THE BESIEGERS WERE REPULSED

St. Petersburg Hears of a Land Attack On Fortress.

JAPS STILL LOSING AT SEA

Russians Say They Destroyed a Gunboat and Two Torpedo Boats in the Fight of Friday.

St. Petersburg, May 23. — 6 p.m. — According to reports which have reached the Russian headquarters at Liao Yang from Chinese sources the Japanese have made a land attack on Port Arthur, but have been repulsed with heavy loss. The truth of the reports is questioned here.

SANK THREE JAP SHIPS.

Russians Destroy a Gunboat and Two Torpedo Boats.

Che Foo, May 23. — 5:30 p.m. — The captain of a Russian merchantman, who left Port Arthur on May 20 and is among the recent arrivals from Dalny, says in an interview that the whole of the Japanese fleet had not returned to Port Arthur since the 15th inst., when besides the battleship Hatsuse, another big vessel struck a mine and was towed away disabled. Gunboats and torpedo boats returned off the port on the 20th inst., when the Russians succeeded in sinking a small gunboat and two torpedo boats. The Russians are now confident of holding Port Arthur with the thirty thousand men stationed there, exclusive of the navy, and the crowd of mechanics working on the damaged warships, all of which, except the Czarewitch and the Retvizan are ready to rejoin the fleet. These will also be ready for sea service by June 1. The entrance to the harbor has been cleared, and small boats are now passing in and out freely from Port Arthur to Dalny.

The forts on the land side of Port Arthur have been completed and are now prepared for a severe contest.

Of the few soldiers left at Dalny the majority have gone to Port Arthur, and the only defenses left there now are the mines in the harbor.

The attempt of the Japanese to land troops in the Kan Chau Gulf on the 16th inst. failed owing to insufficient water to float the boats.

There has been no fighting in the vicinity of Port Arthur up to Saturday since the Kin Chau fight on the 16th inst., when two squadrons of Japanese cavalry were wiped out, only eight men of which escaped.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made by the Japanese to land troops at Talienwan last week, it is said. On the way over passengers on the junk just arrived heard firing in the direction of Port Arthur last night.

The Japanese have reported to the consuls here that a wreck in the Liao Tung Gulf is dangerous to navigation, and it is possible that this is the other ship said to have been damaged at Port Arthur on the 15th inst., as the Japanese fleet is known to have entered the Gulf after the disaster to the Hatsuse.

KILLED 25 MEN.

During the reconnaissance of Port Arthur made by Admiral Togo on Friday of last week, a shell hit the torpedo boat destroyer Akatsuki, killing one officer and 24 men.

TO SEND 750,000 MEN.

Entire Body of Russian Reserves To Be Called Out.

London, May 23. — Russia is preparing for a two-year war with Japan, and if necessary an army of 750,000 men will be sent to the far east to overawe China, to guard railway communications, relieve Port Arthur and drive the Japanese armies into the sea.

The war temper of the Russian Empire has been thoroughly aroused by the succession of reverses in Manchuria. Military men are no louder than civilians in demanding revenge for the defeats on land and sea.

The cry is for "more troops," "more troops."

Plans are being hurried at the war department in St. Petersburg for the mobilization of the entire body of Russian reserves.

The orders calling the reserves of the St. Petersburg district will, it is stated, in dispatches from the Russian capital, be issued in a few days.

The war with Japan has reached the stage where all recognize that it is to be a contest of endurance, as much as a struggle between armies and fleets; and Russia is confident that in the end she will win.

LASCARS RELEASED.

Cronstadt, May 23.—The three Lascars arrested as spies on board the British steamer Camross have been returned on board that vessel, which sailed today.

NO INTERFERENCE.

St. Petersburg, May 23. — Considerable irritation is manifested by the papers over the suggestion made by M. Dubail, the French minister at Pekin that a congress of the powers be held for the purpose of effecting a conclusion of the war. The Novoe Vremya says: The war is Russia's

REAR-END COLLISION

Double Header Freight Plows Into Another at Guelph.

Guelph, May 23. — A rear-end collision occurred about one mile and a half east of here at 6:45 last night on the Grand Trunk, a double-header, engines 736 and 619, smashing into the caboose of No. 607, Engineer Abbey in charge of engine and Conductor Moore. Several cars were smashed, and three were burned, containing miscellaneous articles, including druggists' material, a carload of paper and drygoods, also a car of lumber. The drygoods are being taken out, Engine 706 is completely turned around, and lies on its back. No person was injured. The engine crew and front brakeman jumped.

COMPLIMENTS OUR METHODS

Australia Also Appoints a Commissioner to London.

London, May 23. — The Saturday Review says that the Commonwealth idea of appointing a commissioner at London is remarkable as an ingenious compliment to the success of Canada in this sort of imperial advertisement.

The same journal, referring to the meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, urging reciprocity with Canada, says it may be that the preference on Canadian corn, by establishing a market with England, may eventually, in spite of the tariffs against foreign corn, actually lower the price in England. On the other hand, if the whole American supplies become absorbed and the Canadian corn be admitted under favorable terms into the States, we may find it difficult to acquire at its present price our full supply of the better grain.

The Statist, commenting on the Canadian Produce Corporation, says the directors, it considered, anticipate and estimate very freely throughout the prospectus. "We should imagine the public will have been indisposed to assist the directors in their anticipations."

AN UNCROWNED KING

Leopold of Belgium Possesses No Regal Headgear.

Brussels, May 23. — Recent lawsuits have brought out the fact that Belgium is the most democratic of all monarchical states. King Leopold never wears a crown for the simple reason that he has none to wear. He is known to have been so ungallant as to criticise American women for wearing coronets.

The King of the Belgians is not crowned. Instead of a coronation ceremony, he inaugurates his reign by taking an oath to govern according to the laws. Moreover, the birth of his children is registered in the phraseology, and in the same set of books, as the birth of the humblest of his subjects.

It is also a fact, of course, that even if King Leopold had a crown to bequeath it could not go to any child of his, for he has no direct descent. It is to his brother's family that the right to reign will go—unless the Belgians decide that they will rule themselves. Therefore, the most interesting youngster in the kingdom is Prince Leopold, the infant son of Prince Albert, who is the only son of the Count of Flanders and nephew to the King.

The little prince is only half-Belgian, for his mother is a Bavarian, but should the child and the monarchy survive he will one day be King of the Belgians.

NOSE MADE FROM FINGER

Remarkable Operation Performed by Philadelphia Doctors.

Philadelphia, May 23. — With a new nose to compensate him for more than two months of pain and mental strain during which he was the subject of the most noteworthy feats of modern surgery, Oscar Leonard has returned to his home at Bradley Beach, a better-looking man by far than when he went away.

Leonard's nose was the product of the skill and patience of Dr. Chas. H. Frazier and other physicians at the University Hospital. He entered the hospital on March 6 and said that he wanted a nose to supply the deficiency of the organ which he had lacked since birth.

First it was necessary to build Leonard an upper lip by grafting skin taken from other parts of his body. He was then supplied with a false set of upper teeth to bring out the lip where it should be. To furnish the frame nose the third finger of Lepnard's left hand was spliced to his face. While the tissues were uniting, a process that required two weeks or longer, it was necessary for him to submit to having his arm bound immovably in a plaster cast. After two attempts the finger grew fast to the face; silver tubes were then inserted and covered with skin.

Leonard's fortitude brought him in high favor with the physicians with whom he came in contact, including Dr. Frazier, Dr. Willets, Dr. Van Kasthoven and Dr. Laroque, to whom he says he feels deeply indebted. It will be necessary for Leonard to come back to the hospital a few times to have the finishing touches, principally ornamental, on his nose.

WILL NOT BE INVOLVED.

St. Petersburg, May 23. — The Chinese minister says China will not seek to participate in any congress at the conclusion of the war. Her negotiations will be direct with the power occupying Manchuria. The minister continues to insist that China is determined not to become involved in the war.

BRITAIN AND NEW NAVAL FACTOR

Some Uneasiness Over Recent Jap Disasters.

BALFOUR-CHAMBERLAIN UNION

Fate of the Unionist Free Traders—Good Results Expected From King's German Visit.

London, May 23. — Englishmen, whose whole defense is on the sea, have been made supremely uncomfortable the past week by Japan's ill-luck. As one Tory paper says: "The loss of the Hatsuse shows how slight comparatively is the tenure on which maritime superiority is held. A battleship is the equivalent at least of an army corps, but an army corps cannot be annihilated in five minutes because a non-commissioned officer has lost his head or because a dashing subaltern of the enemy's cavalry has risked his life on a forlorn hope. This is what may come about at sea at any moment."

War gains quite a new terror for the greatest maritime power if the indiscriminate sowing of open waters with floating mines is to become a general feature. One journal pictures the harbor of New York mined against attack and many mines floating gaily into the Gulf Stream. The danger presumably is outside the scope of that strange, vague thing called international law, but it is felt that it might usefully form the subject of a Geneva convention. Englishmen dwell upon the terrible risk of reliance on a slight margin of numerical superiority in ships over the navies of possible enemies. In other words, England must have more warships, must better the two-power standard.

Others find in the past week's incidents fresh reason for wishing success to King Edward's coming visit to Kiel. The King sees that French friendship being secure, the German Emperor's personal sympathy would immensely assist whatever pacificatory measures the European governments have found it possible to suggest. Out of the Kiel visit some first approaches towards an armament agreement may very well come.

Last week's debate in the House of Commons on the fiscal question clears up some doubts. It proves, as the Spectator says today, that "Mr. Balfour is a Chamberlainite, and when in his judgment the proper time has come, will publicly proclaim himself one. To proclaim himself a Chamberlainite at this moment would precipitate a crisis which would destroy the Government and produce a dissolution, and Mr. Balfour does not want dissolution."

The compact between Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain is, in fact, based roughly upon an understanding that Mr. Balfour shall not be obliged to go as far as Mr. Chamberlain goes at the present moment, that he may refuse now to go beyond the retaliation idea, but is obliged not to do or say anything hostile to Mr. Chamberlain's full policy. Moreover, Mr. Balfour will not suppose those Ministerialists, called Unionist free fooders, who oppose Mr. Chamberlain's plans to purge the Unionist party of such free traders.

During the present session neither Mr. Balfour nor Mr. Chamberlain will bring the fiscal question before Parliament, but when the general election comes, probably in the spring, so much of the Ministerial party as supports Mr. Chamberlain will make a frank and open appeal for imperial reciprocity, plus a moderate tariff. Mr. Balfour must then make his final decision, and there is little doubt that he and most of his special followers will join the Chamberlain forces, leaving Mr. Winston Churchill, Lord Hugh Cecil, Mr. Ritchie, and a band of perhaps thirty Unionists, to join the Liberals or form a new fourth Unionist free trade party. That Chamberlainism will not lack funds was indicated at last week's meeting of its political supporters, when $125,000 were subscribed offhand.

The Pope's protest against President Loubet's visit to Rome, and the Vatican's attitude generally towards France, is widely condemned here, and can only lead to self-destruction, say many. The lay mind of Europe will not submit to dictation of temporal matters by any spiritual power. The Spectator bluntly declares that "Pius X. is not only a bad politician, but, unlike his predecessor, is wholly out of sympathy with modern development. He desires to put the clock back. In hankering after the fleshpots of Egypt the papacy runs the risk of forfeiting all."

WHITE BOY SLAVES

Wholesale Importation of Lads From Italy Stopped by the U. S.

New York, May 23. — Immigration officials have been making wholesale deportations of small boys brought from Italy and other Mediterranean countries practically as boy slaves, says a Washington dispatch to the World. Inspectors for months have been seeking to ascertain the reason for the large number of boys coming to this country to "relatives." They were told that the boys were coming to learn trades, escape the military service in Europe, and become good American citizens.

This was believed, until Commissioner Sargent received word from Pittsburg that Greek boys had been discovered there who had been brought to this country by padrones and rented out to the owners of bootblack stands and to fruit merchants. There are 20 of these boys in Pittsburg alone. How many have gone to other cities is not yet known.

FIFTH WITHIN A WEEK

A Russian Bark Goes Ashore Near St. Pierre, Miquelon.

Sa. Johns, Nfld., May 23. — The Russian bark Alku, from Gothenburg, March 19, for Miramichi, in ballast, went ashore during a dense fog Saturday at Cape Chapeau, Nfld., near St. Pierre, Miquelon. The crew of fourteen men got on the rocks, where they spent eighteen hours suffering intenself from the cold and exposure. This makes five vessels, including the steamer Hiberian and Turret Bay, which have been wrecked in Newfoundland waters during the past week.

THE WAR NEWS.

St. Petersburg hears this morning that a Japanese land attack on Port Arthur has been repulsed with heavy loss. The reported sortie of the garrison of some days ago, in which the Japanese were said to have lost a thousand men, has not been confirmed, and is not generally believed. At sea the Japs continue to suffer. In his last encounter with the batteries of Port Arthur, which took place on Friday last, one of Togo's torpedo boats was hit by a shell, one officer and twenty-five men being killed. The Russians claim to have destroyed a small gunboat and two destroyers in this affair.

Kuroki's advance has been postponed until the third Japanese army is ready to co-operate with him. At present Russ and Jap are close to one another in the mountains between Feng Wang Cheng and Liao Yang. It is stated that the entire Russian reserves are to be mobilized, 750,000 men being sent to the far east.

S.S. VANCOUVER ASHORE IN GULF

The Big Dominion Liner Goes Aground On the Matane Banks.

LATER.

Quebec, May 23.—Matane reports that the steamship Vancouver, ashore there was floated at 8:40 a.m. and proceeded to Quebec.

CLEVER MRS. LYTTELTON

Wife of the Colonial Secretary to Produce Problem Play.

London, May 23. — Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, the second wife of the new Colonial Secretary, has been known as a profound thinker and prominent authority on women's rights and the practical application of philanthropy, but she certainly has surprised society by appearing in the role of a dramatist. She has written a play—and it is a problem play of the George Gissing order, which Mrs. Patrick Campbell has accepted and will star in.

The play is by no means a comedy, but is said by those who have been favored with a reading to be a serious and powerful presentation of the fact that the pleasures and extravagances of the rich are produced at the pain and deprivation of the poor.

Its title will, in all probability, be "The Thread of the Season," and its presentation will be at once a social and dramatic event. Mrs. Campbell will play the part of a working girl.

A FLOOD HERO.

Greeley, Col., May 23. — Scores of lives probably were saved by City Marshal Camp, who received information of the coming flood of water in the Cache la Poudre River Friday night and notified the inhabitants of the heavily settled lowlands along the stream. The marshal heard the news by wire from up the river, and, mounting a horse, rode through the country, calling the people from their beds and summoning volunteer couriers to spread the news. The people fled, mostly in their night-clothes, and soon a raging torrent attacked their homes, many of which were swept away.

BUFFALO'S BOY MURDERERS.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 23.—Wm. Draper, 17 years of age, and John Rousseil, 16 years old, the two remaining members of the four boy bandits who shot and killed Bernardo Balsano on Jan. 22, in trying to rob his grocery store on Walden avenue, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the second degree before Justice Rich, in criminal term of the supreme court today. They both were sentenced to Elmira Reformatory until discharged by law. "If the boys behave they can earn their release in about eighteen months. If they don't, they can be kept at the reformatory till they are 30 years old," said Assistant District Attorney Curtin. Two other boys, Herman Heimberger and Wm. Trueman, were convicted of murder in the second degree and manslaughter respectively, and were sentenced, one to life imprisonment and the other to twenty years in Auburn Prison.

PT. ARTHUR'S FALL WILL COME HIGH

Should Japs Assault Fortress Loss of Men Will Be Great.

THE DEFENSES STRENGTHENED

Warships Dismantled and Guns Added to Those of the Batteries.

London, Monday, May 23.—The Times correspondent on the dispatch boat Haimun, in a wireless message sent by way of Wei Hai Wei, says he is still not allowed to enter the real theater of war, but he claims to make a more accurate estimate of the conditions where he is than he has hitherto done. According to his information Gen. Kuroki found it necessary to halt at Feng Wang Cheng to pull his force together for an advance over the heavy country lying between him and Liao Yang, and to await the landing of the third army, which will advance north towards the same objective until able to co-operate with him. Apparently Gen. Kuroki has suffered annoyance by Cossacks menacing his communications. Accordingly the troops guarding the communications have been reinforced by reserve battalions from Japan. The Russians on Gen. Kuroki's front maintain observation groups, which are in constant touch with the Japanese outposts.

The fortunes of Gen. Oku's army show some success, but he is meeting with stubborn resistance. The division that landed in Kin Chau Bay, isolating Port Arthur, will have the duty of reducing the fortress. The untoward events of the past week will stimulate the Japanese to reduce the fortress by a coup de main.

