GREAT BRITAIN MADE DEMANDS FOR PEACE IN MEXICO; REPORTS MUST BE EXPAINED BY WILSON

Ambassador One Day Would Say That All Was Quiet and Next Fighting and Political Intrigue Would Be Reported—Wilson Practically Is Recalled and President Wilson Now Must Ascertain True State of Affairs—Paris Bankers Said to Be Involved.

As told in the telegraphic despatches from Washington and Mexico City today, the condition of affairs in Mexico is:

- 1—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson left Vera Cruz yesterday for Key West and is expected to reach Washington next Wednesday or Thursday, when he will present his report to the president.
- 2—If the summoning of the ambassador to Washington is not a subterfuge to get him out of Mexico, which is generally believed, his recommendations may be depended upon to favor the recognition of President Huerta.
- 3—Great Britain has been revealed as the nation which has served formal notice on the state department at Washington that "there must be peace in Mexico," and that the Monroe doctrine must either be lived up to or abandoned.
- 4—The secretary of the navy and the secretary of war have informed President Wilson that the United States Government is prepared to place a formidable army in Mexico.
- 5—The president and his advisers have reached the conclusion that many reports of deceptions and intrigue are false, or at the least, greatly exaggerated.
- 6—Paris bankers, who are heavy investors in Mexican utilities and government bonds, are looked upon as the engineers of the intrigues in Mexico.

(Special to The Toronto World.)
WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Mexican problem immediately facing President Wilson is in ascertaining the true state of affairs thruout that distracted Republic.

When the president has obtained this information, he will be able to reply to Great Britain, the nation which two days ago inquired of the state department whether President Huerta intended recognizing Huerta as president of Mexico, and what it intended doing toward ending the rebellion in the Mexican Republic.

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson left Vera Cruz this afternoon for Key West. He is expected to reach Washington on Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

Contradictory reports.
For weeks the president and secretary of state have been receiving contradictory reports from him. One day the reports would state that all was quiet and the next day they would give account of fighting and political intrigue. The reports from consuls and agents stationed thruout Mexico were much the same. One day they would be alarming and the next quiet. Like conflicting reports came from unofficial sources.

The president and his advisers have reached the conclusion that many reports of deceptions and intrigue are false, or at the least, greatly exaggerated. They were forced to the opinion that the reported demonstrations in Mexico City a few days ago against Americans were fomented and manufactured by a small group of Mexicans who are trying to force the United States Government into recognizing Huerta.

Anti-American feeling.
A few days ago four or five foreign representatives in Mexico signed a document which they sent to their governments and which stated that there was anti-American feeling in Mexico and the Americans were responsible for this continued warfare there. They added that the failure of President Wilson to recognize Huerta largely was responsible for the present chaotic condition of Mexico.

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson knew of the action of the foreign representa-

FEELIX DIAZ MAY NOT GO BACK TO MEXICO

Nephew of Former President Diaz, Who Led the Revolt Against Madero, Will Be Sent on a Mission to Japan and His Permanent Absence Is Desired.

(Special to The Toronto World.)
MEXICO CITY, Mex., July 17.—(Copyright)—Felix Diaz, nephew of former President Diaz and who led the revolt against Madero, has consented to accept from the Huerta Government a commission as special ambassador to Japan. He will leave Mexico the last of the month. The official announcement is being withheld to prevent any political manifestation which might arise.

Rumors that Diaz is going to Japan to deliver to the mikado Mexico's belated acknowledgment of the presence of Japan's special embassy in this country during the Mexican centennial celebration in 1910 has been persistent for a month. This is denied by both Diaz and the government. The world correspondent was told today on unquestionable authority that Diaz has been won over to Huerta's view and that his absence from the country is desirable. This will eliminate Diaz or any other candidate worthy of serious consideration as an opponent of Huerta and renders the election of the latter certain. Huerta's way to a constitutional presidency now is clear if he succeeds in maintaining himself against the rebels and the United States doesn't carry its opposition to recognition of Huerta to a point where it will be necessary to render Huerta unavailable as a presidential candidate.

If the summoning of Ambassador Wilson to Washington, ostensibly for a personal conference with the president is not a subterfuge to get him out of Mexico, which is generally believed, his recommendations to the president and Secretary Bryan may be depended upon to favor recognition. Should his recommendations carry, which logically would be followed by his return to his post here, it would mean the endorsement by the present administration of all the ambassador's acts in Mexico and his complete exculpation from accusations of alleged complicity in the downfall of the Madero Government.

Senator Brandt, who has been in Washington since he left for several months, left here to employ himself toward advancing Huerta's cause. He represents the government principally in the negotiation of landing the job of ambassador.

The Press and Booze

Globe Editorial, July 17: The Globe has many readers who use liquor. Its editorial attitude may not please the many more than its publication of liquor advertisements please some of its best friends in the temperance ranks. But it proposes to continue steadfastly to fight for the abolition of the open bar in this province, and hopes to aid in the creation of a healthy public opinion that will put Mr. Rowell in power with a clear mandate to wipe the bar out of existence. The Globe hopes, furthermore, that when Mr. Rowell passes such a law he will add a provision making the publication of liquor advertisements in the newspapers of Ontario illegal. The press, we feel convinced, would, with few exceptions, gladly submit to such a law as its share of the price to be paid for the closing of the public bar.

How The World's cartoonist interprets the above:

Another brave journalist.
The World admires a newspaper that stands for something and when it has convictions gives them fearless expression. The Daily Telegraph and Witness, the new Liberal paper in Montreal, is opposed to the liquor traffic, and it says so. Moreover it does not propose to advocate temperance on the editorial page, and to advertise liquor in another part of the paper. There is to be no combination of the parties and the black leg in this highly moral paper of Montreal, which we commend to The Toronto Globe, that highly moral paper of Toronto. After declaring that the traffic in intoxicants can in time be abolished, The Telegraph says:

To that end The Daily Telegraph proposes to wage open war. And it proposes to do its fighting with clean hands. It will preserve the consistent attitude of the witness and decline to publish any advertisements of intoxicating drinks, whatever else may be said of them. It will not, at all events, soiled to put a bottle to our neighbors' lips. We do not believe that a beverage of the "grog shop" is necessary to the success of a newspaper in Canada.

If gossip be true the gallant knight who thus shines his castor into the ring, this morning St. George, who is to slay the dragon, drink is no other than Sir Hugh Graham, who has another and even more important paper. The Montreal Standard will do as well as to adopt these lofty principles, and will the knight stand on one leg or two legs when he battles with the dragon. Are we to see a more curious case of dual personality, a Jekyll and Hyde phenomenon with The Standard? We hope not. The Globe should be allowed to retain its present unique position.

THE GLOBE QUOTES THE BAD BAD PAPER

Globe Editorial, July 17: The Guardian knows that every daily paper in Toronto publishes advertisements, and that every daily paper in Toronto favors some measure of temperance, from the abolition of the bar to the outlawing of the treat. Even The World shows its solicitude for the well-being of the community by telling us "common sense would suggest that the first thing that our legislators ought to do is to discriminate between beer, a beverage and alcohol, more or less of a poison, a brain-destroyer, and a source of untold misery."

The World last Saturday printed sundry advertisements of the "brain-destroyer" including four varieties of whiskey and one of brandy. Is The World "a liquor organ," or does that evil eminence attach only to The Globe?

A CHANCE FOR THE GUARDIAN

The Globe scores a point in saying that there is no inconsistency in a temperance paper running liquor advertisements as long as such advertisements do not influence the editorial policy of the paper. It appeals to its readers to say whether The Globe's attitude on liquor advertisements is inconsistent or not. The Globe's attitude is not inconsistent. It is a common sense attitude. It is a temperance attitude. It is a moral attitude. It is a patriotic attitude. It is a progressive attitude. It is a liberal attitude. It is a conservative attitude. It is a moderate attitude. CONDITIONS FOR PURCHASE OF TWO BIG CORPORATIONS ARE FINALLY AGREED UPON

Mayor Hocken For the City and E. R. Wood For Sir William Mackenzie Agree to Terms Which the Mayor Says Mean a Complete Clean-Up of All Public Utilities Franchises Within the City Limits.

