P. A. makes men
smoke hungry

Just you get a whiff of "the international joy smoke" and it's dollars to doughnuts you beat it 'cross lots to the nearest store that sells tobacco—and stock up! The flavor and aroma of Prince Albert has got 'em all backed off the boards. It sure will hit the spot with you—it does with more millions of men who smoke it in a pipe or cigarette than any other pipe or cigarette tobacco. Get the drift of that?

PRINCE

the inter-national joy smoke

just does all that we say it will do. It can't bite your tongue and it can't parch your throat. All this is because P. A. is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite! Why, this process has simply revolutionized smoking tobacco.

Prince Albert rolls up the bulkiest makin's cigarette you or any other man ever smoked. It puts the jolt of joy right into your system.

You can just do "makin's" sunrise to sunset and have a lot of fun. Why, P. A. in a cigarette is absolutely a revelation. You go to it!

Prince Albert is the largest seller in the United States. It is now being imported into Newfoundland and is sold by all of the leading dealers in one-eighth-pound tins.

—but you know her better than I do, or ever shall do, I daresay."

"I'm going up to the Court to-morrow," said Fanny, archly; "and I've a great mind to tell her what you say."

"With all my heart!" laughed Ralph, but with a sudden heightening of color. "It strikes me that she wouldn't feel very interested in my opinion of her."

"Oh, I don't know," said Fanny, with an affectation of candour. "It isn't everybody Miss Veronica takes notice of; and if I were in your place I should feel highly flattered at having her fishing with you. In fact, I consider you a very lucky man, Mr. Ralph."

"Thank you, Miss Fanny," said Ralph, rather ruefully and inwardly wincing; "though I don't quite see where the luck comes in," he added as he recalled his snubbing of the morning. "And now I must go on my rounds."

"Oh, you needn't hurry," she remonstrated. "You're early yet."

"How do you know?" retorted Ralph, with a laugh and some surprise.

Fanny coloured. She could not confess that she watched him every evening and that most of his comings and goings were known to her.

"Oh, I only guessed it because I wanted you to stay," she said, shyly. "Just five minutes more, while you finish your pipe."

He was indeed earlier than usual, and of course Ralph yielded; and as he bent back in the comfortable Albert chair, as the big kitchen ones with arms are called, Fanny got out her work and sat on the other side of the table, every now and then glancing out of the corner of her soft brown eyes at the handsome but somewhat pensive face.

"So Mr. Talbot's gone back to London," she said presently.

"What a handsome gentleman he is, isn't he?"

Ralph nodded assent.

"Yes; he's a good-looking chap," he assented.

"Such a distinguished-looking gentleman," murmured Fanny, still watching him out of the corner of her eyes.

"Yes, oh, yes!" assented Ralph again.

"I wonder if there's any truth in what they say; that he and Miss Veronica are going to make a match of it?"

Ralph looked up quickly, then as suddenly became engrossed in stopping the tobacco in his pipe.

"Oh, do they say so?" he said, indifferently.

"Yes," replied Fanny, with a knowing nod of her yellow head. "You see it would be a good match for both of them. Miss Veronica would be a countess, and Mr. Talbot would get his lordship's money— Oh, perhaps I oughtn't to have said that, for it's a kind of secret that the earl's going to leave Miss Veronica his money. I heard it from his lordship's gentleman, Mr. Welford, you know. But there! there's no harm in telling you, Mr. Ralph."

CHAPTER VIII.

The tramp looked up also. The pouch was suddenly crushed in his hand and, slipping behind a tree, the man leant forward and stared at Talbot Denby with so strange an expression, one so full of amazement and malignity, that Ralph was staggered. "Who—who's that?" he asked, hoarsely, his bandaged hand laid on Ralph's with as much of a clutch as its condition would allow. "Who is it! Quick? He'll be past! Tell me his name, d—n you!"

"Keep a civil tongue in your head, my friend," said Ralph, sternly, "and get over that fence. I've had about enough of you."

The dog-cart was just abreast of them, and the man, hissing warningly and shrinking farther behind the tree, glared at Talbot until he had passed. Then he drew his bandaged hand across his face as if to wipe away the sweat which had started on it, and turned to Ralph with a flickering, deprecating leer.

"Beg pardon, mate," he whined. "I only thought as I'd seen the general afore. But I see I was mistook. Anybody can be mistook, can't they?" he whined. "There ain't no 'arm in asking you who the swell is, is there?"

"He is Mr. Talbot Denby, Lord Lynborough's nephew and heir," said Ralph, as the quickest way of getting rid of the man. "I'll trouble you for my pouch. Thanks! And now—"

"Right, right you are, guv'nor," said the man. "I'm much obliged to you for the 'baccas and—your kind answers to my enkwiries; very much obliged!"

Ralph watched him as he went down the road, and saw him presently turn his evil and still working face to gaze after the departing dog-cart, his stout clay pipe clenched so tightly between his bloated lips that the yellow fangs were exposed like those of a savage cur.

CHAPTER IX.

Ralph had not forgotten the trout he had been "ordered" to leave at the Masons', and having cleaned it he took it up to the cottage as he started on his evening round. He had intended leaving it with "Miss Veronica's compliments," but Fanny came running down the little garden path to meet him, and, with a blush and smile of welcome on her pretty face, pressed him to enter.

"Oh, you must come in and let mother thank you, Mr. Ralph!" she said, apparently out of breath with her short run. "She'll be so disappointed. Besides, you can't be in such a terrible hurry. "Terrible" was the favorite Lyne adjective, and it came very expressively from Fanny's pretty lips.

Ralph went in; she drew a chair up for him, and took his cap and put it on the sideboard, placed the fish on a dish, and called her mother in to admire the gill.

