"HE IS RISEN."

DR. PARKER PREACHES IN BEECHER'S OLD CHURCH.

The immense audience includes the pastors and members of the churches, and the ladies of the London Division of the Wesleyan A. S. M. C. "He is Not Here, But is Risen"—The Sermon.

New York, Oct. 3.—A large audience that has hitherto met in Plymouth church since Henry Ward Beecher's death, assembled Sunday morning to listen to the late pastor's friend and possible successor, Dr. Parker of London. Among those present were nearly as many faces as on any other day, but not more since the absence of Mr. Beecher would be an attraction.

The interior of the church has not been altered from its original appearance. The only notable change is in the substitution of a slight book rest, in place of the desk of wood from the church of St. Paul, which is now preserved by his family as a memento.

In the assembly of listeners was not inferior to the average English audience, and the members paid close attention to the English divine's utterances. Mr. Beecher and his family were not in the church. Mr. Beecher's services were not given.

The services were opened with a voluntary on the organ, during which Dr. Parker and his family were seated in the choir, so often occupied by his late friend. He was followed by the venerable assistant pastor, Dr. Halliday, who led the choir in the hymn, "Softly and Gently" Dr. Parker's clean shaven face and plain black attire with high-buttoned coat, gave him a striking resemblance to a priest of the Catholic Church. His slightly gray hair stands out in bunches of close curly curls in all directions.

After a selection by the large choir, Dr. Halliday invoked the benediction of God upon the services of the day. Dr. Parker then read the 46th psalm, in a strong deep voice, his rather pronounced English accent proving, however, that he was not a stranger to the English tongue. He concluded with a responsive reading of the grand verses of the text.

In the prayer and sermon which followed, Dr. Parker's mannerisms were more observable. His attitude and gestures are extremely stiff, almost grotesque, and so nearly so that it is almost impossible to see the school boy. His delivery is vocally dramatic. A singular feature is a tendency to chant passages in which exalted thought is expressed. This chanting, though novel to our ears, seems neither without expressive, or appropriate, as heard from Dr. Parker.

During the singing of another hymn, Dr. Parker closed his eyes, he turned his head back and left time with his feet in a manner strongly reminding one of Mr. Beecher's habit. Dr. Halliday spoke a few words of welcome on behalf of the congregation to Dr. Parker, who said:

"You will find the text in the gospel according to Luke 24: 'He is not here, but is risen.'"

"I am confident that in view of the pathetic circumstances which give uniqueness to this gospel, every Christian heart. We have not assembled under ordinary conditions. For nearly forty years this particular Sunday, the first in October, has been signalized by the appearance in this church of an honored and illustrious pastor.

"To-day he is not here, but we say of him, 'He is risen.' There may be those who would pass over such an event lightly. Some men have a genius of the degradation of all things that are human. The things of this world are not to be despised. We must take the responsibility of forging our own paths as we go, and what is worthless. And it ought never to be the commonplace to man that his life passes like a wisp of smoke; that his days are but a handful of earth, and that death, as many men understand it, is nearer to him than what he calls his life.

"Let us bow down and adore the God who has given us a second life, and get through everything. The landscape furnishes but a walk, so many miles in length. They would not care to look upon a second life. They have seen it! Not they; they cannot see anything. These fast goers see nothing as it really is. They have been through a wilderness of pain, and they are still in it. They have heard no voices in the swinging branches, no anthems in the sunny air. They wonder that any man can say a word worth repeating, and that a scene is so much as a scene."

"What is true of nature is true of art. This man can get through landscape and picture galleries and see nothing as it really is. We have cultivated the signs and wonders of this life. We have become so familiar with them that we begin to question them. We are the victims of cold blood, we want to do in coldness what can only be done in the intensest fire and enthusiasm. Unless miracles come to us in showers, and unless come no miracle at all, we will not believe. The time will come when commonplaces will be the miracle, when he will be the supreme preacher, the great leading mind in his land, and his country, that keeps us in bread and water."

"Christ never promised anything beyond. He said he was bread, and he is the bread of life. We are to be satisfied with nothing that is not made enough of the common things. Not turning common bread into sacrificial flesh, and common supper wine into sacramental blood.

