CHAPTER XXXIX.

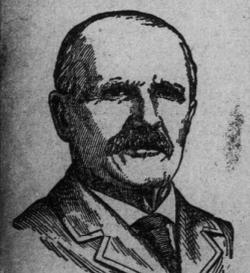

I suppose there is no need to relate in detail what had come to hear the confession of Raby St. George. I can not enter upon it, for it is still too painful, too terrible to me, although it proved the innocence of my friend.

It was Raby St. George who shot Fraser Froude—shot him with Yorke's pistol, taken from the drawer of the writing-table on that unlucky evening when he had cut his hand and I had taken him to Red-pots to have it dressed, leaving him alone in Roger's den while I went to find my friend. Madly jealous at all times of any one who approached Natalie Orme as her lover, he became frantically so of Froude when I told him that she was absolutely engaged to him. Until then he had regarded it as a feat of hers to put him off. Hearing from me that it was true, I really believe that the man lost his head.

According to the gasped-out account to which we three listened, he had in an instant made up his mind that somehow he would put out of his way the master of Holmeadene. Yorke's pistol, carelessly left in the open drawer, was as a weapon thrust into his hand. He took it, concealed it about him before Yorke's entrance. He declared, with what truth I do not know, that in doing this he had no idea that he might cause suspicion to be thrown upon a perfectly innocent man. His one thought was revenge. He left Whittlesford that night, went to Bridgely Norton, and returning the next morning, spent the day lurking about Holmeadene. Until dusk he did not see Froude at all. Then Froude came out, calling in a Chavasse for a few minutes, and, on leaving it, turned toward Whittlesford. St. George dogged him all the way, keeping carefully out of sight until he turned down the river path. Then he showed himself, intending as we gathered, to demand that the other should give up his claim to the hand of Natalie Orme. Something to that effect he did say. Froude laughed at him, taunted him, and called him a "nigger idiot." This insult of all others was the one which St. George's fiercely passionate temper, lashed into wild fury as it was just then by jealousy, could not brook. It was all over in an instant. There was a flash, a report, and Froude dropped without a groan in the snow by the group of pollard willows—shot through the heart; and St.

How He Escaped An Operation

And Was Completely Cured of Piles of 14 Years' Standing by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Chas. Beauvais. Doctors say that about one person in every four suffers more or less from piles, and who can imagine a more annoying, torturing, disagreeable ailment? After trying a few treatments without success, and as the ailment grows worse, the medical doctor is consulted. An operation, he says, is necessary. You think of the suffering, expense and risk to life itself, and hesitate before taking such a step. In many thousands of such cases Dr. Chase's Ointment has made thorough and lasting cures. Read this letter for the proof. Mr. Charles Beauvais, a well-known citizen of St. Jean, Que., writes:—"For 14 years I suffered from chronic piles, and considered my case very serious. I was treated by a celebrated doctor who could not help me and ordered a surgical operation as the only means of relief. However, I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and obtained great relief from the first box. By the use of three boxes I was entirely cured. This is why it gives me great pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all who suffer from piles and a treatment of the greatest value." Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

WOMAN DIZZY PARTLY NUMB

Doctors Did Her No Good—Testified How She Was Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Zanesville, Ohio.—"Last fall I had female weakness very bad, and was nervous and run down. I was dizzy and had numb feelings and my eyes ached. I took doctor's medicines but they did me no good, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and now I feel stronger and better. I have told other women what Mrs. Pinkham's medicines have done for me and give you permission to publish this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. HULDA ERICKSON, 506 Maysville Avenue, Zanesville, Ohio.

More Proof. Burlington, Iowa.—"For years I suffered a great deal from female troubles. I had awful pains and felt sick nearly all the time. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and heard that it had helped other suffering women so I felt sure it would do me good. Sure enough it did. The first bottle helped me and now I am a strong and well woman. I would not be without it in the house."—Mrs. ANNA HIGGINS, 1125 Agency St., Burlington, Iowa.

There need be no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to remedy woman's diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical. Why don't you try it? George, flinging away the smoking pistol, rushed down the river path and left him lying there undiscovered, until I, with Major Constable and the rector, had almost stumbled over the ghastly dead figure some three hours later.

That was the substance of the confession to which we listened, standing round the great bed, the rector in his capacity of magistrate, taking it down, and the doctor, with his grave attentive face; in the back ground, out of hearing—a confession made in low, weak tones, and with painful gasps and haltings. Then when it was at last over, the dying man, with a movement of his eyes—almost the only part of his poor body that he could move—signed to the other two to draw back, and to come nearer. They complied, and bent down over him, bringing my ear close to his lips, for his voice was growing more choked and feeble with every passing moment. His face had not been touched, and even now ghastly gray-white as it was, was unaltered at least in its beauty of feature; but there could be no doubt that he was dying fast—even I could see that. When he spoke, it was with a pause and a gasp between nearly every word.

"I told you that day that you would be sorry, Chavasse."

"I know," I returned; "and I am indeed."

"Ay—for your friend perhaps. I don't ask it. You remember I said when that one of these days the same poison that was in my blood might rage in yours?"

I nodded. His eyes, larger and brighter than I had ever seen them flashed at me.

"Then I tell you that, if ever that is the case, you will know what my agonies have been since I set my foot in this hateful country of yours. I have endured tortures, I say!"

It was so terrible to see him lying there, racked with passion, and yet seeming to live only in the eyes that gleamed from his haggard face, that I drew back, involuntarily. But with the same look he made me bend down again. He went on—

"Bah! What do you English know, whose very blood is frozen in your veins? I believe you think me repentant. I am not. I speak to set your friend free because I am dying. I tell you that, but for this that has crushed the life out of me, had there risen a score of rivals between her and me, I would have swept them aside in the same way!"

I believed it, horrible as the words sounded, for I had never seen any face—even his—so distorted with passion. I would have spoken, but that the doctor, coming hastily across the room, put his hand upon my arm and drew me back.

