CROSSES AT ST. JOHN THREE DAYS

BRITISH CAMPAIGN
OPENED YESTERDAY
WITH GREAT VIGOR

Conservatives and Liberals
Unite to Defeat Labor Government.

A WORKING PLAN
Labor Candidate to Oppose
Lloyd George—Heavy
Artillery in Play.

BY LLOYD ALLEN
(United Press Staff Cor.)
London, Oct. 14.—Conservatives and Liberals have united to defeat Labor in the forthcoming general election.

Although no official admission of such an anti-Socialist compact could be obtained from spokesmen for either of the older parties, the purpose was evident today. In many constituencies either the Conservative or the Liberal candidate was withdrawn, clearing the way for a straight fight against Labor instead of a triangular contest which might end by giving the seat to the Government party.

The two older parties will do their utmost to prevent re-election of Premier MacDonald in his home constituency. The Conservatives have withdrawn their candidate, leaving the opposition field open to the Liberal nominee, whom they will support financially, although unofficially. The Tories also withdrew their candidate at Paisley, leaving ex-Premier H. H. Asquith a straight fight against Labor.

Lloyd George's Fight.
At Camaroon, Lloyd George will be opposed only by a Labor candidate, Professor A. E. Zimmerman.

In the west of Scotland there has been general agreement similar to what has been stated above. The heavy artillery of all political parties was brought into play along the electoral front today, with offensives and counter-offensives calculated to continue unintermittently for the fortnight remaining before the election.

Saint Paul Team
Wins Junior Series

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 14.—The St. Paul American Association baseball team won the "junior world series" championship yesterday by defeating Baltimore, the International League champions 6 to 3, in the ninth game, and immediately a nine-game series with the winners in the Pacific Coast League was arranged.

ARREST FOLLOWED A DRUNKEN BOAST

Phaff, German American and Alleged Rum Pirate, On Trial Today.
Brest, Oct. 14.—(United Press.)—Confronted by his accusers, Max Jerome Phaff of New York, charged with participation in piracy of the French steamer Mulhouse, June 26, was invited to tell his own defense story today.

Phaff's arrest was due to the fact that while drunk aboard the White Star Majestic en route to Europe he boasted of his participation in the Mulhouse affair.

Another alleged New York liquor pirate was in London, arranging a plea, according to the French naval authorities who had planned to arrest this suspect. When Phaff was brought into play along the electoral front today, with offensives and counter-offensives calculated to continue unintermittently for the fortnight remaining before the election.

E. H. S. FLOOD DEAD

There came to the city from Montreal this afternoon the sad news that E. H. S. Flood had died last night as the result of an accident. Mr. Flood was a former Canadian trade commissioner in the West Indies. The news of his death came to John A. McAvity.

The body will be brought to St. John.

in World Politics.

THE RUSSIAN LOAN
Credit Claimed for Giving
Lead to League of Nations in Its Work.

(Canadian Press.)
London, Oct. 14.—Ramsay MacDonald's first public appearance in the present election campaign was in the form of a demonstration in Glasgow last night of loyalty from his supporters. The Prime Minister entered the building through lines of people, numbering several thousand, who had been unable to get admittance and who interrupted the clamor for admittance to cheer MacDonald on.

When the audience had finished its ovation the Premier launched into the question of foreign policy. "When Labor assumed office," he said, "they found the name of Britain in the international reputation even than the Russian rouble. Much had been done to restore Britain's place in world politics, and to reassert our nation's as to the dependability of Britain's policy."

MEXICAN FACTIONS
HAVE DRAWN BLOOD

More Than a Hundred Said to Be Killed or Wounded.

Mexico City, Oct. 14.—A bloody clash between political factions at Tuxtla Gutierrez on Sunday, in which more than a hundred persons are said to have been killed or wounded, is reported in press despatches. The Mexican war department confirms the news of the fight, but is giving out no details.

The press despatches say the trouble began when supporters of General Carlos Vidal, governor-elect of Chiapas, organized a demonstration for his reception, a large crowd gathered at the railway station. Upon General Vidal's arrival a score of shots were fired into the crowd, allegedly by supporters of the other faction, the defeated gubernatorial candidate. The volley caused many fatalities, among them women and children, it is declared.

Federal troops rushed to the scene, were received with shots by the alleged bandit supporters, who had taken a stand in the Government building. This was captured by the troops after a short and sanguine encounter. The despatches state that the streets of the city at the scene of the encounter were strewn with dead and wounded.

SQUIRES NOT YET
AT FULL LIBERTY
The Appeal for His Discharge
Being Further Argued in Court Today.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 14.—The discharge of Sir Richard Squires, charged with larceny of public monies, while he was Premier, was asked by his counsel yesterday after the full bench of the Supreme Court of the colony had handed down a unanimous decision that the grand jury, which reported a "no bill" in his case, acted with substantial observance of all the requirements of law. The motion was taken under consideration until today to permit the crown to make answer.

Another Hitch In Miners' Agreement

Drumheller, Oct. 14.—Some opposition has developed in satisfying the new agreement signed last week by operators and miners' representatives of United Mine Workers of America, District No. 18. The rank and file in some districts are said to be opposed to the schedule, which includes a reduction in wages, and one local, the Atlas, has instructed the men not to return to work until the strike has been definitely settled. The operators have intended to hire men to get the mines ready for work.

Defeated Chinese Troops Make Trouble in Shanghai—Barriers
Heavily Guarded.
By D. C. HESS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Shanghai, Oct. 14.—Rioting and looting have broken out in Shanghai, and 1,000 soldiers of the defeated Che Kiang army tried to rush the barriers at the French concession late this afternoon. The troops were driven back by a French machine-gun corps without bloodshed, but later they quarrelled and battled among themselves and several were killed.

GUNTER'S MILL IN DEVON IS IN ASHES

Last Log of Season Sawn on Monday—Loss $20,000 to $25,000.
(Special to The Times-Star.)
Freetown, N. B., Oct. 14.—The saw mill of W. D. Gunter, located in Devon, near the St. Mary's Indian Reserve, was totally destroyed by fire this morning at an early hour. The mill, although small, was well equipped and the loss is estimated between $20,000 and $25,000. No lumber or other buildings were destroyed. The Devon firemen kept the fire confined to the building where it started. This is fortunate, as the yard was piled full of deals, and other buildings were not far away.

IS ANXIOUS TIME FOR FOREIGNERS

Whose Resident in Peking Not Totally Confident of Their Personal Safety

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 14.—The situation in Peking, the national capital of China, was described by passengers on the liner Empress of Russia, which berthed yesterday, as one of uncertainty. The loss commercially to foreign representatives will be very serious all around, as trade with the interior is affected. The damage to the introduction of modern equipment has threatened destruction, so much so that the Council of Foreign Ministers has lodged a formal protest against the use of armaments. They have protested that the Chihli-Pankin quarrel should not be allowed to jeopardize life and property in the national capital.

Dr. Otto Killner, attached to the staff of the Peking Union Medical College of the Rockefeller foundation, states that while the lives of foreigners has not been imperilled, the general state of unrest is making their continued residence in Peking uncomfortable. Fear prevailed for some time last month that foreign intervention would be inevitable. Chinese ministers abroad having sounded out the ambassadors of respective countries on the matter, the safety of the interests of foreign residents has been guaranteed, but whether it can be effectively enforced is not yet apparent.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Taxation, conservation of resources, and maternity care were among the problems discussed yesterday by the National Council of Women, while an address on the importance of labor, held at Geneva, by Mrs. C. R. Thompson of Ottawa, the special delegate, contained a survey of the steps taken towards improving employment conditions.

BELIEVE RISTEEN
VICTIM OF MURDER

His Wife and Plummer Were Arrested Today on That Charge.
Beverly, Mass., Oct. 14.—The theory that Fred Risteen met his death by strangulation will be adhered to by the district attorney's office. Assistant District Attorney Edward Flynn of Lynn said last night, despite the fact that a third autopsy was held here today on Risteen's body by physicians for the defense in an effort to establish that Risteen met his death as a result of a fall. Risteen's body was found in North Wood Pond, North Beverly, yesterday ago. Today Mrs. Marion A. Risteen and G. W. Plummer, Jr., a lodger at the home of Mrs. Risteen, were arraigned in Salem court, charged with murder.

THE GIANT AIRSHIP IS TRAVELING AT AMAZING SPEED

Estimated She Will Reach
Lakehurst Early Tomorrow Morning.
A 48-KNOT SPEED

Radio Communication Kept
Up With Chatham, Mass.,
Station All Night.

(Canadian Press.)
Washington, Oct. 14.—Apparently having switched from a previous planned southern route by way of Bermuda, the giant airship ZR-3 today was steering a bee-line course across the Atlantic from the Azores islands to Lakehurst, N. J., in its flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany. Word that the dirigible was following a direct course to its hangar at Lakehurst was received by the Navy Department here early today in a delayed message from Captain George W. Steele, U. S. naval officer on board. The message sent as the cruiser had passed over the Azores yesterday afternoon said she was then running with only three of her six engines, to save fuel, and was averaging a 48-knot speed.

Officials at the department estimated that if the favorable flying conditions forecast for the next 24 hours obtain, and all goes well on the airship, she should reach the mooring mast of her new home station at Lakehurst sometime between six and eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

In Touch by Radio.
Chatham, Mass., Oct. 14.—(United Press.)—At 7 a. m. Boston time today the ZR-3 in a radio message to WCC, the Radio Corporation of America Station here, reported her position at latitude 46.25 north, longitude 44 west. "All is well," the message said. Fine weather was being encountered and the giant dirigible, roaring toward America, reported the steamer Collingsworth directly beneath her.

BODY OF POPE LEO
REMOVED SOON

Vatican Plans to Transfer It This Month From St. Peter's to It's Final Tomb.

Rome, Oct. 14.—Since soon after the death of Pope Leo XIII. in 1903 reports have periodically appeared that his body would be taken from St. Peter's, where it was left temporarily, to the tomb provided for it in the Basilica of St. John Lateran. The Messaggero now states that the body will be moved some night between Oct. 13 and 31.
The delay in carrying out the will of Pope Leo was due to the grave incidents which occurred on July 18, 1881, on the moving of the body of Pius IX. from St. Peter's to St. Lawrence. At that time an anti-clerical mob had planned to seize the body and throw it into the Tiber. Now, however, no incident of the kind would be expected, as the feeling of the people and the Government toward the Vatican has changed.
Despite the present attitude toward the Vatican, the Messaggero says, the moving of Pope Leo's body will occur with solemnity and will be virtually private. The present Pontiff wishes the body to be in the tomb at St. John Lateran at the celebration of the sixteenth anniversary of the dedication of the great Basilica next November.