"You will soon live through the universal. You will soon see that eternity is slow; it is not a long time, it is a long time from some in the infinite panorama of the universe. Be not afraid to dwell on the common place, that one day it will be said of each of us, 'He is risen.' Be not afraid to dwell on the elements. Be right in the facts of life, the realities of providence, the expiring truths of the gospel, then let come what may of growth, development, and progress, we shall always have at home the bread and the water of life.

"The word is not 'Risen'; the really hard word is the word 'Here.' To us here is the painful burden. We do not want, we do not ask to be here. What perils beset the fact of incarnation and visibility. If we were better that we should not see of the influences which have most blessed and sustained our lives. We know how perilous a thing it is, for example, to be admitted to familiar intercourse with men who have stirred us by our own thoughts, or have thrown upon our lives the light of their genius. The point is, that incarnation is always the supreme difficulty. It is impossible for the creature to dwell in houses of clay. Yet God incarnated himself in Christ, that he might establish a new point of unity between himself and man, and as between man and man. The church is founded on the incarnation.

"When Jesus Christ said 'Lo! I am with you always, even to the end of the world,' he did not indicate a merely arbitrary presence. It meant more than an external relation. He is the indwelling Christ; he is in us. Part of us. He is identified with us, and we are identified with him, and herein lies the privilege and the power. We want to know some account of our Lord, and some account of those who have died with him, and that account we have in one word—'Risen.' That is all we really want to know about them.

What wondrous power there is in the Bible in just setting forth the right word in every case. In this instance we have the word 'Risen,' and it is the word which leaves the imagination at liberty to conceive what it may of elevation, blessedness and service. It is enough. Our infinitely rich faith says, 'Lord, it sufficeth.' Sometimes, in our less elevated moods, we ask questions about where our loved ones are, what are they doing? What relation do they maintain to one another? Do they ever come down so as to hear our hymns and our prayer, or to help us in some indefinable way? Then comes a mood of inspiration, and we chide ourselves for putting such petty interrogations, and we say, 'Lord, it is well, for Thou reignest, and in Thy reign we have peace.'

Yet in the case of our Lord Jesus Christ, we have some definite information. Observe the words, 'He is risen, the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of God.' What is that right hand? Here we have precision in indefiniteness. We are entitled to say that the only influence worthy of cultivation and enjoyment is spiritual. Be that as it may, if we have performed this miracle, namely, they have taken into themselves words and have done so, and so we say, 'He is risen, the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of God.' What is that right hand? Here we have precision in indefiniteness. We are entitled to say that the only influence worthy of cultivation and enjoyment is spiritual. Be that as it may, if we have performed this miracle, namely, they have taken into themselves words and have done so, and so we say, 'He is risen, the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of God.'

He Will Preach in Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Arrangements have now been definitely made by which Dr. Joseph Parker will preach in the Metropolitan church on Sunday, Oct. 23, and will lecture there on Monday evening, Oct. 24. The service on Sunday will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon so as to furnish an opportunity for those of all denominations to hear him. There will probably be a reception tendered to Dr. Parker on Saturday evening previously.

DEADLY FIRE DAMP.

Three Men Killed and Nineteen Injured by a Mine Explosion.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 3.—There was an explosion of gas at Best Colliery, Saturday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, by which five persons were killed and nineteen injured and great damage done to the mine. The names of the killed are:

Frederick Deakins, fire boss, married,
John Corkan, miner, single,
John Gilley, boy,
Patrick Kelly, boy.

The cause of the explosion was the firing of the gas in the slope. Pillar No. 56 started to run, bringing down the gas on the hands of the workmen.

Nine of the killed were buried; they were overcome by the black damp, that followed the explosion. Two of them, it is believed, were knocked into the gutter in the side of the slope and were drowned by the water that came down with the rush of the pillar from the upper workings.

The injured were overcome by gas. They were brought to the surface quickly and the proper care bestowed on them to bring them back to life.

The greatest excitement prevailed, and it was hours after the accident before any reliable news could be obtained.