"He is fainting," he whispered, in my ear—"he will sink into a state of coma probably."

"And then?" I whispered back, looking at the haggard gray-white face and the heavy lids drooping over the eyes.

"He will most likely die in it. At any rate I think he has said his last word."

The doctor was right. All through the long hours of the winter night we sat there, listening to the monotonous patter of the rain outside the windows, and watching the motionless figure upon the bed, from which no sign of life came but the faint gasping breath.

It was almost morning, and a pale streak of gray was visible in the murky sky, the serald of the day which was to see not only the release of Roger Yorke, but also the stately pretentious funeral of the late master of Holmeadene, when a slight movement on the bed made us look toward it. St. George's eyes opened and his lips moved, but no words came. There were a few feeble choking breaths; he made a weak effort to raise his arms, and the next instant was gone.

I pass over the ride back to Chavasse, old Dizarte's exultation, my mother's questionings and astonishment. In fact, so dazed and confused was I by my unwonted experiences of two anxious and sleepless nights that I was for the time in a state of semi-stupor, able to realize only one thing—that my friend was safe. Excited as I was, joyful as I was—yes, joyful in spite of everything when I remembered Roger—my first act after home was reached and I had swallowed a cup of hot coffee was to drop into a great chair by the fire, and fall asleep. Nor did I awake until the calling of my name roused me, and I opened my drowsy eyes to meet madame's as she bent over me, and to find that it was past midnight and that Dizarte and the rector were gone.

"I did not like to wake you, Ned," my mother said, kindly; "but it is growing so late."

"Oh, yes, of course!" I returned, aguely, stupid still, and rubbing my eyes. "I didn't mean to go to sleep. Where's Dizarte?"

"At Market Waxford long ago, no doubt."

And I had meant to go! I realized with a feeling of chagrin that I should not be the first, as I had intended to be, to grasp my friend's ree hand.

Madame, looking at me, understood me, I suppose, for she said: "It is quite as well that you should not go, Ned, for Doctor Yorke's sake. He will not want any noise or excitement after such a terrible experience as that of the last few days must have been. Be content to leave him to Doctor Dizarte for to-day. It will be better for him."

Perhaps it would; but I was genuinely disappointed, for all that. I looked at madame's pale, handsome face for a moment or two before asking: "The rector has gone, too, I suppose?"

"Of course."

"To be sure—it is he really who is wanted. I say, mother, it was an awful affair, wasn't it?"

"Try This Home-made Cough Remedy"

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with 1 cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis, and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacol and all the natural pine elements, which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often limited. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

"My dear boy, pray do not speak of it! It is too terrible—too miserable to talk about. It is better and kinder to let it rest, if only for the sake of that unhappy man. It is a thing to be thankful for that he lived long enough to speak; otherwise—" And here madame was silent for a few moments.

"Ay—otherwise! I shuddered as I thought of what that implied; for I knew that if Raby St. George had only known that Natalie Orme loved Roger Yorke, he would never have spoken to clear him, but would have died dumb."

"Mother," I said, breaking the silence, "you have never said it outright, but, when things looked blackest against him, you never believed, did you, that Roger was guilty?"

"No," madame answered, decisively. "I did not, Ned."

"Thank you," I said, gratefully. "I'm glad you say that—the more that I've sometimes fancied that you didn't much like Yorke."

"You are mistaken, my dear. Within the last few months I have learned to like Doctor Yorke greatly. And I should be disposed to like him if only on account of his kindness to that unhappy woman—poor thing!"

Corset Cover and Drawers in Princess Combination.

Sheer nainsook, with "val" lace and insertion produces pleasing results in this garment. It may also be made of nainsook with handworked scallops on the ruffe and neck and armseye edges finished in the same way. The model is made on Princess lines, and is comfortable and up-to-date, and is fitted with side front, underarm, side-back, and shoulder seams. It is suitable for crepe, China or India silk, nainsook, lawn, crossbar muslin, dimity, or cambric. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes—34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 4½ yards of 36 inch material for the 36 inch size.

9521—A PRETTY NIGHTDRESS.

Ladies' Nightdress with Yoke.

This charming model is suitable for lawn, nainsook, cambric, dimity, crossbar muslin, or silk. The yoke is cut with deep points, over the fronts, and forms part of the sleeve in kimono style. The skirt portions are full and gathered to the yoke. Crossbar muslin with "val" lace insertion and edging for trimming would be very appropriate for this style. A pretty effect is gained by embroidering the yoke, or it may be of all-over or alternate tucks and insertion. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes—Small, Medium and Large. It requires 5½ yards of 36 inch material for the medium size.

The Wrong Kind of Undertaking.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Oh, dear, I've got to entertain the Martins next week," I heard a young matron say the other day. "How I dread it!"

I think I must have been surprised at this inopportune remark, for she had been invited to give a dinner party at her home. "It isn't that I don't like to entertain them," she said, "but it's the first time they will come to my new home, and you know they are so much better off than I and have such lovely things. Of course, our little home is pretty and I love it, but they have beautiful china and embroideries and expensive furniture and loads of silver, and we have so little. I just love to entertain them, only I don't feel as if I had much to offer."

How many hostesses approach entertainment in that spirit, and what a travesty on hospitality it is!

"Give whatever you have to give, to some it may prove better than you know" has been said in regard to charity. It seems to me it is an equally good description of the right kind of hospitality.

That over-anxious hostess is a remarkably good cook. Having been entertained by her much during guests, I know she can get up a far better meal than their servant, and a meal that no one with a palate would help enjoying.

Now she knows this, too. Then, why shouldn't she be content in having that to give, and not fret because the silver and china and linen from which she is to serve this meal will be somewhat less expensive than that to which her guests are accustomed?

We all have different gifts in hospitality just as in other directions, and the wise hostess concentrates in exercising her own gift to the full, and doesn't waste energy in fretting over what she lacks.

