Grave Fears Entertained For Safety of Steamer Huronic After Big Storm on Lake Superior

All Efforts To Get In Touch With the Big Northern Navigation Boat by Wireless Have Failed-Is Now Thirty-Six Hours Overdue at the Soo.

OVER TWO HUNDRED PASSENGERS ON BOARD

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 22.—Grave fears are entertained I PRIVISION for the safety of the steamer Huronic, of the Northern Navigation Company, with a large complement of passengers.

She should have arrived at the Canadian Soo at 10 o'clock yesterday morning from Port Arthur, but no word has been received, although the vessel is equipped with wireless.

SUDDENLY CEASED.

What is regarded as a bad sign is the fact that the steamer Tionesta, of the Anchor Line, had just got into communication Probably Expects to Use Airwith her in Lake Superior when the messages suddenly ceased, and all efforts to get her again were unavailing. The vessel left Port Arthur on Saturday afternoon in the teeth of a gale which increased in force during the night.

ALL EFFORTS FAIL.

When she did not arrive yesterday morning, efforts were made to reach her by wireless, but the Tionesta had just got her Old Railwayman Points Out the when the message ceased.

Another attempt was made by the steamer Shenango, which was supposed to be in the immediate vicinity of the Huronic, but she could not get the latter by wireless, her call being answered by the Hamonic, which was a greater distance away.

A ROUGH PASSAGE.

The Manitoba arrived safely, but reported she had one of the worst passages she ever made.

The local wireless station reports that the last word heard from the Huronic was from the neighborhood of Jackfish Bay, the operator adding that if she is afloat her wireless must be disabled as her speed position is within easy wireless distance from

OVER 200 ON BOARD.

It is supposed there must be two hundred passengers on board. The rumor that the Hamonic had gone to her assistance against it was refuted this morning by the arrival of the latter vessel at Port Arthur at 10 a.m. with the report that she had not seen anything of the Huronic, nor had she been in communication.

Local ticket agents say that so far as they are aware, there are no Londoners on board the Huronic, although many Londoners have been taking advantage of the lake trips this season, and it is just possible that some may be returning on the missing boat. The local offices do not sell reservations for the return trip.

The electrification bylaw calls for an outlay of $706,000 upon equipment, rails, etc., all of which would be liable to depreciation.

The depreciable property, if the road is electrified, will, therefore, be valued at $871,000. A modest 5 per cent anqually for depreciation-or to be exact 31/2 per cent, for depreciation and 11/2 per cent. for contingencies-would require $43,550 a year.

went on, 320 delegates having presented their credentials. Important Matters.

The report of J. M. Waters, president of the congress, which will be considered by the congress, intimates at the outset that it deals with matters which arose in the House of Commons which relate to labor. It then says that 'measured in terms substantive, tangible, the legislation enacted on behalf of human life by promoting the welfare of the workers, with one or two exceptions, can be summed up in the word "nil," and such experience should teach the workers that no amount of work on the outside will ring results commensurate with the importance of the organized labor movement until labor itself sets to work to direct its forces intelligently to capture seats on the floor of the House, and, from the inside, influence the shaping of legislation proportionately to its numerical strength." Only Four Survived.

The report then points out that: "Of he twelve bills or amendments to bills, ntroduced to those directly affecting labor, only four survived the ordeal of passage through both branches of he Legislature.

"They were: 1. I. C. R. act, providing for the payment of the total sum ontributed by any employee to the provident fund in the event of his being discharged for political partisan-Increases Made. Continuing the report says: "It is gratifying to state that in almost every department of the Government, material increases have been made to the rates of wages paid department of works, including employees in and around the parliament buildings; the postoffice L. C. R. are to be congratulated in securing a shortening of the work day from ten to nine hours, with, on the whole, a slight increase in the rates of wages per day."

The report then gives a resume of the operation of the industrial disputes act since its introduction in 1907. It says: "In all, 145 applications have been received in this six-year period for the establishment of boards of conciliation and investigation under the act, as a result of which 127 boards were established. In the eighteen cases remaining, the matters in dispute were adjusted by mutual agreement, whilst steps for the establishment of boards were pending. Pensions For Mothers. Referring to the work of Mrs. R. The pensions should also apply where the mother has been deserted or has an invalid husband.

The matter of withdrawing opposition to the legislation for securing fortnightly payment of wages on railroads, the president stated had been considered by dent stated had been considered by the executive board, and it will be submitted to the congress by Mr. Hall.

LABOR AGITATOR

Tom Mann Tried to Belittle the King of England at Windsor.

CHAIRMAN SANG ANTHEM

Speaker Derided the Church and the Laws Made by the Government.

Windsor, Sept. 21 .- Tom Mann, the English labor agitator, left the speaker's platform in the Windsor Athletic Club in disgust last night as John R. Mason, president of the Trades and Labor Council, sang "God Save the King." Mason's song followed a revolutionary speech by Mann, in which he characterized laws as the work of "dirty" governments, derided the church, belittled the King of Britain and defied the Canadian police to arrest him for his inflammatory utterances. Mann was invited to speak to the workingmen of Windsor by the unions of the city.