There is every indication that the Russians are making strenuous efforts to prevent its too rapid fall. The guns from their disabled ships have been placed in recently constructed shore batteries, a succession of which cover the northeastern approaches of Kin Chau, and also cover the approaches to Dalny, which up to Sunday, May 22, the Japanese had not occupied.

Although the ultimate case of Port Arthur is hopeless, if the Russians maintain the attitude their field works indicate, it will not fall without heavy sacrifices. Considerable supplies of food still reach Pigeon Bay by junks from China. The garrison is short of coal. There is no shortage of ammunition.

It is safely estimated that Japan has now placed in Manchuria and on the Liao Tung Peninsula 150,000 men. It can be said with practical certainty that by the end of the current week Gen. Uke will complete his possession of the whole peninsula, with the exception of the Kwang Tung Peninsula proper. The Russian force between Fu Chau and Kaiping is not worth consideration. The Japanese may meet with opposition at Tashichai, but it is reported that this place will only hold out long enough to delay the Japanese advance. The Russian concentrations, by which they hope to effectually oppose the Japanese advance on Liao Yang, are at Lien Shan. The Japanese occupation of New Chwang is therefore to be expected immediately the railway junction at Tashichai is occupied.

Confining the Russian force on the Kwang Tung Peninsula to the actual defense of Port Arthur will not be difficult as the Russian defenses recently raised at Kin Chau to take six batteries of field artillery can be reached in the rear by a naval fire. The sudden change of the land bases has strained the fleet to the full, and Port Arthur has been to some extent left alone by the Japanese, but the Russians are in a desperate frame of mind. They have realized that they are hopelessly shut in, and have made their desperation an excuse to sow the whole Gulf of Pe Chi Li with floating mines. Not only have these diabolical machines been laid on their own shores and in their own waters, but it is reported that launches and junks have been sent out to drop mines at night or during fogs in the waters likely to be used by the Japanese. These have drifted to the high seas, where they constitute a very grave danger to neutral vessels. The Haiamun on Saturday passed two floating six miles from Wei Hai Wei. Even as the act of a desperate garrison, this must be a violation of the law of nations.

RESCUING THE KIDNAPPED

Negotiations Opened for Release of Pedicaris and Varley.

London, May 23.—The Times has the following from Tangier: The troops which were operating against the rebellious mountain tribes have returned. The bandit Raisuli demanded their withdrawal as a preliminary to the negotiations respecting the release of Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley, the American and British subjects recently kidnapped. Letters were received from Raisuli today, and negotiations opened for the release of his captives. The shereefs of Wazan have left to carry through the negotiations with Raisuli, whose latest terms are kept secret

A GREAT HORSE GONE.

San Francisco, May 23. — Ormonde, the world-famed horse, is dead. He was killed at the Menlo Park stock farm of W. O'Dougherty to relieve great suffering from paralysis.

Ormonde, who was foaled in 1883, the son of Ben D'Or-Lily Agnes, bred and owned by the Duke of Westminster, won every race that he started in and earned for his owner in stakes the sum of $142,325. He also had the distinction of winning all three of the great events of the British turf—One Thousand Guinea, the Derby and the St. Leger. He was eventually sold to his late owner for $150,000 for breeding purposes.

RETURNED FROM THE WAR.

Odessa, May 23.—The crew of the gunboat Mandjur and one wounded midshipman of the Variag arrived yesterday and were welcomed by a large crowd with much enthusiasm. Particular attention was paid to Midshipman Goubonion, on whose breast the cross of St. George was pinned. The breech fittings of the Mandjur's guns was brought home.

The officers and crews of the Russian merchant steamers captured by the Japanese at the outbreak of the war to the number of 500 also arrived today and were warmly greeted.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

General Assembly of U. S. Presbyterians Recommended to Act.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 23. — At the first business session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States today, the report of the special committee on marriage and divorce, of which Rev. Chas. A. Dickey, D. D., is chairman, made its report, and submitted a recommendation for the consideration and action of the general assembly.

The committee on marriage and divorce is working with committees of thirteen other denominations, all of which form the interchurch conference on marriage and divorce, which recently issued an appeal to the Christian public.

A PEASANT OUTBREAK

Troops Fire on Russian Rioters in the District of Gori.

St. Petersburg, May 23.—A rising of peasants, headed by Socialists, has taken place in the district of Gori, Government of the Caucasus.

The governor ordered the troops to fire a volley, and several casualties resulted.

During the Emperor's southern tour attempts of workmen of St. Petersburg to hold meeting have been failures. The police usually relax their surveillance during the absence of the head of the Government, but now they are most vigilant and assist the department of the interior in suppressing meetings. All employers were notified that they would be held responsible for the prevention of assemblies of workmen, and the confiscation of uncensored publications. Forty of these were seized in one factory during the past week.

FIREWORKS EXPLODE

Three Killed and Six Injured in a Camden, N. J., Disaster.

Camden, N. J., May 23. — One man and two boys killed and six men and two girls seriously injured by an explosion which occurred today in the fireworks factory of Jose Solome on the outskirts of this city. The names of the dead and injured have not yet been obtained, with the exception of William Solono, father of the proprietor, who was taken to a hospital in a dying condition.

Three one-story sheds and one two-story brick building were wrecked by the explosion. Fifteen girls and fifteen men were employed in the factory.

AWFUL MASSACRE IN PHILIPPINES

Insurgents Wipe Out Fifty-Three Employes of the United States.

Manila, May 23. — A report has been received from Camp Overton, on the Island of Mindanao, dated May 15, stating that a massacre had occurred on the 12th inst. near Malabang, on the southern coast of Mindanao. Fifty-three Filipino men, women and children, the families of employes of the United States military government at Malabang, were surprised at midnight while asleep by the Datto Alis and a band of Mors from the Rio Grande Valley and slaughtered. The chief and his followers escaped before the alarm could be given.

IMPRESSED BY BRITISHERS

Wanamaker Praises Young Englishmen Who Enter Politics.

London, May 23. — John Wanamaker left London for Carlsbad yesterday. The former postmaster-general had been a frequent visitor at the House of Parliament, and was entertained at dinner there the other evening. He was present at the momentous debate on Wednesday, when the fate of the Balfour Government seemed to hang in the balance.

Mr. Balfour's prsonality had greatly impressed Mr. Wanamaker, but the feature of English political life which impressed him most is the number of young Englishmen of position, money and influence who are devoting themselves to their country's service in the political field.

ON TRANSPORTATION

Commission Meets to Discuss the Hudson Bay Question.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., May 23. — C. N. Bell, of Winnipeg, secretary of the transportation commission, is in the city. He is here making arrangements for the commission to meet in Ottawa on Wednesday. It is probable that Dr. Bell, of the geological survey, and others, will be examined in regard to Hudson Bay. The commission will leave for Depot Harbor on Thursday, and will meet there on Friday. After meetings on the Georgian Bay ports the commission will go to Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers, and from there to Port Arthur.

Some time during the fall the commission will go to the Pacific coast.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN IS IN ECLIPSE

Sad Plight in Recent Speech Before Commons.

THE OLD-TIME VIGOR MISSING

His Campaign Appears Doomed to Defeat—Recriminations in the House.

London, May 23. — "It has come to be a case of dreary megalomania," was the disappointed comment of one of Joseph Chamberlain's warmest supporters in the lobby of the House of Commons, after hearing the ex-secretary's speech Wednesday night.

The vigor, incisiveness, lightninglike rapidity of retort, lucidity of expression and skillful presentation of a bad case, the gifts which made him the most potent of living parliamentary figures had vanished. There remained instead a certain cleverness, such as an accomplished artist still retains in his decay, a marked physical feebleness of utterance and absence of grip, a note of weariness, almost pathetic, and a sub-conscious acknowledgment of defeat which took all the heart out of his supporters. They had come to cheer, but they remained to reflect.

Most strange of all, the keen, hard-cut face, with its suggestion of steely determination, was overspread all the time by a self-complacent smile, while instead of direct appeal from one man of common sense to another, always one of his most effective weapons in debate, there was a tone of super-exaltation, an air of abstraction.

His refusal to permit his policy to be debated in Parliament, after all, was nothing short of a confession of failure, and it is so felt by all his followers.

Most dramatic was the vitriolic attack delivered against him by Lord Hugh Cecil, who betters even the reputation of his father, Prime Minister Salisbury, as a master of gibes and flouts and sneers. With withering contempt which provoked stormy protests from the bulk of the Ministerial party, Cecil said that Chamberlain, who prided himself on being Cromwellian in his character, really more closely resembled the Bob Acres type of poltroonery. At one time it seemed as if there would be a repetition of the acts of personal violence among the Chamberlainites and anti-Chamberlainites that signalized the home rule fracas.

Jesse Collings, lifelong friend of Mr. Chamberlain, caught Winston Churchill by the shoulders and twisted him around when he had turned to cheer Cecil's attack. Collings then got into a ferocious altercation with Gibson Bowles. So the speaker, fearing a conflict, jumped up and besought the members to abstain from recriminations.

The animosities aroused by Mr. Chamberlain's protectionist propaganda in the Ministerial party are just as fierce as those created by Gladstone in his party over home rule. The bitterest part of it is that the split is likely to prove needless, as Mr. Chamberlain's campaign evidently is ended.

AFRICA FOR THE NATIVE RACES

Idea of Ethiopianism Spreading to Menacing Proportions.

London, May 23.—The times has the following from Johannesburg: Persistent rumors of unrest among the native tribes have been rife for some time. Unrest is perhaps too strong a word to use at present. The natives have been talking a good deal, and feel themselves dissatisfied, but only in a vague manner. It seems likely that if a check is put upon the activity of the Ethiopian movement the natives will eventually settle down again. Should Ethiopianism, however, produce a leader capable of overcoming the mutual jealousies of the various tribes, and uniting them in common action, the native question will then assume an acute form, and it must be left to the people of South Africa to settle it once for all. Ethiopianism is an importation from the United States, which, under the guise of religious teaching preaches the doctrine of Africa for the native races. The propaganda has sown and is still sowing seeds of discontent among the native tribes, and serves to perpetuate the unsettled condition of the natives.

OTTAWA GIRL SUICIDE.

Ottawa, May 22.—The mystery surrounding the fate and whereabouts of Martha Burke, of Lisgar street, the girl who disappeared on April 23, was cleared up on Saturday afternoon, when her body was found floating in the Ottawa River, near the Chaudiere Falls. There is no doubt but she committed suicide. She was rather moody and discontented, owing to illness, and on leaving the house on the night of her disappearance she merely announced that she was going for a walk. She was buried yesterday the coroner deciding that an inquest was unnecessary. Her father is a motorman on the Ottawa Electric Railway. The recovery of her body makes the fourth grewsome find of the kind within the past eight days.

More Fighting in Tibet; Natives Become Bolder

London, May 23. — The Times today has the following from Gyangtse, Tibet: Yesterday (Saturday), a small force from the garrison at Chonglo moved out under Colonel Brander to clear the line to the south. After capturing and burning three farmsteads then or previously occupied by the enemy, the colonel returned. Two Sikhs were killed and Lieutenant Hodgson was wounded, but not seriously, during the blowing in of the doorway of a house on May 19. The Tibetans' losses were about 30. Our total casualties since crossing the Tangla, excluding those with injuries not received in action, amount to 37, which will perhaps surprise some inclined to underestimate the military importance of the present operations. It cannot be too often reiterated that the temper, self-confidence and actual military capacity of the Tibetans have much increased lately. Diplomacy has proved useless. It is now absolutely necessary to carry through the operations against the enemy, to whom every possible indulgence has been shown for many years, but whom nothing will convince but a display of force. The ultimate settlement need not be different from what was recognized from the beginning as a necessary security to the Indian frontier, but the means adopted to secure a settlement must now, by the Tibetans' own choice, be other than those for a long time offered by the Indian Government.

Gathering of Dandelions Causes Murder of Three

Meyersdale, Pa., May 23.—In a dispute over dandelions at Elk Lick mines, one mile east, three Italian miners met death. An Italian named Louie was gathering dandelions at dusk in the rear of a boarding house run by Dominick Bills. Bills ordered Louie away, jestingly. Louie cursed Bills, at which Bilis pulled a gun and shot him. An unknown Italian interfered, taking Louie's part, shooting Bills and his cousin, Samuel Bills, who was coming along on a bicycle. The unknown Italian then escaped, but is thought to be in hiding in a mine. The sheriff and coroner have been notified, while the town authorities are in pursuit.

TO SELL WOOLEN MILLS.

Toronto, May 23.—The four mills of the Canada Woolen Mills Company at Hespeler, Waterloo, and two at Carleton Place, are to be sold by the first week in July. This is the direction of Master-in-Chambers Cartwright, upon the application of Liquidator Davidson and a majority of the inspectors of the estate company, now in liquidation, that the mills be allowed to run till December. The fact that any loss would have to be borne by the creditors since the shares are fully paid, causes the refusal to accede to the request of the liquidators.

SPECIAL ACT NEEDED

For Building of C. P. R. Line Sudbury to Toronto.

Toronto, May 22.—The James Bay Railway has filed with the Ontario Crown Lands Department a copy of the decision given by the late Sir Oliver Mowat, when Minister of Justice, in the Dominion Government, that the construction and expropriation clauses of the C. P. R. charter expired in 1891.

The ruling was made in connection with a dispute that arose between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern concerning lands in New Ontario. The contention of Mackenzie & Mann now is that the C. P. R. cannot build a railway from Sudbury to Toronto without a special act of Parliament, similar to the one obtained by the James Bay Railway Company, for the construction of a line through the same territory.

Mothers, Physicians and Nurses All Unite in Recommending

LACTATED FOOD

Babies of all kinds and degrees are alike in one thing—they must eat in order that they may live, and unless they have proper food they cannot be well and strong.

Tens of thousands of loving mothers, physicians and nurses who have had practical experience in the feeding of babies, are agreed that Lactated Food is the only reliable nourishment for infants wholly deprived of breast milk or partially nursed.

Lactated Food wherever used for infants in the summer time has greatly lessened infant mortality. It is the one food that can always be given to the child with perfect safety. It prevents constipation, bowel irritation, dysentery and cholera infantum. Thousands of grateful letters have been received from mothers whose little ones were saved and made strong by Lactated Food. Try it, dear mother. Your druggist can supply you.

BANK MAN SUICIDES

President of the Defunct Institution Blows Out His Brains.

Macon, Ga., May 23.—Robert H. Plant, president of the First National Bank, and owner of the I. C. Plant & Sons' Bank, both recently placed in the hands of receivers, committed suicide at his home on Saturday. He had been ill for two months, during which time came the collapse of his financial institutions, the oldest in the city. He had asked to be assisted to the bathroom. Fifteen minutes later the nurse heard a pistol shot. She rushed into the room, but Mr. Plant was not there. The bathroom had two doors, one opening up on the porch. There she found the capitalist, with a 38-caliber pistol in his hand, dead. The bullet had passed through the right temple and out of the left, flattening upon the wall. The coroner was at once summoned, and, upon the testimony of the nurse and of a physician, a verdict of suicide was given.

Mr. Plant leaves a wife and nine children, and, in addition to being identified with various manufacturing enterprises, was known throughout the trotting world, and his horses for years have raced in the Grand Circuit. Mr. Plant had an insurance of over $1,000,000, of which about $800,000 was for the benefit of his creditors.

THE WHITE PLAGUE

Planning to Place a Large Sanitarium in Each Province.

Ottawa, May 23. — At a meeting of the executive council of the Canadian association for the prevention of consumption and other forms of tuberculosis, the following items of general interest were resolved upon:

A committee, consisting of Drs. Bryce (convener), Lafferty (Calgary), Fagan (Victoria, B. C.), Hodgett (Toronto), Bell (Winnipeg), Bishop (Ottawa), Sheriff Sweetland, G. H. Perley and the secretary, was appointed to take steps to secure the co-operation of municipalities, of the governments of the several provinces, and of the Government of the Dominion, for the establishment of one large sanitarium in each province for the treatment of consumptives.

The secretary was directed to visit Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in August and September with a view to lecturing upon the cause and prevention of consumption, and to lecture in such places in Ontario as might be deemed advisable during June and July.

A committee, consisting of all the members of the executive council resident in Ottawa and such other persons as they may associate with themselves (Dr. Small, convener), was appointed to take immediate action for the purpose of organizing a branch of the association in Ottawa with a view to immediate and energetic action, in co-operation with those who have already moved in the matter of the establishment of a sanitarium for Ottawa and the surrounding country.

KILLED WIFE'S MURDERER

A Terrible Tragedy Reported From Dubois, Pennsylvania.

