THE ROYAL TOUR.

Duke and Duchess Speeding Eastward to the Lakes Today. WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 8.—The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York bade farewell to the west yesterday, and are once more speeding eastward on their special train. They will reach the lakes today, and on Thursday afternoon will be in Toronto. The Royal special reached Winnipeg at 5:10 yesterday afternoon and made a stop of half an hour, during which the Duke and Duchess visited the Ogilvie flour mills. A crowd of several thousand gathered about the depot and cheered the royal couple as they left their car and again when they returned. The Duke is reported to have shot about a hundred ducks in two days at Senator Kercheffer's shooting reserve.

TO PUT DOWN ANARCHY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Association of the Bar of City of New York has just adopted a memorial on the death of President McKinley. In part it says: "The members of the profession are shocked and outraged by the occurrence, in view of the tragedy, of a conviction, which we so deeply deplore, that never in the history of this nation has it been of more vital importance that just laws be enacted, immediately and firmly, to counteract, that with its preservation of free speech and wholesome criticism of public measures and methods of public administration, reckless agitation and the glorification of lawless violence be repressed."

TO AVENGE THEIR COMRADES.

MANILA, Oct. 8.—General Smith sailed from here today for the relief of the Island of Samar. He will take command of Samar so to enable Genl. Hughes to devote himself to the Island of Cebu, where trouble is possible, unless strong measures are adopted. Genl. Smith will be accompanied by a battalion of the Seventh Infantry, who are anxious to avenge the disaster to company "C" of the Ninth Infantry. Further accounts from Samar received here show that horrible indignities were perpetrated on the dead bodies.

MISS STONE'S CAPTORS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 8.—A trustworthy report locates Miss Stone's abductors on the summit of a mountain at Gultepe on the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier near Dubinita. It is said that the kidnaping band numbers eighteen. Arrangements have been made to surround the mountain with Turkish and Bulgarian troops. It has been suggested that the abductors of Miss Stone are members of the old Macedonian committee, actuated by motives of jealousy, and that they are endeavoring to accomplish the downfall of the present committee. The Bulgarian government has promised to act vigorously.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8.—Consul General Peterson has applied for a passport for Prince Ferdinand, but it has not yet been granted. The prince has gone to the country. No news has been obtained of Miss Stone since her recent letter to Mr. Haskell.

The Bulgarian troops and police are actively scouring the frontier.

TWO MEN KILLED.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 8.—Two men were killed in a saloon here last night. James A. Posey, proprietor of the place, and Quinlan, owner of a saloon, got into a quarrel. They drew their revolvers and fired simultaneously. Both were killed.

THE NEW AMER.

SMILTA, Oct. 8.—Abdurrahman Khan is dead and Habibullah Khan has been officially proclaimed amir. The accession has been accepted by his brothers and the sirdars. All is quiet at Kabul.

The surveying party who are locating the route of the new railway from Chipman to Gibson are now approaching the latter place. It is not yet known just where the new line will cross the Nashwaak river, but probably not far above Gibson. The project entertained some time ago of crossing the Nashwaak at Penlac on the same bridge as is used by the Canadian Eastern railway has been abandoned, and the new company will erect its own bridge across the river. The terminus of the railway will not be at Gibson, either, according to present intentions. The line will cross the St. John river on the present railway bridge, and it is probable that the present Canada Eastern station at the corner of Brunswick and Sundry streets will be enlarged and remodeled and be used by both the Canada Eastern and the New Brunswick Coal and Railway companies.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—Fresh to strong winds, fair to cloudy, southerly, with rain and moderately warm. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Eastern states and northern New York—Showers tonight, probably Thursday cooler; Thursday, fresh south winds.

CLARKE WALLACE DEAD.

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., Oct. 8.—Hon. N. Clarke Wallace died at 10:15 tonight. Death resulted from pericarditis, a family after a lingering illness of several weeks. He leaves a widow and a large family. A son, Captain Thomas Wallace, gained laurels in the South African campaign.

NOVA SCOTIA MURDER.

Uncle of I. H. Kaplan, of this City, Found Shot Through Head—Cause a Mystery. On Monday evening Nathan Kaplan, a Jew, doing business at Clark's Harbor, N. S., was shot through the head fatally. He was 37 years of age and leaves a widow and eight children, seven of which, with their mother, are in Russia. Thus far no light has been thrown on the tragedy, although it is reported that a young Jew is suspected. Israel H. Kaplan, general clothier of No. 26 Mill street, is a nephew of the murdered man, and will probably leave for Yarmouth today and from thence to Clark's Harbor.