Mann's Views.

"I believe." he said. "that those who work, those who create wealth, should control their own energies, work for their own profit, and own the means of production and distribution.' He was especially bitter toward politicians and governments, who, he declared, were controlled by the capitalistic class. The speaker as he progressed in his emarks became alternately bitter and scornful, particularly towards what he called the "freedom of Americans."

Poor Conditions. "I came to this great America, and found men in steel mills working seven shifts of twelve hours each per week. In that twelve hours they got one hour respite, and all for a wage of $1.90 per day."

"What about King George?" asked voice from the audience. "You people over here," replied the speaker, "place too much importance in King George. He is of about as much importance as the President of the United States, the Czar of Russia or the Emperor of Germany. He

"The capitalists rule these nations, and there is no reason for it. The workingmen have more power, if they wanted to exert it, than all these potentates. Give us a two-weeks' strike on the railroads, with all employees joining solidly in the strike, and the

Mystery in Death of Miss E. Franks

Madoc, Ont., Sept. 21.-Seventeenyear-old Ella Franks, living with her parents about three miles north of Madoc Village, was found last evening dead in the pantry, having been shot drough the neck. Her father and mother were on their way to Millbridge, when the news reached them. The daughter and an adopted boy, Eddie, aged about 15, were left at nome. The boy cannot now be found and a gun is missing from the house. It is supposed that the boy committed he crime and skipped out. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Fine Fruit Crop in Forest District

Recent Frosts Did Little Damage -Packers Are Very Busy.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Forest, Sept. 22.-The recent frosts, which did so much damage in other fruit districts, caused little, if any, huri to fruit or vegetables in this district. Large quantities of tomatoes and corr are being received at the canning factory daily.

Peaches are an abundant crop, large size and of an excellent quality. Luscious pears of fine quality are being picked, and they are about as plentiful as peaches. Apples are about the only scarce fruit this season, and the season for evaporating will be unusually short. Last year the two evaporators in Forest and several neighboring ones were kept busy from early fall to almost Christmas, and thousands of barrels of green apples were packed, while large quantities simply went to waste.

Tomatoes shopped from Forest by the basket are being sold in Winnipeg, and former residents of this district now residing in the western city are delighted at being able to procure

COMPLETE SET OF IRISH LINEN MANUFACTURERS' SAMPLES AT ABOUT A THIRD OFF

Over 700 pieces—the entire range of Ireland Bros., of Belfast, makers of the famous Fleur-de-Lis Brand Linens, which are carried exclusively at this store. The representative of this firm, having finished his trip for this season, emptied his trunks in our sample room, and returned them to Ireland. We bought the entire lot at a discount of about 33 1-3 per cent all round. Just imagine—you will have the choice of this great maker's stock of linens shown for next season now at above discount. Of course you won't find dozens or half dozens in any line. Single pieces only (samples), but perfect, full-size pieces in all lines, except in the napkins, which have been pierced with brads through one side to hold them together in one package, but these are priced accordingly.

We cannot enumerate all in an assortment such as this with only one of each, but we have grouped a quantity of them to enable mail order customers who send orders at once to get their

Sample Table Cloths, Scarts, Doilies, Trays, Table Napkins, Pillow Slips, Shams, Spreads, Bolster Covers, Tea Cloths, Centres, Lunch Napkins

These include both plain and fancy lines. Many hand-embroidered and hand-made pieces, also real Irish lacetrimmed pieces, affording an exceptional opportunity to secure pretty, odd pieces for gifts (Christmas is coming) or for your own special use. Dozens of pieces in these samples you would scarcely ever see, except in the makers' samples, as it would be impossible to stock all lines made, even from one manufacturer.

Most Beautiful Work

This assortment contains many exquisite pieces of hand-embroidered and hand-made lace work, such as will be highly prized by the possessor of same and envied by all who see them. We have never been able to show such a collection of pretty things in fancy linens of such high-grade quality.

It will be the regret of any woman who loves dainty linens to see these pretty pieces, after the sale is over, in the home of her friends, and the opportunity to secure them past. Even at regular prices it would be a privilege to choose from such a collection as this, but tomorrow a thirdoff regular prices. Remember all are samples, one only of each. Early buyers will have best choice. None sold before Tuesday morning at 8:30.

GLUT OF FRUIT

Peaches and Pears Almost Given Away at Hamilton,

[Canadian Press.] Hamilton, Sept. 20 .- A glut of fruit on Central market today resulted in prices being shattered. It was estimated that 30,000 baskets of plums, peaches, pears, and apples were offered for sale. The farmers were unable to fix any prices as a result, and choice fruit was almost given away. The growers say that they are unable to ship the stuff east because commission agents are already fover-supplied and refuse to handle any more.

