HIS WIFE'S DIAMONDS
GONE TOOWalkerville Man Sells Out Business and Disappears—Inquest Into Death of Christian Scientist Child—Wood Enters the Derby

Walkerville, Ont., May 4.—(Special)—Selling out his business and taking with him his wife's diamonds, valued at about $8,000, Frederick Ehrhardt, of Walkerville, has disappeared.

Peterboro, Ont., May 4.—An inquest has been opened here into the case of a five-year-old son of J. H. Ballie, who died after an illness of twelve days. The child's parents are Christian Scientists and refused to call a physician, so that a death certificate was refused by Dr. Crees.

Quebec, May 4.—(Special)—Judge Lemieux, in the superior court yesterday, dismissed the case against the proprietors of moving picture theatres against the by-law prohibiting Sunday opening.

Toronto, May 4.—(Special)—Abbie Wood of Montreal has sent in his entry for the 20-mile Canadian derby to be run on New Island grounds, on Saturday next.

Fred Meadows, Hans Holmer, Frank Nehrdt, of Buffalo, the two Swedes, L'Amour and Johansen, Fred Smithson, of Peterboro, Percy Sellen and several other crack runners will start.

Montreal, May 4.—(Special)—Practically the entire strength of the provincial detective force is out seeking the gang that broke into the Banque Nationale at Pointe aux Trembles, Port Neuf, on Sunday night. Each man has been supplied with a photograph of Edwin McCarthy, leader of the gang, and told to look for him within the radius of twenty miles of Quebec city.

Toronto, May 4.—(Special)—Some 600 home-seekers from Western Ontario left yesterday for points on the western plains, beyond Winnipeg. According to C. P. R. passenger officials 1,000 have gone from this city alone since the special train service was inaugurated on April 3.

Toronto, May 4.—(Special)—Under unusual circumstances, the death of C. P. Barrett occurred in the Prince George Hotel yesterday, and the matter has been placed in the hands of the police, and chief coroner, Barrett, who was the owner of the Hudson Bay Company at the new post at James Bay, came to the city some time ago to undergo an operation for hernia.

Three gin bottles filled with watery fluid, which were found in the room, are in the hands of the police, but it is learned they were merely hot water bottles used by doctors.

London, Ont., May 4.—(Special)—Chas. Baker, a Westminster nurseryman, went out during a thunderstorm to see how a duck that had "told her nest" was doing. He was very near the nest when a lightning bolt struck in front of him and killed the duck. Mr. Baker was dazed for a few minutes.

MORGAN QUITE ILL?

Inner Financial Circles of New York Have Report That His Condition is Dangerous

New York, May 4.—(Special)—It has been learned in inner financial circles that J. P. Morgan, now on a recuperative tour in Europe, has suffered a relapse and information which has come out is to the effect that the American financier is in dangerous physical condition at the present time.

This news has been carefully kept quiet because of the effect it would have on the stock market, and the facts of the case may be stated, as known exclusively only to the very closest friends of Morgan.

TO PICK THE REFEREE TODAYAt Conference This Afternoon Many Names Will Be Considered

Omaha, Neb., May 4.—Governor Gillette of California, in passing through here en route to Washington, and he would not interfere with the Jeffries-Johnson fight scheduled to take place July 4th at Emeryville, California.

San Francisco, May 4.—Speculation was rife today in the sporting fraternity as to who would be chosen at the afternoon conference to referee the Jeffries-Johnson fight. So many names have been suggested and the field of selection is so large there was no unanimity of opinion regarding the probable choice.

The arrival of Jeffries in Oakland last night for the purpose of accompanying his wife back to Los Angeles was so coincident with the meeting as to give rise to the belief that he would remain for participation in the conference.

San Diego denied the report that there is to be a shake-up in the Jeffries training camp, that there are too many old men at Los Angeles and not enough young blood. "Nothing in the yarn," said Hecox. "I have enough help and just the right kind of men."

Johnson denied a story to the effect that he had visited a friend in Chicago not take place July 4 as scheduled. Johnson asserted that he was in the city and would not leave until next week and he says his sparring partners may expect a busy time.

Bigger announcements that Jeffries returns to Ben Leonard today he will box every day and there will be no let up in the leg fellow's work.

ARREST IN THE ASBESTOS
CASE TODAYWarrant Has Names of H. Leslie Coombs and Richard D. Isaacs*Charge is Misappropriating $5,700 Belonging to Company—Preliminary Examination of Coombs Begun; Isaacs Not in Town—Arrests Follow Visit of Mr. Campbell

For some time rumors have been current that some sensational developments would arise in the affairs of the D'Iserelli Asbestos Co., a result of the investigations recently made by the directors of the company. This morning these rumors were verified when H. Leslie Coombs, of this city, was arrested by Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen, on a warrant charging both him and Richard D. Isaacs with stealing, appropriating and converting to their own use the sum of $5,700, the property of the D'Iserelli Asbestos Company.

Coombs has been in the employ of the company as assistant managing director, while Isaacs, who is now out of town, was managing director. F. W. Campbell, legal adviser of the company, arrived in the city yesterday, and acted with E. P. Raymond this morning when the case was taken up in the police court before Judge Ritchie. Daniel Mullin, K. C., appeared for the defendant. After hearing part of the evidence of one witness, Alexander Warrell, the case was adjourned until 2 o'clock. Mr. Mullin asked for bail for his client, but his application was refused. Coombs, however, at the request of his counsel, was allowed to remain in the guard room until this afternoon.

Although the defendant was arrested before 11 o'clock, despite the efforts of the court and defense, it was 12 o'clock before the case was taken up.

STEAMER, IRON ORE LADEN, GOES
ON ROCKS AT NORTH SYDNEYThe Ellen Strikes on Cann's Shoals and While She May Be Not Damaged, it Looks Like Trouble Freeing Her—Efforts to Float Schooner Fail

North Sydney, C. B., May 4.—(Special)—The steamer Ellen, with a cargo of nearly 7,000 tons of iron ore for the Dominion Iron & Steel Company's tug, ran aground on Cann's Shoal at 5 o'clock this morning. While coming up the harbor. The weather was clear at the time. The tug was on a sand bar and is believed to be unharmed. There is only eighteen feet of water at her bow, while her stern is in clear water. The tug has gone for her assistance, but it is thought considerable trouble will be experienced in getting her off.

