BRITISH AND FRENCH WREST MORE GROUND FROM ENEMY, CAPTURING MORE GUNS AND PRISONERS

NEW PROGRESS IN THE GIVENCHY WOOD, WHILE FIERCE COUNTER ATTACKS OF THE ENEMY HAVE BEEN BROKEN UP.

Violent Bombardments by Germans Fail to Move Allies From Captured Positions and All Ground Won in Great Offensive Has Been Maintained.

Paris, Oct. 1.—New progress for the allied troops in the Givenchy wood, the capture of additional German machine guns and prisoners in the Champagne region, and the stopping of a German bombardment in the Argonne by a French counter-offensive are recorded in the French official communication made public tonight.

The communication says: "Some new progress has been realized in the southern part of the Givenchy wood (Artois). To the east of Souchez we have made prisoners of sixty-one members of the Prussian Guard and set free some French prisoners who had been in the hands of the Germans since September 23.

In Champagne a sudden attack between Auberviviers and Le Pire de Vede-grange has enabled us to take from the enemy more machine guns and about thirty prisoners. "The Germans have directed on some of our new positions an intermittent bombardment in which they used shells which irritated the eyes, causing them to run water. Our batteries have efficaciously responded.

"A violent bombardment of our trenches in the Argonne to the north of La Hulette, has been stopped by our efficacious fire from bomb throwers on the German trenches. "Some shells have been thrown from a long range on Verdun and Nomeny by the enemy batteries, which were immediately counter-attacked by our artillery.

"We have, on our part, cannonaded, at long range, some trains in the station of Vignuelles Les Hattouchatel and caused two violent explosions. "In the Vosges, in the environs of the Vion, an offensive demonstration of the enemy, which was accompanied by cannonading and rifle fire, has not been followed by any infantry attack. "Our ship 'Alsace' bombarded, during the night of Sept. 30-Oct. 1, the junction of Amagne Lacey and the stations of Atigny and Voussiers. The ship was shelled all along its journey, especially at Voussiers, where it found itself surrounded by numerous clusters of incendiary rockets.

"The ship has returned safely to its base, after the fulfillment of its mission, having been hit only by a few splinters of shells, which caused no damage." London, Oct. 1.—The belief that Bulgaria has taken sides with the Central Powers and Turkey, and that the Anglo-French and Russian troops will assist the friends of the Entente allies, while it momentarily has diverted the attention of diplomats, has not dampened the interest of the public in the situation in the eastern and western theatres of war. The offensive of the allies in the west, and the determination with which the Russians are opposing the Austro-German advance in the east, are the absorbing topics. The news from the two fronts is considered here as the best for many months.

particularly against the important Austrian position of Tolmino. Nothing has been heard of the much talked of Austro-German offensive against Serbia, or of the operations on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Russians Gather Strength in East. Petrograd, Oct. 1.—The war office tonight made public the following official communication: "German attacks in the region of Mshof, on the railway east of Mitau, were unsuccessful. German aeroplanes threw bombs on Ust-Dvinsk-Riza and the station of Oger, but without causing any military damage. "In the region of Grendz, northwest of Lake Evenat, after a fierce bombardment, the Germans attacked and seized some of our trenches. The fighting continues.

"The German attacks in the region of Berhof on Lake Medmouk, or Medum, and against the dells near the northern extremity of Lake Drisitvity were repulsed. "We carried by assault the town of Dunilovitch, northeast of Lake Medzol. The enemy also was dislodged from the village of Ajouy, in the Dunilovitch region and from the Medzol station.

"In the region of the village of Gouli, slightly east of Lake Narolche, our cavalry attacked infantry protecting enemy convoys, and seized a number of wagons and seventy prisoners. At another place we captured over one hundred wagons and horses and dozens of prisoners, many Germans being sabred in the pursuit. "Near the village of Gat, south of Lake Narolche, one of the German companies was cut up. Its survivors were made prisoners."

Bulletin—London, Oct. 1.—There was no change today in the situation on the British front in the western theatre of the war, according to an official report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field. The communication follows: "On the 29th the enemy made several attacks on our positions north-west of Hulluch. Severe fighting continued all day, with the result that we maintained all our positions, except on the extreme left, where the enemy gained about 150 yards of trench. Our position has been firmly consolidated. The hostile counter-attacks have now weakened.

"On the afternoon of the 29th, near Hooge, the enemy fired a mine under our trenches south of the Meonic road, gaining a footing in our front line. Counter-attacks, delivered on the 30th recovered all but a small portion of the trench lost. "Today there has been no change in the situation on our front. "During the last seven days our aircraft have been very active. Seventeen air combats are reported, in only one of which was a British machine wanted. A German machine was brought down inside our lines. Yesterday attacks were made on the railway in the hostile area. The main lines are known to have been damaged in fifteen different places. Five, and probably six, trains were partially wrecked and the locomotive sheds at Valenciennes were set afire. Considerable interference thus has been caused to the German railroad organization."

HUNDREDS DIE IN FLOODS IN SOUTH

Known Dead 149, and Over 100 Other Deaths Reported While Hundreds of Others Are Homeless.

New Orleans, Oct. 1.—Reports from scattered sections of the hurricane area in Louisiana and the Mississippi Gulf coast late today give 149 known dead, 106 reported dead and 105 missing. Hundreds of persons along the Mississippi and interior points are marooned in flooded sections. The known dead in New Orleans is twenty-four. The property damage will run into millions.

Couriers by boat and train as well as small advances brought in reports of tremendous property loss and rumors of many drowned along the both sides of the Mississippi river south of here. Boat passengers arriving today from Empire, near the Doulloah Canal, about fifty miles down the Mississippi, reported that only four large houses still stood at Empire and that about 100 persons were marooned in them. A rescue vessel has started for that point. Many inhabitants of the flooded sections on both sides of the river were reported marooned and some were said to be clinging to three tops. Relief vessels were sent to rescue them.

FIFTH DEATH FROM TYPHOID IN DORCHESTER

Latest Victim Dr. W. B. Cameron—Forty Cases of the Disease and Situation is Serious.

Moncton, N. B., Oct. 1.—The fifth death as the result of the typhoid fever epidemic in Dorchester occurred in the Moncton Hospital this evening, the latest being Dr. W. B. Cameron, twenty-seven years of age. Dr. Cameron is a native of Advocate, N. S., and had been practicing in Dorchester for about four months. He graduated last year from Toronto University. Fred S. Cameron, well-known marathon runner, is a brother. About forty cases of the dreaded disease are now reported at the shiretown and situation is serious.

BATTLE IN CHAMPAGNE DISTRICT EXPECTED TO CONTINUE FORTNIGHT

Military Critic of the Temps Says Allied Army, Filled With Ardor and Well Supplied With Ammunition, is in Excellent Position to Keep up Great Drive Against Enemy.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The military critic of the Temps estimates that the battle in Champagne is likely to last a fortnight. "It cannot continue without incidental checks," he continues, "but the Allies, upon the whole front today, are in a good situation. The soldiers are filled with ardor. The supply of munitions is abundant. Artillerymen are obtaining extraordinary results. Fine weather enables the aviators to observe accurately the effects of the fire."

The critic states that the official communication from the war minister under-estimates, rather than overstates, the results attained.

TEUTONS UNABLE TO PROFIT BY RECAPTURE OF LUTSK FORTRESS

Military Writers in Petrograd Believe German Drive East of Svietyany Has Come to End—Czar's Army Straightening Out Front South of Dvinsk and West of Vleka.

London, Oct. 1.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company gives the following: "Military writers, in the light of the latest despatches, are of the opinion that the great German thrust east of Svietyany (on the main line of the Warsaw-Vilna-Dvinsk-Petrograd railroad) may be considered at an end. The enemy, being forced back towards the Dvinsk-Vilna railway, the Russians are straightening out their front to the south of Dvinsk and west of Vleka, and in general the enemy's offensive from Riga to the Pinsk region has been arrested. It is pointed out, with satisfaction that the enemy, although greatly reinforced, apparently has been unable to follow up the recapture of Lutsk."

CANADIANS LIKELY TO BE IN THICK OF FIGHTING WITHIN NEXT FEW DAYS

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Oct. 1.—General Sir Sam Hughes stated tonight that in all probability we shall hear soon of the Canadian troops being in the thick of the heavy fighting. No doubt preparations are being made for heavy drives at other points of the Franco-British line and he expects that the Canadians will be included in the next heavy offensive. Both the first and second divisions are now in the trenches and the second got their baptism of fire on Wednesday when Capt. E. W. Hallam of London, Ont., was killed. However, the arrangement was a slight one. General Hughes explains that the sending of twelve new battalions to England to finish their training and take the place of those regiments of the second division which have gone to France which he announced today will not interfere with the arrangements for winter quarters made a few days ago.

(Canadian Press.) Ottawa, Oct. 1.—The Militia Department is advised that the second Canadian division has been in the trenches since last Saturday and has had its baptism of fire, though it is stated that the casualties in the first engagement are not heavy.

Capt. E. W. Hallam of London, Ont., with the 18th Battalion, is announced as having been killed last Wednesday. Lt. S. Horton, next of kin in England, is wounded. Capt. Hallam was formerly a member of the 7th Fusiliers at London. The first division of the Canadian infantry is believed to be in reserve.

It is also announced that Brig-Gen. Morrison, D.S.O., of Ottawa, recently given command of the first artillery division has changed commands with Colonel Thacker and now heads the second division artillery. Gen. Morrison, who recently came out of the hospital after an attack of pneumonia, has not yet fully recovered his strength.

It is understood twelve more battalions will shortly be sent to England to replace those of the second division recently sent to France.

LAST HOPES OF AVERTING WAR IN THE BALKANS HAVE BEEN ALMOST ABANDONED

PROTESTS MAY BE TRACED BACK TO GERMANY

Report Sent to Washington Shows no Foundation for Complaint that England is Hampering U. S. Trade with Neutrals for Benefit of British Firms.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Great Britain's answer to representations widely circulated in this country that she has been interfering with legitimate trade of the United States with neutral European nations for the benefit of her own exporters, is given in a note handed to Ambassador Page at London by Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, and made public here tonight by the State Department. Data and figures are quoted at length to prove that where British exports and re-exports have increased, the growth of similar trade from the United States has been many times as large, while in many cases there have been vast increases of American export, compared with decreases in those from the United Kingdom.

The note, which is in response to the unfavorable impression created here by reports of increases in British trade with Northern European countries since the war began, suggests also that statements concerning Great Britain's policy have been inspired by German agents.

NO ANSWER YET FROM MR. FORD

Sir Sam Hughes May be Depended on to Apply Proper Remedy, However, if Automobile Man Has Been Correctly Reported.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 1.—General Hughes said this evening that he had not yet received a reply to a wire which he sent Henry Ford, the American automobile manufacturer, yesterday asking him if it were true that he had stated, as reported in the press, that he was opposed to the Franco-British loan and that he would withdraw business from any bank which participated in the loan. The Militia Department has done a good deal of business with the Ford Company since the war began and the company has also done much general business in Canada.

General Hughes is essentially a man of action and it is not difficult to forecast what he will do if Ford corroborates the reported statements.

HON. MR. F. EMMING ILL

Fredrickton, Oct. 1.—Hon. J. K. Fleming is reported very ill at his home in Woodstock.

Bulgaria's Entry on Side of Teutons Regarded as Almost Certain.

FEELING IN SOFIA IS THAT WAR MUST COME.

Immediate Cession of Uncontested Zone in Macedonia Only Means of Keeping Bulgaria Out of War, is Opinion in Capital.

London, Oct. 1.—The hope expressed yesterday that war in the Balkans might be averted virtually has been abandoned, according to the belief expressed in official quarters.

The statement made by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, in the House of Commons, this afternoon, concerning rumors that Austria-German officers had arrived in Bulgaria, just as they did before Turkey threw in her lot with the German allies, is taken by officials to mean that Bulgaria has definitely decided to join them. Such a move by Bulgaria would result in the Entente Allies being called upon to keep their promise to support, with all the means in their power those Balkan States which remain friendly to them and who are menaced by the threatened Bulgarian aggression.

Athens never had much confidence in the Bulgarian assurances that Bulgaria's mobilizations were quite innocent, it was asserted here today, and the other capitals have now been forced to the same conclusion. There is nothing to indicate the attitude of Roumania, but it has always been taken for granted that her friendship for Italy and France assured her continued support of the cause of the Entente Allies.

The question arises as to what assistance the Entente Allies could give Greece and Serbia. It is suggested that an agreement be made with Greece that for every soldier sent by her to help Serbia the Allies would land a soldier and equipment at Saloniki to protect Greek territory to the south and, when the time came, to march against Bulgaria.

It is probable that this would be only one of the steps taken against Bulgaria, should her attitude continue provocative which officials now consider it to be, despite the fact that a large majority of the people in that country are believed to be still friendly to the Entente Allies, especially Russia and England.