About ten o'clock he strolled toward the Waverton place, using a woodland path which gave a short cut over a hill avoided by the road. From the top of the hill he could survey nearly the whole of the park, with its lawns and woods sloping down to Lake Champlain, and, sitting on a tree-stump, he watched a

He hurried down to the road, and waited nearly twenty minutes before the victoria rumbled back toward Saginaw.

"Ho! Are you passing O'Hara's?" cried Clancy. "O'Hara's" was the name of the

"Yes, sir; jump in," said the driver; for by this time everyone in Saginaw had seen or heard of Monsleur Brun.

"No, no. I jump up—so," and Clancy was on the box. Within a minute he had was on the box. Within a minute he had ascertained that the vehicle had brought from the railway station no less a person than Mrs. Waverton, "an' the poor thing divorced, an' all!" grinned the man.

"Most likely, str."
It was, indeed, more than likely. Clancy was very angry with Doris Waverton.
She was on the boards at least five hours too soon, and such a contretemps would annoy the most phlegmatic of dramatists et alone a mercurial playwright like the detective. In very truth her arrival at The Dene In very truth her arrival at The Dene had wrought something akin to consternation. When she alighted from the victoria, and waited for a few seconds to consult her watch and speak to the driver, a distressed footman had hastily summoned Rice, who was regarded by the household as Waverton's deputy in matters that could not be decided without instructions.

So the valet was just in time to hurry So the valet was just in time to hurry forward and greet his mistress as she entered the hall. He noticed that she was dressed in black, and was instanly aware of a composure of manner and perceptible stiffening of demeanor toward himself that were markedly absent during their last meeting. In fact, Doris was now con-vinced that Rice was a party to the fraud rried out by his employer, and the "Is Mr. Waverton at home?" she demanded coldly, and Rice fancied she placed a sarcastic emphasis on the name.

"He is motoring about the grounds, na'am," said Rice. "Kindly send for him, or go yourself. "Kindly send for him, or go yourself, and tell him he must come at once. I shall wait for him in the library."

Without vouchsafing another word of explanation, she crossed the hall. Her glance fell on her own portrait, smiling from the landing, and, by curious chance, the first object her eyes found in the library was a photograph of herself, placd on a writing-table near a window

"What a poser the man is," she hought. "I suppose he imagines now that the role of a regretful husband is a good one to adopt." Nevertheless, her smooth brow was uffled by discovering the portrait on a able that was obviously in regular use y the wretch who had usurped the name and place of Claude Waverton. More-wer, her recollection of him—be it renembered she had seen him only once, by light, and in the stress of a deep emo-lon, for the casual glimpse obtained at Narragansett Pier hardly counted—did not unite accord with her present theory. Her thoughts flew back to that remark able meeting, and her pale face crimsone for a moment as she recolled the loverilk way in which her "husband" had carrie ter in his arms. Oh, the incredible imper-inence of the man! She almost wished the had not yielded to impulse, and had abeyed the behests of that imperious little tetective, who had impressed on her the great importance of not presenting herself before half-past three or four o'clock

He did not hesitate, but turned the handle of the door quietly. As quietly he closed the door behind him, and, after glancing at Doris, peered round the room to see if she was alone. She was sitting with her back to the window, and looked at him with strange intentness as he drew near; but she did not rise, and for a moment there was a strained silence. Then Waverton, who seemed to be really the more self-possessed of the two, halted in front of the table on which stood the photograph. It might have been chance, but he could not bave chosen any other position where he would be less exposed to a brilliant light, and he smiled lightly to a brilliant light, and he smiled lightly as he met the woman's searching, indignant and somewhat amazed scrutiny.
"I have been told that you had sent for me," he said. "May I ask to what is due the honor of this visit?"

The astounding impudence of the man was heinful. It served to strengthen a resolution that never very pronounced, was rapidly weakening under the subtle influence of environment; so Doris pulled herself together and tackled a disagree-

Entries Increased at Ingersoll Fair

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Sept. 22.—Although the wet weather on both days caused a shrinkage in the attendance in comparison with what was expected, it is generally conceded that improvements were quite noticeable in the Ingersoll Fair in several respects.

In the cattle, ladles' and chicken departments, there was a big increase in the entries, and the number of people who turned out to the fair under wretched weather conditions was a criterion of what would have been the attendance under favorable conditions. The society will still strive to bring the fair up to the highest standard, and with fine weather another year expect to find the event more profitable. Rev. Its oven is evenly heated in every corner to insure deliciously dainty cakes, golden brown biscuits, and light flaky pastry. A special Divided Flue carries the heat to every hole on the range. The nickle trimming is removable thus proving a great convenience for keeping the range bright and clean.

But most important is the Economizer. It is a small lever that moves around a series of six notches giving the exact degree of heat required for any particular dish. The heat of the range can be shut off and the kitchen kept cool between meals by turning the lever to a certain number.

The fire is held at a low ebb (on a special Reversible Grate until a baking oven is required. Then the necessary heat can be obtained quickly by simply turning the Economizer lever to another notch.

Such control as this enables many smart women to invent some very tempting dishes which they set triumphantly before their friends. It will pay you to investigate the Gurney-Oxford.

