DOCTOR MACLAREN AND THE PORTS.

Dr. Murray MacLaren, in his speech in the Commons yesterday, squarely confronted Parliament with its breach of contract in connection with transportation. Parliament has long been in default, and, thanks to the publicity given that default throughout the country for many months past, Parliament today recognizes clearly that the railways which were built at a cost of hundreds of millions to carry traffic through all-Canadian channels must live up to the contracts made when Parliament committed the country to their construction.

The atmosphere at Ottawa regarding this question has improved very greatly within a year. Most of Dr. MacLaren's contentions, we may be sure, commanded the support of a majority of the members on both sides of the House. Apparently he thinks that the Government should not have referred the question of the grain traffic to the Railway Commission. That is a matter of opinion, just as is his statement that the Government's tariff policy was one of the causes of the revolt in the Maritimes against the King administration at the last election. The tariff probably played an insignificant part in the return of twenty-six Conservatives on that occasion. The determination to secure justice for these provinces was probably the governing motive with most of the electors. As to the grain traffic, which is a national issue rather than a Maritime one, we shall know presently what the Railway Commission proposes to do about it, for a date is soon to be set for the hearing of the Quebec application for lower rates on the Transcontinental. The commission is to make a separate report upon this question of lowering the grain tariff in home channels, and it evidently proposes to finish this enquiry long in advance of its decision as to equalization of rates generally.

Dr. MacLaren was able to quote in Parliament many utterances from representatives of the grain growers of the country and from leading men dealing favorably with the Maritime case, and showing a widespread conviction that the Atlantic Provinces have not been fairly dealt with by Ottawa for many years past.

While the political situation in the House makes for delay and prevents the transaction of important public business for which the country wants early dispatch, it may be taken for granted that a majority of both Liberals and Conservatives are now prepared to meet the reasonable requirements of this part of the country. And while there may be extended delay in Parliament, we may have action by the Railway Commission on the question of the ports within two or three months, and certainly long in advance of the movement of next autumn's grain crop.

Meanwhile, so far as the Maritime ports are concerned, additional equipment is needed, and Maritime members may be expected to bring this issue definitely to the front in the House. Unless early appropriations are forthcoming for our harbor requirements, we shall not be ready for the increased traffic when it comes. And it is coming.

"Watch Us Grow."
(From G. K.'s Weekly)
We have ourselves seen immediately outside a little hamlet of wooden houses and tin sheds on the plains of Michigan, an enormous placard addressed by that village to the rest of the civilized world and inscribed "Watch Us Grow." No such cheering sign encourages the traveler in the way to Keat's Inn at Burford or Milton's cottage at Chalfont. Perhaps English people do not wish to invite total strangers to watch them grow. Perhaps English people are grown up. Anyhow, there is no doubt that the English village lags behind the American village in every respect; if we judge it by what is in the placard, Big Business with what is in the place. Big Business at Burford would doubtless do much more for the American manner, for the fame of the pot's inn, if America happened to have any Inns or any poets. Doubtless Michigan could paint the Chalfont cottage pink and pe-green in a pattern of large letters; and add every convenience to Milton's home except Milton.

AN OPTIMIST FOR CANADA.

Sir John Willison, editor of Willison's Monthly, who is formerly editor of the Toronto Globe, and who is now a leader of the Canadian projection school, has been reviewing conditions in Canada and appraising the outlook. He describes himself "an optimist for Canada," even during periods of depression, and he says one of the curses of this country is a tendency to depreciate it and praise the United States when times are bad here. He reviews the immense increase of production, both agricultural and manufacturing, in Canada in the last twenty-five years, and maintains that in that period the Dominion has made as satisfactory progress as any country in the world.

Sir John thinks that if Canadians did not live alongside the United States they would regard themselves as the most fortunate people in the world. As a matter of fact, most Canadians do so regard themselves, and rightly so, notwithstanding the fact that they have an immensely rich neighbor. They know that while the dollar is important there are other things which are more important, and that material prosperity does not always mean happiness or contentment. They know, too, that the Americans have quite as many troublesome problems as we have.

Sir John says that he has observed after a long study of the question that more than eight per cent of the Canadians who go over the line do better there than they would have done had they remained at home. Any

A CHILD'S LAUGHTER.

All the bells of heaven may ring,
All the birds of heaven may sing,
All the wells of earth may spring,
All the winds on earth may bring
All sweet sounds together;
Sweeter far than all things heard,
Hand of harper, tone of bird,
Sound of woods at sundown stirred,
Welling water's winsome word,
Wind in warm wain weather.

One thing yet there is, that none hearing ere its chime be done
Knows not well the sweetest one
Heard of man beneath the sun
Hoped in heaven hereafter:
Soft and strong and loud and light,
Very sound of very light,
Heard from morning's rosiest height,
Were a nightingale—why then
Something seen and heard of men
Might be half as sweet as when
Laughs a child of seven.

Golden bells of welcome rolled
Never forth such notes, nor told
Hours so blithe in tones so bold
Here that ringed forth heaven.
If the golden creaked when
Were a nightingale—why then
Something seen and heard of men
Might be half as sweet as when
Laughs a child of seven.

The Best Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

WHERE EVERY ONE MUST LOOK FOR HAPPINESS.

TO one man the world is barren, dull, and superficial; to another rich, interesting, and full of meaning. Happiness is a thing to be practiced, like the violin; and like the violin, difficult to master completely.

There are many whose very birth is a sentence of hard labor for life. But that does not apply to the poor only. The rich now work quite as hard, or even harder.

There are many whose very money makes them miserable—in whose life there is no rest, no calm, no peace.

THERE is a story about a Persian king who being out of spirits consulted his astrologers, and was told that happiness could be found by wearing the shirt of a perfectly happy man.