Sofia Expects War. Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 1, via London, 10 p. m.—M. Malinoff, former premier and now leader of the Democratic party, before acting on the proposal that he accept a portfolio in the cabinet of M. Radostavoff, on Tuesday visited the Russian and British ministers to convince himself as to the real intentions of the Triple Entente governments toward Bulgaria.

The previous afternoon M. Malinoff had a four hours' audience with King Ferdinand. What M. Malinoff's decision is not yet known. Hope is dwindling here that the Balkan situation will be settled peacefully. The impression is gaining ground that Bulgaria, by retracing her steps, will invite a situation which might become dangerous after the war.

The only means for the prevention of a Balkan war, in the opinion of high authorities in Sofia, seems to be the immediate cession by Serbia to Bulgaria of the uncontested zone in Macedonia, without reservation, and acknowledgment of Bulgaria's right to occupy the zone forthwith. In well-informed circles it is stated that the key to the situation lies in Nish, and not in Sofia, and that the Triple Entente governments, in order to settle matters, must become active there. Premier Radostavoff yesterday, when receiving prominent members of the Agrarian party, said that Bulgaria (Continued on page 2)

GERMANY'S UNDERSEAS CAMPAIGN CRUSHED

BRITISH ADMIRALTY HAS FOUND EFFECTIVE MEANS OF FIGHTING GERMAN "U" BOATS

Between Fifty and Seventy Captured or Destroyed — Submarine Telephone Which Warns of Undersea Craft Approach a Successful Factor in the Admiralty's Scheme — Aeroplanes Are Also Playing Important Part.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Great Britain has discovered and put into effective operation means of combating the submarine which, according to official reports to the United States government, already have resulted in a loss estimated at between fifty and seventy German submarines. The reports declare that the British Admiralty confidently believes it has crushed the German undersea campaign.

New methods of offense and defense that may revolutionize naval warfare have been adopted, and high British naval officers are of the opinion that unless the effectiveness of the submarine is increased, it will no longer constitute the menace that it has to commerce and battle fleets.

The British censorship has prevented the disclosure of details concerning the developments. Within the last three weeks, however, confidential reports to various government departments from representatives in European capitals of neutral, as well as belligerent countries have confirmed the British Admiralty's view that an effective means of dealing with the submarine has been found.

These reports are being closely scrutinized on account of the bearing they may have upon the naval policy of the United States. They reaffirm the view of the navy in their conviction that the dreadnaught still is the mainstay in warfare on sea, and tend to dissipate the profound impression created by the spectacular and for a long time apparently unsurpassed operations of the German U boats around the British Isles.

According to reports, destruction or capture of fifty submarines actually had been reported several weeks ago, and it was regarded as possible that the number might have reached recently. A dinner was given recently in London which, while not a formal state affair, was attended by high government officials celebration of the destruction of the fifth undersea enemy. Reports of the dinner apparently were suppressed by the censor, in accordance with Great Britain's policy of keeping Germany in doubt as to how many of the boats have been destroyed.

While the greatest secrecy is thrown around the means employed, the United States government has information concerning the principal methods which have been successful in meeting the German war zone campaign. A submarine telephone has been developed by which it is possible

INQUIRY INTO PURCHASE OF SUBMARINES

Sir Chas. Davidson begins probe at Vancouver into sale of undersea boats to the Government.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 1.—Sir Chas. Davidson, sitting as a royal commissioner in Canada this morning opened the investigation into the circumstances surrounding the purchase of two submarines, the Autofaasta and the Iquique, now known as the C. C. 1 and the C. C. 2 which had been constructed at Seattle for the Chilean government.

S. S. Taylor, K. C., who had been appointed by the Provincial Liberal Association made an application for permission to appear before the commission, basing his claim to be allowed to do so on reading of public inquiries act and royal commission appointing Sir Chas. as commissioner. He also produced a telegram from Acting Minister of Finance Pelletier to the Liberal party to the effect that there was no reason why Taylor should not appear as counsel for the Liberal party. His Lordship replied that the acting minister of finance had no power to interfere with the commission, or to say who could not appear before it.

"It is possible that my position as commissioner might be cancelled, otherwise I won't permit any official interference with the business of this commission," declared His Lordship, who, after paying a compliment to the ability of John Thompson, K. C., counsel for the commission, said he must rule against the application, suggesting that Taylor might give any information he had to Thompson.

J. V. Paterson, president of the Seattle Construction & Drydock Company, the firm which constructed the two submarines, the purchase of which by the British Columbia government is now the subject of inquiry of Sir Charles Peers Davidson, royal commissioner to inquire into war contracts, occupied the witness box for the most portion of the afternoon, at the court, which is sitting in the parliament buildings here.

The witness told an interesting story of the sale of the underwater boats, originally intended for the Chilean navy, to the representatives of the Canadian authorities, declaring most emphatically and with considerable show of heat that there was not the suggestion of any irregularity on the part of Sir Richard McBride and those associated with him in the transaction. His own part in the deal, he did not attempt to cover, but seemed to glory in the manner in which he had outwitted the United States authorities, and the representatives of the Chilean government, in getting garia's hands were not tied by obligations to any belligerent group, and that the negotiations concerning Bulgaria's claims in Macedonia were proceeding.

It has been learned in authoritative quarters, however, that the time for pour parlers is very short, since the Bulgarian government realizes that further delay, without some positive action, is likely to jeopardize Bulgaria's interests.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The Temps announces that France and Great Britain already have taken military measures to defend Serbia and Greece against Bulgarian aggression.

The Temps does not indicate what armed steps have been taken by the Allies, nor is anything officially available respecting their military dispositions. It is presumed in military circles here, however, that a formidable expedition will land either at Kavala or Saloniki, or that it already may be landing.

The indications are that Italy and Russia are cooperating with France and Great Britain in the execution of this joint movement, although the actual military forces probably will be drawn from Great Britain and France and that the Italians will lend their aid in the Mediterranean and the Russians in the Black Sea front.

The Allied movement, it is said here, is designed to offset the agreement said to have been effected between Bulgaria and the Teutonic Allies under which Bulgaria will act against Serbia before Oct. 15. It is understood that Great Britain felt disposed to await the result of that eventuality, but that French diplomacy favored an immediate initiative for the purpose of overcoming any Bulgarian menace to Serbia before it could be put into effect. A minister of one of the Balkan States said today that Bulgaria had never replied to the joint note of the Triple Entente Allies submitting Serbia's concessions to Bulgaria with regard to Macedonia. Instead of replying, this minister said, Bulgaria had ordered a mobilization within a few days after she received the Allies joint note, mobilization, in the opinion of the minister, was in itself an adverse reply, and he expressed the belief that Bulgaria did not intend to make any further answer to the Allies.

The minister said he considered two courses open to the Allies, first, a peremptory ultimatum to Bulgaria to demobilize immediately, and, second, a military expedition to safeguard Serbia before Bulgaria's project could be carried into execution Oct. 15.

There are indications in Paris that both these moves are under way, or in contemplation, and the Temps definite announcement appears to assure the early execution of the expeditionary move.

the boats out of neutral waters.

"In July of last year you were assembling several submarines at your works at Seattle?" asked Mr. John Thompson, commissioner counsel, upon Paterson's stand, in

"Before answering the question," boldly returned the witness, "I want to ask a question, what is the object of this inquiry?"

"The court: 'To discover the truth, Sir.'"

Witness: "Oh, having in mind the necessity of the Dominion, the witness said, he came over to Victoria, and in the Union Club met Mr. Thompson, Captain Logan, Mr. F. S. Barnard, now Lieut. Governor of British Columbia, and two members of parliament whose names he had forgotten. He told the commission that he had been secured, but mentioned no price.

He returned to Seattle and was called over by the telephone by Captain W. H. Logan in regard to the boats. The latter conversations followed, and the price was stated, $1,150,000.

Why Chilean Government Refused The Boats

"I fixed the price myself," the witness volunteered. "The Electric Boat Company of Newbury, the contractors of the Chilean government, wanted more than $600,000."

Later Capt. Logan and a naval lieutenant, who was disguised as a hobo, had come to Seattle, and said Paterson, "I told them I would expect the check, or whatever way it was to be paid, on the border line. I would not cross the border until I was paid. The Salvor, bearing Lieutenants Jones and Captain Logan and another man arrived and an examination was made of the boats and the money was paid over and upon Lieut. Jones' insisting on a receipt, one was written on the back of an envelope.

On arriving at Victoria, he met Premier McBride who asked him if the price paid was a fair one for the boats, and he had replied that it was very fair.

Questioned regarding the refusal of the Chilean government to accept the vessels, he said that the Chilean government "was broke" and as an excuse for refusing to accept them Paterson told them on the trip and as a consequence the boats did not "function quickly."

Richard Ryan, janitor of the parliament buildings, declared, with pride, that he represented the prime minister in the final negotiations for the purchase of the ships. He had been sent with the check to Lieut. Pilcher, and had accompanied the naval party on board of the Salvor.

"You examined the submarine?"

"Yes."

"Are you an expert?"

"Yes. I was in the painting and decorating work for the naval authorities, and while my work was painting I could tell pretty quick whether any plates had been doctored."

Bank Manager Crawford told of a panic which existed in Victoria at the outbreak of the war because of the supposition that the Leipzig, a German cruiser, would attack the port. All the gold and securities in the banks were shipped east, he said, and automobiles were held in readiness to transport the citizens away. The arrival of the submarines allayed the general alarm he said, although it was many months before the gold was brought back to the coast.

NEW DRIVE BY ALLIES LIKELY TO CHANGE THIS

German Premier boasts that no enemy has yet reached the Rhine.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—(By wireless to Sayville)—In his speech opening the Bavarian parliament, the Prime Minister Count Von Houthof, reviewed the progress of the war and drew a balance between the achievements of Germany and those of her foes. In summarizing his remarks the Overseas News Agency says:

"No enemy," said the Prime Minister, "has reached the Rhine nor entered Berlin, whereas the Germans occupy almost all of Belgium, a considerable part of France and a vast area in Russia. Germany has not been starved by the enemy and the future will prove also the impossibility of success in the attempt to ruin German industrial life.

"The results of the third German war loan were sufficient to show this."

The Prime Minister reviewed the measures taken against the charging of unreasonable prices for commodities and expressed appreciation of the patriotic activity of the trade unions.

"He concluded by expressing the belief that the German nation would hold out as a unit until an honorable peace had been obtained on terms that would insure its duration."

SAYS RUSSIAN GOV'T HAS REFUSED TO MODIFY POLICY

Berlin, Oct. 1, via Sayville.—A despatch received today by the Overseas News Agency from Stockholm says:

"Premier Gorenaykin of Russia, on receiving the Liberal members of the Duma and a number of Russian financiers, announced that the government would not abate an inch from the way which it considered to be the correct one. A re-opening of the legislative body, the premier said, would influence unfavorably the situation in the interior of Russia. This was especially so because of the criticisms which had been directed against bills presented by members of the left. The programme of the 'bloc' party, he added, was so unacceptable to the government that he refused to discuss it."

"The premier said it was true a majority of the Russian ministers were inclined to reopen the Duma, but they had yielded to the minority when the ministers composing it had stated their reasons.

"The declaration of the Foreign Minister was received with silence by the deputation. Russian newspapers publish the reports of the conference without comment."

War Office Announces Conferring of Well-Merited Honors—Stories of Their Bravery Proves Stuff Men From Canada Are Made Of

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, Oct. 1.—The War Office despatches to the Canadian government intimate that Major James A. Hesketh of the Strathcona Horse, has been made a companion of the distinguished service order. The announcement says: "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the 1st August near Messines when a magazine in a farm containing much small arms, ammunition and many bombs and grenades was set on fire by the enemy's shells. One box of ammunition began to burn and the cartridges were exploding in all directions when Major Hesketh left his dugout, entered the farm still under heavy shell fire and moved all the ammunition. The risk was very great and for his gallant action the reserve ammunition would have been destroyed."

Win Distinguished Conduct Medal.
The following Canadian soldiers have been awarded the distinguished conduct medal for acts of gallantry and devotion:
Private H. T. Cameron, No. 3 Field Ambulance First Canadian Division; for bravery and devotion to duty on night of 20th-21st, May, 1915, at Postubert. He was the first to volunteer to assist in collecting the wounded at the Orchard captured from the enemy and which was still under a very heavy fire. The task was one of great difficulty and danger and of the party of eight men who undertook it four were severely wounded.
Squadron Serjt. Major G. S. Collins, Strathcona Horse, for conspicuous gallantry on the 1st August near Messines. A building in occupation of our troops and containing a large supply of ammunition was set on fire by an enemy shell. Several of the bombs and hand grenades caught fire and one of the ammunition boxes began to burn the cartridges exploding in all directions. Serjt. Major Collins, together with an officer of his regiment in spite of continuous shell fire directed upon the building entered it with the greatest coolness and bravery and assisted to put out the fire and remove the ammunition and bombs outside the building.