RONALD JACKSON IS STRUCK BY AUTO

An automobile driven by Mrs. Peasley, 44 Dunham street, knocked down six-year-old Ronald Jackson in Adelaide street near the corner of Metcalf, at noon today. The child was quite seriously injured according to a report from the hospital this afternoon.

It was said he was returning from school and he ran into the street in front of the machine, which was proceeding out Adelaide street, stopped and then started back towards the sidewalk. Mrs. Peasley placed him in her car and hurried to the corner of Douglas avenue where Policeman Garnett visited both Dr. Roberts and Dr. Clark, but unfortunately both doctors were out. They then hurried the injured lad to the General Public Hospital.

The report from the hospital this afternoon was that an X-ray examination was being made, and it was feared that he was quite seriously hurt. He was semi-conscious.

JOHN A. MORRISON BUYS MAVIS MILLS

Fredericton Gleaner Says He Will Engage in Hardwood Industry.

The Mavis Timber Company's hardwood mill was not disposed of when portions of the company's plant at Mavis was sold at public auction recently, but it has since been sold to John A. Morrison, of Fredericton, who since the closing of Morrison's Mills some years ago has been carrying on operations on the upper St. John river for the St. John Lumber Company. Recently it was intimated in the Fredericton Gleaner that Mr. Morrison might soon be engaging in a hardwood enterprise and the purchase of the Mavis Timber Company's mill in another move towards that end. It is understood, however, that the location for the mill has not yet been determined.

The Mavis Timber Company are retaining their last block mill at Mavis, but it is understood no decision has yet been reached as to where the company's cutting operations will be carried on next.

When Morrison's Mills were operated Mr. Morrison carried on one of the largest cable single enterprises in New Brunswick when that mill closed he continued cutting on the upper St. John for the St. John Lumber Company. It is understood that one of the features of the hardwood project which Mr. Morrison and those associated with him are now entering into will be an extensive contract for hardwood railway ties.

Zeppein Hangar, Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 14.—Dramatic safeguards against possible inflammation and explosion of the hydrogen inflated ZR-8 went into force at this station today on orders of Acting Commander M. R. Pierce.

From 60 people were summoned to appear in the police court this morning to explain why they had not secured licenses for their dogs only about a third of that number were present. Some had explained to the authorities regarding the disposal of the animals and they were excused while others ignored the summons.

The majority of those who did appear explained that they had either not owned the dog now and did not know he had since died or been shot. One man said he had a dog in May and had sent it to the country. He contended that the animal frequently came to the city and went to his house but he sent it back on every occasion. He said he did not own the dog now and did not see why he should have to secure a license.

Magistrate Henderson said he would consider it a migratory dog and therefore, as the dog went to his place, he would have to be responsible for it. He ordered the man to take a seat until he could give the matter further consideration.

DOG DAY BRINGS VARIED EXCUSES

One Man Says Canine was Suicide—Licenses are Record.

"A very sad case," remarked Police Magistrate Henderson in court this morning when Joseph Nealy, who had been summoned for not securing a license for his dog, explained that the animal had committed suicide. He informed the magistrate that he had the dog early in May and one day the animal jumped overboard.

The majority of those who did appear explained that they had either not owned the dog now and did not know he had since died or been shot. One man said he had a dog in May and had sent it to the country. He contended that the animal frequently came to the city and went to his house but he sent it back on every occasion. He said he did not own the dog now and did not see why he should have to secure a license.

Magistrate Henderson said he would consider it a migratory dog and therefore, as the dog went to his place, he would have to be responsible for it. He ordered the man to take a seat until he could give the matter further consideration.

BRITISH CAMPAIGN OPENED YESTERDAY WITH GREAT VIGOR

London, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press)—The announced programme of the Communist Party in Britain includes nationalization of big industries and banks, state control of foreign trade, the capital levy, suspension of interest on national debt holdings of over £20,000; a minimum weekly wage of £4 with a forty-hour working week; a loan to Russia of £100,000,000 and cancellation of reparations war debts. Dr. R. Dunstan is standing as a Communist in Birmingham West, the seat held by Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain. In the remaining eleven Birmingham divisions straight Labor candidates are being entered. At the election Birmingham (including Edgaston) returned a solid dozen Conservatives, including the two Chamberlains, Austen and Neville. Dr. Dunstan was defeated last year by Neville Chamberlain.

WHOLESALE AGREEMENT

London, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press Telegrams.)—Labor's chances of success at the polls in October 29 are seriously affected by agreements between Conservative and Liberal Associations in steadily growing numbers not to put up candidates against each other where supporters of the MacDonald Government are standing.

ASQUITH'S OPINION

London, Oct. 14.—(United Press.)—The truth is that Ramsay MacDonald and his colleagues are suffering from a bad attack of morbid self-esteem," ex-Premier Herbert E. Asquith declared at a Liberal mass meeting at Queen's Hall today. He attacked the excuse upon which MacDonald asked for dissolution of parliament at the "thinnest, flimsiest, most inadequate and insincere" in more than 100 years.

IBANEZ WILL FIGHT AGAINST ALFONSO

Famous Poet Declares Spain Must be Freed From Military Dictatorship.

WILL MAKE NOISE

Will Publish to World the Story of Conditions in His Country.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Vicente Ibanez, the world-famous Spanish author, has announced that he will devote the rest of his life to fighting the king and the military dictatorship of Alfonso XIII, so that Spain may be rescued from the tyrannical rule of the king and his ministers, and that Spain may become a Republic in the following year.

(By Vicente Ibanez, written for the United News, copyright, 1924, by United News.) Paris, Oct. 14.—The hour has struck. I can no longer remain silent about what is happening in Spain. My people are in captivity. I will devote the rest of my life to fighting King Alfonso and the military dictatorship. I have been silent too long. My conscience will not allow me to rest until I bring succor to my motherland. For a long time I have been preparing to expose and attack conditions in Spain, and now I hope to publish them throughout the world and strike a ringing blow at tyranny. As long as King Alfonso stays in Spain I shall fight him. I will do everything possible to topple him from the throne.

This is no sudden decision. I have thought long and hard. I couldn't sleep at night. My conscience kept saying to me "What right have you to live like a prince, in your wonderful house, beside the Mediterranean, at Mentone, with your automobiles, and luxuries? What right have you to live luxuriously and comfortably when your country is suffering? You must abandon all this, and go out and fight." My friends demand to know what right I, as one of the most widely known Spaniards, who am able to speak to millions throughout the world, have to keep silent. I am going to speak. It will make a noise in the world. Remember, I am to get nothing for it. I refused great sums for the purchase of my exile. I am going to give to the press of the world. I will lose greatly more than people will realize, but the die is cast. Spain has submitted too long to pitiless tyranny, and there must be an end to this new era of indignation. To accomplish that, we must strike at its head. Those in greatest position, are the guiltiest.

AT THE Y. M. C. I. The newly elected directors of the Young Men's Catholic Institute held their first meeting last night with Joseph P. Coughlin, president, in the chair. The committees were partially formed but another meeting will be necessary before they will be taking their work. It was announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the classes in physical culture would start immediately with Ernest Stirling as director. Tentative plans were formulated for future activities but nothing definite was decided on.

Do Your Children Grow Fast Enough? Are They Sturdy, Healthy, and Strong, or Pale, Weak and Run Down?

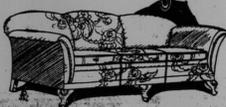

Growing children need a great deal of food, and sometimes they will not eat the kind of food that they need for strength—then they become thin, pale, and run down.

This condition of under-nourishment can be corrected by taking Father John's Medicine which does contain just the food elements such children need and that is why so many children gain weight regularly while they are taking this all-fashioned family medicine. Father John's Medicine is an expertly blended preparation of cod liver oil with other ingredients in such a way that its food elements can be easily taken up by those who are weakened and run down. Your friends and neighbors know its value. Thousands of mothers depend upon it to keep their children well and strong.

TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA ON FACE Very Itchy, Caused Eruptions. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema on my face. It broke out in a rash on my chin and was very itchy. Scratching caused eruptions and in a few weeks it spread all over my face. I could not sleep, and whenever I washed my face I would almost have to scream. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and ordered a few samples. I purchased more, and after using two boxes of Soap and one box of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Kathleen Robson, Box 40, Duff, Sask.

ASKS BIGGER AIR BUDGET

Secretary Weeks Asks $10,000,000 More for New Equipment. Washington, Oct. 14.—The War Department in its budget estimates has asked for $28,000,000 more than last year, Secretary Weeks announced recently. The estimate does not include the pay of personnel. Mr. Weeks explained that it was planned to spend from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 for new equipment. The $28,000,000 includes both the primary budget estimates, which cover projects that may be postponed. The feeling on the part of the War Department, and particularly of the Air Service, is that much of the equipment is out of date and is kept in flying condition only at great expense and with risk to the personnel.

Not Only Moth-proof but Strongly Built, as Well

ONE of the biggest advances ever made in the upholstered furniture art, was, unquestionably, the introduction of Snyder's "Sani-bilt", guaranteed, moth-proof Furniture. Other so-called "moth-proof" furniture must take secondary place to "Sani-bilt". Our process is absolutely colorless, odorless and non-poisonous. In addition, the fillings are as thoroughly treated as the cover.

The Frames Are Solidly Built The frame on which upholstered furniture is built must be strong, if the furniture is to give the service it should. The frames on which Snyder's "Sani-bilt" pieces are built are of exceptional strength and solidity. Some people say our frames are unnecessarily strong and solid. The answer to that is that Snyder's "Sani-bilt" Furniture is still in use years after other furniture, with weaker frames, has broken down and been discarded.

Snyder's Sani-bilt Living Room Furniture. Guaranteed Moth Proof. Includes illustrations of a chair and a sofa.

