MODERN LIGHT PLANT

Chatham Gas Co. Have Installed the Very Latest Machinery

Can Supply Incandescent Arc Lighting and Power Current

During the past few months the Chatham Gas Company have been making vast improvements to their electric light plant. New and up-to-date machinery and equipment has been installed in all the departments, and the engine rooms and the power house, as they now stand, almost completed, are well worth taking the trouble to visit. It is in Chatham or within miles of here which contains so much modern machinery, or is so well appointed on the allocation of all its various departments.

Yesterday afternoon a Planet reporter was taken over the entire plant by Manager P. H. Coats, and gentleman, with his customary and kindly courtesy, explained the workings of the various gigantic and costly machines used in the generation of power for lighting and motor power purposes.

The reporter was first shown through the boiler room, which is 55 feet by 65 feet in dimensions. The building in which the boilers are located was built specially for this purpose, is fireproof, with brick walls and a metallic roof. In it there are three boilers of 150 H. P. each, the product of Park Bros Foundry, of this city. Each of these boilers is fitted out with a Murphy stoker, which may be called into service at any time that coal might be used for firing. These stokers have fuel and prevent the smoke nuisance. Only two of these large boilers are being used at the present time, and they are heated with natural gas. The third is for use in case of an increase of business, and can be called into service on any case of emergency. The boiler room is so arranged that an addition of boilers can be easily added to the present plant almost indefinitely. All the boilers are fitted with the latest valves, appliances, fittings, etc. The boilers are now entirely dependant on the brickwork for support, but are suspended from a steel beam which is supported on two pillars of the same material. The rear of the boiler room is a hot water well, built of brick and cement, in which water from the jackets of the gas engines and from the condenser flows, and is held at a temperature of 150 degrees all the time. This water is brought from the well to the Cochran heater, where it is purified and further heated to a temperature of 210 degrees by exhaust steam from the steam pumps. It is then pumped into the boilers, where an additional temperature of two degrees only is necessary for the generation of steam. The average reader can readily understand the immense saving which this economical appliance means.

The immense smokestack, which towers cloudwards outside the auxiliary department, is 125 feet high and six feet in diameter. It is built of reinforced concrete and has a capacity of 100 H. P. draft. The electric sign in this chimney, which has been widely admired by all who have viewed it, is a unique novelty as well as being a most useful advertising medium. At present it bears the words, "The Maple City," but it is interchangeable, and any variety of letters can be run up on very short notice. The letters are held in place by means of steel cables.

The duplicate pumps in the boiler room furnish the firm with fire protection as well as a factory service, independent of the city waterworks system. These pumps run all the time at 60 pounds pressure, and can be increased to any pressure desired. Closets to the side of the boiler room furnish a receptacle for waste, oil cans, and other minor necessities in this department. What the visitor cannot help but be impressed with is the absolute cleanliness and order which prevails. Everything is so arranged that lots of floor space is allowed, and there is a place for everything.

Mr. Coats next took the reporter to the engine and dynamo rooms. Here one of the wonders of modern mechanism may be seen in what at first appears to be an engine and dynamo combined. In reality, however, the two are joined. They were each constructed by two distinct firms—one in Canada and the other in England. The engine was built by Bellis & Morecom, of Birmingham, Eng. It has a capacity of 400 H. P., and a guaranteed overload capacity of 25 per cent., making its capacity really 500 H. P., if required. It is a high-speed condensing engine, and runs 360 revolutions per minute. There are only four or five of these engines in Canada, but they are very largely used in England and in other parts of Europe for power and lighting purposes on account of their very fine regulations, keeping a steady current, also on account of their great economy.

BANNER'S IGNORANT ATTACK ON WHITNEY GOVERNMENT

Their Disconnected Attempt To Manufacture Political Capital Falls To The Ground—The Real Cause Of The Horse-Thieving

For a piece of unparalleled nerve, to say nothing of ignorance, the article in the Saturday Banner-News, entitled, "Farmers Hot Over Thieving," beats anything which has recently appeared in that paper, which, by the way, is saying considerable.

In the first place, the laws which provide for the paying of constables are laws which were passed long before the Whitney Government came into power, and to that extent the Whitney Government could in no possible way be responsible for them. Again, cases of this kind come under the head of what is known as the Administration of Justice, expenses which are paid by the county, and the county has made certain provisions for cases of this kind which allow for reasonable expenses incurred in the fresh pursuit of criminals when the Board of Audit are satisfied that such services were actually and reasonably performed.

The most glaring fault of the Banner's article, however, is this—That while it has been rumored that there have been numerous thefts in Dover recently, and while notices appeared in the papers to the effect that the Crown authorities had no notice of any crime being committed, and the people would do them a favor by reporting cases of this character, that NO CASES WERE REPORTED until last Saturday afternoon, when complaint was made of the stealing of Dr. MacFarlane's horses. We are informed by the Crown Attorney that immediately upon the complaint being made, that he wired the department for the services of

ENGINEER IS "CALLED"

He Receives Criticism For Tearing up Thames St. Crossing

After This All Such Matters Will be Reported to The Council

The City Engineer's action in tearing up the crossing at the foot of Victoria Ave., on Thames St., was the cause of considerable unfavorable comment at the Council meeting last evening, and the Engineer was given to understand that such conduct will not be tolerated in the future.

Ald. Austin brought the matter up by saying that he had received several complaints from citizens and the comments which had come to his ears were not in the least complimentary. He said that the Council had not received any explanation of why the walk was torn up.

Ald. Bensen replied that he did not know anything about it. He was surprised when he had heard that the walk was torn up. He was not consulted in the matter at all. Mr. Jones had afterwards told him that the walk was in bad shape with no foundation and should be torn up.

Ald. Potter—Who put it down? City Clerk—Contractor Kime. Mr. Jones was then heard, and explained that the walk was in bad shape and would have had to be replaced anyway. It wasn't constructed right.

Ald. Austin thought that while the walk might have been in bad shape, it was not right that it should have been torn up in that way without first consulting the chairman of the Board of Works. It was a bad precedent, and he objected strongly to this principle of doing business.

Ald. Stephens defended the Engineer and said that he deserved credit for tearing up the walk. He pointed out defects in the walk, which made it useless and unsafe. He did not think that the Engineer had overstepped his duty in the matter at all.

Ald. Kerr was surprised to hear Ald. Stephens talk in this way. He had heard many citizens of whom he thought a great deal, describing the work as a piece of vandalism. The Engineer should have reported on the walk when he reported on the pavement. The aldermen are the persons who are responsible for the work, and they should know what is being done before it is done.

Mr. Jones explained that it was a rule of his own that all walks should be torn up when they were no good. He had done this for years.

Ald. Kerr—Then it is certainly true that it should be stopped. When questioned by Ald. Austin, Mr. Jones could not tell what the new work would cost.

In the future the Engineer will make a report to the Council or to the chairman of the Board of Works on all such pieces of work.

TWO DEADLY CROSSINGS

Council Will Force The C. P. R. To Erect and Maintain Gates

Wellington St. and Centre St. Crossings are Death Traps

Once again the matter of the construction of gates at the C. P. R. crossings at Wellington and Centre Streets was brought up at the Council and discussed at some length. The decision arrived at this time is the same as that arrived at before, only the Council will now take some definite and decided action to force the hand of the railway company in this matter.

Ald. Massey said that the city solicitor was not in a position to proceed any farther until the Council had strengthened his hands by passing a resolution which he submitted. The resolution was as follows—

Resolved, That the Railway Committee be instructed to empower the solicitor and instruct him to take such steps that he deems advisable under the railway act or otherwise, to secure the proper protection at these crossings.

Ald. Westman asked if there was anything in the agreement between the city and the railway, which compels them to erect these gates. Ald. Massey—We cannot force them to construct gates, but we can force them to keep a watchman.

Ald. Kerr thought that the resolution gave the solicitor too much scope. He thought that the Council should receive a report before anything was done in the way of litigation.

Ald. Massey said that the company had promised to come to the city to settle the matter, but as yet they have no income.

Ald. Austin—Did they make a proposition that if the city would construct the gates that they would maintain them?

The Mayor—The proposition was made to me, but I do not see why the city should have to erect these gates. Ald. Potter—Centre Street is a particularly bad crossing. The other day I was on the street when the Fire Department went past. They were no sooner clear of the track than the fast express went whizzing by.

