NOTE AND COMMENT

"Secretz of the Movies Revealed," reads a headline in a Buffalo paper. Recent developments would indicate that they have been holding out quite a lot of stuff on us.

Limerick grocers have been fined by a Sinn Fein court for selling British jams and soap. If British traders were forbidden to sell Irish beef, bacon and butter the new-found agriculturel prosperity of Ireland would vanish in a night.

C. C. Boswell, of Missoula, Montana, a copper millionaire several times over, went to sleep in front of the Cadillac hotel, Detroit, one eve ning last week, and when he woke up he found 40 cents in his hat. The money had been contributed by sympathetic passersby, who mistook the millionaire for a beggar.

Men domestic servants is the latest thing in Ottawa and they are said to be making good in a department that women hitherto have regarded as exclusively their own. The probable explanation of this is that about the only form of labor in which there are applications that cannot be filled is domestic labor.

Automobile murdering is continuing with regularity and despatch. Nearly every day has a record of big a hurry and a disregard for the be trifled with.

Huntsville Forester:-Boys of very tender years are found out at late and under no apparent restraint whatsoever. They enter gardens and help themselves with the same freedom they would expect to be granted at their own home table. And the tragedy of it is that they appear to have no understanding hatever, as to such actions being unlawful or improper. The curfew bell at nine throughout the summer and would serve to improve the home control of boys, and girls, whose unrestrained liberties are a menace to themselves and an annoyance too frequently to others.

steadily toward their goal, when they turns are not what they expected. And others still come to the conclusfion that if industry and earnestness they will try other methods. Much of not to inherent evil, but to being in will buy. Success cannot be forced to bloom, like a hot house plant. It takes its time to develop and impatience instead of hastening it, is the surest way to destroy it. Do not be in a hurry for success. Go tranquilly on your way to meet it remembering that the plants which are slowest to come to maturity, live the longest .-Acton Free Press.

What is a Recommendation Worth? That depends very much upon who gives it. For instance, we recommend Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" as the cheapest mileage you can buy. And we know a lot about tires. We have to in our business. Hence our recommendation should carry some weight, apart from the fact that we are benefiting to some extent by your We know that if you buy once, you will buy again-because you will find that our recommendation saves you money on mileage. We will give you a guarantee with Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" too—a guarantee that protects you against any defect in material or workmanship which may arise at any time in the life of the tire. And we will get you an adjustment on that basis should necessity arise, without quibble or red-tape. Drop in and let us show you Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" to-day if you can.

THE KLU KLUX KLAN

Branches of the Klu Klux Klan are being established in Canada. There is no demand for them here and no prospect of them flourishing, says the Mail and Empire. Canadian laws are sufficient to protect the pro perty and lives of Canadian citi perty and lives of Canadian citizens and our police forces are in no need of volunteer assistance. Although the organization claims to have clans in nearly all the States of the American Union and a total membership of 650,000, we believe that it will not long survive even its home, for it is being, exposed at the present time by the New York World, which declares it to be simply a grafting scheme operated for the enrichment of its superior officers, of whom Col Simmons, of Atlanta, Ga., is chief. The colonel, it appears, is custodian of the "Imperial treasury." which is enriched by $5 every time a member joins. The initiatoin fee is $10, which is split equally between the treasury and the "wholesale and retail sales-men of memebrship." The Klan operates its own robe factory where the uniforms of members are turned out. These sell for $6.50 and cost $1.25. In a letter to Col. Simmons, Captain Henry P. Fry, who had served as "kleagle," as the chieftain of a district lodge is called, said: "I further decline any longer to keep secret any part of pur scheme to establish in America an Invisible Empire, fraudulent in its conceptions, vicious in its nature, political in its object and sub ject to the will of a self-constituted emperor who seeks to exploit the American people for his own personal aggrandizement." Originally the Klan was established to protect the Southern whites against the excesses of the newly enalso plainly heard the full-voiced defranchised negroes. The original purwas achieved, and then the Klan degenerated into a outlaw organization which terrorized whites and blacks alike and became the machinery for satisfying the grudges of its directors. Eventually it came into conflict with the Government and dissolved. A short time ago it was revived by Col. Simmons, though how Col. Simmons got himself appointed as chief of the order nobody appears to know. In several States it has become active as a sort of moral censor, punishing persons the law cannot touch but whom the Klan considers are not good citizens. The chief objection taken to it is that the Klan organization for the purpose of "defending" the State against Jews, Roman Catholics and negores. Its literature contains bitter attacks upon these. It circulates fraudulent docu-ments, and whole-heartedly supports every effort to counteract the influ-ence of Jews in the United States. It boasts that it is for 100% Americanism. Now that it is being exposed it there is no room for it in this coun-