EAST MIDDLESEX.

The Liberals of East Middlesex are to be congratulated on their decision to contest the riding, and on their choice

The convention was large and enthusiastic; there were no personal rivalries, no disputed ballots, no wranglings. The nomination of Mr. no merely formal sense. Good will and harmony prevailed.

Mr. Fisher is a native of London Township, a son of the soil. He still makes it his home for a considerable part of the year, and retains a practical interest in agriculture. His abil-Ity, personal qualities and familiarity with the riding, make him an admirable standard-bearer, one who will acquit himself with credit on the platform and in the canvass. Moderation, argument, and above-board methods will mark his campaign.

On the naval question, Mr. Fisher takes the Canadian point of view, which is also the soundest imperialism. Upon the proposal to make a money contribution of $35,000,000 to be spent outside the country for ships over which Canada would have no control, Mr. Fisher demands that the country be consulted by means of a general election. Like all Liberals, he would abide by the result.

It is understood that Mr. Fisher will take strong ground against trust No class suffers from these so much as the farmers. The prey of the old-time trade union methods. The growth of trusts and combines in recent years in Canada has been so startling as to challenge the attention of thinking Canadians of all parties. Is this an issue that Mr. Glass is prepared to face as resolutely as Mr. Fisher? If not, East Middlesex Conservatives should not allow the claims of party to outweigh his silence on this

It will be interesting to note the response to Mr. Fisher's plea for an election free from suspicious methods. One guarantee of this would be the absence of outside machine workers. Mr. Fisher would prefer that the campaign the mercy of the non-property-owning be conducted wholly by Mr. Glass and masses. himself, with only local assistance, It is to be hoped Mr. Glass will join him in discouraging outside interference.

A parliamentary committee has been working for some time on the whole rural question, and its report is to be published about the time of Mr. Lloyd George's opening speech at Bedford next month. A forecast of the report which seems to be accepted as pretty accurate, declares that the committee, whose advice will be the foundation of the Government's bill, will recommend as follows regarding rural land holding and labor:

1. A widespread system of small holdings, cultivated by tenant occupiers holding the land at fair rents with security and fixity of tenure.

2. The system to be safeguarded by he establishment of land courts with judicial powers. 3. The establishment of wages poards to adjust wages according to local conditions.

4. The readjustment of hours of labor and more frequent holidays. As to (1), the effect of the Irish land cts has been to warn against small freeholds as compared with fair and fixed rentals. State-provided capita inflates the values of land to the sellr's advantage and the disadvantage of the small proprietor, who would R. G. Fisher was made unanimous in rather have his capital as much as Impatient and distrustful of the Socialism, the syndicalists declare for 'direct action," by which they mean the direct control of each industry or other interest by the workers themselves. Thus when the hour of revolution struck, the railway employees would seize and operate the railways, the miners the mines, the factory operatives the factories, and so on through the whole range of production and distribution. The revolution is to be effected by a general strike, which would reduce the employing classes to a state of paralysis and leave all property at

JOSHING COLONEL SAM.

Here we find Col. Hughes put on he track of a great idea. Let us hope hat he will pursue it. A former cabinet minister came in for much censure at the hands of our political perfervids because he said that the people of the west wanted box cars, not battleships. organized labor as by the capitalists We may be sure that public men will hesitate before speaking that truth Of course, everybody knows that the western grain grower is more interested in box cars than in low-moving parliamentary process of battleships, just as the eastern workman is more interested in wages than in warships, and just as the capitalist, east and west, is more interested

Yet we must not blink facts. Possibly if the Dominion Government set out to build grain elevators all over west, where the need of them is evident, there would be loud protests against expenditures of so large a size to serve local needs. But Col. Hughes evidently encounters little resistance in his proposal to erect drillsheds all over the Dominion. You see, this is a military expenditure, and is for the general good of the nation, Or if you do not see it. Col. Hughes sees it for you and that answers the purpose. But why should he not give a practical turn to his militarist designs? not dot the west with buildings that will be drillsheds and grain elevators ombined? The expenditure could be defended, not on the vulgar ground that the storing of grain would be a material boon to the farmers of the west-for the age is so materialistic now as to grieve many-but it could be defended on the higher military grounds as a means whereby an imperial food supply could be garnered and held ready against emergency. There's millions in it. If the grain growers and the colonels of Canada, can be got together they could work

Everybody has hated school and onged for mystic realms conquerable in the dreams of childhood, with allies and enemies stolen from story books, and long delayed as the actual journey there and indulged us in the real

It was almost as real to the with handkerchiefs when Peter prayed or the life of the fairy, or separated from her "Mother," or stood solitary upon the treetops and sent Wendy back earthwards on her broom. What a whimsical genius is Barrie! A man without chick nor child, yet he knows the juvenile heart, its yearnings and its aspirations. The child nature is to explore and to conquer, to confront and to fear and be brave-and to very much want a mother, and yet when it has her to care not so much and to forget her at times.