TORONTO ELECTRIC LIGHT SYSTEM WILL BE CONNECTED WITH THE HYDRO

Experts Start Valuation at Once, Provincial Hydro Commission Will Pass on Agreement, Ratepayers Will Sanction It, and Toronto Will Have Complete Municipal Ownership and Control of All Public Utilities.

The conditions upon which Toronto will purchase The Toronto Railway Company and Toronto Electric Light Company properties were finally agreed upon yesterday afternoon by Mayor Hocken and E. R. Wood, Sir William Mackenzie's representative.

"It's a complete clean up of all the franchises within the city's limits for public utilities," said Mayor Hocken last evening.

"I am very much pleased with what has been accomplished so far.

"When we buy out the Toronto Electric Light Company, we will at once connect up that system with the hydro, and thereafter there will be little likelihood of a breakdown of electrical service in Toronto. The several breakdowns this summer have cost many citizens money and much inconvenience. Men on piece-work lost considerably this summer thru the electric power being off for lengthy periods.

Experts Start at Once to Value Properties.

"The experts appointed to value the railway and electric properties will start work at once, and will finish by the middle of August," the mayor stated.

Mayor Hocken has now cleared the way for the municipalization of Toronto's rapid transit service, including all the radial lines within the city's limits, and for the municipalization of every franchise in Toronto for electric light and power. He has put it up to all the public spirited citizens to apply the pressure which will make Toronto one of the greatest exemplars of public ownership in the world.

Now that the negotiations for the purchase of the railway and electric systems have reached a mutual agreement upon conditions, and the valuations are to commence their duties, there will follow in sequence the report of the valuations, the submission of the agreement and report to the provincial hydro commissioners for acceptance, the presentation of the agreement and report to the city council for adoption, the submission of a bylaw to the ratepayers for a favorable vote, and finally the purchase and municipalization of the properties.

Toronto Electric Light to Go Out of Business.

The purchase of the electric system will mean that the Toronto Electric Light Company will be bought out, and go out of existence. The purchase of the railway system will mean that all the rapid transit franchises in Toronto will be owned and operated by the city. The Toronto Railway Company will continue to exist for a time for the purpose of either winding up its affairs or operating a system outside of Toronto.

Toronto, the richest plum for business in Canada for electric railroads and electric power and light, will have complete municipal ownership and control of these public utilities.

Major Alexander (Danny) Sharpe, immigration agent for the Dominion Government at Windsor, died in a Yonge street car at 4.30 o'clock yesterday while stopping over in Toronto on a holiday trip from Windsor to Kingston, his old home. Major Sharpe came into the city on the 3.55 train from Windsor and was met at the station by two gentlemen friends. He intended to stay in Toronto overnight and take the morning train for Windsor, where he was to leave on a boat trip. The three men boarded a Yonge street car, but just as it turned north from Front street Major Sharpe collapsed over on the seat. The police ambulance was phoned for and at Yonge and King streets he was taken from the car and rushed to St. Michael's Hospital. Dr. Crawford was at the hospital when the ambulance arrived, but on feeling Major Sharpe's pulse he found that life was extinct.

NEED NOT HURRY CONSTRUCTION OF THREE MORE DREADNOUGHTS IS ASSURANCE CHURCHILL GIVES

The Deprived of Aid Counted Upon by Action of Canadian Senate, Situation Has Been Met by Accelerating Building of Warships Previously Sanctioned—Has Not Abandoned Hope.

LONDON, July 17.—(Thru Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Right Hon. Winston Churchill, first lord of his admiralty, in making his statement in the house on commons this afternoon, on the shipbuilding estimates, deal with the shipbuilding program.

Mr. Churchill said that earlier in the session, he had dealt fully with Anglo-German relations, and had no reason to modify in any respect what he had then said. He must, however, refer to the question of over-seas responsibility. Apart from the question of safety, in home waters, he had no new facts to report. Regarding the Mediterranean, there were no doubt new programs under discussion in Italy and Austria; but he knew no facts making it necessary to alter the British naval program. He did not think anything would occur in the Mediterranean this autumn requiring the Canadian naval aid bill to be dealt with in advance of the regular program. Mr. Churchill continued:

"There is a second important question with the general defence of the Empire. Since I addressed the house last, a serious event has occurred regarding the Canadian naval aid rejection of the Canadian naval aid bill has, for the time at least, deprived us of the assistance of the Canadian fleet."

KING FERDINAND NOW SUPPLIANT

Bulgarian Ruler Has Applied to King of Roumania for Terms of Peace.

LONDON, July 17.—(Can. Press.)—Roumanian troops are at Plevna and Mesedra, the latter within thirty miles of Sofia, and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria is suppliant to the King of Roumania for terms of peace.

It is understood that the powers are striving to induce Roumania not to occupy Sofia and are urging Bulgaria to appoint a delegate to confer with the Serbians.

The real facts of the situation are only just becoming generally known in Sofia and arc causing dismay among the people. The efforts to form a cabinet appear to have failed.

Fighting of no great importance continues on the Greek and Servian fronts.

OUTLOOK IS FOR RAILWAY STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 17.—(Can. Press.)—The 80,000 trainmen and conductors who threaten a strike against the eastern railroads will not persevere under any circumstances to have the roads grievances arbitrated at the same time as the men's demands for better wages under the Newlands amendments to the Erdman Act, according to a statement issued tonight by W. G. Lee and A. B. Garretson, presidents respectively of the Trainmen's and Conductors' Brotherhoods.

Mr. Lee, in a verbal statement supplied the formal one, declared that if the railroads persist in their present stand to have their own grievances arbitrated it is absolutely certain that a strike will follow.

BOY MATRICULATED AT NEW YORK COLLEGE AT AGE OF FIVE

Edward Rochie Hardy, Jr., is of Studious and Inquiring Mind and Has Insatiable Passion for Learning—Undecided Whether He Will Be Farmer, Rector or Policeman.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Edward Rochie Hardy, Jr., the five-year-old son of Prof. Hardy of the department of economics, New York University, living at No. 47 West One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, is the youngest student ever matriculated at the university.

With his mother, Dr. Sarah Drowne Belcher Hardy, he is taking the course in school gardens, given by Henry Grison at the university grounds, in the Bronx. He made out his own enrolment blank and demonstrated his ability to take the course.

Edward weighs fifty-nine pounds and a half, is forty-eight inches tall, built like an athlete, and stands sturdily upon his legs.

When Mr. Parsons opened his class in gardening he gave a talk on seasons, planting, preparation of the ground, weeding and watering. Little Edward attended with his mother, and listened carefully to every word. When he got home that night he repeated the lecture almost verbatim, and told on his plot of ground, which he is cultivating, as situated among the others, and even what sort of notebooks the pupils had. He is now engaged in the cultivation of radishes, beets, carrots, etc.

When not attending his classes at the university school garden or working over his clay modeling, his work-bench, his home-made table in his play room at home, he is generally to be found in the roof of the apartment house where he lives, dressed in wide straw hat and blue Dutch suit, cultivating a roof garden that he has planted in soap boxes. In it are growing cucumbers, radishes, celery and other garden truck.

“Won't be a Policeman.”

The little fellow has carefully observed real cops on the family's trips to Minneapolis, and the towns around Boston, and he says he intends to be a farmer when he “grows up.”

“But how about being a rector of Trinity?” enquired Miss Laura Emily Mau, supervisor of primary departments of the Georgia Normal Industrial College, a friend of the Hardy family.

“Well, I might be a rector forenoons and a farmer afterwards,” he replied.