SALARIES FOR WIVES

A Proposal Said to be Increasingly Popular in Great Britain

We learn from correspondents in England that a proposal that all wives should have comfortable salaries is being received with increasing interest and approval. It now eems to be extensively discussed in Great Britain. From the time since memory runneth not to the contrary the practice has been common among families which are particularly well fixed. A marriage "settlement" has long been an important part of the matrimonial negotiations. In France the "dowry" seems to be almost essential to marriage in all classes with pretense to respectability, but in that country it is the girl's family which digs it up and it seems to depend on herself how much of it she keeps control of. As a rule, however, great competence in that direction. The English movement, if correctly described by correspondents, seems to be for putting the matter on a more regular basis and placing all the responsibility on the happy man. Before undertaking to keep house and sew on the buttons for any man the lady will want to know who there is in it for her. When a strange girl is brought into a household to do its necessary work she does not do it merely for board and lodging. Not by a jugful. She wants cash and plenty of it and collects every week.

And if a woman not of the family has to be paid, with the right to quit any minute if she does not like it or can better herself, who will deny that the wife is not far better enti-led to a salary who assumes greater responsibility and has to hire a lawver if she wants to quit?

SPEAKING MC .NG PICTURES

"Speech films," differing radically from, and more efficient than, the "talkies" already shown in America, have len evolved by a Swedish scientist, who claims his discovery will revolutionize the movie industry. The inventor is Sven Aison Bergland, and his discovery is the result of twelve years of experiment. His photophone sychronizes the photographic record of action with the phonographic record of sound. One record only is needed and that is done on an ordinary film. While one camera takes the action a second is directed at a ray of light which is agitated by the actor's voice. A demonstration just given at the experinental laboratory at Blvik, near Stockholm, was completely successful. A lecture by Professor Oscar Montelius was photophoned and thrown on the screen. Not only were the professor's actions reproduced

Brampton, Sept. 22.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham Norval, was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding this afternoon, when their daughter, Ethel, was married to Mr. Freeman Kersey, for merly of Watford. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and was conducted by Rev. Walter Patterson

The bride was attired in a costume of navy blue cloth with hat to match and carried Ophelia roses. Her neph ews, Masters George and Jack Cuningham, attended her and bore the ring on a basket of flowers. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kersey left for a trip to British dence in Georgetown.

SUFFERING OF

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work.
I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a

his fine gray eyes. "You don't really. No son of mine could possibly love a motorman's daughter. And think of the opportunities you have and are throwing them away for a little, middle-class, Brockton stenographer."

"Mother, I can't let you talk like that about Edith, and I'll ask you to avoid mentioning her in the future." "Holty tolty! How pompous we are, and as surely as you do marry her I'll disinherit you and you can have tove in a cot—the real thing."

don't care a snap of my finger whether you disinherit me or not."
With finality he rose to go, and frantically Mrs. Gunter cast about for another line of tactics. "Ah, but Phil," she exclaimed, dropping her haughty manner and holding out her arms pleadingly, "you know how I love you, my only boy, and this thing will kill me. It will grieve me to death—fou know my heart is bad and my whole life is wrapped up in you. I lie awake at night dreaming "Of course not; it'll take some new girl that'll sweep him off his feet." "But where can we find such a creature?"

"Let me think." Mrs. Mangston puckered her brow as she stared absently at the floor. "Now, I have a sister who has just moved here," she went on after a moment, "and it seems to me that she said that she was going to have a little girl visiting her next week. "Isn't she the most fascinating thing you ever saw? And what beautiful hair and eyes she has!" raved Mrs. Gunter on the way home.