Rescued Comrade Under Heavy Fire.
Private E. Gledhill, 1st Battalion, for conspicuous bravery on the 15th June at Givenchy. Finding himself alone in a captured German trench and attacked by a bombing party he continued fighting until his rifle was destroyed by a bomb. In withdrawing he found a man with both legs broken. He bound up his legs and carried him into safety through a heavy rifle and machine gun fire. His display of bravery and devotion to duty were most marked.
Lance Sergeant W. E. Hart, 4th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry, ability and devotion to duty on the 23rd of April at Langemarck, when he carried many messages for the commanding officer under a heavy rifle, machine gun and shell fire. From the 28th to the 31st May at Postubert he repaired on no less than eleven occasions, in broad daylight, under a heavy shell fire, and while being constantly sniped at, breaks in the telephone wires. He was also every night engaged on this hazardous work. At Givenchy his cool bravery and excellent work on the face of severe and constant fire was mutually instrumental in keeping communication intact.
Color Sergeant J. Hay, 8th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry on the 23rd May at Postubert. After all the company officers had been killed or wounded Color Sergeant Hay took command of the company which was occupying a trench separate from the battalion and by his coolness and gallant behavior under fire set a fine example to all ranks and greatly assisted to keep them steady throughout the day.
Private E. Y. Hester, 5th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry and resource on the night of the 20th May at Postubert in the neighborhood of "K 4" as a bomb thrower he did exceptionally good work showing the greatest bravery and skill. This was repeated on the following night when attacking with the 10th Canadian Battalion and again all day on the 22nd May in assisting to hold a post and to repulse a German attack about noon. Private Hester was continuously on duty throughout this period and showed the greatest powers of endurance and devotion to duty. On the 24th May he again did splendid work with the van of the attacking party entering the bomb proof trenches of the enemy and cutting all the wires connecting their mines, thus undoubtedly preventing great loss of life. His daring skill and initiative throughout the operations were most marked.
Corporal S. G. Hobday, 3rd Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry of the 15th June at Givenchy. After two men had been killed and one wounded in their efforts to dig out of a trench an officer and six men who had been buried by the bursting of a high explosive shell Corporal Hobday took up the work under a heavy fire and succeeded in extricating the entire party who must otherwise have perished. On the following day he participated in the attack on the German trenches being one of the first on the advance.

In the subsequent retirement he rendered assistance to four men who were badly wounded and who were brought in later. On all occasions throughout the operations his coolness and great bravery have proved a splendid example and given encouragement to all ranks.
Lance Corporal H. W. King, 10th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry on the night of the 22nd-23rd April at Ypres when he followed the battalion during the charge of the woods with his telephone until his wires had been cut several times. He then reported to the 3rd Canadian Infantry Brigade Headquarters and acted under their orders and on the following night he brought a telephone to the captured trench. Lance Corporal King also displayed great bravery on the 20th May at Postubert when the line from the Sixth City of London Battalion to the fire trenches of his battalion having been destroyed he laid in broad day light and under an exceptionally heavy fire a new line so that communication was not lost for more than a short time.
Saved Four Wounded Men.
Sergeant J. MacDonald, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, for conspicuous gallantry near Hooze Chateau, on 8th May. When a front line of trenches had been obliterated by shell fire he dug out under very heavy shell fire two wounded men who had been buried.
On the same day he carried a badly wounded man on his back and at the same time assisted another wounded man into safety under both shell and rifle fire.
Private J. W. McKie, 5th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry and rescue on the 24th May, at Postubert, when he accompanied the men over the parapet in the charge of "K 5" and immediately began attending the wounded and rendering the first aid under very heavy fire. He continued doing so all day, located the wounded in the open during daylight and when darkness came on assisted to remove them to a place of safety. His bravery and devotion to duty were very marked.

Sergeant G. A. Mote, 3rd Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry on the 24th May at Postubert. In company with another non-commissioned officer Sergeant Mote reached the spot indicated only to find that the officer was not there. The other non-commissioned officer lost his life in gallantly making the attempt to rescue this officer.
Acting Company Sergeant Major C. Owen, 1st Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry and ability on the 15th June at Givenchy. When all the officers of his company had been killed or wounded he took the command and displayed great courage and powers of leadership and rendered valuable service at a critical period. After the withdrawal of our front line he returned through a heavy rifle and machine gun fire and rescued a wounded officer whom he carried into safety.
Corporal J. E. Palmer, 10th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry and ability on the 22nd May at Postubert, when he took his machine gun to an advanced position covering the attack of the "K 5" and completely checking the enemy's counter attack by breaking up their bombing parties and cutting a rope attached to a bag of bombs which the enemy were endeavoring to drag across from one trench to another. His devotion to duty and courage were most conspicuous.
Private H. Vineer, 1st Battalion, for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty on the 15th June at Givenchy, in a position where a machine gun tripod could not be used Private Vineer held the gun on his back under a heavy fire while an officer fired over one thousand rounds. Afterwards he dragged the heated gun through a fire-swept zone and saved it from capture.

SISTER OF CHARITY LED GALLANT CHARGE WHICH WON TRENCH

When Russian Company was broken she rallied the survivors and led them against enemy, taking the trench but receiving her death wound.

Petrograd, Oct. 1.—A Russian Sister of Charity, Mira Ivanova, was on the field of battle during a severe engagement on Sept. 22. Headless of the entreaties of the officers near her, including her brother, who is a regimental surgeon, that she leave the field, she continued to care for the wounded amid a hail of rifle and machine gun fire. She was killed by a bullet in the forehead. Her death was a great loss to the cause. She was a member of the 24th field artillery, mobilized here last winter, had been killed in action. Gunner Ernest H. Coy, of this city, writing to a friend here says "Tom Carter, who was a sergeant with the 24th battery, has been killed." Aside from this information nothing further has been received at Woodstock or in this city, where he had a large number of friends. Enquiries at Woodstock today elicited very little information, although it was said that Sergeant Carter's family had not heard from him for some time and was anxious.
Sergeant Carter was an Englishman but came to Woodstock ten years ago and purchased a farm a short distance from that town. He was engaged as a freeman on the northern division of the C. P. R. when the war broke out and enlisted at Woodstock. Owing to his former service in the British navy he was appointed a sergeant with the 24th battery and went to England with that unit. With a number of other artillerymen who spent last winter in training in Fredericton, he went over to Flanders with one of the drafts and was attached to 8th battery in France.

SAYS RUSSIAN GOV'T HAS REFUSED TO MODIFY POLICY

Berlin, Oct. 1, via Sayville.—A despatch received today by the Overseas News Agency from Stockholm says: "Premier Goremykin of Russia, on receiving the Liberal members of the Duma and a number of Russian financiers, announced that the government would not abate an inch from the way which it considered to be the correct one. A re-opening of the legislative body, the premier said, would influence unfavorably the situation in the interior of Russia. This was especially so because of the criticisms which had been directed against bills presented by members of the left. The programme of the 'bloc' party, he added, was so unacceptable to the government that he refused to discuss it." "The premier said it was true a majority of the Russian ministers were inclined to re-open the Duma, but they had yielded to the minority when the ministers composing it had stated their reasons." "The declaration of the Foreign Minister was received with silence by the deputation. Russian newspapers publish the reports of the conference without comment."

SIR EDW. GREY'S REMARKS NOT TO THEIR LIKING

Berlin official circles describe as clumsy British Foreign Secretary's Diplomacy in dealing with Balkans.

Berlin, Oct. 1, (Via Sayville)—"The Berlin official world expresses astonishment at the speech of Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs, regarding the Balkans," says the Overseas News Agency today. "The cause it is considered that he employed clumsy means of influencing the Balkan States when he declared that Germany desired to subordinate them. Such a statement is regarded as all the more surprising since England is the ally of Russia, and apparently has already promised Russia that she should have possession of the Dardanelles."
"As a matter of fact it is pointed out here no great power has more interest than Germany in seeing that the Balkan States maintain their complete independence."

THERE SHOULD BE NO DEBT DOGGING

Patriotic Fund and Separation Allowances are for maintenance of soldiers' families.

Complaints have been made to the local Patriotic Fund Committee that some of the wives of soldiers who receive assistance from the fund are not paying their grocers' bills and their rent. At the meeting of the committee yesterday a landlord complained that he had allowed a three-months rent bill to accumulate. A few nights ago the family gathered up its belongings and fled, leaving him without even a "scrap of paper" as a souvenir. He considered this a great hardship. While the committee cannot under-

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 Cents! Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Try This! Hair Gets Beautiful, Wavy and Thick in Few Moments.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff, you cannot have nice, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved"—H. M. The King.
TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

THE WAR NEWS.

The Allies on the western war front are gradually eating their way to the city of Lens, which, for many months, has been held by the Germans. Already the British control Hill 70 north of Lens and not more than a couple of miles from that city, while the French troops are in possession of Hill 140, five miles to the northwest, and are progressing through the forest of Givenchy. Meanwhile the positions occupied on Saturday last have been consolidated and, unless the Germans display more force than has characterized their fighting during the past week, will probably remain under Allied control. If the advances in the present direction should be maintained, Lens is likely to be the scene of a strenuous conflict in the next few days.

In the Champagne district the French lines have also made important gains, and are now aiming for the railway running just back of the German position with good chances of achieving it. With the railway in their possession the soldiers under General Joffre should be able to cut off supplies from the German army fighting above the railway lines and nearer to Lens, in which event a large portion of the Kaiser's western fighting front would be seriously endangered.

The general belief is that the successes already recounted will be followed by greater gains to come, that the main advance has as yet scarcely started, and that there is likely to be heavy, stubborn fighting for many days before the German lines are so decisively pierced as to compel an extensive re-formation on positions nearer to the German boundaries.

Germany's outstanding successes in French territory were achieved in September of last year. At that time her troops occupied their greatest area in France and about one-third of Belgium, while the French held a small salient in Alsace. From September to February, when the fronts settled down to the tiresome work of trench warfare, Germany lost fully 40 per cent. of her French gains, while she gained additional territory in Belgium. Today, the French territory occupied by Germany is a little more than four per cent. of the original area, while in Belgium she has also lost ground. In Alsace and Lorraine the French have made gains.

While the advances of last week brought the greatest gains of any single effort in the past year, comparison of the fighting fronts today with those of October last, will show that the Allied armies have made considerable inroads on the original German positions by the process of "ribbling," making gains which, while individually of comparative unimportance, aggregate a good slice of territory.

Progress from now on is likely to be slower than during the past week, as there is no doubt that the German generals realized the impossibility of holding the territory they had gained and prepared for the day when the tide must turn and force them back over the ground gained last autumn. In preparation for such an eventuality it is reasonable to suppose that they prepared positions on which to fall back, and also that these positions exist from their present front to the banks of the Rhine and even beyond. Therefore, unless it should be possible to work up behind the German armies and thus cut them off, it would appear that future gains to be made by the Allies can only come after terrible fighting and heavy losses. It is for just such fighting and losses that Britain must be prepared, and for that preparation it is essential that new bodies of troops must be kept on the move to the training camps and thence to the battle fronts. While the situation is decidedly favorable at the present time the struggle is by no means over, and the desired victory can only be secured by sustained effort and continued sacrifice.

THE RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

Yesterday's work in the recruiting campaign resulted in securing seven recruits, four of whom called at the recruiting offices during the day and three responded to the appeal in last evening's meetings, in West St. John, Fairville and in the central part of the city. Today there may be further additions to the roll of honor. Those who have attended the recruiting meetings held during the past few weeks must have been struck with the preponderance of middle-aged and elderly men in the audience. Even the meeting in St. Andrew's rink, addressed by Hon. J. D. Hazen, and one of the largest indoor meetings of the entire campaign, bore this characteristic. The entire front row of chairs was occupied by men who, while they may still possess the fighting spirit, cannot serve their country because of advancing age. It may be urged that these men carry the speakers' words out to younger men and in that way their presence is an advantage. But would it not be a greater advantage if the younger men could be induced to attend the meetings and hear for themselves what the speakers have to say?

The men composing the recruiting committees, and the others who give of their time and ability to carry the Empire's message to the physically fit youths of this city who have not yet donned khaki, merit every commendation for their energy and zeal, but they must be somewhat discouraged at the result.

It is said that during the past five weeks 25,000 Canadians have joined the colors. Has New Brunswick contributed her share to that number? And is she likely to contribute her share to the numbers to be raised in the future if the young men permit their elders to make up the major portion of the audiences at all the recruiting meetings while they themselves are indifferent? Is there something wrong with the young men? Has the limit been reached and must some form of compulsion be employed to secure the needed recruits? Or are the recruiting methods now in use sufficiently effective to meet the case?