The Best Colliery is operated by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, and is known throughout the region as one of the most productive in the valley. It has been the scene, particularly in late years, of the most distressing accidents, but that of Saturday afternoon will probably be the last, for the running of this pillar has closed the slope, and it would be a work of great expense to open it again.

The killed and suffocated men in the disaster had to be brought out through the workings of Big Mine Run Colliery, the main outlet of which is over a mile and a half from Best Colliery.

Less than two years ago a similar accident occurred at this mine by which double the number were killed.

To Make Our Own Power.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The experiments with the electrically manufactured in the government factory at Quebec have been so satisfactory that henceforth the establishment will be entrusted with the task of supplying all Canadian batteries. Projects for broad-landing guns will continue to be obtained from England, but there are only three of those weapons in use in Canada at present.

A Visitor from Australia.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—Mr. John Forrest, minister of public works for West Australia, has been in this city but has left for Toronto. Mr. Forrest represented his government at the colonial conference held in London some time ago and is returning home by way of Victoria and San Francisco, thus making a voyage around the world. He is accompanied by his wife.

He May Die of Hood Poisoning.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 3.—Daniel Bronson of Amherstburg was the victim of a queer accident on Thursday. As he was making-up a train two cars came together with great force and a piece of the drawbar was broken and forced into his mouth, inflicting a terrible injury. He may die of blood poisoning.

They Want Their Money.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—Ryan & Haney, the contractors for building the Red River railroad have refused to continue the work until their back pay is forthcoming, amounting to about $75,000. The people are very blue over the temporary set back to the enterprise.

Their Carelessness Caused Three Deaths.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The department of militia and defense has directed the superintendent and members of the firing party through whose oversight a shell was left on the shore at St. Pierre, on the Island of Orleans, to be present at the inquest on the bodies of the three children killed by the explosion of the missile, and to render the local authorities all the possible assistance in reaching the facts of the case.

Knights of Labor Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 3.—The delegates to the Knights of Labor convention are meeting on the ground and active canvassing is going on among them as to the choice of general officers. It is too soon, however, to predict what action will be taken. Every thing points to a lively but harmonious meeting.

BOTH PARTIES PLEASSED.

SATISFIED AT JOHN MORLEY'S HANDLING OF CHAMBERLAIN.

The chances of War between France and Germany Very Small—English Miners in Better Condition Than Their American Fellow.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Even the Tories are obliged to admit that Mr. John Morley's speech at Templecombe Saturday evening was a brilliant effort. The Tories are in fact nearly as well pleased as the Liberals over the manner in which Mr. Morley handled Mr. Chamberlain. The Birmingham politician is well nigh an Ishmaelite among statesmen at present. He is playing the natural penalty of being all things by turns, and nothing long. Every man's hand is against him. The passage in Mr. Morley's speech which received most approval, was that in which he declared that a policy of blind, indiscriminate blindfold force must fail, as it would not be permitted by the justice and equity of God. There were 20,000 people present at the meeting, and they displayed much enthusiasm.

Mr. Pico, the paper representative who has been studying the politico-religious situation in Ireland, will pay another ten days visit to Dublin, and then proceed to Rome to make his report. No one seems to know just what ground the report will cover, and no one seems to care enough about it to even start a rumor on the subject.

The peculiar situation along the Franco-German frontier can hardly fail to give occasion for more episodes of an irritating character like the Kaufman and Schabert incidents, but the sensible attitude of the two governments in these cases makes it almost certain that no such fiery paroxysm will be allowed to give rise to hostilities. The general feeling in diplomatic circles has been greatly improved by the outcome of the recent frontier shooting affair. The probability of a war during the regime of the present ministries is thought to be reduced to the minimum.

The agitation among the miners has spread to Derbyshire. The workingmen of that district have just held a conference at which they decided to petition for the eight-hour day and other improvements in their lot. Boastful claims are made by making rapid progress. Heretofore they have been a surprisingly conservative class, probably because though poorly paid, their work is tolerably constant.

Whatever may be true of other classes of laborers, there is no doubt that the English miner is better off than his American fellow. The accounts of the government report on Pennsylvania, reprinted here from American papers, have created surprise, and have furnished rampant free traders with new arguments of no less great validity.