The court and all the prosperous classes in the world were searched in vain. No such man could be discovered.

At last a laborer coming from the fields was found to fulfill the condition; he was absolutely happy.

But, the remedy for the king's malady was as far off as ever. The happy man owned no shirt.

HAPPINESS cannot be bought with riches, neither can it be grasped by power.

We are told, "Anthony sought for happiness in love; Brutus in glory; Caesar in dominion; the first found disgrace, the second disgust, the last ingratitude, and each destruction."

If a man has not got the elements of happiness in himself, not all the beauty, the pleasures and interests of the world can give it to him.

It is our own fault if we do not enjoy life.

URGING PEOPLE TO VOTE.

(Orilla Packet)

The Kiwanis clubs are endeavoring to rouse the apathetic electors who fail to exercise their franchise. "Vote as you like, but vote!" is the slogan they have adopted. There can be no doubt that the indifferent ratepayers who fail to turn out on election day have many sins to answer for. Many an inferior candidate has been elected through their action, or want of action.

On the other hand, there are occasions when to refrain from voting is the wisest course. The best expresses the voter's opinion of the candidates, because neither or none of them appeals to him as fitted for the position to which they aspire.

BOOKS NEVER RETURNED.

(Financial Post)

Established through the generosity of the Massey foundation, the library at Hart House, Toronto University, has been closed because of the rapidly increasing number of books which have been taken out and not returned.

The shelves of the library were made freely accessible, without regulations and without a librarian, the only restriction being that books were not supposed to be taken from the room. That is just another indication that, because human nature is what it is, many of the splendid idealisms of those who would grant boons to the public cannot be put into practical effect.

Who's Who IN THE DAY'S NEWS

MME. KRUPSKAIA.

WITH the sincerity which has always been conceded to her, Comrade Krupskaja, widow of Nicolai Lenin, founder of Soviet Russia, has resigned from the central control commission of Russian Communist party as head of the department of education, as a protest against what she feels to be partiality in matters of party discipline and unfair treatment of the minority.

A hard worker, self-sacrificing, she was her husband's aid throughout their married life.

The day before his funeral she delivered a brief personal address at the second congress of the Soviets urging the working class to amancipate all the oppressed. Of her personal loss she did not say a word.

Her office is in a dingy tenement house in Petrograd. She wears a cotton frock and sandals. Her eyeballs bulge as the result of a long-appearing illness giving her a strange appearance and making her seem more than 50 years old. She speaks many languages.

There has never been any fuss made over Krupskaja and she never seeks popularity. Her greatest hardship is to be a woman in a man's world.

She has written the first organized clubs and adult schools she is regarded as the originator of the Russian children.

The Blue-Ribbon-Prize Selfish Husband—A Letter of Especial Interest to Frail, Neurotic Wives—Her Spunkless Fiance Who Lets His Mother Run His Life.

DEAR MISS DIX—Will you decide which one of us is right, my wife or myself? We have been married six years, and she has never met any of my people. But she says it is wrong for me to go to see them and have a good time while she sits alone at home, and that I should not go where she is not welcome. She says that it is nine months since I have taken her to a show or any place.

She gets mad because I don't give her any money or make her any presents. Well, she has money in her own right, and she owns the house and all the furnishings. I have never laid out a nickel in our house for anything, and that hurts her. She thinks I am selfish because I spend all my money on myself. She is as clean as wax, and at one time would have given me all she had, but no more.

She used to be cheerful, but now she sits and cries all the time, and she is mad because I bought me an expensive radio to which I have my place of business, and she thinks that I ought to buy one just as good for home, which I cannot afford. What of us is right?

ANSWER: Why, I think you would take the blue-ribbon prize in any selfish-husband class, for according to your own showing, you take everything from your wife, and give her nothing in return. You live in her house, eat her food, let her bear all the expense of the upkeep of the home, and you don't even make her the poor return of taking her out now and then to the movies. Pretty soft graft you have got, I'll say!

If your wife owns the house and you don't have to pay any rent, thank Heaven for your luck. You are that much to the good, anyway. But for the sake of your own self-respect, and because you want your wife to respect you and look upon you as a man and not as a dead beat, pay all the balance of the household expenses yourself.

It isn't possible for a woman to feel anything but contempt for the man who sits down and lets her support him, and it humiliates her to death to find out that all that she means to her husband is just a meal ticket.

Evidently that is the point of view your wife has reached, and that is why she has become melancholy. She sees that you are stingy and selfish, that you show her no consideration, that you have no regard for her pride, and that she is merely a convenience to furnish you with free board and lodging so that you may have more money to spend upon yourself.

I think she has a right to resent your visiting your people when they will not receive her, as she has a right to resent your sponging upon her, even if you are her husband; and to resent your sponging lack of even common civility to her, because a man should, at least occasionally, show his hostess some attention, if only as some sort of payment for her bread and butter. If you don't want to lose a good thing, you had better get busy and make your wife a few presents and trot her around to places of amusements now and then.

DEAR MISS DIX—When I was married I was a frail and delicate young girl, and my husband was much more than willing to allow me to lift a hand to do any kind of work. I was kept in cotton wool, so to speak, and he practically superintended the housework on his own work, as he could not afford a regular servant. As a result, everything was left undone or half done, while I lay around idle and got fretful and peevish and nagging.

Finally I asked myself one day what my husband would do if I should die, and the awful answer came to me that he would be bound to get married and glad. Well, that woke me up, and I rolled my sleeves and went to work with the result that I got well and strong, and am cheerful and happy, and my husband calls me his partner.

ANSWER: I print this letter for the benefit of the many discontented slacker women who are always writing to me, moaning and groaning, because they have to do their part in matrimony.

