FRANCE HEARS PANIC OVER FINANCE CRISIS

POUND AT NEW RECORD MARK ON PARIS BOURSE

Sterling Quoted at 134.10 Francs at Opening Today

PROTEST NEW TAX

Merchants and Manufacturers Bind Selves Not to Pay Loucheur Levy

PARIS, Dec. 14.—The present week is likely to prove a momentous one in French political history, as extraordinary changes in the manner in which France has been governed for the last 55 years are regarded as imminent by the press of all political shades.

Some of the papers demand and others plead for changes in the governmental regime, ranging from the establishment of a dictatorship, or "committee of public safety," to the more constitutional proposal that Parliament sit in secret while the financial bills are being discussed and voted.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—The pound sterling reached a high record before the official bourse opening today at 134.10 francs. The dollar was quoted at 27.65 francs. This, however, was not a record, as a mark of 28.13 francs was established in March, 1924.

France's financial plight daily grows worse, and the public is beginning to show signs of something like a panic, which is being heightened by the series of sharp drops in the value of the franc.

That coin now stands at a lower level than it ever has reached before, and every Frenchman who is in possession of any quantity of them, is hastening to convert the money into something tangible—houses, diamonds, and even raw gold and platinum.

LOUCHEUR PLAN UNPOPULAR. Minister of Finance Loucheur's seven bills, with which he hopes to bridge the financial situation, seemingly are disliked by everybody, irrespective of political creed. This dislike is beginning to find outward expression. As an instance, the merchants and manufacturers at Carcassonne assembled in solemn convocation and bound themselves to withhold payment of all taxes should M. Loucheur's bills be adopted.

Meanwhile, all attempts to speed up the solution of the situation, be it good, bad, or indifferent, is being hampered by political considerations. Indeed, it is charged that the root of the whole evil is that it is purely and simply a financial crisis, is dominated by politics.

MORE TROUBLE LIKELY. The advisory committee to pass on all financial plans, announcement of which was made at the time of the formation of the new Briand ministry, and which made an excellent impression, has vanished, and nothing more is heard of it.

One thing seems certain, that M. Loucheur's principal bill—the revenue bill—which is in the hands of the finance committee of the chamber will not pass as it stands. Consequently it is believed either M. Loucheur will withdraw from the ministry and that there will be a fresh set of proposals, or the bill will be remodelled by the finance committee for M. Loucheur himself.

On Thursday morning the vessel experienced the roughest weather of the trip, and the heavy seas striking her forward, forced the water through the hawse pipe, wrecking the crew's quarters. BOILER MAKERS' UNION QUILTS INTERNATIONAL

Object to Scheme For Compulsory Insurance of Members

75 PER CENT. ONT

Plan National Body; Seek Affiliation with Canadian Railway Brotherhood

MONTREAL, Dec. 14.—Rebelling against the determination of the International Union to force a compulsory insurance scheme upon its members, representatives of 75 per cent of the Boiler Makers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers of Canada met here Saturday and decided to sever their connection with the International, set up a national organization and seek affiliation with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

The principal industrial centres of Quebec and Ontario were represented, and letters were read from local unions in the West and Maritimes condemning the attitude of the International and agreeing to follow the lead of the central provinces.

PRESIDENT POWERLESS

Previous to the convention, International President J. Frankly addressed a meeting of 800 local boiler makers, but he would not agree to eliminate the compulsory feature of the insurance plan, he failed to head off the revolt.

A. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees when asked what would be the attitude of his organization to the affiliation proposal of the boiler makers, said: "In the past our policy has been not to infringe on the jurisdiction of the international, and we have frequently rejected applications for membership from skilled mechanical workers for Canadian railways. We had, in fact, an understanding with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Shop Crafters and agreed to refrain from interfering in any way with the membership represented by the other."

CHARGES PROSELYTING

This understanding has been loyally adhered to by the Canadian Brotherhood, because we have friendships and co-operation. Unfortunately, the other party has recently been trying to persuade a considerable portion of our membership to quit us and affiliate with organizations having their headquarters in the United States.

Former Premier of Spain Falls Dead on Stairs in Son's Home

Canadian Press. MADRID, Dec. 14.—Just as imposing funeral services were being held for Pablo Iglesias, noted Socialist leader, Don Antonio Maura, former Premier, dropped dead as he was descending the stairs in the home of his son, Maura and Iglesias long had been bitter enemies. When in power Maura ruled with a rod of iron in 1909, when the people revolted in Barcelona because they objected to Spain embarking in the war against the Moslems. Maura represented the rebellion without mercy. The execution of Professor Ferrer, a noted Socialist, was charged by Iglesias to have been directly due to the action of Maura. Iglesias even went so far as to threaten the life of Maura.

