SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS & VARNISHES

Fire may never come, but the deteriorating effect of the weather on buildings of every kind is certain, unless protected by paint.

Unprotected wooden surfaces crack and become open and porous, then decay and rot starts. This means expensive repairs, which can all be avoided by the regular use of paint.

Examine your buildings now—A little money spent in painting at once may save you much larger expenditure a little later.

Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared, is the ideal paint for outside use. It is made of the purest and best materials, thoroughly mixed and ground by powerful machinery according to special formulae, the result of years of experiment and experience in paint making.

WONDERFUL LETTER FROM S. G. BARTER

Remarkable How Matter-of-Fact Our Boys Take It

Here is the letter of a true patriot, and a hero. It is a very remarkable letter, and The Observer commends it to all its 11 or 12 thousand Carleton and Victoria readers.

Dear Mr. Stevens: I will write you a few lines as I have during the last few days met several of the boys from around Hartland and I feel I should write and convey a message to you of them. I have been in the Quarter Master's Store at the 2nd Canadian Infantry Base depot since March, and today makes it a complete month. I have been here and all the Canadians for the 2nd Division pass through here and we fit them out for the field and send them away all prepared to combat the Germans. I have met Sgt. Wendell Nixon. He looks fine. Ray Plummer, bless his heart, had grown so much I did not know him when he came in with Sgt. Nixon, but I was glad to see him. Clyde Shaw looks hardy and fit. Hal Sippell too, is tanned and looks a real veteran now. Jack Merrill looks well also. A Ryder, special as ever. Randolph Jones, who was too young, but now has reached the proper age of a British soldier. Jim Kelly of Bristol. John C. Barter is also here at present for a few days, just out of hospital where he was on account of burning shells injuring his ears. The last fortnight has been a very busy time for us as this greatest of battles is within our hearing and we are all working hard, each at his post, yet I am happy in meeting so many old friends.

I don't mention many, but I see you are a busy man and so I will not. I am sure you will hear of the big guns. It is wonderful how quiet and matter-of-fact our boys take it. Here one comes strolling in and says "Well, I guess you will have to fit me out for I was going on leave and I am stopping here. My kit is with my unit." He jokes and the next was called from Paris; had not time to go get his haversack and little field necessities. Another has come in "flung" his company is, and only has a rifle and steel hat. A few Americans come in. They were an Engineer Company got mixed in the fight and have nothing but uniforms and steel hats. We fit them out in good Canadian caps and we all joke and swap yarns, and I must tell all we say, but men are going to Canada almost every day on "compassionate" reasons. The British are fighting against the mightiest army ever hurled on an opponent, but in spite of two weeks steady battle they have not been able to break our line—only bulge it out somewhat. No one here is worrying. We are sending men up laughing, joking, singing, and cheering; and when they meet the Germans, by jinks they fight! It's then the metal rings true! One cannot help being proud of our Great Empire as they see Canadians, Scotch, Australians, English, Irish, Welsh, New Zealanders, South Africans and Newfoundlanders marching and intermingling in camp and all of one mind and one speech and on the same errand. And now the Americans are here—another nation of our speech. The world will be a different world after this war and if we Anglo-Saxons stand together we will be much the same as a big, good-natured, yet stern and just policeman at a ginger bread stall, where boys spend pennies for ginger bread rolls. In other words, we will impose peace on the world and give even small nations justice that they may swagger and eat their bread in peace.

My message to the home folk is "Be of good cheer, we will win. But the more unselfish we all are the sooner we will win and bring a lasting happiness to our people. I enclose two copies of a little paper we have sent us as regularly as is possible. My wife sends me the Hartland paper, "The Observer," and it is the home paper and I look for it most of all papers. Would you like me to send you some souvenirs for your window? Let me know.

Your true friend

S. G. Barter

W. R. Estabrooks, son of Joseph Estabrooks of Wilmet, writing to his mother from the Front under date of Jan. 27, says:

"Thought perhaps Minnie being in Woodstock you were not hearing from me. Haven't fired a gun for nearly seven weeks. Am in charge of the wagon line looking after the drivers and the outfit. Some job, too, believe me. We have regular parade hours and get our sleep regularly except when we have to take our turn at the line necessities for those at the gun. We have good places to sleep and lots of rations. I never saw our horses looking better and it is almost impossible to handle the mules. We have six in our sub, I guess the best in the bunch, and that isn't saying much."

