Can the Institute Do Towards Reconstruction?"

A short time was spent in discussing the referendum. The roll call was responded to by "Favorite Receipt."

The next meeting is to be held on Thursday, November 6, at the home of Mrs. W. P. Lane, when a debate on "Consolidated or Separate Schools" will be part of the program. Mrs. R. H. Green, Mrs. W. W. Murray and Mrs. W. P. Lane were appointed as judges.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

TELL IT TO THE SOCIETY EDITOR.

Mr. and Mrs. De la Hooke have returned from Toronto.

Miss Doris Ead, Ridout street, spent the week-end with a friend, Miss Reid, of Woodstock.

The Misses McIntyre have returned home after spending a most enjoyable holiday in Detroit.

Mrs. J. D. Van Dusen of Detroit has returned home after visiting her niece, Mrs. H. R. McDowell, William street.

Rev. D. D. Douglas and Mrs. Douglas are in the city visiting Rev. William Lowe and Mrs. Lowe at St. John's Rectory.

Miss Lulu I. Stearns of Detroit has returned home after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. H. R. McDowell, William street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mottashed announce the engagement of their daughter, Amy Beatrice, to Albert Ivan Craig, son of J. R. Craig of this city. The marriage will take place this month.

Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae and Mrs. Crae have returned from Chatham, where they were the guests of Mr. James Ross. While there, Dr. McCrae conducted the 84th anniversary services of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. On Monday, an old-fashioned tea was given by the congregation.

Mrs. Randall Brown entertained the 7th Regiment Chapter of the I. O. O. E., of which she is regent, at her home on Tuesday afternoon. The reception room was bright with snapdragons.

Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. W. G. Coles and Mrs. Butler poured tea, while the members of the chapter enjoyed a chat over the teacups.

The girls of the Y.W.C.A. residence, Wellington street, entertained on Tuesday evening, when they tendered a kitchen shower to Miss Frances Bowey of Exeter, bride-elect, who has been a resident of the "Y" for over three years. Her marriage takes place in the near future. The dining-room was lovely with roses and carnations, and luncheon was served from tables, prettily decorated with flowers.

LE SUEUR—BURDICK.

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday, September 27, when Mary Burdick, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Burdick, became the bride of Mr. Joseph W. Le Sueur. The ceremony was performed by Archdeacon Richardson; after which the happy couple left for Toronto and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will reside at "Clear View," South London. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

ANDREWS—PERRIN.

On Monday evening, September 29, the wedding was solemnized of Elizabeth Ann Perrin to Rev. Henry Howard Andrews. Rev. A. C. Bingham performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Welland, 38 Horton street.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Welland. The groomsman was John Whitford of Hanover. A wedding dinner was served following the ceremony, covers being laid for twelve.

MILLS—CARROTHERS.

Another pretty wedding of the autumn season was that of Miss Veda Carrothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carrothers, Horton street, to Rev. J. N. Mills of Brantford. The wedding was solemnized by Rev. Canon C. R. Gunne in Christ Church last evening at 7 o'clock.

The bride was charmingly pretty in her wedding robe of white satin with little Juliet cap, veil and a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of Ophelia roses and orchids, and her attendant, Miss Meta Patterson. The groomsman was the bride's brother, Cecil Carrothers. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, a number of her old college friends being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills left afterwards for a trip to Chicago. On their return they will reside in Brantford.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Colors and Hats.

Dear Miss Grey,—Decided I would call. Will K. Pistol kindly write and tell us how her leg is? If anyone wants a recipe for big cucumber pickles we have a good one. Now for a question or two.

1. What color goes best with blue eyes, dark brown hair and dark complexion?

2. What will clean a panama hat that has turned yellow?

Thanking you, I will sign myself, "EDE."

Ans.—1. Shades of brown are probably best-suited to anyone of this coloring, although clear dark blues are also good.

2. First free your hat of all loose dust by wiping with a clean damp rag; pour into a saucer a little peroxide of hydrogen, with a small brush go all over your hat, scrubbing a little at a time and wiping with a dampened cloth as you go. Should clean the hat nicely in this way.

Peach Leaves Will Do.

Dear Miss Grey,—I enjoy the letters written by Boxites very much with their helps. think if "A Very Thankful Reader" would gather a quantity of peach leaves which are plentiful just now and dry them for winter and use them the same as the burdock leaves for her bread, she would be pleased with results. A small handful would be about right for a baking.

I will sign myself a PEACH LEAF.

Ans.—You've the real spirit of co-operation, Peach Leaf, and I have pleasure in passing your hint on to our breadmakers.

Whose Fault?

Blondy,—(1) Doubtless a hat in navy or beaver brown panne or plush would become you nicely, and both colors are very modish.

(2) Difficult to advise what course to take for the best. Whose fault was it? Perhaps you'd better wait a week or so, and events may smooth themselves out. But if you believe yourself to be in the wrong, you could send him a line, I suppose, and say you are sorry.

NOTES.

Silly Seventeen.—A reader, L. G., would like to have those crochet patterns you offered in the Mail-Box. L. G. forgets to send a stamp, but, anyhow, I refer the matter to you.

Why Is Jealousy?

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you tell me what colors will be worn this winter for dresses?

Could you tell me why it is a boy gets jealous when he is keeping company with a girl?

As winter is drawing near, would be awfully glad if you would send me the stocking foot pattern.

I saw in your column where Strathroy No. 2 would like to know how to dye a pale blue georgette crepe waist navy blue. I would advise her buying Rit and follow directions, and I'm sure she will have good results. But if she doesn't get it the shade she likes the first time, try it the second time. Will sign myself, ESSEX MAID.

Ans.—Brown shades are said to lead. Among the new tones are chestnut, morocco, kangaroo, peanut, henna, Ghent blue and Congo brown. 2. Can't say. Don't know if all men do or not. Suppose it's really complimentary to the "loidy." Cure? So far as I can ascertain, it has yet to be discovered. 3. One is winging its way to you e'en now.

What Is Proper?

Dear Miss Grey,—1. What is the proper thing to say when acknowledging an introduction? 2. Should you stand when a lady or gentleman friend older than yourself comes up to shake hands? 3. What would be the proper name to give to a girls' hockey team? Could you tell me where to get a booklet on the rules of the game? 4. Could you print a recipe for maple cream candy and chocolate fudge? Thanking you in advance, I am, PEARLINE.

Ans.—1. To smile and bow and say "How do you do, Miss Blank?" is quite sufficient. If it's anyone you wish to be especially nice to, you may shake hands. 2. Yes, it shows more deference and respect, particularly if he (or she) is advanced in years. 3. There are various names that might be deemed suitable: The Beavers, The Daisies, The Fairies, Sis Hopkins's Sisters, Janey Canucks, The Maplettes—do any of these sound right? 4. Inquire at any book store, or at shops where sporting goods are sold.

5. Fudge.—Two cups granulated sugar, three-quarters cup milk, three tablespoons grated chocolate (or many use two tablespoons cocoa to save the grating). Mix in saucepan, and let boil steadily, stirring often. Test by dropping a little into cold water. When it will form a soft ball, add a lump of butter, and chopped nuts if desired. Remove from fire and add vanilla, beat until the candy is smooth and thickening, then your into buttered pan, mak into squares just before it gets cold.

Maple Cream.—Three cups brown sugar, wet up with milk (water will do), set on the stove and boil ten minutes. Do not stir while boiling. Remove from stove and beat until it begins to thicken. Add a piece of butter size of large walnut, and vanilla to taste; pour into a buttered pan and let cool. Cocoa or chopped nuts may be added if desired.

Tomato-Mincemeat

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you kindly publish the recipe of green tomato mincemeat and oblige MRS. WM. B.

Ans.—There are two recipes both supplied by Mail-Box readers so you can take your choice:—Green Tomato mincemeat No. 1. — One peck of green tomatoes, five pounds light coffee sugar, one pound stoned raisins, one pound currants, two tablespoons ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoon ground cloves, one scant tablespoon salt, one teaspoon grated nutmeg, one teaspoon ginger, one cup suet, one cup vinegar, one cup boiled cider. Chop tomatoes rather fine and drain, cover with cold water, bring to a boil, drain off all water, repeat second time, cook the ingredients one hour, add cider, vinegar and spices, let come to a boil then seal very hot.

Green Tomato Mincemeat No. 2.—One peck green tomatoes, one-half peck apples, chop both fine, three pounds brown sugar, two pounds raisins, or raisins and currants, two nutmegs grated, one tablespoon cinnamon, one tablespoon cloves, one tablespoon salt, one teaspoon ginger. Cook three hours. Just before taking from fire add one cup vinegar. Do not pour off any of the tomato juice but boil it down to the right consistency for pies. Cut the tomatoes overnight and sprinkle with salt; rinse off in the morning and grind through coarse knife or food chopper.

Write the P. D.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines to ask you about a pattern I sent for to the pattern department, London Advertiser. It is now three weeks since I sent for it and I have not got it yet. It is a pattern for a little girl 4 years old. What can I do to get it? Hoping to be able to help some next time. BROWN EYES.

Ans.—Send a post card or letter to the pattern department, stating the non-receipt of your pattern. Tell them as near as you can the date upon which the former order was sent in and be sure to give again your full name and address. A duplicate order will be sent you.

Not a Good Color

Miss Grey,—I made elderberry wine three weeks ago and I let it ferment, then I strained it but it is not a good color. What could I do with it now? It seems thick yet. Please answer as soon as you can and oblige a Reader.

Ans.—Sorry not to be able to advise, but I shall have to refer this to some of our makers of home-made wines. Perhaps you did not add enough water to the juice when boiling; this would seem to account for the thickness.

All Right, Pussy

Dear Miss Grey,—I noticed in your column where "Summer-School-Girl" was wishing to correspond with me. I am inclosing a letter for her which you may forward. PUSSY WILLOW.

Ans.—All right, Pussy; the letter's on its way to S. S. G. ere this.

STUFFY HEAD CLEARED OF CATARRH GERMS BY "CATARRHOZONE"

To catarrh victims we have just one word of advice—cure it now. The remedy is "Catarrhozone." That it will cure permanently you cannot doubt. Catarrhozone has cured thousands; it will cure you, too.

It acts in two ways: First, it destroys the germ—that checks the progress of the disease. Its second action is to heal the sore places the germs caused. Nice to think of breathing little drops of healing to every part of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. It is such absolute thoroughness that makes Catarrhozone so effective in grippe, catarrh and colds. Then by its sedative influence upon the mucous surface it clears away the cough and throat tenderness very quickly. We owe something to a science that has given us Catarrhozone—that wonderful remedy which so surely enables us to permanently cure disease of the breathing apparatus. We all know that stomach dosing is useless, and this departure in the mode of treatment is an advance in medical science that everybody can appreciate and value. Complete outfit of Catarrhozone, which is guaranteed to cure any case of catarrh, asthma, bronchial or throat troubles, lasts three months, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; trial size, 25c; sold everywhere.

O-Cedar Polish
the Wonder Polish for your Motor Car

Why should you let your car deteriorate in appearance. It is so easy to keep an auto body practically like new. It only requires a slight expenditure of money and effort, if you use the right polish.

O-Cedar Polish used the right way, has been found by thousands of motorists to be the correct treatment for any car.

Follow these directions carefully:—

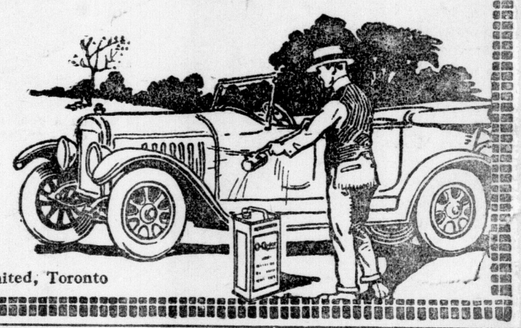

Wet a piece of cheese-cloth with water. Wring out the surplus water. Pour on as much O-Cedar as the cloth contains water. This combination forms a soft, harmless lather that removes dust, scum and grime. Polish with a dry cloth. If there is mud on the car wash it off first—then follow directions as above.

