THOMAS PAUL,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

RESPECTFULLY announces to the Officers of the Garrison and Gentlemen of Quebec, that he has removed into those premises in St. John Street, formerly occupied by Mr. GRAVE, and lately by Mr. NIXON,— where he has every accommodation for carrying on the various branches of his Profession; and he hopes, by strict attention and reasonable charges to merit a continuance of that support which it shall be his study to merit.

FURNS.

W. ASHTON & Co.

MOUNTAIN STREET, NEXT DOOR TO PRESCOTT GATE.

HAVE MANUFACTURED throughout the summer, and now offer for sale a lock of

LADIES' & GENTLEMEN'S FURS, which for neatness of style and quality of materials they feel proud to offer for competition.

Their having for some years past secured, during the summer season, probably the best at Trade in the Province, enables them to undersell any house depending on the winter trade for twelve months' support; this, together with the advantages they have over every other furriers in this city by importing their materials direct, are the only hints they think necessary to drop.

All description of FURS made to order, and turnable if not approved of.
In repairing any article, or altering it to a present fashion, W. A. & Co. pledge themselves that their charges will be on the most moderate scale, and will forfeit the value of any article when promised to be done at a certain time, in which there may be a single shilling's want of PUNCTUALITY.

NO SECOND PRICE.

Quebec, 20th Sept. 1838.

TO THE LADIES OF QUEBEC.

M HANN can with confidence recommend his present Stock of Ladies' and gentlemen's made up FURS, which for workmanship and quality will be found far superior to those sold by interlopers in the City Trade.
Quebec, 9th October, 1838.

GOOD INVESTMENT IN THE FUR TRADE.

M HANN, Fur Manufacturer, from London, in consequence of the state of his affairs, offers for sale his entire Stock of made up Furs, Skins, and working implements. Any one desirous of embracing such profitable business, will be instructed in all the branches of the Trade by a regular bred seller.

Poetry.

AMINE'S SONG.

(FROM BULWER'S NEW ROMANCE.)

Softly, oh, softly glide, Gentle Music, thou silver tide,
Bearing, the lull'd air along,
This laid from the Rose of Song!
To its port in his soul let it float,
The frail but the fragrant boat—
Bear it, soft Air, along!

With the burden of sound we are laden,
Like the bells on the trees of Aden,
When they thrill with a tinkling tone
At the wind from the Foly throne.
Hark! as we move around,
We shake off the bonds of the sound—
Thy presence, beloved, is Aden!

Sweet chime that I hear and wake!
I would, for my loved one's sake,
That I were a sound like thee,
To the depths of his heart to flee,
If my breath had its senses bleed,
If my voice in his heart could reach,
What pleasure to die like thee!

* The Mahomedans believe that musical bells hang on the trees of Paradise, and are put in motion by a wind from the throne of God.

SCENES IN LIFE AS SEEN FROM A WINDOW.

Diagonally opposite to my window, stands one of the grandest structures on Broadway.
It is costly with stone and marble, lofty porticos and colonnades. This edifice first attracted my attention by its architectural beauty, and eventually fixed it by a mystery that seemed, to my curious eye, surrounding its inmates! But I will throw into the story-vein what I have to narrate, for it is a novel-ette in itself.