"Saw Oscar, Lester and Clifford several nights ago. They are not more than a mile away from the front. Can see them real often. Oscar is head cook in the battery. Clifford was not feeling extra. Had a touch of trench fever, I guess. It must be kind of lonesome, with just you, father and George about the place. Wonder if the snow is deep and weather cold. It is a little muddy here, but the weather has been great lately. Got the gloves, socks and mittens all good. If the weather keeps like this they will last me out. Nothing much to write so will close."

Your bald-headed boy—

STEPHEN M'MULLIN KILLED IN ACTION

Another Hartland Boy Makes the Sacrifice—Other Carleton Boys Dead

On Saturday morning a telegram to W. P. McMullin announced that his son, Stephen, had been killed in action. He was about 20 years of age and enlisted a little over two years ago with the 140th and went overseas with that unit. No details of his sad but glorious end have been received. Besides the sorrowing parents there are left to mourn, two brothers, Milo and Claude, and three sisters, Mrs. F. A. Alton, Sarah and Mary. Stephen was a likeable boy, popular among his young friends, and his death seems to once again bring the war very close home.

William Burrell of Cloverdale, for some time reported missing, is now supposed to have been killed. He leaves a young wife and infant child.

F. Broad of Beechwood is among the missing believed to have been killed.

Page-McAuley

A pretty wedding was solemnized at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, May 1, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McAuley, Williamstown, when their daughter Annie Catherine was united in marriage to Chas. S. Page, an enterprising farmer of Centreville. Only the near relatives and close friends of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. While the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was being rendered by Miss Myrtle Smith, the bride and groom entered the parlor and stood under an arch of evergreen. The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk and bridal veil with wreath of roses and carried a bouquet of flowers. After the ceremony which was performed by Rev. J. B. Champion, a bountiful supper was served in the dining room. The bride is held in the highest esteem in Williamstown, where she has been an active worker in the Sunday school and church. Many useful presents were received, including several substantial sums of money. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl and pincto necklace. The best wishes of their many friends go with them to their new home in Centreville.

Bett in Bohemia

By M. Ways

Max and Bett lived in Paris, and they were really "a very conventional, humdrum pair," so people said with a yawn. He, a successful journalist, clever, diplomatic, indifferent. She, the usual American woman—with only a pair of expressive blue eyes—but then people didn't know.

To the polite concierge who rented them the little apartments in a one-time chateau, somewhere in the Latin Quarter, they seemed most quiet and business like, asked few questions, didn't concern themselves about the lodgers, and paid the rent on time.

The two, free from old "furn-ry," as they called the poor concierge, behaved very queerly as soon as they were in their own rooms.

The morning it all happened Max was off on a trip to Fontainebleau to write up some stuff for his American paper. Bett was usually too busy in the morning to indulge in day dreams or curl herself in an armchair for a "grand read," as she called it, but somehow today she was just gloriously over the little garden back of the chateau. Even the undergrowth of tangled vines looked fresher than the greenest of French grass, as Bett decided, work or no work, out she had to go for a tramp in the sunshine.

As she bolted the door shut with a bang, down clattered a small but sparsely clad Venus to the floor, and Max's papers, which she had so carefully assorted in a stray mood of tidiness, whirled over the rug like the settling of a flock of white pigeons.

A rough hand work hadn't worn off the enthusiasm Bett still felt as she strolled along the busy thoroughfare, drawing in that intoxicating atmosphere of Paris one feels but can't define, while weekly, across the ocean, letters went home: wild, crazy letters of their housekeeping in Bohemia, gay evenings at the cafes, jaunts to Versailles, occasionally a night at the opera. They quite forgot to mention Max's midnight work, long after the last reveler had staggered home from the artist's ball at the Baller or Bett's merry-making, despite the after-vindicta heart was ordered to bring. Meanwhile the small, black, stocky, Bett's National Savings Bank, grew heavier and heavier with money to go home.