"Oh, but you must thank Miss Gresham!" said Ralph. "The fish belongs to her, at least Lord Lynborough, and she ordered me to leave it."

Fanny smiled incredulously.

"All very fine, Mr. Ralph; but we can guess who put it into her head. Oh, we know you gentlemen don't like being thanked; don't we, mother? And now you're here you must have some supper. See, I was just laying the cloth! He must, mustn't he, mother—or we shall think he didn't want us to have the trout; and you're so fond of it, aren't you, mother? And it's so nice to see anyone, and to have a talk! I'm sure life's dreary enough with nothing but work, work, work all day!"

"Well! But I mustn't stay long," said Ralph, yielding to the soft voice and pleading persistence. He was still sore from Veronica's treatment of him, and Fanny's evident desire for his company soothed the wound to self-love which the proud Miss Gresham had so wantonly inflicted.

Fanny bustled about, but not noisily or obtrusively, and laid the supper, and Ralph was bidden with a winning smile to draw his chair up to the table. It was a change from the almost silent meals with the grim and taciturn Burchett, and Ralph enjoyed not only the good, though simple fare, but Fanny's bright smiles and girlish laughter. Her fair face was flushed with pleasure; she was as gay as a young finnet, and as soft as a dove, and she almost cooed as she pressed him to take some more butter.

"I saw you fishing this morning," she said, as Mrs. Mason began to clear the things away. "You and Miss Veronica—Oh, do fight your pipe! I know you men always like to smoke the moment after you've eaten anything! I suppose you were teaching her? How clever she is, isn't she? And don't you think she's very beautiful? I do!"

"Yes, oh, yes; I suppose she is," admitted Ralph, but without a corresponding enthusiasm. He was not altogether guileless, and he knew that the best of women find it difficult to listen with pleasure to the praise of another's looks.

"Oh, you only suppose? She is, you know she is. I'm sure everybody must admire her. And she's so sweet and kind-hearted."

"Oh, is she?" said Ralph, rather drily. "I can't say I've noticed that

How Money Grows

Possibly you do not realize how marvelously money grows when you make it work for you. For example, if you invest only $10 a month under our Plan Payment Plan in a high-grade bond or other sound security yielding 6 p.c., you would have accumulated $1,427.14 at the end of 10 years—$2,850.72 at the end of 15 years—and $4,965.55 at the end of 21 years.

Securities of higher yield would, of course, give a larger return. Indeed, the very principles behind this Plan—persistent thrift and continuous investment—have laid the foundation of great fortunes.

Had you not better drop a postcard to our Halifax office and learn fully about some good securities to purchase on the Plan?

The Right Kind of Hospitality.

I'm simply wretched over it. My teaspoons aren't the right size and I haven't any sugar tongs, and I'm afraid I shant have enough of the tea machine, and may have to fill in with the larger ones. I'd give the whole thing up if I could but I don't want to disappoint Margaret.
What a spirit to plan an entertainment!

Real hospitality is a beautiful thing. The travesty into which we pervert it by trying to follow certain set forms and do everything just as 'they' prescribe, is a very unbecoming thing. It is perfectly possible to entertain one's friends, and entertain them acceptably, no matter how poor one is.

Ponderous Personages

LUTHER BURBANK
Author of "At Good Old Swarth."
Luther Burbank was born in Massachusetts in 1849 and has never had time since then to go through a college, accumulate a biography or get married.
From boyhood, Burbank was greatly interested in plant life. He made many experiments in Massachusetts and succeeded in growing more and queerer plants among the rocks of that state than had ever been seen before. In 1876 he removed to Santa Rosa, Cal., on account of the vast quantities of climate always on tap there and began to make suggestions to nature.
This has been Burbank's life work. He is head coach to Nature. Nature produces fruits and plants and Burbank plans alterations and improvements. After Nature had been making potatoes in a shiftless and unskillful manner for several million years, Burbank designed the famous Burbank potato which was adopted enthusiastically by the alfalfa-fed Nature and is now being eaten all over the world.
Mr. Burbank also made great improvements in the cactus, removing its spine and making it a much more comfortable plant upon which to sit down inadvertently in the great southwest. Where once the cowboy and greaser swore fervently at the lonely seas of cactus, fat cattle now browse on the spineless leaves and it has become a national blessing.
Burbank has also invented the stoneless prune, the Burbank cherry, the Shasta daisy and the plumcot, which is a combination of the apricot and plum in defiance of the Sherman law. He is still working busily on his great experiment farm where he hopes in time to produce a coreless apple, a squirtless orange, a seedless fig, a wood-less alderman and a watermelon which runs up a red flag and fires a gun when it is ripe.
Mr. Burbank is now growing over 5,000 distinct specimens of plants and knows them all by name, though he has had to invent most of the names himself. He is rapidly increasing in usefulness and in one of the few individuals in history who ever helped the world by grafting.

The most charming of the rich, new wraps are made with collars that curl like a flower petal.

Arrested Men
May be Murderers of Magistrate Chivas.
Moose Jaw, June 12.—It is now believed that the mounted police have arrested the three bandits wanted for the murder of Magistrate Chivas at Amisk, Alta., on May 30. One was arrested on Thursday at Eyebrow. Three men were picked up at Rouleau on Tuesday and sent to Regina, and one of them answers in every detail the description of one of the trio of murderers. On Thursday ten vagrants were taken off a freight train arriving here from the West, and one of these is reported to be the third of the suspects.
Since the hunt for the murderers was transferred to this district a great many suspicious looking men unable to account satisfactorily for their movements, have been arrested, charged with vagrancy, and sent to Regina, where they are held for identification.