A lady of dazzling beauty was an inmate of that mansion; and, for aught I knew to the contrary, its only inmate. Every afternoon, arrayed in simple white, with a flower or two in her hair, she was seated at the drawing room window, gazing out upon the gay spectacle Broadway exhibits on a pleasant afternoon. I saw her the first moment I took possession of my nook, and was struck with her surpassing loveliness. Every evening I paid distant homage to her beauty. Dare a poor scribbler aspire to a nearer approach to such a divinity, enshined in wealth and grandeur?
No! I worshipped, afar off. "The distance lends enchantment to the view." But she was not destined to be so worshipped by one afternoon she was at her window, with a gilt-leaved volume in her hand, when a gentleman of the most graceful bearing rode past my window. He was well mounted, and sat his horse like an Arabian! He was what the boarding school misses would call an elegant fellow! a well bred man of the world, a ro-matically handsome man! Tall, with a fine oval face, a black penetrating eye, and a moustache upon his lip, together with a fine figure, and the most perfect address: he was, what I should term, a captivating and dangerous man. His air, and a certain indiscrib-able comme il faut, bespoke him a gentleman.
As he came opposite to her window, his eye, as he turned it thither became fascinated with her beauty! How much lovelier a really lovely creature appears, seen through a "plate glass!" Involuntarily he drew in his spirited horse and raised his hat! The action, in a manner, the grace, were inimitable. At this unguarded moment, the hind wheel of a rumbling omnibus struck his horse in the chest.
The animal reared high, and would have fallen backward upon his rider, had he not, with remarkable presence of mind, stepped quietly and gracefully from the stirrup to the pavement, as the horse, losing his balance, fell violently upon his side! The lady, who had witnessed with surprise the involuntary homage of the stranger, for such, from her manner of receiving it, he evidently was to her, started from her chair and screamed convulsively. The next moment he had secured and remounted his horse, who was only slightly stunned with the fall, acknowledged the interest taken in his mischance by the fair being who had been his innocent cause, by another bow, and rode slowly and composedly onward, as if nothing had occurred. The next evening the carriage was at the door of the mansion. The liveried footman was standing with the steps down, and the handle of the door in his hand. The coachman was seated upon his box. I was, as usual, at my window. The street door opened, and, with a light step, the graceful form of my heroine came forth and descended to the carriage. At that moment the stranger rode up, bowed with ineffable grace, and—blessed encounter with the omnibus wheel!—his bow was acknowledged by an inclination of her superb head, and a smile that would make a man of any gold seek accident even in the "omnibus's month." He rode slowly forward, and in a few seconds the carriage took the same direction. All the other carriages passed the same route. It was the customary one! At the melting of twilight into night, the throng of riders and drivers repassed. "The lady's" carriage (it was a landau, and the top was brown back) came last of all! The cavalier was riding beside it! He dismounted as it drew up before the door, assisted her to the step, and took his leave! For several afternoons, successively, the gentleman's appearance, mounted on his noble animal, was simultaneous with that of the lady at her carriage. One evening they were unusually late in their return. Finally the landau drew up before the door. It was too dark to see faces, but I could have declared the equestrian was not the stranger! No! He dismounted, opened the door of the carriage, and the gentleman and lady descended! The footman had told his horse, while he, happy man! occupied a seat by the side of the fair one! I watched the progress of this affair for several days, and still the stranger had never entered the house. One day, however, about three o'clock in the afternoon, I saw him lounging past, with that ease and self-possession which characterised him. He passed and repassed the house two or three times, and then rather hastily ascending the steps of the portico, pulled at the bell. The next moment he was admitted, and disappeared out of my sight. But only for a moment, reader! An attic hath its advantages! The blinds of the drawing-room were drawn, and imperious to any glance from the street; but the leaves were turned so as to let in the light of heaven and my own gaze! I could see through the space, directly down into the room, as distinctly as if there was no obstruction! This I gave as a hint to all concerned, who have revolving leaves to their venetian blinds. Attic gentlemen are much edified thereby! The next moment he was in the room, his hand upon his heart—another, and I saw him at her feet! * * * * * The declaration, the confession, the acceptance, all passed beneath me, most edifyingly. By his animated gestures, I could see he was urging her to take some sudden step. She at first appeared reluctant, but gradually becoming more pleasurable, yielded. In ten minutes, the landau was at the door. They came out arm in arm and entered it. I could hear the order to the coachman, "Drive to St. John's Church."

"An emprovement," thought I, "Having been in breaking cover, I will be in at the death." and taking my hat and gloves, I descended to the street, bolted out of the front door, and followed the landau, which I discerned just turning the corner of Canal Street. I followed full fast on foot. When I arrived at the Church, the carriage was before it, and the "happy pair" already joined together, were just crossing the troitair to re-enter it, the grinning footman, who had legally witnessed the ceremony, following them.

The next day, about noon, a capacious family carriage rolled up to the door of the mansion, followed by a barouche with servants and baggage. First descended an elderly gentleman, who cast his eyes over the building, to see if it stood where it did when he left it for the Springs. Then came, one after the other, two beautiful girls; then a hand-some young man. "How glad I am that I have got home again," exclaimed one of the young ladies, running up the steps to the door.

