BIGAMY CASE

Man 1 Sent to Prison, One Woman is Committed for Trial—A Big Steamship Combination to Bid for Business on the Great Lakes

(Canadian Press) Toronto, June 10.—A company has been formed with a capital of $5,000,000 to purchase a bakery in Montreal, and one in Winnipeg, and the Bredin, Tomlin and Weston bakeries in Toronto with the object of "centralizing management," modernizing plants, and providing the three cities with better bread at the same price. This is the outcome of the much talked of bread merger. The financier at the back of the project is Oswald Melock, who will be president, while M. Bredin, of Toronto, will be general manager. On a charge of bigamy, W. J. McGuire was yesterday sentenced to a term of one year in the central prison. His accomplice in the offense, Mrs. D. N. Gates, formerly of Brown Hill, and now a restaurant keeper, was committed for trial. McGuire was committed on the testimony of Mrs. Gates and Mrs. Scollins, which was in effect that they had married McGuire knowing at the time that they had husbands living and so informing McGuire. Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—One of the largest steamship mergers in the history of Great Lakes navigation was successfully carried out here when five companies joined a combination which will be known as the Great Lakes Steamship Company. The new concern will have a paid-in capital of $5,000,000 and a bond issue of $1,500,000. About twenty-one freight vessels are involved in the deal. The Guardian Savings and Trust Company of Cleveland is named trustee and depositary.

BREATHING PLACES FOR THE PEOPLE

Something of the Work on the Public Squares of St. John

GARDENER BUSY MAN

Mr. Mullin and His Assistants Find Plenty to do Keeping Plots Attractive and Bright—Some Suggestions Tending to Bring About Even Better Results

The replacement of thirty or forty seats in King Square combined with the special exertions of John Mullin, the gardener, under the supervision of Engineer Murdoch and the city council to make the squares of the city present an attractive appearance as possible, next week, is the approval of every citizen whether rich or poor. Mr. Mullin has under his control practically all the grass covered squares in the city. These include King, Queen, Haymarket and Indeterminate squares and the old burial ground. King square and the burial ground are receiving the greater part of the attention of the gardener and his assistants. But nature has not been provided for, but nature has not responded to the call for rain, which is necessary when plant life is concerned. Where the Flowers are Secured Seven hot-beds situated at the lower end of the old burial ground were sowed with seed early in the spring. The beds are in the upper part of King Square where the ground is drier and of a different texture. For this portion of the square plants are supplied by W. & B. Pedersen, of Charlotte street, who also have hot-beds at Sandy Point Road, where suitable soil is utilized. Plants are purchased and set out while in bloom. In the hot-beds, the plants are included in a class. When the tulips go out of bloom, as many are now doing, later plants are set out and the beds are reinforced. As the season is fairly well advanced the more hardy varieties such as geraniums will be transplanted during the coming weeks. An effort has been made to get a good stand of zinnias grouped about the Young monument and a special order for young plants will be given next week to all the vases which are placed on the base of the monument. The absence of moisture has prevented any extensive work of transplanting in Queen Square. Last autumn a number of black birch and maple trees were set out in the square. The trees came from the property belonging to Engineer Murdoch. They are proving a valuable addition to the public grounds of the city. The rocky mound at the lower end of the old burial ground has been planted with nasturtiums which will present a happy appearance during the months of July and August and September. The flower beds exhibit a variety of shapes and sizes. A favorite shape is the diamond shaped bed. In the long beds a border of candy tuff and sweet alyssum, Magaldi, chrysantheums and the Virginia stock reinforce the border. The lawn mowing, which is very carefully undertaken to exterminate such weeds as the dandelions, is largely assigned to the city assistants. This group consists of seven stalwarts, as follows:—Florence Mahony, Roderick Connolly, John Barnes, John Sheas, Russell Parke, and Messrs. Mallory and Spike. In addition to the lawn mowing, considerable hand work is done on the pathways and in such rocky places as the upper side of the old graveyard, which will be mowed with a scythe when sufficient mowers are directly taken by the staff.

QUEBEC ALDERMAN SHOOKED

Quebec, June 10.—(Canadian Press)—The city council was surprised last evening by a motion of one of the aldermen, whose modesty had been shocked by the display of two statues of Greek goddesses in front of a new theatre in St. Roch. The motion was received with surprise and laughter when it was left to the chief of police to decide whether or not the statues should be allowed to remain there.

FISH TRADE MEANS MUCH TO ST. JOHN

Hundreds Depend Upon Catch For Their Livelihood

A CHAT WITH DEALERS

Reciprocity Will Increase Trade and Not Add to Local Prices. The Eel a Trouble Which it is Felt Must be Looked After

Although there have been many obstacles to overcome the port of St. John is year by year coming into more prominence as a centre for the fishing industry, but owing to the fact that it is located quite a distance from the fishing grounds, it is rather difficult for local dealers to carry on as large a business as they wish. In spite of this fact, however, there are, it is estimated, between 400 and 500 men who live by securing through the fishing industry in and around St. John, and in fact one dealer said to a Times reporter that he thought there were fully 600 men who gained employment through the fishing trade. Besides large quantities of fish of different kinds are shipped to foreign markets, and many of the local wholesale dealers, and some dealers in fish, send their consignments to the West Indies, and to various parts in the States. This goes on at almost all seasons of the year in some form or other, but in the spring the regular exports are augmented by the shipping of fresh shad and cod in barrels and boxes, soundly packed in chopped ice to keep them free from exposure to the heat.

Reciprocity Means More Business

That which is a benefit to the local fish dealer engaged in the exportation of fish to the States, does not mean a disadvantage to the local fish dealer. It is felt that it would probably result in an increased trade, and would not effect the price of fish in St. John. The duty would be taken from Canadian fish, and the American dealer would be even more willing to buy than at present.

The Eel a Trouble

The fact that some places along the coast are nearer to the fishing grounds gives them a slight advantage over St. John, but because of the market here and the facilities for handling and shipping the fish, much of it is brought to this port, which would otherwise go elsewhere. And from places along the North Shore and the eastern shore of New Brunswick as well as in Prince Edward Island, large consignments are shipped to the States via this port.

The Sturgeon

There is one matter which local merchants say will soon have to be considered by the department of fisheries, and that is the catching of sturgeon in the estuary of the St. John river and harbor, and the subsequent increase in the quantity of fish of more use and value. Millions of salmon and shad spawn, it is said by those who are acquainted with the waters of the estuary, are each year destroyed by these slimy denizens, and it is felt that some measures will have to be adopted to protect the fisheries.

Destructive Work

In the north end this week a Times reporter was shown about one hundred fresh dead recently caught in the waters of St. John which had been taken from a consignment being shipped to the States because of the fact that they had been rendered valueless for exportation on account of the sturgeon.

