CUNARDER CREEPING TO YORK IN FOG; SILENT YET

Fate of Prominent Men Still In Doubt, But Little Hope For Good News

United States Scout Cruisers Speeding To Meet Carpathia To Hurry News To Anxious Ones on Shore—Taking Coffins to Scene of the Disaster

(Canadian Press) New York, April 17.—Reports this morning indicated 1,312 persons probably perished when the Titanic went down. Of the 888 known survivors the names of 325 have been laboriously transmitted through the powerful wireless apparatus of the ship.

CAPTAIN E. J. SMITH

Commander of the ill-fated White Star liner, Titanic

Members of the crew were saved, their presence to man the life boats being required to insure the safety of the passengers. An estimate of 400 stores passengers saved completes the total of the 888 which the Carpathia has made known she has on board.

At the lists indicate, the great majority of these are undoubtedly women. The names of only seventy-nine men rescued from the Carpathia, whereas the names of 400 women appear in the tabulations. Of the 400 stores passengers thought to be saved, it is believed that nearly all were women.

Little hope was entertained today that the fishing schooner Dorothy Baird, which passed to the vicinity of the Titanic disaster a little while after it occurred or the freighter Etouan of the Phoenix Line had rescued any of the passengers. Officers of the Etouan thought it probable that the schooner had returned to St. John without knowledge of the disaster.

Straining to Get the News

In faintest touch with the wireless station at Sable Island the Cunard liner Carpathia with 888 survivors of the sunken Titanic on board, was creeping down the coast this morning making the best time for this port that foggy conditions along the Atlantic shore line would permit.

Spending up the coast toward the rescue of the survivors of the Titanic's last brilliant story of the Titanic's last moments.

While the scout cruiser's expectations on this point were not realized, the accounts to be every prospect that, through the machinery which the government had set in motion, definite word of the Carpathia might be secured within a reasonably short time. The injection of the scout cruisers into the zone indeed seemed to afford the only hope of opening up communication with the Carpathia until she reached the wireless zone of Nantuxet, as she was apparently too far off shore, and her wireless apparatus too weak to reach the Sable Island station in a way to admit of the ready transmission of messages.

Other sources of possible rescue were eliminated and the only hope that remained to friends or relatives of the Titanic's passengers was that those they sought might, after all, be found upon the Carpathia when that vessel was able fully to give up the secret she had so long only held since the hour early on Monday, when she picked up the floating remnants of the Titanic's company of nearly 2300 souls.

Reach New York Thursday Night

New York, April 17.—9.45 a.m.—The White Star Line made public this morning the following message received from the steamship Carpathia probably relayed to New York.

"Carpathia east of Ambrose 598 miles eleven p.m. Tuesday, all well." The Ambrose referred to Ambrose Channel at the entrance of New York Harbor. The vessel will probably arrive here about nine o'clock tomorrow night.

The disaster to the Titanic has thus far had no effect so far as curtailing sea travel is concerned, according to the steamship companies, and they believe that it will have no material bearing on the summer rush of vacation touring which has already begun, but which does not reach its maximum until the latter part of May.

Some of the larger companies, as a matter of fact, are now expressing a contrary effect, in addition to their normal business, for each of them has had its numerous quotas of those who had planned to leave these shores on the new white liner.

The flags of all shipping in New York harbor are at half mast today in honor of the victims of the Titanic disaster. At the official behest of the marine exchange, which posted a resolution under which the Carpathia, Staten Island and other vessels were ordered to fly at half mast.

The German Emperor has wired sympathy to the White Star liner as follows:

"Achilles—Deeply grieved by the sad news of the terrible disaster which has fallen upon your line, I send you the expression of my deepest sympathy and also with all those who mourn the loss of our loved ones and friends."

Communication with the Carpathia is greatly hampered by the fact that wireless flashes that are being sent out by the fleet of steamers roaming the ocean, all seeking news of the Titanic disaster. Apparently not until the Carpathia gets out of range of these ships will anything filter through.

The cableship Minia arrived this morning after a cable repairing trip. It was thought she might have rescued some of the survivors of the Titanic, but she had nothing to report regarding the disaster. She had heard the news through intercepted wireless messages, but was not yet sighted at noon.