Try it for your irritable throat, test it out for that bronchitis cough, give it a chance to rid you of that chronic catarrhal condition.
Years of wonderful success and testimony from the best people of our land go to prove that nothing so far discovered is quicker, safer, surer, more pleasant than Catarrhzone. It is in its application purely scientific—it is recommended only for certain ailments above mentioned—but those it does certainly cure.
Use the complete dollar outfit of Catarrhzone; it always does the work; small size 50c, sample trial size 25c; sold by dealers everywhere.

Thousands are using Catarrhzone to-day who couldn't live without it.

An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percia Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland.

Pleurisy Pains Vanish!
Chest Colds Cured!
NERVILINE HAS NEVER FAILED TO CURE.
Don't suffer! Nerviline is your relief. Nerviline just rubbed on, lots of it, will ease that drawn, tight feeling over your ribs, will destroy the pain, will have you smiling and happy in no time.
"I caught cold last week while mowing," writes P. T. Malley, from London. "My chest was full of sore gas, my throat was inflamed, and I had the fiercest stitch in my side you could imagine. As a boy I was accustomed to have my mother use Nerviline for all our minor ailments, and remembering what confidence she had in Nerviline, I sent out for a bottle at once. Between noon and eight o'clock I had a whole bottle rubbed on, and then got into a perspiration under the blankets. This drove the Nerviline in good and deep, and I woke up next morning fresh as a dollar and absolutely cured. Nerviline is now always part of my travelling kit, and I will never be without it."
The large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical, or you can easily get the 25c. trial size from any dealer.

Household Notes
To make the best lemonade, get a syrup of a pint of water and two cups of sugar, to which is added the yellow rind of two lemons and one orange. Bring to a boil and add the juice of four lemons and one orange. Cool and ice. Add three pints of ice-water before serving.
If furs are put away at home, first shake them free from dust, then allow them to blow in the wind and sun for a whole day; after this, wrap them in muslin carefully and place them in a box, and cover the box with a clean cotton cloth, so that no moths can enter from without.
After the winter clothes have been sorted for storing it is a good idea to examine them carefully and eliminate all spots by wiping or sponging with household ammonia. Carry them out into the bright sunshine and brush them thoroughly.
The dark leather handbag that is looking a little worn can be made to look like new if treated in the following manner: Rub it over with either luscid oil or the well-beaten white of an egg, mixed with a little black ink. Polish the leather afterward with soft dusters until it is quite dry and glossy.
Potato-and-bread croquettes are made by breaking the dry bread into small pieces and adding hot water to soften it a little. To one quart of bread add one egg, salt and pepper and one pint of cold mashed potatoes; mix well form into cakes, roll in flour and fry.
The housekeeper is apt to be tormented with many little undone things not important enough to be remembered when out of sight, but most provoking to find neglected. It is a very good plan to write these little things down on a memorandum, and when there is an odd moment consult the list. In this way much more can be accomplished.
In making potato chips, first select medium-sized potatoes, pare and slice them very thin, then put them into cold water. Allow them to remain about twenty minutes, then take them out and lay them each slice singly on a cotton cloth to absorb the water. Have a pan of boiling fat ready and drop each slice in, not allowing the pan to be crowded. They should be taken out when a light brown and placed in a colander to drain, and allowed to stand in the oven for about ten minutes with the door open.
Potatoes on the half shell make a delicious change. Bake ten large potatoes; remove from the oven; cut in half lengthwise, scoop out the inside, leaving the skin a thin shell. Chop the potato into small pieces and mix into it two green peppers and one large onion, chopped fine. Season with salt and pepper and add one cupful of cream. Stir all together until thoroughly heated and replace in the potato shells. Cover the top of each with cracker crumbs dot with butter and bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

The City Government.

It will be remembered that an Act passed last session put off the Municipal Elections that would have otherwise taken place this month, and brought the membership of the City Council to a close on the 30th of the month. The Act further imposed on the Governor in Council the duty of appointing twelve men to take over the duties of the Municipal Council for a period of twelve months. This morning we inquired over the phone from Sir Edward Morris if anything had been done, and he told us that no appointments had yet been made, but that it would be necessary to make them within seven days.

That is obvious. When, however, the matter was under discussion before the bill was put through the Legislature, there was a talk of holding a town meeting, and feeling the pulse of the people with the object of submitting nominees from the meeting to the Governor in Council. Since that time we have heard nothing of this suggestion, and we do not know if there is any intention of pursuing such a course. If so there is little left to do it, and it will be necessary for those concerned to get busy and do something. It is also obvious that the personnel of the new city government should be largely constituted of those who have experience in the actual work of the city government, and of members of the Citizens Committee, who have not sat on the City Council, but who have given time and energy in promoting the movement which is to find its scope of work the next twelve months, and who have the desire, time and energy to go thoroughly into the Council business.

Now that the warm weather seems to have made up its mind to have come to stay, we need only remind you that our Ice Cream Counter is in full working order, and that we are dispensing this season a specially delicious product made from a new recipe and on our own premises. For flavor, for nourishing qualities, for purity, this ice-cream strikes the top notch. Of course, you may have an Ice Cream Sundae, a College Ice, or a plain Ice Cream, as you like best—they are all delicious. If you feel hot or "done up," step in and have one. Price 10 and 15c, each.

Have you a crop—perhaps more than one? Well, a small piece or two of Corn Silk will do the work of putting it away in a hurry. Price 10c a package.

Wedding at Rockingham.

HATCHER—ROPER.