I know one woman who has a very shabby home and such an ill-furnished parlor that she always serves the simplest of repasts. And yet she is one of the most popular hostesses that I know, because she has the fine gift of getting congenial people together and bringing out the best that is in them.

To another unpretentious home we all love to go because it has such a restful, old-time atmosphere, such an aroma of serenity, as it were, that one comes away rested and refreshed in spirit from a sojourn within its walls.

And yet another hostess wins us by the freedom from formality and stiffness which is always a characteristic of her entertaining.

Give that host who has to your guests, and give it freely, and you will surely content any guest who is worth the having.

Sir Edward Morris Forgets Himself

AND VULGARLY APPEALS TO THE GALLERY.

Dear Sir.—Mr. Kent, when the Resolutions respecting the alteration of the proposed branch railways were being considered by the House in Committee, asked that certain information be furnished. He thought it right that before dealing with such important questions, that the House be supplied with the most complete information respecting the proposed branches. Mr. Kent's perfectly business-like attitude towards the matter got on the nerves of the Prime Minister, who, forgetting himself and the subject at issue, wandered off into a loud-voiced appeal to the gallery.

He became so egotistical as to bring forth the condemnation of even those to whom he looked for applause, which condemnation found vent later on in applause for Mr. Kent. Sir Edward may think that the people of this country can be gulled by loud and offensive talk, but to-day he has learned a lesson which we hope he will not soon forget. According to himself, if we are to take his own words for it, nobody but Sir Edward, has ever done anything for the country. It is: I did this, I did that, I proposed this, I advocated that. In a shameful manner he took to himself credit for all that has ever been done for the good of the country since he first entered parliament. He repudiates his late leader and his colleagues as being devoid of any ability. Sir Edward is displaying very little of that keen insight and acumen which should mark the leader of the Government, or else he is wilfully neglectful of the true interests of the people and cares only to serve the railway contractors.

For instance, he told the House on Tuesday that even if the most complete plans of the railway branches were before the House, they could furnish no information beyond showing the curves and grades. It may be asked what kind of plans the Reids work by, if they show no other details beside curves and grades. According to our knowledge, railway plans should show besides that, many other features, such as cuts and fills. Plans should also show streams, lakes, bridges, culverts, etc. They should also give topography of country traversed. The kind of soil, and whether the land is wooded or cleared, whether the land is Crown land or granted land. The kind and size of timber through which the proposed line is to run should also be given on the plans.

Not only that, but all fences, buildings such as stations, etc., must be given, together with careful estimate of cost of construction of every building, bridge or culvert. The profile plan should show number of cubic yards of excavation, or fill and cost of same. Telegraph poles and water tanks are also shown in the plan together with cost of same. All these and other details must be shown, if they are not worked out it would puzzle one to know how the cost of construction is to be estimated. As Morris says the plan does not show these enumerated details, it is not to be wondered at that he is so much at sea when he figures on the cost of those branch lines.

Well done, Mr. Kent, show them up in all their unbusiness-like transactions. Let Morris rave as he will, keep at him, make him wake up to the fact that he is not capable of running this country on safe business principles. Patay says he is "not fit to run a bullseye shop."

The Branch Lines.

In answer to questions put to the Government in the Assembly on Tuesday afternoon, Mr. J. A. Cliff, member for Twillingate, received the following interesting information re the matter of railway construction and survey. The plans for Bonne Bay have not yet been submitted. The water's edge was reached at about 20 miles. The company are now revising to shorten the route if possible. Constructed and surveyed:

Miles	Bonavista Branch as constructed	88.44
Miles	Trinity Spur as surveyed	1.798
Miles	Trapansey Branch as surveyed	105.03
Miles	Heart's Content Branch as surveyed	34.44
Miles	Bay-de-Verde Branch as surveyed	51.5
Miles	Fortune Bay Branch as surveyed	53.75

NEW YORK, March 12. Ralph Pulitzer has lodged information before Magistrate Karochoan, charging Mayor Gaynor with criminal libel in defaming the memory of his father, the late Joseph Pulitzer. The complaint is supported by three affidavits, saying that in February, Gaynor stated before the South Brooklyn Board of Trade that Joseph Pulitzer had amassed his $50,000,000 fortune by blackmail and indecency. Proceedings are adjourned till Friday.

CALGARY, March 12. Four gas operators, employees of the Western Canada National Gas Company, have been asphyxiated at the Nanton Gas Plant.

MONTREAL, March 12. Dr. Friedman yesterday demonstrated his tuberculosis cure before a representative gathering of physicians. The number treated was fifty-six, by far the largest ever inoculated in one day or in one city by Dr. Friedman. Outside of Berlin are only twenty-eight cases, all receiving the virus in the States.

COCHRANE, Ont., March 12. Geologist McMillan, who spent five months last year at James Bay, says the opinion that Moose River is not navigable and that Hudson Bay is shallow, is erroneous. For eighty miles north of Cochrane there is the very best farming land, but beyond there draining on a large scale would save to be resorted to before profitable settlement could be made.

All You Need is a Cascaret To-Night

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food that is misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never grip or sicken.

Nature's Way Is The Best.

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, man-drake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherrybark. Of these Dr. K. V. Pierce made a pure glyceric extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "Golden Medical Discovery."

This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It's just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, or pneumonia. No matter how long the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape, rich blood—cleans the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience at this time of the year is usually the effect of impure blood; it often indicates by pimples or blotches appearing on the skin, the face becomes (this—) you feel "blue."

LONDON, March 12. The Ambassadors in London of the European Powers held another meeting at the Foreign Office, when they discussed the general situation in the near East for over two hours. As no reply, however, had been received from the allied Balkan nations, no definite progress was made. Another meeting will be held on Thursday, when it is hoped the diplomats will be independent of the reply of the Allies.

