WHAT WILL FIELDING DO?

The prime minister of Canada should be asked to say in his place in parliament what his action is going to be in face of the incontrovertible facts already disclosed to the insurance commission.

The superintendent of insurance, weak as he is, has still a certain ground for excuse in that his back was never stiffened by his immediate superior, Mr. Fielding, the minister of finance.

Mr. Fitzgerald reported to the minister of finance the scandalous proceedings of the Manufacturers' Life directors, who, as any lawyer will tell you, committed gross breaches of trust in permitting arrangements for bolstering up a stock broker's business, and in lending money to one another.

Mr. Fielding, apparently, took no notice of these doings, when his duty clearly was to indicate to the company that changes in its directorate was the only way in which the square thing could be done to the policyholders.

If such a disclosure were made in connection with any cabinet minister in England, he would not hold his place for 24 hours.

To answer that not a dollar of the policyholders' money was lost is not to deal with the vital matter of trusteeship ethics involved. It is a mere evasion of the issue; it betrays a woful appreciation of what trusteeship is.

SLAP ABOUT NIAGARA POWER.

The American members of the international waterways commission have presented their report upon the present position, and future prospects, of Niagara Falls, as affected by the abstraction of water for power purposes.

The commission shakes its head over the danger to the finest natural spectacle on this continent, and says that if the power exploitation is not curbed the Falls will cease to be the chief scenic glory of America.

The commission proposes legislation prohibiting further diversions of water which is naturally tributary to Niagara Falls, the prohibition to remain in force two years, and then to become permanent law if, in the meantime, the Canadian government enacts legislation on similar lines.

The commissioners suggest that the maximum amount diverted on the American side be 25,000 cubic feet per second, and on the Canadian side 35,000 cubic feet per second.

In the section of the report dealing with this aspect of the matter appears this paragraph: "Such legislation would give to Canada the advantage of diverting 7500 cubic feet per second more than is diverted in the United States.

At present it is not necessary to discuss the advisability of preserving the falls from total spoliation. It will suffice to call attention to the assumption of the commissioners, that, although the preponderance of the falls' money-making capacity is on the Canadian side, the advantages to be derived therefrom will chiefly accrue to the United States.

Under existing conditions, and assuming that exploitation is as rapid as Americans would like it to be, this may be true. But there is a coalsack about this intimation which will not incline Canadians to take it lying down.

Suppose the Canadian Niagara is harnessed to the chariot wheel of Uncle Sam in order that a few corporations may quickly become rich, what is to be the effect on Ontario and on Canada generally? Why should Canadian charters have been granted for the principal benefit of Yankee enterprise? If Ontario just now cannot utilize all the power which may be produced from her frontier heritage she had better wait 20 years rather than see that splendid possession alienated for the building up of a foreign state.

The day is surely coming when Canadians will realize the extent to which the public interest has been disregarded in this matter. Two offences have been committed, either of which may possibly be fatal to the proper development of this province—the mistake of allowing United States corporations to preponderate on the Canadian side, and the mistake of granting, on inadequate terms, franchises to Canadian corporations, the effect of which will be, unless strong corrective measures are taken quickly, to retard that same development because Canadians will have to pay more dearly for power than they ought to pay.

Owing to a clever system of allied companies the Toronto manufacturer, who thought he was safeguarded by law, will be expected to pay from $35 to $40 per horse power per annum; whereas at the very most he should only be charged from $15 to $17, if the business were conducted as a means of national progress instead of an instrument of private aggrandizement.

The commissions which have hitherto represented Canadian interests in connection with the stupendous power problem have not yet proved that they have grasped the magnitude of the problem with which they are supposed to deal.

The province is more rapidly becoming seized of the duty it owes itself, and the neglect of duty displayed by those who were its inefficient servants. It may not be long before an overwhelming public demand will arise for the expropriation of franchises which ought never to have been granted.

Expropriation becomes, in the last analysis, a financial proposition. If the Ontario government is not already working out the basis upon which expropriation would be possible it is not applying to the problem that gift of foresight and constructive statesmanship with which its best friends hope it is endowed.

It is surely time for the Toronto board of trade, the Manufacturers' Association, and for every organization which is intended to promote the enlargement of this metropolitan city, to join hands in a persistent, long-sighted effort to secure benefits of their own property to the people of this province. Smaller places are showing the way, Toronto should lead.

The city council in deciding to establish a department of industries and publicity has widened its natural opportunity to take effective action on those lines. One of the inducements for the settlement of new industries in and around the city should be cheap power.