Another way, is to mix half water and half O-Cedar in a sprayer. Before using shake the sprayer, to mix O-Cedar with the water. A light brisk rubbing with a dry cloth produces a hard, dry lustre.

With the O-Cedar Duster, you can dust your car in a few minutes, every day, and keep it looking bright.

Use O-Cedar Polish in the house as well as in the garage—use it for your furniture, your floors and your linoleum.

O-Cedar Polish is sold in various sized packages, from 25c. to $3.00. The O-Cedar Duster 75c. You will find O-Cedar Products at any Grocery or Hardware Shop.

Cicotte, Hope of Sox, Batted Out of Box by Winning Reds

National Leaguers Wielded Willow Unmercifully, Ruether, Reds' Southpaw, Counting Two Triples—Oskie Neale Collects Three Hits and Two Runs in Four Trips to Plate.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 1.—Cincinnati today won the opening game of the world's series from the Chicago Americans by a score of 9 to 1.

Every series develops a new idol for the fans, and Walter Ruether, who pitched the Reds to victory, was the unanimous choice tonight. He not only held the White Sox to six scattered hits and really deserved a shutout, but rolled up a batting average of 1,000 per cent for himself.

If there was anything in the game that was better than his hurling, it was his work with the stick. Two of his three hits were mighty triples. He drove in two runs, scored one himself, and was the instigator of the mad romping of Redlegs around the bases in the fateful fourth.

The Sox were in the fight until that time, but when he propelled the ball into "No Man's Land" in left centre and romped around to third while two scored ahead of him, the heart seemed to go out of the American Leaguers.

It was a sad day for Eddie Cicotte, leading pitcher of the junior league. He was simply pounded from the box. Five runs were recorded against him in the fourth before Manager Gleason gave him the sign to retire. His teammates gathered round him and patted him encouragingly on the back, but he walked from the diamond with his head hanging.

Hurlers' Pie.

Roy Wilkinson succeeded him on the mound, while the last inning was pitched by Grover Lowdermilk, but it made little difference to the National League champions. They kept the air fairly clogged with fugitive hits, while the White Sox fielders ran their legs off chasing flies.

After the game, Garry Herrmann, owner of the Reds, who came panting up the runway to the grandstands, stopped long enough to remark to friends:

"Those dopesters that were figuring Cincinnati second didn't figure on our batting pitchers. We've got two more like Ruether; they've all been batting around .300 all season."

The day was clear and hot, and 30,511 fans witnessed the contest. Cincinnati has always been known as a thorough-going baseball town, supporting the home team in a good season and bad, but nerves were on edge today with the importance of the struggle in store. This was made evident by the abrupt termination of the waves of cheering until the inundation of runs in the fourth relaxed the tension, and the cheering became wild and prolonged.

Cincinnati made the first score in the first inning, but as Chicago immediately afterward tied the score it was still regarded as anybody's game.

Cicotte started the trouble for himself by pegging Rath between the shoulders, and he looked a little worried as the Reds' second baseman, a former Sox cast-off, enjoyed his unearned increment on first base. The visiting twirler put one in the groove for Daubert, who singled cleanly, sending Rath to third. The latter scored on Groh's sacrifice fly to left, giving the Reds the first run of the series.

Reds Almost Soar.

Red errors largely accounted for the lone Sox tally counted in the opening half of the second. Jackson grounded to Groh, who threw wild to first, and the runner reached second. Felsch advanced him with a sacrifice, and Gandil dropped a fly back of second, and Jackson trotted home with the tieing run. Thereafter Chicago threatened only twice, in the fifth and sixth innings, but Ruether rose to the occasion, and the danger passed.

The fourth inning opened with a fly to right, but was forced by Kopf. Neale hit a funny one, which eluded two infielders with as many high bounds, sending Kopf to third. Wingo singled, scoring Kopf. Ruether's triple followed, scoring Neale and Wingo. Cicotte was plainly nervous, and a conference was held in the centre of the diamond. Rath was smiling as he faced the pitcher, and doubled to left, putting Ruether across the plate. Daubert singled over second, scoring Rath. Five men had scored, and Manager Gleason at this point sent his favorite pitcher to the bench.

Wilky in Trouble.

Wilkinson, who had a brief warming up, went into the box. He was in more or less trouble much of the time, but managed to stay the slaughter until the seventh, when it was renewed. Daubert tripled into the right field crowd and scored on Groh's single to centre. Rousch laid down a perfect bunt, and Weaver, whose throw to Gandil compelled the latter to stretch so far that the umpire called the runner safe on a close decision. Duncan grounded to Risberg, and Rousch was forced at second, while Groh scored on the play.

Manager Gleason led forth a third pitcher in the person of Grover Loudermilk in the eighth, and his delivery contributed one more run to the Reds' total. Neale greeted him with a single to left, and he advanced a base on Wingo's sacrifice. Ruether then perched himself firmly on the top rung of the ladder of fame with his second triple. It rolled to the fence in centre and had the pitcher exerted himself he could have made it a homer. He preferred, however, not to over-exert himself, and made a semi-sightseeing expedition ramble only as far as third. Schalk dropped the ball a moment later, and it rolled 20 feet away, but Ruether calmly stood in his tracks, while the ball was being retrieved. The end of the inning found him still there.

In the fifth the visitors seemed determined to pursue the enemy, despite their commanding lead. They hit the ball viciously, and got three men on bases, but none reached the counting station. Gandil started with a single back of first base. Risberg sent Rousch into deep centre field after his long drive, but the fielder not only captured it, but held Gandil at first. Schalk hit a stinging grounder to Groh, and the little captain came up with the ball in time to force Gandil at second. Wilkinson then grounded past second, but Rath, with a pretty stop and throw retired the side. The Sox tried it again in the next inning, after there was one down Eddie Collins singled through Ruether, and Weaver dropped a Texas leaguer in right, Collins taking second. As Jackson came to the plate the Chicago contingent cheered, but he grounded out to Daubert unassisted. Collins and Weaver advanced on the play. It was now up to "Happy" Felsch, but his best was a fly to Neale. Chicago never even threatened again, Ruether pitching with superb confidence and control.

Manager Gleason said that tomorrow he would probably send Claude Williams into the box, while Manager Moran of the Reds was said to have his mind made up on "Hod" Eller, the shine-ball artist.

THE VICTORIOUS REDS

FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF THE CINCINNATI REDS.

"THE VICTIM."

Cicotte was expected to uphold the wobbly Sox hurling staff, but wobbled badly himself in first effort.

FROM THE STANDS

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, responded to an ovation from the crowd and directed the band in playing one of his favorite marches before the game was called.

Five former Cincinnati managers—Joe Tinker, Clark Griffith, Hank O'Day, Buck Herzog and Christy Mathewson—saw the Reds' victory.

Jake Daubert, the veteran first baseman, made the first hit of the Reds, a single to center in the first inning.

Ruether, Neale and Daubert were the batting stars of the day, each bagging three safe blows. Ruether made two triples.

Frederick Ruether, a San Francisco merchant, was the proudest man in the grandstand. He had travelled 2,000 miles to see his son in action in the series.

Manager "Pat" Moran, of the Reds, yelled instructions to his base-runners from the first base line, while Manager "Kid" Gleason, of the Sox coached from third base.

Jake Daubert was knocked completely out in the eighth inning when pitcher Lowdermilk "beaned" him with a high, fast ball, Daubert, however, gamely went to first, and was cheered.

Ruether retired the Sox on four pitched balls in the seventh.

The day was a scorcher, more like August than October. The grandstands and bleachers were a sea of coatless fans, who mopped their heads and fanned themselves for a breath of air. The government thermometer registered 88, the second hottest October first in the history of the Cincinnati weather bureau.

Eddie Roush, National League batting champion, was the fielding star of the day. He electrified the crowd with thrilling one-handed catches. All of them were difficult chances. He had eight putouts, one less than Daubert at first base.

The first ball pitched by Cicotte dug into Rath's ribs. The Chicago pitcher followed Rath to first base, inquiring whether the injury was painful. He patted Rath on the back when the Reds' second baseman said he wasn't hurt.

The first two balls pitched by Ruether were high and wide. Then he put over a strike. John Collins, the batter, responded with a hit—Chicago's first—a single through center.

Catcher Wingo's throws were perfect when he caught Collins and Gandil attempting to steal in the first and second inning.

Claude (Lefty) Williams, rated one of the best left-handers in the American League this season, probably will be Manager Gleason's pitching selection to stop the batting drive of the Reds in the second game of the world's series tomorrow.

While "Pat" Moran, the leader of the Reds, did not care to make any official announcement concerning his mound choice, it was generally accepted that either "Slim" Sallee or "Hod" Eller would oppose the White Sox tomorrow.

"We got away to a flying start," said Manager Moran tonight, "beating Cicotte. Gleason's best bet, and it makes no difference to my men what pitcher Gleason starts tomorrow. They said before the series that the Reds could not hit. Fourteen hits tells the story. The same batting drive will carry them through to victory.

"The Reds entered the series a 'cocky' lot of players and this victory has given them a lot more confidence. Ruether deserved a shutout and the Chicago players will find it just as hard to hit our other pitchers. Ruether deserved great credit for the victory. He was cool at all times. His batting was a surprise to me.

"We will even up the series tomorrow," said Manager Gleason of the White Sox. "When Cicotte hit Rath in the first inning he was not himself thereafter. I could have taken him out then, but I trusted that luck would enable Eddie to regain his control. I intend to start Williams tomorrow and have every confidence that there will be a different tale to tell.

"Ruether had a world of stuff today and pitched a really remarkable game. He should have all the credit for the victory. His batting stamps him as a second "Babe" Ruth.

"Today's defeat has not disheartened my players. I am sure the defeat will act as an incentive to win tomorrow. There are nine games to be played and one defeat doesn't mean that the series is lost."

HIGH MAN IN GOLF.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 1.—Dr. P. O. King was high man in the sixteen who contested for the president's cup in a golf tournament being held this week. The tournament is continuing for the remainder of the week, to wind up on Saturday. The local medical men so far head the list.

Sarnia Defaults Game Billed Here Saturday

Imperials Claim Lack of Practice Make Game Impossible —Petrolea Situation Not Bright.

Sarnia rugby officials sent in word tonight that they intended to default the game billed here for Saturday with the local intermediates. The reasons given are lack of practice and inability to get a team together for this date.

There is a slight chance that Sarnia may change their minds and decide to bring up a team but they were pessimistic last night when in communication with the local officials.

Petrolea has turned out rather an uncertain quantity also, and according to present indications, the locals may get a cheap district, although no report has come from the Oil Town that they cannot get a team together to play out the schedule.

ALL SAINTS' TRUNDLERS HOLD SECOND TOURNEY

The second annual tournament of All Saints' Bowling Club will be held on Monday, October 13, 1919 (Thanksgiving Day). The games will be played on St. Matthew's and All Saints' greens. There will be 3 sets of prizes given: First prize, four hams; second prize, four 20-pound bags of sugar; third prize, four 5-pound pails of honey. Play begins at 9 a.m., the games consisting of four games of twelve ends each. There will be no final games played, the highest rinks with plus score at the end of the day, will decide the winners. The Ardiel challenge cup will be played for the first time at this tourney. Entries close at 6 p.m. on Thursday, October 9. Sixteen rinks are expected to enter.

THIS IS SIMPLY JUST SOME OF THE OVERTIME

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—The national commission announced that the total attendance at today's game was 30,511. The total amount of revenue taken in, not including war tax, was $98,778. The commission's share of this was given as $9,877.80, leaving the remainder to be divided at $88,900.20. Of this the players' share was given as $53,340.12, and the share of the two clubs and the leagues at $36,560.08.

Woodstock College Give Locals Good Work-Out

Listless Game Was Baby City Affair, and Locals, a Much Heavier Aggregation, Found Collegians Worthy Opponents.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct. 1.—London intermediates defeated Woodstock College Rugby in a listless game at the college campus this afternoon by a score of 16 to 1.