The Dominion Coal Company's tug, the South Point, has returned from the scene. The tug was endeavoring to get the Ellen off the shoal. The tug was unsuccessful. The tug was unable to get the Ellen off the shoal. The tug was unable to get the Ellen off the shoal.

There are also quite a large number of children, and great grandchildren, Mr. McKelvie survives his wife about eighteen years. He was able to get round the house before taking ill and converses very fluently and waits on himself. He is also able to read newspapers without glasses.

About six weeks ago he received a letter from his brother, Patrick Kelly, of Killgordon, in Donegal, and from whom he had not heard for six years. It was an interesting story of the life of the communication. It transpired that friends in Memanook, sent John McKelvie in correspondence with his friends in Donegal. The brother-in-law of his brother through the Donegal friends, was this time to write to him in Memanook.

FREDERICTON HAS ELECTRICAL STORM
Heavy Rain, Too—Jacoma Man, Formerly of Bay Verte Weds

Fredericton, N. B., May 4.—(Special)—An electrical storm of great violence passed over the city early this morning, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain and a strong wind. It rained for the greater part of the morning and a rise of the water in the river is looked for.

The nuptials of George B. Chappell, of Tacoma, Wash., formerly of Baie Verte, and Miss Elizabeth Brooke Rossborough, youngest daughter of Wm. Rossborough, were celebrated at the bride's home this afternoon by Rev. Dr. Smith in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. The bride was dressed in white silk voile and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was the recipient of many presents, including a diamond ring and a diamond brooch.

Physicians who examined the body declared that the teacher drank a quantity of poison before throwing herself into the harbor. Two salaried recovered the body.

Recently Miss Rice showed symptoms of melancholia. She spoke rarely of her broken heart, because of the disappointment in the love affair, but often mentioned her regret that steps were soon to be taken to make the institution for males alone.

When the body was found she was attired in the best dress she possessed and wore a bridal veil over her head. Miss Rice was an artist of ability, and a number of her pictures have been exhibited in various cities.

Reports from Steamers
New York, May 4.—Steamer Mauretania, Liverpool and Queenstown for New York, was 1,000 miles east of Sandy Hook at 5 a. m.; dock late Thursday night or 7.30 a. m. Friday.

Steamer Pennsylvania, Hamburg for New York, was 23 miles east of Sandy Hook at 7 a. m.; dock about 7.30 a. m. Thursday.

It was a ticklish piece of work coaxing the waterlogged Santarone around the end of the pier, her bow was high in the air and the wake of her crew washed over the taffrail. At any moment the bulkhead doors might have given way under the pressure and the steamer settle in a minute's time, yet her engine room force was stoked away as if coming down a safe but steeply inclined plane.

It is expected that the Santarone will be towed to Boston. The Lagonier was expected to reach Beverly during the day.

The Lagonier struck the Santarone on the starboard side abreast of the main rigging. A twelve foot hole, which reached below the water line, was torn in the Santarone's side. The deck crew of the Santarone were panic-stricken and hauled over the bow of the Lagonier before the two vessels drew apart. Ten minutes after the collision, both vessels were out of sight and out of hearing of each other. The

MONCTON
MAN IS 104
YEARS OLDMr. McKelvie Came to Canada Five Years Before Queen Victoria Was Crowned—Letter From Brother After 60 Years

Moncton, N. B., May 4.—One of the oldest men in New Brunswick is John McKelvie, who resides in Moncton with his daughter, Mrs. Andrew Hannigan, Highfield street. As far as can be learned, Mr. McKelvie is 104 years of age, and up to within five weeks ago was hale and hearty. He was then taken ill and has since been confined to his bed, but his condition was somewhat improved yesterday.

Mr. McKelvie was born in the Parish of Donaghadee, in the County of Donegal, Ire. It was there that he learned his trade as a carriage maker. He came to this country about five years before Queen Victoria ascended the throne. He landed in St. John, where he engaged in shipbuilding for about seven years.

After leaving St. John he went to Fort Lawrence and from there to Memanook, where he spent the greater part of his long life, and for sixty years was engaged in the carriage making business.

There was no railroad at that time, and Mr. McKelvie on several occasions walked from Memanook to Chatham, a distance of 100 miles.

Mr. McKelvie is the father of ten children, eight girls and two boys, eight of whom are still living. Mrs. Andrew Hannigan, Moncton; Mrs. Patrick Kelly, Iish town; Mrs. Denis Hannigan, Moncton; Mrs. Edward Donahue, Saint John; Mrs. Lorenzo Chambers, Dorchester, N. B.; Mrs. Michael McCarthy, New York; Mrs. John McKinnon, Seattle, Wash.; Hugh McKelvie, in British Columbia.

There are also quite a large number of grandchildren, and great grandchildren. Mr. McKelvie survives his wife about eighteen years. He was able to get round the house before taking ill and converses very fluently and waits on himself. He is also able to read newspapers without glasses.

CAMERON, CORKERY AND
STERLING MAY RUN HEREWires Being Worked Now to Bring Speedy Amherst Man and Upper Canadian to St. John for Contest On the Every Day Club Track

Efforts are being made to bring Fred Cameron of Amherst, James J. Corkery and Ernest Stirling together here in a ten mile contest. St. John men are already in communication with the manager of Corkery and Cameron's manager, and it is hoped that the race can be arranged. If it is not found possible to get both here, either one or the other may be secured. Such a race would undoubtedly draw a big crowd and it is gratifying to see that the suggestion of this paper is being taken hold of. It would seem that a race on the fine track of the Every Day Club would be about the best possible thing as the outdoor contest is the popular one.

JILTED, SHE DIES IN HER BRIDAL VEIL
Trenton, May 4.—The body of Miss Helen Rice, twenty-four years old and extremely comely, was found in Stony Brook, near the Pennington Seminary, where she was a member of the faculty, having charge of the department of art.

A love affair and the possibility that she would soon lose her position because of the determination of the seminary officials to abolish the civil system at the department of art.

Physicians who examined the body declared that the teacher drank a quantity of poison before throwing herself into the harbor. Two salaried recovered the body.

Recently Miss Rice showed symptoms of melancholia. She spoke rarely of her broken heart, because of the disappointment in the love affair, but often mentioned her regret that steps were soon to be taken to make the institution for males alone.

TWO KILLED; NINE HURT
Springfield, Ohio, May 4.—Two men were killed and nine persons severely injured late last night in a wreck on the Ohio Electric Railroad near Urbana.