ST. JOHN'S FIRE ALARM OF THE DAYS BEFORE '77

The Old Bell Tower at the Head of King Street—Every Policeman Had a Key to Let Him Into Belfry to Sound the Call to Fire Battle

THE OLD BELL TOWER

The Times old time photograph this morning is one of the old bell tower which was a familiar sight as it stood at the head of King street or the King Square west of the old bell tower. This tower was built in 1851 and from it the call was rung. It was of wood, painted in a manner similar to the small bell tower of which there were one or two in the town. The tower had a superior tone and could be heard distinctly in every direction, even to Charlottetown. Some years previous to the construction of 1877 the bell was attached to the fire alarm system, which was installed at the time, and it sounded continuously during this eventful day till swept away into the flames. On the corner of King street, which is partly seen in the picture, show the St. John Hotel, and alongside of it, as seen by the sign, was the restaurant of George Sparrow.

FIGHTING BROWNTAIL MOTH HERE

Has Not Secured Firm Hold in New Brunswick Yet

THE WORK BEING DONE

Wm. McIntosh, Curator of Natural History Society, Reviews History of the Pest in the Province—School Pupils Aiding in Campaign of Extermination

With the approach of the apple growing season, interest again begins to centre on the "brown-tail" moth question. The first adult brown-tail moth taken in Canada was found in Nerepis, N. B., in 1897, after a search made on instructions from the late Dr. James Fletcher, dominion entomologist, and since then the question has been a live one with the farmers and growers throughout this and many other provinces. Soon after the discovery at Nerepis, William McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society here, made a careful search to find if the moth was breeding in that locality. No traces were found there then, or since, so it was probably a stray specimen. From time to time since then, however, adults have been found, but not until this year was the moth definitely known to have become established in New Brunswick. The first systematic search made for nests was in 1900, when Mr. McIntosh spent a week or two searching for the pests along the line of railway from Adam to St. John. Last year a further search was made and some educational work was done in the schools. Realizing how impossible it was for one, or even many persons to make a thorough search of the trees, the Natural History Society decided to do some work in the schools, and educate the children to know the moth. The work has been carried on successfully, and many teachers and pupils throughout the province are sending in acres of insects weekly for identification.

The piled damage other than this was to a number of small houses.

THE BROWNTAIL MOTH

The board of health reports the following deaths for the week—old age, three; pneumonia, one; heart disease, one; angina pectoris, one; tubercular meningitis, one. abundant they feed not only on fruit trees, but upon all forest trees and shrubs, except the evergreens. Campaign of Extermination The dominion and provincial governments will join in the work against the moth during the winter and will colonize some parasitic enemies of the brown-tail in the hope of destroying it. At the present time the caterpillars of the brown tail are from three-quarters to one inch in length, brown, hairy, with two red spots on the under part of the body. Early in June the moths will emerge pure white, with a brown end on the body. Mr. McIntosh will gladly examine all specimens of caterpillars sent to him which are thought to be of the brown tail variety, and will name and give remedies for any injurious insects.

THE TIMES' NEW REPORTER

"Julius nothing," broke in one of the other redcoats. "It was Gen. Grant. 'Go away,' said the third. 'It was Col. Sam. Hughes.' James leaped against a post and gazed in speechless wonder as the three walked on down the street. 'I'll bet a big apple,' he said, 'that there isn't one man in fifty in the city of St. John who could tell the story of the battle of Bunker Hill. I'm glad the boys are going to Boston to hear about it.' 'What-a-ye!' gasped Jamesy.

WHAT WE KNOW OF HISTORY Our esteemed fellow citizen Mr. Jamesy Jones could have been knocked down by a feather last evening, after he had interviewed three young gentlemen in red coats. Approaching them on the street he accepted them with this question: "Young sirs, who won the battle of Bunker Hill?" "Julius Caesar," promptly replied one of the three. "What-a-ye!" gasped Jamesy.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

ANOTHER, today. Yes, honest and truly, another letter has come in this last mail asking me to write an article saying that it is bad form for a girl to chew gum in public.

This one makes—well, I wouldn't really dare say how many. I'd be afraid you wouldn't believe me. Truly, I can't understand it.

Write an article saying that it is bad form for a girl to chew gum in public. Why, that seems to me about like being asked to write an article saying that it is often hot in July, or that a pint of whiskey might be had for the stomach, or that it is not kind for a man to murder another.

Can there really be a girl in this land who does not know that to chew gum in public is bad form? Take a girl who hasn't had any home training at all, and if she has ever seen another girl deform her face by chewing gum—surely she probably has—they usually seem to do it in droves—surely that sight is enough to teach her that chewing gum is not a pleasant habit.

Perhaps my correspondents are right and this is a matter that needs to be brought before our young girls, but I cannot help feeling that it is simply a case of "know the right and yet the wrong purpose."

One woman writes: "I once heard a man say, 'I was more than taken with Miss [redacted] but I caught her several times chewing gum with her friends, and that was too much for me.'"

That's the ordinary masculine attitude toward the habit. Of course every girl that chews gum knows that.

She must know, too, that no matter how pretty she is, the minute she begins to chew gum she ceases to be good looking.

She must know that her attempts to solve the perpetual motion problem make anyone who has to look at her desperately nervous.

She must know that nice girls, refined girls, the girls she admires never chew gum.

Perhaps my correspondents are right and this is a matter that needs to be brought before our young girls, but I cannot help feeling that it is simply a case of "know the right and yet the wrong purpose."

The German Grudge Against Morocco and its Cause—The Willoughbys—England's Grande at Residential Castle

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company)

Emperor William and his family have an ancient grudge against Morocco, which, when explained, will enable my readers to understand why Germany takes so much more interest in the condition of affairs in the Moorish empire than is warranted by the extent of her trade in that part of the world.

It seems that a little more than thirty years ago, that is to say, during the reign of our Emperor William, Prince Adalbert of Prussia, a German prince and pioneer of the German navy, sailed into Mogador, severely wounded, with the Prussian corvette which was being badly damaged by the Moorish tribes of the coast.

In fact, she was compelled to allow the insult, and to submit to the indignity of being taken to the Sultan's palace, where she was to be kept until she was repaired, and then to be sent back to her home port.

Prince Adalbert, who died as admiral of the Prussian navy, was the father of the late Emperor, and his daughter, the famous ballerina, was created by King Frederick William IV. of Prussia, Baroness of the Order of the Red Eagle, and the name of Baron Adalbert von Borsum, who died in 1890, at the age of ninety-two, thus predeceasing his father and mother.

