FOOD PRICES KEPT HIGH BY COLD STORAGE

Meats, Fish, Eggs and Poultry,
Purchased When Cheap,
Put Away for a Number of Years.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prices of beef, mutton, pork, eggs and butter broke abruptly yesterday afternoon as packers and large dealers began to realize the force of the public sentiment aroused against high prices.
Some of the price-cutting is said to have been caused by an effort of packers to reduce cold storage stocks at any cost, so they might be in a better position to face legislative investigations that are being directed against the cold storage warehouses in many states.
One large wholesale dealer said the dropping of prices was the strongest possible indication that the cold storage packers are responsible for high prices, and that they feared investigation into this branch of their business more than anything else. He said cold storage stuff would be dumped on the market now at any price.
Senator Alt and Assemblyman Lechman, both of Brooklyn, have introduced into the legislature a bill concerning cold storage. The measure provides in part that "no person shall sell fish, game, poultry, butter, cheese or other articles or produce, which have been kept in cold storage for a longer period than 60 days. Violation of the law is made a misdemeanor punishable for the first offence by a fine of $50, and for the second offence a fine of $150, and for each subsequent offence a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not more than one year."

What Cold Storage Does.
On condition that the name of the guide be withheld, entrance was gained by a World reporter to one of the largest cold storage plants in New York City last night, and methods employed to make the public pay fictitious prices for food were seen at first hand.
All that was revealed by the investigation holds true, an experienced employe said, in many cold storage plants in the greater city. Records show that about 15 cents a dozen, and the quality is said to be superior to that of the market in order to force the public to pay exorbitant prices.
These supplies are "canned in the cold" for from six months to three years or more, and are released gradually during high-price seasons, when they are sold as fresh products at glittering figures.
Some of the articles viewed by the reporter were:
10,000 pounds of halibut placed in the plant three years ago.
Barrels of turkeys and geese (number not given), two years old or more.
500 cases of eggs, the remainder of 5000 cases placed in storage beginning last April.
10,000 cases of fish (of different varieties), from one year to three years old.
5000 barrels of apples.
200,000 lbs. of meat held in storage for seven months.

Cans' Loss on Old Eggs.
"There has been a big call for eggs recently," the employe said, surveying the spacious room, which is kept at a temperature of 31 degrees throughout the year. "The cases in here reached to the ceiling until a short time ago. Most of the eggs came from the west last April and May and cost the buyer about 15 cents a dozen. He's selling 'em now for 52 cents. You can't lose on eggs. If they get too old they are broken up and sold to the bakers."
He led the way to another room filled with four-gallon and two-gallon cans, and in which the temperature was only a few degrees above zero. The larger cans were filled with sweet yolks and the smaller with "whites." He said that eggs in some of the cans were five years old and the contents came from China.
Two huge storerooms filled with meat which hung in a temperature of 6 degrees above zero were next visited. Beef, veal, mutton, lamb and other meats of a total weight of 200,000 lbs. had been in storage for seven months. It costs a quarter of a cent a month for storage charges on this meat, which is purchased during the spring and summer at the lowest wholesale price and distributed when the public is compelled to buy it at famine figures.

Fish at Four Cents a Pound.
The rooms reserved for fish were filled to their capacity. In explanation of this the employe said:
"These fish are picked up when the market is glutted, about June. They cost well, say about four cents a pound in 10,000 pound lots. They are brought here and dumped down a chute into vats of water, where the blood is washed off. Then they are placed in pans and frozen until a glaze forms. In this state they are placed in cases and held in this room at a temperature slightly above zero. These fish will be placed on the market now as 'fresh.' The public don't know that they were taken from their native waters only three years ago."
"Housewives will pay about 22 cents a pound for the bluefish and up to 40 cents a pound for the sturgeon, and believe they are getting fresh fish. We charge three-quarters of a cent a pound for freezing and the storage charges for a year bring the price of four-cent fish up to about six cents. This is sold for about 18 cents and the difference is what the public pays into the pockets of the middleman."
Sells $3 Apples for $6.
"Fishermen, farmers, cattle-raisers, egg-growers and truck gardeners don't get living prices, hardly. They are up against it just the same as the public."

PARTY ORGANIZER TOLD TO STAY
AT WORK

Ready for Another Appeal to People—Coalition Majority Assured—
Laborites May Play Trick.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The combined strength of the Liberal, Labor and Nationalist coalition has reached 345 tonight, or more than half the number of members of the house of commons.
A Unionist government, therefore, is out of the question, and the only point still undecided is the exact strength of the coalition majority. But as an independent Liberal majority is equally out of the question, only a short time can be predicted for the coming government, and, as a matter of fact, both the Liberal and Unionist parties are looking away from the present struggle into the not distant future, when the conflict at the polling booths will be renewed.
Only a few additional returns were made to-night, and the parties now stand:

GOVERNMENT COALITION: Liberals 233, Laborites 35, Nationalists 74.
OPPOSITION: Unionists 255.
Net gains of Unionists to date 38.
The party organizers have already been instructed to keep up unceasing vigilance and to be prepared for an appeal to the country at any moment.
There is no doubt that the success of the Conservatives has been largely due to the constant education of the agricultural population in the virtues of tariff reform and this education will now be carried into the northern counties and Scotland, in the hope of winning these territories at the next elections.
The Liberals, on the other hand, will concentrate their attention on educating the country on the questions of free trade and the limitations of the veto of the house of lords.
As an example of the difficulties facing the government at the coming session, apart from the house of lords and the budget, it is probable that the Labor party will introduce its "right to work" bill, which the government opposed last session. This might easily lead to the defeat of the ministry and to another dissolution.
With the return of Premier Asquith and War Minister Balfour, all the cabinet ministers have now been re-elected.