W. H. Ferguson, a motorman, and W. L. Bork, of this city, were killed when a freight car broke away from a trolley express car and plunged down a steep grade into a passenger car. The injured include two women.

The collision took place off Cape Cod light about 8 o'clock last night. The Santarone had been struck by the Lagonier, and the latter's bow was grinding the side of the Santarone.

WINTER PORT
HAS MADE A
NEW RECORDBusiness of Season Just Ended Has Gone Beyond Any Other Year*Falling Off in Cattle Exports More Than Met By Increase in Other Lines—Marked Increase in Canadian Goods Sent Through Here, Slight Decline in American

The official statement of the valuation of exports for the season 1909-10 shows a gain of some $20,000 over last season. More wheat has been shipped out of this port than ever before, as the statement will tell. The cattle shipments fell off greatly and in valuation will show a decrease of more than $1,000,000. Other exports are well up, as the 114 sailings will show.

The official figures from the customs house are as follows:

Canadian goods $18,127,374
Foreign goods 4,818,770
Total $22,946,144

To this must be added the value of the Hudson Bay Co. furs and the Cobalt mine silver, which went forward by the Dominion and Canadian Express companies, and which does not appear on the outward manifests of the steamers filed at the customs. This value amounts to about $1,600,000.

All along the line the Canadian exports are ahead of any previous year, but there is a falling off of United States exports. The following is a comparison of figures of exports:

Recapitulation.
Canadian goods $19,577,514
Foreign goods 4,818,770
Grand total for 1909-10 $24,396,284

WHITE SLAVE
DEALERS ARE
INDICTEDMay Be Even More Serious Charge Made As Eleven Year Old Victim Is Not to Be Found—Bail of $25,000

New York, May 4.—Belle Moore, Alex. Anderson and Harry Levinson, the three prisoners charged with the sale of women, have been indicted, but a grave charge, not included in the present indictments, is likely to be made against them. Assistant District Attorney Reynolds said that it might be a charge of murder.

The prisoners were taken before Judge Crain in General Sessions, and the question of increasing their bail was immediately brought up. Assistant District Attorney Press asked that it be fixed at $25,000 for each of the three.

It is likely, he said, in answer to the protests of the prisoners' counsel, "that a more serious charge may be made against two of the defendants, as the police have been unable to find the eleven-year-old girl who was in the house of the Moore woman and Anderson. If the former bail is continued I fear they may leave the jurisdiction of the court."

Bail Fixed At $25,000
Bail was finally fixed at $25,000 in each case. The prisoners did not wish to plead to the indictments and at the request of their counsel the time to do so was set for tomorrow.

Before returning the indictments the grand jury held a special session in District Attorney Whitman's office, where a man was a witness. He gave the jurymen plain facts contained in reports on the white slave trade made to him while he was police commissioner, and had lists of persons reported to be engaged in that traffic.

He was asked if he had been given any tangible evidence of any organization. "If I did," he replied, "I would have arrested the persons concerned."

George A. Miller, a former secret service man, who investigated similar conditions in connection with immigration at Roosevelt commission three years ago, was indicted as the agent who paid the money for the girls to Levinson and Belle Moore. He was with the two college women who worked for the district attorney and came to New York with letters of introduction from employers in Seattle.

Will Continue Investigation
The grand jury was later conducted to Judge O'Sullivan's part of General Sessions, where John D. Rockefeller, Jr., went on the bench and whispered to the judge. He left the six indictments. The jury will continue its investigations by order of Judge O'Sullivan.

Three of the six indictments are against Harry Levinson, who is also called Harry Druckman. They charge him with violation of two provisions of section 240 of the penal law, the receiving of money for procuring women and the placing of women for immoral purposes in the hands of immigrants. The first offence is punishable by imprisonment not exceeding five years and a fine not exceeding $1,000. The penalty for the second is imprisonment from one to three years or a fine of $1,000 to $5,000, or both.

In the first indictment Levinson is charged with having accepted $40 and with the placing of Ida Greenberg and Gussie Ehrlich in the custody of the district attorney's agent, George A. Miller, to become inmates of disorderly house in Seattle. The other two indictments deal with the placing of Miller for immoral purposes. The offence, it is charged, was committed on April 2.

The fourth indictment is against Belle Moore, who was arrested at her flat, at No. 348 West Forty-first street, it charges her with having knowingly received $120 for the sale of two girls, Anne Milford and Belle Woods, on April 27. These two girls are fifteen and sixteen years old.

The other indictments were found against the Moore woman and Alexander Anderson, who lived in her house, dealing with the placing of the two girls in the custody of Miller.

The trials of the three prisoners will be held in the investigations Assistant District Attorney Reynolds said it had been shown that no compact organization of "Levinson and the Moore woman, however, are big dealers," he said. "Our agents could have arrested any number of little fellows, but we wanted to get after a leader in the trade, and we got leaders in the two."

MISS RYAN OF WOODSTOCK MARRIES MAINE MAN
Woodstock, N. B., May 3.—(Special)—Miss Jessie M. Ryan, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Ryan, was married at 5 o'clock this morning to Edward Griffin, of Auburn, Me. Rev. F. J. McMurray was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple left on the early train for Houston, thence going to Astoria, Me., where they will make their home.

FLYNN BEATS HARRIS
Boston, May 4.—"Jim" Flynn of Boston led most of the way with Morris Harris, colored of Philadelphia at the Army Club last night and won the decision. Flynn was knocked down twice in the first and third rounds but landed on his feet and won the bout almost at will.

Kid Goodman, of Boston, knocked out Young O'Neill of Wausauet in the third round while "Dutch" Carr of Boston secured the decision over "Jack" Nelson of Lawrence in eight rounds.

RIOTING MARKS BAKERS' STRIKE IN NEW YORK
New York, May 4.—Rioting continues in the bakers' strike. One strike breaker has been stabbed, several maimed and hundreds of loaves of bread tossed from wagons on the street, but there have been no fatalities. Both sides, employers and strikers, maintain an air of confidence and conflicting statements of the status of affairs are issued. The strikers say that 6,000 men are out and most of the big bakeries, including those in the larger hotels, are seriously crippled. The employers, on the other hand, insist that they are only temporarily handicapped and will quickly fill all vacancies.

Many hotels, however, are getting bread from neighboring cities. The bakery which supplies Columbia University can short and hungry students were limited to one slice of bread each for breakfast this morning. A squad of strikebreakers have arrived from Philadelphia.