The matter was left with the Railway Committee to consult with the city solicitor and report back to the Council on what can be done.

TRANSIENT TRADER LAW

Council Waxes Warm Over Judge Houston's Attitude Towards it

May try Their Present Case Before Justices of The Peace

The members of the City Council put on their fighting armor last evening. For some time there has been considerable trouble over the Transient Traders' By-law, and lately a man selling bananas has been noticed on King Street standing on the street corner with a push cart, doing a land office business. He has no permit to sell, and, moreover, defies the city authorities by saying that he does not need one. The members of the Council who went to Judge Houston with the intention of swearing out an information to prosecute the banana man found that official unwilling to take the information at the present time, and so the fruit vendor still conducts his business, and the city authorities have to look on and see him gather in the shekels.

Mayor Stone said that he had tried to make the man take out a permit, but had met with a refusal. The magistrate refused to act. He took it up on Saturday.

"It is too bad," said he, "that our merchants cannot get protection. On Saturday I sent for Chief Holmes and Dorella, and we notified the banana man to get off or secure a license. He said he didn't have to. The magistrate then refused to take an information until the Brody case is settled. The two cases, in my opinion, are not parallel. This man is blocking the streets. I think it is high time for the Council to act. Mr. Houston is not the whole Council, and the sooner he understands that he is there to carry out the by-laws of the city the better. In my opinion it is a high-handed piece of business on his part to refuse to take that information. If a criminal is caught he is not allowed to go at large because another criminal has a case appealed which is not settled. The least he could have done would have been to order him off until the other case is settled. Ald. Austin—Is there no other officer who could try the case or take the information?

Ald. Kerr—Two justices of the peace could act.

Ald. Austin—I think we should take the matter up with the city solicitor and take action ourselves.

The Mayor—I will take the action up with the solicitor in the morning. The Brody case is one where a man went from door to door selling rags, so that the cases are not the same. Ald. Bensen—Is there a flaw in our by-law?

The Mayor—The magistrate is not empowered or paid to test out by-laws. He is there to carry them out. If there is an appeal the city pays the money.

Ald. Kerr—The magistrate or judge has to decide upon the authorities of the courts, and they have to give effect to precedents. That Mr. Houston has refused to take the information, however, is a strange thing to me. It is not just to the city.

Ald. Potter—We pay the police magistrate a salary, and now he is practically defying the city. He takes no notice of our by-laws. It looks as if the magistrate should make out by-laws and let us approve of them. If the laws we enact are not good the least he could do would be to let us know of some way to make them workable.

It was carried unanimously that the Chairman of the Property Committee should see the city solicitor with a view to learning what can be done under the circumstances.

THE BURNS PICTURES

A big crowd assembled at the Brisco last night to see Tommy Burns and his pictures of the famous battle in which he put Squirea down and out in two minutes and eighteen seconds. Tommy was introduced to the audience by Manager Brisco, and he got a flattering reception from a crowd of admirers present.

The pictures were very good, and as good a view of the fight was obtained as was enjoyed by the thousands who paid five dollars each and upwards to be present at the real thing.

Burns is a Canadian. He was born in this country, and his mother is at present living in Galt, Ont. The champion heavy-weight was accompanied here by his wife.

Helps in Shopping.

A woman who has a large family to shop for says that one of the things which she always carries with her in her pocketbook or hand bag is a small notebook. It takes up very little room, but is a great convenience and time saver. In this book she keeps a memorandum of sizes of shoes, hosiery, underwear, etc., for the different members of her family, besides the names of any special styles or brands of articles which she is in the habit of buying. This proves to be a much easier method than trying to carry all of this data in one's memory and avoids having to return articles of the wrong size which have been purchased by mistake.

In this book, too, are written the shopping lists which, put on loose sheets of paper, would be more liable to be lost. This book furnishes a sort of perpetual memorandum. Things which are not purchased at one time are still recorded to be attended to again.

Cooking Lamb.

Throw it into boiling water for five minutes and drain.

Put in a stewpan a piece of butter the size of an egg and place on the fire. When melted mix in it one tablespoonful of flour, after which pour in, little by little, a pint and a half of boiling water, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon.

Put the meat in the pan and four small onions, a bay leaf, two cloves, three sprigs of parsley, two of thyme, salt and pepper.

About fifteen minutes before it is done add two or three mushrooms cut in slices.

Take from the fire when cooked. Place the meat on a dish with the mushrooms and onions around, or, if preferred, without either. Strain the sauce over the meat and serve.

Onions Make Mirth.

If people would eat more onions, the population would be a great deal healthier, states a writer in the Tablet.

Why are we bilious? Because we don't eat onions. You never saw a dyspeptic man eating onions. He thinks they are poisonous, but, in fact, they are the medicine that he most needs, says Home Chat.

Whenever you see an onion enter you see a whole soul, open hearted, jolly good fellow, who knows what he ought to eat to keep him good humored. Talk about the staff of life—why, bread is only a crutch. There is no more nutriment in an onion than there is in a roll.

The Embroiderer.

When embroidering initials on a towel that is to be hemstitched, have space enough below the letters for a new hem, for the first one is sure to tear off long before the rest of the towel shows wear. If the initials are placed close to the hem it is impossible to repair the injury so that the towel will look well.

Remove Stains From Sink.

Wet sink and sprinkle chloride of lime into it. Let stand about a half hour, and it will become white. It will remove all stains as nothing else will.

After washing flannels rub a little vinegar well into the hands. This takes away the shrunken look that the skin gets and makes it soft and white.

CHURCHILL HAS IDEAS

Expresses His Opinions On Imperial Preference.

There was a big muster of members of the Cobden Club at a dinner given at the Hotel Metropole recently under the presidency of Lord Welby. In proposing the only toast of the evening, "The Cause of Free Trade," Lord Welby said he doubted whether free trade has ever been in such danger as now since that memorable night 50 years ago when its advent was heralded at Manchester, for the reason that the party of reaction and coercion was gradually but surely gravitating and consolidating upon a pure policy of protection. This party had behind it all the moneyed classes, monopolists, publicans, and, he was afraid, the clergy. That being so, the free traders must show equal energy in defence of their cause.

Mr. Churchill thought Lord Welby was well advised to read the note of alarm among the free trade ranks in this country. He himself strongly held to the opinion that the free traders should remain mobilized for active warfare, but he saw no ground for any despondency. The great social and economic principles embodied in the Cobden Club was challenged four years ago by the statesmen who above all others had the power at that time to move the people of this country.

Then the most gloomy and dismal prospects were viewed as to the ruin of our country and of our industries. What happened? The total destruction of the protectionist army, who were beaten from Dan to Beersheba, "and a lot of other countries," added Mr. Churchill, raising a laugh, "whose names I do not remember."

Was there a single prediction or assertion made by the protectionist friends at the beginning of the campaign when they started out to conquer the world to prove that taxation could be made to raise itself and that the foreigner would pay it? He was only asked in a proper manner—there a simple fact about the British trade which had not already been scientifically disproved by the hard, brutal facts of our trade returns? Our colonies were more attached to us than ever.

We warned free traders not to neglect the necessary work of propaganda and instruction, which could only enable them to secure permanently what they had been able to gain by the events of the last two years. At that time the colonial conference was planned was brought forward and no new offer was made, except the offer of the colonies to take anything that we might like to give. (Laughter.) Offers like that came from many quarters. It had no effect on the organization of the Liberal and Radical party. It had, however, produced a profound effect on the Conservative party, which was now a protectionist party.

Dealing with the subject of taxes, Mr. Churchill asserted that food taxes and the taxation of manufactures were inseparably linked together. They could not be separated by any device, however clever and ingenious. He thought free traders would always be able to smash food taxes in the coming year, and protective taxation of manufactured articles in the House of Commons. (Applause.)

Upon the question of imperial preference, he asserted without hesitation that the movement did not derive its force from any consideration of the desire of uniting the British Empire, but it was a mere varnish on the solid protectionist appetites. (Applause.) If it were not supported by all the vested interests which felt that they could get a special advantage for themselves, he ventured to think that the movement of imperial preference would have no life, or stability, or strength whatever. (Applause.)

Opium a Curse.

An important memorial, signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury, York, Armagh and Dublin, by more than seventy bishops, and by many other church dignitaries, has been addressed on behalf of the church and opium committee, to the Prime Minister, to Mr. John Morley and Sir Edward Grey.