The commissioner of industries about to be established will be closely connected with this great subject, and in the financial appropriation which will shortly be made for setting up this department liberality must distinguish the decision of the city council, because the end to be sought is so big that every means must be employed to strengthen the public opinion which now is, and to provide for a potentiality of public revenue, which a few years hence will have to justify the deeds which must be accomplished in the immediate future.

HARD CASE OF AGENTS. A few people are wailing because, they say, the insurance business is almost dead in Canada. Agents cannot write business. It is to be regretted if people who ought to be insured are not being insured, on account of the revelations which have already been made about the conduct of the business.

In some quarters there is a disposition to put the blame upon the Trouble Club, but the only people who have been able to injure insurance are the insurance people themselves. It is mighty poor business, when your failings are found out, to lay the blame for your tactics upon those who have discovered them. The storekeeper whose prices are too high expects to go out of business. The insurance officials who have been overcharging their customers must reform their methods. That is all there is to it.

Those who have dared to assail some of the insurance methods practised in this country are perfectly willing to bear all responsibility for their words and acts. They do not mind occasional abuse and misrepresentation, cries of "yellow press," "irresponsible recklessness," and any other incoherent epithets which may be hurled at them. The event has a knack of justifying those who do their duty by the public.

The work which has been done in the interest of clean business and square dealing with a trustful public will stand the test of time, and the scrutiny of the severest critic.

There is going to be a great house-cleaning in insurance. Housecleaning never harms anybody except spiders. Some pretty big spiders may have a lively time getting out of the way of the broom. Fly-catching occasionally doesn't pay.

There are said to be about 800 insurance men in Toronto. Insurance agents all over the country are numbered by the thousand. They are in unenviable case. Only a very few of them have contracts with their companies which the companies cannot break at a moment's notice.

The position of those men is almost pitiable. There are sharks among them, but as a body they are as good as their neighbors. They have known little or nothing of the interior management of the companies. They have been given their book, which to them has been blessed with all the authority of plenary inspiration, and they have preached from it with a fervor and effect which others have often admired. When they have been told in explicit terms always to present to the prospective client the participating policy they have not necessarily assumed any personal responsibility.

Many of them now find that they have been instruments of misrepresentation, and no doubt they are receiving from those whom they insured anything but complimentary observations.

Take the case of the Manufacturers' Life for instance. Agents of that company have been told to say, as evidence of the splendid and self-denying management of the company, that the executive committee which handled the investments consisted of eminent financiers who gave their inestimable services to the policyholders for the mere salary of $600 a year. Could morality and benevolence further go?

What is the innocent agent to say when he is confronted with the proof that one at least of the members of that committee was a stockbroker, making money out of handling the company's securities, and that in one case when the whole amount due for securities purchased for the company had been paid him it was discovered that he had "hypothecated" those securities, and the company was obliged to put up money to release them from the bank before the company could procure that for which it had paid.

The agents who are supplied with literature and with journals which are ostensibly independent of the companies, but have no practical liberty of criticism, have a right to take steps, along with the policyholders, to secure a thorough housecleaning. They are as much prejudiced as policyholders by the actions of the men higher up.

GET POWER TO EXPROPRIATE. Public opinion in Toronto undoubtedly favors municipal ownership and operation of the street railroads. It would indeed be surprising if a contrary view prevailed after the experience the citizens have had of the ways and methods of the company that now holds the franchise. They have this consolation, that their experience is not exclusive. It is that of every city and community which has placed its public utilities, or any of them, in private hands. Altho professing anxious desire to do a public service and to be animated by the most altruistic motives, the mask is soon dropped when once a franchise monopoly is obtained. Then it is found that the promoters who posed as public benefactors regard the public interest as a very secondary consideration. Not only do they proceed to violate their obligations without scruple, but are really indignant when it is suggested they should be compelled to observe them.

Every city and community should have right to operate its utilities and services, and to expropriate franchises, limited or perpetual, which have been granted to private holders at any time it may decide it to be expedient. At this time of day there is no reason why municipalities should be put to the trouble and expense of promoting private acts of the legislature for that purpose. Prussia, autocratic though its form of government is, has a general act of that kind; a democratic country should not be less favorable to administration by the citizens for the benefit of the citizens. Now that the provincial government has a bill before the assembly amending and codifying the provincial street, electric and other local railroads, a favorable opportunity is offered for the enactment of such general enabling clauses as will accomplish this end. The inequitable Conmee Act, too, should be repealed, and the right of municipalities to establish competitive services conceded.