Dubois, Pa., May 23. —At Cardiff, a village near here, a woman sacrificed her life for her husband's hat. She was shot down in cold blood by an Italian, while recovering the hat, and a half hour later the murderer was lying dead, his head full of buckshot from the gun of the husband of the murdered woman. A quarrel of a trivial nature was the primary cause of the double killing. Frank Paul, a prominent man of Cardiff, went to a boarding house Saturday night to visit friends. A quarrel arose between Paul and Saverio Pelligreno, an inmate of the house, and Paul, apprehensive of serious trouble, left hurriedly for his home leaving his hat lying on the ground in front of the house. His wife urged him to return for the hat, but Paul declined and his wife volunteered to get it. As soon as she stooped to pick up the hat Pelligreno fired point blank at her with a shotgun; the charge entered the woman's head, killing her instantly. Paul, who had witnessed the deed, took a revolver and shotgun and started to avenge his wife. As the Italian was trying to escape, Paul fired several shots from his revolver, but missed. Pelligreno succeeded in barricading himself in his room, and Paul stood guard in the hallway of the house. The people about did not interfere but Paul, hearing Pelligreno, hearing no stir stuck his head through the door. Paul, quick as a flash, fired killing the murderer of his wife. After examining the body to see that no life remained Paul picked up his wife's body and carried it to his home. Surrounded by his three small children the officers found him bending weeping over the remains.

M. NISARD LEAVES THE VATICAN

French Government Takes Action On Protest.

AGAINST LOUBET'S ROMAN VISIT

Relations Between the Republic and the Church Strained to Breaking Point.

Paris, May 23. — The formal announcement of the recall of M. Nisard, the French ambassador to the Holy See, was given out Saturday night, and the following statement was communicated to the press:

"Ambassador Nisard is recalled, and the secretary of the embassy will take charge of affairs during his absence. The ambassador will leave Rome this evening."

It had been anticipated that the recall of M. Nisard would be deferred until Tuesday, when Foreign Minister Delcasse will communicate to the council of ministers the result of the conference between the ambassadors and Cardinal Merry Del Val. It is learned in official quarters that the Government's plans, as carefully outlined ,do not anticipate the denunciation of the concordat or any present step beyond the recall of M. Nisard. M. Nisard's recall was ordered because he was unable to secure from the Vatican authentic information relative to the protests forwarded to the powers in the controversy over the visit of President Loubet to the Quirinal. Events appear to have been gradually tending towards a rupture between France and the Vatican since Pius X. was elected pope. The French cardinals and French governmental influence favored Cardinal Rampolla for the papal succession, as likely to continue the conciliatory policy of Pope Leo. However, the selection of Cardinal Sarto was approved, as he was believed to share the moderation of Rampolla. The first evidence of friction was the withdrawal from Paris of Papal Nuncio Lorenzelli during King Victor Emmanuel's visit to the French capital. Later, the Pope, in an allocution to the cardinals, severely censured the French Government's treatment of religious orders. M. Nisard promptly reported the Pope's criticisms and received instructions to submit a protest. President Loubet's visit to Rome brought the issue to a crisis, the Pope sending a protest to France, and all other countries sustaining official relations with the Vatican. It is the latter protest to the powers which was the immediate cause of the French ambassador's recall. This protest was not directed against President Loubet's failure to visit the Vatican, but against his visit to King Victor Emmanuel at the seat of the church's authority, thus giving conspicuous recognition to the temporal Italian ruler. The French Government also takes exception to that feature of the protest intimating that the apostolic nuncio at Paris might be withdrawn. It is now expected that Mgr. Lorenzelli's withdrawal will soon follow that of M. Nisard from the Vatican, thereby interrupting relations on both sides.

SITUATION AT ROME.

Rome, May 21. — The Pope is greatly worried over the conflict between the Vatican and France. Today his holiness suspended all public and private audiences and conferred at length with the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry Del Val, who reported to him what he said to M. Nisard. He stated that France had misunderstood his intention and that he had omitted the phrase regarding the recall of the nuncio from the note to France out of regard to that republic, while he inserted it in the notes to the other governments. The missing phrase emphasized the firm determination of the papacy to prevent Catholic sovereigns from coming to Rome as guests of the King of Italy. M. Nisard expressed to the cardinal his regret that he was unable to discuss the matter, the instructions from his Government being to leave Rome after he had ascertained officially the difference between the note to France and those to the other powers. Active inquiries are being made to find out how L'Humanite received the note. It is generally believed that German Socialists succeeded in securing the text of the note from the Prussian Government and communicated it to their friends in the French Socialist ranks. Among the cardinals there is considerable feeling against the papal secretary, and condemnation is expressed of the way in which he has brought about an almost official rupture with France, especially as several of the cardinals, prior to President Loubet's visit to King Victor Emmanuel proposed to render possible an interview between the President and the Pope by sending to all the other powers a note stating that such deviation from the general rule must not be taken as an abandonment of the prohibition against Catholic rulers visiting Rome, explaining that the prohibition did not apply to presidents of republics, who are elective rulers, and are obliged to follow the decisions of their parliaments. This proposition, it is said, was accepted as favorable to N. Nisard. The entire press, with the exception of the clerical organizations, congratulates France on the energy shown by her in protesting against what it calls the insolent attitude of the Vatican. However, the Vatican does not consider the departure of M. Nisard as a rupture with France. Indeed, diplomatic relations continue between them, as in M. Nisard's absence the first secretary of the embassy, M. de Navenne, who is now in France, has been requested to reach his post immediately and replace the ambassador. Therefore, M. Lorenzelli, the papal nuncio at Paris, who has lately repeatedly asked for a vacation, is likely to be left in Paris in order to avoid the appearance of has having been recalled unless the anti-French current which urged the necessity for an answer to the French in an identical way gains predominance. The Pope is credited with a desire to do all in his power to prevent the denunciation of the concordat.

KAISER IS RESTLESS.

Berlin, May 23. — The restlessness of the Kaiser is causing his surroundings not a little anxiety.

Ever since his return from his southern cruise he has been in a state of feverishness, and hardly reached this city before he planned to visit Emperor Francis Joseph. But his plans for the summer continually change.

While he will be busy arranging details of a proposed trip to Norway one day, he will drop this entirely the next, declaring that the European situation demands his presence at home.

He works almost incessantly, allowing himself very little rest and only occasionally the Empress is able to draw him away from his library to pass a few hours with the members of his family.

FATAL EXPLOSION OF FIREWORKS

Seven Killed and Many Fatally Injured in a Factory Disaster.

Findlay, Ohio, May 23. — As a result of an explosion in the two drying rooms of the Lake Shore Novelty Company's plant here yesterday, seven persons are known to be dead, five are so seriously hurt that recovery is probably impossible, and twelve or fifteen are injured badly. From reports of the physicians, ten of the less seriously injured may die as a result of blood poisoning from the potash that was driven into their bodies.

The dead—Jos. Sherwood, 21; Jay Sherwood, 24; Edith Dillon, 17; Dean Shaw, 18; Mary Snyder, 22; all killed instantly. Estella Decker, 15, and Frank Grant, 21, died later at home.

The probably fatallyl injured are—Maggie Logan, Thomas Bock, Claude Shaw, Effie Peterman, Roy Peterman. Two employes are missing and are supposed to have been blown to atoms.

The Lake Shore novelty works plant covered nearly ten acres in the southwest part of the city and employed about 200 men, women and children. Railroad torpedoes and fourth of July explosives were manufactured. Owing to a rush of orders, the officials of the plant requested the employes to report for duty yesterday. About 30 complied. This morning two magazines in separate rooms at the novelty works let go simultaneously with terrible reports.

The exact cause of the explosion is not definitely known. It is surmised that one of the Sherwood brothers, who were only persons in the drying rooms, dropped a large body of torpedoes, but this story cannot be confirmed.

The explosion occurred shortly before the employes assembled for duty. Human forms were strewn considerable distances apart on the factory site. The remains of the Sherwood brothers were found lying in drying room No. 1, mangled and almost unrecognizable. Their clothing was blown from their bodies, save a stocking on the right foot of Jay Sherwood. The body of Edith Dillon was picked up 200 yards from where the explosion occurred.

The news of the catastrophe spread rapidly throughout the county and every train and interurban car that has arrived in the city for the past ten hours was crowded. The large plant was shattered, not one single wall remaining. Windows throughout the city were shattered and the concussion was felt for miles.

SUICIDE AT WINDSOR.

Windsor, Ont., May 23.—Mrs. Sarah Wilkins, of Detroit, jumped off the ferryboat Excelsior into the river here Saturday morning. She sank immediately. The woman boarded the boat in this city, and ascended to the promenade deck, where she remained until the other passengers went below. As soon as she was alone she jumped over the stern. The woman has had trouble with her husband.

HEADACHES AND RUSHING OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

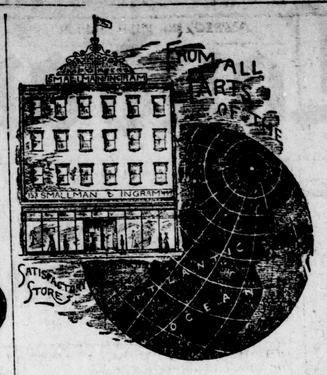

APPETITE WAS GONE.

TRIED MANY DIFFERENT REMEDIES BUT

MRS. WALTER MANTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

HUMAN FLAMINGOS.

Paris, May 23. — A French savant, M. August Chevalier, has been astonishing Paris by descriptions of a race of giants which he has discovered. M. Chevalier, is the head of the Lake Tchad Scientific Mission.

Recently when on an expedition of exploration in the region of Lake Tchad he came across a tribe of men whose average height is seven feet. This was in the Sarus, or the land of giants. The women are equally tall.

The legs of those tribes who inhabit the marshes around Lake Tchad are very long. M. Chevalier calls them human flamingoes. Their marvelously long limbs, he explains, are simply nature's provision to enable them to live and thrive in a marshy country.

No Difference.

No distinction is made as to the kind of Piles that Hem-Roid cures.

The names Internal, External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal remedy to remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally.

It is a permanent cure and no case of Piles has ever been found it failed to cure.

Money back if it does.

A CANOEING FATALITY.

Ottawa, May 23. — Romeo Gougeon, 145 LeBreton, teamster, aged 18 years, employed in the Ottawa improvement commission, was drowned at St. Louis dam yesterday afternoon. With two companions, Wilfrid Larose and Fred Desfaurier, he was in a canoe, and on a windstorm coming up Gourgeon tried to change his position and Larose got up to move, when the canoe upset. Gougeon was supposed to be the best swimmer of the three, but he evidently took a cramp and before help could reach him, sank. The two companions had a narrow escape, but managed to reach shore. The body was recovered later.

IT IS GOOD FOR MAN AND BEAST—Not only is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil of incomparable value in the household, but the farmer and stockman will find it very serviceable in the farmyard and on the cattle range, often saving the services of a veterinary surgeon. In injuries to stock, and in cases of cough and pains, it can be used with good effect.

LAID ON THE LASH

Middle Age Methods of Punishment Prevail in Delaware.

Wilmington, Del., May 23. — When the gates of the New Castle County Workhouse yard were thrown open on Saturday, Henry Irons, colored, was in the stocks. Irons is a desperate burglar with a long record and he now begins a long sentence for breaking and entering in the night time. After gaining an entrance to the house of Frank Banner he tried to steal a crucifix from a sleeping boy's neck and that was his undoing. The boy awoke and his cries caused an alarm, which resulted in Irons' arrest. In addition to an hour in the pillory Irons was given 30 lashes.

Samuel Fisher, also a negro, stood in the stocks with Irons for an hour, and later had his back whacked with 40 lashes of the cat-o'-nine tails. He has two years in which to remember his act of robbing a woman of 31.

Warden Meserve had shown no leniency to the culprits at the post, as he says that unless severe punishment is meted out the post becomes a farce. Thomas Howard stole 48 pounds of rope and, after receiving fifteen lashes, was sent up for a year.

Instead of chicken, Alonzo Green, colored, will partake of prison diet for eight months. He was flogged for stealing fourteen fowls from a farmer.

John Fisher and William Thomas, colored, received ten lashes each for stealing 90 cents' worth of coal. The former will serve two years and the latter one year behind the bars.

Ten lashes well laid on was the order of the court in the case of Harry Davis, colored, for stealing a $15 gun, and he will retire from the sun's glare for six months.

Harry Smith stole a set of harness, and ten lashes was the dose of Delaware justice meted out to him. He will spend five months behind the bars.

Fondness for chickens caused the cat to scratch the back of David Griffin, colored, ten times. He was also sentenced to six months in jail.

Samuel Shephern, colored, stole a shirt and ten lashes on the bare back may convince him that honesty is the best policy after all. He will serve six months.

THAMESFORD.

Thamesford, May 23.—The past week in this vicinity finds the seeding nearly finished, and the farmers very busily engaged preparing for roots, etc. The meadows are looking fine, and there is every appearance of a very bountiful harvest, barring fall wheat.

The Misses Bernice and Tillie Lefaire are holidaying out of town.

Archie McTaggart, of the Forest City, is visiting the parental home. He is looking fine.

We have now a fairly well established baseball team in the village, with Manager B. B. McCarty, Captain W. E. McCarty, Treasurer Abbot, J. M. Scott and W. W. McLeod as members of the executive staff. The Thamesford Stars should be hard to outshine.

Mr. Batson, of Brantford, a traveler for the International Harvester Company, was assisting the Thamesford agent, Mr. C. M. Judge, last week.

H. H. Vosburgh, of Tilsonburg, was here over Sunday.

Mr. David O'Brien, a former village boy, called on friends in this vicinity last week.

H. E. Tomlinson, who had one of his fingers very badly injured some time since, has quite recovered.

Mr. Gabriel Yake, who has been visiting friends in St. Thomas and Aylmer the past week, has returned, looking well after his short outing.

Thamesford village is to have a grand celebration tomorrow. The committee have done everything to make the sports a success, and a good, up-to-date concert in the evening will finish up the day quite fittingly.

Thamesford Lodge, No. 258, I. O. O. F., holds its election of officers on Thursday, May 26. The lodge is doing a good work, and its officers are worthy of strong support.

C. M. Judge intends holding his harvesting machine delivery some time in June.

Mr. David Brown has the sympathy of the entire community in his trouble by the loss of one of his daughters, whose funeral took place from the family residence, North Oxford, on the 17th inst., to the Banner Cemetery.

Mr. Gregory and Miss Garner, of Ingersoll, were calling on friends in Thamesford on Sunday.

John Smith, of this village, one of the heroes of the South African war, has purchased the property on the corner of George and Piccadilly streets, Thamesford. It was owned recently by Mr. J. Paynter, of the 7th line, East Nissouri. Mr. Smith purchased it last Saturday, and intends making his home among us. Consideration, $900.

Mr. Wm. Garner, of Ingersoll, and Miss Ida Foster, of Thamesford, were visiting friends in the Forest City over Sunday.

Miss Gertie Neely and sister are the guests of Mrs. D. Foster, of this village.

LONDON, MONDAY MAY 23.

Empire Day.

This is "Empire Day," set apart in the schools of the Province for patriotic exercises intended to impress the children with the greatness of the British Empire. It is one of the phenomena of history that the greatest and most successful of the colonial powers should have been the least enterprising when the race for empire began. We Anglo-Saxons flatter ourselves that we have had always a natural vocation for discovery and colonization, but as a matter of fact our maritime supremacy is of relatively modern growth. Spain and Portugal were a whole century ahead of England in exploration, and she trailed behind France and Holland. Not till the reign of Elizabeth did England begin to exhibit her maritime genius and take up her march "on the mountain wave." This was the age of Drake, Frobisher, Hawkins and Raleigh, but these great navigators were little better than buccaneers. All through the sixteenth century England played a minor role as compared with Spain and Portugal. John Cabot, who discovered the mainland of America in 1497, was sent out by Henry VII. of England, but he was a citizen of Venice. The achievements of himself and his son Sebastian were not followed up by the English until nearly a century later. Yet before the sixteenth century opened the Portuguese Vasco Da Gama had rounded the Cape of Good Hope and planted the Portuguese flag on the soil of India, while nearly the whole west coast of South and Central America, and what is now the State of Florida, had been brought under the dominion of Spain and Portugal by Columbus and his contemporaries. In 1534 Jacques Cartier almost rounded Newfoundland, and in 1535 ascended the St. Lawrence to the present site of Montreal and laid the foundation of French power in North America. The first English colony in the new world, planted by Sir Walter Raleigh in Virginia in 1585 was a failure, the emigrants soon returning home; and the second, founded on Roanoke Island two years later, was allowed to perish.

Not till the seventeenth century, in the reign of King James I., did England begin to become a colonial power worthy of the name, and even for the greater part of this century she was eclipsed by the Dutch and French. The Dutch had the carrying trade of the world and had established virile colonies in North America, Cape Colony and the East Indies. But before the close of the century England had wrested from Holland her maritime ascendancy and her North American colonies. Spain was still the greatest colonial power measured by the extent of her possessions; she had nearly all of South and Central America and great tracts in the southern and western portions of North America. But, like Portugal, her apogee was in the sixteenth century. After that came a steady decay, until in the early part of the nineteenth century her empire in the new world collapsed like a house of cards, while a little later Portugal lost her greatest colony, Brazil.