FOR SOCIAL PURITY.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—With an earnest appeal for the abolition of the state regulation of vice, the National Purity convention opened last night in the First E. church. Rev. O. E. Edwards, pastor of the church, presided. Maurice Gregory of London, who represents the English societies engaged in the movement, delivered an address and read fraternal greetings from workers in London. Mormonism and Purity was the subject of an address by Rev. William R. Campbell of Salt Lake City, editor of The Kinsman.

CANADIAN BRIEFS.

The Duke and Duchess of the University—A Suicide—Canadian Sheep at Buffalo. KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 8.—It has been decided the conferring of the honorary degree upon the Duke of Cornwall and York by Queen's University will take place in the open air. Vice-President John Watson will present the duke to the chancellor, Sir Sandford Fleming, to have the degree conferred.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 8.—John S. Kane of Syracuse tried to shoot the police officers at Chippewa. He was arrested and locked up here. Yesterday he was found dead in his cell, having committed suicide. He had been drinking heavily.

AUSTRALIA'S TARIFF.

MELBOURNE, Aus., Oct. 8.—In the federal house of representatives today the commonwealth tariff bill was introduced by the Right Hon. Charles Cameron Kington, minister of trade and commerce, who congratulated the house that from this moment free trade existed among the states of the commonwealth. Mr. Kington announced that the government intended to introduce a system of bonuses in order to encourage the establishment of new industries.

BOSTON MERCHANT'S DEATH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Melvin H. Heilburn of Boston jumped or fell from a window on the eleventh floor of the Herald Square hotel this morning and was instantly killed. Manager Saunders of the hotel said that Heilburn was frequently stopped there and was known to have complained of cramps. He believed that the man had been taken with cramps, gone to the window and fallen out. Mr. Heilburn was proprietor of a ladies' furnishing goods store at 180 Tremont street, Boston, and lived in Brookline. Nothing was known at the Boston store to throw light on the death of the man. He went to New York on business.

FABULOUS FIND OF GOLD.

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 8.—Charles R. and Porter W. Fleming, of this place, have arrived here from the Gallatin mountains where they report a remarkable gold discovery. The rich find is located seventy miles north of Tucson and the vein of ore, according to the Flemings, is 200 feet wide and six thousand feet in length. A canon cuts through the vein for 200 feet, exposing the ore on either side. The Fleming brothers assert that the entire length of the cut from the bottom of the canon to the surface the outcroppings of ore will run from $5 to $10,000 to the ton. They estimate the amount of gold in sight at the enormous sum of $7,000,000.

HERE'S A WONDER.

LONESVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—The engagement of Miss Fattie Burnett Ellison of this city to Sir Charles Henry Lothart Ross of England is announced. Miss Ellison's position among the titled brides is unique, for she has no considerable fortune. She is the granddaughter of General Charles Scott, the third governor of Kentucky, and a general on Washington's staff. Sir Charles is said to be the third largest land owner in Great Britain.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 8.—Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., of New York, conducted the devotional exercises which preceded the opening of this morning's meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. The foreigners, was given up to addresses by officers of the board and missionaries, the report of the secretary and the sermon by Rev. Henry Hopkins, D. D., of Kansas City, Mo., vice-president of the board, being the most notable feature of the session.

THOSE CATTLE RESTRICTIONS.

EDINBURGH, Oct. 8.—Replying to an influential delegation representing Scottish agricultural interests, the president of the board of agriculture, Mr. Hanbury, said today that so long as he was president of the board he would never consent to the removal of the restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle.

ST. JOHN STAR.

THE LATE HON. N. C. WALLACE.

The death of Hon. N. C. Wallace removes one of the most striking figures in Canadian public life. He was the leading parliamentary spokesman of an influential section of the people, and one of the most aggressive speakers in the house of commons. So strong a man was he in the constitution where he was best known that he always came out of even the most bitter election contests triumphant. That he was the head of the Orange organization was not the secret of his success as a politician, for he was a man of marked ability, who had a clear grasp of public questions and whose labors in behalf of the national policy bore good fruit for the country. As an administrator during the period when he was a member of Sir John Thompson's cabinet, he was capable and conscientious, and whether as a member of the party in power, or in opposition, or at the time he broke with his old party over the Jesuits' Estate Bill, he held the respect of his fellow members. What he believed he believed with an absolute conviction, and proclaimed with uncompromising directness of speech. This made enemies as well as friends for him, but he pursued his course without hesitancy, apparently regardless alike of praise or blame. Those who knew him intimately declare that he was not narrow, but always disposed to be fair to his opponents as well as true to his friends. His death is a public loss.

MUST USE THEM WELL.

If we are to have a considerable body of militia here on the occasion of the royal visit it is obviously time that arrangements for their entertainment were well advanced. It will be no small task to cater for them, and provisions must be made for their comfort in other ways. The weather will be chilly, and may even be wet, and however good a commissariat department the government may have up its sleeve the task of preparation cannot be completed in a day. Mr. George Robertson will do the very best he can, and the city council will not be behind-hand with its part of the general programme, but the question of housing the troops has been left in abeyance too long. The soldiers should not have any cause for complaint when they are here. Whoever is responsible for the arrangements should be invited to wake up and examine the calendar. There is a lot to be done in the next week. We do not want to be compelled to regale the troops with emergency rations.