Mayor Coatsworth and the controllers and members of the city council who oppose the formulation of a demand for power to expropriate privately held franchises forget that to have the power and to exercise it are two very different propositions. It is right that municipalities should have the power—actual expropriation is a question of expediency—largely of finance. But when the franchise-holders are habitually in breach of their agreements, that ground alone should be sufficient reason for bringing their term to an end. Breach of agreement in things which are of the essence of the contract ought to involve its cancellation and this power in municipalities would be the "big stick" compelling strict observance of the spirit and letter of the obligations voluntarily undertaken by those who have been on that account entrusted with the public services.

Private corporations, as has been pointed out, have no right to consider themselves above and beyond the ordinary operation of law. Rather is their case one which calls for strict interpretation of their agreements and strict application of the law of contracts. Not a day passes in which corporations of this class do not flagrantly violate contracts which, when occasion arises through public agitation, they themselves call binding and sacred, and appeal to as conferring vested interests not to be touched without compensation. It is surely equitable that those who stand so firmly on their contractual rights should as exactly observe the obligations which are their counterpart. The notion is everywhere prevalent on this continent, that when the public is a party, agreements may be broken with impunity, and that insistence upon them by the representatives of the public is at the uttermost. It is high time that if Ontario at least this notion should be dispelled. Power to expropriate franchises which are not being administered in terms of the grant or which the citizens may resolve to reacquire ought most certainly to be given all communities interested. If general rules are framed the new railroad board will be there to apply them. Then Toronto and other cities will be able to enforce their agreements or to operate their franchises themselves as may be most expedient in the interests of the citizens.

THE KINGSTON BALLOT. That the ballot papers used in the Kingston election permitted of individual votes being traced appears to be clear. It is true that only the ballot paper itself and the counterfoil were associated by number, and that the number of the voter upon the register was not placed upon the counterfoil. But the no means existed by which any thing party could identify a voter with the particular paper issued to him it would be possible for a dishonest politician to note the number of any ballot issued and thus ascertain during the process of counting for whom it was cast.

Clearly if the ballot is to be absolutely secret; if it is to be absolutely impossible either for officials acting at the poll or anyone else to trace any vote that is cast—there must be nothing that connects the marked paper with the voter. The form of the Dominion ballot provides for this, and at the same time permits of the poll officer satisfying himself that the paper issued to the voter is the one actually deposited in the ballot box. Nothing of course can altogether prevent fraud on the part of unscrupulous polling officials; all that can be done is to reduce their opportunities to a minimum.

Much can be said on behalf of the British system of numbered ballots which allows every vote to be traced if it is necessary to do so. During the quarter of a century or so since the introduction of vote by ballot, the working of the act has been so satisfactory that no serious demand for amendment has been made. It is the British policy to reduce the executive power of polling officials to a minimum, and their duty is limited to polling every voter on the official register who applies, and none other. No challenge is permitted which would have the effect of varying the register. Absolutely secret voting imposes more responsibility on the polling officer and affords greater facilities for direct fraud on his part. The whole root of the difficulty in Canada has been the failure to protect the right of the electors to a free and honest poll. The record of the present federal and late Ontario government in this matter is anything but creditable.

TELEPHONES AGAIN.

Canadian municipalities are learning that co-operation in matters of public policy is essential if individual interests are to be considered. Toronto city council acted rightly when Mayor Coatsworth was empowered to sign on behalf of the city the petition circulated by the Union of Canadian Municipalities and addressed to the senate of Canada asking that doubts be set at rest regarding the power of the legislative assembly of any province to authorize expropriation of telephone and other service companies, irrespective of the source of their charters.

The recommendations embodied in the petition also proposed to memorialize the parliament of Canada not to increase the capital of the Bell Telephone Company unless it is willing to submit to municipal regulation and provincial control.

This petition should compel a disclosure of the position of the federal government on the telephone situation, and particularly whether it is intended to carry out the policy favored by Sir William Mulock. The parliamentary committee enquiry, which he instigated, lapsed with his resignation, and is not to be revived. Mr. Aylesworth, who succeeded him as postmaster general, should now be compelled to say in straight terms whether he intends in this important matter to follow in his predecessor's footsteps. During his North York campaign he professed his ambition to do this, and his friends assured the electors he was sound as regards the nationalization of the telephone systems of the Dominion. A chance is now afforded him to satisfy the public whether his representations were sincere or whether he and his allies were merely hoodwinking the constituency.