A GAME WARDEN
SHOOTS FISH PIRATE

Tragedy on the Niagara River
— A Buffalo Man is the Victim of Rifle Skirmish.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 26.—(Special).—In a shooting affray this afternoon on the upper Niagara River between Ontario Fisheries Inspector Thomas Briggs and three American fish pirates, one man, John Weiland of Buffalo, a saloon keeper, was killed, but who fired the shot that entered his brain is not certain.
Inspector Briggs is confident that it was not a shot from his Winchester which killed him.
The shooting took place between the ship yards station and Black Creek. Fish dynamites have been busy on the river lately, and this morning Briggs received information that a party were in the river. He set out from Bridgeburg with a liverman, and sighted three men in a motor boat in the centre of the river near the Canadian shore. The men were dynamiting the waters for fish.
Briggs got out of the rig and called on the men to surrender. The fish pirates shouted defiance, and Briggs fired a warning shot. The pirates returned the shot, and bullets nearly hit Briggs. For safety he took refuge behind a tree and returned the fire, hoping to sink the boat. Briggs fired only three shots, and that about a dozen were fired by the others. The tree behind which he stood shows the marks of the bullets.
Briggs declares that after he had fired his last shot, Weiland fired again, and that a few minutes later he fell inert in the boat.
The man who was with Briggs corroborates this story and both think the man was killed by a shot fired by one of his comrades. When he fell, the boat was turned toward the U. S. shore of Grand Island. Three fish pirates followed the progress of the boat and saw one of the men endeavoring to revive his comrade.
Briggs saw two men later four men returned and carried off the body.
Briggs returned to Bridgeburg and reported the affair to the Ontario police.
He also reported the affair to the department at Toronto, and Captain Hunter will investigate.

Another Version of the Shooting From Weiland's Chum.
BUFFALO, Jan. 26.—(Special).—A battle of bullets occurred this morning on the Niagara River, which resulted in the death of John Weiland, aged 25, who lived at the foot of O'Neil-street. He was shot through the head during the exchange of shots, it is claimed, between Tom Briggs, the Welland County game warden, and Weiland and Gus Egner, who were in the naphthalene launch fishing. Briggs is said to have ordered them to come ashore and to have fired a shot to frighten them. Instead, Canadians say, his answer was five shots from the launch, and then Briggs returned the fire.
Weiland was in the bottom of the boat lifeless. Briggs has been watching for dynamiters during the last two or three days.
The sheriff's office was communicated with and Medical Examiner Danser was sent for. The island was secured for the assassin, then unknown, but no trace of him could be found.
Danser asked Egner if he had been using dynamite in the river. Egner replied that they had, but did not admit that they used dynamite this morning. There were no fish in the boat, which Egner said they had for shooting duck, contained two shells.

Regiment Secures Services of Man
Who Conducted Diamond Jubilee Parade.

Pageants depicting the great military events in the history of Canada will be the feature of the celebration that is being organized by Sir H. M. Pellatt, colonel of the Queen's Own Rifles, and a committee of the regiment, to take place in Toronto this year to commemorate the semi-centennial of the regiment. Sir Henry has engaged the services of J. Henderson of London, Eng., who was in charge of the Diamond Jubilee parade in London in 1897, who has arrived in the city and will begin at once the preparations for the event.
The program will be divided into four epochs. The first will include events from 1783 to 1796; second from 1811 to 1838; third from 1859 to 1887, and last from then to 1910. There will be a procession of the monarchs of England from the days of King Henry VIII, in which the members of the Daughters of the Empire will take part.
The pageants will begin on Saturday, June 18, while on Sunday a gigantic parade will be held. All old members of the Q.O.R. will be enrolled for that day and they will head the procession. It is the intention of the officers to have "old boys" band to lead them. The following Thursday evening a grand masquerade ball will be given, while all other events will be held in the armories.
The secretary is anxious to hear from any of the former members. All communications of this nature should be addressed to Capt. George E. Riddell, Secretary, Q.O.R., Semi-Centennial Celebration, 25 West King-street.

EARL GREY AT QUEBEC DEFINES IMPERIALISM

Does Not Stand For Any Menace of the Autonomy of the Over-Sea Dominions.

QUEBEC, Jan. 26.—Imperialism formed the subject of a large part of Earl Grey's address this afternoon before the Women's Canadian Club of Quebec. His excoency said that he had been honored by being represented as the apostle of the idea designated by the word. Speaking in French, his excellency said in effect:
"It may be well just here to make things clear. If, by imperialism, we are to understand the greatness of the empire, fortified by all legitimate means, then I am an imperialist. If, on the other hand, you are asked to see in this idea a menace for the autonomy of the over-sea dominions, I disrepel this insinuation, this evil disposition of my sentiments.
"Canadians enjoy civil and political liberty in all their fulness, and I would not see them lose a single particle of the rights of which they make such noble use, for, in no country, do we see individual liberty better respected by all and harmony between the more happily preserved. Canada is free to work out its destiny, in all the force and acceptance of the word, and I would be the first to defend its glorious autonomy if it was threatened.
"One of your most distinguished compatriots, one of the best whose friendship honors me, said to me one day when we were talking of the destiny of Canada, 'We are so content that I am afraid. Any change whatever would be disastrous.' This reflection appeals to me to sum up French-Canadian opinion on your destinies.
"I do not hesitate to say that the welfare which you enjoy under the Union Jack is the logical and natural consequence of British supremacy on the high seas."

