DEATH TOLL IN WAKE OF CYCLONE IN WEST

BEGIN PROBE ON MASSACRE AT MINE IN HERRIN

Investigation Follows Appeal to Governor by Local Authorities.

STRIKERS DENY OUTRAGE

Correspondent Finds Six Wounded Men Tied Together.

Herrin, Ill., June 23.—Official investigation of the mine war which killed from 27 to 45 near here, began today in response to insistent demands from Governor Len Small for action by local authorities, when Coroner McGowan announced that an inquest would be held immediately, and States Attorney D. L. Duty stated that a special grand jury would be convened following the inquest to investigate the massacre.

Bodies are spread over an area 15 miles square, some of them riddled with bullets, others beaten to death, and three hanging by ropes from trees.

An Associated Press correspondent, after 10 ineffectual attempts, finally persuaded a taxicab driver to take him through the scene of the fight. The strip mine had been fired and a freight train on a siding also was burning, while miners looted several cars of food supplies.

Out in a road near the mine, six men tied together and all wounded by bullets and blows, lay in a scorching sun, while hundreds of men and women laughed at their pleas for water.

One of the men, his face bloody and one shoulder shot away apparently was within a few minutes of death.

Begs For Drink.

"Please, boys, give me a drink," he moaned.

A laugh from the hundreds of spectators was the only reply.

The correspondent rushed to a house for water and when he returned he was faced by a sword and quickly drawn pistols and told to keep away.

When the man begged again for water a young woman with a baby in her arms, placed her foot on the mangled body and said:

"I'll see you die first before you get any water."

The men apparently had been dragged behind an automobile. Their clothes were torn and pieces of gravel were imbeded in their mangled flesh.

All "Dropped Dead."

The union miners deny they killed any strike breakers. The correspondent accosted a striking miner and this conversation followed:

"How many were killed?" the correspondent asked.

"No one killed at all."

"Why, the dead are all over," the correspondent countered.

"We didn't kill them, they just dropped dead from fright when we surrounded their camp."

The striker then asked whether the military was coming, adding, "If the militia comes down here that will mean just so many more guns for us."

PRESENT BADGE TO WOMEN'S OFFICIAL

Port Arthur, Ont., June 23.—An inspiring portion of the first night session of the National Council of Women was the presentation of a jeweled international badge to the retiring president, Mrs. W. E. Sanford of Hamilton, Ont., after a devoted time of service extending over four years. The president was addressed by the provincial vice-presidents.

Mrs. Sanford, in thanking the delegates and council for their kindness, said: "I've loved you all from Victoria to Sydney. I give you my hearty affection and deepest gratitude."

Court of Revision To Hear 93 Appeals

BLAME RICHTER PLAN FOR CASES IN WARD THREE

Three Protests Involve Assessment Totaling Approximately $200,000.

FEW INCOME TAX PLEAS

Several Real Estate Appeals Involve Property in Pine Lawn District.

When the court of revision meets Friday night to hear appeals against assessment for ward three, there will be 93 protests to be dealt with, three of which involve an assessment of approximately $200,000.

These appeals are against assessments on lands and buildings, and are the major ones in respect to amounts of assessment involved in this ward.

They are as follows: Gorman & Eckert Company, Rectory street, appealing against an assessment of $90,000; London and Petrolea Barrel Works, appealing against an assessment of $80,000, and the George H. Belton Lumber Company, appealing against an assessment of $30,000.

The appeals in each of the above three cases will be based on grounds of over-assessment. It is expected that the court will wrestle with the 93 problems represented by the appeals for several hours, midnight being a conservative estimate of the hour of adjournment.

Affect Ward Three.

Contrary to general opinion the majority of the appeals will be in reference to assessment of real estate in Ward Three, there being eighty in this category.

This feature is attributed to the fact that the Richter system of assessment was initated in Ward Three south of the Grand Trunk railway tracks this year, and as this system boosts the assessment on land and buildings, appeals are in order.

Popular opinion regards income tax appeals as the most numerous for the court to deal with, but this is not correct, there being but ten appeals to be heard Friday night against assessment for income tax.

Two taxpayers have appealed their business tax assessment in Ward Three, and one ratepayer is appealing the frontage assessment on his property.

Several of the real estate appeals are concerned with propoerty in Pine Lawn district, which is a subdivision in East London opened up by the city the housing commission building homes in this area which were later sold to the people.

Stray Irish Molars Found In L. and P. S. Car

WHILE riding in a London and Port Stanley Railway coach en route to London Thursday night, a citizen was surprised to discover a set of false teeth lying on a seat.

He immediately announced his find, and the wandering molars were found to be the property of a well-known Londoner, who had taken them along with him as auxiliary power to be utilized at the Irish Benevolent Society banquet at Port Stanley.

This Londoner admitted placing the teeth in his pocket, and did not miss them until the find was announced.

Assumes Office

E. S. LITTLE.

PRESIDENT E. S. LITTLE was installed in office at a meeting of members of the Irish Benevolent Society of London at Port Stanley last night.

In characteristic fashion the new president warned members of the society that to live up to the traditions of the past "we must all stick together and work."

TO HOLD IRISH PICNIC, AUG. 17

Benevolent Society Decides On Date at Port Stanley Meeting.

Philip Pocock Entertains Members of Organization at Cafeteria.

Great enthusiasm was manifested at a meeting of the Irish Benevolent Society held in the cafeteria at Port Stanley Thursday night, when members decided on Thursday, Aug. 17, as the date of their annual picnic with Port Stanley favored as the place for the fun.

The Irishmen were guests of Honorary President Philip Pocock, who provided transportation to the lakeside, and also acted as host at dinner served in the London and Port Stanley Railway cafeteria. In addition to naming the date and place of the picnic, committees to make arrangements for the outing were selected and instructed to get busy.

Presented With Jewel.

President E. S. Little, who was installed in office by Retiring President E. C. Killingsworth, directed the meeting, and during the evening the latter was presented with the past president's jewel. Harry Bennett, retiring secretary, was also presented with a gold-headed malacca cane by the society in appreciation of his services during the past year.

Prior to installing the new president, E. C. Killingsworth, retiring president, thanked fellow-members of the society for co-operation and support accorded him during his term of office.

"I will ask for the same co-operation and willing support that was given to me during the time that I had the honor of being your presiding officer," said Mr. Killingsworth, installing President Little.

He also eulogized the generosity of Mr. Philip Pocock, who acted as host to the society Thursday night.

"He is one of the members who is always there when there is work to do," declared the retiring president.

Attributing all civic honors accorded him as being the result of membership in the Irish Benevolent Society, President E. S. Little humorously declared that no person "can get a job around the city hall or on the city council unless he is Irish." He thanked the society for electing him as its chief.

"The Irish Benevolent Society will live up to its charitable work in London," he asserted, "and will have fun, too, if the members get behind the executive. All stick together and work."

In presenting the past president's jewel to E. C. Killingsworth, President Little said: "We have had some mighty good presidents, but I do not think we have had any who have worked for the society harder than Ed. Killingsworth."

Was Postponed Twice.

Philip Pocock then presented Retiring Secretary Harry Bennett with a gold-headed malacca cane, pointing out that, owing to inclement weather last year, the picnic was postponed twice, thereby adding greatly to the secretary's duties.

"There is trouble in Ireland now, but in future she will come out on top," declared Mr. Bennett, amidst cheers. "You can't keep old Ireland down." His reply to the presentation was one of the wittiest of the evening.

Paying tribute to the memory of the late Leigh Garvey, a former member of the Irish Benevolent Society,

CITY OFFICIALS DEFEND MAYOR

Assert His Worship Did Not Interfere As Alleged by Ashplant.

Dr. Wilson Compares Alderman to "Petulant Child."

Replying to Ald. Ashplant's reiterated assertion that he has obstructed collection of school taxes in the annexed district, Mayor Cameron Wilson Friday morning compared the above city father to a "petulant child," and declared that he would no longer discuss the issue with him.

"You either humor a petulant child or ignore," said London's chief magistrate to The Advertiser, in reference to Ald. Ashplant's statement published Thursday.

"Now that you have published Ald. Ashplant's accusation that I have obstructed collection of school taxes in the annexed district, in all fairness I ask you to interview officials at the city hall, and find out if I have obstructed them, as he has alleged," continued the mayor.

"I would like you to obtain the opinion of City Treasurer Bell, Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant and City Clerk Baker as to whether I have done any obstructing, as Ald. Ashplant would have the people believe."

In accordance with Mayor Wilson's request, the city hall reporter set out to interview the abovenamed officials on the question.

"Mayor has never interfered with the work of the assessment department at any time," said Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant.

"The mayor has never done any obstructing here," said City Treasurer James Bell, who is responsible for collecting taxes in London. "He has never interfered in our department at all, excepting to say that we have a fine lot of girls in our office, but you had beter ask them about that."

"Mayor Wilson has never brought any pressure to bear on me," declared City Clerk Baker, when asked about the accusation.

Further than the above, his worship refused to pass any comments, declaring that there is nothing to be gained by replying to Ald. Ashplant.

JAMES OTERSON GORED TO DEATH BY ANGRY BULL

Dereham Township Farmer Found Dead In Field Of Neighbors Farm.

Tillsonburg, June 23.—With his ribs crushed in and his face lacerated by hoofs, James Oterson was found dead in a field on the farm of Thomas Lowrie, Dereham Township, early this morning. He had evidently been gored to death by a bull, which had broken loose in the Lowrie pasture from a neighbor's place.

Oterson went back to get the cows at six o'clock and a search was made half an hour later when he failed to return. It is presumed the neighbor's bull and the Lowrie bull had been engaged in combat and Oterson tried to part them.

Oterson was about 60 years old. He is survived by his widow, but no children. He formerly lived in this town, going out to Dereham Township a couple of months ago.

COW GORES BOY.

Ingersoll, June 23.—Lloyd McMillan, aged 12, narrowly escaped serious injury today when he was gored by a neighbor's cow. He had gone to bring a cow from the pasture when he was attacked by another. As a result ten stitches were required to close a wound on his right arm. He was otherwise only slightly injured.

Unveils Memorial To Niagara's Heroes

NIAGARA - On - The - Lake, Ont., June 23.—The fine memorial clock tower at Niagara-on-the-Lake, erected by grateful citizens of the town in honor of the Niagara boys who gave their lives in the world war, was unveiled at noon today by Hon. Harry Cockshutt, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. A big crowd witnessed the unveiling, including many out of town people and hundreds of soldiers from the military camp. A guard of honor from the camp was on duty at the monument.

The clock tower, erected in front of the historic court house in the main street, stands 24 feet high, and is of imposing appearance. It was erected at a cost of $10,000.

DRURY PLANS MOUNTED FORCE

New Police Unit May Be Established in Near Future.

Mobile Corps To Be Used in Combating Bank Robbers.

It is not altogether impossible that before many months Ontario will witness the establishment of a corps of mounted constabulary, not unlike the police force in vogue in the state of Pennsylvania.

Discussing briefly on Thursday afternoon, provincial police affairs, J. W. Freeborn, M. L. A. for East Middlesex, expressed the opinion that as far as he was aware, E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario, had not abandoned his scheme to reorganize the provincial police forces of the province, and while a part of the present dismounted force might remain intact, it was his idea to create a mounted battalion.

As early as last fall Premier Drury personally outlined to The London Advertiser the scheme that he had in mind, deploring the apparent lamentable lack of facilities and men for coping with the bank robberies and like outrages so prevalent at that period, particularly, throughout the province.

It was the premier's belief that mounted police should be spread around throughout the country, a certain number being allotted to each county, who could be called upon at any time of the day or night, and ready to move in any direction without such delay as is often encountered under the present circumstances.

A signal flashed immediately across the country, following a bank robbery, for instance, he pointed out, would mean that a complete mounted unit would be on the move on the various provincial and county highways, and amply prepared to render valuable assistance to county and local authorities.

JUDGE MONET'S ILLNESS DEFERS DELORME TRIAL

His Lordship Suffers a Relapse in Court Following Attendance Contrary To Orders.

Montreal, June 23.—Adelard Delorme's hearing was this morning again postponed until Monday on account of Judge Monet's illness. The alienists who were to have testified as to the prisoner's mental ability to stand trial for the murder of his half-brother Raoul will, therefore, not be heard before next week. Contrary to orders from his physician, Judge Monet appeared in court this morning in the hope that he might be able to preside over an hour's session at least. He had no sooner arrived at the courthouse than he suffered a relapse, necessitating the immediate attendance of one of the court's medical experts. His lordship, however, recovered sufficiently to deliver a brief address to the jury, in which he expressed his regret at having to again adjourn the hearing.

GOVERNMENT IS QUESTIONED ON WILSON KILLING

Attitude of Members On Slaying of Marshal Embarrasses British Cabinet.

Police Uncover Plot To Kill Other Prominent Persons.

BULLETIN.

London, June 23.—The taxi driver who drove Field Marshal Wilson from the Liverpool street station to his residence in Eton Place, has been traced. He made a statement this afternoon to the police at Scotland Yard.

London, June 23.—Questions put in the House of Commons today to members of the government with regard to the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, constituted one of the most damaging demonstrations against the government that it has experienced, according to opinion in the lobby.

The view was expressed there that had it been possible to debate the subject the existence of the government would have been seriously in question.

It had been decided, however, to defer debate until Monday, and government supporters argue that today's demonstration shows the wisdom of this decision, as it is expected by them that opinion will be less inflammatory by that time, and the cabinet ministers will be in possession of the whole facts in the case.

Leader Grows Pale.

Austen Chamberlain, government leader, is said by those who were near him, as he was questioned, to have grown pale under the fire of interrogation, and a bad impression was created by his statement that police protection had been withdrawn from the cabinet ministers and other prominent men in England, when the position with regard to Ireland was believed to have improved.

The government leader's answers, however, were generally more favorably received than those of Home Secretary Shortt, who replied to some of the questioners.

The police investigating the assassination of Field Marshal Wilson outside his house in Eton Square, yesterday, have come into possession of documents, says the Central News today, disclosing a conspiracy to take the lives of a number of prominent persons and conduct a campaign of outrages.

Sixteen Arrested.

Fifteen men and one woman were arrested in raids throughout London last night in connection with the assassination, it was announced in the House of Commons this morning by Lord Chancellor Chamberlain.

James O'Brien and James Connolly, who were arrested directly after the shooting, were arraigned in the Westminster police court this morning and charged with murder.

They were remanded for one week by Magistrate Cecil Chapman.

Long before the court opened a great crowd assembled in front of the court house, but owing to the limited accommodations, the police rigorously excluded the general public, only allowing those connected with the case and the newspapermen to enter.

Police Fully Armed.

The accused men were taken to the court room in a taxicab, and under strong guard from the Gerald road police station. Two officers rode inside and one with the driver. All were fully armed and alert. In the court room there were a number of plainclothesmen who have been engaged in the last year in dealing with the Sinn Fein outrages in London. As the cab abruptly pulled up at the court house the door was thrown open and the accused were hustled into the building.

The court proceedings lasted only a few minutes. The prisoners were formally charged with the murder of Field Marshal Wilson, and the attempted murder of Constables March and Sayer and Alexander Clark, a chauffeur.

After formal evidence had been given the two men were remanded.

The prisoners were wearing thick,

Casualties At Portage La Prairie Believed To Be Heavy.

HUGE PROPERTY DAMAGE

Railroads Report Cancellation of Trains As Result of Washouts.

Winnipeg, June 23.—Manitoba was visited today by a tornado, which, at Portage la Prairie, caused tremendous damage to property and also, it is feared, considerable loss of life.

One fatality has been reported so far, Charles Spence, aged 14, of Portage being crushed beneath the walls of the family residence and killed.

The storm struck Brandon at 2 o'clock, Portage at 3, and Winnipeg an hour later. There are no reports from Brandon, as all telegraphic and telephone communications was broken. A report from Portage, however, tells of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage done.

The Forsythe grain elevator was struck by lightning and destroyed. The plant of the Cockshutt Plow Company was blown down. The Presbyterian, Methodist and Anglican churches are roofless and wrecked hotels are blown down in heaps.

Buildings in all quarters of the town are as though they had been dynamited and giant trees were uprooted everywhere. It is believed there will be a huge list of casualties.

The gale followed a day of extreme and sultry heat, with the thermometer registering an extreme of 92 degrees, and the night brought little relief until the hurricane had passed.

DISRUPTS COMMUNICATION.

Ottawa, June 23.—Meagre details reaching here tell of a cyclone which at 9:30 this morning was sweeping east from the Kenora district. URGES "BIG SISTER" DRIVE IN CITY

SOCIAL service workers in London are emphatic in their opinion that there is dire need in the city for a "Big Sister" movement as an influence for good amongst working girls.

Organizations which are constantly working amongst girls, such as the Y. W. C. A. and the Salvation Army, find that while there are men's clubs in the city which have undertaken to lend a friendly hand to boys whose homes are not just the right sort, there are hundreds of girls working in the city who have nothing to turn to for relief or recreation once their day's work is finished.

"The young girls' boarding homes in the city, the Y. W. C. A. and the Salvation Army Home are carrying on a fine work," stated Brigadier Crichton of the Salvation Army, "and there is a fine spirit of friendliness and good-will to be found in them, but it is self-evident that they cannot care for all the homeless working girls in the city, and for those outside, what means of recreation is there? There are boarding houses in the city where girls give the lion's share of their pay for enough to eat and a bed.

There is no music, no privacy, no home atmosphere, nothing but despondent solitude. And under those conditions, who shall judge the girl whose foot slips. The men in the city have answered the call to make friends with the boy who is friendless.