Alas, Banwell well knows that Kingston, Ont., will never get into the same class with Kingston, Jamaica, as a winter resort.

It is now up to some of the newspapers to change their minds about the methods of insurance companies. Those that thought everything was right may have seen the light.

Mr. Harcourt wants the new government to follow in the footsteps of the old. He probably figures that this will be the surest and quickest road for the present opposition to get back to the treasury benches.

NEWS 1906 MAGAZINE. The News Publishing Company of Toronto have issued The News 1906 Magazine, which is an illustrated record of three years' progress in Canada. The immediate purpose of this 15 cent publication is not stated. It is a good advertising proposition, and contains a bunch of material that will be useful for reference. Its illustrations are excellent, and it contains some stories of real merit. If the paper were thicker and the type not quite so suggestive of a news' in-type the magazine would have been more like a magazine and less like an illustrated supplement.

The first page is taken up with an introductory article by J. S. Willison, which is printed in type so very much larger than that used for every other part of the letterpress as to give the article a prominence which might otherwise have been won for it by the excellence of its matter, and the literary smoothness of its manner.

OPEN LETTER ON HOSPITAL. To the Mayor and Aldermen of Toronto: Gentlemen,—Regarding the new hospital, it is not fair that every one who pays at a hospital should have the privilege of choosing his or her own medical advisers? Is it not cruel to deprive a sick person of the one in whom he or she has confidence? Then from the doctors' standpoint the physician has a vested right in his patients, and any man or board of men who would deprive him of his patient injures him in many ways. Let me ask Mr. Flavelle if the average earnings per week of the employees of the Wm. Davies Co. are not about $14 per week? Of these employees how many could pay the $10 per week demanded by the hospital before a patient could have his or her own doctor?

In the discussions before the council the persons not taking private or semi-private wards are spoken of as "the poor." The people who fill the $2.50 per week beds are not the poor, No.

HOW IS HAMILTON TO FARE?

Continued From Page 1. The history of the movement towards securing a rural telephone service that has evolved in the Telephone Union, affords one of the not uncommon instances of the struggle between the interests of the telephone company and the interests of the rural population. It was in the latter part of 1904 that the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, through its subsidiary, the Hamilton Telephone Company, proposed to the city of Hamilton to build a line of telephone lines to the rural districts. The proposal was met with a cold reception. The city council, at its meeting on March 15, 1905, refused to grant the franchise. The Bell company then appealed to the Ontario Telephone Commission. The commission, after a hearing, decided in favor of the Bell company. The city then appealed to the Ontario Court of Appeal. The court, in a decision handed down on March 15, 1906, upheld the decision of the commission. The city is now faced with the prospect of paying for a telephone service which it does not want. The city council has decided to appeal to the Ontario Court of Appeal. The Bell company has decided to appeal to the Ontario Court of Appeal. The Ontario Court of Appeal will hear the case on May 1, 1906.

Threatened With Paralysis.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indications of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, or insanity. In the letter quoted below Miss Scott tells how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her when the doctors had failed.

Threatened With Paralysis.

"I do not know how to express my gratitude to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was threatened with paralysis, and it was only through the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done more good than all the medicines I ever used."

OPERATORS ARE DIVIDED. AGREES TO INCREASE

Present Wage Scale Expires Next Saturday and Agreement Still Far Off.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24.—After being in joint conference thru committees since Tuesday afternoon coal operators and miners of the central competitive district and of the south-western district to-night are no nearer an agreement on a wage scale to go into effect on April 1 than they were when the former joint conference adjourned in disagreement on Feb. 2.

The present wage scale will expire next Saturday, and unless an agreement is reached before that time 225,000 union bituminous miners will, it is said by the union miners, be called from the mines in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas and Indiana Territory.

The joint scale committee of the central competitive district adjourned this afternoon to meet Monday, when a motion to report a disagreement will be carried. The session of the joint conference to receive this committee report will, according to the present program, be called to meet Monday afternoon.

Operators Divided. During the four days the committees have been in conference not every proposal offered by either side on the wage scale has been daily refused. The operators have been confronted with serious discussions in their own ranks.

Independent operators in Western Pennsylvania, represented by G. A. Magoon, have announced that they will pay the advance if Mr. Robbins goes.

Mitchell Stands Firm. President Mitchell of the mine workers has firmly declared that no settlement will be made unless an advance in wages is given.

Michigan Leases Canceled. The cancellation of 120 mining leases in Nipissing, Thunder Bay and Rainy River, north and south districts, is chronicled in The Ontario Gazette.