GIRL DRESSED UP AS A BOY TO MAINTAIN HER GOOD NAME

Resorted to Disguise After Finding Effort to Make Her Own Way in World Was Too Hard—She Advertised for a Husband and Sex Was Disclosed.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Nineteen-year-old Hene Shaw, winning, even with her auburn hair closely cropped, and still dressed in boy's clothes, said, as she sat tearfully in the matron's quarters at the city prison.

“I was afraid. They did not seem to want to allow me to remain good as long as I was a girl. There seemed to be no way for a girl to get a living and keep her womanhood. So I put on this suit of boy's clothes and secured the position of elevator boy at the Alma Hotel, where I was working when they found out I was a girl.

But in the finding of Hene Shaw there may be an end to all of her difficulties. For the man who found her wants to make her his wife and it only remains for her to say the word to get husband, protection and a home.

Joseph Sturges, a young mechanic employed by a local automobile agency, is the young man who found Hene Shaw, and he does not regret his find, even though it did come thru the channels of a matrimonial agency, and he was finally compelled to seek police aid.

Believed He Had Been Bounced.

Sturges stated police headquarters told Captain of Police headquarters that he believed he had been bounced. He stated that he has been seeking a wife, and had visited the matrimonial agency conducted by Mrs. G. M. Hyde at No. 247 West Street. She sent him to the Alma Hotel to see “Miss Shaw.”

But Sturges failed to find any “Miss Shaw” in the place, and believing that he had been bounced, decided to tell the police about it. Night Captain Ryan detailed Detective Frank Lord on the case and the officer accompanied Sturges to the Alma Hotel. There Detective Lord got the same information as had been given Sturges, but was told that Herbert Emory, the new elevator boy, might give him some information, as he had been receiving mail for a “Miss Shaw.”

As soon as the detective saw the new elevator boy he knew who “Miss Shaw” was. She readily admitted her identity and told the officer just why she was masquerading. She was booked in detention at the City Prison, and in the morning Sturges was her first visitor.

“I am a native daughter,” said Miss Shaw to the matron, “and my home is in Humboldt County, but I am not going to talk just where, as I do not want my folks to know my difficulty. I left home three years ago and went directly to Portland, where I lived and worked up to two months ago.

“I came to San Francisco then and Went to an employment agent on Market street to make application for a place in a hotel, was offered a place, but was told that the wage would be $20 per month, and I would have to provide my own room and board myself.

Result of meat.

“I said no one can live on that money, and the agent, leaning at me, said: “Ah, you're a good looking. You can do business on the side and make good money. They all do that.”

“I was too much hurt to make answer, and I decided then and there that I would do something that would protect me from further insults. I had masqueraded at ball in Portland and still had my boy's clothes in my trunk. It was then I went to my room, cut my hair, put on the suit, secured a place and have worked faithfully ever since.

“An elevator boy they paid me $25 per week and my room and board, and I was happy for a time, but I soon worried of it all and, thinking that marriage would be the best way out, I went to the matrimonial agency. I got lots of letters and saw photographs of several men. I was very much attracted, but none suited me and I did not disclose my identity to any of them.”

It was the close of the story of this girl that Sturges called upon her at the prison. It was plain that the man was convinced that he had found a prize in this plucky little woman. They were engaged in earnest conversation when her interviewer left them together, and in answer to the last question he was the spokesman:

“It is too early to talk of the wedding for publication,” he said. “But both of us believe that it will come out all right, don't you?”

As he turned to face the little woman sitting besides him she smiled in her answer to his question as she said: “Yes, we do.”

Possibly Miss Shaw will be a bride, Sturges insists on the marriage ceremony taking place without delay, and Miss Kate Thomas, a friend in need, is now busily collecting a crowd of lots of girls still in trousers, has not yet consented, but the man is confident that she is going to say “Yes.”

DEMAND FOR CITY'S SECURITIES.

“I am well pleased with the civic financial situation,” Mayor Hooper said. “Notwithstanding the tightness in the money market, Toronto securities are in demand at a fair price, and obligations are being met satisfactorily.”

TO TAKE MOVIES AT SEA'S BOTTOM

J. E. Williamson Already Has Taken Snapshots Under Ocean.

TURN CAMERA ON FISH

Will Go to Bermuda to Get Some Good Show Material.

NEW YORK, July 16.—J. Ernest Williamson, who has been taking pictures under the sea at Hampton Roads, Va., to New York yesterday from Norfolk, Va. He is here to conduct an exhibit at the Grand Central Palace this week at the first time that he has taken the moving picture art, and he will show photographs of the wonderful things he has seen with his camera down under the sea.

Williamson has taken only snapshots under the water, but he could just as well have taken moving pictures of the fish that he has seen. He is now taking pictures at Norfolk. However, he will take motion pictures on the trip to the tropics which he will undertake within six months. This is his newest achievement in the picture art. Williamson is a rather slight, fair-haired man of 34 years, altho he looks considerably younger.

He is the son of Capt. J. H. Williamson, who invented the flexible submarine tube from which the photographs under the water were taken. Three years ago he was a photographer for The Virginian-Pilot of Norfolk, Va. at such a time as he was drawing cartoons for The Philadelphia Record. He has also been a mechanical draftsman.

About two months ago Williamson was looking at some moving pictures one night at home in Norfolk when he saw bugs shown on the screen taken with the aid of a microscope. That started him thinking. The next day he started to work on his idea of submarine photography. The only other man in the world who has done anything along this line, Williamson said yesterday, is Dr. Francis Ward of England, who has his own pictures of fish in a pond in his own yard.

Used Submarine Tube.

So Williamson worked feverishly at his idea. His father's submarine tube was fixed into a well at the bottom of a large 30-foot tank. The well was six feet square. The tube, made of iron sections with a waterproof cover of rubber and canvas, could be lowered to any depth, and raised up as necessary. At the bottom of the tube was the work chamber, as Williamson calls it, which may be of any size. In this Williamson sat, with an ordinary camera and looked over the lens. The extension six feet long with a glass cover. This funnel extension gave him a view of the fish through the camera and the area of view was enlarged. The lens of the camera was pumped into the funnel from the chamber to equalize the pressure with that from the outside. To take the strain of the outside water, tungsten making 1000 candle power, with reflectors, were lowered from the outside. A flash light thru the water and enable Williamson to snap photos of the fish as they swam past. From a launch with a motor a wire conducted the power to the barge.

Three feet was the lowest Williamson went. The water was 30 feet was the lowest depth at which he took any pictures. He stayed down as long as an hour at a time. He doesn't remember how long for a first time, but down there, he said, is in one's study at home.

“Going down the tube into the chamber is like climbing down a ladder, for rings inside the side of the tube make a ladder,” said Williamson yesterday. “It took my breath away the first time I went down under the water. The colors were wonderful, but because it was a new sensation, it was a month ago when I went down for the first time to take a photograph.

Like Photographing a Crowd.

“It startled me. I was nervous at once. For I got a hurry when I saw pictures of a crowd, you know. You see more persons than you find on your photographs when printed. It was fascinating.

“I don't remember how long I remained below on the various times for it's so comfortable. I can't smoke or eat or do anything. I took pictures of fish and of magazines covered in front of the funnel, and also one of my brother George's eyes through the lens. I saw a toadfish go by the glass and a crab with a hunk of meat. The colors were wonderful. The croakers that swam by were beautifully silver. At first the fish would swim by quicker and then return to get below as I pointed. By tapping lightly with a hammer on the plate wall of the chamber I found the fish were attracted better than by any other means. I saw a large crab hanging bait down from the top.

“Our experiments were to satisfy ourselves. We were so delighted with the results that we went to the tropics and what we did at Hampton Roads will be nothing compared to what we expect to do around Bermuda and the West Indian bays, where we are photographing pictures with a moving picture camera. We have a submarine gold mine in this, and you don't have to dig for it. Just turn the handle of the camera and you are ready. For this trip we will build or remodel a seagoing boat about 200 feet long, big enough to accommodate all of our apparatus.