4 NEW CARDINALS

Picturesque Ceremony Carried Out at Secret Consistory In Rome Today

Canadian Press. ROME, Dec. 14.—Four new cardinals were created at a secret consistory today. They are: Monsignor Bonaventura Cerretti, Apostolic Nuncio in France. Monsignor Eraldo Gasparri, Apostolic Nuncio in Brazil. Monsignor Patrick O'Donnell, Archbishop of Armagh. Monsignor Alessandro Verde, Secretary of the Congregation of Rites.

Today's ceremony assumed a special importance, because it precedes by less than a month the still more gorgeous ceremony with which the Pope will close the Holy Year. It was held in the hall which takes its name from the consistory, and was attended by all the cardinals residing in Rome.

The Pope, dressed entirely in white, wearing a gold pectoral cross and carrying his mitre, entered the hall on foot, preceded by the Swiss Guard, accompanied by the noble guard and followed by his military and ecclesiastical courts, while the Pope delivered a short allocution.

The Pope announced the appointment of several archbishops and bishops, of whom many have already been nominated by brief. The Pope also alluded briefly with the celebration of Holy Year. The Holy Father expressed satisfaction at its success, but said the pilgrims must have seen that the situation of the head of the Catholic church was still far from what it should be.

In fact, the pilgrims, in order to approach the Holy Year, were obliged to enter the Vatican, which he could not leave as long as present conditions continued. The Pope acknowledged the efforts made by the Italian authorities to contribute to the success of Holy Year, notwithstanding the many difficulties which the country was encountering, as evidenced by the "criminal attempt against the Premier."

Special significance attaches to the Pope's reference in his allocution to the present conditions continue, in view of despatches late last month, indicating that he contemplated such a step.

Mons. Gasparri is a nephew of Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, and, it is said, will succeed his uncle on retirement. Cardinal O'Donnell succeeded the late Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland and is one of the leading figures in the Irish Episcopacy. Cardinal Verde is one of the most learned ecclesiastics in the Roman congregations and is known particularly in connection with the beatification and canonization of Joan of Arc.

Hamilton Shippers Favor Trade Through Home Ports

By A. M. BELDING.

HAMILTON, Ont., (By Mail)—"I am sure you will find every exporter and importer in Hamilton in sympathy with your plea for trade through our own ports," said W. R. Dunn of The International Harvester Company. But Mr. Dunn went on to point out certain difficulties, and they were those that had previously been pointed out from certain ports, and another was infrequent or irregular service. Mr. Dunn instanced the case of a shipment going to Saint John for a port where there is only a monthly service. If for any reason it missed the steamer it would have to lie at Saint John for a month. In New York, if one steamer were missed there would be others within a few days. When orders are received to rush the good, they must be sent by the route ensuring delivery without delay—even if it is a little more expensive. There is also the matter of shipment in one lot to the seaboard, but there to be distributed to steamers going to different ports. If the steamers are not available at our ports, the shipper knows that he can get at New York. In other words, however desirous shippers may be to utilize our ports, there must be services to more ports and more frequent services to some ports before the requirements of competitive export business, or export business in general, can be met. Nevertheless, it is very important to keep importers and exporters on the alert for opportunities to use our own ports, because of the natural tendency to follow

WAGER MORE THAN MONEY

A large number of friends greeted her along the route as she neared the close of the like extending congratulations on her success. The terms of the wager, which was made with Howard Sturges, of Providence, R. I., who is now in Paris, were not disclosed further than that Miss Sears took the walk for money and something more.

Miss Sears, who has many athletic achievements to her credit, including a 110 mile walk against time in California, apparently was fresh, as she pulled up at the finish line—her Boston home at 127 Beacon street.

WHAT SHE WORE

Miss Sears herself, set the pace, striding along in her characteristically vigorous fashion. Over silk-clad ankles she wore a wide walking short, shirt-waist, sweater jacket and carrying her gear, she wore unadorned hair was a thermos bottle full of hot coffee and other provisions in the relief car allowed the walkers to eat and drink without stopping.

WILL THE GOVERNMENT ACT?

What is the Government going to do about the increased use of the Transcontinental? The Maritime Free Press, returning again to this subject, and pressing strongly for action, makes particular mention of the fashion in which faith with the Maritime Provinces has been broken.

It proves from the records of Parliament and of public men at the time the National Transcontinental was under discussion that the purpose of the road, which was to be built as an all-Canadian line, "was to ensure that Canadian produce, especially grain and cattle, could go out of Canada all the year by Canadian ports. Rates were to be low enough to ensure this. The road was built up to the high standard necessary to provide such rates."

Yet, says the Free Press, "except for a brief period in 1916, when a six-centa bushel rate was made to Quebec, no attempt has ever been made to put the road to the purpose for which it was built. On the contrary, it has been deliberately prevented from doing the work it was built to do by the imposition of rates which make it impossible to ship grain over the road."

Among the consequences of this breach of trust is the resentment of the people of the Maritime Provinces, which at times has been so pronounced that it gave rise to threats of secession. The Maritimes have a legitimate grievance within the power of the Government and Parliament to remedy by the simple expedient of carrying out the plans made by a former Government which have the formal approval of Parliament and the people. "Will the Government act? Will Parliament act? If not, what is the explanation?"