PARLIAMENT HAS ENDED ITS LABORS

Prorogation This Afternoon With Brilliant Ceremonial—Some Information About the Navy Given in the Final Session

Ottawa, May 4.—(Special)—Parliament was prorogued this afternoon by His Excellency Lord Grey, with all the accustomed pomp and ceremony of military escort, booming guns and a large attendance of the capital's militia. The speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. Borden, read the speech from the throne in English and in French, reviewing the work of one of the most important and fruitful sessions of parliament since confederation.

A feature of the final ceremonies of the six months' session was the presentation to Earl and Lady Grey, by the assembled members of the farwell address of appreciation and good wishes by both houses yesterday. The address was read in English by Speaker Kerr and in French by Speaker Macdonald.

This morning's final proceedings in the House of Commons were devoted to the recent settlement of the United States naval officers from the British admiralty, but that regulations and conditions of entry into the navy would not be dealt with until the new naval college was established.

MAKING OUT THE TAX BILLS

They'll Be Ready About May 20—The Constables and Executions They've Served

The city chamberlain's staff are now busy making out the tax bills. It is expected that they will be ready for distribution about May 20. This would allow about a month and a half for the citizens who wished to avail themselves of the discount period which will expire on July 7.

The chamberlain has recommended ten men to the mayor, to be sworn in as marshals. Seven of these have been appointed by the council in June, 1908, and the other three were appointed only recently. The order passed by the council was "that the constables be recommended by the chamberlain for reappointment unless he returned at least 400 executions satisfied by payment in the year."

The following are recommended for reappointment: William Grannan, 684 executions; William A. Smith, 433; W. D. Morrow, 451; T. J. Coughlan, 446; J. S. Stephenson, 417; W. Carr, 237 in five months; Ed. W. Chase and George A. Shaw, fifteen days' service.

These men will be sworn in and will get their warrants from the mayor within the next few days.

Roosevelt to Get Oxford Degree—Exciting Finish in Horse Race—Distillers in England Are Discharging Men

(British and Colonial Press)
London, Eng., May 4.—Ackland Hood, chief opposition whip, says it is unthinkable to drop tariff reform which is vital to empire's interests. "We stand for tariff reform and a strong reformed second chamber," he said.

The Post leader says Earl Grey's most complete vindication is Sir Wilfrid Laurier's unqualified approval showing how a definite lead towards Imperial Federation can be given in self governing colonies without offence by the governor identifying himself with country's life and national aspirations. "No colonial statesman is more vitally jealous of imperial interference than Laurier," says the Leader.

EARL GREY

The eulogy pronounced on Earl Grey by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden yesterday is warmly endorsed by the people of Canada. Earl Grey had proved himself a statesman before he came to Canada, and during his period as governor-general he has shown conclusively that he understands and appreciates the relationship between the United Kingdom and the overseas states of the empire. He has endeavored to familiarize himself with Canadian problems, visiting all parts of the country and getting the local points of view; and in doing so caught the inspiration of the life of the great and rapidly growing Dominion. In all his public addresses he has shown himself familiar with the resources and opportunities for development in Canada, and his words were those of the wise counsellor. Nothing savoring of dictation has fallen from his lips. His career in this country fully justifies the observations made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that the system of appointing leading men of Great Britain as governors-general has worked out both harmoniously and satisfactorily. It is worthy of note in this connection that the premier who approves of British statesmen rather than Canadians as governors-general is the same premier who in a portion of the Conservative press is charged with disloyal designs. Canada has been fortunate in the men who have presided at Rideau Hall since confederation, and her people will remember Earl Grey as one whose influence tended toward high national and imperial ideals.

UTILIZING WASTE

One never looks at the great piles of sawdust and other refuse from the saw-mills without a feeling of regret that some method has not been devised to convert this refuse to a more useful and valuable purpose than merely to use it as firewood or destroy it in a great burner built for the purpose. Progress has been made in the United States in using the refuse of hardwood mills to manufacture small articles of commerce, and much that was formerly wasted now yields handsome profits. If some person of inventive mind could devise special machinery that would utilize the waste of the sawmills of this province it would add greatly to the value of the forests. Bradstreet's gives the following interesting account of experiments that are to be made in Wisconsin to turn more of the material that goes to the mills into articles of value:—

"On June 4 there will be opened at Madison, Wis., a laboratory which has been established to aid through experiments and demonstrations the lessening of waste in the manufacture and use of wood. This, which will be known as the Forest Products Laboratory, is a co-operative undertaking between the United States Department of Agriculture and the University of Wisconsin. The state has erected for the purpose a new building at the university, and will furnish also the light, heat and power. The Department of Agriculture has supplied the equipment and apparatus and will maintain the force necessary to carry on the work. The establishment of the laboratory is regarded as an event of importance to the wood-using industries of the country and to exporters, for through the arrangement made the United States has secured what is said to be perhaps the largest and best equipped wood-testing laboratory in the world. The laboratory will be prepared to make tests on the strength and other properties of wood, to investigate the processes of treating timber to prevent destruction by decay and other causes, to study the saving of wood refuse by distillation processes, to examine the flow of various woods for paper and other purposes, and to determine the influence of the microscopic structure of wood on its characteristics and properties. Facilities are at hand, in fact, for almost any kind of test on wood, that practical conditions may require. Much interest is felt in the work to be accomplished at the laboratory by lumber-manufacturing and wood-using industries on account of its practical bearings on the reduction of waste in the use of wood. Several prominent representatives of these industries have signified their intention of being present at the opening, and a number of organizations will hold conferences to consider plans for making wide practical use of the laboratory. Its establishment will furnish an interesting illustration of science brought into the service of industry in aid of conservation."

One of organizations will hold conferences to consider plans for making wide practical use of the laboratory. Its establishment will furnish an interesting illustration of science brought into the service of industry in aid of conservation."

The sugar refinery bill passed the senate yesterday. There was no reason for holding it up.

The general tribute of esteem to Rev. A. B. Coburn last evening shows that he had won an enviable position in St. John, as a pastor and as a worker for the cause of social reform.

The city council should lose no time in taking up the mayor's address and devoting attention to the important matters therein discussed. There is nothing like a good beginning.

The Massachusetts commission did not find in Canada any great eagerness for reciprocity. However, much depends upon what is offered. The trade relations between the two countries can doubtless be improved to mutual advantage.