TALKED WITH CARPATHIA BUT LEARNED LITTLE

Halifax, April 17.—The wireless station at Sable Island was in communication for a time this morning with the Cunarder Carpathia. The Cunarder reported that twenty icebergs were sighted off the banks near the scene where the Titanic sank. No details of the disaster were sent. The wireless station here reported a violent electrical storm off Sable Island early today. It cut off communication with the Carpathia.

Communication with the Carpathia is greatly hampered by the fact that wireless flashes that are being sent out by the fleet of steamers roaming the ocean, all seeking news of the Titanic disaster.

NEWS OF FREDERICTON

Fredericton, N. B., April 17.—(Special)—The ice above the highway bridge started early this morning and moved about 300 yards. It is badly honeycombed and is liable to go out any time. The river is steadily rising and the weather is cloudy and cool.

A large party made its appearance in the river just opposite St. Mary's Indian reserve this morning. Indians armed themselves with shot guns and gave chase in a canoe, caught up with the animal and dispatched it.

In the supreme court this morning the case of the St. John River Steamship Company, Ltd., vs. The Crystal Steamship Company, Ltd., occupied attention. Mr. Fowler, K. C., for the plaintiff, supported the appeal.

Rev. E. C. Hennigar and Mrs. Hennigar are now on their way home from China. They will reach here in June.

Probabilities—Moderate west winds, fair; Thursday, unsettled and showery.

THEIR LIVES FOR THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Millionaires and Great Men Of Various Walks of Life Heroes of Titanic

THE SCENE IMAGINED

Men Like Astor, Hays, Cuggenheim and Others, Standing Back to Give Place in Boats to Sable-Shod, Illiterate Peasant Women of Europe

New York, April 17.—Carefully compiling the available lists, the record of the named survivors of the Titanic disaster stands significantly thus:

Men—677, Women—325, Children—16, Total—1018

Of the remaining 940 known survivors it is estimated that not more than 100 were seamen required to man boats. This would leave approximately 840 in the ordinary proportions of women and children in the staterooms where the passengers numbered 710. It seems probable that the greater part of these 840 were women and their little ones.

Nothing could show more plainly the heroism of the crew and the men passengers who stood by the doomed ship, facing practically inevitable death, and sent the women and children away in the lifeboats. Some would have to be left, but by a certain number in fact were left. But to a large number of the men who were left, standing behind, deliberately, calmly sleeping away to let the weaker ones, those to whom they owed protection, take their way to safety.

The picture which in view of what is known, inevitably presents itself, is of men like John Jacob Astor, master of scores of millions, Charles M. Hays, a great railroad magnate, Benjamin Guggenheim, a noted financier, and others, standing back to give place in boats to Sable-shod, illiterate peasant women of Europe.

Fredericton, N. B., April 17.—The legislators talked of little else this morning but the distressing news of the steamship disaster, which had a depressing effect upon everyone. The corporations committee was in session but a short time and the public accounts committee is about winding up its deliberations. Mr. Robinson was expected to return this morning, but was detained by business and some matters will be held over until his arrival.

The assumed eagerness of Chairman Pinder to further investigate the Central Railway, as suggested by Mr. Robinson, has received a serious check. The government says he has no authority to look into accounts back of 1911, and that, as the payment to Mr. Powell does not appear in that year, he cannot be called upon to produce his report to the attorney general.

The members of the government and their supporters have never been able to answer the question of the Liberals why they did not act upon the report of their commission and seek to recover the money they said had been "swindled." They have even said that the books were stolen from the house of the auditor. It is so easy to say that, but they have never attempted to prove it. They are masters of insinuation and such slaves to their prejudice that they fear the truth may come out.

The truth, as contained in Mr. Powell's report and in other correspondence would probably not suit those Tories who thought they had a political gold mine in the Central Railway investigation and hate to acknowledge that it was simply a "failed" proposition promoted vigorously and widely advertised.