One of the season's prettiest weddings took place at Rockingham today at 1.30 o'clock, when Miss Emma Louise Roper and A. G. Hatcher, of the Halifax Naval College, were married by the Rev. Robert McArthur, of Robie Street Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father, Henry Roper, which was decorated with apple blossoms, in pink and white, carnations and cream roses, the bridal party standing under the floral arch. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very charming in a costume of tan silk, and her hair trimmed with ostrich plumes, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. They were unattended. After the ceremony luncheon was served to the wedding party, which included only the immediate family connections. Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher left for the wedding trip through Canada, and will be away for several months. On their return they will reside on Henry Street. A large number of beautiful wedding gifts testified to the popularity of both the bride and bridegroom.—Acadian Record.

Mr. Hatcher is a son of the late Rev. H. C. Hatcher, B.D., and a brother of the Rev. H. G. Hatcher, B.A., B.D., who will be ordained during the approaching Methodist Conference. The bride is a niece of Mr. Joseph Dappin and Mr. John Leamon, of this city.

Baseball Notes.

The Red Lion Baseball Club will meet on their practice grounds this evening to arrange for the coming league games.

The opening match of the season will take place at St. George's Field tomorrow afternoon. The contesting teams will be the Shamrocks and K. L. S. In the line up of the Shamrocks we notice the names of seven ex-college boys, who are filled with every hope of carrying off the season's championship.

NEWS BY CABLE.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day.

Redmond's letter to the President of the United Irish League at Philadelphia is the first open admission to overseas sympathisers and friends that Nationalists are preparing to fight for Home Rule, should the proverbial slip between cup and lip occur. The Irish Nationalist leader, having committed himself to volunteer movement, is anxious to find funds as well as men for organization, knowing that Sir Edward Carson's army is well provided with financial support by Scottish and other Unionists. That the latest developments in connection with Irish volunteers is inspiring the Nationalists to greater aggressiveness, was made clear from a despatch from a correspondent of the Morning Post, who declares that the tension in Londonderry is due to increasingly aggressive conduct on the part of Nationalists. He says that it cannot be exaggerated and that everyone is awaiting an outbreak which will involve loss of life. To-day Lord Crewe made a statement in the Lords in regard to the Amending Bill, to which Lansdowne is expected to reply. After these preliminary addresses, the Bill it is thought will be given a first reading without debate. The second reading will probably be the first week later, as June 30 was originally the date for the taking of the parent Bill to the Lords. The Government has already been obliged to meet the wishes of the Upper House which proceeds deliberately.

OTTAWA, To-day.

The Fisheries Branch of the Marine and Fisheries Department is to be transferred to the Department of the Naval Service, and will be under the control henceforth of G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of Naval Service.

QUEBEC, To-day.

All attempts to get the bodies entombed in the sunken hull of the Empress were abandoned to-day, following a conference between Lieut.-Commander Forbes, of H. M. S. Essex and divers of the man of war at the scene of the wreck, as a result of the death of Edward Cossboom, of New York, on Sunday, from his fall off the slimy hull of the ship. Capt. Walsh, after consulting with Capt. Wilson, reluctantly decided that everything possible had been done to secure the bodies and that nothing could be gained by the divers remaining at Father Point. They were, accordingly, ordered to return to their ship. This decision of the C. P. R. does not affect the operations of the Company attempting to salvage the ship, but it is thought here it will also be compelled to give up diving operations.

LONDON, To-day.

American Corporations whose stocks are sold in Great Britain, must comply with the British laws in making public reports of their business or be outlawed from the protection of the Courts under the terms of a Bill which Major Archer Shee has introduced in the Commons. While this bill is entitled "Foreign Companies Control," it is aimed particularly at the United States, designated among other things to give more information concerning their business to their British investors than they can be forced to do under existing laws.

OTTAWA, To-day.

An appropriation of $50,000 for the relief of the sufferers by the Hillcrest disaster will be made by the Government.

Pleasing Presentation.

Rev. Canon White, Rector of the Cathedral, was presented with a purse of gold yesterday afternoon by the members of the Cathedral Vestry. The Rector is about to take a much needed holiday, and the amount subscribed by his parishioners, and presented to him yesterday, is meant to defray the necessary expenses. Mr. W. B. Grieve, on behalf of the Vestry, made the presentation and in doing so expressed the esteem in which the rev. gentleman was held, and hoped that the proposed trip, would be invigorating, and that he would return safely to them benefited by the rest and change.

Rev. Canon White was deeply moved by their thoughtfulness, and thanked them sincerely for the mark of appreciation of his work in the interests of his parish.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle sailed from Placentia for the Westward last midnight. The Bruce leaves North Sydney to-night.

The Greatest Two-Reel Picture of the Season.

Everybody was delighted with Ros-ley's Vaudeville and pictures last night. Dan Cusack's great Yoodling song was something not often heard;
he sang it beautifully. His Irish songs and dances were also very good and brought him rounds of applause.
The pictures now showing at Ros-ley's are the best seen in a great while. The great two-reel feature a thrilling social drama by the Lubin players, with Arthur Johnson in the leading part: The Hungry Mosquito, drawing by the famous Windsor Mc-Cay for the Vitagraph, and the only one of its kind: The Three Black Bugs, Vitagraph, and When Ford Los-meeting of the Conference will open at 11 a.m. and at 8 p.m. Rev. Dr. S.

Dr. Halfyard is a brilliant speaker.
On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Workman Injured.

Patrick Delaney, employed on the Reid Company's sprinkler, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon.
The street car and sprinkler were changing trolleys at the Cross Roads when the former was accidentally started, with the result that Delaney became entangled between the two cars and had his leg broken. A doctor was immediately summoned and put the injured limb in splints, after which the man was conveyed to the hospital for treatment.