At Leicester Saturday, Woodside, the American bicyclist, beat Howell, the English champion, in a ten-mile race.

Elmira is expected at Liverpool to-day. He will spend with Mitchell in St. James hall on Thursday. There is much interest manifested in Kilian's movements. A good district have just had a conference at which they decided to petition for the eight-hour day and other improvements in their lot. Boastful claims are made by making rapid progress. Heretofore they have been a surprisingly conservative class, probably because though poorly paid, their work is tolerably constant.

A CROP CIRCULAR.

The Yield of Grain 20 Per Cent Above the Estimate.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—The circular with reference to this season's crop prepared by the board of trade has now been made public. The board claims that the figures given are the very lowest, but they are nevertheless startling. It was estimated before the harvest, that the grain was standing. The average yield would be about twenty-four bushels per acre, but on threshing it has been found that the actual yield has been fully 20 per cent greater than the estimate. In many sections the yield has been not less than thirty-five bushels per acre.

Grain buyers are generally a unit in declaring that thirty bushels is a sufficiently low estimate of the average yield of wheat for the province, and the only difference being in the average under crop, some estimates being 10 per cent under the amount returned by the crop reporters. But the fact of the amount of binding wheat sold to fanners this year proves conclusively that the government report under estimates, rather than over estimates the area of the wheat field crop.

Turning a lower estimate than has been denied every one, principal grain dealers and millers (thirty bushels, as mentioned above), I have averaged the yield at twenty-eight bushels, which on the return average of $1.24 per bushel, would give a total of 2,856,000 bushels available for export. With over fourteen million bushels of produce available for export it will require over 30,000 cars to transport the grain.

Supposing a train to consist of twenty cars, not less than 1,000 trains must be supplied to meet the demand. The value of the year's crop which will be available for export is estimated as follows: Wheat, 10,000,000 bushels at 55c, $5,500,000; barley, 1,000,000 bushels at 50c, $500,000; oats, 2,500,000 bushels at 45c, $1,125,000; rye, 100,000 bushels at 70c, $70,000; 50c, potatoes, 1,000,000 bushels at 35c, $350,000; total, 14,500,000 bushels; total value, $8,010,000. It is safe to add, for wool, dairy products, stock, vegetables, wood, hides, etc., available for export not required in Manitoba, $500,000, making a gross total of $7,112,500.

A Defaulting Treasurer.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—The intelligence that Samuel Johnston, treasurer for the Hamilton Power Company in this city, was a defaulter to a considerable amount caused a good deal of surprise in business circles where he was well known. Johnston left the city a couple of evenings ago by the Western express, took the ferry at Prescott and crossed to Ogdensburg. A message was received by the company here stating that he had been arrested at the latter place. An examination of his accounts are now being made, and the shortage so far discovered amounts to about $10,000, which is believed will more than cover the loss. Johnston, who is most respectfully commended in this city, has been in the employ of the company for many years, and was considered a most faithful servant. He recently met with severe domestic affliction, and it is believed took to speculation, to which his losses are attributed.

They Want Their Money.

In Brief, and to the Point.
Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cooking, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Jonathan Steele, aged 80 years, one of the pioneers of the county of Elgin, died at Union on Friday.

From a Grateful Mother.
"My little child suffered from severe cold upon the lungs, until she was like a little skeleton before she took Burdock Blood Bitters, after which she became fat and hearty, and was cured of weak lungs, catarrh of the throat, and all the ailments of the chest, from which two doctors had failed to relieve her." Mrs. Samuel Todd, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Young men suffering from the effects of early evil habits, the result of ignorance or folly, who find themselves weak, nervous and exhausted; also mothers and old men who are broken down from the effects of abuse or over-work, and in advanced life feel the consequences of youthful excess, need for read Dr. W. J. Loubser's Treatise on Diseases of Men. The book will be sent sealed to any address on receipt of two 5c stamps.

La Mineur says that Sir John Macdonald has not yet agreed to be one of the Fishery Commissioners.

Certain Cure.
A Cure for Cholera Morbus.—A positive cure for this dangerous complaint, and for all acute or chronic forms of bowel complaint identical to summer and fall, is found in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry; it is procured from any drugist.