THE HARBOR DREDGING.

Some years ago Col. Tucker, near the outset of his parliamentary career, was the recipient of many congratulations on having obtained from Hon. Mr. Tarte the promise that the dredging of St. John harbor would be commenced immediately. Any doubt as to Col. Tucker's ability and influence with the master of the administration was removed by this news, as if by the scoops of the promised dredge. But several winters and summers have passed by and the promise is still unfulfilled. The necessity for the work is as apparent now as then, and the common council has been asked by the board of trade to co-operate with it in bringing the matter again before the government. Yet, though the work is one of necessity, what can the board of trade and the common council do where Col. Tucker has failed?

THE PURITY CONVENTION.

The National Purity Convention, which opened at Chicago yesterday evening, has a somewhat exhaustive programme before it. There is to be no lack of variety and the spice of realism will not be wanting. Among other things football as an excessive exercise, hunting and fishing as impure sports will come up with anarchy and its doctrine of free love for censure by the members of this convention. When the vials of their wrath are emptied on these, cigarettes, theatres and divorce will be brought in and attacked. There seems to be no apparent reason why the purity convention should stop at these. To the ordinary observer there would seem to be a number of other things which are rather common in Chicago that might be dealt with during the course of these proceedings. It is hinted that the government of that city is not altogether pure and spotless, and it is further rumored that there are portions of that as well as of other cities where purity is but a name. But things like these can well be set aside until such great and alarming evils, bones on the body politic, as football, hunting and fishing are forever banished.

THE YACHT RACES.

Since the sailing of the international yacht races the nautical critics of New York and other American cities have been accusing those in charge of the Shamrock during these contests of serious errors of judgment. These errors, it is stated, lost the challenger minutes of time, and probably the cup. It is well to note that while these critics are making these accusations Sir Thomas Lipton, who, it would apparently seem, has more at stake than they, has nothing but words of praise about the men who sailed his yacht.

It will be no small task to cater for them, and provisions must be made for their comfort in other ways. The weather will be chilly, and may even be wet, and however good a commissariat department the government may have up its sleeve the task of preparation cannot be completed in a day. Mr. George Robertson will do the very best he can, and the city council will not be behind-hand with its part of the general programme, but the question of housing the troops has been left in abeyance too long. The soldiers should not have any cause for complaint when they are here. Whoever is responsible for the arrangements should be invited to wake up and examine the calendar. There is a lot to be done in the next week. We do not want to be compelled to regale the troops with emergency rations.

THE HARBOR DREDGING.

Some years ago Col. Tucker, near the outset of his parliamentary career, was the recipient of many congratulations on having obtained from Hon. Mr. Tarte the promise that the dredging of St. John harbor would be commenced immediately. Any doubt as to Col. Tucker's ability and influence with the master of the administration was removed by this news, as if by the scoops of the promised dredge. But several winters and summers have passed by and the promise is still unfulfilled. The necessity for the work is as apparent now as then, and the common council has been asked by the board of trade to co-operate with it in bringing the matter again before the government. Yet, though the work is one of necessity, what can the board of trade and the common council do where Col. Tucker has failed?

THE PURITY CONVENTION.

The National Purity Convention, which opened at Chicago yesterday evening, has a somewhat exhaustive programme before it. There is to be no lack of variety and the spice of realism will not be wanting. Among other things football as an excessive exercise, hunting and fishing as impure sports will come up with anarchy and its doctrine of free love for censure by the members of this convention. When the vials of their wrath are emptied on these, cigarettes, theatres and divorce will be brought in and attacked. There seems to be no apparent reason why the purity convention should stop at these. To the ordinary observer there would seem to be a number of other things which are rather common in Chicago that might be dealt with during the course of these proceedings. It is hinted that the government of that city is not altogether pure and spotless, and it is further rumored that there are portions of that as well as of other cities where purity is but a name. But things like these can well be set aside until such great and alarming evils, bones on the body politic, as football, hunting and fishing are forever banished.

THE YACHT RACES.

Since the sailing of the international yacht races the nautical critics of New York and other American cities have been accusing those in charge of the Shamrock during these contests of serious errors of judgment. These errors, it is stated, lost the challenger minutes of time, and probably the cup. It is well to note that while these critics are making these accusations Sir Thomas Lipton, who, it would apparently seem, has more at stake than they, has nothing but words of praise about the men who sailed his yacht.

ST. JOHN STAR.

THE LATE HON. N. C. WALLACE.