These women would rush to the divorce courts and demand their freedom if they had married husbands who refused to work and support them. They would have a perfect contempt for their husbands if they spent the evening whining over their jobs, and telling how sick and tired they got of selling goods, or doctoring sick people, or trying law cases, or laying bricks. But they don't recognize that, if it is a man's business to make the money on which to run a house, then it is the woman's business to place in which to live. Nor do they face the fact that a woman's work is no harder, or more monotonous, than a man's work, and that she is just as much a quitter if she complains about it as he would be if he complained about his.

And also I wish to call my readers' attention to one other point this letter emphasizes, and that is that work is good for both body and mind. There is no other exercise equal to housework. You can get every known system of gymnastics in cooking and sweeping and scrubbing, and there is no such preventive of sickness as not having the time to be sick.

The women who have nothing to do except to think about themselves can always hunt around their systems until they find some deadly complaint, real or imaginary, or they can acquire nerves, and the only preventive of this is to keep so busy that you haven't leisure in which to develop symptoms.

Furthermore, the only happy people are those who have the consciousness of knowing that they are doing their part in life, and that they are of some real use in the world. I commend the example of Mrs. Goodwill to all frail and neurotic ladies.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a young man who has supported his mother since he was a small child. When he went to work as a little boy he turned over his entire pay envelope to her, and he has been doing so ever since. She buys his clothes, and gives him a couple of dollars a week, and she seems satisfied. I have tried every way in the world to make him see that this cannot go on, that we can never be married unless he has his own salary to handle himself, to be used for us to live upon, but he doesn't seem to have the courage to demand his rights. His mother is strong and well able to support herself. Do you think a fellow like this is worth while, or would you look out for somebody with more spunk? DISGUSTED.

ANSWER: I think the spunkless one is certainly a poor outlook as a husband, for a man who is that completely under his mother's thumb has had every bit of courage and initiative crushed out of him. He will always be afraid of his mother, and put her before his wife, and expect his wife to know her as he does. And it is never very pleasant for the wife to realize that she plays second fiddle to the mother.

Certainly it is the duty of children to support their parents when they need help, but I do not think that parents have the right to take their children's entire pay envelope from them, for this makes the child nothing but a slave toiling for the benefit of his father and mother.

That takes all the heart out of it and crushes all the ambition. It breaks down the child's morale.

Even when the child's whole wages have to go to the family support, it is better for the child to give the money with its own hands, and to have the sense of being a benefactor and the pride of being depended upon, than it is to be ruthlessly robbed of its hard earnings and have them taken as a matter of course, and without thanks or appreciation.

Some of Our Lingual Idiotisms

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont
Very pale tints, such as char-treuse, have been accorded smart favor in the sheer chiffons of the season.

The dress above draws attention because of its unusual bolero treatment. The material is soft char-treuse chiffon, that greenish yellow tint that is so becoming to fair complexions.

The back of the frock is straight and unpleated. The plain seam is in one piece with the back, while the pleated section is added in front.
The yoke, which is seen in front, extends across the back, and at the centre of it is a tiny bow of silver ribbon with long streamers.

CHOSE HIS WORDS

SOME small boys were playing baseball in a vacant lot in Boston when the ball crashed through the window of an adjacent house. The wrathful householder stormed out in pursuit of the lads, who had taken to their heels.
He managed to collar one spectacled, slow-footed youth. "I didn't do it, mister. I was not playing with them," the boy said. "Then why did you run?"
roared the man. "I—'m afraid that I was a victim of the prevailing mob hysteria, sir," was the cultured reply.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Buckwheat Cakes—One quart lukewarm water, one teaspoon salt, three eggs, one-half cup buckwheat flour, one-half cup flour, one-half ounce compressed yeast, two tablespoons molasses. Dissolve the yeast in a little warm water and add to the rest of the water and mix with the flour, salt and buckwheat. Let rise in a warm place overnight; next morning add molasses and bake on a hot greased griddle, in small cakes, browning on both sides. Serve with sugar or syrup. Have a cupful of this batter each time and use it in place of fresh yeast. After using two mornings, add one-half teaspoon saleratus or soda to two tablespoons of lukewarm water.

Spanish Rice—In four tablespoons of oil, brown one-half cup of rice, keep stirring continually so that it will not stick nor burn; when it is a golden brown, add two medium sized onions and one bell pepper that you have chopped fine, also a small clove of garlic. Cook for five or six minutes, or until the vegetables turn golden brown, then add one quart of tomatoes, two cups spoon each of oregano and cummin seed and one teaspoon (or more) to taste of white powder with salt to taste. It will require about one and a half to two teaspoons of salt. Cook slowly, adding more water if necessary. The rice should be slightly swollen, and while the sauce should be thick, if you let it cook down too much the rice will come dry and unpalatable. Serve with or without grated cheese.

Canned Salmon Cutlets—Add a cup of hot mashed potatoes to a cup of fish well picked apart, salt and pepper, one well-beaten egg and a teaspoon of water; mix well, make into cutlet form, roll in egg, then in bread crumbs, and fry, garnish with slices of lemon.

Bavarian Cream—One teaspoon gelatin, one tablespoon cold water, one-quarter cup milk, yolk one egg, one-half teaspoon sugar, one-quarter teaspoon vanilla, one-quarter cup whipped cream; soak gelatin in cold water five minutes; heat the milk and pour the beaten yolk of egg and add this mixture to gelatin, stir until gelatin is dissolved and flavor; set in ice water to cool, beating almost constantly, when it begins to stiffen fold in the whipped cream; pour into moulds; serve with whipped cream. Chocolate may be added by omitting vanilla and adding chocolate to hot milk, dissolving it before adding to the yolk.