Mr. J. O. Row, of Chatham, died suddenly on Friday, while attending a meeting of the creditors.

Freezers. A Worm Powder is safe in all cases. They destroy and remove worms in children or adults.

When the system is debilitated by disease, it should be strengthened and renewed with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine invariably proves itself worthy of all that can be said in its favor. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines. Price 31c. Six bottles, $5.

The grand jury at St. Thomas threw out the bill against Conductor Spettigue for manslaughter.

For several years H. H. Brown, of Kinross, suffered from dyspepsia, he says he tried several physicians and a host of remedies without relief. His druggist recommended B. B. B., which he declared produced "grand results," for which he gives it his highest recommendation.

A CARD.
To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I send a receipt that will cure you. F. J. CHAMBERLAIN, Montreal.

The new St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church at London will be opened on October 23.

An Old Time Favorite.
The season of green fruits and summer drinks is the time when the worst forms of cholera morbus and bowel complaint generally prevail. As a safeguard Dr. Fowler's extract of Wild Strawberry should be kept at hand. For 30 years it has been the most reliable remedy.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Health's Defense. None save the strongest can with impunity pass through the sudden transitions from wet to dry, from cold to muggy weather so prevalent during the autumnal and early winter months. Influenza, bronchitis, cough, sore throat, or quinsy will attack those most watchful of their health, but they can readily arrest one of these complaints by rubbing Holloway's Ointment twice a day upon the affected parts, and by assisting its corrective action with appropriate doses of his Pills. This well-known, safe and easy mode of treatment efficiently protects the invalid both from present and future danger without weakening or even disturbing the system in the slightest degree.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button."

The Lord Mayor of London entertained short-hand writers from all parts of the world in the Mansion House on Friday.

BROOK'S Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypo phosphites is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain cod liver oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles Stanton, Bury Beach, London, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion, and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost any one, especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Put up in 50c and $1.00.

LITTLE TU'PENNY.

BY S. BARING GOULD.

and crossed the magic circle traced by the wheel of the fan that turns the mill. Then she cautiously approached the stationary wings, which were now full fledged, the canvas strained over them to the topmost. Only a light wind was stirring that day, and every breath had to be caught and utilized; not a reef was taken in.

Trip stood behind the sail that rose upright from the ground, screamed by it from observation by any one in the road in the garden, or cottage. The sail did not, of course, quite reach the surface. She caught the cross bar and scrambled on to the wing. It had a main beam of great strength, and two sides; across were the strips of wood, or "splines," that held the canvas from bulging in, and to which it could be reefed.

The girl climbed to the second of these ribs and fastened the ends of her skipping gaiters to it; she passed the handles behind the main beam, and drew them through and firmly knotted them. Then she stood up, with her feet in the loop, and jumped and stamped, and the knots held securely.

"Now," said she, "I have managed frantically. When the sail goes up I shall be sitting in a swing, with my head up; then when it goes down I shall descend in the same way, head up. I have only to hold 'ast by the ropes of my swing, and mind not to touch the spines. Whatever will Joe Miller say when he sees that my opinion is better than his? After that, he'll never dare to call me vulgar names. Little Tu'penny, indeed?"

If Miss Triptolema had discovered this plan unassisted, she would have shown remarkable ingenuity. But she had not been unaided. The preceding year she had attended a fair with her mother, where she had seen a whirligig in which those who paid a penny were given a revolution in seats that were swung on pivots to the arms of a vast wheel planted vertically. Consequently, Trip was simply applying to the mill sails a principle she had seen in operation at the fair.

Nevertheless, it is not every one who can apply a principle. She must not be denied some credit for what she did.

Having completed her preparations, Trip sat patiently in her swing waiting till the miller and his man returned from their dinner, nothing doubting that they would set the mill going without observing her.

It was as she expected. The man came first, Joe remaining at the house to give his mother some change to pay a bill to the carrier for some crates.