Now, when the Liberals want the report, when they learned through one of the commission that there were grave differences of opinion, they are held up with the decision of the former opposition critic, now the chairman of the public accounts, that they cannot investigate. There are many things that cannot be done; the amounts paid to the political granters cannot be disclosed; the policy of the government upon many matters is reluctantly brought down and every possible effort is made to keep provincial affairs as private as those of a close corporation.

Fredericton, N. B., April 17.—(Special)—The Government steamer Earl Grey, from Charlottetown to Pictou, went ashore at half past ten this morning between Tony River and Cape John, according to a wireless received here from the Grey.

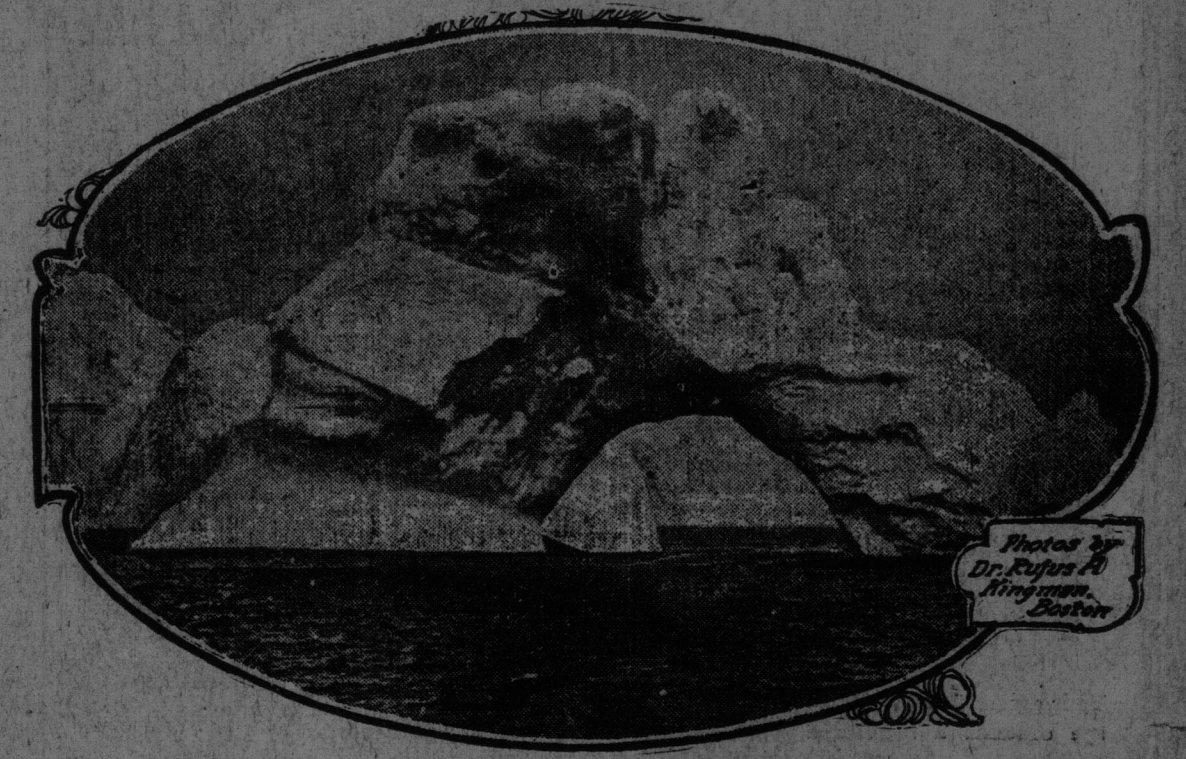

The Minto, from Pictou to Charlottetown, which was anchored off Carleton Harbor in a fog since seven a.m. has gone to the Grey's assistance, the fog being lifted.

A wireless from the Grey at noon says she is ashore two miles west of Tony River on a rocky bottom, but making no water.

Mr. John McLeod, of West St. John, will leave this evening for Calgary where he will join her husband.