KAISER GOOD SAMARITAN
Personally Attends to Man He Found Unconscious.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The emperor, whose birthday is to-morrow, acted the role of a good Samaritan during his walk late this afternoon.
While returning to the castle through Tiergarten about, accompanied by an attendant, after visiting the hunting exposition in the Zoological Gardens, his majesty found an unconscious man lying in a lonely spot.
He immediately knelt and tried to revive the man, at the same time sending his attendant to fetch a cab. When the vehicle arrived the emperor ordered that he be driven to a hospital.
The emperor continued his walk, and telephoned to the hospital and learned that the man had recovered and had fainted from fatigue and hunger. His majesty ordered that the man be kept at the hospital, and promised he would give him assistance in finding work.

BALLINGER LAND DEAL
NOW BEING PROBED

Congressional Committee Begins
Hearing of the Charges Brought
By a Former Subordinate.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 26.—The Ballinger-Pinchot congressional committee of enquiry began its public sessions to-day, with Louis R. Glavis, the chief accuser of Secretary Ballinger, on the witness stand.
Special counsel for Glavis, Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, summed up the case for the prosecution in this way:
"That prior to entering the government service in any capacity, R. A. Ballinger acted as attorney in drawing up an agreement in escrow and deeds in the Wilson Coal Company cases in Lewis County, Washington, these cases being an alleged fraud on the land laws. Mr. Ballinger's name did not appear in the court records of the case.
"That Mr. Ballinger, as commissioner of the land office, in 1907, did not show due diligence in investigating the alleged frauds connected with the Cunningham coal land claims in Alaska; that he had knowledge of all the circumstances surrounding the claims and in spite of this entered the employ of one of the claimants after leaving the land office and before becoming secretary of the Interior.
"That the lands which should be held for the benefit of the people and of posterity 'are in safe hands.'
The enquiry resumes Friday.

Mr. Bourassa said he had suffered a great deal in his time for having championed the rights of French-Canadians, but up to a few days ago he had never heard of the senator in any such a role.

BANKER McLEOD
RESIGNS AS MANAGER

But He is to Continue on the Directorate of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

A Halifax special to The World says: "At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Nova Scotia, to-day the announcement was made by H. C. McLeod, general manager, that he has decided to retire from active service. The retirement is not because of any differences as to policy between himself and his shareholders. The shareholders present expressed genuine regret at Mr. McLeod's retirement, and asked him to reconsider his resignation.
"Mr. McLeod has come prominently before the public lately in opposition to other bankers in Canada in that he urged that a system of outside inspection ought to be enforced as part of the statute law. He argues when the present bank act was passed in 1900 that a bureau of inspectors for banks be attached to the finance department. Other bankers took strong contrary views. The government was opposed to Mr. McLeod's policy, urging as a reason that they would be hampered if their officers were not thorough and the shareholders assented thereby.
"Only Point of Difference.
"Mr. Fyvie, his predecessor, has said that this is the only point of difference in banking on which he and Mr. McLeod ever had any differences.
"The Bank of Nova Scotia has put into practice its strong views on the subject of outside inspection of all the shareholders the correctness of the balance sheets of the bank.
"At the meeting to-day a resolution was passed authorizing an increase of $1,000,000 in the bank stock, making a total of $4,000,000, to be issued as afterwards arranged.
"All the old directors were elected and N. Curry of the Canadian Car Co., Montreal, was added thereto, the by-laws being amended to allow a membership of eight instead of seven. Mr. McLeod remains a member of the board of directors.
"A Surprise to Toronto.
"Mr. McLeod's resignation was a surprise when news of it reached banking circles in Toronto last night. Mr. McLeod has been a sort of stormy petrel to his fellow-bank managers and a few weeks ago he had set out on an active propaganda in Canada in the Bank of Nova Scotia's case. He had broadcast the country with a pamphlet in favor of an independent audit by government inspectors of all the banks of the Dominion.
"He has been a prominent resident of Toronto ever since he moved his head office of his bank from Halifax to Toronto some years ago, and in that time he has become one of the aggressive forces in Canadian banking. He had succeeded in making the Bank of Nova Scotia a one-man bank, and played with a great deal of force a lone hand policy. The Bank of Nova Scotia, under his management, Mr. Fyvie, and under Mr. McLeod has built up the largest reserve fund proportionately to its capital of any bank in Canada.
"Mr. McLeod lives in Rosedale, Toronto, in a big, sturdy Highlands by descent, a great outdoorsman, and has driven all over this part of Canada and adjacent parts of the United States.
"He has dictated Policy.
"Mr. McLeod has been identified with several Minnesota propositions and was frequently in New York. He had a pronounced inclination toward loaning the funds of the bank in Wall-street, New York, and on notations in this country, one of his last ventures being in connection with the reorganization of Nova Scotia Steel.
"R. L. Borden, the leader of the opposition at Ottawa, has been associated with Mr. McLeod on the board of the Bank of Nova Scotia for many years, and bankers have been wondering for some time back what line Mr. Borden would take in regard to Mr. McLeod's views when the Bank Act comes up in parliament.
"Henry Collingwood McLeod, to name him in full, was born at New London, P.E.I., was educated at the local school and commenced life as a bookkeeper in a legal office there. He then entered the service of the Bank of Prince Edward Island, and when this institution was absorbed by the Bank of Nova Scotia, in 1882, he went with the new concern and was first placed at Miramichi, Minn., and later at Chicago. He has been vice-president of the Canadian Bankers' Association.
"He is Younger and Better Than Ever.
"The Halifax (B.C. Gazette) in newspaper cartooning old Sam Hunter of the Toronto World, who has been at it steady for nearly thirty years, is still one of the freshest, raciest and best of them. His daily cartoon in The World is as crisp, apt, mirth-provoking and instructive as ever. The series of cartoons on the British elections were most of them gems.
A VERY SENSIBLE INVESTMENT.