"I wonder where Jane is, that she does not meet us?"

The sylph rang the bell as she spoke.
I could see down through the blinds into the drawing room. There was a scene!

The gentleman was for going to the door, and the lady, his bride, was striving to prevent him. "You shan't," "I will," "I say you shan't," "I say I will," were interchanged as certainly between the parties, as if I had heard the words. The gentleman, or rather husband, prevailed. I saw him leave the room, and the next moment he opened the street door. The young ladies started back at the presence of the new footman. The old gentleman, who was now at the door, inquired as he saw him, loud enough for me to hear, "Who are you Sir?"

"I have the honour to be your son-in-law."

"And Sir, who may you have the honour to be?"

"The Count L——y" with a bow of ineffable condescension.

"You are an impostor, Sir."

"Here is your eldest daughter, my wife," replied the newly-made husband, taking by the hand his lovely bride, who had come im-promptly forward as the disturbance reached her ears. "Here is my wife, your daughter!"

"You are mistaken, sir; she is my housekeeper."

A scene followed that cannot be described.
The nobleman had married the gentleman's charming housekeeper. She had spread the snare, and, like many a wiser fool, he had fallen into it.

Half an hour afterwards, a hack drove to the servants' hall door, and my heroine came forth closely veiled, with bag and baggage, and drove away. The count, for such he was, and sate no more! I saw his name gazetted as a passenger in a packet ship that sailed a day or two after for Havre. How he escaped from the mansion remaineth yet a mystery!

THE VIRGIN HEART.—There is nothing under heaven so delicious as the possession of pure, fresh, and immutable affections. The most felicitous moments of man's life, the most estate of all his emotions and sympathies, is that in which he receives an avowal of affection from the idol of his heart. The springs of feeling when in their youthful purity, are as fountains of unsealed and gushing tenderness; the spell that once draws them is the mystic light of future years and undying tenderness. Nothing in life is so pure and so devoted as woman's love. It matters not whether it be exerted for husband or child, sister or brother, it is the same pure unquenchable flame; the same constant and immaculate glow of feeling, whose most proper food is misfortune, and whose undeniable touchstone is trial, where true friendship is tested and fidelity proved. Do but give her one token of love, one kind word or gentle look, even if it be amid desolation and death—the feeling of that faithful heart will gush forth as a torrent in despite of every earthly bond or mercenary tie. More priceless than the gems of Golconda is a virgin's heart, and more devoted than the idolatry of Mexico is a woman's love. There are no sordid views, no qualifying self-interest mingled in the feelings that prompt the holy flame. It is a principle and characteristic of her nature, a faculty and an infatuation which absorbs and concentrates all the fervor of her soul, and all the depths of her bosom.
There is more thrilling felicity derived from an union of true, unselfish, and uncalculated hearts, than all the conquests of Alexander or Napoleon, the wisdom of Socrates, or the wealth of Cæsar. None can rightly appreciate the feelings that such pure refinements are calculated to call forth, but those who have drunk at its gushing and sparkling fountains; whose pure hearts and enlightened minds can only appreciate a diamond of such magnificent worth and endearing attractions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FROM LATE EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN PAPERS.

Fourteen Protestant Clergymen have challenged an equal number of Roman Catholic priests to meet them in controversial discussion in Kilkenny.

For a small piece of land at Brighton, less than an acre, for which the owner gave £350, he has been offered £5000, but requires £2000.

The Lincolncast Chronicle states that a treadmill is to be attached to the military barracks in every garrison town.

One inmate in England committed in 1837, no less than 93,000 persons.

The newly born son of the Marquis of Abercorn is heir to an unincumbered rental of £200,000 a year.

M. Faun, editor of the literary portion of the Debats at Paris, has drawn, in an Italian lottery, the prize of the villa Lazzarini, near Lucca, valued at 100,000 crowns.

Per Eufantio, ex chief of the St. Simonians, is now a village postmaster in France.

COST OF MR. MACAULAY'S INDIAN CODE.—However problematical the success of the attempt to frame a code of laws for India, the expense is quite certain, and also certain to be enormous.

The Legislative Council, or President of the Law Commission, besides £12,000 for passage-money, has 10,000 a year. Each of four members, £5,000; and there is a Secretary with £3,000 which, in bare salaries, is £23,000 per annum.