"The need now is for the women of the city to start a big sister movement to take a personal, friendly interest in the hundreds of girls who are in this city without friends. The girl brought up in a good home, who has never known what it was to be friendless, owes a duty to humanity, which she can only repay by giving her friendship to the girl whose whole existence depends entirely on her own efforts."

BICKNELL YOUNG POINTS TO WAY OF TRUE LIFE

Christian Science Lecturer Delivers Instructive Address in London Church.

GREAT BOON TO RACE

Claims Permanent Value Is Proper Standard by Which to Judge.

With a lecture highly instructive on the doctrines of Christian Science, delivered by Bicknell Young, C. S. B., member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., before an audience that taxed the capacity of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, this city, Thursday night, the lecture year in that church was brought to a close.

"I come here tonight," Mr. Young said, "to speak to you on a science which rests upon the fundamental facts of being and which in the measure that it is understood is capable of improving, and even of transforming, the life of every man, woman and child. Because it can do this it follows that it can also reform the world, and I am prepared to show that it will do so, just as fast as you and the rest of mankind understand and adopt it.

"In saying this I do not mean to imply that Christian Science is a kind of magic, or that it is a system which will work for the benefit of the race without any effort on their part to conform their lives to its principle and rule. But I do say that it promises and provides health and peace to those who earnestly study and abide by its teaching.

"Christian Scientists do not fail to take cognizance of the difficulties which beset the race as well as the individual. We are not engaged in any superficial, altruistic theory. We claim to have common sense, and the history of this movement shows clearly that, as a class, Christian Scientists are eminently practical.

"The advantage which they have over other people is to be found solely in what they have gained of the true science of life and living, through the study of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and other works written by Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science.

What Is Science?

"What is this Science? Do the theories of prevailing educational systems indicate or reveal it? All theories of general education of life and its possibilities are predicated upon the certainty and necessity of sin, disease and death. Such theories are self-contradictory. They have been accepted and tried for centuries utterly in vain. With circumstances all in their favor, and supported by the overwhelming consensus of human faith and education, they have utterly failed. Under such beliefs, and uninstructed by Christian Science, living is tantamount to mere physical endurance and final chaos. Christian Science takes issue with all such theories and conclusions. It appeals to the higher nature, to reason and logic, and educates us in the science of life, the greatest need of the race."

We are living and thinking, and we have got to go on living and thinking in order to accomplish anything whatsoever. The evidence of our senses gives us no hint of what life really is, and when from this standpoint we think anything about life we indulge in mere speculation, unless Christian Science comes to our rescue and gives us the right idea.

The science of true living and true thinking is thus drawn from a higher source than that of mere ordinary human experiences. To investigate it required research of the most unselfish, painstaking and persistent nature. Such was the research that Mary Baker Eddy entered upon and carried on for years. It culminated in the discovery of that science which she named Christian Science.

She saw the vast importance of distinguishing between the true and the fake, between the real and the unreal. She observed the permanent nature of divine facts and this led her to the conclusion that such facts constitute immortality.

Prejudices Were Arrayed.

All the prejudices of sectarianism were instinctively arrayed against such a proposition, and yet it promised nothing less than complete redemption for the human race. Even now, after all of Mrs. Eddy's great work, Christian Science is not universally accepted; but the signs of the times are portentous and inspiring. Why should they be otherwise, for Christian Science fulfills the hopes of the Christian world.

Does not its declaration that God is Infinite cause, intelligence, spirit, mind, life, love, immutable, immortal principle, the cource and substance of all being, tally with our ideals of what constitutes the omnipotent, omnipresent and omniscient God of the Bible and of all Christendom? If it does, then our ideals may, through Christian Science, take on a practical value; they may be brought out of the realm of speculation into that of actual experiment and demonstration.

These definitions of God, virtually accepted by the whole Christian world, constitute the fundamental facts of the science of true living as revealed in Christian Science. But they must be more and more clearly apprehended by the students of this science, and consequently Christian Scientists are involved in the same research which Mrs. Eddy carried on. She says that she found the ideas of true science in the spiritual teachings contained in the Bible.

Found By Anybody.

They may be found by anybody who, in the light of Christian Science, looks for them in that same place. The science of life must be the science of living which the whole world has sought and sought in vain. Yet here it is, obtainable by any person who desires to have it, and costing nothing beyond the preliminary steps of equiping one's self with the books which teach it. These books are the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Like other books, they are made up of ideas, and this science like other sciences, consists of ideas.

The difference between this science and other sciences is, however, that in other sciences, ideas, by way of instruction, pertain to material things, or actions, or the employment or use of material things and remedies, whereas, in Christian Science, ideas themselves constitute both the means and the object of education, are the sole phenomena of this science, and they are the only remedies used to restore health and prevent disease.

If the ordinary human being is expressed in his character, that is, in his thoughts and education, should it be considered incredible that the divine mind could reveal itself through its own ideas, and if these ideas come from God, who is Mind, is it extravagant or unreasonable to expect enlightenment, and even improved health, through their presence and law?

An afflictive experience, giving way to health and peace, or a crude invention, giving way to an intelligent discovery, need not be inquired into. Its day is past, and as it had no permanent value, it had no real being. The best and only explanation of error is to show its unreality, and I ask you to consider this sufficient and final explanation.

Permanent value must be the criterion by which we judge. With this criterion in view, greater improvements than are yet dreamed of will come to light, and by the same token, things that are now accepted as natural will vanish under the revelation of the true naturalness of an existence that has its being, function and law in the God or creator who is wholly good."

Dr. W. M. Shoebotham then moved a vote of thanks for the hospitality shown by Honorary President Philip Pocock, which was unanimously passed. Raps Conferment of Titles As Public Scandal

CITES SIR JOSEPH ROBINSON.

London, England, June 23.—(Canadian Press cable.) — In connection with the debate in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon on the bestowal of honors, Lord Buxton said there was not a single person in South Africa who considered that Sir Joseph Robinson, either from his services or record, deserved the honor of being elevated to the peerage.

Lord Buxton, who is a former high commissioner and governor-general of South Africa, urged that such honors should first be recommended by the premier of the dominion concerned, or the home government should first confidentially consult the Dominion premier about the reasons given for the proposed honor.

Referring to the case of Sir Joseph Robinson, Lord Buxton declared that this particular creation of a peerage, and the method of carrying it out, were a slight to South Africa. It was most harmful, he said, to the trustful, cordial relations between the Dominion and British premiers.

The Earl of Crawford, who was recently taken into the cabinet, contended, on behalf of the government, that Sir Joseph Robinson had rendered valuable services to the government during the South African war and had since used his influence towards the removal of racial prejudice.

Lord Selbourne denounced the method of the conferment of honors as a public scandal of the first magnitude. He said that as immense sums of money continue to flow into the coffers of the political party, momentarily in power, there was a real danger of personal corruption, not on the part of the ministers, but on the part of those who were known to do this dirty work in the dark for ministers. It was altogether unconstitutional, he said, that there should be great sums of money at the disposal of any minister without the control of parliament.

KIWANIS LAUDS CANADA SPIRIT

George Shurtleff, U. S. Delegate, Addresses Local Club at Luncheon.

Declares Visitors Came Admiring, But Are Going Away Loving Country.

Two prominent Kiwanians from the United States were the speakers at the noonday luncheon of the London Club Friday. They were George H. Shurtleff, governor of the Illinois and Eastern Iowa District, and James Gardener Sanderson, of Scranton, Pa., governor of the Pennsylvania district, nad vice-chairman of the international board of governors.

Mr. Shurtleff spoke first. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons in the United States had come to Canada, he said, to the international convention in Toronto, with no adequate knowledge of the country or the people.

Character of Canadians.

The cordial treatment and the splendid entertainment that had been given to these visitors had given an insight to the Kiwanians in the States into Canadian institutions and the character of the Canadian people.

Kiwanians had come to Canada with a certain degree of admiration for the country, but they go away, said the speaker, with a deep and abiding love for it.

Last January, he said, Bevan Hay, Kiwanis governor for the London district had been present at a Chicago meeting of the Illinois and Iowa Kiwanians, and had been asked to speak of the work the London Club were doing for the under-privileged boy.

Those who heard him had carried away with them what they considered the finest statement of a charitable work they had ever heard, said Mr. Shurtleff. They had carried it back and reported it to their own clubs, and subsequently International Kiwanis adopted it for an objective of the entire organization. To the London club went the credit for this action on the part of the International Kiwanis, said Mr. Shurtleff.

Touched Spiritual Side.

James Sanderson touched on the spiritual side of Kiwanis work, and attempted to show how impossible it was for individual Kiwanis to make their club a community factor, unless they adhered to the true ideals of the Kiwanis Club.

A large number of other guests, the majority of whom were from the United States, were present at the meeting as guests of the London club. The guests were representatives and delegates from the convention, which has been in progress all this week in Toronto.

FORESTERS RAISE INSURANCE RATE

Vote Taken at Close of Forty-Third Annual Convention.

Quebec, June 23.—By Canadian Press.—The forty-third annual convention of the Canadian Order of Foresters came to a close here last night.

The city of Ottawa was selected as the place for the next annual convention, which will be held in June, 1923.

The big issue at this year's convention was the proposed increase in the insurance rates of the order, which will mean an additional annual revenue of half a million dollars. This was voted by the convention on Wednesday night, but the legality of the vote was questioned, as the by-laws of the order specify that a two-thirds vote is necessary to increase the rates. The question was left to the solicitor of the order to decide, and he ruled that the vote was legal, and the increased rates will, therefore, go into effect.

The election of officers took place today and resulted as follows:

High Chief Ranger—J. A. A. Brodeur, president of the Montreal city council.

First Vice Chief Ranger—F. E. Davidson, Winnipeg.

High Secretary—A. P. Vansomeren, Brantford, Ont.

High Treasurer—A. R. Galpin, Brantford, Ont.

Added to executive committee—Hon. J. A. Stewart, Perth, Ont., former minister of railways; Wallace Noble, Hamilton, Ont.; E. J. Freysing, Toronto; M. D. Carroll, Montreal; Hugh Mallory, Deseronto.

High Auditor—Blake Miller, Brantford; second high auditor—T. E. McLellan, Galt, Ont.; high registrar—W. E. Cooper, K.C., Montreal; high chaplain, Rev. W. J. West, Durban, Ont.

ELECT J. SHAW AS PRESIDENT

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Urges Better Service to West Indies.

Believes Workmen's Compensation Board Should Be Judicial in Character.

St. Andrews by the Sea, June 23.—(By Canadian Press).—John R. Shaw of Woodstock, Ont., was elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for the forthcoming year here today.

Other officers were elected as follows: C. Howard Smith, Montreal and Quebec, 1st vice-president; Henry Bertram, Dundas, Ont., 2nd vice-president; Thomas Roden, Toronto, Ont. (re-elected), treasurer; John D. Palmer, Fredericton, chairman executive committee; Joseph Picard, Quebec, chairman tariff committee; W. S. Campbell, Toronto, chairman transportation committee; Arthur Hewitt, Toronto, chairman insurance committee; B. W. Coughlin, Montreal, chairman membership committee; J. C. MacFarlane, Toronto, chairman legislation committee; W. C. Coulter, Toronto, chairman industrial relations committee; L. L. McMurray, Toronto, chairman commercial intelligence committee; J. F. M. Stewart, Toronto, chairman publishing committee.

A resolution, urging the Canadian government to make provisions for "adequate steamship, passenger and refrigerator service between Canada and the British West Indies, British Guiana and Bermuda," was passed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here today. Another resolution said in part:

"The association records its opinion that workman's compensation boards should be judicial in character; that if this principle is ignored those who pay compensation should have equal representation to those who receive it; that boards shall not initiate legislation other than that concerned with the administration of the acts; and that the employees should contribute at least a portion of the total cost in order that they may have a personal interest in the economical administration of the funds."

Other resolutions recommended the appointment of a government tariff board of experts, a tax on foreign publications entering Canada; continued efforts for increased immigration; that the Dominion and provincial governments hold a conference at the earliest possible date to define their respective fields of taxation, so as to avoid unnecessary duplication and expense.

Reviewing the cost of the national railways to Canada, T. Howard Smith, Montreal, read a statement in which he advocated consolidation and central management of the Canadian National and Grand Trunk systems, the reduction to a minimum of railway coal purchased from the United States, immediate cutting down of the railway mileage by 600 miles of unprofitable roads, and a reduction of train services in many localities.

An immense market for Canadian goods lies in the West Indies, and at the same time, on Canada rests the duty of keeping these islands British, according to the statements by speakers today before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A resolution introduced by W. H. Shapley, Toronto, and referred to the resolutions committee, would appoint a committee to study the whole problem of Canadian-West Indies trade, and of methods of increasing it.

Canada was the logical supply source of the West Indies in preference to other countries, said T. Geddes Grant, Trinidad, because there was a subsidized steamship line between the two. Canadian banks were established there, and most of the islands have established preferential tariff with the Dominion. With a population of 2,500,000, the West Indies imports totalled $24,000,000 per annum.

The immigration problem was submitted to the meeting of the association today by W. F. Morgan-Dean, as one of the greatest confronting Canada at present. The home market was credited with being the best market, he said. The logical course, he thought, was to increase the home market by increasing the number of consumers. Increased consumption meant increased output, smaller production costs, and these in turn would enable manufacturers to compete with greater advantage in foreign markets.

Mayor G. C. Coppley of Hamilton, Ont., supported Mr. Morgan-Dean. He thought Canada could secure immigrants if she went after them. Australia and New Zealand were getting them.

The mob stopped the car, pulled off the trolley and swarmed aboard. Two of the attacking party were shot as they crawled through windows. The mine was opened on an open shop basis Monday.

BECK STABLES LEAD AT EGLINGTON HORSE SHOW

TORONTO, June 22.—While there was an unusual number of sleek and well-trained horses taking part in the second day's events of the Toronto horse show held in the Eglington grounds, the interest of the day centered largely around the performance of the hunters, many of which were Irish animals, which were brought to this country recently to go up against the Canadian-bred horses.

From the point of efficiency at the hurdles, the Canadian animals led, and on the whole the home-raised beauties were also able to give points to the entries from the Detroit club and still carry off the most coveted ribbons.

Though the day provided plenty of interesting events for the horse fans, the feature performance of the meet during the last two days has easily been the showing of Sir Adam Beck's horse Melrose. This horse on four appearances has carried off three firsts and one second, and on three occasions he was ridden by Miss Marion Beck.

Other horses which recently passed out of the hands of Sir Adam Beck also showed in the ribbon class, so that on the showing to date the animals which have had the oversight of Sir Adam Beck have added to the interest in the contests.

TEACHERS TO BE PAID FOR JUNE?

Trustees Say Mayor Wilson's Signature Not Necessary On Checks.

Chairman Edwin Smith Has Heard Nothing of Injunction.

It is not at all necessary to have Mayor Cameron Wilson's signature on pay checks for London's school teachers, according to Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education, and Trustee Thomas Rowe the senior member of the same body, who Friday advanced the further opinion that any errors in the educational system should be corrected at the "fountain-head"—the provincial department of education in Toronto.

While Chairman Smith states that "he has heard nothing and knows nothing about an injunction or other procedure to prevent payment of salary to those teachers who journeyed to Toronto quite recently to assist temporarily the provincial department officials, he is emphatic in his contention, however, that their leave of absence was legalized by the trustees as a body in regular session. "As a matter of fact," he said Friday, "as far as that goes the board has the right to declare a holiday whenever it so desires."

Trustee Rowe, while acknowledging the right of any citizen to demand an investigation of civic affairs if he believes that the business is not being conducted in the best interests of the citizens, holds that the ratepayers should make their appeal to the provincial department for any change sought in the system. "Why should London make a change," he questions, "while St. Thomas and Lucan or Toronto or other centers carry on in the old manner?"

"As far as Mayor Wilson is concerned, however, he has nothing to do with affixing his signature to pay checks for the teachers. The school accounts are separate from other civic records although we have the services of James Bell as a joint treasurer. The only time that Mayor Wilson and his associates on the city council can interfere is when the school board asks to place another lien on the town—in other words request the issuance of further debentures for school construction and the like."

Chairman Smith explains that the London Board of Education intends, through the Urban School Trustees' Association, to urge the department of education, Toronto, to make such alteration in the dates of the annual examination in order that such controversies as now encountered, will be avoided. In the meanwhile, he states, that the teachers who went to Toronto will receive their pay for June as usual, unless it is otherwise ordered by a competent court of jurisdiction.

The trustees feel, however, that none of the citizens will be able to show good and sufficient reason to a judge why these salaries should not be paid, as one would be compelled to do to force the issuance of an injunction.

MEMBERS OF THE STAFF of the Starr Phonograph Company of this city will motor to Lakeside on Wednesday, July 5, for their eighth annual picnic. A bumper program of sports is being prepared for this outing.

BRENNAN AND BENANATI SETTLE ACCIDENT CASE

Litigants Arrive at Agreement in Court House Corridor.

Scheduled to be contested before His Honor Judge Judd in the first division court Friday morning, the case of Benenati vs. Brennan was amicably settled out of court, the two principals agreeing, after a consultation in the courthouse corridor, to shoulder their costs jointly.

The dispute arose from a recent automobile accident in the north end of the city, when the plaintiff's machine was damaged but not to such an extent that it could not be satisfactorily repaired.

The contestants, witnesses and attorneys involved all left the court apparently well satisfied with the latest development.

ALLEGES INDIAN VIOLATED O.T.A.

Reserve Constable Tells Court of Chase Around Building.

Charged by the authorities with having liquor in his possession in other than a private dwelling, contrary to the provisions of the Ontario temperance act, William Birch, a treaty Indian, residing on the Munsey Reservation, appeared before Squire W. H. Chittick in the Middlesex county police court Thursday afternoon and was remanded for seven days for trial.