VIENNA, March 12. Austria is understood to have taken steps to induce the Powers to act collectively in demanding from the Serbian Government an explanation regarding the despatch of additional troops by Serbia to Durazzo. Growing irritation is displayed in official circles here over Serbia's action, which is believed to be encouraged by the apparent helplessness and dilatory procedure of the Ambassadorial Conference in London. As it is well known that Serbia has no real desire to see Montenegro become more powerful, her action in assisting the attack on Serbia excites suspicion in Vienna, where the opinion is held that she is designed to strengthen the Serbian position on the Adriatic. The military party are urging Austria to take vigorous steps to guard her threatened interests without further regard for the selfish aims of the other Powers. Meantime it is declared that the forces assembled on the Serbian frontier cannot be weakened in the slightest by dispersing the reservists.

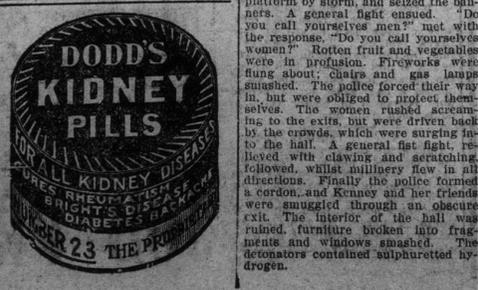

BELGRADE, March 12. The Allies have agreed to accept the mediation of the Powers in order to bring about a termination of hostilities according to a well informed source. Consent, however, depends on the immediate surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, and the Aegean Islands, and a war indemnity.

PARIS, March 12. The French press, generally, takes a calm view of the Cologne Gazette article. Emile Mursard, in La Patrie, says: "Do you call yourselves men?" Rotten fruit and vegetables were in profusion. Fireworks were hung about; chairs and gas lamps smashed. The police forced their way in, but were obliged to protect themselves. The women rushed screaming to the exits, but were driven back by the crowds, which were surging in to the hall. A general fist fight, relieved with clawing and scratching, followed, whilst military flew in all directions. Finally the police formed a cordon, and Kenney and her friends were smuggled through an obscure exit. The interior of the hall was ruined, furniture broken into fragments and windows smashed. The detonators contained sulphuretted hydrogen.

NOTTINGHAM, March 12. Annie Kenny and a male suffragist, Gray, were announced to speak here last night. They asked police protection and the police turned out in full force. Admission was by ticket. Hardly had the first speaker begun when a detonator was discharged in the back seats, causing general alarm. The explosion was followed by stamping, shouting and fire-crackers. Miss Kenney was heckled about the railway outrages, and said the suffragettes were forced to resort to extreme methods, and that Nottingham men should be proud of them, as their ancestors had burned Nottingham Castle to get the franchise. The racket was resumed within the hall and outside there was a terrific din. Gray followed Kenney, and had hardly started when the mob broke into the building by the back entrance, carried the platform by storm and seized the banners. A general fight ensued. "Do you call yourselves men?" met with the response, "Do you call yourselves women?" Rotten fruit and vegetables were in profusion. Fireworks were hung about; chairs and gas lamps smashed. The police forced their way in, but were obliged to protect themselves. The women rushed screaming to the exits, but were driven back by the crowds, which were surging in to the hall. A general fist fight, relieved with clawing and scratching, followed, whilst military flew in all directions. Finally the police formed a cordon, and Kenney and her friends were smuggled through an obscure exit. The interior of the hall was ruined, furniture broken into fragments and windows smashed. ## Notes and Comments.

BON VOYAGE!
With the departure of the steel ships from port this a.m., the sealing voyage of 1913 may be said to be in full swing. May bumper trips be the portion of all, and a safe return to family and friends.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.
There is no doubt but that if a little discretion was used this morning, the accident to the Beothic would not have happened. As it is, the owners are put to a lot of expense and the ship hung up for a time—all because of a mad race on the part of the captain to get through the narrow first. However, we hope that no serious delay will ensue to the ship, and that in a comparatively short time the Beothic will be on her way to the sealing grounds.

THE F.P.U. PARADE.
The demonstration by the sealers last night, was one of the best torch-light parades ever witnessed in the city. The sealers were in great evidence and with the large number of citizens who joined in, there must have been close on five thousand men in the march.

MORRIS'S FIZZLE!
Morris held a meeting in the British Hall, last night, which was meant to be a sealers' meeting, but really turned out to be a meeting of his followers. In no sense could it be termed a sealers' meeting, and Morris must realize that his bold on our hardy toilers is a thing of the past.

THE FIRE TO-DAY.
The most serious calamity that has been witnessed since the Bank Crash, was the fire at the Reid-Nld. Co.'s Machine Shops, this morning. Buildings worth thousands of dollars were consumed, while the destruction of the locomotive works and other machinery must mean a loss of half a million dollars.

OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.
Many men will be thrown out of employment, as a result of the fire, for a time, at least, and the loss to the city from this alone will be enormous. The Reid Nld. Co. have lost very heavily through fire and water the past three months, and we sympathize with them heartily in their misfortune.

At the House.
The House opened at the usual hour yesterday.

The Colonial Secretary tabled the Savings Bank Report for 1912. The Finance Minister (Mr. Cashin) tabled the Auditor General's and Municipal Council's accounts and reports. Petitions were presented by Hon. C. H. Emerson for a fog alarm for Pass Island and a ferry for Harbor Breton; Mr. Parsons, for a road at Upper Island Cove, and from Harbor Grace for lights; Col. Secretary from Brownsdale for a wharf; and Mr. Clapp, from Conche for a harbour light.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.
Hon. Colonial Secretary informed Mr. Clift that subsidize for S.S. Fortia are paid trip by trip. The owners have been paid for nineteen trips since 26th April 1912. Also that no amount has been paid the Reid Nld. Co., on account of Bruce and Invermore for running between Port aux Basques and North Sydney from 12th to 20th January, 1913, nor has any claim been made by the company.

Hon. Minister Finance told Mr. Clift that no fees had been paid the sub-collector at Port aux Basques for clearing steamers after hours, and that his department knew nothing of any timber ordered by the sub-collector for the wharf at Channel.