Then come house-rent, office-rent, clerks, stationary, and printing, which, to be within bounds, we shall only estimate at £7,000. Here then is a net annual expenditure of £10,000.

The expense be first tested by "the usual code." The proposition of the mere project—for it is not yet law, and most likely never will be—look, as is stated by the Commissioners themselves, two years and two months. The project of the penal code, then, cost upwards of £85,000; every one of its twenty-six chapters cost upwards of £3,300; every octavo page of it near £1,300; every clause of it £177; every word in it a couple of guineas.

Dr. McClellan's code was said to be written in letters of blood; without the least reference to the merits or demerits of Mr. Macaulay's, it may be said to have been written in letters of gold.—Spectator.

AN IGNORANT DEFENCE.—The trial which excited the greatest interest at the Wills Assizes, was that of George Thom, convicted of stealing a quantity of brush baskets.

The interest was in some degree justified by the situation in life the prisoner filled; but more particularly from the knowledge of the fact that he was on the eve of marriage with a young lady of considerable fortune of Tower-bridge.

The day, indeed, had been fixed for the ceremony, and the house in which they were to reside was handsomely furnished.

Two professional gentlemen of great legal ability were engaged to prepare his defence, and an eminent counsel pleaded for him; but his guilt was too palpable.

One of the modes resorted to by the prisoner to obtain an acquittal was very ingenious, and, had he observed a little more caution, it might have succeeded.

Whilst in confinement in the new prison, he tore off part of a letter he had received from Miss Rymer, his intended bride, upon which he wrote a memorandum of the articles found in his possession, as if for the purpose of entering them in his day-book at some future time in his account.

This memorandum a person was procured to place in the factory of the prosecutor. After being satisfied that this was done, the prosecutor was for the first time given to understand that the prisoner had debited himself with the articles, and a request was made that search be made for the memorandum.

A search was consequently made, and the memorandum soon found. Suspicion was excited; an application was made to the governor of the prison; the prisoners' papers were taken from him, and amongst them his letter from Miss Rymer, from which the piece of paper containing the memorandum was torn.

Had this letter been destroyed, in all probability the prisoner would have been acquitted. Miss Rymer, who is represented as a most amiable and worthy young woman, and of irreproachable character, so far suffered her attachment to the prisoner to overcome every other feeling, as to swear that the letter, when sent to the prisoner, was in the same mutilated state that it then was.

The governor of the prison, however, swore positively to the contrary. The jury found the prisoner guilty.

and he was sentenced to ten years' transportation. It is stated that Miss Rymer will follow him to his place of destination.

MADAME CELESTE.—Previously to leaving England, this distinguished actress addressed the following to the Liverpool Chronicle:—

"To the British Public.—Being about to sail for the United States, I take this method of acknowledging, with a grateful heart, the distinguished patronage and kindness which has been so liberally extended towards me throughout the United Kingdom.

To the London press particularly, and the British press generally, I am under many obligations, for their indulgence and generous criticisms on my various professional exertions. I feel this compliment warmly, as I have not the pleasure of being acquainted with a single person connected with the London Press, I leave England without ever having had an alteration or harsh word with manager, actor, or actress, and I feel proud in knowing that I am esteemed and respected by my professional associates.

"To part from those we reverence and esteem is a sad feeling, but to meet and part is the allotted portion of life; affection may breathe and gratitude entwine their sweetest, their dearest, and most enduring bonds, still, like the baseless fabric of a vision, they meet to be dissolved.—They are wrought to be broken.

I have one consolation left, I am going to the land of my adoption—America!—the region of the mountains and the lake, where hospitality rivets welcome to the stranger, and liberty admits him to the full-right of the free. For the last time, O! God bless, I leave you my non-bound slaves, with a saddened heart, but sincere prayers for blessings upon your "first-anchored side." God bless you all. Farewell. CELESTE."

UPPER CANADA.

HAMILTON, Oct. 15.—Three deserters, we believe, from the 85th regiment, were brought in here on Tuesday, under charge of Captain Keir and party, from Brantford. They were arrested in the woods by a party of fugitives, and marched into Brantford, from whence they were transmitted to Toronto by boat.