“Important work, and commercial, may be done along the line of salvage. It will be possible to reach out and work on wrecked vessels. The Williamson Submarine Corporation has been formed and the Williamson Motion Picture Corporation is being organized. I don't need much backing, but Mr. Williamson worked all day yesterday getting his exhibit ready in the Grand Central Palace. He will show enlargements of all the photographs he has taken under the water and also photographs of his plans he has drawn to explain his work.

MACKENZIE AGAIN OFF TO ENGLAND

OTTAWA, July 17.—It was stated here this morning that Sir William Mackenzie, who left for the east yesterday, after spending a few days in the capital, may sail for England in the course of a few days from Quebec. It is said that he has important and pressing business in the old country. A report from Montreal states that an agreement for the purchase of the Quebec and Saguenay Railway, one of Sir Rodolphe Forget's enterprises, Greatest Test on Record?

Knight Engine vs. Poppet Valve Engine

Since the A. C. A. Judges made their report on the Poppet Valve test, and the comparison was made with the R. A. C. Judges' report on the Knight Engine test, the claim has been made by the manufacturers of the Poppet Valve engine that theirs was the greatest engine test on record. Opinions vary as to this. We will submit very briefly the conditions of the two tests and rest content to abide by the public's decision as to which was more exhaustive. The Poppet Valve test continued for 300 hours. The test of the Knight motor, made four years ago, consisted of the following:

- (1) 132 hours of running on the bench.
- (2) Fitting to chassis and running 2,000 miles on the Brooklands speedway with no adjustment, at a speed of 42 miles per hour.
- (3) Placing the engine again on a test bench and a five hours' continuous run to develop its condition at that time.
- (4) An entire dismantling of the engine to show the amount of wear as the result of the test.

Take the two performances side by side, the one a steady run on the bench, the other a run of 132 hours on the bench, 2,000 miles of road work, and then a further test and a searching examination of the parts; and on this latter basis alone, we believe the two tests are substantially on a par. The rules of the test laid down for the Knight were, however, at least 33 1-3 per cent. more severe than the rules for the Poppet Valve.

The requirements of the Knight Test were that it should develop continuously at least 30 per cent. more than its rated horsepower; in other words, 50.8 h.p.

The requirements of the Poppet Valve test were that it should develop only 70 per cent. of its maximum horsepower, which was shown to be 44.9; or, in other words, that it should run only developing 30 per cent. of its rated 38 h.p.—that is, 30.4 h.p. In other words, though the different motors were of the same capacity, the Knight was prepared to assume a requirement demanding a maintenance of 30 per cent. over its rated h.p., whereas the Poppet Valve only assumed an obligation to maintain 20 per cent. less than its rated h.p. As a matter of fact, the Knight continuously developed for 132 hours 54.3 h.p., or 41 per cent. over its rating. The Poppet Valve only 35.7, or 2.3 h.p. below its rating. In fact, in the test the Poppet Valve engine did not, for a space of more than ten hours, maintain its rated h.p.

As a comparison, an electric dynamo rated at 38 h.p., should run indefinitely developing 93 per cent. of its load, but try it out for even a short time developing 41 per cent. over its load and see what happens. The claim that the Poppet Valve test was more searching under these conditions is a good one. Because the Poppet Valve test was more searching under these conditions is a good one. Because the Poppet Valve test was more searching under these conditions is a good one.

This is the last of the series of advertisements proving the superior efficiency of the Knight Engine when compared with the Poppet Valve.

Interested parties will upon request be sent a catalog, which shows the development of the Knight Engine to its highest degree of efficiency—in the Russell-Knight "SIX."

Architect's and Property Branches to Be Made Into One According to Rumor.

PURCHASING AGENT NEEDED

George Wilson, Street Commissioner, Is Mentioned in Connection With Position.

Organization of a civic purchasing department and the merging of the architect's department into the property department are being quietly and persistently considered and discussed by controllers and aldermen. At the same time the necessity for reorganization of the treasury department is kept in mind, but with no intention of taking action in the immediate future, so sensitive are the relations of the department to the money market this year.

Many of the members of the council are now desirous of placing Commissioner Chisholm in charge of the architect's department at once, and of keeping him in charge of the proposed combined architect's and property departments. His reliability is what is what is making the office seek the architect's department is an administrative

SUPPLY CITY WATER FOR WORKERS' HOMES

But Any Sent Beyond City's Limits Should Be Metered, Says Ald. McBrien.

“Builders who are erecting homes suitable for workmen should not be refused city water supply,” said Ald. McBrien yesterday. “Even if the houses are being built immediately beyond the city limits a water supply sent beyond the city limits that would assure good revenue to the city.”

“I am also in favor of giving the Toronto Housing Co. all reasonable support in supplying homes for workmen,” Ald. McBrien said. “Now that I am appointed one of the city's representatives in the affairs of the company I intend to be active in that progressive movement, and at the same time see that the city's interests are fully protected.”

FELL TO HIS DEATH FROM A DIRIGIBLE

Soldier Hung On Until Five Hundred Feet Up—Companion More Fortunate.

SCHNEIDEMUEHL, Germany, July 17.—(Can. Press.)—The military dirigible balloon Schuette was wrecked this morning after being torn from her moorings in a wind squall, when she carried up in her cordage two sentries, one of whom was killed by falling 600 feet, and the other severely injured by a jump of 30 feet.

Neither crew nor pilot was on board the air craft, which was at anchor on the military parade ground, her mooring chains buried 6 1/2 feet in the earth, when the gust caused her to break away. The sentries tried to hold her down and were lifted into the air. One loosened his hold soon after leaving earth, but the other held fast until exhausted and was then hurled to the ground and killed.

The dirigible landed an hour later near the village of Erpel.

VALVE REMOVED FROM ISLAND PIPE

The defective valve in the pipe at the island leading to the tunnel under the bay has been removed. It was the cause of the recent failure to clean the sand out of the tunnel, it being impossible to temporarily block the flow of water into the tunnel. The valve weighs about four tons and is ten feet in diameter.

Before the end of September the valve will be refitted. Then the tunnel in the city will cease to be damaged with grit. It is understood that the great deposit of sand in the tunnel

French Lady to Sue Famous Cartoonist as a Matter of Principle.

PARIS, July 19.—A very ticklish test case which all the papers describe as “tout fait Parisien,” is to come up for trial soon, in which a cartoonist is to sue for damages her cartoonist. The lady is Mme. Cautelle Mendes, widow of the famous painter, and the offending cartoonist is a M. Rouveyre, who wields a very acid pencil. A day or two ago M. Rouveyre published a collection of sketches—he strenuously denies that they are caricatures, which figured, among other honorable women not a few, Mme. Cautelle Mendes. It must be confessed that none of the pictures were at all kind, but they certainly were diabolically clever. The other victims did not complain, but Mme. Cautelle Mendes, who has been a reigning beauty for quite a quarter of a century, was more sensitive, and rushed into print. It wasn't she, she said, that she was at all hurt personally. Oh no! She merely despised and scorned M. Rouveyre's vulgar and porcine performance. “Porcine” is the lady's own phrase. She was going to bring the case against the cartoonist, but at all kind, but Rouveyre replied he was quite impersonal, that he was exceedingly sorry to have hurt the lady's feelings, but that he owed it to his art, always to record what he saw. An excuse which, as you can imagine, did not help to disarm the lady's anger. It ought to raise an interesting case, and provide plenty of amusing reading for the silly season.

BIG UNION STATION FOR NORTH BAY

C. N. R. Said to Be Anxious to Join Issue With T. and N. O.

Chairman Englehart Says the Matter Rests Wholly With Sir James.

A joint passenger station of the Canadian Northern Railway and Timmaming & Northern Ontario Railway at North Bay, Ont., together with the joint use of the trackage and big freight terminal facilities now possessed by the T. & N. O. at North Bay is said to be the desire of the Canadian Northern, and it is thought that the T. & N. O. does not look unfavorably on the proposition.