BRIDGE NEEDED.—Now that the time has come round again when citizens are frequenting the Quidi Vidi Lakeside to watch the race boats and crews practicing it would be well to have the bridge put up again at the head of the pond.

The last of the Jay Roberts fishing fleet will likely get away for Labra-

The number of vessels engaged this year is about the same as last year but the number of men shows a con-

At 5.30 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was sent in from Parade Street summoning the Central and Eastern Companies to the residence of Mr. M.
Morris, where a few sparks from the chimney had ignited the eave of the roof. The blaze was extinguished promptly, and before much damage was done.

Presentation at Wesley Church.

An interesting meeting of Wesley Church Epworth League was held last night. Excellent papers were read on "India and its People" by Miss Lena Taylor, and "The Women of India and Medical Missionary work amongst them" by Miss Gertrude Martin. Miss Edna Parsons presided over the service in a capable manner, and the solo given by Miss Nina Evans was very acceptable. At the close of the meeting, Mr. Whelan, the President, on behalf of the League, presented Mrs. (Rev.) F. R. Matthews with a set of silver napkin rings, suitably engraved from Wesley League. In the absence of the Pastor, Mrs. Matthews expressed her deep appreciation of the gift and regretted her husband's absence through Conference duties. This is the second presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Matthews within a fortnight, as quite recently Mrs. Matthews was the recipient of a dainty tea service and chocolate set from the ladies of the Church Aid; and Rev. Mr. Matthews has been presented with $100 by the Official Board in recognition of his faithful services as Superintendent of Circuit. Mr. Matthews removes to Carbonear in July, and will be succeeded by Rev. H. Royle.

Tuesday.

Oh, Tuesday is a large, fat day, indorsed by pulpit and press; a day on which to shoo away all mental colic and distress. On Tuesday hustling people thrive, and see their bank accounts increased; we all are glad that we're alive when Tuesday's sun shines in the East. But Tuesday has no charm for men who play the old, sad leaving game, who fain would own the patent yen, but will not work to get the same. You see that bunch in every town, the shiftless, lazy, frowzy ghosts; they're holding dry-goods boxes down, or bracing poles and hitting posts. Fair Tuesday comes with noble gifts, but idlers have no show thereat; as on her shining way she drifts, she eyes the bunch and mutters, "Scat!" Her gifts are for the bustling boys who jump themselves the whole day long, and in the evening find their joys at home, amid laughter, mirth and song. You could not ask a smoother day on which your labors to pursue; but if you fool the hours away, all days will look alike to you.

"Rabbit" Huggins.

Red McGehee says: If I was pickin' out a job for some mean, over-bearin' slob I'd make him boss St. Louee's Cards an' laugh at all the yards an' he'd get in. The old league race is only one of all the wories an' the fun the Card Boss has to face. Fed scouts keep after all his men, club owners beller now an' then an' fans don't show much grace.

It's all those things that make me say that Rabbit Huggins earns his pay a couple times each week. Hug has his gang o' Fed league bait playin' pretty good o' late—he's ollin' out the squeak. They ain't playin' first place at all, but then they're playin' snappy ball an' Rabbit shows the way. He's getting runs by usin' brains an' never slackin' on the reins to let his team crop hay.

At second base that "Rabbit" fits—'he's here an' there a-spoilin' hits, his scops an' pegs sure shine. An' he's a rabbit makin' tracks when second's round between the sacks along the ol' baseline. At bat he takes the leadoff trick an' couples headwork with his stick to land him on first base. At inside ball o' Hug's a bear. (An' after nollin' that one there it's me to hide my face.)

False Messages Cost Lloyds Big Money

London, June 17.—The frequency of the receipt of false wireless messages at Lloyd's has led the authorities in London to take steps to remedy the evil. One or two proposals are shortly to be submitted for approval. One is that all ships equipped with radio telegraphic apparatus should be made to report "all well" once or twice every 24 hours, while another suggestion is that each vessel should have a secret password known only to the captain and the chief of wireless stations.

The result of scares is not only a good deal of unnecessary anxiety, but heavy loss to the underwriters, who are, in fact, beginning to doubt the accuracy of serious messages. For instance, in the belief that the news of the foundering of the Empress of Ireland was a recurrence of the recent canards as to overdue ships, the market at Lloyd's was found willing to write the risk of total loss at a nominal figure of two guineas per cent., at which a fairly large business was done, with the result that a heavy liability was incurred.

Not many weeks ago a German steamer was reported abandoned in the Bay of Biscay, and reinsurance was effected at 80 guineas per cent. It subsequently transpired she had gone to the assistance of a vessel in distress. Another case was that of the Pacific Mail company's liner Siberia, which was reported to have stranded between Yokohama and Hong Kong, but which was all the time safe in port. This misleading message cost the underwriters about £20,000.

An Easy Win for Collegians.

The Collegians defeated St. Bon's by a score of 3 goals to nil in last night's football match.

In the first half the high wind interfered with play, but in the second round a good exhibition was given. The opening of the game saw the Collegians with the wind in their favor, with the result that the ball was continually in the danger zone of their opponents' territory; they secured several corners but Lundrigan saved well and was ably assisted by Cleary, Power and Higgins who put up an excellent defence.

The first goal resulted from a place kick by Barrett, who landed the leather safely within the net. Shortly before the whistle sounded Noonan lost a good chance to score, but made up for it later by notching up No. 2. When half time was called the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of the Collegians.

After the usual breathing spell St. Bon's put on an extra spurt and for a time appeared to have a chance of equalizing, but all efforts to beat Ayre and Barrett proved fruitless. When it moderated the Collegians again showed some good play, and about 10 minutes before the final whistle sounded Fenwick who had played an admirable game, scored No. 3 for his team.