FORMER DIGBY MAN MURDERED

Captain M. J. Starratt Killed in New York on Board His Vessel, Evidently With Motive of Robbery

(Special to Times) Digby, N. S., April 17.—Year correspondent in receipt of details of the murder of Captain Melville J. Starratt, formerly of Digby, but who had been a member of the Pennsylvania railway for twenty years. Mrs. Frederick Dillon, now residing here, is a daughter of Captain Starratt.

He was found murdered on board his craft at the Morgan line pier. His head had been crushed with an axe, which was lying near the body. The cabin had been rifled in an unsuccessful search for his wages, which he had received the day before. Starratt's wrist, elbow and ankles had been tied. Although the blow had been enough to kill him it is thought the murderer was afraid he might regain consciousness.

The murder was discovered by the assistant harbor master for the Morgan line, who went to the lighter to find Starratt and get his papers. Starratt's belongings in the cabin were scattered about in the great confusion. The mattress had been shredded and a small bag had been cut open as if in search for money. Clothes were tossed about the room and there was a heap of them in one corner.

At one side of the room was a pool of blood. Starratt's body lay on the floor on a pallet of blankets. He was in his underwear, as if he had been about to go to bed when he was attacked. The bed had not been slept in. There was evidence of a struggle in the cabin. On a shelf was a revolver of which three chambers had been discharged some time ago and evidently Starratt tried to get to the revolver to protect himself and was struck down as he did so.

Captain Starratt had received $70 in pay and $84 of this money was found in the toe of an old rubber lining under the heap of clothing, which had been tossed in the corner.

Captain Starratt was sixty years old and lived in Brooklyn. He leaves his wife and six grown up children. The family moved there from Digby some years after Captain Starratt had engaged with the Pennsylvania Railway system.

Ontario Government May Submit Proposed Changes to The People

Toronto, April 17.—The Evening Telegram tonight states that there is declared to be a possibility of the provincial government submitting the opposition "banish the bar" proposal and the government's proposal to abolish treating, to the electors in the form of a referendum.

There is a feeling among many of the supporters of the government that they have already gone as far in the suppression of the liquor traffic as public opinion will warrant, and they believe that a referendum on the two suggestions is the best possible way of determining what is the feeling of the electors regarding them.

IN THE COMMITTEES IN FREDERICTON TODAY

Bills Relating to Edmundston And to Two Railway Companies

Fredericton, N. B., April 17.—The municipalities committee this morning agreed to a bill relating to the town of Edmundston, with amendments. The bill was supported by Mr. Cyr. It gives power to issue bonds of $10,000 for completion of an electric light plant.

The corporations committee considered a bill to incorporate the Minamichi Trolley Railway Company. Mr. Allan supported it. There was some discussion as to a section to provide that municipalities and towns affected might issue bonds to bonus the railway and, after further discussion, it was decided to report progress.

A bill to incorporate the Nerepis and Long Island Railway Company was considered. R. B. Hanson appeared in support of it. It was recommended with amendments.

COMING TO CLOSE OF WINTERPORT SEASON

I. C. R. Terminal Agent Speaks of Increased Business and General Activity

The harbor wharves on the east and west sides are the scenes of keen activity at present, with the closing of the season. The warehouses are at present well filled with freight which has yet to be shipped and the steamers leaving before the close of the winter trade will have exceptionally large cargoes.

L. R. Ross, terminal agent for the I. C. R., in speaking of the business of the road this year, said that in all the years he had been here, he had never known of such a volume of trade, or of such a general busy spring as this, the present month in particular. There were many reasons for this and it was gratifying to note that the increase in trade at this port had been so great. It was the busiest year he had known about the harbor front and he looked for records in this direction to be broken.

When the C. P. R. and I. C. R. were working in the old sheds the staffs had all they could do to keep abreast of the work, but now with the C. P. R. handling their own business, there was even a further increase in the work to be done in the intercolonial shed. The wharves were all busy and coal bunkering caused by the strike in England, was still in progress.

A bill to incorporate the Nerepis and Long Island Railway Company was considered. R. B. Hanson appeared in support of it. It was recommended with amendments.

Probabilities—Moderate west winds, fair; Thursday, unsettled and showery.