SMUGGLER ARRESTED.

Had Several Hundred Dollars in Silk Concealed in Dress.

New York, March 24.—Charged with attempting to smuggle fine lace valued at several hundred dollars into this country, a richly dressed woman, who gave her name as Ellen Cathers, which the customs officials believe is fictitious, was arrested by customs officials today upon the arrival of the La Savoie.

The woman aroused the suspicion of the customs officials when, as she descended the gangplank of the steamer she passed her cloak to a woman friend who was waiting for her on the pier. The officers seized the coat and found several rolls of lace concealed in the sleeve. Later the woman was taken back to the steamer and searched, and her rolls of lace were found concealed in the clothing which she wore.

DR. DYDE VISITS TORONTO.

Preaches in New St. Andrew's on the Work of the Great Potter.

The pulpit of St. Andrew's Church, on Kings-street, yesterday morning was occupied by Dr. Dyde of Queen's University, Kingston. The doctor has visited the city to help the Rev. Mr. Laird in his work of trying to raise an endowment fund for Queen's.

Preaching before a large congregation, he dilated on three phases of life, Nemesis, purgatory and salvation. He described as the cleansing process which brought a man's mind to a state of perfection.

The great formative of life causes us to believe that it is for our good that the way we are called upon to travel should not be an easy way, that it should not be a primrose path, but that it should be a steep and thorny way.

We were in God's school here in life, we were ever in our education when we left the school. On the university, God, our schoolmaster, sought us to spell out the meaning of our experience.

Today Dr. Dyde will be engaged on business in connection with his visit. Yesterday was the first time he preached in Toronto.

ENGLISH THE ONE TONGUE. THEN MAKE SPELLING EASY.

Andrew Carnegie Asks Support for Movement to Simplify the Language.

Hot Springs, March 24.—Andrew Carnegie made a statement to-day giving his views on the proposed reform of English spelling. He said:

"From Chaucer's time and before, till now, our language has been constantly changing and improving, not under any rule or system, but simply as occasion has required new words and new spellings.

The great Oxford dictionary, now under publication gives the history of each word and shows how the words creep into our language in the most haphazard manner. A new word expresses a new want, or an old want better than the word in use, and so it creeps into our language.

The original effort I have agreed to finance is not revolutionary, far from it. Its object will be conservative.

Word after word it will endeavor to improve the spelling of the language; slowly, of course, but hastening the pace as possible, that it may not be ridiculed the effort themselves use words and especially especially spellings which their predecessors of a century ago would have denounced as degrading to literature.

"Our language is likely to prevail in the world, and we may hope it is to become finally the universal language of the world."

"Why the perverse 'ough' spellings should be continued one cannot understand. When we write 'though' it expresses exactly the same as 'tho'."

"The 'ough' spellings are already dropping the apostrophe abundantly in British authors. Indeed, 'tho' with the superfluous apostrophe is already dropping the apostrophe. That 'tho' will get into general use soon is certain."

"I am trying to hasten the use of simplified spelling and to improve our own language for the struggle for the first place, which is even to-day upon us."

"If he be a benefactor, who makes two blades of grass to grow where one grew before, he is no less a benefactor who plants a shorter and simpler spell which will save a longer and irregularly spelled word and grow a new word."

"I hope that thoughtful people will give this important conservative reform the consideration and resolve to use it at least two or three simple words and thus range themselves with us in our effort to carry out unceasingly the work of improving our mother tongue, and adapting it to the noble purposes and high destiny."

DEFENDED HIS COUNTRY.

The Interesting Experiment of an Expatriated Canadian. Patriotism is like charity. It is a splendid thing to talk about and gush over, but its test comes when a subscription is demanded. Fortunately, Canadian patriotism is generally of the practical type, which makes one willing to send money, and an interesting example of this is just to hand from the wilds of Elmira, N. Y. It came to pass that a young professional man, in Canada, went to that interesting place to reside. He met a young lady, who was a little dubious at first of anything made in Canada. Still the grew in her estimation, and after a time she accepted his attentions and married him. Her idea was that her husband was a brilliant exception to the general run of things Canadian, so he decided to demonstrate in a practical way her error. He returned, as a wedding present to his bride, a beautiful Gourlay Piano, which he imported from the United States. After a few months he met a young man, a purchaser in Tientsin, China, and these exports are but an indication of the appreciation shown by competent judges of the piano's construction, tone and finish.

Why? Thought "Why the perverse 'ough' spellings should be continued one cannot understand. When we write 'though' it expresses exactly the same as 'tho'."