Whatever answer may commend itself to the men of New Brunswick, all may rest assured of one thing—the Empire requires the services of young, physically fit men. If they can be secured by voluntary enlistment so much the better. But secured they must be, even if it should become necessary to employ methods more drastic than those used to date.

THE WESTERN CROPS.

Evidence of the unfair way in which the Liberals play the game is furnished by a cartoon which has been doing duty in Liberal newspapers in the western part of Canada. This cartoon pictures Western Canada showing an immense pile of wheat to Sir Robert Borden and saying: "There, Sir Robert, is the wheat crop I was asked to grow. Now what am I to do with it?" In this way the western farmers are being told that as they responded to the request to grow larger crops they have a right to demand that the Government or the Empire should take the crops off their hands.

The average farmer has as much sense as the average Liberal politician and that pays no compliment to the agriculturist. It is not apparent that the farmer of the west who specializes in grain is less well provided with grey matter than his brother in the east who raises garden produce and engages in mixed farming. It would be an easy matter to predict what the average New Brunswick farmer would reply if any such cartoon was made to represent him, and it is not likely that the westerners will have any higher regard for the most recent production of the Liberal campaign bureau.

The heavy wheat crop is a benefit to the west and to Canada at large even though the supply of wheat in the United States and Argentina is larger than usual and the price for wheat this year may not be as high as in former years. But where does the farmer stand to reap the greater benefit? With 10,000 bushels of wheat that he can sell at, say, 75 cents per bushel, and it is not likely the price will go below that figure, or with 5,000 bushels at $1 per bushel? That is precisely the position of the western farmer grower today. He has a larger crop and will find no difficulty in marketing all of it at fair prices. While his price per bushel may not be as high as in some other years, yet, his aggregate profit will be greater and for that he has cause for gratitude to Sir Robert Borden and his Government for directing attention to the need of an increased crop. Germany already knows a wheat shortage, Britain should never know it. Instead of seeking to ensure the Government for asking that the crops be increased, fair men will be inclined to praise them for their patriotic and wise foresight in seeking to add to the Empire's food supply. Canada has been called the granary of the Empire. There is an excellent opportunity for her to justify the title.

Thor!

(New York Times.)
I am the God of War—yes, God of Battle am I.
And the evil men speak about me has moved me to fierce reply.
Does not the surgeon's knife
Torture—to save a life?
So, for the life of nations men learn to fight and die—even die.

Craven through love or fear do the weak of the earth await me
Tensely, with bated breath—yea, teaching their sons to hate me
Lured by my rolling drum,
Nevertheless they come,
Proudly, their youth and manhood offering up to save me!

You who would grudge me aught but harvest of woe and shame—
my very name—
When was a serf made free,
Save and anlose through me?
When was a tyrant vanquished, save through my purging flame?

After an age of peace do your sons wax soft, their weakness shown in a love of ease, of sensuousness and sleekness?
Then, lead a nation die—
I lead rings my battle cry!
Lo, they forsake their warmth for desolate cold and bleakness!

I am the God of War—yes, God of Battle am I.
And the bolts of my savage anger I hurl from a threatening sky.
Speak of me as you will,
Swift though I be to kill,
I have made men of weaklings—I teach men how to die—even I!

Where Britain Has Come In

(Ottawa Journal.)
Suppose Britain had not entered this war, what would the position be today? What would have happened? What would be to come?
1. The German and Austrian armies would from the outset have shown a more marked superiority over the French and Russian armies than they have done.
2. Germany would have taken command of the ocean. Her navy was stronger than those of France and Russia combined.
3. The resources of most of the world, including the United States, have been available to Germany money instead of to France and Russia. War supplies and food from everywhere would have gone to Germany, and been barred from France and Russia.
4. The foreign commerce of France and Russia would have been destroyed, with the resultant further weakening of their defensive powers.
5. Japan would not have declared against Germany.
6. Italy would not have declared against Germany.
7. Turkey would have been earlier in on the German side, and attacking the Russian flank in great force.
8. Bulgaria would have joined the Teutons, and Greece would not have dared to object.
9. Russia and France would not have had Britain's financial aid, and their credit would have been dubious anywhere, even with their own people.
10. Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria would not only be winning in the field of the war, but able financially, commercially and industrially to carry it on to any length—to exhaust, if not directly to conquer—and to exact in the end whatever terms and indemnities they chose.
11. Germany would annex Belgium, part of the northern coast of France, some or all of the French overseas possessions, and the French and Russian navies, part of Western Russia, and part of Poland. Austria would annex Serbia and the rest of Poland. Bulgaria would take Constantinople. France and Russia would be crushed by huge indemnities.
12. With enormously increased ter-

FINE LECTURE FOR BOY SCOUTS BY MR. PERROTT

Great increase in membership in this Province—Work progressing in all quarters.

An interesting and instructive lecture was delivered to a large number of St. John Boy Scouts at the headquarters of the Germain Street Troop, by Frederick R. Perrott, who is at present visiting the Maritime Provinces, from the headquarters staff at Ottawa.

His lecture was splendidly illustrated with lantern slides and gave an idea of the way in which the boy scout movement is growing. Having thrown on to the screen a number of pictures descriptive of the Ottawa troops, and their work, he passed on to more local ground and held the boys' interest with a fine selection of slides showing incidents of the Chipman, Halifax and Charlottetown camps. The latter camp was composed of some 64 boys who gave displays at the provincial exhibition. The exhibition committee afterwards made a special donation to the provincial funds to show their appreciation. Among the many things these boys performed was the making of a strong timber bridge in a very short space of time and over which they afterwards conveyed their truck cart in dismantled form.

Among the slides shown was one of an Ottawa troop at work on a farm near their city, which they look after and attend to, going out each Saturday afternoon to receive instructions in farming.

Mr. Perrott concluded his address with a few remarks to the boys on the scout law, and impressed upon them the importance of doing their duty and obeying the law daily. He said the movement was growing rapidly, and mentioned that a year ago there were some 323 boy scouts in New Brunswick whilst at the present time there is a membership of 944.

In conversation with a Standard reporter Mr. Perrott mentioned that the scout organization was going ahead splendidly, the boys not only sticking in hard and becoming very efficient but the numbers enrolled was rapidly increasing, in fact the movement was in the best of condition and there were great times ahead. There was not a finer system, and it was one that he never wished to be out of, as the longer he lived the more he became attached to it.

THREE GOOD MEETINGS AND SEVEN RECRUITS YESTERDAY

Fairville, Carleton and City Centres of Enthusiastic Gatherings—Lancaster Will Take a Deeper Interest in Securing Men for Empire Service.

YESTERDAY'S HONOR ROLL.

- James B. McDonald, St. John.
- Chester G. Whitaker, Holderville.
- Harry LeRoy Little, St. John.
- William G. Duncan, Apohaqui.
- Mary A. Best, St. John.
- Harold B. K. Moore, St. John.
- Edward Beshard, St. John.

Three rousing recruiting meetings were held in the city last evening and all proved highly successful in bringing to many citizens the message from the Canadians in the trenches, who are calling to their friends to come to Flanders and assist them in the work of suppressing German militarism. Many people were present at each gathering and the speakers were given close attention.

In the city proper Centenary church school room was the meeting place, and there Rev. George J. Bond of Sackville made a stirring plea for more men to come to the assistance of the Empire in this hour of stress. Judge Forbes endorsed the words of Rev. Mr. Bond and called for recruits for the Canadian Expeditionary Force. W. H. Barnaby acted as chairman. The Temperance Hall, Fairville, was fairly well filled when Rev. Gordon Dickie and Rev. P. R. Hayward urged the need of recruiting. Carleton City Hall was the scene of a fine assembly. There was much enthusiasm. Rev. F. S. Porter, who has offered for service, and John Keefe, whose son is with the 20th Battalion, and Lieut. H. M. Teed were the speakers. Captain A. J. Mulcahey was chairman and the Carleton Cornet Band, which has been accepted for the 85th New Brunswick Battalion, gave a pleasing programme during the evening.

As a result of the work yesterday seven recruits were secured.

Centenary Meeting

In Centenary church school room Rev. George J. Bond was the speaker of the evening. W. H. Barnaby presided in introducing the speaker. "I am glad to see so many ladies present, but sorry to see so few men of military age. Great Britain requires the help of her colonies at this time and all the Canadian citizens should do to help the general cause along.

"We must not hide from ourselves the seriousness of the situation, but must realize that it is going to be a long hard fight. While Canada has sent or has in training about 100,000 men, more are needed and now is the time to come forward and do your little bit.

Rev. George J. Bond said in part: "There are no recruiting meetings held in Germany. None are needed. Every man who is physically fit and can bear arms is taken. Conscription is in force in Germany and in fact in France and Russia. Britain has not yet compelled a man to be a soldier, and all the men who will never have to go to the front are those who will never have to go to the front to the call so that Britain will not have to resort to the law to fill the ranks of her army. Every man in the British Empire is called upon to exercise the highest privilege, when he is allowed the opportunity to answer 'yes' when his country calls.

"At the beginning of the war England sent 110,000 men to the continent and all the best professional soldiers they were not conscripts. They did their duty well. They saved Paris, France and the whole world. In their retreat from Mons they made history.

"After the war was declared Germany was loud in her protests against England and claimed that it was she who had worked up France and Russia, until the very existence of Germany was threatened. He absurdly thought that a country with an army of 110,000 fighting men should wish to bring on a war with any nation.

"Britain went into this war to defend herself and her colonies, to save herself and us from what Belgium and Northern France has endured.

"At the beginning of the war Britain had all told a standing army of 249,000 men. Today she has between two and three million. We in Canada have sent over there 32,000 and have 70,000 more in training here. In a little over one year Britain has raised the most magnificent army the world has ever seen, and by the voluntary system. Her men have been drawn from all over the widespread British Empire. It is not a professional army this time. The men of the rank and file are men who have filled responsible positions in civil life. Men from all walks in life, the professional man, business man, student and farmer, an army vastly superior to any that has ever raised by conscription. The soldiers of this great army are there because it is their duty to be there.

"I am afraid there are some in this country who are willing to lay back and let the other fellow do their fighting, men who are living home in peace and quietness while their fellowmen are spilling their life's blood on the battlefields of Europe. I think it is a criminal act for any man who is physically fit and has no good reason to remain at home. His place is at the front or in training for the front line. Germany has been preparing for

SIR HERBERT AMES APPROVES THIS PLAN

Women's Auxiliary to Patriotic Fund doing a great work for soldiers' families

One of the first acts of the Patriotic Fund committee in St. John, after war had begun, was to organize a Women's Auxiliary, to assist the executive in investigating needy cases among the families of soldiers, Montreal also adopted the idea. Sir Herbert Ames, the honorary secretary of the fund, in a recent review, pays a high compliment to the ladies, who are doing this work. This is what he says:

"In some of our cities, notably Montreal and St. John, the work of the Women's Auxiliary has been one of the finest features of the service. In the former city six hundred ladies, under the skilful generalship of Miss Helen R. Y. Reid, have undertaken to visit periodically the 3,500 families receiving aid from the Patriotic Fund. Bonds of sympathy and friendship have been formed between visitor and visited to the lasting benefit of both. Indeed it is difficult to determine which has been helped to the greater extent by this mutual contact.

Judge Forbes addressed the meeting briefly and said in part: "Britain has done much in the year of war and she must continue the struggle until she emerges victorious from the fray. Your forefathers and mine fought for this country and it is your turn to help hold it.

"We want every able bodied man to come forward and offer his services; it is the plain duty of every Canadian. Those who cannot go can lend their assistance by spreading the news. But one hole every man of military age and point out to him that his country needs him. Let the Kaiser know that the colonies are solidly behind the Mother Country, and he will be terrified. Come now and when you return we will give you a welcome that you will never forget."

Rev. Mr. Barraclough thanked the speakers on behalf of the committee for their efforts and said the small attendance was probably due to the fact that the meeting had not been well enough advertised.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

In Fairville

Only a small number attended the recruiting meeting at the Temperance Hall, Fairville, last night. Many prominent residents were, however, on hand, and there was by no means an absence of enthusiasm. The principal speaker was Rev. Gordon Dickie, Rev. P. R. Hayward gave a short address. W. E. Earle presided. Miss Wynne gave three recitations on patriotic subjects which were much appreciated, and S. H. Hayes sang in good form "The Boys of the Old Brigade". After Rev. Mr. Dickie's address several of those present met with the object of making a future meeting in Fairville more attractive. Lieut. Herbert Earle suggested one or two methods for drawing larger numbers, such as getting singers and musical entertainment generally. It was ultimately decided that a public meeting should be held next Thursday at eight o'clock in the evening for the purpose of assessing upon methods to make recruiting assemblies more attractive in Fairville.