News Notes from Movie Land

By JACK JUNGMEYER
It is written in the future book of movies that color films will be the commonplace of the better product within the next five years; that black and white will be largely a memory of the cradle epoch of the screen.

Judged by pioneering experiments in color physics now under way, and results already shown in the first venture, this spells revolution in the mechanics, investiture and personnel of the pantomime stage.

The chief disturbance will be in the ranks of the actors, and it may well be that color photography will relegate to oblivion many personages now prominent, while new-comers, more happily endowed, will blaze in gorgeous new splendor. For "color personality"—the way one registers for the tint camera—has been proved decidedly different from one's semblance in the present-day neutral.

"Color personality," asserts Parker, whose explorations in this field have been extensive, "is determined by pigmentation by texture of the skin, by color of the hair and eyes and the indefinable glow of the blood behind the features."

"Nor can this native quality be very much altered by make-up. The color camera peers through any superficial masking and brings out strange unexpected tone values and strange emphases. Tests in black and white afford no criterion."

Orange Juice is now a regular portion of the diet of babies because modern science has shown that the juice of the orange is a well-balanced and exceedingly healthful meal which the tiny stomach has no difficulty in handling. In fact the orange contains nearly all of the food elements necessary for health and strength in more or less degree, particularly the mineral salts and the highly necessary elements known as vitamins. The orange has the vitamin B, which is effective against rickets.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

MISTER HAVALOOK'S INITIALS
"I just wanted to say," said the Tin Soldier, saluting, "that there isn't going to be a revolution in Hidy Go Land, sir."

"What?" cried poor Mister Havalook in amazement. "You don't say so! No revolution! How come?"

"Everybody is happy, sir. That's why," said the Tin Soldier. "The Crinoline Doll has found her skirt, the Gingerbread Man has found his eye and his coat-tail, and Limber Long Legs has found a backbone."

"A backbone!" exclaimed the Twins, who were helping poor Mister Havalook to count his laundry so as to be sure he had it all. "What did he get for a backbone?"

"A drumstick," said the Tin Soldier. "Someone lost a drumstick down the crack in the floor, and it came to Hidy Go Land."

"I didn't take Limber Long Legs two seconds to grab it," he went on, "Miss Pithers, the yarn lady, used some of her yarn to tie it on and now Limber Long Legs is a new man."

"Good!" cried poor Mister Havalook. "We shall now proceed to be happy. I am going to change my name to Happy Mister Havalook and turn the corners of my mouth up."

"Then I'll have to change all my initials on your napkins and towels and handkerchiefs," said Nancy. "P. M. H. won't do any more. It's H. M. H. now."

"Dear! Dear! That's a lot of trouble!" said poor Mister Havalook. "Couldn't we make it something that means 'happy' but begins with a 'p'?"

"Nobody seemed to be able to decide," said the Tin Soldier, who to the door and blew his tin whistle.

All the dolls in Hidy Go Land hurried to see what was wanted.

"Put on your thinking caps," said Nancy. "We want you to answer a question."

"Is it school?" asked Belinda. "If it is, I shan't stay. I came to Hidy Go Land just to get away from it. The girl I belonged to was an awfully interesting playing school and having me for a dunce. I just wouldn't stand it, and one day I jumped out of the window and came here."

"We want a word," said Nancy, not paying the slightest bit of attention to Belinda, "that means 'happy' but begins with 'p.'"

"Prosperous," said Calamity Jane, who was feeling quite set since she had gotten a wedding veil. She insisted on wearing it even if she had no husband, because if she didn't, she said, Sailor Sam would always be borrowing it for a sail for his starch-box boat.

"That's good, but too long," said poor Mister Havalook, almost forgetting about the corners of his mouth and looking quite droll.

"Pleasant!" squawked Jack-in-the-Box, who had had his neck fixed, and who insisted upon being heard on every occasion.

"Good, also, but still too long," said poor Mister Havalook.

"Playful," piped up Teddy Bear, who spoke very mildly always, for such a fierce creature.

"I'm not playful!" declared poor Mister Havalook. "I'm a hard working fairytale if ever there was one."

"Popular!" said Mrs. Jiggs.

"Profound!" said Limber Long Legs.

"Proper!" said Miss Pithers.

"Peaceful!" said the Rag Doll.

"Furry!" shouted all the Hidy Go people. "Three cheers for plucky Mister Havalook!"

So Mister Havalook didn't have to change his initials after all.

To Be Continued.

Is this your BIRTHDAY

FEBRUARY 9—You are sympathetic and kind, faithful to a friend and constant in your love. You are inclined to be worried; also, you worry too much over trifles. Cultivate the habit of thankfulness for what you are given.

Your birth-day is an amethyst, which means sincerity.

Your flower is a primrose.

Your lucky colors are light blue and yellow.

A GREAT lover is one who can tell whether a girl is pensive or sleepy.

Clearing Film from Teeth Whitens Surprisingly

Quickly restores cloudy teeth to cleanness

Please accept full 10-day tube of this new dental achievement, urged by world's authorities. Note the difference in the color of your teeth and health of your gums when film is cleared off in this new way.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it a slippery, viscous coating. That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color," dingy and unattractive.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

Old ways won't clear it off. Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

THOUSANDS go through life with clouded teeth, needlessly. Dental science proves this true.

Cloudy teeth now are restored to sparkling cleanness. A way found that clears the dingy film coats from teeth that old-time dentifrices failed to combat successfully. One's whole appearance is often changed.

Please accept 10-day tube to prove those results to yourself. You can work a transformation in your mouth. Can lighten your teeth remarkably, firm your gums to healthy coral tint.

That stubborn film... enemy of pretty teeth and firm gums. Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on teeth.