It has been mentioned to us that several regiments of militia are about to be raised for the service of Canada, and we see it also in some of several of the papers. We sincerely hope that it is the case, for prevention is better than cure, any day. It has also been stated to us, that the house lately erected near the wharf, by Mr. Daniels, has been taken by the government for an hospital.

It ought to be recollected, that we have a fishery in Lake Ontario extending from Cobourg to Wellington, in which we believe the Americans have far the larger participation. This ought not to be suffered. We are credibly informed, that Americans carry off, annually, from our shores, white-fish to the value of £20,000!

LOWER CANADA.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—It is reported that Government intends erecting a number of block houses round the city. This would be infinitely better than the useless barriers that the public were annoyed with last winter.—Courier.

The warehouse of Adam Ferris, Esq. was broken into on Saturday night, and a quantity of wine in bottle carried off. A good deal of violence must have been used in effecting an entrance; and the wonder is that none of the night police heard the noise.—Id.

THE TRANSCRIPT.

QUEBEC, THURSDAY, 25th OCT. 1838.

LATEST DATES. From London, Sept. 15. From New York, Oct. 20. From Philadelphia, Sept. 20. From St. Louis, Oct. 10. From Paris, Sept. 17. From Toronto, Oct. 10.

New York papers of Saturday last, furnish no later European news, nor any local intelligence of interest.

The correspondent of the Quebec Exchange mentions the sailing of the steam-ship Royal William, on Saturday, at two o'clock, p.m. Among her passengers was Captain Conroy, A. D. C. the bearer of despatches from His Excellency the Governor General to the Home Government.

The case of the United States vs. Van Ransselaer, the celebrated Navy Island General, came on for trial in the District Court of Albany, on the 15th inst. In consequence of the absence of witnesses for the prosecution, it was postponed until the October term of 1839, which may be considered equivalent to an acquittal.

The Montreal Herald of Tuesday last, says Captain Gaultie, A. D. C. and Colonel Eden, have arrived in town, and it is understood that several battalions of Provincial troops for five years' service, are to be embodied immediately. We believe they will be stationed in the disaffected parishes and along the frontier.

In alluding to the harlequinism of the chairman of the recent meeting held at the door of St. Roch's Church, to compliment Lord Brougham, the New York Gazette says,— "If this Mr. Dolet is so clever at this business, and is such a 'host in himself,' we don't see what necessity there was for him to go to the economy of having anybody about him—he is a meeting it seems in his own person, and can not only be president, vice-president, and several secretaries, as is the modern fashion, but he can be all the speakers, resolution mover, seconder, and taller, and finally voters enough to carry everything unanimously! We hope he appointed himself a committee to present the resolutions to Lord Brougham."

By the way, whilst on this subject, we ought to record an instance of Mr. Charles Hunter's ubiquity, which was almost as wonderful as Mr. Charles Dolet's versatility, on the occasion above alluded to. It appears that this gentleman, who did the part of secretary, was at some distance from the meeting when the proceedings which he recorded so faithfully took place. This may seem strange; but

"All men think all men mortal but themselves."

Amusing of persons favorable to a Friendly Union for the promotion of useful knowledge and the suppression of vice, will take place at the Court House of this city, this afternoon, at three o'clock.

From the Montreal papers we learn the melancholy fact that another officer of the 15th Regiment, Lieut. Roe, expired on Friday last, at Chamblay, from the effects of the injuries which he sustained while escaping from his hotel-room in the officers' barracks, on the night of Thursday last, when that building was enveloped in flames.

The Canadian Amateurs of Quebec will perform at the Theatre Royal this evening. We have not heard the names of the pieces to be acted, nor the object to which the proceeds of the performance are to be applied.

The Quebec Gazette (French) of Saturday publishes a list of public men in Canada who have been accused of high crimes, and the manner in which they have been disposed of. Among the later instances given, are the following:—

PIERRE BERNARD, imprisoned on accusation of treasonable practices in 1810,—appointed Judge in 1813.

JEAN THOMAS TACHÉREAU, imprisoned in 1810,—appointed Judge in 1817.

FRANÇOIS BLANCHET, imprisoned in 1810, appointed Inspector of Hospitals in 1813.

ELIEZER BERNARD, mover of the 92 Resolutions in 1831,—Judge in 1836.