Maude Adams was born to bring the purity of soul into life and to attract her ideals. She bears what really amounts to a great burden in her unending chatter and her gay skippings about the stage. Her company is one of class. Her children are just wonderful and her pirates are really a creation. Robert Peyton Carter, who assumes two roles, and exhibits rare discussion of the present overcrowding versatility, was Captain Hook to the ife, as he is known in all pirate tales. The production was seen by large audiences, as befitted the occasion,

"Mother Stuart," Best Bread Baker in Ohio, Tells How to Make Good Bread.

EDITOR'S NOTE,-Mrs. Stuart has just won the bread-baking prize at the Ohio state fair. She is 70 years old, and lives on a farm She has a reputation as a fine all-around cook. After getting her blue ribbon, she drove home alone-45 miles. BY MRS. MARY STUART. It takes years of experimenting to make a good bread baker. Lots of wo-en using the same recipe and following the same general method don't get the same results at all. But that's because they don't do it EXACTLY

If the recipe is good, all you've got to do is to experiment till you learn just how to apply it, and then baking good bread will become second nature to you. I don't think I could spoil a batch of bread if I tried. Here's the way I make it. To make five loaves, I peel three small potatoes and boil them in about two quarts of water with a tablespoonful of salt, one of sugar and one of flour. When the potatoes are cooked, I mash them very fine, and when the mixture is blood-warm I break a cake of yeast

in it.
I let this stand over night. Next morning I mix it with the flour, and let the dough stand till it has doubled size. Then I knead it stiff and place it in the pans.

I don't set any special time for baking the loaves-I just bake them

Now, it stands to reason that any other woman who goes at it intelliently can learn by this method, to bake just as good bread as I can. But takes patience and careful observation, so you can know just what your stakes have been, and avoid them next time, It may take several years-but when you finally learn the secret, you've got it for your whole lifetime. has more than 250,000 members.

GIANTS BROKE EVEN Dunlap Loomed Up ORGANIZATION NEXT YEAR WITHTINKER'S REDS Like Real Big Leaguer

Cincinnati Captured the First big leaguer on Saturday, when he played for Cleveland against the New York Yankees in New York. Dunny had a perfect day with the willow and in the ield. At bat, he got two hits in two times up, and scored one run. At shortstop he had two putouts and two assists without an error.

Dunlop got his first hit in the sixth inning. It was a clean single to the outfield, but two were out at the time and none on bases, so Dunny was forced at second on Jackson's grounder. His second hit came in the eighth nning. With one down, Dunlop singled again to the outfield, Joe Jackson then followed with a single, and Brady, another recruit, also hit safely, scoring Dunlop. A feature of Dunlop's performance was the fact that he was the only player on the Cleveland team to get two hits, and have a perfect day at bat. The New York Sun, in writing up the game, has the following to say about the former London player:

"Realizing that they could not overcome the New Yorks' lead the Naps tried out several youngsters. Dunlop, who was obtained from the London Ont., club, succeeded Chapman at short field and loomed up like a real big eaguer. Brady, from Toledo, took Lajoie's place at the keystone sack, and did good work, while Krueger, another Toledo recruit, relieved Steve O'Neil be aind the bat."

Frank Chance Is Anxious For Teams To Meet Next Spring Before the Season Opens.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Sept. 22.—If Manager John McGraw, of the New York Nationals, is willing there will be a series of games at the Polo grounds here between the Giants and the New York Americans next spring before the championship season begins. So says Manager Frank Chance of the Yankees. Chance would like to play the Giants five games, after both New York teams have trained in Texas. It is probable that the series will hang fire until Mc-Graw returns home this week and talks it over with President Hemp-stead. President Farrell, of the Yankees, declares that he hopes a series can be arranged.

TOM L. HAYGARTH says:

"A gold brick always looks good. It has to. Its superficial appearance is its sole virtue.

"I am perfectly willing to admit that I am out-promised every day—with all the eloquence that hands and feet can add to speech, by heck!

"With Semi-ready Tailoring, performance squares with promise-always.

"After all the man who is taken in is always put out; and when a man is weak twice in the same spot, then he's sure to come to the less servile but more serviceable store—

A POWERFUL SERMON

Purpose of Christianity in the World Is To Relieve Distress.

"I cannot understand the view of one who looks out over the world and says all is right with the world," said Of the horses that tried to head off Baden last year, Marigold is the only one that has been at the top of a summary tor of the First Presbyterian Church, tor of the First Presbyterian Church, n his sermon Sunday evening. very superficial glance may enable one to say that, but a closer, more areful view will disclose very much hat is wrong. If we have human nearts and human sympathies we cannot fail to hear the cry of the world's needs. But at times we are altogether oo respectable. If we have enough o eat, a little luxury and comfort ourselves, we are often forgetful of the slaves who bend beneath the burler of toil. We should have greater sympathy for those who suffer injustice, and bear unfair burdens in human interests If the church will take an active interest in the toiling world t will offer in Christianity the thing that will solve the world's vexing to "go in and possess the land." problems. We need to get away from out respectability and culture a little lest we are too forgetful of the needs of our fellowmen. of our fellowmen.