Lord Willoughby's patronymic is Verney, and he is in a response to inquiries which reach me from readers in New York, as to the identity of a certain A. K. Willoughby, of Westchester, who is the manager of the local theatre at Port Richmond, who is alleged to be a son of Lord Willoughby, the famous English nobleman, a Dr. G. Willoughby, who lost his life last month in the destruction, by fire, of the great independence, and also inventor of the first velocipede, precursor of the bicycle of today, and which is preserved at the London Museum.

The late Duchess of Devonshire induced her husband to restore his thousand-acre-old Althorp Castle, at an expense of some £1,000,000.

The duchess, who defrayed the cost of the production of the Duke's Arabic play, and all the expenses connected with his residence and excursions in Egypt, was a sister of the first, that is to say, the late Duke of Westminster. Her father-in-law, the second Duke of Northumberland, was born as far back as 1765, fought in the Seven Years' War under Frederick the Great, and in the American war of independence, and also invented the first velocipede, precursor of the bicycle of today, and which is preserved at the London Museum.

Sickness is usually caused by the accumulation of waste matter and impurities within the body.

Dr. Moore's Indian Root Pills, enable the bowels, the kidneys, the lungs and the pores of the skin to throw off these impurities. They prevent or cure disease. 25c. a box.

NO DESIRE FOR FOOD The Stomach Seems Played Out and the Appetite Fickle. The Digestive System is Overloaded With Poisons—Relief Comes With the Use of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Weak stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion and all the accompanying symptoms of pain, acid, flatulence and lack of energy, tend to make you eat your food with a heavy, oppressive feeling, and nothing but boys for many people.

The system is all out of order, the blood is impure, the action of the bowels is overworked, and the waste matter and poisons are accumulated in the system. This accumulation of waste matter and poisons is the cause of the backaches and headaches.

How can this condition be overcome? There is no other way, you can be certain, than by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This treatment gets the liver and kidneys in action, once and ensures regular movement of a bowels.

The poisonous matter which has been clogging the active system is removed and the organs of digestion are enabled to properly perform their duties. Appetite is sharpened, you eat your food with a relish, the stomach is strengthened, the vital organs get the nourishment they require, and vigor and energy are restored.

There is no season for anyone who knows of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to have impure blood or to suffer the annoyances of tired, spring feelings. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Wm. Watson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Distinguished Men Sought as Speakers by Canadian Club. At a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Club in the Times building yesterday afternoon, it was decided to write to Premier Hagen and ask him to make an effort to get the Premier of Australia or New Zealand or some other distinguished delegate to the Imperial conference and coronation to address the club when on the way home again. The question of getting other speakers was discussed at some length. Among those who it is hoped may be secured as speakers later in the year are Rev. Dr. Shahan of Washington, Sir Alex. Fraser and Glen Campbell, M. P.

THE EPIDEMIC HOSPITAL

During the period in which the Epidemic Hospital is closed for repairs, the Commissioners of the General Public Hospital must make other arrangements with the Board of Health for the care of contagious cases.

While nothing definite has as yet been done it is not unlikely that the epidemic hospital will be requisitioned as that at the disposal of the board.

Five Per Cent and Safety

The man who saves with an eye to future need must eliminate all risk as far as possible, invest, thoroughly his proposed investment and invest in such a way as will yield the best return.

Public Utility Bonds

It is impossible to make the methods of 1850 suit 1911. Our grandfathers would have shuddered at the thought of a modern institutional church. We cannot turn back the clock. It is wise then to attempt that modern task by encouraging the wandering revivalist. Some of the Methodist preachers wisely say no. But in making that decision they must be prepared to meet the spiritual problems of this day and learn how to fish for men with the most effective and most modern article.

THE VALLEY RAILWAY

It is quite useless for the Standard and its friends to attempt to persuade the public that the provincial government has pursued the right course from the beginning in the matter of the valley railway. Had Mr. Flemming been as willing months ago to discuss intercolonial operation of a line built from St. John to Grand Falls as he is now, the whole project would now be very much further advanced. The people remember quite well the various devices by which the provincial ministers tried to get away and keep away from the plan lately approved by the federal parliament. They were apparently not willing to favor a plan that was favored by Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Carvell. But now Mr. Flemming has expressed a desire for a conference with Dr. Pugsley, and for intercolonial operation of a line from St. John to Grand Falls. He says he believes the requirements as to the grades must be modified, but all other objections appear to have faded away.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley, in his letter, which the Times publishes today, reminds Mr. Flemming once more that action, not words, is needed. That is, that the conference will be held, and, unless the provincial government stands in the way, action will be taken.

MUST ADVERTISE

The last issue of the Maritime Merchant contains a very interesting interview with Mr. R. E. Harris, president of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, on his return from a visit to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Harris while in British Columbia looked into the question of fruit-raising, and found that the apples of that province are rather inferior in quality to those of Nova Scotia. Hundreds of settlers are going into that province every year, and taking up orchard lands, and Mr. Harris says he could not help thinking that if New Brunswick and Nova Scotia had been half as well advertised as British Columbia, very many of these immigrants would have located in these provinces. What he says further may be quoted in full: "I have no doubt that in course of time the sheer merit of these provinces by the Atlantic as a country for apple-raising will attract large numbers of new people, but the process of doing so will be a long one, and I for one do not think that we should be content to sit with folded hands until this time arrives. We should endeavor to boom the Maritime Provinces in the old country by the same advertising methods that a manufacturer adopts when he wishes to popularize his product with the public. No doubt it will cost money, but in my judgment it will be money well spent. I found that in the United States a great many people were well acquainted with the natural riches of our western provinces, but of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick they knew practically nothing." The press of these provinces has for some time urged with increasing force that action be taken to advertise our resources and advantages in a proper manner. The boards of trade, municipal and civic authorities and the provincial governments should take up the question and devise and carry out a comprehensive and progressive policy to that end. Every visitor to England speaks on his return of the great extent to which the west is advertised, while the east is comparatively unknown.

THE TARIFF BOARD

It is very evident that the American tariff board is not satisfying Mr. Underwood, the House leader of the Democrats. Careful observers predicted from the beginning that it was bound to fail. The new policy of the Republicans, which is to make protection a permanent institution in the country, can find no machinery able to secure information as to the difference in cost of manufacturing in America and abroad, consequently they will not be able to decide just what is "adequate protection" for the American producer. Mr. Taft hailed the idea of a tariff so arranged as to equalize the cost of production with great glee, and Senator Aldrich laid it down as the policy of the party. He said in the last House: "If it costs ten cents to produce a razor in England and twenty cents in the United States, it will require 100 per cent duty to equalize conditions in the two countries. . . . As far as I am concerned

I shall have no hesitancy in voting for a duty that shall equalize conditions." He goes on to say that he would vote for three hundred per cent, as cheerfully as he would for fifty.

