BRITISH LINE NORTHWEST OF LE CATELET IS ADVANCED

Terrific Counter Attacks by Teuton Forces Fail to Make Any Material Alteration in Situation; German Resistance Stiffens, and British Progress is Slower

By Courier Leased Wire. LONDON, Oct. 5.—(Bulletin.)—In the region north of St. Quentin, British troops made substantial progress yesterday southeast of Beauvevoir and north of Le Catelet. Field Marshal Haig's report today says that 800 prisoners were captured.

The British line northwest of LeCatelet was advanced slightly Friday night. A statement dealing with the operations around St. Quentin, issued by the French War Office, and just received here, says: "We have taken Charton-Vert, south of Sequehart and many fortified woods. We have captured Morcourt where we took 400 prisoners and four cannon."

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following: "Although the British are reported to be clear through the Hindenburg system north and east of St. Quentin, the Germans have apparently succeeded in retarding the advance of Field Marshal Haig's men. Terrific counter-attacks have driven the British back slightly at some points, but have not succeeded in materially altering the situation. British cavalry and tanks are said to be operating in the open country back of the German lines, but have not been able to debouch there, and bring about a retreat of the Germans north and south of Le-Catelet. Fighting in this sector has been of the most desperate character.

NATIONAL EFFICIENCY EXPLAINED

Rev. Dr. Shearer Spoke on Social Questions in Y. M.C.A. Here

The work of National Efficiency was given a thorough explanation and discussion at the meeting in the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. last evening, at which a very remarkable and interesting address was delivered by Dr. Shearer of Toronto, under the auspices of the Social Service Council of Canada.

Among the guests of honor at the meeting was Captain Joe Lawson, the famous recruit of Toronto. Rev. J. E. Peters, the chairman, summed up very interestingly the aims of the meeting. Mr. Agar.

tion, bringing home to the audience the great neglect of children in the large cities. Dr. Shearer. Dr. Shearer, the speaker of the evening was then called upon for his address. The Social Service Council of Canada is a federation of all like associations for the promotion of efforts for social betterment. Local social wrongs are ones that should be righted first. We are engaged, propelled by Christian love in the betterment of the social life of our fellow citizens.

FLU HAS HIT BRANTFORD

Prompt Action Needed to Check Spread of Spanish Influenza

Spanish influenza has reached Brantford. Just how prevalent it may become, depends largely on how promptly action may be taken by the local health officials. Already scores of cases have been reported, and this morning the death is announced of a prominent local physician, due to the dreaded disease.

LT. PRESTON GIVES LIFE

Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Preston received the news that their husband had been reported killed at the front on Friday, September 27th. Lieutenant Preston was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Preston and he was a member of the Expositor Company. He had a notable career at school and the Collegiate, taking a prominent part in all major sports.

In October, 1917, his fiancée, Miss Jean Paterson, went to England to become his bride. On October 25th they were married at Witley Church at the same time as Lieut. Slemin and Miss Sweet. Together with two other young married couples, Lieut. and Mrs. Hugh Livingston, and Lieut. and Mrs. Morley Verity, they kept home in England. Now two of the brave lads have passed to the great beyond. Lieut. Slemin is in hospital wounded and only Lieut. Verity remains in active service.

The French have made new gains between Barry-au-Bac and Rheims and also north of Auberive, east of Rheims. The line of retreat from the three hills shown on the map eastward and the French and Americans have gained dominating ground far to the north of Auberive that will enable them to restrict to night-time most of the movements by the enemy.

GREENS ALMOST DOUBLED SCORE

Y.M.C.A. Membership Campaign Came to Close Last Night

Mr. Brewster made a characteristic cheering speech and pointed out that there would be a net gain of about 200 members over the campaign of last year. It was an exceptional record, everything being considered.

Canada's Labor Unrest Slight. A great deal had been heard of late concerning labor unrest. Meticulous sources said that this was peculiar to Canada; as a matter of fact, it had existed since before the war, throughout the world.

MINISTER OF LABOR SPOKE TO WORKMEN

Hon. T. W. Crothers Addressed Open Meeting in City Last Evening

LABOR SITUATION

Conciliation, consideration and mediation were the ideals by which labor disagreements can best be avoided, held out by the Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor in the Union Government, when he addressed an open meeting of workmen and other citizens in the Board of Trade rooms last night.

Mr. Crothers, arriving in the city yesterday morning, addressed the members of the Board of Trade and a number of their guests, at a noonday luncheon, and spent the afternoon in a tour of inspection of the industrial districts of the city, expressing great satisfaction at the efficiency existing everywhere, and the spirit of harmony apparent between employers and employes.

Without a dissenting voice, Canada had voted in August, 1914, to participate in the war until the end. Every political party united in pledging loyalty to the mother country, over men, women and children in Canada was bound to do his or her best toward constituting a great national army. The young, the strong, the robust, went to the front to risk life for the great cause at stake.

War cannot be carried on alone by the men on the firing line; victory depends as much, or more, on those who remain at home. Upon the shoulders of the latter fell the obligation of carrying on behind the men in the trenches. "Do we, individually, realize that?" demanded Mr. Crothers. Men could not fight without food, the production of food was equally essential with the keeping of the lines. The same keen sense of duty which prompted Canada's first volunteers and their later reinforcements, should animate every Canadian today.

While They Are Spending More for Us We Must Save More for Them

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

Mr. Mandel sees the New Apartment Before Brian. CHAPTER XXI. Ruth was greatly disturbed because of Brian's admission that he had discussed her with Mollie King, although she said no more about it.

"I must be awfully old-fashioned in my ideas," she muttered. "I shall have to make myself over a little. I guess. But I wish—Brian wouldn't discuss me with Mollie King—or anyone."

Again the thought that perhaps Brian would care more for her if she were contented to stay at home, do the work and live as they would have to live on what he earned, crossed her mind.

Ruth had yet to learn that home-building is an absorbing task. That to most men it is THE absorbing task, and one they think about continually and satisfy a woman. Brian was one of this sort. He remembered, in his own home where poverty, stark and unlovely, had always been a guest, his two sisters dressed in calico and remained at home and helped cook, clean and do all the menial tasks that those who lack money have to do.

Ruth had no intention of having her work a bone of contention between herself and Brian. Far from it. It had been, it was, her idea to make that work a bond between them; to have it help her to make Brian's home a happy one, to help give him good, nourishing food, properly cooked; to relieve him as far as she could, and he would let her, of the annoyances of housekeeping.

She was both exasperated and depressed by her knowledge that Brian had discussed her with Mollie King. She could not forget it. She succeeded in suppressing her desire to find fault with him because of it, and compelled herself to appear interested whenever she spoke of Mollie—which he often did.

Once when he had talked of Mollie for some time, Ruth recalled that somewhere she had read that if "a person was falling in love they unconsciously talked of the person with whom they were enamoured."

Could it be that Brian was beginning to care for Mollie King? She dismissed the idea with a shrug of her shoulders. But somehow, Brian seemed different. She could not find him in accord with her so that she felt like encouraging and praising him as she did when they were first married. Brian too felt there was some change in Ruth—a change he could not understand, so laid it to her work. Had they quarreled it would have perhaps been better. Quarrels sometimes clear the air. But things never went as far as that. Occasionally Brian would sulk. There it would stop until one or the other would forget, and be natural once more.

Ruth had rented the apartment near the office. She had attended to everything herself. Brian had acted sulky, uninterested. But when they were settled, even before, (it took Ruth many weeks to make the place as attractive as it finally became) he would frequently remark that "he guessed it really was better for a lawyer to live in a decent place. He had mentioned it to Curtis, and Curtis had agreed with him."

Mr. Mandel had gone over to the apartment, one day before they moved in. Ruth had met him near there and asked him if he would like to see it. He had been very gracious about it, although she realized it must seem small and mean to him.

It was not then furnished, but the walls had been decorated according to Ruth's directions, the lighting was in order, and the dainty figured curtains hung.

"You will have a very attractive home," he had assured her kindly, "doesn't Mr. Hackett think so?" "He hasn't seen yet," Ruth confessed, flushing, "he has been busy," she added, hating to have Mr. Mandel think Brian had not cared / to visit the home in which she was so proud.

DISASTROUS EXPLOSION. New York, Oct. 5.—The explosion which occurred in the Gillespie plant at Morgan, N. J., at 10 a.m., was like many of the previous explosions, distinctly felt in New York, 29 miles distant and was even reported to have been felt as far away as Indianapolis. The explosion was caused by a stick of dynamite which exploded at 10:30 o'clock with a series of explosions at the plant.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up. This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

There is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, itching in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest soreness, caused by a 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or whooping cough.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of 70 per cent alcohol into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you can use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family size quantity. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine resin, known to the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. TYPHOID IN SIMCOE

Citizens Want Cleaning Up of Town as a Preventive Measure. SPANISH 'FLU ALSO? (From our own Correspondent) One Man of Whole Platoon Unscathed.

Simcoe, Oct. 5.—J. H. Butler has received a letter from his son, Corporal J. Butler, of the 14th Canadian, descriptive of an advance described a few days ago in the papers. The young man came through with one scratch after his platoon had gone over the top four times. He was the only man left of the whole platoon.

Another Soldier Landed. Mr. J. Hawkins was yesterday reported arriving Toronto, and is expected home to-day. He is pretty well used up, but expects to be able to get about after a few months. Our last advice of him was that he was going about on crutches.

Telephone Rates. The quarterly statements from the Ball Telephone Co. intimate that in future subscribers' contracts will be subject to the dispositions of the Railway Municipal Board. This is a forecast of a change in rates. If the Board will just cut the local rates half and require the company to junk their entire switch board and arrange some change of getting service for their money. It is out of the realm of conjecture to state that any attempt to increase rates in Simcoe will result in a considerable slump in the number of phones used.

Why This Typhoid? Up to the present the Board of Health has no announcement to make regarding the origin of typhoid fever in town, but there are not a splendid humor to give that body an idea. In almost every instance there is in the vicinity of a pile of kitchen refuse, and more objectionable material. And if all the castigation that has been poured on the Board of Health, that body would have spent all last night making plans for a Sanitary program for to-day. It is not enough when the officers are the victim of their carelessness and wanton disregard of sanitation conventional power to waste on invited disease.

Dr. Toll Victim of Epidemic. Dr. Toll visited on Sunday the first case of the new influenza epidemic and on Tuesday had to quit work himself. It is said that while the young make a quick recovery, the disease is very contagious and leaves the adult susceptible to other flues. Some yesterday suggested that the schools be closed, but with churches, picture shows and other intermingled gatherings, better judgment prevailed. The public schools will close for the week, next Tuesday night for the first and the teachers' convention which follows.

His horse, hens and other chattels are being sold, and it is expected that the house will be vacant. Chief Canning, however, is on the job and Edward will sooner or later make a longer trip to court, in the usual way of putting it. The sample of corn left at the office to-day by J. Alex. Wallace measures 15 feet 3 1/2 inches in length. The crop from which it was taken is too tall for the binder, and is being cut by hand. It looks as if Windham township has produced the longest stalk, but the Simcoe stalks on the whole are the better plant with the best ears. A six-foot man can touch the base of the lowest ear on the Wallace stalk with his waist, and can do so without standing on tip-toe. We are allowing the root to count in the measurement. Each of the three exhibits now at the agency is pulled rather than cut. Old residents say they never before saw in Norfolk such length of fodder corn.

Mr. Kelly persists. At a special meeting of the Board of Education last night Mr. Kelly persisted in the need of a building in the North Ward. He impressed the board with his view and a special meeting will be held to consider the matter.

Less of Absence Extended. The secretary was instructed to inform Miss McCool that her request for leave of absence is granted.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of sundry accounts, totalling for the High School $292.94, and for the Public Schools $15.35. The big item of the High School expenditure was an item of $281.70 for repairs to the science room. The chairman and secretary were authorized to requisition the Town Council for $4,000 in advance of collections of rates, to cover August and September disbursements.

The Management Committee reported the engagement of Mr. E. D. Manning to fill the vacancy caused by the non-appearance of Mr. Cole. The secretary reported the contract forms duly completed. The report was adopted and the engagement of Mr. Manning confirmed.

Mr. Cole to Pay Penalty. The secretary of the board was, on motion of Messrs. Lawson and Martin, authorized to write the Minister of Education in reply to his letter of Sept. 25th re Mr. Cole's contract, stating that if Mr. Cole shall pay to this board the sum of $180 in damages for breach of contract, being the excess of salary paid to get a teacher in his place, that he shall be relieved from his contract and all obligations to the board with regard thereto.