An Eloquent Speaker.

Rev. Mr. Knox, who is an eloquent and impassioned speaker, preached his first sermon as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. He speaks rapidly and clearly, and crowded congregations listened to him with close and appreciative attention at both serand appreciative attention at both services. Earnestness of purpose characterizes both his words and manner, and with the quite evident interest in social service which he displayed in his Sunday evening sermon, his acquisition to the ministerial ranks of the city at a time when the Men's Federation and allied organizations are contemplating a vigorous social service campaign, is parigorous social service campaign, is parcularly fortunate and encouraging.

Rev. Mr. Knox selected the text for his evening sermon from St. Luke vii., 19: "And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, t thou he that should come, or look for another?" John, with beautiful humility," said Mr. Knox, "saw Jesus coming and said: some power mightier than we. God 'Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.' John felt he had not all of the truth. and yet he away the sin of the world.' he had not all of the truth, had the heart of it. Still, godless men were in places of authority, still, wrong triumphed and injustice reigned. This is the question that has been asked all

"Jesus and John.
"Jesus did not rebuke John, but told them to go back and tell him what things they had seen and heard; 'how the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor tife gospel is preached.' John suffered an eclipse of faith, but Jesus did not rebuke him for it. So should we not accuse the world of lack of faith today because the world is asking christianity, 'Art thou the solution of 'he world's problems?' How often the church has injured herself by assuming the position of infallibility. The church has very often acted very different to the way Christ acted towards the ent to the way Christ acted towards the questioner. If we have faith in Chrisquestioner. If we have faith in Christianity, we ought to court rather than rebuke Christianity. The real essence of Christianity is unhurt by questioning. To those who have questioned in all ages, we are really indebted for Christianity as we hold it today, that is for the real essence of Christianity, which is the power of Christ to solve the world's needs. Real Christianity has been made clearer by the questioning of the ages.

Christlanity's Purpose. "Jesus told them to tell John 'the lame walk, the sick recover, the poor have the gospel preached to them.' Christianity is in the world for a specific purpose. It is a solace to those who have been cheated in life and defrauded of what they justly deserve. Christianity can demonstrate its finality, that it is the thing the world needs, by doing this, by relieving the distress of the world. Unless it can do this, it is not what the less it can do this, it is not what the world needs. Christianity is a larger thing than the church. It is the power of God unto salvation in human life. It is a far bigger thing than the church. The church is a means to an end.
"Does Christianity relieve distress?
Does it preach good tidings to the poor? In the picture of the final judgment, those who housed the homeless, visited the sick and ministered unto them. lothed the naked and filled the comcomplace needs of men, were blessed by

God."
"Ministry to one's fellowmen, Rev. Mr. "Ministry to one's fellowmen, Rev. Mr. Knox held up as the ethics and ideal of Christianity. Wilberforce, Lincoln and Florence Nightingale had been inspired by Christianity. Christianity is a finality because it inspires men to better conditions, and is responsible for the better schools and institutions that are common today, and has done more than anything else to ampliorate the condianything else to ameliorate the conditions of mankind.

AND THE SACRAMENT

Father Hanlon Preaches on the Refusal of Men To Accept God's Invitation.

"For many are called but few are chosen" was the text chosen by Rev. Father Hanlen for his sermon at St. Michael's Church Sunday morning. He le who stay at home and refuse to end church or the sacrament, "There are many who have not the ourage of true faith to answer the call, and who are perishing on account of that," said he. "But we, who are taught and know better, should make all haste respond. "During our life we receive nany invitations from God and the Hely shost, but many of us refuse to accept hem. Many of us are called to a life of nappiness, but there are thousands of souls who have no knowledge of God or is goodness of being redeemed by his acrifices or of the forgiveness of sin But we who have that knowledge should be truly thankful that God has given it to us, and should respond to his call.

Large congregations attended morning and evening services in press Avenue Methodist Church terday, it being the occasion of Epworth League anniversary.

H. J. Uren, of Parkhill, was darkest trouble we wish to be entirely alone to battle with whatever causes the anguish."

The pastor then described Christ returning to his disciples and finding them turning to his disciples and finding them the saleep, even when they had promised to watch with them. While they rested he faced his duty and came out victorious. H. J. Uren, of Parkhill, was the preacher at each service. In the morning Mr. Uren chose for his text part of verses 30 and 31, in the thirteenth chapter of Numbers 'We are well able; we be not able.' Mr. Uren commented on the opposite attitudes taken by two sections of the Israelites in regard to their ability

"In spite of all God had done for them in leading them from Egypt, in spite of his power and majesty, as re ealed on Mount Sinai, yet they fai understand their high calling. This ne party can see nothing but diffiulties. They forget God Honored by God. "We are apt to feel quite a bit above hese people, but it is not true that we are standing much in the same place, both as individuals and as a Have we got to the same place in Canada today? Have we not a mis sion of going forward, with God's help and accomplishing something? I we in Canada are only existing fo ourselves, we shall drift back into heathen condition and be devoured

"Is Canada going to minister those strangers who come within her is the question that has been asked all down the ages. The heart of the world has been crying out, 'Art thou the satisfaction of the world's needs, or must we still look for another power, or a new religion that will set aside Christianity as the thing the world needs? Must the world still look on injustice, or art thou the coming one?'