A proposal of this nature was, it is understood, made the T. & N. O. last fall, but at that time the government road was unable to do anything in the matter thru lack of funds. In order that it be brought about it was necessary that a proposed improvement in the grade of the main line into North Bay be undertaken. This was to bring the line to a point where it would connect with the right-of-way of the C.N.R. and where the latter desired that the station be located.

With the $2,000,000 grant obtained from the legislature this spring no financial obstacles now stand in the way, and it is said negotiations will be more under way. Speaking to The World on the joint station proposition, Chairman Englehart of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission declared that such would be in full accord with the policy of the government road, which stood to work in harmony with all other roads, but he declined to express an opinion on the desirability of the proposition.

The T. & N. O. would not undertake any change in its line or enter into an arrangement with another road, however, until the premier of the province gave instructions that such was to be done. The matter rested wholly in the hands of Sir James Whitney, he said.

If satisfactory arrangements can be made the Canadian Northern will be willing to go in with the T. & N. O. on either the union station or combined use of the freight terminals as separate propositions, but failing to arrive at an agreement on either project are prepared to erect passenger and freight buildings of their own.

NEW WEST CHANNEL KEEPS BAY CLEAR

Causes Strong Current Which Frees Water of All Debris.

ENGINEER'S SUGGESTION

Clearness of Water Generally Commented On by Sailormen.

The Toronto Harbor Commissioners are congratulating themselves on an advantage obtained by the building of the new western channel, which did not enter into their considerations at the time the new channel was planned. The good result obtained is the practical clearance from the bay of debris. Some time ago the suggestion was made by a prominent engineer that the bay water could be kept clear by the construction of a channel at a point about half way between Centre Island and Hanlan's Point, but owing to the big expense involved nothing was done in the matter.

The result now obtained has been caused by a strong current which flows from the eastern channel west and out thru the western channel and keeps the bay clear. A current strong enough for this purpose was not to be had when the old western channel was used, which was too narrow and was only about ten feet deep in places. The new wide channel is more than 18 feet in depth, and is apparently situated just right to catch the current.

The clearness of the bay this season as compared to its murky appearance of former years, is being remarked on by all vessels coming into the harbor.

WRECKED ON TRIP TO CROCKERLAND

Revenue Cruiser Is Now on Way to Aid Party.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 17.—The Newfoundland sealing steamer Diana, having on board the Donald McMillan expedition to Crockerland in the Arctic region, stranded last night on Barge Point, 40 miles west of Battle Harbor, in the Straits of Belle Isle.

The Newfoundland revenue cruiser Stella Maris was today ordered to the assistance of the Diana, the extent of whose damage, if any, is not known here.

Four Hundred Miles to Rescue. The news of the stranding of the Diana was received this morning, having reached here by telegraph from Bay of Islands, on the west coast of Newfoundland, after being relayed to that point by a chain of wireless stations along the Labrador and Newfoundland shores. The message gave no details.

The Stella Maris will have to steam more than 400 miles from this port to reach the disabled vessel.

Barge Point, where the accident occurred, is on the extreme southerly portion of the Labrador coast and is about 50 miles east of the boundary line separating Labrador from the Province of Quebec. There is no large settlement in the vicinity.

The Diana sailed from Boston after taking on a quantity of food and medical supplies on July 5 and after a stop at Sydney, N. S., sailed north on July 12.

The expedition was sent out by the American Geographical Society and the American Museum of Natural History of New York. The explorers are under command of Donald B. McMillan. They planned to remain three years in Crockerland.

FREIGHT SHEDS READY AT FORT WILLIAM

C. P. R.'s New Structure Is Two Storeys in Height and Thousand Feet Long.

The C. P. R. have been notified of the completion of their new freight building at the Fort William steamship drydock. The new building is a double-deck structure, nearly a thousand feet long. The upper storey is for the reception of freight by rail and the lower for freight unloaded from vessels and to be loaded on cars.

For the unloading of rail freight there is a track along the rear of the building of sufficient height to bring the cars to the proper level. Along this side are 19 doors, spaced for freight car openings.

BIG RAILWAY YARDS FOR MOOSE JAW

C. P. R. Spending Big Sum on Terminals in Western City.

On the completion of extensions being made by the C. P. R., the City of Moose Jaw, Sask., will possess the third largest yard in the Canadian Pacific. Nearly 200 men are now engaged on the work of increasing the site of the terminal facilities, in which more than $100,000 is to be spent. In connection with these improvements, the trackage is being increased approximately 15 miles. The double-track line from Swift Current into Moose Jaw is also nearing completion.

MELLEN TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION

President of New Haven Road to Step Out Soon.

WILL NOW REORGANIZE

Water Lines and Probably Trolley Roads to Be Sold.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(Can. Press.)—C. S. Mellen today tendered his resignation as president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co., and all its allied or subsidiary lines, including the various trolley roads and water lines which had become part of the New Haven system under his management.

Announcement of Mr. Mellen's resignation, which is to take effect "at the pleasure" of the New Haven board, but "in no event later than Oct. 1 next," followed a long and earnest meeting of the directors, most of whom, including Wm. Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan, were present.

He became president of the system in October, 1903, resigning from the presidency of the Northern Pacific Railway, at the request of the late J. P. Morgan, who regarded Mr. Mellen as the man best fitted to reorganize the more or less chaotic transportation lines of the New England states.

Stockholders of late became dissatisfied, however, with his management.

Alleged mismanagement of the New Haven road and several serious wrecks costing many lives, resulted in definite action and a committee of New England stockholders, led by George O. L. Mayer, former secretary of the navy, was organized to make a searching investigation of the road's affairs. That committee's reports are now at work on the company's books, but the results of its labors may not be known for several months.

Mr. Mellen is now under indictment in the federal courts for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws and an indictment for manslaughter, resulting from the Westport, Conn., wreck of last year, is also hanging over him.

It was expected that the New Haven directors would today take up the findings and recommendations of the inter-state commerce commission, which recently scored the management not only for its methods of operations, but for its financial methods as well. According to Mr. Mellen's representatives, however, all consideration of these matters was deferred.

To Sell Water Lines. It is known that an influential factor in the board favors the sale of the company's water lines and trolley roads, if not all of its trolley roads. So far as it can be reasonably accomplished, it is believed that the New Haven will relinquish control of the Boston and Maine road.

According to an exhaustive examination made by the New Haven board, its assets are estimated at close to $500,000,000, an excess of assets over liabilities of more than $100,000,000.

Mr. Mellen's retirement will open the way to much conjecture regarding his successor. The name most frequently mentioned in this connection, is that of Howard Elliott, head of the Northern Pacific road.

FRANCE TO PROBE ATROCITIES

PARIS, July 17.—(Canadian Press.)—The French government, which has assumed protection of Greek interests in the war region, has instructed the secretary of the French legation at Athens and an officer of the French military mission, to proceed immediately to the seat of war to investigate the alleged Bulgarian atrocities.

Committee is Appointed at Convention—Want Oil Barrels Scaled.

ST. CATHERINES, July 17.—(Special.)—The Canadian Association of Master Painters, in session here today, appointed a committee to fight the proposed liability act.

Mr. Wegenast, solicitor for the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who spoke strongly on the subject, suggested that the employers and workers in various lines of industry, with a view to minimizing the danger of accidents, following a paper by Gordon Spence, J. B. M. S. chief chemist of the Canadian inspection and testing laboratory of Montreal, the convention named a committee to endeavor to secure the scaling of barrels of oil by the manufacturers to ensure the obtaining of a standard quality of oil by the master painters.

NEED NOT HURRY CONSTRUCTION

privided us of aid upon which we had been depending and our country is filled by sacrifice of the British taxpayer, the general defence of the Empire, apart altogether from the defence of the United Kingdom, would be three ships short of the admiralty requirements from the end of 1915 onward. As soon, therefore, as news was received of the rejection of the bill, the government determined that immediate action was necessary.

There were two courses open to us: We could have laid down three extra ships in place of the three Canadian ships, and we could do so still, but it is at present clear that this step, which would mean the addition of three and a half million pounds to the naval estimates, is necessary, and certainly it ought not to be done unless it is necessary.