AN INCREASING LOSS.

The growing demand that the Transcontinental be put to work to haul wheat to Canadian ports gains strength daily with the publication of the figures from Ottawa showing where the grain is going.

During November most of the Canadian wheat bound for Great Britain was handled by United States transportation agencies. In November 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, of which 18,610,104 bushels went via United States ports and only 5,487,710 bushels went through Canadian seaports.

That is to say, our ports handled a little more than one out of ten of the wheat consigned to our hand by our foreign competitors.

That proportion, which means so great a loss in traffic to our ports and railways, and so serious a deprivation in money and in employment to Canadians, held good during the four months ended with November 30, during which time the Ottawa figures show that while 17,144,000 bushels passed through Canadian ports, 63,682,000 bushels of Canadian wheat bound for the United Kingdom went by way of American harbors.

The Halifax Herald, in discussing this question of the wheat traffic and Maritime ports, reproduces statements from the Manitoba Free Press, the Toronto Globe and other newspapers to which The Times-Star has already made reference, and proceeds to point out that when the Transcontinental was built at a cost of $170,000,000 it was written into the Canadian statutes that the purpose for which the people of Canada undertook this immense expenditure was:

"To secure the most direct and economical interchange of traffic between Eastern Canada and the provinces and territories West of the Great Lakes, to open up and develop the Northern zone of the Dominion, to promote the internal and foreign trade of Canada, and to develop commerce through Canadian ports."

That provision, as the Herald asserts, is binding upon the Dominion Government and the C. N. R. authorities to-day, but they are breaking faith with the people of Canada. The Herald, replying to statements that a lack of tonnage prevents more wheat from going through Halifax, quotes a shipping authority as saying that if the traffic is brought to Maritime ports there will be no trouble about tonnage. In any event, the Herald recalls that as the Government and the C. N. R. took over the Transcontinental, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, which are incorporated in the Canadian National system, they are bound also by the following provision which is part of the records of Parliament:

"The company shall arrange for and provide, either by purchase, charter or otherwise, shipping connections upon both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, sufficient in tonnage and in number of sailings to take care of and transport all its traffic, both inward and outward, at such open ports within Canada as the said line of railway, or upon the line of the Intercolonial Railway, as may be agreed upon from time to time, and the company shall not divert or so far as it can lawfully prevent, permit to be diverted to ports outside of Canada any traffic which it can lawfully influence or control upon the ground that there is not a sufficient amount of shipping to transport such traffic from or to such Canadian ocean ports."

The Herald quotes recently published figures showing the increasing loss of Canadian traffic to foreign ports, and says:

"The Maritime Provinces and Quebec, too, staked their faith and their hopes on the National Transcontinental Railway. They gladly joined in the enterprise of its construction. They put their money into it, having the unequivocal assurance that it would do national work."

"They have waited in vain during many long years. "Now let the Maritime Provinces stand resolutely for the rights vested in them in regard to the National Transcontinental. Let there be no more dallying with the matter. Let the National Transcontinental be put to work. Let it do the work for which it was built."

The danger of financial collapse in France is increasing. The franc has reached a new low level, and the people are beginning to convert their money into "something tangible—houses, diamonds and even raw gold and platinum." Popular distrust of all government measures to better the situation has produced a condition approaching panic.

Professor McLennan of the University of Toronto believes scientists will develop a fuel many times as powerful as anything now known. This is just the time of year for the professor to get a good hearing on that subject, but we judge that the goal is not immediately in sight. The idea apparently is to get a 100-per-cent kick out of hydrogen, for we read:

"He pointed out that it should be theoretically possible to begin with hydrogen and instead of destroying it, as is done in the making of ammonia, to destroy the whole and so produce only mechanical power. Professor McLennan stated that by so doing heat sufficient to bring four cubic miles of water to the boiling point, it is believed, can be generated from a small quantity of hydrogen, the cubic size of which would be no longer than that of the human body."

It might be all right to warm the North Atlantic up a bit during the winter, but the professor should be on his guard against ill-disposed persons who might want to bring the whole ocean to the boiling point.

Odds and Ends

The Cow-barn

(J. Butterfield in Vancouver Province). Word comes from distant Denver that the building inspector of that city has banned the Charleston in certain elderly halls and that he will make his general if the other buildings show upon inspection that their joists and walls are not standing up under the strain. In other cities, sensible property owners have not waited for official action and have banned the thing themselves.

Recently in New York, I observed several nicely worded notices in several good dancing places intimating that patrons were not expected to indulge in "Charleston Dancing." That is the proper description of the exercise; there is no such thing as a Charleston Dance. It is properly Charleston dancing—and for the simple reason that everyone does it differently. It is a state of mind producing more or less picturesque contortions according to the temper and agility of the performer.