Clears film off. Firmes the Gums. It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

Women's Institute, by Majority Vote, Favors Healthful Recreation Places Open Sunday

THE SAINT JOHN Women's Institute at its meeting yesterday afternoon passed a resolution placing itself in favor of keeping places of healthful recreation in Saint John open on Sunday afternoon. The resolution was not unanimous and only carried after considerable discussion.

The meeting was held in the Health Centre with Mrs. T. N. Vincent, president, in the chair and was largely attended.

The institute decided in future to earmark its yearly contribution of $50 given to the Health Centre as designated for the Health Centre building fund and not to be used for current expenses. An exceptionally interesting program was given at the meeting.

EARLY AMERICAN GLASS. Mrs. Margaret Lawrence gave a splendid account of early American glass, speaking more particularly of the history of sandwich glass and fluted glass and relating very many interesting anecdotes. Mrs. Lawrence said that she believed there were many fine examples of glass in Saint John homes and that if all were gathered together a very notable exhibition of old glass could be held.

Dr. William Warwick, district medical health officer, spoke on child welfare in Saint John, giving statistics covering a period of four years. He showed how infant deaths in the city were greater in certain districts. He strongly urged more educational work with reference to pre-natal care and infant welfare.

NEED FOR NURSING CARE.

Dr. Warwick also felt that there was need for more nursing care and that as much as the city was doing along this line not enough was being accomplished. The infant mortality rate, he said, was higher than it should be and he urged more general interest in this highly important phase of public health and community welfare. The members brought valentines which are to be given to the children in the County Hospital and to the children who attended the Lady Byng camp last summer. Arrangements were made for sending a "sweet" bouquet to a member who is ill.

PRINCESS NIPS BOLD ATTEMPT AT BLACKMAIL

Causes Arrest of Bogus Scion of Wealthy Family

Special to The Times-Star. PARIS, Feb. 8.—All Paris society is today congratulating a German Princess, whose name is being kept secret, upon her courage in bringing about the arrest of one of the many blackmailers who frequent fashionable resorts. When the princess, who is young and pretty, was staying at a resort in Normandy last summer, a young Czech, describing himself as the son of wealthy and well-known people of Prague, succeeded in obtaining an introduction to her. He was a brilliant dancer, and his prowess as a swimmer caused crowds to assemble daily to watch his exploits in the sea.

The princess frequently danced with him, and with other friends and acquaintances she invited him to tea. Upon her return to Paris he dropped out of her life, until on New Year's Eve she was astonished to receive a letter from Vienna, signed by the young Czech, demanding 10,000 francs at once and threatening that if it was not forthcoming he would write to her husband. The princess forwarded the letter to a lawyer in Vienna, instructing him to inform the police.

KEEPS APPOINTMENT. The next morning she was called up on the telephone by the Czech, who was threatening to appear at the underground railway station, told her that as he had not received a reply at Vienna, she was to appear there at 10 o'clock and he demanded the money that day. Feigning terror, the princess accepted the appointment and then telephoned to the police, who told her to meet the man and hand him ten 1,000-franc notes which had been spent.

When she arrived at the rendezvous a man awaiting her said he was a bogus passport which describes him as a Persian prince.

REVUE SCORES HIT AT OPERA HOUSE

Hoyt's Enjoyed at Opening of Two-week Engagement—Much to Entertain

Hoyt's Revue scored a big hit at the Opera House last evening in the opening production of a two weeks' engagement. A large audience was treated to a clean, clever and well balanced show, which was far ahead of the average. The company was headed by Frank Smith and Miss Allie Bagley, both of whom are well known in Saint John, having appeared here in vaudeville several times.

The company has 20 members, all of whom are excellent fun producers. The chorus work was a feature of last night's performance. The girls of the chorus are a snappy aggregation of dancers and good singers and their effectiveness was greatly enhanced by spectacular costumes.

Among the hits of the evening were "Apple Blossom Time," a specialty number by Frank Smith, "Hush and Miss Butler," a song by little Billie McKean, and a sketch by Mr. Griffin and Miss Bagley. "It's a wonderful world after all," and numbers by Chick Peters.

UNIQUE PRESENTS LEARNING TO LOVE

Constance Talmadge Leads in Screen Production Dealing With Flapperism

When youth passes to thirty and beyond, the tinsel of flapperism ceases to charm and love takes on a deeper meaning. It is this contrast that forms the underlying current of thought in the wholly charming comedy, "Learning to Love," which Constance Talmadge brought to the screen of the Unique Theatre last evening.

Constance, always piquantly alluring, daintily beautiful, is quite positive she is the young mistress of all of love's secrets. The case with which she has "vamped" the headmaster of her exclusive boarding school, and five proposals of marriage she has received from college boy admirers, convince her.

But a jolt to her pride lies in store when she meets the guardian of her wealth (Antonio Moreno). He merely smiles sympathetically, almost pathetically, in response to her flapperish saults upon his heart. He is past the stage boy estate—a man of affairs.

Body Fails To Be That of Princess

Canadian Press Despatch. MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—Investigation today proved that the body of the woman found in the snow in one of Moscow's principal streets last Sunday was not that of Princess Obelenski, as reported by the police, but that of Helen Vassilievna Dubinskaya, of Vladimir province.

MOVIE AND OPERA ARE GIVEN JOINTLY

"Bohemian Girl," Supplemented by Rich Musical Rendering at Queen Square

The Queen Square is showing a film, "The Bohemian Girl," that really does have an all-star cast. Ivor Novello, composer of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and an aviator during the war, is a handsome and intelligent here. C. Aubrey Smith, once a well known cricketer, captain of his university and captain of England with a wide acting experience, makes a wonderful characterization of Devilshoof. Aubrey Smith, among other and better parts, was Torpenhow in Forbes Robertson's production of "The Light That Failed." Gladys Cooper is a beautiful and very charming actress. Then there is Ellen Terry. It is impossible that anyone who has seen her picture is shown on the screen. She is nearly 80 years of age, and her acting as the nurse is wonderful. Lastly, Constance Collier, Beechboro Theatre's leading lady for years, makes an ideal Gypsy Queen.