The object of the memorialists is to endorse the memorial upon the Indo-British opium traffic with China addressed by the Anglican bishops in China to the Archbishop of Canterbury in September, 1906. They urge that the opium traffic has twice been declared by the House of Commons to be "morally indefensible," and they contend that it is not right that the initiative in the suppression of that which is morally indefensible should be left to China, hampered as she is by serious difficulties largely due to British policy.

The memorial concludes: "In view of the loss to the Indian revenue and the disastrous effect on the native population that would temporarily result from the abolition of the opium trade, we hold that Great Britain might justly be expected, as on the abolition of negro slavery, to make some contribution towards those losses, and we believe that the people of Great Britain will not refuse to render financial assistance, should such assistance be deemed necessary, when the situation is clearly before them."

Attacked By Hornets.

An unpleasant adventure fell to the lot of Captain and Mrs. Gidney recently, while they were on a panther shooting expedition in the Dinaipur district of Assam. They were both on an elephant, and the elephant, the panther, Captain Gidney was about to fire, when their thoughts were rudely turned from sport. One of the besting elephants disturbed a swarm of hornets, and these attacked the captain and his wife. Driven wild by the stings, they jumped off the elephant and ran, forgetful of panthers, and forced their way through the tangled jungle. They broke off branches of shrubs to try and drive the pests away, but found little relief. After running for a while Mrs. Gidney stumbled, and her husband carried her to a pool of water, which they fortunately chanced upon. There they took shelter from the infuriated hornets, which after a time withdrew, and the pair set about tending their stings.

ATTACKED BY RUFIANS.

Hamilton Policeman Victim of Murderous Assault by a Gang.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—Constable May was the victim of a murderous assault yesterday afternoon at the hands of a number of ruffians, who attacked him at Brown's Wharf. The officer was relieved of his baton and rendered unconscious for half an hour. He is confined to his home under the doctor's care. May was doing plain clothes' duty looking for crack-shooters. He went to the wharf, where a game was said to have been in progress, and found there about a dozen men. They were evidently engaged in a crap game, and the officer pounced on them single-handed in an attempt to arrest some of them. When the crowd saw that the officer was alone, they revolved him and abused him in a frightful manner. May drew his baton to defend himself, but the gang took this away from him and broke it over his head. He was rendered unconscious by the blows and left lying on the ground. The officer's assailants then ran and abused him half an hour afterwards a passer-by found May. He took him to the police station, from where he was removed to his home. After he regained consciousness, May said that he thought he could recognize some of his assailants. There is considerable indignation among the members of the police force over the fact that May was sent out alone on such an errand.

COMMON SENSE

Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrapper, are so much more popular than the daily druggists' concoctions. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulae, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known, the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes, and free from all use of alcohol, opium, or any other drug, they are without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed. These medicines are entirely free from the use of alcohol, opium, or any other drug, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed. There was hardly a breath of wind, and the sun was shining brightly in the sky, showing that the conditions for shooting would be ideal.

At 800 yards the United States had a clear lead of 20 points from Australia.

At the 1,000 yards the Canadians made a great effort, and here it was that Sergt. Russell of Ottawa made the wonderful score of 73, 16 bull's-eyes, a magpie, one bull for a night's score was only beaten by one man, Sergt. Bryant of the United States, who made one point more.

Cap. McKinnon made 71, and Sergt. Graham 70. Shot by shot the Canadians drew up, heading the Australians when the fifth man got down to fire.

A World's Record.

Every man was shooting magnificently, and there was not an outlier on the board, whereas the Australians had two.

The crowd around the Canadian targets became so thick that it was impossible to see the men, and the more increased when it was discovered that the Canadians were actually holding the Americans at that range. When the last two men got down to fire there was only a difference of a point.

Sergt. Richardson put the matter at rest, with 69, making the total 561, 4 points ahead of the Americans, a world's record for any team at the distance.

DOUBT LOYALTY OF POLICE.

Strenuous Efforts Being Made to Recruit Royal Irish Constabulary.

Dublin, Sept. 9.—That the Government is apprehensive with regard to the coming winter in Ireland, and is doubtful regarding the loyalty of the constabulary since the Belfast agitation, is revealed in the present strenuous efforts to recruit the force.

The number of the constabulary has been steadily decreasing for the past four years. The authorities have set on foot a part of the public Military Barracks as additional quarters for the men, and to the constables and officers throughout the country there has been sent a circular instructing them to make haste to secure suitable candidates.

SHOOT FOR THE PALMA

Centennial Trophy Captured by United States Marksmen.

Exciting Competition Closed on Saturday—World's Record Made for High Scoring at Long Distance Ranges—Canadian Team Show Unexpected Form—History of Shield—Final Scores.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The Palma trophy was regained on Saturday by the team of riflemen representing the United States, after the most wonderful of competitions. The final scores were:

United States 1,712
Canada 1,671
Australia 1,633
Great Britain 1,584

The Centennial trophy, known as the Palma, inaugurated in the United States in 1876, when the people of the States subscribed to present a massive shield for competition, open to the riflemen of the world, was shot for the sixth time.

In 1876, at Creedmoor, Long Island, the United States won by 22 points over the Irish team, Scotland, Australia and Canada also competing—1877 the United States again won it, and in 1878 they claimed it by default, as no foreign teams entered.

No further competition was held until 1901, when the Canadians competed at Sea Girt, and brought the valuable $5,000 prize to Ottawa.

In 1901, at Rockcliffe, the British team came over and beat the Americans by 12 points, and the following year at Bisle, when teams from Great Britain, Australia, United States, Canada, Natal, Norway and France competed, the States, with a margin of 15 points, were declared winners. A misunderstanding, however, as regards the conditions resulted in the match being declared off and the trophy was returned to England by the United States.

That is, briefly, the history of the shield and its competitions. The conditions for firing are that the men must use the national military arm of the country they represent, fitted with their service regulation sights.

There was hardly a breath of wind, and the sun was shining brightly in the sky, showing that the conditions for shooting would be ideal.

At 800 yards the United States had a clear lead of 20 points from Australia.

At the 1,000 yards the Canadians made a great effort, and here it was that Sergt. Russell of Ottawa made the wonderful score of 73, 16 bull's-eyes, a magpie, one bull for a night's score was only beaten by one man, Sergt. Bryant of the United States, who made one point more.

Cap. McKinnon made 71, and Sergt. Graham 70. Shot by shot the Canadians drew up, heading the Australians when the fifth man got down to fire.

A World's Record.

Every man was shooting magnificently, and there was not an outlier on the board, whereas the Australians had two.

The crowd around the Canadian targets became so thick that it was impossible to see the men, and the more increased when it was discovered that the Canadians were actually holding the Americans at that range. When the last two men got down to fire there was only a difference of a point.

Sergt. Richardson put the matter at rest, with 69, making the total 561, 4 points ahead of the Americans, a world's record for any team at the distance.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF.

Chicago Broker's Awful Deed—Was in Poor Health.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Fred M. Fish, the wife of a wealthy retired broker, was found murdered in her home at 423 Davis street, Evanston, on Saturday.

Her husband, with his throat cut, was found unconscious on the floor of the bedroom in which the body of Mrs. Fish was lying. He will die. It is the opinion of the police that Fish murdered his wife and then attempted to commit suicide.

Fish was in poor health, and for some time he suffered periodical attacks of despondency.

Enquiry Opens To-Day.

Quebec, Sept. 9.—The Government commission appointed to investigate the recent disaster to the Quebec bridge has decided to begin its labors this morning. The first session will be held at the Court House at 10 a.m.

The Government commission consists of Mr. Holgate, consulting engineer, Montreal; Prof. Kerry of McGill University, Montreal, and Prof. Galbraith of Toronto University.

Troops Disbanded.

San Salvador, Sept. 9.—The Salvadoran Government is making readjustments in all departments in order to balance the revenues and the expenses.

The troops who were called to the colors at the time of the threatened invasion of the republic by the Nicaraguan forces, are being disbanded, after having been paid in full.