DEATH OF INSANE WOMAN NOT CLEARED BY INQUEST

Not Shown How She Secured Oil and Matches—County Council Proceedings.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Coroner McNicol conducted an inquiry into the death of Mrs. Samuel Sweet, an inmate of the asylum, who set fire to her clothing Saturday night. The evidence showed that she rubbed her body with signal oil and attached herself to a flower stand by means of a wire which she had wound around her neck. The husband testified that before she was found, how she got to the oil, the wire and the matches was something none of the witnesses could explain.

William Lawson, 137 North Hughson street, was arrested late to-night, charged with obtaining by false pretences $45 from Thos. Sherwood, 28 Guise-street.

James Bradley, 155 King William-street, was arrested this evening on the charge of being disorderly in the Savoy Theatre.

Pole in Middle of the Road.

At the council this afternoon Councillor Nicholson said that one of the poles of the hydro-electric commission had been located in the middle of the road at Freetown. The commission will ask the commission to die of the road at Freetown. The council will ask the commission to change the location. The charge was made that the Dominion Natural Gas Company was taxing the people of Dundas five cents a thousand feet more for gas than its franchise allowed, and steps will be taken to compel the company to live up to its agreement.

Joseph Irwin and Jno. R. Murray were appointed as the county representatives on the Dundas High School Board. A bylaw will be considered to make of the Beach-road, Barton and Main-streets part of the county system of roads.

Good Times Signs.

Several Hamilton concerns have announced that they will make large additions, including the following: Hamilton Steel & Iron Company, $1,000,000; Otis-Pensom Elevator Company $300,000; International Harvester Company, $100,000; London Machine Company, $20,000.

Having noticed in The World yesterday that a comet was to be looked for last evening, Charles Hall, a local astronomer, made some observations. He says that the comet which was visible last night was Debris's comet.

A Chicago despatch says that Irwin Proctor, youngest son of the late John Proctor, was married in that city to Miss Cleveland yesterday.

Thomas Fanning has been elected chairman of the board of license commissioners.

Thomas Higgins, who formerly kept a restaurant at 667 East Barton-street, was found in an unconscious condition this morning at 34 William-street, Rochester. The authorities think he tried to end his life as the gas in his room had been turned on.

PAZOS CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZOS CURE for all cases of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

Got an Extra Hour's Work.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—During the course of the examination of the skeleton before the special committee of the house of commons, which has the eight-hour bill before it, Ralph Smith brought out an interesting point, this morning, when he stated that for 20 years past it had been the custom of the coal miners of the north of England to work only seven hours a day, but that since the passing of the eight-hour bill by the British Parliament last year they had been compelled to work eight hours.

Denies His Confession.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 26.—James Hall, the United States marine, self-acquainted of the murder of Anne Schinacher, near this city last August, arrived here in custody of the sheriff this morning. He complained bitterly of his life in the U. S. navy, and demanded food and treatment. He now denies having committed the crime, and his confession may have been a ruse to secure his discharge from the navy.

NEED EMERGENCY EXITS IN TORONTO'S SCHOOLS

Chief Thompson Also Recommends Discontinuance of Hot Air Heating.

That every non fireproof school more than one storey in height should be provided with emergency exits, is the recommendation of Chief Thompson. The chief, who was asked by the mayor to report on fire protection in the schools, points out that none of the schools have emergency exits. Although impressed with the "complete system of fire drill," the chief considers that the class of schools mentioned should have wide emergency exits as far as possible from interior stairways and opening onto wide, fireproof stairs enclosed in a fireproof shaft.

After commenting on the greatly improved fire protection in the schools as compared with conditions two years ago, the chief says he would prefer to have the hot air systems of heating existing in many schools replaced by steam heating apparatus, as experience in local school fires was that the fuses and shafts of the hot air systems not only hid the fire from view, but prevented water reaching it.

The exit doors should not be locked, but should be provided with emergency bolts, making them secure from the outside and easily thrown open from the inside, so that no time would be lost in an emergency.

Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Joseph Thompson, commissioner of industries and public utility, was accepted by the board of control yesterday, and he was voted a three months' salary allowance.

Controller Foster opposed the latter proposal, saying that he objected to "adding more debt on the city to pay extra salary," but his colleagues thought otherwise.

In reply to Controller Spence's query as to whether the department would be discontinued, the mayor said he was not inclined to fill the position at present.

Several points have to be settled before the board will agree to pay Mrs. Agnes Ward, 94 West Rochester-street, $500 asked as compensation for injuries received through being knocked down by a city auto last summer.

The city solicitor will report as to whether the city holds a bond covering such accidents, and the city engineer as to whether Arthur Rust, who drove the auto, should be held liable.

After the lady was bitten by the latter should not be allowed to drive an auto in future.

Typoid Prevalent.

Typoid fever continues prevalent throughout the city. Dr. Shoenke says there have been 52 cases reported so far this month, while there were but four cases for the whole of January, 1909.

He advises that water should be boiled, as recent analyses have shown a high rate of bacteria and the presence of coliforms for four or five days after the water is drawn.

A Chicago despatch says that Irwin Proctor, youngest son of the late John Proctor, was married in that city to Miss Cleveland yesterday.

Thomas Fanning has been elected chairman of the board of license commissioners.

Thomas Higgins, who formerly kept a restaurant at 667 East Barton-street, was found in an unconscious condition this morning at 34 William-street, Rochester. The authorities think he tried to end his life as the gas in his room had been turned on.

OLD BUILDING SOLD

Apartment House to be Erected at Sherbourne and Wilton.

The residence of the late Judge Thos. Ferguson on the northwest corner of Sherbourne-street and Wilton-avenue, has just been sold to R. A. Webber, who intends remodeling the old building and erecting a modern apartment house. The property has a frontage of 125 feet on Sherbourne-st., and a depth of 134 feet. The price paid was $15,000.