It was this very morning, the same that Bett's upward spirit would prove around the Luxembourg (for take a peep for the fiftieth time at the Mike Ayres, with the luxury of a lunch at the cafe) that at 4 o'clock to her dismay, she remembered Max was to return an hour earlier and she had quite forgotten her promise to copy his "correspondence," that must get off in the outgoing steamer, and poor Max would be so tired, Bett thought. With her usual impetuous rush she ran wildly after a valet, or maid, or finally landing on the steps. In close relationship to the astonished conductor, whose little black moustachio curled up higher than ever when he discovered a very flushed and pretty young girl lunging suddenly his way. The chateau soon came in sight and still rushing Bett ran up the dark old stairway, three steps at a time—when thud!—down the stairway with a terrific noise clattered a curious black mass which never stopped bumping till the ground floor was reached. Bett stood paralyzed and then with a grasp of fright hurried down. There, between dismay and surprise, she picked up a man. A strange man in the chateau, and Max had never told her, thought Bett in an aggrieved way. While she called for the concierge and lifted him as tenderly as she could to an old couch, there flashed through her mind visions of a slenderly clad pink-robed dandy who careered over the house frequently "by day, but more frequently by night, peering out of the various windows, sometimes hauling fruit up from the street with a rope and basket, not to mention such unromantic things as a beefsteak, onions or carrots. Then how she did walk around in all the unused rooms and—horror—she and Max sometimes would rear and sing coon songs far into the night, or Max would harangue an imaginary audience with criticisms on his last brilliant novel. All these wild carousels and she never knew there was a soul in hearing distance.

Aided by the distracted concierge they carried him as best they could to his room—Bett mentally noting she had been in this room on several occasions—where he lay groaning for days with a broken arm, which to Bett was anything but soothing as she had knocked him down the steps. There never was a better nurse than Max; day and night he stayed with the unknown lodger, never tired of reading or writing for him, lifting him with the ease of a child, caring for him as a life-time friend might have done. Bett, with a very low ebb of moral courage, hung on the outskirts of the sick room, usually planning her vigils when he was too fast asleep to see the destroyer of part of his anatomy.

Max and the victim of the "back-stair plot," as Bett always called the invalid, had many a laugh at her expense, for with daily protestations she vowed she was growing thin with re-

Too Little Exercise

THE necessity of using medicine to regulate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels is largely due to the changed conditions of life during recent years.

Our fathers lived a life of activity in the open air. If they ate heartily they had sufficient exercise to keep the liver and bowels active and to thereby remove the poisonous waste from the body.

To-day we get too little exercise and too little fresh air. The food we eat is more concentrated and artificial. The result is much discomfort and the development of serious disease from constipation of the bowels and torpid condition of the liver. Kidney disease, rheumatism, lumbago, backache—all have their beginning in the inactivity of the liver and bowels.

The great secret of keeping in health is to look to the regularity of these filtering and eliminating organs, and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is the most satisfactory medicine obtainable for this purpose.

If you read the reports appearing in this paper, from time to time, from persons who have used this treatment with good results, you will find that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are effective where ordinary medicines fail. This success is due to their combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. One pill a dose at bedtime as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in healthful action, will also ensure the regularity of the liver and kidneys and thereby keep the blood pure and the system free from the accumulating poisons which cause disease and suffering.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

The Best Insurance You Can Put on Your Buildings

is the protection that good paint guarantees. Fire Insurance does not prevent fire—it only partly reimburses you for loss sustained, should fire destroy your property.

Fire may never happen.

On the other hand, the use of good paint actually prevents a loss from decay which is not just a possibility, but an absolute certainty. The destructive effects of weather, upon buildings that lack proper paint protection, go on every second of the day and night.

MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" PAINT is the greatest known protector of all building material against time and weather, because it is made only of pure White Lead, Pure Zinc Oxide, and Pure Linseed Oil.

You would not think of letting your Fire Insurance Policies lapse in order to save the yearly premiums. It would be even poorer economy to let your Paint Protection Policy lapse by neglecting to repaint your increasingly valuable buildings this season.

When you do paint use Martin Senour "100% Pure" Paint. It spreads easier, covers more surface, and protects longer than most other makes.

Ask for copies of "Farmer's Color Set" and "Town and Country Homes". Many good painting hints in each.

H. N. BOYER,
HARTLAND.

The Quality Goes Clear Through

Quality from the Polish in Quality in the Gray-Dort does not begin and end on the outside. True, the Gray-Dort has a fine appearance—pleasing lines, handsome finish, smartness. But these are only parts of its goodness.