Washington Cornelius, constable at the reserve, who explains that he accompanied government officers when the arrest was executed, states that the alleged offence took place more than a month ago, just following a dance, at which many of the braves from the reservation attended.

The prisoner, it is claimed, arrived at the scene of festivity and general recreation in an automobile, in which, it is explained further by the police, a quart sealer was found containing a certain liquid. The constable relates that at that time when the government officer moved to make the arrest the defendant attempted to evade the same and ran around the building two or three times with the officer in hot pursuit.

On the second trip around, Cornelius relates, the fleeing Indian handed him a small satchel, which was found to contain, he says, two or three small bottles, two empty and the other containing what is thought to be liquor, as well as a whiskey glass.

The constable, continuing his narrative, states that the chase suddenly ended and no arrest was made at that time seemingly.

THE one-and-one-half somersault is one of the most spectacular among fancy dives.

When first trying it, it is apt to make a person a little dizzy, but this feeling will soon wear away.

A good hard run is absolutely essential to the successful performance of this dive.

As you reach the free end of the board, spring from the board as high as possible.

As soon as you reach the top of your spring, bend at the hips, and rapidly revolve the body one and one-half times, straightening smartly just before entering the water head first, with the arms straight over the head, and the fingers and toes pointed.

The red letter day on the calendar of the Lions Club this summer falls on July 6, when the members will hold a big "Ladies' Night" at Port Stanley as a fitting conclusion to club festivities for the summer months.

This was decided on at a well-attended banquet of the members at Gungalow Inn, Springbank, Thursday night.

Acting on the suggestions of several members that a great many men are away during June, July and August and indoor meetings in warm weather are a bore rather than a pleasure, President C. M. R. Graham made a proposal that the club hold one more banquet before the adjournment of the meetings for the summer, that it be held at Port Stanley, and that it be made a "Ladies' Night."

On account of the tremendous success of the ladies' night two weeks ago, Col. Graham's last proposal was received with great enthusiasm, all the members being of the opinion that it would be a splendid way to conclude the summer's business.

Committee's were then appointed to make arrangements for the transportation, the entertainment and the banquet, which will be held in the cafeteria at the lakeside.

The following constitute the attendance and transportation committee: N. Keene (chairman), Dr. J. F. Giffen, H. W. Sherwood, W. E. Young and H. H. Nash.

The members of the attendance and entertainment committee are: H. A. Cromwell (chairman), W. Archer, A. R. Morrison, F. E. Barrett, H. Parsons and E. Dennis.

After "Ladies' Night" on July 6, the regular meetings will be adjourned until the first week in September, when it is the plan of the club to institute a drive for new members.

CLAIMS DAMAGES FOR LOSS ON CORN

With Judge Talbot Macbeth presiding, the case of the Canada Corn Company vs. the Grand Trunk Railroad is still proceeding in the Middlesex county court.

The plaintiffs claim that the company, through error or neglect, delayed the shipment of two cars of corn to a party in Buffalo, who, it is claimed, declined to receive the cars, claiming that as they did not arrive in time he suffered loss, as the "market fell" in the meanwhile.

J. Pratt, Montreal, counsel for the Grand Trunk Railroad, is conducting the case for the latter corporation.

Trustees Think Construction Firm Will Act Before August

It would now appear that the Kingston Construction Company, despite all rumors and questionable reports to the contrary, intends to make some move with respect to the new central collegiate institute before its contract with the board of education expires at the end of the month.

At last there are at least apparent signs of activity in that direction, Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the collegiate committee of the board of education, reports that a foreman of that company was in the city on Thursday, although L. E. Carrothers, school architect, explains that he is not prepared to make any definite statement at this moment.

"Nevertheless, we are camping on the company's trail," Chairman Silverwood explained, "and there'll be certainly something doing at the end of this month, one way or the other."

It is understood that the Kingston Construction Company will have until the end of the first week in August to remove any possible defects in their work at the collegiate, while the board of education claims further that the responsibility for the removal of all excess earth on the grounds rests with the company as well.

THORNDALE WINS BASEBALL GAME

Although the report appeared Friday morning that Thorndale had suffered defeat at baseball at Springbank the preceding day, it appears that the announcement was made through a misunderstanding. Thorndale won the afternoon game from Pond Mills 7—1. The John A. Nash Trophy for the tug-of-war contest was again captured by the Bryanston heavyweights.

Butchers To Label Sausages and Hamburg Steak Containing Chemicals

In future, under a new ruling from Ottawa on the pure food laws, all sausages and hamburg steak, preserved with chemical preservatives, must bear a sign stating that they are so preserved.

Butchers must place signs on platters of hamburg steak stating that the meat is preserved, and, if there is any chemical, specifying what kind. These preservatives are only allowed in these meats to a certain degree, a limit being set.

According to the new ruling boric acid may be placed in meat to the extent of one part in 400 cream parts, one part in 200 butter parts and other foods. Benzoic soda may be placed in meat to the extent of one part in 5,000 parts, salicylic acid, one part in 5,000 parts, and sulphurous acid, or bisulphite of soda potash, or lime, one part in 10,000 parts, in beverages, one part in 2,000 parts in solid foods.

G. T. R. EMPLOYEES TO PROTEST CUT

Maintenance of Way Men Object to Proposed Schedule.

That the maintenance of way employees of the Grand Trunk Railway in Canada will protest the proposed wage cut, and will probably go on strike, is the prediction of union officials in this district this morning.

The federated trades of the Canadian railroads received a notice a few days ago of the proposed cut in pay, ranging from 5 to 9 cents an hour. The cut follows the lines of the United States award. While the notices have reached the headquarters of the union in Winnipeg, intimation of the proposed reduction has not yet been received by local union officials.

Local railway brotherhoods all over the country are today expressing strong opposition to any cut and the consensus of opinion expressed by prominent union officers both in London and other cities is that a strike will follow the enforcement.

More than 400 maintenance of way employees in this district will be affected by the wage cut contemplated by the Canadian Railway Association.

One month ago the maintenance of way men had their working conditions revised, and one of the clauses abolishing time and a half pay for overtime. The men claimed that this was unjust, but some days ago a satisfactory agreement was reached.

The United Council of United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees in the United States has ordered a strike vote taken, and the result will be known early in July.

The grievances are common, both to the men in Canada and in the United States, and officials believe that an international strike of employees is far from impossible.

However, officials point out that 30 days' notice must be given by all railroads before they can attempt to enforce the new wage schedule.

GEO. LETHBRIDGE PUPILS GIVE MUSICAL RECITAL

Present Entertaining Program At First Presbyterian Church.

The recital given at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday night by senior pupils of George Lethbridge owed its success to the splendid talent and training of those who were taking part.

Each artist displayed a high degree of musical ability, developed to the fullest, and with every atom of a natural gift of expression brought out.

Those who contributed numbers are well known to London audiences and the anticipations of a delightful performance on the part of those who attended the recital were in every way fulfilled.

The following was the program: "La Fileuse," by Raff, Miss Miriam Oxley; "Cradle Song," by R. DeKoven and Schubert's "Serenade," by Miss Elsa Grell; Andante Con Variazioni," by George Smale; "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," by Saint Saens, Miss Dorothy Dickinson; "Now Sleep, the Crimson Petal," by Quilter, and "Dawn," by Pearl G. Ward 4 Has 150 Names Added To Municipal Voters' List

APPROXIMATELY 150 names have been added to the municipal voters' list for ward four, according to City Clerk S. Baker, whose staff completed compiling this section of the city Friday. The above increase works out at six additional names for each subdivision on the ward.

The city clerk's staff is at present working on the voters' list for other portions of the city.

"We have almost completed the registration of persons entitled to vote at parliamentary elections only," said the city clerk Friday morning, and have transferred several hundred names of women entitled to vote at municipal elections this year from that list to the municipal list.

BORDER CITIES PREPARE FOR OLD BOYS' REUNION

Pageantry, Moonlights, Dancing, Racing and Sports To Feature Program of Entertainment.

Preparations for entertaining more than 65,000 old boys and girls are being made by the Border Cities' Old Boys' Reunion Association, according to an announcement from the Windsor headquarters today. The huge program will feature the historic spectacle, "The Landing of the Jesuit Fathers," which will be re-enacted in Sandwich with approximately 250 full-blooded Indian braves participating. The priests of Assumption Church and College have offered their services for the occasion, while the college grounds will be used for the various athletic field days.

Horse races, embracing running, trotting and pacing races, as well as novelty races are also on the program, which includes contests in practically every line of sports. Devonshire racing park has been turned over to the Old Boys for the week, and it will be the scene of a monster barbecue.

Band concerts, fireworks, community singing and dancing will be permanent features for each evening, in addition to many other attractions. Tuesday evening has been set aside for the visit of the famous Moslem Temple Band and chanters, and the celebrated Arab patrol of the same society. All kinds of military events are also scheduled, as well as a moonlight excursion every evening.

HONOR RETIRING PUBLIC TUTORS

Teachers and Pupils Make Presentation to Three Principals.

Alex. MacQueen, W. H. Liddicoatt and R. M. Welch Bid Farewell to Classes.

Eloquent tributes of affection and appreciation were paid by teachers and pupils of the Ryerson School on Friday afternoon to the retiring principal, Alexander MacQueen, who is giving up the teaching profession after many years in its service in the city.

At 3:30 o'clock, a mass meeting was held of the pupils in the auditorium, which Mr. MacQueen was invited to attend. A committee consisting of Evelyn Putherbough, Alice Parry, Eva Jermy and Helen Flowers, on behalf of their schoolmates, made the presentation of a handsome and practical traveling case, accompanied by an address.

At 4 o'clock, the eighth grade pupils entertained at tea in honor of their beloved principal and teacher, when Inspector V. K. Greer and Mrs. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Wheable, Miss MacQueen, Miss Hay, a former prominent member of the staff, and the teachers, were also guests.

Advantage was taken of the opportunity afforded the staff to present Mr. MacQueen with a club bag, Inspector Greer performing the ceremony, while an address was given by H. B. Galpin, who is succeeding as principal in the fall. Miss Agnes Bryans and Miss Elizabeth Watson constituted the teachers' presentation committee.

W. H. Liddicoatt Honored.

Pupils and ex-pupils, teachers and mothers of the Talbot Street School united this week in a pleasing recognition of the splendid record of W. H. Liddicoatt, principal of the school, who is retiring from the teaching profession after 42 years in the service, 24 of which have been spent at the Talbot Street School.

Gathering in the school grounds, just before recess, a happy throng of youngsters and grown-ups demanded the presence of the principal, who, upon arrival, was greeted with the school yell and with a cleverly-worded address, read by Ross Willis, a Grade VIII. pupil. The address was presented to Mr. Liddicoatt by Helen Radford, another pupil, and was followed by the presentation of the gift proper, a purse of more than $100, proffered in a great basket of roses by little Eloise and Barbara Tennent, two kindergarten mites, whose mother and daddy had been, in their day, pupils of Mr. Liddicoatt.

Replying, Mr. Liddicoatt referred

RECORD CROWDS GOING TO PORT

L. and P. S. Railway Reports Best June Traffic in History.

Special Attractions Being Provided At Lakeside Resort.

While the summer season at the lakeside has but really now only commenced in earnest, all records have already been smashed this year, according to the officials of the London and Port Stanley Railroad, who state that the passenger traffic to Port Stanley during the past month has been actually in excess of the same month in any year in the history of the road.

The L. and P. S. spells service throughout from the moment you leave London to the moment you entrain again at the boardwalk for your return trip after a day of untold pleasure.

Visitors from Toronto or Detroit and other large American cities are warm and unstinted in their praise of the accommodation always now available at Port, equal to the best, they assert, anywhere on the continent.

Particularly proud are the officials of their splendid bathhouse of 1,000 rooms, which has no superior elsewhere, they maintain, where cleanliness is absolutely the first consideration, and all suits and towels are thoroughly sterilized when each person is finished with them.

All trains convey their passengers to the beach, where they will find the incline cars to take them without tedious delays to Invereric Heights, where are located picnic grounds that cannot be surpassed in Western Ontario, if, indeed, in the entire province.

Among the special attractions provided by the thoughtful railway management is the free moving picture exhibition each week night on the beach, where only the best and most up-to-date pictures obtainable are shown. Visitors have already proclaimed the L. and P. S. Orchestra to be one of the most competent musical organizations ever heard to date at the lakeside. The special numbers have created a decided favorable impression particularly.

VIOLATORS OF O. T. A. ARE FINED $4,000

Kitchener Magistrate Imposes Heavy Penalties in Four Cases.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, June 22.—Four thousand dollars were paid out by O. T. A. violators in the city police court today. The Lion Brewery Company was assessed $1,000 for having over 2½ per cent liquor on the premises, and the Clarendon and Germania Hotels paid $1,500 and $1,000 respectively for having real beer in the cellar. The Breslau Hotel proprietor was fined $300 and costs because a couple of cases of good beer were found in the basement. A local grocer pleaded guilty to having liquor too close to the prunes in the store and paid a fine of $200. The cases were prosecuted by Nichol Jeffery for the license department.

The county council, in final session this afternoon, settled the equalization problem by bringing down an assessment report which met with the approval of the entire council. The assessment is an increase on the municipalities concerned over that which prevailed in past years, but it is admitted to be more fair by the representatives of the various towns, villages and townships.

INTRODUCES BILL ON INCOME TAX

OTTAWA, June 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, this afternoon introduced a bill in the House of Commons amending the income tax as to exemptions for each child from $200 to $300, revising present provisions in regard to commercial travelers expenses, and imposing a tax on Americans working in Canada, similar to that imposed on Canadians working in the United States. This last amendment is to come into effect [illegible] proclamation.

CYCLONE IN WEST DESTROYS HOUSES

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 22.—Houses were moved off their foundations, buildings and barns leveled and trees uprooted during a cyclone which struck Crystal Springs and Invergordon districts near Birch Mills last evening. No loss of life or injury has been reported, and no loss to crops is reported, as the wind traveled at a height above them.

A curious effect has been the drying up of all sloughs in the path of the storm. At one farm a horse was lifted bodily from the stable and deposited in a wheat field.

CANADA REJECTS FEW EMIGRANTS

LONDON, Eng., June 22.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The rejection on account of unsuitability of male emigrants, who were permitted to leave Great Britain for Canada, was brought to the attention of the House of Commons today by Hon. L. C. Amery, parliamentary secretary to the board of admiralty, who admitted that this happened in some cases, though the number in such cases was few in comparison with the total number of emigrants.

He said improvements were being effected in the arrangements for the selection of settlers, and medical examination took place prior to their departure. Colonel Amery mentioned that all the governments of the Dominions had now adopted improved medical arrangements in connection with intending settlers.

HOUSE FAVORS BILL TO CHANGE INSURANCE ACT

Amendment Submitted by Sir Henry Drayton Defeated On Division.

WHEAT BOARD APPROVED

Measure To Authorize Aid To the Patriotic Fund Adopted.

BULLETIN.

OTTAWA, June 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—The last of the budget resolutions went through the house tonight. The bills based on the resolutions have now to pass their various stages.

OTTAWA, June 22.—(By Canadian Press).—After a couple of amendments had been defeated, the House of Commons tonight adopted a resolution and subsequently gave first reading to a bill amending the Returned Soldiers' Insurance act. Criticism of past administration of the act was that the discretionary power of the minister of finance to refuse applications for insurance had been used too widely. The underlying idea of the scheme, argued Sir Henry Drayton, was to supply insurance to returned men irrespective of their physical condition. Both of the defeated amendments aimed to limit the minister's discretionary powers—one, moved by Sir Henry Drayton, providing that all applications for insurance should be accepted except in cases where fraud was proven.

"What," asked Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, "should be done with an application from a man about to die and with no dependents?" And what would constitute fraud, he added, as the critics' viewpoint was strongly contested.

The Drayton amendment was defeated on a standing vote of 94 to 33. Party lines on the opposition side were freely broken, but the only Liberal to support the amendment was Major Power of Quebec.

Wheat Board Bill Carries.

The wheat board bill received third reading with comparatively little discussion. An amendment submitted by R. M. Johnson of Moose Jaw a few days ago was accepted by the government, but with a proviso. The Johnson amendment authorized the wheat board, by regulations approved by a provincial government, to prohibit the export of wheat from that province.

To this amendment, on the motion of Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of trade and commerce, was today added the provision that the regulations to prohibit export must also receive the approval of the Dominion government. This, explained Mr. Robb, would reserve to the federal government the right to pass on the regulations.

The Johnson amendment, as modified, passed, although there was some opposition. Andrew McMaster, Liberal member for Brome, described the legislation as "vicious."

The house this afternoon adopted a resolution, and gave first reading to a bill to authorize the governor-in-council to pay to the Canadian patriotic fund "such sums as may be required from time to time to enable it to continue its work, such sums not to exceed $900,000."

Aid Is Essential.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, said it was essential that the work of the board in caring for continuous cases should be carried on, and to this authority was sought to make any necessary grants.

Lively battling broke loose in the House of Commons around midnight. Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of customs, had an amendment to the customs act, providing that:

"If at any time it appears to the satiisfaction of the governor-in-council that natural products of a class or kind produced in Canada are being imported into Canada either on sale or on consignment under such conditions as prejudicially or injuriously affect the Canadian producers, the governor-in-council may in any case or class of cases authorize the minister to value such goods for duty, notwithstanding any other provisions of this act, and the value so determined shall be held to be the fair market value thereof."

Mr. Bureau explained that the amendment would replace a provision which har been found to be "all foolishness." In making the change the government had the interests of the Canadian producer as primary consideration.