Jestie and the gates? Do the Christian people of Canada say 'there are mighty problems, but we are able?' Will the church in Canada say that? We want true Joshuas and true Calebs in our nation today. We must leaven with the good leaven that new element, or it will corrupt us and destroy our high standard. We are able?' church in Canada say that? We want during the past week, addressed it will corrupt us and destroy our high 4 o'clock, on the "Fiery Blight."

At night Mr. Uren's sermon was based on the words "Seek ye first the kingdom of heaven." He also addressed the Sunday school in the after-

LOVE OF MAN SHOULD BE TRAINED UPWARD

Address To Young People By Pastor of First Methodist

"God gives to us the power to love, out it remains with ourselves to train that love-whether we will train it up and up to the higher things, or whether we will train it down to the lower levels," said Rev. Dr. Flanders at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, in an able sermon directed especially to the young people. "Some-times," he continued, "we see motherlove trained down and down until a poodle-dog becomes its objective. Our divorce courts teach us that the mother-love can be brought down almost to the vanishing point. But the love of Jesus Christ, working from within the heart outwards, transforms success, the speaker declared, and beautifies the whole life."

Dr. Flanders spoke from St. Paul's words, "Set your affections on things above, not on things of the earth," and above, not on things of the earth," and stated in commencing his sermon that he had prepared it especially for the young men and women, who were face to face with the future, and many of whom were honestly wondering "How can I make the best of myself?" The subject of his discourse had been suggested, he said, by a question asked him during the week as to how it was possible to set the affections on things above. For answer, he analyzed in his discourse the meaning and power of discourse the meaning and power of ove, and how a life is influenced by the objective on which its love is fixed.

"Whenever a young man pledges his love to a young woman, he may well ask of her: 'Are you going to make me or break me?' he said. According to the worthiness of the object upon which the worthiness of the object upon which the affection is bestowed, the life would be influenced for good or evil, he averred. If the heart's love were set on Jesus Christ, the whole life would be lifted out of the lower and commonplace things of the world, and would be set on things above.

The Set of the Soul.

In concluding, Dr. Flanders laid stress upon the importance of the word "set" in the text. It was meant not only in

Pastor of Askin Street Church Points Out the Cause of Life's Failures.

'The Deepest Shade' was the subject an inspiring discourse by Rev. W. H. grey in Askin Street Methodist Church Harvey in Askin Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning. The pastor spoke of the strange pregnancy of the Gospel, dwelling on the vastness of meaning implied by one little word or phrase in the writings of the Bible.

He described graphically how, after the Feast of the Passover, Jesus and his disciples went up into the Mount of Olives; how when his sorrow seemed too great to bear, he had hade Peter and the great to bear, he had bade Peter and the two sons of Zebedee remain behind while Anniversary Services of Empress he went to a secluded nook to pray for strength to bear the trials of the ensuing hours.

The Lone Battle. The Lone Battle.

"It is true of life," said the pastor,

"that in all serious aspects of our existence we prefer to be alone. In times of darkest trouble we wish to be entirely faced his duty and came out victorious.

"Christ did not falter; instead 'he went on a little farther.' He took the final on a little farther. He took the final step; the step that might have changed his life, though he well knew the ending which was to follow."

The Final Step. The Final Step.

Mr. Harvey then considered the importance of this final step in the lives of men today, saying that therein lay the infinite contrast between men of importance and men of ordinary calibre. Men of position concentrate their energies on the particular thing. Nothing is over centration that is responsible for busi-ness failures also applies to Christianity. Many men inspect religion in the same thoughtless and half curious manner, with

"What keeps many men away from God is because they do not take that necessary final step in the right direction. Christ went a little farther and found God in the gloom. In the darkness he found the meaning of light."

The speaker proved conclusively by convincing statistics that of people perishing from heat and cold, the greater percentage were drunkards.

Another argument which is often advanced by drinking men is that beer is a strengthening agent, a builder up of the body, and a tonic yes, I'd like to sell that old plane. We haven't any use for it, and it does take

"Well, there are lots of people who would be willing to buy it if they knew it was for sale. Why don't you write a little ad. and put it in the

"Me write an ad.? Why, I don't know how. I wouldn't know how to begin.'

The above conversation is purely and wholly imaginative. Yet I believe it has a counterpart in real life, right in this city, many times a year.

I claim that the right sort of a Want Ad. will sell that old piano, or anything else that is salable. And the right sort of Want Ad. isn't at all hard to "get up." You say in print just about what you'd say to a prospective purchaser face to face. You might say it this way:

> OUR OLD SQUARE PIANO TAKES UP room that we have other use for, so we'll sell it quite cheap. It's a Steinway, in good order, with fine tone. Come, see it, and make an offer. Mrs. X., Advertiser office.