Altho the Naval Aid Bill was rejected, the question of our participation in her own defence and in that of the empire is by no means dead. Whether we read the speeches of members of the government or of the opposition, we see that altho there are differences of principle and method, and altho the matter is one of overwhelming concern to our country, action should be taken and that soon.

"The position is not yet clear, and I am very much inclined to think that the question of Canada taking effective part in the general naval defence of the empire is by no means closed and we have no right to assume at present that we are to be left to face the emergencies of the future unaided and left to bear the whole burden alone.

Accelerating Construction. That being so, the admiralty recommended the adoption of a temporary expedient. We are proceeding, not by increasing the program capital ships, but by accelerating the construction of those which have been already sanctioned, in such a way as to secure the strength we require at the periods required. We are therefore accelerating three ships of this year's program which would not otherwise have been begun until the end of the year. We invited tenders for them last month and action has been already taken and tenders have been received and those vessels will be ready, if all goes well, by the third quarter of 1915; and they will fully maintain, in the absence of new American or Italian construction,

PEARL NECKLACE TAKEN FROM MAIL

Sixty Magnificent Gems, Worth Six Hundred Thousand, Disappear.

WERE SENT TO LONDON

Fifty Detectives Try to Solve Mystery of Big Robbery.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World.

LONDON, July 17.—The theft of a necklace consisting of 61 magnificent pearls, valued at more than $500,000, which vanished while in transit by mail from Paris to London, is engaging the attention of 50 of the best detectives of Scotland Yard. The theft was reported to the police today by the owner of the jewels, Max Mayer, a Heston Garden diamond merchant.

The necklace is generally described as being worth $500,000, but it is insured at Lloyds for $375,000. A diamond dealer who has been thirty years in the business, says it is the finest necklace he ever saw and is worth more than the sum for which it was insured.

Reward for the Jewels. Lloyds offered a reward of $50,000 tonight for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible for the loss of the jewels.

The necklace is described as consisting of 61 graduated pearls weighing 1259 grains. The centre pearl weighs 47 1-16 grains, and the two terminal pearls 11 1-16 and 10 7-8 grains. One round pearl weighs 27 grains.

Scotland Yard detectives say the necklace is the finest in existence, the pearls being of magnificent gradation and pink hue. Their value lies not only in their size, but in the manner in which they are matched. The necklace was made up to Mayer's order. He took infinite pains to find gems of the right gradation.

Mayer has an office in Paris and the necklace was sent from there last night. A postman delivered a registered package at Mayer's home at 8.30 this morning. The package bore the name of Mayer and French stamps and on the back Mayer's initials were stamped. The housekeeper took the package in Mayer's absence and placed it in the safe. When Mayer arrived at his home at 10.15 he opened it and found only pieces of sugar of the same weight as the necklace. The seals showed no signs of having been tampered with.

The diamond dealer placed the matter in the hands of the Scotland Yard authorities. The police refuse to discuss the case and Mayer is reticent regarding it. He declines to give any description of the necklace.

The sugar is of French manufacture and this leads to the supposition that the theft was accomplished on the other side of the channel.

MAILED IN PARIS.

PARIS, July 17.—Mr. Salomon, the Paris representative of Max Mayer, hurried to London this evening after the Paris police had been informed by Scotland Yard of the disappearance of the $575,000 pearl necklace consigned to Mr. Mayer.

Mme. Salomon said she saw her husband pack the necklace, which has made several trips in the registered mail between Paris and London. The postoffice where it was mailed is a few steps from Salomon's office.

"My husband came back in a few minutes," said Mme. Salomon, "so that any tampering with the package must have been done in the postoffice, where my husband is well known. He frequently registers valuable consignments of jewelry. It cost seven francs and a few centimes to send the necklace, so I imagine he must have declared its value."

FEW TO COMPARE WITH IT.

The reported value of the lost necklace is astonishing. If the figures given are correct it may be set down as one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable, necklaces in existence.

Several years ago the value of a necklace imported from Mrs. William B. Leeds by Bernard Citroen, a Paris jeweler, was given as $350,000. Two years ago both Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, and Frank Jay Gould were reported to have presented their wives with necklaces of pearls valued at half a million dollars each. The late John Jacob Astor presented his young bride with a string of pearls said to have cost $200,000. Necklaces of these values excited the wonder of all who read about them, but they apparently were nothing compared with the necklace lost by Mr. Mayer.

At a sale in Paris in January of this year a four-row necklace of 240 orient pearls was valued at $225,000. The famous necklace of Alexis Polakoff brought $200,000, and one owned by Abdul Hamed brought $184,020. Princess Mathilda's necklace, which came from Princess Sophia of Holland, is valued at $171,000.

WOMEN'S SECTION

GOOPS NURSERY

CONDUCTED BY Eliza Murray Doing Things For Children.

A great deal is being said and written just now about doing too much for children, both at home and at school. The cry now that children are being made helpless and dependent because adults are taking upon themselves the burden that should fall to the shares of children. Evidently the reason why our public schools are not the success they should be, is because too much is done for the child that he is quite unable to think or decide for himself. Consequently he becomes a weakling in character, or one who works against a handicap of late development.

There is not an hour of the day when the mother of small—and often big—children does not have numberless requests made of her by the little folks. Some of the requests are reasonable and properly timed; others are not at all reasonable and are most inopportune. Some of the requests may find the mother able to grant them, others cannot be granted at all, or perhaps not at that particular time. If it is not best for the child or convenient for the mother that a request be granted, it is a deplorable fact that the mother and child will be happier. It is a deplorable fact that many boys feel that "mother or dad always refuses them things just because." There are selfish children who think that their affairs come first, and these can be very troublesome with their incessant asking. They are children who have not been trained in the matter of asking things to be done for them. Children can be made to see that they should not interrupt headlessly, that others have rights, and that everything cannot be stopped in order to satisfy their demands. If a child is taught consideration by its mother, and if the mother be considerate and reasonable in all things, the foundation is laid for consideration on the child's part, that will give a note to its entire life.

POTATOES SCARCE SO ARE TOMATOES

Dealers on Local Market Can't Supply Demand For These Vegetables.

Potatoes, tomatoes and apples, three very important articles in the menu of a household, are scarcely up to the point to be desired at present in the Toronto market. The apples are small and green, and as a whole, give promise of only half a crop. Potatoes are scarcely up to the normal at this season of the year.

"We usually have plenty of potatoes by the 12th of July," said one of the Dawson Elliot Company to The World yesterday, "but this year they're behind," and the specimens seen in the baskets about bore out the statement. "In tomatoes, we can't supply the demand," said the same authority. Raspberries will probably be at best price next week. The canning factories are taking them all up just now. Cherries look good, as do also the currants, black and red. Berries were a little heavier yesterday than on the day previous, but it is thought the rise is only temporary.

Prices quoted yesterday were: Raspberries, 10c-15c; black currants, $1.75; $2 per basket; oranges, $6 a case; lemons, $6 a case; cantaloupe, $1.75 a case; 16 in a case; potatoes, American, $3.50 a barrel; potatoes, Canadian, 40c-50c a basket; cherries, 75c-85c a basket; peppers, 75c-81 per basket of ten quarts; beans, 75c-85c a basket; red currants, 40c-70c a basket; gooseberries, 75c-80c; tomatoes, $2-$2.25; onions, American, $1.25 a case; Spanish onions, $3 a case; cucumbers, $1.25 a basket.

THE GARDEN SERIAL STORY

BONSTELE PLAYERS' SEASON WILL BE CLOSED NEXT WEEK

"The Importance of Being Earnest" Has Been Chosen as the Final Production by Shea's Stock Company Before Regular Vaudeville Season Opens.

For the final week of the Bonstelle Players' summer season at Shea's Theatre the management has chosen Oscar Wilde's most brilliant comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," the success of which has been almost unparalleled in the history of the stage.