Too Late for Insertion Yesterday. Following a meeting of the executive held last week, the Norfolk County Poultry Association met at the agricultural office to elect officers and transact general business. The dates fixed for the winter show are January 21-2-3, and if it can be secured the Armoury will be used for the occasion.

Mr. A. F. Dwyer asked to be relieved from his duties as secretary treasurer after four years of continuous diligent and capable service.

The officers elected are: Hon. President, John S. Martin; L. C. Gibson; H. Groff, Pres. H. A. Carter; 1st. Vice Pres. H. L. Johnson; 2nd. A. W. Widner; Sec.-Treas. Ver. Ervort.

Mr. J. Alex. Wallace has promised to bring down from the Stock farm a stalk of corn that will beat our two-year, 14 foot 10 inch exhibit. Watch for it.

Houghton township fair must have been a hummer. One amusement stand operated by a Simcoeian is reported to have taken in over $100.

School fairs held in almost every township of the county have been generally very well patronized, and there is general evidence of their being a stimulus to scientific husbanding of stock and cultivation of all crops, fruit, vegetables, roots and cereals, and they tend to keep the youth on the farm.

For years Inspector Cook has taken keen interest in the work and the agriculture representative, has worked strenuously for their success.

Mrs. W. B. Tomkinson addressed the Women's Institute yesterday on the topic "The Ins and Outs of Conservation."

THE SITUATION

The German retreat in Flanders is commencing to resemble very much of a rout. Their retirement has now reached a depth of six miles between Arras and Lens, and there are rumors of discontent and disorganization among the various units.

Fighting with their backs to the wall, the Hun is desperately attempting to close the gap in the main defensive line. The victor is not yet wide enough to permit of the passage of an army, and by six powerful counter-attacks, Ludendorff has endeavored to close the present breach, but without any success, and the advance of Hall's men continues.

Canadians are holding out in splendid style, but in the recent fighting they have probably suffered the heaviest casualty list sustained by them since the commencement of the war. They have pushed still further into the ruins of Cambrai.

The Americans have recorded a great smash in the Argonne, and French activities continue to be crowned with splendid success.

THE VISIT OF HON. MR. CROTHERS. As Minister of Labor in the Union Government, the Hon. Mr. Crothers has a most arduous post to fill and one which often makes him the subject of critical remarks from both employers and employees.

It is however, the testimony of all who have watched his career that he has given of his best effort to solve the many difficulties which are brought to his attention, and that under his control of the labor department troubles have been far less than in U.S. or Great Britain.

"A labor man has just as much right to join a labor union from which he will benefit, as a doctor, a lawyer or any other man has to join a professional organization. The sooner it is recognized that men have a right to organize, the better it will be for all concerned."

FOR LIBERTY'S SAKE. The Corrier grieves with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Preston and family and the bereaved young widow in the passing of Lieut. Harold Preston.

He was a young man of proved ability and high promise, the possessor of an upright and honorable character and he would without any doubt have made his mark in the profession of journalism, a career upon which he had already embarked with so much initial success.

Like so many thousands of other brave Canadian boys he responded to the call of Empire and of human liberty not because he liked fighting for fighting's sake, but for the reason that his nature was such that he could not stand idly by when the call came on behalf of a noble cause and the maintenance of the great heritage of individual and national freedom and honor.

These things were won by the blood of the men of days gone by and it has fallen to the lot of the younger men of this generation to see that they are retained in all their splendid inviolacy.

And like so many thousands of other heroes who have gone from these shores, he now sleeps quietly over there, his life and theirs laid down so that the inherent principles of God-given civilization might be retained. In memory of all such who bow the head, while the heart is confirmed in the determination that they shall not have made the great sacrifice in vain.

MINISTER OF LABOR

roar of battle, strikes had been far more numerous than in Canada. The speaker went on to give an appreciation of America's contribution to the allied cause.

"I tell you, gentlemen," declared Mr. Crothers, "labor organization has done much for both employer and employee under proper conditions it could do more."

Applause greeted this statement. One employer had written Mr. Crothers asking that membership in a labor union be made a criminal offence, subject to an adequate penalty.

"He ought to be interned," commented Mr. I. S. Armstrong, of the audience. One fertile source of labor disturbances was the unreasoning hostility of some employers to unionism.

Wages, and the high cost of living combined as another cause of unrest. Every workman should receive a wage enabling him and his family to live in comfort.

Educational Matters. Touching on the subject of education, Mr. Crothers recalled the growth of the movement for free education from its first conception, expressing satisfaction at the point reached today.

"Do you think free education should be extended through the high school?" inquired I. S. Armstrong in a minute that a sage could answer in a lifetime," queried Mr. Crothers.

"I think I have expressed my opinion well provided that the price of food, Mr. Crothers explained the manner in which Canadian prices were regulated by those in force in the United States. It was impracticable for the government to attempt to fix the prices on all staple articles. Legislation now on the statute books provided power to prosecute in cases where exorbitant prices had been charged; further, municipal councils had the power to appoint two of their officials as a commission, with the same powers as a government commission, to inquire into the price of any article, to publish their findings and to prosecute if exorbitant prices are shown to have been charged.

As the law of supply and demand was always the controlling factor on prices, the great demand existing to-day of necessity brought about higher prices; all the laws of human sufficiency declared the speaker, could not counteract such a tendency.

"We are going to do everything we can to keep prices reasonable," promised Mr. Crothers, "but we can't get over the fact that there are millions of men overseas calling for food, and we are sending them all that we can possibly spare."

As a member of the Union Government, the speaker declared that the plate harmony existed among the 47 days in length, the House had enacted more important legislation than previous parliaments had done in six months. Mr. Crothers, in closing, laid particular stress on the enactment for the law for a dry Canada.

W. F. Cocksbutt thanked the Minister of Labor for his visit to Brantford, a city which occupied a unique position industrially. During the few years Brantford prospered almost fabulously three firms to-day had contracts for $13,500,000 worth of munitions for the United States.

The Canadian troops overseas had proven themselves as good as the best, and Mr. Crothers could take back to Ottawa the word that Brantford's workmen were as good as the best. Ten or more manufacturing concerns in the city to-day were turning out munitions of war, thousands of men who four years ago had never seen a shell, were to-day experts in their production.

Four months ago, the situation on the west front had reached a critical stage, declared Mr. Cocksbutt, but from every battle front, the sound of victory was coming back to-day. Brandfordites in particular had given a good account of themselves in every branch of patriotic endeavor, every branch of patriotic endeavor, Mr. Cocksbutt referred to the city's increase in population and assessment during 1918, as an instance of their present prosperity and an indication for future growth. He recalled that twenty years ago he had endorsed the principle of labor unionism and expressed pleasure that Mr. Crothers saw matters in the same light. Those who possessed more than their share of worldly goods, should give the benefit of the doubt on every occasion to the wage earners employed by them.

"In Brantford," he declared, "we have as good and loyal a population of workmen as can be found in any city of Canada, I can say without flattery."

"The city of workmen's homes" was the term applied to Brantford by the late John Brown, former British Minister of Labor, on a visit here years ago.

Mr. A. G. Brown expressed regret that more of the city's manufacturers, as well as the workmen, had not been in attendance to hear Mr. Crothers.

Several Queries. "Has the government taken any action to provide employment after the war for those now engaged on munition work?" inquired A. J. Kytka of the Trades and Labor Council.

Mr. Crothers, in reply, stated that the department of Soldiers' Re-establishment had been supported by presley to deal with the question of finding employment for discharged soldiers at the close of the war. In addition to this a cabinet committee had been appointed to study conditions relative to workmen now employed on war work of the Independent Labor Party charged that mechanics leaving their factories were blacklisted by other factories, and thus forced to leave the city.

"Has nothing been done to prevent the United States, if not, does that not favor of coercion?" Mr. Crothers stated that no direct action had been taken in Canada against such a practice. Under most conditions, it was not desirable to have workmen changing from one factory to another. He expressed the opinion that boards of investigation should be appointed to consider the cases of men discharged from their employment in what they felt to be an unjust manner.

Mr. F. Smith recalled a recent dispute between the local carpenters and the builders' exchange, in which the Minister of Labor had refused to appoint a board of conciliation, and inquired why because both parties did not agree to ask for the appointment of a board," replied Mr. Crothers.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

FAT REDUCTION IS NOT SINFUL

The purpose of Beauty is to refine the native unloveliness of human nature. We all bow to its power. It is the only authority that has no nihilist shadow. Alas! this means the fat woman must serve instead of rule, for beauty in woman is a composite of both line and feature.

Thousands of fat women can reduce that fat (not the good pure-

RIVET your eyes on this picture of a Belgian mother and child, until you feel the full horror of the situation! Thousands of these orphans, dying of starvation, might now be living in comfort and plenty, had their soldier fathers not flung themselves into the breach when the Hun invaded Belgium.

The fathers died to save us. Are we going to let the orphans starve? Conditions are simply ghastly. The United States loans to the Belgian Government finance the general relief work, but this only provides a bowl of soup and two pieces of bread to each person per day.

What is that for a growing child? The Slaughter of the Innocents is less terrible than what is now occurring in Belgium—practically a whole generation of the Belgian nation in the grip of Consumption, Rickets and other ills all directly due to insufficient nourishment.

IN BEAUTIFUL FRANCE. "I am sure that you never heard of Huiy. Yet it is a little hamlet less than thirty miles from Paris. It is in that district between Paris and Meaux, little known to the ordinary traveller. It consists of less than a dozen rude farmhouses, less than five miles, as the bird flies, from Meaux, which, with a fair cathedral, and a beautiful chestnut-shaded promenade on the banks of the Marne, spanned just there by lines of old mills whose water wheels churn the river into foaming eddies, has never been popular with excursionists." Mildred Aldrich wrote in 1914, in "A Hilltop on the Marne," describing her new home.

"The house stands in a small garden, separated from the road by an old garret, hedge of hazel. It is almost on the crest of the hill on the south bank of the Marne—the hill that is watered between the Marne and the Grand Morin.

"From the lawn, on the north side of the house, I command a panorama which I have rarely seen equaled. In the west, the new part of Ebbly climbs to the hill, and from there to a hill at the northeast I have a wide view of the valley of the Marne, backed by a low line of hills which is the watershed between the Marne and the Aisne. Low down in the valley, at the northwest, lies Ile de Villenois, like a toy town, where the big bridge spans the Marne to carry the railroad past Meaux. On the horizon line to the west the tall chimneys of Claye send lines of smoke into the air. In the foreground to the north, at the foot of the hill, are the roofs of two little hamlets—Jouchery and Voisins—and beyond them the trees that border the canal."

On the other side of the Marne stretch of fields dotted with little villages that peep out from the trees or are silhouetted against the sky line—Vigney, Trilbardou, Penchard, Monthyon, Neumortier, Chaucourt, and in the foreground to the north, in the valley, just halfway between Meaux and Meaux, lies Marouillet-on-the-Marne, with its red roofs, gray walls and church spire. With a glass I can see where Chambray and Barcy are, on the slope behind Meaux, even if the trees conceal them.

"This is a rolling country of grain fields, orchards, masses of black currant bushes, vegetable plots—it is a great sugar-beet country—and asparagus beds; for the Department of the Seine et Marne is one of the most productive in France, and every inch under cultivation. It is what the French call un paysage riant, and I assure you, it does more than smile these lovely June mornings. I am up every morning almost as soon as the sun, and I slip my feet into sabots, wrap myself in a big cloak, and run right on to the lawn to make sure that the panorama has not disappeared in the night. There always lies—too good almost to be true—miles and miles of laughing country, little white towns just smiling in the early light, a thin strip of river here and there, dimpling and dancing, and there, stretches of fields of all colors—all so peaceful and so gay, and all so 'chummy' that it gladdens the opening day, and makes me rejoice to have lived to see it. I never weary of it. It changes every hour, and I never can decide at which hour it is loveliest."