After Rev. Mr. Hayward had spoken of the urgent need for more men to go to the aid of those at the front and had expressed his view that he was sure the men of Fairville would not be found wanting, the chairman called upon Rev. Gordon Dickie to speak.

Rev. Gordon Dickie

"If we are not behind the country in this war," said Rev. Mr. Dickie, "and are not going to be enthusiastic, then I think we should be, for it concerns me and you. If we do not stand together we cannot expect to succeed. I am sure you men are united, and they should be so. If the Germans come here, there would still be civil and military authority, but civil authority only for ornamental purposes. Everything German is under the thumb of the government. We do not want the same rule here as exists in Germany. If we are going to enjoy peace as we now go down to stand about with our hands in our pockets? Well, there are some who would not hold up a finger on behalf of the Empire. Ask yourself what you can do, what sacrifice you can make, womanfolk as well as menfolk. Germany has far had wonderful strength, but Kitchener's army will prevail and the Empire will be saved, our homes preserved."

At the conclusion of the Rev. Mr. Dickie's stirring address the chairman

PLANS FOR WORLD'S SERIES; CHANGE PICKS SOX TO WIN

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Plans for the fifth world's series of baseball games in Philadelphia in six years were put in operation today. With the winning of the National championship at Boston yesterday by the Philadelphia club, a large number of carpenters began the work of building extra boxes and bleacher seats in National League Park.

The plans call for the erection of about 2,300 seats, which will increase the capacity of the grounds to a little more than 20,000.

Applications for tickets for the series, which began to flow into the club's offices some time ago, continue to pour in by every mail, but nothing will be done with them until after the National Commission meets in New York on Saturday and fixes the date for the beginning of the big games.

Unless the commission shall rule otherwise, the prices of tickets will be $1 to $5. The bleacher seats will be $1 grandstand seats $2 and $3 and box seats $5 each. Purchasers will be compelled to buy tickets for three games, as was the custom in the world's series of 1913 and 1914.

It is said that the applications for seats already exceed the capacity of the park.

Arrangements are also under way for the first of the inevitable banquets that follow the winning of a pennant. Philadelphia supporters of the Phillies have arranged to tender the team a dinner on Oct. 16. In addition, the players will be given a warm welcome when they arrive home from Boston.

Philadelphia Seats Scarce.
 The "Royal Rooters", who had considered themselves all fixed up for the world's series between the Red Sox and the Phillies, are confronted with a new difficulty. Pres. Baker of the Philadelphia National League Club has expressed serious doubts about being able to provide the Boston rooters with seats for the Philadelphia games, say seats for the demand in the Quaker City lies so great as to make it almost impossible to allot the Rooters the 400 or 500 seats requested.

John Keenan, chief of the Rooters, is confined to his home by illness, but Jack Kilken, who is in charge of the arrangements during Keenan's absence, yesterday had a conference with Pres. Lammie of the Red Sox in regard to the matter, and when Mr. Lammie went to New York tonight to confer with Pres. Han Johnson, Mr. Kilken will accompany him and put the matter up to the American League leader, with the hope of having him use his influence.

Pres. Lammie has assured the rooters of grandstand seats for the home games, and has agreed to turn over the 200 Philadelphia seats to which he is entitled, to the rooters. Pres. Baker says that the rooters may be accommodated in $5 box seats, but the Boston party had planned on occupying regular $3 grandstand seats. However, the entire matter will probably be straightened out in a day or two.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—It's the Red Sox against Alexander," said Frank Chance, former club manager, today in discussing the coming World's Series, "and I don't believe Alexander, and the Willard Storage Battery Company has a much more effective and rather novel way of testing which finds every possible defect. ## PHILADELPHIA NATIONALS FIRST TIME PENNANT WINNERS

New York, October 1.—For the first time in the history of the World's Series the National League will be represented by a Philadelphia club in the struggle for the premier honors of the professional diamond. Not since the organization of the senior major league back in 1876 has a Quaker City team in this association won a pennant until the present season.

During the forty years of the National League's existence Philadelphia has fought for the flag no less than thirty-four times and it remained for Manager Pat Moran to lead the Phillies of 1915 out of the wilderness of baseball despair and into the light of a world's series. The name of Willard Penn was represented by a club in the opening year of the organization but the following season dropped out and did not re-appear as a pennant contender until 1883.

From that time until the present Philadelphia has annually figured in the league race but rather indifferently. The position of runner-up has been theirs since 1887, and the fans of Philadelphia, however, and the fans of Quakersburg are entitled to wide latitude for celebrating. Of the twenty-

Other cities have tried from time to time to capture a senior league flag without success for twenty-two have had their names borne by teams since the formation of the league in 1876. None has been more persistent than Philadelphia, however, and the fans of Quakersburg are entitled to wide latitude for celebrating. Of the twenty-jar is subjected to a current of 24,000 volts, one terminal being inside the jar and the other outside. The tremendous spark will force its way through any defect there may be in the rubber and finds many which no acid test could possibly reach.

GRAND CIRCUIT POSTPONED.
 Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 1.—Because of track conditions, and heavy rains last night the Grand Circuit races carded for today were postponed until tomorrow.

A Paris correspondent of a London newspaper writes: "There is not a little doubt in the minds of many patriotic parents of provincial France as to where the line should be drawn in the choice of war names for children born these days. Many municipalities have shown great indulgence and have admitted the registration of numerous little 'Joffres' and 'Joffrettes.' An inhabitant of Bordeaux, however, was greatly disappointed when the registrar told him that the name 'Revanche' upon which he had set his heart for his daughter, did not figure in the official calendar, and that he dared not risk exercising his prerogatives to such a degree as to sanction it. The limit would appear to have been reached by a happy father in a village of Touraine who, it is said, has just had his child christened 'Poulu'—a very appropriate appellation for a French soldier in the trenches, but not, as in the case in question, for a little baby girl."

NEW MIRACLE MAN

"PAT" MORAN, the new miracle man of baseball, who gave the wisecracks an upset by keeping the Phillies out in front, declares he is now ready to do battle in the big series. It is expected that "Pat" will shoot his big star, Alexander, in the opening game.

WILL HAVE TO STAND A SECOND TRIAL

Montreal, Oct. 1.—Israel Schaefer, steamship ticket agent, charged with treason in attempting to assist ten Austrian reservists to leave Canada shortly after the outbreak of the war, will have to stand trial a second time, the jury in the case, which was concluded at the court of king's bench this afternoon, having disagreed, and Judge Cross thereupon having ordered a new trial. The accused is a naturalized Austrian, and has resided in Montreal twelve years.

If the rough jars or cells in a storage battery have weak spots or pin holes in them it soon becomes a serious matter, as the acid solution eats its way through and soon ruins the battery. In order to find these defective spots most battery makers fill the jars with acid and let them stand for several hours. This, however, has never proven entirely satisfactory, and the Willard Storage Battery Company has a much more effective and rather novel way of testing which finds every possible defect. Every

STEEL SHARES PROMINENT ALL THROUGH YESTERDAY'S SESSION

U. S. Steel led list—Market strong and prices higher with the volume of trading again above the Million and Half mark.

New York, Oct. 1.—With United States Steel as leader, today's market gathered fresh strength and moved to greater heights on an expanding volume of business. In the first two and last two hours transactions averaged about 340,000 shares per hour, with some diminution at mid-day. But for that brief breathing spell the day's dealings would have exceeded all records for years. Even so, the turnover swelled to the huge total of 1,610,000 shares, steel alone contributing almost 20 per cent.

CLOSING LETTER OF N. Y. MARKET BY E. & C. RANDOLPH

New York, Oct. 1.—U. S. Steel furnished the feature of the day's trading. The stock has been active, and its price rose to 8 1/2, the highest since 1911. The plants of the company are working to full capacity, and the prices of material are rising, and if the demand continues as insistent as at present, the level of quotations will soon be so far above those now prevailing that it will mean a very large increase of earnings. It is apparently a certainty that for the quarter just entered upon that the Steel Corporation will earn more on its stock than in any three months since its organization. Westinghouse resumed its advance and reports were current that the company is negotiating for new contracts, having given great satisfaction in the shells which for some months past it has been turning out for the Allies. Amn. Can. is also said to be negotiating for a new war order, and the stock was very active in the course of the day. The market became somewhat reactionary in the last hour, but met with support on a comparatively small decline. The Copper stocks which were very strong at the opening, afterwards became comparatively dull and declined from their best prices, although the trade news was favorable. Prices for the metal were higher in London and the fortnightly statement indicated a strong position of the market but the buying that has been expected here has not materialized in any extent. There may, however, be a change in the coming week. As a general rule U. S. Steel has in the past moved with the railroad stocks rather than with the other industrials and the fact that it has become very active as the advance in the industrial list shows signs of slackening may mean that the upward movement in the railroad stocks is close at hand.

H. Price Webber's Condition. F. G. Spencer has received word from Portland, Me., to the effect that H. Price Webber, the veteran actor, is in a critical condition in the hospital there. He underwent an operation on Thursday. The physicians hold out some hope for his recovery.

Board of Trade. At a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade, held yesterday, it was resolved to call the regular meeting of the board for 3.30 on Monday afternoon next, instead of in the evening. The object of this change is to prevent any interference with the patriotic auction, which is to open on Monday evening.

Belgian Orphans. The following additional subscription has been received by Daniel Mullin, Belgian consul, for the Belgian Orphan Fund and deposited to the credit of the Belgian Orphan Fund in the Union Bank of Canada, St. John, N. Suspension Bridge Towers. The work of demolishing the towers of the Old Suspension Bridge is going along rapidly. One of the towers on the east side of the falls has been torn down to about twenty feet from the ground. The granite is being piled on the site but it is expected this will be taken away soon. On the west side men are engaged in digging out parts of the anchors which held the cables.

Belgian Relief Fund. Several contributions to the Belgian Relief Fund were received by Mayor Frink yesterday. These were: Charlotte W. Fifty dollars was also received for a bed in Dr. MacLaren's Hospital from the Ladies' Sewing Circle of Ford's Mills, Kent county, per Mrs. Fred. Powell, treasurer, and Augusta McWilliams, secretary.

Shrapnel Souvenirs. Some pieces of a shrapnel shell, taken from a battle field in France, are on exhibition in the window of A. J. Babin, 518 Main street. These pieces were sent to Mrs. H. Bonnevie, 482 Main street, by her husband, Corporal H. Bonnevie, who left the city over a year ago with the 62nd Fusiliers in the first contingent. The shell exploded a few feet from where Corporal Bonnevie was standing, and he had a very narrow escape from death by the fragments of the shell, which flew in all directions, but fortunately none of them struck him.

Case May be Settled. According to an advertisement there will be sold on Saturday, October 2, by Sheriff Wilson, dredging scoops in Dunn's and in Gregory's slips, having been seized under an execution against the Monarch Construction Co. for wharfage fees amounting to between $400 and $500. The Monarch Dredging Company was formerly the Norton Griffiths Co., and the plant was brought to St. John under the supervision of Mr. Dimeson. The company afterwards got in trouble and one of the dredges was spirited away to Maine. Afterwards part of the plant was sold. The owners now want to remove what remains of the plant to Eastport, but before they are allowed to do so they must pay the city's wharfage claims. Capt. Bovard and Mr. McDougal are here in the interest of the company, and it is said the claims will be paid and the sale called off.

PATRIOTIC SMOKER IN VICTORIA RINK NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

Eastern District Recruiting Committee, headed by Hugh H. McLellan, will conduct campaign.

Arrangements were made last night at a meeting of the Eastern District Recruiting Committee to hold a patriotic smoker in Victoria Rink on Tuesday evening next. Other meetings will be arranged later for Victoria, Wellington, Prince and part of Dufferin Wards. This committee will do work in the interest of recruiting until the close of the war.

At the meeting last night Hugh H. McLellan was elected chairman and convenor of the committee were selected as follows: Spakkers, Miles E. Agar, Halls, Dr. McDonald, Decorations, George H. Waterbury, Entertainment, R. J. Wilkins, Advertising, H. H. McLellan, Finance, Hon. J. E. Wilson. Schemes for recruiting were discussed from many standpoints and it was felt that public meetings should be held twice a week until the war ends.

The big smoker Tuesday night will be in Victoria Rink and there will be several speakers and entertainers present.

On Friday night next a meeting will be arranged for Prince Ward. The hall will be announced later.

The names of the Eastern District Recruiting Committee are as follows: Hon. J. E. Wilson, T. A. Linton, Chas. Nevins, George A. Kimball, Martin Dolan, R. R. Patchell, Fred Noble, James Rodgers, James N. Thomas, R. J. Wilkins, Allan Agar, H. H. McLellan, Andrew L. McIntosh, R. S. Ritchie, John F. Nuttall, Edward Walsh, George H. Waterbury, Henry C. ARRANGEMENTS FOR LOCH LOMOND FAIR. Patriotic meeting and dance in the evening—expected to outshine all previous fairs.