I first encountered it in a place called the "Samovar." Which is described in its advertisements as a "converted cow-barn." It is one of those places where strangers go who think they may there observe the wild life of the New York art students in Greenwich Village. For the amusement of these people, gangs of factory girl and messenger boys make a noise—and dance the Charleston, with both feet. The effect on the floor of that place and upon the ears of the visitors is to make them wonder if the cow-barn had really been converted. There is also an annex for the calves.

"A Friend of Dickens."

"Friend of Dickens" is the proud title to fame of a Londoner who has passed away at the age of 98. Percy Fitzgerald was biographer of the novelist, first president of the Dickens Fellowship, founder of the Bos Club. He numbered Thomas Carlyle and Charles Reade among his intimates. But he liked best to be known and remembered as a crony of the creator of Oliver Twist, David Copperfield, Little Nell and the rest of the immortal characters who are more real to the busy modern world than many contemporary figures. In Philadelphia the Dickens Fellowship has just held a meeting to commemorate Judge Patterson, and its president, as the culmination of the tribute to the genial humanist, called him one of the foremost Dickens scholars of the world. That is an appellation that any man with the genius for friendship would like to win, for the lover of Dickens is infallibly a friend of the race and, by inclination, a benefactor, with the

Despite its ring of smartness, The Observer's question is both rapid and silly. The man who penned it in all probability sat through the war in "armchair state and pedagogic pomp." Or it may be that he is a new hand taken on since that world-wrecking catastrophe.

THE ROAD TO PEACE

FRANCE and Germany agree not to fight each other again, and the world begins to think again that peace is possible, after all, there is such a thing as peace.

And the Man in the Street asks, and he has a right to ask, when will all wars cease? It is easy to answer his question: "Not within the life of any one now living," with the assurance the answer will be good for several generations.

Leagues of nations cannot end wars. The members of a family quarrel and fight with one another as well as outsiders, and often to a greater degree and with more venom.

It is just the same in the State; among people living in one State, a struggle continues just as with people outside the State, only it is carried on under other forms.

In one case the slaughter is done with bombing planes and poison gas and guns that shoot fifty miles, in the other it is done with hunger.

A PROFESSIONAL Optimist proclaims that the world is getting better, on the grounds that "social progress brings morality." He classifies peace under morality; hence he sees peace as an eventuality of social progress.

As long time ago Tolstoy observed that to assert that a social progress produces morality is like asserting that the construction of a stove produces heat.

If the law of struggle for existence and the survival of the fittest is the eternal law of life (and one needs only to look around to see that it is)—then no languid discussions about social progress and an ethical law supposed to flow from it, or springing up from one knows where, just when he happens to need it, can disturb that law.

IT IS obvious that as long as social progress collects people into groups, then the struggle and survival will continue among those families, tribes and nations, and the struggle will not only be more moral, but it will be even more cruel and more immoral than that between individuals, as we see in actual life.

THE CHURCHYARD.

One night, when silence reigned around, Heard sweet music rise, Whose harp-like and harmonious sound Came from the star-decked skies.

And when had died each silver tone, Thy spirit passed away, Ready to enter the ether's zone, On this dark earth to stay.

My sister, may it ever be Thy hymn of peace we check in me Each dark rebellious sigh.

Then, sister, shall I truly know That manna's of the bliss I wait, Till from weariness below, My spirit rests at last.

As long as the abnormal situation exists of a disarmed Germany facing other Powers who are engaged in an armament war, Germany will not even be able to adopt a foreign policy, for to have a policy without an army is like giving a concert without instruments. There can be no doubt that Rakovsky's interview indicates the real opinions of the controller of the Soviet Republic. With this reservation, therefore, the question of Soviet membership in the League of Nations has been settled for the moment with a decisive negative.

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

THE Most Noble Order of the Garter has been conferred upon Austen Chamberlain, Great Britain's secretary of state. King George conferred the honor upon him to mark the closing of the Locarno peace pact, which Chamberlain signed in behalf of Great Britain when he went to Britain. He is the only knight of the order of the Garter who is not a peer or a king. The last person to be made a knight of the Garter was the Earl of Balfour in 1922.

Chamberlain arrived earlier than the rest of the Locarno peace pact guests at a tea which the English sovereign gave after the signing ceremonies and the King formally invested him with the Order of the Garter in Indian finance and from 1919 to 1917 he was secretary of state for India, from which office he resigned to become a member of the war cabinet.

TABLET PLACED IN STONE CHURCH

Unveiled in Memory of Late James R.
Ruel

Kirk History Reviewed — Old
Hymns Sung — Rev. E. C.
Hennigar Preaches

A very beautiful bronze tablet erected by Gerard Ruel, of Montreal, in Saint John's (Stone) church, to the memory of his father, the late James Rhodes Ruel, of this city, was unveiled and dedicated at the morning service yesterday in the church with brief and simple but impressive ceremony.