The death of Hon. N. C. Wallace removes one of the most striking figures in Canadian public life. He was the leading parliamentary spokesman of an influential section of the people, and one of the most aggressive speakers in the house of commons. So strong a man was he in the constitution where he was best known that he always came out of even the most bitter election contests triumphant. That he was the head of the Orange organization was not the secret of his success as a politician, for he was a man of marked ability, who had a clear grasp of public questions and whose labors in behalf of the national policy bore good fruit for the country. As an administrator during the period when he was a member of Sir John Thompson's cabinet, he was capable and conscientious, and whether as a member of the party in power, or in opposition, or at the time he broke with his old party over the Jesuits' Estate Bill, he held the respect of his fellow members. What he believed he believed with an absolute conviction, and proclaimed with uncompromising directness of speech. This made enemies as well as friends for him, but he pursued his course without hesitancy, apparently regardless alike of praise or blame. Those who knew him intimately declare that he was not narrow, but always disposed to be fair to his opponents as well as true to his friends. His death is a public loss.

MUST USE THEM WELL.

If we are to have a considerable body of militia here on the occasion of the royal visit it is obviously time that arrangements for their entertainment were well advanced. It will be no small task to cater for them, and provisions must be made for their comfort in other ways. The weather will be chilly, and may even be wet, and however good a commissariat department the government may have up its sleeve the task of preparation cannot be completed in a day. Mr. George Robertson will do the very best he can, and the city council will not be behind-hand with its part of the general programme, but the question of housing the troops has been left in abeyance too long. LITTLE WILLIE'S SCHEME.

How He Succeeded in Getting Pocket Money.

The parents and friends of little Willie Jones are thoroughly convinced that he is destined to be a multimillionaire. They base their conviction on a recent occurrence.

Until a month ago little Willie was in the habit of going to his mother when he wanted money and asking her for a nickel or a dime, according to his needs. One day when his requests for money had been unusually frequent she made up her mind that it would be well to teach the young man a lesson in thrift.

For the next three weeks Willie made not a single demand for money, and finally his mother concluded that something must be the matter with the boy. Possibly she had been too severe with him.

"What's the matter with you, Willie?" she said. "Why don't you ever ask me for any money? I didn't mean to cut you off entirely when I spoke to you the other day."

"I don't need to ask, mother," said the young financier. "I am earning more money now than I really need."

"How do you do it, Willie?" asked the mother.

Willie was reluctant to disclose the secret, but finally consented to do so. The Joneses live in a big house which stands in an acre of ground. Behind the house the yard is covered with thick growth of trees and shrubbery. To the rear of the yard behind a thick clump of bushes Willie had his wonderful parent. There in a spot entirely concealed from view from the houses he had arranged a dozen small boxes in the shape of the seats at a theatre. In the centre stood a post and on the post was tacked a placard. On this placard little Willie had printed, in

LOTS OF FLAGS.

"Flags?" said F. A. Dykeman to the Star this morning, "we have them from one cent up. These small ones at five cents each, these are very popular. I will have a large lot of flags from Montreal in a day or two that will be a great bargain. The rush is over in Montreal and I got these very cheap. For example, a flag that was fifty cents, I can sell for a quarter, and one that was a quarter I can sell for ten cents."

Mr. Dykeman says that those who will decorate on a large scale are buying flags and bunting freely now, but as is always the case there will be a rush at the last.

F. A. Dykeman & Co. are prepared to meet the demand, and have flags of all kinds, including those showing the coat-of-arms of the different colonies. The firm are supplying the city with quite a lot of flags, all the lanterns and about 800 yards of greening for decorative purposes. Assuming that his intention was to amuse the crowd, he succeeded admirably in his efforts.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN DEAD.

(Portland Press.) Daniel Fryel, known to almost every person in Portland, is dead. For years he kept a sailors' boarding house, pawn shop, junk store and other enterprises on Fore street. He had figured before the courts in one capacity or another more than any other man in Portland. For some time he had been in failing health, and some days ago he went to the Maine General hospital for treatment. Yesterday morning he died at about 5 o'clock. He had one son. He came here from St. John many years ago, and during the whole of his stay in Portland was one of the familiar figures on the street.

Mrs. Taylor has had some slight disagreement with her husband, which has recently resulted in a separation. She has found refuge with Harry Ford, and now Dan, her husband, is on the warpath. He says that his wife cost him five dollars, and he wants her returned. Just previous to the separation Dan stated that she used language so bad that he would not repeat it in a barroom. Emma Jones is also indignant over the affair and demands either an apology or satisfaction. She and Dan made separate complaints at the police court today, and the different parties will appear before the magistrate on Friday.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—C. E. P. Lyon, who claims to be the Canadian agent for the Lipton company, has entered suit against Capt. Frank Fisher for $50,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections.