The man started the mill without casting a look at the sails. The wind caught, strained the canvas, the woodwork cracked, heaved, and the wings began to move. Trip thought that the grass, the hedges were running away under her feet. Her first sensation was one of alarm, and she uttered a slight exclamation; but this sensation passed rapidly, and was followed by a great outburst of spirits as the strong beam carried her up. Her weight was of no more account than that of a fly on a carriage wheel. She did not feel the breeze, because she sat inside screened by the canvas, but a cold rush of air came down on her head, caused by the rapid upward sweep and displacement.

It would have been pleasanter if possible, to have sat outside. She would have seen more of the world; the great bulk of the mill would not have intervened between her and the prospect. But that was not possible. As a babe crows when swung into the air by the stout arms of father or mother, so did Trip exclaim with exultation as she was carried aloft. She had no fear of the beam giving away—of her swing snapping. She saw the swallows dashing about her, careless of the sails, twittering and screaming and quite indifferent to her presence. She saw away over the bean field, over the park trees the white roof of the miller's house, and she saw what she had never seen before, the well in the roof into which water was pumped to supply the house. She saw over the house—away, away, away—to the blue gleaming river, with specks on it.

She saw a man and a woman in it working—the man, it was not a man, it was scarcer. There were pieces of tin tied to a string, clattering and flickering in the air and sun. She could not hear the click—she could not see the flash.

Yonder was the house of the old woman who took in the washing for the mill. What a fluttering of white there was on the lines, and old one blinding red petticoat, like a tulip.

The beans labored, groaned; the canvas flapped; Trip had reached the highest point of all, she looked over the roof of the mill.

Now, down, down, she began to go; and as she sank a sensation of sinking made itself felt in her heart. Now only did she fear lest her rope should give way, lest the knots should relax. She swung down faster than she went up; the river, the house, the trees, the bean field went together like a pack of cards. There was a swimming in her head. When she reached the ground she would have leaped down had she dared, but she knew such a leap would lead to broken bones and, perhaps, death.

Up—up—up again. The panorama, fan-like, unfolded once more before her. Again that horrible scarerow, with the straw sticking out of the crown of a battered hat, again the blinking of the tin shreds. Her hands clung to the ropes quivering. Her heart fluttered; fear began to take possession of her rising like a side. Tears rushed into her eyes. She could see nothing more, except the black cloud that hung over the metropolis. She cried, but her cries were drowned by the croaking of the swallows, or lost among the screams of the swallows. She felt no part of her but her hands, as though she were all hand, nothing but hand clutching at the rope. Every other sensation went away like a dissolving view, and nothing came in its place. A overpowering dread of falling took possession of her, and with the dread a feeling that she must throw herself out of her seat. Only her will held her in—her will concentrated in the muscles of her hands—she was perfectly conscious of what the result would be should she fall—fall she must—fall she would when swung to the verge above the gable-end of the mill—fall and become a shattered heap like the old miller, Joe's father.

The horror became sickening. The air rushed upward, now blew her hair about her ears and was cold under her chin: an infinite abyss opened under her, her life was pouring out of the palms of her hands and the soles of her feet, and her heart had detached itself from her ribs, and was sinking faster than her body. A spasmodic convulsion came over her arms, and her hands relaxed.

Then, as her senses were leaving her, she was caught, and felt strong arms round her, and saw a white face like the moon in daylight above her, and was aware of a smell of flour. She remembered no more.

When Trip came to herself she was lying on the grass, and Joe Western, with a bowl, was sprinkling water on her face.

AYER'S PILLS.

Sugar-Coated Cathartic.
If the Liver becomes torpid, if the bowels are constipated, or if the stomach fails to perform its functions properly, use Ayer's Pills. They are invaluable.

For some years I was a victim to Liver Complaint, in consequence of which I suffered from General Debility and Indigestion. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills restored me to perfect health.—W. T. Brightney, Henderson, W. Va.

For years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than any other medicine.

Regulate
my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly. I have used them with good effect, in cases of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia.—G. F. Miller, Attleborough, Mass.

Ayer's Pills cured me of Stomach and Liver troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I consider them the best pills made, and would not be without them.—Morris Gates, Downsville, N. Y.

I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by jaundice, and was so dangerously ill that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor.—John C. Pattison, Lowell, Mass.