The importance of "Being Earnest" is a clever satire on the life led by that branch of English society known as the "idle rich." It tells the story of a mythical vagabond brother, Ernest, who created out of the imagination of a man who finds it convenient to run up to London frequently, where he can coin the proper life of the capital on the pretence that he is helping his "brother" out of a scrape.

The regular vaudeville season at Shea's Theatre, Canada's most popular house of variety, will open with a matinee performance on Monday, July 28, with a stellar bill of acts. It has always been the aim of Shea's Theatre to present the highest and best class of vaudeville offerings, and the coming season will witness a continuation of this effort.

A SMART FROCK OF JACQUARD COTTON

SUCH lovely effects as we now have in cotton this season allow of making the prettiest possible gowns out of simple stuffs.

The ingenious woman will be quick to see that the model can be copied in almost any fabric, however, crêpe de chine or charmeuse satin if something handsome is wanted, linen to make an exceedingly attractive gown of the practical sort and the still simpler gingham, chambray and the like if a morning dress is wanted.

of blue, would be lovely with collar and cuffs of white scalloped with blue which the buttons are white crocheted, and one model that can be made of two such widely contrasting materials is surely a desirable one.

For the 16 year size, the dress will require 5 1/2 yards of material 27, 4 yards 36 or 44 inches wide, with 3/4 yard 18 or 21 for the collar and cuffs. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 2 1/2 yards.

The May Manton pattern of the dress 7479 is cut in sizes for girls of 16 and 18 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents.

Rhubarb, Canned and Jellied

ONLY in English-speaking countries has rhubarb attained favor for table use. All thru Asia, where it grows profusely, it is valued for medicinal and tonic properties.

It is valued particularly by us because it is up and ready to cook long before even the early salad plants are to be had. It is also a favorite because it is so easy to can for winter use.

Canned Rhubarb: Wash the rhubarb and pare. Cut in lengths to fit the jar or in pieces two inches long. Pack into jars snugly and place in canner. Fill to the brim with a thin syrup made of one cup of granulated sugar to two cups of water.

This plant is a greedy feeder and now is the time to enrich its roots with fertilizer. Nitrate of soda or common salt is excellent to make it grow.

Spiced rhubarb is liked with fish and game. Cut two pounds and a half of rhubarb in inch lengths. Mix with two pounds of sugar. Add a cup of vinegar and a teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves.

They were soon comfortably seated under a huge oak tree. Mildred, with a shy glance at Gordon, pulled her skirt down as far as it would go, leaned back against the trunk of a tree and, selecting a sandwich from the napkin that held them, bit into it daintily.

"Now then, Gordon Kelly, give an account of yourself," she said. "What are you doing up here?" "They had no further use for me at the hospital, so I just came up; that's all," he replied Gordon.

"Because I had no other place to go, I live here!" exclaimed Mildred. "Live where?" "On Gordon's property," "Right," replied Mildred, with an amused smile. "We are sitting on my property now."

"Goodness! That bridge that crosses the brook at the southern boundary line." "Oh, I know, I know," Elmer broke in excitedly. "That road that goes through the granite posts leads to your house, doesn't it?" "You guessed it, Elmer," replied Gordon.

"Well, I declare," said Mildred. "Tell us all about Mr. Kelly's house." "With pleasure, Miss Dery," laughed Gordon, emphasizing the last two words. "Goodness! That bridge that crosses the brook at the southern boundary line."

It was in the gray of the morning that he dropped the train, without being noticed, when it stopped at Pew Creek. It was all of a twelve-mile walk to his home, but he started off, and it was not until he reached the bridge where later he met Mildred that he was able to make use of one of the telephones on his property and order an automobile to take him the rest of the way.

Two weeks passed and in the Boston club went at the matter in earnest. It had $50,000 tied up in Gordon Kelly, and that was a mighty pile of money to put out for a ball player and not have the use of his services. At the end of the third week the case was put in the hands of private detectives, and these professionals began a systematic hunt for the missing man. They traced his trunk to the terminal baggage room. They interviewed the expressman who had taken it there. But that is as far as they got in that direction. The trunk itself was like hundreds of others and the baggage men, who handled nothing else, could not place it. There was not enough for them to go on, and three weeks is a long time to remember a trunk that is like hundreds of others.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 19, 1913.

THE SITUATION IN MEXICO.

To begin with, we must remember that Mexico is not a country the size of Prince Edward Island, or Porto Rico, but is a country of vast extent, of enormous wealth and natural resources, with a population of at least fourteen million people. Under the administration of President Diaz good order was maintained and the country was developed by vast investments of foreign capital. But Diaz was a despot.

Since the overthrow of the Diaz government civil war has prevailed and in some parts of the country a condition little less than anarchy. The general who overthrew Diaz was himself assassinated, and the capital and a considerable part of the country now recognizes the authority of Gen. Huerta, who has proclaimed himself president. In the northern part of the country another general has established a provisional government. In fully one-third of Mexico neither chieftain can exert much authority, and a rule of brigandage and pillage is said to prevail.

The United States, as part of the Monroe Doctrine, asserts the right to preserve order on this continent, and would regard the invasion of Mexico by any European or Asiatic power as an unfriendly act. The German Government and possibly other European governments feel that the United States should, therefore, take some decided action to restore order in Mexico. An invasion of the country would ultimately secure this end, but it would mean that at least 500,000 men would have to be employed in the work of occupation and pacification. Sufficient forces might be sent by Vera Cruz to capture the City of Mexico, but a great army would also have to be despatched across the Rio Grande and hard fighting would commence as soon as they landed.

The United States has never recognized the Huerta government, and that government is without friends and unable to compel obedience in many parts of the republic. Nevertheless, it is asserted that the European powers desire the United States to recognize the Huerta government. Without such recognition Huerta cannot float a loan in Europe or undertake the pacification of the country.

If the United States is compelled to conquer Mexico, the absorption or annexation of that country is almost bound to follow. This would give the United States manufacturers free trade in what is now Mexico, and would result in a tariff against other countries, including Canada. Indeed, it is hard to see how the United States can stop short of the isthmus if it once raises, drills and seasons an army of 500,000 men.

COL. HUGHES MAKING GOOD.
 Col. Sam Hughes as minister of militia is making good, as nearly always happens with a man who has his heart in his work. He speaks sharply to the officers of the permanent force at Halifax, but he expressed the views of the Canadian people. There is no place in Canada for the idle man and we can dispense with the traditions of the officers' mess which are associated with the big standing armies. There are too many officers in the garrisons who should be at work instructing the officers of the volunteer force or attached to the schools and universities. And some of our officers of the engineering corps should be available for use by the Dominion Government in the construction of great public works.

Whether the minister's advice to his guests at Halifax respecting their drinking habits was or was not a little severe, under all the circumstances, no one will deny that in cutting out the canteen at the training camps the minister is respecting public opinion.

It must also be said for the colonel that he is always on the job. He knows his department, and appears to be master. If he has any enemies, they must be sadly disappointed by the record he has made so far as minister of militia and defence.

BRITISH TRADE UNIONS.
 Britain was the birthplace of trades unionism and the blue book recently issued by the chief registrar of friendly societies for the United Kingdom shows that it is steadily growing in strength. The statistics it contains are brought up to the end of the year 1911, when the membership of the trades unions totaled 2,373,957, as compared with 1,604,812 at the beginning of the decade. The increase is really larger than appears, because of deductions not previously appearing in the tables. A significant feature disclosed is the tendency towards consolidation. While the membership increased by nearly 800,000, the number of unions decreased from 754 to 630.

of the British registered trade unions amounted to no less than $30,788,944, an increase of $2,213,635 over those of the previous year. Of that large sum more than one-half belonged to the engineering, mining and quarrying industries, and the prosperity of the country in recent years is evidenced by the fact that an exceptionally large sum, representing one-sixth of the total income of the trade unions of the United Kingdom for 1911, was paid out in benefits. The careful provision made by the unions for emergencies appears from the proportion, amounting to two-fifths of the total funds, held in cash or readily available assets, while one-third is invested in government and municipal securities.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN EUROPE.