The Premier informed Mr. Kent in relation to claims by the Government of the United States on behalf of its citizens against the Newfoundland Government, that the matter was in the same position as last year, that he could not table the correspondence as it contained the case for the Colony, in relation thereto, and that the list of claims is practically the same as it was originally.

In answer to Mr. Kent's question to lay on the table of the House, a statement showing the present position of the negotiations with the Government of the United States in relation to matters of exception taken by that Government to the Fishery Rules and Regulations of this Colony, in their application to inhabitants of the United States exercising their fishing privileges on the coasts of this Colony, under the Treaty of 1815. Also a copy of all correspondence.

documents, despatches and Minutes of Council in relation thereto.
The Prime Minister said there was no negotiations and no despatches at present with the Americans regarding our Fishery Rules and Regulations, and no correspondence to table.
Mr. Cashin in replying to Mr. Clift said that no fees had been paid to the sub-collector at Port aux Basques for doing the Bruce or Invermore after the regular hours or on Sundays.
In answer to Mr. Clift's question as to whose authority the Sub-collector at Port aux Basques ordered three cars of timber in 1912, Mr. Cashin said they knew nothing of the matter.
The Bills to amend the Law in relation to the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors and to amend the law in relation to the Registry of Deeds, were introduced and read a first time. Mr. Kent criticizing sundry provisions in the latter, and also the Committee on the Bill to further provide for the Security of Money, contributed to the Registrar of the Supreme Court. This Bill was proceeded in Committee.
Several items on the Order Paper were deferred as the Government members wanted to be early for the sealers' meeting which proved such a failure.
The House adjourned at 4 o'clock.

The public in general and the Old Boys and Ladies' Association are reminded that Irish Night in the Methodist College Hall on Monday, St. Patrick's Night, at 8.30 o'clock, is for the benefit of St. Bonaventure's College; that it is a Musical and Dramatic Entertainment, and that the leading artists of the city will take part. Fatal Blasting Accident
AT WABANA.
A blasting accident occurred last night in No. 2 slope of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Bell Island, resulting in fatal injury to Michael Dinn and injury to Ernest Noseworthy, both at the time being employed in blasting in the mines. As far as can be learned at present the cause of the accident was due to some misunderstanding between the blasters, who had inadvertently connected up the blasting in two separate places instead of one, which placed them within range of one of the blasts. Both were experienced blasters. The deceased was a married man, aged 4 years and belongs to Lumbergrass Salmoner; Noseworthy's injuries are not of a very serious nature and it is expected he will make a good recovery; he is a native of Harbor Grace.

LONDON, To-day.
News from Adrianople and the invested Turkish fortress, is meagre but despatches from Constantinople say it is believed that at the end of the present week will see either capitulation of the fortress or a desperate attempt by Shukri Pasha to break through the lines of the enemy. The Allies reply to the Powers regarding mediation is again delayed and will not be delivered before Friday. There is little doubt that before European diplomacy can get to work on the problem, Adrianople will be in possession of the Allies. The Turks while seemingly preparing for an other revolution are utilizing their fleet in an attempt to prevent the Serbian army from assisting the Montenegrins in their attack on Scutari. The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh, bombarded Durazzo and San Giovanni di Medina, and are probably watching for Greek transports with several thousand troops aboard. It is reported that the entire Turkish fleet of eight units is concentrated at Naghara in the Dardanelles.

Before a large audience, consisting of members of the medical profession from Ottawa, and many outside points, nurses, prominent members of the Canadian Association for prevention of tuberculosis, Dr. Friedman gave a demonstration of his alleged cure for tuberculosis at the General Hospital. Thirty-seven patients in all stages of the disease were awaiting his arrival hoping to be treated. From these the doctor selected ten. These ten were inoculated. Patients included all classes, men, women and children. Some were too weak to walk. Most advanced cases. Dr. Friedman did not attempt to treat.

VANCOUVER, To-day.
Advices from Nahlin, nearest point to Yukon telegraph line, the scene of recent placer gold discovery on lower end of Tealin Lake state claims have already been staked at Silver Creek District. First locations in this District were made by Indians, and it is now generally believed that the Indians took out as high as five ounces a day, using crude methods. Gold course is of higher value per ounce than Atlin dust.

LONDON, To-day.
During the course of the debate in the Commons to-night Postmaster-General Samuel intimated that it was the intention of the Government, during lifetime of present Parliament, to introduce a bill for the reform of the House of Lords. He said the new second Chamber would contain no vestige of hereditary principle, that under no circumstances would its absolute veto be restored.

Mr. Coaker Thanks Citizens of St. John's.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Permit me to thank the thousands of St. John's citizens who turned out to honor the F.P.U. last night. Never in any city of the world did a demonstration, composed of such a number of citizens, behave better than those that participated in the demonstration which passed through the city last night. Not a single incident occurred to mar the noble feeling of unity and fraternity, which, without doubt, stimulated the feeling which prevailed during the hour's march through the city streets.

Some three thousand persons must have turned out to show their sympathy for the great movement which has swept over the whole of the north during the last three years. The only regrettable incident was the refusal of the Governor to receive the sealers at Government House. This refusal being explained by the intimation that it was a political demonstration, which, if received, might be considered as if he were taking sides. Some hundreds of citizens gathered at the Government House expecting to view the demonstration as it passed his Excellency probably decided properly, but the sealers will not be convinced of the wisdom of his action.