Senator Thompson yesterday, discussing the St. John Valley Railway subsidy bill, which received its third reading, pointed out clearly the national character of the work, if a through line is built from St. John to Grand Falls, connecting with the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier effectively replied yesterday to those Conservatives who are trying to make political capital out of the Fielding testimonial. As a matter of fact, the more reputable members of the party are ashamed of the course pursued by the Toronto Mail and Empire and some other Conservative papers.

The following remarks and suggestion are from the Ottawa Free Press:—"Racismologists have done much to ameliorate the condition of mankind. They have stirred pretty nearly everything of human compassion. But there is yet a field for them—Ottawa river water, Canadian one-dollar bills, and the Toronto Mail and Empire."

Touching the question of the saloon in Ottawa the Journal, referring to a reduction that has taken place in the number of saloons, says:—"It is pretty well realized that any future changes in the number of licenses will be along the line of further reductions, and that the men who best obey the law will have the better chance of retaining their licenses."

Mayor Frink, in his inaugural yesterday, paid a tribute to the work accomplished by his predecessor, in getting civic finances into better shape. The tribute was devoted to the city's business as if it were his own. Ex-mayor Bullock did the city excellent service during his term of office, and enjoys the good-will alike of his colleagues and the citizens at large. He always endeavored to be as careful about the city's business as if it were his own. That is a good test of an official.

The Ottawa Citizen states a general truth in the following specific way:—"A number of Canadian newspapers yesterday devoted three lines to the debate of the senate on the naval question, and devoted half a column to the fact that one James J. Jeffries had a boil on his back. And the trouble is that if ten newspapers go that way, and ten other newspapers give the half-column to the senate instead, and ten average male buyers of papers know it, nine of them will buy the Jeffries' style."

"It certainly is a triumph of personality," says the Ottawa Journal, "that the man who at the present time is occupying the most space in the press and magazines of the United States (and this in spite of the many other active personalities and the pressing political and social questions), is a little man who has not set foot in the republic for a year and who has not uttered a word about any problem affecting the United States for over that time. The persistent interest of the eighty million United States people in Roosevelt would almost make it appear that he is a second 'Man of Destiny.'"

Although by a narrow margin, St. John is able to record another record winter port season. It was thought that because of the great falling off in cattle shipments during the season just closed the total value of exports would not be as great as that of the previous season; but it is actually greater, the difference being more than made up by increase in other directions. We have the testimony of Shores Superintendent Walsh of the C. P. R. that the business was carried on without difficulty or delay. By next winter the new government wharves will doubtless be in commission and the facilities at Sand Point increased to that extent. The port may well congratulate itself on the rapid development of recent years.

THE MYSTIC WOOD

The mystic wood of childhood. I know not where it lies. Except when I am dreaming and it bursts upon my eyes. And there beneath the curtain of maple and of oak I hear the fairy people and I see the Little Folk.

Oh, mystic wood of childhood. In dreams I hear them play. The children of the world who come To keep the first of May? Sweet are the mystic curtains that hide the woodland door. Sweet are the bloomy faces that through its arches peer. Dear little feet of dancing that come from street and dell. To join the fairy revel in the wood of childhood spell.

Oh, white nights filled with wonder. How sweet when come to me These visions of the wood of child. Brimmed bright with bloom of glee!

Descending and ascending on silver stairs of moon. They come in white-robed legions to sounds of fairy horns. The gold-haired and the bright-eyed, the laughing and the sweet. To dance the tinkling measures in the wood of Little Feet.

Oh, rosebud ranks of beauty. I wake, and they are gone. But sweetness of the golden dream Fills with white wine the dawn! They're playing Copenhagen, and all the woodland flames. With music of old ballads in the childhood kissing games. Dear London bridge is falling, and to his spy they flock. While some one's soft voice chanteth the song of Linnetlocks.

Enchanted are the woods, dear. And Little Child is there. With sunbeams and with starshine. And with moonlight on her hair!

The mystic wood of childhood comes back to me today. With Little Folk all laughter in the joy of First of May. And in the dream of singing 'neath maple and 'neath oak. The legends of white beauty on the feet of Little Feet.

Oh, mystic wood of childhood. Spring after Spring ye gleam. While down the silver stairway Dance little hosts of dream!

WHERE GARDENING IS EASY.

I wonder why it is. When the blizzards round us blow, And the ice is on the lake. And the fields are deep with snow. We so proudly, loudly tell. Of the garden we shall sow. When the days of spring are here. And the winter days have flown.

Why is it so easy then. To dig up the old back yard? Hauling new soil to the beds. In the winter isn't hard. Never garden was so fair. At least now to me it seems. As the one I planned and worked. In my pleasant winter dreams.

But the spring is here today. And the time has come to dig. And my little garden plot. Looms before me now so big. And what seems so easy then. Is so difficult today. And I'm not so sure that I. Want a garden anyway.

LUCKY.

Little Johnnie, who had been praying for some months for God to send him a baby brother, finally became discouraged. "I don't believe God will send me any more little boys to send," he told his mother, "and I'm going to quit it."

Early one morning not long after that he was taken into his mother's room to see twin boys who had arrived in the night. Johnnie regarded them thoughtfully for some minutes.

"Gee," he remarked finally, "it's a good thing I stopped praying when I did! Everybody's Magazine."

At The Unique Today
A big varied bill of good high class features will be shown at the Unique today. First of interest comes the fine scenic study "A Trip through Agre," showing the principal scenes in this famous Bengali city. The photographer selected his view points with unusual intelligence and this subject will afford an accurate impression of this foreign city. A delicious bit of humor will be found in the I. M. P. series "The Miser's Daughter," with Miss P. Lawrence, the former Biograph girl, but now one of the most popular pantomime artists with the I. M. P. Co. in the name part. The plot is a novel and refreshing one, being a humorous idea well carried out. "The Horseshoe" is a pretty colored film of the days when knights were bold and ladies fair in powdered hair and beauty patch. Beautiful scenery adds greatly to its interest and the costume to say the least, is away above the average. Two other novelties will be introduced, making up a programme of the best. Mr. Carson will conclude his singing of the popular love song, "I can't find another girl like you," and tomorrow will sing Paul Robeson's great success, "The Bells of St. Mary's," a song well adapted to his beautiful voice. For Friday and Saturday the grand historical feature, "Fighting the Trojans in Canada," will be shown.