Get right down into the car. Examine the details of the body, the frame, the motor, the transmission, the accessories. There you will find sincerity of workmanship, genius of design and honesty of materials, of which the appearance is the outward and visible sign.

The quality of the Gray-Dort was not attained in a day. For 65 years the Gray plant in Chatham has been building vehicles widely reputed for serviceability and beauty. For 30 years the Dort plant in Flint, Michigan, has paralleled this.

The Gray-Dort car is the combined effort of these two great organizations. Into it they have put all the knowledge gained in a lifetime building carriages. They have placed on it the same mark of character, backed it with the same integrity. And in the hands of several thousand Canadian motorists, the Gray-Dort has proved worthy.

The new Gray-Dort embodies all the good features that won instant success for former models. The 4-cylinder motor is a triumph of smooth, economical speed and power. The chassis is sturdy and quiet. The springs are long. The upholstery is deep. The equipment is absolutely complete from electric starting and lighting to the tools. New lines of beauty have been given this model. The four-passenger touring car is $1,125; the three-passenger four-seater roadster is $995; the Gray-Dort special, beautifully finished and with extra details of equipment, is $1,225 above the list. All prices are f.o.b. Chatham.

THE U. F. OF N. B.

The United Farmers of New Brunswick have arranged with The Observer so that this paper will be their official organ and spokesman. We cannot guarantee that the policy, political or otherwise, of this young and growing organization will have our editorial endorsement, but we do promise to give the farmers a square deal. We acknowledge thorough sympathy with them, and we speak having some knowledge of the successful working of similar organizations in the west. The columns of this paper will be open for announcements, or reports of meetings and the progress and growth of the U. F. of N. B. will be chronicled in these columns from week to week. To this end we wish to enlist the aid of the secretary of each branch to keep us posted on the affairs of interest in their district. It should be born in mind that a charge of 25 cents, payable in advance, is made for announcing any future events.

The Observer has agreed with the executive committee to establish a weekly crop and market report service. This cannot be quickly or easily done but the work of getting the proper information is going on and this service will commence in an early issue.

Every member of the U. F. of N. B. should subscribe to The Observer for the crop and market report may be worth many times the $1 subscription price.

THE FARMERS

News of the death and suffering of our boys at the front brings the war close home but the shortage of agricultural labour is the next hardest thing for Carleton-Victoria to bear. If thereof greater production is as great we have been told, no real farmer should be conscripted. From the very first The Observer has favored conscription to support the fighting ranks but we have favored conscription only if all the man-power of Canada was conscripted. Those best adapted, should be sent to the trenches, those adapted to farming be compelled to labor at it, and those adapted to the mines should be sent to the mines. Food and fuel are as essential as a front line of trenches.

PALE, LISTLESS GIRLS

Are in a Condition That May Lead to a Hopeless Decline

Perhaps you have noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is often restless and excitable without apparent cause. In the case remember that the march of years is leading her onto womanhood, and that at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as a mother. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels tired out after a little exertion; if she tells you of headaches and backaches, or pains in the side do not disregard these warnings. Your daughter needs the help that only new, rich blood can give for she is anemic—that is bloodless.

Should you notice any of these signs, lose no time, but procure for her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or her unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the impoverished blood of girls and women, and by so doing they repair the waste and prevent disease. They give to sickly, drooping girls health, brightness and charm; with color in the cheeks, sparkling eyes, a light step and high spirits. If your daughter shows any signs of anemia insist that she begins to-day to cure herself by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Grace E. Haskins, Litchford, Ont., says:—"It would be impossible for me to speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few years ago my health was such that my parents were seriously alarmed. I was pale, listless and constantly tired. I suffered much from headaches, and my trouble was aggravated by a bad cough. I tried several medicines, but to no avail, and my friends thought I was in a decline. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended and my mother got three boxes. They were the first medicine that really helped me, and a further supply was got and I continued taking them for several months until they completely cured me. Today, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am as healthy as any girl in Northern Ontario, and I am giving my experience to other girls may benefit by it. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Used for Shaving

Many men are troubled more particularly in the cold weather, with a sort of roughness of the skin or eczema caused by shaving. The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment after the shave soon cures the trouble and by using it after each shave you keep the skin soft and prevent irritation and soreness. Because of its antiseptic qualities this ointment prevents and cures Barber's itch.