The demonstration was under the auspices of the F.P.U., although a sealers' demonstration, and as such, His Excellency might be quite right in refusing to receive the 5,000 persons who formed the parade. Thousands, not knowing why the demonstration did not pass through the Vice-Regal grounds, were puzzled over the incident and began to say it was a slight upon the Governor, consequently we feel obliged to explain as above. The Gov't meeting at the British Hall did not consist of 100 sealers, although thousands of them were in town last night. There must have been nearly 2,000 sealers in the demonstration, for there were 400 torchlights in use and about one in five carried a torchlight. The test has been taken, and the result is another glorious victory for the F.P.U. If Sir Edward Morris is not now convinced of his sure defeat next fall, if he oppose the Union, he is certainly a very dense man. Cheers were given for A. Harvey & Co., agents for the Adventure, Bonaventure and Belvedere, in appreciation of the manner in which the agents carried out the sealing agreement this year. Cheers were given for Messrs. Job Bros., for a like reason, for the Evening Telegram and Dr. Lloyd, for the support given the F.P.U. cause; for the Union, Trading Company and the Advocate, as F.P.U. supporters, for Messrs. Bowring Bros., in appreciation of the manner in which that firm respected the sealing agreement conditions; for Mr. R. Callahan, in recognition of the splendid reception accorded the demonstration; for Mr. A. E. Hickman and Mr. W. H. Franklin, for their co-operation with President Coaker in the purchase of fish the past two years, and as an appreciation of the fishermen for refusing to become part of a combine to fix the price of fish.

As the great procession passed town Military Road by Government House, cheers were given for the King and His Excellency and Lady. I also would thank the sealers for the splendid order which prevailed at the three great meetings of Monday night, Tuesday night and last night, and for the wonderful order which prevailed during the great parade last night. May all return with good trips and good health.

Yours truly,
W. F. COAKER.

Big Conflagration.

Hundreds of Thousands Worth of Property Destroyed When the Reid-Newfoundland Co's. Locomotive Works Were Destroyed This Morning -- No Insurance.

Just at 7.30 this morning, a disastrous fire broke out in the office of Mr. John Angel, which was situated in the eastern end of the Locomotive Works, between that department and the machine shops. As a result of the blaze, the Locomotive shops with their entire contents, were destroyed and today the once large building which resounded to the hum of industry and the buzz of machinery, is a mass of smouldering ruins.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.
 As regards the origin of the fire, no one knows anything definitely about it, and the cause can only be conjectured. When the fire broke out, Henry Seymour rang in the alarm, from box A and soon the Western and Central firemen with ladders, engines, hose reels and the apparatus were on the scene. The fire spread with increasing rapidity and when Seymour returned for his coat he narrowly escaped being burned to death, when he rushed into the office where the coat was. He was dragged out overcome by the smoke and with his clothing on fire and John Taylor quenched it. Had Seymour remained in the place a few seconds longer, he would have been killed for he was hardly out and away from the building when 50 lbs. of powder, kept in the office and used for driving bolts out of the plates in ships, exploded and wrecked the place and then in a few minutes the big building was all over a seething mass of flame. So fierce was the explosion that it could be heard blocks away and shattered the windows in some of the stores on the dry dock premises. Under Inspector General Sullivan and Chiefs Dunn, Winsor and Kean, the firemen all of whom were drenched, worked their hardest. They quickly had the Western engine at work on the Long Bridge, and taking water out of the harbor throwing two streams on the burning building. They had to cut through the ice to get to the water, and then took lines of hose also from the foot of Job's Street, Water Street and the hydrant at the Dry Dock. In all there were six streams of water playing on the burning structure, when a good supply was available, but this was not for at least ten minutes, and by this time the fire had gained perfect control and all could see that the Locomotive Works were doomed. Indeed, there had been a high wind, the whole of the dock premises on the north side if not the Southside, would have been wiped out. When the powder exploded the whole roof, windows and portions of the walls were blown out and shattered and one of the workmen named James Preddy, who was flying glass and debris and severely cut about the face, head and hands. His wounds had to be stitched up by Dr. Paterson. Between 200 and 300 men are engaged in the shops and they were driven out of them in a couple of minutes by the smoke and flames. They lost their overcoats and other clothing. These men stood about looking at the consuming element eating up the place which afforded them employment, but were powerless to do anything to save it. As a matter of fact the 900 men at work about the Reid departments, were there, but nothing could be done but look on at the work of destruction. When a copious supply of water was had, a powerful stream was turned on the machine shops and freight sheds ensuring their safety, but what particularly saved the machine shops is that they were composed of brick and concrete and the western wall being of that material, though it adjoined the Locomotive shops kept the fire in by the machine shops. The building was lately given new concrete floors and other expensive improvements and to it was added the very best of machinery and the excellent plant formerly held in the Angel building had been transferred here. Seven engines, which were undergoing repairs were in the shops, most of them fine useful locomotives, and three others were new ones being constructed. No. 117 was almost completed and would be on the road two weeks hence, while the frames of the others were up. These were Nos. 100 and 102. All the electric wiring in the machine shops has been damaged and the power cut off. The power which runs the dock pumps was also put out of commission and the transmission wires were down while a pole near the burning building will have to be replaced with a new one.

SOUTH SIDERS COMPLAIN.
 When the fire broke out about 40 of the South Side force of volunteers under Chief Burrell were at the Long Bridge with their apparatus eager to lend a hand. They were not, however, called on and the men are indignant and consider they were slighted. In an interview which the Telegram had with Mr. H. D. Reid he stated that he believed that most if not all of the engines are not so badly damaged that they cannot be renewed. If these were all gone beyond recall the loss would likely be in the region of $500,000, but it is now placed roughly at $200,000 with no insurance effected. The loss is accentuated in as much as this was their most indispensable department. Mr. Reid, however, says that the work of clearing away to re-erect the shops will begin in a day or so. They will be built on far more substantial lines. Much sympathy is expressed for the Company in the great loss they have sustained.

LINTROSE'S TRIAL TRIP.

Mr. H. D. Reid had a wire last evening from his brother, Mr. E. G. Reid, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, saying that the S. S. Lintrose had made her trial trip during the day. The ship proved to be a splendid boat and went over the 15 1/2 knots which her contract calls for. The owners of the ship are delighted with her performance, and Mr. H. D. Reid told the Telegram today that she would leave for here on Saturday.