"She's all right," answered the man carelessly.
"I'm going to give a reception and "Three weeks," she scoffed to herself. "I'm an idiot to expect them to do it in so short a time." She was interrupted by the sound of suppressed laughter followed by a knock outside her door.

"Come in," she called, and in walked Philip and Randolph holding hands like two school children.

"Mother, I want to introduce my wife!" said Phil happily. "What! Why, it can't be possible! My dear children," she laughed and wept as she took them both in her arms. "I loved you the second I saw you, Randolph, and how I wanted you to marry Phil!" "Mother, this makes me so happy," said her son, "because she's really Edith, you know."

Mrs. Gunter opened her mouth to the

"I understand now why Phil was willing to give up his inheritance and defy his mother. Under the circum stances I should have done so, too."

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next cold and wet and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mother's best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A THEATRIGAL MAGNATE

Most of movie goers are familiar with the name "Leow's" in connection with moving pictures but few the title has been frequently bestow-ed on others. We doubt if there is any other man who owns or controls 127 theatres. Not only that, but in the next two months he exepcts to made a prodigious success of the business, starting on the proverbial shoe string and now being able to command whatever millions he needs. His new theatre in New York, on the corner of Broadway and Forty-fifth street, cost $6,000,000, and is the biggest of its kind. It seems likely that before Mr. Loew dies, if he continues at his present rate, he will have at least one theatre in every important centre in the United States and Canada. Most of his theatres are movies. Some present vaudeville. Others combine the two. He makes a study of his neighborhood, he says, before he decides on what kind of theatre he is to operate.

The outline of his career as told recently to an interviewer for the New York Times, is an interesting one. He went to work when he was six years old, and when, one assumes the school laws in New York were easily evaded. He was a newsboy and acquired some way or other the privilege of selling papers in front of McGlory's notorious resort at Hester street and the Bowery in hte early morning hours. He did considerable business, for when McGlory's patrons left the place they required a copious supply of newspapers to settle bets as to what day it was. So little Marcus prospered. He says that he was not actually obliged to work thus early in life, for while his people were poor, they were by no means paupers, but he had an ambition to do something for himself. For three years he toiled in front of McGlory's from two a.m. to four a. m. and put by a few dollars. He came to the conclusion, that he ought to learn a trade, and with this end in view, got a job in a map-coloring

He was paid 35c a day, and presently cultivated the idea that he was worth 40c, in pursuance of which he went on strike. Next he went into partnership with a printer, and they started a little newspaper which would be thrown in door-ways and carried neighborhood advertising. This also blew up. Then he went into the fur business, first as a salesman and when he had $60 to invest, as a proprietor. This might have proved a lucrative business but for the fact that his foreman stole most of his furs and he went bankrupt, eventually paying all his creditors. The next ten or fifteen years were spent on various jobs, but we infer that the thrifity Mr. Loew was able to save a little. He had also the good fortune to make a friend of David Warfield and it was at Warfield's advice that he went into the amusement business.

He was then thirty-five yearsold. His first venture was a penny arcade in New York-old fashioned 'moving pictures," graphaphones and so forth. He made money and set up several of these places. The luckiest thing that ever happened to him was when he went to Cincinnati and opened a penny arcade, for that resulted in him making the acquaintance of a house painter in Covington, Kentucky, who had opened a sort of moving picture place there. The house had been a private residence and the seats were packing cases. This painter sold his own tickets and operated his own machine. He would also deliver lectures. As an additional attraction, he had a negro who gave performances in legerdemain when required. The painter was making money, too, and from him Loew got the idea that made his own fortune. He went back to Cincinnati and proceeded to turn his penny arcade into a moving picture house. At first he devoted only a part of the premises to the new venture, and hired the camp chairs from an undertaker. The first day he had nearly 5,000 people. It was the first movie in Cincinnati, and the admission fee was only five cents. The pictures, know much of the history of Marcus Loew who has better right to be called the greatest theatrical magnate in the world than any other man though the world than any other man though much as some big theatres are doing to-day. Leow went back to New York and turned his penny arcades into moving pictures houses. They succeeded as swiftly as his Cincinnati house, and with his profits he secured open a new theatre each week, one leases on other premises, being one of them being in Montreal. He has of the earliest in the field to see the prospects of building theatres devoted exclusively to the movies, and not regarding the pictures as merely an added alttraction to a vaudeville performance. Mr. Loew is only fiftyone years old now, and has been

FINISHING COCKERELS

It Does Not Pay to Raise and Sell Thin Chickens.