It is taken for granted that it is worth while to encourage a domestic industry if costs of production are so large that duties of thirty, sixty, or one hundred per cent are called for. Yet it is the inescapable commonplace of political economy that domestic production is only good when it is carried on under advantageous conditions. To import goods is not a loss if they can be imported much more cheaply than they can be made at home. To make a thing at home is not to the advantage of the country if it can be made at a very high cost.

The equalizing principle that caused the appointment of the tariff commission runs directly counter to this. Its argument is that things should be so equalized that anything and everything can be made at home. If capital and labor are turned into directions that cannot become self-sustaining, the result is wasted capital and labor. The tariff board has good precedent for wasting a quarter of a million of dollars in its work, as Mr. Underwood charged. If its "true" principle of protection is ever accepted and applied, this is but a title of what the country will waste in costly experiments.

Mr. Underwood charges, too, that if the board went on for ten years as at present, they would not furnish enough information on the wool schedule to write a tariff bill. It is a reasonable charge, no matter how long their investigations might be carried on they would only reach rough and approximate results. They must be equipped with power to investigate both home and foreign factories and that power no one can give. Foreign manufacturers particularly would be jealous about imparting the information. To the eager quest of the tariff board they would give answers like that of Dickens' cabman, who in reply to the query as to how long he stayed out at one time was waiting for a fare, replied, "three weeks."

"Very extraordinary," ejaculated the questioner, while the answer went down in the note book. "Rough and unreliable" would be the information they would receive both at home and abroad.

But the investigations of the Board will result in good. As a result of their industry it will be more difficult for special interests to resort to ingenious devices and "fixes" in order to bring about high rates, without it being made plain that the rates are high. The investigations may indicate, too, that the dependence of the United States manufacturers on the tariff is less real than is generally supposed. They may reveal that the general prosperity of the country is not dependent on the tariff. Anything that would make the tariff lose its importance in the eyes of the manufacturer and of the public would be a great gain.

Major General Daniel E. Sickles, the last of the surviving army commanders on the union side in the Civil War, who has a leg at the battle of Gettysburg, told the other evening an interesting story of the faith of President Lincoln in the efficiency of prayer, which tends to refute those who have held that the president was not a religious man.

The story related to a Sunday visit of the president to himself in the hospital in Washington to which the general had been carried with one chance in five hundred to live, after a bullet at Gettysburg had shattered his right leg.

"Sickles, I couldn't help coming to see you as soon as I heard of your arrival," President Lincoln said. "I want to tell you how pleased I am with the victory at Gettysburg. I had a doubt our army would win, but I am full of gratitude just the same."

"Why did you think we would win?" Sickles asked.

"Well, I will tell you," replied the president, in a hushed voice, "but you must not let it abroad; I wouldn't have anything on northern soil. England would probably intervene—and perhaps France—and the Union would be lost. I went to my bedroom, locked myself in, so that I might be alone with God, and fell on my knees. I never prayed so fervently for anything in my life as for victory for our arms at Gettysburg. As I prayed a feeling of peace came over me and I rose sure of victory, for I knew that God had answered 'Yes' to me and would be with us on the field."

Now, I am, in prophetic mood. The doctors say you have one chance in five hundred to recover. I say you will get over this trouble, that you will outlive the war and will be able to serve your country in the years to come."

"My left hand was next to him," General Sickles said last night as he finished the story. "He folded it in both of his as he bade me goodly and good cheer. That was the last time I ever saw him alive."

In all Europe there are only 45,000,000 pupils in school, with 1,119,413 teachers. In Russia there is one teacher to every 644 inhabitants; in Germany 1 to 201; in England 1 to 234. But in Germany there are only three illiterates to every 1,000 of population, while in England there are 10. In Russia there are 617 illiterates out of every 1,000 inhabitants.

J. H. Smith, janitor of the Rutland, Md., M. E. church, being ordered by the trustees to rid the church of bees that had collected between the weather boarding and the plaster, tore off the boarding, and succeeded in beating out the bees. He gathered more than 200 pounds of honey which the bees had stored during the last few years.

ON A NAUGHTY LITTLE BOY

Just now I missed from hall and stair
A joyful treble that had grown
As dear to me as that grave tone
That tells the world my older care.

And little footsteps on the floor
Were staid, I laid aside my pen
Forgot my theme, and listened—then
Stole softly to the library door.

No Sight! no sound! a moment's freak
Of fancy thrilled my pulses through:
"If—no—yet, that fancy drew
A father's blood from heart and cheek.

And then—I found him! There he lay
Surprised by sleep, caught in the act—
The rosy rascal who had sacked
His little town, and thought it play!

The shattered vase, the broken jar,
A match still smoldering on the floor;
The instandant purple pool of gore;
The chessmen scattered near and far.

Strewn leaves of albums lightly pressed
This wicked "Baby of the Woods"
In fact of half the household goods
This son and heir was seized—possessed.

Yet all in vain, for sleep had caught
The hands that reached, the feet that strayed;
And fallen in that ambush
The victor was himself overwrought.

What though torn leaves and tattered book
Still testified his deep disgrace!
I stooped and kissed the baby face
With its dimpled and calm outlook.

Then back I stole, and half beguiled
My guilt, in trust that when my sleep
Should come, there might be One who'd
"Keep an equal mercy for His child."

—Bret Harte.

SURE THING.
"It is said that impetuous people have black eyes."
"Yes, and if they don't have them they are apt to get them."

ON HER METTLE.
Mistress—I have some friends coming to dinner today, Mary, so I want you to cook your very best.
Cook—You can depend on me, ma'am; I've got some friends of my own coming, too.

"SHE TOOK THE DAYLIGHT WITH HER."
She made the world a little brighter
Because—because her look was glad;
She made my heart a little brighter,
In spite of all the cares I had.

She made life seem a little better
Because—because she was so fair;
She caused me to become her debtor
For sweetly sitting near her there.

But, O, she robbed me of my gladness
When she arose to quit the car;
I journeyed on my way in sadness,
Annoyed by every lot and jar.

She left the car, and I, ad-hearred,
Quit dreaming of what might not be;
I heard her say as she departed:
"My! How that old fellow 'stayed me!'"

"The Razor of To-day"

GILLETTE Blades Are Harder—Keener—Smoother—Than Forged Razor Blades

Before the GILLETTE was invented, razor blades were all forged. That is, a piece of mild steel was heated, and hammered out till it took the form of a razor blade. Every heating, every hammering, changed the hardness of the steel a little—how much no man could tell, but more in some parts than others, because these parts were hammered out more.

Naturally, to temper perfectly a blade of such uncertain and uneven hardness is impossible.