JAMES STEAR, impeached the Chief Justices in 1814,—appointed Attorney General in 1826,—dismissed on charges made by the House of Assembly in 1832,—appointed Chief Justice in 1838.

George H. Ryland, Esq. has been appointed Clerk of the Executive Council, in the place of his father, deceased.

The steamer British America, on her last trip to Montreal, broke the walking beam of her starboard engine. She was deeply laden, and had two heavy barges in tow. The larboard engine enabled her to bring on the barges to the foot of the current, and she reached the port of Montreal in safety, at twelve o'clock on Sunday.

The celebrated American tragedian, Forrest, who has recently taken an active and conspicuous part in politics, has been put in nomination for Congress by the Leo-Focos of New York, but declines to run.

Mr. Adam Thom will proceed to England in a few days, where, we are sure, his powerful talents will be exerted in our favour wherever he can find an opportunity.—Montreal Herald.

From Willis' beautiful letters "Under the Bridge," published in the Mirror, and which surpass any thing of the kind in the English language, not excepting Charles Lamb's writings in the same plain sparkling vein, we learn that the poet Campbell is coming to America, to visit that hallowed vale of Wyoming, which his pen has immortalized, though never held by the author. * * * * * Boz? In other words, that marvellous young writer Dickens, whose P. F. Quackian papers have spread like wildfire over the reading world, also proposes to embark shortly in the Great Western.—New York Star.

From the Quebec Gazette of yesterday. By permission of Capt. Ping, of H. M. Ship Inconstant, a letter bag is opened at the Quebec Exchange for that Ship, to close on Thursday morning, 1st November next, at 9 o'clock, for Plymouth.

We understand that Mr. P. E. Leclere has been named Superintendent and Inspector of Police for Montreal, and the Police Ordinance has been extended to the whole Island of Montreal, to Isle Jesus and Bourcherville, Valerona on the South Shore, and Repentigny and Lac Beauport on the North Shore, also to the whole extent of the harbour of Montreal, under the Act 45, Geo. III. cap. 12.

The Quebec Police is to be increased to 75 men. A petition has been sent in to His Excellency for a night watch in the Lower Town; for which we suppose the augmented police force will be sufficient.

* * * * * Mem. can scarcely expect us to publish his statements, implying charges against persons "in high places," without being informed of the name of his author.

BALDNESS.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR is the grandest ornament belonging to the human frame. How strangely the loss of it changes the countenance, and prematurely brings on the appearance of old age, which causes many to recoil at being over-aged, and sometimes even shun society to avoid the jests and sneers of their acquaintances; the remainder of their lives consequently spent in retirement. In short, not even the loss of property fills the generous thinking youth, with that heavy sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair.—To avert all these unpleasant circumstances, OLDDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUBRIA stops the hair from falling off on the first application and a few bottles restores it again. It likewise produces eyebrows and whiskers; prevents the hair from turning gray, makes it curl beautifully, and frees it from scurf. Numerous certificates of the first respectability in support of the virtues of Olddridge's Balm are shown by the proprietors.

Read the following:

ROBERT WHARTON, Esquire, late Mayor of Philadelphia, has certified, as may be seen below, to the high character of the following gentleman:

The undersigned do hereby certify that we have used the Balm of Columbia discovered by J. Olddridge, and have found it highly serviceable not only as a preventative against the falling off of hair, but also a certain restorative.

JOHN S. FURRY, 101 Spruce st.

JOHN GARD, Jr., 123 Arch st.

It will certainly raise its virtues in the estimation of the public, when it is known that three of the above signers are more than 50 years of age, and the others not less than 30.

From the Mayor,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
City of Philadelphia.

I, ROBERT WHARTON, Mayor of said city of Philadelphia, do hereby certify that I am well acquainted with Messrs. J. P. English, John S. Furry, and Hugh McCurry, whose names are signed to the above certificate, that they are gentlemen of character and respectability, and as such, full credit should be given to the said certificate.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the city to be affixed, this sixth day of December, &c.

CAUTION.—Observe that each bottle of the genuine Balm has a splendid engraved wrapper, on which is represented the Falls of Niagara, the agent's name, &c.

VICTORIA HOUSE.

(RUE SOUS-LE-FORT—QUEBEC.)