At the beginning of the eighteenth century with Holland humbled and Spain and Portugal in decline, France and England became the supreme rivals. France could boast the greater achievements. Canada and Acadia were settled and the town of Quebec founded about the time of the voyage of the Mayflower. In 1683 La Salle had made his way from the great lakes to the sources of the Mississippi, descending the whole river to the Gulf of Mexico, and proclaiming French sovereignty over that vast region, which he named Louisiana. England, when the eighteenth century opened, had a thriving row of colonies along the Atlantic coast, and France had the two great rivers, the St. Lawrence and Mississippi; but while France had more territory, England had more settlement. Then came Queen Anne's war in 1702, culminating in 1713 in the treaty of Utrecht, which gave Newfoundland and Acadia to England and made her the first state in the world. In India the two nations clashed with the same result. When England defeated France on the Plains of Abraham half a century later she reached relatively the highest position she ever attained; for soon afterwards came the great schism of the thirteen American colonies. It was a terrible blow to British imperialism, but not a fatal one, as the world then believed. There has been no more wonderful development in the nineteenth century than the expansion of the British Empire. At the end of the eighteenth century the area of the empire outside the United Kingdom was a little over 2,000,000 square miles, with a population of about 100,000,000 souls. At the end of the nineteenth century the Empire, including Egypt and the Soudan, contained upwards of 13,000,000 square miles with a population of about 450,000,000, or over a fourth of the population of the world. Since then the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony have been painted red on the map.

Great Britain gave her American colonies freedom in everything but trade; this was the fatal weakness of her colonial policy, though it was mild and benevolent compared with that of other nations. The American revolution taught her this lesson, but she had still a great deal to learn, and only after a long and bitter struggle did the Canadian Provinces acquire their political liberties. Great Britain has succeeded as a colonizing power because she has abandoned the theory that colonies are mere possessions—estates to be worked for the benefit of the mother country. The British Empire is still undergoing an evolution, and he is a very wise man who will predict the end. Will Turgot's saying that colonies are like fruit and only cling till they are ripe, be verified? Or will some higher organization than the present one be developed which will keep the self-governing colonies within the circle of the Empire? If the latter is to be the solution, there must be absolute equality of all parts which are fitted for self-government.

Will someone explain what the railway policy of the Opposition really is?

Brant Sero tells the Cosmopolitan Club of London that women are scarce in Canada. Was he ever at a conversazione in this country?

The Tibetans are accused of making treacherous attacks upon the British armed force, which is promenading through Tibet. If an army of Tibetans started to walk through Great Britain with guns and rifles, it is likely they would be exposed to the same sort of attacks.

Great Britain is building more warships than any other nation. The United States is building more than any nation excepting Great Britain. Both are self-professed leaders in peace and civilization and both claim to be enlarging their navies to keep the peace.

Mr. Watson Griffin, speaking to the St. John, N. B., branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, advanced the theory that Canada would be much more properous today if the United States had not been alongside. This is the logical result of commercial theories held by men like Mr. Watson. The further away from civilized neighbors, who try to sell us their goods, the better for the country, they argue. According to this, Australia is in a much more advantageous position than Canada: but would Canadians trade places? There was a time in the early fifties when we found the proximity of the United States a very useful thing, and the American market helped us out of our difficulties. To say that the nearness of eighty millions of people, who spend money more freely than any other nation on earth, is a drawback to this country, shows what vicious and distorted views of the functions of commerce have become prevalent.

A RELATIVE'S REBUKE.

[Boston Herald.]

Here's Lord Hugh Cecil intimating in a roundabout way that his cousin, Premier Balfour, is a coward. "If a man has committed any wrong in the course of his career," says Mr. Thackeray, "I don't know any moralist more anxious to point his errors out to the world than his wn relations."

AN OVERWORKED MINISTER.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

Hon. Charles S. Hyman, minister without portfolio, took charge of the public works department this morning. He will act temporarily in place of Hon. James Sutherland, who is incapacitated from work by illness. Mr. Sutherland left last night for his home in Woodstock. He will probably take a health tour before resuming his labors.

The withdrawal of Mr. Sutherland from active service for even a brief period is the cause for general expressions of sympathy in political circles irrespective of party. He has been a popular member of the House of Commons for the last 24 years, during 10 years of which he was chief Liberal whip. Mr. Sutherland always represented North Oxford. He is 55 years of age, and in all probability has many more years of active public life ahead of him. His present impaired state of health is no doubt due to over diligence in office. His friends have observed his rapid failing for some weeks, and advised him to seek a brief retirement. Mr. Sutherland's appearance is by no means what it was when the session opened, and those who have seen him in the course of the last few days know that there is small ground for the partisan rumor that Mr. Sutherland's temporary retirement is due to dissension in the Liberal cabinet.

WHEN PAPA SAILED IN.

[Spare Moments.]

"Bertha, why am I like a fisherman?" he asked, softly, as he reached for his hat.

"I don't know, darling," she answered, as he gently pulled the lapels of his coat together. "Why are you, Egbert?"

"Because I never go without my smack—"

"No, sir," exclaimed a bull-like voice, "and you shan't go without it tonight, either. You shall have it now, sir—a whole fleet of smacks."

And papa proceeded to lay that fleet of smacks on, while Egbert became a full-blown skipper.

A BIG CENTURY FUND.

[Public Opinion.]

The twentieth century fund, formed to raise one million guineas for the extension of Wesleyan Methodist Church work, has realized its ambition. The majority of the donations were in contributions of one guinea. The money has been allocated as follows: Three hundred thousand pounds for the erection and enlargement of chapels, Sunday schools, manses, soldiers' and sailors' homes, etc.; £200,000 for educational work; £100,000 for foreign missions; £100,000 for home missions and temperance work; £50,000 for the Children's Home; £250,000 for a Central Hall in London.

A LEAP YEAR PARTY.

The decorations were Oriental, cozy corners, draped and cushioned in true Oriental style, were placed at either end of the large hall, and the soft luster of the Chinese lanterns shone on a scene of splendor befitting a nook in Fairyland. But fairest, where all were fair, peerless in the exuberance of their trimphant vanity, and in absolute faultlessness of their delicate charms, were our wives, daughters and sisters; some of the loveliest women to be seen anywhere flitted across the polished floor, like poets' dreams of the gliding sylphs that haunt rivers and fountains by night; veritable queens of the fairies, as dainty as a drop of dew, as piercing to the eye as a flash of light. * * *

If there were to be any "wallflowers" it was not written that it would be among the promoters of this night's pleasures. The men were asked for their programmes if they were dancers that suited the particular fancy of the lady, and if not they sat by the wall where they had left so many hearts to pine for a dance on former occasions.

The costumes of the ladies were rich and beautiful, a wonderful mingling of misty lace with the sheen of satin, and glimmering jewels flashed on bodice like sunlight on white foam. * * *

Music was furnished by the local orchestra, and words in their praise are many. The music furnished on this occasion was equal to the best, and, above all, it was a local band.—Manistique (Mich.) Record.

MORNING IN JAPAN.

The ancient practice or arising with the sun is still kept up by many of the Japanese outside the big cities.

At 5 in the morning shojis are pushed slightly apart and bright faces look toward the east. "Ohayo! Ohayo!" (Good morning—or more literally "It is morning!") says the polite Japanese, and bows with great friendliness and appreciation to the big yellow globe pushing its way upward in the sky. A murmuring of voices runs through the house. Down in the kitchen the noisy maid servant makes herself heard. She is scolding her little army of assistants, for she, the chief servant, and cook, has an assistant, a boy of 17, who in turn has a small boy assistant, who in turn likewise has an assistant, a still smaller boy. The chief servant scolds them all thoroughly. She would like to shake more energy into their lazy, sleepy bodies. "Hurry! for the okusama (august lady of the house will be down presently." She sends them hurrying this way and that, one to draw and carry water, one to prepare the dining-room, one to sweep the verandas, open the shojis and let in the morning sunlight and air, and she herself sets to work upon the cooking. Thus in the hours when the average western servant is steeping the Japanese servants do all the housework for the day. Before breakfast the housework is done. When the honorable lady of the house descends to the honorable downstairs the rooms shine in cheerful morning welcome to her; breakfast is on the lacquered trays, which stand on feet a few inches in height. Before she breakfasts, however, the okusama looks into the various rooms with the searching eye of the experienced housekeeper. If all is well she sweetly enters the dining-room, and herself waits upon her husband and parents, and pours for them the morning tea.—Harper's Weekly.

DOCTOR HAS THE PROOF.

St. Mary's Ferry, York County, N. B., May 16.—(Special).—"Some years ago I began to suffer from pain in the back accompanied by a lethargy impossible to overcome," says Mr. Thos. Harrison, of this place, in an interview. "I was attended by a physician, but continued to grow worse and started to pass bloody urine.

"On the advice of a friend I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and by the time I had taken one box I passed a stone that is now in the doctor's possession. Three boxes cured me completely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys, and with sound Kidneys you need never have urinary complaints.

THE FRENCH CLOCK.

Have you heard, perhaps, a modern French clock—Clackety-clack, clackety-click, push-push-push? There are always ornaments on the shelf where it stands, and ornaments on the table, and on the floor. It has gilt on its face and jewels on its hands, and it lives very fast—sixty minutes to the hour and twenty-four hours to the day—hurried hours, breathless minutes, . . . Clackety-clack, clackety-click, push-push-push, quick-quick-quick! When I find one in the chamber where I am to sleep, I always look carefully about for some safe hole in which to bestow it. If no other offers, my travelihg bag will at least muffle its strenuous voice till the coming of the morn. But alas, if the clock be small and round and easily hidden from sight in stray corners of the bag! Twice have I borne away the timepiece offered to my delectation. Twice has it fallen to my lot to explain to an energetic hostess my peculiar conduct. Now I always put it under the mastress. If I go away and forget it, I am only regarded as a little crazy, which is surely better than rolling up a reputation for kleptomania.—The Atlantic.

KUROKI AWAITS A THIRD ARMY

In Touch With Enemy in the Mountains Near Liao Yang.

SKRYDLOFF AT VLADIVOSTOCK

Czar Reaches Moscow to Review Troops—Alexieff Withdraws Resignation.

London, May 23. — The correspondent of the Times on board that paper's steamer Haimun, which is still excluded from the real theater of war, gives a review of the present situation of affairs, and says:

"Reserves from Japan are being brought to reinforce General Kuroki's lines of communication which are being harassed by Cossacks.

"General Kuroki appears to be waiting for the landing and co-operation of a third army.

"It was while holding the Miao Tao Straits against torpedo attacks from Port Arthur for the passage of transports with the third army that the Hatsuse met with disaster.

"Realizing that they were effectively isolated, the Port Arthur Russians made their desperation an excuse for sowing the whole Gulf of Pe Chi Li with floating blockade mines.

"It is reported that the Russians sent launches and junks to drop mines in the paths of the Japanese warships and transports. The mines drifted to to the high seas and to Chinese waters, constituting the gravest danger to neutral shipping. Yesterday the Halmun passed two floating mines, within six miles of Wei Hai Wei. Even as the act of a garrison, this must be in violation of the law of nations.

London, Monday, May 23.—The Daily Telegraph this morning prints the following dispatch, dated May 19, from its correspondent at the Japanese headquarters, which the dispatch does not locate: There has been no change in the position here for the past ten days. Our advanced division is in touch with the enemy near Moa Tien Pass, where the Liao Yang road traverses the defile. The Russian line extends from Hai Cheng to the west of Mao Tien Pass.

London, May 23.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Kobe, Japan, cables the following: "Returning from Korea through the Yellow Sea this (last) week, I saw Japanese transports in every direction. They were traveling without escort. Sometimes as many as ten at a time were counted."

THE KIN CHOW FIGHTS.

St. Petersburg, May 21—5:40 p.m.—The general staff has received a message from General Stoessel giving his account of the fight north of Kin Chou Monday last. Three Russian regiments were attacked by two Japanese divisions with four batteries of artillery. The Russians lost 140 killed or wounded, including an officer killed, and Brigadier-General Nadelin slightly wounded. The Japanese losses are not known, but it is believed that they were heavy. The enemy's advance of Kin Chou was arrested. The general staff explains that this attack on the Russian troops was arranged to take place simultaneously with a landing of Japanese troops in Kerr Bay, which was unsuccessful owing to the number of Russian mines there. Their general staff expects to hear of another stubborn fight at Kin Chou.

ALEXIEFF AND CZAR.

London, May 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "I am informed on good authority that Viceroy Alexieff tendered his resignation to the Emperor, giving illhealth as the reason for his desire to be relieved, but that the Emperor persuaded him in a gracious telegram to remain at his post.

SKRYDLOFF WELCOMED.

London, May 23. — Vice-Admiral Skrydloff arrived at Vladivostock at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. There was a great outpouring of the townspeople. Admiral Skrydloff's reception was the heartiest everywhere. The Japanese cruisers reported as being between Gensan and Vladivostock so far have not been sighted. The opening of Vladivostock to trade has as yet had no effect in reviving business, which is at a complete standstill. The town is in an excellent condition and the general health of the people is good.

The Standard's correspondent at Tokio, telegraphing under date of May 21, says: Addressing a meeting of financiers today, on the importance of securing the sympathy of the civilized world in the present momentous crisis, Marquis Ito strongly urged the importance of Japan being contented to enforce her legitimate cleaims, never a moment wavering in frank and broadminded recognition of the legitimate claims and interests of other nations. The speech is considered significant as foreshadowing Japan's future policy with regard to Korea and Manchuria.

THE JAP LOAN.

After repeated conferences between the bankers, the ministers and elder statesmen of Japan, the bankers have accepted the terms of the new popular loan of $50,000,000. It will be issued at 92, bear 5 per cent and run for seven years. The former loan was based at 95 and is to run for five years.

JAPS HAVE BERI BERI

Liao Yang, Friday, May 20. — Information brought to headquarters indicates that the Japanese troops are suffering from a terrible epidemic of beri-beri, due to the quality of the rice they are eating. The Japanese have abandoned the attempt to float the Russian cruiser Yariag, sunk off Chemulpo, Korea, at the outbreak of the war. It is announced that numerous changes are impending among the commanders of vessels at Port Arthur. The Chinese report that many bodies of Japanese sailors are coming ashore at Talienwan Bay, near which (in Kerr Bay), the Japanese torpedo boat No. 48 was sunk May 12, and the Japanese cruiser Miyako.

CZAR AT MOSCOW.

Moscow, May 21.—The Emperor's 2,000-mile journey through South Russia ended here today with a review of several rapper and engineer battalions in the courtyards of the Nicholas station and a hurried visit to the shrine of the Iberia Virgin and the church in the Kremlin, where he was crowned. The Emperor was met here by the same patriotic demonstrations that have marked the whole progress of his trip. The review of the troops was held at the station on account of the pressure of time, and was very brief. The imperial party departed at 7 o'clock for Tsarkove Selo, where his majesty tomorrow will review the Chevalier Guards, his mother's own regiment, upon the occasion of the celebration of the 200th anniversary of its organization.

THE BALTIC SQUADRON.

Paris, May 23.—A dispatch to the Temps from St. Petersburg says: Emperor Nicholas left Moscow Saturday for St. Petersburg. The work of preparing the Baltic fleet for active service is being pushed with great activity. It will probably sail for the far east in two divisions and by diffrent routes. The point of their reunion is not known.

personal affair and she asks no one's assistance. When it is ended she will negotiate with the Mikado, but not with Europe. Therefore, we regret that the representative of Russia's ally should be the first to pronounce the word "congress." The same paper, speaking of the reception of the news of the Japanese naval disasters by the British press, says: The hymn of uninterrupted triumph by Japan which was sung by the friendly choir of the English press has been changed by a few pounds of dynamite from allegro maestoso to agitato assi.

"VICTORY," SAYS CZAR.

St. Petersburg, May 23.—The Russian newspapers are unanimous in their affirmation of the deep impression made upon the country by the Emperor's personal God-speed to the troops in South Russia, declaring that Russian prestige in the far east must be vindicated and that every Russian breast re-echoes the Emperor's conviction expressed to the town council at Moscow as follows:

"Our glorious armies will return with the aureole of victory."

LATEST FROM DALNY.

Che Foo, May 23, 4 p.m.—Forty Russians who left Dalny yesterday (Sunday) arrived here today. Up to the date of their departure Dalny had not been attacked by the enemy. According to their account the Japanese troops met with a reverse at Kin Chau, on the 15th inst., but the Russians failed to regain control of the railway. They are positive that another Japanese war vessel was damaged at the time the battleship Hatsuse was destroyed. Civilians, in daily expectation of an attack upon Dalny by the Japanese forces, are leaving there on junks.