The Forest City aggregation had no great task in winning, their greatly superior weight being the deciding feature. Their team work also was much superior to that of the college. It was not a good game to watch, as both teams frequently mixed up their signals and confused their team work. In this respect Woodstock's lack of practice was very evident. The visitors were a heavy team of seasoned veterans, while the local lads looked like midgets beside them. Despite this fact the game was considerably closer than might be imagined. The London team showed good ability in following in on each play and their kicking was a feature. Reid played a great game, as did Smith, Roland and Henderson for the visitors. Secord, Hackson and Hughes did stellar work for the locals.

In the first period the visitors scored two touchdowns, one of which was converted. In the second half another touchdown gave them the remainder of their points. The locals scored their lone tally on a rouge in the second half. The visitors were strong in the back field, and the local team did not play its best game by any means, but they gave the visitors a good workout. The line-up:

College—F. Wing, Lampart; halves, Pugsley, Matthews and Hackson; quarterback, Hughes; scrimmage, Derman, Adams and Stonehouse; wings, Morrison, Brinnell, Hoover, Broadway, Roderich and Secord.

London—F. Wing, Smith; halves, Roland, Henderson and Dyer; quarterback, Little; scrimmage, Fitzgerald, Holland and Whyte; wing, Weld, Fischen, Dyer, McKendrick, Reid and Duffield.

Referee—Russell, of College.

THE REDS PLACED 'EM

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—Tabulations of the pitching record of today's game show that Reuther, Cincinnati pitcher, pitched 21 strikes and 29 balls, while three White Sox pitchers, Cicotte, Wilkinson and Lowdermilk, sent over 21 strikes and 24 balls. The record shows that Chicago batters found Ruether's pitching 38 times, mostly for high flies and fouls. The hard-hitting Reds connected with 42 balls pitched by the three White Sox hurlers, 14 of them for safe hits. Twenty-one flies and 17 grounders were hit off Ruether, while 16 flies and 26 grounders were knocked from balls pitched by Cicotte, Wilkinson and Lowdermilk.

A grand total of 179 balls were pitched during the day's game, 88 by Ruether in nine innings, and 91 by Chicago pitchers in eight innings.

The record for fewest balls pitched in any one inning went to Ruether, who in the seventh inning tossed only four times. One of these was a ball, two were high flies out, and one was a grounder on which the batter was thrown out

Lowdermilk pitched the highest number of balls in any one inning, when he went into the box in the eighth. He gave ten balls, four strikes and one fly and five grounders were knocked—a total of 20 pitched balls.

O. R. F. U. Teams Are Slow In Paying Their Dues

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Clubs intending to play in the O. R. F. U. and who have not paid their fees nor received their certificates are again being reminded that fees must be sent in before certificates will be given out. Those clubs which have received certificates are also notified that the mere signing by the player is not all. It is necessary to turn the certificate into the O. R. F. U. secretary for his signature before a player is allowed to participate in a game. The clubs are slow in doing this, and are asked to look after this, in order to save a last-minute rush before a game. Referees are being provided with regular forms, upon which it will be required to place the player's name and the number of his certificate. Galt has withdrawn from the O. R. F. U. intermediate series, leaving Dundas, Woodstock and Brantford in that group.

L. C. I. Rugby Team Go To St. Thomas Friday

S. Thomas will be he scene of a gridiron struggle Friday, when the L. C. T. team goes on the field at the Railway City's collegiate field day.

The local boys are not as heavy as usual, but they are making it up in speed, and some fine plays which were introduced by Mel. Brock, who is coaching the youngsters, as well as the Western team.

Leonard Stops Metrie In Seventh at Detroit

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—Benny Leonard of New York boxed rings around Charley Metrie of Milwaukee here tonight, and did it so consistently that the scheduled 10-round bout was stopped at the end of the seventh, after Leonard had twice sent Metrie down with terrific punches to the head and body. The first time Metrie stayed down for a count of nine. Then he staggered to his feet with strength enough left to keep out of reach of Benny's right until just before the bell rang, when another hard one to the jaw sent the Milwaukee lad down on his haunches.

In every round the champion showed himself a master of the boxing game, and Metrie, though boxing with all the skill he had, was only a plaything for Leonard.

Large Crowd Witness Donnybrook Fair Races

Donnybrook fair, held at Dorchester Wednesday, saw some excellent racing. The free-for-all and the 2:50 pace were especially well contested. Every heat was decided by inches. The track was fast, because of the rains of the past few days left it in a fine condition. A big crowd witnessed the events, and in spite of a raw east wind stayed until the last heat was run.

GUM DECAY CAUSES TOOTH DECAY

Healthy teeth need healthy gums to hug them. Else they will loosen in Pyorrhea. Tiny openings will come in the gums to act as the gateways of disease germs, which infect the joints or tonsils, or cause other ailments.

Forhan's prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. No mere toothpaste does. Are your gums tender, gums? Are they bleeding gums? If so, you are certain to have Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Four out of five people who are over forty have it.

To you we earnestly recommend Forhan's. It preserves the gums which hold the teeth secure.

Brush your teeth with it. Forhan's cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Run Down Nervous Mothers

Gain Strength Rapidly on Vinol

In their zeal to do all in their power for their loved ones, most mothers overwork and soon get in a nervous, rundown condition. Vinol, the non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, is exactly what they need to build them up, make them strong and quiet their nerves.

Please be Convinced by this Positive Proof

"I was weak, run-down and nervous. I had dizzy spells and no ambition to do anything. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it. In about one week I felt better and it built me up and restored my strength. I want to recommend Vinol to other women who are weak, nervous and run-down." — Mrs. E. Trotter, 2 Grant St., Toronto, Ontario.

"I am a farmer's wife and keep house for my family of six children. I suffered from a constitutional breakdown and a weak, nervous, run-down condition. My daughter recommended Vinol and it built me up so I enjoy my meals and feel like a different woman." — Mrs. C. J. Snoddy, Moosomin, Sask.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Your money will be returned if Vinol fails — Leading Druggists.

Vinol Creates Strength

LIBERAL LEADER INDORSES LOAN

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Thorough indorsation of the Victory Loan, 1919, is expressed by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in the Dominion, in a letter addressed to the minister of finance, Sir Henry Drayton. Mr. King lays emphasis upon the necessity for the maintenance of Canada's credit and the desirability that the money required to meet the pressing obligations of the nation should be raised at home.

The following is his letter:

Ottawa, October 1, 1919.

My Dear Sir Henry:

I am pleased to join with you in commending the Victory Loan to the people of Canada.

It is imperative that Canada's credit should be maintained.

"As the Government finds that borrowing is a necessity to meet existing obligations, it is in every way desirable that the amount required should, if possible, be raised within Canada itself. I hope, herefore, that the loan may be oversubscribed by citizens of the Dominion.

"You appreciate, of course, that in expressing a desire to see the loan a success, such obligations as I may have in the matter of criticizing unnecessary or extravagant public expenditures is increased, rather than lessened; and that this indorsation is given upon your assurance that the organization of the campaign and everything about it is absolutely and entirely non-political.

"Yours sincerely,

(Signed)

"W. L. MACKENZIE KING."

PROVIDE GRATUITIES BY TAX AND PROFIT ON LIQUOR TRAFFIC

United Veterans' President Makes This Suggestion.

SUNDAY THEATERS

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—There were many warm moments at this morning's meeting of the special parliamentary committee dealing with soldiers' civil re-establishment. John Harry Flynn of Toronto, president of the United Veterans' League, occupied the stand, and was subjected to a verbal barrage during the whole of the morning.

Mr. Flynn contended that every man who served in France should receive $2,000; every man who served in England $1,500, and every man who served in Canada $1,000. This should be paid without regard to the length of service in each theatre of war, and the dependents of men who had lost their lives in any war service should be paid accordingly. He estimated that this would cost the country between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000, and it was up to the Government to find a way to raise this money. A committee should be formed and charged with this task alone.

Mr. Flynn laid certain suggestions before the committee as to how the Government could raise the money. The resources of the country, including undeveloped resources, should be taxed, as this would force development; fifteen grand lotteries should be held in which the public should be invited to participate; all incomes over $10,000 and all wealth over a certain amount should be heavily taxed, so that the poor people would not be bearing the burden of these gratuities and theatres should be thrown open on Sundays with a special tax of two or four per cent on tickets.

Control Liquor Traffic.

This latter plan, he estimated, would bring in two or three millions a year since fifteen per cent of the people would attend the Sunday performances. The liquor traffic should also be controlled, with the Government handling liquor sales from start to finish, and reaping the profits from the vending of liquor, as well as from the taxation.

There was much mild "heckling" of the witness, and at one point, when the witness' British citizenship was questioned by C. J. Power, M.P., the witness protested tha the committee was not formed to deal with personal questions, and he wanted protection from this sort of attack.

An Infernal Lie.

Mr. Flynn, towards the end of his morning examination, created some excitement by making the statement that soldiers' estates had been charged for the blankets in which the men were buried. This assertion was sharply challenged by members of the committee and returned soldiers in the room. It was characterized by C. G. Wheeler, president of the Imperial Veterans' Association, as "an unfounded and infernal lie." Mr. Flynn declined to retract the statement, although he intimated that he had referred to the British army rather than the Canadian.

Mr. Flynn stood by his statement made at a public meeting last night that the Government was 'lying' when it said it could not afford to give returned soldiers the gratuity asked for.

The witness departing announced that he would state from public platforms that he had been subjected to unfair treatment from members of the committee, in that his personal affairs had taken up more of the committee's time than had the needs of the returned soldiers whom he represented.

Threw Down Gauntlet.

Officials of the Great War Veterans' Association and Imperial Veterans threw down the gauntlet to Mr. Flynn and declared that they dissociated themselves and their associations from his demands. They stood for constitutional authority and constitutional means of getting their ends. C. G. Wheeler, president of the Imperial Veterans' Association, stated that the members of that organization did not go about the country threatening what they would do to political parties which did not accept their platform.

Mr. Flynn said the Government lied when it said it could not pay the gratuity demanded. He demanded that a committee be appointed to show that payment was impossible, and that every luxury had been taxed. When it had been shown that payment was impossible, then, and not until then, the men he represented would agree to accept less.

He figured it would cost between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000, but T. O. Cox, officer in charge of gratuities of the militia department, estimated the cost as $983,600,000, exclusive of imperial reservists or Canadians who had joined the imperial forces direct. If the latter class were added there would be an additional $76,000,000 expenditure entailed, bringing the total to over a billion dollars.

MACDIARMID CALLS U. F. O. "VICE"; NAMED W. ELGIN CANDIDATE

Hon. F. G. Macdiarmid Makes Attack On U. F. O. at Dutton Convention

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 1.—The first attack on the United Farmers of Ontario as far as the local political situation is concerned was made this afternoon by Hon. F. G. Macdiarmid, at a convention held Dutton town hall. The former minister of public works was nominated for West Elgin on a resolution put by one of his closest followers, and immediately after, Thomas J. Courtenay of St. Thomas, in order to prevent further nominations, moved that the nominations be closed. There were no other names offered, and consequently the former M. P. P. was named.

He then gave an address in which he declared that the U. F. O. movement was a vice that should be destroyed at once. The farmers had been ill-advised, he said, and he urged any farmers present to realize, at his advice, their mistake now. "I am a farmer," he declared, "and I appeal to you as farmers."