Wyandottes, Reds and Rocks Best for Fattening—Feed a Mixture of Ground Barley, Corn Meal, Ground Buckwheat and Shorts. Mixed With Sour Milk-Winter Rhubarb Growing.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The marketing of thin chickens is not conserving our meat supply, nor is it the most profitable method to the producers. Present prices of market poultry admits of the liberal use of feeds and the marketing of well-fleshed birds.

In most localities there is considerable variation in the prices paid for thin and finished chickens. The spread in prices varies from two to five cents per pound; in some instances much more. It can readily be seen that the producers' gain in price on the original weight of the bird should make a profit, above the cost of finishing, on the gain in weight.

Fatten the Heavier Breeds.

The best birds to flesh or fatten are those of the heavier breeds, such as Wyandottes, Reds and Rocks. The light breeds, such as Leghorns, seldom pay to fatten unless they are very thin in flesh.

The birds intended for fattening should be confined to a small pen or slatted coop. The process is not difficult if you will but pay atten-

Do not feed the birds for the first points are about the property of th essential.

Do not feed the birds for the first day they are shut up. You should give them something to drink, but it is best to give no feed. Then feed very lightly for two or three day, and gradually increase the ration being very careful not to overfeed. We usually start chickens on verifinely ground grains at the rate of three-quarters of an ounce of grain per feed to each bird, feeding twice daily. This can be increased gradually to two or three times the amount. Generally the most profit able gains are made during the firm fourteen to sixteen days' feeding. Such birds will not be excessively fail but should be fat enough to cool and eat well. Some markets deman a fatter bird.

The most profitable gains are made on birds weighing from three and one-half to four and one-half pounds when put up to fatten.

Feed the Grain Finely Ground.

Feed the Grain Finely Ground.

The grains fed should be finely ground, and, if at all possible, should be mixed with sour milk. Mix the feed to a consistency of a pancake batter. The more milk the chicken will take the better bird you will have in the end. Milk appears to have no good substitute for fattening chickens. If you cannot get milk then add ten to fifteen per cent. of meat meal to the ration and mix with water. The addition of a little green food daily will help matters. Many people get better results by feeding a little salt. About one-half pound to one hundred pounds of dry grain is sufficient. This mixes best by being dissolved in water and adding a little at each feed. Be careful not to use too much.

The best grains available now are a mixture of ground barley, cornmeal, finely grain duckwheat, and shorts. Oats are good if part of the hull is sifted out, as are also ground brewers' grains. We have used with good results a mixture of two parts of ground barley, two parts cornmeal, and two parts shorts, mixed with twice the amount of sour milk.

How Winter Rhubarb Is Produced.

In making a permanent business of rhubarb forcing, it is necessary, each year, to set out a new bed, as plants once forced are of no further value. In the spring large roots should be dug, split in one bud sections and replaced in rich moist ground. During the growing season they are kept cultivated and free from weeds. In the fall they are covered with manure. Next spring a second bed is planted as before. That fall a large part of the first bed is taken up, leaving sufficient to replant another bed the next spring. The roots are taken up the last thing in the fall before the hard freezing weather comes and are placed in piles in a shed where they can easily be got at during the winter but will remain frozen. About December Lattake in a sufficient number of roots, place these bud side up on the floor of a warm cellar—about 68° or 70—and cover with an inch of sand. Be sure to fill in all interspaces. Keep this sand moist. About a week later the buds will begin to swell and in from four to six weeks, depending upon the heat of the room the cooler the place the slower, growth starts—you should have rhubarh ready for market. After these roots are exhausted throw them away and put in more. If a constant supply is required make a new bed every two or three weeks during the winter. Be sare to keep all light dimmed. Put burlap or brown paper over the windows to get the bright pink color so much desired.—A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist. Toronto. How Winter Rhubarb Is Produced.