THE WEATHER

SAYS CAPTAIN HAD MADE COMMENT ON INSUFFICIENT NUMBER OF LIFEBOATS

Chicago, April 17.—That Captain Smith of the Titanic believed that the steamer was not properly equipped with lifeboats and other life-saving apparatus and that he protested, without success, against lack of preparation is the statement made by John Maxton, a friend of his here, Maxton said while returning from Europe in the Olympic with Captain Smith he was gripped by such a large vessel. It was, according to Maxton, that Captain Smith spoke of the life preserving equipment of the Titanic, then in course of construction at Sable Island. "If the ship should strike a submerged derelict or iceberg that would cut through into several of the watertight compartments we have not enough boats or rafts aboard to take care of more than one-third of the passengers. The Titanic, too, is no better equipped. It ought to carry at least double the number of boats and rafts that it does to account for any real protection, besides, there is always danger of some of the boats being damaged or swept away before they can be manned."

NO WORD YET OF FATE OF COLONEL ASTOR

A New York despatch to J. M. Robinson & Sons says there are doubts as to the fate of Olan M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk, who, yesterday, was reported saved. There is no word yet from Colonel J. J. Astor, Jedore Straus, Major Archibald W. Butt, George D. Widener, Harry Widener, Benjamin Guggenheim.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH GAMBON

THE best thing of an inexpensive kind is almost always better than a cheap thing of a more expensive class. Things which appear exactly the same on the surface are often entirely different when you look into them more closely.

Nine years ago two young girls who were chums were married at about the same time. These young couples had nearly the same amount of money to spend, and many of their household furnishings were similar.

Good mullin or sericin curtains are infinitely preferable to hangings of cheap lace. First class cretonne is better than fourth class tapstry. It is infinitely more satisfactory to pay fifty cents for the best of silk stockings than for the cheap grade of silk hose.

Some time ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and was unable to obtain any relief from other medicines so sent for a sample bottle of your Swamp-Root. I received so much benefit from this small bottle that I purchased a large bottle of the drug.

La MARQUISE de FONTENAY

Sir Schomberg Macdonnell Succeeds to Fine Scotch Estate—Prettiest Princess on Globe, But Blind

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company) Sir Schomberg Macdonnell, younger brother of Lord Antrim, has just succeeded to a very extensive estate and to a considerable fortune, through the death of old Mrs. Dugald Stuart of Lochearn, widow of Dugald Stuart, a great descendant of a celebrated lawyer, Sir John Stuart, who was vice-chancellor of England.

It was long the private secretary of the late Lord Salisbury, when the latter was prime minister, and was granted leave by his chief to take a better tempered African war, where he served with distinction. He is not known in Washington, and while Lord Salisbury's secretary occasionally used to visit his old friends, Lord and Lady Minto in Ottawa, taking in Washington on the way, and it is now known that it was thanks to his advice that Lord Salisbury kept on Lord Paton as British Ambassador at Washington, long after the date at which he should have retired; indeed, until Lord Pauncefote's death.

"Pom" Macdonnell—"Pom" being the nickname by which Sir Schomberg is known to his friends—is a better tempered man than he looks. He was formerly deputy secretary of the treasury department, and is a particularly successful manager of the art of keeping his own counsel. He makes friends wherever he goes, and knows how to keep them, and he has the reputation of never forgetting an enemy.

Baron Coles von der Bruggen, who is delegated by Germany to serve as her chief representative at the international congress on shipping and transportation matters, to be opened on May 25 next, in Philadelphia, is the head of a very old-established Coles family, the members of which have been in the service of the British crown in the duchies of Coburg and Gotha, rather than in Prussia, or any of the larger states of the German confederation, considering that it is more agreeable to a personage in a small country, than a nonentity in a big one.

They are persona grata at the court of Coburg, and owing to the intimacy which prevails between Coburg and Berlin on the one hand and Gotha and St. Petersburg on the other, it may easily be imagined that Baron Coles von der Bruggen will prove extremely effective in securing permanent peace between the two empires.