"A GOOD PLACE TO BUY GOOD CLOTHES"

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A SOCIETY for the prevention of married flirts—though it doesn't call itself by just that name—is the latest thing in the way of new organizations.

The aim of this society is to try to further the custom of the wearing of wedding rings by married men.

"We believe that young girls will not flirt with married men if they know the men are married," says the leader of the eighteen Pittsburgh women who make up this unique organization. We will ask our husbands to wear a plain gold band ring as a token of being married, and we hope the custom will be adopted universally.

For centuries the married woman has been set apart by the seal of the ring and the label of the prefix "Mrs." Wherever she goes she is indubitably marked as a married woman, unless she deliberately tries to evade such a status.

The married man on the other hand, as soon as he passes out of the small group of people who know him and his personal affairs intimately, becomes an unknown quantity to those about him as far as his married or single condition is concerned.

He may not take advantage of this state of affairs, but he is perfectly free to do so if he wishes.

Of course, someone is going to protest that even if a married man wore a wedding ring it would be perfectly impossible to tell if it was or wasn't.

Yes, and so it would be for the married woman, and yet she certainly doesn't do it very often, and neither would her husband if the custom became as universal for men as it is for women.

Of course the deliberate, hardened, married flirt wouldn't mind taking off his wedding ring any more than he would telling other lies, but such men are the exception, not the rule.

Besides, it isn't so much for what it would accomplish in individual cases that I want to see the double ring service become universal. It is more because of what it symbolizes.

It seems to me that it would be a recognition of the absolutely equal obligations for man and woman implied in the marriage contract, and as such be a step towards the single standard of morality.

I suppose what I am going to say next will be hailed by some as ridiculous, but I am going to say it just the same. I wish there might not be wedding rings for men but also engagement rings.

I think there is quite as much need for them. Indeed, I fancy there are a good many more cases of unsuspecting hearts broken by engaged men posing as unattached, than by married men under the same conditions, because the pose is easier for the engaged man to maintain.

Many men do not like to wear precious stones on their hands very well. The engagement ring could be simply a gold ring unadorned or set with a cameo or one of the matrices that men are wearing so much now. And it would only be worn until replaced by the wedding ring.

Do not instantly hail this as ridiculous simply because it is a new idea. Only fools call things absurd merely because they are new.

The first few men who wear wedding rings were doubtless looked upon as rather freaky, but that custom is not now unusual enough to cause the slightest comment, and the engagement ring would be in the same class a few years after some brave man had had the courage to do something never done before.

I should be glad to see women get together in every city in the United States to pledge themselves to work for a single standard of morality, and two of their lines of action might well be to make universal the double ring wedding service, symbol of equal marriage obligations, and to inaugurate the double ring betrothal.

first thing a drinking man will do to walk straight out and get drunk again.

"Of course if a man is a habitual drunkard there's nothing to do but to send him to the workhouse. But I'm in doubt whether that is a remedy. There is a man in Cleveland who has been sent to the workhouse in Cleveland a hundred times and he still drinks. There was a woman who before she died was sent there seventy times for the same cause. However, I'm not speaking now of that class, but of people who are not drunkards."

"Another extremely common result of an arrest is that the man loses his job. The story of his arrest gets around; he is absent from work; and as a result he perhaps gets drunk after he is discharged and the result is that he finds some one else in his place who will go back. That is a heavy price for a man to pay for having been arrested on a charge on which he is not held by the court."

"Then there is the expense. There is the loss of time of the prisoner and witnesses from work. There is the expense for counsel, for which $5 apiece is a very low average. That alone would make $100,000 for the 20,000 who went free in this city in 1908 and who under the old regime would have been brought into court."

"The 10,085 persons who were brought into court by the police in 1908 cost the city $52,000 in jury and witness fees. At that rate the new policy saved the city $100,000 on the 20,000 that went free. There's $20,000 that would have been paid out under the old regime without any benefit to society or any good to any one. On the contrary it would have landed a good many of the prisoners, and would have caused distress, humiliation and disgrace to a large number of innocent persons."

"When we need to be arresting so many persons the police courts were crowded with cases and ran all day. Every morning from twenty to thirty women would be down there, some with babies in their arms and three or four little kids hanging all day, waiting for the case to be reached. And then after all in 80 per cent of the cases the man would be discharged and all that distress and worry and humiliation was for nothing."

The result of the conference was that Kohler tried his plan. As an example of the way in which the chief went to work to cut down the unnecessary arrests may be related the experience of a Cleveland newspaper man who was going home very late one night.

On the way he encountered a policeman who was stopping over a man prostrate on the sidewalk. The policeman was trying to find out whether the man was drunk or injured. Finding that intoxication was the trouble he called the newspaper man, as a citizen, to witness that he searched the man's clothes merely to find his address if possible. In one pocket he found a card containing the address of a house close by.

The prostrate one was not large, the policeman was. He shouldered the drunken man and carried him to the address named, the newspaper man trailing along to see the end of the incident. There was a light in the house. Some one was waiting for the man. The policeman rang the bell, a woman came, they parleyed, the policeman carried the man in and put him on the bed.

That sort of thing goes on all the time in Cleveland. If the man's residence had been at a distance the patrol wagon would have been summoned to carry him home. If no address had been found he would have been taken to the station house and left to sleep.

At 4 or 5 in the morning he would have been awakened, made to tell his name and address, warned, admonished and sent home, having first signed a waiver in which he agreed not to sue the police for false arrest. If he refused to sign this and preferred to go to court that would be his privilege, but it is a privilege rarely exercised.

This is the "sunrise court" of Cleveland. They also use "sunrise" as a verb in Cleveland and talk about "sunrising" on. They sunrise twice as many persons as ever get into the police court in Cleveland. The chief's object is to warn and scare the man without bringing disgrace on him or his family. There is no evidence that the method reduces drunkenness, but if they leave the sunrise court feeling grateful to the police. They know we might do a great deal worse to them. They know we could publicly disgrace them, perhaps cost them money or send them to jail. The state of mind with which a man enters an encounter with the police makes a difference in his after conduct, and that's particularly true with a boy who hasn't got good sense yet."

Origin of the Mason and Dixon's Line

The historic Mason and Dixon's Line is a name that was given to the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania about one hundred and fifty years ago. It coincides with 39°45' and 39°30' north latitude. Except for a distance of 22 miles the line was marked out by Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, English engineers. They surveyed it for a distance of 238 miles west from the Delaware River, between November 13, 1763, and December 28, 1767. Each five-mile stone bears the coat of arms of Maryland cut on one side and that of Pennsylvania on the other. The intervening milestones bear the letter "P" cut on one side and the letter "M" on the opposite.