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 14, 1924

THE VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

When the people of St. John were asked to vote for or against the building of a vocational high school, a majority favored construction. Nothing has happened since that day which reverses the people's decision. Money was just as scarce then as it is now and prospects were by no means so good. It is true that thousands of citizens did not vote for or against the Mayor and Commissioners, or for or against prohibition. It is said by some that the school trustees are not elected, and therefore do not represent the popular will in this school matter. But the fact is that in this case the people themselves gave a direct mandate; they were asked to say whether or not they wanted the school, and they replied that they did. That is the record. If this plebiscite is to be disregarded, it is time to go out of the plebiscite business. There is, so far as we know, no guarantee that the Government will now available would be available three years hence. The delegates who went to Fredericton to secure an extension of time sufficient to allow any risk of losing the Government's contribution, and who secured that extension, came back with the well-settled idea that any further fiddling would mean the death of the project. The cost of building, and of maintenance, it is true, will add to the tax rate. The citizens who voted, and those who neglected to vote, knew that quite well. But a majority of the jury to whom the matter was submitted said they wanted the school, and their representatives that verdict is still valid. Otherwise, why ask the people? They were not asked to decide conditionally. They were asked to settle it.

MONEY AND MOTOR CARS

There are registered in Canada today eight motor vehicles for every one that was registered in 1915, according to a writer in the Ottawa Citizen, and he asks how much more money the people of Canada had in 1923 than they had eight years before. His question develops interest quickly when some of the facts are presented. In 1923 Canadians spent $92,000,000 on motor cars and motor vehicles, the figure for those of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics—on motor vehicles and parts. In that year there were 885,079 registered motorists. What did the average one spend on "license tax, gas, oil, garage buildings, repairs, changes of tires, and hotel bills?" The Citizen suggests that $300 would be a low estimate. Many will think it too low by half, and more that it is at least too moderate. But if $300 be accepted for the purposes of argument, these expenditures, plus the $22,000,000 make a total of $209,075,800. The Citizen may well ask, "Where did we get all this money in a year when everyone was growling about hard times?" The figures, it says, "are all the more amazing when it is remembered that this tremendous expenditure is a comparatively new thing." The Citizen, which is an ardent supporter of the Ontario Temperance Act and which is urging people to vote to retain it, suggests that while there may not be much more money going than there was in 1915, a large portion of the money now spent on motor cars and motor vehicles formerly have been used to buy whiskey and beer. The theory is interesting, but even if there is something in it, it does not explain where all that money comes from. We may leave the merits or demerits of the O. T. A. to the Citizen and the people of Ontario at the moment, merely pointing out that many motorists—a very great number—are dry or temperate, and that those motorists who drank before prohibition and still drink, pay today for the same quantity of whiskey or beer several times what they did in the old days. It is more likely that Canadians spend $800,000,000 than $209,075,800 a year now on motors and motor vehicles, and whatever increase there has been in their wealth since 1915 there has been no increase to keep pace with the wonderful increase in the number of cars. The net advance in the cost of living since 1915 is another factor which makes the question still more puzzling. Whether Ontario votes dry or wet the influence of its example will be considerable in the other provinces so far as liquor legislation is concerned; but so far as the purchase of motor cars goes, and the expenses incidental to motoring, there will be no halt, wet or dry. We live in a motoring age; in Canada the increase in cars will continue to be amazing. The country that bought and operated so many motor vehicles in the last three years, while "growling about hard times," will buy a great many more now as business conditions improve, and the average car will be a more expensive one. The number of people who can afford cars is not going to diminish, and there is no reason for thinking that those who cannot afford them, but who still buy them, are going to be any less numerous. An army of folk who thought they could not afford a car last year or this year, are going to buy in 1925. The utility of the automobile, its fascination, the fact that the fellow next door always has one, the good roads—well, there are plenty of reasons for the vast and ever increasing sales, but where all the money comes from is a complicated question that no one has yet answered satisfactorily.

THE OLD "TIGER"

Old man Clemenceau, the "Tiger" of France, known, too, as "the father of victory," spent most of his eighty-third birthday in working on a book of philosophy which is to be published after his death, and in tending his little vegetable garden, giving an hour or so to the reading of messages of congratulation from many men of note the world over. A fresh and bright yet being this wonderful old man from the retreat he has selected for his closing years, among the scenes of his boyhood, but his own view is that he has retired definitely from public affairs, Clemenceau-like, and will hereafter occupy himself only with work of his own choosing. In a little one-story house with a cabbage garden before it he lives for the world in whose days of storm he lived in a part of his book on philosophy is one requiring great labor, for only the rough draft of the first of three volumes is complete and he expects to spend two more years in perfecting that, and ten in finishing the two other volumes, after which, he says laughingly, he will rest and grow old. As he is hale and hearty at eighty-three he may be justified in looking so far ahead. As to the nature of the book he is silent, contenting himself with saying that it will reveal his views of men and of life and will constitute his literary legacy to posterity. The world will hope that he may have time to finish it. The fierce power of his personality and the striking character of his work activities will give the book a vast circle of readers. The "Tiger" of France is not a lawyer, as many have supposed, but a physician. His father, his grandfather and his great-grandfather were doctors. Indeed for 800 years back the head of the family was a doctor. This long and strong family tradition is broken for the first time by Clemenceau's son, Michel, who became an engineer. Wonderful of eighty-three, one of the most striking of the world's living figures, Georges Clemenceau gives one more example of both resolution and versatility in leaving the "tamul and the shouting" in which he bore so brave a part, to devote to philosophy and a message to mankind the serene years, as they few or many, which he has won after a long life of stress and of storm. Surely, France and the world will say of him that he did the State some service. Life for him ever spelled conflict, and ever, too, he was captain of his soul. Courage and imagination, a contempt for rules and for commonplace procedure, and, above all, a robust and daring patriotism—of these we must think when we contemplate Clemenceau the Philosopher.

The big dirigible which Germany built for the United States as a part of the reparations payment is making a wonderful flight across the Atlantic, and is expected at Lakehurst, N. J., tomorrow morning. The big bird has favorable weather—and that is vital to safety. In a recent article by Lieutenant Joseph B. Anderson of the United States Navy, an expert, it is pointed out that "it is not desirable to be caught in a thunderstorm. With sharp lightning and hurricane gusts the ship would be fortunate to live through it." He says, however, that while the ship is much affected by weather conditions, and while he would not make a long flight without a meteorologist, a dirigible in flight is in danger only from the worst types of weather, such as thunder and hail storms, and that these may generally be avoided by an experienced pilot.

The famous Dean Inge, sometimes called "the gloomy Dean," is not without his lighter moments. Cassell's Weekly gives this part of a speech he made to the members of the American Bar Association during their visit to London, which, though it is not new, will bear repetition—"George Washington was not founder of the American people, but only of the American nation. That distinguished statesman, who never told a lie, once declared that when a young man he threw a dollar across the estuary of the Potomac. I have seen that river, and I must ask you to remember that money went much further in those days." Long ago an American of humorous tendencies, on being reminded of the dollar-throwing feat, remarked that it didn't amount to much anyway. "Threw a dollar across!" he said contemptuously. "Why General So-and-So threw an army across the Potomac."

Press Comment

ADVENTURES IN GLOOM

(New York Herald-Tribune.) The editor of "The London Athenaeum," Mr. J. Middleton Murry, has written a book about Dostoevsky calculated to make the eyes of "almost any of our popular magazines throw back his head and bark like a coyote." Mr. Murry not only dares to be "gloomy" (synonymous in the vocabulary of the aforesaid editor for "nerveless" or "timid"), but for something like 250 pages of well-written English he enlarges on the conviction that the only conclusion to be reached from any thoroughgoing attempt to solve life's riddle is one of despair. We do not share Mr. Murry's views, and possibly for that very reason, let alone the fact that they differ so utterly from the somewhat Pollyannaish folder served in the usual magazineable d'oh, we derive from their personal a certain "kick." After living on an exclusive diet of cream puffs one welcomes a dash of hardtack and bitter. Dostoevsky—and Mr. Murry, too, it seems—is obsessed by a sort of nightmare notion of life's "futility." Just what this means is not easy to explain in a word, but apparently it may mean anything from "futility" to a realization, which everybody has now and then, of his own littleness in the face of human life as a whole to the metaphysical obesity," as Mr. Murry cheerfully puts it, of the "frozen waste of eternity." One of the reasons for this obsession of timelessness was Dostoevsky's feeling that everyday life had no reality, and that the results of public life beyond life's surface to the ultimate meaning of existence was to arrive at a conviction of despair. He despaired, for one thing, because the existence of undeserved pain and suffering seemed to him to prove that there was no omnipotent, beneficent Force above and beyond the individual. As an one of the characters in "Fathers and Children" he said: "I am not a philosopher, there is no force greater than I, then I am my own God. To realize my own nothingness will completely, must conquer all things, even my own weak earthly instincts, which oppose that will. I will conquer myself in order to conquer my fear of death. I destroy my life in order to show that I have the will completely to live!" "Bughouse!" the average man will say. As we remarked before, we people of dusty library shelves are filled with learned tomes expressing such philosophy. It is not necessary that it is to face and dispose of them. One should like to see a public debate between Mr. Murry and one of our prophets of optimism. And in our mind's eye we like to picture one of the editors aforesaid being compelled to read Mr. Murry's book, just as a scuttling horse is forced to face, smell of and pass a horrendous steam roller or threshing machine encountered on a country road, and to say that he likes it and it can live in the same world.

"MILKPAI STUFF"

(Toronto Globe.) The women politicians in the United States are in the midst of a violent controversy. There is no saying where it may end. The subject is "milk-pail stuff." Apparently the fact that Mrs. Coolidge could bake biscuits was seized upon by the Republican women. Yet miles of dusty library shelves are filled with learned tomes expressing such philosophy. It is not necessary that it is to face and dispose of them. One should like to see a public debate between Mr. Murry and one of our prophets of optimism. And in our mind's eye we like to picture one of the editors aforesaid being compelled to read Mr. Murry's book, just as a scuttling horse is forced to face, smell of and pass a horrendous steam roller or threshing machine encountered on a country road, and to say that he likes it and it can live in the same world.

PLAN ARMISTICE FESTIVAL

The holding of an Armistice Festival on Nov. 13 for all of the teenage girls in the city was decided upon at a meeting of the local Girls' Work Board last night in St. Andrew's church with Miss Florence Cummings, president, in the chair. A programme committee and a promotion committee were appointed in connection with the festival. It was hoped all the teenage girls in the Sunday schools and their teachers would attend the festival. Other plans for the new season's activities were discussed and Miss Marjorie Trotter, Maritime girls' work secretary, gave helpful advice. A spider has been known to spin a thread 84,800 yards long.