GEORGE ARNOLD, PROPRIETOR.

IS now open for the reception of visitors. The situation and accommodation of the premises combine advantages unequalled by any similar establishment in Quebec, and unsurpassed in the Canadas. The arrangements have been made under the immediate superintendance of the proprietor, and as the business will be conducted by himself personally, every attention will be ensured to those when any favor him with their visits. To those gentlemen in particular who are connected with the business of the port, the situation of the premises, in the direct vicinity of the Steam-Boat Wharves, and Custom House, offers great advantages; and to the public in general, the arrangements of the establishment are such as to present every convenience. On the ground floor are an extensive, Saloon and Reading Room. On the first floor are two spacious rooms, which by means of folding doors between, may, whenever required, be converted into one magnificent apartment of 70 feet by 32 feet, and 15 feet high; a dimension which renders it a most eligible place for meetings, &c. The numerous apartments contained in the three upper stories are fitted up for the accommodation of families and individuals. A spacious gallery on the roof commands a splendid view of the harbour of Quebec and the surrounding country.

The Wines and other liquors of the establishment will be of the first order; refreshments of all kinds may be had throughout the day; and it will be the study of the proprietor in providing for his guests to combine moderate charges, and superior accommodation.

GEO. ARNOLD.

Quebec, 23d June, 1838.

NOTE.—Lumber Merchants and others connected with that branch of commerce, will meet with every accommodation and attention, at the above establishment, the proprietor having for many years past had an extensive acquaintance with parties in that line, from the Upper Province and the United States.

HEADACHES, DROPSIES, SWELLINGS, ALL SORES, RHEUMATISM. It is absolutely asserted on the most positive proof that the above complaints are arrested and cured by the timely use of Hay's Liniment. It is impossible to find more in this paper to present those proofs which are conclusive and convincing. They may be seen at length as below.

The true article has a splendid engraved wrapper with agents' and proprietor's name, and may be had of HEADACHE.

DR. E. SPOHN, a German physician of much note, having devoted his attention for some years to the cure and removal of the causes of NERVOUS AND SICK HEADACHE, has the satisfaction to make known, that he has a remedy which by removing the causes cures effectually and permanently this distressing complaint. There are many families who have considered Sick Headache a constitutional incurable family complaint. Dr. S. assures them that they are mistaken, and labouring under distress which they might not only alleviate, but actually eradicate by the use of his remedy. It is the result of scientific research, and is entirely of a different character from advertised patent medicine, and is not unpleasent to the taste. To be had of

SHIP-BUILDERS TAKE NOTICE.

THE Subscriber will furnish full Gangs of Rigging, fitted complete to order, warranted equal to any that is imported, in every respect—also, a very superior article; Blocks made of the best seasoned timber by patent machinery, and as cheap as the common blocks made by hand; and has constantly on hand a general assortment of Cordage, Chains, Anchors and Ship Chandlery. Those now building, or intending to build vessels this winter, will find it their interest to call and leave their orders.

S. C. SALISBURY, Agent.

Store on Atkinson's Wharf, Office, 40, St. Peter Street.
Quebec, 23th Sept. 1838.

DR. BRANDETH requests a perusal of the following Article:—

LIFE AND DEATH,

Every thing has two distinct principles to its nature; one

THE PRINCIPLE OF LIFE

THE OTHER

THE PRINCIPLE OF DEATH.

So long as the principle of Life predominates, Health is enjoyed. When the principle of Death, Sickness takes place. How is this accounted for?

By the principle of Death, I mean the principle of decomposition or decay, which is each hour going on in the human frame from the hour of birth, to that of our final exit. While the natural outlets—the pores—the bowels—and all other directories of the body, discharge these decayed particles as fast as they are generated, we are in a state of health; we are free from the presence of the disease.

When, from breathing an impure atmosphere, living in a vicinity of swamps, or where we are in the constant habit of coming in contact with bad smells—effluvia arising from obnoxious accumulations of animal or vegetable bodies in a state of putridity, being infected from a living body under the influence of disease in a malignant state; or sedentary occupations; or, in short, any cause which promotes decomposition faster than the stomach and bowels and the other excretories can remove, naturally; we are then in a state of disease. And should the cause which produces this state of the body remain, and nothing be done to drive the accumulated and accumulating impurities out of the body, the principle of death or decomposition, will become paramount, and the last glimmering of life depart from the once animated clay.