THE Y.M.C.A. DRIVE

During the past three days energetic and patriotic men have canvassed every district of Carleton county for money to support the Y.M.C.A. work for our soldiers. The three days work will not be completed until this evening and the result therefore, can at this moment be only estimated. The O server is certain, however, that Carleton county will pay all she has been asked to pay, while a greater sum is raised, greater will be the work done. Those who canvassed the rural sections on Tuesday were greatly encouraged and found much enthusiasm in even the remotest sections. Now and then the typically narrow ones—persons well-to-do—were encountered and flatly refused to give one cent even for this worthy object which stirs the deepest human sympathy. These people also exist in the villages and towns. But most people gave willingly, and these people will sleep well tonight for having given freely today.

Be Ready for Emergencies

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies. Then when croup, or colds, come suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as a 25-cent bottle and sell at 60 cents.

They "go some" in New Brunswick, and you needn't think they don't. Our time in New England is of course an hour faster now than it was before the "daylight-saving" idea came into vogue, but the New Brunswick people have got theirs now an hour faster still. A New Brunswicker has got to be an early riser, and no mistake, in order not to miss breakfast. It takes some hustling anyway to keep up with New Brunswick people, as our folks will find when they try to do as much for the great war, in proportion to wealth and population, as have our cousins across the border. —Fort Fairfield Review.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C. B. "I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 165 pounds to 145 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try "Fruit-a-Tives". In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected, and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous".

ROBERT NEWTON.

Box a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-Tives Limited, Ottawa.

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely make the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called Frezzone applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of Frezzone, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is an ether compound and dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Clip this out and pin on your wife's dresser.

Mrs. John Stevens spent Saturday in Woodstock.

Miss Rosa Hoyt is spending a week or two with friends in Woodstock.

Hoyt, for many years the kindly and ever obliging postmaster of Andover, will regret to hear that he is suffering from cataract of the serious trouble Mr. Hoyt has resigned his position as superintendent of Trinity Sunday School in this office Mr. Hoyt was much loved by the pupils and teachers. In behalf of the school he was presented Friday evening with a purse of money showing in a small degree the high esteem in which he was held. In a short time Mr. Hoyt will receive surgical treatment for his eyes and all his friends hope that he may fully recover his sight.

the paint protected town

THE finest town buildings soon "to look dingy" if they are not kept painted. Worse still, the omission of the Spring painting leaves them open to weather-attack and time's decay. And—with materials so high as to make every building worth double today what it was worth in 1913—you are making a mistake if you let a building "go to seed." Have your town a "model" town—have it fresh with paint—have it protected with a paint that affords real protection—

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT

If this paint were sold at a price half as high again as any other (which it isn't), it would still be the economical paint to use on your house. In sheer covering capacity it has no equal. A gallon of it goes so far that you'll buy less of it and yet do more with it. Paint with B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT this spring—and your house is protected for years, where a coat of ordinary paint will last but a few months.

The difference lies in the above formulae. What other paint is so correct in this respect that its makers guarantee it? What paint can a dealer furnish you that has anything like the quantity of white lead in it that has B-H "English"? This was the formula when lead was lower in price—this is the formula still; even though lead is extremely high in price, it has to be the B-H formula, because the guarantee that calls for it is printed right on the B-H cans. We could not cheapen B-H "English" Paint even if we wanted to. So it's your safe paint as to quality, your sure paint as to covering capacity, your dependable paint as to durability. Find the B-H dealer in your town. He's the man to buy from.

WRIGLEY'S

The universal military service gum—

A Soldier's offering to his sweetheart is naturally the sweetmeat that gave him most refreshment and greatest enjoyment when on duty.

The Flavour Lasts

more, and confided in Max her dread of seeing the maimed lodger face to face.

Summer had come. The chestnut trees along the Champs-Élysées had long ago blossomed and now stood in all their wealth of green; up and down the Seine streamed the crowded morning and the hordes of tourists on the Rue de Rivoli thronged happy tourists on great shopping expeditions, the Louvre too, overflowed with eager-eyed students, art lovers and peacemaking connoisseurs. Even the Avenue de l'Opéra groined with creaking cab wheels, moving pedestrians, sightseers and the insistent stream of street vendors. The titled, the rich, those for their health and those without health had all left Paris—still Max and Bett worked, played, lived and loved on, in this gay little Bohemia of their own making, and at home, their little Maryland home, fabulous checks "from those children" kept the small household together.