WET!

"Wet day," remarked the barber. It was "Wet day," too, the first day of my holidays. All the time as I had chosen the place scientifically, after consulting every available meteorological record, as the driest spot in Great Britain. "Perhaps it will clear about midday," he rejoined anxiously. "Very likely," agreed the barber. "We have a saying down here—'Between the hours of twelve and two we shall see what the day will be.'" It was still pouring after lunch. "Wet day," said the hotel porter as I looked dependently through the glass doors. "It is," I replied. "But perhaps it may clear later." "Quite likely," answered the porter. "There is an old saying in these parts—'At three the rain was still coming down. I went out.'" "Wet day," was the piermaster's greeting. "Bathos," I said. "But it might clear later." "As like as not," he replied. "The ink hereabouts have an old saying—'Between the hours of two and four we shall see if it's clear or pour.'" At dinner the deluge was unabated. A newcomer shared my table. "Dear like this all day!" he asked. "All day," I replied. "Perhaps it will stop before bedtime," he said. "More than likely," I answered. "There is an old rhyme saying current in these parts—'Ah! This old weather here interests me immensely.'" "It runs," I said. "like this—'Between the hours of nine and nine we shall see if it's wet or fine.'" "IN LIGHTER VEIN." Mrs. Helphinst. Two clubmen were discussing the relative merits of their wives, when one of them remarked: "My wife looks after me, I can assure you. Why, she takes off my boots for me in the evening." "Ah! When you come home from the club?" suggested the other. "No—when I want to go there."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

MONCTON BOY KILLED

James Wellwood, eight years of age, son of Mrs. Fred Wellwood of Moncton, was killed yesterday afternoon, when he was knocked down and run over by one of the buses operating in that city. Henry Cormier, who was driving the bus, said the boy Wellwood jumped from behind a team in front of the bus and it was impossible to stop.

QUICK WIT

A schoolmaster picked up a penny in the playground. Later, when all the children had assembled, he asked: "Has any boy lost a penny?" "After a short pause a small boy held up his hand. "Possibly, sir, I did," he said. "Ah, Tom Jones, and where did you lose it?" "Yorkshire Post."

TOO REALISTIC

FALL SKIN WORRIES

CHANGE-OF-SEASON brings troublesome skin worries. Pimples, irritating rashes, blotches, etc., are often harbingers of fiery eruptions, psoriasis and other stubborn diseases. A little Zam-Buk will soon put your skin right. Nothing else takes away pain and irritation so readily as this famous herbal healer. Sinking deep into the tissue, it destroys harmful germs, expels impurities and makes the skin healthy and clear. Zam-Buk ensures quick anti-septic healing and protects against further festering and blood-poison, and is a widely-used remedy for piles. Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap is a valuable aid to the treatment.

MONCTON BOY KILLED

James Wellwood, eight years of age, son of Mrs. Fred Wellwood of Moncton, was killed yesterday afternoon, when he was knocked down and run over by one of the buses operating in that city. Henry Cormier, who was driving the bus, said the boy Wellwood jumped from behind a team in front of the bus and it was impossible to stop.

A New Principle in Complexion Treatment

Most creams are injurious when used habitually. They clog the pores and eventually form a permanent, soggy, stifling film which interferes with skin's natural action and makes the skin sticky and pasty. There is an application—mercolized water—which acts upon an entirely different principle. While perfectly harmless, it has the peculiar property of removing by absorption the dead and half-dead particles of soot, dirt, as well as unhealthy matter in the pores. Thus it takes away from instead of adding to the complexion, offering in this respect from cosmetics. The result is a perfectly natural and healthy young complexion. Mercolized water, procurable at any drug store (few cents will do); is applied at night like cold cream and washed off next morning.

CONSIDER NEED OF HALL

The need of a hall was again considered at the meeting of the East St. John Community Club last night. The meeting was held in Edith avenue hall with C. Weldon, president, in the chair and a good attendance of members. A committee consisting of Rupert Taylor and E. F. Banks was appointed to approach the owners and trustee board in charge of the hall formerly used, which hall is being removed to the site purchased by the Methodist and Presbyterian denominations to be used as a church hall. It was hoped that the use of this building might be again secured as a meeting place for the club. It is estimated that $5,000,000 is spent yearly in the United States for sand for railroads.

Cold air under the fire for hard coal Warm air over the fire for soft coal

McClary's exclusive Air Blast Ring introduces warmed air over the fire. Proper combustion occurs and the excessive volatile carbon gases released from soft coal are all utilized. This stops the usual waste in firing with soft coal. The best parts of the fuel do not go up the chimney as soot.

Install McClary's SUNSHINE FURNACE and keep your home comfortable with either hard or soft coal. Consult McClary's dealer and he will show you how to have a snug, warm home next winter on lower priced fuel.

DEATHS

Charles Akerley.

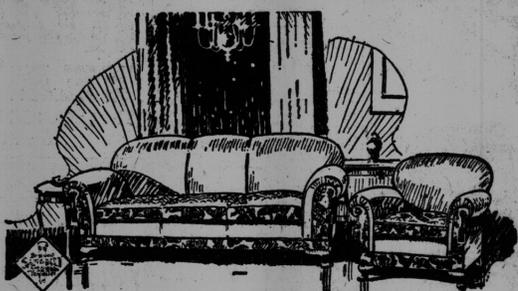

The death of Charles Akerley occurred on Sunday morning at his home at Dawson, Albert county. He was 80 years of age, and is survived by two sons, DeWitt of Dawson and Frank of Moncton; also one daughter, Mrs. C. S. Berry of Somerville, Mass.

Robert Strayhorn.

Robert Strayhorn, 74 years of age, was stricken last evening while waiting in the West Side toll house for the ferry and died before medical aid could reach him. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Albert Laird, with whom he resided at 140 St. John street, and when they left home was apparently in his usual health. During the day he had been to Ketepec for a motor drive and was on his way to one of the entertainments in the city last evening.

Mrs. Laird noticed him put his head back and slump down into his seat. Dr. R. M. Pendrigh was summoned but found that life was extinct. Dr. F. L. Kenney, coroner, decided that death was due to natural causes and no inquest was necessary.

Mr. Strayhorn was born and brought up in St. John but later moved to Point Wolfe, Albert county, where his wife died several years ago. He is survived by five sons, William, of Boston; James, with the C. N. R. in Moncton; John, of Alma, Albert county; Percy, of St. John, and Ira, of Boston; four daughters, Mrs. Haddow Shields, of Sussex; Mrs. William McManus, of Truro, N. S.; Miss Jessie Strayhorn, of Halifax, and Mrs. Albert Laird, with whom he lived; three brothers, Thomas, of St. John; Clark, of Boston, and William, of Centreville; and one sister, Mrs. James Bond, of St. John. He had lived in West St. John for the last four years following his retirement from active labor. He was formerly

KNIGHTS' THEATRE PARTY.

The theatre party held last night by the Knights of Columbus was highly successful from all points of view and about 125 couples thoroughly enjoyed themselves throughout the evening. The party attended the F. James Carroll play at the Opera House and after the show, presented a large and beautiful bouquet of flowers to Miss Nancy Duncan, the leading lady. Following the play there was an assembly in the Knights of Columbus hall and refreshments were served by a committee of knights and ladies. The hall was decorated in Halcyon colors, yellow and black. The chaperones were Mrs. T. J. Hennessey, Mrs. James L. Sugrue and Mrs. Joseph K. Kennedy.

E. W. Loney was in charge of the dining room and was assisted by Mrs. W. J. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. John P. Moore and Mrs. Bernard A. McCarthy. Bernard A. McCarthy, lecturer, was convenor of the knights' committee. A special street car waited until 1:30 o'clock this morning for the North End and West St. John members.

YOUNG WOMEN'S GUILD.

The Young Women's Guild of Trinity church held its opening session of the season last night and introduced a new programme for its meetings by attending a short service in the church.

before the business session was held in the school room. Rev. C. J. Markham conducted the service and gave a short address. Miss Dorothy Robson, president, was in the chair for the business meeting. Five new members were welcomed and there was a good attendance of former members. Plans were made for the Christmas tea and sale which is an annual event. It was decided to hold the annual meeting this month in accordance with the new ruling for W. A. branches. The former officers were re-elected. A letter from Miss L. Peters, of Gagetown, secretary, and treasurer of girls' branches, was read with much interest.

VARIOUS SCHOOL ITEMS CONSIDERED

Trustees Hear Report on Vocational Extension—The Night Schools.

The report of the committee of the Board of School Trustees which interviewed the Government on the matter of extension of the time in which the grant for the erection of a vocational school was presented last evening at a meeting of the trustees by A. A. McIntyre, who said that an assurance had been given that the time would be extended to meet the wishes of the School Board, from June 30, 1925, to October 31, 1925.

Dr. L. M. Curran, M. L. A., the new chairman of the Board, was welcomed by the directors of the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage for desks and school equipment.

The C. W. V. A. sent a second endorsement of George P. Hennessy as a nominee for appointment as superintendent of buildings and construction. C. L. Morrissey wrote to draw attention to his previous offer of a site for a vocational school, a lot on Prince William, Canterbury and Duke streets, and to offer also a lot 266 acres in extent which adjoins Rockwood Park. The letter was referred to the vocational committee.

Quotations on weather strapping were referred to the buildings committee.

The Civic Hydro Commission sent a request that attention be given to the plan presented more than once that it be given the contract for all electric current used in the schools at a cost of 4 cents a unit.

On Mr. Porter's motion it was decided to ask the commission if it could not offer a lower rate in view of the large consumption involved.

The request of the Municipal chapter I. O. D. E. to be allowed to provide banners and flags to be displayed in the city schools to commemorate national anniversaries was referred to the chairman and acting superintendent with power to act.

Quotations on state blackboards were referred to the buildings committee.

Mr. Green asked if the finance committee was not to bring in a recommendation that deductions of salaries for absence through sickness or other cause be not made up at the end of the year. Mr. Green protested against the Board being called on to pay each year from $3,000 to $4,000 for salaries deducted. He said that the new schedule of salaries would make it obligatory that deductions be not made up. The finance committee undertook to submit a report at the next meeting.