In making GILLETTE blades we start with an ingot of steel, too fine in quality to stand forging, whose composition we know by analysis. We roll this out to the thickness of the finished blade, then stamp out the blades ready for tempering. The composition of the steel is not altered by the rolling and stamping as it is by forging, so that each blade comes out not only even in texture throughout, but of the same quality as every other blade. As our patented automatic tempering process tempers each blade through and through in precisely the same way, the finished blades have an even, uniform hardness which cannot possibly be equalled in forged blades.

Two of the hardest, keenest, smoothest shaving edges the world has ever seen are found on each and every GILLETTE blade. Not only is the GILLETTE the safest, quickest, most convenient and only adjustable razor, but it carries the best edge. That is what interests the shaver most.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

It is announced by J. W. McConnell of Montreal that arrangements for the financing of the new all-British and Canadian Paint Company, to be known as the Sherwin-Williams Company of Canada, are concluded. The company is to take over the Canadian business of the Sherwin-Williams of the United States, the Lewis Berger & Sons, Limited, of London. The capitalization will comprise a present issue of $3,000,000 of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and $4,000,000 of common stock, all of which is issued.

A jury in London yesterday for the first time in Canada recognized "the unwritten law" and found a verdict of "not guilty" against Wm. Heaslop, charged with murdering James Fowler, after the prisoner had learned that his wife and Fowler were together in the latter's shop. Judge Elliott called the verdict a "miscarriage of justice."

Madison Square Garden, New York, was sold yesterday to a syndicate for $3,000,000. A commercial building will replace it.

Johannstadt, Germany, June 9.—Herr Schandell, who on Tuesday established a German altitude record of 6,294 feet in an aeroplane, fell this evening with his mechanic, Foss, and both were instantly killed. Schandell was trying to eclipse the world's altitude record with a passenger.

Montreal, June 9.—One of the most active members of the commercial, manufacturing, industrial and financial communities of the province of Quebec passed away this morning in the person of S. H. C. Miner, vice-president of the Eastern Townships Bank.

MORNING LOCALS

Suffering from injuries, received by a fall, Peter Train, of White street, was taken to the General Public Hospital last evening. As he was smoking at the time he fell, his lips and the side of his face were badly cut by the breaking pipe.

The members of the committee appointed at the anti-early closing meeting to take around petitions for the repeal of the by-law made a start yesterday and succeeded in securing a large number of signatures in a short time. Another meeting will probably be held some time next week.

At Black River on Thursday, Peter Ryan was united in marriage to Miss Annie Quinlan by Rev. Father Poirier. The bride was attended by Mrs. Edward Kennedy, while E. T. Kennedy supported the groom. Little Margaret Kennedy acted as flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will live at 147 Beausoleil street.

JUNE ROD AND GUN.

The most interesting portion of the fine story of the trip to Hudson's Bay via the Albany River by W. J. Malone, appears in the June issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario. The trip was quite a spirit of thorough appreciation of the beauties and adventures of the wild and of the advantages enjoyed by one able and to go so far from the beaten track. The interest is deepened by Mr. Malone's treatment of the theme and the fine illustrations accompanying the narrative. As muskoxen fishing opens in the middle of the month, two papers dealing with muskoxen fishing in the Kawartha Lakes and in the St. Lawrence are most appropriate. The vacationist will turn to Summer Holidays and Where to Spend Them, while many lovers of dreams will read Counting 12, 16 and 20 How Gains, by F. H. Conover, and note the illustrations with the interest born of enthusiasm. A paper on Game Law Violators who come out offences in one province and escape punishment by going to another, raises a question that will have to be settled sooner or later and which, in the interests of the game, should be settled without undue delay.

W. C. T. U. MEMORIAL.

The memorial service of the north end W. C. T. U., during which two trees were planted, in the memory of Mrs. Bailey and Miss Meserve, who died during the year, was held at Riverview Park yesterday afternoon. Flowers were planted as a memorial of the members dying since the organization of the union. The exercises included a paper read by Mrs. McAvity on the life of Mrs. Bailey; also papers by Mrs. R. A. Corbett and Mrs. Hunselbacher, and the Crusaders' psalm was sung. Mrs. Ferris read the list of departed members.

Cured Eczema and Dandruff

I am pleased to inform you that I have been cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I was a boy who suffered with dandruff, not only from the itching but from the disagreeable appearance in a sooty form all over my head. I had to brush it off my clothes all day long. I used every kind of preparation supposed to cure dandruff, also soap and shampoo, but it seemed to me that, instead of improving with these remedies, the dandruff increased, even my hair began to fall out and the result was that two months ago eczema developed on my scalp.

TOM THUMB'S COACH FOR SALE

TOM THUMB'S COACH.

New York, June 9.—General Tom Thumb's coach of state is for sale and small persons or those who feel so may now have the opportunity of competing for the relic of the greatest little dwarf who ever lived. It was presented to him by Queen Victoria in 1854, when he was visiting England, making his pilgrimages before the crowned heads. Experts who have examined it at the Clarke Art Rooms, at No. 5 West Forty-fourth street, where it is on exhibition, declare that it is a perfect example of the skill of the British builders.

SIR W. S. GILBERT UNEQUALLED AS VERSE-WRITING HUMORIST

Was Barrister, Then Newspaper Man—His Partnership With Sullivan Which Made Both Famous—A Great Genius Lost When He Was Drowned

(Toronto Mail and Empire) As a verse-writer humorist there has been no one to equal Gilbert since Tom Hood. The English-speaking stage never had another like him, either before or since. His art must have been of the very highest kind, for he never had a successful imitator; and yet it would appear to have been rather a simple matter to get down the merry jingles that have delighted theatergoers for two generations, and will continue to delight generations more. With the possible exception of Seaman, and Punch, there appears to be no one now living at all fitted to carry on the Gilbert tradition of humorous verse. The art has disappeared with the man, and it appears to be the fate of our comic opera to drift back to about the same state of mediocrity as it was in before Gilbert and Sullivan reached it.

Catarrh Conquered

You know the loathsome offensiveness of a bad case of catarrh. You know that catarrh very often works its way down to the lungs, ending, perhaps, in consumption. You know that, even before it becomes severe or chronic, catarrh is most disagreeable. Why, then, let it run on, gradually getting worse? Possibly, the hundreds of others, you have been unable to find a cure that really cures.

Father Morrissey No. 26

This remarkably effective remedy, prescribed by the famous priest-physician, combines the advantages of both external and internal treatment. It includes tablets to purify the blood and a healing, strongly antiseptic salve to be applied inside the nostrils, directly to the affected parts. Even chronic catarrh soon yields to this combined treatment. The discharge is stopped, the diseased membrane healed, and colds no longer follow one another with monotonous regularity. Don't let that catarrh run on—get Father Morrissey's No. 26 and cure it.