Last spring I suffered greatly from a troublesome humor on my face. In spite of every effort to cure this eruption, it increased until the flesh became entirely raw. I was troubled, at the same time, with indigestion, and distressing pains in

The Bowels.
By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and in less than one month was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. In a short time the bloody discharges stopped, all pain went away, and health was restored.—Theodore Ewing, Richmond, Va.

Mr. R. W. Scott and family leave for London this evening, where Mr. Scott assumes the duties of chief clerk in the Grand Trunk office. While in Guelph Mr. and Mrs. Scott have made many warm friends who will deeply regret them leaving here. They carry with them the best wishes of all Guelph acquaintances.

Mr. Joseph Lawson who has represented the Gurney Manufacturing Company as general agent for the counties of Wellington, Grey, Bruce, Huron and Peel for the last four years, has severed his connection with that firm on account of the firm having decided to give up the agricultural department of their business. Mr. Lawson has been engaged by the Watson Manufacturing Company, of Ayr, as general agent for the same counties. In his the Watson Manufacturing Company have secured the right man and the right man in Mr. Lawson, who has continued success.

By Prepared.

Many of the worst attacks of cholera morbus, cramps, dysentery, and colic come suddenly in the night, and the most speedy and prompt means must be used to combat their dire effects. Dr. Fowler's Kidney & Bladder Remedy is the remedy. Keep it at hand for emergencies. It never fails to cure or relieve.

INSPECTING THE CROSSINGS.—Engineer Bailey, of the Northern Railway, arrived in the city on the 10 o'clock train from the east. He was brought here for the purpose of obtaining an independent opinion regarding the crossing of the Guelph Junction Railway at Rink's bridge. Messrs. Macdonald and Ad. Smith met Mr. Bailey at the station. They were later on joined by Messrs. Davidson, McCraw and Higginbotham, who may be said to represent the public interest in the crossing of the lines.

Inspector Bailey examined the property in the vicinity of Spence's mill, and particularly the route advertised by Mr. McCraw. Afterward the Keassee bridge crossing was inspected. Mr. Bailey will report at an early date.

SOCIETY FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Jacob Tyson, on Saturday afternoon, was probably the largest ever seen in this city. It was over 5 miles in length. About fifty Oldfellows and members of the Royal Arcanum walked in front of the hearse, and 135 conveyances followed the remains. The night was a most impressive one as the great column slowly proceeded up the Elora road to the cemetery. Such an immense turnout on the limited notice given evidenced very strongly the great popularity of the deceased gentleman and the immense sorrow felt at his untimely death. The streets around the late residence of the deceased were black with conveyances an hour before the funeral started. The Oldfellows and members of the Royal Arcanum, shortly after four o'clock, took up solemn service was performed over the remains by the Rev. J. O. Smith. The coffin—a most beautiful one—was covered with best offerings. The most prominent was a slab from the Royal Arcanum bearing the society's motto "V. M. C. C."—virtue, morality, charity. This was the first death in Wyndham Council. A beautiful wreath was also presented by the Oldfellows. Three of the pall bearers were taken from each society. Messrs. Jan. Day, H. Richardson

W. R. C. Foster, represented the Arcanum, while the Oldfellows were Brothers At. Miller, Wm. Hearn and Jas. Hewer. The route of the procession was along Melville and Suffolk streets to the Elora road and thence to the Union cemetery. Many attended the solemn and imposing spectacle. At the grave Rev. J. O. Smith performed the burial service, and then the hearse and the last long train of conveyances to one who in life enjoyed their esteem and affection and in death will retain a fond place in their memory.

THE NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.—The best production of this great temperance drama that Guelphites have ever witnessed was given in the city hall, Saturday night, by Leach & Stevens' company. The house was slim. Several new features have been added to the play by this company, and two or three of the parts noticeably padded out. Sample Swichel, as played by Mr. Odger, is not the old time Sample at all. He is a new character. Mr. Stevens found ready favor with the audience and held them in warm sympathy with his kindly humor. The Joe Morgan of Mr. Frank Kenney is a good piece of acting. In the delirium tremens scene he was too boisterous, although he succeeded in thrilling the audience and changing the truthful expression on the countenance of some to one of extreme terror. Baby de Castro is a clever child and played Mary Morgan for all it was worth. The other characters were played especially that of Mrs. Morgan. The singing by the quartette was a most pleasing feature.