CHRONIC ULCERS COVERED HER BODY & CRIPPLED HER. HOW CURE CAME

How Zam-Buk cures chronic ulcers and sores is seen by the following experience of Mrs. Beers, of Original (Ont.). She says: "Some years ago ulcers and sores broke out on my legs and different parts of my body, and spread to an alarming extent, causing me great agony. I began to try salves, oils and medicines of various kinds, but the sores refused to heal. I then consulted a medical man, who treated me for some time, but the ulceration continued just as bad as ever. Another medical man was consulted, then another and one after another until I had tried five different Doctors. All gave me up in despair. The ulceration and the skin disease were getting worse all the time, so I then went into the Hospital. I was there five months, and came away very little better. I next went to another Hospital, and stayed there three months, again with no success. By this time my legs were covered with sores, my bones seemed all picked out with ulcers, and I could not walk without the use of a cane and a crutch. I was in such a shocking condition that I was longing for death."

"I saw a report of the value of Zam-Buk and I obtained a small supply. This did me so much good that I went to Ottawa and bought a further supply. A few weeks trial of this wonderful balm healed the ulcers, removed the sores, and I am to-day completely cured."

"For many years I was obliged to use a cane and crutch to walk. Now I have thrown both cane and crutch away, and feel as well and vigorous as the age of 30."

She takes her high notes with apparently no effort, and she sings with marked expression and intelligence. Her solo last Sunday evening was very much appreciated by a large congregation.

Miss Vandervoort is a singer and musician of considerable prominence. She has a large class of pupils in her own home, and she herself has had the advantage of studying under the very best masters.

VANCOUVER SITUATION

Attacks on Japanese caused No Surprise in London

Outbreak Has Been Long Feared—Seamen Mobbed

London, Sept. 10.—The news of the attacks on the Japanese and Chinese at Vancouver did not surprise the Colonial and Foreign Office officials here, who had long feared an outbreak against the Asiatics in Western Canada, but they have the greatest confidence in the ability of the Canadians to suppress any disturbances and protect aliens.

At the same time, the officials realize that a most serious problem has arisen, particularly as the feeling appears to be strongest against the subjects of Great Britain's ally, and that it requires the most careful handling, for whatever action is taken is likely to be resented either by the colony or by Japan.

The question has been under consideration for some time by the Imperial authorities, who have used their good offices on numerous occasions to prevent the enactment of anti-Japanese legislation by the British Columbia legislature. It is understood that the matter was discussed at length during the recent visit of the Colonial Premier to London, Australia being as much opposed to the admission of Asiatics as are the Canadians. No steps were taken at the time, however, and the subject was allowed to lapse until the agitation was revived.

All the Cabinet Ministers are out of town, but the Colonial and Foreign Offices are seeking to obtain all the information possible on the subject of taking some action, the nature of which is difficult to surmise.

The Times, whose American correspondent severely and repeatedly denounced the San Francisco hostility to the Japanese, is the only paper commenting on the demonstration against the Japanese and Chinese at Vancouver, B. C. The paper deprecates that "it is not at present obvious how a permanent amelioration of the situation is to be effected, attributing the troubles entirely to labor union agitation, and ridiculing the idea that a few thousand Japanese are likely to turn British Columbia or California into Mongolian provinces."

The Pall Mall Gazette is the only afternoon newspaper to express an opinion on the subject, and it says directly opposite, saying: "The Asiatic makes his entry into Canada under the auspices of the great god of cheapness. He comes with an offer to take work at half the rate or less than paid for the white men's labor, an arrangement which none the less can be carried out on a basis which involves a great advance upon the state of remuneration enjoyed in his own country. In competition of this character the Caucasian believes, and all economic reasoning seems to support him, that his own standards of life are certain to be depleted and destroyed."

Not Wanted Depravity. Continuing, The Pall Mall Gazette points out that the Bellingham and Vancouver outbreaks show "the popular animosities of the racial type are more wanton, unprovoked depravity." adding: "It can scarcely occur to the home keeping Englishman how slight an expansive effort on the part of the swarming populations of the west would suffice to swamp the western states and provinces of the American continent."

Referring to British Columbia, with only three per cent. of its territory populated, The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "If an unrestricted flood of Asiatics were allowed to occupy these vast unpopulated acres, it would require but a few years to produce an Oriental predominance in the fairest and richest possession of the British Empire, and, perhaps, defeat the whole course of its civilization and destiny."

In conclusion, The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The issue will not permit of indefinite procrastination. Failing exclusion, the situation demands an alternative policy that will promptly and efficiently circumvent the dangers of so virulently realized by their prospective victims."

Chinese Buy Revolvers. Vancouver, Sept. 10.—All Chinese domestic and mill workmen in Vancouver quit yesterday morning and announced their intention of staying in Chinatown until the riot trouble is over.

Chinese boys who sleep in their employers' homes were notified that they must leave immediately or they would be killed. Many instances of this threat being made are given.

When the hardware stores were swarmed the sidewalks and crowded the stores immediately. Hundreds of revolvers were sold within a few minutes, and the Chinese carried them by armfuls to Chinatown.

An hour later the police notified the stores to stop selling guns until the trouble was over.

Applause and Pay. Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The feeling in official circles in Ottawa is that Canada will have to apologize to Japan and pay for the damage done to Japanese property and for the personal injuries of Japanese in Vancouver. The outbreak is regarded as peculiarly unfortunate, as it took place at a time when the problem of limiting Japanese immigration to Canada had about been solved.

There is a feeling here that there has been too much said on the question of Japanese immigration, both by those opposed to it and by the champions of Japanese rights under the treaty, and that public opinion and prejudices have been unduly excited.

facts of each of the two high contracting parties shall have full liberty to enter, travel or reside in any part of the Dominion, and possessions of the other contracting party, and shall enjoy full and perfect protection for their persons and property."

Mr. Scott noted that the treaty had been adopted by the Canadian Parliament after full and free discussion.

More Trouble Feared. Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 10.—There were several arrests made yesterday arising out of Saturday night's riots. The police force is being added to, as further outbreaks are feared with the arrival this week of several ship loads of Orientals. These may, however, be landed at Victoria.

U. S. Sailors in Danger. New York, Sept. 10.—A Tokyo dispatch to The Herald reports that, while the American cruiser Chittenden was at Hakodate recently four of her men narrowly escaped injury at the hands of a mob.

Investigation by the ship's officers showed that one of the sailors had made an unprovoked attack upon a Japanese storekeeper, and the Japanese were exonerated.

MUST PAY ALL DAMAGE

Moroccan Government held responsible by French Cabinet

Paris, Sept. 10.—A special meeting of the Cabinet was held yesterday to consider the Moroccan situation. These conclusions were reached:

(1) The Moroccan Government should be held responsible for the massacre of July 30 at Casablanca, as well as for the damages suffered as a result of the pillage or the repression of disorders.

(2) The indemnities should be fixed by an international commission. Incidentally this is France's answer to the demands of the German exporters at Casablanca, that France compensate them for the losses they sustained during the bombardment.

The conclusions arrived at are based on the precedent established after the bombardment of Alexandria by the British fleet in 1882.

The Cabinet requested Foreign Minister Pichon to examine the general question of Morocco, and to prepare a note on the subject to be issued as soon as possible.

Must Pay All Damages. Berlin, Sept. 10.—Germany's reply to the French note relative to the formation of Morocco police from French and Spanish troops, says that Germany assumes that the measure proposed is entirely of provisional character and without prejudice to the terms of the Algiers convention.

The reply of Germany calls attention to the opinion of the German representative at Tangier, that the appearance of foreign police there and at other Moroccan ports now is likely to result in the mounting of tribes against the cities, with consequent danger to the lives and property of Europeans, unless efficient military support for the police is provided.

In regard to the German claims for damages sustained at Casablanca, difficulties, it is asserted, are likely to arise.

Gibraltar, Sept. 10.—Orders have been received by the Spanish authorities at Algeiras to hold 7,000 men in readiness to embark Sept. 11 for Tangier.

Pure Backing Down. London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. F.)—Respecting the Newfoundland modus vivendi the Newfoundland Globe says the one solid stipulation wanting anything operates against the British. It is that the Imperial Government won't bring into force the provisions of the foreign fishing vessels act.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the Government has been more careful of American susceptibilities than to assure American compliance with British law.

Cigars Were Smuggled. Montreal, Sept. 10.—An ingenious method of smuggling cigars into Montreal is under investigation by the police court in connection with the seizure of Mexican Desmanes.

It is claimed that boxes of cigars to the number of 10,000 were dropped over the side of incoming steamers into boats which were sent out from St. Helen's Island. These goods were brought over by members of the crew, who were evidently in the deal.