Special to Evening Telegram.
 OTTAWA, To-day.
 In the Commons, Borden said because of certain animadversions upon the memorandum received from Winston Spencer Churchill, he had given the House certain paragraphs from the memorandum. Members of the Opposition demanded, however, that the whole of the letter be read; he had complied with the request. Now that these facts had been laid before the House, continued Borden, the wrath of the Opposition has fallen upon Churchill, but I would like to submit, as Prime Minister of Canada, that it was my duty to get the necessary information from the best possible source. We have now got a great naval service in this country. Britain has the greatest in the world. It was an impartial source from which to get the information and it seems to me that it was not only the right but the duty of the First Lord of the Admiralty when request was made by the Prime Minister of Canada, when an important measure affecting the Empire was under discussion, to give in fair and business like manner the information asked for. It seems to be hardly conducive to the dignity of this House or fair to the any suggestions about Churchill's conduct nor any other British statesman is concerned in domestic politics of Canada.

Portia Returns.

The s.s. Portia arrived back from western ports at 6 o'clock last evening after one of the longest trips on record. The ship was detained for three days at Channel owing to the ice pack there. She brought the following passengers: Misses O'Leary and Fowler; Messames English, Clancy and Morey; and Messrs. English, Phillips, Fardy, Burke, Fowler, Finlay, Costello and Condon. As soon as the Portia has discharged her freight she will be dry docked for her annual overhauling. The Prospero will take up the western route, sailing to-morrow.

MINARD'S LINDMENT CURES COLDS.

Ships in Collision.

Beothic Collides With Bonaventure and is Extensively Damaged -- Will Be Dry Docked -- Fire Also plays Its Part.

With rails, stanchions, davits, boats, ballards and everything movable on the port side of the ship battered in pieces, and with considerable water in the fore peak and No. 1 hold as a result of being rammed in the port quarter by the s.s. Bonaventure, the s.s. Beothic, Capt. W. Winsor, crippled back to port at 8.30 this morning, from which port she had left half an hour previously, and now lies at Job Bros. pier in such a condition that she may be unfit to prosecute the sealing voyage. The accident occurred in the height of the wildest excitement and while the keepest rivalry existed amongst the captain in an endeavour to get their respective ships in the lead. The mishap was witnessed by hundreds of people from the waterfront as well as from the advantageous view points. Opinions differ as to which ship was in fault. However, that is a problem to be solved later. The facts gleaned as accurately as possible are: At 8 o'clock all the ships put up steam and got under way. The Adventure was the first to take the Narrows, followed in turn by the Bellaventure and Bonaventure. When the latter ship got near Chain Rock the Beothic came along. The Adventure and Bellaventure then turned the northern head and were soon out of sight. Just outside Chain Rock and opposite Ross's Valley, or what is known as Hay Cove, the Bonaventure slowed down for some reason or other. The Beothic was coming at a pretty fair clip and attempted to cross the bow of the Bonaventure, which, it is alleged, had the right of way, with the result that the Bonaventure in saving herself from going on the rocks struck the Beothic in the after quarter on the port side, smashing all the woodwork, bending iron stanchions, etc., while a few plates in the ship's side were dented. The impact was so great that a stove in the after galley capsized and a fire ensued. The crew formed a bucket brigade and in quick time had the blaze under control, but not before a quantity of provisions were destroyed. The vessel also swung around quickly, the Bonaventure continuing her course, while the Beothic went ashore, her bow going on the rocks, while the stern again after a few minutes but must have got a hole in the fore peak, as here and in No. 1 hold water was found to be making rapidly. Captain Winsor then decided to come back for repairs and turned his ship round and steamed up the harbor, anchoring off Job's. Later she was berthed at the pier and all the broken material removed by workmen. Diver Butler was down examining the bow of the ship all this forenoon, and she will be dry docked for temporary repairs this evening. Capt. Winsor and crew will have the sympathy of all, and it is hoped that the Beothic will not have to abandon the voyage, although she is badly damaged. A fortunate happening is that when the collision occurred not a man was injured, despite the fact that scores of sealers were standing on the same side as that on which the Beothic was struck.

Off For The North.

The steel fleet of ships sailed this morning for the icefields on their annual sealing hunt. When the clock ticked off 8 the steamers passed out the Narrows, being witnessed by hundreds of people who lined the waterfront. That the sealers will meet with a full measure of success on their perilous voyage and return with bumper trips of seals will be the warmest wish of all.

Messages were received yesterday that the steamers Erik, Diana, Kite and Newfoundland sailed from St. John's on Monday for the Eagle and Bloodhound from Fogo.

Marystown Notes.

The firm of G. C. Harris are busily engaged getting their bankers ready for the fishery.

Mr. Joseph and V. J. Baker and their families will be leaving early next month for Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, where the vintend to reside in the future. Mr. J. Baker has three sons residing at Moose Jaw for the past year and they are doing well in the building and constructing business. Mr. J. Baker will be a great loss to this place, as he was always one of the leading business men, and very often foremost in Church matters and other works. The Messrs. Baker are hard and honest workers and we have no doubt that they will make good in the new country.

Mr. John Farrell will erect a saw mill in the early spring on the old site, formerly occupied by Mr. Joseph Baker's mill. Mr. Farrell has a thorough knowledge of the milling business, which leads us to think that he should make a success of it. The schr. St. Clair, which sailed from here early in February, is doing well with the fish on the Western shore, and if the weather holds fair for the month of March, Captain Walsh will bring home a good trip. Most of the men are shipped here now for the bank fishery, the average wages being about two hundred dollars and the shares over.

Yours truly,

Hr. Grace Notes.

A family of blackbirds (robins) apparently decided last fall to remain here the winter, and find a vacant house on the Carbonar Road, they took possession and could be seen every fine day the winter leaving their home in the morning and returning before night. They entered through a broken glass in one of the windows.

Mrs. Noseworthy, of the telephone station, Southside, informs us that a very old resident of that settlement passed away this morning in his 83rd year—Mr. Richard Sheppard. The deceased had only been ill a few days and his end was painless and calm. He leaves three daughters and two sons to mourn his death.