FIRE PREVENTION Extracts from PROCLAMATION Issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario. Whereas next to the care of those who are offering their lives on the front line of battle, the conservation of all our energies and substance is our most important problem; And Whereas the saving of human life, thrift, and the prevention of loss of property through destruction by fire, is an aid which every one should give willingly to the community at large; And whereas the reckless and impoverishing fire waste that confronts the people of our Province is appalling; Therefore, believing that the loss can be minimized only by awakening in the public mind a universal watchfulness against carelessness, accumulation of rubbish and unsanitary conditions; and Because of this great need and in order to arouse a sense of watchfulness, carefulness and cleanliness, and to create a greater personal responsibility in reducing the number of preventable fires. We have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council for our Province of Ontario, to name, and do hereby name

9th DAY OF OCTOBER, 1918 AS FIRE PREVENTION DAY And We do hereby urge that on this day, throughout our Province of Ontario, attention be called in schools and public places to the conditions that exist, and to the need of immediate action and co-operation on the part of everyone; and special exercises, addresses and other means be employed to impress on the public mind lessons of Fire Prevention. To insure the success of this great Clean-Up Campaign it will be necessary to have the hearty and harmonious co-operation of all who have for their objects civic, social and industrial betterment. The Proclamation should be read in all schools and at Public Gatherings. Office of the Fire Marshal of Ontario, GEORGE F. LEWIS, Deputy Fire Marshal. Toronto, Sept. 21st, 1918.

Manual Labor is at a Premium THE demand for labor exceeds the supply—labor is at a premium. Employers of labor, therefore, are looking for mechanical equipment to make good the shortage. The motor truck has already proven itself a conservator of manpower. In your delivery department fewer men will be required if you use the Ford One-Ton Truck. It will release labor for productive work and at the same time improve your delivery. A body suitable for your requirements is easily obtained and attached. Price (chassis only) $750 F. O. B. O.A.C. TEAM TO PLAY.

Mr. Geoff Whitaker has received a challenge from the Ontario Agricultural College Rugby team for a game with the Old Collegiate Boys team. The challenge has been accepted and the game will be played some time next week.

RETURNS TO TRENCHES.

Pte. Fred Smith of this city, who was reported wounded some time ago has, according to ward received here recently, recovered from his wounds and is back at the battle line.

RESIGNS POSITION.

Mr. John Colter has resigned the management of the Ontario Portland Cement Company and will in future devote his time to teaching business.

GOES TO U. S.

Mr. Garry Pickles, manager of the Brantford Laundry, Limited, leaves to-morrow night for Chicago to attend the National Laundry Owners' 35th annual convention on Monday next. Mr. Pickles will also visit some of the best laundries and dry cleaning plants before returning.

HURT IN RACE.

While racing in one of the pacings events at the Oshkosh Fair yesterday afternoon, Mr. T. Quinlan of this city was thrown from his buggy when it struck against the bank of the track. He received a painful shaking up, and as a result is confined to his bed to-day, but it is hoped that he is without serious injury.

SONG SERVICE.

On Sunday night in the Y.M.C.A. an old feature of the association will be re-established. At 8.30 there will be a song service for men and women in the auditorium, at which the singing will be led by Mr. J. H. Friend, who led a similar service twenty years ago. Rev. Robt. White will be the speaker of the evening.

TALENT TEA.

A very successful talent tea was held at the home of Mrs. Underwood, 121 William St., on Thursday, Oct. 3rd, when a substantial sum was made to send boxes to the men overseas. A large number of members were present with their friends and altogether it was a delightful success. The members extend their thanks to all those who contributed.

MOTOR TRANSPORT.

The acuteness of freight problem is being solved by the use of giant motor trucks to carrying merchandise. This week several Toronto firms have sent goods here by this means and other loads have been sent to London.

CHILD ILL.

Yesterday afternoon a small child was seized with convulsions and the mother carried the child into the fire hall where it lay for some time unconscious. Dr. T. H. Eler was summoned and when he arrived he pronounced the child out of danger and it was removed to its home.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.

The township council will meet on Monday evening for the discussion of several important matters. The meeting will in all probability be a lengthy one.

ALIENS ON PAROLE.

To-day the police station was crowded with foreigners reporting for their regular monthly parole. The work necessitates practically the whole day.

TAXES DUE TO-DAY.

To-day is the last day for the payment of taxes and as a result the office of the city treasurer was crowded with eleven hour ones paying the last installment of taxes.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The schools will close on Thursday and Friday next before the "Thanksgiving" holiday, owing to the annual meeting of the county and city teachers' association. On Friday, the teachers expect to visit schools in the City of Hamilton.

DIED AT NIAGARA.

Mr. William Glover has received word of the death in the Niagara Camp of his nephew, Geo. Richardson, formerly of Paris. He is a victim of the Spanish influenza. A brother died some time ago after three years' service in France.

TWO PLATOON SYSTEM.

Two platoon system for the fire department has received the adoption in Toronto and the adoption there it is thought will greatly strengthen the argument in favor of it here. Chief Lewis is in favor of the system as are all other members of the department and they will press their views to the council as soon as possible.

BOWLING.

The Pastimes, winners of the Penman Cup at Paris, defended their possession of that trophy against the Brantford Club yesterday afternoon, defeating two links by 23 shots. The score was as follows:

OBITUARY

MRS. S. TILLBURY

The death occurred last evening of Mrs. Sydney Tillbury at the hospital. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss her parents, a sorrowing husband, three daughters and two brothers, James and Wm. Stevenson, both in military service. The funeral will take place on Monday.

DR. L. G. PEARCE

The death occurred this morning quite suddenly of Dr. Leslie G. Pearce, ear and throat specialist. He was taken ill about a week ago with influenza and this followed by pneumonia brought about the end. The attending physician states that all the symptoms were those of the new scourge—Spanish influenza.

The doctor was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pearce, 211 Wellington street, and he was born in Brantford. He was a very brilliant student and a gold medalist of McGill University. He commenced to practice in this city a comparatively short time ago and by his exceptional skill and urbanity had soon built up a very large clientele. He was an active member of Zion Church, being a teacher of the Sunday School and he and his wife were Presbyterian missionary delegates expecting in the not distant future to take up that work. By his earnest and sincere qualities he had earned the unbounded respect of all with whom he came in contact. A widow and two children are left to mourn his great loss. He has two brothers in the army, one Major Pearce, of Ottawa, invalidated home after wounds.

Another brother is manager of the Bank of Hamilton in Winnipeg. He was a prominent Mason, having attained the 30th degree.

LAI D AT REST

MRS. HANSFIELD

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Hansfield took place this morning from her late residence, 124 Pearl street to St. Basil's church, and proceeded from thence to St. Joseph's cemetery. Mass was sung by Rev. Father Catania, and the service at the grave was conducted by Rev. Dean Brady. The pall bearers were Messrs F. Vinnal, F. Murphy, R. White, Jack Gilmartin, Thos. Hansfield and Jack Cook.

Mass cards were received from Mr. and Mrs. T. Slattery, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Goetz, Eileen and Loretta Goetz, Miss Mary Cartey, Nellie and Alice Treacy and Mr. and Mrs. W. Hayes, Mrs. N. Brennan, Mr. Wm. Cartey, Mr. and Mrs. R. White and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Gilmartin, Miss Mary Gilmartin, Mr. and Mrs. F. Vinnal and family, Miss Comerford, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brohman, Mr. and Mrs. S. O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jenkins, Miss E. Lunn, Miss A. Lunn, Miss Ellen Cornwall, Mrs. Judge and family, a friend, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gilmartin and family. A spray was also received from Mrs. Joseph Potts.

remedying of the social, moral, economic evils. Medical authorities tell us that every year in Canada 35,000 children under five years die, whose lives could have been saved. Lack of fresh air, sanitary houses, pure milk and other pure foods within the reach of the poor is the cause of the death of these children. Nearly every civilized country is promoting the saving of children. If child welfare in the British dominions had been pursued years ago the present war would very probably have been brought to successful issue before this time and without the aid of the United States. Other moral questions have not been sufficiently discussed and that evil has thrived until the light of truth has been turned on it and this great moral question will be answered and finally unknown in Brantford, but in other districts the Social Service Council of Canada has this to fight. The abolition of the evil is gradually becoming more and more less-

Save Meat and Wheat by Getting ALL the Goodness of Milk

Outside of Canada, the world is facing a famine. Britain, France, Italy are on food rations.

Meat and bacon are needed—every possible pound—to feed the fighting forces.

The armies and civilians, too, in Europe need all the wheat that America can supply.

These foods are the mainstay of life. Other foods are equally scarce "over there."

It is not only a loyal but a humane duty for every Canadian home to take part in the fight against world starvation.

Your effort may be small. But multiplied in a million homes it means a vital saving.

Be sparing in your use of the scarce foods. Use more milk—the one food that is not needed overseas.

Food experts, doctors, medical health officers, all say milk is more than a beverage—it is the most nourishing of foods.

At the same time it is the most economical. And it is easy to obtain.

One thing make sure of. Get all the goodness of milk. Hygienic Dairy milk comes from the finest farms in this great dairying district. It is richer in cream. It is made safe by scientific pasteurization. Its route—from farm to home—is scrupulously sanitary. It comes from a well-equipped modern dairy. It is bottled in clean, sterilized bottles.

No ordinary milk gives you this goodness. Certainly no "prepared" milk can.

Use more Hygienic Dairy milk. Don't take merely a pint when you need a quart.

Serve it instead of tea or coffee.

Make more dishes containing milk.

Take an extra supply for the children's sake.

LILLE WILL SOON BE FREE ONCE MORE.

The above picture shows the great French city under German rule. Hun soldiers being seen crossing the bridge. The Germans are fast retreating on the front from Arrmentieres to Lens, which is opposite Lille. If this continues far enough the city will shortly be in French hands again. It is expected though that the Germans will try to stand on a line running directly through Lille, but this plan may be upset by the encircling movement of the Anglo-Belgians to the north in Flanders.

JOINT BOARD OF TRADE IS FORMED

Municipalities of the Grand River Valley Organize for Development OFFICERS ELECTED

A Grand River Valley Board of Trade, open to all municipalities located in the valley of the Grand River, and having for its aim the improvement of Port Dover and other Lake Erie harbors, improved railway and transportation facilities and provincial highways, and the obtaining of a plentiful supply of pure gas, was organized in the Board of Trade rooms yesterday afternoon, following the luncheon tendered to the Hon. T. W. Crothers. Delegates from municipalities as widely separated as Port Dover and Kitchener were present, and the purpose of the meeting was explained by Mr. J. H. Hancock of Galt, secretary of the present committee on the Port Dover harbor question. Messrs. J. S. Martin of Port Dover, McGillivray of Preston and R. T. Kelly, president of the Hamilton Board of Trade, and other speakers expressed their hearty approval of the project. The following resolution was submitted and unanimously carried: Moved by John Harold, M.P., Paris, seconded by John A. Bain, Woodstock, that the municipalities of the Grand River Valley, and those districts adjacent thereto are mutually interested, the list of such questions including: 1. Port Dover Harbor Improvement. 2. The development of other Lake Erie ports. 3. Improved lake and railway facilities, both steam and electric. 4. Construction of Provincial Country Roads, connecting the chief centres of population. 5. Better railway postal services by the utilization of the existing means of transportation. 6. Grand River improvement and development for purpose of navigation, power, flood prevention, and scenic beauty. 7. Technical education. 8. Pure gas, and plenty of it, etc. And whereas it is advisable that means be adopted whereby joint consideration of such questions can be secured by representatives of the municipalities interested therein. Therefore be it resolved: 1. That this meeting recommend the formation of a Grand River Valley Board of Trade. 2. That the officers of such Board of Trade be a president, vice-president and honorary secretary. 3. That there be no membership fees or by-laws except that the customary rules of procedure govern at meetings. 4. That meetings be held quarterly, or otherwise, as may be ordered by the chairman, at such place as may from time to time be determined. 5. That at any such meeting each Board of Trade may be represented by one or more of its members. 6. That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Boards of Trade in the Grand River Valley from Waterloo, Kitchener, Elmira, Preston, etc., to Port Dover and Dunnville, and to those of Stratford, Woodstock, Norwich and Hamilton with a request for their views on the proposal. 7. That the following be invited to become the officers of such proposed Board of Trade:—President, Mr. J. H. Hancock, Galt; Vice-President, Mr. J. S. Martin, Port Dover; Secretary, Mr. B. M. DeBus, Kitchener.

Kitchener's Way.

It is related that when the late Lord Kitchener was conducting a campaign in the Sudan he was accompanied by a telegraphist, who informed him one day that his mother was ill. The man accordingly made applications for leave, and Kitchener consented for him. "Don't you think you could help your mother without going home?" he enquired. "Oh, sooner go home, sir," the man replied. "Oh, very well; I suppose you know your own business best," said Kitchener. "That will do."