Now, there isn't anything very wonderful about that ad., is there? No mystery, no claptrap. Just a plain statement of what you have for sale, why and where,

That is all there is to Want Ad. advertising-except that the ad. be inserted in a good newspaper. Then it is practically certain to get results.

SLEEP

During sleep the necessary body-repairs are carried on in the "human workshop."

Anything that prevents sound sleep at the proper time (at night) will sooner or later prevent "smooth running" during the day.

That "drowsy feeling" in the forenoon (when everyone should feel bright and fit) is often caused by want of sound, refreshing sleep the night before.

Very often the habitual use of tea and coffee is back of sleepless nights.

The speaker showed by historical illurations that self-abnegation was at the oundations of all great lives, and the enouncing of self was necessary to su ess in all undertakings. He held to the idea that the self-seeking life was failure, no matter how great the ment endowment might be, or how grand ar oromising were the opportunities on up to such a life. Every great life has had its beginning at the foot of the cross. There the inspiration was drawn for lofty thought and noble action, and that inspiration was like a magnet of power to draw the one thus endued away from self and the grovelling things earth to factors of eternal worth and infinite possibilities.

Throughout, the attention given the delivery of the message was marked by many expressions of deep appreciation, as was also manifest in the after meetng by a zealous and prompt response to he request of the leaders for testi-nonies. The Sunday services recorded

Not as a prisoner. Oh, no! He was prought up to arrange ball for the 17 Chinamen arrested on charges of gambling and having oplum in their possession.

When the men were hustled into the police station a crowd of their friends hurried around and tried to arrange bail for them. This was impossible, until the magistrate had been municated with. He had retired for the night and had to be roused by telephone before he was aware of the raid. Then arose the question of getting him into the city from his home, which is several miles from the police station. He could not walk. The night was cold, the roads rough, and the magistrate's shoes thin, so someone suggested that the patrol be sent for him. He was willing. The journey after him and back to the police station was made in 17 minutes, and the Chinamen were released on bail and the magistrate back in his home in a little more than 31 minutes.

Transfer To the Newly-Installed Switchboard Made on Saturday.

The Interesting and Intricate "Cutover" Operation Made Without a Hitch.

For three seconds on Saturday afernoon every telephone in London was out of commission, a condition of affairs which has not occurred for something like fifteen years, and which is not likely to occur again for as many years more.

At the end of that extremely short space of time, every telephone line, with the exception of the long-distance lines, which runs into the central office of the Bell Telephone Company on Park avenue, had been transferred to the newly-installed switchboard in the new building.

"Cut-Over" Operation. It was what is known among telehone men as the "cut-over," an operation which on account of its rarity s an event of unusual interest, and because of the danger of a spread tie-up in telephone service, should anything go wrong, is also the occasion of much anxiety on the part of the engineers in charge. Saturday's vent at the local office of the Bell went off without a hitch. The breathless anxiety of the three seconds during which the "cut" was being made was rewarded by the sight of flashing lights on the new board, showing that subcribers were in touch with "central"

again. To one ignorant of the coming event here was little about the "operating" room to excite comment. "Number: number!" "Lines busy," etc., came in regular monotone from the long row of operators seated at the old local

But in the room below, how different was the scene. Engineers, electricians and mechanics moved hither and thither, examining, consulting, advising, all bent on insuring the fect working of the myriad maze of wires before them. There was a suppressed air of excitement, for not one error in construction. And so they worked, testing, testing, everywhere.

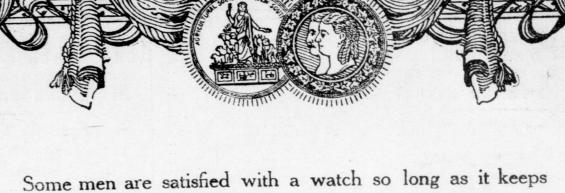

The New Switchboard. On the next floor stood the new switchboard-a thing of beauty and perfection in construction, but lacking that subtle current of electricity, which coursing through the thousands of wires which interlaced themselves through its interior like the venous system in the human body, was to give life. The "cut-over" was set for 5 o'clock At that hour a little knot of officials gathered in the room to which a number of spectators had also been admitted. Presently, from the old exchange trooped in the operators, who were henceforth to "pull plugs" on the new poard. They took their places and Four electricians also took waited. up stations at the end of the board to 'pull coils," meaning that they were to pull out at exactly the right moment Mr. Sage had deposited many mil he thousands of little metal plugs which held the various lines in the city in touch with the old board. A New Head. Facing a marble slab in the room below stood Mr. F. W. Beedle, chief engineer of the power plant. With him rested the responsibility of throwing he switch, which was to turn the current into the new board. At exactly minutes and 30 seconds after o'clock all was pronounced to be in readiness, and he turned on the cur-