It was now June, throbbing fragrant green June—only Paris has it, only a dreamer can feel the delight of it. Max's invalid stood at the vine-covered balcony looking out toward the Isle de la Cité, just a glimpse here of Notre Dame's trim spires, a flash there of the new Hotel Dieu—a break between some house unfolded the bright colors of the flower market—such a glowing Paris, beautiful, turbulent, lovable.

He had grown used now to listen for Bett's hurried step on the landing, and listening, often smiled as he laugh rang through the house. He knew just where two early strands of hair ought to lay on Bett's forehead as she shook her head like a child to brush them back. He often wondered at Bett's unconsciousness of herself, her childish ways, and vague charm, he felt, he knew and envied Max his fair little companion.

Then, it all faded from his eyes—the spires, the red house tops, the slender trees, as he heard Bett's voice long before she came in the open door. "Isn't it too bad, mon ami, Max had gone away for the day, but he told me to come up and stay the whole time with you. Aren't you glad? Think of it. I am to amuse you, read to you, and if you're good perhaps I'll tell a little—well don't look so serious. Don't you think Max was lovely to spare me when I had just lots of work to do for him—so Bett talked on, hardly seeing the strange look on his face. For a long time she stood watching some chess in the street playing. Then she picked up some blossoms to throw across the room to tease him, but he had fallen asleep. It was only a pretended sleep to hide from her curious young eyes, the pain, the keenest pleasure he felt just to watch her roaming over the room, looking at his pictures, touching a book here and there, with that queer little raising of her eyebrows when she seemed surprised—it all meant to him what wounded his honor, weakened his self-respect to acknowledge—he was in love with Max's wife.

What was it Bett was saying as she turned from the window—hadn't been listening—she was talking of Maryland, her mother and father, the war, her little sister at school and Max (of course he thought)—great, brave, strong Max, whom she loved with all her heart, who had come across the ocean to put his talents to better use to return sometime, somewhat richer to keep the little Maryland home. Her brother? Could she have said that? She and her brother—God, how had he mistaken all this time; why hadn't he asked—what made him imagine them to be husband and wife, neither of them ever said so!

Bett was standing again by the window, leaning her head on two hands high on the sash. Tired of staying indoors she was wishing Max would come back. Looking out over the city, looking, but seeing nothing. She turned wearily to find her invalid standing beside her, his honest gray eyes looking straight into her soul, and as she looked back her eyes fell—for she knew.

DOCTORS A BIG WAR FACTOR

Army Surgeons Cut Death Rates to a Minimum, Disease Being Relegated to Background.

"The doctor has made this world struggle one of the least deadly ever fought in proportion to the numbers engaged. The spade is mightier than the shrapnel, the scalpel than the sword, the test tube than the trench mortar. Chlorine saves more lives as Dakin's fluid and bleaching powder than it destroys as poison gas," said Dr. Wood Hutchinson in a recent lecture at the Royal Society of Medicine, notes the London Globe.

Less than one-twentieth of the wastage of wars three years or more ago was due to wounds or death in battle; the other 95 per cent was caused by disease, epidemics and pestilence both in the field and at home.

In the armies themselves the ratio was six to nine deaths by disease to one in battle or from wounds. In this war the ratio has been sixteen deaths in battle to one from disease.

By wiping out epidemics the doctor has actually kept the death rate among the civil populations of the allied countries as low as, and in some cases lower than, it was before the war.

Rent Courts.

Rent courts, used for some years with growing success by German cities to protect tenants against unjust rent increases, have been introduced in Switzerland as a war measure. Every tenant is given the right to appeal to a commission, locally appointed, if he considers a demand for higher rent unjustified.

ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Hellam, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak. I had been treated by a physician without result, so I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am keeping house since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. E. R. CROWNING, R. No. 1, Hellam, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which gave me relief at once and restored my health. I should like to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies to all suffering women who are troubled in a similar way."—Mrs. ERIC HENR, R. No. 6, Box 81, Lowell, Mich.
