Castoria is recommended by physician or children teething. It is a purely veg: table preparation, its ingredients are pub-Escuminse, lished around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and abrolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels quiets pain, cures diarrhea and wind colic allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea-the mothers' friend, 35 doses, 35 cents.

On Monday evening last as Dr. Page was returning from a sick call, he discovered a boy named Worth lying at the side of the road in a dying condition. The boy had been fishing, and being in his bare feet, he had tramped on some glass and cut one of his feet so badly that he was fast bleeding to death, had not the doctor happened along just in the nick of time.—Truvo Sun.

I went on deck and found the night still black upon the sea, the wind the same brisk gale that was blowing when I quitted the helm, the sea no heavier, and the schooner tumbling in true Dutch fashion upon it. I looked very earnestly around but could see no signs of ice. There would be daylight presently, so I went below, lighted the fire, and got my breakfast, and when I returned the sun was up and the sea visible to its furthest reaches.

If I fell in with an enemy's cruiser or a privateer I must expect to be stripped. This would be the fortune of war, and I must take my chance. My concern did not lie that way; how was I to protect this property, that was justly mine, against my own countrymen, suppose I had the good fortune to carry the schooner safely into Engish waters? I had a brother-in-law, Jeremiah Mason, Esq., a Turkey merchant in a small way of business, whose office was in the City of London, and, if I could manage to convey the treasure segretly to him, he would, I knew, find visible to its furthest reaches.