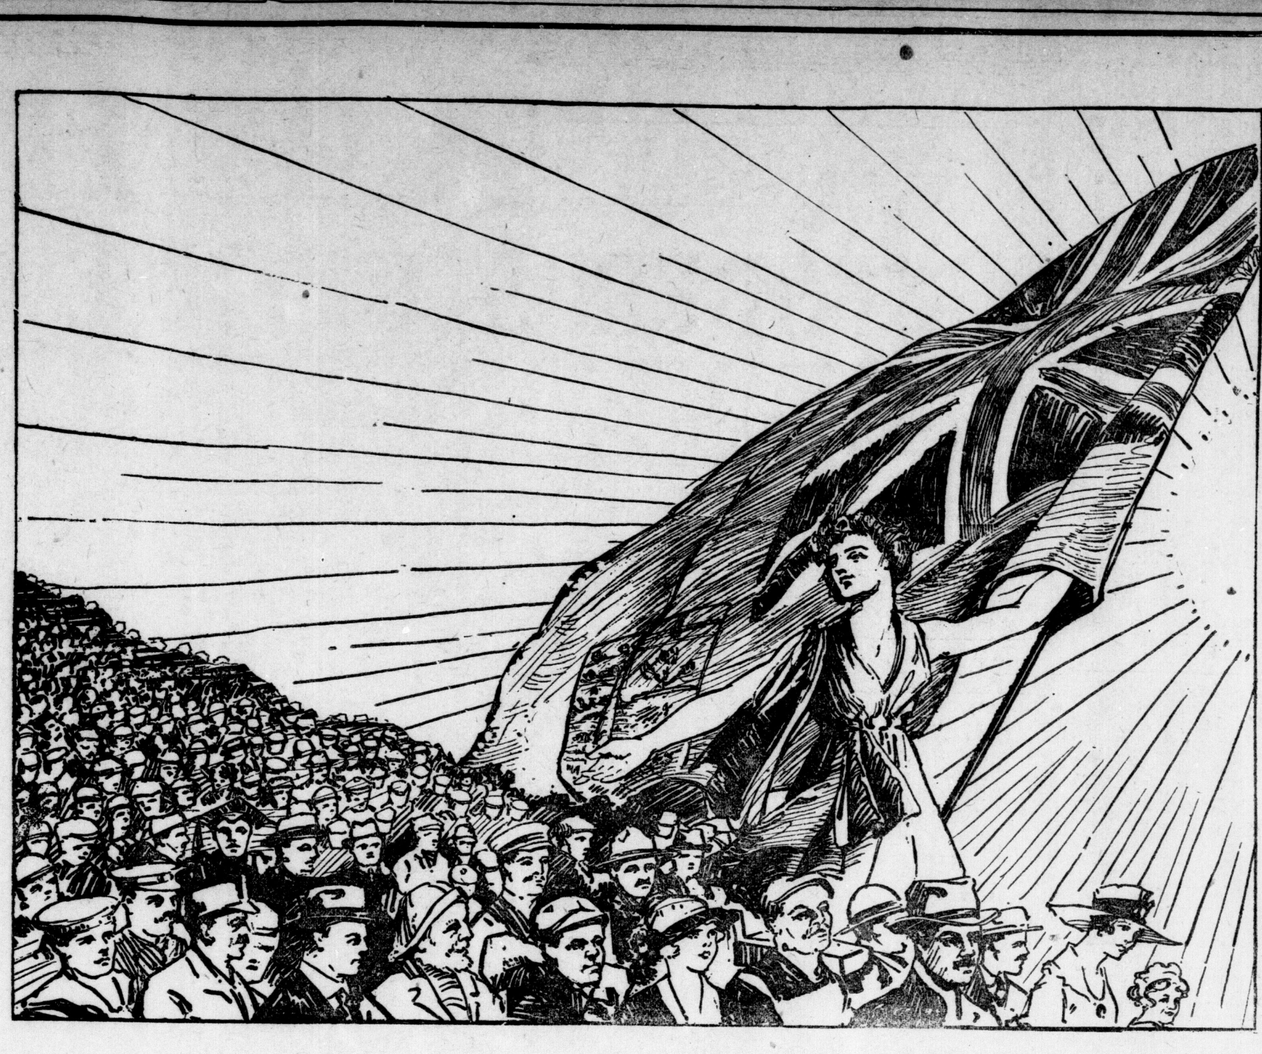

He spent a whole hour discussing the legislation that had been and would be passed by the Hearst Government. Mr. Macdiarmid honored the Liberal party by stating that its platform was broad enough for any man. The Conservative platform, he said, is also broad enough, but the U. F. O. was too narrow to stand on. He first explained, however, that the Liberal party would not receive any blows from him in this campaign because they were not his opponents.

T. J. Courtenay, one of St. Thomas' labor men, declared that the Independent Labor party is nothing more than the Liberals dressed up in a new suit.

WINGHAM DIST. W. M. S. MEETING IN RIPLEY

RIPLEY, Oct. 1.—The women's missionary societies of Wingham district are holding their annual convention in the Methodist Church here today. A large number of delegates from all parts of the district are in attendance. Refreshments are being served in the basement of the township hall.

The marriage of Saulton Graham to Miss Lucinda Teskey was solemnized at the bride's home at 10:30 a.m. today. Rev. Mr. Kilpatrick of the Methodist Church officiated in the presence of immediate relatives. After a dainty wedding breakfast the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip, after which they will make their residence in Ripley.

Forward, CANADA!

THROUGH sacrifice, Canada has gained the respect and admiration of all people.

The years of War that deprived Canada of so many of her bravest sons, have given her greater self-reliance and wider vision. The world has come to expect great things of Canada.

Our army has set us the highest example — to persevere and to succeed.

Canada has the fundamentals of success — strong, virile men, resolute and devoted women, and unbounded resources. In the readjustment of Canada's affairs, as in the affairs of the world, money plays a leading part.

The transition from War to Peace is long, tedious, costly; it takes money, time and effort to beat swords into plowshares. Men cannot drop their arms and return immediately to their former occupations.

War has left Canada a heritage of obligations.

Money is required to discharge these obligations and to solve these problems.

Canada therefore is about to ask her citizens once more to lend their money to enable her to fulfil her obligations to her soldiers and to maintain the country in prosperity.

Canada can, if Canada will, march straight on to her glorious destiny.

DRILLER AT GODERICH.

GODERICH, Oct. 1.—G. Bell of Montreal, who was here last winter drilling the 1,200-foot salt well for the Goderich Salt Company, was in town yesterday in connection with some work along the same line. The Western Canada Flour Mills intend making some changes at their salt plant at the harbor.

CELLAR THIEVES BUSY NEAR CLANDEBOYE

CLANDEBOYE, Oct. 1.—During the last few weeks, a large number of houses have been visited by thieves, and canned fruit, graniteware, grain, etc., taken. It is claimed by farmers, who have seen them, that there are four men in the gang. They have a large automobile.

Two or three cases of the "flu" are reported on the 2nd con. of Biddulph. Most of the farmers report a fair crop of apples, especially Spies.

AUCTION AT EMBRO.

EMBRO, Oct. 1.—The auction sale held yesterday afternoon at the home of the Misses Lovey, 3rd line, was well attended. Wheat sold at $2 a bushel, corn in shocks went at $1.70 to $2.60 each. Cows brought from $60 to $70 each. Hens were sold in lots of 25 or more at prices ranging from 80 cents to $1.15 apiece.

TURN BACK CLOCKS IN U. S. ON OCT. 26

Washington, Oct. 1.—General uncertainty as to when the clocks of the nation may be turned back and daylight saving abolished, in answer to numerous inquiries, officials have now pointed out that clocks may not be turned back until the last Sunday of October, or October 26, at 1 a.m.

MISQUOTING OF LAURIER CALLED WORK OF GHOUL

Hon. Jacques Bureau Accuses Dr. Clarke of Trying to Despoil Grave.

THE ELECTION SCANDAL

Actual Instance of Vote Manipulation in Cumberland County.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—If it were possible to awake the Government out of its [illegible] apathy with regard to the electoral crookedness, corruption and manipulation practiced during the campaign of 1917, especially in connection with the soldiers' votes, it should have been awakened this afternoon by the speeches of Hon. Jacques Bureau of Three Rivers, and William Euler of North Waterloo.

On the continued debate on D. D. McKenzie's motion calling for an inquiry into the telegram sent by Hon. Arthur Meighen to Sir Robert Borden, requesting "packaged" soldiers' votes for certain shaky Manitoba seats, both the above-named members tackled the subject without gloves and disposed of the flimsy and caustic arguments of Hon. Arthur Meighen in defence. Incidentally, Mr. Bureau carried the war into the enemy's camp, and hurled back the charge of "slacker" at the head of the man who has used it.

That the election of 1917 was "a parliamentary selective draft," and that it was a miracle in the face of the stacked decks and loaded dice that a Liberal was elected at all, was the declaration of Mr. Euler.

One Example.

Incidentally Mr. Bureau chose as an example of vote manipulation that practiced in connection with Cumberland County, where the first Commoner in the land, Hon. Edgar Rhodes, the speaker, was elected by the soldiers' vote after having been beaten conclusively by the civilian, and where votes were cast by men who had never lived in the county at all. Dr. Clark of Red Deer recently had quoted what he alleged to be a declaration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier during a debate in the House in 1906, namely, that "we must fight the enemy with the devil's fire." This declaration, Mr. Bureau stated today, was not to be found on the records. Dr. Clark he accused of endeavoring to despoil the grave of the honored dead, that he might make a political argument.

"The minister of the interior," said Mr. Bureau, "threw out the aspersion that we on this side of the House were slackers and white livers. I was against conscription. They said it was cowardly to be against it, but, my God, I had the manhood of my cowardice, and I was against it. I fought against it. In 1918, during the war, the minister of the interior was 38 years old. Remember, I do not disparage his actions. He was going over the country preaching that the last man and the last dollar was needed for the war. He was a prominent figure. So prominent was he that one day when the rumor floated throughout the country that he had himself enlisted, he was flooded with so many telegrams of congratulations that he did not know what to do with them. The country knows that he was born in 1876, and with the enthusiasm which he had created in the Dominion he might have done something else than throw the epithets of 'slacker' and 'white liver' at his neighbors. I am not criticizing his action. I want the country to know his status; that is all.

A Basic Principle.

"We are fighting in regard to ths matter," continued the member for Three Rivers, "not on account of electoral corruption. We are fighting for the very basic principle of democracy, liberty and free institutions. I think the statement made by the minister of the interior has made plain these conditions. May I add that when he says we are at the other extremity of the patriotic thermometer that is patriotic currency which has been largely discounted with me ever since I looked at the Parliamentary Guide and found how old he was and what his history has been."

With reference to Dr. Clark, who had defended the Government during the debate, Mr. Bureau declared that he "would refer to some of those who had gone down to the cemetery and opened the grave of one for whom we have the greatest reverence for the purpose of trying to make a political argument." The statement attributed to Sir Wilfrid in the debate of 1906, Mr. Bureau declared, was not on the records of the House.

Unspeakable Crime.

"The most unspeakable of all crimes," declared Mr. Bureau, "is to violate the sanctity of graves, and to lay profane hands on the dead. Where there is an earthquake, a fire or a civil disturbance with loss of life in some great city, the order to be given and most readily obeyed is to shoot down without mercy the ghoul found looting the bodies of the dead. But the ghoul who merely takes a few pennies from the body of a stranger upon the street is a petty offender as compared with the vampire who breaks into the sacred tomb of the honored dead and seeks to filch from the departed his good name and reputation.

"In every well-conducted cemetery men are employed to drive away and exterminate the loathsome animals that defile and despoil the mounds that mark the last resting place of the dead. The police run down with vigilance and the law summarily punishes the grave robber and the body-snatcher. Why we have no fitting punishment for the more obscene and degraded malefactors who violate the sanctity of the grave is strange."

Mr. Bureau declared that in the election which had returned Mr. Speaker in Cumberland the deputy presiding officer was Capt. Burke, a brother-in-law of Mr. Speaker himself. Man after man had given his address as somewhere in Cumberland, but the records showed that many of them had never seen the county. One man actually lived at Fanelon Falls, Ont.

EATON CO. OFFICIAL REFUSES EVIDENCE ON FIRM'S PROFITS

Tells Investigating Board That That Is a Trade Secret.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—The business of the T. Eaton Company so far as clothing is concerned was investigated at the sitting today of the O'Connor probe. Secretary-Treasurer Vaughan was first examined. He said that in 1918 men's clothing to the value of $1,265,000 and boys' clothing valued at $807,000 was purchased. The firm also manufactured clothing, but did not sell to retailers, the product going to the store. Witness declined to give figures as to profits in this department, on the ground that this was a trade secret. Mr. O'Connor pointed out that bonuses to managers could be added to costs in such a way as to make the profits look small.

The manager of the men's department said an average of 33 per cent was added to the cost price. If 70 per cent of the stock was sold at that rate of profit the balance of the stock would be put on bargain and probably fetch 22.50 per cent. The annual turnover on the department was 22 to 23 per cent gross. Costs of manufacturing were higher. For instance, a suit that cost $18.50 in 1913 now cost $29 or $30 to make.