Mr. W. J. Higgins was referee and the personnel of the teams was as follows:—

COLLEGIANS — C. Quick, goal; Ayre, Barrett, backs; H. Barnes, Pike, E. Barnes halves; Fenwick, Noonan, Smallwood, Hutchings, Quick, forwards.
ST. BON'S.—Lundrigan, goal; Power, Cleary, backs; Crawford, Higgins, Jackman, halves; W. Callahan, Gear, Kent, Smith, R. Callahan, forwards.

The metamora is fitted with an auxiliary motor engine, which was used to advantage in picking up the crew while trawling during the calm weather.

St. John's Gas Light Company. Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your works and I found 20.5 per cent of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manure.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

The "Cock Lairds."

In Years Gone By They Were Common in Scotland.

The suggestion that small proprietors should be planted on the land of Scotland recalls the case of a former day known as "cock lairds." The cock-laird has been drawn to the life by Sir Walter Scott, R. L. Stevenson and others—with his thrift, his cool courage and canny wit, his Christianity and common-sense, and his pride and patriotism.

He made history, especially in the Lowlands, where we find cock-lairds thickly planted in early days—"Sae canny, kind and croose."

His land might be some hundreds or only a few acres, but a cock-laird was a landowner who cultivated his own land. If a farm was only ten acres or less he was a "wee cock-laird," and managed to do all the work with the help of his family. If large, the laborers were planted in cottages close to the farm house, and sometimes such a farm-toon, bit by bit, rose into a small village. Other cottages stood not far from the farm house, where the laborer had a garden and a cow's grass. At harvest, in the slow days of cutting with the hook, the cottagers and neighbors helped in the grain of gift-gaff fashion.

This "neeborliness" bound a country-side together, and let the cock-laird put two pennies in his pouch, to "creep together." Cock-lairds, big and wee, seldom paid in money, but nearly always in fodder for the poor man's cow or a pickle wool for the guidwife to spin in the winter nights. This meant a bargain on both sides.

There were many more of these cock-lairds in the Lowlands than in the Highlands, and from his peculiarity may be traced how much more independent and advanced the people of the Lowlands were in the days of the old Scottish Parliament.

Cock-lairds of the very "wee" kind were always adepts at getting something to do in the leisure moments. One would be an expert in killing and cutting up a bacon pig, another would be rather clever in making very good baskets out of the willows that grew in a corner of his field, and a third would be coal carter and general carrier.

Work in the woods would sometimes be got, and such men were often good at hurdle making, while others would take a great pleasure in making ornamental bits of furniture out of tree roots, etc. Sea fishing is sometimes a side industry in suitable localities, and ferreting and digging out rabbits for farmers in others.

Generally industrious, as they exist to-day, the "wee cock-lairds" are fairly prosperous, being pot afraid of a bit of work. If they are sometimes over-thrifty, and inclined to peevishness, it must be remembered that life is a pretty stiff argument to them, and requires the exercise of much independence of thought and action.

Bad Whaling Voyage.

The whaling voyage at present looks phenomenally bad. The Cabot and Hump operating at Balena and Dublin Cove, respectively, have four fish each to their credit, while the Puma and Lynx at Rose au Rue got four between them. The Cachelot has not been heard from since going to Hawke's Harbour, and it is assumed she has not done any fishing yet so that the catch all told for the whole fleet so far is a dozen whales.

SIGN OF FISH.—Codfish were fairly plentiful on the local grounds yesterday, some of the traps securing from five to seven quintals. Some of the local fishermen secured two qtls. with the hook and line.

A Sad Case

Before Stipendiary in the Police Court. Halifax, June 19.—Two years in the Monastery of the Good Shepherd, was the sentence Magistrate Fielding meted out this morning to Maud Young, aged 19 years, convicted of being an inmate of premises of questionable character. Fatherless and motherless the young girl stood before the magistrate. When asked if she had anything to say she did not answer. She came to Halifax from Newfoundland two years ago.

Fishery Reports.

(From Aquaforte to Caplin Bay). "The total catch is only 25 qtls. Ten traps are in the water, and 20 dories and skiffs with 5 boats fishing. Prospects are not over bright, and there is just a sign of codfish, but very little bait at present. The weather was fairly fine, but only a little fishing was done this week."

(From St. Head, Catalina, to N. Head). "The only traps out are the few holding berths. One banker has arrived. Prospects for a good voyage are poor at present, though there was a fair sign with the jigger this morning. Stormy weather has hindered operations. The total catch of codfish is 240 qtls, and lobsters are very scarce."

Divorced Life

By Helen Hessong Fuestle

The Call of New York

Within two hours after Marian had filed her telegrams soliciting loans, Ann Stewart had wired her $50. Late in the afternoon thirty dollars came romping over the wires from her brother in the West.

Having cashed the telegraphic money orders at the downtown headquarters of the telegraph company, Marian drew a deep breath of grateful and profound relief. She shuddered at vague thoughts of what might have happened to her had she not been able to fall back upon friend or relative.

She hurried back to her boarding house, sought out the landlady, paid her bill, and ate her dinner in high spirits. The eighty dollars she had managed to borrow seemed to her, under the circumstances, like a veritable queen's ransom.

Returning to her room, she dashed off letters to Ann and her brother, bubbling with gratitude, and tacked on the promise to repay the loans at an early date.

"Money!" she reflected, hurrying forth to post the letters. "It's the most necessary thing in the world."

A feverish, passionate desire to make money invaded her. She would have to find a way. She would scheme and plot, use her wit and brain. Others had money. Why couldn't she? With envious eye she glanced at automobiles that fled past her, hurrying on to theatres or downtown cafes. She rebelled against the world's crazy appointment of money. She renewed and renewed her decision to acquire it.