Khedive Abba's engagement of his daughter Amal, to the son of the Turkish ambassador and former grand vizier, Ferid Paasha, has created a good deal of sensation, not because of the word as a marriage, but mainly because the Princess is renowned as one of the loveliest girls in the East, and is to be found either in Europe or elsewhere. She has been both deaf and dumb from her birth. What adds to the seeming cruelty of the affliction, is that she is a most brilliantly gifted woman. In fact, she is getting the most attractive of all the princesses of the blood now living, as she is certainly alone among them in being deprived of the use of her hearing and speech.

She is positively idolized by her parents and by her brothers and sisters, and among the Egyptian people at large her affliction is looked upon as a special token of holiness. It is fortunate under the circumstances that young Ferid has an excellent reputation as a gentleman, in the best Turkish sense of the word, and that is saying no little, as those who have resided in the Ottoman Empire are aware. For if it were thought that any untoward influence could be exercised upon so politically and religiously influential a personage might be deplorable, both in Turkey and in Egypt. Ferid Paasha, the father of the bridegroom, is a man of about sixty, brigadier-general, and is placed at the head of the best proof of the sterling character of both father and son is that both of them enjoy, in an equal degree, the confidence and affection of the present khedive, and of the present sultan, and also of the older and more conservative part of the Turkish constitutional regime.

BEWARE Young Man

It's The Little Dandruff Germs That are Causing Your Hair To Thin Out

Parisian Sage Stops Falling Hair. The clever young man of today doesn't take any chances on losing his hair. A man who is baldheaded at thirty looks like forty-five, and is placed at a disadvantage when seeking employment. If you have dandruff it means down near the roots of your hair an army of dandruff germs are attacking the hair root and destroying its vitality. Then hair falls out, grows thin, and baldness results. Young men put your faith in PARISIAN SAGE; it will stop falling hair, kill dandruff germs, abolish dandruff and itching scalp, or a bottle at A. Chipman Smith's, and dealers everywhere.

BETTER PROTECTION!
CHEAPER INSURANCE!

The Water and Sewerage Department of the civic administration is one in which all citizens should take a deep interest. Improved water service means better protection against fire, and better protection against fire means cheaper insurance rates.

During his term as chairman of the water and sewerage board Ald. Wigmore has made a special study of the service and has done something to improve it. If elected as a commissioner in the final elections on Tuesday, April 23rd, he will go to the city council pledged to further improve this important department and to provide water and sewerage facilities to districts which are now without them.

If you think this worth while, see to it that Wigmore gets there.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Every woman at some time needs a tonic. At special times unusual demands are made upon her strength. Where these are added to the worry and hard work which fall to her lot, weakness will result unless the blood is fortified to meet the strain.

Weak women find in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the tonic exactly suited to their needs. Most of the ill with which they suffer are due to bloodlessness—a condition which the Pills readily cure. These Pills give the girl who enters into womanhood in a bloodless condition from years of misery, and afford prompt and permanent relief to the woman who is bloodless, and therefore weak. Mrs. R. Fisher, Coles Mills, N. B., says: "Some time ago my system was in a very anemic condition as the result of an internal hemorrhage caused by a skilled doctor. For a time, I did not recover my strength, and gradually I grew so weak that I could not do any house work. As I seemed to grow steadily weaker I became much discouraged, for previous to my accident I had always been a healthy woman. About this time I received a pamphlet, telling me of the strengthening powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I procured a box at once and began taking them, when they were gone I got three boxes more, and by the time I had used these I found myself somewhat stronger and my appetite much better. Before I began the Pills I could scarcely walk up stairs, and could do no work at all. Now after taking three boxes I was able to walk out in the open air. I kept on with the Pills, and after using six boxes I was able to do my household affairs. I took two more boxes of the Pills, and I felt that I was equal to any kind of exertion. I have since recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to friends with beneficial results."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FACE WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH PIMPLES.

Four Different Doctors Did Her No Good.

Two Bottles of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS Cured Her.

Bad blood is directly the cause of the face breaking out in pimples, and it is impossible to eradicate them unless you put your blood into good shape.

Burdock Blood Bitters is compounded from roots, herbs, barks and berries, and is without a doubt the best remedy procurable for the purpose of driving all the blood impurities out of the system.