COUNT THE CIRCLES

HERE'S A FASCINATING PASTIME — PLEASURE COMBINED WITH PROFIT

$864 First Prize THE LONDON ADVERTISER'S 50 Cash Prizes

GREAT $2,750 PUZZLE CONTEST

THIS CONTEST IS FOR OLD AND NEW SUBSCRIBERS

The Advertiser Offers 50 Cash Prizes, Having a Value of $2,750.00, to Those Submitting the Best Solutions of Its Circle Puzzle. Everyone May Enter This Contest, Which Is Merely a Test of Accuracy and Perseverance.

The London Advertiser's Own Puzzle Contest

All Payments Apply on Subscriptions, So You Can't Lose

The Problem

Count the circles in the Puzzle Chart.

Every circle is complete and the chart is entirely free from tricks and illusions. However, to pick out every circle and count it requires patience and care. Those who do this the best will win the valuable cash prizes offered for solving the puzzle.

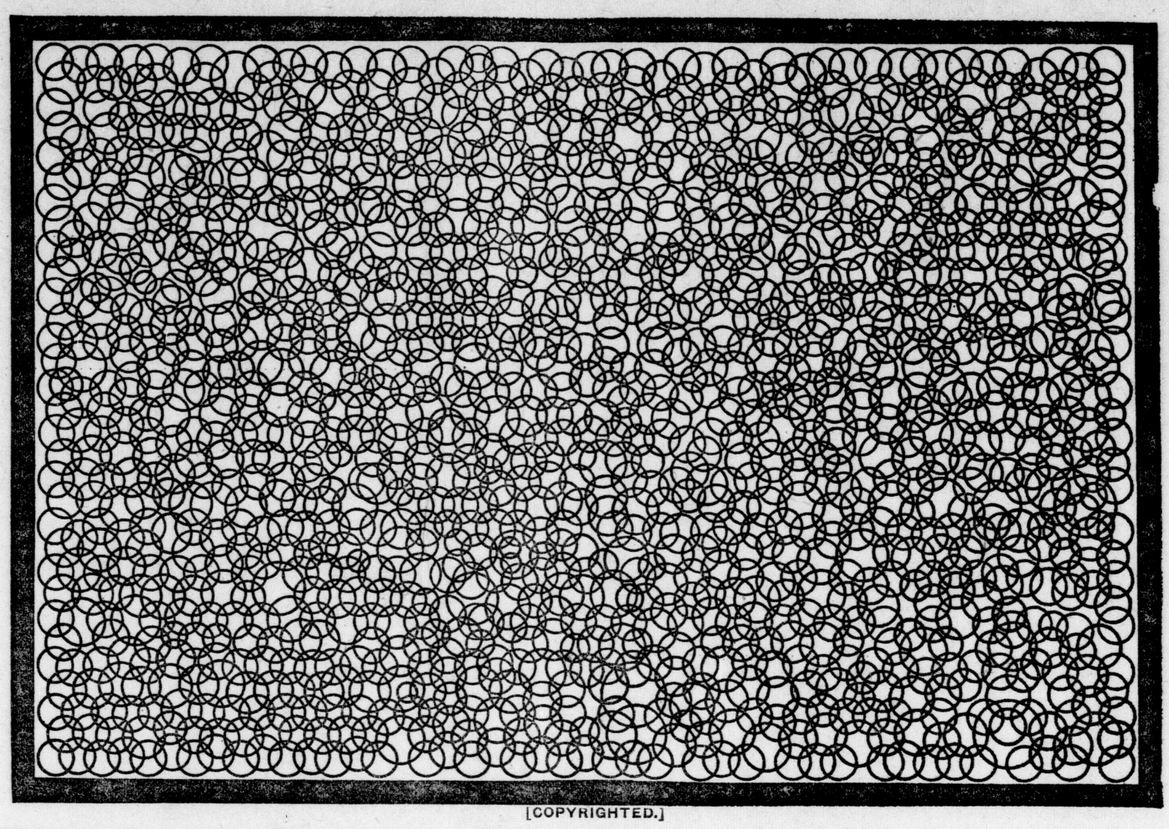

Any method which contestants hit upon that seems to be best adapted to making the count may be adopted. The Advertiser will be glad to receive short notes explaining how the results were obtained. As many different solutions may be submitted as contestants wish. Before sending in a solution, however, read the general rules carefully.

This contest will not only prove profitable to the winners of the prizes, but solving the puzzle will also prove to be a pleasant and fascinating pastime. Taking advantage of this opportunity may net you as much as $864. The plan of this contest permits everyone to work out his own results. He will not only know what he has done himself, but will also have an opportunity to check up the work of his competitors.

Read carefully all the rules, then make up your mind to enter this very interesting contest. It is open to all present subscribers, as well as to those who wish to become subscribers.

As the main prizes have an increased value, according to the amount paid on subscription when solutions are filed, contestants should familiarize themselves with the prize list before sending in their solutions.

Additional puzzle charts may be obtained at The Advertiser office, or they will be mailed to all who send a three-cent stamp.

[COPYRIGHTED.]

Deciding Ties

In the event of ties those tieing will be required to solve a second puzzle in order to determine who shall receive the prizes. This second puzzle, if one should be required, will be equally as attractive and practical as the first. Under this plan those who win will be assured of receiving the full value of their prizes without having to divide them with other contestants. Should still further ties ensue a third problem of the same order as the second will be submitted to those again tied to solve. This plan will be continued until all have been eliminated except the actual prize winners. Should there be no ties on the first puzzle, only the one, of course, will be presented. In the event that a second puzzle is required, one week will be allowed in which to solve it. This will prevent the contest being prolonged for any unusual length of time.

How To Enter

This contest is open to present bona fide residents of Ontario.

Anyone in this territory may enter the contest upon payment of not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. This amount will be applied to subscription to The London Advertiser at regular subscription rates. It may be applied on either the morning or evening edition, or both.

You may submit just one solution or as many different ones as you wish. With each solution you must pay not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. The total amount paid, whether you send one or more than one solution, will be applied to one continuous subscription, unless you otherwise direct. If you are already a subscriber the amount, or amounts, you pay will be applied to extending the time you are paid to. If you are a new subscriber the amount paid will be credited to you and your subscription started at once.

Present subscribers, wherever located, will continue to receive the paper through the same channels as now. No change whatsoever will be made in carriers where subscribers receive the paper through carrier service. All carriers will receive notice that the subscription has been paid and be instructed to collect the amount from The Advertiser office. The same will be done where the paper is being received through an authorized newsdealer.

If you send more than one solution at one time send a separate blank with each one and state in each blank the amount you are paying with that solution.

This contest is open to both men and women. You may order the paper sent to someone else if you wish, names and addresses being subject to any changes that later may be desired.

Contest Closes at 9 p.m. Saturday, November 1

The sooner you send in your first solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution if you find you can do better.

THE PRIZES

The Main Prizes Have an Added Value, According to What You Pay.

Each New Subscriber (not to exceed five) Adds to the Value of the Prizes.

If you want the paper sent to someone else, write name and address below.

Name .....

Address .....

Are you subscriber now?..... (Yes or No.)

Have you sent any other solutions in?..... (Yes or No.)

If you reside outside of London, and where there is a dealer, do you want the paper sent through the dealer or by mail?.....

If the person sending in this blank is one of the new subscribers that a contestant has interested, write in below the name and address of the contestant who interested you. Remember, you also have the right to send in a solution.

The name of the person who interested me is:

Name .....

Address .....

NOTE: This blank, whether used by a contestant for his own solution and subscription, or by someone who has been interested to become a subscriber, whether he enters the contest or not, will enable the records to be kept correctly, and also will insure the one sending in a new subscriber to get proper credit on the prize awards.

Important Features

The attention of contestants is called to two important features in connection with the prizes.

1. While the amount you pay for subscription to The Advertiser has no effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the value of the first five prizes should you win one of them. For instance, each of the first five prizes has a fixed value, to which is added from five to fifty times what the winners pay when they register their solutions. This is explained further in the prize list.

2. The first five prizes may also be increased ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS each by your interesting five persons who are not now regular subscribers to become subscribers. You will receive twenty dollars for each one, whether you secure one or five. Each one of these new subscribers must pay not less than the minimum amount ($2.00) required of contestants. They may pay up to the maximum ($12.48) if they desire, and they may also become competitors for the prizes if they wish to submit one or more solutions of the puzzle. That is, they may enter the contest under the same conditions exactly as any other contestant, the payment they make entitling them to entry.

The name of each one of these new subscribers must be sent in on one of the accompanying blanks, whether he becomes a contestant or not. The fact that he was secured by you must also be indicated in the proper place provided in the blank, so you will receive credit. You may send in any or all of these five names whenever you wish, either when you send in your own solution or later. Just use one of the blanks for each one, and then there will be no mistake made in regard to your getting due credit.

Rate of Subscriptions

On account of this contest all previous subscription offers are withdrawn. The following rates will prevail:

One Year	4.00
Six Months	2.00

General Rules and Information

There is no objection to several members of one family or several friends working together to obtain a solution, provided only one of them turns the solution in. The prizes are awarded for individual effort, and it would not be proper for one person to turn in a solution, then give it to someone else, and for the latter to submit it as his own.

If the paper is already being sent to your residence, either by carrier or through the mails, send in the renewal in the name of the person who is already subscribing. If some other member of the family wants the solution credited to him, or to her, merely attach a note to the blank giving the name of the one who wants to have credit for the solution. The purpose of this is to avoid sending two papers when only one is needed.

When, in the judgment of the Contest Manager, more than one member of the same family, or any others, send in two or more solutions which have the appearance of having been worked in collusion, The Advertiser will reserve the right to use its best judgment in refunding any of the subscriptions paid in connection therewith and rejecting the solutions.

Information will be furnished and rulings made on any points contestants may want information about. The Advertiser reserves the right to decide any and all questions which arise, and those entering the contest as a part of the contract must and do agree to abide by such rulings.

The date a solution is filed has nothing to do with its winning a prize. It is always safe, however, to send in a solution as early as convenient. Then you will have ample time to go over your figures and, if you find you can get a better solution, you will still have an opportunity to profit by your later effort.

As many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. That is, if three people should tie on the best solution the first three prizes would be reserved for them, and they would be awarded these prizes in the order of the standing of their solutions of the next puzzle. That is, the best solution would be awarded the first prize, the next best the second and the third best the third prize.

All solutions must be sent in on the blank herewith. No solution unaccompanied by a cash subscription will be accepted. No solution may be changed after it is once registered.

No one directly or indirectly associated with The Advertiser will be allowed to participate in this contest.

Will Stop Breeding If Canadian Racing Is Discontinued

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—About the most sensational thing adduced by the closing stages of the racing inquiry before Judge J. B. Rutherford today was the statement of Captain T. L. Seagram, son of the late Joseph E. Seagram, president of the Ontario Jockey Club and owner of the largest racing stable in the country, that if racing in Canada were not continued the Waterloo establishment would be closed. Wilfrid Davis of Thorncliffe farm, whose father, Robert Davis, also died recently, said that his connection would not keep up its extensive breeding interests for racing in the United States alone.

Col. William Hendrie of Hamilton was the last witness of the day. He refused to answer questions of Mr. Raney regarding his interests in the Hamilton Jockey Club in 1910, and Commissioner Rutherford upheld him in his stand. The commissioner also took issue with Mr. Raney for asking aimless questions which he said only took up space in the records.

Dr. J. McCarty, official legal representative of the Ontario Jockey Club, accused Mr. Raney of playing to the grandstand. The inquiry will be resumed tomorrow morning.

BIG FOUR PICK REFEREES.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—President Wm. E. Wing of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union has appointed the referees for the opening game to be played at Toronto and Ottawa on Saturday. Pete Campbell, the former Varsity player, will referee at Ottawa, with George Mallett of Hamilton as judge of play. In the Toronto game between Argonauts and Hamilton Tigers, Eddie Phillips of Ottawa will referee, and George Kelly of M. A. A. will be the judge of play.