The report of the secretary showed 8,651 pupils enrolled, 4,185 boys and 4,476 girls, of whom 94.25 per cent. were an average daily attendance. The report said while there were two departments less than in the corresponding month last year, with a total enrollment of 56 less when it was considered that the removal of the Protestant Orphanage schools had reduced the average daily attendance of about 50. It will be seen there is an improvement in the attendance this year. The figures were 93.85 per cent. in Sept. 1923, and 94.25 Sept. 1924.

The health report showed 4 cases of diphtheria and two of scarlet fever. The permits to attend the school used this year totalled 1,214, as compared with the following totals in previous years:

In 1923, permits 1,287; in 1922, permits 1,289; in 1921, permits 1,320, and in 1920, permits 1,240.

Visitors to the schools in which fuel saving devices had been tried were asked to bring in reports of the success or otherwise of these systems.

The report of J. Boyd McMahon, truant officer, given at the School Board meeting last evening, recorded the busiest month in 14 years. He had visited 166 homes and 18 schools and had supervision of 146 irregular attendance cases and seven truants. The percentage of pupils in daily attendance was 94.25, a high percentage, which cannot be beaten in any other city in Canada. Mr. McMahon was much commended for this showing.

that the City Council was with regard to the School Board. It had to provide the money for the vocational committee to spend and it could not get out of it.

Minutes of a buildings committee adopted told of authority given to install a fuel saving device on the second boiler of St. Malachi's school, and to purchase furniture for the new St. Patrick's school which will be occupied at the first of the year.

Applications for positions on the staff were received from R. P. Morris, Fairville, and the Misses Helen Harris, Bertha Christensen, Muriel E. Thompson and M. Shee, of St. John.

Thanks for a salary increase were received from Miss Harriet Smith, and from the directors of the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage for desks and school equipment.

By Olive Roberts Burton

WHAT HAPPENED ON JUPITER

"The sleepy sand is stolen and it is almost moon-up on the earth," shore, my third son, on his black and white nightmare to Jupiter at once."

"Who are you and what's so funny?" asked the Sand Man anxiously when the twins got back to the Moon again. "No, we didn't," said Nancy. "Nobody on Venus had seen him and they all acted as if they were crazy."

"Too bad! Too bad!" said the Dream Maker Man wagging his head. "I was sure you would find it this time."

Suddenly a voice overhead in one of the golden trees laughed mockingly. "Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho! Please excuse me while I smile. It was the funniest thing I ever saw in all my life! Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho!"

"Who are you and what's so funny?" asked the twins. "You come down where we can see you and let us laugh, too!"

"Oh, no! I couldn't do that!" said the voice. "I'm invisible because I have the invisible cloak on, but it might slip and then you'd catch me!"

"Who are you?" cried the Dream Maker Man.

"Why, I'm Tweekanose, the Gnome," answered the voice. "I'm the one who stole the sleepy sand and I've still got it."

"Twee Jimmy," cried Nick quickly, remembering the charm the Green Wizard had told them. "Not so fast! Not so quick!" said Tweekanose. "It won't do you any good to say charms any more. The sleepy sand is under the cloak, too. No charm can move it. That's why you didn't find it on Venus."

"On Venus?" cried Nancy and Nick. "Were you there, too?"

"Yes, I was there when you were," laughed Tweekanose. "I just got back. I rode back on the tail of your horse, but you couldn't see me."

"Where were you?" asked Nick curiously.

"Where you were," said Tweekanose. "I was the deaf old man who couldn't understand anything! And I was the old woman with the broom. And I was the fiddler with the fiddle that wouldn't play! I fooled you every time."

"Good-bye now, I'm off for Jupiter Good-bye."

DEER RAVAGING MANY FARMS

Cumberland Valley Farmers Declare Animals are Destroying Crops.

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 14.—With whole orchards and fields being destroyed by deer, farmers in the Cumberland Valley along the mountain and wooded sections declare their livelihood is at stake unless they are allowed to kill the animals.

While farmers are earnest in their demands for protection by the State from the ravages of the deer, sportsmen are almost as energetic in their denunciation of suggestions that the wild life be reduced by declaring open seasons on doe deer.

A Sportsmen and agriculturists on a tour of the Cumberland Valley found dozens of farms ravaged by deer, with estimated damages running as high as $16,000 on one farm.

The deer nip buds and shoots on young trees, destroying young orchards. Beans, oats and other crops have been destroyed and potato growing has been discontinued in one section because of deer. The farmers are demanding an open season on doe deer with the hope of reducing the number of animals and saving their farms.

NORTH END GIRL WINS PARKER MEDAL

Miss Edith P. Brown has been announced as the winner of the Parker Silver medal for highest marks in mathematics for the graduates of 1924 in the city. Miss Brown came fourth in the list of graduates of the St. John High School and has been a very successful scholar. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cecil Brown, of 33 Portland street.

KINDERGARTEN MEETING

Decision to open a course for kindergarten teachers, provided there are about 12 candidates offering for the two-year course, was reached at a meeting of the Free Kindergarten Association yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Lockhart, 40 Orange street, with Mrs. Allan G. McAvity in the chair.

It was decided to hold a bridge in January to raise funds to supplement the grant made by the School Board. The association must raise an additional $280 or more each year for current expenses for material used, new equipment required, salaries of supply teachers, when members of the regular staff are ill, and other incidentals.

A date in November was decided upon for the annual meeting. The reports from the five kindergartens were very encouraging and showed that in each kindergarten the enrollment was about 50, while in one kindergarten it was above that figure. The attendance at all had been very good.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

The first meeting of the season of the Willing Workers of Germain street Baptist Institute with the president, Miss W. C. Cross, in the chair, was held last evening. Mrs. T. H. Byles resigned as secretary and Mrs. Emery Tynes was asked to officiate. Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, treasurer, reported on the receipts and expenditures during the summer. The sum of $185 was voted to missions, $30 toward the Agadia appeal and $20 to the new missionary home at Wolfville. Plans were made for a tea and sale in November and a rummage sale this month.

IN WEST INDIES TRADE

Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, accompanied by possibly another minister, and H. J. Logan, M. P., and J. W. OFFICERS CHOSEN BY LOCAL NURSES

At the annual meeting of the St. John Chapter of the New Brunswick Registered Nurses' Association, held last evening at the Nurses' Home, Mrs. J. H. Vaughan, retiring president, in the chair, reports of the year's work were presented. The sum of $25 was voted to the St. John Health Centre and $25 to the Victorian Order of Nurses and plans were made for a bridge and dance in November and for a course of lectures during the winter. The new president is Miss H. McKel-John, who was elected at the annual meeting of the provincial chapter last month.

The election of officers last evening resulted as follows: Vice president, Miss Ella McGaffigan; treasurer, Miss Martha Fraser; secretary, Miss Dora Coates; convener of sick nurses benefit fund, Miss E. J. Mitchell. A social hour was spent at the close of the business session.

CHILD HIT BY MOTOR CAR

Yesterday afternoon Arthur Wetmore, aged five years, who resides with his parents at 147 Prince Edward street, ran from the sidewalk on that street and was struck by an automobile owned by G. M. Sancton. The child was knocked down and the car, which had not been traveling at a fast rate of speed, was quickly stopped and the

4 out of 5 are marked

There's no way to get around it. Dental statistics show that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—are victims of tooth decay. You want to avoid this dread disease?

Just as the stability of a lighthouse depends upon a firm foundation, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage starts in. This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea—is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases.

If used in time and used consistently twice daily, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome. Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Carnation—For Baking

YOU will find Carnation Milk a wonderful aid to good baking. Use it in your fillings and icings as well as for creaming vegetables, making soups and gravies. Serve the coffee with Carnation. Use it diluted in tea (one part Carnation, three parts water.) Use it undiluted with fruits and cereals.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

Cook with Carnation Milk. Write for our Recipe Book containing over 100 tested recipes.

GINGERBREAD: 6 tablespoons water, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 cup molasses, 2 tablespoons Carnation Milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 cup butter or lard. Sift dry ingredients together. Add liquids to molasses. Combine mixtures, add shortening and beat well. Pour into greased shallow pan and bake in moderately hot oven about 25 minutes.

DEGREES ARE PUT ON BY PRENTICE BOYS

The first, second and third degrees of their order were exemplified to a large class of candidates by King Edward Lodge, No. 30, Prentice Boys, at their meeting in their lodge rooms, Guilford street, West St. John, last night. In the meeting which followed it was decided to hold a bridge and dance for the members of the order in West St. John and the L. O. L. and L. O. B. A. of the West Side in the winter. Because they could not observe Dec. 18, it was decided that they would pay an official visit to King Edward Lodge and on this occasion the degree team of King Edward will exemplify the second and third degrees of their order to a class of candidates from the Grand Bay Lodge.

GOING TO CONVENTION.

Social Notes of Interest

There were several parties over the week-end, showers for brides-elect figuring on Saturday and yesterday. Miss Marion Belyea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. V. Belyea, was honored, as well as Miss Marjorie Manning, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Manning. There were also informal events for guests from out-of-town. Mrs. Robert A. Watson entertained on Saturday afternoon Mrs. McLeod, of Pictou, N. S., her cousin, who is to spend a short time in the city. Bridge was played at three tables.

Mrs. David P. Chisholm returned to the city yesterday to attend the meeting of the School Board in the evening after a pleasant week-end with Hon. Dr. and Mrs. William Pugsley at Robshaw.

Miss Annie L. Tait was hostess last evening for the Hilsawa Mission Circle of Centenary church at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. F. Hatfield, Princess street. About thirty members were in attendance and enjoyed the social evening, after a short meeting. Miss Tait was assisted in receiving by her mother and her sister, Mrs. Ella Booth. Red and white flowers were used in decorating the rooms. For the meeting Mrs. Walter Gamblin, president, was in the chair and led the study book for half an hour. Mrs. Beckett G. Fulton led a short devotional period and Miss Hilda Brittain assisted Mrs. Gamblin with her part of the service. There were delicious refreshments served by Miss Tait and her sister. This was the opening meeting of the season and a great success.

Mrs. G. E. Chester Gandy was hostess recently for several friends at a and Mrs. Fred Smythe have gone on a motor trip to Boston for a month.

Mrs. H. H. Bissett and Miss Ella Bissett, who were visiting in Boston, returned on Saturday by the boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hunt, who were in Pandemonia for the summer, have taken up residence in one of the J. Hunter White Apartments, corner of Hasen and Garden streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaughan are visiting in Toronto and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stein, Pad-dock street, have returned from their summer home at Fair Vale.