In this way the customs officers, who board the steamers at the docks, were avoided.

A Shameful Betrayal. Ldon, Sept. 10.—The Morning Post declares that the Newfoundland modus vivendi is a shameful betrayal of British honor and Imperial interests, and asks if it does not aggravate the most objectionable features of the 1906 agreement. The Post asks: "Is there another instance in the whole world of a Government surrendering the right of deciding whether it is 'physically possible' for foreigners entering boundaries of its jurisdiction to conform with its laws?"

Wellman Gives Up. Tromsø, Norway, Sept. 10.—According to Capt. Isachsen, in command of the Norwegian Arctic expedition, which arrived here yesterday, Walter Wellman will probably return here at the end of September, abandoning the attempt to reach the pole in an airship for the present year.

THE BANNER'S SMALLNESS

The Chatham Banner-News, the little, plucky, local organ of the Liberal party, could not see any enthusiasm in the big reception tendered R. L. Borden on his arrival here Saturday—or, at least, said it could not—the Toronto Globe, the leading Liberal journal in the Dominion, did not hesitate to give credit where credit was due. All of the out-of-town newspapers that had special representatives here spoke of the meeting as a most enthusiastic one. Even the Liberal journals, with the lone exception of our unscrupulous contemporary, in speaking of the meeting were big enough to tell the truth about the matter.

The Banner said there wasn't a cheer—not a ghost of a cheer. They even tried to insinuate that the crowd was small and not enthusiastic. Here is a portion of what the Globe said, which should make the Banner feel ashamed of its smallness:

"Crowds lined the route of procession, and applauded Mr. Borden as he passed. Both meetings were well attended, and at each the Conservative leader was given an attentive hearing."

omy of steam. This engine can be duplicated under pressure. The crank case is enclosed, and the oil is forced through all the bearings under twenty pounds pressure, so that all the bearings run in a film of oil and there is practically no wear on them. This is one of the highest types of engines built for power and lighting purposes.

This engine's mighty side-partner is a generator, which is directly connected with it. It was built by the Canadian General Electric Co., of Peterboro', Ont., and is of the same capacity as the engine. It produces currents for incandescent and arc lighting, store or street lighting, also for motors for power services. It is the most modern type of electric generator made.

This department also contains two other new dynamos of the same type in a smaller size, making three dynamos altogether. The two small dynamos are run by gas engines, being extended and an extra section is being put in.

A young girl about 17 years of age is wanted for office and to assist in store. Apply Box 4, Planet Office.

Mrs. Henry Burrows, of Strathroy, who for the past few weeks has been visiting her son, Mr. W. G. Burrows, Victoria Avenue, returned to her home today.

The funeral of Lila May Toulouse, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Toulouse, Wood street, Dover, took place yesterday afternoon to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. Death was due to scarlet fever. The funeral was private.

Napoleon Pinsonneault has returned from Montreal, where he attended the O. M. B. A. convention as delegate from the local branch. He will, at the regular meeting tonight make a report of the proceedings. Some surprises are in store for the members.

The entire installation and setting up of this big plant—boilers, dynamos, electrical apparatus, etc.—was done by the Gas Company's expert workmen, and though this feat is a very unusual one for the employees of a plant of such size as the local one, it was completed to the entire satisfaction of all concerned, which speaks very highly for the men in charge of the various departments of the power house.

The boilers and steam engines were set up under the supervision of Ed. Grandbois, chief engineer, and his assistant, Wm. Montgomery. The switch-boards, with connections to the generators, were built under the supervision of Frank Hayes, chief electrician. These gentlemen and their assistants are to be congratulated upon the finished appearance of their work.

Manager Cowie himself got out the design for the plant, marking out the location for each machine. The arrangement has turned out to be a big success from a standpoint of both efficiency and economy, as well as for appearance. The plant as it stands can be operated at a lesser cost than any plant of its kind in the country.

The new plant was put in for the purpose of taking care of the increasing demand for electric lighting. This increase was extended by the lower rates of the Gas Company for electric current. The Gas Company are now prepared to furnish lighting and also power for motors, twenty-four hours, all three services. They will be in a position to furnish the citizens of Chatham with current for these different purposes as efficient and at as low a price as any place in the country.

The Chatham Gas Company first started business in 1872, and in 1887 commenced supplying electrical current with one dynamo and forty lights. From this it has been enlarged till at the present day it has a capacity of 30,000 lights.

HOW DO YOU JUDGE A PIANO?

Musically inclined people naturally judge a piano by its tone—and that's why "Nord-heimer" Pianos are found in the homes of so many musicians of note.

If you have an ear for tone,
quality the remarkable beauty
sweetness, purity and volume, soothe the "Nordheimer" will appeal to you.

We could explain at length
the various mechanical contrivances which are incorporated in the "Nordheimer" piano
to produce its unrivaled tone,
but they would be understood by a mechanic only.

We much prefer you to judge this piano from what your own ear tells you about its tone—then you are sure to be satisfied.

Pleased to have you call at your earliest convenience and examine the "Nordheimer."
The One Price System assures
you a fair and square deal.

Our Mr. R. V. Carter will visit Chatham frequently in our interest and will be pleased to furnish you with any information you may desire.
Correspondence addressed to him in care of the Chatham House will receive careful attention.

COTTAGES IN IRELAND

FACING THE FATES ON THE CON-NAUGHT BOG FARMS.

One-Room Mud hovels—Hard-Working Peasants Reap But Little Benefit From Their Labor—Land Cannot Be Drained—Bogslides a Continual Menace—Stone Cottages Are Reckoned a Luxury.

"A drive through Connasnaught and Munster show how miserably most of the peasants in those sections live," says a writer in The New York Sun.
"It is common to find families grouped in one room mud hovels situated in black bog, where the toiler is compelled actually to make the land for food, and perhaps a donkey may make out a precarious living among the coarse grass and reeds on the outer bog, and from the miserable soil the peasant by incessant labor wins a crop of vegetables if the fates are good and draws blank if the potato blight comes along. The ordinary self-respecting human being would refuse the land as a gift and would rather go to the poorhouse than face the fates on the Irish bog farm."

"I have found people living on 'farms' that are subject to periodical floods on land that cannot be drained, on unproductive soil, on holdings which they have actually made by clearing away rocks and stones and conveying the land up by donkey load. More, I have seen hundreds living on the brink of a horrible disaster, for the people in the bogs in hilly districts are in wet seasons ever under the shadow of the bog burst.
The rain descends and sinks under the peat. An underground lake is

AN IRISH COTTAGE.

formed; there is a tremble, a shiver,
and in a moment the bog comes aliving down in a mass of black liquid mud, overwhelming everything in its course. There have been many fatal bogslides in the past. In one peat rush which the writer saw the ooze flowed down, fortunately, in the daytime, so that the people had time to escape to safety. The bog moved, it encircled the cottages, it climbed up them; it buried them.

"The most comfortable house of the ordinary peasant met in two provinces was a thatched stone structure with an opening in place of a chimney. It was but a single room, and in it lived five human beings,
some fowls, and a goat. Other houses had not the live stock in them, but they were not stone houses. The man with a stone cottage is well off. The man near a town who has a cottage with tiles on the roof is a nabob;
he who has a slate house and possesses a pony and cart is one to whom hats must be raised."

WANTS WORKERS ONLY ARABS ASK ARMISTICE

TYPE OF BRITISH CANADA
CAN WELL SPARE.

Many Are Unsited For New Country.
—Lack Perseverance and Pluck—Farmers Want Laborers, Not Ladies and Gentlemen—Many Newcomers Get On Well—No Abject Poverty Here.

Amongst a shoal of letters which every week reaches this office says
"Canada," one occasionally finds an item of correspondence which shows
very clearly how unsited some Englishmen are for a new country such as Canada, and how unworthy they are to share the advantages which a little perseverance would bring to an emigrant gifted with a moderate amount of pluck and imagination.

Two such letters lie before us now.
The one is written by a farmer in Austin, Manitoba, regarding farm help which some booking agent in England sent to him. It reads:—

I met last night's train and took home with me the couple you sent out, but am sorry to say I was obliged to take them back to catch this morn-ing's train to Winnipeg, as they are entirely unsited for farm work.