"I am trying to hasten the use of simplified spelling and to improve our own language for the struggle for the first place, which is even to-day upon us."

TROUBLE FOR SOMEBODY.

U. S. District Attorney Asks That Investigation Be Held.

Detroit, March 24.—Charles T. Wilkinson, formerly United States district attorney, is likely to make trouble for the local United States immigration officers who are said to have unearthed in which Mrs. Kleiser of Toronto and others are said to have been implicated, and after following up the case to a certain point, informed the Canadian customs officials of what was going on. Mr. Wilkinson has written Congressman Denby, demanding that an investigation be held into the part of Mrs. Kleiser in the case. Mr. Wilkinson also calls attention to the fact that the invasion of Mrs. Lafayette's home here by Canadian officials, in search of jewelry they suspected she held for Mrs. Kleiser, was clearly illegal.

FREE TO MEN

Until Robust Health, Strength and Vigor Is Regained.

Perfect Manhood. The man of mature years, with a strong heart, iron nerves, good health, self-confidence and undimmed energy. The essential elements of a successful life, respected and esteemed by all. Such is the manly man.

For forty years I have been making strong, vigorous men out of the puniest weaklings. A man comes to me weak, nervous, despondent and discouraged; with Dropsy, Losses, impotency, Varicocele, Rheumatism, Lame Back, Kidney or Stomach Troubles. I give him my world-famed Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, with supplementary, absolutely free, to use for two months. Mind you, not one penny in advance or on deposit. A few nights' use convinces him that he has found the right remedy. It fills him with new life, vigor, and strength, and at the end of the time he is only too glad to pay me for the Belt and to recommend it to his friends.

This is the way I cure men. This is the way every man can regain their lost strength, without the slightest risk to themselves, for if I fail it costs you nothing whatever. You pay me only when cured, and in many cases the cost is only $5.00; or you may pay cash, full wholesale price.

My great success has brought forth many imitations of my Belt, but my great strength, gained by forty years' experience, to guide and advise my patients, is mine alone, and is given freely with the Belt. Be sure you get the genuine. Call to-day and take a Belt soon. Or mail for one and my two books on Electricity and its medical uses, which I send free, sealed, by mail.

SUGAR BEET FACTORIES SCARCE

Chatham District Farmers Can't Get Product Manufactured. Chatham, March 24.—The Thames Valley farmers are in need of more sugar beet factories to dispose of their crops. The farmers around Chatham are heavy sugar beet growers, and since the removal of one factory the remaining one is unable to handle all the contracts. Many of the farmers are under contract, and if the capacity of the factory should become restricted the loss to farmers would be great. The Marine City Co., formerly took a large portion of the output, but it has gone out of business. The city industrial committee and several capitalists are trying to make Chatham a sugar beet centre, and will try and induce several factories to locate there.

THE THREE POWERS.

If those professing themselves Christians were to follow God's will with all their power, the change that would take place would turn the world upside down," said Rev. Robert J. He referred to three powers—spiritual, money and political—all three of which, if exerted from the right principles, would return to the holder many times over.

The electric passenger elevators are to be fitted for conveying the passengers between the six decks. Two elevators are for luggage and the six smaller ones for the passengers. There will be a telephone exchange on board, which will connect up the chief passenger officer of the ship with the officers, and there is also to be special telephones for the bridge. But perhaps the most up-to-date novelty is the provision of electric curling-iron heaters for the women passengers.

He was placed in the hands of an able surgeon, who not only saved his life, but also enabled him to live for more than ten years in comparative comfort by means of feeding thru a tube in his side, leading directly to his stomach. GEORGIANS ASK AUTONOMY

SAY RUSSIA BROKE FAITH

Were Promised Own King and Church After Absorption in 1801.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, March 24.—The Georgians have presented the viceroy of the Caucasus with a demand for the autonomy of their church. When the Kingdom of Georgia, whose heroic people upheld the banner of Christianity in the mountains of the Caucasus for centuries against the hosts of the prophet, became utterly exhausted by continual wars with the Turks, it accepted the rule of Russia in 1801, a treaty was made, providing that Russia should respect the Georgian kings, recognize the autocephalous character of the church, grant the Georgians immunity from Russian military conscription, and not interfere with their language, schools, etc. The Georgian monarch, however, was immediately arrested, and the people were powerless to resist, and, one by one, the political liberties guaranteed disappeared. The church alone, with a Georgian ex-arch, continued as a national institution until after the Russo-Turkish war, when it also succumbed to the process of Russification, being now presided over by a Russian ex-arch, and administered by the synod at St. Petersburg.