PROMINENT SINGERS. Balfe's opera has been taken as the basis for the first operafilm. The story of the opera is told upon the screen, but at various intervals the silver screen disappears, displaying a tableau, and the opera is rendered. In this manner all the delightful old melodies of the opera are sung.

An excellent company has been assembled to sing Balfe's melodious score. Joseph F. Sheehan, who has delighted audiences here before, displays his wonderful tenor voice to the best advantage in the music allotted to Thaddeus. Gladys Jones-Morgan in the role of Arline has an exceptionally powerful and sweet soprano voice, which she uses with great skill. Martha Richardson as the Queen sings her solos and duets with artistry. Edward Evans as Count Arheim, scores tremendously with his singing of "The Heart Bow'd Down." Geo. O. Miner as Devilshoof has a very good bass voice which shows to advantage in the role of Devilshoof.

The costumes and stage settings are novel, artistic and pleasing. The idea of Operafilm is certainly an excellent one—the combination of music, drama and movie has been most cleverly arranged, and the possibilities for this new form of entertainment are practically unlimited. Operafilm certainly leaves one enthusiastic.

CANADIAN TITLE MEET CARDED FOR TORONTO FEB. 26 AND 27

GORMAN NOT DECIDED YET ABOUT GOING

Champion Acts As Starter For Junior Trial Races

THE Canadian speed skating championships will be held at Varsity rink, Toronto, on February 26, and 27, President Louis Rubenstein of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association yesterday wired to officials of the Ontario Press despatch this morning. Toronto has a promising bunch of young skaters coming along and officials there are anxious to boost the game in every way possible.

GORMAN UNDECIDED A big feather in the Toronto official cap would be to secure Charlie Gorman for competition and while Charlie has not been approached directly, he said this morning he would consider favorably a request to enter. Gorman's presence would make the meet there a smashing success and he is in the frame of mind now to help the Canadian end of the game.

MONCTON ENTHUSIAST Moncton skating fans are highly enthused over the showings made by C. H. Smythe, world's 16-year-old champion, and Lew Bourque, an 18-year-old flash. The Moncton Transcript commenting on the boys says:

"The Montreal Herald gives Harry Smythe, the local speed skater, a fine boost. A picture of him in racing pose and a list of his achievements were one of the features of the sport page of that paper in a recent issue. Smythe and young Lew Bourque have done much towards the rise of speed skating in the Maritimes. This city has received publicity from all the leading papers on the Continent due to the efforts of these boys. At the meet in New York near the end of the month a comparison between these lads will be made. By that time Smythe will have graduated from the 16-year-old class and will race in the 17-year-old class with Bourque. Much speculation on the merits of these lads has been made lately and the New York meet, barring accidents, ought to prove which is the speedier."

ELIMINATION RACES Charlie Gorman filled the duties of starter at the junior elimination meet on St. Peter's Park last night acceptably. The results were:

- 10 Years, 220 Yards Ist, G. Armstrong; 2nd, Donald Calthness; 3rd, C. E. Ellsworth. 12 Years, 220 Yards Ist, C. Burgess; 2nd, J. Sherwood; 3rd, K. Treacran. ## GREAT NUMBERS FILL IMPERIAL

Throngs Enjoy Seeing Walter Pidgeon, Saint John, on Screen

Plays Lover Role in Mennequin—Movie Contest in Second Week

With fine, crisp winter weather and a show of more than ordinary attractiveness, the Imperial Theatre opened the week yesterday to overflowing crowds. Chief interest seemed to center in the screening of Fanny Hurst's $50,000 magazine prize story "Mennequin"—a most engrossing fiction in itself, and especially interesting to Saint John people because of the appearance of Walter Pidgeon in the lover role.

"Mennequin" brings to the front again an old-time favorite, Alice Joyce, who plays the role of a young housewife and mother, who quarrels with her husband over auction bargains bringing about a separation and consequent kidnapping of her baby by a half-witted nurse. The sordid life of the baby and her re-introduction into better society through the medium of a modiste's model or mannequin and the writings of a young newspaper man (Walter Pidgeon) build the story up to a tremendous climax in which the broken-hearted parents discover their long lost baby at an exclusive social event.

Dolores Costello, remembered as a child in the arms of her father, Maurice Costello, in the picture "The Whirlwind," is the mannequin in this charming story and plays opposite the Saint John boy throughout—a refreshing duo of youthful faces and ingenious love-making. Trade papers dealing with film matters and critics in the metropolitan press are suggesting for these youthful stars a long and successful career because of their instant popularity through good looks and acting ability.

Mons. Becker and his singing partner, Mille Dupuis, rendered a dainty little recital between the film features, opening with a new composition for two voices entitled "In the Garden of Your Heart." Next Mons. Becker sang that rousing sea song of Kipling's, set to music by Ole Speer, "On the Road to Mandalay," and together the operatic singers concluded their offering with "The Indian Love Call" from the so I tried it, and it has done me a world of good. I just took two and a half bottles, and I haven't had a headache for a long time, now."

Aly Halljohn, Paul Panzer as Mr. Halljohn, Leslie Fenton as Richard Hare, Lydia Knott, as Mrs. Hare, and Marjorie Daw really is the "second heroine" of the story. Her work stands out as a dainty, lovable interpretation of a sweet and winsome girl.

Little Virginia Marshall and Richard Hendrick, famous "screen children," must not be forgotten, either.