Miss Gertrude Hare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hare, West St. John, entertained delightfully at her parents' home on Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Marjorie Manning, her cousin, who is one of the October brides-elect. The house was prettily decorated with autumn tints, the gifts being wrapped in fancy papers to enhance the artistic color scheme of the trimmings, which included maple leaves in red and gold and many offerings from the woods in all their autumnal glory. There were 20 guests present and the gifts were useful and ornamental. Mrs. Hare, assisted by a boy of the young guests, served delicious refreshments.

Mrs. A. D. Barbour and her daughter, Miss Doris Barbour, have gone to Boston for a visit of several weeks with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howard have returned to the city from their summer home at Pandemonia and are at the Hunter White Apartments, Hasen street.

Mrs. W. A. Schilling and little son, Master Billy, who have been visiting relatives here, returned Saturday evening to their home in Newark, N. J., accompanied by Mrs. Schilling's sister, Miss Zita MacDonnell, who will make a short visit in New York and in Newark.

Mrs. C. D. Schofield, of Victoria, B. C., arrived from Toronto yesterday at noon and was met by her husband, Bishop Schofield, with whom she will enjoy a vacation visiting his home city and friends.

Many favorable comments have been passed upon the rare beauty of voice revealed in Mrs. F. G. Spencer's rendition of Dudley Buck's setting of "Fear Not Ye O Israel," as sung by her in St. David's church on Sunday evening.

Miss Pearl Cooper left on Saturday evening on the Governor Dingley to spend her vacation visiting friends and relatives in Boston and New York.

A very pleasant gathering was held at the home of Miss Nora Cole, Sydney street, last week when some 35 of her friends called to celebrate her birthday. Bridge and dancing were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Miss Dolly McCarthy, Mrs. Frank Lenihan and Mrs. Charis Warren.

Sir Thomas Grattan Esmonde and Lady Esmonde, who are visiting here, left yesterday morning for the Miramichi, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Vincent. They will be absent for ten days.

VOTES IN FAVOR OF PROHIBITION

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Without a dissenting voice, the National Council of Women of Canada went on record at today's meeting as being in favor of complete prohibition of alcoholic liquors as beverages in Canada.

Opening the day's session, a report from the committee on taxation was received, together with a resolution calling upon the Federal Government to enter the present income tax laws. This resolution caused the most strenuously fought out division of opinion seen to date.

After referring briefly to the war of protest against high taxation that has recently swept the entire world, the report noted, with some alarm, the growing tendency of corporations and wealthy business and professional men to sink their surplus funds into tax free bonds. "Under the present economical system, more and more capital is necessary for industrial development for we have put every possible obstacle in the way of man employing himself." Only "big business" has much chance to compete in world markets today, and big business requires capital, says the report.

The resolution which caused the division of opinion was put forward by the Toronto Council and after pointing out that the present income tax taxed charities, institutions and associations engaged in remedial work, and that as a result philanthropic gifts to such bodies were diminishing asked that the Government should pass legislation at the next session of Parliament removing this handicap and exempting from income tax all such gifts to charity. While the motion itself was not opposed, Professor Carrier Derick moved in amendment that the resolution be laid aside for one year to permit the various counsels considering it first. This amendment was lost by a vote of 33 to 37.

AUTOMOBILE WILL BE ASSEMBLED FOR PRINCE'S BENEFIT

Ford Hopes to Do It in Eleven Minutes or Less Time.

IN DETROIT TODAY

His Royal Highness Given a Wonderful Reception in Chicago Yesterday.

(Canadian Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 14.—After delaying his departure three hours, to dance with nearly all of three score women at an exclusive dinner party at the Saddle and Cycle Club, the Prince of Wales left for Detroit on a special train at 8:30 p. m.

Smiling and affable, but tired after nearly twenty hours of constant activity, the Prince was driven to the private car of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the National Automobile Club, attached to the special which had been held at the Prince's request.

The Prince's progress throughout the city was hailed with outbursts of enthusiasm that several times threatened to overwhelm him and his hosts. One surging crowd at the Field Museum insisted on a police line, and the Prince's party was pushed and jostled. In the melee the Prince himself picked up a small boy and saved him from being trampled. Again, when he stopped at the Chicago club, a crowd of several thousand got out of police control and impeded the progress of the automobile in which he was leaving.

Throughout the Prince smiled, and strove to satisfy the throngs. He demonstrated when the crush at the Museum made it necessary for the party to leave by a door which left an assembly of thousands disappointed. At the stock yards he expressed regret that the police had roped off a passage. He said he would rather not see people restrained that way.

Great enthusiasm greeted the Prince as he stepped into the Ford Motor Company's car, one of the features planned for the visit of the Prince of Wales, who is scheduled to arrive at Highland Park, a suburb, shortly before noon today.

The automobile, which will be known as the "Ford," will be assembled while the Prince looks on, and will be put together in an hour. It will be the most modern record of the plant, which is 11 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Prince will be in white, working with nickel-plated wrenches, chains and bars, will assemble the machine. None of the parts regularly used will be put into the car, all of the outside parts being enameled and all of the bolt-heads and trim being nickel plated.

The programme for the Prince's visit to Detroit, at his request has not been announced further than that he will be the guest of Henry Ford during his stay here. He is expected to go from here to Toronto.

THE STOCK MARKET WAS FEATURELESS

No Definite Trend in New York and Few Changes in Montreal.

New York, Oct. 14.—Price movements lacked a definite trend at the opening of today's market. Woodworth, DeWitt and Losses Willes blunted each other's advance in the first half of the session. The first sale of U. S. common was 1,000 shares at 107 1/2.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Only a few fractional price changes were registered by leaders at the opening of today's stock market. These included a half point advance by Laurentide to 85, a similar quarter point rise in the preference to 11 1/2, and a half point loss by national breweries to 27 1/2.

3 BRITISH PARTIES ISSUE APPEALS

All Offer Advanced Legislation; Election Fight Opens Over Russia.

(Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette.) London, Oct. 11.—Both the Labor and Liberal parties succeeded today in getting their election manifestos ready for publication in the Sunday morning papers. While the Conservative Party has not issued a special manifesto, its headquarters gave out copies of an election address drawn up by the party leader, former Premier Stanley Baldwin.

The Labor Party's appeal is headed "Labor's Appeal to the People." After a brief reference to the "defeat by a vast majority of the Liberals and Tories," it recites why the Labor Government has done for the "supreme need of this country, the course of justice has been deflected and the restoration of industry and commerce."

It is attitude toward the Irish Treaty, the strengthening of the ties of settlement with the Dominions, the cordial relations established with France and important steps taken at Geneva toward arbitration, security and general disarmament are put forward as the main factors of Labor's accomplishments.

From this general platform, the manifesto continues, "The Labor Government refused to exclude the Russian people with whom it is essential to resume our trade in the interests of our unemployed and the country as a whole."

Premier MacDonald's special plea in justification of the character of "these Russian treaties now awaiting ratification" is embodied in the following sentences: "When compensation has been secured to British subjects for their losses in Russia, a third treaty will be negotiated, providing for the raising of private finance by Russia."

It is pointed out that the amount guaranteed by the Government is far in excess of what is provided for in Article XII, of the general treaty that the amount and conditions of the said loan, and the purposes to which it shall be applied, shall be defined in the future treaty referred to.

This treaty will not come into force until the necessary Parliamentary authority for the guarantee of the said loan has been given.

"Will you allow this work for peace an opportunity to be stopped?" asks Russell.

Housing, education, unemployment and public works, budget are points advanced as indicative of the Government's achievements, and these, comes a recapitulation of the general treaty that the amount and conditions of the said loan, and the purposes to which it shall be applied, shall be defined in the future treaty referred to.

DE ORO CONFIDENT OF BEATING HOPPE

Billiard Stars Will Clash in 600 Point Match—Starts Today.

New York, Oct. 14.—Alfred De Oro, one of the most colorful players that ever held a world's championship, has proved to the billiard public before the last two decades, is still a master billiardist. Although he has not been seen in many big matches in the last three or four years, he insists that his game is as good as ever, and is out of this confidence grew the challenge to meet Willie Hoppe, the world's champion at both 8-ball and 9-ball billiards, in a special 600-point match at three-cushions.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

"I have been following the progress made by Hoppe very closely. He has seen him play at least fifteen games and, after analyzing his game, remarks that 'Hoppe is a great billiardist; after watching him play three-fifths I am convinced more than ever that he is a great billiard player. I know I can beat Hoppe at three-cushions. That is the reason I challenged him.'"

De Oro also backed up his confidence by insisting on a side bet of $2,000. The match will be worth more than $2,000 to the winner, because Charles S. Kline of the Strand Academy, promoter of the match, has offered a purse of $1,000, plus the gate receipts.

Expect to Surprise Hoppe. "I have been waiting for more than twenty years for a match of this kind," says De Oro.

De Oro said as he was leaving the Strand after a final conference with Promoter Kline. "I contend that no man can go out of his own line and still be a master. Every one conceded that Hoppe is the greatest in the world at billiards, but he will find that three-cushions is an entirely different game. I have been playing it for thirty-five years, and I still have to find the man who can stand out in it like Hoppe did at billiards. The game is the great leveler. There are many fine points about three-cushions that Hoppe has yet to learn, and I hope to show him a few in our coming match."

"Since taking up three-cushions exclusively, I have moved along rapidly," Hoppe said. "It is a fine game, but lacks the nerve strain of billiards. It is much easier for me to play, and I find that my experience with billiards has helped me wonderfully at three-cushions. I have no reason to fear any man playing the game today, and I hope to prove to the billiard public before the season is over that my three-cushions is second to none. I have been averaging one consistently ever since I started to play last year. I have won every match. I expect to have trouble with De Oro, for he is a crafty player, but it is points that decide the match, and that is what I'm going out for from the start."

The match means much to both players. Hoppe loses it, it is certain to lessen his chances of getting a match with Robert Cannan, present holder of the world's championship. A victory will mean another step toward the title match. For De Oro a victory also is important, as it will go a long way toward restoring his billiard prestige, which he has permitted to die because of his few public appearances. But it has been the revival of three-cushions, which he has permitted to die because of his few public appearances. But it has been the revival of three-cushions, which he has permitted to die because of his few public appearances.