Meighen Protests.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen protested that the measure was protection itself. The minister was to be authorized to put up the tariff as he saw fit.

"Never," he exclaimed, "has there been anything like this asked from any parliament.

Andrew McMaster (Liberal, Brome) declared he must vote against his party on the amendment. He would vote against it if he were the only man to do so in the House. On the other hand, T. G. McBride of Cariboo, breaking on the amendment from his fellow Progressives, held that the apple growers of British Columbit must have protection.

Cross-firing continued for some time, Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works, observed that there was apparently a misunderstanding.

The amendment was only intended to meet special cases.

The House dividing, the amendment was sustained by 102 to 44. Conservatives voted with the Government for the amendment, as did T. G. McBride. A. R. McMaster voted with the Progressives against the amendment.

Premier King Prefers Tory "Duel" To Crowning Brow of Beauty Rare

OTTAWA, Jun 22.—"I would rather cross swords with Mr. Meighen in debate than put any more wreaths on the heads of you young ladies," were the words Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, used after going through the ordeal of crowning the graduates at this morning's commencement exercises at the Convent of Notre Dame here.

Not that Mr. King failed to do justice to a task that many a man would have envied him, but it was easily seen that the duty of affixing wreaths to the brows of a number of attractive young ladies was not one that he was familiar with.

His advice to the graduates was to everence the beautiful things of life—"to believe in truth, duty and the things of the spirit." They make for life happiness.

While visiting with her sister, Mrs. E. O. Gardiner, 14 Becher street, Miss Bessie Forsyth, 16 Yarwood street, St. Thomas, died suddenly Monday afternoon, the funeral being held at St. Thomas Wednesday afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Thornton of Alma Street Church, St. Thomas, of which the late Miss Forsyth was a staunch member.

Besides Mrs. Gardiner, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Gardiner, Jackson, Mich., and Miss Margaret Forsyth, and two brothers, David, London, and George of British Columbia.

The Premier's Strength.

IT IS only a matter of days now before the House of Commons will be through its work for the present session.

One of the outstanding facts of the whole situation is that the premier, RIGHT HON. MACKENZIE KING, is a stronger and a bigger man in Canadian public life than he was at the beginning of the session.

At that time he faced a peculiar situation, one to which he could not bring the weight of precedent, nor the experience of other premiers. The contest that named him premier also established group government, and in this latter fact lay the makings of unknown quantities, for he was opposed by men in the Progressive party, who, to all intents and purposes, were Liberals at heart. Yet it was a fact that these same men had fought and defeated the accredited nominees of the Liberal party in several of the Dominion's ridings.

The situation was unusual in other ways. As a general thing, one or the other of the old parties was returned to power with sufficient majority to carry on. Under such circumstances the problem of selecting a cabinet and formulating tariff and other policies was simplified because the majority was there to make certain the passage of government legislation. This condition of certainty was not at the disposal of HON. MACKENZIE KING when he faced the house for the first time as prime minister of Canada.

There were, as well, in his own following, divergent interests. There were the low tariff men and the tariff for revenue advocates; there were those who favored adequate protection; there was the problem of dealing fairly with the West without sufficient western representation in the ministry; there were the feelings of those who had taken opposite sides in the Liberal party in the election of 1917. These were the conditions that had to be faced, and that were faced with a patience, determination and tact that few man possess, and still fewer exercise.

It required strength to find common ground for these various views, and the solution of the problem also added strength to the man who was big enough and enough of a Liberal in the real sense of the word to go ahead and work out the problem.

The close of the session finds the premier in command of the situation—finds him taking a Dominion-wide view of Dominion-wide matters—finds him strong in the hearts of his followers, and respected even by those who most bitterly oppose him.

The untiring efforts of the Liberal chief have paved the way for greater achievements in the future. He has the confidence now of followers, who, at the outset, knew little about him, and most of all, his course through the sessions has won for him the approval of the Liberals of Canada and the sanction of a large number of independent voters, as well.

Real Estate Changes.

AN IMPORTANT real estate deal has been closed in London, whereby three fine old places, those of the late SIR GEORGE GIBBONS, former MAYOR J. W. LITTLE and the McDONAGH home will make way for the new office building of the London Life Insurance Company.

Overlooking Victoria Park, these residences have long stood as monuments to the claim of London as a city of fine homes.

The grounds have always been well kept, while the houses, generous in their size, and inviting in their appearance, have exemplified the fact that Londoners considered a goodly expenditure on the building of a home one of the best and wisest investments that could possibly be made.

We may build more modern houses now, and they may conform more closely to present-day architectural ideas, but it is doubtful if in so doing we achieve or preserve the fine old home-like atmosphere of these older structures.

But now they must make room for the progress of business and commercial development, and there is no doubt that the new proprietors of the property will preserve in the new building the fine traditions that have been established in the past in this particular section.

The Umpire.

ACCORDING TO a report in the Blenheim News-Tribune, a baseball game that was played in that town between the home team and a nine from Chatham had an unusual number of disputes, chiefly from decisions made by the umpires at the game.

This is one thing that we do not seem to have mastered yet, viz., the fine art of accepting the decision of the umpire at a ball game, and giving him the credit for trying to make his decisions as fairly and impartially as possible.

It must be remembered that the umpire is right on the spot and has a much better chance to see all that is going on than those who are sitting in the grandstand or playing in some far removed section of the field.

As a general thing, judging by the remarks from the grandstand or the bleachers, those occupying seats there can see much better what is going on than the umpire who is standing right on the spot. It may require quite a bit of restraint and good sportsmanship to see a close decision given against the home team, but if we are going to be good sports in the real sense of the word, is it not about time we should arrive at the stage where we can take a decision against with as good grace as a favorable one?

Killing the umpire has been the running partner of baseball for some time. Quit it, and accord to the chap who is acknowledged to know the game and its rules at least the credit of having as much honesty of purpose as the spectators.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Quickest way to find baby's toys is to turn out the light and hunt for them in your bare feet.

The only objection to living in the country is that you have to go to town for your vacation.

Now we are at the season of the year when women use hat pins to take pickles out of a bottle.

It's a caution how many folks have a little liquor in the house in case some person takes sick in a hurry.

The great eternal see-saw between strawberries and sugar is in operation. When berries are here sugar goes up, and when berries get off sugar comes down.

People putting in radio have to pay the government a dollar. We haven't discovered if the fee is for the use of the air or just because the government needs the dollar.

Germany, according to dispatches, is having a hard time raising a loan. Quite so, but we can get news of plenty similar experiences without going so far away as Germany.

When a member of the Commons moves to cut the indemnity from $4,000 to $3,500 he must have a fine sense of positive assurance that there is no chance of the move being a success.

The suggestion comes from Ottawa that some members of the house are in favor of giving away the vessels of the Canadian merchant marine. Parties wishing one should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply purposes.

An indignant subscriber writes that he would just as soon take a drink out of a rain barrel as to use the 2 per cent beer of this day and generation. All right, old boy, but it's better to use a strainer in the rain barrel, as the pollywogs are fairly thick this year.

Folks keep on paying taxes to keep policemen busy taking firearms away from thugs. And factories keep right on turning out the firearms for the thugs. Some day instead of paying policemen to take guns from thugs folks will call around and turn the key in the door of the gun plant.

The news from England is that a parliamentary committee may act in regard to allegations that have been made in regard to traffic in titles. The question was asked point blank in the British house as to how much would be charged for a knighthood and how much for a baronetcy. Once the giving of titles reaches this stage it becomes too great a barnacle for any ship to bear, and the investigation in England should be genuine and deep.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 248—SELLING THE UNDERSCORED SIGNATURE.

There are two principal things you should keep in mind when selling to a man who underscores his signature, particularly when he underscores it with a flourish.

One of them is easy. The other is not, though the man who can talk and use his head as well at the same time should not find it so very difficult either.

The thing to do with these people is to find out the things about themselves of which they are most proud and to admire them for those things. These are the people who love approbation. They may be dignified or undignified. They may have real reason to be proud of themselves or not. But in any case they are proud of themselves. It only remains for you to find the proper thing on which to flatter them, and to do it.

This characteristic of theirs, however, has a drawback from your point of view. They sometimes think so much of their own powers of judgment and decision that you cannot easily lead them. The thing to do is indirectly to suggest their decisions. Let the mthink they are doing what they want to do, instead of what you want them to do.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is IRONIC.

It's pronounced i-ron-ic, with accent on the second syllable. It means—characterized by a kind of humor or light sarcasm which adopts a mode of speech implying the opposite of the literal sense of the words. "The distinguished quailty of irony," says an eminent authority, "is that the meaning intended is contrary to that seemingly expressed; one says one thing and means the opposite."

It comes from—Latin "ironia," meaning "a dissimulation or concealment of real facts."

CARNEGIE LIBRARIES.

Q.—What are Carnegie Libraries?

A.—The Carnegie public libraries in Canada are so called because they were built in part by gifts from Andrew Carnegie, the wealthy steel king of America. The Carnegie Corporation has given over $3,000,000 toward 156 libraries in Canada.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1897.

Nowhere in the wide world was the queen's jubilee more enthusiastically celebrated than in London, Ontario. The outpouring of loyalty had no local parallel, except, perhaps, on the occasion of the Prince of Wales' visit. The streets were gay by day with flags and bunting, and radiant by night with illuminations. Incandescent lamps by the thousands, and Chinese lanterns by the tens of thousands were pressed into patriotic service. The business portion last night was as radiant as day. Many of the chief residential thoroughfares were also ablaze, as if by concerted effort of the householders, while in the remoter sections the illuminations were more sporadic. There was no street which had not some token of the jubilee.

Two of the most popular young people of Thorndale, Mr. Robert T. Wright, and Miss Ida Belle Griffith (teacher, first class), were united in marriage at Christ Church Rectory, London, by Rev. J. H. Moorhouse on Wednesday, June 16. Their many friends and acquaintances wish them a happy journey through life. Their home will be at the family homestead, near Thorndale.

Major Stuart of the 26th Middlesex Light Infantry had a narrow escape. When at the fair grounds his horse reared and fell backward, almost on top of the gallant major. Fortunately the only injury he received was a pinched arm and a bad scare.

Mrs. E. B. Leach of Princess avenue celebrated the jubilee by exhibiting to many friends and callers several souvenirs of British royalty, the most interesting of which was a collar made of lace from Queen Victoria's wedding dress.

The Fingal Baseball Club went to Sparta and played a game with the crack local team there, and defeated them by a score of 14 to 10. Batteries: Fingal, Moore and McIntyre; Sparta, Strausser, Phillips and Henderson.

G. A. Somerville, city, was registered in London, England, this week.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

Mushroom or Toadstool?

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

ANY people like mushrooms, but are afraid to gather their own because there have been so many cases of poisoning from eating toadstools or poisonous mushrooms.

A very common question is: "How can I tell a mushroom from a toadstool?"

What the questioner really wants to know is how to tell what mushrooms are edible.

The popular tests, such as putting a silver coin or spoon in a mess of fungi, to see if it blackens in process of cooking, all are absolutely worthless.

Mushroom or toadstool poisons are of two kinds: irritant and narcotic.

The irritant affects the stomach and digestive organs soon after eating. The narcotics are much more dangerous, acting upon the nerve centers without producing symptoms for many hours.

The irritant fungi often are recognized by their taste when raw; the narcotic frequently are pleasant, or at least not disagreeable, to the palate.

All mushrooms should be considered dangerous which have:

1. A cup-like formation at the base of the stem.
2. A scaly or close-fitting layer at the base of the stem.
3. Loose warts on the cap.
4. A milky juice—unless this is red.
5. Great brittleness, with gills nearly all of the same length, and the flesh of the cap thin.
6. A honeycombed appearance of the gills, if the flesh tastes bitter, or the mouths of the tubes are reddish, or the flesh changes color when cut or bruised.
7. A cobwebby ring or veil when the plant is young.
8. A slimp cap and clay-colored spores.

All mushrooms that are decaying or are in the immature button stage should be avoided.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

PATCHWORK. By Beverley Nichols. Henry Holt & Co., Publishers, New York.

OXFORD has been the setting for many stories, but in this story we have another Oxford—Oxford after the war—with the old traditions beaten down, with most of its boys returned from the war and of such matter-of-fact dispositions, of such mental and physical unrest, that the dreamy old Oxford seemed completely lost and an unknown Oxford appeared.

The author tells Canadians in his preface:

> It would have been quite impossible, in writing of that university from which I have so recently and so reluctantly departed, to banish from my memory the figures which colored its stage so vividly, to try to shut from my ears the echo of their laughter and their talk. And so I may as well admit that a few—a very few—of the characters in this book are founded on fact. Raymond Sheldon, however, the chief figure (he would have hated to be called a "hero"), is, to the best of my knowledge, an imaginary character. It is true that he did many things which I myself did, but he did them in quite a different way; and though I admire him very much, I do not approve of all his actions.

The book is young and full of life, but devoid of sentimental love scenes. Ray can do anything; but returning from the war his mind is unsettled and he drifts along at Oxford. The only main desire he seems to have is to bring Oxford back to the gay and colorful life of pre-war days. And he almost succeeds. His two friends, David and Steele, with their mental struggles to settle down to a civilian life again, their ambitions and their influence upon his life form a very interesting tale.

Much of the Oxford which is portrayed is political, but aside from that Ray is a musician, and can paint some, and write more, and when Ray is in an artistic mood there is much that is beautiful in nature, in architecture and in art and even life itself which he has to tell about.

Shortly after reaching Oxford Ray decided "to recreate the Oxford that had been." He became known to every man worth knowing, he edited two papers, he debated at the Union, he did everything which would in any way place him in the position where he would be able to influence Oxford life. And then something happened. And Ray left Oxford.

Our final glimpse of Ray is after he is a successful playwright. People are always silent when Ray speaks, and so we see him at a luncheon, with silent people listening to his explanation of his statement, "I didn't think Oxford was beautiful at all."

> When I came back from France, for a time I just saturated myself in Oxford. I thought it was the most lovely place on earth. And then suddenly I realized it was all wrong—it was all lies. I'd been living in a dream, making up sonnets, and playing soft music, and wandering about in the moonlight. It wasn't real. All those beautiful curved domes and spires and things, all the old stone and the picturesqueness of the place—why should they be so lovely when the world's what it is? I feel all that soft beauty of Oxford is an insult. There's been so much formlessness, so much color, just color without form—in everything, in life, in politics, in art. Men didn't plan their lives, they lived them haphazard, and tried to color them by just getting a few distorted pleasures now and then. Statesmen didn't even plan their policies, there was just a charming drift, with a lot of picturesque ceremony and stuff.

And yet—"how he longed again for Oxford—Oxford!—the city that belonged to youth, to enthusiasm, to impulse, and to laughter."

ELECT ROSS AS KIWANIS HEAD

Toronto Man Chosen Amid Wild Enthusiasm After Ohio Nomination Fails.

Delegates Decide To Allow Farmers To Become Members of Body.

Special to London Advertiser.

TORONTO, June 22.—After animated discussion two important decisions were made here today by the international convention of Kiwanis clubs, the first being approval of an amendment allowing farmers to form clubs or become members of those already in existence, and the second the election amid wild cheering of George H. Ross of Toronto as president.

A stormy debate arose over the amendment to allow the formation of farmer clubs—or the inclusion of farmers as members.

"Is an agriculturist a businessman?" was the point raised by several speakers. "He can be both," agreed one man, "because I am a businessman and I have a farm, and I could not have my farm without my business."

When the "ayes" and "noes" were called the noise was equal, and a standing vote was called for. It was close to a tie, and several delegates objected because non-delegates were voting.

Karr Urges Plan.

Before the vote could be taken again President Karr asked if he could say a word. The convention told him to go ahead. "I proposed this amendment," he said. "Do not let us withdraw the hand we have extended to the agriculturists on a technical ground," he urged.

When the vote was taken it showed a clear majority for the amendment.

"Steam-roller methods!" exclaimed a man with a big voice. "In no legislative body in the world would such a motion be allowed to become law after a speech by the chair. I never saw such steam-roller methods."

"The convention gave me leave to speak," said the president calmly, declaring the amendment approved.

Rights of Child.

Wiley H. Swift of the national child labor committee of the United States, told the Kiwanians that in entering the field of caring for the underprivileged child they were taking on a big task. There were more of such children than was generally supposed.

He outlined the five claims of the child as follows:

1. The right to be born in honor, to a sound body, to freedom from disease, and to good health.
2. To care, food, shelter and clothing.
3. To sufficient education to develop its capacity.
4. To companionship with its fellows, to play and recreation.
5. To protection from exploitation, cruelty, neglect or other abuse.

"The family has its duty and the state has its duty—the place of the Kiwanian's clubs is to stand between the family and the state, and to see that the underprivileged child gets a square deal," he said.

Laud Hospitality.

By a standing vote the convention recorded its thanks to the Toronto club and Toronto people, and to all Canada for the hospitality and courtesy extended to the delegates.

There was a wild scene when the nominations for president were made. The caucus nominated only E. H. Arras of Columbus, O., but the convention was in no mood to accept such a nomination.

"I nominate George H. Ross of Toronto," said an Indiana delegate.

Then arose Richard Mansfield Hobbs of New York City.

"Are you going to accept the dictation of a hand-picked group of 51 men?" he demanded. Hotly he declared that "the only reason they can find to urge against George Ross is that he belongs to Toronto."

Ross Tries to Speak.

Mr. Ross came forward and tried to speak, to stave off the rising tide of feeling in his favor. But they wouldn't listen to him. They roared their cheers, and the Michigan band played "The Maple Leaf Forever."