For sixty years this old residence has been the home of families prominent in Canadian history such as: Hon. G. W. Allart; Sir James Lukin Robinson; Charles Moore; the Mackleims of Chipewyan, and the late Judge Ferguson.

Will Appoint Successor Soon.

It is understood that a successor to A. W. Campbell, deputy minister of public works, will be appointed by the end of next week in order to allow Mr. Campbell to work with him and advise him for a few days before he leaves for Ottawa, on Feb. 4.

ICE ON BAY UNSAFE.

Property Commissioner Harris warns the public that it is at present unsafe for anyone to venture upon the ice on Toronto Bay. There are openings at both the eastern and western gaps, and a stretch of water for about two hundred yards in the centre of the Bay. Should there be a frost, it is likely that the openings would only be thinly covered with ice, and therefore dangerous to pass over.

PRINCE WILL PAY FOR LAND EASEMENTS

Not a Square Inch Will Be Confiscated for Power Line, Says Sir James.

"So long as this government is in power, not an atom, not a square inch of land will be taken from anyone without being paid for. Every dollar and every cent to which they are entitled will be paid," SIR JAMES WHITNEY.

Almost every member of the legislature was in his seat when at 3:15 P. M. Herbert Lennox (North York), rose in his seat to move the adoption of the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Lennox, who was greeted with hearty applause, congratulated the government on the accession to the cabinet of Hon. L. B. Lucas and twitted the leader of the opposition on rumors of his retirement. He hoped they were not true. No man deserved better of the Liberal party than the present leader of the opposition. (Applause.) It was not unlikely, as history repeats itself, that in a quarter century or so he might even find himself in the premier's place.

"Yesterday," the speaker continued, "we celebrated the fifth anniversary of the hydro-electric commission."

After a brief reference to the reduction in the price of school books, the speaker dealt with Hon. Frank Cochrane being referred to as "the idol of the people of the north."

Porcupine is a rich field. This year the crop of the province has been benefited by the large crop of porcupine. (Laughter.) Two new camps had been discovered on the Montreal River. In regard to Porcupine, the speaker showed indifference to the question of development, "exceeding anything else on this continent."

The revenue from lands and timber in the last year of ten months was $1,000,000.

The T. & N. O. Railway had made unprecedented progress in the past year, showing a net gain of $400,000. The speaker said he was glad to see the chairman, this achievement was well worthy of emulation by the Intercolonial railway commission.

As to the compensation of workmen for accidents, the Imperial Act, which practically made the employer an insurer of his help, might be too drastic; there was no doubt that some amendment was necessary.

Referring to the visit of Premier Gouin, he said, "The direct result of this visit will be a united and cohesive staff of provincial officials."

A Free Parliament.

After rapidly sketching the history of the hydro-electric commission from its inception in 1905, Mr. Lennox dealt with the question of disallowance, quoting the decision of Justice Falconbridge in the Felker case.

"We contend," he said, "for freedom to legislate within our jurisdiction. We are responsible, not to the Dominion Government, but to the people to whom we appeal, and they by their unanimous voice have endorsed our stand."

"Sir, we are not subject to any interference by the Dominion Government. The people of this province have no reason to be alarmed in this matter."

Voice From the North.

Albert Grigg (Algoma), who seconded the address, began with a humorous reference to the speaker who preceded him as a navigator who had learned the art of navigation from the waters of the Newmarket Canal.

Hon. Dr. Pyne was given high praise for replacing the log school with a modern Ontario with up-to-date buildings.

The enforcement of the liquor act before 1905 was a farce. Under a better regime there was no class of men who were regarded as the hotel men themselves.

Attacks had been made on the enforcement of the liquor act, whether under license, no license or local option.

The move for prison reform was on the right lines. It would make of the prisoners producers instead of parasites on society.

Referring to the mineral wealth of New Ontario, Mr. Grigg declared that only the other day a friend said to him that Porcupine today equalled Cobalt in its mineral wealth.

The change from the lack of business methods in colonization of the former government was commented on by the speaker.

New Ontario was a class of men who were regarded as the hotel men themselves.

The reference in the speech to the increased cost of living showed that the government thought not only of the political and financial but also of the social welfare of the people.

The visit of Premier Gouin and also the visit of Lord Bessford were commented on briefly.

In the course of his touching reference to the recent disaster near Webwood, Mr. Grigg said he was glad to know that the attorney-general had not been recreant to his trust. Whether the great corporation were negligent or not, he had ordered a thorough investigation, setting aside that which had already been said, thus showing that the lives and the safety of the people were to be properly safeguarded.

waiting for that technical college. The Ontario offices in London he thought were misplaced. Farmers were wanted.

The investigation of the cost of living might be for the Dominion Government, but it was the duty of its civil servants to get a reasonable increase to enable them to meet the increased cost of living.

Hon. A. G. MacKay said it was unworthy of the member for North York to suggest that the country was in a state of financial chaos under the late administration. "The province has never been in a state of financial chaos."

Regarding the compensation of workmen, the public ought to understand if it was intended to widen the responsibility of the employer so as to make the laborer practically a part of the machinery of the establishment, a broken arm to be replaced like a broken part of a machine.

The weakest part in the educational system was, in his mind, the time when the lad left the school for the workshop at 14 or 15. The province was only proceeding spasmodically in the matter of technical education.

He would like to see the province say to every town: "We will give you so much for evening schools for technical training."

Another important question was the responsibility in respect to foodstuffs. It was not fair that the responsibility should be shouldered on the Dominion Government. The people of this province have no reason to be alarmed in this matter.