Mr. Flynn's direction has put in many human touches that will appeal. Two showings of "East Lynne" tonight will close the engagement.

IMPERIAL THEATRE-TOMORROW CHARLIE CHAPLIN "The Gold Rush"

RIGHT on the heels of "Mennequin" with its introduction of Walter Pidgeon of Saint John as a movie star, comes Charlie Chaplin's already famous Klondike comic classic "The Gold Rush." Because of the costly contract basis of its engagement, the Imperial is forced to apply its fifty-cent price scale, that is 35 cents and 50 cents for the night shows, 25 cents and 35 cents in the afternoons.

"The Gold Rush" is more than a comedy. Photographed in the snowy passes of the Rocky Mountains at great cost of time and money it is incidentally an awe-inspiring re-enactment of that memorable dash into Alaska where gold was reported on the banks of the Klondike River when most young men and women of today were children. The Klondike rush was in reality a repetition of the influx of "forty-niners" into California seventy-seven years ago.

Therefore the "Gold Rush" has its pathos as well as its irrepressible fun and if you can imagine Charlie Chaplin with his funny feet, characteristic derby hat, bamboo cane, etc., thrust into the motley throng of rough men and tough women who followed the gold lure of Alaska, you will see him not only at his funniest but in pathetic scenes that make the laughs all the heartier by contrast.

The "Gold Rush" has been brought to Saint John under special arrangement with the United Artists Corporation of New York, acting for Mr. Chaplin himself. It is still a tremendous magnet in the bigger cities. There will be four shows daily beginning Wednesday at 2.00, 3.45, 7.00 and 8.45 and the showings will continue right up to Saturday night.

DEMANDS HERE GREATER

Victorian Nurses Busier in 1925 Than for the Last Five Years

Steady Tone Characterizes Beginning of Day's Trading on Montreal Market

The supervisor's report of the year's work by the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, read at the annual meeting this afternoon by Supervising Nurse Miss M. McKay, said that the last year was the busiest on which the order has had, it is said, for five years, with a grand total of 18,082 visits made. The cases nursed numbered 1,983, which is an increase of 280 over last year. Educational visits were 10,881 as against 7,720 for the previous year. Educational visits were 6,970 and pre-natal visits showed an increase of 569. Child-welfare visits totaled 5,220.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK

The local branch of the order, the report states, is one of the oldest in Canada and is the pioneer public health organization of the province. For the last four years the order has been working jointly with the Board of Health, from which department it receives an allotment of $2,800 yearly. Although bedside nursing is the fundamental principle of the order, the work includes all concerned with family and community welfare. Its aim is always toward prevention of disease.

STAFF STILL EIGHT

The staff consists of eight nurses, including the supervisor and has not been increased for the last two years, while their work has more than doubled.

The city is divided into districts and each district where there are does all varieties of work. The difficult problems which the order has to cope with make this work just as much harder. Poor housing in certain areas, the lack of provision for sufficient medical care for free maternity cases, lack of sufficient inspection of boarding houses and such by public health officials, all tend, says the report, to make the mortality and sickness rates higher.

NOT ENOUGH WORKERS

The order is insufficiently staffed, it declares, for proper follow-up work of infants in their first year. Miss McKay stated that malnutrition and intestinal diseases were found to rank high among causes of infants' deaths. The Common Council, recognizing the need for medical services for the indigent in maternity cases, had now made provision for such work just on Sundays.

FAITHFUL TO TASK

West Saint John was under the care of Miss McManus who worked day and night. It was interesting to know that in spite of all the storms and bad weather, no nurse had missed a day from duty. The hours averaged about 81-2 for week days and on Sundays for each nurse.

During the last year 197 clinics on public welfare were held and the combined attendance was 1,886 at all of them.

Mother's conferences were held each Friday in the last year and it was stated that these were a great help in supplementing the educational value of the visits to the homes.

AT THE KINDERGARTENS

The kindergartens in the city were visited regularly, 1,299 children being inspected in 48 visits. Whenever possible, follow-up visits were made to the homes of the children. The order has had charge of the free milk tickets, to the number of 14,826 quarts for the year, supplied by the Local Council of Women. In all 124 babies had participated in this last named milk supply.

Miss McKay wished to thank those who responded so generously to the order's appeal for infants' clothing for the needy poor.

DEFICIT OF $919

A deficit of $919.40 on the operation of the Victorian Order of Nurses here in W. L. Caldwell, as presented at the annual meeting this afternoon. Receipts for the year amounted to $13,124.50 made up as follows:

City of Saint John, grant	$2,000.00
Parishes, Simonds and Lancaster	1,053.08
Board of Health	2,800.00
Fees, patients	2,623.67
Insurance	1,776.25
Interest	824.96
I. O. D. E.	1,110.00
Subscriptions	820.00
Sundry	16.84
Total	$13,124.50

Expenditures totaled $14,043.90, the chief items being salaries of nurses, $12,175; stenographer, $592.35; car fares, $448; equipment, $194.65. The balance is for stationery, and printing, telephone, postage, advertising, insurance, medical supplies, etc., leaving a deficit of $919.40.

HOME FOR BURIAL

The autopsy on the body of Antonio Ardolino, chief engineer, who died suddenly yesterday, was performed at the General Public Hospital by Dr. H. L. Abramson, who showed that the mild of chronic adhesive pericarditis. No inquest will be held. A cable was received this morning at the office of McLean, Kennedy, Ltd., agents for the steamer, from the man's family in Italy requesting that the body be returned there. It will be embalmed until the vessel sails the latter part of the week for Italy.

REVOLVER LOST

Police Officer Stinson, Fairville, met with a loss on last Thursday night when he dropped his revolver in the snow somewhere between Tilton's Corner and the head of Fairville. He would appreciate any one finding the gun returning it to him.