Mr. Ruel had been for twenty years a member of the stone church and his memory is greatly revered. Rev. A. L. Fleming, rector of the church, received the tablet and offered the prayer of dedication. J. B. Secord, senior warden, having made the request in the name of the congregation, the act of unveiling was performed by George A. Kimball, acting warden.

HANDSOME DESIGN.

The tablet, which was made in England, is of very handsome design and is made of dull bronze mounted on a polished oak base. Inside a raised border of laurel leaves the following inscription stands out in bold relief: "To the Glory of God and in Memory of JAMES RHODES RUEL Born at Pembroke House, West Newton, Herefordshire, England, 22nd October, 1820. Died at Saint John, N.B., 8th March, 1900.

For over twenty years as Vestryman and Church Warden, of this church, he labored for the upholding of the Evangelical truth in this Parish and Diocese.

HISTORY REVIEWED

"The Past and Future of Our Kirk," was the theme of the sermon given by Rev. J. S. Bonnell, minister of St. Andrew's Kirk, yesterday morning. He had chosen two texts, he said, and they were, "Remember the Days of Old," and "Say not the Former Days were Better than These."

He recalled the proud history of the kirk which had been established by the Scottish forefathers of the members of today, many of them United Empire Loyalists, who had come from the United States to make their homes in Saint John.

Mr. Bonnell spoke of the present condition of the kirk and told of the result of the every person canvass for subscribers to the local and general work for 1925. He said that the response had been by far the largest of the 141 years of the congregation's history.

Mr. Bonnell in the evening continued his series of monthly sermons to young men, preaching the second in the series. His subject last night was "Is the Young Man Safe?"

OLD HYMNS SUNG

The Message of Great Hymns was the title of the order of service in St. David's church last night, when the choir rendered a number of the old hymns of the church, and Mrs. Blake Ferris gave in a very impressive manner solo "Nineten and Nine."

Rev. Hugh Miller, the minister, before each selection, gave a brief history of the hymn and drew from some of the authors strove to teach. Mr. Miller took for his text the 130th Psalm, a psalm exhorted to the people to praise God by voice and instrument.

Mr. Miller expressed the thanks of the trustees, session and himself to the members and adherents for their generous response to the current expenses and the maintenance and extension fund for 1925. The amount allocated by Presbytery to St. David's congregation to be raised for the missionary funds of the church for 15 months was $4,200. The total subscribed for 12 months was $3,970.

REFERS TO BOYHOOD DAYS.

The main street Baptist congregation yesterday afternoon, Rev. H. G. Daley, pastor of the Baptist church in Chester, N. S. Mr. Daley was a member of the main street church as a boy and preached his first sermon from the pulpit of the church when the pastor was Rev. W. H. Stewart. He referred to these facts when he spoke from the pulpit yesterday. Mr. Daley conducted both the morning and evening services and gave the benediction to the Brotherhood. His eloquent sermons were heard with close attention.

REV. E. C. HENNINGAR

Rev. E. C. Hennigar, missionary on furlough from Japan, who is now at his home in Saint John, gave the sermon in Centenary, his home church, last evening and was most cordially greeted by his friends. Mr. Hennigar was also heard by a large congregation in the Fairville United church in the morning and received a hearty welcome.

"A Living Sacrifice" was the theme of his address in Centenary church last night and his text was Romans 12:1: "I beseech you brethren by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice wholly acceptable unto God which is your reasonable sacrifice."

As a teacher in one of the mission schools in Japan, he frequently had people come to him and ask "What is life?" "Is life worth living?" and his answer was that if his questioners could do one piece of service to uplift the race or better their country, then indeed there had been a life worth living.

Rev. J. J. Pinkerton, pastor of the Fairville church, alternated with Mr. Hennigar in taking the services in the two churches yesterday. Rev. H. G. Fulton, pastor of Centenary church, has been suffering from bronchitis and although he was much improved yesterday he was unable to occupy the pulpit of his church.

WESTVILLE MINISTER HEARD.

the line of least resistance. The railway companies would naturally be expected to be after more business for our own ports all the time, but their efforts may well be supplemented by the ports themselves seeing to it that their claims and advantages are brought continually to the attention of importing and exporting firms. Some American ports have the advantage of more frequent sailings to a wider range of places, and there is therefore the more reason for alertness on our part.

I am indebted to District Freight Agent Grant of the Canadian Pacific for introductions to a number of people I desired to meet. He is, by the way, an old friend of Gen. Supt. Woodman of Saint John, knows Nigger Lake and its habits, and has gone about in odd corners of the Maritimes during many visits. He knows our problems, too, and recalls a time more than thirty years ago when he boarded the Boston steamer at Saint John for Portland, Maine. There was a cheap fall excursion to Boston and the steamer was crowded. He asked one of the officers why so many were going, and the latter replied that ninety per cent. of these were going to visit relatives in the New England states and the other ten per cent. were going to look for work.

"You have a wonderful country down there," said Mr. Grant. "I like to go there. I like your people. I like Saint John. You are on the seaboard, and ought to be making a great success of dairying, sheep and poultry raising, fruit culture and other natural industries."