Coming to the hydro-electric commission, Mr. MacKay said: "I didn't believe that when the act of last session was passed, and I don't think the premier believed that the crown would take the ground that it did. The province has no right to take any man's land or easements of it, without paying for them."

"And never will," interjected Sir James.

"It is not to the credit of this province," Mr. MacKay continued, "to pass legislation such as that and act on it. The strong arm of the law should be behind the carrying out of any great public work, but it seems to me that this act has been worked out in some of its details in such a manner as to produce the maximum amount of friction."

Sir James Whitney, who prefaced his remarks by a brief but feeling reference to the Webwood tragedy, mentioned the Gouin visit.

"All will acknowledge," he said, "significantly, that great good has already arisen, that great good will arise in the future from the exchange of these social amenities."

In regard to the compensation of workmen there was necessity for a complete investigation. The other provinces should deal with the matter in a manner not inconsistent with each other. Otherwise there would be injustice to the manufacturer.

Nothing was further from the minds of the government than to shift responsibility in the price of foodstuffs. All that was suggested was an enquiry. When this was made would be the time to talk of applying a remedy.

When he came to answer Mr. MacKay's taunt on the hydro-electric easements, Sir James hit out straight from the shoulder.

"Neither this nor any other government would ever dare to do that which I think this government is prepared to do."

"The Judge says that we have the power to do so. When this case is merely used in illustration, it is the reverse of fair to try to make the public believe that this is what we intend to do. It was never in the mind of a member of this government; it was never in the mind of a member of this house that we intended to act so."

"So long as this government is in power, not an atom, not a square inch of land will be taken from anyone without being paid for. Every dollar and every cent to which they are entitled will be paid."

The 33 statute revision acts got their second reading and will go to committee to-day.

Notice of motion for Friday was "A bill to amend the Municipal Act." (Mr. Brower.) And a bill to provide for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis." (Mr. Downey.)

Mr. Proudfoot will move on Friday for an order of the house for a return showing the number of licenses granted to fishermen in each of the following districts in the years 1908 and 1909: Lake Superior, Northern Channel of Lake Huron, Georgian Bay, Lake Huron and Lake St. Clair, Thames and Detroit Rivers, Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte, the kind of licenses granted to each fisherman and the cost of licenses for fishermen in each of the above districts.

Much Money in Fines. Port Arthur and Port William are being taught to keep the liquor license law. Provincial Constable George E. Morrison and License Inspector A. R. Elliott have already $585 in fines to show as the result of their campaign.

For sale by all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Toronto World

A Morning Newspaper Published Every Day in the Year. WORLD BUILDING, TORONTO. Corner James and Richmond Streets. TELEPHONE CALLS. Main 538-Private Exchange Connecting all Departments.

LET US GET THE FACTS.

The World has already said that there must be the fullest investigation of the railway disaster at the crossing of the Spanish River, on the Canadian Pacific 300 line. Some of the newspapers have already given the company a quit receipt of any blame; other papers have said that the company is to be condemned. The World proposes to await the enquiry, provided it is full and ample, both on the part of the provincial government thru the ordinary coroner's inquest, and on the part of the Dominion Railway Commission's special officers, who are ranked as railway experts.

The Canadian Pacific in many respects is a model railway, and it ought to be as anxious as anyone to have a thorough investigation. Also, if it should be found that there were defects in construction, or a lack in inspection of track and of rolling stock, the company ought to be only too willing to correct the fault, for the company has abundance of means, and The World is willing to give it credit for having spent liberally of its means in making the road one of the most creditable that we have in Canada. No one suffers so much from improper protection of the public as the road itself, because it loses business, because it has to pay enormous accident and life losses, and has its reputation damaged if by reason of neglect or lack of expenditure it fails to protect patrons.

We do not, however, know of an accident where for many days there was so much climax, if we can use the term, as in this one. Not only did the accident happen at the approach to a bridge, but rather on the bridge; but the car that got athwart the bridge forced the ones behind it down the bank, and then when the cars got to the foot of the bank they went into the river, and then under the ice. So that while the loss of life might have been comparatively small so far as jumping the track was concerned, it became a frightful one when the other events followed, namely, not only of the passengers being closed in the car, but being closed in by the water, and even as a last thing being closed in by the ice, so that escape was practically impossible. Such a conjunction of unfortunate circumstances happens very seldom in a railroad accident, and, therefore, largely accounts for the unusual loss of life.

There is another thing worthy of investigation, and that concerns the liability, or the supposed liability, of steel rails to suddenly develop flaws by reason of extreme changes of temperature. For instance, in that northern country the temperature is sometimes 40 below zero, and it may be followed in a few days by a rise in temperature as high as 20 degrees above, and anyone who knows of the enormous force exercised by the expansion of the steel must admit that unless this pressure is allowed to dissipate itself something must give, or a flaw must be started which may suddenly develop itself by a heavy rolling weight passing over it. It is, therefore, only fair that everybody should await the results, always remembering that a company that has 15,000 miles of line and carries many millions of passengers a year, is certainly bound to be before the public in the way of accidents a great deal more than smaller corporations. The Canadian Pacific to-day is, in the matter of mileage, the greatest railway in the world.

And just another word in regard to roads that run thru a barren country. There cannot be too much care exercised or too large an expense incurred in securing the highest possible protection to the public. We have suggestions of our own that we could make, but we leave them for the officials and the jury, and think it only fair that everybody else should do the same.

"GOOD ROADS" CAMPBELL. No man has done more for the cause of good roads in Ontario than Archibald William Campbell, deputy minister of public works, who has just been appointed deputy minister of railways by the Dominion Government. Mr. Campbell is a practical engineer, holds the office of president of the Toronto section of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and is known all over the continent as "Good Roads Campbell." As a faithful, conscientious, able and independent official Mr. Campbell will be a great loss to the province, and the Dominion is to be congratulated on securing his services.