Mumps and Whooping Cough are now prevalent in this neighborhood. Not only is the former attacking the children, but several middle-aged people are now confined to their rooms or beds suffering from an attack of this malady.

Mr. E. Williams, Superintendent of the U. T. Electric Co. left by to-day's train for a five or six weeks visit to New York and Boston. No doubt we will have some improvements in our electric light and telephone system when Mr. Williams returns. His friends will wish him a pleasant and prosperous trip.

There died on Saturday last with relatives near Banerman Lake, Susanah Northcott, widow of the late Patrick Northcott, of the South Side. The old lady had reached the age of 85 years, and the whole of that long life, with the exception of the last few months had been spent on the South Side. The remains were interred on Monday at the R. C. cemetery.

A Great Big Fizzle!

Morris Meeting Attended by About 100 Sealers And All The Heelers That Could be Mustered—Premier Speechless With Chagrin—The Handwriting on The Wall.

The Daily News, as it would say itself, must have been dealing in "hieroglyphic sounds" for the sake of "terrific effects" in its issue this morning when it declares that juveniles entered the ranks of the sealers monster parade under the auspices of the R. P. U. last night. They led off by saying the parade was "a large one, and then, of course, as per orders received, try to belittle this great demonstration of fishermen Morris' Meeting in the British Hall was the worst fizzle ever witnessed in the annals of such affairs. It was filled with city heelers and political hangers on, and Morris was so surprised and chagrined at the absence of the bone and sinew that he could not speak coherently, and the meeting was the flattest affair held in St. John's for years. Many citizens left saying, "we thought it was to be a sealers meeting but we saw no sealers there." This meeting proved to be Morris' Beshassars' Feast. His political doom is sealed.

Notes of Long Ago.

L. C. MORRIS.

In the meantime the day of our heroine's marriage approached, and was duly solemnized and lavishly celebrated. The union proved happy in the highest degree, and they made their home upon the estate of the bride's forefathers; and there, amid its scenery, and 'neath the shadow of its old castle, the pathway of life ran smoothly for some three or four years. Then came the greatest joy that can come into the home: the joy that crowns the sanctity of the fireside; the advent of the adoring words of Father and Mother. It was a little daughter that blessed the happy couple, and while life had been happy and happy before, it was even more so now; for there was a tender life to be cared for, a destiny and a character to be cherished.

Up to that there was no thought of leaving Ireland, but changes come in to every home, and the unexpected often happens. So it came about that among the many who were emigrating to the Western Hemisphere, and who were breaking the family ties of generations past were our heroine and her husband. Thousands were annually going to America; some had capital and some had not; some went by force of circumstances; while others did so from choice, for purposes of business and speculation. It was from the latter standpoint that our friends decided to make their home in the New World. They considered the matter well, and the more they did so, the more they felt the need to emigrate. Like others, they had friends who had gone before them, and it was only natural that they should seek to be near them, as the emigrants in the same the world over; and while men are divided by classes and creeds, there is underlying it all, that feeling of brotherhood, which tells us that we are one, and that One is our Father, and One is God.

It so happened that some friends of our heroine had emigrated to Newfoundland; and so it was that in their selection of a country in the Western Hemisphere, Newfoundland was their choice. As we have said, the entire marriage was happy, but the estates belonged to the bride, and it was necessary that she administer them personally; and while this feature of their business affairs gave prominence to the fact that she was a woman, under date or place in a secondary position her good husband. But still she was the factor and her word was law. Yet, as the years passed, and down to the very end of the chapter there was harmony and mutual affection. This is not always the case, for very often property estranges the affections, and even the sacred ties of husband and wife may be sacrificed upon the cold altar of dollars and cents. Having fully decided to emigrate, their first duty was to dispose of their estate, and turn it into ready cash. Our heroine's share of it was very large, but having decided to sell it they made a sacrifice; and gave it for the sum of £10,000, or fifty thousand dollars, a property that was certainly worth double the amount at that date; and which at the present time would be a fortune worthy a Carnegie.

But the sale was honourable, and was duly ratified, and the sum of £10,000 paid over to our fair lady. With the estate disposed of, the first break came in the family life, and the first of an Irish race which had for centuries been prominent in the annals of Irish history, were about to sever their interest and make a home, and probably a name, in the far West. But such has ever been the way of progress, and somebody had to pay the price; somebody had to come and colonize the New World; and amongst the many nationalities that to-day people the North American Continent none have surpassed the Anglo-Saxon people, and no sons have been more enterprising than those who came from Scotland; no fathers more faithful than those who came from England; and no daughters more beautiful or wives more virtuous than those who came from Ireland. It was the industry, character, and faith of the Anglo-Saxon people that really gave birth to the American nation; and the best hope of the future of our Northern lands lies in the hands of the Anglo-Saxon race.

The first important step to be settled in connection with emigrating was that of procuring a passage; and one hundred years ago the matter was none too easily accomplished. When a ship was procured, even at that time there was great inconvenience, and no little hardship to be endured. But with an abundance of means as our company had, and with ample time in which to make a selection, they were able to embark upon one of the best vessels of the times, and to procure fairly good quarters on board. But even this meant a small cramped cabin and a tedious and uncertain voyage; but there being no better accommodation, nor any better means of travelling at that date, these inconveniences were not minded; and what we now look upon as obsolete and out of date, was then taken as very good and up to date. And so the little company embarked, and with quite a band of emigrants they sailed from the harbour of Cork.

Rossley's New Lamp.

There has just been imported for Rossley's Theatre, a beautiful new lamp for his new picture machine, which now completes one of the finest constructed pieces of machinery ever put together. The machine is absolutely fireproof, and the only one in existence this side of the Atlantic. Many people when they knew the expense Mr. Rossley went to, thought it foolish and extravagant of him to do so. But safety for his patrons was foremost in his mind, and therefore determined when he had one imported from London it should be the best brains could invent. Any person is at liberty to inspect the operator, Mr. Skinner will only be too delighted to show it.