J. Mercer Barnett, past president, also spoke fervently for Mr. Ross. "Mr. Ross is one of the finest men we have in Kiwanis, and the only argument they have against him is that he is a Toronto man. The mayor says that if Mr. Ross is elected he will be allowed to spend 90 per cent of his time for Kiwanis. The mayor will put men in his office to see that the work is done." Mr. Barnett declared that the pageant last night was worth millions in cementing good feeling between Canada and the United States. Here was a chance to strengthen that feeling. "Wipe out that international line," he appealed.

Windsor Man, Crazed With Bay Rum, Tries To Strangle Self With Sock

WINDSOR, June 22.—Crazed with bay rum, E. Laverdury, Windsor, arrested at the ferry dock late Wednesday afternoon, attempted to end his life by strangling himself with one of his socks, in a cell at police headquarters Wednesday night. So persistent was the man in the desire to end his life that the police were forced to take every stitch of clothing off him, in order that he could not repeat the attempt. A close watch was then kept on him.

He was arraigned on a charge of being drunk before Magistrate Gundy today, after the effects of the intoxicant had worn off, and allowed to go with a fine of $10.

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That. Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.

All ailing women ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

Holmes-Gemmell Wedding Thursday Is Real University Nuptial Event

One of the prettiest and happiest of June weddings, and a real university event, was the marriage which took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 4:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon of a fair young graduate of the Western University, Margaret Allen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gemmell of this city, and Urban Tigner Holmes, M.A., of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., eldest son of Commander U. T. Holmes, retired, of the U. S. A. navy, and Mrs. Holmes. In the absence from the city of the minister, Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor, the nuptial service was conducted by Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae, assisted by Rev. F. W. K. Harris. Charles E. Wheeler, F.C.G.O., presided at the organ, and an interesting Scottish innovation introduced was the singing of "O Perfect Love" by the whole congregation, as an introduction to the marriage ceremony.

The stately old church had been adorned by girl friends of the bride, under the direction of Miss Doris Nelles, with ropes and streamers and masses of Marguerites, the name flower of the bride, combined with peonies, roses and palms. The bride, who entered by the west aisle, leaning on the arm of her father, was radiantly lovely in her gracefully draped gown of white Canton crepe, with pearl and crystal bead trimming, the skirt trailing in picot-edged points. Over this fell the wedding veil, richly embroidered in silk, that had done service on the wedding day of the bride's mother, caught up with a bandeau of orange blossoms.

Miss Christene Tilden, of Lambeth, the maid-of-honor, and Miss Catharine Sabine, the bridesmaid, were classmates of the bride in the Western University. The former was gowned in maize organdy, with hat to match, and carried yellow pansies, and the latter in orchid organdy and orchid hat, and carried mauve pansies. Dr. Sidney Gordon Chalk, of London, a graduate of this year of the Western Medical College, was best man.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gemmell in Mill street, where the rooms were transformed into bowers of roses. The living-room, in which Mrs. Gemmell received with the happy couple, was a mass of dark crimson roses, while the dining-room, where afternoon tea was served, was most attractive, decorated in a white and mauve color scheme, carried out with quantities of white roses and dainty mauve sweet peas. The bride's table, covered with a handsome Maltese hand-made lace cloth, was centered with the bridescake, and further adorned with white roses and asparagus fern in silver holders. Misses Catharine Campbell, Margaret Thompson, Ruth Loveless and Dorothy Walker assisted in serving.

Mrs. Gemmell was wearing a smart gown of beige canton crepe, with black hat, and carried pansies.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left by C. P. R. at 7:15 o'clock for Montreal, and will sail on Saturday, June 24, on S. S. Corsican for Glasgow.

WITH THE BRIDES

JENSEN—FORRESTER.

The marriage of Francis Forrester, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Forrester, to Thorvil Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jensen, took place at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, Hale street. Rev. W. R. Reid performed the ceremony.

The rooms were arranged with clusters of daisies, orange blossoms and ferns, and the ceremony took place under a graceful arch of evergreens and flowers. As the bridal party entered the drawing-room, the wedding march was played by Mrs. Frank May, wearing a gown of blue silk and hat to match. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful wedding gown of henna canton crepe, heavily beaded, and a becoming black mohair hat trimmed with French flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Margaret Forrester was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a smart frock of navy blue silk with hat to match, and carrying roses. Mr. Frank Hunter was best man. Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. Mrs. Forrester, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black duchess satin and a corsage of sweet peas. A buffet luncheon was served on the lawn from a table decked with flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen left on a honeymoon which will be spent at Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will reside in London. The groom's gift to the bride was a rope of pearls, to the bridesmaid a bar pin and to the best man a tie pin.

BRADSHAW—DISHER.

The marriage of Ella Ruth Disher, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Disher, Burford Township, to Mr. John H. Bradshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bradshaw of Hagersville, took place Saturday, June 17, at 6 p.m., at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. J. A. Neill officiating. Only immediate relatives witnessed the event.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a handsome gown of brown canton crepe, richly embroidered, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her little niece, Edna Disher, as flower girl.

© by Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Idealistic and sensitive,

PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN, divinity student, was filled with horror when he learned of the brutal shooting of the peasant Mabey, discovered poaching on the estate of the great noble, the

MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZYR. With his young lawyer friend,

ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU, he appealed for justice to the rough but good-hearted

QUINTIN DE KERCADIOU, Lord of Gavrillac, who is popularly believed to be the father of Andre-Louis. The Marquis was present at the interview and Andre-Louis learned with horror that he was suing for the hand of the young and beautiful

ALINE DE KERCADIOU, the niece of Gavrillac. At the requests of the Marquis the discussion of the death of Mabey is continued in the inn. There was something sinister in the Marquis' attitude which made Andre-Louis fear for Philippe.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"It seems, monsieur, that I must refresh your memory." The marquis directly faced M. de Vilmorin. "You spoke, monsieur—and you spoke very eloquently, too eloquently almost, it seemed to me—of the infamy of such a deed as the act of summary justice upon this thieving fellow Mabey. Infamy was the precise word you used. You did not retract that word when I had the honor to inform you that it was by my orders that my gamekeeper Bennet proceeded as he did."

M. de Vilmorin's fine face wore a look of perplexity. He did not understand the drift of this.

"It occurs to me, M. le Marquis, in view of your readiness to assume responsibility, that you must believe in some justification for the deed which is not apparent to myself."

"That is better. That is distinctly better." The marquis took snuff delicately, dusting the fragments from the fine lace at his throat. "When I tell you that for months past I have been annoyed by similar depredations, you will perhaps understand that it had become necessary to employ a deterrent sufficiently strong to put an end to them. And there is more than that. It is not the poaching that annoys me so much as the contempt for my absolute and inviolable rights. There is monsieur, as you cannot fail to have observed, an evil spirit of insubordination in the air, and there is one only way in which to meet it. To tolerate it, in however slight a degree, to show leniency, however leniently disposed, would entail having recourse to still harsher measures tomorrow. If anything in what I have said is still obscure to you, I refer you to the game laws, which your lawyer friend there will expound for you at need."

"Are there in the world no laws but game laws?" he demanded, angrily. "Have you never by any chance heard of the laws of humanity?"

The Marquis sighed wearily. "What have I to do with the laws of humanity?" he wondered.

M. de Vilmorin looked at him a moment in speechless amazement.

"Nothing, M. le Marquis. That is—alas!—too obvious, I hope you will remember it in the hour when you may wish to appeal, to those laws which you now deride."

"Of your charity, spare me a sermon, M. l'abbe!"

"You mock, monsieur. You laugh. Will you laugh, I wonder, when God presents His reckoning to you for the blood and plunder with which your hands are full?"

"Revolutionist!" said M. le Marquis, contemptuously. "You have the effrontery to stand before my face and offer me this stinking cant of your modern so-called intellectuals."

"Is it cant, monsieur? Is it cant that the feudal grip is on all things that live, crushing them like grapes in the press, to its own profit. And do you think in your pride that France, this Job among the nations,

"Do you see nothing of the gathering clouds that herald the coming of the storm? The Third Estate, which you despise, will make an end of this canker of privilege that is devouring the vitals of this unfortunate country."

"M. l'abbe," said the Marquis, "you have a very dangerous gift of eloquence. I can conceive of men being swayed by it. Had you been born a gentleman, you would not so easily have acquired these false views that you express."

M. de Vilmorin stared blankly, uncomprehending.

"Had I been born a gentleman, do you say?" quoth he, in a slow, bewildered voice. "But I was born a gentleman. My race is as old, my blood as good as yours, monsieur."

"You have been deceived in that, I year."

"Deceived?"

"Your sentiments betray the indiscretion of which madame your mother must have been guilty."

The brutally affronting words were sped beyond recall.

A dead silence followed. Andre-Louis's wits were numbed. He stood aghast, all thought suspended in him, what time M. de Vilmorin's eyes continued fixed upon M. de la Tour d'Azyr's, as if searching there for a meaning that eluded him. Quite suddenly he understood the vile affront. The bloow leaped to his face, fire blazed in his gentle eyes. A convulsive quiver shook him. Then, with an inarticulate cry, he leaned forward, and with his open hand struck M. le Marquis full and hard upon his sneering face.

In a flash M. de Chabrillane was on his feet between the two men.

Too late Andre-Louis had seen the trap. La Hour d'Azyr's words were but as a move in a game of chess, calculated to exasperate his opponent into some such counter-move as this—a countermove that left him entirely at the other's mercy.

M. le Marquis looked on, very white save where M. de Vilmorin's fingerprints began slowly to color his face; but he said nothing more. Instead, it was M. de Chabrillane who now did the talking, taking up his preconcerted part in this vile game.

"You realize, monsieur, what you have done," said he coldly to Philippe. "And you realize, of course, what must inevitably follow."

M. de Vilmorin had realized nothing. The poor young man had acted upon impulse, never counting the consequence. But he realized them now at the sinister invitation of M. de Chabrillane, and if he desired to avoid these consequences it was out of respect for his priestly vocation, which strictly forbade such adjustments of disputes as M. de Chabrillane was clearly thrusting upon him.

He drew back. "Let one affront wipe out the other," said he in a dull voice. "The balance is still in M. le Marquis's favor. Let that content him."

"Impossible." The Chevalier's lips came together tightly. Thereafter he was suavity itself, but very firm. "A blow has been struck, monsieur. Your action would seem to confirm the assumption that you found so offensive. But it does not on that account render you immune from the consequences."

"I desire no immunity," flashed back the young seminarist, strung by this fresh goad.

"But he does not wear a sword, messieurs!" cried Andre-Louis, aghast.

"That is easily amended. He may have the loan of mine."

"I mean, messieurs," Andre-Louis insisted, between fear for his friend and indignation, "that it is not his habit to wear a sword, that he has never worn one, that he is untutored in its uses."

"All that he should have remembered before he struck a blow," said M. de Chabrillane politely.

"The blow was deliberately provoked," raged Andre-Louis. Then he recovered himself, though the other's haughty stare had no part in that recovery. "Oh, I talk in vain! How is one to argue against a purpose formed? Come away, Philippe. Don't you see the trap——"

M. de Vilmorin cut him short, and flung him off. "Be quiet, Andre, M. le Marquis is entirely in the right."

"M. le Marquis is in the right?" Andre-Louis let his arms fall helplessly. This man he loved above all other living men was caught in the snare of the world's insanity. He was baring his breast to the knife for the sake of a vague, distorted sense of honor due to himself.

CHAPTER IV.

WITHIN a few minutes all arrangements were concluded, and that sinisterly intentioned little group of four assembled in the afternoon sunshine on the bowling green behind the inn.

There were no formalities over measurements of blades or selection of ground. M. le Marquis removed his sword belt and scabbard, but declined—not considering it worth while for the sake of so negligible an opponent—to divest himself either of his shoes or his coat. Tall, lithe and athletic, he stood to face the no less tall, but very delicate and frail, M. de Vilmorin. The latter also declined to make any of the usual preparations.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Comet-Legs Achieves His Evil Aim And Now the Moon Is Square!

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Say, is that what's wrong?" asked Wally.

"HOW do you do?" said Nancy and Nick, when Wally Woodchuck opened his front door in answer to their knock.

"Well, well, well!" cried Wally. "If you're not a sight for sore eyes! Where have you been and what have you been doing since you were here last spring with Mr. Tingaling the fairy landlord to collect my rent?"

"We've been on the moon," replied Nick. "But the Moon-Man, old Mr. Peerabout, is lost, and we're hunting for him."

"Say, is that what's wrong?" asked Wally. "I wondered! Who's running it now?"

"Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the Weather-Man, until we find Mr. Peerabout," explained Nick. "But old Comet-Legs, a wicked fairy, would like to be Moon-Man, and he's doing all he can to spoil things. Why?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said Wally. "Last night my wife was putting the babies to sleep, and she sang a song like this:

"'Oh, hush-a-bye, my little ground-diggers,
With wooliken fur and nice fat little figgers,
All cuddly and warm, and as round as the Moon,
As it sails through the sky from July unto June.'

"Suddenly our youngest, Woozikins, said: 'Mamma, why do you sing to us all the time about the Moon being round? It was square last night.'

"We thought he's been dreaming, but he said he wasn't. He said he'd wakened in the night, and the Moon was as square as a soap-box."

Nancy looked at Nick and Nick looked at Nancy, their eyes as round as saucers.

"Oh, thank you for telling us," said Nancy. "Old Comet-Legs must have put the Weather-Man out, too! He said he'd turn the Moon square the minute he got a chance. Good-by, Mr. Woodchuck."

Off to the Moon sailed Nancy and Nick, and on the way they met Mr. Sprinkle-Blow riding on his umbrella. "I was just going to look for you," he said.

Bobbed Hair Going; High Coiffures Come Back

TYPES OF HIGH COMBS NOW PREDOMINATING. THEY'RE RESPONSIBLE FOR CHECKING THE BOBBED HAIR CRAZE AND BRINGING BACK HIGH COIFFU RES.

BOBBED hair has had its day—so the fashion authorities say. Hairdressing is again becoming elaborate. Transformations and false braids conceal the locks passing through their growing-out stage.

Despite its comfort, its convenience and the dispatch with which it can be dressed, bobbed hair is declared a failure—because it reduces all women to one type!

When a girl cuts her hair she robs herself of the one means she has for changing her appearance to meet her moods.

A change of coiffure transforms the ingenue into a vamp, the slavey into the leading lady.

And often a woman plays all these roles in rapid succession.

With bobbed hair one is bound to wear one type of hat, and to standardize her clothes to a certain extent. The flapper uniform is almost forced upon her.

High hairdressing is again in high favor. For daytime, of course, almost every woman does her hair close to her head that she may accommodate it to the hats now in vogue.

But after six the knot naturally leaves the nape of the neck in favor of the crown.

One reason, of course, for the popularity of the high hairdress is the prevalence of the high Spanish comb. Some of the combs are more than six inches high and stand out from the head like a spread fan.

The typical Spanish comb is of carved tortoise shell. These serve as the models for those of composition materials that look like tortoise shell, jet, amber or jade. Often they are jeweled instead of carved. Jeweled hair pins also are worn.

To wear the hair high in Spanish fashion you must have well-kept hair. It must be brushed until it shines. It may be marcelled or worn plain.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

TWO NEWEST SAUSAGE DISHES

SAUSAGE and apple rings combined make an appetizing and nourishing dish for the principal meal of the day.

To make this dish:

Pare and core four apples. Cut in rings one-half inch thick.

Parboil one pound of sausage. Cut in slices about three-fourths of an inch thick.

Put a layer of sausage in a lightly buttered baking dish. Cover with a layer of apple rings. Sprinkle with sugar and a dash of cinnamon.

Continue layer for layer until all is used. The last layer should be of apples. Bake about an hour in a moderate oven.

Always serve a tart, simple salad with pork, and let the dessert be of fruit.

Another novel sausage dish is sausage surprise.

Sausage Surprise.

Two cups mashed potatoes, 2 eggs (yolks), 1 pound sausage.

Parboil sausage. Drain and remove skin. Cut in lengths of two or three inches.

Mix mashed potato and egg yolks till smooth. Roll each piece of sausage in potato.

Roll in fine dry cracked crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten, roll again in crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 40 seconds.

Radio Radiations

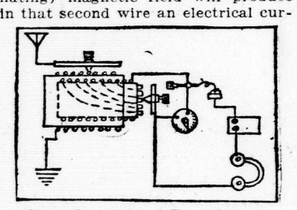

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

AT FIRST glance the action which takes place in the radio receiving transformer seems mysterious.

Yet it is very simple. It easily can be explained and understood.

It should be remembered that whenever a current flows within a wire there is set up around it an invisible magnetic field. This field increases, decreases or dies out in strict accordance with any increase, decrease or dying out of currents flowing within the wire.

If, in the neighborhood of the current-carrying wire there is a second wire, the rising and falling (alternating) magnetic field will produce in that second wire an electrical current whose variations correspond exactly to the variations of the magnetic field.

Close Coupling of Transformer.

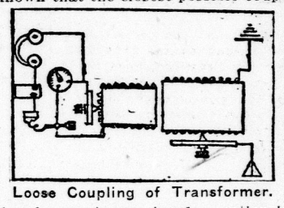

The current flowing in this wire is an exact replica of that which flows in the first. But it is always a somewhat feebler current, and its direction is always opposite to that of the flow in the first wire. The current in the second wire is said to be "induced."

Receiving Coils.

The receiving transformer consists of two coils of wire, one of which slides within the other. There is no actual electrical connection between the two.

There is an inclination among operators who understand the inductive effect to so arrange the "primary" and "secondary" of the receiving transformer that the relationship of the two is the closest possible at all times. Under these circumstances the coupling is at a maximum and the purpose of the device is defeated.