THE VEGETARIAN. Now that the meat strike has reached Toronto it might be well if those interested tested out a vegetarian diet. In the first place, vegetarianism has nothing to do with vegetables except as a matter of taste. The word comes from the Latin vegetus, with the sense of thriving or liveliness. Cabbage and turnips form no part of the ordinary diet of the vegetarian proper. Most of the modern vegetarian systems are based on a diet of fruit, cereals and nuts. The Scotch and Irish who lived on oatmeal gave a magnificent example of what could be done with brains and brawn on such a diet. Caesar's legions, who conquered the world on the same diet, which they carried on their backs with them, were not less warlike than the canned meat militarists of the present day. Japan with a rice diet, and scanty at that, is able to compete with the west. The idea that men cannot work hard without meat is a modern superstition. Some day it will be discovered that oatmeal is a good food to take out on a prospecting trip, and the gold-fields of the north will be conquered like ancient Gaul.

MR. FLAVELLE, HIGH PRICES AND FARMING.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle, in a letter in our columns of yesterday, dealt with the high prices of meats and other provisions in the public's daily food. Mr. Flavelle represents the leading meat dressing and packing concern in Canada, and is a competent authority.

Several of his statements are worthy of consideration. He points out that as many persons want the superior cuts of meat and hardly anyone wants the inferior cuts, the price of superior cuts must be greatly advanced; and when you compare these higher prices with the price paid for live weight, the difference is surprising. People who are particular in their choice of meat must pay this surprising difference. There is also reason for thinking that many housekeepers are careless in acquiring the art of properly cooking the cheaper cuts of meat. Food experts say there is more nourishment in a so-called inferior cut than there is in the higher priced; but it required careful cooking and a good deal of work in reaching the best results. It is easier for a woman to broil or fry a steak for her husband than to make a good stew out of a cheaper piece of meat. The housekeeper saves herself, but increases her bills.

Mr. Flavelle's criticism that the farmer is not producing sufficient live stock is well founded. The reasons he gives are also more or less true ones, namely: that the more enterprising people on the farms and the younger people in Ontario have left and gone to the west or to the large cities and consequently there is not sufficient help on the farm nor can it be secured at reasonable wages in order to increase the output. So the farmer, perhaps somewhat advanced in years, prefers to do what he can by himself and his family, and is content with the stock he raises, and to get a good profit out of it by reason of high prices. We believe the time has come when every farm of 100 acres or less in the province should be organized to increase its output, both of grain and live stock, and this can easily be done on farms that are in the hands of men who have energy or who are prepared to work and who are prepared to pay for the necessary manual assistance. The younger people on the farm should also be induced to take a greater interest in systematizing and increasing the production of all kinds of live stock on a farm. There is not one farmer out of ten that makes what he should make out of poultry. He has a ramshackle poultry house; he neglects his poultry and as a consequence his revenue from this source is small and uncertain. With a little care in building and in the selection of his fowls and in making arrangements with some member of his family to look after them, he would have a substantial and certain income from this source. It is also about as easy to raise and finish half a dozen steers or calves or colts as it is to handle one or two; but in this case it requires system, foresight and application—what the Canadian farmer wants in this province to-day is organization, system, forethought and help, and if he organizes on these lines he will not only get a good living, but he will make money. The consuming population of Ontario is growing rapidly, and the world-wide market is ever increasing its demand.

The World would be glad to hear from the farmers as to what they think about this criticism of Mr. Flavelle, and what we say of it ourselves. As to the issue raised by Mr. Flavelle that the retail trade handling food and especially meats is suffering from undue competition or the other contention that the farmers are not getting a just share of the price that the consumer pays for his products, we do not propose to discuss them at this moment. We are awaiting with interest the developments on these lines now taking place in the United States; but certainly Mr. Flavelle has pointed out certain facts that ought to be recognized in connection with what we might call the extravagance on the part of the consumer in the matter of meats, and the carelessness of our farming population in the matter of raising and producing food supplies, whether in the shape of meat or grain and vegetables.

OPPONENTS OF EXPROPRIATION. In the defection of Alderman Maguire, McMurrich and McCarthy on the expropriation vote in the city council, Toronto has a warning of the precarious nature of the means that exist to secure the will of the citizens. It is to be noted that the vote was not for immediate expropriation of the street railway, but merely to acquire power to expropriate. The aldermen who do not think the city should have power to fight its own battles must have some

DRY DOCK AT THE SOO

Plans of the Company as Approved by Government.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—At the request of A. C. Boyce (West Algoma) a return was tabled to-day giving all the correspondence between the promoters of the Sault Ste. Marie Dry Dock Company and the government. The application of the company was referred to Mr. Sing, district engineer of the department of railways and canals, who reported in favor of the plans submitted; and recommended a subsidy of three per cent, on $500,000 cost. The plans made provision for a drydock with an entrance of 30 feet on the still and 65 feet on top, with a depth of 17 feet 6 inches. Exception was taken by the department that the proposed dimensions were inadequate, and the engineer was instructed to make further enquiry. The engineer of the company pointed out that the proposed dock was four feet wider than the largest American vessel on the lakes, and that the depth was quite sufficient because vessels never docked with their cargo. Mr. Sing stated that these arguments would all get attention and be dealt with if the city recovered its franchise. In addition the city would be millions of dollars in pocket.

The opponents of expropriation are friends of the street railway corporation. How many more of them are there in the city hall?

THE DOMINION BANK.