I am also indebted to F. P. Healey, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who prepared for me a list of importers and exporters and is giving other valuable assistance. He was at the Winnipeg Conference, and entertains high hopes of good results from the formation of a Dominion Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade. Just now the Chamber and the whole city are worried over the threatened stoppage of the street car service on Thursday next, which would be a calamity in the height of the Christmas trade. The citizens by vote yesterday refused either to purchase the railway or renew the company's franchise with some concessions, and the company today announced a tie-up at midnight on Thursday, as it has been steadily losing money. An appeal has been made to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board to operate the railway until the matter is straightened out in some way, and in the meantime the City Council and Chamber of Commerce are in almost continuous session, seeking a way out.

I had a long conversation today, with Mr. Lewis, editor of the Herald. He showed a good grasp of the Maritime situation, but expressed surprise that our own people should for a moment entertain the thought that the people of Ontario were not sympathetic. "Why," he said, "we have always been proud of the men you have given to the public life of Canada, and personally I do not know anybody who would speak slightly of your provinces or people." He was able to explain to him why our people did get the impression that they were not sympathetic, but had to testify also from personal experience that lack of mutual understanding had been our trouble, and that this is being remedied. Mr. Lewis pined me with questions, thanked me for calling, and assured me that when a case for the Maritimes is presented at Ottawa it will receive only the most sympathetic consideration from the people and press of Hamilton.

Duluth To Move Mountain
To Solve Traffic Problems

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 14.—In Duluth is a small mountain which citizens want to move out into Lake Superior. Founders of Zenith City did not take into consideration that some day thousands of automobiles would be trying to squeeze through the "bottle neck" at Rocky Point. This range of rocks, more than half a mile long, narrows the main thoroughfare down to a meagre passing at the west end of the business section. Perched precariously on the boulders are a number of homes and modest business houses. At points the rocks reach an elevation of 80 feet above the street. What to do with the rocks, once removed, has been a gigantic problem. The Taxpayers' League has made a survey and is trying to induce the United States Government to help solve the problem. The rocks would help build an ideal breakwater to make Duluth more safe for shipping, according to Robert M. Goodrich, secretary of the Taxpayers' League. Emissaries of the league have carried the matter to Washington. The cost of the project is placed at $350,000 to $1,000,000.

The originality and ability of Mount Allison's oratory department were once more demonstrated when "The Bird's Christmas Carol" was presented to an enthusiastic audience in the Imperial Theatre, Sackville. The cast, which was of unusual talent, had been efficiently coached by Miss Ida Leslie, and the greatest evidence of her careful work was the naturalness with which everything was carried out.

THE TIMES-STAR FEATURE PAGE

Dorothy Dix

If a Girl Manoeuvres to Get You Off Alone, if She Treats Your Pocketbook Carefully, But Above All, if She Mothers You and Wants to Stay Home to Hear You Talk About Yourself, She's Yours.

A YOUTH asks me how he can tell whether a girl loves him or not. Well, son, you can't always tell. There are times when all signs fail, and there is no man so clever, so discerning, so sophisticated, that a woman cannot fool him if she sets her mind to doing so.

For the many generations in which women were entirely subservient to men, and in which they had to get everything they had out of men, and in which all their pleasures and perquisites depended on their wheedling and cajoling men, have made them gifted liars, and adept at befooling men.

However, the modern girl, being able to make her own living and stand upon her own feet, and therefore being to a large degree independent of men, has less need to simulate emotions which she does not feel, and so she has lost the fine technique of her mother and her grandmother and her great-great-grandmother. Flirting has become a lost art, and the methods of the gold-digger are so crude and raw that any man who is taken in by one deserves all he gets.

THE average girl is almost brutally frank about the state of her feelings. She hasn't even subtlety enough about her to keep a man guessing. But there is, of course, a sort of no-man's-land that lies between belying and loving in which the girl wanders, herself as uncertain and bewildered as you are. And, I take it, it is across this dangerous terrain that you wish to be guided.

Sally is dear and sweet to you. She apparently enjoys your society, and you never have any trouble in making dates with her. She is the best little pal ever. But what you want to know is whether she cares for you just as she does for half a dozen other chaps, or whether you are the ONLY ONE!

Well, son, there are various straws that show which way the winds blow, and if you want to know whether a girl is really in love with you or not observe these:

First, is she willing to sit at home on an evening with you or not? If she comes down with her hat on to receive you, or if she always wants to step out somewhere, you have not touched her heart. She regards you merely as a purveyor of good times, a theatre ticket and a dancing partner, and any other youth who had the price would do as well.

BUt things have got serious with her when she proposes to spend the evening at home under a pink-shaded lamp. That shows that she has begun to live a romance with more thrills to it than anything she can see depicted on the stage, and that she thinks that Valentino is a poor dub at love-making compared to you. Also it indicates that she desires to isolate you, to cut you out from the herd and put her brand upon you.