CUTICURA HEALS RASH ON CHILD

On Body and Face. Red and Itchy. Cried For Hours. Lasted a Year.

"A rash started all over my little girl's body, and she had some on her face. It started in a pimple that was full of water, and it got red and itchy. She cried for hours. This trouble lasted a year.

"Then I started with a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bought more, and I used four cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment which healed her." (Signed) Mrs. Dora Langly, 1032 Gertrude St., Verdun, Que., August 11, 1918.

FIUME UNDER RULE OF POET IS A RIOT OF COLOR AND JOY

D'ANNUNZIO'S WELCOME

Italians Have Made Popular National Hero of Poet-Soldier.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

Fiume, Oct. 1.—Via Paris.—Red, green and white gleamed the beams of the searchlight into the night as our motor sped down the steep cliff into the forbidden city of Fiume. It circled, swung its beckoning finger inland, now far at sea, as if to tell watchers that the spirit of Italy watched over its people.

We had passed the wall-blocked armistice line and had been officially recognized at Lieut.-Col. d'Annunzio's barriers as invited guests. Within a few minutes we were speeding down the main avenue of this little Adriatic port in which the interest of the world centers. Everywhere is a blaze of light and color. Everywhere the street is filled with merrymakers, for Fiume is making the best of her hours of madness. But in all the revelry there is a hint of staginess in the reality. It seemed like a comic opera stage.

I expected any minute the chorus to sing, "We're Jolly Rebels All."

D'Annunzio in Colors.

In the centre of the city, not far from Hotel Wilson, the name of which has been blotted out, is a great illuminated placard, done in white, red and green, representing d'Annunzio in full uniform, but also wearing a huge pair of wings, such as angels are supposed to sprout, as guardian and liberator of the city.

We had been met at the headquarters of the 27th Army Corps in Abbazia by d'Annunzio's chief of staff, a colonel. We were promised safe, if strategic, convoy. The colonel took his place in our car, while a major followed in a Fiat. When we reached the armistice line the colonel waved the guard aside. "My car follows!" the colonel shouted, and we were in Fiume.

Received by d'Annunzio.

We drove straight to the palace where the commander-in-chief received us. During the progress of our interview a great crowd gathered outside crying their "Vivas," and one of the staff interrupted, saying there was a rumor in Fiume that the city had been officially annexed to Italy.

The crowd would not accept a denial and celebrated as did the people of the United States and Paris when the armistice was signed.

There was no doubt of the sentiment of the street crowds. The Croatians keep to their homes. Italians throng the streets. The cafes are filled to overflowing and talk all is feverish and exciting. But there is every chance this opera bouffe may turn to tragedy, for d'Annunzio is determined to stay at all hazards. He conceives himself to be the popular national hero, and he is here to the death.

Meanwhile the matches he plays with threaten an explosion that may wreck Italy, and he knows it.

SENT TO JAIL, BUT NO CHARGE LAID, IS CLAIM

Rev. William Ivens at Brantford Refers to Veteran Held in Winnipeg.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 1.—Rev. William Ivens, M. A., B. D., is in the city on behalf of the Defense Committee of Winnipeg. His object is to try to present the case of the Winnipeg strikers to the people to raise what money he can for their defense and also to form a defence council in Brantford.

He is desirous of addressing the trades and labor council which meets this evening, and will also ask for permission to address the I. L. P. convention.

"There are some phases of the Winnipeg strike I would like to present to the East which have been misrepresented by the forces opposed to labor," he told The Advertiser.

"I was arrested on a charge of seditious conspiracy and men were named on the warrant whose names I had never heard and whom I had never seen. Five men arrested with us were foreigners, four of whom had taken no part whatever in the strike, some of whom I had never seen. One of these men was arrested, sent to the penitentiary and removed from there to the provincial jail, without any charge of any kind ever having been laid.

He was staying at an address named in the warrant and was arrested on that ground. He was a volunteer for the Canadian army, had been twice wounded in Flanders, gassed, and brought back to Canada unfit for further military duty. When we demanded his release on bail the prosecuting attorney declared that if we succeeded in getting bail he would immediately re-arrest him on a charge of insanity. He was finally released without any specific charge ever having been laid.

"Another of these men was kept in jail for eleven weeks, the only evidence adduced against him by the crown was that he was present at a meeting. Upon this evidence and upon no other he was ordered deported. Finally we secured his unconditional release a week ago last Saturday."

NAME OF ROYAL N. W. MOUNTED TO BE CHANGED

With Dominion Police Will Form Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

ONE FEDERAL FORCE

Gen. Newburn Announces 338,833 Men of C. E. F. Now Demobilized.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—The Royal Northwest Mounted Police is to change its name. In the House this afternoon Mr. Rowell presented a bill to amalgamate the Nortnwest Mounted Police with the Dominion Police to constitute one federal force. The name of the new amalgamated force will be the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Major-Gen. Mewburn announced that up till September 30, 338,833 members of the Canadian expeditionary force had been demobilized. The total number of hospital patients now overseas was 126. All the military patients had been returned to Canada. The total number of hospital patients now in military hospitals in Canada was 6,598, which was the peak load.

The minister of railways, replying to a question asked yesterday, read a report from the chief engineer of terminals on the Hudson Bay Railway. The report said that rumors of the work done on terminals having gone to pieces were without foundation. The work had successfully withstood storms and ice without material impairment.

Charged Laxity.

Speaking on the second reading of his bill to amend the adulteration act, Donald Sutherland declared that adulteration of bran and shorts was carried on by nearly all the millers in Canada. He charged the Government with laxity, inasmuch as it had continually filed these complaints without taking action to improve the conditions or force millers to refrain from adulterating the by-products of wheat.

After citing analysis by the Dominion analyst, Mr. Sutherland said that bran distributed through the county was not bran at all, but poison of the rankest kind. Mr. Rowell admitted that existing official reports showed that the law had been violated.

The bill was read a second time and will be discussed in committee later.

ALD. DR. CHARLTON, LIBERAL CHOICE, IS POPULAR AT GALT

GALT, Oct. 1. — The selection of Ald. (Dr.) S. E. Charlton of this city as standard-bearer of the Liberal party in the approaching provincial election in South Waterloo is popular here. There was a large representation from this city at the convention in New Hamburg this afternoon.

Dr. Charlton has been a lifelong Liberal. He was born and raised on a farm, taught school in the country, and then became a medical man, practicing in Hespeler before coming here. While he has for years taken an active part in municipal affairs, and always been a hard worker for Liberalism, this is the first time he has gone before the electors in a political campaign. He is exceptionally well known among the farmers, and is an ex-president of the South Waterloo Agricultural Society.

CUSTOMS GROW.

Customs collections at the port of Galt for September amounted to the sum of $42,432.28, compared with $31,-918.77, an increase of $10,513.51.

AGED RESIDENT DIES.

One of Galt's oldest residents, Mrs. Jack V. Ingles, died in her 88th year. She was born in South Dumfries, and had resided in this district all her life, the past 34 years in Galt. Two sons and one daughter survive, and also one brother, Hiram Rosebrugh of Harrow, who is now in his 91st year.

SMALLPOX BREAKS OUT AT WOODSTOCK; THREE CASES LISTED

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 1.—Three bad cases of smallpox are reported by the medical health officer in the east end. Three different homes, all close to one another, are affected. The patients have been quarantined, and the other members of the homes have also been quarantined in a tent. Two of the cases were at first very serious, but tonight the attending physician states that the crisis has been passed, and that all will recover.

NOMINATING M'BRIDE, I. L. P. GIVES S. BRANT THIRD MAN IN RACE

BRANTFORD, Oct. 1.—At the Independent Labor party convention tonight, on the second ballot, Mayor M. McBride was nominated as candidate in South Brant, thus completing the three-cornered field in South Brant with Morgan servative), and M. McBride (Independent Labor party).

Harris (Liberal), W. S. Brewster (Conservative), and M. McBride (Independent Labor party).

Mayor McBride on the second ballot defeated L. Maycock, a union molder, by a vote of 114 to 73.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 2—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Steels led at the strong opening of today's stock market, gains in that group extending from large fractions to a point. Crucible was again the uncertain feature, however, reacting 4 points immediately after its slight advance. Tobacco, leather, paper, woolen, sugar and railway shares contributed to the early strength at gains of 1 to 2½ points, but equipments, shippings and rubber issues were irregular. Steels cancelled their gains before the end of the first half hour, when Crucible extended its loss to almost 10 points.

IN MEMORIAM.

CAMPBELL—In loving memory of my dear and only son and brother, Pte. Neil Campbell, 401666, of 5th C. M. R., formerly 33rd, lost Oct 2, 1916, on the Somme.

Sadly missed.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
But now he lies in a lonely grave,
And we are left to mourn.
His cheery way, his smiling face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
There is nothing left to answer
Sleep on, dear brother, in a soldier's grave,
Your life for your country you nobly gave;
No friends stood near you to say good-bye,
But safe in God's keping now you lie.
b —Father and Sisters.

FORSTER—In loving memory of Phyllis Gwendolyn, dearly beloved and youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forster, 309 Horton street, who died one year ago today, October 2, 1918.

The peace of God which no man understands,
Beams kindly down upon the greening sod,
And underneath where sacred ashes lie
Of one who's gone before to meet her God.
—Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother. b

MARRIOTT—In loving and patriotic memory of Pte. Charles N. Marriott, who died of wounds received in the battle of Bourlon Woods, September 29, 1918.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow;
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though God called you one year ago.
Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers. b

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble
FRIDAY, OCT. 3.

The sidereal forces in operation on this day make for annoyances and small disappointments rather than for momentious or malicious visitations. The aspects both Lunar and mutual are adverse, but not powerfully so, and these are redeemed by the Lunar sextile to Uranus, promising unexpected benefits and sudden intervention when matters seem to be assuming grave proportions. There is no need for alarm and business should be kept well and patiently in hand. Some change, removal or travelling may bring benefit. The situation in the household and in social and domestic affairs may also prove vexatious or annoying, but nothing perilous is presaged, as the adverse position of Venus is not weighty.

Those whose birthday it is need not be disheartened by small annoyances and petty disappointments, as the year will turn out well if they but keep their business well in hand and not fret over domestic affairs. A child born on this day will be kind and generous, but volatile, unsettled and perhaps unreliable unless well brought up.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Worry a Real Destroyer of Beauty—Simple Remedies

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

Do you ever worry? If you do, you are going to lose whatever beauty you have. What you worry over has nothing to do with the matter itself. Worry is not due to your loss of money, happiness, family ties, friends or a thousand other things.

Worry is due to yourself. It is internal, not external. A healthy physique will bear all sorts and multiplications of troubles without worry.

Not so an ill, tired or defective person. His immunity to worry is lost. Worry, once it enters your anatomy, thrives and becomes the poor relation that is ever with you.

Worry destroys beauty, according to Dr. Luther Gulick. A worrying woman, for example, is stoop-shouldered, irritable and glowering in her anger at the world's fancied harsh treatment. She fails to see that she is treated better by the world than many others who never worry.

The woman who worries much is round-shouldered, flat-chested, untidy and slovenly. Her face is drawn, eyebrows knotted, and forehead wrinkled. Her mouth is thin and droopy and her lips are nervous.

Some Physiological Facts.

Worry destroys efficiency and spoils digestion. No one has a good liver or a digestion worth while who worries. If you tie a tin can to a dog's tail you may starve him, though he eats. The tin can will worry him to a frazzle. His food is unassimilated.

When you worry, your muscles become flabby, because worry causes an excess of an internal fluid—called a hormone—to pour into the fleshy parts and automatically poison them. Some say this "hormone" comes from the "near-kidneys" and others say it comes from the thyroid gland. Certain it is that you can draw something out of the blood of a worried subject and inject it into another unworried one and poison the latter's muscles cannot be cured. One of the first things necessary to the treatment of worrying bodies is fat.

When the weight begins to go up the worry begins to go down. If you could imprison a person who worries in a gorgeous dining-room with lovely music and a liberal supply of the most "stuffing" sort of foods, the worry would slowly be replaced by adipose tissue.

Ways To Cure.