How then, shall we counteract these death dispensing influences? How?

PURGE!—Yes—Yes—Yes—Yes—Yes—Yes!

The magic in that word shall yet be understood, if this hand or brain can accomplish so mighty an explanation. Yes, purged be that pain in the head, the back, the bowels, the feet, the stomach, the side, the throat. Does it arise from internal or external cause,—I still say purge!—For know this self-evident truth, that pain cannot exist, save by the presence of some impurity—some deposit of decomposed particles upon the organ or part where the pain is seated. And purging discharges this impurity by the bowels, and continuing the practice daily will cure every complication of disease; and will prevent any one from becoming seriously indisposed; even when in constant contact with the most malignant fevers which cannot by possibility seriously affect the body, if we are continually careful to preserve it in a pure state, by frequent and effectual purgation. Hippocrates says, "Purgation expulses what must be expelled, and patients find relief; if, on the contrary, they are tormented by purgation, it is a proof there are yet matters which must be expelled."

The subscriber of this has resided in every variety of climate, and by always purging on the first appearance of sickness, has enjoyed for the last ten years, uninterrupted health. For we may call such the state of him who is never sick more than 6 or 8 hours, about the time it takes to secure the effect of a purgative. The purgative I make use of is my grandfather's pills, and they are, to my certain knowledge, the most judiciously balanced purge in existence. I have used them for 8 months daily, in doses of from 2 to 16 pills per day, to satisfy myself as to their innocence. It therefore, cannot be doubted. It is my opinion, that any person, be he ever so prostrated by disease, provided he is capable of taking exercise at all, may lengthen his life to 60 years, by continuing to assist his natural functions with the BRANDETH VEGETABLE PILLS. Death never can take place until the Principle of Decomposition puts out the lamp of life. And that would seldom be before 60 or 70 years, was this principle of purgation always resorted to on the first appearance of sickness.

In the hope that these remarks may be of some service, I am the public's obedient servant,

D. BRANDETH, M. D.

Great caution is required to procure the genuine Brande's Pills. Druggists and Chemists are never in any place appointed Agents by Dr. B. All his authorised Agents have an engraved certificate of agency, signed by himself; unless this certificate can be shown, do not purchase. This caution is absolutely necessary to guard the public against spurious Pills.

HÆMORRHOIDS—NO CURE NO PAY!

Price $1—Hugs Liniment—No Fiction.

THIS extraordinary chemical composition, the result of science and the invention of a celebrated medical man, the introduction of which to the public was invented with the solemnity of a death-bed bequest, has since gained a reputation unparalleled, fully sustaining the correctness of the lamented Dr. Guidley's last confession, that "he dared not die without giving to posterity the benefit of his knowledge on this subject," and he therefore bequeathed to his friend and attendant, Solomon Hays, the secret of his discovery.

It is now used in the principal hospitals and the private practice in our country, first and most certainly for the cure of the Piles, and also so extensively and effectually as to baffle credulity, unless where its effects are witnessed externally in the following complaints:—

For Dropsy—Creating extraordinary absorption at once.

All Swellings—Reducing them in a few hours.

Rheumatism—Acute or Chronic, giving quick ease.

Sore Throat—By cancers, ulcers or colds.

Croup and Whooping Cough—Externally, and over the chest.

All Bruises, Sprains and Burns—Curing in a few hours.

Sores and Ulcers—Whether fresh or long standing, and fever sore.

Its operations upon adults and children in reducing rheumatic swellings, and loosening coughs, and tightness of the chest by relaxation of the parts has been surprising beyond conception. The common remark of those who have used it in the Piles, is "it acts like a charm."

THE PILES.—The price $1 is refunded to any one who will use a bottle of Hay's Liniment for the Piles, and return the empty bottle without being cured. These are the positive orders of the proprietor to the Agents, and out of the many thousands sold, not one has been unsuccessful.

We might insert certificates to any length, but prefer that those who sell the article should exhibit the original to purchasers.

CAUTION—None can be genuine without a splendid engraved wrapper, on which is my name, and also that of the Agents.