From the occasional correspondence forwarded by members of the United States Commission on Agricultural Cooperation it has been examined European systems it is evident they have been much impressed with the advantages these have brought to the farmer. They were particularly struck with the development of the German societies, which now practically cover the whole empire and have resulted in general benefit. Not only has the general standard of farming been raised but the improved methods of distribution have resulted advantageously both for the producer and consumer. Success in one department has naturally encouraged the establishment of new agencies on the principle that made good in its earlier applications.

In northern Italy the commission had an excellent opportunity to estimate the value of co-operative action in the case of small farmers. Near Milan its members inspected a model farm owned by the Count of Ponti, one part of which was rented on the share basis by twenty heads of families. The farmers, after providing for their support devote themselves chiefly to dairying and the raising of silk worms. They have a co-operatively-owned cheese-making plant and use the waste to feed hogs, also co-operatively-owned. What struck the American delegates was the comparative economic independence secured by co-operation even in the case of peasant farmers, who in this way exert far greater control over the manufacturing and marketing of their produce than is possessed by the majority of large farmers in America.

THE KING AND QUEEN COMING!

The King and Queen are coming! Not their imperial majesties, but the future king and queen of Canada may soon be amongst us. Capt. Hamilton of The News, who was the first to foresee a king for Canada, may be expected in a few days to announce in courtly language the good tidings. Far be it from us to trespass upon sacred ground, or to anticipate the announcement from the gallant captain which we feel is about due, but will it not be founded upon the betrothal of H. R. H. Prince Arthur of Connaught to H. H. the Duchess of Fife, granddaughter of King Edward? We may soon be told that this royal couple, after their marriage in October, will visit Canada and tour the country with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. We are sure that the captain will find a more courtly phrase than "tour of inspection," but it may be something of that kind.

Were the captain to tell us that the royal couple will soon establish their home and royal court at Rideau Hall, we would scruple to dispute his authority. But the near great are sometimes in error as to the plans of the great and it may be that Prince Arthur as Viceroy of Ireland will open the new parliament at College Green.

 BACK NUMBERS.

We're so mighty up-to-date! How do we love to congregate in little bunches, crowds or groups to fill the air with cheers and whoops in honor of our heroes, which bulks so on Achievement's page. Each time we turn our vision back a hundred years our joyous track to days when earth was fresh and clean and never smelt of gasoline, and no one dreamed of such a juice if found could prove cheer that we're raising another year. "What the cost of living is?" "Let's thank our lucky stars!" We're here and kicking at this date! "I have to go to bed at night by ten o'clock!" "I don't know how that we couldn't bear." However did the folks continue to know their reality were alive when their human beings soar into the air a mile or more, or heard what far-off speakers said through wire strung overhead? "The world is hard and slow a hundred years or more ago. Now we are soot, a landing man as fast as we consider wise." "But let another hundred pass when (how sorrowful alas!) the dwellers on the good old earth will find our ways a source of merriment and fun. They'll chuckle till they're faint and weep at the antique, then antique, and just about up with smiles. They say our ways were poor and slow when we're 'a hundred years ago.'"

 But Funds Are in Hands of Italian Banker Who Has Failed.
 Arrested and haled to the police court on the charge of vagrancy, Nicola Veroli, the well-known musician who squats on the street corners and plays a three-keyed hand organ, furnished sufficient evidence yesterday to prove that his mendicancy was forced upon him by the failure of a well-known Italian banker in Toronto. FOUR MILE BOAT

COURSE TOO LONG

Experts Say Present Route Is

Harmful For College

Boys.

BRINGS EARLY DEATH

Distance Should Be Reduced

to Three Miles Is General

Opinion.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

NEW YORK, July 17.—(Special.)—

The four-mile, youth-killing, university boat race route is destined to go by the board. As sure as fate the distance of the present gruelling an-nuous contests at Poughkeepsie and

New London will be shortened. Some want it three miles, others say two.

This serious subject is now being looked upon from various angles.

These are the view points of the faculties of the universities, that of the coaches, that of old rowing men, that of physicians, and finally that of the parents of the boys who row, and this last one will settle the whole question.

Nearly four years ago that good carman and authority on athletics,

William English, in a masterful article printed in Harper's Weekly, said:

"I believe that to fix the distance at three miles will prolong the lives of hundreds of young men among the crews and enable the rowmen to live out the full span nature has allotted to them, instead of dying in youth of early middle age, as the inevitable consequence of abnormal strain upon constitutions not quite perfect."

The surgeon-general of the U. S. Navy in a report on the matter, strongly condemns the lengthy course. "There are instances galore," he says, "of the immediate effects of the watering four miles."

"The latest one was the case of the stroke man in Yale Varsity eight of this year. I was on the press car of the observation train on the east side of the river at New London, and as the crews started on their last mile, Yale's stroke man was seen to be very much distressed, completely exhausted. At the beginning of the final half, he was so exhausted that he was swaying from side to side and only his supreme will power kept him up. Just below this point the observation train made a detour behind the big hill. A couple of newspaper men who had seen my varsity races, spoke up and said:

"That man will be in the bottom of the boat before the shells come into view again." And we all exo. r. i. f. i. c. d. but by his great pull he fooled us. His suffering, however, to keep erect was extraordinary.

That the matter will be taken up in the near future is a certainty.

CHICKEN BROKE UP

HIS HUNGER STRIKE

Watermelon Helped Some, Too,

in Case of Incarcerated

Negro.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 17.—(Can. Press.)—

The manner in which Warden Charles

W. Dodd, of the county jail, broke up a hunger strike today, may set a useful example, he thinks, to the keepers of English prisons, who become custodians of suffragettes, who seek to gain their liberty by refusing to eat.

Wm. Turner, a negro prisoner, incarcerated last Sunday, sought to gain his liberty in a similar manner. This morning the negro had been 48 hours without food, when Warden Dodd appeared at the door of his cell with a steaming plate of fried watermelon. Turner sniffed and his hunger strike came to an abrupt end.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

EVERYTHING COMES TO HIM WHO WAITS

But North Toronto Residents Think They've Waited Long Enough.

INDIGNATION MEETING

Ward Aldermen Are Requested to Attend Tonight to Gain Information.

Residents in North Toronto will meet tonight at the old town hall to formally protest against the city's complete neglect of the recently annexed district north of the Belt Line Railway. So far as city improvements are concerned, Davisville, Eglinton and Bedford Park are not a particle further advanced than they were a year ago. Up till the present residents of the district have been living in hope, but patience is now exhausted and tonight's meeting will likely result in some militant action. The aldermen representing the ward have been asked to be present, so that first-hand information may be forthcoming regarding any improvements, even contemplated.

While the state of the roads is far from satisfactory, North Toronto's greatest drawback is the double car fare and the hope of better transportation led many to vote for annexation. The last town council held up the improving of Yonge street in the idea that changes were imminent and that it would be unwise to do anything that might have to be redone, but the street is anything, worse today than it ever was.

Many residents who thought they had said farewell to municipal affairs, intend to be present tonight, since they are beginning to find that there's no difference between the city council and a town council, except its size, and the fact that a little more effort is required to secure its attention to local necessities.

A GOOD BUSINESS MOTTO
Get It Now

When Ed. Mack has a Clearing Sale, it is time for the bankers, lawyers, doctors and young men of Toronto to figure on an immediate money-saving investment in clothes. Suits in fancy tweeds and worsteds, selling regularly for $15 and $18, are reduced to $12; suits selling for $20, $22, $25 and $28 are reduced to $15 and $18. If you can use another suit or a spring or fall overcoat—adopt the business motto—"Get it Now."

$12 $15 $18

These prices are not ordinary, every-week bargain noises. They are actual reductions, made only twice a year at Ed. Mack's—and by Ed. Mack. The name is a guarantee that what is said is so.