During the progress of the violent debate in Congress in 1820, which resulted in the historic measure known as the Missouri Compromise, on the question of excluding slavery from Missouri, John Randolph made use of the phrase, "Mason and Dixon's Line," as the dividing line between slave and free states, Maryland at that time being a slave state and Pennsylvania a free state. At that time the crossing of the line from the South meant freedom to the fugitive slave. The reference thus made to the Mason and Dixon's Line by Randolph as a dividing line between slave and free states brought the phrase into general use, and it continued to designate the line between freedom and slavery till after the Civil War.

A DOUBLE CURE FOR DOUBLE TROUBLE

Father Morrissey's No. 26 Cures Catarrh by a Combined Treatment.

The sudden weather variations in our climate result in a great many cases of catarrh—a troublesome disease usually considered hard to cure, and one which often leads to serious pulmonary and intestinal troubles.

A neglected cold in the head weakens the nasal membranes, so that at every future exposure the trouble returns. At length these conditions are fastened onto the system, and the sufferer undergoes the annoyance and danger of chronic catarrh.

Some doctors confine themselves to prescribing external applications, and thus do not reach the seat of the trouble. Others give internal treatment exclusively, and thus do not promptly relieve the affected parts.

Father Morrissey, the skilled priest-physician, rightly regarded catarrh as a double trouble, consisting of unpleasant local effects and of fundamental causes, the latter being due to impaired general vitality.

His famous remedy, No. 26, is a combined cure for catarrh. It consists of tablets to be taken three times a day, and an especially comforting ointment.

The solve is simple, and quickly heals the inflamed membrane of the nasal passages. The tablets go to the seat of the trouble and restore the system to its normal state.

Instead of neglecting a disease that is unpleasant to yourself and to others, and one which often leads to pneumonia and consumption, it is surely the part of wisdom to take timely steps to do away with the effects and at the same time remove the cause. No 26 does just that.

Ask for the combined treatment. At your druggist's, or from Father Morrissey Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

Loyalist Society

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the New Brunswick Loyalist Society, held in their rooms in the Market building last evening. Being the annual meeting, the election of officers took place, as follows: President, W. P. Dale, 1st vice-president, D. J. Seely, 2nd vice-president, C. A. Macdonald, 3rd vice-president, C. E. J. Jarvis, chairman, Rev. W. O. Raymond, LL.B., secretary and historian, D. R. Jack, treasurer, H. W. W. Fink, marshals, J. S. Flaherty, W. R. Drake, standing committee, W. E. Vroom, A. O. Earle, H. S. Wallace, H. J. Anderson, J. B. Eagles, Rev. J. W. Millidge, Kendall Hall, G. Chivers, Corman, L. B. Millidge. Dr. Raymond was elected to represent the society at the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada at their annual meeting to be held at Ottawa on the 16th, 17th and 18th instants, and was requested to report fully on the work of the society during the past year.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the church celebration of Loyalty Day, on the Sunday following May 18. The historian, D. R. Jack, reported on his recent trip to Ottawa. Mr. Jack was requested to prepare a paper to be read in the city schools on the day prior to Loyalty Day. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Jack for his services.

recognized and was received with military honors by the young officer in command.

The queen very much enjoyed her brief inspection of military camp life. The artist has succeeded in capturing an excellent likeness of Queen Amelia, who is fifty-five years old this year.

On the contrary, the queen's tail was thought to be made up of gas so highly tarred that our own atmosphere, let alone the solid planet itself, would not have been able to stand it.

On many previous occasions this globe has passed through the tail of a comet, most recently in 1811, and before that in 1810. It was as though we had floated through the beam of a faraway searchlight. Only the astronomers knew that the comet's tail was so close.

Such is the verdict of the jury at the conclusion of last evening's inquest, in the court house, into the death of James Day, who committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid.

Six witnesses were examined, two of them druggists, and one a doctor. The inquiry brought out nothing of a sensational nature, beyond the fact that there is an indiscriminate use of carbolic acid in this city. In this regard, coroner Berryman expressed himself very strongly, going so far as to say that the druggist who sells carbolic acid indiscriminately has himself open, whenever death results, to a charge of manslaughter.

Dr. Geo. Baxter, who attended Mr. Day, gave his opinion that carbolic acid had caused his death. Chas. Wade, druggist, told of selling carbolic acid to James Day on April 23. The man appeared to be sober.

Mrs. Ellen Lusk, sister of the deceased, Oscar Day, his brother, and Mrs. Wm. Day, a sister-in-law, gave evidence that the deceased had been sober on the night of his suicide. H. J. Mowatt, a druggist, was called as a witness, but did not appear.

At the Day inquest last evening, coroner Berryman remarked that it would be an excellent thing if the members of the St. John Pharmaceutical Society would get together and discuss some means which would aid in putting a check on the indiscriminate sale of poisonous drugs. The coroner said that there was nobody better fitted to make a recommendation, and he was sure if they did, Attorney General Hazen would give it serious consideration.

recognized and was received with military honors by the young officer in command. The queen very much enjoyed her brief inspection of military camp life. The artist has succeeded in capturing an excellent likeness of Queen Amelia, who is fifty-five years old this year.

On the contrary, the queen's tail was thought to be made up of gas so highly tarred that our own atmosphere, let alone the solid planet itself, would not have been able to stand it.

On many previous occasions this globe has passed through the tail of a comet, most recently in 1811, and before that in 1810. It was as though we had floated through the beam of a faraway searchlight. Only the astronomers knew that the comet's tail was so close.

Such is the verdict of the jury at the conclusion of last evening's inquest, in the court house, into the death of James Day, who committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid.

Six witnesses were examined, two of them druggists, and one a doctor. The inquiry brought out nothing of a sensational nature, beyond the fact that there is an indiscriminate use of carbolic acid in this city. In this regard, coroner Berryman expressed himself very strongly, going so far as to say that the druggist who sells carbolic acid indiscriminately has himself open, whenever death results, to a charge of manslaughter.

Dr. Geo. Baxter, who attended Mr. Day, gave his opinion that carbolic acid had caused his death. Chas. Wade, druggist, told of selling carbolic acid to James Day on April 23. The man appeared to be sober.