NIAGARA FISHING DESTROYED BY NET AND SEINE SPORTS.

Lockport, N.Y., March 24.—The Niagara County Anglers' Club has received word that Governor Higgins has signed the bill increasing the number of regular state protectors from 50 to 65, and it is now a law. The bill advocated by the local club to have the state furnish a fast launch for the upper Niagara to catch the fish pirates who are killing off all the game fish has not been advocated as yet. The sportsmen of Erie County are urged to help put this important measure thru. Word comes from Niagara Falls that the Niagara River has been swept with nets and seines all winter, there being little ice, and that dynamite is going on right along. The Niagara River once afforded magnificent black bass, muscalonge, pike and pickerel angling, but it is now almost a thing of the past owing to the raids of the pot fishermen.

PROFESSIONAL POLITICIANS CREATED BY HIGH INDEMNITY

One Danger Pointed Out by R. Wilson Smith—Sessions Are Unduly Protracted.

Montreal, March 25.—(Special.)—After being in Ottawa for a few days R. Wilson Smith, the financial expert, says: "I have not the least hesitation in saying that not a few of the men who gave themselves $2500 per annum would be unable in private life to make more than $1000 per annum."

"The session should last about three months. It has lasted six before now, because the members dawdle away their time. Now do you mean to say that the services of the members are worth $2500 to the country for three months? This is absurd."

"And as I say the fear is that the country will be tempted to give an extra money bill to tempt some of the members to desert the state a service by remaining at home."

TO SAVE NIAGARA FALLS TREATY WILL BE REQUIRED

Prompt Measures Necessary—Spectacular Value is Equal to the Commercial.

(From the Sunday World.) Washington, March 23.—If Niagara Falls is to be preserved as one of the wonders of the world, immediate action by the United States and Canada is required, according to the findings of the American members of the International waterways commission, which has for the past year been studying the condition at the falls and in the tributary great lakes. This report is signed by General O. H. Ernst, chairman, and the other American members of the commission.

After a brief description of the physical conditions, the report gives a detailed account of all the corporations now engaged in the development of power, with the quantities of water which they are actually using, amounts they are preparing to use, and the amounts which they are authorized under their charters to use.

The report says: "The total quantity of water to be taken from the river works now authorized is 65,000 cubic feet per second. Of that amount, 25,000 cubic feet is to be taken on the American side, and the remainder 40,000 cubic feet on the Canadian side. That is 27 per cent of the average discharge, and 33 per cent of the low water discharge of the Niagara River will cease to pass over the falls when these works are completed and in full operation."

To forestall with accuracy the effects in detail of the full diversion authorized would require a more complete knowledge of the bed of the river than is now obtainable. The water taken on the Canadian side below the rapids will affect the Horseshoe Fall alone. If all the water taken on the American side should affect the American side alone, it would practically leave it dry, but it seems probable that only a part of this diversion will be actually diverted in the Horseshoe Fall. Exactly what portion will be diverted is stated with precision, but from a study of the channels, and reefs so far known, a reasonable estimate is that the water will be cut from the two arms in about the proportion of one-sixth from the American falls and five-sixths from the Horseshoe Fall. Exactly what portion will be diverted in the two cataracts will take, whether they will be made narrower or wider, is up to greater number of streams, or simply be reduced in volume, retaining in general their present form, cannot now be foretold, for the fact is that there is no action to be taken of the forms and depth of water on the crests.

"If 60,000 cubic feet per second be diverted the loss will be important; but if the diversion be limited to this amount or receded as hereafter indicated, it may not prove disastrous. This cannot be definitely determined until the works now under construction have been completed and put in operation. When that happens, it will be known that the falls have not suffered serious damage as a scenic spectacle, it does not follow that additional water may be diverted with impunity. Additional diversion would be an experiment even more dangerous than that now being tried, and in our opinion, should not be permitted."

"In return for the impairment of the falls thus far authorized, the State of New York is to receive practically nothing for the 342,000 horsepower authorized on that side, and the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park will receive an annual rental of $270,000, or an average of 45 cents per horsepower for 418,000 horsepower authorized on the Canadian side. These figures do not include the 600,000 horsepower being developed by the electric railway, the power developed by the Hamilton property with the water from the Welland Canal."