They seem to have extraordinary ideas of farm life here; they thought they would be allowed a cottage for themselves, the woman's sick, apparently, being look after her husband's welfare while he worked whenever he felt like it. He said he objected to feeding horses on Sunday, and expected to do nothing on that day. I suppose he thought I would do it all.

What I require are farm laborers, not ladies and gentlemen. This woman hadn't the least idea that she would be expected to do the usual housework for my wife, but only look after her own cottage. We want a good stout man who can wash and scrub, etc., and a man who has been used to manual work; and please don't send me another lady and gentleman.

The letter needs no comment. It is just this kind of inadaptable people that are not wanted in Canada, where, naturally, people who accept new and totally strange conditions must make up their minds to creep before they walk.

The other letter is one of five from persons who have been assisted to Canada by a very useful agency which is dealing with the unemployed problem in Brighton. The writer of the first letter says: "I am getting on first-rate, and like it very much." The second says: "We arrived on the 11th of April and I started work on the 16th." The third tells how he at once got work as a laborer at a brickyard; and the fourth, after saying "it is a grand country," informs his benefactors that he got work at good wages the day after he landed in Toronto, and that he had been so pleased with his prospects that he had mentioned his two brothers, his mother, and his sister to at once come out to him. "You see no pinched, half-starved women and children, or shoeless ones, out here," he says. "No street tramps and beggars. Everyone seems well-dressed and fed; so different to the Old Country."

And against the testimony of the four just quoted comes one from Winnipeg, in which the writer first of all grumbles at the accommodation received on the ship, which carried him there, and at the fact that he was obliged to pay his own fare to get to the place where the railroad was being made, and where, presumably, there was work awaiting him. He goes on to say:—

"It is not all honey out here, for it is snowing now, and there are plenty out of work here, and it is a shame for them to keep on sending men out here, for they do not know what to do with them yet, as it is too soon.
There will not be any work till two months' time, and you cannot get the money they state in the papers at home, for it is a fraud. It will be some time before I shall be able to send any home, but I will see that you have some, and as soon as I can save enough to come home I shall be here if things don't alter. We got lost in the fog on the way out. We were four days late, and there was a smash on the line. We were supposed to have gone by the same train, but got too late, or I might have been killed. I hope you are all right at home. Had known as much as I do now I would never have come out here. I pity them that are married and have children, for it is a shame, for it will cost twice as much to come home."

The letter, on the face of it, is that of a chronic grumbler, who, instead of striking out for the place where labor is wanted, waits helplessly in a big town for something to turn up.
"It is not all honey out here," he whines, and surely no sane man would expect it to be. It is a place where one has a thousand times better chances than in England, but fortune does not await the shiftless. But such a person as this would find anything
a grievance of the fact that he escaped being killed in the railway accident!

Luck of a Windfall.

The harsh forest laws of William the Conqueror are responsible for the meaning of good luck now so often associated with the term windfall.
Under the Norman monarch it was a criminal offense to cut down timber in the forests, but as the peasants were allowed to gather whatever wood the wind had blown down they always hailed a storm as an omen of great good luck.—New York Telegram.

She Proved the Accusation.

George Selwyn once remarked in company that a woman could not write a letter under any circumstances without adding a postscript. A woman present replied, "The next letter you receive from me, Mr. Selwyn, will prove that you are wrong." Accordingly he received on the next day in which, after her signature, was the following: "P. S.—Who is right now, you or I?"

Tribe-men Are Now Ready to Negotiate For Peace.

Proposal to Send Franco-Spanish
Army of 50,000 Troops to Occupy Moroccan Ports—Question of Indemnities—Captive Caid Is Ill-Treated—Kept in Wretched Hovel—Has Scarcely Any Water.

Paris, Sept. 9.—The Echo de Paris
Madrid correspondent says it is rumored in military circles that France has proposed to Spain to send a Franco-Spanish army of 50,000 men to occupy the Moroccan ports and to go as far as Fez, if necessary. The correspondent says it is stated that Premier Maurel and Gen. Martilegu, chief of the headquarters staff, are opposed to this plan, but that the Minister of War, Gen. Primo-Rivera, supports it.

The Madrid correspondent says that Great Britain's influence contributed to a modification of Spain's attitude toward Morocco, Britain persuading her to co-operate effectively with French action and to conform to her rights and obligations
as recognized by the treaty of Alge-iras.

The correspondent at Madrid of The Matin says it is believed Spain will decide to send 5,000 infantry and 500
cavalry to occupy Tangier, Tetuan and Larache, and establish a police force there.

Ready to Arbitrate.

A ray of hope for a possible solution of the vexing Moroccan problem came from the Moorish empire Saturday night in the shape of an announcement that the tribesmen were ready to negotiate for peace. Vice-Admiral Philbert confirms this news in an official cablegram stating that a delegation from the warring Arabs had asked Gen. Drude for an armistice pending a settlement of peace terms.

No great expectations are based upon this announcement, for there is some suspicion that the move may be a trick of the Moors to gain time to bring in reinforcements.

At home the new features in the Moroccan question, from the French standpoint, are found in the opinions of the German press on the question of indemnification for German losses that grew out of the bombardment of Casablanca, and the efforts of the project to police Morocco by France and Spain.

In an editorial article accepted as inspired, The Temps suggests that the question of damages be submitted to an international committee similar to that which was summoned after the bombardment of Alexandria, and that the action of this committee should be based upon the recognition of the principle that a local Government is responsible for disorders.

Such a solution of this question,
The Temps says, should be accepted by Germany just as she did in the case of Egypt.

Premier Clemenceau announced last night that he had summoned a Cabinet meeting for to-day to consider the Moroccan question in all its phases.

"The situation is as good as possible," remarked the Premier.

Tangier, Sept. 9.—Despatch letters received here from Caid Sir Harry Macdonald, who for many years has been in the service of the Sultan of Morocco and who was captured early in July by the bandit, Raisuli, complains that the Caid is suffering from the effects of sleeping on the floor with only a carpet for covering.
Raisuli refused to supply him with a mattress, but the Caid adds pathetically:—

"The chief is very kind in sending me milk, as I am afraid to eat anything."

Continuing, Sir Harry says he is in a tumble-down room, the roof of which on one side is completely lacking. He is guarded by four of Rai-suli's men, and the five have only one small kettle for water. It is, consequently, impossible for Sir Harry to wash.

Another letter from the Caid says that Raisuli's men declare that all the sailors and soldiers who landed at Casablanca from the French warships have been killed and that the Sultan has turned all Frenchmen out of the country.

DISCORD IN CABINET.

Alfonso and Premier Maurel at Odds
Over Morocco.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—The Globe relates that discord exists between King Alfonso and Premier Maurel regarding Spain's Moroccan policy, and adds:—

"Senor Maurel intends to ask the king whether he has confidence in the Ministry, which involves the possibility of a Ministerial crisis, which would put the Liberals in power."
"If the sentiment in favor of intervention in Morocco was stronger in Spain the Government would despatch 4,000 men and a number of warships to Morocco."

Boy Accidentally Shot.

Winton, Sept. 9.—Ray Corry, the 16-year-old son of Dan Corry, wagon-maker, was accidentally shot Saturday morning and is at the point of death.

He was camping with another boy,
Eddie Field, at Gravelly Point, 10 miles from here, and while in the act of pulling the gun towards him from under the tent, the trigger caught and the contents into his discharged. He was hurried to town in a launch.

Stolen Papers Recovered.

Brantford, Sept. 9.—Friday evening in the removal of a pile of old ties at the gravel pit on the old Benedict
farm in the Township of Brantford, near the track of the G. T. R., Chas.
Johnston and R. Cole discovered in a hole about three feet deep a quantity of papers stolen from the safe of the postmaster at Brantford on the morning of June 14.

Dawn Mills, Sept. 2.—A heavy storm of thunder, lightning and rain was much needed, and it is hoped that we will get more.

Threshing is general in the

was spent at the wedding, all of the children and grandchildren ex-read by William, the eldest son, who now lives in Dover, and who was for a number of years a Councillor gentleman was presented by Miss Nellie Cruse, the eldest grand-daugh-and to Mrs. Elgie a gold berry spoon, gold eyeglasses, and a new gold wedding ring, the gifts of the entire family. Mr. and Mrs. Elgie were married in Chatham, on the 24th

EDUCATION AND CRIME

LEARNING RESPONSIBLE FOR INGENUITY OF CRIMINALS.