ACCUSED OF RAPE.
The old players of the Maple Leafs are open to a challenge from any other team in the Province. Here are their names: W. B. Smith, Fred Dyer, W. Buecker, J. Hower, E. Hower, O. Atkinson, A. Dillon, Dan Connors, Thom. Cockman and Jno. Galdie. Any information concerning the team can be obtained from Mr. Smith.

Two Guelph Youths Charged With a Heinous Crime.
Angus McKinnon, aged 17, and Jas. Palmer, aged 19, are receiving a preliminary trial at the police court this afternoon on the charge of rape. McKinnon was arrested Sunday evening, and Palmer at 6 o'clock this morning. The victims of the alleged crime and the informant in the case is Clara Montgomery, a 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Montgomery, the proprietor of a stand in the vegetable market.

Her story, as told to the chief constable, is substantially as follows: With two other girls, Carrie Thompson, aged 16, and Mary Anne Smith, 14, was one of the closest at the Central school Sunday evening about 7 o'clock. They were on their way to the Salvation Army barracks. When passing the girls noticed two young fellows seated on the front steps of the school and they had not been long in the closest when the same fellows tried to shove in the door. The girls rushed out. Two of them, Thompson and Smith, escaped. The other, Clara Montgomery, was seized at the door by a young man and shoved back into the closest. She struggled to free herself, but her assailant drew a revolver and said he would shoot her if she didn't remain quiet. Fearful of losing her life she made no outcry. The young man succeeded in accomplishing his purpose, while outside his pal kept watch. After gratifying his beastly passion the girl's assailant called her name by name, and told him to come inside. The address quickly responded and closed the door. No sooner had she done so than it was burst violently in. One of the ruffians rushed in, and she was seized and carried to the school. The other fellow drew a revolver and threatened to shoot if his pal was not liberated, but Smith managed to keep his own body. In a very few minutes he was handed over the prisoner to P. C. Dooly at the station. Of course the other culprit escaped. The one captured gave his name as the correct one—Angus McKinnon, aged 17. He said his chum's name was Bert Matthews. From the description given by the girls the chief constable was led to believe that the assailant was James Palmer. On going to Palmer's home at midnight he was not in. This intensified the suspicion. The chief constable in the officer's mind, and Constables Kitchley and Dooly were detailed to keep Palmer at the station. At 6 o'clock this morning Constable Kitchley arrested him at the Garden street crossing and placed him in the cells. McKinnon has since admitted that he gave his companion's name as that of Matthews in order to assist Palmer.

The girl Montgomery and Mr. Smith have both identified the prisoners. The preliminary trial is going on this afternoon. Palmer is charged with rape and McKinnon with aiding and abetting.

George Smith deserves credit for securing young McKinnon, and the police are worthy of praise for locating and capturing the other alleged criminal.

Collision at Oshawa.
Oshawa, Oct. 1.—This morning about 6 o'clock a terrible smash-up took place about a mile east of Oshawa station by one train running into another. It seems two trains were coming from the east and the hind one running at a faster speed than the first and not being noticed by either of the train hands until within a few rods of each other on the point of the cut, the former ran into the other with a terrible crash. Before the crash took place, however, the conductor of the leading train jumped out, and perhaps saved his life with great risk. No person was seriously hurt. Great heat has been scattered over the great heaps of sand. Two of the cars were entirely burnt. The accident will cause a heavy loss to the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

Struck Dead in a Quarrel.
BRANDENBURG, Ont., Oct. 1.—Today while Chas. O'Brien, who runs a threshing machine, was engaged in the barn of Mrs. Taylor, who owned a trial machine, entered the barn, when an altercation arose between the two men. Taylor called O'Brien a liar, and the latter struck him twice, and fell into the arms of some workmen dead. O'Brien gave himself up. Samuel Taylor was an old resident of the township of Macaulay, and had been a councillor for several years. He leaves a large family.