AID KINDERGARTEN WITH GOOD PROGRAM

St. Phillip's Church Entertainers Assist Children's Work of St. Mary's

In aid of the free kindergarten of St. Mary's schoolroom, Miss Winnifred Ross, teacher, a successful and enjoyable concert program was given last night by the children and the Jubilee Singers of St. Phillip's church. Her. C. W. Morgan, St. Phillip's pastor, was chairman. Every number of the program was admirably given, and all called forth hearty applause. Miss Ross spoke briefly, expressing her appreciation of the assistance given by the performers and the members of St. Phillip's church. She said extensive renovations had been made in the kindergarten room at St. Mary's, and, although no contribution had been asked for this work, she had wanted to help towards defraying the expenses. She had recalled the kindness of St. Phillip's congregation to the kindergarten on a previous occasion, and found it still a very kind friend. She also heartily thanked Mrs. C. W. Morgan, wife of the pastor, who had assisted her in training the children who took part in the program.

The concert was given under the joint auspices of the Old Folks Concert Group, and the children of the Sunshine Class of St. Phillip's, and was given in the hall of that church. Recitation, songs by the children, and plantation melodies by the Jubilee Singers, and organ solos by William and Adolphus Carty were among the features. Songs by the children and the Jubilee Singers. Mrs. Morgan presided at the organ.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY TOMORROW

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sugrue Married in Old Carleton Church

For Many Years Bridegroom of 1876 Taught in Schools of City

Sixty years ago a "broth of a boy," the only son in the family, traveled alone from the mountain Killarney district of Ireland to this Canadian land of promise and here met his widowed mother and adventurous sister who had proceeded him some little time. The lad was James R. Sugrue, who for the full span of his citizenship in Saint John has become a landmark—possibly for three generations—and particularly so to those of the citizenship who came under his tutelage in the private and public schools over which he presided in his long and useful life.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Tomorrow Mr. Sugrue and his estimable life-partner, daughter of the late Bartholomew and Honora Driscoll, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary although the observance will be inured with the sorrow borne of a bereavement in a happy family circle, the recent death of their daughter, Mrs. Duer, wife of William Duer, of the Atlantic Sugar Refinery staff. Children, grandchildren, immediate relatives and life-long friends will pay their respects to the honored couple and there will be religious observances of the occasion in a devout spirit of thanksgiving. Because of the bereavement the golden wedding will be quietly observed.

ALWAYS A TEACHER

The bridegroom and groom of 1876 are at present enjoying a measure of health such as people of advanced years duly appreciate. They are blessed with the companionship of their children, and during his pilgrimage as an educator, it has been his privilege to assist in developing. Starting out almost immediately after his arrival in Saint John as a private school teacher on the side of the Madras school building, Duke Street, he has since then been a teacher—he associated his sister, who was also engaged as a teacher.

AT ST. MALACHIS

Naturally the honored citizen of today became identified with enlarged educational plans as the city developed and for 35 years he taught in St. Malachis' Hall, a leading Catholic public school for a long time. During his tenure in this institution, Mr. Sugrue occupied the principalship for a period. Scores of prominent men of the city identified with the commercial and professional activities of Canada and the United States acquired much of their basic learning under this good teacher's direction and personal appraisal.

Following a long and successful career, Mr. Sugrue received an appointment to the customs branch of the postal service and was a familiar figure in the old post office building for some years. He was retired in 1916 and since that time has been enjoying the sunset of a well-earned life.

THE WEDDING GROUP

Mrs. Sugrue, formerly Mary Josephine Driscoll, the golden bride of today, was married to Mr. Sugrue by the late Rev. Thomas Driscoll, of Old Carleton church. Father Comolli, of later life rose to the dignity of Monsignor, in residence at the Rectory of Saint John the Baptist church, of the street, into which section of the city Mr. and Mrs. Sugrue also moved in later years. The groomsmen of fifty years ago was Daniel J. Driscoll, brother of the bride, who removed to Ottawa in later years and died there. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Driscoll, later Mrs. Rochon, of New York, now also dead.

A WORTHY FAMILY

By the union being celebrated tomorrow, local citizenship was enriched by active sons and daughters, all of whom but one still reside here, enjoying the respect of the community. These are Miss Mary T. Sugrue, of the teaching staff of St. Vincent's school, Cliff Street; James L. Sugrue, an official of the Workmen's Compensation Board under the New Brunswick Government; Mrs. James E. Sheppard, of West Saint John and Mrs. J. P. Keleher of 183 Britannia street, where Mr. and Mrs. Sugrue, Sr., are residing as well. John E. Sugrue, the eldest child, lives in New York.

Veterans' Building Co. Holds Annual

The annual meeting of the Great War Veterans' Building Co., Ltd., was held this morning at the G. W. V. A. building, with the president, E. A. Schofield, in the chair. Others present were R. T. Hayes, T. H. Bullock, J. E. Wilson, M. E. Agar, P. D. McAvity and J. C. Dryden, president, and A. T. Machum, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association.

Reports of the year were adopted. The Association reported on the repairs made during the year and the directors of the company expressed themselves as much pleased with the condition of the building and the way it had been kept up by the association. The loan of directors elected was as follows: E. A. Schofield, M. E. Agar, F. C. Beatty, T. H. Bullock and G. L. Warwick. Subsequently the directors met and elected the following officers: E. A. Schofield, president; M. E. Agar, vice-president; G. L. Warwick, secretary-treasurer.

HAD DRIVE

The V. S. of Fairville United Church held an enjoyable sleigh drive last evening to the Three Mile House. The party was chaperoned by Rev. J. C. Pinkerton and Mrs. Pinkerton. On their return to the schoolroom of the church, a bean supper was enjoyed.