WAS A FAKE.

No Truth in Story of Jap Slaughter by Sortie.

London, May 22. — A dispatch from St. Petersburg to Reuter's Telegram Company says that the report of a sortie by the Port Arthur garrison in which 1,000 Japanese were killed and wounded, has not been confirmed.

It appears, says the dispatch, to have originated in the receipt of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel's report of the fight at Kin Chow, this, together with the fact that General's Stoessel commands at Port Arthur, giving rise to the rumor that the garrison had made a sortie.

KUROKI REPORTS.

Tokio, May 23, 4 p.m. — The Japanese landed at Taku Shan report having been engaged in two scouting skirmishes, during which ten Russians were killed. In the first affair two Russians were captured, and in the other General Kuroki reports the capture of an officer and a man, caught making a reconnoissance in the rear of Kuroki's army.

Three splendid horses captured at the Yalu battle by Kuroki and presented to the Emperor, reached Tokio today. They were taken to the palace, where they were inspectd. Two of them are Russian bred and the other is an Arabian.

People who have visited Matsuyama report that the Japanese are exercising great care with the food and general treatment of the Russian prisoners there. The rations include liberal allowances of meat, bread and tea daily. The prisoners' quarters are clean, and sanitary. The majority of the wounded are making good progress.

JAP SPIES AT CRONSTADT.

St. Petersburg, May 23. — An investigation made by the authorities into the recent attempts to destroy some of the vessels of the Baltic fleet at Cronstadt has resulted in the arrest of four Japanese spies, who seem to have escaped detection by wearing the uniform of naval cadets, thus obtaining admission to the navy yard and access to the ships without difficulty. It is believed that they are also responsible for the fire started some time ago near the naval magazine and for the opening of the sea valves of the Orel. The authorities here think the Japanese have been harbored by anarchists.

The admiralty reports that the battleship Orel which sank at her anchorage at Cronstadt was subsequently raised and has not sustained any injuries. The investigation into the cause of the accident is not concluded.

THEY ARE A POWERFUL NERVINE.—Dyspepsia causes derangement of the nervous system and nervous debility, once engendered, is difficult to deal with. By giving proper tone to the digestive organs, they restore equilibrium to the nerve centers.

SNAPPED THE SNAPPER

Alexandra Kodaks a Reporter Who Had Kodaked Her.

Dublin, May 23. — The visit of the King and Queen to Ireland produced the usual crop of pleasant incidents, of which the following affords a suitable lesson to the "Four Hundred" of New York, who affect to despise journalism.

At Waterford the Queen, walking with a party by the side of a stream, caught sight of a newspaperman, who was making mad efforts to snap her with a kodak from the opposite bank.

For the time, the Queen, herself an expert photographer, merrily tantalized the enterprising reporter by turning in the wrong direction whenever she saw him about to snap.

Then at last she turned and faced him, standing until he had obtained a beautiful shot.

At a signal from her, Sir Neville Chamberlain, the equerry in attendance, called upon the newspaperman to stop.

"'Tenshun!" cried Sir Neville in the tones he used when drilling recruits.

The reporter imagined that he was about to suffer immediate execution, obeyed, and in that moment, the Queen, who had taken the Princess Victoria's kodak, snapped him. Then she sent a message congratulating him upon his persistence and enterprise, and expressing the hope that the likeness that he had taken was better than the one that she had succeeded in getting.

Tired Feelings Should be Taken as Serious Warnings of Coming Disease.

"Tired Feelings" result from a deranged condition of the blood and nerves, producing a general weakness of the entire system. Constipation is usually one of the prime troubles; digestive power is weak, appetite is poor, and sleep is never refreshing. To banish "Tired Feelings," the blood must be cleansed, and the nerves toned and braced.

The grand work of bringing back health and strength is easily and quickly accomplished when Paine's Celery Compound is used. MME. LOUBET TACTLESS

Spoiled Play by Leaving Theater During Climax.

Paris, May 23. — There is no doubt about the popularity of President Loubet, and equally there is no doubt about the unpopularity of his son, Paul, Loubet II., as the Czar calls him. Mme. Loubet also has given frequent offense to the people by her want of tact. The latest example of this was furnished on the occasion of the visit of Mme. and Paul Loubet, who went to the Theater Francais to see "La Plus Faible," by Marcel Prevost.

They arrived late, thus keeping the audience waiting, etiquette requiring the players not to begin until the wife of the President of the Republic has taken her place. Ten minutes before the play was over Mme. Loubet and Paul got up and left. Their leaving was a signal to the whole audience to do likewise. Feraudy was making his final speech. He had reached the very climax of the play, but the audience, stampeded by the Loubets, ruined the play.

CROOKS RUSH TO ST. LOUIS

500 English Experts Leave En Route to the Big Fair.

London, May 23. — Scotland Yard wonders why it has received no request from the police of St. Louis and New York for photographs of criminals. It is known that within the last few weeks upwards of 500 of the most expert members of the "swell mob" in London have left England for the St. Louis fair.

They are now scattered over the continent and have managed to leave Europe from almost every port in France, Germany, Italy and the east. As a matter of precaution they have avoided English ports and English boats as much as possible.

Yet New York and other centers of police activity in the United States have been silent, in strong contrast to the precautions taken at the time of the Philadelphia and Chicago exhibitions, when every well-known English crook, by the aid of his photograph, was watched from the moment of his arrival until the moment of his return to England.

Scotland Yard will be happy on demand to supply the necessary photographs and Bertillon measurements for identification.

BEGGED NOT TO SMOKE

Women Clubites Told It Affects Their Appearance.

London, May 23.—Much amusement has been caused by a prospectus sent out by the Ladies' Park Club. So far, there has been no great rush of members, and perhaps the wording of the circular may have something to do with this backwardness in coming forward.

"It is proposed," says the circular, "to form a social, residential club for gentlewomen, in the neighborhood of Knightsbridge, one that will be quiet and exclusive, without being dull or dowdy."

So far no woman's club in London has yet succeeded in achieving this ideal combination.

One of the important rules laid down is that "smoking will not be allowed in the club except by gentlemen guests." This is immediately followed by the following timid and tentative note:

"The prohibition of smoking for ladies will, it is hoped, be approved of generally, when it is remembered that apart from its social influences it is so frequently injurious sooner or later both to health and the general appearance."

As a matter of fact, every London ladies' club has its smoking room, and the committee of the new club will soon find that unless they provide one their membership will become so exclusive as to be practically non-existent.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAGUE

Lord Derby Elected to Presidency Vacated by Devonshire.

London, May 21. — It is a matter of regret to members of the British Empire League that its president, the Duke of Devonshire, should have resigned, but Lord Derby, who was elected in his stead, on the motion of Lord Strathcona, will inspire confidence among colonials. At a meeting of the league on Wednesday Lord Aberdeen moved a resolution expressing satisfaction at the conclusion of the agreement between England and France. The earl and Lord Balfour of Burleigh both warmly expressed the nation's appreciation of the noble part the King had taken in this great event. A resolution was also passed expressing sympathy with the efforts to develop cotton growing on British territory.

LOOKING FOR COLOR.

Chicago, May 23. — Viola Larsen, a strenuous girl of 18, who is working up "incidents" and "color" for a book, "The Adventures of a Young Girl," shot at herself four times last night without making a hit and was fined $100 in a police court today. She pleaded to be sent to the Bridewell, where she could get "color," and so to the Bridewell she was sent.

A year ago Miss Larsen was arrested for annoying and threatening Miss Jeannette Bond, a society girl, and was reprimanded.

"I asked Miss Bond to forgive me and she refused," she said, "and I decided to kill myself; besides, I could get no one to help me with my book."

THE RAILS SPREAD.

Salida, Col., May 21. — One man has been killed and 41 people have been injured in a wreck of a passenger train on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad (narrow-gauge line), between this city and Alamosa. The wreck is believed to have been due to spreading rails.

Frank Evanston, the engineer, died from his injuries while being taking to a hospital for treatment. The entire train left the rails. It was several hours before the victims were all removed from the train, and not one of the passengers escaped without some injury. The doors of many of the cars were blocked and the passengers had to be removed through the windows.

THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN

Interesting Sermon by Rev. Dyson Hague, of the Memorial Church.

Rev. Dyson Hague preached an eloquent sermon on "The Relation of Parent and Child" in the Memorial Church last night. "Example is what tells," said the reverend gentleman. "If the parents live up to their principles, the child is more than likely to follow in the narrow way.

Continuing, Rev. Mr. Hague said: "Some parents thought it smart for a little boy to shake his tiny fist at his father. "That incipient insubordination,' he said, 'may bring that boy to the penitentiary some day. In place of seeing that this might be the case, a mother simply laughs at the little fellow."

The control of a child was largely in the domain of manners, yet some people wanted to do away with punishment altogether. He had heard of a man addressing an audience of teachers who took a rod in his hand and cut it all to pieces, saying: "We are done with the reign of law; we have begun the reign of love." God forbid that the reign of law should end. The inmates of the prisons would rejoice at such an announcement. He that spareth the rod hateth his son.

Some parents gave in to their children, and thought they were kind to them, when in reality they were false to the children and false to themselves. First, the child must be governed, and later, when it learned to accept the law, the parents should help it to be self-governing, and there should be a mutual co-operation between parent and child.

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Hague warned the parents against one constituting himself or herself a court of appeal against the other. No good could come of it, and the parents should be one in all things when dealing with the children.

At an Episcopal convention at Thamesford on Friday addresses were given by Rev. Canon Farthing on "The Individual Christian," by Rev. Mr. Howard on "The Christian Home," by Rev. Canon Dann on "Christian Congregations," by Ven. Archdeacon Davis, on "The Onward March of the Church." After luncheon at the church Very Rev. Dean Davis preached to a large congregation.

Rev. Dr. Robt. Johnston, of Montreal, who has been attending the American General Assembly at Buffalo, was in London yesterday.

Rev. Principal Waller preached at Lucknow yesterday.

Rev. A. J. MacGillivray left today for Buffalo to attend the American General Assembly.

The First Presbyterian Church will be redecorated in a few weeks, during which time the congregation will use the new Sunday school.

Large congregations were much pleased with the sermons preached at St. Andrew's Church yesterday by Rev. Alex Esler, of Cook's Church, Toronto.

Two eloquent and deeply-impressive sermons were preached yesterday in Adelaide Street Baptist Church by Rev. T. T. Shields, jun., of Hamilton. "The Kingship of Christ," was the theme of the morning discourse, the text being John xix., 19—22. "A Sovereign's Love Expressed" was the topic in the evening, of a powerful call to the unconverted, based on David's words as recorded in 2nd Samuel, ix., 3: "Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may show the kindness of God unto him?"

The new organ at the Colborne Street Methodist Church will be opened on Sunday next.

LADY CONSTANCE IN HIGH REVELS

She Postpones Honeymoon and Holds Series of Entertainments for Her Folk.

London, May 23. — Lady Constance MacKenzie's unconventional wedding to Sir Stuart Richardson has been followed by an equally unconventional honeymoon. Lady Constance is called the "Flora McDonald of the twentieth century." Next week she and her husband will start upon a wedding tour that embraces half the earth.

Lady Constance would not leave her village in the highlands, where she was married, until she had taken an adequate farewell of the tenantry and retainers of the Cromartie estate, so she gave them, as she herself put it, "a right good time of it," and there were rejoicings on a big scale.

On the night of her wedding day 200 guests sat down to dinner and were entertained with mediaeval lavishness within the walls of her old home, and two nights afterward nearly 1,000 guests thronged the stately mansion by Moray Firth and sang and danced and feasted till dawn dispersed them.

Then there was a great farewell at midday to all the children of the district and Lady Constance, with her streaming hair, was the blithest and most light-hearted child of them all. Her passion for athletics was given full play. She marshaled all the girls and made them romp as they never had romped before. There was a tremendous tug-of-war, with Lady Constance, her sleeves rolled up, acting as the captain on one side and a girl friend as the captain on the other.

These rejoicings over, the bridegroom had to suppress his gayety of heart and go away to preside solemnly over an inductive dinner of a new minister of his native parish. Lady Constance went another way, and, while her husband was attending to his ecclesiastical duties, she spent her time in fishing and shooting.

Two days later they both returned to Tarbet House amid still more rejoicings. Next morning Lady Constance was seen doing battle with a horse that is the terror of her stable. She brought her mount to order and then was off across country, over fences, over walls and over streams to fetch medicine from a nearby town for an ill clansman, and when she came back she brought with her a Gaelic Bible printed in type of a particularly large size, for an old woman whose eyes are growing dim.

Within a few days of her marriage Lady Constance was seen with her hair streaming out behind her and the tartan of her clan flapping around her knees, speeding lige a mountain deer across the grounds of Tarbet House.

In her run she came across a high stone wall, which proved to be no impediment. She placed her hands on a coping stone and lightly vaulted over, much to the astonishment of an ancient woman on the further side. Following the swiftly receding figure, the crone shook her head and chuckled with enchanted disapproval, "Ay, ay!" she said, "she's as wild as ever, but Lord bless her, she's a good, kind soul."

Engaged in the fisheries of St. Pierre were 657 vessels, with a tonnage of 10,424 and carrying 4,624 men. Of the vessels 440, carrying 976 men, were small craft—shore fishermen.

THE THUNDERER AND HIS MAJESTY

Text of Sensational Article in Which the King Was Lectured.

Montreal, May 23.—The cable a few days ago brought the news that the London Times had openly criticised the King for his speeches in Ireland. The article in question has now come to hand by mail, and includes these remarks:

"Irishmen have a somewhat imperfect appreciation of the working of constitutional government. They are, at the same time, as suspicious a race as any on the face of the earth. They are very easily turned from enthusiasm to irritation by the disappointment of hopes which are often wholly irrational and impossible. The importance they attach to the personal element in public affairs may lead them to identify a constitutional monarch with a course of policy for which the responsibility belongs exclusively to his ministers. It would be in the highest degree unreasonable and unfair to wrest the generous and good-natured language of the King in touching upon social or economic conditions in Ireland into an expression of personal views and prepossessions in regard to legislative and administrative action. Yet there is a risk that this may happen, and that the result, when the practical outcome of events is not found to correspond with popular anticipations and aspirations, may be to produce an unpleasant reaction of feeling.

"We cannot doubt that the King's good sense and his long experience of the peculiar limitations of constitutional monarchy have made him fully alive to this danger. It is obviously expedient not to use a stronger word—to minimize the opportunities for its occurrence in a serious form, or, at all events, not to multiply unnecessarily occasions of touching upon difficult problems of controversy which have a double aspect. There is a sense in which questions like those of the land purchase policy or the development of education or the housing of the poor, may be considered non-controversial and non-political. But it is easy to twist expressions which are perfectly harmless and neutral into a form implying a bias. We have noticed in some of the Irish newspapers a tendency to handle in this way the language used by the King in referring to the hopes entertained with regard to the working of the land act, and his reply to the address read by Sir Horace Plunkett on the laying of the foundation-stone of the Royal College of Science.

"The special difficulty of a constitutional sovereign is that he cannot descend into the arena of controversy to protest against illegitimate inferences from his words, to explain away ambiguities, or even to correct palpable misrepresentations. All the more is it wise to avoid giving a community not specially remarkable for accuracy of statement or precision of thought the chance of plunging into a game of speculation so unfettered by rule. It is right that the King should show his people in every section of his dominions his hearty sympathy with them in their fears and hopes, their joys and sufferings; but it is imperative that his subjects should always bear in mind—as he does himself—that he is and will always remain a constitutional ruler. Whether the policy of any government is disappointing or not in its legislative and administrative results, it is the policy of a constitutional ministry, supported by a parliamentary majority. The sovereign may sympathize with it or not, but whether it leads to success or failure the responsibility is not his, and no juggling with words should be allowed to lay it upon him."

To get that appetizing, brown appearance and outside crispyness on roasts of lamb, beef, etc.—to keep their goodness in them they must be basted. COUNTESS CASSINI ROBBED.

Washington, May 23. — The loss of a diamond and pearl brooch valued at $1,000 was reported to the local police tonight by the Russian embassy. The jewel was the property of the Countess Cassini, daughter of the ambassador.

The robbery was committed while the Russian Red Cross bazar was being held in this city during the latter part of April. At that time a gold watch which was being raffled, was also stolen and the countess replaced the watch at her own expense.

MILD IN THEIR ACTION.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are very mild in their action. They do not cause griping in the stomach or cause disturbances there, as so many pills do. Therefore, the most delicate can take them without fear of unpleasant results. They can, too, be administered to children without imposing the penalties which follow the use of pills not so carefully prepared.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, May 23—Noon.—There was a decided improvement in sentiment this morning, and activity increased somewhat during the forenoon session. Practically all the active stocks were strong and made gains. The trading in half a dozen stocks was comparatively heavy. The most active stock was Steel, preferred, which maintained a steady tone throughout the morning. Union Pacific showed early strength, and then eased off, subsequently regaining its loss. Amalgamated Copper, preferred, and Brooklyn Rapid Transit were the two strong features of the forenoon session. Both were fairly active and very strong. There was nothing in the news of importance. There was some good buying of Erie. American Locomotive had a sharp advance. Less than $1,000,000 gold was engaged for export. Sales to noon were 179,000 shares.

Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges are closed, because of Empire Day celebration.

LIVERPOOL DAIRY REPORT, WEEK ENDING MAY 13.

[Hodgson Bros.]

Cheese—The pressure to sell still continues, especially on goods which are in any way suffering in condition, and these are freely offered—full cream September-made Canadians at 37s to 39s. On cool, perfect condition keeping cheese, there is, however, a little steadier tone, and on this class of goods holders are a shade firmer. The general demand has been quiet this week, and the trade of an unsatisfactory character. We quote today: Finest Canadian Septembers, white and colored, 40s to 42s per cwt; second grade goods, 36s to 40s; States cheese, full cream goods, irregular in value, from 34s to 38s; low grades, skims and half-meats, dull, 15s to 25s.

Butter—On strictly choicest continental and colonial produce there is a steadier feeling and in some cases a slight advance of 1s to 2s per cwt has been obtained, but anything below this class is pressed for sale at irregular values. Medium grades of butter in moderate demand. The Copenhagen quotation is again cabled unchanged for next week. We quote today: Choicest Canadian creamery, in 56-lb boxes, 80s to 82s per cwt; choicest Russian, in Kiel casks, 80s to 84s; secondary grades, Russian and Siberian, 76s to 80s; choicest Danish, 93s to 97s; choicest Argentine, 78s to 83s; choicest Australian and New Zealand, 82s to 88s; States and Canadian, medium grades, 68s to 74s.

TAUGHT FOX TO STEAL

Animal Was Trained to Fetch the Neighbors Chickens.

Barnard, Vt., May 23. — George Washington Alonzo Jackson, a negro, who lives in a cabin back in the hills with his wife and three pickaninnies, has been notified by a delegation of representative citizens that he will have to pull stakes and leave town or kill a lean red fox he keeps in a cage in his kitchen. This ultimatum was delivered after much brain tissue had been worn out in solving a problem that has caused no end of comment in the village.

During the past few months Jackson had been deriving a considerable income from the sale of hens, which he claimed to raise at his cabin. At the same time farmers began to miss many fat and valuable pullets and capons. Suspicion attached to Jackson's method of "raising" fowls, and when it was discovered that he hadn't even a henhouse he was watched. For several days the espionage was unproductive of results, but one night an amateur detective alleges he shadowed his man to a hill back of Elder Thomas' barn, where strange things happened.

Jackson was leading by a chain what in the darkness, the detective thought to be a small dog, but which eventually turned out to be a trained red fox. The fox, it is alleged, trotted along quietly behind its master until it was liberated, when it made a bee line for the elder's henhouse and disappeared within. A few minutes later it reappeared and trotted up to Jackson with a dead hen in its mouth. The watcher declares that Jackson took the fowl, put it under his coat and after a due amount of petting sent the fox back for another hen.

The pair then went on to the farm owned by the amateur sleuth, where three fat capons were obtained in the same manner. From here a trip was made to Henry Winslow's place, where an old roostern was stolen by Reynard and turned over to Jackson. The sleuth didn't interfere, but the next day told of his discovery to the head of the newly organized vigilance committee and a lawyer was consulted.

It was found after searching many calf-bound and musty volumes, that no statute governing the case exists, and it was finally decided to notify Jackson to kill the fox or get out of town. Jackson will probably dispense with his pet. How he came to catch the animal and train him to hen-stealing ways is not known, but it is a fact that the man has a wonderful influence over horses, dogs and cats and possesses a mania for teaching them tricks. He has a hog which used to parade on its hind legs until he became too fat, and he makes great pets of two bullfrogs he has taught to croak in unison.

A cross between the Newfoundland and the Eskimo dog has proved, in Europe, a great success at a water dog.

TEAMSTERS COME TO TIME

Half-a-Dozen Pay for Licenses and Costs of Court as Well.

The names of eight carters appeared on the police court register this morning for not paying their licenses. Two cases were adjourned, but the other six were withdrawn, all of whom took out their licenses. Of these, four had to pay the costs of the court for their dilatoriness.

William Leff was charged with driving across a cement sidewalk, but was allowed to go. He pleaded ignorance of the law, and also that he was engaged in beautifying his lawn by driving earth on to it.

There was practically no crime to deal with. George Skinner, the C. P. R. trespasser, was allowed to go on suspended sentence, and a drunk was discharged. Fred Luderan was charged by Harry Griffin with assault, but the defendant paid the costs and the case was withdrawn.

Mr. A. W. Walker Presented With Gold Watch by Fellow Employes

On Friday last Mr. Anson W. Walker, Clarke street, South London, was surpriserd by a visit from his coworkers of Knowles & Co., where he has been employed for the past twelve years, much of the time as foreman. During the evening, after progressive games had been indulged in, Mr. Walker was presented with a valuable gold watch, accompanied by an illuminated address, showing the good fellowship existing between him and his fellow-employes. The address was read by Miss Beatrice Rooke, and it conveyed the best wishes of the company for Mr. Walker's fortune. Mr. W. Renaud presented the watch. Mr. Walker was taken by surprise, but responded in a very feeling manner. Refreshments were served, and the jolly evening closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Walker is leaving on Wednesday next for Winnipeg, where he has accepted a position with the firm of Butman Bros.

ISCHIA IS SHAKING

Inhabitants Fear a Repetition of St. Pierre Disaster.

Naples, May 23.—The people of Ischia, the little island in the Bay of Naples, are greatly scared at the signs of volcanic activity which have been felt during the last week.

They fear that this beautiful island is in danger of being swallowed up by a volcanic eruption of the same nature as the one which destroyed Martinique.

On July 23, 188, a terrible earthquake almost shook the island to pieces and more than 4,000 people were killed.

Also in 1881 violent earthquakes took place which killed almost twenty per cent of the population. During the last week violent subterranean noises have been heard, and hot springs throwing up boiling water and mud have appeared in different parts of the island.

A number of German scientists who visited the island some time ago, expressed the opinion that the inhabitants were living continually close to great danger and that their seismographs had shown that the island is almost always vibrating from shocks caused by volcanic forces underneath it.

In the meantime the inhabitants have asked the Italian Government to send a commission of scientists to the island to find out whether there is any imminent danger.

NEW REPAIR SHOPS

G. T. R. Plant May Be Built at a Cost of $1,500,000.

Port Huron, Mich., May 23. — The removal of the Grand Trunk repair and construction department from here to some other town on the Grand Trunk system is being considered, according to information received from a reliable source. Some time ago plans were prepared for new shops, which calls, it is said, for an expenditure of a million and a half dollars. The project has since been held in abeyance.

Windsor, Ont., May 23. — Lieut.-Col. Bartlet announces that three new companies will be added to the Twenty-first Essex Regiment. One will be a Maxim gun company, composed of 12 men, and all members must be six feet in height. Another a stretcher bearer company, composed of men possessed of an acquaintance with medicine or hospital training, and the third company will consist of stone masons and engineers, carpenters and a blacksmith.

OLD RESIDENT OF LONDON DEAD

Mr. Oswald Baynes Had Lived Here for Over Sixty Years.

The death occurred this morning of Mr. Oswald Baynes, one of London's oldest residents, at his late home, 96 Fullarton street. The deceased came to London from England about the time of the rebellion, and had resided here ever since. He was a pattern-maker by trade, and worked for the Leonard firm from his arrival in London until 25 years ago, when he left the firm's employ. When the water-works system was put down in London Mr. Baynes superintended the laying of pipes.

In the years when the late Frank Cornish was mayor of London, he took a prominent part in civic matters, and was a member of the city council. Later he was a member of the public school board. He was a life-long Liberal and an adherent of the Baptist Church.

His wife predeceased him three years ago, but he leaves a family of three daughters and one son to mourn his demise. They are: Miss Lizzie, at home; Mrs. J. A. Cairncross, and Mrs. John Jepson, and Mr. John W. Baynes, all of this city.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Ross, of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, officiating.

SURVIVED HUSBAND ONLY FIVE WEEKS

Death of Mrs. Nelson Norton, of Westminster Township, Aged 82 Years.

Mrs. Nelson Norton, who was one of the earliest white natives of London Township, died this morning at her home, lot 32, concession 1, Westminster. Mrs. Norton, who was 82 years of age, was born on concession 7, of London Township, being the eldest daughter of the late Thomas Routledge. The death of Mrs. Norton is peculiarly sad, following, as it does, closely on the demise of her husband, Nelson Norton, and brother, Henry Routledge, the former having passed away five weeks ago, and the latter only last week. Mrs. Norton is survived by six brothers, George, William, Thomas, Robert and Allan, of Hyde Park, and John, East London, and one sister, Miss Jane, of Hyde Park. Five sons, Willilam, John, Nathan and Allan, of Westminster, and George, of Michigan, and two daughters, Mrs. C. Toppin, Westminster, and Miss Sarah, at home, also survive.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday to Brick street at 2:30 p.m.

HOW HOLIDAY WILL BE SPENT

Londoners to Celebrate Victoria Day in a Variety of Ways.

"Victoria Day," or what, until three years ago, was known as the Queen's Birthday, will not be marked by any special celebration in this city. The day—upon which is celebrated the birth of King Edward VII., by his majesty's own request, though he was born on the 9th of November—will be given over to pleasures of one kind or another.

Already many Sunday schools, factories and societies have arranged picnics to Springbank and Port Stanley, and the prospects are that with fine weather, large crowds will visit both places. At Springbank the theater will be open, as it will be tonight, and a first-class company of artists will be sure to please the visitors. The street railway company also guarantees a first-class car service, and a day down the river should prove a very pleasant one.

The special picnic rate on the Pere Marquette will also be in effect tomorrow, and no doubt many people will avail themselves of a day's outing at the lakeside.

'Busses are in great demand for tomorrow, too, and many picnics will be held in the woods surrounding London on the 24th.

The police this year, as in the past, have issued a ukase against the use of firecrackers on the streets, but that a large amount of firecrackers and rockets will go up in "bangs" tomorrow goes without saying.

Early in the morning, the Seventh, the splendid infantry regiment of London, will muster at the drill shed and march to the Grand Trunk station, to entrain for Niagara Falls, where the day will be spent.

There will be two baseball games of the City League in Tecumseh Park—one in the morning and one in the afternoon, and there will be a Wholesale League game at Springbank in the afternoon, and also a Junior City League game.

The Grand Opera House will also be open afternoon and evening, the attraction being "To Die at Dawn."

FOR HIS TAGLESS TEAM

Colored Man "Just Dying" to Get a Teamster's Brass Badge.

A big colored teamster walked into the police station. He wanted a brass tag for his team. It was the 'steenth request he had made for the tag, but he was again refused. His team was not up to the requirements of the authorities.

The pretty brass tag with a number cut out of it is given to those who have teamsters' licenses, but this persistent individual has not a teamster's license, although he is doing a certain kind of teaming. His license for a dray cost him just as much as one for teaming, but he has a rig that is not fit for anything other than drawing garbage. Until he gets a better-looking rig the police will not give him the much-desired tag.

The last time he came in he pleaded very hard for the tag. Not that he could do anything with it at all, but it would look so nice on the team of horses. One of the detective force held up one of the bright tags and the face of the colored driver lightened up and his mouth watered. But the sergeant was obdurate for he refused him for the fifth time at least. It is likely that there will be a daily visit from the garbage man until he does get that tag.

SAW SERVICE IN CUBAN WAR

Two American Veterans Talk About the Struggle in the Far East.

Capt. Charles L. Pettis, formerly of the Providence Journal and now representing Palmer's perfumes, of New York, is in the city, accompanied by Col. C. L. Watson, of Louisville, Kentucky. The latter claims that Kentucky whisky is superior to Canadian whisky, but the former is a great admirer of anything British. Capt. Pettis has within the last twelve months been over to Japan, and his sympathies are the same way as the British—Japanesque. He thinks they will win in spite of the odds against them, and, moreover, he says that Japan is a country of great commercial possibilities.

Both during the Spanish-American war and previous to it, Capt. Pettis was in Cuba with the Seventy-first Regiment of New York, and Col. Watson also saw service there.

Col. Watson has now two bullet scars, which mark a narrow escape from death, that he had in that war. Captain Pettis came out of the fray unhurt, but he saw some tight times. He speaks highly of the moral support that Great Britain gave to their country in that time of trouble, and his friend, the colonel, indorses his remarks about this matter.

CHIEF DISLIKES STREET HAWKERS

Waffles Man Asks for a License and Puzzles the Officials.

Sometimes the city bylaws, though there appears to be a stupendous number of them, do not cover cases which come the way of the city officials. Today a Toronto man called on Inspector McCallum and asked him for a license for a wagon to peddle hot waffles in this city. Such wagons are common enough in places such as Toronto, Buffalo and Detroit, but they will be innovations here, and the inspector didn't know what sort of license to issue the applicant.

First it was proposed to tax him $250, the fee for transient traders, but the man began to whistle "In the Good Old Summertime," and the inspector desisted. Finally the inspector consulted with one or two of the aldermen, and it was agreed that if Chief Williams was willing the waffles man should be let in for $8 per annum, under a license for an eating house.

But when the chief was consulted he was diametrically opposed to the views of the renowned Barkis, and he wasn't anything like "willin'." The chief said the city might as well let another peanut man into London as a waffles man. Now, a peanut man to the chief is a storm signal, and every time he hears the whistle blow for fresh or salted, as you like 'em, he tingles all over to order his men to throw the whole machine down the hill at the foot of Carling street, and help build up the breakwater with it. That's why the peanut man is kept on parade like Lady Jane Grey by the police.

And the chief further told the inspector that of the two evils he preferred peanuts to waffles, but would be much obliged if his miseries were not added to.

It is said, however, that as the waffles man intends to make his flap-jacks right on the wagon, he can come into London and do business, if he chooses, without even paying a license, as the law says that all goods made in Canada may be peddled from door to door in any place in the Province without a license. And the inspector told the man that he will be allowed to come here for a license fee of $8—provided he's good.

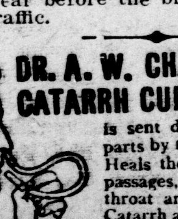

THE NEW BYRON BRIDGE

Is To Be Fully 1,000 Feet East of the Present Site.

The Byron bridge, when it is reconstructed, will be about 1,000 feet east of the present site. This decision was reached on Saturday, when the township councils of London and Westminster met at the county buildings.

The changing of the site means that there will be a large amount of money added to the cost of building the new bridge. There is an eminence that will have to be cut through, and it is understood that the county, which advocated the changing of the site of the bridge, will pay the bulk of the cost of cutting through the hill. The hill will not be so steep as the hill leading to the present bridge. There will be a rise of one foot in every twelve, and this will make the hill steeper than most hills leading to bridges. It will be quite an advantage, however.

When work will be commenced is not known. The road will have to be changed considerably, and it will likely be a full year before the bridge will be ready for traffic.

RUSS OFFICERS TO BE EXECUTED

Caught Selling Gunpowder to the Chinese at Harbin.

ROBBER BANDS GROW BOLDER

German Correspondent Says Russ Peasants Test New Rifles On Chinese.

Berlin, May 23. — A correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung, writing from Harbin, under date of April 15, gives striking details illustrative of the conditions of the Russian army, and the relations existing between the Russians and the Chinese. He says that two officers, Lieut.-Col. Korlinsky and Staff-Capt. Ignotowich, are in the Harbin prison awaiting the carrying out of sentences of death imposed upon them for selling large supplies of gunpowder to the Chinese from the army depots. The officers charged the Chinese $25 per 36 pounds, but, their supplies running low, they filled the boxes partly with sand and placed a layer of gunpowder on top. At the same time they raised the price to $50.

The Chinese merchants, incensed at the swindle, caused the matter to be made known in higher quarters, and a watch was set, resulting in the detection of the officers in the act of selling gunpowder to Russian intermediaries.

By similar means the robber bands are well supplied with the most modern rifles and plenty of ammunition.

The robber bands have grown bolder and more active than ever. Within a few weeks of the late of the letter to the Frankfurter Zeitung, a band numbering as many as 2,000 men attacked a well-guarded railway station. The Russians asserted that they positively recognized Japanese officers in command of the assailants. Continuing, the correspondent says that ferocious bitterness prevails throughout the Chinese population against the Russians. He then relates the following incidents in explanation thereof. After saying that the Russian settlers regarded the natives as being far lower than dogs, the correspondent says Russian officers assured him that the peasant settlers tested their new rifles by taking a native as a target. "One engineer with whom I traveled," he asserts, "did not salute a well-known officer because the latter had shot down eight of the engineers best laborers in mere wantonness. His complaint remained unanswered."