Cupid is essentially a monopolist. Especially the Lady Cupid. The first thing that a woman does when she falls in love with a man is to try to shut him away from all other women. So long as a girl wants to go in crowds there is nothing doing with her in the love line. If she really cares for you, she will maneuver to get you off to herself.

NEXT, observe how a girl treats your pocketbook. If she gets everything out of you that she can; if, when you go out, she has to have a taxi to convey her three blocks, although she can walk ten miles around a department store without turning a hair; if she always suggests orchids when flowers are mentioned, and invariably picks out the most expensive place to dance, and the highest-priced dishes on the menu, you may be certain that she has no serious intentions concerning you. You are merely the good thing that a merciful Providence has brought forward for her sustenance.

But when a girl begins to talk economy to a boy; when she suggests going to the movies instead of to the theatre; when she orders a ham sandwich instead of chicken breast, and mushrooms underglass, it is an unmistakable sign that she is regarding his bankroll as her own, and is commencing to save up for furniture for her future home.

NEXT—and this is an odd test—talk to the girl about yourself and observe her reactions to it. Monologue along to her by the hour about what you are doing, about what you have done in the past and what you expect to do in the future. Tell her all about what you said to the boss and what the boss said to you. Explain to her all the details of the grocery business. Regale her with reminiscences of your childhood, when you were a fat little boy with green freckles on your hands.

If she yawns in your face or if she listens with the expression of a martyr being nailed to the cross; if she gets up and walks around the

News Notes From Movie Land

By DAISY DEAN. JUST when Patsy Ruth Miller was ready to pay a Christmas shopping visit to New York and to take a delayed vacation, along came an offer from F. B. O. to play the lead in "A King of the Turf" and when Jimmy Hogan insisted that she take the part Patsy Ruth just couldn't refuse. You see it was Hogan who selected Patsy, an unknown, to play the lead in "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

One good turn deserves another, so when Hogan asked her to postpone the trip which she had planned she was glad to grant his request and furthermore a contract's a contract any time of the year. Kenneth Harlan has the male lead. Other members of the cast are David Portree, George Irving, Claire McDowell and Kathleen Kirkham.

Lillian Gish's next characterization will be that of Hester Prynne in "The Scarlet Letter," Nathaniel Hawthorne's novel.

Lawrence Gray will again be cast as Gloria Swanson's leading man in "Untamed." Fannie Hurst's story. This is the first time since Gloria became a star that she has had the same leading man in two successive pictures.

Charles Ray will play his first scene in a silk hat and full dress since he made "A Tailor Made Man," in his new picture, "The Auction Block." In this picture he forsakes the country boy role and appears as a city man.

Charles Chaplin is planning to start work on "The Circus." Wonder if he'll be an elephant trainer, "roughneck," or clown?

Lillian Tashman has been promoted to stardom in Metropolitan pictures. Walter Hiers has returned to the public after seven weeks' absence, caused by having hurt his hand in an accident. June Mathia, the scenarist used to be a dancer. Blanche Sweet wants to become a motion picture director.

But if she laps up your talk about yourself and asks for more; if she begs you to repeat that darling story of how naughtily you were to your nurse, and if she sits, goggle-eyed with excitement on the edge of her chair while you relate how you sold a bill of goods to a hard customer, rest assured that her heart is yours for keeps. For there are only two women in the world, a man's mother and the woman who is his wife or hopes to be his wife, who want to hear him talk about himself.

TAKE note also of a girl's attitude toward you. As long as she regards you as an intelligent, busy, able-bodied man, capable of taking care of yourself and with sense enough to come in out of the rain, her regard for you is merely platonic. But when a girl suddenly becomes anxious about the state of your health, when she worries over your getting your feet wet and is afraid you are not getting enough vitamins in your diet, when she warns you not to forget to put on your overcoat if it is cold and to look out for automobiles when you cross the street, then it is safe to begin pricing engagement rings.

OF COURSE, there are other signs of love, such as a girl developing an acute attack of domesticity and passing up the display of French frocks in a window for that of aluminum pots and pans, and especially when she begins dragging a man to church with her, which are not to be ignored.

But when a maiden begins to mother a chap and indicates that her idea of spending a perfectly hilarious evening is just to be alone with him, listening to him talk about himself, she is his for the taking.

A Thought

You pay tithes of mint and anise and cummin and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith; these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.—Matt. 23:23, 24.

Your Birthday

DECEMBER 14—You are serious-minded and studious, a good talker, but have not much pity on those less fitted than yourself. You have a clear, quick way of understanding things, and always stand by your own judgment. You enjoy bright society, are very popular with men, and should receive a deep love.

Your birth-stone is the turquoise, which means prosperity. Your flower is holly. Your lucky color is pink.

THE KASHA which comes to us from abroad is always lovely and soft in texture, and ever changing in its choice of colors and patterns.