AN INTERESTING SUIT

The institution of a suit for libel by the attorneys of William Randolph Hearst against Robert J. Collier of Collier's Weekly, claiming $50,000 damages and seeking to bring to a head the ill feeling that has existed between the plaintiff and defendant for several years. The assertion of counsel for Mr. Hearst that the attack on him and his Evening Journal in this city was inspired by his refusal to pay the Collier's $15,000 for books supplied to Robert Howard Russell, who used them in a scheme in which he interested the Hearst newspapers, has awakened much interest among local publishers. SAITRE AND HUMOR

Then followed in rapid succession the "Princess of Penzance," "Patience," "The Mikado," and the "Milk and Honey," as well as a dozen more not so well remembered. Most of these operas were satires, amusing heavy institutions and social follies with a humor that made them more effective than any other kind of comedy. It was the political satire of the "Milk and Honey" that caused the British censor to prohibit its revival on the occasion of the visit of Prince Fushimi to London a couple of years ago, an action on the part of the official that roused a storm of protest. "Patience" is said to have laid low the aesthetic fact, then appearing under the leadership of Oscar Wilde, who "Patience" laughed at some of the conceits of the navy.

THE THREE PARTNERS

It was some time in the late seventies that the dramatist met Sullivan and formed the partnership that was to make them both famous. There was a third partner in the person of Doyly Carte, the lessee of the Savoy Theatre, where the operas were produced, who was equally famous in his day, and whose part as producer of the plays was perhaps the most difficult of the three, since both Sullivan and Gilbert worked easily.

THE PALACE OF TRUTH

Gilbert was a graduate of London University, and became a barrister of the Inner Temple in 1864. Previous to this he had been clerk in the Privy Council Office, and it was while holding this position that he began to write. At that time there was a paper in London called Fun, which, under the editorship of Tom Hood, was making a determined effort to divide the field with Punch; and to this paper Gilbert became a contributor. So clever was his verse that he was commissioned to turn out a certain quantity of it for every issue, the result being a mass of stuff that he subsequently suppressed, although in earlier editions of the "Bab Ballads" it is to be found.

THE PALACE OF TRUTH

It was not, however, the satire of the "Palace of Truth" that gave them their great popularity, but the far more amusing and fun of the lines, which were then their great popularity. A policeman's lot is not a happy one. Here's a fragment from "Patience": If you want a receipt for that popular mystery Known to the world as a Heavy Dragoon. Take all the remarkable people in history, Rattle them off to a popular tune. The pluck of Lord Nelson on board of the Victoria. Genius of Blarney devising a plan The humor of Fielding (which sounds contradictory). Coolness of Page about to trepan. Take of these elements all that is fusible, Melt them all down in a pipkin or crucible. Set them to simmer and take off the scum, And a Heavy Dragoon is the residuum. Look up the "Bab Ballads," or read over some of the operas, and you will say that a very great genius has gone suddenly from among us.

The office of recording secretary stands vacant. In addition to these, the presidents of all societies affiliated with the National Council of Women rank as ex-officio vice-presidents.

THE PALACE OF TRUTH

Did Not Like "Sing-Sing" An extraordinary incident occurred during morning service on a recent Sunday at Falkirk Church, near Burnside, England. The congregation included a man and his wife who were evidently not members of the church, but were present to show devotion after the burial of a relative. The choir had chanted the psalm, when the man, speaking in firm tones, addressed the vicar, and asked "Can't we have a hymn we can all join in? I am tired of these sing-songs." The service proceeded, but at the conclusion the man was admonished for his indiscretion.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS OF THE WEEK IN ST. JOHN

The weather this week has been ideal and everyone feels that summer has arrived. Country house visits are decidedly popular just now, and to spend Sunday in the city these delightful fine days is at the question if one is lucky enough to have out of town friends sufficiently interested to pass along weekend invitations. Bridge has been relegated to the evenings, and even then the most ardent devotees of the game find it next to impossible to reach the freshness and greenness of the outside world and spend their time in driving and motoring. Others are fortunate to pass their afternoons and evenings in the public squares, of which King square is by far the most attractive. Indeed citizens of St. John can, with considerable pride, point to this old landmark which in the last few years has been so approved and beautified. At the golf links on Thursday the scene was one of great animation, a condition thought about by the kindness of Mr. H. Deberry, who, as in past seasons, made possible to have such an afternoon's sport. It was strictly a lady's day, the matches being formed to contest for the prizes donated by Mr. H. A. Deberry. The afternoon course was started at eleven o'clock, twelve ladies entering the handicap singles. The winners were Mrs. Angus, Miss McEwen, Miss Harris, Mrs. James Sealey, Mrs. Louis Barker, Mrs. Georgehan, Mrs. Alexander Fowler, Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mrs. R. Keltie Jones, Miss Clara Schofield, Miss McMillan, Miss Annie Scammell, Miss Helen Regan, Miss Margaret Barnaby, Miss Lou Givan.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF THRIFT

There is nothing more admirable than thrift, and there is nothing more profitable than when the accumulations of thrift are pocketed by the rapacious harpies who prey upon a stout investor, says the London (Eng.) Economist. Thrift is both a private and a public virtue, and as a private virtue it gives that feeling of independence and courage which springs from the sense of security which are not only virtues in themselves, but are an indispensable basis of character.

At Mrs. Louis Barker's residence, German street, on Wednesday afternoon, several friends of Miss Nan Barnaby presented her with a number of gifts useful and decidedly ornamental. When tea and other delicious refreshments had been partaken by the guests, the sliding doors dividing the dining room were opened and presented an array of hot boxes came into view as surely the guests of honor never dreamed of as likely to become her property. In each box was placed an appropriate card, for instance on a beautifully trimmed sailor, was one bearing the inscription, "Knox Model, no ironing necessary without one of our sailors." Around this dainty creation was wound artistically lined cup towel and for tie pins three two drivers. The price ticket was one trimmed by Miss Beatrice Hegan and when one remembers that the foundations upon which her trimmings of all these wonderful affairs were placed were of tissue cannot help admiring the ingenuity which produced these wonderful effects. Miss Hegan's motor bonnet was a tin culled and swarmed with a real scrub cloth, bunches of radishes and parsley forming rose

SUNSTAR'S VICTORY RECALLS OTHER DAYS AT THE DERBY

Great English Horse Race Has Been Annual Turf Feature For 132 Years—King Edward Had Distinction of Winning Three Times, But Even This Record Was Outdone

Some twenty years or so ago it was not that a poorly-named horse had never won the Derby, and since then the idea as grown up that unless a horse had a good name it was practically "hoodooed" or it, and might as well not start.