The telegraphist went out feeling that his chief was offended, and when the time came for him to go he went to say "Good-bye" to Kitchener, feeling somewhat uncomfortable. The latter received him rather coolly, and as he was about to go said rather curtly: "Here, just take this note," to the paymaster for me."

The man did as he was bid, and was walking away when the paymaster stopped him. "Here," he said, "I'm to give you this by Lord Kitchener's orders," at the same time handing him the equivalent of a ten-pound note in Egyptian money.—Family Herald.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men.

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. It only every woman, and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with puffy or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervy wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists, we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere. An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Those subject to sick headaches, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion, and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleansing is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do, in his body before he was killed.

Thanksgiving Display of Pure Irish Linens

PURE FRESH LINENS are fast becoming a luxury, and if the present war continues another six months or so, the supply of manufactured Linens for domestic use will be exhausted. At the present time the retail trade have practically all the linens—as the manufacturers were prohibited from making linens for domestic use on the 7th of January of the present year—and when this stock is gone, no more Linens will be had till 3 years or more after the war.

We happen to be one of the fortunate firms that bought Linens when Linens were to be had, and the result is we are still in a position to show a fairly well assorted range of Fine Linens. We must confess that they are somewhat higher than three years ago. But what is Not? And considering that practically all the flax comes from Belgium, it is a wonder that these materials are to be had at all. We are offering some very special values during this display.

ARMY HUTS CAMPAIGN IN CITY NEXT WEEK

An Objective of $10,000.00 Has Been Set For Brantford

ROTARY CLUB HELPS

On Tuesday morning eighty workers will go over the top in the Knights of Columbus' campaign to raise $10,000 for the Catholic Army Huts Association, which works along lines parallel to the Y.M.C.A., among the soldiers in England and France, and which has won the commendation of military and civil authorities in Canada, the United States and overseas for the services it renders. For the past two weeks, the headquarters of the Knights of Columbus on Colborne street have hummed with activity day and night, as the volunteer workers perfected their organization. The Dominion-wide campaign was held last month, but the dates set for it coincided with the British Red Cross and Sailors' Fund in this city, and at the request of the Navy League the Knights of Columbus agreed to postpone their appeal in order to avoid friction. The Rotary Club have agreed to cooperate with the Knights of Columbus. Final organization of the workers was completed at a meeting last night, and everything is now in readiness for a whirlwind commencement on Tuesday.

The Catholic Army Huts Association and its work overseas have been much in the limelight during the past few weeks, but it is doubtful if even yet all understand the exact nature of that work. The association is one which ministers to the physical, social and spiritual needs of the men overseas, providing food and refreshment, entertainment and recreation, and religious consolation, for soldiers of every nationality and every creed. The work is carried on entirely by public subscription, no charge being made for any of the comforts furnished the soldiers, and no discrimination being made along racial or religious lines.

"Four out of every five men I saw in the Army Huts," said Bishop Fallon of London recently, "were Protestants."

In the United States a fund of over $26,000,000 has been raised for the Army Huts Association. Canada's objective is $500,000, of which Brantford has undertaken to contribute $10,000.

B. S. Mattice is chairman of the local committee, Mr. H. T. Watt of the Imperial Bank, treasurer, and J. R. Waller, Messrs. A. S. Towers and Reg. Scarfe are the Rotary Club representatives on the executive.

The campaign for the Army Huts has the endorsement of the Y.M.C.A., the G.W.V.A., the Rotary Club, Board of Trade, Merchants' Club, Navy League British Red Cross Association, Women's Patriotic League,

GENERAL FALKENHAUSEN

SOUTH FRANCE RELIEF SOCIETY HAD GOOD YEAR

Annual Meeting of Association Held Yesterday Afternoon—Officers Re-Elected, and Reports on the Year's Work Submitted.

The Annual Meeting of the South of France Relief Association was held on Friday the 27th. of September at 96 Dufferin Ave. The President, Mrs. Mabon read a most interesting Report of the year's work. The capable officers of last year were re-elected. Mrs. Mabon, President.

Mrs. Douglas Hammond, Hon. Sec. Treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Fitton, 1st. Vice President, Mrs. W. T. Whitehead 2nd. Vice President, Mrs. Kohl Hon. President.

A letter was read from Mrs. Riddett of Cannes France who distributes all clothing and comforts to Cannes to the Hospitals, Refugees etc. thanking the Brantford Branch for money and donations received. An addition being added to the Autobus Creche for Refugees babies has been given the name of the Brantford Creche.

The President's report: "Today the Brantford Branch of the South of France Relief Association enters upon the third chapter of its activities in the B.O.K of the World's greatest War—God grant that at our next Annual Meeting we may be able to write 'Finis' after what has been the most terrible epoch in the history of the world."

The two years that have passed since our organization was formed have been full of good results, and I feel confident that the year which is ahead of us will see it necessary still greater efforts on behalf of the work which has become so dear to us all.

It was decided in February to direct our energies toward augmenting our funds by holding a garden fete. The date set being 29th. and 30th of May. We all remember how unfortunate we were in regard to the weather, both days it rained in torrents just at the opening hour. Mrs. Kohl came to our assistance, providing a shelter, and a hearty welcome to all. The disagreeable weather was also overcome by the generosity of the Brantford people, who all desired to show, rain or shine, their sympathy in a substantial manner for our brave Ally, France.

In the preparation of our Fete, the kindness shown on all sides was so great that it is hard to particularize, but I think a special vote of thanks is due to the boys of the Collegiate under Mr. Gee, instructor of Manual Training, who made and donated over fifty charming bird houses, for which there was a great demand. Thanks also are due to Mrs. Rosinski of Detroit whose delightful voice was enjoyed both days by all present. To Mr. Thomas who so kindly acted as accompanist. To Miss Sanderson and her pupils for the pretty arrangements and well executed dances. I should like to refer also to the work done by the convenors of the different tables. Whilst all the members endeavoured to do their share there is no denying the fact that upon their shoulders fell the greatest burden of responsibility, and the result of two days amounting to over seven hundred dollars shows how well they understood the work for which they were chosen.

It was decided to spend part of the proceeds in the following manner: One hundred dollars for wounded soldiers in hospital.

One hundred dollars for children in War Orphan Homes.

One hundred dollars Relief of Refugees.

Fifty dollars for friendless prisoners of war and alien to supply their needs. French prisoners with bread through the Overseas Club.

On June 7th. the girls of the Collegiate under Mrs. McNally donated a splendid gift of one hundred and thirty three pairs of socks all made by them and the money for the wool he sold greatly to their credit earned by their own endeavors. Besides the socks they contributed seventeen hot water bottle covers, comfort bags filled with paper dolls, and scrap knives for hospital use. The girls of the Y.W.C.A. also contributed prettily made children garments all showing that the younger generation are responsive ally like trying to do their bit and succeeding beyond all expectations.

During the hot weather it was decided to discontinue our weekly meetings, but wool was purchased for knitting purposes, as the demand for socks is so urgent. Throughout the year we have enjoyed much interesting correspondence from Mrs. Drew of Montreal Corresponding Secretary of the South of France, Head Organization and extracts from the letters of workers in the South of France.

In this regard we are most fortunate, being in touch with those who are able to give us full information of how and where our supplies are distributed.

The work of these noble women in the South of France is becoming daily a heavier burden on account of the never ceasing stream of refugees, who are being driven to them for aid, but still with undaunted spirit, as in the case of the dear old woman of eighty-four whose worldly possessions comprised a pair of scissors and her spectacles, but thought herself most fortunate to have those left in order that she might help others. Such spirit surely cannot long remain unrecruited. Therefore in closing, let us remember it is our part to see that we do not fall in any way to tender assistance to those who are treading the heights of death and sacrifice, and let us who remain in the safety of our homes try to be worthy of those of our own and our Allies who have died for us and the freedom of mankind.

Respectfully submitted, META MABON, President.

Report of Secretary-Treasurer: Our work in the past year has been carried on in a most satisfactory and conscientious manner. It has consisted of making garments for the wounded and for the refugees in Southern France, also sending such financial aid as was possible to these poor victims of the war. Five cases were forwarded during the year, these going from Montreal to France free of charge. In all over seven hundred articles have been sent. One hundred and ninety articles of clothing, one hundred and fifty pairs of socks, twenty-nine hot water bottles with covers, filled comfort bags, and one hundred and nine comforts, including chocolate, hair brushes, combs, tooth brushes, tooth paste, pen-knives, writing pads, paper, envelopes, pencils, games, puzzles, cards, etc. One hundred and seventeen cakes of soap (each article receives a very warm welcome) and sundries.

On October 30th, 1917, a play was given at the opera house, the proceeds of which amounted to $350.00. One hundred of this was donated to the G.W.V.A. and one hundred and twenty-five dollars sent to France. The expenses were one hundred and twelve dollars.

On May 29th and 30th, a garden fete was held, the proceeds of which amounted to $732.55.

We have on hand thirteen skeins of wool and three bolts and a half of flannellette.

Respectfully submitted, ELISIE K. HAMMOND, Hon. Sec. Treas. S.F.F.A.

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN. Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands, once a day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white this skin becomes. Yes, it is harmless.

MOTHER'S PET Needs a Cascaret. Baby is mad! Doesn't want the favorite dolly, or the horn, or the picture books—but don't scold! Look at the tongue! Then hurry! Give candy Cascarets to work the nasty bile, souring food and constipation poison from the little liver and bowels.

Illustration of a baby and a dog.

MOTHERS! Clean the clogged-up places. Do away with the sour fermentations and constipation poison which is keeping your little one cross, feverish and sick. Children love Cascarets, because to them it is like eating candy. Cascarets act better than castor oil, calomel or pills on the tender stomach, liver and bowels. Cascarets never gripe, never injure, and do not disappoint the worried mother. Give harmless Cascarets to children one year old and upwards. Each ten cent box contains full directions.

Mr. Manufactures— Do You Read the Newspaper?

Of course you do. You want to know how the war is progressing—what's happening in the United States, in Great Britain, on the continent.

You could not dispense with the newspaper. There are millions just like you. This multitude is interested in the newspaper as they never were before.

The floating of an immense war loan in the United States interests us; the political situation in Great Britain more than interests us; it vitally affects us, and the work of our boys at the front—it entralls us.

Billions of dollars have been raised, millions of men recruited in stupendous armies, the morale of nations kept growing and growing; even the sinister work of the Hun has been fostered through the atlantean power of printers' ink.

Taking all this for granted— How does this increased power of and concentration on the newspaper affect you and your business? Have you taken full advantage of it?

The war will be over some day—before we realize it, the Hun will be driven off soil bought by the blood of our sons and our sons' allies; our armies will be exchanging their swords for the implements of peace; France and Belgium will be one mighty workshop; problems will have to be faced by every patriotic and country-loving man and woman.

IN THE MEANTIME WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO YOUR MARKET? Has your competitor a firmer hold than he had before the war? The lesson: Don't wait for a "better" day—use the four A's of commercial success—

ALERTNESS, AGGRESSIVENESS, ACTIVITY, ADVERTISING.

—and then you don't need to worry about "after the war business"; your problems will solve themselves for you as they arise.

Catholic Army Huts

What is the Catholic Army Huts Association? Read the Following and You Will Know to What You are Giving When the Collectors Call Next Week

The Army Huts Association is an association operating under a Dominion charter. The Directorate comprises five Military Chaplains and six members of the Knights of Columbus.

As a body corporate the Catholic Army Huts has rights and powers to erect, equip and conduct Army Huts for Canadian soldiers, which shall serve the two-fold purpose of chapels for Catholic soldiers and recreation huts for all soldiers, irrespective of creed. The work is under the direction of the Military Chaplain Service.

There are no paid officers of the association. Not a cent of profit has been made on any transaction. The books of the association are regularly audited.

The work Overseas has been in operation slightly more than a year, when funds were first available, and the Chaplain service regularly organized.

The Knights of Columbus represent the Catholic Army Huts, and are really the agent and trustee of the people of Canada. The aim of the association is to keep Canadian soldiers clean in soul and body. The huts are for the use of any and every soldier. All are welcome. These huts provide a place where men in khaki, regardless of creed, may assemble for wholesome recreation.

The chapels are gathering centres where Catholic soldiers may receive the fortifying influence of their own faith.

Welcome Clubs are maintained in London city, where large numbers of Canadians are constantly on leave.