It does not seem to be generally known that the closest possible coupling for maximum signal reception is not only unnecessary but undesirable. The inductive "coupler" or transformer was designed so that a maximum of signal current might be transferred to the secondary of the transformer, while at the same time an increase in the selectivity of the receiver might be obtained.

Loose Coupling of Transformer.

Resonance.

In order that the intensity of signal currents may be retained when the coupling is reduced, both Primary and secondary circuits are "tuned" to a given period of vibration. This is accomplished by a variation of inductance or capacity in the circut, and results in a condition of "resonance."

Far better all around results with inductively coupled receivers, be they crystal detector or vacuum tube types, are had when decidedly "loose" coupling is adhered to. This requires more exact tuning of both primary and secondary circuits. The signal strength, however, remains the same, and the receiver is rendered comparatively free from interference.

ENTRIES FOR M. A. A. A. TRACK MEET SATURDAY PASS 100 MARK

HAMILTON C. I. TEAM TO SET PACE IN OPEN EVENTS

Jimmie Dellow Will Be Entrant in Modified Marathon Along With Classy Field.

Over 100 entries are announced for the big Manufacturers' A. A. A. track meet Saturday afternoon at Queen's Park, and everything points to the biggest meet ever held in connection with industrial athletics.

While the motorcycle races are absent this year and the tug-of-war event is also cancelled, the program makes up for this shortage by the class of entries disclosed. Hamilton Collegiate, which has made an international reputation in track events the last two years, will be represented in some of the open events, and Hamilton "Y" is represented by two entrants in the modified marathon which starts the program off at 1 o'clock, though the actual events will commence later at the park.

There may be a tug-of-war exhibition between the two Grand Trunk teams, but as Grand Trunks were the only ones to enter team, the event, was officially cancelled.

Norman General's entry for the marathon is not yet in, but as entries for this event are accepted until the start of the race, it is probable that the Iroquois runner, who represented Canada at the Olympic games, and who has twice won the abbreviated grind, will be a competitor. A win this time would give him possession of the cup. Jimmie Dellow, who won the first trophy outright, and was also an Olympic runner, will be here with five other Gladstone A. C. runners.

Berry Only Lasts Frame and Glynn Is Hit Hard.

BAY CITY, June 22.—Bay City sent Kitchener further into the cellar Thursday and gained a game on Saginaw at the same time by downing the Beavers 7 to 3, while Saginaw lost to Hamilton. Berry started for Kitchener, but was wild, and was derricked in the second after he had hit two batters. Glynn, who succeeded him, was hit hard, but kept his blows fairly well scattered after the third inning. Heitman, for Bay City, pitched a nice game, allowing but six hits, four being bunched in the third, when the visitors scored all three of their runs.

Boelzle, Bay City catcher, was knocked unconscious in the second inning, when Berry beaned him in the head, and Guest finished the game behind the plate.

SAGINAW, June 22. — Hamilton took the first game of the series from Saginaw and increased her lead to three games today. The score was 11 to 5. Gillenwater was hit hard in three innings, in two of which Saginaw's errors figured in the scoring.

"Lefty" Sullivan, secured from the Athletics, was wild and not hard to hit at the outset, but Saginaw could do little with men on bases. Toward the later innings he improved and had the Aces well tamed. The score:

BRANTS WEIRD.

PORT HURON, June 22.—In one of the worst comedies ever put on by a baseball club, the Brantford Red Sox handed the Saints their first game of the series, 12 to 7. Sturm, the collegian sent here by the Tigers, was hammered for seven runs in the first three innings, but after that was invincible, allowing only two hits in the next six innings.

The wildness of Lalonge's hurlers led to their undoing, and the Saints showed some smart baseball, running out seveeral hits that looked like easy put-outs. The Brantford infield and outfield looked like a sieve in the late innings, and the whole team played like amateurs.

Local Lacrosse Team Meets St. Marys Champs Here Tuesday

A home-and-home series has been arranged by the London club with the St. Marys Alerts, and the first one is billed for Tecumseh Park on Tuesday night as a twilight fixture.

In preparation, the London squad, somewhat chastened after their defeat by St. Thomas, will be called out tonight for a hard workout. Lack of practice was the worst fault displayed by the Londoners on Saturday, and while this will not be entirely corrected by Tuesday night, those who like good fast lacrosse regardless of the result are sure to see some action Tuesday night.

The Alerts, last year's intermediate champs, have been left to themselves this year, first leaving the seniors and then finding no place in the intermediate ranks. St. Thomas, playing the way they are this year, would probably emerge on even terms from an encounter with the Stone Town ten, so that on Saturday's form the locals, with a few improvements, should give the visitors a good game.

GRAND TRUNK WIN 21--3

Beat Scott-McHale Nine Badly in Mfrs. Benefit Play-Off.

Grand Trunks gained a decisive victory over Scott-McHale in the Manufacturers League last night, when they won by a score of 21 to 3. The shopmen garnered 20 hits, which, coupled with six errors by Scott-McHale, made the victory an easy one. On June 13 these teams played to a tie, but the piching of Pring in this game made the going too hard for the shoemen.

W.O.R.'S DEFEAT R.C.R.'S

Losers Held Well Until Second Period Then Weakened.

The W. O. R.'s defeated the R. C. R.'s in a city soccer tilt last night at Carling Heights by a score of 5—1.

The W. O. R.'s went on the field minus four of their regulars, Dennis, Whitworth, Ridley and Short, but were nevertheless able to have the best of the argument throughout. The first period ended with the score 1—1. Moore scored for the western team and the Regulars obtained their only goal on a penalty.

In the second frame, the W. O. R.'s pressed the Royal Canadian defense hard, with the result that four more were chalked up against the soldiers, Turner scoring three and Perkins the other one. Bromhead was injured, but gamely continued during the best of the game. The W. O. R.'s used Woods, a junior, who, with the coaching of Moore, should develop into a splendid outside left player.

W. O. R.'s will meet St. Johns Rovers on June 24. Since both teams are well matched, this game will be one of the season's best.

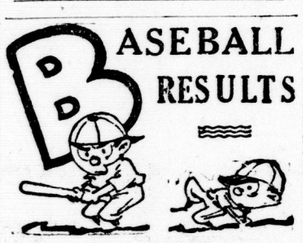

'Tiser Nine Hurl Defi At Free Press.

AS the time is ripe for another smashing victory over the Free Press editorial staff, the members of The Advertiser editorial baseball club feel it incumbent upon them to once again administer the dose.

The latter are ready to meet Charlie Carrouthers and his collection of oddities at any moment from now on at the Tecumseh ball grounds to decide once and for all the newspaper supremacy of Western Ontario.

It is expected that once all arrangements are completed for the combat, "Mayor" McGinley will throw the first ball and then quit.

ROUGH ON THE UMPS.

ST. CATHARINES, June 22.—In a Niagara district baseball game at Thorold last night between the home team and Merritton, Fred. Gayder of this city, base umpire, was assaulted by a player from behind, after he had called a Thorold player out. A free-for-all fight followed, in which fully a score took part and in which the umpire was badly handled. He was finally escorted to a car by a policeman, and the game was unfinished. No arrests have yet been made.

W. COOGINS HOLDS VEHICS HELPLESS

Allowed But Two Hits Until 9th—Flint Errors Help.

FLINT, June 22.—London took the opening game of the series from the Vehics here today 6 to 2 through the stellar hurling of Coogins, coupled with the wildness of Ted Jackson, newly-acquired southpaw. Flint could do nothing with the slants of the Cockney pitcher, obtaining but two safe swats until the ninth, when three more safeties accounted for the only runs scored by the home outfit.

Jackson, on the other hand, while allowing but seven biffs, passed ten batters and made two wild pitches, which, plus three misplays by his mates, enabled the visitors to get away to a running start, all the London scores coming in the first three frames.

With Watson out on strikes in the opening inning, Stimpson drew a pass, and went all the way home when Mostade heaved Blake's infield hit over Wotell's head, the batter reaching third, from whence he counted when Mohart booted Mackey's grounder. Another accrued in the second on Orr's double and Watson's biff to center for a base, and three more counted in the next frame on two walks, two hits and an error.

The Vehics never saw the plate until the final inning, when hits by Stricker, Wotell and Mostade, the latter a triple, sent two markers across the plate.

PLAY POSTPONED GAME.

Alerts and Hermits will play a postponed game Saturday afternoon at Queen's Park because of the fact that a win for either team has a big bearing on the standing for the first series.

If Alerts win, the postponed game between Orients and Forest City will not count, but if Hermits should win Saturday, this game would be played, and anything might happen to the first series honors.

The teams did not wish to interfere with the M. A. A. A. track meet, but owing to the importance of the game and to the fact that no time could be wasted it was decided to stage it.

THINKS N. Y. BODY OVERSTEPS POWER

LANSING, Mich., June 22.—The New York Boxing Commission is overstepping its powers in refusing to recognize as champions, titleholders who have failed to accept challenges within a reasonable length of time, in the opinion of E. A. MacCauley, chairman of the rules committee of the National Boxing Association. The National Association, MacCauley declared, is the only organization empowered to oust champions for refusing matches. MacCauley is secretary of the Michigan Boxing Commission.

SARNIA CITIZEN GETS PROMOTION

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, June 22.—Roland H. Cardy, president of the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, was the guest tonight at a banquet in his honor prior to his departure for Montreal, following his promotion from the local managership of the Bank of Toronto to that of assistant manager at the Montreal branch.

There was a lengthy toast list, in which the departing citizen was eulogized, and then the presentation of a handsome reading lamp. Mr. Cardy has been closely identified with the public movements in the city for the past few years, and his departure is much regretted.

THREE CANADIANS LEFT IN GOLF PLAY

Bredin of Detroit May Give Finals International Flaire.

ANCASTER, Ont., June 22.—By the games in the third round today of the Canadian Amateur Gold Association's tournament on the links of the Hamilton Golf Club, a Canadian is sure to be in the final on Saturday. The victors today were: C. C. Fraser, Montreal; L. L. Bredin, Detroit; N. M. Scott, Montreal, and W. J. Thompson, Toronto. If Mr. Bredin wins tomorrow from Mr. Fraser, with whom he is matched, then the game for the championship will be an international one.

The scores today were:

C. C. Fraser defeated Wm. McLuckie, Montreal, by 8 and 7. The game was all square after the morning 18 holes.

L. L. Bredin defeated C. M. Jones, Toronto, by 1 up. Mr. Bredin was 1 up in the morning.

C. N. Scott defeated R. McAuliffe, Buffalo, by 2 up. Mr. McAuliffe was 3 up in the morning.

W. J. Thompson defeated T. J. Cuthbert, Winnipeg, by 7 and 5. Mr. Thompson was 3 up in the forenoon play.

The matches today were played under an almost cloudless sky, with a hot sun, but with a half gale blowing across the course. The wind did some rather weird things with some of the drives, and a number of lost balls resulted.

FRANCE VOTES GEORGES-JACK RETURN GO DESIRABLE

Siki, Sengalese Boxer, Bobs Up in Carp's Camp as Real Contender.

PARIS, June 22.—Public sentiment in France is overwhelmingly in favor of a return match between Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey, according to a popular vote taken by the leading sports newspaper, L'Auto. In this poll 15,743 voted yes, and 5,227 no, to the query, "Is a Carpentier-Dempsey return match desirable?"

Carpentier's plans for future bouts do not take Harry Greb, the American light-heavyweight, into consideration; in fact, the European champion displays annoyance when the Pittsburg fighter's name is mentioned.

Meanwhile Georges is busy training for his work in a motion picture, in which he will be featured in horseback riding scenes and fistic encounters with the "villain." His manager, Descamps, is arranging matches with the prehistoric second-rater, Dick Smith of England, with Joe Beckett and with the winner of the Battling Siki-Marcel Nilles contest scheduled for tomorrow. Battling Siki is a Senegalese, who was "discovered" by Al Lippe and Jeff Smith while the farmer's boxing stable was here two years ago. Lippe hired Siki as a rubber and trial horse for his boxers, but the Senegalese soon commenced bowling over Lippe's men with the exception of Jeff Smith. Since then he has defeated Breitenstater of Germany, Ermino Spalla of Italy and the heavyweight champions of Belgium and Holland, and has not met with defeat.

WILL APPEAL FOR NEW TRIAL IN FALL

Ithmar Lloyd and Mahlon Pearson To Make Application.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, June 22.—An application for a new trial will be made at the next sittings of the Appellate court on behalf of Ithmar Lloyd and Mahlon Pearson, the Corinth young men charged with theft of automobile accessories.

A verdict of guilty was brought in by the jury during the general sessions held here recently, but owing to an irregularity in the proceedings, sentence was postponed, and the young men are out on bail until the September sessions.

The holding of court in September is an innovation in the county. Judge Ross advocated a sitting in the fall. He thought that there should be some means of taking care of cases which came up between June and December.

Twenty-two men, many of whom have died and others who were discharged for being unsatisfactory, were struck off the list of county constables.

On the train

"Say, Jim—this New Improved Gillette—is it really any better than the old type? I don't see how it can be, but everybody's using it."

Hannan asked me the question in a Pullman smoker.

"You bet your life it is?" was, I believe, what I answered—"smoother shave; better shave; more shaves from your blades!"

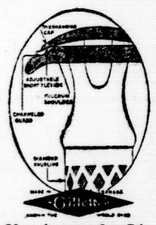

Three months later

I don't suppose Hannan and I talked razors for another three months. When we did it was for me to learn that he had bought a New Improved Gillette. He opened up with a running fire of thanks that, for a moment, I did not quite understand—"best in the world . . dandy . . corker . . didn't catch on at first . . got the hang . . . marvellous shave . . , more shaves . . . less blades . . . don't believe even you know what a perfect shave is."

In the fashion of the conversation reprinted here, the news of the New Improved Gillette has travelled around the world.

With the first downward sweep comes astonishment—the feeling is one new to shaving. Surprise gives place to pleasure—a pleasure so full and satisfactory, so wholly unexpected, that it causes men to enthuse one with another.

And so the story goes on.

Uses the same fine Gillette blades as you have known for years—but now your blades can give you all the luxury of the finest shaving edge in the world.

3,500 FROLIC AT FARMERS' PICNIC

Hodgins, Freeborn, Stevenson and Brown "Buttonholed" On Big Day.

Once again ideal picnic weather favored the United Farmers of the constituency of East Middlesex, when, to the number of 3,500, they gathered down the river at Springbank Park on Thursday for their annual outing.

When, as early as 9 a.m. the visitors commenced arriving at the park from far-flung sections of the riding, it was quite clear to President George Bogue and the members of the various committees responsible for the unqualified success of the day's events, that all previous records for attendance would be smashed with comparative ease.

A fine program of sports of every description was provided throughout the day, including four snappy baseball exhibitions, at which old-time rivals tried conclusions once again on the diamond.

Miss MacPhail Absent.

There was but one disappointment to mar the day, the inability of Miss Agnes MacPhail, U. F. O. member of Parliament for Southeast Grey, and the only representative of the fair sex in the federal house, to be present.

While it was officially announced earlier in the morning that she would arrive from Ottawa in time to deliver an address, a subsequent message was received, explaining that it would be utterly impossible for her to leave the capital.

As the day lengthened out the program of interesting events proved much longer than at first anticipated, and as it was considered of the utmost importance that all the scheduled ball games be staged, the president and his untiring committeemen conferred together, and decided that it would be expedient to eliminate the "speeches."

"That suits me exactly," commented J. W. Freeborn, M.L.A., for East Middlesex, while a casual observer might have concluded that "Archie" Hodgins, federal member for East Middlesex, was not entirely displeased with the pronouncement.

Discuss Tariff Issue.

Still the sturdy electors were not totally prevented from discussing the tariff issue and other matters of grave import, as there were many who chose to linger in groups about the pavilion and under the trees, where "button-holing" Dr. "Hughie" Stevenson, M.L.A., for London; James Brown, M.L.A., for North Middlesex, "Archie" Hodgins, or J. W. Freeborn, they argued pro and con upon the merits of the Biggs' road-building program, or the latest Raney liquor amendment.

All four parliamentarians appeared in fine fettle, however, and without doubt showed to good advantage. The weather was just right, not too warm, and none of the electors became so excited in their discussions as to get over-heated.

It was just a question as to whether the big attraction of the day was the tug-of-war, when Bryanston again demonstrated its supremacy, or the baseball tournament, when Pond Mills emerged the victor, winning the handsome silver cup, the John A. Nash trophy.

Captured in 1921, the cup now goes for the next twelve months to the Village of Pond Mills when it will again be contested for, as one team must win it three times before it can be retained for all time to come.

Thorndale Triumphs.

The Thorndale sluggers started events in progress at the first morning game, matching their skill against the Bryanston nine. As the score would indicate, the members of the latter squad did not show to just as good advantage as did their heavyweight companions on the tug-of-war team. When John F. Harris, the able Springfield umpire, called the last "out," the scoreboard read: Thorndale, 45; Bryanston, 15.

In the second lap of the tournament Pond Mills, the victors of the day, nosed out the Zion Maple Leafs in a gruelling hit-and-run game, 14—13, with W. G. Brown as the steady umpire.

The line-ups:

Pond Mills—James Forbes, c.; Gordon Forbes and Harold Murray, p.; Spettigue, 1b.; Murray and G. Forbes, 2b.; G. Snell and Bradish, 3b.; F. Snell, s.s.; A. Flowers, r.f.; C. Murray, l.f.; F. Murray, m.

Thorndale Line-up.

Thorndale—Clarence McRoberts, c.; Roy McRoberts, p.; W. Harding, 1b.; Gordon McMartin, 2b.; Wallace Pitt, 3b.; Carleton McGuffin, s.s.; T. Hogg, l.f.; O. Hogg, m.; R. Mills, r.f.