De Oro May Be Favored. In addition to the $200 side bet on the match, De Oro also announced that he was willing to wager $500 on each block with Hoppe. A number of Hoppe supporters already have stated that they are ready to cover it. There is no doubt that Hoppe will enter this match the favorite, and a few are quoting the odds now at 7 to 5.

This will be Hoppe's last match in the East for a few weeks, in the event he is the winner. Hoppe has arranged to leave here one week from today for Chicago to finish his preparation for his 800-point match against Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, which is scheduled to be played in Chicago the latter part of next week. This match will be played in six blocks of sixty points each. It means that Kieckhefer will be the first of the Big Five to meet Hoppe in a special match. Hoppe hopes to follow this engagement with a match against Cliff Denton of Kansas City, then Otto Betsch of Philadelphia, next Johnny Layton of St. Louis, then the championship match with Cannan.

George Moore, a former world's three-cushion champion, has been selected to referee the Hoppe De Oro match. Moore already has faced Hoppe in a special match and lost. After that engagement Moore remarked: "Moore surely has put some kick into three-cushions. He seems to know every inch of the table intimately and his knowledge of balling has helped him in the new game. Hoppe will be a troublemaker for the other boys before the season ends."

MARRIED IN NEWBURYPORT. The Frederick Gleaner says that announcement cards have been received telling of the marriage of Miss Susan E. Bartlett, daughter of Mrs. Horace Irving Bartlett and the late Judge Bartlett, of Newburyport, and Walter Woodworth Cooke, son of the late Samuel D. Cooke, of St. John. The marriage took place in Newburyport, Mass.

A lock and key with a loose arrangement of teeth, so the adjustment can be changed, has been patented in Germany.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

MANTEL SEEN IN
ROLE OF RICHELIEU

Strong Presentation of "Under the Red Robe" Given at Imperial.

Romance thelled, gowns charmed, pretty women enthralled and young men captivated the audience last evening at the Opera House, when the Carroll Players took their leave back to "Little Old New York," in the early 1800's. The scenery was well arranged and the costume play was well staged. The waits between the acts were scarcely observed because of the music, which, in harmony with the quiet play, thrilled the old tones or brightly introduced modern quick music by way of contrast. There was contrast in characterization among the actors, which kept a constant ripple of interest and the prize fight was "scram." Rida Johnson Young's presentation of the old days when "John Jacob Astor," Owen Coll, and "Cornelius Vanderbilt," George W. Smith, were leading lights in the now great metropolis, was in fact a gem and gave the actors every opportunity to show their histrionic skill.

"Patricia O'Day," Nancy Duncan, as leading lady, won all hearts. She was presented a lovely bouquet of flowers—a token of admiration, after she sang the old song in the garden. The flowers were presented by the Knights of Columbus, who formed a theatre party for the occasion and occupied a large part of the theatre. "Larry Delavan," Foster J. Williams, made a handsome leading man and set off well the old-time clothes of the period. Owen Coll was outstanding as the old real estate wizard of early New York, John Jacob Astor, in his make-up and dignified representation. "Henry Brevort," Richard Pilette, was a fascinating young man in his handsome cutaway coat of delicate fabric. His facial expression was good when watching the others in the group scenes. "Washington Irving" was well presented by Philip A. Boland, who also was stage manager. "Ridley," John Haggerty, a local man, did his part with fine skill and won much applause.

Patricia Trevor, as "Annema DeWester," was a bewitching coquette, quite overlooking the present day ramp, but much more successful. Winifred Gillmore, as "Betty Schuyler," did her constant best to help the handsome "Larry" to his feet. Prohibition Now a Popular Movie Theme

(By JACK JUNGMEYER)

Hollywood, Oct. 14—Gradually, timidly, prohibition, one of the great modern experiments, is precipitating its interpretive drama.

The two notable examples on the screen thus far are "Those Who Dance," and Paramount's more recent "The City That Never Sleeps," directed by that benevolent iconoclast, James Cruze.

The first had melodrama, narrative, preachment. The second has a more sober story, if no more sobriety, and succinct ironic comment.

Both dwell upon the evasions of prohibition—from considerably different viewpoints. In "The City That Never Sleeps," ambiguously titled adaptation of the Roy Scott's story, "Mother O'Day," Cruze depicts the results of transferring booze from the open saloon to the sheltered saloon and the morose, increased consumption of liquor by women.

His dramatic character is "Mother O'Day," capably interpreted by Louise Dresser. She is the widow of a pre- Volstead saloon keeper. She had been her husband's co-worker, serving the old free lunch. The saloon had virtually been their home. There they had started rearing their little daughter.

After the husband's death "Mother O'Day" seeks better environment for her girl, played by Virginia Lee Corbin. The youngster is adopted by a woman whose social station the mother considers guarantee of protection. "Mrs. Kendall" demands $20,000 a year for this service, and the mother operates a notorious resort to provide the funds. She and her business are unknown to the girl, who believes her guardian to be her aunt.

But in the saloon of "Mrs. Kendall" booze flows quite as freely as it did over "Mother O'Day's" old bar. And eventually the mother discovers that the girl has developed into a fit little cocktail and shimmy shaker; that she is on the verge of being matrimonially plucked by an adventurer who believes her heir to an independent fortune; that she is an impertinent little snob.

It is in contrasting the realms of awfully floor and Persian rugs that Cruze uses the irony. Especially when "Mrs. Kendall," feeling herself insulted by "Mother O'Day," uses her position as honorary president of the "Anti-Liquor Society" to close up the latter's place. This splendid act also stops the source of her income, which had been provided through an intermediary, Ricardo Cortez does the fortune hunter.

with a playful emphasis which makes him a most engaging villain. Between him and "Mother O'Day" there is a close affinity. Really she is the villain as well as the heroine of the play in that she has no scruples as to how she gets the money, save where it touches her daughter's life.

Virginia Lee Corbin, just grown out of pinafores, in this picture shows decided personality as ingénue. She is one of the child prodigies of the screen who has weathered the gangly, awkward age to forge ahead in a promising career.

ALL NAKED LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

Carroll Players Well Present
Romantic Comedy Drama
at Opera House.

After several weeks of almost straight comedy and its superlative face—the romantic story of the early days in New York was graphically told in this week's vehicle at the Opera House, and so admirably presented by the Carroll Players "Little Old New York" came as somewhat of a relief, and there was no doubt that the large audience last evening was pleased with the change. While the play does not lack, it is a depth to its story which is heart gripping. Contained in the period of the early years of the nineteenth century, it carries with it the wealth of romance which surrounded those times and the intimate connection in tongue and mannerism between the old and the new world.

Miss Duncan is seen a new type of role, so far as St. John is concerned, and she won her way into the hearts of the Carroll Players, who were assisting as a boy through three acts in order to acquire a fortune which he had lost. Miss Duncan is seen a new type of role, so far as St. John is concerned, and she won her way into the hearts of the Carroll Players, who were assisting as a boy through three acts in order to acquire a fortune which he had lost.

Mr. Williams gave a fine portrayal of the care-free Delavan, robbed of his inheritance through the hate of Patricia's father and her obedience to his wishes. His development of the growing love for the impetuous Irish lad was cleverly drawn, and although there were times when some of his audience, his work was well up to the previous high standard which he has set.

Mr. Call made a most realistic Astor. His Dutch dialect was excellent and he enacted the role of the gruff real estate mogul in a manner that brought repeated bursts of applause. Messrs. Polette, Smith and Boland were good character players, and other historical figures of the times, while Mr. Haggerty, as a general Irish doctor turned servant, carried out his part well.

Miss Gilmore was a dainty little miss in the role of Betty, and although her part was not lengthy, she gave a satisfying performance. Miss Trevon, as the haughty Araines, whose sojourn in England had developed in her a lofty adoration for "culture," enacted the part with spirit and thoroughness. Mr. Matthews gave a good character representation of the elder O'Day.

Into the hands of Messrs. Franklin and Swift and Miss DeWester was placed the comedy element, and their success was amply demonstrated. Mr. Swift was night watchman, and proved a source of keen delight. Mr. Franklin, as the pugilist, who "blasted" in his shirt, was a riot, and his three-round but in the third act with the "Brooklyn terror" is a piece of burlesque which turned the house into a pandemonium. He was ably aided and abetted in this and other scenes by Miss DeWester, who is adoring but self-sufficient sister.

The scenery was very well done. The musical programme was good and in keeping with the piece. Miss Duncan's solo in the second act, during which she played her own accompaniment on a lute, was a dainty little addition to the show and gained much applause. "Little Old New York" should be popular this week.

responsible for the picture, have succeeded in giving the breath of life to a story that has realism as its founting it up." The result is a vivid drama of living people—their sufferings, their hardships, their joys, their rewards. It is a story of mother love that goes deep to the heart of humanity for its inspiration—and finds that heart clean and pure, scoring vicer.

SEES ONLY HOPE IN NATIONS' LEAGUE

Britain's Former Admiralty
Chief Pictures Trend to Annihilation in War.

LEAGUE TO AVERT IT
Deserted by America, Scorned
by Russia, Flouted by Italy, it is Sanitary.

In an article written for Nash's Pall Mall magazine of London, picturing the ruin, verging on utter annihilation, which another war might bring to mankind, the Right Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill pleads the case of the League of Nations as the only safeguard of the world today.

Mr. Churchill, who was First Lord of the British Admiralty at the beginning of the World War and through nearly two years of its progress, and who at other times held the portfolio of Secretary of State for War and other offices in various British governments, is credited with considerably authority for a description which he gives of some appalling weapons of future wars.

"His article for most of its length reviews the combative character of mankind from his beginning to the present day. "The story of the human race," he says, "is war. Except for brief and precarious interludes, there has never been peace in the world; and before history began murderous strife was universal and unending. But up to the present time the means of destruction at the disposal of man have kept pace with his faculty of thought, and the life forces kept a steady lead over the forces of death, and gradually tribes and villages and governments were evolved."

Today the Most Destructive
It was not until the dawn of the present twentieth century that war attained the status of becoming the "potentially" destructive, when all modern Mr. Churchill states, and after reviewing the manner in which the entire people of whole nations became involved in the struggle, and subject to all its terrors, just as were the fighting forces, he says of the future: "It is an element of permanency."

"Wars," said a distinguished American to me last summer, "are fought with steel; weapons may change, but steel remains the core of all modern warfare. France has got the steel of Europe and Germany has lost it. Here at any rate, is an element of permanency."