There is an Army Hut at every Canadian training camp in England. Some of the more important are Bramshott, Witley, Seaford, Cooder, Buxton, Purfleet and Shorncliffe.

In France there are Huts at Le Treport, Etaples, and in connection with Laval hospital; there are also large portable and particularly serviceable chapel tents throughout the Canadian corps area, with the Railway Troops, and at the casualty clearing station.

Letterheads and envelopes are delivered free to soldiers. Articles of devotion are distributed and wherever necessary among the men.

Good clean literature, newspapers, magazines and prayer books are furnished regularly.

An information bureau is maintained, and all possible statistics are there recorded, for the service of loved ones at home.

The Chaplains, through the association, are provided with altar linen, vestments, chalice, etc., etc., together with other facilities for the discharge of their spiritual labors.

Surely this great work is deserving of all help. It is something that should appeal to every Catholic, and ought to receive the financial support of all.

In the successful prosecution of the war the Catholic Army Huts is an integral part. As the Army is one in unity; one in loyalty, and one in work, so let all at home be one in duty.

The Knights of Columbus as a fraternal society, are simply a collecting agency, acting as trustee and assisting in the administration of the Army Huts, and regularly recognized by government authority.

NO SUCH THING AS RUBBISH

Refuse From British Army Kitchens Provides Soap and Glycerine

"There is no such thing as rubbish."

The remark was made recently by David Currie, the director-general of National Salvage and the progress of the war is demonstrating its truth every day. It is no exaggeration to say that the Prussian could not now be fighting if he had not realized that rubbish is nothing but material in the wrong place. Cut off from the world's markets of raw materials, he has fallen back upon the sources of supply within his own borders. He has mobilized the dustbins and the refuse dump. The shells with which he deluges our lines in the west owe their propellant to glycerine extracted from old bones and from grease that would otherwise have found its way into the sewers. Krupp's great factories have long been systematically fed with scrap metal and old tins. Germany's pigs grow fat on kitchen garbage carefully saved by the housewife. The very harvest which means so much to the enemy is stimulated by fertilizers extracted from refuse. In short, if he had allowed his rubbish to remain in the wrong place he would have collapsed for lack of raw materials.

Armies Pioneers in Thrift.
But the salvage is a weapon which the enemy is not to be allowed to monopolize. Dearth of shipping and the world-wide wastage of raw materials have brought home to us the fact that we, too, have been allowing vast quantities of valuable "rubbish" to go to waste. The birth and growth of the salvage idea will make an enrapturing story when it comes to be written in full. Our armies have been the pioneers in this work. A single example will serve to show how magnificently this enthusiasm has borne fruit. The refuse from Army kitchens has yielded sufficient tallow to provide soap for the entire needs of the Army, Navy and government departments, and glycerine enough to propel 23,000,000 eight-ounce shells.

Rubbish Helping Win the War.
With the formation of the National Salvage Council, the story of salvage has entered upon a new chapter. If the Army's "rubbish" could provide such treasures, why should not the Nation's rubbish help also to win the war? This is the question which the National Salvage Council has evidently set itself to answer in a way which will add to the fighting strength of the nation. The scope for salvage in this country is enormous. Every dustbin contains material which the Nation needs, and there is practically no kind of "waste" that has not its uses in these days of scarcity. The bones that are too often burnt or mixed with ashes are a perfect treasure house of valuable materials. After they have been used to the fullest extent for making soup 18 pounds of bones still contain enough glycerine to provide the pro-pellant for an 18 pounder shell. Glue which enters so largely into the manufacture of aeroplanes and phosphates for making artificial manures, can be extracted from the residues which can also be ground into a valuable poultry food. It is fallacy again to suppose that no fats are going to waste. An example from the enemy's country can teach us something on this point. About a year ago the German government took steps to save the grease that was going to waste from large hotels and institutions, adopting the usual method of issuing a compulsory order. Twelve thousand grease traps were installed in one province, and within six months, fats had been saved to a value of 3,000,000 marks. This was at a time when the enemy's meat ration was decidedly smaller than our own today.

Exploiting the Dust Bin.
Wasted pig-tod alone provides an immense field for salvage activities. It is estimated that 90,000 pigs could be fed in Britain from materials that are now going into the dust bin. Slaughter-house refuse that is unfit for human consumption can be converted into pork and bacon. Condemned or unsound meat, which is too often burned can be turned into a valuable meal for pigs or poultry. There are many inorganic materials which cannot be converted directly into foodstuffs, but which have a distinct bearing on food problems. Every ounce of raw material saved at home helps to make shiproom for import of food. The Nation's lumber rooms are full of treasures that are at present of no use to the owners or to the country. Old rags, broken glass bottles, jars, and scraps of rubber are all of value to a Nation at war.

MOTORED TO EDMONTON, ALTA.

(Edmonton Herald.)
Travel over 3,000 miles in automobile.
D. W. Bradshaw and family came from Brantford to Edmonton in a Chevrolet.

A most enjoyable and successful overland trip from Brantford, Ontario, to Edmonton, Alberta, by a Chevrolet automobile, is the accomplishment of D. W. Bradshaw, who arrived in the city Saturday afternoon last.

Mr. Bradshaw, who is accompanied by his wife, daughter Greta, and his son, Gordon, left Brantford on July 4th, with their model 1918 Chevrolet car heavily laden with camp fixtures and provisions, intending to camp all the way out West, where they had promised to visit their sons in the summer, who are farming at Coronation, where they arrived safely a few days ago, continuing the journey to Edmonton.

In making the trip they covered a distance of over 3,000 miles and that without mishap or accident of any kind. The only expense they had for repairs on the long journey was the small sum of 20 cents for grease caps when they arrived in Winnipeg. The only other car expense was the gasoline, which, of course, as Mr. Bradshaw says, was indispensable on a trip of that kind, and the amount used was about 130 gallons.

Mr. Bradshaw, who is a traveling man, engaged with the Cocksfoot Implement people, and in such capacity knows the weary rounds of hotels and public stopping places, says he planned that on this trip he would get away from that dull monotony for a while. So, on the journey, he and his family spent their days and their nights with the blue above and the green beneath, dwelling and sleeping in their tents, which they carried with them. It was one of the most enjoyable journeys, says Mr. Bradshaw, that he and his family ever had.

The route followed by the party from Brantford was via St. Thomas, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Grand Forks, Emerson, up to Winnipeg. From Winnipeg through Kamsack and Saskatchewan they made the trip to Coronation in less than three days. Thence they traveled north through Buffalo Park, Wainwright and Vermilion to Edmonton.

On arriving in Edmonton, Mr. Bradshaw made his way to the home of the Chevrolet, not to get repairs of any kind, but just to show that his car was safe and sound after the long journey.

Mr. Bradshaw returned to the city on Tuesday and completed the return journey with the same ease and comfort as on the going trip.

DUNLOP BICYCLE TIRES

Dunlop Motto: "Please the People!"

THINK OF THIS: The first automobile tire made in Canada was virtually an enlargement of the Dunlop Patented Bicycle Tire. And during all those years that the automobile tire has been striving to reach its present standard, the bicycle tire that served as a model has gone right on pleasing the bicycle owners. Years of doing it well—that and nothing more could make Dunlop Tires as supreme as they are to-day.

Conditions in Austria.
"August brought to the Austrian agriculturist directly and to all Austrians indirectly an immeasurable catastrophe, because climatic conditions taken at the helm of Government there."

So said an Austrian who recently "escaped" from his native country and reached Zurich.
"To-day in Austria you would vainly seek winter sowings which have not been ruined by rain and neglect," he continued, "while there is not enough barley or oats for the farmers to sow let alone to feed the people. Besides, the floods of the last six weeks and the lack of labor have contributed to the catastrophe."
"The great-Austrian peasant deprived the Austrian farmers of the labor of Russian prisoners, although early application was made to the military authorities for soldiers to work in the fields and also as carpenters, blacksmiths and saddlers in the provinces ravaged by Russian invaders. The waiters and clerks are utterly incapable of farm work."

"Where peasants own most of the land, I saw entire districts in which the meagre harvest lies rotting in the fields because the unhappy owners have no horses or carts to carry it away. But the landed proprietors are worse off, for they can get labor only in return for grain, the laborers refusing money."

"Besides this, the rotting crops have brought an unprecedented plague of mice, which the farmers are bravely trying to stamp out."
"Ninety per cent. of the farmers even lack granaries, for the Government has not yet sent wood and workmen to rebuild those destroyed in the Russian invasion. Last spring came too early, and the winter and spring sowings, with the dower, all flowered together. Then followed torrential rains. Combine this with the lack of labor, granaries and machinery and you have a fair picture of the disaster. Austria is utterly incapable of feeding her population, while Hungary refuses to help, saying she has only enough grain for her army and must import it for her civilians. Even potatoes, although they looked well, are beginning to rot."

"The coming year promises to be fraught with horrors for the Austrian people unless the Government finds means to avert disaster—but we long since lost hope of action by the Government."

DR. BANTA'S Dyspepsia

50c Tablets 50c Per Box Per Box

WILL CURE YOU

Dyspepsia is an advanced stage of indigestion, arising from the stomach refusing to perform its normal functions. Digestion consists in the changing of foods from an insoluble form, so that they may pass through the walls of the alimentary canal and become part of the blood. The stomach keeps the food in almost constant motion for a considerable time to accomplish this purpose, and should this organ not be kept in good condition, indigestion results, to be followed in due course, if not relieved, by dyspepsia. You can keep the stomach performing its functions, and even relieve and cure dyspepsia if you get a Box at 50c from

SOLDIERS ON SEVERAL SHIPS

Large Number of Canadians Arrive at Home Port

By Courier Leased Wire

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Several ships have arrived at a Canadian port conveying between 4,000 and 5,000 returned soldiers. Nearly a thousand are "hospital walking cases," for whom berths have been specially erected in the ships under the supervision of the medical authorities.

The sending of so large a number at one time is due to a combination of circumstances. One is that, under the conditions caused by the pooling of shipping, increased use of late has been made of United States ports as against Canadian ones.

The difficulties experienced in getting ships has caused this to be the first considerable exodus from England for a number of weeks. The effect was congestion at Duxton, the depot in England, where men are concentrated before being returned to Canada.

Another difficulty was caused by the cancellation of hospital ships which was rendered necessary by the recent attacks on such vessels by German submarines. This made it necessary to send the "hospital walking cases" in other steamships instead of in the specially equipped hospital vessels, special berths being erected so as to improve the accommodation as far as possible.

It also increased the congestion in the hospitals in England and this crowding has been further aggravated by the heavy casualties caused by the recent severe fighting.

Rippling Rhymes

THE PEACE OFFENSIVE

When Prussia starts her peace offensive, with bows and becks and smiles extensive, don't let her fool you for a minute; her soul is false, there's evil in it, or you'll continue further, this crimson carnal of murder? My lords of war are more than willing to put a stop to all the killing; if but our foes will half way meet us, and in a proper spirit greet us. Let's gather round the council table; and surely there this world is needing, and every day dying and the bleeding." It's when half whipped and shot to pieces that Kaiserdom such bunk releases. It's when this foul and false deceiver sees near her neck the fatal cleaver that she of peace begins to mumble, and tries to look abjectly humble. You know how trusty are her pledges; she swears an oath, and then she hedges; with her all trenchery's in season; she's full of guile and lies and treason. To whisper peace bunk she'll grab you, and while she whistles she'll stab you. While she's deploring war and slaughter she'll plan to kill your wife and daughter. With manner sweet and mild and gentle she'll shortly spring her peace offensive. Don't let her fool you for a minute; her heart is wrong, there's evil in it.

WEAK BOYS AND GIRLS

It is a mistake to think that anaemia is only a girl's complaint. Girls probably show the effect of a weak, watery blood more plainly than boys. Delayed development, pale faces, headaches, palpitation, and a feeling of listlessness, call attention to weak blood in the case of girls. But many boys in their teens grow thin and "weedy" and have pimples on the face, showing that they have not enough blood. The anaemic boy is just as likely to become a victim of consumption as the pale, breathless girl with her headaches and worn-out look. Let the boy in this condition catch cold and he will lose his strength and his health becomes precarious.