Aimlessly, she found herself halting and boarding a street car for downtown. Events since the day of her divorce had battered to pieces her former objections to a young woman being abroad at night. She laughed to herself as she thought of the conventions which once had bound her so fast. She laughed at woman's easy obedience to man-made and man-enforced habits.

"Ha," said she to herself, resentfully. "We women let men doll, and baby, and rule and patronize us, and then we wonder why we can't get out into the world and make a living once we decide to live our own lives."

A blazing theatrical sign-board smote her gaze. Streams of pedestrians were entering the theatre's lobby. Motor cars were drawing up to the "Money!" she reflected, hurrying forth to post the letters.

Long before the curtain fell, to shut out the brief vision of New York and its marvelous life, and to thrust Marian back into the awkward, overgrown, shabby village which had held nothing for her but defeat and woe, she had registered her determination to be up and away.

New York! She would flee from this drab and indifferent environment, would cast herself into the sparkling life of the big city on the Hudson. There, if anywhere, fluttered opportunity. She would go to New York!

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

Three Sentenced to Be Hanged.

Calgary, Alta., June 18.—Afanay Sokoloff, Max Manelick and Joe Smith, Calgary Russians, were found guilty this afternoon of murdering Paymaster Wilson of the Canada Cement company at Enshawon, May 22nd, and sentenced by Mr. Justice Walsh to be hanged at MasLeod, August 26th! The jury recommended mercy on Manelick's behalf. The prisoners held up and robbed Wilson of $2,214.50 pay money for the cement plant employees. Sokoloff shooting Cable News.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

QUEBEC, June 22.

The resting place of the Empress is one mile and a quarter south of the place where Capt. Kendall says she was hit and one mile northeast of the point at which the chief officer of the collier Stovstad contends the collision happened. The location of the wreck was explained by Capt. Gagnon, of the Dominion Marine Department who buoyed it. The taking of evidence was interrupted twice to-day because members of the Commission and lawyers for the Government, C.P.R. and Storstad had to attend a reception given to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught in the Court House, and the luncheon given to the Governor-General by Mr. Justice Lemieux and the Quebec District Judges. This morning an effort was made to get further details about the Storstad from chief officer Tuftenes, who had filed his scrap and deck log books. It was discovered that like the engine room log, a number of important facts referred to had been written up after an interval of some hours, and the officer was hurried off to Montreal for the memoranda he made at the time the orders were issued. One important fact came out, however, and that was that the first officer who was in charge of the collier immediately before the collision, was not told by his third officer Saxe that he had put the helm hard apart when the ship failed to respond to the port helm order. The cause of the tremendous furor of water in the punctured hull of the Empress was again obviously the motive for questions asked by Lord Mersey of William Moir, a night watchman on the Empress, who was examined as to how many port holes were left open. This witness could supply no definite information though the presumption was left that the night being fine and the river calm, many of them were not closed, and that when the list of the ship grew great, the flow of water through the hole in the hull was augmented by the rush through the cabin port holes.

The Days Gone By.

O the days gone by! Oh the days gone by!

The apples, in the orchard, and the pathway through the rye; The chirrup of the robin, and the whistle of the quail As he piped across the meadows sweet as any nightingale; When the bloom was on the clover, and the blue was in the sky, And my happy heart brimmed over, in the days gone by.

In the days gone by, when my naked feet were tripped By the honeysuckle tangles where the water lilies dipped, And the ripples of the river lipped the moss along the brink Where the placid-eyed and lazy-footed cattle came to drink, And the tilting snipe stood fearless of the truant's wayward cry And the splashing of the swimmer, in the days gone by.

O the days gone by! O the days gone by!

The music of the laughing lip, the lustre of the eye; The childish faith in fairies, and Aladdin's magic ring— The simple, soul-reposing, glad belief in everything— When life was like a story holding neither sob nor sigh, In the golden, olden glory of the days gone by.

Attempt on Life of Czar.

Berlin, June 18.—A special despatch from St. Petersburg says an attempt was made to wreck the Russian imperial train with the emperor and his family on board, near Yshuovo, to-day, when a bomb was placed on the rail. A postal train, which was preceding the imperial train as a pilot, struck the bomb and caused it to explode. Many of the coaches of the mail-train were shattered and several persons injured. The emperor and his family on the imperial train passed the spot a few minutes later and arrived without further incident. They were on their way from Kishinev, on the return journey from their recent visit to King Charles of Roumania at Kustdje.

Political Society: Its Object, Murder.

Lisbon, June 17.—A political secret society which had for its object the murder of 23 persons, has just been broken up. Before this was accomplished one victim had been put to death.

The organization is called the White Ants, its headquarters being in the village of Alcaideche, on the outskirts of Lisbon. The chief government authority of the town, himself a member of the White Ants, and a number of his underlings, all of them members of the society, are accused of seeking to do away with certain members of the Moderate Opposition Republican party.

The White Ants belong to the Democratic Republican party. The first victim was murdered on his way home from a ball. A party of five of the White Ants had secreted themselves behind a wall near the man's home, and as he was about to open the door, they fired upon him. He fell mortally wounded. The chief authority of the village later was questioned and then arrested; a list of the 23 persons to be murdered was found in his possession, the list being headed by the murdered man's name. The trial is awaited with interest.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin"

AT THE CRESCENT.

Large audiences were well pleased with the big performance at the Crescent Picture Palace last night. The great special feature "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was a big drawing card and all were delighted with the illustration of this famous story. To-day the same bill will be repeated. Miss Arkandy was accorded much applause in her rendition of "Swanee River" and the musical effects were up to the usual standard. To-morrow the holiday bill should command much attention. The Dread Inheritance is the drama feature, a stirring subject abounding with intense interest. A series of other pictures will mark the bill as being one of the best ever seen on a holiday.