Clever Thefts Which Baffle the Police—New Species of Swindler—Crimes Against Property Are Increasing—Well-Educated "Crooks" Get Busy—Violence Gives Way to Softer Methods—Many Jewel Robberies.

The series of extremely clever thefts which have recently baffled the English police and astounded the public by their brilliant audacity has drawn attention to an unpleasant feature in the crime of the country—the growth of offences against property, and of offences which have been committed by persons who do not belong to the hereditary criminal class.

That the more serious offences are increasing while petty crime is decreasing is well known to those familiar with our criminal courts. Take for instance, the latest figures relating to indictable offences. In the latest statistical year they had reached 61,463, as against 59,960 in the previous year, and the annual average of 58,478 during the five years next preceding. Similarly, while the annual average number of persons convicted of serious crime in the five preceding years amounted to 184,667, during this latest year the number reached the high total of 196,861.

The great mass of all crime is now directed against property. Thefts, which form the crime of the country, consist of offences against other people's property, and this proportion, high as it is, is steadily increasing, while crime against the person is relatively diminishing. Violence, in fact, is giving place to cunning and education, and striking evidence of this is shown in the fact that offences against property accompanied with violence are steadily decreasing. Out of a percentage of 179.06 offences against property per 100,000 of population, as many as 157.65 are now unaccompanied by violence.

Ingenuity, Not Violence.
Some of the chief police authorities attribute this diversion of the criminal habit to education. Education has converted the assaulting robber into an ingenious thief, and many ingenious thieves into highly fraudulent persons. The weapon of offence is becoming more often a cunning trick, a clever stratagem, a lying prospectus, fraudulent imitation, adulteration, and the like. To give but one instance of the latter, in one police district no fewer than 47 per cent. of the trade samples taken for analysis were found to be adulterated. More serious crimes against property, however, are rampant; and in Liverpool alone, in the latest statistical year, there were 1,771.29 per 100,000 of population, as against 1,507.27 per 100,000 ten years ago. They have practically doubled in ten years.

Nor is this a mere sudden leap upward which may be followed immediately by a sudden decline. Here, the figures of the last four years of persons tried for offences against property without violence: 47,783, 49,096, 51,009, and 53,844. That reveals a steady crescendo in crime. So, too, with thefts which have been reported to the police, take the period of the last six years, and I obtain 57,000, 60,000, 60,000, 62,000, 68,000, 70,000. These figures show a steady but terribly rapid advance in dishonesty and theft.

The New Educated Criminal.
An itching greed seems to lie at the bottom of these crimes, especially when one considers the great increase in cases of obtaining money by false pretences and in betting and gambling offences. A remarkable feature, too, of the burglaries and shop thefts is the large number of persons concerned in them who are not professional or habitual criminals. In Leeds alone there were in the last year no fewer than 354 persons concerned in breaking into houses and shops who belonged to the non-criminal class and had no conviction or charge of any kind against their names. In five years, such offences—so far, that is, as they have been tried at quarter sessions and assizes—have risen from 1,785 to 2,870.

It would be dangerous to attribute this growth of theft and larceny to one cause, but the head constable of Liverpool is undoubtedly on the right track when he ascribes a great deal of it to the spread of education. It is the widespread penetration of education which has sharpened the wit, enlarged the outlook, heightened the imagination and fashioned the instrument with which ingenious and daring and wholesale theft may be carried on. It is safer and more profitable to become a swindler, to cheat and to substitute "finished manners" in perpetrating crime.

And this is why so many jewel robberies are so cunningly planned and perfectly executed that their prevention seems impossible, and the discovery of the criminals concerned has become so difficult.

At any rate, this form of crime is now so prevalent and is increasing so rapidly that it calls for immediate inquiry, while it suggests painfully that this greedy rage for other people's goods may be reflection of the "quick" impulse which is so characteristic of the present day.

King's Act of Politeness.

Anecdotes of King Edward's visit to Cardiff are beginning to come in. When the royal procession was passing along the path leading to the Royal Albert Hotel, a little three-year-old boy, named Emma Jenkins, was placed on the barrier alongside the path. The excitement of the approach of Their Majesties caused the little lad to drop his handkerchief.

Without a moment's hesitation the King stooped and picked it up, and was about to restore it to another little boy, when the Queen with a smile pointed out its rightful owner.

ONTARIO LICENSE SYSTEM.

Suggestions Resulting From the Recent Enquiry In Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The long-awaited report of J. R. L. Starr, who, acting as commissioner for the Ontario Government, early this year investigated the situation as it existed in Toronto concerning the trafficking in licenses, was made public yesterday.

After dealing with the specific charges submitted for enquiry the commission suggests that the license system of Ontario should be through an independent salaried board of license commissioners, with chief inspectors for various provincial districts and makes the following recommendations:

That a percentage system be adopted in determining the amount of license fees, based on the value of the license put up at public tender at stated periods.

That four-fifths of the proceeds of license sales should go to the province and one-fifth to the licensee, the Government's share to be used for educative purposes.

That the license board should be able to promise a license to a man who could promise a suitable building.

That if solicitors were prevented from appearing before the board the appearance of evil would be prevented.

A HARD CASE OVERCOME.

No longer necessary to suffer from muscular rheumatism. Every case can be cured. Ferrozone is unfailing, as proved by David Johnston, of Ormound, Ont. "My wife was a dreadful sufferer," he writes. "For two years she could do very little work. Her knuckles and joints swelled, causing torture. To get up or down stairs was impossible. She took box after box of Ferrozone and rubbed the sore places with Nerviline. Improvement started and she mended fast. To-day she is quite cured and we thank Ferrozone for her recovery." No remedy more popular with doctors than Ferrozone; it does cure, 50c. per box at all dealers.

Most Prized Decoration.

The most prized decoration in Austria corresponds to the British Victoria cross, and its value arises from the rigorous conditions for obtaining it and the fidelity with which they have been observed. It is known as the Maria Theresa cross. "It shall be an inviolable rule," says the foundation statute, "that no person, whoever he may be, shall be admitted to the order for any other consideration than long service or wounds received before the enemy and not for any reasons of birth, favor or influence." "We ourselves join hands on this subject," adds the emperor's founder. "The recipients of the cross are ennobled ipso facto."

A CASE IN WEST ARICHAT.

Mrs. A. P. Ferguson, a well-known Cape Bretoner, has cured asthma by Catarrhoxone. Her statement is convincing: "Although I was troubled for years it was only recently I tried Catarrhoxone. When an attack started I got out my inhaler and invariably got relief. Feeling satisfied Catarrhoxone would cure, I continued the treatment until one bottle was finished. I didn't use more because I was cured and the asthma has never returned." Catarrhoxone is sure death to asthma and bronchitis. Try it and be convinced. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

'Frisco Hotel Burned.

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—The Cliff House, San Francisco's first attraction for tourists, was burned to the ground on Saturday. It was a porticoed wooden structure that overhung the Pacific Ocean, just outside the Golden Gate.

The Cliff House had been closed for some time for repairs. Workmen left that place at noon and how the fire started it is not known. This is the second Cliff House to be destroyed by fire.

The hotel was owned by the Sutro estate and was valued at $50,000. John Tait, the lessee, estimates his loss at $50,000, minus $36,000 insurance. The magnificent Sutro baths nearby were not damaged.

Looking For Stars.

Living to Old Age.

Dr. Wiley, who works for the government at Washington and feeds experimental classes adulterated food to see whether it will do them all that is claimed on the wrapper, says that the next generation will consider it an everyday trick to live 100 years; and that any one in the future who dies of anything but old age will be so ashamed of himself that he won't speak to the neighbors.

That sounds almost as hopeful as the label on a patent medicine bottle, but when it comes to an actual demonstration most people will claim Missouri as their residence.

It is so easy as all that let the doctor go around giving exhibitions. He might remain in each town a week living while there to be 100 years old as an object lesson. Anything less than that will not convince the people.

"Pharisee of Finance."

The third reading of the Finance Bill was recently carried in the British House of Commons.

Sir Gilbert Parker, called Mr. Asquith, the "pharisee of finance"—a phrase which stood steadily by the letter of the law according to Cobden, and listened to nothing in the way of change.

"If I were Chancellor of the Exchequer I would solve the old age pension problem in two years by a graduated tax on incomes over a thousand a year," declared Mr. Peter Curran (Jarrow), dining the menace of Socialism into the ears of the House.