To prevent serious disaster to those of the rising generation, let both boys and girls be given the new rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are famous the world over for making. When giving these pills watch how soon the appetite returns and how the languid girl or the weak boy becomes full of activity and high spirits. Remember that the boy has to develop, too, if he is to make a strong hearty man. Give both the boys and girls a fair chance to develop strongly through the new, rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. You will then see active boys and girls, instead of weakly children around you.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A charge of making seditious statements laid against William Wecker, superintendent of the munition factory at Chatham, was not proven in court.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

ARE YOU IN SENSIBLE SHOPPER CLASS?

Food Board Advises Women to Buy Food as They Do Frills and Furbelows. Hunt Around Town for Food Bargains, Follow the Ads. And Be a Cash and Carry Shopper

The woman who sits at home and orders her food and groceries by telephone is upholding the H. C. of L. The woman who hunts as ardently for food bargains as she does for recreation is upholding the personal shopping habit which spells economy and conservation.

There is one thing at last that every woman knows—the lure of the bargain counter. Generation follows generation, but the instinct to strike a bargain springs eternal in the human breast. The sharper the economic conditions, the more pronounced is the instinct, and the keener the competition in commercial fields, the greater the strife to drive bargains.

So it is that the quest reaches its apex on the North American continent and concentrates itself to a very great extent wherever women bow the knee to the Goddess of Fashion. In olden days wares sought the woman. Merchants brought their gorgeous fabrics to her. Now she joins in the motley throng that fills the aisles of the great department stores, intent on trying to outmirror Fashion, and to do it at the lowest possible cost. The net result is an elaborate and complicated delivery system, with armies of men and women engaged in fulfilling the behests of the feminine population.

Madame is Mode's Devotee. One has only to watch the crowds outside a big store waiting for the doors to open in the morning to realize how keen women are for bargains. Still more convincing is the crowd around a counter of flimsy wafers, intent on trying to outmirror Fashion, and to do it at the lowest possible cost. The net result is an elaborate and complicated delivery system, with armies of men and women engaged in fulfilling the behests of the feminine population.

Piece-meal Ordering. There is always the woman who runs out of soap before 11 o'clock on washing day and must have some along by noon. There is the woman who starts to bake and finds that her baking powder is finished. There is the woman who forgets to order her meat until the last minute and then wants it to reach home on time. In short, there are about nine hundred and ninety-nine different varieties of housekeepers who would need a perpetual delivery system just to keep up with the things they forget about in the course of a day.

But they never forget to be on time at the glove sale advertised in the paper the night before. They are never missing from the mannequin parades or fashion shows. They will gladly wear out shoe leather running around town to get good value in fluff ruffles. But their meat and groceries they can always get in the "little store around the corner" because it is so convenient. It does not occur to them that this is neither economical nor patriotic. They are doing as all their friends do. Only here and there do you come across the sensible shopper.

Sensible Shopping. Naturally the Canada Food Board is somewhat interested in women's shopping methods—not because they want to control the sale of clothes, but because they want to see women

WASTED HALF THE MONEY HE MADE

Bought Medicines for Five Years But Got No Relief—Tanlac Restores Restores Health

"After spending full half the money I made during the past five years on medicines that did me no good, a few bottles of Tanlac put an end to my troubles so that now a hard day's work never even tires me," said J. J. Harrington, of 423 South Ohio Street, Butte, Mont., the other day.

"About five years ago," he continued, "I had an attack of laceration that left me with such an awful cough that it looked like I would never get rid of it, although I took about every cough medicine there is on the market. It would keep me up at night, and if I exerted myself in any way it would start up and I would almost cough my head off before I could stop. This last year or so my stomach went back on me. I lost my appetite, and what little I forced down soured and bloated me up with gas till I was miserable for hours afterwards. Then I suffered agonies from pains all through my chest and around my heart. Many a time I would come home from work with such a raging headache that I would go straight to bed. My nights were so restless that I could get but little sleep, and I would get up in the morning feeling tired and fagged out and worse than when I went to bed.

"When I read so much about Tanlac I asked my wife to get me a bottle, but my trouble was so stubborn that it was not till I was on my third bottle that I noticed any improvement. First my appetite started up, and soon after that my stomach got all right and did not trouble me any more. Gas stopped forming as my indigestion improved and the misery in my chest and around my heart stopped for good. My cough too, had entirely disappeared. I sleep like a log at night and I haven't had a headache since I finished my second bottle of Tanlac. My constipation has been corrected and I now feel so well and strong that I am equal to any job, no matter what it is."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Robertson Drug Store; in Paris by Apps Ltd.; in Mt. Vernon by A. Yodanis; in Middleport by William Peddie; in Onondaga by Nell McPhaden.

In twelve days flying on this front thirty-four successful missions have been undertaken by the American aviators.

Some South Work Needed. The time is ripe for a big change here. The country at large, to be something of a sleuth in buying food; to scout around until one finds the right things at the right place at the right price. This will be food conservation of the right kind.

The time is ripe for a big change in shopping methods. Ordering food by telephone is as simple as falling off a log into the water—but it is apt to have rather dampening consequences. In the final analysis the consumer has to pay delivery expenses as well as the cost of the food. A horse, wagon and driver are needed for every three hundred parcels delivered in the course of a day. Sensible shopping is nothing more or less than personal shopping with a live sense of values in one's cranium, a bump of Scotch caution in the same quarter, and the identical bargaining instinct that works such miracles in the realm of fashion.

Education of Women to Shop. A new field for the enterprising woman might be the educating of other women to be good shoppers. Possibly some of the big stores might have daily lectures on proper shopping methods. Women downtown doing their buying could drop into these lectures and learn something of the store point of view from an experienced shopper.

Every woman is vitally interested in the purchase of clothing and vividly digests dress advertisements in the papers at night, while the meat and grocery variety receives only the most cursory attention or is neglected altogether. For one thing they are never as conspicuous. Take it over with a piece and he will tell you: "We give them what they want; our supply is based on their demand."

This, then, has nothing to do with the housekeeper—plenty of them; to urge her dealer to quote his prices regularly, and to study them personally, as enthusiastically as she does the prices of clothes. Then there are the market prices, which should be closely followed. Some papers publish them in tabulated form. In this way they are easy to follow, and one can get an idea of the prevailing rates at a glance.

Too Busy to Bother. "Oh, I'm so busy" around the house that I never have time to read the papers," wails many a distraught housewife.

Yes, but nowadays it is part of one's domestic duty to follow food news which the housewife's morale may be attacked, and it is a handy tool for German propaganda. It is easy to forget that low prices are out of the question in war-time. But there is no reason why any one should have to put up with extortion.

An outstanding example of what can be accomplished by the right kind of advertising, in conjunction with financial enthusiasm for the good cause, was the huge mackerel sale in Toronto some months ago. The Food Board put on a mackerel campaign, and in one week 100,000 pounds of mackerel had been sold, or more than in the whole previous year.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

AT THE GRAND.
The recent vogue of the rhythmic graceful Hawaiian dancing, which has invaded the ballroom, partly displacing the fox trot, the tango, the one-step and other dances in favor during the last two years, is directly traceable to the influence of Oliver Morosoff's production of Richard Walton Tully's continuously successful play, "The Bird of Paradise," which comes to the Grand Opera House Friday evening, Oct. 11th.

It was in this play that the more graceful and reticent dances of the natives of the mid-Pacific possession of the United States were first made known in this country. The rightful name of the dance is the hula-hula, but it is not to be confounded with the shameful duns du ventre of Asia Minor which was introduced into this country during the Chicago world's fair, though that oriental dance often is given the name of the Hawaiian dance. In "The Bird of Paradise" the hula-hula dance is performed as a rite, as it is in the land of its origin. It is a dramatic movement, strange in step and posture, and it has an irresistible appeal. One of its steps, a swing movement of the leg which taps the floor with the toe, has been embodied with variations in the American version of the tango. The hula-hula dance is performed to native music played upon the Hawaiian guitar and ukulele. The Kanaka musicians are exceptionally proficient guitarists, and they obtain from the instrument musical effects never achieved by American players. The Hawaiian music, said to be a native development of the hymns first sung in the Sandwich Islands by the American missionaries years ago, is funeral and haunting, having a barbaric element in it that never is detected in the music of highly civilized nations.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD."
David Wark Griffith was the first American ever to set foot in the front line trenches. This was, of course, before the United States entered the war. Photos for "Hearts of the World" were the object. At the Grand October 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. Fifty per cent of the net profits from the exhibition of "Hearts of the World" in England goes to the British Government for war purposes.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."
Brothers there a man with soul so dead who never to himself has said, "It pays to advertise?" His presence is invited at the engagement of New York's latest farce hit, "It Pays to Advertise," due at the Grand Opera House Saturday, October 5th, matinee and night. This is the farce that was the talk of the country last year, and comes to the city with several well known actors. There's not the slightest question but that this farce has given the country one of its biggest laughs. If there is such a thing as a real laugh, after all the possible laughs have been exhausted, "It Pays to Advertise" is the process through which this unusual formula is derived.

The latest farce hit is a business play and therefore appeals strongly to men. But the plot is also romantic enough to win enthusiastic approval from the feminine portion of the audience. The farce is from the pens of Rol Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett, who have brought forth one of the most laughable plays presented in recent years. The play is the funniest combination of circumstances ever staged, but it is a practical lesson to those who do not believe it teaches the truth. Cyrus Martin quarreled with his son and the latter goes into business in the new way, determined to succeed through advertising. He scores a big success, as any energetic young man is bound to do in the advertising business, and his skeptical father is glad to buy into the new firm.

AT THE BRANT.
Jesse L. Lasky presents Wallace Reid in "The Source," at the Brant, the first of next week. The cast: Von Twiller Yard, a logger... Wallace Reid Svea Nord, daughter of Nord... Anna Little John Beaumont, president of a pulp company... Theodore Roberts Langlois, a lumber foreman... James Crize Nord, a superintendent... Noah Beery Pop Sprawl... Raymond Hatton Van Twiller Yard, a well born young man, who becomes a derelict through drink, is shanghaied from a logging house and carried to a logging camp, where he is roughly treated by a savage lumber boss. Svea Nord, a young woman, enters his life and recognizing him as a bum, she treats him with contempt. This awakens his dormant manhood and in the hope of winning her love, he reforms. When he regains his health, he beats his brutal boss into a pulp. She realizes suddenly that Yard is a man worthy of her love and when the lumber company with which he is identified has to fight the Swedish Power Company that cuts off the water supply, it is Yard who leads the attacking party. When his success, won at the risk of his life, is substantially recognized by the lumber company Yard takes Svea to his heart.

"RIDDLE GAWNE." featuring Wm. S. Hart, will be the feature the week of the week. The cast: Katherine Harlick... Katharine MacDonald Hanne Bozzan, a cattle raiser... Lon Chaney Blanche Dillon, Bozzan's woman... Gretchen Lederer Li ring with his niece on a Western ranch, "Riddle Gawne," has devoted his life to the task of bringing to punishment the man who slew his younger brother, ran away with the fat thief wife of the lad and left their daughter behind, leaving her to the tender care of her uncle. He is the deadly enemy of Hanne Bozzan, leader of a band of cattle rustlers, and one day he rescues Katherine Harlick, an Eastern girl of refinement, daughter of one of Bozzan's henchmen, from two of Bozzan's rustlers. They fall in love with each other and when Bozzan resolves to make Kathleen his wife, he orders Gawne's death. Gawne is shot and seriously wounded by one of the rustlers and Blanche Dillon, the plaything of Bozzan, nurses him back to health. She contrives by an artifice to poison Kathleen's mind against Gawne, her purpose being to win him herself. Gawne recovers and begins a crusade to drive Bozzan and his rustling band out of the country. Bozzan is mortally wounded heartless and abducts Kathleen. Gawne starts in pursuit and when he comes up with his quarry, a fierce battle ensues in which Gawne's leg is broken. Bozzan, believing himself the victor, gloatingly admits that the "Riddle Gawne" is the last of his line. He orders his wife and broke her heart. Gawne, despite his injury, struggles with Bozzan and strangles him. Kathleen appears and during the subsequent days while she is nursing him back to health, the flame of their love is renewed.

AT THE REK.
Gifted with beauty and talents of a high order of merit, Ethel Clayton, a new acquisition to the stellar forces of Paramount, will be seen to fine advantage in her first starring vehicle, "The Girl Who Came Back," a dramatization by Beulah Marie Dix of the famous play, "Leah Kleschna," by the late C. M. S. McClellan. At the Rek theatre, the last of next week, Miss Clayton's exquisite portrayal of an arduous role, and the beauties of a photoplay which is far above the average in point of superiority of production, impressed a critical audience most favorably as frequent applause indicated.