Many Millions Invested. "Charters have been granted to corporations which propose to divert additional amounts in quantities not now limited. The sums of money invested, or being invested, in the works now in operation, or under construction, and in the industries dependent upon them, amount to many millions of dollars, and it is probably not expedient to attempt the withdrawal of the rights thus utilized. The commercial value of the water-power at Niagara Falls is very great, but if compared with values set aside by wealthy communities elsewhere for park purposes, this value is not too great to be devoted to similar purposes. The place is visited annually by about 800,000 people.

"If the falls are to be preserved, it must be by mutual agreement between the two countries. As a step in that direction we recommend that legislation be enacted which shall contain the following provisions, viz.: "The secretary of war to be authorized to grant permits for the diversion of 25,000 cubic feet per second, and more, from the waters naturally tributary to Niagara Falls, distributed as follows: Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power & Manufacturing Co., 5000; Erie Canal & its tenants, in addition to lock service, 400; Chicago drainage canal, 100; all other diversions of water which is naturally tributary to Niagara Falls is to be prohibited, except such as may be required for domestic use or for the service of locks in navigation canals. Suitable penalties for violation of the law to be prescribed.

Law to be Permanent. "The foregoing prohibition to remain in force two years, and then to become the permanent law of the land, if in the meantime the Canadian government shall have enacted legislation prohibiting the diversion of water which is naturally tributary to Niagara Falls, in

THE TORONTO WORLD YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS MILK PRODUCERS ARE INCREASED

Producers' Association Agree on Raise of 10c Can, With Delivery at Farmer's Gate.

A largely attended meeting of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association was held at the Albion Hotel on Saturday afternoon, when the question of a general strike with respect to the prices which at present obtain in Toronto was seriously considered.

The meeting was full of enthusiasm, but, on the matter of detail and the best means to be employed to secure the desired end, the gathering was hopelessly at variance. While the section favored an immediate advance in prices, others argued for a postponement until fall. Motions and counter-motions followed each other in rapid succession, until President Chester was hopelessly bewildered. But, through the intervention of the association, was impressed with the necessity for an increase in price for the summer months from 90c per can of eight gallons to $1 net, at the farmer's gate.

The summer season will begin with April 1, continuing for five months, or until Aug. 31. This was agreed upon, though not unanimously. The question as to how the farmer shall dispose of milk, whether individually or thru a commissioner, was decided in favor of the latter course. The commission will arrange in dealing with the retail dealers of the city at an early date, when the action of the association will presumably be accepted by every member of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association.

Another matter fruitful of discussion was the question of a uniform eight-gallon can. It was proposed that the oldest and most respected residents of the town, at present known as Toronto 76 years ago and spent the early part of his life in the Gore of Toronto and Vaughan Township, where he married Miss Isabella, daughter of Alexander Gracy of Etobicoke. He lived continuously in West York, being one of its best known pioneers. For over 30 years he has lived in the Junction, being almost its first settler. It was thru his efforts among the various villages around the town that the various villages around the town were incorporated into the Town of West Toronto Junction. He was an active and prominent member of the town's growth, and was prominent after seven years a councillor, J. S. Sedgwick of Toronto, the mayor, with the members of the council presented him with a testimonial. He was a large property owner, the present "Haydon House" at St. Clair-avenue and Weston, popular during his name. He was very popular at the Junction, where he has lived a retired life in "Haydon Villa," with it its beautiful grounds. He leaves a widow and three children, a daughter, Mrs. E. Heydon, Miss Birdie Heydon, and Mrs. Chas. O'Connor all of Toronto Junction. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at St. Cecilia's church, thence to Mount Hope Cemetery.

Street Foreman Moon has prepared a report on streets that will be presented at the meeting of the board of works to-morrow night for discussion. He asks for $28,142.20 divided as follows: Cement sidewalks, $15,491.92; repaving, $450.00; repairing sidewalks, $272.12; repaving, $272.12; cost of Dunrobin-street pavement, $7500. This latter item means the pavement of Dundas-street from May-street to Van Horne-street, and an executive committee of that employees of the city, who have in the streets department be paid 20 cents per hour. There are fifty cars of stock at the Union Stock Yards for to-morrow's market.

$115,000 A SEASON TO TENOR. New York, March 24.—Enrico Caruso, Mr. Caruso's star tenor, has made more money this season than any other masculine artist that ever demonstrated his vocal abilities within the walls of the Metropolitan Opera House, not excepting Jean de Reszke. Caruso will take back to Europe with him, $115,000 minus his personal expenses. It is said that Jean de Reszke once received a trifling more than $100,000 a season's work, while his brother Edward, the basso, cleared about half as much.