Another method for the cure of other "worries" is to make the one so troubled act just as if he were not worrying. It is a newly discovered fact in medicine that whatever a man does—even if he is insincere and does not at first believe it—will sooner or later so change his innermost nature that he will be that which he thought he was faking or imitating.

The reason that children are often encouraged to play soldiers or boy scouts is because experimental psychology taught Lord Roberts that what boys play at and pretend, they usually become. The followers do not know this, but the chiefs do. Therefore, the newest relief and treatment of worry is to "pretend not to worry." The doctor and the patient play a make-believe game just as children do. The sufferer who worries carries out in baby fashion all the seemingly silly stunts ordered by the doctor.

These "stunts" consist in writing jokes, repeating funny jokes, playing Old Maids and other childish games of cards, going to pound parties, singing merry songs, and pretending to be as carefree and lighthearted as a child. To this treatment there is a mass of scientific support as well as the unanimous testimony of cured worriers that it is the "best ever."

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND
ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Happened When Madge 'Phoned Alice Holcombe.

Katie gave one of her infectious chuckles.

"Vot you tink happen to dot cake eef Katie no look at heem before dis?" she asked, her face and eyes shining with the consciousness of duty performed. "I go me down, vatch dot cake soon as you coom talk to dot man. Dot cake, she all right, she cooming fine, you not worry vun beet. I take heem out soon as she nice brown."

"All right, Katie," I said gratefully, for I feared that I might have no more time to bestow upon Junior's birthday cake. "I'll leave the cake in your hands."

"I feex, all right, all right," Katie carolled cheerfully, and as I walked to the telephone I envied her volatile spirit.

Alice Holcombe! The thought of her had come to me as soon as I had seen the necessity of checking up the attorneys of Kenneth Stockbridge. She was the only person in all Bayview of whom I dared ask a question concerning the principal. I would have gone directly to Mr. Kent's office in New York, but I had read in the newspaper that he had taken a trip out of the city and would not be back for another week and I felt that I never could wait that long to find out if a Mr. George Bridgeham was a member of his staff, and if so whether he was the objectionable person who had called on me.

There is no telephone in Alice Holcombe's home, but one can reach her through an accommodating neighbor. The cheery, somewhat piping voice of this woman came to me in answer to my call.

An Anxious Wait.

"Miss Holcombe? Ally Holcombe? Sure, I'll call her over! But, come to think of it, I don't think she's home this morning, Ally aint. Leastways, I saw her going out of the house last night with a suitcase, but mebbe she was just takin' some dresses to the cleaners. She does that often, though I tell her it's awful extravagant, that she could just as well do 'em at home. But I'll go over anyway and come back and tell you."

"Thank you so much," I responded fervently, realizing with greater force than ever what Alice Holcombe had meant when she said that she dared not stay at home the night after Milly Stockbridge's death because of the gossip of the neighbors. Evidently in the village of Bayview there was no possibility of the left hand concealing anything from the right.

I held the 'phone rigidly to my ear, hoping against hope that the woman was mistaken, and that I would hear Alice's voice presently. But it was the woman's falsetto which greeted me a few minutes later.

Message For Alice Holcombe.

"I'm awfully sorry," she piped, "but Ally's gone down to Patchogue to her cousin's on her father's side; her father's brother's oldest girl is married and lives down there. She has two children that Ally's just crazy over, you know there's nobody spoils children the way an old maid aunt does; leastways, that's what I tell my husband—his sister lives with us, there's no livin' with the kids when she's around—"

"Can you tell me when Miss Holcombe will be back?" I had the question ready upon a hair trigger, shot it into the 'phone at the first pause for breath upon the part of the woman at the other end of the wire.

"Why! her mother said she thought she would come in on that train tomorrow afternoon, gets in here about 5 o'clock. There's later trains, but Ally's awful particular about stayin' up too late when she's got school on hand the next day. She's funny that way, Ally is, but she's an awful fine girl. I always say to my husband—shut the door, and if you don't stop teasing the cat I'll skin you alive."

The terrifying threat startled me for a moment, so explosive was it. I almost looked around for the neglected door and the cat I was supposed to be teasing, then seized the opportunity to cut short the woman's voluble apology for "them dratted kids of mine" which she was beginning.

"Will it be possible for you to give a message to Miss Holcombe as soon as she comes in tomorrow?"

"Oh sure!" with cordial heartiness. "Glad to do anything to oblige Ally or any friend of hers."

"Thank you. Will you please ask her to call Mrs. Graham of Marvin as soon as she gets home? Tell her it is very important. She knows the telephone number."

"Oh yes, Mis' Graham! I'll watch out for her the minute she comes in, and tell her right away. This is the school ma'am, Mis' Graham, aint it? I've heard tell a lot about you."

"Yes, I am one of the Bayview teachers," I returned demurely. "Thank you again for your kindness. Good-by," and I had escaped from the telephone, adding to my other worries the vague speculation as to the nature of the things Alice Holcombe's garrulous neighbor "heard tell" about me.

"Tinker Bob" Stories
by Carlysle H. Holcomb

THE FLINT STONE.

Tinker Bob was more than anxious to know what the flint stone had to tell. And the Beautiful Creature was more pleasing every time he was taken away in the basket. These were wonderful sights he had been seeing and he liked this kind of life very much. Taking the flint stone from his pocket, he tapped it against the large gray one and the Beautiful Creature again stood by his side. Tinker climbed into the basket and, before he had time to think, he heard the loudest screaming in the top of a cherry tree.

There he saw Mother Red Robin flitting through the branches calling for help. Tinker knew from the excitement that something was the matter. At first he could not see what it was, but on looking carefully, he noticed that Mother Red Robin's nest had been robbed and destroyed. This was sad, indeed, to think anyone would be so cruel as to destroy poor Red Robin's home. On looking about, he saw Thomas, the house cat, just walking away, licking his chops and saying to himself: "That was a good supper I had."

"I am so sorry for you," said little Mrs. Wren. "Jerry, the jaybird, picked all of my eggs and now I have to live all alone."

"I would get even with him," said the sparrow, "if I had to drop an apple on his head."

"I will pay him back for all he has done," said Mrs. Red Robin, sorrowfully.

With all of her grief she went about gathering twigs and straws and hairs to rebuild her nest. And Thomas, the house cat went away to find a place where he could sleep in peace.

Tinker Bob was sorry to think of the sadness that must be in Mother Red Robin's heart, but he was glad when he heard that she would pay the house cat back for all that he did. He was anxious to see Mr. Thomas punished for what he had done. All of the bird friends of Mrs. Robin were anxious to see him punished too.

Mother Red Robin worked and toiled long, building her nest that Mr. Thomas had broken, finally it was finished and she sang joyfully again.

Then one day Mother Robin saw Mr. Thomas, the cat, asleep by the road, and down the highway came a strange dog.

"He will chew Mr. Cat up," said the sparrow.

"He is an ugly dog," said Mrs. Wren.

But as the strange dog crept slowly upon Thomas the cat, Mother Robin took pity and screamed at the top of her voice. This awakened Thomas the cat, and he ran away and the strange dog did not get him after all.

"Oh, now I am very sorry I robbed your nest," said Thomas when he saw how Mother Robin saved his life. "I will never do it again."

"I will keep this flint stone," said Tinker, for he was glad to see how Mother Red Robin repaid Thomas the cat.

MUSICAL COMEDY "MY SOLDIER GIRL" IS AT THE GRAND TONIGHT

Appearing Also On Friday Night and Twice Saturday.

It must be gratifying to the authors of a new play to see the word "success" stamped on their book, lyrics and muic as was the case with "My Soldier Girl" upon its first presentation. This delightful musical play will no doubt create as much interest as any of its predecessors, proving equally as big a drawing attraction as "High Jinks," when that delightful comedy was offered the public for their approval. Every producer has one or more successes during his career that brings a small fortune, for the producing business is not unlike the mining business—more money is usually invested than is ever realized, for it requires much capital to produce a big musical production.

When "My Soldier Girl" was suggested to Le Comte and Flesher they requested the authors to produce the manuscript and score—and immediately upon hearing the music accepted the play. Money was no object in building this big spectacle, for this firm realized as soon as they heard the score and read the book that it was another success equal to the well-known "Chocolate Soldier." The success of this play is well known now, and theatregoers who desire to see it when it comes to the Grand tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 and Saturday at 2:30 and 8:15 should make their reservation early, for capacity business prevails everywhere and should prove the same big drawing vehicle here. The original cast and bewitching chorus together with the three gorgeous stage setting and beautiful costumes will prove a new and novel entertainment for those who are fortunate enough to secure seats for the one performance offered in this city. There are some twenty musical numbers of which the title song, "My Soldier Girl," is the favorite. "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," "Wrap Me Up in a Bundle of Love," "Won't You Be My Beau," "You're My Loving Sugar Baby," are some of the real hits.

At the Patricia Theatre Today, Friday and Saturday. Also Larry Semon in "Dull Care," and Awana and Girls in a Dancing Novelty.

Rupert Hughes and Movie Critics

A great many persons are in a state of constant agitation and publication because the movies are not all of them always up to the highest standards of art.

But it is as futile to criticize the inartistic quality of the average movie as it is to go into spasms because street cars are not chariots of grace with Parthenonian friezes instead of advertisements, or to throw fits over railroad freight cars or oatmeal containers; or to get excited because the daily comic pages of the evening papers employ inartistic and unoriginal themes.

"Fussy Old Women."

These are far better than they might be, and the critic with his personal whims on art, and the moralist with his personal schemes for keeping the world out of mischief, are like fussy old women chasing children along the beach. They cannot drive back the sea; no respectable child will obey them, and they simply get their shoes and other portions of their costumes wet and the sea rolls on.

The trouble with the movies, if anything, is that the moral standards of most of the heroes and heroines are too marshmallowy sweet and sticky for human guidance. Even the vampires are simply astonishing and impossible victims of wriggly indigestion, supposed to represent emotions which children of all ages regard with stupefaction and with no desire for doing likewise.

Tire Repairing Instructions by the Goodyear Firm.

The fact that car owners are fast becoming alive to the saving possibilities of having their old tires repaired has been proven by the demand for tire repairmen in this country. To help encourage tire conservation and economy, a school of instruction in tire repairing and vulcanizing is conducted by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, in their large and specially-equipped factory at New Toronto. Here, anyone desirous of obtaining free instruction in tire repairing and vulcanizing, and the free use of tools and materia', may do so at the expense of the Goodyear Company. The instruction is given by experts, men who have served years at the trade. The student does actual repairing for customers, this enabling the school to work on a self-supporting basis.

Mr. J. A. Webber, foreman in charge of instruction, says: "Since the school opened in November, 1918, its progress has been very gratifying. Over a hundred and ten men have passed through the training, thirty of whom were returned soldiers. Some of these men frequently prefer this course to the vocational courses offered by the Government. The course is continuous, and does not laet any stated length of time. The student may remain as long as he chooses. First, he is taught to familiarize himself with the manufacture of the tire, by learning the 'cutting down' and 'building up' processes. This accomplished, he is taught the various other stages of the business until finally he becomes an expert vulcanizer, able to undertake any kind of repair." He also states: "Cases have been known where inexperienced men after two or three weeks' training have been placed in charge of vulcanizing and repair shops. Requests frequently come in from employers for just such reliable men."

Many young men are today holding responsible and lucrative positions as a result of the training received from the Goodyear School of Tire Repairing. b

DUSTIN FARNUM IN "A MAN'S FIGHT," SHOWING AT PATRICIA

Those who have had the opportunity of seeing "A Man's Fight" declare it to be Dustin Farnum's best production to date.

In this United Picture Theatres production Dustin Farnum has opportunity to gratify the desire he has for some time expressed to lay aside temporarily his accustomed cowboy roles and, in fact, he is seen in the first part of the picture in evening dress. The earlier scenes are laid in the East, with Mr. Farnum in the role of a young and somewhat profligate only son of a wealthy and aristocratic New York family. Laboring under a misconception of a tragic event which occurred in the aristocratic household, Dustin Farnum sacrifices himself for the sake of his adored and adorable sister. His resolve to shield her at all hazards from a charge of crime involves his being sent to Sing Sing. The locale then changes to the virile West where the young aristocrat, having served his sentence, is essaying to begin life anew. At the very moment of assured success he is confronted with the record of his earlier career. The denouement of the crashing crisis is said to form one of the most thrilling scenes of this big picture.