The story of the photoplay is one of unusual interest and its heart appeal is distinctly effective. Lois Hartner, the daughter of a thief, and herself "salvaged" and employed by her father in his burglarious operations, is saved from death by drowning in a shipwreck by George Hayward, a State Senator and social reformer, of whose identity she is ignorant, but whom she loves secretly. Her father plans to rob Hayward's home, where jewels of great value are stored, and Lois is charged with the duty of obtaining working data regarding the game from Ralph Burton, the scapegrace son of Governor Burton, whose sister Dorothy, is to become Hayward's bride. Unaware that Hayward is the man who saved her because he saved her life, her dormant sense of good is awakened and she resolves to reform. The diamonds are stolen by Ralph Burton and suspicion rests upon Lois for a time. Dorothy becomes jealous of Lois and breaks her engagement to Hayward. Determined to quit her father and the life she is leading, Lois goes West where she finds employment on a farm. Hayward ultimately learns of her whereabouts from Lois' former confederate, rejoins her and makes her his wife.

Miss Clayton was delighted in her portrayal of the role of Lois. Her support was of a high order of excellence.

More and more music becoming a vital necessity to the soldiers at the front and in the training camps, or more accurately, perhaps, it has been just the necessity to them from the first, but this fundamental fact is now receiving more practical official recognition all the time. Percy Scholes, the well known English musician and writer, has been hard at work for many months past, before the English Y. M. C. A. societies, trying to make music and singing more generally acceptable to the English soldiers in France. And now the Y. M. C. A. of England has brought into existence a definite "Music Sections," and is undertaking an extensive and wide spread development of its activities throughout the field of war work in the training camps at home.

With the full scheme of the work has not been made known, yet one branch of activity has been urged upon the public's attention. An attempt is to be made by Scholes and his associates to sweep the country bare

Music in the Home

The annual meeting of the Brantford Oratorio Society was held on Thursday evening at the Wellington Street Schoolroom, Mr. J. Broadbent, president. There was a large attendance of members which augurs well for the coming season. The secretary's report showed a small deficit on the past season's working. The following officers were elected for the season 1918-19:
Hon. President—Lloyd Harris, Esq.
President—J. Broadbent, Esq.
Vice-President—Dr. J. W. Robinson.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. S. G. Read.
Secretary—Mrs. W. M. Lewis.
Conductor—Mr. John T. Schofield.
Accompanist—Mr. Thomas Darwen, Jr.
Executive—Miss N. Kitchen, Miss Suddaby, Mrs. Dr. W. H. Nichol, Mrs. J. J. Burke, Mrs. A. A. Lester, Mrs. Earl Trimmer, Mr. J. A. Edwards, Mr. H. E. Todd, Mr. G. W. Crookes, Mr. W. L. Moyer, Mr. C. A. Rose, Mr. W. B. Burrill.
Chorus Secretary—Miss Eva Lester.
Librarian—Mr. L. Davidson.

With the foregoing list of officers there is every reason that the past musical reputation of this society will be greatly enhanced during the coming season. Rehearsals will commence next Thursday evening at the Wellington Street Schoolroom. After the election of officers Mr. Schofield outlined his plans as follows: About the middle of November a concert will be given, consisting of selections given at the leading English festivals. At the Christmas season it has been decided to give a "Community" performance of the "Messiah." The community idea has taken a great root in the States and is rapidly spreading in this country. The chorus for this occasion will be open to all singers and it is to be hoped that there will be a ready response from Brantford singers so as to make this first community concert in this district, a great success. For the spring concert it has been decided to give a performance of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise."

Music becoming a vital necessity to the soldiers at the front and in the training camps, or more accurately, perhaps, it has been just the necessity to them from the first, but this fundamental fact is now receiving more practical official recognition all the time. Percy Scholes, the well known English musician and writer, has been hard at work for many months past, before the English Y. M. C. A. societies, trying to make music and singing more generally acceptable to the English soldiers in France. And now the Y. M. C. A. of England has brought into existence a definite "Music Sections," and is undertaking an extensive and wide spread development of its activities throughout the field of war work in the training camps at home.

With the full scheme of the work has not been made known, yet one branch of activity has been urged upon the public's attention. An attempt is to be made by Scholes and his associates to sweep the country bare of the unused music and caused instruments that cumber almost every household, and to put them to the service of the soldiers in the hospitals. The idea is to give every bit of music library and such instruments as are likely to be useful. I have during the last six weeks or so, collected not only a great deal of instruments but 10,000 pieces of music. This sounds a great number but when divided by the number of Y. M. C. A. centers which are being set up, it only comes out at five pieces each. The effort is therefore to be greatly enlarged, and a national collection of instruments and music for use of soldiers and sailors in Y. M. C. A. Huts is to be undertaken. Every kind of instrument and every kind of music will be wanted, and it is to be a grand piano, from ragtime to symphony.

Music from out tired nerves. Chorus the Polish composer, has been called the Tennyson of Music. It was said of a certain composer that what he borrowed from life he restored to music. That is a splendid way of putting it.

Robbie Burns is considered the author of "Auld Lang Syne" but according to his own statement it is an old Scotch tune, the words of which he put on the finishing touches.

Somebody wrote of Gounod's anthem, "By Babylon's Ways," it is a rather slow piece for choral societies. Anyone who has sung in a choir and helped render that number or any person who knows its acting and has heard it well sung knows it is much more than a slow piece.

The professor of music in Edinburgh University said recently that choral singing was a natural expression of British musical genius. Those who called us an unmusical nation, said the professor, "are compelled to admit that in choral singing we set the standard which the nations who have created the symphony and the opera accepted as classical. It was our choral singing that inspired Handel to rise to his true greatness." Some of our modern composers have come to realize rather severely "dressing down." An English writer in lamenting the anarchic tendencies in music says: "To tear something down, to achieve something novel at whatever cost, to dabble, to attract attention by any means, these seem to be the aims of no inconsiderable number of our musicians, and respect for tradition, reverence for the great past times, self-control and artistic humility are qualities becoming ever rarer. A wild license which they mistake for liberty, a dreary flippancy which may pass for wit, these are the sins of too many of our latter day musicians."

TEMPERAMENTALLY CORRECT.
When we say of a singer that he is temperamentally correct it is a compliment. It means that from every standpoint of scale making, technique and musicianship in general, the person in whom we have supplied the term "temperamentally correct" is placed on the highest pedestal of artistry because its manifestation and revelation is proven to be correct; it means that every sense that has been given has been tempered correctly by nature and that every form of musicianship has been obeyed true to nature.

"DE LUXE ANNIE."
"De Luxe Annie," Norma Talmadge's latest Select picture, which will be shown here next week at the Brant Theatre, is vastly different from the average crook play, and, by the same token, infinitely superior. It is the story of a finely bred woman whose husband is interested in criminal psychology and who is herself transformed into a criminal by an accident. The crime she practices is the "de-luxe" game, an adaptation of the old badger game in which the woman poses as a seller of de-luxe edition and invites some individual with a weakness for pretty girls, whereupon her male confederate breaks into the scale and blackmails the victim whom he has found in an embarrassing position with his "wife."

Norma Talmadge is especially suited for the title role in this screen drama since it calls for not only beauty, style and a high order of artistry in the star, but also for an innate intelligence and an intellectual background vouchsafed by the gods to but few of us. Miss Talmadge's performance, however, and her myriad admirers, need hardly be told this—brings out every shade of emotional feeling in her portrayal of the crook part, little, if far out of the commonplace by the force of her vivid personality as well as by the odd psychological twist of the story.

"De Luxe Annie" appeared originally as a two-part story in The Saturday Evening Post; later it was made into a play by Edward Clark and achieved considerable success in New York. After considerable competition for the photoplay rights in the metropolitan stage "De Luxe" Select Pictures Corporation secured it for Norma Talmadge's Select Star Series. The scenario for the screen production was prepared by Paul West and the direction is by Roland West.

Miss Talmadge's leading man is Eugene O'Brien who performed a similar function in "Ghosts of Yesterday" and "By Right of Purchase" for this star; another important male role has been entrusted to Frank Mills, whose polished acting is familiar to both playgoers and film fans. Other leading members of the cast include Edward Davis, Fred E. Satake, Joseph Burke, Edna Hunter, David Burns and little Hans Conrads—a winning aggregation in the support of a supreme star.

The play itself is treated with suspense and moves rapidly from one transition to another. It is an absorbing story with a deep human interest and a tremendous surprise at

BEAUTIFUL HAIR THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes, Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will spend a few cents for a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and try it as directed.

CHILD'S UNDERWAIST.

By Anabel Worthington.

This pattern consists of a girl's underwaist which buttons at the back and a boy's underwaist which closes at the front. It is a very practical undergarment and it may be made of strong muslin or cambric. The seams are all finished on the right side with bias binding stitched flat. The boy's underwaist has no fulness and there are straps over the shoulders which button onto the front. The girl's garment is gathered to the round neck, at front and back, and the neck and armholes are trimmed with lace. Buttons are sewed around the waist line at intervals and there is a circular pattern.

The children's underwaist pattern No. 8046 is cut in six sizes—2 to 12 years. The 9 year also requires 1 1/2 yards 27 inch material, with 8 yards of edging for the girl's, and the boy's garment requires 1 yard 27 inch or 1/2 yard 56 inch material. Price, 10 cents.

To Obtain This Pattern Send 15c to The Courier Office, or two for 25c.

An Advertisement by Charles Dickens

CHARLES DICKENS is one of the world's great teachers. Here is what he has to say in one of his books:

"My other piece of advice, Copperfield," said Mr. Micawber, "you know. Annual income £20, annual expenditure £19.19.6—result, happiness. Annual income £20, annual expenditure £20.0.6—result misery. The blossom is blighted; the leaf is withered; the God of Day goes down upon the dreary scene, and—in short, you are forever floored. As I am."

The saving of a part of one's income was always a good policy.

Prudent men and women have always maintained a margin of saving.

But to-day we must go farther in our efforts to save than ever before.

To-day it is a matter of the gravest importance that each Canadian seek ways and means to economize by cutting down expenditures for unnecessary things, saving the money he spends on things he could do without, so that when the Nation needs to borrow money he will be in a position to do his full duty.

There is war-shortening work waiting for every dollar that can be saved.

If CHARLES DICKENS were writing to Canadians to-day he would probably give us advice to this effect:

"My other piece of advice, Canadians, you know. No matter what percentage of your annual income you have previously saved, your efforts to-day should be to save more. The advantage of so doing is threefold: By the practice of economy you conserve the material and labor which must be devoted to the grim task before us; you cultivate the priceless habit of thrift; you gather more and more money to lend to the Nation for the prosecution of the war to a quick and certain Victory."

Railways At The Front

RAILWAYS have played a prominent part in the operations in France and Belgium ever since 1871.

The Canadian Overseas Railroad Construction Corps, one of the finest outfits engaged in the war, and including a large number of C. P. R. engineers in the commissioned ranks, and hundreds of C. P. R. workmen among the rank and file—has earned all the praise showered upon it by Allied officers "who have been" and "seen."

Railways had to be laid here and there to transport troops from the back areas to the front line, or at least as close as possible to the trenches. Narrow gauge roads had to be laid down rapidly and hidden from view as much as possible so that enemy airmen would not locate them and destroy them.

Much of the work of laying railroads in France and Belgium had to be carried out under fire, and the railway men had to give their share of toll to the casualty lists.

The writer had the honor and privilege of training the first reinforcements to the Railroad Construction Corps.

As fine a bunch of men as any soldier would wish to see were gathered together in Montreal in 1915 to fill the gaps made in the original units which had crossed several weeks before.

These fine fellows come mostly from the west, principally British Columbia, and although not looking quite soldier-like in their civilian clothing when they reached Montreal, once uniformed and equipped, were good to look upon.

When out marching on the streets of Montreal these "gas-billers" were greatly admired, for nearly every man was a six-footer. The acting quartermaster-sergeant was old sergeant of His Majesty's Life Guards, the senior sergeant a retired major of a New Brunswick unit. One of the privates was a former commissioned officer of the South African Constabulary Force. Many of the men were South African veterans.

Eventually they were assigned over to England and in due course reached their unit in France—to work and fight, if necessary.

All Canadians who have served in France appreciate the fine work of the Canadian railroad men, whether engaged on bigger, small, or temporary lines.