The Loch Lomond Agricultural Society will hold its annual fair in the Agricultural Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 13th and the prospects are that it will prove the most successful ever conducted by the society. The members of the committee in charge are untiring in their efforts to make it one of the greatest days in the history of old Loch Lomond. It is the first exhibition to be held in St. John county this year, and a large number of exhibits will be displayed.

While the exhibits were numerous and of a high class last season, the showing of horses was the best seen in any of the provincial shows, the committee expect the coming show to be far superior to any previous fair. An efficient committee is making arrangements for the big patriotic dance in the exhibition hall in the evening. The Carleton Cornet Band have volunteered their services and besides rendering a choice programme, will furnish music for the dancing. Prominent gentlemen will be invited to give patriotic addresses to the crowd during the day.

STIRRED BY PROGRESS OF PAST FIVE YEARS, AROOSTOOK LOOKS FOR GLORIOUS RESURRECTION. C. P. R. SHOPS AND POWER PLANT RESPONSIBLE

WHEN THE C.P.R. MOVED DIVISIONAL SHOPS THERE THINGS BEGAN TO HAPPEN

And Now the Place is Going Along so Well That They Need a New School—The Climate is Arranged to Please the Most Fastidious But There Are No Cyclones—Heavy Shipments of Potatoes a Feature of the Landscape.

What happens to a place when an industry of any importance moves into it and settles down for keeps, is strikingly exemplified in the case of Aroostook Junction, a jumping off place on the St. John River, eighteen or twenty miles below Grand Falls and an equal distance north of somewhere else. Five years ago Aroostook Junction looked like a place that had been shaken in a car of potatoes without anyone knowing it was there. Today it spreads itself over a series of plateaus formed by the descending banks of the Aroostook and St. John, and is quite a thriving community. In the earlier years it had hopes of a glorious resurrection, and indeed it still has them, for although the Aroostook Junction of 1910 and the Aroostook Junction of 1915 are very far apart, there is a long road yet to be travelled before this place reaches the importance to which its residents believe, because of natural advantages, it is entitled. Yet it is on the road and is going strong, and having made this very satisfactory beginning, there are pleasurable anticipations that the dream of years may before long be realized, and this community take its place among the more important industrial centres of the province. It possesses an abundance of cheap water power controlled by a modern plant, it has an amount of land for industrial sites, and it is an ideal transfer point for freight shipments through that very rich section of the province.

Moved in a Day

Aroostook Junction used to be in Woodstock. This may sound a little queer, but it is easily explained by the fact that the Aroostook of today is composed very largely of the C. P. R. roundhouse, and the rest of the men employed by that railway. Back in 1910 in the early part of the year, the C. P. R. carried on certain negotiations through General Manager Leonard, looking to the erection of new shops in Woodstock. Mr. Leonard reached the conclusion that the people with whom he had talked wanted rather more money for the land than he or the C. P. R. considered it worth. He gave up in despair the idea of securing suitable properties at prices within the means of the C. P. R., or at least this was the explanation offered—but looked around, as did other C. P. R. officials, for locations for the new roundhouse and whatever other shops might be considered necessary. The C. P. R. sized up Perth among other places, and almost there, but just about this time the project of developing the falls on the Aroostook River was in definite shape, and Mr. William Downie, General Superintendent of the Atlantic Division at that time, entered into an arrangement whereby power from these falls would be furnished by the operating company to the C. P. R. shops, if these were located at Aroostook. Then the decision was made, the roundhouse built, a hotel put up, and a number of cottages for employees provided. So that on May 18th, 1910, the C. P. R. divisional plant was transferred from Woodstock to Aroostook Junction. This is why it may be said that Aroostook Junction used to be in Woodstock, and why it is now in a place of its own. On May 18, 1910, there were by actual count 19 houses and 68 inhabitants in Aroostook Junction, not counting the transient laborers who were preparing for bigger things. Today there are in this same village 61 houses and stores, and 289 inhabitants. This is simply scooting along at the rate of 80 per cent. a year.

Daniel in the Wilderness

Way back in 1801 a man named Daniel Hopkins came to this earth, and he while still a young man, went on foot through the wilderness of northern New Brunswick from Fredericton. He came across the Aroostook Falls and was very much impressed both with the scenic beauty of the place, and with the possibilities of these falls as a producer of power, although in this part of the world, and at that stage of the game, water power for industrial use was not a very live issue. Yet Daniel saw, too, that at the junction of the Aroostook, and St. John were opportunities for lumbering. He placed booms across the mouth of the Aroostook, erected a house on the spur of land at the confluence of the two rivers, and for a good many years lumber from the State of Maine coming down the St. John River was rafted at that point. Mr. Hopkins remained there practically all his life, and two of his sons are now prosperous merchants within sight of the original old homestead. One of these, William, tells quite graphically how his father in the early days had to convey all his groceries and other supplies from Fredericton, travelling through the winter on the ice, and bringing with him enough to last him all the summer. There were no other methods of communication, nor for a considerable period after his first settlement at Aroostook Junction was he able to get about the country in any more satisfactory manner. This Daniel Hopkins, who seems to have been a gentleman of considerable energy, built the first stone wall ever erected in Fredericton, which wall is said to be in Fredericton at the present time.

The Coming of Civilization

During the passage of years Aroostook Junction continued its career as a lumber camp, enjoying the excitement of a large hotel at the point. This was a rendezvous for lumbermen of all classes, and was burned down four or five times—or perhaps oftener. It is said, too, that there were high old doings in this hotel or boarding house in days gone by, and that more than one murder could be placed to its credit. On the location of the booms being changed, clearings were made and some of the land in this district brought under cultivation. Then the old New Brunswick Railroad came into operation, being absorbed some twenty years ago by the Canadian Pacific Railway, but despite these aids to material progress, very few additions in the way of houses or cultivated farms were made to the settlement at Aroostook. Then in 1910, as already outlined, the C. P. R. moved from Woodstock, and since that time Aroostook has had a foretaste of what it expects in the years to come. For with two hundred and sixty people where there were only sixty five years ago, the folks up there naturally feel some pride, and believe that when financial conditions improve the advantages which they can offer industrial concerns will prove attractive.

The Ups and Downs of Life

In this Province of New Brunswick, there are some spots where the climate shows a wide variation. Chatham, as everybody knows, is outrageously cold in winter, and Sussex, as everybody else knows, is abominably hot in summer. Now this place of Aroostook Junction catches it coming and going.

An Increase of Eighty Percent. in Population, as a Well Known Citizen Remarks, "Annually Every Year", Since 1910, Has Developed a Belief That Some Day Soon The Advantages of This Place Will Appeal to Prospective Investors and that There Will be High Jinks All Round.

THE SHUT-OFF DAM, AROOSTOOK FALLS.

LOTS OF POWER IS STILL LYING IDLE

One almost needs an overcoat in winter, and can do without heavy flannels in August. Meteorological records, even for so brief a period as the last three or four years, show heavy snows with temperature falling to 30 below, January 7, 1912; 28 below January 8th; 29 below on the 11th; 28 on the 13th; 33 on the 24th; 35 on the 25th; 40 on the 26th; and 34 below on the 27th. The average temperature for March 1912 was 6 degrees below, running as far down as 30. On the other hand, in July of the same year on the 4th, 5th, 7th, 9th, and 10th, the temperature in the shade recorded 93, 90, 93, 97, 96. In 1914 in the month of January the temperatures ran as follows: 1st 30 below; 2nd, 35 below; 3rd, 30 below; 12th, 28 below; 13th, 25 below; 14th, 25 below; 18th, 15 below; 20th, 40 below; 21st, 35 below; 23rd, 41 below. And they mix things, too, once in a while, for in the record of the weather there is found this entry, "December, 1912, snow, rain, a green Christmas, and the 31st like a warm June day." These vagaries of the climate at Aroostook are authentic, and most people will agree that there is some slight variation between January and July. Fortunately, the record goes on to say "Cyclones are unknown."

Even Develops Poetry

Climatic conditions at Aroostook Junction are exemplified by the lovely flower gardens which have become an institution of the place, largely through the generosity of N. S. Dunlop of the Floral Department, C. P. R. at Montreal, who provides the seeds and bulbs free each year to the occupiers of tenements and bungalows. All these folks take an interest in the gardens, and the result is that during the entire summer the fronts of the houses along the line are so attractive as to merit the description of "The most beautiful gardens on the whole of the C. P. R. system between St. John and Port Arthur." A local poet, whose name is suppressed out of respect to his family and friends, has written a series of verses touching on these gardens. Because of the fact that publication of these verses in this particular place would divert attention from the remainder of the information which it is proposed to give, this poem has been adjourned to the end of the article, and will be found at the foot of the page.

Big Power Plant Built

The C. P. R., although it is the big cheese, is not the only thing at Aroostook. As already stated, there are falls on the river which were working away in the early days of Daniel Hopkins, and are still running. Now once upon a time, a gentleman by the name of A. R. Gould, whose personality has become more or less familiar to residents along the right of way of the Valley Railroad, and whose name has occasionally appeared in newspapers and elsewhere in connection with railway matters, cast a longing eye on these falls, and wished them for his own. He set about the project in the usual manner, and unlike the millionaires who have tied up Grand Falls for the past generations, and unlike many a good many other who hold franchises over different natural institutions in this province, Mr. Gould really thought that he could make some money by doing certain development work. What is more, he had the nerve to spend actual cash. He and his associates deliberately went to the Aroostook Falls, three miles from the Junction, did what construction was necessary and actually built a power plant from which power is today being distributed. There are a good many towns and villages within reach of Aroostook Junction which do not believe this is true. They never heard of such a thing being done before in this Province, and they are still evidently under the impression that A. R. Gould and some other fellows have a grip on Aroostook Falls, and are waiting to sell the franchise. Consequently, although an abundance of cheap power is offered them for lighting their towns and for driving their mills, they turn their backs to the tempter and prefer using wood and coal and gas and kerosene oil and candles. But there are some who have been persuaded, although the majority of them live on the other side of the line.

Would Have More Customers

It was somewhere around 1904 that Mr. Gould first grew interested, and for the next three years he acquired information, employing engineers, preparing plans, etc. It also took him some time to get his rights through the legislatures, but in 1907 the dynamo were ordered, the power house built, and a dam half a mile long constructed. On October 17, 1907 the current was first turned on. Now this waterfall on the Aroostook River is between 70 feet and 80 feet high and has quite a respectable flow. The equipment in the power house consists of two 600 K. W. General Electric 10,000 volt generators, and one 1500 K. W. Westinghouse 11,000 volt generator. Of this capacity approximately 40 per cent. is being used, so that although the plant is capable of producing something over 3,000 horse power, it has never been called upon to furnish more than 2,000, and on the average considerably less. The charter permits the company to furnish light and power in the counties of Madawaska, Victoria and Carleton in New Brunswick, and in certain parts of Aroostook County in Maine. At the present time it is furnishing the lighting current at St. Leonards, Grand Falls, Perth, Andover, and Aroostook Junction in New Brunswick and in a number of towns in Maine. The rate, The Standard is informed, is 9 cents, and it is believed that this should be sufficiently low to induce other towns lying, for instance, between Andover and Woodstock, to make use of the current. But so far nothing definite has been accomplished. Capital would, of course, be required to provide the lines and services, but financial conditions have not in the past few years been particularly favorable towards the promotion of an undertaking such as this. The policy of the company is along the same line as that followed by the gas company in Moncton, which buys its gas outright from the mines and carries on its own retail service. The producing company at Aroostook owns the trunk lines and sells the current to local companies or to towns at wholesale rates, so that these local organizations get the benefit of the retail prices on their own distributing circuits. This Aroostook power company pays the Province of New Brunswick not only a franchise tax, but a certain percentage of its earnings, and pays also about one-third of the taxes in the parish of Andover. A rather peculiar feature of the situation is that although the greater part of the company's revenue comes from the American side, the taxes are all paid on the New Brunswick side, and amount to something more than the total revenue received from New Brunswick customers.

Transportation Facilities

Aroostook Jct. possesses first class

GOULD'S POWER PLANT FIXED AROOSTOOK FALLS ON THE MAP, AT ANY RATE

railway facilities, having through connection with all points in the United States, via McAdam, at St. Leonards, 31 miles north of Aroostook, and the Temiscouata Railway at Edmundston, N. B., 57 miles north. The C. P. R. Company now runs 135 per cent. engines through to Presque Isle, another branch out of Aroostook, which runs through the State of Maine to Presque Isle, and has connection with the electric railroad owned by the Maine and New Brunswick Electric Power Co., who send large quantities of potatoes yearly through Aroostook Jct. to points in the U. S. A., Cuba etc.