Newfoundlanders Good Work in New York.

New York, June 17th, 1914.
That Newfoundlanders, though residing far away from their native country, are ever ready to rise to an occasion where "home" is concerned, needs no further test than the whole-hearted response given to the call for assistance for the "deserted families of the heroic crews of the s.s. Newfoundland and s.s. Southern Cross who perished in the blizzard of 1914 off the Newfoundland coast.

From the world over, wherever a Newfoundlanders resides, come encouraging reports of their generous response to the call, and it is, I am sure, safe to say, that the Newfoundland colony in Greater New York, has given cheerfully and in unstinted measure its full tribute to the fund.
The Grand Benefit Euchre and Reception held for that purpose at the Borough Park Club House, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, June 13th, was, conceded, by all who attended, to be by far the largest and most important affair ever held in the Empire State under the auspices of Newfoundlanders.

The Committee, composed of the most representative Newfoundlanders of the Greater City, with the keenest sense of loyalty and charity to those oppressed, has worked untiringly, and, as was to be expected, has met with the just reward—unqualified success—a success financially and socially, of which every Newfoundlanders, both at home and abroad, must feel proud.

Over twelve hundred tickets were issued and although all did not attend, the hall was taxed to its utmost. The sale of tickets at the door was unprecedented for a Newfoundland affair and this was accounted for by the extensive advertising the Benefit had received, in which were mentioned the names of the distinguished contributors; and it was the consensus of opinion of those present that the prizes were the handsomest ever offered at a public Euchre.

The hall was tastefully decorated with the Red, White and Blue, with the Pink, White and Green intertwined and everywhere and at all times during the evening the spirit of friendship and good cheer prevailed.

It was the acme of success for Newfoundland social gatherings, in the Greater City.

As a tribute to the heroic crews of the s.s. Newfoundland and s.s. Southern Cross, a handsome little souvenir booklet, containing a description of the disaster, a list of the names of prize donors and of the Committees, was issued by the Committee and sold for the benefit of the fund. Several copies of this souvenir have been sent to the different societies, clubs and organizations in Newfoundland for distribution.

It is no boast to say that this benefit was made national in its scope, as a glance at the list of prize donors given below will show.

To Miss Marie Phelan, of the Ladies' Auxiliary Committee, daughter of our esteemed Secretary, Mr. James F. Phelan, belongs the distinctive honor of having the names of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President of the United States and Mrs. Martin H. Glynn, wife of the Governor of the State of New York, heading the list of our distinguished donors.

The efficiency of the Committee and its good judgment in management is reflected in its line of action, which produced such excellent results. Captain John McGrath, prominent in shipping circles, and bearing the distinguished title of "Commodore" for his long association with the business, was instrumental in securing the aid of men high in the great shipping industry, and by his energy as chairman of the Committee kept the members toned to a high pitch of co-operation. To Mr. Edwin F. Howell, always interested in Newfoundland, we are indebted for the good work accomplished among the financial interests and for his efficiency in the office of Treasurer.

Our genial Financial Secretary, Mr. Fred L. Furlong, together with the untiring of the work of this office found time to canvass several manufacturing concerns, and with good results. Mr. James F. Phelan, Recording Secretary, added to the list such distinguished names as the Hon. Joseph A. Goulden, Member of Congress, New York; Hon. Wm. H. Calder, Member of Congress, Brooklyn; Mr. James A. Farrell, President U. S. Steel Corporation; Hon. Wm. Readolph Hearst, Editor New York American, and Mrs. Geo. C. Tilyou, wife of the owner of the world-renowned Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, who, himself, was a generous contributor through the New York branch of the Relief Fund.

The several chairmen of the sub-committees are well deserving of the highest praise. Mr. Thos. J. Grace, of the Press Com., is to be congratulated for the liberal support received from the press of New York, which gave generous publicity to the entertainment; for holding the record for the largest sale of tickets and for obtaining the greatest number of prizes.

From his handsome appearance and perfect management as Chairman of the Floor Com., Mr. Harry A. Forward earned for himself the title of the Beau Brummel of the gathering. Although not a Newfoundlanders, Major Charles A. Kraushaar, Comp. A. 44th, N.Y., who has won distinction on the battlefield, is deserving of the highest praise for the active interest taken and the good work performed in the office of Chairman of the Prize Committee.

Through the efforts of Mr. Stephen P. Flynn, Miss E. Flynn, and Miss Kitty Graham, composing the committee for the State of New Jersey, many handsome prizes were obtained from the Newfoundlanders and their friends residing in that State.

Good work was also accomplished by Mr. Wm. Hurley, Mr. Michael Brown, Mr. Alfonso O'Neill, Mr. W. J. Murphy, Mr. Wilfred E. Coady, Mr. Jos. E. Brien, Capt. Edward Nichols, Mr. John Howard Gaulton and Messrs. J. P. and Dave Ryan on their several committees and Mr. M. F. Hennessey in the office of sergeant-at-arms.

For the excellent work of the Ladies Auxiliary Committee we are indebted to Mrs. Fred L. Furlong, Mrs. Thos. J. Grace, Mrs. Thos. Duff, Mrs. M. Brown, Mrs. Jas. E. Dougherty, Mrs. Frank Wood, Mrs. A. Wall, Miss May Lamb, Miss Marie Phelan and Miss Cora Colla.

From present indications it is safe to say that the proceeds from the Euchre and Reception will increase the New York Fund by from $500 to $600, which amount will be turned over to Mr. Charles Bowring, Treasurer for the benefit of the General Fund.