"In consequence of such conditions," the correspondent asserts in conclusion, "the entire laboring population are longing for the moment when they may dare to fall upon their tormentors.

FIGHTING FOR A NAME.

Another cheer breaks over the waters as he reaches its side and yields his precious burden into the hands of the eager sailors, who lay it gently in the bottom of the boat. Ned is then helped in, and the men row back to the vessel, where the savior and the saved are soon out of danger, for the heart of the lady is beating and they know that she is living.

At the command of the captain the sailors in the boat put off again for the yacht, and in less than fifteen minutes all on board are transferred to the steamer, the yacht is taken in tow, and on the steamer goes again.

There are two or three physicians on board, and they volunteer their services in behalf of the unconscious woman whom Ned had rescued.

She was borne to a double state-room attended by her anxious husband and friends, where she soon recovered from her swoon, and was pronounced out of danger. She had been leaning over the railing at the time of the colilsion and the shock had sent her with one bound over the side of the yacht into the sea.

Ned, meantime, had been furnished dry clothing by the captain, and though the outfit was much too large for him, the wise suggestion of his mother, regarding his overcoat enabled him to conceal its awkwardness somewhat, while he found himself none the worse—though a little weary—from his sudden bath and exciting adventure.

Everybody was eager to make a hero of him, but he modestly withdrew from sight, hiding himself in a stateroom,and did not attempt to land until most of the passengers were ashore.

Then, as he was about to follow, a sailor sought him, and, touching his cap with almost an air of reverence, informed him that the captain would like to see him in the saloon.

Ned repaired thither, and that officer remarked, with his most genial smile:

"You're wanted, my young friend—the gentleman whose wife you saved wishes to speak with you."

Ned would have preferred to go his way without undergoing the ceremony of being effusively thanked for what he had done, but he would not be discourteous; so he followed the captain and was soon ushered into the presence of the party from the yacht.

As he entered the stateroom his glance rested first upon a beautiful old lady, with silvery hair and sweet, delicate features, who was lying in the lower berth wrapped to the chin in soft rose blankets.

"This is the young man, sir," said the captain, thus introducing Ned to a portly, fine-looking, but rather pompous old gentleman, who immediately seized his hand in an almost convulsive grasp, while he seemed greatly agitated.

"Heaven bless! God reward you for the life you have saved, for I never can," he exclaimed in tremulous tones. "Now, tell me your name, my brave young friend, that we may know to whom we owe so great a debt."

"Pray, sir, do not make the obligations appear so great," Ned said, feeling embarrassed at being made so conspicuous before strangers, "it is but play for me to swim——"

"That may be," interposed the gentleman, with increasing emotion, "but you have saved a precious life all the same and the debt is not lessened by that fact. Your name, if you please, my dear fellow."

"Edward Heatherton, sir!"

"Great heaven!" cried the man, suddenly dropping the hand he held, as he would have dropped a redhot coal, and staggering back from Ned as if he had struck him a blow, instead of having very quietly uttered his own name.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Ned regarded the man with wonder at this sudden and strange behavior.

"What can it mean?" he asked himself—this extreme agitation at the mere mention of my name?"

Then a sudden flush rose to his brow. There could be but one explanation of it all; these people must be connected in some way with the man who had so wronged his mother before his birth and were consequently taken back at being confronted by the son of the man who had been guilty of that wrong.

Ned searched the man's face with an eager eye as these thought occurred to him, but he read there only pride, arrogance, and an indomitable will, and was instantly repelled thereby.

Then he turned his glance from him to the frail figure reclining in the berth, and his heart went forth at once to the gentle, sweet-faced woman, for she semed in every way the opposite of her haughty husband, and was regarding him with a surprised and eager wistfulness that touched him deeply.

"What is it, dear? Why are you so disturbed? What did he say his name is?" she asked in a gentle but wondering tone, for she had not distinctly caught the name.

"Heatherton — Edward Heatherton, madam," Ned responded, watching her closely as she said it.

"Heath-er-ton! Why, the same as ours!" she said, catching her breath slightly in pronouncing it.

Ned's heart gave a painful leap at her words.

The name of these people was Heatherton, also! He had not thought of that. Could it be possible that they were the parents of his father?

"Yes—yes," the man broke in, nervously. "I—I—er—it seemed so strange to me that—that this young man's name should be the same, that I was—was quite taken aback; for there are so few of us, you know. It's a—er—remarkable coincidence," he continued, drawing forth his handkerchief and wiping the perspiration from his crimson face—don't you think so, captain? Doesn't it strike you so, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington?" turning to his friends.

Then, without waiting for them to reply, he again addressed himself to Ned, though it was evident that he labored under a painful restraint.

"I am sure we are unspeakably grateful to you, young man, for the inestimable service which you have rendered for us today; my wife surely would have been drowned but for your promptness and courage. I feel that we must try and make you some return; if—er—if you will do me the honor to let me draw a check for——"

"Sir!" exclaimed Ned, with a mighty heart-throb of repulsion at such a proposal.

Money for a life!

Was the man's soul so mean and sordid that he gauged even human life by dollars and cents? And did he measure his, Ned's character, by the standard of his own vulgar nature?

"Oh, husband!" breathed his more delicately organized wife, while she cast a deprecating look at Ned, as if beseeching him not to be offended, or judge her husband too harshly for his lack of refinement.

"Well, what is it now, Rachel?" he demanded, with a touch of irritation in his tone. "Surely the—the obligation is very great," he added, falteringly, for in spite of his natural tyrannical nature, his wife was his idol, and it unnerved him whenever he thought of how near he had come to losing her.

"Yes—beyond any price," she murmured, with gentle emphasis. Then, turning again to Ned, she continued. with touching sweetness: "I bless you with all my heart, my young friend. I am more grateful than I can express for the noble service you have rendered me; for, even though I am growing old, the world and life are very pleasant to me; and be my future years few or many, I shall never forget that I owe them to you."

She held out her delicate hand to him as she ceased speaking and Ned saw there were tears in her eyes.

Ned took it—what a fair, slender,ladylike hand it was; and a strange thrill crept along the nerve of his arm to his heart. He believed that she was a woman whom he could both love and reverence.

"Believe me, dear madam, I could ask no greater reward for what I have done than to have won such kindly words from you," he said, with a quiver of emotion in his voice, then, gently releasing her hand, he bowed courteously, but with something of conscious dignity to the other witnesses of the scene, after which he turned and abruptly left the room before anyone realized his intentions.

Healthy Kidneys, Pure Blood.

BY MEANS OF THE KIDNEYS ONLY CAN THE BLOOD BE PURIFIED AND THE KIDNEYS ARE KEPT HEALTHY BY

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

At this season of the year the kidneys are always sure to be more or less deranged.

The work of filtering from the blood the poisonous impurities which result from the artificial winter life is too much for them, and spring finds the blood loaded with waste matter and the kidneys in a sluggish and clogged condition.

The effects are felt throughout the entire system. The liver, in sympathy with the kidneys, becomes slow and torpid in action, the bowels are constipated and digestion is impaired, giving rise to headaches, dizzy spells and feelings of discomfort.

The quickest and most satisfactory way of setting the kidneys right is the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This great family medicine is indorsed by the many thousands who have tested its merits. Acting as it does on kidneys, liver and bowels, it is not only prompt to relieve, but thorough and lasting in the benefits which it bestows.

Next to a personal test of this preparation, probably the best evidence of its value is found in the enormous sale which it has throughout the length and breadth of this continent.

NO JEWELS IN TOMB.

Hudson, N. Y., May 21. — There were no valuable jewels in the Livingston vaults at the cemetery in this place, according to a letter received today by the Hudson Register from John Henry Livingston, who writes from France, where he recently read the stories about the looting of the burial vault. FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR PLATE GOES TO DYMENT STABLE

Sapper of the Barrie String Wins Premier Event of Canadian Turf.

The King's Plate, the premier event of the Canadian turf, was run at Toronto on Saturday in the presence of 20,000 persons, and Sapper, the game son of Corktown, won in a field of fourteen, making the second consecutive victory for Dyment, Thessalon, of the Barrie stable, having captured it in 1903. Nimble Dick and War Whoop, the second and third horses, made the struggle, with Hawkins, owned by Mayor Beck, close on their trail. The day, in point of attendance, was a record breaker. Twenty-six books and one combination found it impossible to handle the money that was attempted by those of the sporting fraternity. Sapper was at odds of 5 to 2, and that Barrie, his native town, backed him heavily there is not the least doubt. Locally there was quite a pot of money lost. Several books were run in London and the Peck pair were backed at odds that started at 40 to 1 and never came below 10 to 1. War Whoop, the public choice, was backed heavily at 2 to 1.

The time of the race was 2:12. All in all the day broke all records—time, books and atendance.

Starter Murray lined the fourteen horses up at 4:40. Conspicuous in the parade was War Whoop, with his white stockings and muzzle. In ten minutes the bunch lined up well together, and Murray let them go to a start that was satisfactory. The pace set by Sapper, in front from the first, was one that brought shouts from even the laymen in the crowd as the horses finished the first quarter and passed the betting ring. Nimble Dick was on the Barrie horse's flank and very close behind came a team made up of Chappel Boy, from Sandwich, and Golden Crest, who were followed by Nesto a bit back. Then came the bunch, in which War Whoop was caught in a pocket. Romanelli was striving to get him out, while Sapper, Nimble Dick, Nesto and Hawkins (with Otto Wonderly in the saddle) were leading with a short gap between each. Sapper was running easily on the back stretch, while War Whoop was still in the pocket. There he stayed until the stretch was reached, when Romanelli by a piece of good work, handled him out of the pocket, passed Hawkins and Nesto and threw the glove to Nimble Dick. This was the race. Neck and neck it looked from the stand, but Nimble Dick had the slight lead and War Whoop was forcing him to set a faster pace. Sapper had come in with three lengths to the good, and Nimble Dick came under the wire a second behind the sorrel colt. In the meantime Nesto had dropped back to tenth position, but Hawkins led the stragglers. The finish saw the local colt fourth, as last year; Hendrie's Heather Jock, fifth; Seagram's Conomore, sixth; Osborne's Butter Ladle, seventh; Osborne's Golden Crest, eighth; Beck's Grand Lodge, ninth; Nesto, tenth; Seagram's Virtuoso, eleventh; Narod, twelfth; Chappell Boy, thirteenth and Perfect Dream, fourteenth and last.

Ferdinand made the record of 2:13, that was broken by Sapper.

Mr. Dyment was presented with the plate immediately after the race, and he also received the hearty congratulations of the crowd. Seagram, the owner of Nimble Dick, reminded Dyment that his winning horse was from one of his (Seagram's) mares. The race brings about $2,900 to the winner, the second horse $450, and the third $250. Sapper, the winner of the plate, was purchased at a bargain from Richard Wells, of Aurora, by N. Dyment for $100. Mr. Wells bought Kate Hardcastle, his dam, from Mr. J. E. Seagram at one of his sales for a very small sum.

ROSE SMASHES ANOTHER RECORD

The Michigan Wonder Beats Horgan's Shot-Putting Mark 5 1-2 Inches.

Ralph Rose, the Athletic wonder from Michigan, smashed the world's shot-putting record at Chicago on Saturday afternoon.

It was no surprise to the critics when Rose hurled the shot further than any other man has ever put it. The world's record was 48 feet 2 inches, held by Dennis Horgan, of Ireland. At Philadelphia, it will be remembered, Rose equaled this put. Saturday he made the record his own by putting the shot 48 feet 7 1-5 inches. This was his great triumph. His other big performance was the hammer throw, his mark of 154 feet 1 1-5 inches being better than has ever been done in a western conference meet.

The breaking of records in the two-mile run and hammer throw, with close competition in most of the other events, lent unusual interest to the Yale-Harvard dual athletic meet, won by Yale, at Cambridge on Saturday.

In the two-mile run, King, of Harvard, won in 9 minutes 54 1-5 seconds, lowering the dual record by 1 3-5 seconds. In the hammer throw, Shevlin, of Yale, hurled the weight 153 feet 9 inches, 6 inches further than the dual record.

BASEBALL.

THE Y. M. C. A. GAMES.

In the Y. M. C. A. Boys' League two games of baseball were played on Saturday. In the first the Chippewas defeated the Yales by a score of 18 to 12. The Argonauts defeated the Mattawas 15 to 14.

Thousands Cheer the Winners—Splendid Performance by Hermis.

Amid the rousing cheers of 40,000 persons H. B. Duryea's Tanya, Shaw up, won the National stallion stakes of $11,915 to the winner, for 2-year-olds. five furlongs, over the Eclipse course at Morris Park on Saturday. The Duryea filly was favorite at 11 to 10 and was heavily played. The National stable's Belle Strome, paying 4 to 1 for place, was second, with Blandy, Newton Bennington's entry, third.

It was a race from the lifting of the barrier to the finish and after the race horsemen were loud in their praise of the daughter of Meddler-Handspun.

The Grand National steeplechase was won by Saint Jude, 10 to 1 shot. He was ridden by Ray and ran in second position until he cleared the last jump, when he caught Caller and easily beat him home on the flat. Judge Phillips went the course without a mishap and secured third money. Cleary and Lavator were both going strong when they fell.

Hermis captured the last race of the day amid one of the wildest scenes that ever took place at Morris Park. The good chestnut horse just galloped home, an easy victor, while the big crowd present cheered him to the echo. The pace which Hermis set was a cracking good one, for he went the quarter in :24 2-5, the half in :48 3-5, five furlongs in 1:00 1-5 and rounded out the mile pulled up in 1:39 2-5.

GOOD AND BAD BALL WAS PLAYED AT TECUMSEH PARK SATURDAY

Londons Had a Merry-Go-Round Experience With Blue Labels—Rockets' Easy Victory.

There was a curious admixture of two kinds of ball—good and bad—at Tecumseh Park on Saturday, when two more games in the City League were played before a large crowd. At times the play verged on brilliancy and again it was ragged—so much so that there were cries of "call the game."

Little need be said of the first game up to the ninth inning. It was a fairly clean exhibition, till that stage was reached, but there was nothing sensational about it. The Blue Labels had a new battery in Howell and Barrett and they did their work well, although Howell was hit very hard at times. Had the fielders done their work as well as he pitched a different tale would have to be told. Barrett caught a good game, nipping a number of men neatly when they tried to steal a base, but he was troubled with a touch of light-headedness in the latter part of the game, when the Labels were torn to pieces. He did not go after several balls that went by him, and as a result a couple of runs were counted.

Sheere pitched the game for the Londons, and pitched well, while Gunn caught a good game. Fleming's work at shortstop was commendable. He is a player with a future, if he should care to make baseball his special line. The Londons have brought the good out of him, as they have done with O'Rourke and many other players.

The Londoners secured one run in the second inning, two in the sixth and one in the eighth. The Blue Labels had scored none up to this time, but in the ninth when appearances were against them they pulled up and tied the score, throwing the fans into the height of excitement. Ryan drew a pass and on O'Rourke's error Cripps got to first. Barrett was retired by Wanless, and then Howell drove a pretty one into center. It was good for two runs and two bases for Howell. Collins drove to third and got to first. Chester Stein, the best all-round man on the team, hit to center. Collins reached third and attempted home, but was blocked and started to run back. Barrett was too quick, however, and nailed him at third. Then Stein scored on O'Rourke's fumble of Ward's drive, and after Fitzmaurice got to first Delaney was put out and the side retired.

The tenth inning was most disastrous for the Blue Labels. They had been doing well until the extra inning, when the Londons landed on Howell furiously, touching his delivery for six hits and exciting the fielders to such an extent that they juggled everything possible. Howell was blamed for the breakdown and was replaced by Crowe at the tail end of the inning. Howell, however, was not alone responsible for the loss of the game, for while he was hit freely, the fielding was not what it might have been. The Blue Labels were unable to redeem themselves in the last half.

The McClary team will have to take several gallons of some good tonic if they wish to play the quality of ball demanded by the City League. They are weak now—decidedly weak. Where they need the strengthening is in the fielding alone. In Early and Steele, the team has a good battery. There is some good talent in their nine, and it sorely needs pulling together. The Rockets did not have much trouble in winning the game. Twelve errors aided them in this, together with ten hits. They scored in the first, third, fourth, seventh, eighth and ninth innings, while the foundrymen were only able to do anything in the sixth when they scored three runs. The score:

PRESIDENT LOST IN OPENING GAME

Vice-President's Rinks Take First Bowling Match at London Rowing Club.