There was a great deal of work to be done, and that rapidly, but the railway men were quite up to the task set before them, and the commendations of the officers and men who had made good "over there" testify to the strategic value of having well-directed roads for purposes of transport—be it men or supplies.

Trucks had to be laid for ordinary railroad traffic, and it had to be laid for moving heavy guns from point to point rapidly so as to deceive the enemy's artillery; trucks had to be laid for the numerous narrow gauge roads which have been such a boon to troops and out of the line.

Whenever an officer or man was detailed to report at a certain point, he had to get to the line or back to a base or school, he would figure out immediately where he could "pick up" a narrow gauge line and get there quickly. Instead of jumping motor lorries for miles and transferring at many points during the trip.

On many occasions a strip of road had to be laid for several miles out in the open and enemy aeroplanes would locate the work and drop a few bombs which would destroy in a few seconds the hard work of weeks.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

Now, then, golfers of Canada, altogether for the biggest "drive" you ever made in aid of the Red Cross funds on Thanksgiving Day, Monday, October 14th. The Royal Canadian Golf Association has asked every golf club and every golfer to participate in this event. Strong local committees should be appointed to arrange an attractive programme of events. The association is giving a trophy for the best gross score in every club belonging to the association. The objective is $25,000. "Go over the top" and then "follow through" some more.

At the Red Cross tournaments throughout the country all sorts of stunts have been pulled off to add money to the funds. The auctioneering off of caddie, referee and other privileges, the balls and clubs of the players is now an old story, but here comes along a new idea. In the Red Cross tournament at the Dunwoody Club, N.Y., in which Oswald Kirby and John Anderson won from Jerome Travers and Max Marston, the services of the club professional, Suter, for a year were sold to the highest bidder.

Mr. Seymour Lyon, son of the amateur champion, and Mr. B. L. Anderson, Hon. secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, are going great guns these days in match play. They make an ideal pair and so far have an unbeaten record. Recently at Lambton they took on the Mississauga cracks, Messrs. Kennedy, Birkehead, John Black, T. Black for them 2 up in a really remarkable game. Playing best ball every hole up to the 12th was halved except the second, where Mr. Anderson recorded a 2. At the shot 21th he decided to gather in another "duce." At the 13th Seymour secured a 3—one under par and the Lambton men were three up. The long 15th, the Punch Bowl, was won by the Mississauga representatives, the remaining three holes being halved. In order to win a point in the match par had to be beaten. Messrs. Anderson and Lyon, Jr., are willing to "take on" any amateur pair in Canada.

Every golfer more or less is affected by the little mannerisms of his ornaments. It's stupid, but somehow it can't be helped. We all know how grateful certain players, the best of good fellows, we cannot for the life of us put up any sort of a decent game. Here is a case in point: In one of the semi-finals in a club championship not so very long ago the mayor came upon by the unanimous opinion of the membership to win was easily defeated. After the match he was asked how it all happened.

"Why, that chap threw me clear off my game by his habit of knocking his heels together before making each shot. No, he didn't do it intentionally. It is simply a playing idiosyncrasy, that's all. I made up my mind not to look at him, but I couldn't help it to save my life. Every time he'd take his stance for a drive or a shot through the green, and even on the green, he'd bring his heels together three or four times. That's all right when you see it once or twice, but, take it from me, when it is done on every shot it tends to get your goat."

"If it were chatter or coughing or sneezing or something that might seem intended to affect your stroke you might object, but what can you do when the act is so manifestly part of a chap's game? You might as well protest the toe-wiggles some fellows give before making a putt."

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been the most successful remedy for other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

WATERFORD

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Dr. Fred Messacar of New York is visiting his father, Mr. Walker Messacar for a few days.

Mrs. McLellan and children, who have been spending the summer with her mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Baird, have been spending the past week in Waterford, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney James. Mrs. McLellan expects to leave for her home in the west on Friday.

Mr. Snelgrove, who has been buying apples in his neighborhood, for a number of years, is here again. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forse have received word that their son, Walter, had been gassed and was now in hospital.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Robinson, in Simcoe, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forse have returned home after visiting friends in Essex and Northampton counties.

Mrs. F. S. Marlett held an "At Home" on Friday, Oct. 4 in honor of Mrs. Chas. A. Marlett, Captain C. A. Marlett, C.A.M.C. left Toronto on Saturday for Victoria, B.C. on route to Siberia, and will there be attached to the 16th Field Ambulance, B.E.F.

Capt. Marlett graduated from McGill University in 1916 and before enlisting was on the surgical staff at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. On Sept. 12 the Captain was married to Miss Irene Gray of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster made a short visit at Mr. MacMartin's last week as they were on their way to Ottawa, to a new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison and children motored to Hamilton on Saturday.

Mr. John Schuyler has returned to her home here, after visiting friends at Hamilton for a short time.

Elder Moore had what might have been a serious accident the other day. He was in a tree and fell about twelve feet, but escaped with only a shaking up. He was able to be around town next day.

Mr. Hosea Rodwell has sold his house, on North Main St. to Mr. James Misner, of Townsend Centre. Mr. Misner sold the farm which he had at the Centre.

Mrs. Foster of Restonville and Mrs. Book of Oakland, visited Dr. Teeter on Tuesday. It was the doctor's birthday.

Mr. Wm. Woodley has sold his farm of 16 acres near Villa Nova to Mr. J. M. Brown, of Toronto.

On Monday night the sectionmen were called out to help replace a car which had jumped the tracks and also to replace a part of the tracks which had been torn up.

Miss Grace McGee, who is well known to many people in town, as she has spent some time here visiting her aunt, Mrs. (Dr.) Teeter, was married to Captain Charlton last Saturday. Both are spending a few days here now. Capt. Charlton expects to leave soon for Siberia.

Mrs. Miller for this town has received word that her nephew, Mr. Gregory, of Oakland, visited Dr. Teeter on Tuesday. It was the doctor's birthday.

The quill, for which tickets were sold at the fair here on Friday fell to Miss Marjell Slack, who held the lucky number, 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blanchard of St. Thomas visited Mrs. T. B. Tobin last week.

The Townsend fair passed off very nicely on Friday, the weather was lovely. We hope to be able to report more fully next week.

The concert held in the town hall on Sept. 27, under the auspices of Trinity church, was a very decided success. The Henderson's Juvenile band of London, was present. This band is composed of children, the youngest being not yet seven years of age and they are certainly well trained. They danced very gracefully a number of dances, among them being the waltz, Highland fling, Irish jig and a number of others. They also sang and recited very sweetly. Their leader and trainer, Mrs. Henderson, as Miss Alice Henderson, gave a number of comic selections, which were very much enjoyed. In all their dances, songs, etc., they were dressed to represent the part.

The amount taken in at the door was $144, and would have been much larger had it not been for a blizzard, as it was filled to its utmost and overflowing, as even the fire escapes outside were full, and many who went had to go away, as they could not get even standing room.

On Thursday, Sept. 26, the deacons and pastors' conference met in the Baptist church here. A social evening, as a farewell for the pastor, had also been arranged, so the conference meeting in the evening was combined with the other. Supper was served at about 7:30, after which addresses followed by Deacon W. E. Mason, on behalf of the board of deacons; Dr. Trotter for the congregation; and Rev. S. H. Lamb, of Villa Nova, on behalf of the association.

After the supper had been attended to, Mrs. Voan read the following address and presented Mrs. Fitch with a beautiful pearl pin, from the women of the church.

Dear Mr. Fitch: On behalf of the women of the church, I am asked to express to you our sincere appreciation of your efforts in the various activities of the church. Your articles, abilities have been generously used in the social decorations of the church from Sunday to Sunday, as well as on special occasions, a work which has added greatly to the enjoyment of the members. In the Ladies' Aid and Mission Circle your faithfulness and willingness to do all in your power, has been most marked. The church Mission board, B. Y. P. U., and, indeed, every department of our church life has benefited by your ability and readiness to serve in any opportunity that presents itself. We can truly say, in the words of the Master, "He hath done what she could," and in this case, we feel it to give you a great deal. We trust you will, in your new home and church, sometimes remember your friends in Waterford church, and to help you to remember, we ask you to accept this little token of our affection, esteem and gratitude.

Mrs. Fitch very feelingly spoke a few words of thanks.

Mr. R. D. Gibson then read an address on behalf of the church, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Fitch with a cheque for $181.

Waterford, Sept. 28, 1918. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fitch:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Fitch: It is with mingled feelings of joy and regret that we have assembled this evening to say farewell to you. We rejoice because of this auspicious occasion, the evening session of the pastors' and deacons' conference of the Norfolk Baptist Association, coming, as it does, so near the close of your pastorate here, and because we know that you have taken advantage of a great opportunity, which seldom comes to anyone, and which will open up a wide field of Christian work which you so dearly love.

Of the fruits of your labor here, nothing more needs to be said, than that every department of our church work here is in a flourishing condition, and you are leaving a wise, a congregation who have the greatest respect and sincere affection for both of you.

We deeply regret that circumstances make it impossible that you sever your connection with us, but while we do so we are mindful that what is our loss is another's gain.

We too often expect our under shepherds to be angels, and to do the seemingly impossible, and forget that they are but human.

Now we are desirous of expressing in some measure our high appreciation of your zealous, loving, tender efforts to lead us in the way of everlasting life, so beg of you to accept this purse of gold, and trust that long after its intrinsic value to you has ceased, the pleasant memories of this occasion and your stay in Waterford may remain green. We assure you that our best wishes for your fortune, prosperity and joy in the fellowship of the Love Jesus, go with you to your new home.

Signed on behalf of the church and congregation.

W. E. Mason, R. W. Trotter, M.D., E. M. Book, H. Stamford and R. D. Gibson.

At the social evening held by Mr. Fletcher's Bible Class at Mr. Mason's an address and purse of $33 was presented.

Rev. E. R. Fitch, M.A.B.D.

Dear Teacher and Pastor:—For the last five years you have been the beloved pastor of the Waterford Baptist Church, and for a considerable period of that time a most efficient, patient and resourceful teacher of the Loyalist Bible Class. Though at times the obstacles in the way of progress were many and the discouragements not few, your indefatigable efforts and your optimism surmounted these difficulties and your class went ahead by leaps and bounds until it reached its present state of proficiency. Nothing but the deepest love and the deepest interest in the welfare of the members of your class could have actuated you to do as much as you have done for the mental, moral and spiritual advancement of your pupils. The result is just what one would expect a feeling of sincere affection and harmony growing up between the pastor and the people. Nothing but the case, it is true, were not to be wondered at that we, the members of your class, deeply regret to learn that you are about to sever your connection with us, and in a measure, break these bonds of love and leadership new encircling us.

We also desire to show you how much we honor, respect and love you and so have met here this evening to enjoy a final hour, and bid you "God speed" in whatever part of the Lord's vineyard you may labor and at the same time express our deep appreciation of your untiring efforts in our behalf in one tangible way. So we beg of you to accept this purse of gold, not for its intrinsic value but as a token of our very high regard for you and keen sympathy of the great love we are maintaining. We trust you may long be spared to continue the Lord's work and that the greatest success may crown all your efforts. Signed on behalf of the Loyalist Bible Class, Alice Sawyer, Secretary.

Rev. Mr. Fitch preached farewell sermons on Sunday to large congregations. In the morning he spoke very feelingly from 1 Cor. 13, 14, "Watch ye stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." He said that he was saying farewell in the morning as he had mostly his own people before him. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Fitch, very kindly withdrew the meeting from the Methodist Church, and a large number attended the Baptist from that congregation. Mr. Fitch took as his text for the evening, 1 Cor. 13, 14, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation." Mrs. Shaw of Paris, Mrs. Taylor of Scotland and Miss Woodley of Brantford assisted the choir.

A large number of friends were at the station on Monday morning to tell Mr. and Mrs. Fitch good-bye, as they left for their new home. They will spend a few days in London and then go on to Chicago where Mr. Fitch will preach and also attend the University of Chicago for a three year's course.

A new pastor has not yet been engaged.

Friday night the B.Y.P.U. met for a social evening and re-organization.

Thursday night the Mission Circle held its usual meeting in the Baptist Church. Mrs. (Rev.) Frank Anderson, who has spent a number of years in India with her husband, as a missionary, gave an address. A dialogue, "Miss Canada at Home," was given by a number of young girls. Mrs. Kitchin and Mrs. Nussel Hellyer sang.

Mrs. Leonard Harrison is sick at time of writing.