Waterloo Avenged The Derby as an institution is 132 years old and was founded by Edward Stanley, 13th Earl of Derby. Its value at first was small, and there was no special distinction in winning it, but gradually it came to be recognized as the most important racing feature in the world, and from many countries came champions to measure strides with the best English colts of the year.

remarked that Waterloo had been avenged. Since then France has tried several times to duplicate the feat of old Gladiateur, but has not been able to come nearer than second. In 1870 a Hungarian colt named Kiber won, and in 1881 the United States scored a victory with Iroquois, owned by the tobacco magnate, J. P. Morgan, and ridden by Fred Archer, who is supposed to have been the greatest jockey who ever rode a race. Archer won the Derby no fewer than five times. Twenty years later there was another American victory, that of Volodouk, though here the Derby, in England, was leased by the late W. C. Whitney, of New York, and in his colors got home first.

Leading Winner It was also a leased victory that King Edward enjoyed with Minoru two years ago. In the fall of 1898 the king's crop of two-year-olds was so promising that he had to choose between having no winner of the royal colors in the classics and leaving the racing prospects of someone else's horses. He chose the latter alternative, and from Col. Hall Walker, leased, among others, Minoru, that won for him his third Derby, as well as the Two Thousand and Guineas.

As regarding Derby winners, King Edward is third on the list with three victories, as compared with four for Sir John Hawley and four for the Duke of Westminster. The Duke of Portland had two and Lord Rosebery three victories to their credit in the great classic, and probably the latter considers the breeding Lady, Sir Visto and Otero the greatest triumph of his varied career.

The conditions of the Derby make it very typical of racing generally, for all the elements of chance are present. The future starter must be entered before it is old enough to have shown any indication of its future quality, and successive payments are made until the owner has paid about $70 by the time of the parade on Derby Day. Twenty horses are thus entered for one that is considered good enough to start, and there are plenty of horses in England who have paid thousands of pounds into the stake without ever having a horse worth sending to the post. It is by means of these subscriptions that the stake is built up, there being practically no added money by the Jockey Club.

ONE OF TWO FAMOUS BROTHERS IN BASEBALL

One of the famous brothers who have made baseball history, is now in minor league, but he will soon rejoin major league company.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; AT HOME AND ABROAD

Baseball Today's Game Today's game at 3 o'clock on the Shamrock grounds between the Marathons and Fredericton is expected to be one of the most interesting of the New Brunswick and Maine professional league series yet played. Gravenor and Dival will be the opposing pitchers and will be supported by strong teams, much the same as those which played last Saturday afternoon.

Local Games The Young Roses defeated the Exmouth street Stars by a score of 3 to 2 yesterday afternoon. Morris pitched for the Young Roses and Campbell for the losers. The Royal Hotel baseball team defeated the Dufferin Hotel and by the score of 13 to 12 in an exciting game on the Shamrock grounds yesterday afternoon. McGroun pitched for the Royal and McCave for the losers. The winners have now been challenged by the Victoria Hotel team and it is likely that a game will be played next week. St. Peter's 7; A. O. H. 3, was the result of last evening's game in the inter-society league. The batteries were: For the St. Peter's, Hansen and Sharkey, and for the A. O. H. McIntyre and Coughlan. Two to Be Shelved. Boston, June 10.—Captain Wagner, shortstop and third baseman of the Boston American League team are to be shelved temporarily, at least, because of their management dissatisfaction with their work Friday. Garner will return to his old position at second base. Yerkes will go to short and Janvin will replace Engle in Friday's game. The Calais Game. The Bangor Commercial says of Thursday's game in Calais: The ball game on the Calais diamond Thursday afternoon, between the Calais and St. John teams of the Maine and New Brunswick leagues, was a disappointment to the fans, Calais putting it all over the visiting team, winning by a score of 12 to 1. At the outset Calais got one run and it looked as if the game might be an interesting one, but in the fourth inning eight runs were scored by the home team, the batters doing a marathon around the diamond without any noticeable interference on the part of their opponents. Costly errors on the part of the St. John players made the big score possible, eight total being charged to them. Phil Ryan of the U. of M. was in the box for Calais and while the St. John men found him for ten hits, according to the official scorer, they were unable to negotiate the bases in safety. Calais scored again in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, and in the eighth a long run by Mahoney saved the St. John team from a whitewash. There was a good attendance at the game, and the weather was all that could be desired.

St. John will be the competing team. At the present time the Robesay College team holds the championship, but the local boys are determined to bring home the silverware this year. Fredericton always sets a good last team to the meet, and it is regretted that they will not compete this time. The High School boys have been putting in some hard training and feel confident of success. Their team will be composed of Anglin (captain), Murphy, Teed, Donnelly, Townshend, Rose, Nelson, Foley, Finley and Sinclair. Atwood Bridge is the coach, and will lead the team. The boys will return to the city late tonight.

A match between the president and vice-president will be held on the golf links this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Following the match luncheon will be served. A large attendance is expected.

Amusements for Ourselves and Others OPERA HOUSE Madame Sherry delighted another large audience at the Opera House last evening. The production is one that appeals to theatergoers and the reception it received last evening was flattering. There is a fascinating play on the music that rivals that of the famous Merry Widow waltz and the slow dancing of Every Little Movement has a meaning and is a revelation to the mind on one in spite of himself. There is no doubt about it the production is making a big hit and bids fair to rival the reception that was accorded The Merry Widow. Madame Sherry will present this afternoon and evening for the last time of this engagement.

SAYS TOO MANY FOR JOBS. Sackville Post.—A lady in Golden, B. C., writing a friend in Shelburne, says working men are very plentiful all through British Columbia. In Vancouver there are hundreds not able to obtain work so many are crowding in from England, Scotland and the maritime provinces.

MRS. HERBERT R. FRASER. The sad news of the death of Mrs. Herbert R. Fraser, which occurred in New Glasgow last evening, was received here this morning. Although Mrs. Fraser had been in ill health for several months, her rather sudden passing away will come as a shock to her many friends and acquaintances. She was a daughter of James and Eliza McGaw, of Glasgow, and formerly resided in this city. To mourn their sad loss are her husband, two brothers, Archibald, employed with Josiah Fowler, of this city, and Charles, of Newark, N. J.; three daughters, Mrs. H. L. Coombe, of this city, and Mrs. Delta at home; and one son, Herbert, of the Nova Scotia Steel Company, New Glasgow.

TO TAKE UP WORK IN PASTORATES TOMORROW. Rev. M. F. McCutcheon and Rev. H. R. Boyer Here From Newton With Degree of B. D.