The opening of the lawn bowling season in London was marked by perfect weather, and the same enthusiasm and enjoyment that has characterized the play at the London Rowing Club during several years past. The green on Saturday was in good condition, considering the weather of the preceding two weeks. The president's side lost to the vice-president's side by 14 points, with seven rinks on each side. On three of the four rinks the bowling was very close. President English himself lost to Vice-President Alexander by five points. Two of the president's skips won—J. H. Pritchard from J. D. Tytler, by nine points, and Ed Weld from H. Finchamp, by one point. Another rink which won by but one point was T. S. Clarke's, James Mattinson being the loser. The race was close throughout. The only rinks that struck even were John Stevenson's and M. H. Rowland's, the score being 20 to 20. The vice-president's side led by a small advantage to the finish on this rink, when the president's side had four shots to make to win, and they succeeded in making three. On all the rinks the measuring line was out quite frequently, so close was the play. The scores:

TANKARD OWNER TO BE DECIDED

Day's Sport at the Springwood Gun Club Tomorrow—Coming Tournament.

The members of the Springwood Gun Club are looking forward to a most pleasant morning's sport at the traps tomorrow. The competition for the Robinson tankard, which has been under way during the past six months, will be finished. The conditions of this tankard were that each member should shoot once each month from Dec. 25 last to May 4, and the member with the three highest scores made during that time, added to the score made on May 24, should be the winner.

The competition has been very keen and the winner will have to do some good shooting to win out. As it stands now, some four or five are very close. The three best scores made are:

S. M. Screaton	19	18	18—55
A. Tillmann	19	18	17—54
W. A. Balkwill	19	17	16—52
B. W. Glover	18	17	14—49
W. A. Brock	16	16	16—48
A. W. Bryce	18	14	12—44

C. Bowman	17	12	10—39
S. G. Simcox	19	13	11—43
Dr. Arnott	16	15	12—43
J. Brown	12	11	10—33

Besides this event, there will be sweeps and practice events for those who visit the shoot. Shooting will begin at 9 o'clock.

The Hunter Arms Company, of Fulton, N. Y., has donated to the club a handsome gold badge valued at $15, which is to be given to the member who makes the best average during the year. The committee has not as yet decided on the rules to govern this contest, but they will be announced shortly.

The secretary is now preparing the programme for the club's second annual tournament, which will be held on June 16 and 17, and they will be in the hands of the shooters during the coming week. This tournament will be, one of the shooting events of the season. A fine programme is assured, with a popular division of money. There will also be a championship event, for a handsome silver tankard, known as the Labatt trophy, for the amateur championship of Western Ontario.

The club grounds, which are on Richmond street north, directly on the line of Wellington street cars, are now in fine shape. A new set of traps, with new trap and pull box, are being put in, and the public generally is most cordially invited to go out and visit the club on the 24th.

ENGLISH LAD IN A FIERCE DRIVE

Heavily-Backed Favorite Won Classic Event at Chicago Worth $15,000.

English Lad, the heavily-backed favorite, won the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne on Saturday by half a length in a fierce drive with Prince Silver Wings. Moharib, winner of the Kansas City Derby, was third. The mile and a quarter was covered in 2:06, a fraction of a second slower than English Lad took in his tryout over the same course a few days ago. Flower King, on which many had based their hopes, finished fourth, with Bill Curtis fifth, Gus Straus sixth, Military Man seventh and Merry Pioneer eighth. The other six carded to start were scratched.

English Lad's victory proved immensely popular and when he passed under the wire, winner of the $15,000 classic, a tumult followed among the 15,000 persons that packed the grandstand and crowded the infield.

For the first time in the history of the Chicago race tracks the Western Union Telegraph Company was barred from the track. The order was made, it is believed, because of the recent action of the telegraph company in refusing to continue its racing service to the poolrooms throughout the country. Newspapers and all other customers of the telegraph company suffered from the unexpected order of the track officials.

The threatened raid on the bookmakers and track officials by constables amounted to practically nothing. While there were a score of constables carrying warrants to be served, only two arrests were made, and this was done so quietly that very few, if any, of the patrons of the track had any knowledge of the proceedings. The arrests had no effect on the bettng, as the men were allowed to continue taking bets after having been served with warrants.

ONE-SIDED BALL IN WHOLESALE

Bennet and White Nines Defeated On Saturday—Some Slugging.

The Wholesale League games at Springbank on Saturday afternoon, drew a large crowd as usual. The day was an ideal one for the game, and a large number of ladies were present. The first game, which was between the champion McClary team and the Bennets, resulted in favor of the McClarys, who had an easy victory. The furniture men did not play their usual game in the field, making no less than ten errors. Beltz was injured in the first inning, and had to retire. The McClary nine batted hard in the fourth, seventh and ninth innings. Eccleston's running catches in left field, and Maxwell's double play, were the features. Score:

SECOND GAME—PERRINS VS. WHITES.

Perrin's team defeated White's in the second game by a score of 12 to 4. The fielding of the Perrin nine was almost perfect, the two errors made at third base being the only misplays. BATTLING NELSON LIVED UP TO SOBRIQUET

If ever a man lived up to his sobriquet, Battling Nelson, of Chicago, did so at San Francisco, on Saturday, when after 18 rounds of terrific fighting he knocked out Martin Canole, of Fall River, Mass.

It was a battle between an exceptionally clever boxer and a hard slugger of wonderful staying powers, and the man with the punch won. With the exception of the sixth round, in which he was sent to the floor, Canole had the fight by a good margin on points up to the eleventh. He had landed five times to Nelson's once, though without much effect. Beginning with the eleventh round, however, Nelson's greater staying power began to assert itself and he backed Canole all over the ring. The latter landed when he pleased, but his blows were powerless to stop the rugged youngster from Chicago. In the eighteenth round Nelson went for his man with a rush and landed a left flush to the Massachusetts boy's jaw. Canole went down for the count and arose in a dazed condition. Nelson quickly whipped his right to the face and the fight was over.

WINTER MEETING TO BE ABANDONED

Crescent City Club Cannot Make Ends Meet Without Telegraph Revenue.

It has been officially announced at New Orleans that the Crescent City Jockey Club will probably abandon its annual winter race meeting held in that city, in view of the action of the Western Union Telegraph Company, in ordering abandonment of the race track telegraph service. Officials of the Jockey Club stated that it will be impossible to run the winter meeting except at a heavy financial loss without the revenue derived from the Western Union Company, which paid the race track management there $10 per day for every poolroom in the United Staes and Canada taking the race reports. Revenues from all other sources, it is claimed, would not begin to meet the expenses of the meeting, much less leave a profit to the management.

A Chicago, however, a different state of affairs exists. Instead of declining to handle the race reports, as it did at New Orleans, the Western Union has been notified that it will not be allowed to operate any wires from the track.

A leading law firm of New York city is stated to have accepted a retainer to direct an attack of great proportions upon the race tracks. All the courses in existence in or near New York will be subjected to the most vigorous campaign in the history of racing. The war will, it is und rs od, be a retaliatory measure growing out of the suppression of poolrooms. It is even intimated that plans are being formul ted for legisiation which would make racing in that state impossible.

THE G. T. R. BONDS.

Toronto, May 23.—The Grand Trunk Railway of Canada has offered for sale in London £500,000 of the stock guaranteed by the Canadian Government. The stock is offered for sale at 96½. The last subscription sale of this class of stock was at 97½.

The stock is a part of the £4,760,000 issue authorized last year for providing funds to double-track portions of the main line and other facilities for handling additional traffic.

In an official statement regarding the issue, Mr. Hays says:

"The decrease in the receipts during the first three months of the current year has been due to the unprecedented severity of the winter in that part of Canada served by the company's system, and is not attributable to the falling off in the volume of traffic moved."

MEN ARE BADLY WANTED TODAY

Need As Greatly Felt Now As in the Time of Jeremiah.

"Men Wanted" was the subject of a sermon by Rev. G. W. Howson, at the Askin Street Methodist Church last evening. It was a good sermon. Mr. Howson prefaced his lesson by a reference to the time of Jeremiah, when men were wanted. We were at the twentieth century, he said, and that want was as applicable now as then. He did not know but that the article was as scarce today as in the time of Jeremiah.

If man were to be measured by his strength, or bulk, or physical powers, then he was easily beaten by the lower beasts; if he was to be measured by his intellectuality alone (though that was a higher standard, being human, and the other being animal), then he pointed out the most brilliant men had gone down in the scale of morality. Those were not the kinds of men wanted. He would give God's definition, which said nothing about a man's bulk, strength, intellectuality, nationality or creed: "He was a searcher after the truth and executeth judgment." That was, the man God wanted did not consider what was politic, but what was right, and practiced a right life. Some young men said the preacher, had an idea that religion was good enough for woman but not for man.

Men were wanted in the homes, in the workshops, and in business, who would be righteous. Men were wanted in the editorial chairs of the country who would form and not follow public opinion. Men were wanted in public life, and upon this phase Mr. Howson dwelt at some length, claiming that there was too great a lack of independence of thought, too many men sacrificed their moral convictions at the shrine of partisanship, and would vote for iniquitous measures. No party was pure, no party had not made mistakes, and yet, he said, men would vote for the devil to put him into Parliament if he were the political candidate.

Men were wanted in the churches, too, both in the pulpit and pew. In the pulpit they wanted men who would not be spineless and nerveless, but strongminded men and the same kind were wanted among the people generally. The need of the day, he concluded, was men, and he added that in the newspapers in heaven they would never see adyertisements for "Men Wanted."

"Happy Hooligan," a rough-house bunch of fun, with a laugh jammed into every line of it, made good with a small audience in the afternoon, and a large audience in the evening at the Grand on Saturday. "Happy" is a fellow who manages to get himself into all sorts of trouble, and to be always getting the worst of it in a humorous fashion. The part is played by Ed. Coe, who is a very fair comedian, and a skilled musician. A Dutch and an Irish comedian, Chas. Sanders, and John Price, work off many good gags, and keep the house in laughter, while the Knox brothers perform some very clever musical stunts. There are some good choruses in the production, too, and several pleasing numbers were well rendered.

"TO DIE AT DAWN."

The stage pictures which have determined the success of the new play, "To Die At Dawn," are magnificent, and include "My Old Kentucky Home," "The Birthplace of Abraham Lincoln," "The Old Mill," and its working water wheel with tons of water. The stalactite chamber in the famous mammoth cave in Kentucky, the corridor of the Hardin County jail, and the reception room in the executive mansion at the Frankfort, Kentucky. "To Die at Dawn," with Miss Elsie Crescy and an excellent company, will be the attraction at the Grand tomorrow, matinee and night.

"THE COUNTY FAIR."

The Daily Mail, London, England, speaking of Neil Burgess, in "The County Fair," which comes to the Grand on Thursday next, says: "Unstinted praise must be given to Mr. Neil Burgess, who displays the highest qualities as a comedian in the chief role of Abigail Prue. The audience is kept in constant merriment whenever Mr. Burgess is on the stage. The supporting company is an exceptionally strong one."

ADVANCE SALE FOR "RED FEATHER."

Owing to numerous applications from outside points for seats for "Red Feather," the advance sale for that attraction will open at the box office at the Grand on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

CLASS CONFIRMED BY BISHOP M'EVAY

Impressive Ceremony at St Mary's Church—Plain Talk to Congregation.

A beautiful and inspiring ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church Sunday morning, when a class of 43, mostly boys and girls, but including several adults, was confirmed by Bishop McEvay. Shortly after 8 o'clock the children assembled in St. Mary's school, the girls dressed in immaculate white, and the boys neatly attired in black. In charge of Sisters Genevieve and Cleophus, they marched in a procession to the church, the boys preceding, and being led by Edward Noulty, who, assisted by Willie Fitzpatrick, and Austin Lane, carried the banner of the Sacred Heart. The girls followed, Olive Pudney, assisted by Olive Sherlock and Mary O'Leary, carrying the banner of the Blessed Virgin. Mass was celebrated by Bishop McEvay, assisted by Fathers McKeon and Cherrier, and Holy Communion was administered by the Bishop.

At the 10:30 o'clock mass the children again assembled in the school, and marched to the church. Mass was celebrated by Father McKeon, assisted by Father Cherrier, after which the class was confirmed with the beautiful ceremony of the church.

After repeating the Lord's Prayer and the "Hail, Mary," with Father McKeon, the bishop addressed the class, impressing upon them the fact that henceforth they were members of and participants in the benefits of the Catholic Church, of the duty they owed their Creator, their church, their parents and themselves, to lead upright, moral lives. He asked them to pray to Almighty God for strength to perform the duties they had imposed upon themselves, and also to pray to the Blessed Virgin to intercede for them.

Bishop McEvay then called upon all to make a resolution to abstain from the use or abuse of intoxicating liquors until they are at least 21 years of age. As the bishop implored the children to keep to their vow, he took occasion to strongly condemn the treating habit.

"It is not so much the drinking of liquor as the treating habit, that is to be deplored now," he said. "Two men meet on the street, and one suddenly develops a thirst. It occurs to him that his friend must also be thirsty, and at once they seek a barroom. After that the rest is easy. It frequently winds up in a prolonged intoxication. And why is this done? Simply because men are slaves to a habit, and have not the courage to free themselves. If men want a drink, why do they not go for it, get it, pay for it, and be done? In speaking, as I do, I do not hope to reform the older generation of men who treat, but I hope to be able to make an impression upon the children.

"The women, too, are not free of blame as regards the treating habit," continued his lordship. "Though women do not go into the hotels or saloons, they sometimes receive a call from a friend in the morning, and to show their good feeling for their neighbor, they procure a black bottle, and it isn't tea that's in the bottle, either. This is a very bad practice and shows that the men are not alone addicted to the treating habit."

The bishop lectured parents who allowed their children to run at will, and who imagined that all that was necessary to the raising of a family was to provide them with food and clothes. The parents must remember that they must set their children a good example, as well as feed and clothe them. They should do nothing themselves which would tend to lead the little ones astray, and they should keep the children in at night, and should jealously censor the class of reading matter which was allowed to come into the house.

At the conclusion of the mass, the children were again marched to the school, where they were dismissed.

In the afternoon they were enrolled in the scapular, and a special vesper service was held in the evening, at which Mr. Fred Jenkins, of Cleveland, sang. The music rendered by the choir was excellent.

BOY INJURED UNDER A TRAIN

Eight-Year-Old Edward Fishbein Loses Leg as Result of Accident.

Seated on the ground, with his left foot mangled, and his face smeared with blood, little Edward Fishbein, a Jewish boy of 8 years, son of Moses Fishbein, of 87 William street, was found by a colored youth in the yards of the Pere Marquette, between Hill and South streets, late Saturday afternoon.

The little fellow was doing his best to remove the stocking on the injured leg, but he was so weak from the shock of the accident that he was unable to do so. The ambulance was called, but before its arrival two of the railway men made a stretcher of their arms and carried the boy to Victoria Hospital, where the foot was amputated by Drs. H. A. and W. J. Stevenson.

How the accident happened is a mystery. A train was made up in the yards, and the Fishbein boy was seen on the siding sometime before it started. The injured lad is deaf and dumb, and it is thought, he was climbing on the cars, and did not hear the whistle, which gave the warning that the train was about to move, and that in attempting to alight, he fell underneath the wheels. At all events, he was not struck by the locomotive, as he was near the middle of the train when it started.

Though terribly injured, the boy did not give way to an outburst of tears until he saw he was being taken to the hospital, instead of to his home. Then he struggled violently with his bearers and cried bitterly.

The people of the neighborhood say that it is a wonder more children are not injured at the place where young Fishbein met with the accident, as they are constantly playing around the cars and are continually in the way of the railroad men.

The injured boy was reported today as being somewhat improved.

YOUNG MAN IS SLIPPING AWAY

Methodist Church Is Confronted by a Serious Problem Today.

Rev. Mr. McRobert, of Thorndale, spoke on the young man problem at the Centennial Methodist Church last night.

He referred strongly to the fact that young men were gradually becoming more and more estranged from the church. The old warmth that especially characterized the Methodist Church, had decreased greatly, and some said that we were passing through a great spiritual famine. The indifference manifested towards church service was striking, at any rate many of the people, who had once been inspired, now went through living the life of a tortoise. Especially was this the case with young men, whose absence from church service was becoming more and more marked. As the young men were staying away from church, the standard of morality was degenerating, and they were daily losing their respect for it. The young people would one day be old people, the speaker said, and they must be brought back before an unconquerable habit is developed. It was the duty of every member of the church to do his best to bring back the young man to church. He was slipping away and a stronger influence than the one that was taking him must be brought to bear.

TWELVE INNINGS WITHOUT A RUN

Tail-Enders in the American Play a Good Game of Ball On Saturday.

A rather remarkable game was played at Washington on Saturday between Washington and Detroit. Twelve innings were played, and not a run was scored by either team. The game was called on account of darkness. The teams are the tail-enders in the American League, Washington being last, and Detroit seventh. Apparently Patsy Donovan is pulling the Senators up a notch or two.