"What about aluminum?" he replied. "Some think," he said, "that the next war will be fought with electricity. "And on this visit spent out of electrical rays which could paralyze the engines of a motor car, could claw down aeroplanes from the sky and conceivably be made destructive of human life or human vision."

"But the causes of war have been in some respects, aggravated by the so-called Peace Treaty and the reactions following thereupon."

League the "Hope of Sanity"
Mr. Churchill pictures Europe today as containing "two mighty brains" never rest content with their existing situation. "Russia," he says, "stripped of her Baltic provinces, will brood incessantly on the wars of Peter the Great," while Germany, with her masses of population maintaining "from one end to the other an intense hatred against France, and dreams of a war of liberation or revenge."

"Against the gathering but still distant tempest, the League of Nations is sooted by the United States scorned by Soviet Russia, flouted by Italy, distrusted by France and Germany, raised feebly but faithfully its standards of sanity and hope."

"Its structure, airy and unsubstantial, framed of shining but too often visionary idealism, is in its present form incapable of guarding the world

Now find out what beauty is beneath the dingy film that clouds your teeth

You may actually have dazzlingly clear teeth and yet not realize it. Send the coupon, make this unique test, as advised by world's leading dentists.

THIS offers you a test which millions have made with surprising results. Modern science has found a new way to clearer, healthier teeth. A way that proves that scores of people who go through life wishing for dazzlingly white teeth already have them. You may be one of those people. This is a simple way to find out without cost.

It's only a dingy film—now easily removed. If your teeth are dull, cloudy, discolored, run your tongue across them. You will feel a film. A film that absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color and luster of your teeth.

Remove it, and your teeth take on a new beauty. Old time dentifrices failed in successfully combating it. That is why, regardless of the care you take now, your teeth remain "off color," dull and unattractive.

LIFE SAVED BY MATCH

Johannesburg, Oct. 14—A remarkable experience befell a Dutchman named Olivier in the recent rock-ride at the village of Deep. He was working when the rock crashed and he lost consciousness.

On recovering he found himself surrounded by rocks and struck a solitary match. A native alongside him was killed and a stack of timber saved Olivier. The natives were screaming in agony and it was impossible to save them.

Oliver shifted the rocks and saved himself. Wider reverses are seen on some of the new coats and they are lined in such a manner that they stand out and make a frame for the face.

ONLY TWO WOMEN
AT THE PALACE

"Anna Christie" Offers Remarkable Study—Is a Vigorous Picture.

Thomas H. Ince has broken every precedent in his latest production, a picture of Eugene O'Neill's famous stage drama, "Anna Christie." Instead of the usual balanced cast of characters presented in a screen story, only one other woman appears in the film besides Blanche Sweet, who plays the title role. This is a First National release, now showing at the Palace Theatre.

By using only two women in this story, in contrast to a background of struggling masculine life, Ince has presented one of the most unusual and venturesome type of pictures, a woman of the ungentle type. Sailors, dray men, street vendors, wharf front "rats," the "Chinamen," coal-blackened stokers, and the picture is a mosaic of masculine life, against which the dramatic story of "Anna" is unfolded in a manner that is most unusual and powerful picture of a woman.

Three principal characters are involved in this drama of a girl who fights all her life for Eugene O'Neill's masculine oppression. The studies of the two women who are principals in the cast are equally powerful. George Marion as Chris, the sentimental old father, "who blames everything on the sea, including his shirt," and William Russell as the boastful young Irish stoker, glorying in his strength and his prowess, are unforgettable personages.

"Anna Christie" will be shown for the last time tonight, at 7 and 8.30.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell if you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

PORT COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS GO TO THE COUNCIL

Elimination of Grain Top Wharfage—Facilities at Courtenay Bay.

Recommendations that the top wharfage on grain be eliminated for the coming season here, that the council back up the C. N. R. in its effort to have additional facilities provided at Courtenay Bay, to take up with the Government the removal of the rock at the Pettengill wharf and the advertising of the city as a port for export and import business will be presented to the Common Council this afternoon from the port committee, which met this morning in the office of Mayor Potts and discussed matters relating to getting more business for St. John.

After the meeting Mayor Potts expressed himself as satisfied that the port committee had done something really worth while and his belief that the adoption of the recommendations of the committee would mean an increase in port traffic.

In connection with a suggestion that the port committee meetings should be open His Worship said that any citizen who had any suggestions to make about port matters or who wished to hear the discussions of the committee would be welcome at the meetings but it was pointed out that it was not advisable to make everything that was said at one of these meetings public.

W. H. MACGORMAN DIES IN LACHINE

Was Prominent for Years in Mission Work in St. John.

Friends throughout the city will be shocked to learn of the death of W. H. MacGorman, formerly of St. John, who passed away in the General Hospital at Lachine, Quebec, after a short illness following an operation.

Mr. MacGorman will be best remembered for his mission work to which he devoted his energies with great zeal, in the effort to reclaim those who had gone astray and to make religion something vital in the lives of those who were beset by temptation. His first mission was in Paradise Row, and later in Prince Edward street, what was known as the City Mission.

For many years Mr. MacGorman was employed in the blacksmith department of the St. John Iron Works and was of late superintendent of the bridge department of the Dominion Bridge Co. at Lachine. He was a member of the Central Baptist church of this city.

Mr. MacGorman is survived by his mother, who lives in this city, and by his wife, three sons and one daughter who live in Lachine, and one other son Rev. John B. MacGorman of Mahone Bay, N. S. There are also one brother, John R., of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. R. Barron, Mrs. Alex. Ranganathan and Mrs. Robert Wilson, all of this city.

Mr. MacGorman was not an old man, and the news of his death is a terrible shock to all his relatives and friends.

N. H. S. LADIES IN ANNUAL MEETING

Membership Roll Has 248 Names—Lecture Plans for Season.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Association of the Nature Society was held this afternoon at the Natural History rooms with Mrs. M. E. Lawrence, the president, in the chair. The reports of the year's work were read and the president addressed the members outlining the plans for the coming year's activities.

The report of Mrs. R. B. Rankin, secretary-treasurer, showed a few additional names on the membership list to balance those lost through death and removal. The present membership is 246. The report showed four meetings of the executive held during the season and also outlined briefly the activities of the association during this period.

It was decided that the lectures this year would be held monthly the same as last year. The opening of the Kate M. Mathew Memorial Lecture Course, as it is called, will be given by Mrs. Ayscough, of St. Andrews, on "Synchroism of the Purple City, Pekin." This course of lectures will be continued until next April. It was decided to do away with the book of tickets for this course and issue a season ticket for the entire course.

SCHOOL MATTER TO BE DISCUSSED TOMORROW NIGHT

Fletcher-Peacock, Architect and Engineer to Meet With Committee

The matter of a vocational school for St. John will next come up for discussion tomorrow evening at a meeting of the vocational committee and it is expected that at that meeting there will be an interesting discussion. Among those who will be present at the meeting will be Fletcher Peacock, provincial director of vocational training, F. Neil B. Pile, architect for the building, G. G. Murdoch, civic engineer, in addition to the members of the committee.

One of the matters to be discussed will be the cost of making a playground for the school on the site and the cost of a quarter of mile of street and water and sewerage; and Mr. Murdoch will be asked for an opinion on these matters.

Dr. Strain, chairman of the school board, said this morning that nothing would be done in regard to expropriation of the proposed site until after the meeting on Wednesday evening and until after that meeting he had nothing to say on the subject.

MAKES ANOTHER HARBOR RESCUE

John W. McCaustland Figures in Saving Geo. Coggin Near Navy I.

A narrow escape from drowning occurred yesterday when George Coggin, a resident of the West Side, was rescued from the harbor by John McCaustland, 121 Queen street, West St. John. The accident took place near Navy Island where Mr. Coggin fell from his boat. He was clinging to the side of it, exhausted, when rescued by Mr. McCaustland who was working on a wharf opposite Navy Island when he heard the cries for help. He jumped into a boat and, assisted by two others who were in the neighborhood, rowed out and got Mr. Coggin into the boat. The latter would not have been able to cling much longer to the side of the rowing boat. Mr. Coggin, who is about 65 years of age, had recovered today from the effects of his plunge into the harbor.

This rescue is the fourth that Mr. McCaustland has made during the last few years. A few months ago he rowed out and saved three boys who were drifting into the harbor on a raft; about two years ago he saved a boy named Dupluis when he fell off a wharf while fishing, and six or seven years ago he saved a lad named Bissett.

MRS. W. V. MCKINNEY.

The death of Mrs. William V. McKinney occurred this morning at her residence, 181-1/2 Sydney street, after an illness of about a week. B.; and one sister, Miss Alice Porter, city. They will have the sympathy of many friends. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. McKinney was prominent in the work of the Queen Square Methodist church.

BURIED TODAY.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Gray was held this afternoon from her late residence, 144 Paradise row. Rev. J. Markham conducted services and interment was in Fernhill.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "what do we need in this town to put new heart into the people so that they will face the future with faith and courage?"

"Tell 'em they haint got nothin' to live fer," said Hiram. "Tell 'em times is hard an' gittin' harder. Hey it pointed in the papers as a warnin' to every other town not to spend a dollar. If you do that long enough an' hard enough you'll hev the hull town on its toes yellin' fer progress an' braggin' about what a live town you got—yes, sir."

"You are quite sure that is the best way?" queried the reporter.

"Well," said Hiram, "that's the way—an' then Doc Frink won't hev to do no more pavin'. Aint that economy?"

"No need of it," said Hiram, "when you kin raise grass. An' see what you'd save—these hard times."

"I thank you," said the reporter.

"You're very welcome," said Hiram. "I always was an economical cuss."

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED

Why?

Why dress well? Because it is a well known fact that the right clothes give a man more confidence. He is more likely to go places and associate with people when he is properly dressed than he otherwise would—his appearance gives him confidence in himself.

While it is admitted that clothes really do not make the man, still they have a lot to do with assisting his natural abilities, and helping him climb the ladder of success.

And yet it is not an expensive proposition to be well dressed. It is simply a matter of showing sound judgment in selection; to select clothes that are of a becoming pattern, that have the right style, and that have the interior workmanship to back up their appearance.

Clothes that for the past thirty-five years have been assisting men to climb the ladder of success are surely worthy of your careful inspection. Such are "Scovill's Clothes."

Come! Judge for yourself.