Mrs. Ellen Lusk, sister of the deceased, Oscar Day, his brother, and Mrs. Wm. Day, a sister-in-law, gave evidence that the deceased had been sober on the night of his suicide. H. J. Mowatt, a druggist, was called as a witness, but did not appear.

At the Day inquest last evening, coroner Berryman remarked that it would be an excellent thing if the members of the St. John Pharmaceutical Society would get together and discuss some means which would aid in putting a check on the indiscriminate sale of poisonous drugs. The coroner said that there was nobody better fitted to make a recommendation, and he was sure if they did, Attorney General Hazen would give it serious consideration.

FAREWELL SAID TO REV. A. B. COHOE

Good Words For Minister and His Wife Held At Reception Held In Brussels Street Baptist Church Last Evening

Brussels street United Baptist church was well filled last night by the members of the congregation and their friends who had come together to say farewell to Rev. A. B. Cohoe, whose departure from the city. During the evening a purse containing $125 in gold, which had been subscribed by 250 persons, and an address, was presented to Rev. Mr. Cohoe in the hall of the assembly. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Wellington Camp, in behalf of the Baptist Ministers' Association; Archdeacon Raymond, president of the Evangelical Alliance; Rev. Dr. C. T. Phillips, A. M. Belding, in behalf of the Every Day Club; W. H. Moore, secretary of the boys' work in the Y. M. C. A.; A. H. Chipman was in the chair. During the evening a quartette of little girls sang and George Brown sang a solo. At the close most of those present pressed forward to shake hands with Mr. and Mrs. Cohoe.

Rev. Mr. Cohoe referred to the fact that during the three years he had been in St. John most of the ten Baptist churches had changed ministers, some of them mere half hearted. Rev. Mr. Cohoe had been seven years in the city and he was sure that he could say in behalf of the members of the association he represented that during all that time he had been an inspiration to them. They had prized very highly his Christian character and scholarly attainments and they had expressed their sentiments by a resolution recorded on their minutes. Personally he regretted to part with Mr. Cohoe but he was sure that he could say in behalf of the members of the association he represented that during all that time he had been an inspiration to them. They had prized very highly his Christian character and scholarly attainments and they had expressed their sentiments by a resolution recorded on their minutes. DRUNK, IS EXCUSE OF TWO BOYS

Carleton Lads Admit Theft and Vandalism in Mr. Linton's Home—Say One Whelpley Supplied the Liquor

Ronald Vaughan and Leonard Brown, of the west side, boys in short trousers, each had spent about fifteen years, pleaded guilty this morning before Judge Ritchie, in the police court to a charge of breaking and entering the home of David Linton, Sand Cove Road, on Sunday last, and stealing a baby's bunk, containing money, as well as destroying two doors, a sideboard and turning loose some cattle. They gave an excuse that they were under the influence of liquor at the time, the stuff having been supplied to them by a man named "Jack" Whelpley, of Carleton, who gave it to young Vaughan on the receipt of 50 cents.

Brown was not arrested, but came to court this morning in company with Rev. Mr. Robinson, who is interested in the case. Vaughan was arrested yesterday by Policeman Wm. Lee. Linton told the court today that he ran away from home all day Sunday on returning in the evening their cattle running at large, the door fully splintered open, some furniture had been broken and several articles missing. Whelpley he found that two boys had taken the place and he learned, he would get of them was Vaughan, refreshments used to remark that "it was all day, fair play," at a street. The youthful said that the whole until 2 o'clock, effort had been greatly magnified. Damage had been done him brought to court.

HAD MEAL, THEN WOULD NOT PAY

Expensive Visit to Do-Drop-In by Burns and Miles—A Robbery Case

Bartholomew Burns and John Miles, ate a meal last night in the "Do-Drop-In" restaurant, Market square, but refused to pay for it, and as a result were given in charge by the owner, Mrs. Mary McLaughlin. The latter said this morning that she had served the ones with food and that after eating it they had refused to pay. Burns called her some ungentlemanly names and also struck her. Because of this, he was fined $20 this morning on the assault count, while both he and his chum were fined $5 for refusing to pay for their food.

An Englishman named Harold Smith pleaded guilty this morning to J. L. Bullock, clerk in the Hotel Ottawa on Monday night. He said that he had been in St. John a little more than a week, and had come here from Perth, N. B., where he had been working for a time after coming here from England. He said that the money which he had taken amounted to about $18, but the clerk said that there was $21 in the roll.

His Honor remarked that it was a common occurrence for Englishmen coming to this country to rob their employers after they had been given a situation. Only a short time ago he had seen in a Montreal paper in a want column an advertisement for a man to go to work, with a line to the effect "No Englishman need apply."

ST. JOHN MEN, AND SOME BOOMING OF THE FAIR IN THE WEST

Sam. J. Ritchey, representing the Isaac tobacco firm in this city, returned on Saturday last after a business trip throughout the west and brings home an interesting budget of home news from abroad. While in Saskatoon, Mr. Ritchey was in company of A. L. Haining, who was conducting a thriving depot for such eastern products as "Enterprise" stoves, Fowler's edge tools, "Success" refrigerators, St. John nails, etc., etc., and who with his family is pleasantly located.

In Regina, Nathan Green, a son of Louis Green of this city, was Mr. Ritchey's host. This enterprising young man has built up a thriving tobaccoist trade and is extending his lines. Spreading of the dominion exhibition to be held in this city in September next. Mr. Ritchey said that hundreds of ex-St. John people also former New Brunswickers will doubtless return to St. John in the fall for that event, making it the chief object of reunion with their friends and relatives. While away the St. John traveler distributed a lot of small literature, stickers, etc., boosting the fair.

In this connection an amusing incident occurred in the Flannigan House in Saskatoon, where Parnell McAfferty of this city, formerly a member of the Globe staff is chief clerk. Mr. McAfferty had received a package of booklets and gummed stickers from the advertisement department of the exhibition and was making good use of them. When Mr. Ritchey entered the hotel with A. L. Haining, he hastened to the dining room and plastered their plates, glasses, etc., with exhibition stickers, so when the two Winter Port citizens took their places at table they were surprised and delighted, and it was not long before the whole dining-room full of people knew all about the approaching exhibition thousands of miles east.

Sister Mary of Saint Francis, provincial superior of the Order of the Good Shepherd, arrived in the city on Monday morning. Montreal, on her annual visit to the local branch. After spending a few days here she will go to Halifax to visit the order there.