The magnificent cast in support of Dustin Farnum includes Lois Wilson, Dorothy Wallace, Aggie Herring, Joseph Dowling, Wedgwood Nowell, J. Barney Sherry, Charles K. French, Harry Van Meter, Bert Appling and Betty Bouton.

Also "Awana and Girls," presenting a dancing diversity. Big V. special comedy, Larry Semon in "Dull Care," Mut and Jeff cartoon.

PROF. GRAEE LEADING PATRICIA ORCHESTRA

"Sahara" Showing at the Majestic Again Today by Patrons' Special Request

By special request of hundreds of Majestic patrons who were unable to see "Sahara," the beautiful Oriental production that has been showing at the Majestic since Monday, Manager T. W. Logan has decided to hold this picture a day longer. "Sahara" will be presented today for the last time, and the capacity audiences at the Majestic prove this feature to be fully as wonderful as advertised.

What is the real basis and the real test of a great motion picture drama?

A group of the most noted psychologists in the country has been making an intensive study of screen drama, seeking to discover, in the absence of the sound of the human voice that adds tangibility to the stage play, what are the main elements that grip the spectators' attention.

And the answer to their inquiries is: Emotional drama that rivets the eyes of audiences on the screen and holds them totally oblivious of the spoken titles; audiences controlled by the acting of the players themselves.

In the remarkable J. Parker Read Jun. production, "Sahara," starring Louise Glaum in a story by C. Gardner Sullivan and personally supervised by Allan Dwan there are expanses of hundreds of feet of scenes in which no one becomes conscious of the intrusion of a single narrative or spoken title.

Audiences rate it as one of the few great stories of the past year or two in motion pictures. "Sahara" absolutely rivets the attention of the onlooker. One cannot look away. It brings tears; it has tensity; it strikes at the heart and the brain. It has warmth and color. It carries the glamor and color of the desert and the sweet scents and odors of the East. "Sahara" easily ranks as an unforgettable picture.

4,000, GAY, CROWD DONNYBROOK FAIR, BEST IN 65 YEARS

Midway Fun, Races and Exhibit Features Make Dorchester a Mecca.

Dorchester was the mecca of thousands of fun-seeking pilgrims yesterday when Donnybrook Fair celebrated its 65th anniversary with the largest and best show of its history. Over 4,000 people were on the grounds, crowding them to capacity. Every train pulling into the town during the afternoon was loaded to the platforms, proving that fame of Donnybrook is country-wide. Many hundreds went from London.

Festive Spirit There.

It is not the exhibits alone that makes the show the success it is; in fact, they play a small part in it, because they hardly surpass most other fairs; but it is the carnival spirit of the crowd. Everybody smiles, everybody is happy.

The midway was large, and did a roaring business. With the horse-racing, it was the feature of the fair. Every booth and every game was well patronized. Kewpie dolls were in great demand. Large crowds devoted their time to the horse-racing. The heats, especially those of two of the races, were well contested.

One of the racehorses, Eel Direct, owned by S. Mahon, while being warmed up, was struck broadside by an auto, upsetting the cart. The driver was not hurt, but the horse received a nasty cut on the leg. However, this did not prevent it from being entered in the race.

"Crown and Anchor."

Two men carried on a rushing business with a crown and anchor game on the midway. It was some time before the character of their game was discovered, and they were able to reap a rich harvest from the victims, who crowded on all sides of their stand. As soon as the directors learned that it was a gambling outfit it was closed up, the money paid by the men for space rental was refunded, and they were asked to leave the grounds. They were deeply disgusted with the turn of their luck.

The main building, in which was exhibited fruit, vegetables, grain, dairy products, bread, paintings and ladies' fancywork, held interest for many, judging by the crowds that continually filled it. The only fruit shown was apples, and not many of them. J. S. Henderson, Thorndale; D. R. Palmer, Thorndale, and A. E. Jackson, Mossley, were the chief winners.

Potatoes a Feature.

Potatoes were the feature of the vegetable exhibit, especially a collection entered by R. Finch of Dorchester. Any housewife seeing the display of potatoes would cease worrying that this year's crop of tubers is a failure. D. R. Palmer, R. Finch, J. H. Jervis of London Township carried off practically all the honors in vegetables.

F. C. Stevenson, London Junction; R. D. Palmer, and J. S. Henderson won on grain, chiefly wheat and oats. Special prizes for standing grain from which sheaves were shown were won by F. L. Atkins, Mossley, and H. Mathews.

Large Poultry Exhibit.

The showing of poultry was large and of good quality. H. McKenney with 30 prizes; F. Smith and A. Smith, Ingersoll, with 18, won nearly everything in chickens. J. S. Henderson and H. McKenney, Aylmer, took all the prizes for ducks and geese.

In dairy products, George Hunt won in the butter, J. S. Henderson for honey and A. E. Jackson on bread.

This year's exhibition of cattle was the best yet in both quantity and quality. The Durhams and Ayrshires featured. C. Hunt, Dorchester, was the greatest exhibitor of Durhams. A. Armour, Dorchester, cleaned up in Ayrshires. A special herd prize was awarded to Jas. Barker, Dorchester.

Wins 12 Prizes.

I. N. Howe captured 12 prizes for Holsteins and one for Jerseys. G. Hunt also won in Jerseys. In grade cattle the winners were: E. Wilson, Thorndale and J. McKenzie, London.

Five special prizes offered for the best herd of five dairy cows were taken by A. Armour, E. Wilson, I. N. Howe. The Bankers' Special was won by J. E. Bigham, C. Hunt and D. R. Palmer.

The chief winners of heavy draft horses were J. E. Bigham, J. Wood and D. R. Palmer; in heavy horses for agricultural purposes, J. C. Henderson, Lakeside; Sims Brothers, Thamesford, and Harry Gee, Dorchester; general purpose horses, J. D. McVicar, Belmont; R. Wintermute and C. G. Smuk, Dorchester.

The paintings and ladies' fine work formed one of the largest exhibits on the grounds, half filling the main building. Some excellent work was shown, and the competition was keen. The winners were: Paintings, Mrs. Turrill, Aylmer; Mrs. G. R. Mills, Thamesford, and Mrs. H. Kennedy, Thamesford. Fancy work, Mrs. Turrill, Aylmer; Miss C. E. McLachlan, Hyde Park, and Mrs. G. R. Mills, Thamesford.

QUASH CAR FARE BYLAW IN COURT MAYOR PREDICTS

No. 1 Committee to List Soldier Property Owners for Tax Exemption.

Now that an injunction has been issued to quash the bylaw granting higher fares to the street railway there seems little likelihood that it will remain in force much longer. Mayor C. R. Somerville admitted at a meeting of No. 1 committee Wednesday that the bylaw could be quashed.

"Everybody knows that it can be quashed the same as the daylight saving bylaw was, but nobody thought there were enough foolish people in the city to take the action," he said.

The case will come up in the supreme court on Saturday, October 11, or at a later date.

Soldier Statistics.

Information is to be obtained as to the number of soldiers in the city who are property-owners and desire tax exemption under the recent amendment to the assessment act. By this amendment the council may remit the taxes on soldiers' property up to $3,000 in value, with the exception of local improvement and school taxes.

C. F. White and J. A. Glennie, representing the Army and Navy Veterans, presented a request that the city take advantage of the amendment. They promised to co-operate in securing information as to the number of men involved.

$400,000 on Bond Bylaw.

A bylaw will be prepared for the vote of the electors in January to guarantee bonds to the extent of $400,000 for the London Industrial Association. Gordon Philip presented a request that this be done, stating that if the bylaw carried it would enable the association to obtain money at a much lower rate of interest, and would help to bring industries to the city.

The committee will recommend R. D. McDonald to succeed J. G. Richter on the housing commission.

VET, JUST HOME, WITH 18 YEARS' SERVICE, WILL RE-ENLIST AGAIN

J. Doyle, Windsor, one of the men who stepped from the train here, is well known in boxing circles, holding the welterweight championship of Canada. Doyle enlisted in the 99th Battalion in 1915, and left for overseas in May, 1916. His total army service so far amounts to eighteen years, and this will not be all. He claims he will join the permanent force as soon as he rests up after his long journey. He is the possessor of four medals, some of which he received when he was in the American army prior to his enlisting in the 99th.

The trip over the Atlantic was fair, food was not as bad as on many former occasions, but the accommodation was somewhat crowded. The food and accommodation on the troop train was excellent, none of the men having any complaints to make.

HARLEY CLUB BANQUETS DR. C. M. CRAWFORD, WHO LEAVES CITY FOR WHITBY

Dr. C. M. Crawford, superintendent of the Ontario Military Hospital here for three years, and Mrs. Crawford left yesterday for Whitby, Ont., where Dr. Crawford will take charge of the Ontario Hospital there.

Dr. and Mrs. Crawford were guests on Tuesday evening at a banquet given by the Harley Club in the Grigg House, when twenty city physicians and their wives were present. Gifts to Dr. and Mrs. Crawford from the club were presented by Dr. F. W. Hughes and Mrs. D. H. Arnott.

The Whitby hospital to which Dr. Crawford has been promoted as superintendent will be conducted by the Provincial Government as a centre of research work on the causes of insanity. The hospital is one of the largest and best-equipped in the country.

UNIONS TO DISCUSS LABOR CANDIDATE IN CITY ON WEDNESDAY

Representatives To Decide Whether Labor Man Will Run For Province.

Labor men of London will convene next Wednesday to determine whether they will place a candidate in the field to contest the local seat in the Provincial Parliament when the election is held on October 20. Representatives from each union in the city will be requested to attend.

At the Dominion Trades Congress recently, it was provided that there should be bodies of men such as this gathered together and known as the Ontario Labor Party. At the meeting of the local Trades and Labor Council last night, J. F. Thompson was chosen as the convener of the gathering. It will be his duty also to secure a hall for the place of convention.

During the discussion of this subject the press was barred. The motion recommending exclusion was proposed by J. F. Thompson and carried on a 21-to-19 vote.

On the request of the Chamber of Commerce, the council indorsed that body's action in making application to have Ben Tillett, one of the foremost speakers at the Hamilton Labor Conference, come to London in the near future, dine at the Canadian Club, and address the labor men.

DISCUSSES X-RAYS AND GROWING USES

Dr. P. M. Hickey of Detroit Addresses Academy of Medicine.

Medical men from all parts of the district assembled at the Institute of Public Health on Wednesday afternoon to hear Dr. P. M. Hickey of Detroit, who was speaking under the auspices of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine give his views on the X-ray. Dr. Hickey spent 18 months overseas with the American Expeditionary Force, specializing in X-ray work.

From the standpoint of the radiographer, the war had brought forth some wonderful inventions, he declared. The small machine was gradually replacing the large one, and it was thought that within ten years every doctor's office would be equipped with a fluroscope for minor cases.

Cases in which the Roentgen rays had shown their worth were discussed, and illustrated. The use of bismuth and oxygen in the correct quantities was the best possible means of obtaining good pictures, the speaker told the practitioners.

Dr. McLeod, professor of physiology, Toronto University, will address the academy on "Newer Physiology in Relation to Digestion and Nutrition," at the next meeting, which is called for October 29.

The Pen's Part in Canada's Reconstruction Problems

A stroke of the pen gives effect to an agreement affecting millions—as, for instance, a Peace Treaty.

And these signed documents are the fabric of our civilization, the Rivets of our Reconstruction, wherein the Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen is called to play a leading part.

The Bookkeeper, the Stenographer, the Clerk, the Mathematician, the Engineer, the School-teacher, the Student and the Merchant, all who put pen to paper, find greater pleasure in writing with a Waterman's Ideal.

Even if it were not a distinct economy, all these men and women should own a Waterman's Ideal, with a point suited to their individual requirements, because it lightens the day's work and makes for that greater content which we must seek to promote in these days of Reconstruction.

At the Best Dealers everywhere, in a variety of styles, and with a choice of points to suit all writers.