The actual number of cars of potatoes shipped through this point during the past three or four years are given below:—

During the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1913, 4837 cars passed through Aroostook Jct., and about 4000 cars were loaded with potatoes. During the fiscal year from April 1st, 1915 to March 31st, 1914, there were 6360 cars through the Junction, of which number 5,500 were potatoes.

In the fiscal year from April 1st, 1914 to March 31st, 1915, there were 6105 cars shipped, fully 5,000 being potatoes, and as they average 250 barrels to a car, this means that approximately 3,625,000 barrels of potatoes passed through Aroostook Jct., during the years from 1913 to March 31st, 1915.

This will serve to show that Aroostook Jct. is a very important artery for the distribution of potatoes to the south, and large quantities of lumber are also shipped through this station.

The Water Power of Aroostook Jct.

In addition to the splendid railroad and electric facilities afforded by Aroostook Jct., it further possesses abundant water in the shape of streams running down from the upper levels, the land rising in a series of plateaus from the St. John River upwards, the streams of water coming down each plateau until reaching the St. John river. The principal brook which runs almost into the centre of the village, supplied in 1910, some where round 35,000 to 40,000 gallons of water daily for the C. P. R. engines, but the company afterwards installed an electric motor at the river site, and water for the engines and roundhouse is now pumped from the St. John river by electricity. The only use made of the stream is to supply the hotel, tenements, and bungalows with water.

In addition to the stream above mentioned, there is another brook, called Bedell's brook, about two miles below, which could be dammed if necessary, and which would furnish all the water needed to run a factory or warehouse if such should be established in this neighborhood.

With regard to educational facilities, Aroostook Jct. has up to the present time only a small school situated about one and a half miles from the village, and the farmers around the neighborhood have strenuously opposed any change being made. But the great increase in population mentioned above, and the arrival during the past five years of numerous C. P. R. employees, necessitated drastic changes, and in spite of the active opposition from farmers and old time residents, the last two years have resulted in a very great improvement in this respect, $3,500 dollars having been voted for a new school, allowances being made for all possible increases in population for some years to come. The school is now in course of construction, and will be opened for the Christmas term, when arrangements will be made to convey all children from outside the village to school by team. It is hoped that in the near future this will be made a Superior School.

And They Live in Hope

From what is here stated it will be seen that Aroostook Junction possesses certain qualifications not enjoyed by other districts of the province, that it is in an attractive section of the country, that it has an abundance of cheap power, and that because of the comparatively light settlement of the county, land can be had at very moderate prices for industrial or other purposes. These conditions should certainly be an inducement to industrial concerns looking for locations, and the people of Aroostook Junction who are so hopeful of their community's progress, have every reason to feel that if success does not come in as large a measure or as speedily as they hope, it will not be because of any lack of boosting on their part, nor from any weakness in the advantages which they are able to offer.

HERE IS THE POETRY.

There are many lovely gardens along the C. P. R.
You find them all along the route, no matter where you are,
But of all the pretty gardens, the one that is a star
Is the dainty little garden at Aroostook.

You may travel through Alberta, or Manitoba's fertile land
Where Nature spreads her bounties with quite a lavish hand,
But there is one thing certain, that you must understand
There's a lovely little garden at Aroostook.

Men sing the praises of the West in Story book and Song
And proud her stalwart sons may seem that country to belong,
But this you must remember, and you cannot well be wrong
There's a pretty little garden at Aroostook.

Near the Aroostook river and St. John's flowing tide,
Where roving Mic Mac's war canoes at one time used to glide,
You'll find a pretty garden—the river close beside—
The bonny little garden at Aroostook.

Men sing the praises of the West its valleys and its hills,
But in New Brunswick you will hear the song bird's lovely trills
The shady nook, the babbling brook, with many trickling rills—
And a winsome little garden at Aroostook.

And here in summer evenings, when the moon shines o'er the hill
We wander midst the flowers when all is calm and still,
Oft we hear the stillness broken by the cry of Whip-poor-will
In the quiet little garden at Aroostook.

Social Notes of the Week

Everybody is looking forward to the grand opening of the wonderful Patriotic Auction on Monday evening in St. John's Bunk, when at 7:30 the Hon. Lieutenant Governor Wood will declare the auction officially begun. His Township Mayor Prink will officiate at the first article. There will be no admission fee and large crowds are expected. There will be something for everybody to buy. The prizes cannot be given to the gentleman and daughters of the Empire who have worked so faithfully to make the auction a success, and we have only to look round the large park to fully realize what system there has been and so much work accomplished. Here one can fully equip their home with elegant furniture, groceries, vegetables, coal, wood, oil, paint, brushes, chickens, ducks, dry goods, millinery, books, flour, butter, eggs, sugar, home-made pickles, preserves, cakes and bread, fancy work of every description, beautiful soft cushions, in fact every thing you could possibly think about, even the kitchen stove. The different committees of the Daughters of the Empire chosen to obtain auctioneers may meet with every encouragement and many gentlemen have kindly volunteered their services for the afternoon and evening for the week. There is no limit to the prizes that will be offered. All the proceeds will go to the Patriotic Fund and distributed among those who are helping to defend our Empire. ## Bread-Making Facts for Housewives

Real success in the art of Bread-Making lies as much in the flour as in the recipe; golden-crust, light, flaky bread is also to look at, but to reach the highest perfection, it must have all possible food value, with that delicacy of flavor that can come only from the use of the choicest flour—flour that is properly milled. Bread made which is produced from the finest selected Western Hard Spring Wheat, milled by a process that retains all the life-giving, strength-making properties of the grain—in strong, nourishing, dainty. La Tour Flour is equally good for cake, pastry and biscuits. Try it and see—YOU'LL like it.

Much of the sediment in milk is due to the unclean condition of cows, and carries with it, too often, the germs of disease which, in milk especially, multiply with alarming rapidity. In the light of these facts, therefore, it rests with you, as a parent, to learn something of the source of your milk supply.

Mrs. Jos. Gaudreau, Notre Dame des Bois, Que., writes: "Last autumn our baby was very sick and we were greatly discouraged. ## Pretty, Wavy, Curling Hair Without Hot Iron

Let me tell you of a simple method which is a favorite of the belles of a certain exclusive social set. I'm sure you would like to know it, because it will give your hair such a pretty curliness and lustre and permit you to do away with the tedious waving iron forever. Just get from any drug store a few ounces of ordinary liquid salerina, and at night apply a little with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the full length of the hair. In the morning you will have a real surprise, the fascinating, buoy, wavy effect will appear so natural, and there will be no greasy, gummy, sticky or other unpleasant trace of this harmless liquid.

You can exercise for hours in the gymnasium, dance all evening in a heated ball room or take a long motor trip without fear of your hair losing its curl—indeed, you won't need to use the salerina again for a considerable time.—Mona Morrow in The Clubwoman.

The table with profusion of that which pleased the inner man, was made dainty and attractive. Mr. W. A. McQueen acted as chairman and president at the head of the table. On his right sat the daughter of honor and his brother, Mr. R. S. Murray, while his father, Mr. J. A. Murray, sat at the left. The Assomption Band was present and previous to the guests sitting down the National Anthem and a number of selections were rendered. After full justice had been done to the repast, Mr. McQueen, who very ably did duty as chairman, appointed Mr. Stewart of the Bank of Montreal staff as toast master. The following toasts were presented: "To His Majesty King George," responded to by singing the National Anthem; "The Allied Forces," responded to by Mrs. H. B. Steeves; "The Red Cross Nurses," responded to by Mr. Raymond Legere; "To Our Guest," responded to by Mr. Murray, who in feeling appreciation remarks, thanked all present for the honor and kindness extended him. The address, read by Mr. McQueen, and the presentation of a handsome military watch, followed the toasts. The latter part of the evening was spent in chorus singing with short speeches, appropriate to the occasion and numbers given by the band. The solos of Messrs. L. J. Melanson and Lloyd McDevitt were much enjoyed as was also the music provided by Dr. Eric Robiloux, who accompanied the singers on the piano, and gave a number of instrumental selections during the evening. Before the gathering broke up votes of thanks were expressed to the ladies of the Red Cross, to Mr. Torrie for use of a piano, to Mr. R. C. Tait for Tipperary Hall, to Messrs. # DARDANELLES TO BE THE BIG, VITAL HUB OF THE WAR?

Great War May Be One or Lost There and Political And Economic Course of World for Decades to Come May Hinge on Outcome of Struggle Taking Place on That Battleground

The London correspondent of the New York Herald writes that the Dardanelles is growing to be the great war will be won or lost at the Dardanelles. The short waterway, centre of many of the most stupendous struggles in history, the dividing line between the West and the East, once again promises to decide the fate of nations. Not only nations, it may decide the political and economic course to be travelled by the world for decades to come.

Significant developments have come to pass, and if the succeeding events bears out the sanguinary promise of the days just passed the real fight for Constantinople and its gateway to the summer seas is just beginning. Be it as a secondary operation by a comparatively small Franco-British expeditionary force, it will grow to be the big, vital hub of the war, with every nation now engaged represented in the conflict except possibly Belgium and Japan. The places of these two belligerents, if current prophecies are dependable, will be more than filled by Bulgaria, Greece and Roumania.

Bulgaria has issued a general order of mobilization. Greece has set in motion the wheels that will bring her army and navy to war strength. Roumania has maintained her army in readiness for eventualities since early in the war.

Thus the three remaining Balkan States are under arms and with Serbia and Montenegro already in the lists the Balkan peninsula presents the appearance of a vast military encampment.

Turkey's need of assistance to withstand the steadily increasing pressure against her has been the force that irresistibly has drawn the Balkan States into the net of war. Germany and Austria, facing certain defeat if the Dardanelles should be opened, need a direct route for communication with Constantinople. The only possible route lay through either Bulgaria or Roumania. The Quadruple Entente Powers found it to be as vital to their interests to prevent direct access to the Bosphorus. The needs of the contending groups of great Powers met in the Balkans and the fight for supremacy there began.

Balkans Overrun by Diplomats
Bucharest, Athens and Sofia have been filled with official and unofficial representatives of the central Empires and the Entente Powers. The battle of diplomacy and intrigue has been waged with all the finesse of which the European chancelleries are capable. Immense territories were held out to the neutral States as a bait for continued neutrality or for active assistance to one or the other of the groups.

Nationally Greece inclined toward the Allies, Roumania suspected of having a secret understanding with Italy and being denied by Austria the fulfillment of her aspirations in Transylvania and along the Danube, she was generally stamped with the Entente mark. Bulgaria, whose ruler is of Teutonic extraction, and whose court is pro-German, remained as the most likely field for German tilling.

Serbia, obligated to the Allies, was persuaded to offer to Bulgaria a large part of Macedonia if Bulgaria would maintain a neutral attitude. Bulgaria wanted more and Greece demanded that she be offered less. Roumania, holding territory the Bulgars considered rightfully to belong to them, offered to make concessions provided she was recompensed in another direction.

Trade bargaining occupied much of the summer and "Balkan Crisis" came almost a stock headline in the newspapers. An important fact remained that the trades were all to be effective "at the end of the war" and the value put on the concessions from either side was contingent on the turn of the war's wheel. Bulgaria for the last month has been the important factor in the negotiations. Weighing the promises from the Quadruple Entente against the promises from the Central Powers, she eventually has decided the benefits to accrue to her through Austro-German success more than balance the promises made by the Allies, and her order of mobilization is taken as a notification to the world that she has decided to cast in her lot with the Teutonic empires, open her roads for a passage to Stamboul, and take in return her chance of obtaining in the end a good slice of Serbia, the territory she claims in Macedonia and much of Thrace. Teutonic Allies Anticipated Decision That Berlin and Vienna long in advance were fully cognizant of the nature of the Bulgaria's decision may be assumed from the fact that a concentration of strong Teutonic forces began along the Serbian frontier at least a month ago in preparation for a new offensive. It seemed for a time that Bulgarian attitude would be one of passive consent to the use of her territory once the Teutonic forces were across the neck of Serbian soil that separates Austria and Bulgaria. The developments of the last week, however, show that Sofia probably will not be content with such a comparatively peaceful role. Hard on the orders for the mobilization of the army, news comes that large bodies of troops are moving toward the Serbian border; a move which promises active co-operation with the Germanic invasion.

Austria and Germany began their campaign against the Serbia last Sunday by a bombardment of the frontier from Belgrade to Gradiste, a distance of sixty miles. For nine months the Serbian military activity has been confined largely to the strengthening of the frontier positions, and the Teutonic artillery must reduce or seriously weaken these defences before any actual invasion is attempted. Some infantry actions occurred during the week, principally between patrols and small detachments which the Germans have attempted to put across the Danube and the Save under the shelter of numerous islands that dot the rivers.