Zion Maple Leafs—Leo Gardner, c.; J. Parkinson, p.; Charlie Powell, 1b.; Neil Parkinson, 2b.; Russell Sage, 3b.; Walt. Day, s.s.; W. Day, l.f.; Guest, m.; John Shoebottom, r.f.

Bryanston—Dan Wood, c.; O. Hudson, p.; L. Beattie, 1b.; A. H. Johnson, 2b.; Walter James, 3b.; G. McPherson, s.s.; Rex Needham, l.f.; Delmo Hudson, m.; J. Burch, r.f.

Perhaps the most attractive of the earlier events of the day was the baby show. There were eight single entries, one double, five boys, three girls and a pair of twins.

A special prize was listed for the best pair of twins on the ground. For this later prize, however, only one pair were exhibited, but they were considered worthy of the first prize, and received it. They were the children of Mrs. McKinley.

Glanworth Babe Wins.

The prize-winning baby boy was the son of Mrs. Fawcett of Glanworth. The judges' choice of the three baby girls was the daughter of Mrs. Davis.

H. A. Urquhart and William Ellis were the judges.

Even the baseball crowd grew slack during the foregoing event, equal numbers of farmers and their wives showing an avid interest in the judging of the infants.

Sectional rivalry in East Middlesex centers around which portion had the best tug-of-war team, and the 1922 contest proved one of the features of the day.

Three teams were entered, Bryanston, Crumlin and Lambeth. The Bryanston team, winners of the event in 1921, repeated their performance again this year.

Prior to the pulls each team were weighed in. The five members of the Crumlin team weighed 881 pounds; the five members of the Bryanston team 954, and the five of the Lambeth team 980.

Three Teams Enter.

Because three teams were entered special arrangement had to be made to see which team would pull twice. On drawing lots it fell to the destiny of Crumlin and Lambeth to pull first, and the winners to pull the Byranston team.

Two successes in three pulls constituted a win. Interest ran high while the event took place, particularly during the first two pulls. On these the teams appeared more evenly matched, and a keen struggle each time took place.

The efforts of the Crumlin team, however, surpassed those of the Lambeth one in the first two pulls, and Crumlin was left to pull with the champions, who maintained their championship with ease, the Crumlin team meeting a Waterloo.

The members of the teams were: Bryanston—Arthur Elliott, J. B. Riley, Dan Wood, Clifford Elliot and Ernest Salmon; Crumlin—E. Brown, T. Marshall, J. Campbell, A. Budding and E. Parker; Lambeth—William Doan, John May, W. Topping, O. Norton and F. Wright.

Credit For Success.

The credit of the success with which the day's events were carried off goes to the arrangement committee of the East Middlesex Farmers' Association. The committee was composed of George Bogue, Byron, president of the association; George Laidlaw, Wilton Grove, secretary of the association, and Richard Fitzgerald, Thorndale; Albert Hughes, Ilderton; J. F. Rath, Harrietsville; William Baillie, Thorndale; William Ellis, London Junction; Marsh Dickie, Hyde Park; H. A. Urquhart, Thorndale; S. J. Thompson, Ilderton; Ernest Morrow, Ilderton; John Stanley, Granton, and Richard Dickens, Lucan.

These officials arranged the program, and saw to it that it was carried out without a hitch. The only regret of the committee was that the day was so crowded with other drawing features that no time was allowed for speeches as in previous years.

Find Two Incomes Exceed Million Mark in Year.

OTTAWA, June 22. — (By Canadian Press.)—Only two persons in Canada had incomes of more than one million dollars during the fiscal year of 1920-21.

This information was given to H. E. Spencer (Progressive, Battle River) in the House of Commons this afternoon.

For the same year, nineteen corporations paid taxes on incomes of more than $1,000,000. The aggregate of incomes represented by the amount collected under the income tax act was $912,410,428. There are 194,257 persons paying income tax in the Dominion.

ORMSTOWN YOUTH SLAIN BY BANDITS

MONTREAL, June 22. — Stuart Silver, aged 17 years, who was shot in the abdomen by one of three bandits who attacked him in the rear of a store in Ormstown, Que., last night, died in the General Hospital at Malone, N.Y., this afternoon.

The victim was employed by a farmer who resided in the vicinity of Ormstown. His parents live in Montreal.

The fatal shooting occurred when the bandits were accidentally interrupted by Silver while they were in the act of robbing a store.

3 STORES GUTTED IN SUDBURY FIRE

SUDBURY, June 22.—One of the most spectacular fires in the history of Sudbury raged today. Smith's furnishing store, Hagar's confectionery and Fulton's shoe store were in flames, with the firemen working to save the federal building and the Young block, on either side. The blaze was in the very centre of the business section. Mrs. Hagar and daughter were trapped in their apartment over the confectionery store, and were rescued by firemen.

The blaze was under control at noon, and the federal building was out of danger. The loss will run into the thousands, as nothing was saved from either of the three stores gutted.

NEW PRINCE EDWARD HOTEL, OF WINDSOR, BUYS TWO GERHARD HEINTZMAN PIANOS.

Follows Policy of Obtaining Finest Equipment.

The new Prince Edward Hotel, of Windsor, Ontario, without question the most moderately-equipped and one of the finest hotels on the Canadian border, has chosen two Gerhard Heintzman pianos for the new building.

Following out a policy of wise selection and good judgment, characteristic of the United Hotels, Limited, the management of the new hotel, after careful deliberation, decided in favor of the Gerhard Heintzman. Not alone for its prestige, built up in generations, but, too, for its high perfection and tonal qualities.

From top to bottom the new Prince Edward is luxuriously appointed, and it is, indeed, fitting that a hotel built and equipped on such modern, up-to-date lines should choose "Canada's Greatest Piano," as a complement to its furnishings.

RURAL PHONE COMPANIES HOLD ANNUAL SESSION

Mayor Wilson Welcomes Visitors and Urges City Sightseeing Tour.

ASKS REMOVAL OF POLES

Tribute Paid to Bell Company For Spirit of Co-operation.

Members of the Western Counties Telephone Association, comprising representatives from every rural telephone company in the district, met in their twelfth annual session at the city hall Friday morning. The meeting will be concluded Friday afternoon by election of officers for the ensuing year, and the program is being featured by interesting telephone discussion.

In welcoming the delegates to London Friday morning, Mayor Cameron Wilson emphasized the beauties of the Forest City, and urged the visitors to indulge in a sight-seeing trip during their brief stay here.

"We are glad to have you here," he said in part. "At this season the gardens and parks are at the height of their beauty and well worth your time to see them. The only thing that detracts from the beauty of London are the telephone poles, and if this convention can suggest a method of removing them we will be well repaid by your visit."

In a tribute to the Bell Telephone Company, Mayor Wilson declared that this corporation had always worked with the city for progress, and stated that much of this co-operation was due to the efficiency of Manager C. H. Beard.

"If your companies are held in the same respect in youor communities respectively as the Bell TTelephone Company, you will have no trouble with your subscribers," concluded Mayor Wilson.

In reply to the remarks of the mayor relative to the telephone poles on London streets, Manager C. H. Beard pointed out that the Bell Telephone Company is not guilty of detracting from the city's beauty in this respect, declaring that 85 per cent of the company's wires in London are under ground.

"We have 29,000 miles of wire in London," he asserted, "of which 85 per cent is underground. Our appropriation for London this year is $14,153, of which 12,768 is to be expended on underground work alone. We are doing all in our power to maintain an underground system."

In Splendid Condition.

In his opening address, A. Turrill, of Aylmer, president of the Western Counties Telephone Association, declared that the above body is in a splendid condition and urged the members to continue the co-operation and support of the past.

The report of Dr. W. Doan of Harrietsville, secretary-treasurer of the association, which was read Friday morning, confirmed the president's statement that the financial status of the association is very satisfactory.

"Present Telephone Rates as Viewed From the Recent Sleet Storm" was the subject of an interesting paper read by John Perry of the St. Marys, Medina and Kirkton Telephone Association Friday morning.

Mr. Perry used the experiences of his company during the sleet storm as an illustration of the state of affairs that exist in many parts of the western counties.

More Than Rental.

The amount of damage inflicted on the company's lines totalled $20,000 or more than the rental of the phones and almost as much as the gross receipts for one year.

He advocated that stronger construction be resorted to in the future so that the lines may withstand such strains which might occur at any time. He believed the investors and the public should be protected from disrupted service at all costs.

To meet the extra cost of better construction he advocated a temporary increase in rates, although he admitted that the subject was a delicate one, because 'the farmers were not as prosperous as they were.

The delegates, 60 in number, were tendered a luncheon at noon by the representatives of the Canadian Independent Telephone Company and the Stromberg Manufacturing Company.

Demonstrates Radio.

During the afternoon session a demonstration of radio telephoning was given by Charles A. Culver, Ph.D., chief radio engineer of the Canadian Independent Telephone Company, Toronto. Dr. Culver also explained many features of this innovation in telephoning.

F. Dagger, telephone expert of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, is scheduled to speak on "Telephone Financing" on Friday afternoon, while "The Farmer and His Telephone" is a subject to be dealt with by Anson Groh of Preston, Ont., in his address.

DISCUSS HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATION

EDMONTON, June 22.—Adequate equipment, good management, co-operative and sympathetic working and a minimum number of workers were among the requisites suggested as necessary in hospital administration, in papers delivered this morning at the Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses convention. Fresh air and sunlight were declared to be the best sterilizers in a paper on "The Operating Room," read by Miss Gunn, in the absence of Miss Ferguson of Toronto, who prepared the paper.

Papers were also submitted by Miss Caton of Ottawa, and Miss Hersey of Montreal.

Progressives Wage Last-Ditch Fight on Crow's Nest Pass Report

OTTAWA, June 22.—The Progressive party is planning a filibuster upon the report of the special committee on transportation costs, and a blockade somewhat similar to that staged on the naval bill in 1913 promises to develop.

This afternoon the committee met again to complete its report, which, however, is not likely to be submitted to the house until tomorrow. The report simply advocates the suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement for another year, leaving the government power thereafter to provide if necessary for a further year's suspension by order-in-council. There are also certain pious hopes expressed that the railway commission will order an early general reduction in rates. But there is nothing else.

Last night Hon. T. A. Crerar and Hon. A. B. Hudson served notice that they would fight the report to the last ditch. There will be no minority report, but the majority of the committee will be informed of the attitude which the minority intends to take.

Opposition to the report will not be confined to the Progressive ranks, for there are many Liberals who are of the same way of thinking and who object to the abrogation of the treaty without alternative.

The fight promises to prolong the session.

H. GEER DEPARTS ON JOURNEY TO U.S.

Authorities Deport Mentally Unbalanced Prisoner From Local Jail.

Speeding east with Johnstown, Pennsylvania, as his ultimate destination is Harry Geer, said to be a native of that community, and until 5:30 a.m. Friday a prisoner at the Middlesex County jail.

Armed with the necessary documents for his transfer to the United States, a deportation officer from Ottawa is escorting Geer to the border, where he will be in charge of police authorities from his home town.

Geer, declared by the local jail physician, to be mentally unbalanced, is the man who arrived in St. Thomas several weeks ago from parts unknown and bothered the police of that city with weird tales of his alleged experiences in American county jails and state reformatories, that in desperation they ordered him to eliminate himself from the Railway City.

Coming then to London Geer adopted similar tactics, gaining certain publicity, which resulted in his arrest, while the American police were notified, who claimed that while Geer was serving an 8-year term of imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary in Pittsburg, he was confined for a considerable portion of the time in the insane ward.

Inspector Reynolds of Ottawa, who viewed Geer here before ordering his deportation, severely censured the St. Thomas authorities because they had failed to apprehend him.

RUM-RUNNERS EVADE LAW BY SYSTEM OF SIGNALS

Government Officials Solve Mystery of Liquor Traffic on Detroit River.

DETROIT, June 22.—Government officials wondered why more arrests of rum-runners were not being made by the dry navy on the Detroit River.

Only one arrest has been made by the prohibition cruiser since it began operations three weeks ago. Investigation by the intelligence bureau of the treasury department has revealed the cause.

Investigators discovered that rum-runners, bootleggers and others engaged in the illicit liquor traffic had perfected a scientific system of signal lights. Whenever the cruiser appeared near where the runners were operating there were strange flashes of lights to warn the runners, and they would scurry to cover in their boats.

CONFERENCE CALLED TO DISCUSS IRON INDUSTRY

Ontario Government Will Encourage Smelting of Ore in Province.

TORONTO, June 22.—In the hope of evolving plans for the encouragement and development of the iron ore industry in the province, the Ontario Department of Mines has arranged a conference of men prominently interested in the various aspects of the business, to be held on July 7 at the Parliament Buildings.

One of the big questions to be discussed is the possibility of working out plans by which the low-grade ores of the province can be treated on an economical basis.

At the present time most of the ore used even in the Ontario smelters comes from Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

The possibility of using electricity for smelting will be considered.

TO ERECT STEAM MOTOR FACTORY

WINDSOR, June 21.—Announcement was made this morning by A. B. Muir, Detroit, that a subsidiary branch of the Detroit Steam Motors Corporation would be established in Windsor, under the name of Windsor Steam Motors. The company will build the first steam car to be manufactured in this country. It will be of moderate price. The machine is now being built in Detroit, and is known as the Trask Detroit Steamer. Until a manufacturing plant is erected here, the Windsor company will be the Canadian distributors.

AUSTRALIANS ARE FAVORED.

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., June 22.—The Australian tennis experts are favored to win over the Belgians in their Davis Cup tie opening here today. The Australian team comprises Gerald L. Patterson, J. O. Anderson and Pat O'Hara Wood.

There is a strong feeling among all the European competitors that the Australians should not leave Europe until the European ties are played off, and that it is unfair to impose the expense of a trans-Atlantic voyage upon France and the winners of the other sections, probably Spain or England, to play a nation whose team already is in Europe.

HOLD SUCCESSFUL U. F. O. OUTING AT TEESWATER

Mrs. Law, President of the U. F. W. O., and Mr. R. W. E. Burnaby Address Gathering.

Special to London Advertiser.

TEESWATER, June 22.—The U. F. O. picnic passed off successfully this afternoon with a large attendance. Mrs. Law, president of the U. F. W. O., and Mr. R. W. E. Burnaby, president of the Co-operative Co., gave addresses. The speakers both urged the farm men and women to organize for the purpose of improvement in agriculture in all its branches.

Mr. Burnaby gave a few figures in connection with the co-operative company, in which he stated that while they had gone behind last year to the extent of $200,000, due principally to the depreciation in values on stock in their possession, yet for the first six months of this year their books showed a profit of between six and seven thousand dollars. He said the greatest knockers to their organization were the farmers who were members and yet were the biggest kickers and fault finders.

A fine program of sports occupied the afternoon and a dance was held in the Agricultural Palace in the evening.

TO EXHIBIT SHOW AT TORONTO "EX"

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, June 22.—An invitation from the officials of the Canadian National Exhibition to exhibit the "Made-in-Stratford" show, now being held in the local skating rink, at the Toronto Exhibition, has been virtually accepted. Ten thousand feet of floor space is available in one of the newly-erected buildings.

N. V. Hansplant, secretary of the C. N. E., who personally extended the invitation, stated that he believed the Stratford exhibition to be the most complete of its kind he had ever seen.

VETERANS WILL HOLD CARNIVAL

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, June 22.—Permission was given the Great War Veterans to bring their carnival here this summer by the city council at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

The show is known as the Brown & Dyer Carnival, and is very large, a 30-car train being required to carry it. It is expected that it will appear in St. Thomas during the second week in July.

Several bylaws received their final reading during the meeting and were passed.

HONOR RETIRING PUBLIC TUTORS

feelingly to his long service at Talbot street and to the many happy experiences of that time, adding a warm word of thanks, and declaring that in view of so much festivity the remainder of the day must be kept as a holiday.

Grade VIII. pupils and the members of the mothers' club served light refreshments before the breaking up of the happy party.

Presentation to R. M. Welsh.

R. M. Welsh, assistant principal of Chesley avenue school, who has been appointed principal of the Talbot street school, was given a presentation by the pupils of Grade VII at Chesley Thursday afternoon, marking the esteem and affection in which he is held by the pupils of the seventh grade. After an appropriate speech by one of the boys of the grade, Mr. Welsh was given a handsome gold pencil, after which a lovely basket of flowers was presented by one of the girls for Mrs. Welsh.

Principal Gibbs expressed his regret at losing Mr. Welsh, although he was sincerely glad of his deserved promotion. "Mr. Welsh has been a most efficient teacher," he stated. "Our standing in school athletics and competitions is almost entirely due to his efforts. The Chesley cadet corps is one of the best in the city. We won first prize for the excellency of our drill. Chesley boys took second prize in the recent rifle contest, and we were not last by any means in the baseball championship race. All these things were due to Mr. Welsh's consistent good work."

The pupils had a garden party after the presentation on the Chesley avenue school lawns.

WINS LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR'S PRIZE

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, June 22.—R. W. Hill of Ohsweken won the lieutenant-governor's medal in Form 4, Upper Canada College, and was equal in Form 4b in general proficiency leadership.

He also led in French, English and history and geography. In science he was equal for leadership. This is one of the best records ever set up by any student at the school. The youngster of 16 is a member of the Six Nations.

WILLING TO GIVE HIS EYE TO MAKE GT. BRITAIN DRY

"Pussyfoot" Johnson Declares He Is Ready To Meet Opponents.

PREDICTS PROHIBITION

Declares England Will Be Without Liquor by 1935.

NEW YORK, June 22.—"I'd give my other eye to make England dry. It would be well worth it."