Mr. Asquith declared that the food taxes which he was twitted with retaining were obnoxious to him, and he declared that nothing would give him greater pleasure than to remove those that remained before the time when there is lay down his stony arduous. The budget was carried by 323 to 91.

WOMEN WHO WEAR WELL.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy, the dash like the bloom from a peach which is rarely handed. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change—ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through which change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label.

They All Thought About Alike.

Three "tired" citizens—a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room in the gray light of the early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packs of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. (The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke. "I know what you fellows are thinking," he said; "you think I thought I saw a rat, but I didn't."—Argonaut.

Observant Man.

It is a popular belief that no men "understand dress." Still, it should be known that they have a sort of rough appreciation of general effects. WANTED THE GIBLETS.

An Incident of Revolutionary Days In South Carolina.

There are innumerable stories of Revolutionary days in Charleston. The old ladies used to tell with glee how, when the British were supposed to be on the way, the young fellows would come home to dance with them. A message would go to the nearest cousins and friends and a supper be cooked. It might be only rice and bacon, but it was good to hungry men, declares Charleston's historian, Mrs. Ravenel. The dance and the feast would continue until the stars grew pale.

Often these merry makings were disturbed by the enemy, but there was always a negro or two on the watch, and the harsh note of the screech owl or the cry of the whippoorwill would give the alarm, then "partings in hot haste," a rush for the horses, a sharp scuffle, a hot pursuit and perhaps a prisoner taken.

The young men had odd adventures. One young fellow betrayed himself by his appetite. He was pursued and had taken shelter at Mrs. Motte's place, on South Santee. She rolled him up in a carpet and, pushing it against the wall, told him to keep quiet until the enemy had gone and she could release him.

Unluckily he heard through the open window his hostess giving directions to the cook about the chickens which were to be dressed for the dragoons' dinner. He could not bear to be left out and thrust his head from the carpet chrysalis and cried out, "Keep the giblets for me!"

The soldiers heard, and he was at once caught and carried off to repent at leisure of his indiscretion.

DOUGHERTY ISLAND.

It is the Most Remote and Desolate Spot on Earth.

Which is the loneliest, most desolate and most inaccessible island on the face of the globe? Many people would doubtless plump for one of the Crozets, in the south Atlantic ocean. And yet Hog Island, the westernmost of the group, is by no means an undesirable place of residence, abounding as it does in hares and rabbits, penguins, albatrosses and sea elephants.

Herd island, in the same seas, is far more isolated as well as more barren, but it possesses, as does Hog, a shelter hut for castaways, and it is visited by whalers occasionally. So, too, is South Georgia, but it is right out of the track of shipping any one unlucky enough to be cast away thereon would stand a very poor chance of ever getting off alive.

Bouvet island, in the same seas, is visited even more rarely, and on the last occasion when a ship touched there five corpses were found frozen on the beach, grim mementoes of some unrecorded tragedy of the sea. Possessor island, in its turn, is still lonelier and more inhospitable than Bouvet.

But probably the palm in this direction must be ascribed to Dougherty island, on which, so far as is known, no landing has ever been effected. It has only been sighted twice in a century and is officially described in the admiralty sailing directions as "the most remote and isolated spot on earth."—Pearson's Weekly.

Eyes Keen For Colors.

A young man who had made application for the position of clerk in the silk department of a large store was questioned closely as to the exact shade of a great variety of samples shown him. "We do that," the superintendent explained, "to make sure that you are not color blind. A dry goods store is the one place where color blindness is a positive bar to efficiency. Very often you hear of color blind workmen in all other branches of business. There are it appears, even color blind engineers and color blind artists, but the big stores absolutely shut out men who have not a keen eye for all colors."—New York Post.

Glued Clothes.

"In Korea," said a tailor, "needles and thread are unknown for tailoring. Their place is taken by glue."
"Glue?"
"Glue—a peculiarly fine glue made of fish. Making Korean clothes, the tailor does not bring two edges of cloth together and then slowly and painfully unite them with fine stitches of the needle. No; he overlaps the edges slightly, brushes on a little glue, presses the seam together and sets the garment away to dry.

"I wore glued clothes in Korea and found that they lasted almost as well as sewed ones."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Reading Aloud.

Surely the sum of human happiness might be indefinitely increased if the people learned to take a real delight in the simple, quiet and inexpensive pleasure of reading. Reading aloud in the family circle is an excellent way of bringing the members together. They have thoughts in common and subjects of conversation. How much better and how much happier is this way of spending an evening than the idle, driving games which so frequently take its place!—Reader Magazine.

Where He Played.

"My husband," said the conceited lady, "is a Shakespearean actor."
"Indeed! Does he play in 'Hamlet'?" asked his friend.

Pride and Fried.

"Bluffers gets his new car out several times a day. Matter of pride, I suppose."
"Yep. Fried it out of a mudhole three times last Monday."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An old man hath the almanac in his body.—Italian Proverb.

BOOK PLATES.

They Came Within Fifty Years After the Invention of Printing.

It was within half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume.

Germany, the fatherland of printing from movable type and of wood cutting for making impressions in ink on paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated woodcut of accepted authenticity is the well known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim, in Swabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat of arms of the family or some other heraldic device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1574; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1597, and Italy, 1623. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Pepps, July 1

A gentleman buying a bottle of Veteran's Sure Cure, said: "This is a small bottle for 50c." I replied, make a calculation. A 12 oz. bottle of other medicine costs $1; the dose is 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day, equal to 11-2 ozs.; the 12 ozs. lasts 8 days. That 50c. V. S. C. bottle contains about 150 days' medicine; 18-24 times as much as the large bottle—a saving of $18.00. In the one you pay for water and glass. V. S. C. is concentrated medicine without water. It is the medicine for all classes; 50c. and $1 bottles. At druggists. Mailed anywhere by The V. S. C. Med. Co., Chatham, Ont.

A FINE SERVICE

The William Street Baptist Church was crowded to the doors last night to hear one of the finest musical services that has been rendered in the Maple City for some time.

Rev. W. G. Matthews preached a very interesting, uplifting, and clever sermon, and took for his text, "Clean Manhood in a Wicked City." His sermon throughout was bright. The musical service was put on by a thirty-five voiced male choir, and it is safe to say that no finer chorus of singers were ever grouped together in this city before. This portion of the service was under the direction of Choir Director Frank Phelps, and much credit is due that gentleman for the success of the service.

The opening number was the long meter Doxology, and was well rendered. The anthem by the chorus, entitled "Praise Ye the Father," made an excellent number for the male singers, and was rendered with much vim and volume. A solo, "The City Divine," was sung by Mr. Wilfred Smith. Mr. Smith was in fine voice Sunday night and received many compliments for his excellent rendition of the song. The male quartette of the church did themselves credit in their singing of the selection, entitled, "He Is Knocking at My Heart."

The male quartette are fast winning for themselves a name throughout the city as talented and rising young vocalists. The service closed with the singing of the Coronation Hymn.

WILL NOT RUN UNLESS—

There Must Be Widespread Demand For Third Term.

New York, Sept. 10.—A special from Honolulu quotes Congressman Longworth, who has just sailed from that port for San Francisco, as saying:

"President Roosevelt will not become a candidate for re-nomination unless the entire country demands it. He has firmly made up his mind to stick to this course, and only a more widespread demand for him to accept the nomination will alter his determination."

Union of Free Churches.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Rev. B. Meyer has commenced a great national ministry scheme in Leicester, with the idea of uniting all the free churches of Britain and overseas dominions into one great free church federation for the Empire. Mr. Meyer visits South Africa, Australia, and Canada successively, starting next year.

At the Brisco Opera House—Faust—Thursday Sept. 12.

AN ELABORATE PRODUCTION OF "FAUST"

Mr. Porter J. White and an excellent company will give one of the most superb presentations of that most spectacular play, "Faust," that has ever been put on in this city.

The following is taken from the Danville, Ill., Democrat:

"Faust, the story old of man's temptation and his fall, was presented at the Grand last night by Porter J. White and a good company. The acting was excellent. The mechanism and electrical effects were superior to those of any production of Faust ever seen here. It is certainly a good company, aided by very effective settings and mechanisms."

Remember the date for Chatham—Brisco Opera House, Thursday, September 12th.