Two graduates of Newton Theological Seminary will arrive in the city today to take up their duties as pastors of local Baptist churches. Rev. Miles E. McCutcheon will come to Brunsels street Baptist church, and Rev. Henry R. Boyer will take up the pastoral duties in Fairville Baptist church. Both will preach at both services in these churches tomorrow. Mr. Boyer is a Presbyterian minister, a graduate of the U. S. S. while Mr. McCutcheon's home is in Main street, north end, where his mother resides. They are both young men, and have graduated with high distinction at Newton, and the fact that they have been called to such important fields just at the close of their course, speaks well for each of them. At his graduation on Thursday from the Newton theological institution, as reported in yesterday's Times, Rev. Miles E. McCutcheon, who is to be the new pastor of Brunsels street Baptist church, delivered an address on Christianity as a Motive Power in the Modern World. Rev. Mr. McCutcheon and Rev. H. R. Boyer were among those to receive the degree of bachelor of divinity.

A LESSON IN THIS

St. John's, Nfld., Cleaning-up Day and Practical Use to Which Refuse Was Put

Late St. John's, Nfld., newspapers report the result of the city cleaning-up day to which reference has been made before in the Times in the hope of stirring St. John's, N. B., to official and individual action for a cleaner, more bright and attractive city. The Newfoundland papers report that the day in St. John's was quite a success. There was general co-operation of the people with those directing the movement and the result was a notable improvement in conditions. A very practical use was made of the refuse, which was accumulated in the cleaning-up process. St. John's has several open places, now unredeemed and none too highly. The material resulting from the work of the cleaning-up day was hauled out and dumped. It will be used to fill up the depressions and give level parks in several parts of the city. With some additional work and the planting of some grass seed it will not be long before the places referred to will be transformed into attractive grounds for the children to play in. In this connection there may be read a lesson for this city, notably in the desirable cleaning-up work, but also in the method of disposing of the refuse as adopted in St. John's. There are places in this city, north, centre and west, near the Courtenay bay track and elsewhere, where just such work could be very well done. In addition to the city cleaning, St. John's took up the idea of a general arbor day and encouraged the children in fostering its objects.

PETER MURPHY DRANK WOOD ALCOHOL; IS DEAD

News of a fatality near Brownville, Me., resulting from the drinking of wood alcohol, reached the city this morning. On the evening of Monday last a railway man named Tuttle noticed a man acting irrationally near the Brownville yard and he called Mr. Hayes, and notified one of the men of the town. The man, who gave his name as Peter Murphy, residence unknown, was taken to Dr. Hayes' office and cared for but he died soon after midnight. He had in his pocket a half pint bottle from which part of the contents, wood alcohol, was gone. It was labelled poison and had evidently been purchased in St. John. The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary. It was stated that the body was to be sent to the medical college in Portland, Me.

POLICE COURT TODAY

In the police court this morning the assault case of William Bell vs. Charles Simpson was given a brief hearing. The defendant is a colored man and Bell says that he struck him on the face on Tuesday last. Bell appeared in court with a badly discolored eye. The evidence of Charles White was taken. He swore that Bell called Simpson a "nigger" and that Simpson struck him on the face. The case was adjourned until Friday afternoon next at 12:15 in order to allow Simpson to find some witnesses in court. John Moice, Patrick Ryan and Wade Thurber were before the court. Moice and Wade were fined $8 or 30 days in jail and Ryan $4 or 10 days in jail with hard labor, all on drunkenness charges.

KINDERGARTEN WORK

Graduation Exercises of The Training Class Will Take Place on Monday Evening Next

The graduation exercises of the kindergarten training class will be held at 8 o'clock on Monday evening in the Centenary church parlors. This ceremony will carry a very successful year's work. Much is due to the supervision of the director, Mrs. W. C. Matthews. The two graduates, Miss Annie Baskin and Miss Ganet McE. Maxwell, will take a prominent part in the programme, which is arranged as follows:— Chorus—Froebel's Rally Hymn. Opening remarks, Mrs. W. C. Matthews. Mrs. Froebel's Finger Plays. Finger Play Song, Kindergartners. Music in Kindergarten, Miss Annie L. Baskin. Solo, Miss Ethel Creighton. Kindergarten programme, Miss Ganet McE. Maxwell. Chorus "O Canada" Kindergartners. Story of Patsy, Miss Hazel R. Seely. Presentation of Diplomas, Rev. Chas. R. Sanders, D.D. Teachers' Conservation Hymn, Misses Maxwell and Baskin. Address by Mrs. H. H. Pickett, Rev. H. A. Coady and R. T. Hayes. God Save the King. The attendance of children at the kindergartens during May, says the monthly report, has been much larger than any previous month. The topics have been the farmer's work, the barnyard fowls and the birds. The ploughing and harrowing of the fields, the sowing and caring for the seed and soil, the farmer's work, together with the wind, rain and sun sent by the Heavenly Father—all made very interesting lessons. The care of the fowls and their work in spring and the return of the birds to build their nests and do their work formed the basis of many talks and the children learned about the robin, swallow, sparrow, crow, pigeon, thrush, lark and bluebird. Arbor day was celebrated by the planting of seeds and slips, and making the rooms attractive with flowers. Stories, songs and games were all about the farmer, the gardener with his spade, the garden beds and the seeds and blubs. Empire Day was observed by beginning with the national anthem, talking about the king and queen, and when (marching) time came each child carried a flag. Each child made a small flag to take home and when singing, learned to salute the flag. The occupation work has been cutting out and painting ploughs, painting houses, building fences, making garden tools, moulding tines in plasticine, sewing birds, building clay nests on branches of trees, and crayon work. We regret to be obliged to part with two of our kindergartners and wish them every success wherever they may be. They have already seen good results from the lessons learned and through many discouragements have worked faithfully. The children of the city who came under their influence will certainly be better for their tender care. When the term opens in September, more assistants will be needed—Young ladies wishing to take the training for this work will please apply to Mrs. W. C. Matthews, Horsfield street.

THE COLUMBIAN FAIR

The committees having in hand the arrangements for the "Columbian Fair," are sparing no efforts to make the event a brilliant success, and the preparations already well under way, would seem to indicate that the fair would far surpass any other of its kind held in St. John. On Monday evening, June 19, the fair will open in the beautifully decorated rooms and attractive grounds of the knights of the order in Colours street, which they recently acquired, and it will be brought to a close on Saturday evening, June 24, after having been in progress for a week. The majority of the booths will be located in the building, which is well suited for the purpose, and they are now being decorated and prepared by the ladies on the committees. On the grounds will be various interesting features, including a "joke," with up-to-date novelties. Music will be furnished each evening, three times by an orchestra and three times by a band.