Mr. Geo. E. Miller, Clavering, Ont., writes:—"Last fall I was very much troubled with pimples on my face which were literally covered with them. I went to four different doctors, but they could do me no good. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the second one the pimples had disappeared completely, thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I would advise anybody who is troubled with any blood trouble to use Burdock Blood Bitters."

Mr. Bushman is discharged because engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with the chief of the counterfeiter, who is armed with a heavy caliber gun. Suddenly the weapon was accidentally fired and Mr. Bushman received the wound from the blank cartridge in the fleshy part of his left arm, making an extremely deep and painful wound.

The injury was quickly dressed and the director was on the point of calling off the rehearsal for the day, but Mr. Bushman pluckily refused to stop work. The climax of the scene was changed so as to eliminate the revolver battle, and the film terminated in a highly successful and satisfactory capture of the counterfeiter. A physician was summoned, Bushman's injury was properly dressed, and after he had been warmly congratulated for his pluck he left for home to rest and recover from the nervous shock.

The Lady That Is "Wondrous Fair" (Mrs. Graham on the Criterion) "Any woman with a clear and soft complexion looks young and attractive."

"The girl of sixteen whose skin is dark and 'muddy,' or rough or red, or who has wrinkles not sent by Father Time, or hair on lip or cheek, or pimples and blotches—how does she compare with the woman that is 'wondrous fair' at forty?"

"And the fair woman at forty is with us often than we realize. We know when she is fair—but we do not know when she is forty."

"If you would be satisfied with your complexion, massage your face, arms and neck once a day with a solution made by dissolving a small original package of my..."

"This treatment is harmless and gives wonderful results, removing all manner of blemishes, and preventing wrinkles and superfluous hair."

PRUNING THE APPENDIX

What thousands of people are rushed to the hospitals these days with the idea that pruning the appendix will rid them of the cause and effect of wrong habits of eating and living.

We eat too much, take too little outdoor exercise, breathe impure air, and when the system gets loaded with foul impurities, which irritate the digestive system and set up inflammation, we are told that the operating table is the only place for us.

Why not prevent appendicitis, as well as acute indigestion, peritonitis and Bright's disease of the kidneys, by keeping the liver active and the bowels regular. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cleanse the digestive system of foul impurities more quickly than any treatment you can obtain. They awaken the liver and ensure the healthful action of the kidneys and bowels.

WHO IS TO BLAME?
A window in the confectionery store of Harry Trife in Main street was broken on Monday a little after dinner, a stone being thrown through it by a young fellow named Harley Wheaton. The young fellow was throwing the stone at a car conductor, who, it was said, was being tormented by sneezing his face with grease or oil until, becoming angry, he picked up a stone to defend himself. The stone was thrown by Wheaton, but it went through the window and now the youngster has been reported by the police.

GAVE FINE CONCERT
A troupe of entertainers from the steamer Empress of Ireland last evening gave an enjoyable concert in the Seaman's Institute before a large audience who seemed greatly pleased with the programme. Those taking part were: Messrs. Schroeder, Myers, Laycock, Metcalf, Kennedy, Tunstall and Lee, who sang solo with pleasing effect, and J. L. Jones who gave a sketch, "The Country Curate," which brought forth many hearty laughs. The second part was composed of sketches in comedy and was much enjoyed.

Captain Carter, it was said last night, was single, but was married. His first wife was Miss Adeline McManus, and there was one son, Willie. He is now ten years old. The second wife, who was Miss Wilson, of Alms, Albert county, survives at their home in Waterside.

NOT PACKING SARDINES
An "Eastport letter" says:—Although Monday, April 15, marked the opening of the sardine season in Machias, the usual quietness prevailed and none of the plants in this city commenced operations. Although the Canadian shore and one boat-boat sent over to Libec, where one of the factories of the Sea Coast Canning Co. began to pack sardines. The situation regarding the packing of sardines is not very encouraging for an early opening of the fish factories and all indications point to a much later date for beginning the packing of sardines. The demand remains weak and conditions seem to indicate a small spring pack.