In another column of this issue will be found a reprint of the minutes of proceedings at the 29th annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Dominion Bank, held in the head office yesterday. The report of the directors and relative financial statements then submitted, show that although it was found difficult during a considerable part of 1909 to employ the available funds at remunerative rates, improving trade conditions and the excellent harvest relieved the situation and increased the demand for legitimate banking accommodation, with the result that there is every reason to anticipate a prosperous current year. That the management is alert and confident and prepared to keep abreast of the national expansion needs no better proof than is afforded by the new offices opened or arranged for in Toronto, Ontario and the west, and by the submission and carrying of bylaws providing for a further increase of $5,000,000 in capital stock and changing the par value of the shares from $50 to $60 each.

After making the usual deductions and provisions, and including the premium received on new capital stock, and the balance at credit of profit and loss account, the total profits available were $24,191.70, which were disposed of by paying the dividend of 12 per cent per annum, transferring the premium on capital issues to reserve fund, and writing $100,000 off bank premier, thus leaving a balance of $295,766.99 carried forward to credit of next year's profit and loss account. The reserve fund now stands at $5,000,000, or $1,000,000 in excess of the present paid-up capital. At Dec. 31 last the deposits totaled $46,487,818.85, and the safe character of the management is certified by the large proportion of this secured by readily available assets. The shareholders, by unanimously adopting the report and endorsing their thanks to the president and other office bearers and the officials, gave the best assurance of their satisfaction with the financial position and prospects of the bank.

NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY.

Very favorable indeed was the exposition of the affairs of the National Trust Company made by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, the president, to the twentieth annual meeting of shareholders. He could not discover any but prosperous conditions thruout the Dominion and the best of outlooks for the immediate future. This optimistic estimation was fully sustained by the exceptional progress made by the National Trust Company as shown in the financial statements. The net earnings of $160,778.42 represent over 15 per cent on the capital stock of $1,000,000, and have increased $22,257.40 over those of the preceding year. How steady and substantial has been the advance made in the company's affairs, as revealed by the comparative figures for each year since 1901, quoted by Mr. Flavelle. In these figures $73,997.91 to their present amount. The standing acquired by the National Trust Company is strikingly shown by the fact that the total assets held on Capital and Trust Account amount to nearly $23,000,000, while in addition the company acted as joint trustee in the control of a further $5,000,000 of special trust funds. These trust funds are considerably more than treble the amount administered in 1904 and the president was able to report that the confidence of the public is attested by the remarkable and continuing developments in all departments of the company's business. His reports will be found elsewhere in this issue. It may be added that after paying four quarterly dividends at the rate of 8 per cent, per annum, the balance of $400,000 to their reserve account now standing at $650,000.

What's All This We Hear About Advanced Meat Prices?

"Increase in the cost of living" is the topic of the hour, and leading newspapers are devoting lengthy editorials to its discussion. Meat prices are of paramount interest, having advanced in many cases to such heights that numbers of people are becoming temporary vegetarians.

But never was the extent of the EATON service and EATON good value more apparent than at such a domestic crisis, as proven by this brief list of comparative prices. EATON meat prices are possible only because of extreme care in buying, intimate connection with the markets, the large quantities purchased, and our own ideal of merchandising.

The President, in moving the adoption of the Report, said: A year ago, in presenting to you the Statement for 1908, I drew attention to the fact that, although we had only recently emerged from the period of world-wide financial stringency and commercial depression, which had its inception in 1907, our country was prosperous, and all our financial institutions were showing excellent earnings.

There is one feature of the Statement as compared with that of the previous year to which I would briefly call your attention. In 1908 our liabilities on Guaranteed Trust Account were $6,858,585.72, as against $5,457,328.13 for the past year. The reduction is due to the fact that during the year we paid out funds amounting to over two million dollars held by the Company as Trustee for the redemption of bonds, and which had been invested under our guarantee in easily convertible securities to be available for the purposes of the trust.

Our earnings, as you know, are derived from the investment of our own capital and guaranteed trust funds, and from fees and commissions received for our services as Trustee, Executor, Liquidator, Administrator and Agent. Our special facilities for acting as Trustee under mortgage securing issues of bonds and as transfer agent and registrar of shares at our Toronto and Montreal offices have been from the beginning recognized, and we believe, appreciated, by the financial community. The progressive development of the Estates Department at our several offices has been one of the most gratifying features of our history. In Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg, the confidence of the public is attracted by the large and increasing volume of trust assets administered by the Company as Executor and Trustee under will. At Edmonton and Saskatoon the beginnings of this class of business are most promising. As agent for the purchase and sale of real estate, our several offices continue to render valuable services to clients, and this is a development of our organization which has met with much public favor and success.

The heralding that Mme. Liza Lehmann received from the press was fully justified last night at Massey Hall when the great English composer of "In a Persian Garden" was heard for the first time. Her audience was not very large, but it must be remembered that everybody is "saving up" for the great cycle of concert by the Mendelssohn Choir. Mme. Lehmann herself is a most charming woman, and as an accompanist she is certainly surpassed by none on this continent. Indeed, it was her own personality and her skill at the piano that drew the relatively large quota of sincere music-lovers to her concert at Massey Hall last night. Mme. Lehmann is noted over two continents for her special choral work, in which she cleverly devised settings for the melodies of Omar Khayyam's lyrics, which she has unfortunately called "In a Persian Garden." Strictly viewed as a music Gen. Lehmann's commentaries on the Persian poet's stanzas are unparalleled both from the matter of musical structure and of interpretation. She has taken the most popular "passages" of the great Persian poem (in Fitzgerald's translation) and has really shown genius in her setting of these famous stanzas. "Nonsense Songs." This was plain to see at Massey Hall when Mme. Lehmann received the heartiest applause that an appreciative audience could give a genuine artist, viewed either as an accompanist or as a composer.