To cut a way across thirty miles of Serbian mountains and reach Bulgarian territory, the central empires have concentrated what is believed to amount to an army of 800,000 men, or twenty corps. This force consists principally of the levies called up for training in the spring, with a sprinkling of veteran units drawn from Galicia and the western front, and the two corps Austria has maintained at the frontier in the Serbian front.

Against it is aligned the Serbian army, which the most liberal estimate places at 200,000 men, with a few French and an uncertain number of British. France early in the war undertook to Britain Serbia with her aerial corps. Britain sent over infantry detachments and artillery and has been adding constantly to the number of men assigned to this field. The War Office naturally has permitted no figures on the strength of these units to become public, and any estimate would be simply a wild guess. It may safely be said, however, that the total effective force now ready to oppose a Germanic drive would not exceed 350,000.

Difficulty of Terrain
The disparity in numbers between the Teutonic army gathered for the invasion and the defence, is partly counterbalanced by the terrain over which the armies will operate and which is comparatively easy to guard. The thirty miles between Austria and Bulgaria practically is a mountain wall. Wild, untravelled, alternating heights and ravines, it is admirably adapted to defence.

The nature of the country leads observers here to believe the main attack will be launched at Semendria, already under bombardment, from which town a course would be followed up the valley of the Morava to the point where it is joined by the Resava at Lapovo. The railway to Nish and the Bosphorus runs in this valley from Semendria through Lapovo. By turning to the left at this point an advancing army could benefit the Resava valley and turn the principal range of mountains about twenty-five miles west of the Bulgarian frontier.

This course would mean covering a distance of approximately one hundred miles where the air line across the Serbian neck is only thirty miles, but by taking the longer route the army of invasion would avoid much of the difficult country that would have to be negotiated in a direct march. The main Teutonic concentration is in the sector between two railroads running down to the Serbian border from Budapest, one passing through Belgrade and the other ending opposite Gradiste. The centre of the massed forces thus would be about Semendria and the mouth of the Morava, and an advance up the valley of this stream, if circumstances were favorable, could be continued on the railway through the temporary Serbian capital and straight to Sofia and Constantinople.

While the Turks since midsummer have been holding their own on the Gallipoli Peninsula, observers believe the time is near at hand when the allied forces will be able to undertake a general offensive infinitely more powerful than any yet attempted in this theatre. Reinforcements are pouring into the Aegean in great numbers. There are rumors here that 100,000 men have reached the base islands of the straits in the last two weeks and additional fleets of transports are arriving daily.

Russia's Remarkable Retreat
The Ottoman army so far has maintained an excellent morale and has refused to be shaken by the volcanic bombardments of the hundreds of naval and field guns massed against them. They are not well supplied with either gun or rifle ammunition, however, and the knowledge that their Germanic allies are attempting to hew a path across the Balkan peninsula to their assistance is expected to measurably stiffen their resistance.

Crisis after crisis has faced the Russian army since May 1, when Field Marshal von Mackensen launched his attack on the Dunajec line and began his drive through Galicia. Four distinct times it has been in imminent danger of envelopment and destruction—a large part if not the whole organization. Four times the genius of Russian leadership has extricated it from what seemed to be certain disintegration and defeated the Teutonic hopes for a decisive victory.

ENGLISH SIDELIGHTS ON THE WAR

The most recent enterprise of the Young Men's Christian Association in Great Britain, to send snapshots from home to the men on active service, is meeting with an extraordinary wide response. The scheme has just been put in actual working order, and already about 10,000 snapshots have been taken, and the work, which some 3,000 branches, with from 6 to 150 members is only in its initial stages.

Referring to reports about the increase of drunkenness in the East End of London, among the wives of soldiers and sailors, a London reporter writes: "Monday, when allowances are paid, is the worst day. In a post office near the Victoria Docks yesterday sums of money were being paid out to a crowd of women, larger, it is safe to say, than they ever handled when their husbands were at home. Not all of them, or nearly all, by any means squander or misuse this money. Wives of civilian workmen in the district testify that in many cases the homes of the absent soldiers are better furnished and the children better clothed and fed than when the husband and father was at home; but instances in which the money is squandered are deplorably numerous. There is a feeling that the great leniency which is shown by the police, under instructions from Scotland Yard, while kindly meant, is a mistake. The special consideration which is shown to them is taken advantage of by many women, with the result that the children suffer."

A London market report says: "The present limitation of the sale of lump sugar by most grocers is not due to any dearth of sugar as a commodity. This particular thing requires a second baking, and consequently the employment of so much extra labor. The manufacture of it has therefore become much restricted. A granulated sugar from the Mauritius, which is slightly cheaper, is now largely taking its place. This is a pure cane sugar, whereas lump is often a mixture of beet and cane. Lump is, however, preferable for making jam, because, having been baked it sets better. There is plenty of sugar in the market just now. In Java they have had this year the finest crop yet recorded. The only deficiency is in Dutch crushed and preserving sugar. The best sugar which formerly came from Belgium, and Austria is not now available but there will soon be supplies of English beet in the market."

A British general in a private letter, describes how the artillerymen of the new Kitchener armies, upon their arrival in France, are put into training with experienced French batteries: "One of my guns was carefully drawn to the position at present occupied by a French gun, in the centre of a French battery. Our men worked their best in order to do things well under the eyes of the French gunners. After having placed the British gun on the right spot, the Frenchmen communicated to our officer the precise position of a machine-gun emplacement situated at a range of about 1,800 yards. They knew this emplacement, and they were able to help us to time our fuses with the greatest accuracy. Indeed, they showed themselves past-masters in the art of making our men believe that they were doing things themselves. Then we fired our gun, and at the second shot the German emplacement was destroyed, at which there was great joy among our section of gunners. There was the same joy and hearty congratulations on the part of the French gunners. Today the position will be occupied by three French guns and one British gun; to-morrow by two French guns and two British; next by three British and one French gun. All this time the battery commander, who hitherto has never seen a British gunner. Only when the battery consists of four English guns will a British officer take command of it. Until then he will remain as long as necessary receiving, with his British gunners, indications with regard to the country drawn from the experience of the French gunners, who have held the position since November, 1914. A Paris correspondent of a London paper writes: "The Etat Railway, so long scornfully known as the 'Ouest-Etat', a synonym of inefficiency and particularly of dangerous travelling, has now become one of the most progressive. Evolving the Alliance, an entity of the railway was able to obtain two million tons of coal from the British Admiralty on the most-favored-nation terms. The Admiralty even lent ships to convey the precious freight to France. The whole of the constant is now resting in France, the major part in great stacks which have been formed at various points. To these stocks come the military and naval authorities who have need of the combustible for purposes of national defence."

THINK WILSON SHOULD HAVE OPPOSED LOAN

Berlin paper says President has poor conception of neutrality - Sees end of British financial position

London, Oct. 1.—The financial expert of the Tageblatt of Berlin, says a despatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph company admitting German annoyance at the success of the Anglo-French loan in the United States, says "President Wilson has a strange conception of neutrality in not opposing it. The writers extract consolation, however, from the fact that the loan will not be $1,000,000,000 but only for $500,000,000 and adds that the Entente Allies are piling up a debt in America which will smash Great Britain's position in the financial market forever."

STUDYING MAINE'S METHODS OF FIGHTING POTATO DISEASES

Special to The Standard, Fredericton, Oct. 1.—A. G. Turney, provincial horticulturist, is at Bangor, Maine, investigating potato conditions in the State of Maine. He is looking into various methods being used to stamp out potato diseases with a view to inaugurating similar means, if successful, in this province. Mr. Turney will return here some time next week. Thomas Welch, of St. John, popular brakeman on the Fredericton branch of the C. P. R., is to be married next Wednesday to Miss Inez McVicar, of St. Stephen. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. # THE FRENCH ARMY CONTINUES ITS GREAT ADVANCE IN CHAMPAGNE ON A 20 MILE FRONT

Over a front in Champagne extending from Auberville to Ville-sur-Tourbe, a distance of twenty miles, the French lines have moved forward on an average of two and a half miles. This is the greatest gain yet made by the Allies in the west. The French have reached the Epine de Vedegrange, passed the cabin on the road from Souain to Somme-Py and the hut on the road from Souain to Tahure, indicated on the map. Further east they gained the farm of the Maison de Champagne and reached a front before the second position of the German defences at Hill No. 185 and on the hillock overlooking Tahure. The French have advanced nearer to Hill No. 185 and in the direction of La Justice, north of Massiges. Recently further gains were made in the latter region.

ENTIRE AMOUNT OF LOAN LIKELY PLACED TODAY

About $135,000,000 remain to be taken But Books likely to be kept open for several days to give Western Banks a chance - Bonds offered for sale on curb yesterday.

New York, Oct. 1.—Subscriptions amounting to approximately $365,000,000 appeared to be in slight Thursday night towards the $500,000,000 issue of joint Anglo-French bonds, according to a declaration made today by the president of one of the largest national banks in the city. This would leave $135,000,000 to be taken and it was his opinion that today and tomorrow would see the entire amount placed. The $365,000,000, it is assumed, represents the total pledges tabulated up to Thursday night and includes the chief large bank subscriptions and those of wealthy individuals entering the list of underwriters. It was also thought that this total covered subscriptions from every section of the country, although this was not stated. The books will be left open, in all probability, for several days. Middle western and western banks are yet to be heard from, and the wants of some of them remain to be ascertained. It might be considered discourteous to close the door while they are at the threshold; hence there probably will be no final casting up of totals until ample time—four or five days—will have afforded all to come in. In the pouring rain on the curb, outside the Stock Exchange, the bonds were bought and sold today, for the first time by a New York stock-dealing association. Delivery, of course, was subject to their issuance. The opening price was 98, the figure set by the underwriters and the Anglo-French commission as the price the public is to pay. They fell to 97 1/2 and later went back to 98. At the close of the market they were quoted at 97 1/2 to 98. Dealings, it was said, totalled about $75,000.

DEPARTMENT STORE SELLING BOOTY TAKEN BY GERMANS IN LILLE

Paris, Oct. 1.—On receiving information to the effect that booty taken by the Germans at Lille, France, is being sold at a department store in Berlin, the French government has entered a protest with neutrals against such sales. The protest is based on a letter from an officer of the German military school at Lichterfelde to a German prisoner interned in the French camp at Fogeres, announcing the sales.

Police Court

But one prisoner appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning, a lad, charged with breaking and entering Emerson & Fisher's store and stealing two bicycles therefrom. After giving him a severe lecture on the enormity of his crime, the magistrate allowed the boy to go on suspended sentence.

LIKELY CONCLUDE PRELIMINARY HEARING NEXT WEDNESDAY

Prof. Brydon-Jack only important witness to be called in Manitoba case.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—With only one important crown witness yet to be heard—Prof. Brydon-Jack—the preliminary hearing of the former cabinet ministers was adjourned today until Wednesday afternoon. Prof. Brydon-Jack, who was one of the consulting engineers on the parliament buildings, will be subjected to cross-examination, but as any other witnesses who may be called will deal only with minor points, it is possible that the case will be brought to a conclusion on Wednesday. It is said there will be no formal addresses by counsel. Upon the conclusion of this case, it was stated by R. A. Bonnar, K. C., chief of the crown counsel, this afternoon, the charges of perjury against public documents against Sir Rodmond Roblin and Hon. Dr. Montague will be proceeded with, in the same court. George R. Coldwell is not named in these charges. Proceedings today were lacking in features of spectacular interest, and both sessions were brief. J. H. G. Russell, an architect, who made an exhaustive report for the present government on the work done on the buildings by the Kelly firm at $777,593. He had inspected fifteen caissons, and found the concrete in some good and in some very bad. He was able to find no specifications for the caissons. He found that of these fifteen, six went to rock and seven were from four feet to nine feet above the rock, while in the other two he could find no rock. From this, he assumed that about half the caissons went to solid rock foundation. He valued the caissons work at $228,198. Mr. Russell said that the "carved enrichments" on the outside stone work on the building had been omitted, saving "thousands of dollars" to the contractors. There was no foundation stone, as provided for in the specifications. D. G. McTavish, accountant in the provincial architect's office, and H. B. Johnston, employed in the same office, were the other witnesses called this morning. Mr. McTavish swore that he had received three or four of the applications for payment for the caissons from Lawrence Kelly.

BANK OFFICIALS INDICTED FOR PERJURY

Washington, Oct. 1.—Charles C. Glover, president of the Riggs National Bank; Wm. J. Flather, vice-president, and F. H. H. Flather, cashier, were indicted today for perjury in connection with the bank's recent suit against U. S. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller Williams. The indictments are a sequel to the suit of the bank which alleged that Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams, because of personal animus toward some of the bank officers, had conspired to injure the institution by withdrawing public deposits, making extraordinary demands for special reports and finally by imposing a fine of $5,000 upon the bank for failure to make a certain report called for by the comptroller.