Pussyfoot Johnson, rum's arch enemy, made this assertion today as he sailed on the Cunarder Scythia.

When informed London was awaiting his arrival and planned to greet him with stones, over-grown tomatoes and aged eggs, the prohibition battler chortled:

"Say, that's great. Let 'em come. I can fight.

"And tell them England will be dry by 1935, if not sooner. She's bound to go dry. She can't help it. Economic pressure will be brought to bear and the nation will have to jump into position in the dry procession.

"It will be necessary for England to go dry in order to continue world trade. Since this country went dry our foreign business has increased three-fold while England's trade has slumped. That proves that England, if she continues wet, will be unable to compete with dry America. She will have to follow suit or disappear from the foreign trade horizon.

"Many of the British colonies will be dry shortly, and I feel sure the mother country will soon realize the folly of crying, "Wet, let's remain wet."

Johnson is not going to London to preach prohibition, but to attend to business, he said. He will sail for New Zealand on July 20 to engage in a whirlwind campaign to make that dominion dry.

Johnson's parting message was one of congratulations, and he announced he was more than pleased with the manner which the United States is drying up.

"Of course, the United States will never be dry in the sense that there will be no liquor. No nation will be dry in that sense. There are laws against murders, but still we have them. No law in the history of the world was ever 100 per cent obeyed," he said.

EXPECT FURTHER FREIGHT RATE CUT

Ottawa, June 23.—(Canadian Press.)—An intimation that further freight rate reductions than have yet been offered may be agreed to by the railway companies is expected to lead to considerable shortening of the session.

TEST MADE OF PARTY STANDING

Ottawa, June 22.—(Canadian Press) The attack in the house last night by A. R. McMaster, Liberal member for Brome, on the government amendment to the customs act, and his subsequent vote against it, have aroused much speculation in parliamentary corridors as to his party standing. Mr. McMaster, however, this morning attended the Liberal caucus, and attendance at caucus is regarded as the final test of party standing.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF ONTARIO GIRL

ST. CATHARINES, June 22. — Newspaper reports from China regarding atrocious massacres of missionaries are causing concern among friends of Miss May Watts, daughter of A. M. Watts, this city, who is at Kiao Feng.

According to her latest message received by her parents, refugees from the north were pouring into the city, and a visitation had been made by a retreating army, resulting in considerable looting, but there had been no murders up to that time.

While the troops were in the city the missionaries spent the night in the cellar of the school.

NOT SURPRISED AT FREIGHT RATES

EDMONTON, June 22.—"Pretty much what I expected," said Premier Greenfield, when asked his opinion of the freight rate recommendations at Ottawa. "It was no surprise to me that the Crow's Nest agreement should remain suspended, and I don't mind one year's suspension so much under the circumstances, as long as they do not abrogate it.

"The reduced rates that are to be given on all railroads will be a substantial relief, and I believe there will be further reductions when the matter comes before the house.

"It is safe to say that the Progressive members will likely make themselves felt on that point," he added.

WELCOME PIONEER PRINTER'S RETURN

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, June 22.—Among the new residents Woodstock welcomed this week is one of the pioneer newspapermen of the province, Nathan H. Buckner, who, together with his wife and son, has occupied the residence on Wellington street south, which he purchased from H. S. Hammond.

Mr. Buckner has been identified with newspaper work for more than half a century. In 1860 he first came to Woodstock and learned the printing trade with the Sentinel, which was then owned by Robert MacWhinnie and edited by his brother, John MacWhinnie. Later he was foreman of the Woodstock Times. Since then he has worked in Hamilton and Toronto. He retired from active work in June, 1921, on account of ill-health.

STRONG DEMAND FOR HAY ON MART

Ten Loads Sold Readily At Steady Prices—Potatoes Drop.

Ten loads of hay were sold on the local market this morning without any difficulty, and the demand was strong. Prices remain steady at $16@19 per ton.

Oats were not very plentiful, one load of old oats going for $1 70 per cwt.

Wheat was firm and the two loads offered for sale brought $1 35@1 40 per bushel.

Potatoes were down today, but the demand is not strong. Old potatoes sold for $1 50 per bag wholesale and $1 65 retail.

Dressed hogs were a little up over Thursday's prices, selling at $19 per cwt. Live hogs were steady at $13 25.

Strawberries, it is said, will be a feature of Saturday's market, although the season for this fruit is nearly over. The best of the crop has been picked, the growers state, and the berries offered for sale tomorrow and the beginning of next week will be of a small variety.

Chicago, June 23.—Heat and drought, pointing toward likelihood of shrinkage in the crop yield, tended to lift wheat prices today in the first part of the board of trade session. Besides, Liverpool quotations showed a greater upturn than had been looked for, and Argentine dispatches told of increased export business. On the advance, however, selling became enlarged and the market reacetd somewhat. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅝c to 1¼c higher, were followed by a slight setback.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. After opening ⅜c to ⅝c up, the corn market sagged a little.

Oats started ¼c to ⅞c higher, and held at about the opening range.

HOLD CARLISLE OLD BOYS' DAY

2,000 Former Residents of Once Thriving Village Attend Celebration.

Callithumpian Parade Features Interesting Program of Varied Sports.

Special to London Advertiser.

Sixty years ago the village of Carlisle, or Falkirk if one chooses, nestling on the wooded banks of the River Lynn, which set in motion the wheels of its twelve thriving industries, boasted of 1,000 inhabitants. Today it is but a hamlet with but a few score people remaining to operate its two crumbling mills.

Robbed of its prosperity by a railroad which passed four miles away, touching its rival, Ailsa Craig, the village gradually gave up its inhabitants, who, departing, followed the quest for fortune to all parts of America.

For two-score years silence prevailed in place of bustling activities and the hum of mills, until, as if by magic, the village wakened from its lethargy Thursday, as from far and near, by train and automobile, almost 2,000 former citizens and the descendants of those who knew Carlisle in its happier days, gathered in an old boys' reunion.

It seemed almost as if the ghost of the village of more than a half a century ago had returned to its deserted streets, as music and laughter, and the shouts of children at play, was heard once more.

It was Carlisle's first reunion.

Many weeks ago a call was sent out to all its former citizens who could be located, and the response was greater even than the wildest dreams of the executive, composed of James McFarlane, president; D. McDonald, vice-president, and John Farish, secretary-treasurer, and others who planned the event.

Decorate Streets.

To welcome its straying children the village put on its gala dress. Its streets were gay with flags and bunting. Arches of cedar constructed over the main entrances of the village extended a welcome to visitors, while for a mile beyond the limits on either side, strings of pennants were stretched across the road from pole to pole.

The great town bell of solid brass, which has spoken to the inhabitants for more than 50 years, summoned them to church, telling of happy weddings, and calling out in clamorous alarm in time of fire, was taken from its belfry, above the blacksmith shop, and burnished for the occasion. From a proud position on a motor truck, which carried it throughout the town, it smiled on its former friends as they related to the unacquainted its unique history.

The bell in its youth occupied a place on a sailing ship which plied the Great Lakes. It then became the property of the Village of London, where it served as the first town bell. As London grew larger it was sold to the village of St. John, from where it was purchased by Carlisle by public subscriptions.

In the morning a callithumpian parade and ball game, which were screams from beginning to end, sports and a celebration were held on the spacious lawns of G. L. Shipley's farm, whose grandfather founded the village by opening a mill in 1848.

Races, speeches and music filled the afternoon, and after a bountiful supper was served by the women of the village, a concert was given, while a radiophone, installed for the occasion, was an added attraction. In the afternoon music was provided by the Forest Band, and Robert Duncan of London, who played the pipes.

Captain T. Robson of London, a Carlisle old boy, acted as chairman. He delighted the audience by tales of boyhood life spent in the delightful countrysside about the village.

Recalls Past History.

James McFarlane related the history of the village from the time its first mill was constructed until the decline began after the fateful digression of the G. T. Railway. When the zenith of prosperity was reached in the late 50's, five saw mills, five flour and two woolen mills, a tannery, a soap and candle factory, two potash manufactories and two implement factories, constituted the industrial life of the community, he said. A bi-monthly cattle fair as well as a fall fair was held.

Speeches were also given by G. W. Humble, Richard Lambert of Toronto (the oldest boy), T. Stevenson and Dan McDonald.

The winners in the sporting events were: Boys under 10—Donald Dodds, Russell Phillips, Max Rosser and Jack Freeborn (tied). Boys under 14—Jack Reid, Milton Corbett, H. Meadows. Open race for boys—Bruce England, H. England, Jack Reid. Girls, 10 and under—M. Clark, Edna Harrison, Jean Shipley. Girls, 14 and under—Jean Topping, Ethel Yelf, Norma Rosser. Three-legged race—J. Walker and C. Kelly, England brothers, and E. Holson and H. Phillips. Old boys' race, 60 years and over—D. Park.

Oldest couple on the grounds—Mr. and Mrs. James Ross, Ilderton.

Oldest person on the ground—Mrs. (Dr.) McCandless, 82 years of age.

South Oxford Liberals Make Plans For Big Rally and Picnic.

Special to London Advertiser.

TILLSONBURG, June 22.—The annual meeting of the South Oxford Reform Association will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Norwich town hall. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year and important business will come before the meeting. Thomas Marshall, M. P. P. for Lincoln, and other prominent speakers will be present.

On Wednesday afternoon a monster picnic and rally of South Oxford Liberals will be held in Otter Park, Otterville, under the auspices of the Tillsonburg Women's Liberal Club. Sports and music have been arranged, and among the speakers expected is Ex-Premier Martin of Alberta.

SPIRIT OF CLAN GRAHAM RULES

1,500 Members in Annual Picnic At Springbank Exemplify Pride of Race.

It was the same spirit which kept members of the clan of Graham together through the adventurous periods their forefathers experienced in the Scottish Highlands which drew them together again at Springbank Thursday, 1,500 strong, for their annual picnic.

It was that spirit of pride in their race and devotion to their name which prompted a clan, formed of members scattered so widely apart that it is only possible to bring them together once a year, to elect a new chieftain for themselves, and acclaim him with all the lusty ardor of the days of Robert Bruce.

A London man, Douglas Graham, 7 Perry street, at whose instigation the clan was formed, was named as its first chieftain, and the insignia of his office was pinned on the new chieftain by Miss Alice Blue of Dunwich.

Invitations had been sent out to the heads of 400 families, and of these the few who were unable to attend sent letters or telegrams of congratulation, so that each member of the clan throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion and from scores of cities in the United States, had some share in the celebration.

The first reunion of the clan took place at the dinner table, after which its members, headed by the McDonald Pipe Band, proceeded to a spot just west of the pavilion where a platform had been erected and where the afternoon program was carried out.

Open Park to Clan.

Dr. W. J. Stevenson delivered the opening address, and the park was declared open to the Graham Clan by T. W. McFarland, chairman of the park board, and the welcome was heartily seconded by Jared Vining, chairman of the public utilities commission, in an address not without its touch of humor and yet fully appreciative of the greatness of the event.

With the McDonald Pipe Band in attendance and lively numbers by the Brunswick Trio, the program of the afternoon with its music and dancing and speeches, all pre-eminently Scotch, was so extensive as to crowd out the sporting events of the day, but so enjoyable that not one number of it could have been missed.

The Highland fling, beloved of all dances, and the sword dance, executed by members of the McDonald Pipe Band, won their share of enthusiastic applause.

The Brunswick Trio rendered a number of songs which could not have been better chosen, and there was the Scotch rhythm and swing about them which went directly to the hearts of their hearers.

Little Donald Scores.

What drew the most enthusiasm from the Graham clan, however, was the performance of little Donald McCrae, a young Highlander from Glencoe, who sang "Roamin' in The Gloamin'" with an accent and a manner which was reminiscent of Harry Lauder himself, in the forgotten days of one of his best triumphs at the Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

Rev. John Crawrod of London was one of the speakers of the afternoon, who contrasted in witty manner the old border raiding, cattle stealing Grahams with the highly prosperous members of society who now represent the clan.

The arrangements for the picnic were in the hands of the Dunwich members of the clan and everything was carried out with a smoothness and alacrity which bore testimony to the completeness of their preparations. A vote of thanks was moved to the Dunwich Grahams by Ex-Mayor Stephens of Niagara Falls and seconded by John A. McGugan of London.

Gives Baby Contest.

Concluding the afternoon's program was a baby contest, in which the charms of rosy young Grahams were exhibited, each one such a lovely little baby that the judges had difficulty in picking the winners.

Prizes were awarded however, to the following: 1, J. Marie Crawford; 2, Peggy Smith; 3, Margaret Code; 4, Gordon Graham; 5, Gordie Tuckey and 6, Marjorie Graham.

The judges were: Rev. J. Crawford of London, Donald Graham of Port Huron and S. J. Graham of Portland, Oregon.

Prizes were awarded as well to the oldest gentleman and the oldest lady in the clan. Mr. Archibald Graham of 1089, Nightingale Avenue, London, who is 91 years of age, proved to be the oldest man in the clan and Mrs. D. A. Graham, aged 79, Bassar, Mich., the oldest lady. Both partook with keen enjoyment in the events of the picnic and received any number of wishes that they would be present at the clan reunion for many years to come.

Give Vote of Thanks.

The chieftain, Douglas Graham, asked for a standing vote of thanks in appreciation of the chart of the Graham clan prepared by Dr. Angus Graham, principal of Moose Jaw College, Sask.

Dr. Graham, who was prevented from attending the 1922 reunion, was present last year, and one of the most interesting features of that picnic was his resume of the clan's history.

The following were the officers of the clan who made preparations for the picnic: Dougald Blue, president; N. G. Graham, secretary; Alec. Graham, treasurer; chairman of the entertainment committee, J. A. McGugan; chairman of the finance committee, Arthur Graham; chairman of the general committee, Chas. I. Oliver, London; chairman of the committee on refreshments, Alec. Pollard.

5-YEAR-OLD GIRL DIES FROM BURNS

Hilda French of Galt Passes Away Following Accident.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, June 22.—Hilda French, the 5-year-old girl, who was frightfully burned about the body when her clothing was ignited by a match, died early Thursday morning at the hospital. Besides the grief-stricken parents, three sisters survive. The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon.

William McDermid of Port Burwell, employed in the construction of the Galt-Hamilton Highway, is in the local hospital suffering from a badly-injured foot, the result of having it run over by one of the heavy trucks employed on the work.

The local veterans have broken away from the G. W. V. A., and have organized in its place, Amalgamated Veterans of Galt, with the same officers in charge. A charter for the new organization has been obtained.

Nine residents of the east side, who figured in the recent tree-cutting episode, appeared before Magistrate Blake this morning charged with unlawfully cutting down trees on civic property, and were found guilty, but allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Buy Your Tires on a Business Basis

WHICH COST LESS — tires that give thousands of miles of motoring pleasure -- or — tires that finally "blow themselves" after a few hundred miles of irritation and trouble?

WHICH COST LESS—sturdy, dependable, easy-riding tires that take you where you want to go, whether the road be smooth or rough, hard or soft, wet or dry, hot or icy — or — tires that have to be cemented and patched, nursed and doctored, and become bandaged cripples after their first few hundred miles?

Buy your tires on a business basis. Don't count first cost only. DOMINION TIRES give the lowest mileage cost — insure fewer tire troubles — and prices to-day average one-third less than pre-war prices.

DOMINION TIRES are better than ever, and are recognized by motorists as the standard by which to judge tire values and tire service.

HOCKEN RETIRES AS GRAND MASTER

KINGSTON, June 22.—H. C. Hocken's announcement to the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, in session here, that he will retire as grand master at this meeting has given more than usual interest to the election of new officers, which will take place on Friday afternoon.

The present deputy grand master, W. D. McPherson, K.C., will succeed to the chair, and there are several candidates mentioned to fill his place. Fred Dane of Toronto, vice-president of the triennial council, which meets in Canada next year at Winnipeg, is prominently mentioned.

LONDON CITIZEN INJURED AT PARIS

PARIS, June 22.—John Crump of London, met with a serious accident here yesterday. Mr. Crump and a friend of his, who were en route to Montreal by motor cycle, were turning the bend near the Paris Cemetery when the cycle overturned, pinning Mr. Crump beneath. Dr. Gould was called and advised him to be taken to the Brantford hospital.

MAY TAKE ACTION AGAINST ALLAN

OTTAWA, June 22.—(By Canadian Press).—The department of justice is awaiting a report from its solicitors before deciding whether or not further proceedings will be taken against Sir Montagu Allan, who was acquitted by Judge Cusson in Montreal yesterday.

It seems likely that the same course will be followed as in the case of D. C. Macarow, former general manager of the Merchants Bank, whose case was referred to the grand jury after it also had been dismissed by Judge Cusson.

COMMONS NOT TO END THIS WEEK

OTTAWA, June 22.—(Canadian Press.)—Any hope of prorogation this week has been dispelled. In the House today, Hon. W. S. Fielding, replying to the leader of the opposition, said he had no expectation of the session finishing on Saturday.

He hoped to bring down the supplementary estimates tomorrow.

Rough Windsor Caveman Beats His Wife For Declining Drink.

Special to London Advertiser.

WINDSOR, June 22.—When Helen Selby refused to take the drink of whiskey which her husband, William Selby, attempted to force down her throat at their home, 330 Glengarry avenue, trouble commenced.

Not wishing to annoy other occupants of the house, William dragged his wife out to a rear porch, she told Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court late Wednesday afternoon.

"He kicked me, choked me and beat me all over," Helen said. Neighbors testified that they heard enough screaming to give them the impression that more than one person was being murdered.

Wife-beating is serious, in the opinion of Magistrate Gundy. He told Selby so, and remanded him to jail until Saturday for sentence.