Above is shown a simply tailored frock which achieves distinction through its use of a bold pattern, exploiting beige and brown tones. The cloth is left a plain beige at the sides, while the blocked portion exploits a very light beige and a deep brown. A narrow belt of the fabric carries out the feeling of the narrow collar which is simply a strip of the material.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON. BOB TELLS ABOUT WHALES.

"No siree!" said Bob Merry, the sailor. "We don't bring any whales on board this here vessel, we don't! They're too big! We just rope 'em and let 'em float alongside the vessel until we're ready to strip the hide and blubber off 'em."

"How do you do that?" asked Nick. "Well," said Bob. "It isn't as dainty as a pink sea, but it has to be done, so it does. So they take and cut the poor fellows' hide right through in strips, rolling him around with the ropes. Of course he's dead first."

"Then when they strip the hide off the hunk of fat or blubber come with it. Mister Whale is a regular Mrs. Spratt for fat so he is. He's all fat. And you'd never believe it, but for all Mister Whale's head is so big, it isn't brains. He hasn't any more brains than a lake-fly. No siree! His head is full o' oil—valuable sperm oil. And you see this here dipper, young 'uns? Well, that is to dip the sperm oil right out o' the whale's head, for they cut a big hole on top and dip right down in. They get barrels and barrels of oil. And see here!"

Bob went to the place in the middle of the boat where a great iron cauldron was built. It was a big square affair, big enough to hold an automobile.

"Twins followed him and looked down into the cauldron eagerly. It was empty now."

"This is the place they throw the big chunks of blubber to melt down," said Bob. "They build a big fire under it— it's safe enough, for it's all iron, you see. And the blubber melts and boils and becomes fine whale-oil, just like the head oil. This big ladle here is to dip it out into barrels. See here!"

Bob took the twins to another place in the vessel where they could look down through a sort of hole into the cellar, or hold of the ship. It was very dim and dark, but they could make out the forms of huge barrels—or hogheads—turned on their side.

"There's a couple o' dozen o' 'em," said Bob. "And that's all a whaler brings to port, no whales at all, but barrels of fine whale-oil. And some whale-bone, too, when they get certain kinds of whales. Whalebone is valuable for lots of things."

Then he took them "below" as he said—to the place where the men lived. The captain had a fine bedroom with a bed swung head and foot from a wooden frame. He also had a nice little sitting room where few people would believe, to look at the whaler. But it was true. Everything was as dainty and comfortable and clean as a pin. So was the mess-room, or dining-room where the men ate.

The sailors slept "aft" in bunks. It certainly was interesting.

After a while Bob Merry rowed the "Twins" ashore.

brought to Canada 122 cabin and 413 third class passengers, 4,087 bags and 840 packages of mail, about 2,000 tons

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Enthusiasm for the rails for the immediate future is unquestioned. Rick Maloney—"We may see a firm opening today. It will be well to use strong spots for profit-taking."

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—There seems to be no change in the character of the market. The high corporation profits, the bright prospects of business in general, the absence of any factors pointing to inflation in the near future and the prospects for lower taxes are the bullish arguments. These are only opposed on the bearish side by the comparatively high level of securities. Yet in our opinion a good many stocks have not yet reached their peak. We expect further bullish demonstrations in special stocks. More emphasis is being placed on the good earning position of the rails and the merger possibilities. We believe the upward swing in rails will continue. Think CO, SO, BY, NY, C, W, etc., and Mop Pfd will sell higher. We look for new high in Steel Common. On any reaction we would buy Sioux Steelfield again. May Department Stores has not shown much interest in the last few days, but we would buy it here.

Co-operation of Citizens is Asked by Local Skating Association

The campaign to have 1,000 fully paid-up members on the Saint John Amateur Skating Association roster will be undertaken at once, it was announced today by H. G. Ellis, chairman. One man has been selected to do the work and in view of the worthiness of the cause, it is expected he will be given a good reception. It is felt by those in charge of the project that such a strong membership is needed to carry on Saint John's great work in the skating world. The value of such an association is clearly shown through the leadership being given it by the business men of the city who are giving up most valuable time to put this meet over big.

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Enthusiasm for the rails for the immediate future is unquestioned. Rick Maloney—"We may see a firm opening today. It will be well to use strong spots for profit-taking."

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—There seems to be no change in the character of the market. The high corporation profits, the bright prospects of business in general, the absence of any factors pointing to inflation in the near future and the prospects for lower taxes are the bullish arguments. These are only opposed on the bearish side by the comparatively high level of securities. Yet in our opinion a good many stocks have not yet reached their peak. We expect further bullish demonstrations in special stocks. More emphasis is being placed on the good earning position of the rails and the merger possibilities. We believe the upward swing in rails will continue. Think CO, SO, BY, NY, C, W, etc., and Mop Pfd will sell higher. We look for new high in Steel Common. On any reaction we would buy Sioux Steelfield again. May Department Stores has not shown much interest in the last few days, but we would buy it here.
